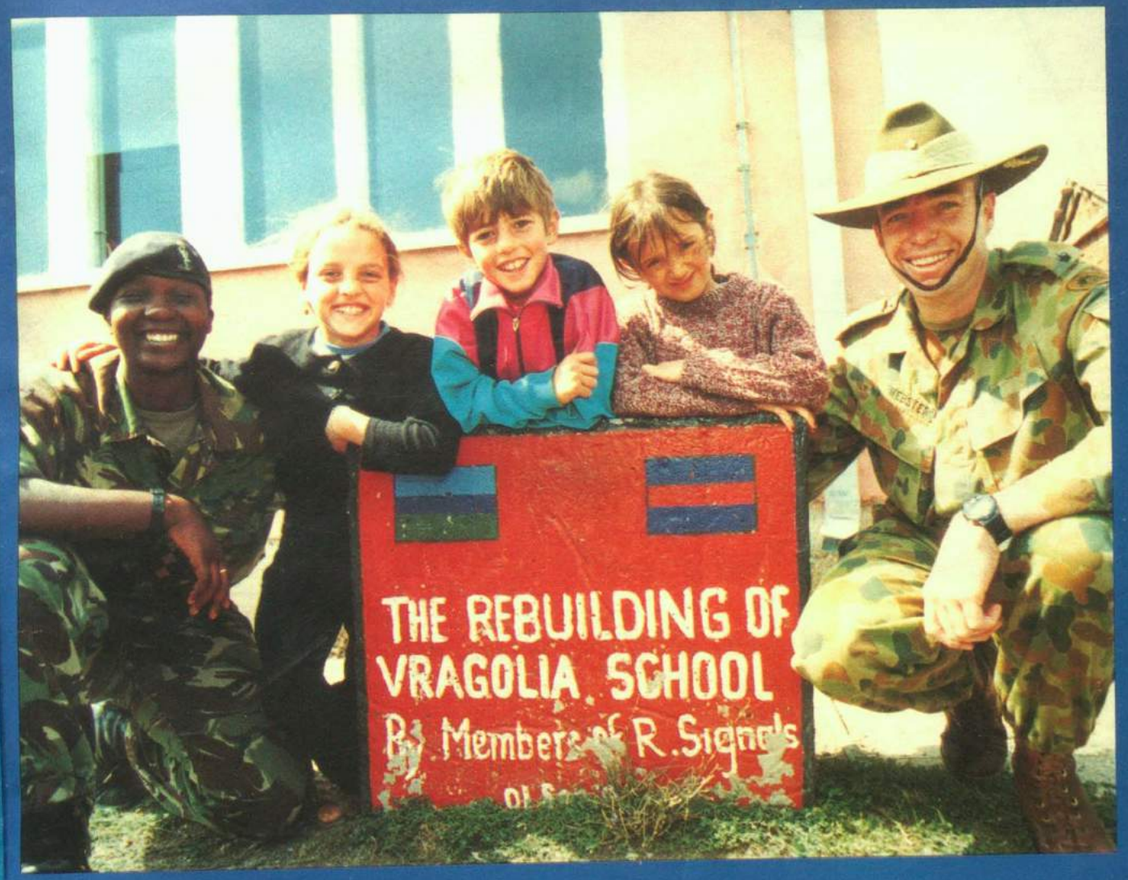
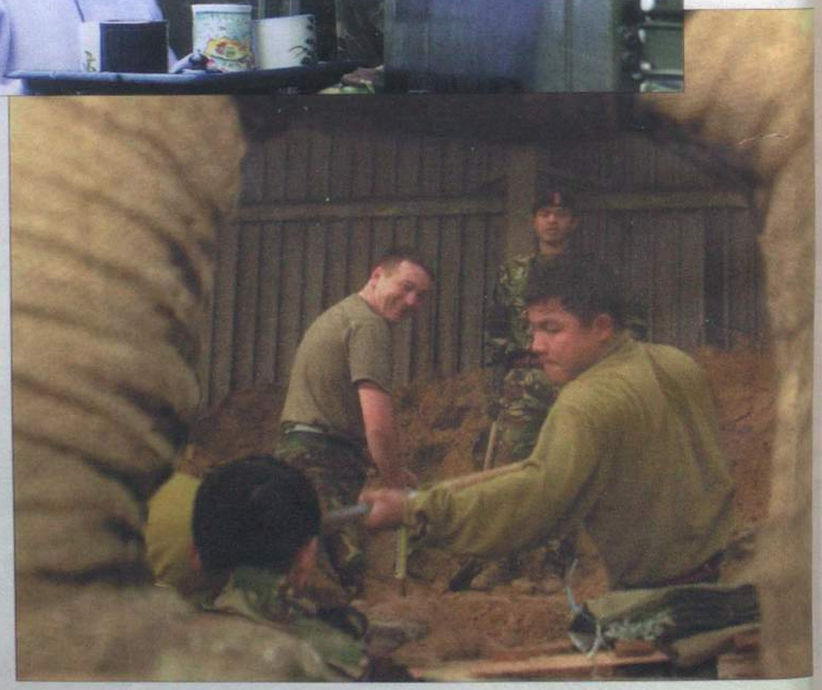
THE Wire

February 2001



The Royal Corps of Signals

Two signal Regiments were called upon to help the authorities in York when the disastorous flooding hit the city. The regiment performed magnificently in support of the civil community and we feature a perfect record of their activities on the inside covers. See the Regiments work on page 29.



FORTHCOMING EVENTS

RCI/BCS LECTURE:
15th March 2001
IBM Research Labs, Hursley

RSI Seminar:
3rd Mat 2001
PMH Blandford

AFCEA SYMPOSIUM:
14th November 2001
HMS Collingwood, Gosport

RSI London lecture:
29th November 2001
IoD, Pall Mall, London

Further information from Col (Retd) Bill Kennedy 01258 482647

The Royal Signals Magazine

February 2001 Vol. 55 No: 1

The Wire

All correspondence and matter for publication in The Wire should be addressed to The Head of Publications, The Wire, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, DT11 8RH Dorset. Tel No: Blandford mil 2079 STD 01258 48 2079

Matter for publication must be received by the 15th of February, April, June, August, October and 10th December for publication six weeks later.

All enquiries regarding subscriptions/despatch should be made to Blandford Mil 2087 STD 01258 482087

Subscription rates 2001 (Bi-monthly) (Feb, Apr, Jun, Aug, Oct, and Dec). Individual: Yearly £12.00; Bi-monthly £2.00.

Remittances should be made payable to Royal Signals Benevolent Fund

Editor Lt Col (Retd) P. Valder
Deputy Editor Mrs J. A. Herring

CONTENTS

	Page
Editor's Notes	1
Movements	6
News from Headquarters	7
News of Training	10
News from the Balkans	15
News from Northern Ireland	18
News from the Regiments	25
News from the Squadrons	53
Sport	67
The Royal Signals Yacht Club	68
The Royal Signals Association and News from the AO's Desk	69
Reunions	75
Lost Comms	78
Correspondence	79
Donations	81
The Last Post	81
Late News	85

FRONT COVER
Comes courtesy of 7 Signal Regiment and shows Maj Webster and Capt Pritchett paying a visit to Vragolia School which is being rebuilt by members of the Royal Signals.

BACK COVER
Comes courtesy of 30 Sig Regt and shows HRH The Princess Royal, The Master of Signals, The CO and LS&GC and Warrant recipients with their wives.

The closing date for copy to REACH this office, in order to go in the April issue is 15 February 2001

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING 2001

The Royal Signals Association's AGM combined with the Branch Representatives' meeting will take place in Chelsea Barracks on 7 April and not the 2 April as printed in the December issue of The WIRE

Authors alone are responsible for the content of their articles. The opinions expressed in the articles of this publication are those of the individual authors and do not necessarily reflect the policy and views, official or otherwise, of the Royal Signals or the Ministry of Defence. This publication should be treated with discretion by the recipient.

© Crown Copyright

Disclaimer: No responsibility for the quality of goods or services advertised in this magazine can be accepted by the Publishers or their Agents. Advertisements are included 'in good faith'.

BRITISH KOREAN VETERANS PARADE AND SERVICE ST PATRICK'S BARRACKS BALLYMENA SUNDAY 29 APRIL 2001

Did you serve in Korea with any unit sub-unit or as a part of 29 Independent Infantry Brigade Group during the Korean war?

Parade Location: Depot The Royal Irish Regiment
St Patrick's Barracks, Ballymena

Timings 29 Apr 2001:1140hrs Fall In ,
1200hrs March On - (Parade and Service),
1245hrs March Past
1300hrs Lunch and Entertainment,
A charge of £5.50 will be made for each person attending lunch, for which a preordered ticket will be required.

Each year during April, a remembrance parade and service is held at St Patrick's Barracks Ballymena in Northern Ireland, by The Royal Ulster Rifle Association and British Korean Veteran's Association (Ireland Branch). This year marks the 50th Anniversary of the Battle of the Imjin fought by 29th Independent Infantry Brigade Group during the period 22-25 April 1951. It is the wish of Regimental Headquarters The Royal Irish Regiment to include as many veterans of 29 Brigade or their antecedent Regimental Associations, as would like to attend the parade on Sunday 29 April 2001. Any individual or Association wishing to take part should contact Maj R. J. Walker for further details at: The Regimental Office, 5 Waring Street, BELFAST, BT12EW.

MARKET GARDEN 2000

Parachuting requires medical certification that you are mentally fit to jump. This, for normal people, would understandably cause some confusion. It remains a direct contradiction, no reasonably sane person would want to jump from great heights only to rely on a bit of cloth and cord to stop them falling to their deaths!

Ex Market Garden 2000 (8-18 September) was an exercise with many objectives, the first was route planning, in this case, go to the furthest port you can possibly get from your objective and spend 12 hours driving there. Alternatively you could go to the nearest port and spend two hours driving. No guessing which route we took! Eventually our pilgrims landed on the fair shores of the island of Texel and set about the first objective, to undertake the Dutch Military Parachute course. The second objective was to show gratitude to British and Polish WW2 airborne veterans for their wartime sacrifices. The aim was to do authentic airdrops in WW2 airborne uniform from WW2 aircraft, in front of veterans on original drop zones. The drop zone earmarked for us was at the Polish drop zone at Driel, near Arnhem. This was to be followed by a 71/2mile march, in full WW2 kit from the British airborne drop zone at Ginkle Heath to Arnhem Bridge.

The participants of Market Garden 2000 were mainly members of the now disbanded 10 (V) Parachute Battalion, other ex-airborne soldiers belonging to a group called Pathfinder and serving soldiers. Also participating were four Canadian Grenadier Guards, a US Marine and a US Navy SEEBEE, a truly mixed bag. Representing the Corps from Blandford were Sgt Nigel 'Stickers' Brewin and Cpl 'Mac the Brew' MacDonald, both of Radio Systems Group, Royal School of Signals and Sig Steve 'Spielberg' Davies, 11 Signal Regiment. Sgt Brewin, already qualified, did three jumps from an Antonov 2 and then, awaiting the arrival of the DC3, instructed the participants in and oversaw parachute packing, thus enabling the non-qualified personnel to get up in the air quicker and get all their qualifying jumps in. When grounded due to bad weather Sgt Brewin, assisted by the other Signallers, started spreading paranoia amongst the ranks. The blue Royal Signals recruitment stickers miraculously found attachments to anything on which the three-second rule had expired or had been left unattended. For the multinational contingent, the sight of a Signaller in the vicinity with a smile on his face caused them to carry out the Immediate Action drill. A dash (to the nearest mirror), strip down (to their underwear), crawl (around their equipment), observe (everyone else panicking), sights (it was a right sight), fire (burn the stickers, should they find any).

Sig Davies, on his second jump, landed roughly on the DZ, it was a combined decision that he should not carry on jumping.

Sig Davies hopes to return next year to complete the course. He then went on to demonstrate a rare talent as the event cameraman operating the video camera and at various times could be seen weighed down by an array of cameras. The Dakota, still in allied wartime markings, the same one Sgt Brewin jumped from into Normandy in June, arrived on the Wednesday, much to the delight of everyone. Up to that point all the jumps had been conducted from a former Soviet Antonov 2, used to drop Spetznaz forces due to its ability to fly at speeds that would stall other aircraft and achieve a smaller spread of parachutes. With the Dakota in Holland, a first Arnhem Anniversary jump was undertaken at Texel Island. The event was covered on Dutch National TV. It saw a rare dramatic event as one of the parachutists in the same stick as Cpl MacDonald suffered 'Tailstrike' where his canopy became entangled on the tail wheel of the Dakota, ripping out three panels and shredding the remainder of the canopy. The parachutist was forced to deploy his reserve, he landed safely, half an hour later he was back in the air again, nerves of steel! Then Friday came, we redeployed to the Dutch mainland to a campsite at Oosterbeek. We were to jump from the Dakota on the Saturday at Driel, the wartime Drop Zone for the Polish Parachute Brigade. Unfortunately the aircraft ran into unforeseen problems, we missed our slot, we were all gutted at this development but it was out of our hands. Once the aircraft was able to fly again on the Saturday evening we had to be content to watch it drop the Red Devils onto the memorial outside the Hartenstein Airborne Museum in Oosterbeek.

The team participated in the 'Race to the Bridge'. All the parachutists, in full WW2 uniform, equipment carrying Lee-Enfield rifles, Sten and Bren guns marched from Ginkle Heath to Arnhem Bridge, re-creating the march that Lt Col John Frost and the 2 Battalion of the Parachute Regiment took. The local population waved and cheered us as we passed, we managed to unload our boiled sweets and compo biscuits at the children. In return we were given all manner of bottled refreshment, including a rare rocket fuel that Cpl MacDonald and Sgt Brewin were given by one grateful native, they each had one sip, their throat lining took two weeks to recover!

Cpl MacDonald receives his Dutch Wings from an Arnhem veteran at the steps to the Hartenstein Hotel

On the Sunday the wings presentation for the newly qualified took place. Cpl MacDonald was afforded the privilege of being presented his wings by an Arnhem veteran, of which thirty of them attended our parade, a moment Cpl MacDonald will treasure for the rest of his life. After the parade, the team left for the nearby cemetery to lay a Corps wreath at one of the memorials to the British and Polish Airborne dead. Affairs concluded satisfactorily, the team returned to the UK. The next memorial jump from the Dakota will be in June 2001 on DZ (N) the original drop zone for the 5 Parachute Brigade, 6 Airborne Division followed by a march to Pegasus Bridge.

THE MEMOIRS OF MAJOR F. T. C. WILLIAMS ROYAL SIGNALS

by Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, Museum Director

The Museum has recently been presented with an unusually well-displayed collection of bound scrap-books and other personal memorabilia by Maj Frank Williams who now lives in North Yorkshire. The eleven volumes beautifully record highlights of Frank's service in the Corps in words, photographs, verse, cartoon, press cuttings, drawings and maps and span the years 1933 to 1946. As a young man of twenty and already in possession of a PMG's licence to work as a commercial radio operator, he enlisted into Royal Signals in the hope of experiencing something of the excitement and glamour of soldiering on the North West Frontier of India. He was not to be disappointed. The first four scrapbooks capture exactly his adventurous life of active service with the Signals section of the 2nd Indian Infantry Brigade on operations during the Waziristan Campaign of 1936-37. The Museum has many photographs and personal accounts from those who also saw active service in India during the inter-war years. However, this particular collection is a gem being particularly well-assembled and painting a vivid and exciting account of a young Signalman's early experiences of imperial policing in a dangerous place. Frank took his own photographs and developed them 'in the field'. The other seven scrapbooks deal with Frank's experiences during the Second World War. In May 1940 he was in France (by now a Sergeant) with the 1st Armoured Division. Evacuated from Brest after the German conquest of France, he was commissioned and in 1942 again went on active service, this time with 23rd Armoured Brigade of the Eighth Army. He took part in desperate battles in the Western Desert, and the breakout and pursuit of the Axis armies up to their final surrender in North Africa. There followed three years of the Italian Campaign, during which he served with 15 Army Group Signals in the advance through Italy. All of these scrapbooks make fascinating reading particularly for anyone with a personal interest in these historic campaigns. The Museum staff are always pleased to help anyone with research and access to this (or any other) collection which is available to anyone who would wish to view it.

The busy author slowly going mad
Repairing a N0 1 Set, K Section, Coronation Camp, June 1937

Exciting Times
Sgt Frank Williams, 1st Armoured Divisional Signals,
BEF, France 1940

SPECIAL FORCES COMMUNICATORS

TA TERRITORIAL ARMY BE THE BEST

LEAVING THE ARMY?

Interested in a challenging and useful part time career for which you get paid? Want to put your existing military and communications skills to further use?

Our requirement:- between 18 and 32 years old, physically fit, well motivated, keen to learn, discreet, honest, good interpersonal skills.

TA commitment:- 27 days including 15 days annual camp. In addition we require a further 10 days in order to develop multiple communications skills and become proficient in a wide range of military skills, to work in a highly demanding environment.

The opportunities:- personal development, travel, adventurous pursuits, annual financial bonus.

For further information apply to the address below quoting the Wire Magazine as the advertisement source:

PSI
R (SY) Troop (V)
Stirling Lines
Hereford
HR4 7DD

WHO DARES WINS

The Territorial Army is an equal opportunities employer

BRITISH COMPUTER SOCIETY

ANNUAL BCS/RSI LECTURE

Thursday 15th March 2001

"For whom the gate tolls"

by Professor Stevan Harnad

at

IBM Research Laboratories, Hursley

6.30pm for 7pm, supper 8.30pm

Further information from Suzanne Peart of BCS on 01793 417417 or Col (Retd) Bill Kennedy on 01258 482647

The White Helmets

OC Lt Col Jack Amberton
Team Capt Capt McAnulty
Chief Instr SSgt Paul Boughey

ONCE A WHITE HELMETS ALWAYS A WHITE HELMET
THE CO 11 SIGNAL REGIMENT VISITS THE TEAM

As an ex White Helmet and a fellow Ulsterman I was happy to welcome Lt Col R. G. Nicholson back to the Team for a day of Off-Road training on Bovington Training Area. SSgt Paul Boughey the Team Staff Sergeant and Chief Instructor was chomping at the bit at the thought of a day 'playing' on the 'Moors', especially when he heard that RSM Kemp and the CO's driver would be riding as well. Somehow the Adjt, Capt Fiona Priestnall had convinced the CO that she would hold the fort back at RHQ.

Lt Col R. G. Nicholson got straight back on the saddle, and after a bit of instruction from the Team Staff Sergeant the RSM (who had passed his road licence five years ago) was inches behind him. We are still not too sure if Cpl Dilchandra took the CO's motioning to another bike as an order for him to ride, but he had soon donned my gloves and helmet and shot after them.

Cpl Dilchandra had one airborne experience coming out of the 'Dust Bowl', not frightened by that he then decided to be a gymnast achieving a triple somersault and head plant on 'Sandy Bottom'. Thankfully we didn't manage to injure him too badly. He can definitely have a place with the Team on next year's induction course! The RSM soon got the hang of it and was tearing around Bovington and having fun, he even decided to try out a few jumps ensuring that the CO followed suit. I bet the CO in retrospect wished that he had left him back at camp. A great day was had by all! Once a White Helmet always a White Helmet. All that was left when the visitors had gone was for the Team Cadre to enjoy the last few hours with the Off Road bikes before they had to go back to the Honda Imps.

The Famous Five
(L-R): RSM Kemp, Lt Col R. G. Nicholson, Cpl Dikhandra, SSgt Boughey and the mechanic – LCpl Fullerton

INDUCTION COURSE 2000 - by LCpl Duncan Marsh

Myself, LCpl 'Scottie' Ecott and LCpl 'Fish' Fisher were selected from a cast of thousands (well 30) to instruct the inductees. Both 'Scottie' and 'Fish' had instructed on previous courses but this was my first and I was looking forward to it. Monday morning started off 'nice and easy' with a video from a previous selection course -'This is going to HURT', and the introduction of the instructors and supporting cadre to the now tense and nervous looking students. The course photo followed with a late entry by LCpl 'Scottie 'Drowned Rat' Ecott, after an eventful nine-hour motorcycle ride from Chester through the heart of the November floods. Before the 'Fun and Games' could begin on Bovington Training Area, a basic riding test had to be passed by all the students, including the four totally novice riders. It was then on to Bovington Tank Training area and to the basic off road riding phase.

In the days to follow there were many hilarious and very scary incidents, many of which Sig Kev Wright was in the middle or on the periphery of. Kev managed to find a 40ft long, 1fi m deep tank dip and drown himself and one of the Honda XR 250's that were kindly lent to us by the Honda Imps. Not happy with killing one of the bikes, Kev had a good go at killing himself on the same day by creaming in on one of the jumps and suffering concussion. After a 24-hour stay in Bovington Medical Centre, Kev gave the DS a massive scare, during (once again) jump training on the 'Knife Edge' the chief 'crash test dummy' suffered damaged legs. First on the scene was the Team Medic and Instructor, LCpl 'Scotty' Ecott, who's diagnosis was a broken femur at first. It turned out to be a pencil in his pocket, (the only time Kev's pencil has caused so much concern), but he was carted off in an ambulance just in case. Not to be out done, recently promoted to Lance Corporal (well done mate!), Johnny Kama carried on with his rugby training. The 15 stone lump of Fijian muscle decided to tackle a tree at 30mph and we are not too sure who won. Apparently he has had worse injuries on a rugby pitch. Race Day produced plenty of thrills and spills. The weather closed in just to make things that little bit more difficult. Not surprisingly Sig Ricky 'Feed Me Now' Gaston who is already a member of the Team, won the race (by a whisker). Just a whisker away from returning to 3 Div, Eh Rick? The Welsh Wizard (No 29) abandoned conventional methods of stopping and dislocated his shoulder as a result. We never did discover how he gained such an extensive knowledge of sheep. No 27 (Pte Pile), was disqualified for straying into the trees. The phrase 'out of control but looking good' springs to mind. Revenge was sweet when LCpl Gaz Fisher got his just deserts for being an 'LB' (in house) at the end of Week One. Possibly the White Helmets nastiest (but obviously fair) instructor received a splattering of eggs from the Course who thought he would make a good omelette. Not to be out done he returned a few beauties himself.

The excitement was not reserved for the bikes only, back at Blandford Camp our social evening was cut short due to a bomb scare. This resulted in a very interesting evening in the gymnasium. After the peak of Race Day things naturally quietened down for Week 2 – Trick Week, the Team's bread and butter. We made the most of the able bodied students, teaching many tricks that make the White Helmets the Worlds Premier Motorcycle Display Team. Included in Week 2 was the Fire Jump training with great progress made by all. Day 2 of the Fire Jump Training saw the recently appointed Team Captain – Capt 'Mac' lead by example and go first through the fire. We won't tell anyone you drew the shortest straw, of course it wasn't rigged (honest!). Nice eye lashes! A short show marked the end of Week 2. The show was performed in front of the Regimental Colonel and OC White Helmets who seemed impressed by the guts and determination shown by all after a mentally and physically demanding two-week course. Well done and welcome to the six new comers, we look forward to seeing you all soon for further training.

Cpl 'Stevie (Airborne warrior)' Girling LCpl John 'The Chef' Dodd
Sig 'Gymnast' Brown Sig Johnny Kama
Sig Marcus Kershaw Sig Kev Wright

Should you make a purchase as the result of seeing an advert in The WIRE, please let them know that you saw their advert in your Corps Magazine

THE MASTER OF SIGNALS' VISIT TO MELBOURNE ON THE OCCASION OF THE ROYAL AUSTRALIAN CORPS OF SIGNALS 75TH ANNIVERSARY

The year 2000 is the 75th Anniversary of the Royal Australian Corps of Signals. Royal Signals traditionally sends a signal of greetings and best wishes to our sister Signals Corps, each year. For significant anniversaries, a suitable gift is made. The tradition is reciprocated, and on the Royal Signals' 75th anniversary, the Australians presented our Corps with the splendid Front Doors to our new Museum in Blandford. This year was to be no exception. For such an important anniversary, it was only right and proper that The Master of Signals should fly out to Australia to make the presentation in person, to the Royal Australian Corps of Signals' Representative Colonel Commandant – Brigadier Evans. The occasion was to be the Corps Dinner, in the home of Royal Australian Signals – The Army Communications Training Centre (ACommsTC), which is the Australian equivalent of The Royal School of Signals. ACommsTC is in Simpson Barracks, Macleod - a pleasant, green and open barracks in a suburb of Melbourne, 20 minutes Northeast of the Central Business District.

The Master presents the dial to Brig Evans, Representative Colonel Commandant of The Royal Australian Corps of Signals

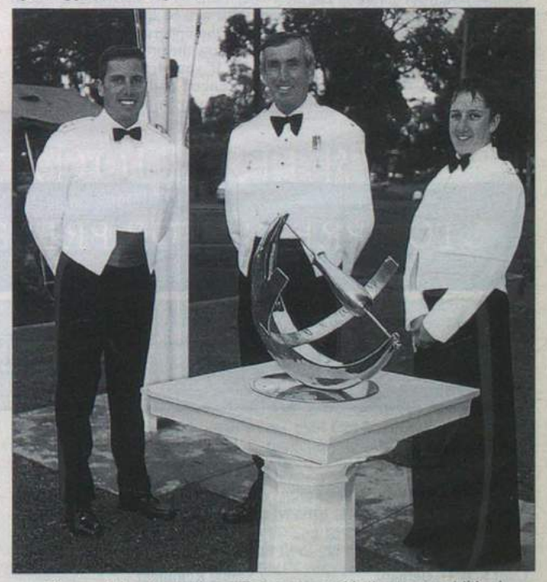
The presentation is to prove a constant symbol of our enduring relationship, with a sister Corps, whose fortunes, during so many conflicts, had been so closely entwined with our own. So what better than a timepiece, and for a sunny country like Australia, a large brass sundial seemed appropriate. For those of you who know something about sundials, this one is described as an Equatorial dial with an analemmatic gnomon.

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive

beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

A close-up of the dial

At times, the complexity of this project seemed to resemble the construction of the International Space Station. The List of Credits is as follows: The style of dial was invented by Maj Gen Oliver (late Royal Artillery) and patented in 1892. It revolutionised sundial accuracy, as due to its cunning design, it reads true time throughout the year – other dials can be up to 20 minutes out, as the seasons change. The presentation dial was designed by Mr David Brown of Bath, and crafted by Mr Silas Higgon in England. The dial was mounted on a plinth of Donybrook Marble from Western Australia, designed by Mr Arthur Andronas, one of Melbourne's acclaimed architects, and crafted by stonemason Mr Paul Smith, also of Macleod. The presentation and a short speech were made by The Master, Brigadier Evans responded, then the officers retired for the Corps' 75th Anniversary Dinner. With so many Australians and New Zealanders as a captive audience, The Master could not resist a few sporting jibes in his speech.



Some of the Australian officers pose with the 'new addition'
(L-R): Lt Peter Carey, Maj Dave Cave (2IC), Lt Danny Glatz

The rest of the dinner went as all good dinners do, and no tales need telling in this piece! The Masters' presence and the quality of the presentation helped cement our close relationship still closer.

For all of you who will be lucky enough to come to Melbourne in the future, either on Exercise Long Look or perhaps as the UK Exchange Instructor, you now know why there is a sundial engraved with the words 'Presented by the Royal Corps of Signals' in front of the Centre.

ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM - VOLUNTEER GUIDES

During 2000, in addition to the normal weekday opening, the museum opened at weekends from mid-February to the end of October. On these weekend and public holiday days it was operated by volunteers who manned the reception desk, sold shop goods and generally made visitors welcome by assisting them in their understanding of the various displays. On Friday, 17 November, 17 of these volunteers met at the Crown Hotel, Blandford, where the museum staff welcomed them to an 'end-of-season' dinner to thank them for their efforts.

In welcoming them, the volunteer coordinator, Lt Col Pat Soward, introduced Miss Stella McIntyre, the new curator, and welcomed Maj Roger Pickard, the recently retired curator (now restored to good health) and Mrs Danny Pickard who have offered their services as museum volunteers next year. He noted that the weekend takings of £21,380 in 2000 was 40% more than in 1999 - in spite of the museum being closed for two days in September due to the petrol shortage. This demonstrates that Mr Adam Forty, the Business Manager, has a marketing strategy that is attracting increasing numbers of paying visitors to the museum and that the volunteers are making a substantial contribution to the museum's income as well as having an enjoyable and rewarding day out. Lt Col Pat Soward made a point of welcoming Mrs Laurette Burton who has recently joined the growing number of volunteers working in the archives on research projects. We were delighted also to welcome Brig Burton in the unaccustomed role of 'Husband of! and as a museum trustee.

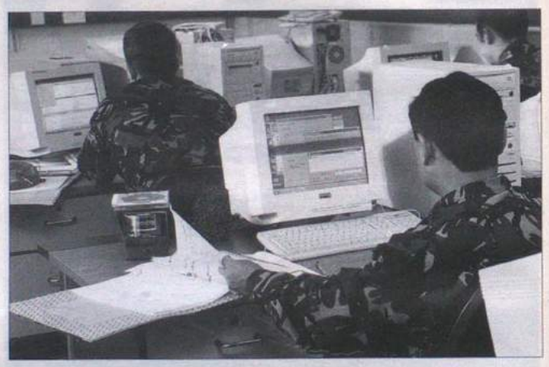
Col Cliff Walters, the Museum Director, noted with satisfaction that the museum was at last up to full strength and told volunteers of some of the detail changes being made to the displays in order to make better use of available space. He spoke of the introduction, over the winter months, of 'talking boxes' that will give visitors an audio commentary on some of the more important displays and of a touch-screen information terminal which is to be installed in the medal gallery. This will carry information on the medals on display and on those to whom the medals were awarded. Mr Adam Forty then spoke of his satisfaction in seeing our visitor numbers rising in spite of the general trend of falling museum visitor numbers. He spoke with enthusiasm about the growing success of the 'South West Motor Cycle Expo', a fund raising event sponsored by the museum, which is attracting TV coverage and burgeoning support. The Band Concert, featuring the Corps Bands and the Dorset Youth Orchestra was also popular and well supported. The Air Day at Compton Abbas unfortunately failed due to lack of sponsorship and will probably not be attempted again.

To conclude, Miss Karin Mountford, the Shop Manager, presented each volunteer with a blue coffee mug, suitably embellished with a gold 'Jimmy', as a memento to remind them, as she said, of the aggravation caused by the erratic operation of the canteen during 2000! There is always a need for volunteers to work in the museum, both as researchers on weekdays and to operate the museum at weekends. It is a very rewarding way to make use of experience gained during service in the Corps and anyone who lives within a reasonable distance of Blandford who would like more information is invited to telephone the Volunteer Coordinator on 01258-860647

STOP PRESS STOP PRESS STOP PRESS STOP PRESS

INFORMATION SYSTEMS OPERATORS

HQ SOinC(A) are only too aware of the current backlog of potential Information System Operators who have yet to receive their training. To overcome this, the Royal School of Signals has been allocated additional resources to provide three extra Information Systems Foundation courses. This will bring the total number of courses during the training year 2001/2002 to six, training a potential 72 Information Systems Operators. If YOU have been selected to attend an Information Systems Foundation course, and your name is on the roster held by R. SIGNALS, MCM Division in Glasgow, please be patient. You will be loaded onto a course as soon as it is possible. If you would like the opportunity to become an Information Systems Operator you must follow the procedures detailed in SOinC(A)'s Policy Directive Number 31. If you already have some IT qualifications, these can be cross-referenced and assist you on the selection board. Please contact your unit Yeoman of Signals/Training Officer for further details.



STOP PRESS STOP PRESS STOP PRESS STOP PRESS

MOVEMENTS

OFFICERS
DECEMBER

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Col P. B. Neale	HQ AG MIS
Lt Col P. J. Davies	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Lt Col A. E. Kendall	Directorate of Joint Warfare
Lt Col I. W. MacKenzie	OCE LAND
Lt Col G. J. T. Rafferty	DB(L) SPT
Capt S. E. G. Barnard	2 Signal Regiment
Capt B. M. Bingham	264 (SAS) Signal Squadron
Capt L. D. Burrell	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt M. J. Crinnion	Army Apprentices' College
Capt R. J. Farrimond	RMA Sandhurst
Capt L. Golley	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt A. Greenfield	9 Signal Regiment (Radio)
Capt G. Hodgson	2 Signal Regiment
Capt A. Scott	7 Signal Regiment
Capt S. G. Scott	34 (N) Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Capt A. T. W. Steele	7 Signal Regiment

OFFICERS
JANUARY

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Brig J. R. B. Cook	Dept of AG
Col C. L. Le Gallais OBE	HQ 11 Signal Brigade
Lt Col N. A. W. Pope	30 Signal Regiment
Lt Col R. A. Sharp	JSSU (AN)
Lt Col A. K. Trimble	Chief of Staff BDS
Lt Col D. J. Whitby	Information Infrastructure
Maj E. C. Dale	7 Signal Regiment (Corps Main HQ)
Capt B. M. Bingham	JHQ South
Capt J. B. Duckworth	7 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (207)
Capt J. R. Fradley	7 Signal Regiment
Capt M. Keech BEM	G6 HQ LAND

WOs & SNCOs
DECEMBER

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
WO1 FofS N. R. Henly	1 (UK) Div Signal Regiment

A/WO1 RD A. D. Young	31 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
A/WO1 YofS J. R. Knight	PJHQ (UK)
WO2 RD N. Fisher	30 Signal Regiment
WO2 YofS R. J. Darlington	30 Signal Regiment
SSgt P. D. Eldridge	16 Air Assault Brigade HQ
SSgt E. J. Head	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
SSgt P. R. Howson	Joint Support Group (NI)
SSgt D. P. Wilson	225 Signal Squadron
A/SSgt D. W. Burdus	The Royal School of Signals
A/SSgt P. S. Parkes	The Royal School of Signals
A/SSgt S. M. Schofield	30 Signal Regiment
Sgt P. A. Cooper	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt J. A. Harris	15 Signal Regiment
Sgt A. R. Kennedy	15 Signal Regiment
Sgt G. W. Lloyd	3 (UK) Div Signal Regiment
Sgt C. R. Pagett	20 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (200)
Sgt S. J. Pringle	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt S. R. Sale	8 CTT
Sgt J. E. Tanner	600 Signal Troop
A/Sgt P. A. Grundy	JSSU (FI)
A/Sgt J. B. Love	32 Regiment RA
A/Sgt D. J. McCall	30 Signal Regiment

WOs & SNCOs
JANUARY

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
WO1 D. L. Walker	The Royal School of Signals
A/WO1 RD G. A. Coffin	The Royal School of Signals
WO2 RD I. E. Evans	University of Wales OTC
WO2 RD J. R. Stillie	2 Signal Regiment
WO2 YofS P. J. Carey	15 Signal Regiment
A/WO2 RD A. C. Slack	249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))
SSgt L. C. R. Chapman	259 Signal Squadron
SSgt G. A. Greaves	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
SSgt J. P. Lawrence	16 Signal Regiment
SSgt N. L. L. Perham	HQ Royal Signals
SSgt K. J. Ripley	15 Signal Regiment
SSgt P. Rouse	12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228)
SSgt G. Steel	34 (Northern) Signal Regiment (V)
SSgt R. Turner	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
SSgt M. J. Yates	Comms Proj Div
A/SSgt B. D. Crosby	16 Signal Regiment
A/SSgt P. J. Graham	30 Signal Regiment
A/SSgt L. P. Hopkins	3 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (203)
A/SSgt D. J. Keenan	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
A/SSgt N. J. Smith	UNICOM
A/SSgt R. P. Williams	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt K. Allen	HQ Royal Signals
Sgt T. P. Blakeley	7 Parachute RHA
Sgt A. I. Bremner	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt D. M. Butler	36 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt I. J. Chappell	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt B. A. Clark	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt J. P. Cordery	7 Signal Regiment
Sgt A. Crabtree	36 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt K. L. Crawford	249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))
Sgt T. J. Croxon	RTMC
Sgt G. R. Dearden	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt C. D. Doick	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt K. Ellams	36 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt L. S. Ford	2 Signal Regiment
Sgt S. Hamilton	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt D. Hansen	30 Signal Regiment
Sgt A. W. Haslam	20 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (200)
Sgt C. L. King	SHAPE Regional Signal Group
Sgt P. S. Kinsey	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Sgt A. J. P. Lynch	7 CTT
Sgt S. A. Marriott	7 Signal Regiment
Sgt R. B. Moore	21 Signal Regiment (AS)
Sgt B. B. Newton	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Sgt S. R. Phillips	Air Warfare Centre (AE)
Sgt M. P. Pryce	12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228)
Sgt S. J. Robinson	4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (204)
Sgt N. Ruff	259 Signal Squadron
Sgt G. Sinclair	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt D. A. Skingley	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt J. L. Sowden	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt M. Stoneman	JCUFI (AE)
Sgt M. J. Swanson	5 Battalion REME
Sgt A. Tye	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
Sgt S. R. White	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt D. J. Wilson	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
A/Sgt S. H. Ayers	225 Signal Squadron
A/Sgt J. C. W. Baxter	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt P. S. Belcher	The Royal School of Signals
A/Sgt K. J. Betts	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
A/Sgt J. Chambers	225 Signal Squadron
A/Sgt S. A. Clarke	7 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt S. M. Foster	259 Signal Squadron
A/Sgt G. T. Gibson	39 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (213)
A/Sgt A. J. M. Giffen	20 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (200)
A/Sgt M. K. Hopkins	225 Signal Squadron
A/Sgt P. A. Jenkinson	7 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt K. Langan	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt S. D. Link	7 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (207)
A/Sgt D. J. McCall	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt M. R. McMullan	AAC Arborfield
A/Sgt S. L. McNeil	280 (UK) Signal Squadron
A/Sgt A. J. Mitchell	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt R. A. O'Neill	The Royal School of Signals
A/Sgt G. G. Overend	7 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt A. I. Piper	ATR Bassingbourn
A/Sgt S. J. Reeves	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
A/Sgt A. Richardson	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt D. A. Royle	7 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt W. Scarrott	RMA Sandhurst
A/Sgt N. R. Smith	16 Air Assault Brigade HQ
A/Sgt A. C. Torrington	642 Signal Troop

NEWS FROM HEADQUARTERS

HEADQUARTERS SIGNAL OFFICER IN CHIEF (ARMY)

ROYAL SIGNALS MOBILE PRESENTATION TEAM
Team OC Capt Mike Morton
Team SNCO Sgt Martin Hunt

As the Royal Signals Mobile Presentation Team (MPT) is due to expand we thought it would be a good idea to inform the Corps of what we actually get upto, as it has not been very well advertised in the past. The team is based at the School of Signals, and from there deploys on a regular basis to various parts of the UK delivering various presentations and running exercises for different age groups at many different schools and colleges. Normally we hit a town or city for one or two weeks, trying to squeeze as many presentations as possible into the time allocated to us. What we do depends on the venue; space allocated, time given, age group, and as the team has such a rapid turn over of personnel (One-year tour) new ideas and presentations are being developed day by day. With the lack of kit available to us, it is very much beg and borrow, and making do with what we can get hold of. Having said that most departments within Blandford are very helpful to us, and all members of the team need to remain flexible and adaptable.

We have just returned from a two-week tour of the Liverpool area, where we had a great response from the scouse kids. Having stayed at Dale Barracks in Chester, each school was a fair trip away and most days we managed to put in a good 12-16 hour day. The presentations went well, a simple yes or no answer was quite often dragged out into a 30 minute briefing by Capt Morton, but he did manage to get a fan club of girls at most schools. Cpl Shane Hodgson enjoyed the trip, although most of the time he was getting a lot of agro from the team about his ginger hair, which is now renowned through out Liverpool, and the school kids are now well aware that with equal opportunities the Corps is willing to accept 'Gingers', and to be a Spec Op a bulb shaped head is not required but can be an advantage. Keep Smiling Cpl Hodgson, Santa might bring you some hair dye! The weekend in the middle was much needed R + R, Friday night saw a few beers in Chester, where Cpl Chris Umney thought it would be a good idea to try recruiting a few girls, and giving them his career profile in a busy pub! Cpl Umney also likes to tell the kids about his qualifications, especially his driving skills, one of which is that he holds his HAZMAT license, and that he knows all about fuels and gasses. He demonstrated this to the Team by filling a diesel vehicle with unleaded! Then it was good team bonding, sucking petrol through a straw for three hours. Sgt Martin Hunt had quite a good trip, as we a had a liaison member attached to the team who was from Liverpool, and he escorted us to and from the schools, so fortunately the team didn't have to rely on Sgt Hunt's map reading. The second week was quite tiring, and Sgt Hunt managed to frighten a few kids into joining up when he got confused and thought he was back at Bassingbourn, treating some of the kids more like recruits, but it was all taken in good spirit.

Overall Liverpool was a Success, The team's spirits are very high and we sell the Royal Signals very well to both teachers and students. We're looking forward to April, the second MPT will be formed and ready for action, and throughout next year vacancies will be opening to replace current team members. It is a high profile job and all of the team enjoy it, so if you reckon you've got what it takes to give presentations and run exercises and handle 30 – 50 screaming school kids for a day, then keep an eye out for the signals asking for volunteers, and get yourself over here for an interview.

Back Rpw (L-R): Cpl Hodgson, Cpl Umney
Front Row (L-R): Capt Morton, Sgt Hunt

COMMAND SUPPORT DEVELOPMENT EQUIPMENT ISSUES

The big development was the announcement in Parliament on 27 November 2000 that the competition for the preferred contractor for Project Cormorant had been won by Nortel Networks Global Professional Services (Defence) (also known as Cogent). Cormorant will provide a new communications capability to the JRRF. It will equip the JTFHQ and associated headquarters with an up to date system mounted on the Bucher Duro platform. It will inter-operate with Ptarmigan and other in-service equipment currently in use by UK and Allies. A production contract should be let in January 2001 and delivery of the equipment is anticipated from May 2001 onwards. An Initial Operating Capability will be in place by November 2001, sufficient to support a small-scale operation, and a Full Operating Capability will be delivered by end 2003. Cormorant will be issued to 2 Sig Regt and 30 Sig Regt. The Cormorant Introduction Unit will be based with 2 Sig Regt.

FALCON - Falcon will replace Ptarmigan, Euromux and the RAF RTTS system. Invitations to tender have already been issued and a down select of contractor is expected in summer 2001. Trials are planned to take place in 2003, with an initial tranche to be issued to HQ ARRC in 2004 with subsequent increments to include divisional and brigade slices in 2008.

MAPPS & GPTAP - Mobile Access to Primary Packet Switching (MAPPS) and General Purpose Trunk Access Port (GP TAP) will provide PPS and limited trunk connectivity at modified SCRA Centrals thus avoiding the need to deploy significant elements of Ptarmigan to support exercises or small scale operations. Trials are underway now and an in-service reliability demonstration is planned for 2001. A total of 30 SCRA Centrals will be converted of which 15 will be in the air-portable role mounted on Pinzgauer vehicles. 21 Sig Regt (AS) will be the first to receive this equipment (4) and distribution across the rest of the Corps will be as follows; 1 UK Div (6), 2 Sig Regt (4), 3 Div (6), 16 Sig Regt (6), RSS (3), LSRC (1).

SATCOM - A down select of two consortia, Paradigrn and Rosetta, have been invited to tender proposals for a Private Finance Initiative for SKYNET V. Although full details are not yet available both consortia would procure and own the satellites and would provide a pre-determined range and level of services to Defence. They have expressed an interest in taking on the ownership, operation and support of UK satellite ground terminals and, dependent upon negotiations would supply some of the deployable terminals. The consortia will submit their proposals in January 2001. The new satellites would be placed in orbit late 2005/mid 2006.

UK/TSC 503 - The UK/TSC 503 has had a number of technical problems to overcome. It is now anticipated that the system will enter service in two modes. One will be an SF-role Rapid Deployable Terminal with a 2m dish and the other an HQ role Full Capability Terminal with 4m dish. It is due to enter service in 2001.

BOWMAN - After the withdrawal of 'Preferred Bidder' status from the Archer consortium the Bowman Project was re-competed to industry. The Invitation to tender was let on 4 November 2000 to three prime contractors; Computing Devices Canada; Thomson-Racal and TRW. Bids will be received by February 2001 and Main Gate is anticipated for Summer 2001. The current plan assumes a trials brigade to be equipped, trained and ready to conduct trials over the period 2003-04 subject to selected proposal.

The Personal Role Radio was separated from the main Bowman contract and is expected to achieve an In Service Date of March 2002. This will provide a low-level tactical radio that is insecure and with limited range. Marconi has been selected as the preferred supplier, subject to satisfactory contract negotiation and it is anticipated that the first radios will be delivered in 2001.

INFORMATION OPERATIONS

Or Oh Lord! - Not another set of abbreviations! (A piece in lighter vein from Command Support Development)

Now that we have all overcome the post Christmas/New Year lethargy, and the kids have finally accepted that there really is a world shortage of the batteries that run the Furby, the time has come to apply our minds to some developments which are having an increasingly significant effect on the way that we work. The aim of this short article is to try to chart a way through. yet another set of gobbledegook and initials which has recently arrived on the scene and with which we in R SIGNALS will have to become familiar. In other words, what follows could be regarded as a 'Pitch-writer's Guide to the Lexicon'! (With apologies to Douglas Adams.)

Firstly some history: at the end of Operation Desert Storm it was realised that the concerted attacks on the Iraqi Command and Control Systems, which had proved so successful in paralysing, and eventually leading to the defeat of the enemy forces on the battlefield, merited being taken into doctrine. The result, devised in the US, was the concept of Command and Control Warfare (C2W). C2W recognised that the Command and Control process is vital to the successful prosecution of an operational plan. You will remember that it is represented diagrammatically by a building of five pillars representing the activities of Physical Destruction, OPSEC, PsyOps, Deception and EW; the whole standing on a foundation of All Source Intelligence and CIS. There is a frequently held misconception that those seven aspects were the only components of C2W. This, of course, was not the case, the intention being to merely represent the broadest spectrum of the operational art. It is possibly better to understand C2W in the form of 'C2 Provide', 'C2 Protect' and 'C2 Attack', which terms are self-explanatory. From the Corps' point of view, friendly C2 must be provided (the provision of C2 bearers is our core business after all). Our C2 must be protected (ask any Yeoman about Crypto and the like), and the enemy C2 is ripe for exploitation and attack, ask 14 Sig Regt (EW). Don't forget also that there are many others in the C2W business in the form of recce troops and Gunners, to name but two.

C2W was fairly slow to catch on. The fact that one of its major tenets is to achieve the aim by whatever means is most suitable, preferably using the minimum force, wasn't always given as much weight as one might have hoped. The other two services tended to continue business as usual, perhaps applying a little more thought to the conundrum 'in which order do we destroy things?' In the Army, no one could really see what was so special about it. The Gunners had been knocking command posts around for as long as any one could remember, and eavesdropping on others' communications and doing our best to disrupt them wasn't exactly new. Besides which, the Royal Regiment was understandably blowed if it was going to let some damned Signaller, who couldn't see the target anyway, tell them how and where to shoot their guns. This aside, as a concept, it also lacked the subtlety that was essential if the principles were to be applied above the operational (two star for the sake of this argument) level of command. With the increasing national interest in computer security, in which the MOD was playing a significant part, it was time to tackle the problem in a different way.

It became apparent that it was the information being passed by, and stored within, the C2 system that would make a more worthwhile target. Indeed it could be construed that information was a dimension in its own right and within which operations could be conducted. Thus was born Information Operations. As with C2W, Information Operations (not Information Warfare - that was tried for a while but, remembering that we need to develop a concept which is equally applicable for the military, the government and UK plc, it was thought to be too far too aggressive) can be divided into several sub-disciplines. The overall doctrine is still very much in its infancy so we won't attempt to quote definitions here, however, it does split neatly into 'Offensive' and 'Defensive Information Operations'. Relating back to the components of C2W, the aspects of 'C2 Attack', namely ECM Jamming, Physical Destruction, PsyOps and a possible new activity called Computer Network Attack (authorised hacking to you and I - should they ever approve it!) all fit nicely into Offensive IO (OIO). To complete that side of the process, Information gained from all forms of ISTAR (Intelligence, Surveillance, Target Acquisition and Reconnaissance) provides the information generation aspect that hadn't really been included under C2W.

On the other hand, Defensive IO (DIO) includes all the old 'C2 Protect' and 'C2 Provide' functions and adds the newer capabilities of 'Computer Emergency Response Teams' (CERT) and Red Teams, who test our CIS security by trying to penetrate (hacking again!) our systems from the outside. The most important part of DIO is 'Information Assurance' (IA), which is often used as an alternative title to DIO. Like a well known brand of varnish, it 'means just what it says on the label'. IA is essentially the process of ensuring that the information arrives in the right place, in the right time, in the right, available, format, having come over robust, secure bearers. Something of a mouthful but, if you stop to think, there is very little which we would not class as 'good system engineering practice' and much which those of us who are involved in the provision of CIS circuits should be doing anyway. So there is one part of IO that we already know all about and whether we actually practice it as well as we should, we will leave to individual consciences! In the field, whilst we are all used to ensuring that a new location is free of the enemy we must now ensure that its electronically secure as well. Looking for spurious wiring and the like will be within the gift of most of us but any more than that and other aspects of IA are specialist. CERT, Red Teaming and the more sophisticated search techniques will require the highest level of expertise and will be at the cutting edge of computer technology. It will probably be the province of the TA where we can harness commercial, state of the art, experts.

The more discerning amongst you will have noticed that we have said very little on OIO. You will not be surprised to read that that was quite intentional; not because we wish to be coy but on the grounds that the doctrine has yet to be set out. What is certain, is that the components of C2W are alive and well and being practiced under the new name of IO at the operational level and below. When the doctrine becomes clearer you will be told.

(On a completely serious note for a moment IO is going to have a major effect upon all aspects of future operations. Everything that relies on the very existence of information, let alone its transmission, will have to exist within an all encompassing regime of IO. In particular, we in R SIGNALS will no longer be just the providers of data highways, or the engineers of speech circuits. However, we will have to become the experts in ALL aspects of data and information management from its generation through its fusion, transmission, manipulation and storage to its security. The rest of the Army (and probably the other services too) will be relying on us to take the lead).

In the meantime DON'T PANIC!

ROYAL SIGNALS INSPECTION TEAM HEADQUARTERS LAND COMMAND

PERSONALITIES

OC Maj (TOT) Gig Plumb
FofS WO2 (FofS) Marston-Weston

A NEW BEGINNING

With the arrival of a new OC and along with it a new regime it has been decided that it is about time the Wire included a few notes from RSIT. The team bid farewell to the outgoing OC RSIT, Capt Marcus Sulivan whose last inspection took the team to Kosovo for a seven day full board package including sun, duty frees and photo opportunities aplenty. Good luck and all the best to Capt Marcus Sulivan on his MSc at Blandford and a warm welcome to the new OC RSIT, Maj Gig Plumb and his family, who took over the fixtures and fittings (including Sgt John 'Victor Meldrew' Payne) before setting out on the September 2000 tour.

ON TOUR SEPTEMBER 2000

A busy programme for September saw RSIT visit 34 Sig Regt (V) in the sunny Northeast, 30 Sig Regt, Royal School of Signals and 1 (UK) ADSR. The trip to 34 Sigs was made worthwhile by Sgt John Payne sharing his wisdom stating, 'You don't realise how flat the North of England is until you get to the top of one of these hills.' Both 30 Sig Regt and RSS trips were spiced up with the culinary delights of Gurhka cuisine thanks to the excellent choices of Sgt Suren Rai and Sgt Lal Gaha. Whether or not Sgt Paul Hughes and WO2 (FofS) Andy Marston-Weston will ever enjoy the sense of taste again hangs in the balance having fought a close battle in the 'Let's see who can eat the most raw chillis' contest. By the time the team hit Herford a real partnership was beginning to form between the new OC and FofS, on the golf course that is, with the.OC amazed by WO2 FofS Andy 'Ronseal' Marston-Weston's ability to do exactly what it says on the course. Herford also saw the beginning of TOTy's hour for RSIT. Horse riding was the teams (OC's) choice for the first of many TOTy's hours. The noise of trotting horses was drowned out by the screams of, 'I'll get you back for this!' from Sgt Tim Mayner who plotted his revenge whilst clinging on for dear life. As September drew to a close, the RSIT team rode off into the sunset and landlords across the North of England and Herford counted their takings from Maj Gig 'Just one more" Plumb and his posse.

Top: Capt Sulivan, WO2 (FofS) Marston-Weston, Sgt Hughes, Sgt Mayner
On the ground: Sgt Payne

HEADQUARTERS 11 SIGNAL BRIGADE

Comd Brig J. R. B. Cook
COS Maj R. P. Wilson

HAIL & FAREWELL

The only changes from September to the end of the year are in the Ops Room. We bade farewell to Maj Jim Foulkes and Claire who have departed on resettlement prior to joining civi-street. Best wishes for your MSc and many thanks for all your work on the Balkans commercialisation project. Maj Duncan Parkinson has assumed the appointment of SO2 Ops, and happily will not be deployed to Theatre, but remain in the Headquarters and actually do some Operations work. We welcome back into the fold Capts John Hiorns and Al Garrett from their time in Bosnia/Kosovo. The Ops Room also welcomes WO1 (YofS) Mark Whiting (on promotion) and his wife Maria and SSgt 'Ray' King, who has arrived without his wife, but whom we are expecting to be posted to Donnington in December. Maj (Tfc) 'Dick' Gamble was promoted from Captain, which will hopefully give him sufficient money to buy the champagne. WO1 (YofS) 'Pierre' Pardew left us on promotion to Captain to the sunny climes of Corsham and DCSA. Best of luck Graham and many thanks for all that you have done for the Brigade.

PROJECT CORMORANT

WO2 (FofS) 'Band 7' Stowell, has recently remained uncharacteristically discrete as the bidding process for the TWACN project was nearing completion. The preferred bidder for Project Cormorant (TWACN) has been announced as NORTEL Networks. This now permits detailed discussion in order to finalise the award of contract, which is due to be signed in January 2001. The first batch of equipment will be delivered to 2 Sig Regt in mid January to allow trials and training. The aim is to have the first declared operational assets with 30 Sig Regt in January 2002. The first tranche is planned to be sufficient to support a small-scale deployment. The rollout programme is due for completion in November 2003, by which stage, hopefully, 2 and 30 Sig Regts will hold sufficient equipment to support two medium scale operations. The current focus for Project Cormorant is to put into place the training required for the conversion of the nominated units. This will include AS Op conversion for up to 400 soldiers in 2 and 30 Sig Regts plus underpinning knowledge to allow them to operate this 'state of the art' technology. Driver conversion training will also have to be undertaken in order to convert to the new BUCHER DURO vehicle. This is a major task, that 2 Sig Regt (as the introductory unit) is fully focussed upon. It is a very exciting time for the Brigade, with new equipment and the challenge of expeditionary operations. The future is bright – the future is 11 Signal Brigade.

BALKANS COMMERCIALISATION

Since the last update, the commercialisation efforts in both Bosnia and Kosovo have peaked with the acceptance into service of the projects, with the exception of the mobile capability (Project Dagger); this has been delayed due to a fundamental design review. Just to quickly refresh your memories, an outline of the projects follows:

BGs and other brigade locations with three networks:
- BLUE – which will provide KFOR SECRET voice/data communications between HQ MNB (C), BGs and other brigade locations. This is the bearer for the Op AGRICOLA Theatre Information System (OATIS).
- BLACK – which will provide UNCLASSIFIED voice communications between all major BRITFOR locations. It will provide access to DFTS, PTT and KFOR PN.
- RED – which will provide UK SECRET voice/data communications to HQ BRITFOR and the APOD.

POLYGON - This project was delivered in three tranches:
- Tranche 1 – Provides the UK Pristina BG and military emergency services, mobile radio communications system, to overcome limitations and poor coverage of Clansman within Pristina City.
- Tranche 2 – Extends the POLYGON solution MNB (C) AOR wide, to remove the requirement for R SIGNALS on hill top sites and manning unit rear links.
- Tranche 3 – The updating of the handsets delivered with Tranche 1.

Bosnia - MYRA – To provide trunk connectivity between HQ MND (SW), BGs and other divisional assets. It is to replace the EUROMUX network and will reduce the requirement to man hill top sites. There will be three networks:
- BLUE – which will provide SFOR SECRET voice/data communications between HQ MND (SW) and its BG locations. There is the capability to leave this system in place should another nation assume framework nation responsibilities.
- BLACK – which will provide UNCLASSIFIED voice communications between all major BRITFOR locations. It will provide access to DFTS, PTT and SFOR PN.
- RED – which will provide UK SECRET voice/data communications to BRITFOR locations.

DAGGER - SFOR SECRET communications to support the requirements of the deployed Div and BG Tac HQs – now to connect into MYRA BLUE. Div HQ requires 16 voice channels and 64 kbit/s data access into OLTIS, whilst BG HQs require a single voice and file-transfer capability.
CURCH - A simplex VHF voice communications system to support aviation safety throughout the AOR.
LATTICE – Resilient, insecure communications at Divisional level, in addition to the fixed infrastructure, to enable the rapid reporting of incidents.
LOGAN – Resilient NATO Confidential communications at Divisional level, in addition to the fixed infrastructure, to support the point to point requirements of MND (SW) Liaison Officers.

Key points at this time are:
- In MND (SW) the BRITFOR Sig Sqn handed over to the BRITFOR Sig Tp on 28 September 2000 thus reducing R SIGNALS commitment in Bosnia from approx 300 to 50. Work is ongoing with the new proposed MNB (C) Sig Sqn establishment; however, manpower savings should be approximately 40.
- In MNB (C) PTARMIGAN Light, closed on 21 November 2000 and the equipment was shipped back to units by sea on 8 December 2000.
- The requirement for deployable mobile comms for HQs (DAGGER) has been delayed due to a design review that will see the provision of leased Land Rovers with Civ SATCOM to Bosnia. Kosovo will receive the vehicle less the SATCOM element. The multiplexing equipment will also be housed in the leased vehicle (similar to news/media equipment). BAE SYSTEMS are aiming for January 2001 as an ISD for this element of the commercialisation programme.
- After a period of instability that led to a lack of user confidence in POLYGON, the system has regained ground in the eyes of the user in theatre and is acknowledged as providing a major improvement on CLANSMAN coverage. The system remains accredited for KFOR RESTRICTED but will not gain CONFIDENTIAL accreditation in its current form.
- ACPO completed installation of infrastructure cabling in Dec 00 in Kosovo and will do so by March 2001 in Bosnia. HQ LAND G6 have endorsed configuration control procedures with CPD Blandford to ensure the maintenance of the high standards of installation achieved over the last year.

The 11 Signal Brigade Commercialisation Implementation Team formally ceased to exist on 31 October 2000. This has come as a great relief to the SO2 Ops who can now task his long absent SO3, Capt Al Garrett with day to day brigade business. However, theatre G6 staff have not seen the last of Capt John Hiorns, who will continue to be involved with the delivery of Project DAGGER equipment to both theatres until the end of January 2001. The whole process of implementation has been a great success. Both Kosovo and Bosnia are now served with high grade, reliable, modern, commercial solutions delivering CIS that are a vast improvement on the systems previously deployed. This success would not have been possible without the tireless support provided to the projects over the last 12 months. Particular thanks are extended to three people and organisations: Maj 'Noddy ' Baugh of ACPO with his band of Telemechs, 600 Sig Tp who on more than one occasion deployed to both theatres with less than 24 hours notice, and finally WO2 (FofS) 'Mick' Dighton of CPD, who having seen his original concepts develop over the last two years, is busy catching up on resettlement for his future life as a civilian.

BRIGADE STUDY PERIOD

The annual 11 Sig Bde Study Period was held on 18-19 November 2000 at Donnington. The theme this year was 'Ends, Means and Ways'. The weekend started with a look at the 'Ends', or in other words Military Capability. Capt Alex Fennell and Lt 'Mogs' Southern gave excellent presentations from 30 Sig Regt on their experiences in East Timor and Sierra Leone. An informative briefing followed this, on the commercialisation of the Balkans by Capt (TOT) John Hiorns. The session was completed by a pictorial walkthrough of Op Waterfowl, by WO2 (YofS) 'Nat' Jennings from 2 Sig Regt. Op Waterfowl was the flood relief operation conducted in York and the surrounding area. After this whetting of the appetite (no pun intended) and some keen debate during questions, the programme moved onto the 'Means' section. The COS, Maj 'Wacko' Wilson updated the audience on the peculiarity of the OPCOM status of 11 Signal Brigade TA units, the difference in Readiness States between the Brigade TA units and the ARRC requirement and a number of training issues. The DCOS, Maj Steve Hunt, continued with a briefing on the recent TA Establishment Review and this was followed by an introduction to Cormorant by Capt 'Rus' Lifton from 2 Sig Regt. This section, not surprisingly, led to some heated debate prior to the lunch break. The remainder of the weekend was given over to the 'Ways', focusing in on the TA element of the Brigade. The audience was split into syndicates on Saturday afternoon to discuss a number of topics. These covered areas such as Mobilisation, Readiness States, Improving the TA and Regular Army interface and ways to motivate TA Class 2 tradesmen/women to attend Class 1 courses.

After an opportunity to change into Mess Kit, the Key Note Address on Creating a Mobilisation Culture was delivered by the Brigadier TA, Brig John Thompson. Following questions and an early impromptu performance by the pipes, the assembled masses of some 107 Regular and TA Officers and Warrant Officers followed the piper over to the Mess for dinner, which was magnificently organised by Maj 'Rab' Young.

For some, the next morning was a bit of a blur, particularly those that had only finished in the bar at 5:00am! Most resumed their seats, although some syndicates appeared a little thin on the ground. Brig TA was obviously impressed by the level of debate and was observed to ask for additional paper when he reached the end of his notebook.

The weekend was concluded by a joint presentation on the Corps After Next (CAN), by Col Force Development, Col Dennis Mills and Col TA, Col Douglas McClay, both of whom came up from HQ SoinC (A) to update us on the Corp's vision for the future. Overall, the weekend provided rich debate, sore heads and an increasing depth of understanding between the Regular and TA troops of the Brigade.

NEWS OF TRAINING

11 SIGNAL REGIMENT

11 SIGNAL REGIMENT
LIFE AS A PHASE TWO TRAINEE AT RSS, BLANDFORD
A TRAINEES' VIEW

The sleepy county of Dorset is host to the Phase 2 Training Centre for the Royal Corps of Signals, where the fresh new recruits are subject to the months of trade training that await them. Upon arrival at 11 Sig Regt recruits are shown the delights of Blandford Camp such as the Denbury Bowl, The Forum Cinema, and the fantastic cookhouse (which is somewhat better than back in basic training). They are then introduced to the Kohima Tp staff who will be their mother and father figures for the following weeks. Here they learn the basic signalling skills and how to keep their heads down and their boots highly polished. They are then sent to their respective Troops where they will learn their trade and the pride to have in their Troop. This pride makes the Harrogate Cup sporting competition very competitive. The chosen few (the Operators) soon find themselves at the Army School of Driving at Leconsfield before finally qualifying in trade to be able to wear the 'coveted Jimmy' stable belt. The Technicians who will have spent a year or more learning their trade will learn to drive in the driving school on camp and on completion of their driving they are promoted to Lance Corporals. From Blandford everyone goes onto their chosen units, where they become an asset to the Royal Corps of Signals.

GORDONS CUP 2000 - by Sig Grounds & SigWorthington – 3 Sqn

Remembrance weekend had arrived and with it the rain and the wind as promised. The 12 motivated 'volunteers' – all Phase 2 Trainees – met up with the other Troop teams for the briefing on the next 24 hours of activities. Each team was made up of 12 Signallers, including two reserves. Ulster Tp, 3 Sqn's team comprised of Sig 'Benny' Bikal, Sig 'Rodney' Rudra, Sig 'Paddy' Padam, Sig Feldman, Sig Adamson, Sig Page, Sig Simpkins, Sig Finnie, Sig 'Do we have to run?' Worthington and Sig Grounds (our illustrious leader) – standbys included Sig 'Davey' Dipendra and Sig Whitehouse to complete the line up. Never before had 3 (Harrogate) Sqn won this highly fought for Military Skills competition and this was going to be a real test. After a few refresher sessions led by Sgt 'Buck' Rogers and Cpl 'Wedgy' Wedge, confidence levels were high and the possibility of sneaking the title from the Combat Trade Squadron was looking like it could become a reality.

After a non-tactical night in the woods to the rear of the Military Training Wing, (certainly the earliest Friday night in bed since arriving at Blandford for all taking part) the event got underway. As the teams laid their kit out for inspection the heavens opened and the tone was set for the remainder of the day. The torrential downpour ensured the teams knew they were in for a physically and mentally demanding competition over the next six hours.

The kit inspection signalled the start of the event and by 0900hrs the teams had gone their separate ways and were now facing the first of the six stands. The teams moved around the course, spending 50 minutes at each stand before moving on to face the next test of military skills and to examine the team spirit that existed amongst the now very wet volunteers. The rain continued to fall all day as the teams progressed undertaking activities in Military/Civil Knowledge, Endurance, Shooting (5.56mm rifle and 12 Bore Shot Gun), Map reading (practical & theory), Leadership (command task) and the SAT Range (various scenarios). These stands had been purposely spaced around Blandford Camp and each team was armed with a map highlighting the route that was to be followed. Extra points could be picked up for the time taken to move between stands.

The competition was drawing to a close and all the teams made their way to the deciding event, the assault course. Cold, tired, wet and both physically and mentally drained, the captains tried their best to motivate their troops for one last push. After a quick check on the points Ulster Tp realised their chance of picking up the trophy for winning section was now a real possibility. A good team effort was required as they took on Beaufighter Tp (2 Sqn) watched by several hundred cheering supporters. Ulster Tp succeeded in finishing their heat first but along with the remaining teams were given a lesson on how to negotiate the course by Lightning Tp (3 Sqn) who put together an almost flawless performance demonstrating the sheer effectiveness of true team spirit.

Lt Col Nicholson, CO, 11 Sig Regt was there to make the presentation and preceded the prize giving with a few words of congratulations at the effort put in by organisers and volunteers in such dreadful storm conditions. The announcement was made and the cheers rang out as Ulster Tp were announced the 'Winning Section' of the 'Gordons Cup Military Skills Competition 2000.' The consistent performance by Lightning Tp also ensured that 3 Sqn had achieved their aim and could now celebrate as overall winners of the Gordons Cup. The competition was outstanding and proved highly successful. The victory was a great reward for all the team's efforts.

CHILDREN IN NEED 17 NOVEMBER 2000 - by SSgt D. J. Smith
1 SQUADRON, 11 SIGNAL REGIMENT – CAR WASH

Unusually, it was a quiet week in Blandford after the previous few weeks of activities such as the drill competition, Gordon's Cup military skills competition and Remembrance Parade. Suddenly it dawned on me that something was wrong. Arrrgh!!!!!!! Children in Need! 'That's an idea', I thought. A deviously simple plan came to mind. Ask everyone who parks on Anson Square Car Park for one pound and we'll wash their car, simple. Appeal to people's better nature and they'll donate money to charity. Who was I trying to kid? By the time most people reached the car park they claimed to have donated so much money to charities recently that a second mortgage was required. A change of tactics was in order so with scenes reminiscent of the cold war, 1 Sqn set up 'Checkpoint Pudsey'. Mission:

1) Stop the car as it goes in, try to receive a donation.
2) Enquire extremely politely if the owner would be prepared to abandon his car close to 12 cold soldiers who were trying to do their charitable duty.
3) Give the impression that the vehicle might mysteriously suffer a few flat tyres or get covered in dirty washing water if driver uncooperative.

Check-Point Pudsey manned by
Cpl Sheridan, Sig Foster, Sig Gibson, Sig Burchell

Needless to say the day went extremely well. That is until a pristine metallic blue BMW appeared. Nice car, I thought, obviously someone's pride and joy. Needs a little more work, however, to get it just right. Enter the RSM. 'Hello Sir,' I said. 'Staff, why is my car dirtier now than when I gave it to the lad's?' 'Your car sir?' I said looking for a hole to dive in, 'Yes Staff, MY car.' Fortunately the RSM took it very well despite nearly having a heart attack. The next thing that brightened up the day was the sight of the OC 1 Sqn, Maj J. Howes of the Royal Canadian Signals, washing my car saying, 'Staff, are you sure this is a British tradition?' Without missing a beat I said 'Yes Sir.' Smartly getting out of the way before someone told the OC the truth. The day went exceptionally well with the Squadron raising £231.93 for the Children in Need appeal. Thanks must go to everyone who donated and to all those people without whose help this would not have been possible.

'Sir you've missed a spot!'

PLEASE NOTE

THE COST OF YOUR WIRE IS NOW £12 PER ANNUM - £2 PER COPY

IF YOU HAVE PAID £9 BY CHEQUE THIS YEAR WE WILL BE LOOKING FOR A FURTHER £3
THANK YOU IN ANTICIPATION

BLANDFORD CAMP BIDS A FINAL FAREWELL TO YET ANOTHER OF ITS LANDMARKS

by SSgt Oldcroft (Garrison SQMS), and the last soldier ever to enter those dark walls

We know you're in there!

As the search for the final occupant of Anson Towers continued it was reported that no brick would be left unturned until the final soldier was found. It seems that every soldier within the Corps who had ever had the misfortune to live within its dark and damp walls, would rejoice in the knowledge that it was, at last, on its way down. Although the last ever occupant may never be known, whoever ot was must be happy in the knowledge that he will never have the misfortune of returning and will complete his training in the luxury of one of the new buildings. Known as 'Castle Grey Skull', it was the last of the old style accommodation blocks left within the Garrison. Its demolition started on 13 November 2000 and the final wall fell ten days later. As is the way within Blandford Camp the valued real estate left by its demolition will soon be replaced by the final part of the new build, the completion date is to be sometime in May 2001.

IRON TROOP, 2 SQUADRON - INITIATIVE AND SURVIVAL

Fourteen members of Iron Tp had their initiative and survivability tested on a recent 72 hour exercise. They were equipped with painters overalls and lace-less boots and dropped off in teams of two at various towns throughout the South of England.

Tasks that they had to complete included:
Meet Mayor,MP, or Famous Person
Get on local radio
Sit in a Porsche
Sing Kareoke in public
Overnight in a posh hotel
Be pictured with a local sports team
Milk a cow/goat
Attend a wedding
Get your fingerprints taken
Handcuff a policeman
Hit a ball on the 18th
All teams had to meet at ENDEX on the Isle of Wight
The exercise was aimed at raising money for the RNLI

Holby City? You told us Bristol!

Throughout the Exercise the teams met with surprisingly helpful and supportive people. Highlights included the policeman who was an ex Guardsman-total co-operation, appearing on Millennium FM Radio and being offered flights to Southampton, and joining the cast of TVs Casualty on location. A total of approximately £2000 was raised for the RNLI.

Gary and Gareth tie the knot!

PIPES & DRUMS TRAINING/ BLANDFORD CAMP

by (Pipe Major) LCpl Paul Tweedley

The Royal Corps of Signals Pipes and Drums are administered and managed by 32 Sig Regt (V) from RHQ in Glasgow. During recent years the popularity of the Band and requests for pipers to play at dinner nights has grown dramatically. The only drawback the band has, is that unlike other army bands, it is not centralised, and its playing members are located at different units throughout the world.

Piping and drumming as a hobby at Blandford Camp is still very much on going. Since last summer however, the number of attending trainees has depleted slightly, with a lot of the pipers posted. The aim of myself and Cpl 'Scotty' Thomas (lead drummer) at Blandford, is to produce competent pipers and drummers, so by the time they reach their field regiments they have a basic understanding of playing bagpipes and drums. The students also have the opportunity to attend Royal Signals Piping and Drumming training weekends, held approximately once every eight weeks in various locations. Sigs Slowey (Lightning Tp) and Wardrop (Iron Tp) have made such good progress in the last year, that they are both now playing very competently on the bagpipe. Sig Slowey has recently moved on to 39 Inf Bde, N.I. Sig Wardrop will be assisting piping the boxers to the ring on the evening of the finals 6 December in front of the whole Regiment and the SOinC(A). Sig 'John' Mackenzie (Ulster Tp) has improved so much on the side drum, that he is now becoming involved with performing at Mess Dinner Nights, having played recently as part of a (mini band) at the dining out of the CO, 33 Sig Regt (V).

Practice evenings at Blandford are held every Wednesday from 1900hrs to 2100hrs in the Whernside Hobbies Centre. We are always on the look out for new talent to come and join us no matter what standard. So next time you are in Blandford come and give it a try!

5 DIVISION WOMEN'S INTER-UNIT COMPETITION
8 NOVEMBER 2000

11 Sig Regt entered a team in the competition after SSgt Graham did some wheeling and dealing with various course instructors so that the Phase 2 Trainees could be released from trade. Everyone turned up on a cold but sunny day at the Blandford Astro Pitch, where the order of play was decided.

11 Sig Regt drew the short straw by having to play the current Army Cup Champions, 3 Div, first. As expected, we were beaten rather easily. This was partly due to the team being unable to get together to practice, and also because 3 Div were able to field a side full of Corps and Army level players. Despite this, our team got stronger as the match progressed and players started to get together. Our second match was against HQ LAND. The performance of our team was much better with stirling performances from players such as Sig Ingledew, Pawson, and Townsend. The winning goal was scored eventually and this set us up for the second places play-off against 14 Sig Regt (EW).

This final match was hard fought but we kept our shape and produced most of the attacking play. Sig Whitehouse, in goal, foiled the few attacks from the opposition and Sig Walker put in a huge effort in mid-field despite carrying an injury. We managed to score three goals to clinch the second spot to 3 Div and qualify for the Army Inter Unit Finals, which will be held in Aldershot on 3-4 April 2001.

The Team

HARROGATE CUP - DRILL COMPETITION

With 3 Sqn winning the drill competition last year, the pressure was on to repeat last year's success. We started practising early with the help of SSM (WO2 Tasker) and LCpl Murphy (REME re-trader). We had the routine well rehearsed and before long we could complete all rifle drill movements on just the one word of command. The squad agreed that Sig Siddall would be our squad commander due to his previous experience and rather booming voice. On the last practice session, the squad reduced from the original 30 to the 24 who would be going onto the square on the day.

When the big day came, we had to be up early and we could see that the weather was not going to be to our advantage. It was storm conditions. The rain was gusting across the square horizontally and the wind was so strong, people were frequently losing their hats. With most of the team having taken part in the RSA drill parade, we considered ourselves expert at preparing our No.2 dress. The inspection was thorough and went well. After an excellent performance on the square and a lot of hard work in extremely difficult conditions, we sadly only managed second place, beaten by 2 Sqn fielding predominantly a team of Ghurka's with more drill experience.

Later that day, the Squadron Gordons Cup team success made up for our disappointment with an excellent win overall. In traditional Army form, the team celebrated with a few beers at the end of what was a very challenging day.

INTER-SQN-BOXING-COMPETITION - by Sig S. J. Whitehouse

It was way back in September when it all began for the members of 3 Sqn Boxing Squad. December and 'Finals Night' seemed a long way off and the fitness regime bestowed upon us by our SSM, WO2 Tasker, was enough to put anyone off ever contemplating a career in boxing. However, those soldiers with the 'right stuff' stayed the distance and endured the gruelling outdoor circuits, sprints up 'cardiac hill' and so called 'gentle jogs' of between two and five miles. The training took place twice a day, every day come rain, wind or shine - it was mostly rain! The sessions were run by LCpls 'Barney' Barnet and Neil 'Catch Up' Trimble. Needless to say as time passed and training increased numbers dwindled and dropped from approximately 85 down to a determined team of 30 men and 4 women. In the few weeks remaining before the Pre-lims the emphasis of training switched from fitness to techniques to enable us to go the distance armed with the correct boxing essentials to win our bouts. Under the watchful eye of WO2 Tasker, and the Training Team for the Squad: Sgt Dearden, Sigs Burgoine, Teese and Hanlon, we were well prepared and ready for action.

The weigh-in at 06:00hrs on the morning of the competition provided light entertainment as people were either stripping off and running around the gym or being force fed at breakfast to make the weight categories. Later that day after laughing at each others protective equipment and trying out the 'one-size-fits-all' kit the atmosphere became tense as the realisation hit home that we would soon be entering the ring. All the squadrons would be in attendance and the only way to get out was to box. As it turned out there was little to be afraid of, as the months of training had paid off with 1 Pre-Lim Win and 8 Semi-Finalists going through. In the Ladies Individual Exhibition bouts 3 Sqn had mixed success with 1 win, 1 loss, and 1 to go on Finals Night. WSig 'Shazza' Whitehouse, on her last sporting competition at 11 Sig Regt before leaving to join the AGC(RMP), won her bout against WSig Long of 1 Sqn. Unfortunately, despite a tremendous effort WSig Cave lost to WSig Bird of 2 Sqn. However, the best of the ladies bouts was still to come.

The following day preparations and rehearsals were carried out and the QMSI, WO2 Whittaker and his team briefed us all on what was expected and the 'finer points' of sporting etiquette for 'Traditional Army Boxing'. There was to be no Prince Nazeem or Rocky style antics on Finals Night. The scene was set and we were ready to take boxing by storm and put on what can only be described as fantastic entertainment. Each boxer was piped into the ring to much applause by the hundreds of spectators. Silence fell as the RSM, WO1 Kemp announced the contenders and the referee checked that all protective equipment was in place. As the bell rang the crowd roared and supported their relevant boxers. Each bout was fought with tremendous spirit and courage and this was reflected in the final results. Three fights deserve special mention:

Sig 'Jimmy' Cowan had a cracking bout beating Sig Burns of 2 Sqn and collecting the prize for Best Boxer.

Sig Gill unfortunately lost to Sig Howarth of 1 Sqn but was commended by the referee on what was a brilliantly fought bout and collected the prize for Best Runner Up.

WSig Sarah O'Reilly had a fantastic battle beating WSig 'Scouse' Roberts of 2 Sqn in just two rounds.

The overall results meant that 3 Sqn won the boxing competition and collected the trophy from the Garrison Commander, Col Eubank. This combined with the other events run throughout the year ensured that 3 Sqn collected the Harrogate Cup that was presented by the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Nicholson. After all the formalities the boxers were invited to a well-earned and well-deserved evening out at the Sgts' Mess. I only hope I get to do it all again sometime as it was the best sporting event I have had the pleasure to take part in. Well done and thanks to all those concerned.

263 (HARROGATE) SIGNAL SQUADRON ARMY APPRENTICES COLLEGE

Sqn Comd Maj Mel Rayner
SSM SSgt Les North

There are several 'goodbyes' since the last issue of The WIRE. Maj Steve France is now riding horses somewhere in London as SO2 Comms London District and WO2 (SSM) Adam Yafai is resettling having decided to leave the army. A warm welcome to Maj Mel Rayner who hasn't stopped since she arrived and thanks to SSgt Les North for jumping into the shoes of the SSM at short notice.

SCOTT TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Adam Shakespeare
Tp Sgt Sgt Amanda Korchel

EXERCISE MILK TEETH - by AT Kemp

Many people were looking forward to their first exercise, Ex Milk Teeth. That was until they saw the packing list; there was no way that it was all going to fit into the bergen, but with some gentle persuasion it all went in, just! We left at 0730hrs with the weather wet and grey, this made the NCOs very happy, but it had the opposite affect on the apprentices (ATs). When we arrived at the training area, the weather was getting better; even the sun was making the occasional appearance in-between the rain showers.

The first few hours involved learning the fundamental aspects of living in the field, camouflage, cooking, hygiene and making a shelter. The ATs were given their first introduction to the gourmet delights of 24-hour ration packs, tasty! In the afternoon we were taken on a little walk up and down some hills in the pouring rain to take part in a map reading exercise. After a night vision demonstration we all went back to the harbour and started the most enjoyable part of any exercise, stag. After the basic admin of a morning in the field, we moved to another location for our second and final night. After setting up the harbour area and trying our hand at shell scrapes, we had a lesson on sentry duties, which we put into practice in the night hours. By now it was the end of the day, and it was back to our favourite night-time activity, stag.

After an interrupted night's sleep we had a kit inspection, which did not go too well! There was no time for a rest as we started learning and practice patrolling. After a short break, which involved a lesson with the Padre, we tabbed to another location to learn fire and movement. During fire and movement there is no time to worry about what you are lying in or crawling into, but we certainly noticed what it was later on. That was the final part of the exercise and we headed back to camp and back to huge amounts of washing and cleaning which needed to be done before our next inspection. Only a few weeks to go before the junior terms first leave, and following that, the Test-Exercise Dragon's Teeth.

RAWSON TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Kate Yardley AGC (ETS)
Tp Sgt Sgt Colin Gaul

DRAGONS TEETH - by AT Robertson

We awoke on Thursday morning with anticipation but dread boiled up after seeing the bergens packed and strapped roll mats worn out from previous physical labours. Rawson Tp, 263 Sig Sqn ventured into the wilderness. As we stepped off the bus on Hankley Common the chilling wind froze our morale and chilled our bones. Applying cam cream and donning our bergens we tabbed to our harbour area and brewed up. Frostbite began to set in as we awoke to stand-to and the daily routine began. A sudden crack shook the woods as a ND echoed around us, shortly followed by the roar of an angry Troop Sergeant. Our ears were still ringing as we departed for the first of many tests. Cam and concealment showed that some just can't help but be noticed. Next was judging distance, no rulers allowed. Observation came and it started to rain.

Queuing up to be hosed down after a mud sliding session in PT

As the rain poured down it was going to be another night in the wet but shooting the QMSI raised our spirits. RTR (Return fire, take cover, return appropriate fire) in the rain again, the field was like a bog but we still managed a smile then the aggression came as we shouted and screamed and destroyed the Fig 12's. Then home we thought, until we got back to the bashers to discover rations for another night in the freezing forest of death and despair. Night Patrol came. We were tabbing in the dark tripping over logs and nearly drowning in streams then a crawl in the dark to sneak up on Ma'am who was drinking a warm brew and wrapped in warm clothes then back to our stag under a windswept poncho before a bad night's sleep.

'Bug out!' The cry screamed by Ma'am as thunder flashes exploded and we doubled to the ERV where the admin test awaited us. Cpl Barker checked our equipment and had a good laugh at the state of some of our rifles. Then back to the coaches leaving the dragon toothless.

PENNEY TROOP
Tp Comd Capt 'Pierre' Farrimond
Tp Sgt Sgt 'Digger' Gardiner RGBW

Life is improving for Penney Tp as they begin to smell the fresh Dorset air of Blandford. For the staff, Cpl Wheeler of the Light Infantry has just returned from being a Second Lieutenant instructing in Saudi Arabia and Cpl Smith of the Green Howards has decided to become a Technician and so has departed to Blandford. He takes our best wishes as does AT Duke who recently became engaged.

The 38 strong Troop is currently away in Wales on a field firing exercise. It is a good escape from the classroom and barracks. There are now four AT Lance Corporals who are daily practising their leadership skills in camp. The rest of the Troop are giving the AT Lance Corporals a hard time as well as sharpening their skills. Everyone has just finished their final military exercise which the whole Troop attended. To have a zero LOB list is rare. Everyone took their turn to be Section/Patrol Commanders with over half the ATs giving sets of orders. The standard was wide but everyone developed and learnt the lessons. The major effect of the permanent staff standing back is the ATs have to navigate on exercise rather than just follow and wish it were not raining. Hence nearly everyone saw more of Salisbury Plain than they needed to. However, Penney Tp performed better in every facet than the RLC, RE and REME Troops. We were swift but not always sure, yet!

11 November saw the Troop visiting London on an initiative exercise. It coincided with Armistice Day so after a visit to the National Army Museum the Troop conducted an Act of Remembrance at the Royal Hospital Chelsea. AT Dawes read a poem and AT LCpl Maxwell said a prayer while AT LCpl Binner laid a wreath.

AT LCpl Binner lays a wreath at the Royal Hospital Chelsea

The Troop then set off to complete as many of the 50 tasks within six hours as possible. Beefeaters shoes were cleaned, hotel beds were changed, Fireman's poles were slid down, Police cells were cleaned, Air Hostesses bags were carried and one group even sat in a helicopter but could not fly because of the weather (good preparation for their future careers).

At LCpl Maxwell and Ats Hudd, Duke and McCandless avoiding the floods

The tales could go on but the photos will dot the walls of Blandford soon. The day finished with a meal in a restaurant and plenty of singing on the coach home after only consuming soft drinks. Who says you need alcohol although they maybe tempted at Blandford. Christmas decorations are now up and Pass Off Parade rehearsals are now the bulk of the programme. So by the time you read this the PS will have moved and the Troop will have been posted on to Blandford with AT Eastwood off to sunny Catterick to join 2 R Anglian.

AT Prest about to go caving - it is voluntary!

Some of the Penney Professionals on their final exercise - Exercise Janners Joy

NEWS FROM THE BALKANS

MULTINATIONAL DIVISION (SOUTH WEST) AND BRITISH FORCES SIGNAL SQUADRON (204) OPERATION PALATINE

Sqn Comd Maj G. R. Norton
RSM WO1 (RSM) D. W. Craig

THE RATS ARE ON THEIR WAY BACK

As the unit approached its hand-over to the Dutch Signals Battalion the Squadron said a final farewell to Maj Adrian Campbell-Black. He took his final trip in a AFV 432 out of the Banja Luka Metal Factory's gate on his way to a well deserved break prior to his new posting at 1 Sig Bde.

Maj Campbell-Black taking his final salute from the unit

Now that the Dutch have taken over the bulk of the unit's responsibilities the tear down of the equipment began in earnest. The first task was to consolidate and back-load all our equipment with the help of our volunteers from 11 Sig Bde. The old Signal Regiment lines had to be moved around and then cleaned up to enable the BRITFOR Signal Troop to have a new and fresh start.

No lack of enthusiasm as the lads tear down the unit lines to make way for the Signal Troop

11 Signal Brigade volunteers muck-in on a final clean up

Once the back-loading and cleanup was complete both up on the Hill Top Sites(HTS) and down in the Metal Factory, there was just the long wait for the Dutch to clear HTS at Sjenokosic. Finally they did and our lads could go to work on the last site to be cleared. Not a easy task but with only three days before the main body was due to fly back the troops did themselves proud and cleared it in only two days with a day to spare.

The last two power units leave Sjenokosic, assisted by the RAF

The lads look on as the Chinook lifts the last load down the mountain
(L-R): Sig Cooke, Sig Evans, Cpl Allan, Sig Cole, Cpl Taylor, Sig Phillips (7 Sig Regt)

OPERATION PALATINE
KNOCKOUT FOOTBALL COMPETITION

On the 10-11 August 2000 BRITFOR Sig Sqn entered a team in the group stages of the Op Palatine BLMF 5-a-side Football Competition. The competition consisted of two groups of four teams, the Signal Squadron's group consisted of B Squadron Light Dragoons, NLT and Myra Techs.

The Sig Sqn played NLT in the first game winning 4-3, the next game was an easy7-1 against the Myra Techs and the final game in the group was a hard fought victory over B Squadron taking us forward into the semi-final. In the semi-finals we took on and beat the runners up from Group Two, HQ BRITFOR 2-1 earning us a place in the final and a chance to move onto the theatre wide competition. The final started with the Signal Squadron taking an early lead but after six mins the BLMF had a power cut and the game was abandoned. It was played again the following night when B Squadron ran out comfortable winners 7-4, although both teams progressed to the Op Palatine final held on Sunday 20 August 2000.

The Signal Squadron was drawn to play in Group B alongside the CSS Bn and the UK Arty Bty. The Signal Squadron lost the first game to the CSS Bn 3-0 and won their second game against the Arty Bty 7-1 and progressed onto the semi-finals beating the UK Battlegroup LAD 4-2 earning a chance to move to the final. The final was a rerun of one of the earlier games and one that the Signal Squadron had lost, so they where determined to seek revenge. A hard fought game with the Signal Squadron beating the CSS Bn 5-2 to become the Op Palatine football champions for 2000.

DON'T BE DISSAPPOINTED, COPY FOR THE APRIL ISSUE MUST REACH THIS OFFICE BY 15 FEBRUARY 2001

Operation Palatine 4 Knockout Football Champions
Back Row (L-R): LCpl John marlborough, Cpl Guy Keyworth, Sgt Steve Tressider, Sgt 'Mo' Pay, LCpl Yates
Front Row (L-R): LCpl Glen Moffat, SSgt Gavin Wood (RLC), SSgt 'Ollie' Oliver, Sgt 'Scholly' Martwich (Manager), WO2 (RQMS) 'Daz' Day (MIA)

Sgt 'Scholly' Martwich recieving the trophy from D Comd BRITFOR, Col Hall (late RLC)

OSCAR TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Paul McTurk
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Olly' Oliver

After many years, the hill top sites are finally unmanned in Bosnia. The last of the crews packed up and returned to the Metal Factory on 12 September 2000. Quite amazingly, everything went to plan, in fact almost too well. The Vitorog crew misunderstood a message to pack up quickly so that we could all go home and the packing, which we estimated would take a week, took them only eight hours! Unfortunately, they could not leave the mountain for another week so they had to resort to entertaining themselves with a chess set and a box of compo. Also in good 4 Bde fashion they nearly burnt down the rebro when a brush fire went out of control. That's three years in a row that the Squadron has had a serious fire to deal with! Gola P missed the close down instruction altogether and very reluctantly packed up at the last minute.

LCpl 'Old man' Charlie Forsyth was almost in tears as we drove away from his hilltop and back to the real world. Radaljica simply handed over to the infantry battle-group but Lisina West, who were the last to close, had to strip and remove all their Co-ri-mecs and ISO containers which took several days. Loads of dramas were had due to a few minor accidents (thanks to Sig '(Driving skill of a jelly fish) Dinger' Bell) and loads of drama as some over inquisitive locals pre-recce'd the site for what remains could be scavenged. All of the rear link detachments closed without any serious problems and it is with great relief that we have now handed over to the more-than-capable Dutch 108 Signal Support Battalion and the HQ BRITFOR Signal Troop. The Troop is now back in barracks tidying up some loose ends before a well-earned post-tour leave. Luckily, and surprisingly to some, the rear party had not just been 'hanging around' but under the guidance of Capt 'Just have it' Buck much of the armour seems to have been quite well looked after.

Unfortunately we must say good bye to LCpl Glen Hislop who is posted to 7 Sig Regt and Sig Chris Burke who goes to 3 Div. Best of luck to both of you. Also welcome to the troop to Sgt Steve Tressider and family, now you will see what we have to contend with from puzzle palace. Welcome also to Sig McCutcheon straight from the factory good luck. Finally many thanks to the augmentees from 7 Sig Regt, we couldn't have done it without you.

PAPA TROOP

Tp Comd Lt M. P. Parke
Tp SSgt SSgt P. V. Davis

PAPA TROOP- THE STORY SO FAR.....

by Sig 'Lucy' Corlett

September was a busy month for Papa Tp and included an Exercise, the draw down and the hand-over to the Dutch. Exercise Strong Guardian III included most of the Troop deploying to Glamoc Ranges to provide the divisional tactical headquarters with the Dutch providing the admin support and the Dutch Union making sure each Dutch soldier had six hours rest before doing anything. Only one problem occurred on the Exercise which was one Czech watch keeper being asked to leave the radio, after spending 15 minutes trying and failing to answer or understand a radio check. The Exercise went extremely well with everyone impressed yet again by the Brits.

The draw down of the Troop actually went to plan with LCpl 'Tommo' Thomas actually managing to back-load all the stores from Tommy Tuckers. Sig Dan 'Donald' Tooke managed to escape the Troop for a 'learning experience' on the Vitorog where he got evacuated due to a grass fire spreading up the mountain. Sig Sean 'I'm never organising anything again' Brierely sorted out an excellent Troop function where everybody enjoyed themselves immensely. All went smoothly apart from a small food fight that broke out right in front of the brand new Sqn Comd, Maj Norton (welcome to 204). Well it was an interesting tour and it's a shame that the Troop has broken up with 7 Sig Regt returning to Krefeld – cheers for putting up with us and thanks for all your hard work. So, now we are back in Germany and it is all go here. Cpl 'Chuck' Henson is sorting out the stores and getting the Troop turned around ready for next year. Everyone is working hard to get the armour put back into use and with lots of maintenance to be done it is no small task. With a new training year rapidly approaching though it is a necessary one.

Congratulations to LCpl 'Scott' Rose and wife Kelly on the arrival of their new baby girl. SSgt 'Drill Pig' Davis showed off his fancy footwork on the RSM's parade; guess who is buying the beer Staff? Get well soon to Cpl 'Robbo' Robertson who slipped a disk on the toilet, who knows what he was doing in there. A big 'hello' also to LCpl 'Neil' McElhinney who the Troop has left back out in Bosnia, missing you lots! Welcomes go to Sigs 'Chip Pan John' Ritchie and 'Nikki' Earl who have joined us from Oscar Tp. Sig Masters has just arrived from 3 Div, hope that you all enjoy your time in Papa Tp! We have a fair amount of people to say goodbye to as well. Firstly LCpl 'I am the Messiah' Yates, who has gone to Oscar Tp, what a swap! Sig 'Jimmy' Findlay is off to Ireland to 8 Infantry Brigade and LCpl 'Tim' Stanton is off to my old Troop in 212, 1 ADSR, enjoy! Sid 'Fruit Bat' Wright is shortly going on the White Helmets selection; we all think that he will be right at home there so good luck!

Finally, we would like to say farewell and good luck to Sgt 'Maurice' Pay on his posting back to 249, and also a special thank you goes to the Gurkhas of the 30 Sig Regt det that did such an excellent job for us in Zgon.

SSAFA BIG BREW UP - 21 SEPTEMBER 2000

The families and Friends Club of 4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn(204) took part in the SSAFA Big Brew Up on 21 Sep 00. Husbands, wives, friends and not forgetting the living in lads, got together for a cuppa or two and a slice of cake. Although the majority of the Sig Sqn was soaking up the sun in Bosnia, 39 lads and lasses turned out to support the event. A big thanks for all that supported this worthy cause and to Mrs Amanda Norton who, with a little pressure from her mum, organised the event.

The Big Brew-Up
(L-R): LCpl 'Smudge' Smith, LCpl Dinsdale, Sigs Ashmore, Brierley and Amanda Norton (The Organiser)

SUPPORT TROOP

QM Capt Pete McElwee
Tp SSgt SSgt Paul Buckley

With the tour of Bosnia and the comforts of the Banja Luka Metal Factory behind us, it is now time for Support Tp to find their feet again. During the past four months we have said farewell and hello to new members of the Troop. SSgt Gaz Allcock who seems to enjoy the nightlife of Osnabruck moved from the Duke of Wellingtons to the Squadron to take control of the LAD. The remaining members of Support Tp from SSgt Chris Kimber who yet again moved far, Chris we hope that you enjoy your time at 4 Regt RA and congratulations on the promotion, PS can I have my bike back sometime before March. SSgt Gaz Allcock and Sgt Mick Pryce have been busy ensuring that the out of use programme for the vehicles was well under way before the advance party arrived back in Osnabruck . The main party left the Banja Luka Metal Factory looking forward to their long weekend with their families before the hussle and bussle of normal day to day work that we in the Squadron left some four months. The rear-party returned to the Squadron some ten days after the main party had arrived back. Rumour has it that the reason for the delay in the flight has some thing to do with the QM and his staff wanting to see the Scotland game in Zagreb and not that their was a problem with the aircraft.

A happy smiling Papa Troop having handed their Mobile Troop responsibilities over to the Dutch

Sig Smith recieving the driver of the month award from Maj Gen Brims

Maj Gen R. Brims visits the BRITFOR Signal Squadron just before the handover to the BRITFOR Signal Troop
Maj Norton's first visit (No pressure)

WELCOME AND FAREWELL

During the past four months there have been a lot of changes within the Squadron, and I apologise if there is any one that I may have left out. Welcome to Sgt 'Sholly' Martwich, Cpl Chris Heap, LCpl Godfrey, LCpl O'Donovan, Sig 'I have been in the Army before' Daniell and Sig 'Smudge' Smith. Welcome to you and your families and we hope that you have a great time here with the Squadron. Welcome to LCpl Lee Peacock who has no realised that there is more to life than working in the Comms garages.

The Troop would like to say farewell to the following people and their families: Sgt 'Spike' Hughes, Cpl Stu 'I am REME and you will never get my name in The WIRE' Mulholland, LCpl Col Forster, LCpl 'Trucker' Taylor, Cpl 'Bry' Brown, Sig Jody Davis, Cpl Col Teale, Sig Billy Conley and Sig Ian Custy.

NOT FORGOTTEN

The following die-hards have ALL agreed to stay in Bosnia until December and they are SSgt Gavin Wood, Sig Armstrong and Sig Murphy. We hope that every thing is going well and give us a ring if you need any thing. Woody the Memos are on the way.

NEWS FROM NORTHERN IRELAND

XV HEADQUARTERS NORTHERN IRELAND AND 15 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col M. P. Llewellyn
RSM WO1 (RSM) A. Balsdon

EXERCISE ALDERMORE FINN 1 - by Sig Moore

The Regimental PORT package took place at Magilligan Training Centre on the 1–5 November 2000. We deployed with very little knowledge on what was to lie ahead for us; all we knew was that the RSM (WO1 Balsdon) was running the show. So some with dread and some with high expectations we deployed. The whole exercise took place out of a simulated patrol base. We were split into three Sections, and from the very start we were on a constant 4-hour rotation consisting of Patrolling, Guard or QRF. We even had a couple of Snatch vehicles to add to the realism. After a night of very little sleep (especially for 2 Section, who got lost out on patrol!) we proceeded to the ranges to practice live firing, pair's fire and maneuver on the IBSR range. After many more patrols and interesting lessons given by R IRISH instructors on VCP's, Rummages, and many more Province operations, we had an attempt at the pistol CQB range. The scenario involved delivering Crypto and Comms equipment whilst driving through a hostile area. Our driver, SSgt Gratrick, with some rather fine acting, decided that our car had broken down and we had to deliver the Crypto and Equipment by hand, very suspect! After coming under attack we had to fire and maneuver to a safe area. Using the drills previously taught which was pair's fire and maneuver, we managed to put 40 rounds and 2 smoke grenades down to achieve our 'tactical' withdrawal. We then proceeded back to the patrol base for more festivities courtesy of the training team. ENDEX was celebrated with some live grenade training that certainly made a few eyes light up, mine included! Sig Nevens and I have come to the conclusion that grenades are definitely the way forward, especially as you've got nothing to clean after you've thrown them!

CROSS COUNTRY

The cross-country got off to a flying start with both the male and female teams putting in a good show. The first race of the season was the Northern Ireland relay cross-country championships, which was held in Ballykelly. Apart from the wind this proved to be an easy course with the male team coming second and the female team coming third. The second race of the season was held at Hillsborough and organized by Lisburn Station, which resulted in the male team coming first, and the female team came joint third. The third race came back with the team positions being exactly the same. There has been one more race which brings us up to date so far and that was hosted by 8 Royal Irish at Gosford Castle on Wed 15 November 2000. The course was run over an undulating forest track, 5.8 miles for the men and 3.4 miles for the females and consisted of a total of 149 runners, 34 of which were female. This resulted in a change in the overall position for the female team, which are now sixth, but the male team is still storming ahead in first place…more success to follow.

ROYAL SIGNALS BADMINTON CHAMPIONSHIPS 11-13 OCTOBER

On 10 October Maj Duggan assembled his merry band of 'Badders' players to take them to the R SIGNALS Corps Championships at 21 Sig Regt at Colerne. As the team had been successful in several major badminton events during the year, Maj Duggan felt confident enough to book his return ticket after the prize giving!

Men's Inter-Unit Event: In the Men's Inter-Unit Event the Regt qualified for the finals after beating 14 Sig Regt (EW) in a well fought semi-final. All of the first, second and third strings were able to hold their own and the first two strings ensured qualification by winning their matches. In the final, the Regiment faced a combined onslaught from 8 and 11 Sig Regts (better known as 'The School'), who certainly gave the team a good lesson in how to play badminton. The fact that 'The School' team had several players of Corps and Army standard may have tipped the scales just a little! That said, all the players gained from the experience and look forward to a rematch next year. The men's Inter-Unit Team was Maj Duggan, WO2 (IS Supvr) Bennett, SSgt (Supvr R) Jacklin, SSgt Slade, Sgt Anderson and Sig Moore.

Ladies Inter-Unit Event: Although not as well attended as the Men's event, the Ladies event was nonetheless a very good standard with the Regt playing 14 Sig Regt (EW) in the Ladies Unit Final. The event was extremely close with both sides having several novices playing in their first event. Every game had to be made to count to ensure the Ladies Team eventually took the title of Royal Corps of Signals Ladies Inter-Unit Champions. The members of the victorious Ladies team were Sgt Samuel, Cpl Howard, Cpl Richardson, LCpl Stewart and Sig Raynor.

Unit Mixed Doubles/Open Doubles/Veteran's Doubles/Ladies and Mens Signals Events: The Regimental team had mixed blessings in the remaining events of the Championships but still managed to bring back several trophies to add to Maj Duggan's ever-increasing trophy cabinet. In the Mixed Doubles, Maj Duggan and Sig Raynor, after battling their way through the opposition, qualified for the final only to be beaten by a pair who had recently returned from representing the Army on its recent Brunei tour! In the Ladies Singles Sig Raynor battled through to the finals but unfortunately was beaten by Cpl McTurk (7 Armd Bde Sig Sqn), the Corps' leading lady. Again the ladies did the Regiment proud with Cpl Richardson and Sig Raynor taking the runners-up medals in the Open Women's Doubles and Cpl Howard and Cpl McTurk taking the winners trophy. WO2 Bennett and SSgt Slade took the Veterans runners-up place and Maj Duggan and SSgt 'Play it again, Sam' Slade took yet another runners-up medal in the Unit Team Open Doubles. On a final note, those people who feel badminton is not a physical game might like to try their hand at competing in excess of 12 matches a day at Regimental level!

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. E. Mullender
SSM WO2 (SSM) M. R. Neighbour

COMMCEN TROOP - by Sig Pennock

It has been a busy period for COMMCEN Tp, with a lot of departures and arrivals, the big move into a brand spanking new building and the added bonus of the new system now in use, Compucat, which has been a great deal of fun getting to grips with. We have to say sad farewells to LCpl 'Nath' Hadley, who has left province to be closer to home at 30 Sigs, and is now experiencing the joys of Sierra Leone. LCpl Fox, who is off to the world of panzers and tanks at 19 Mech Bde. Last but not least LCpl 'Taff' Evans who is off to civvy-street and not just any part of civvy-street as he has found himself a job in Amsterdam. I am sure all the lads will be sorely missed by the whole troop. On a lighter note, we can enjoy the new company of Sig Cunningham, Sig Brennan, Sig Moore, Sig Nevens and lastly Sig Ward, who have all joined us straight from the factory.

SUPPORT TROOP - by Sig Stott

This has been a good period for Support Tp, as the final movement into our new offices went with great ease. A warm welcome goes out to LCpl 'Stu' McCrone, his wife Clare and their young son Lennon. The Troop will be sorry to say goodbye to Sig 'Chrissy' Davies, soon to be Lance Corporal, who is going to Germany to drink copious amounts of cheap booze and to join her husband. She takes with her our best wishes for the future. Congratulations go out to other members of the Troop who have been selected for promotion to Lance Corporal and hopefully to be wearing their fresh tapes very soon. These are Sig Tom Dunham, Sig 'Rick' Fawcett, Sig 'Revs' Reveley and myself, Sig ' Stotty' Stott. So if you want to know where it's at, and the promotions are slick and fast, come and join us at the MT.

MILITARY SKILLS COMPETITION

Forget the Military Skills Competition, SSgt Smith weighs his 'oh so heavy kit' for the March and Shoot.

The Military skills competition took place at Ballykinler on the 16 Nov 00. HQ Sqn was lead by Sgt Dixon from RHQ. Our team consisted of Cpl Douglas, LCpl Walker, Sig Nevens, Sig Reverly, Sig Green 742, Sig Cunningham and Sig Moore. We made a good impression from the word 'go'. When the start whistle was blown, all the other teams 'darted' off at a great rate of knots, and we just stood there trying to find out where we were! The stretcher race was a classic case of DS humor as 30metres turned out to be 300! The casualty wasn't exactly the lightest either! The assault course was looked upon with horror, as we had to do it with full kit, this was welcomed by the Squadron morale officer Sig 'Where have all the brews gone?' Cunningham. LCpl Walker received some very impressive war wounds on her arms. One circuit was bad enough, but we had to do two! We achieved top marks on the rummage stand as we had learnt the skills on the Regimental PORT package. We finally finished the event fifth, which at least wasn't last. We still celebrated at the 'bop' back at Lisburn, as our only reward for attending the Mil Skills was a case of high morale! …and a look forward to more military competitions.

225 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Squad Comd Maj M. J. Smith
SSM WO2 (SSM) R. S. Thorne

This period has seen the Squadron represented on various sports pitches, and indeed at the Regimental Sportsman's Dinner. In addition to this a number of people have managed to participate in Ex Wipers Finn, a battlefield tour de France, and other days out designed to relieve some of the pressures of work. The Squadron has had a very busy couple of months from an operational perspective and is feeling the pressure from increasing under-manning.

Farewell to Maj Jeremy Tod, and many thanks for all that has been done for the Squadron during your time. The end of the summer brought a complete turnover of Squadron hierarchy, and the new team is now ready to move the Squadron on to greener fields.

Welcome to Maj Mark Smith who has moved across to 225 Sig Sqn to take the helm, having spent a year as Adjutant.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt P. R. Griffiths

It has been a busy couple of months within the glorious Sp Tp, with a number of people arriving and leaving. LCpl Kev James is now with 35 Sig Regt (V) and LCpl Graeme 'I'm a story-teller' Lafferty has now joined 31 Sig Regt (V) - both their fags and repertoire will be missed. The RQMS Dept welcomes two new drivers; LCpl Danny 'It's your turn to make the brews' Richardson, and LCpl Steve Worthington who have both moved across from Regimental MT.

Congratulations to Danny who has just become married to Amanda, and to Steve and Lisa who have recently had a baby boy called Kieran (affectionately known to us as 'Ernie'). Sgt Vicky 'I collect novelty rubbers' Dumbell and LCpl Vicki 'bud-wize-errrrrr' Bishop have now taken up the roles of Sqn Clerks after Sgt Ian 'giz a gitar!' Frame has left the office to re-badge to R SIGNALS. The RQMS's Department has been busy preparing for the Board of Officers in which WO2 RQMS Andy Hartley has had his whip cracking to get things moving along smoothly. Meanwhile Sgt Andy Bolton and LCpl Jo 'I've got 8 A-levels' Quinn have been moving their stores frantically from shelf to shelf. The Department celebrated LCpl Quinn and LCpl Pullen being selected for promotion with a Troop night out. Capt Griffiths' pizza ended up on the floor - you can't take him anywhere! All in all, a lot of hard work, and a little bit of fun for all.

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt F. A. W. Stewart
OPSWO WO2 (SUPVR R) P. F. Gardner

Another busy period for Echo Tp, and with tight manning, those remaining 'take the strain'. August and September saw the Troop participating in various Regimental Sports competitions, and the occasional BBQ's and evenings in the Squadron bar - the essential morale lifeline of the Troop! Thank you to Sgt Lomax and Cpl Roche who came from JSSU Digby to alleviate our manpower for two months. Their hard work and good humour was appreciated by all. From the watches:

A Watch - Farewell to Cpls Ashley and Hodgson who are both set for pastures new at RSS in Blandford, and LCpl Howard to 14 Sig Regt (EW) in Brawdy.

B Watch - Farewell to Cpls Burton and Marshall who are both moving to JSSU Oakley.

Warm congratulations go to Cpl Heather Carter on her recent marriage to Sgt Carter from the Regimental Training Wing - quite a severe measure to ensure passes in your ITD's!

C Watch - Welcome to the new Watch Supervisor, SSgt (Supvr R) Rowlands.

Congratulations and farewell to WO2 (Supvr R) Fielder who has moved on promotion to JSSU Digby, also farewell to Cpl Halliday, moving to JSSU Oakley.

D Watch - Farewell to LCpls Wooton-Jones and Smith and good luck in civvy-street. Congratulations to LCpl Fox in playing a pivotal role in the Army Rugby League team's success in the recent Inter Service competition.

Reporters - And at last…we say goodbye to WO2 Bond to has been trying to break out of province for many months now. We wish him the best of luck in JSSU Digby. Also farewell to Sgt Savage who has moved to the Falkland Islands for six months prior to posting.

GOLF TROOP

Tech Adjt	Capt I. R. Hargreaves
FofS	WO2 (FofS) A. G. Jenkins
Tp SSgt	SSgt B. Wilkins

Once again it has been an extremely busy period within Golf Tp. Operational tasking continues and the large number of departures recently has meant a hectic time for those that remain. That said, however, we have had some new arrivals to the Troop and a warm welcome is extended to WO2 (Supvr IS) Gary Bennett, who arrived from 8 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn and Sgt Ian Frame who has changed both Corps and trade from AGC Mil Clk to Sgt IS Operator. Cpl Rouchy continues the re-trade theme, moving from Data Op to Installation Tech and joining us from 233 Sig Sqn. Finally and most recently Cpl Welch posted in from 243 Sig Sqn. On the departures front we have recently said farewell to Sgt Michelle Watkins, posted to CPD Blandford, we wish her all the best for the future. Congratulations go to Sgts Phil McLeish and Ryan Lang on their recent promotions to Sergeant.

EXERCISE REYNARD FINN

Ex Reynard Finn for September took the form of a Squadron Go-Karting Grand Prix followed by a Squadron BBQ. 16 members of the Squadron participated in what turned out to be a very exciting and fun afternoon. The competition consisted of 16 heats, two semi-finals and a final. LCpl Danny Richardson won the competition with some very 'Formula 1-like' driving. Nothing deterred LCpl Richardson from winning the Grand Prix, even at the expense of sending Sgt Loz Hill through the barriers. Some very notable driving from Lt Fi 'Tyre Wall' Stewart, Cpl Billy Kirkwood, and LCpl Jo Quinn. An enjoyable day was had by all.

OKTOBERFEST

(L-R): LCpl Drummond, Cpl Aldred and LCpl Fox at the Squadron Oktoberfest

The marquee is erected, tables laden with bratwurst and the 'umpa lumpa' band are raring to go! The scene is set for yet another 225 Sig Sqn Oktoberfest. Festivities got underway around 1930hrs - fancy dress was optional. Apart from the members of the Squadron who always dress like German teen fashion victims, (tight bleached jeans, white trainers, tie-dye t-shirts and bum bags - you know the type!), the usual 3 'Squadron Suspects' went all out. Cpl Jay Aldred as 'Hitler' (wearing an East German border guards uniform), LCpl Gez Drummond in full leather leiderhosen and LCpl 'Foxy' Fox as a German soldier of the female variety, blonde pig tails and all! All who attended drank and made merry, appreciation of the entertainment in the form of an Irish umpa lumpa band was somewhat varied, with all those who had 'exchanged' numerous beer tokens joining in. Whilst nursing hangovers the following day everyone would agree that a good time was had by all, with special thanks given to Sgt Al Bolton, WO2 Andy Hartley and the rest of the RQMS Dept for the administration and organisation of yet another very successful 225 Sig Sqn event.

EXERCISE WIPERS WALKABOUT FINN
17-22 SEPTEMBER 2000
by SSgt (FofS) Crowther

On the 17 September 2000, nine members of 225 Sig Sqn set off on a trekking exercise around the battlefields of Belgium and Northern France. The party left Thiepval Barracks on the Sunday morning crossing the Irish Sea on the Larne-Cairnryan ferry to start the long journey down the length of the country. Driving was alternated between Sgt Stu 'I never fly off the handle' Murray and SSgt (Supvr IS) Paul 'I've got my Camp-Bed' Davey who did their best to fend off questions from SSgt (Supvr R) 'Are we there yet Dad?' Jacklin. After several hours of 'I Spy' we arrived in our transit accommodation in Shorncliffe and the next morning caught a ferry to Calais. From here it was a short drive to the campsite which provided the base for the next four days. SSgt (FofS) Si 'Have you done your homework?' Crowther came up with the idea for the Exercise and the aim was to walk along the sector of the Western Front held by the British Expeditionary Forces (BEF), whilst learning about the battles and conditions that were endured by troops.

Day One - The first day's walking found the party in the Belgian medieval town of Ypres, known to the troops at the time as 'Wipers'. During the war the name of this town became a byword for the terrible slaughter and loss of life that ensued over four years as it was the scene of fierce fighting between the Germans and primarily Commonwealth troops. The Ypres salient jutted into the German lines for the duration of the war, and cost the Commonwealth 200,000 casualties over the 4 years that it was defended. A stark reminder of the bitterness of this struggle are the names of the 55,000 Commonwealth troops commemorated on the Menin Gate. Their names are recorded here as their bodies were never found and have no known grave. The monument is a fitting memorial to the men who died there and all the members of the party were extremely moved when we witnessed the nightly playing of The Last Post by Buglers from the Ypres Fire Brigade.

Happy trekkers on Day 1
(L-R): Sgt Brankin, Sgt Ballard, SSgt (IS Supvr) Davey, SSgt Wilkins, Sgt Lang, SSgt (Supvr R) Jacklin, Sgt Murray

After leaving the Menin Gate the party visited Sanctuary Wood and Hill 62 which lie on the Menin Road to the east of Ypres. Sgt Ryan 'Rip Van Winkel' Lang was able to impart some of the salient points he had researched prior to the Exercise and relate this to the ground. Here a stretch of the trenches remains and the party was given an insight into the squalor and terrible conditions endured by the troops. The day was rounded off with a visit to the Cloth Hall Museum in the centre of Ypres. During the war the building was reduced to rubble but was rebuilt by money from German War Reparations. This is a must for visitors to the areas and gives a good description of the battles in the Ypres area.

Day Two - On our second day in Belgium the party moved to the south of the Salient and visited St. Eloise where the British blasted several mines under the German strongpoints in March 1916. The biggest of these contained 95,600lbs of ammonal and apart from destroying several key fortifications and dazing the defending Germans; it allowed the position to be captured by the 41st Division. To view some of the mine craters the group had to negotiate several fences - some members faired better than others! SSgt (Supvr R) 'I'm not fat its just a weak fence' Fogg did an interesting double back somersault before an admiring audience. The group then moved further south through Wijtschate and Ploegstreet, known as 'White Sheet' and 'Plug Street' to the British. The wood at Ploegstreet saw some particularly fierce fighting and stark reminders of the fortifications can still be clearly seen. Moving on from Phloegstreet the group made their way up a steep ridge to the Mesen, better known as Messines, the scene of fierce fighting in 1917 when 19 of the 21 mines were detonated in a very small area. The remaining two mines were not and records of the their locations were lost. In 1995 one of them exploded during a thunderstorm by the Le Pelegrin crossroads when a tree was struck by lightening. Fortunately there were no casualties. The location of the remaining mine is still unknown. In Mesen the church (the only one with a crypt in the surrounding area) was rebuilt after the war with money from Germany's War Reparations. The church was the subject of a number of watercolours by a German Infantryman, Adolf Hitler.

Day Three - The group moved from Ypres in Belgium to Arras in France. To the south of Arras lies the Somme Valley and over the next two days the group walked around famous battle sites in the area. The Battle of the Somme is infamous in the British Army as the greatest disaster in its history. The battle started on 1 July 1916 and by the end of the first day the Commonwealth troops had sustained 60,000 casualties. The battle continued for five months, but resulted in little territorial gain for the British. The small gains that were made were lost following the German Army's last ditch Spring Offensive of 1918. The group started the day by heading south of Arras and passing through the villages of Ayette, Bucquoy and Hannescamp. The first major battle area that was passed was Gommecart where the 46th North Midland Division attacked the wood on 1 July. Further on South the group arrived in Beaumont Hamel and were able to visit the Newfoundland Memorial Park dedicated to the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Newfoundland was the oldest colony in the British Empire and is now part of Canada. The Island and part of the North West Canadian Mainland has a population of around 250,000 and has traditionally been a fishing community. In the First World War the people of this independent country raised a battalion of troops who fought at Beaumont Hamel on the first day of the Battle of the Somme. Within 30 minutes of the troops going over the top three-quarters of the battalion had become casualties. The park is kept in an immaculate condition and has preserved both the German Y Ravine trenches and allied trenches allowing the visitor to gain a good appreciation of the lay of the land at the time. As the group walked over the park from the Allied trenches and through 'no-mans land', it was clear to see how the murderous machine-gun fire would have cut down the advancing troops who were offered very little cover. In close proximity to the park is the Hawthorn Ridge crater that measures 65ft deep and has a diameter of 130ft.

Day Four - On Day 4 the group again returned to the Somme area and headed further south to the Thiepval ridge. On the monument to the missing at Thiepval is recorded the names of 73,412 men who died in 1916-17 and have no known grave. The monument itself is a huge construction, built of brick with stone facing and was designed by Sir Edward Lutyens. It stands on the site of an impregnable German Fortress, which took two months to capture. All the exercise participants are based in Thiepval Barracks and a visit to this ridge and memorial were of particular interest to the group. Within Thiepval Barracks, next to the Church, is a monument commemorating the battle at Thiepval and naming the Barracks after the village. The monument is dedicated to the men of the 36th Ulster Division who fought at Thiepval and records the number of losses from the Division as 5766. From the Thiepval memorial the group moved onto the 36th Division Memorial. The large tower incorporates a small museum that details the actions of the Division when trying to take the Schwaben Redoubt. The 36th Division can trace its roots to the Ulster Volunteer Force (UVF) and indeed we found wreaths from that organisation lying by the monument. The 36th Division was arguably the most successful Division on the first day of the Somme, and succeeded in reaching the German's fifth line of trenches by the end of the day. However, the Ulster men were almost too successful, and the Divisions to the Ulster men's flanks were unable to make as much ground. This allowed the Germans to fire on the 36th from three sides and by the end of the day they were forced to fall back to the German second line.

After leaving the Somme the group drove to Calais and caught the 1915hrs crossing to Dover, arriving back in Hythe for 2100hrs and another night in transit accommodation. After a tiring four days of walking the group made their way back up the length of the country and took the ferry from Cairnryan to Larne and onto Thiepval Barracks for 2300hrs. We were tired but all felt a sense of achievement having gained a great deal more knowledge of the battlefields of Belgium and Northern France.

233 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd	Maj A. N. Walker
SSM	WO2 (SSM) R. J. Dunseith

FAREWELL TO OFFICER COMMANDING
233 SIGNAL SQUADRON
by SSM Dunseith

On the 15 August 2000 the Officers, Warrant Officers, SNCO's and Wives of 233 got dressed up in their finest to Dine Out the OC, Maj Richard Giles and his long suffering wife Tracey. A sad day for the OC, he had just finished his last day in Command during which time blood, sweat and on occasions even tears have been shed. This combined with the birth of young Thomas whilst in Northern Ireland has made for a very memorable time in the lives of the Giles family. The evening was an outstanding success due to Sgt Gaz Watkins' tireless efforts and a superb display from our own Royal Signals Pipes and Drums with a special mention to the Sqn's Piper LCpl Andy Burrows whose face didn't change when drinking the Whiskey Toast, unlike my own! The PMC for the evening WO2 (YofS) Russ Darlington excelled himself in collating the Port fines, however after announcing Gadies and Lentlemen (twice) everyone knew where all the port had gone. I know both Maj Giles and Tracey were touched by the whole evening and the presents will hold a special place in their home, we wish Richard, Tracey and the children all the best for the future.

HELLOS AND GOODBYES

A warm welcome to the new Officer Commanding 233 Sig Sqn, Maj Nick Walker from that hot bed of places Blandford, hopefully you'll enjoy the G1 challenges as much as your predecessor! We also welcome Capt Helen Bosley from 3 Bde here for a short while to discover that admin can be as interesting as comms … or maybe not! Talking of G1 challenges, a sad farewell to the 2IC, Capt Annabel Taylor who, after spending six months learning the job, has now been head hunted to be the new Adjt, good luck in your new job but don't get lost in the ivory tower, keep in touch.

INDIA TROOP - by LCpl Smith

Tp Comd	Lt T. E. Grey
Tp SSgt	SSgt C. Marlowe

The Troop has said goodbye to some familiar faces and welcomed some new not so familiar ones over the last few months. Amongst those leaving where Sgt 'Selly' Selkirk, who is now enjoying the good life in his rather lucrative new job in civvy street. This said he still hasn't become a stranger as he phones his old colleagues to regale them with tales of long sideburns, all expenses paid courses and his ridiculous over time rates. Sig Kenny Waring also managed to escape and is now hopefully jet setting around the world trying to find sunshine and desperately trying to forget RAIN (the only weather pattern known to Northern Ireland). Amongst the new arrivals who have been sentenced to two years hard labour in India Tp are Cpl Billy Beaumont whose boundless enthusiasm is slowly being sapped - luckily she is due to go on her Class 1 upon successful completion of her entrance exam in November. Cpl 'Stevy' Simpson has joined the illustrious ranks of the brew drinking, biscuit stealing System Administrators, he has obviously undergone some arduous training to prepare him for his new job – needless to say he has nearly overdosed on caffeine on more than one occasion. LCpl Adi Falinski arrived in Province and almost straight away 'volunteered' to take part in the march and shoot due to be held some time this year (if the dates don't change again)! Sig Phil Broken who lived up to his name by promptly going to hospital as soon as he arrived. 'Hellos' also go to Sig Jackie Bridger recently arrived from 30 Sig Regt, and to Sig Steve Moran from 16 Sig Regt. Welcome to you both! 'Hello and goodbye' to SSgt (FofS) Gaz 'Turncoat' Williams who leaves us for the joys of TM Tp, after managing to stay in the chair for only six months. Tell us all how you managed it!

by LCpl 'Chicken' McLuckie

As the deadline for Ex Indian Summer, an India Tp charity event, grows ever nearer, the System Administrators still manage to find time for a brew or two (or three… or four…). Praise has to go to SSgt Nige Smith and Sgt Jeff 'I'm NOT Ginger' Thomas for managing to pull themselves away from their hourly caffeine fix and taking part in the Mercury Cup March and Shoot Competition. Thanks to their sterling efforts, the team managed to come fifth. If it had not been for them, the team might only have been runners up! SSgt Craig Marlowe headed up both the Mercury Cup March and Shoot Competition and the Military Skills Competition. Finishing in second place in the Military Skills Competition ensured that 233 Sig Sqn achieved third place overall in the Mercury Cup Competition, so well deserved congratulations go to all those who took part in the events.

The Troop is now enjoying its fitness, as we have finally realised that we do actually have to attend PT sessions, but a special mention has to go to Sig Moran, who decided to 'throw his teddy' and run off the football pitch after being hit with the ball! As this article goes to press, the Troop will be off gallivanting around a golf course somewhere in Northern Ireland. Results of that competition will be published in the next edition. One thing is certain, LCpl 'Doughnut' Foulkes will retain the record for eating the free bacon rolls…

Congratulations are due to Cpl Graeme Keith and his wife LCpl Jo (nee Ellison) Keith on their recent marriage. He must be the luckiest member of the Troop to date – he has found himself a 'Toygirl' – about 20 years his junior! Keep an eye on your heart monitor Graeme… Congratulations also to LCpl 'Toff' Lucas and his wife Apple on their recent marriage.

NETWORK CONTROL CENTRE

Tp Comd	Capt A. M. Haresign
Tp Sgt	Sgt S. D. Johnson

We say a fond farewell to the 'Three Amigos', WO1 (YofS) 'Porthos' Rose, WO1 (FofS) 'Aramis' Gill and WO1 (Supvr IS) 'Dartagnon' Brooks. This swashbuckling trio having masterminded the Problem management within the Province for the past year, have been whisked off to work in a cramped office in the Penthouse suite of the newly formed G6 Branch. WO2 (YofS) 'unlimited budget' Darlington departs for pastures new and a quieter life supporting his local team, Scunthorpe United. Sgt 'Dolly' Parton and LCpl Paul Walton swap their three-screen technology for a pair of snips and a screwdriver on their move to TM Tp and LCpl Brian Milne departs to join the Globe Trotters. Good luck to all of you on your recent moves. We welcome the new management team WO2 (YofS) 'Will' Carley and WO2 (FofS) Rick Gorman. Hello too to an Armada of new arrivals in the form of Sgt 'Del' Richards, Sgt 'Mac' McGibbon, Cpl 'Dave' Carter, LCpl 'Dino' Deans, LCpl 'Rob' Latham and LCpl 'Tristian' Fox. We also welcome LCpl 'Shaza' Pillans on a work experience scheme from TM Tp. We would also like to congratulate Cpl Danny Pearson and Cpl Keith Lamb on their promotion, a double celebration for Cpl Lamb with the birth of a new baby boy and on the recent marriage of LCpl 'Mother Hubbard' Ellison to Cpl Keith.

ROMEO TROOP

Tp Comd	Capt R. A. Hamilton
Tp (YofS)	WO2 (YofS) N. J. Bartlett

Hellos and good-byes: After a thoroughly hectic period in the Troop we are pleased to see the arrival of many new faces. First, fresh from his Class 1 at Blandford, we have Cpl Mark Collins; secondly all the way from 1 Div we have Cpl Steve Blood. The Ops side has seen two new faces arrive to bolster the defences against the constant barrage of technical wit, Cpl Dave Weatherstone, from 19 Mech Bde, and Cpl Dave Haskell, from 20 Armd Bde. All seem to have settled in quite easily, and adapted to the role with few problems. LCpl Ian Bostock, has moved over to us from Surveillance Section and we have a replacement Storeman Cpl 'Dougie' Douglas. Due to heavy commitments we have had to start recruiting from the ranks of TM Tp, resulting in an influx of four new Sys Eng Techs: Cpl Si 'Old Obvious' Mason; Cpl Louise 'Penelope' Parker; LCpl Harry French; and LCpl Andy Widdup. With a big welcome from the Ops to Sgt Tony King and Sgt 'Nige' Cathrew. On more of a sad note, we say goodbye to WO2 (FofS) Jim O'Donnell, who leaves on a medical discharge; and goodbye to Capt Colin 'Shoot Everything' Kell, leaving us for 2 Sig Regt in York. Good luck to both in the future. We also say a fond farewell to Cpl Steve 'The Jinx' Armstrong, and Cpl Nick 'Arthur Daley' Clift, who are off to brave the wrath of Blandford on their Class 1 course. Another loss is Sgt Steve Mayell, moving across the Province to take up an appointment as a Troop Staff Sergeant with 8 Bde HQ & Sig Sqn. Good luck from the entire Troop. Congratulations to Sgt Paul 'Loggy' Wright on his recent appointment as Workshop Sergeant. We are all just wondering how long your beautiful hair will last before you pull it all out. Congratulations also go out to Cpls Si 'Big Nose' Wellstead, Matt Ashurst, Andy Burrows, and Nic Jenkins on their promotions to Corporal.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

Tp Comd Lt E. L. McLellan
Tp SSgt SSgt D. G. Ware

Hellos and good-byes: If it seems a little empty around TM (Tucan) workshops recently, that's because it is. After an influx of new arrivals earlier in the year, it has been time to say a number of goodbyes. SSgt Brian Gillies has finally set off for the warmer clime of Cyprus. A very dedicated and well respected Troop Staff Sergeant he will be sadly missed and the Troop wishes both him, his wife Caroline and two daughters Hannah and Natasha all the very best for the future. Sgt Paul Alfer, our very loyal RLC member of the Troop is departing for Germany with his wife Adele and dog Ziggy. We offer you many thanks for your hard work and commitment to the Troop and the best of luck in your new post in Germany. Sgt 'De De' Watts joins the Gillies family in Cyprus, also with family and dog in tow as well as a large number of qualifications and courses under his belt. It is hoped that Sgt Watts, wife Liz, Christopher and Nabi the dog all have an excellent tour.

TM Tp has also experienced some internal loss the first being WO2 (FofS) Gorman who moves to NCC as Australian Liaison officer, we hope he enjoys his stay in the Millennium Dome. Many thanks for all your hard work both as Troop Commander and Tp FofS during the last eighteen months, the Troop Commander for one is most definitely happy that you're still only a few hundred metres away…'about the Tech CR's…'. Sgt 'Spike' Milligan is also saying goodbye to the Troop, journeying all the way over to 225 Sig Sqn. I'm sure we'll still see plenty of you. By the end of the month Cpls Bruce Noble, Stuart Perkins and Daz Flay will be moving on to 39 Bde and JCU respectively. Cpls Si Mason and Lou Parker stay within 233 Sqn but are now in Romeo Tp, and will shortly be followed by LCpl Boyd whilst LCpl Fox has also been swallowed up by the underground bubble of the NCC.

TM TP's new FofS, SSgt Williams, comes from India Tp and will need re-educating in the ways of the Tucan. Hello to LCpl Disley who has arrived straight from RSS trade training and LCpl Thomas from the dark depths of R Tp. Last but not least, hello to our new URS geezer, Sgt Terry 'Scouse' Coakley (RLC), who takes over from Sgt Alfer this month. We trust that you and your family will enjoy your time with THE Royal Corps! Finally a big congratulations to all those in the Troop who have recently been promoted. On the Tele Mech side LCpls Lowe and Partridge and Sig Rayner have come off their boards with success, whilst there have been a number of new Cpl T2's: Cpl's Berry, Flay, Noble, Parker, Perkins, Renshaw and Tutton. The TM Tp shooting team came second on Ex Harp Finn 2000. Sgt 'Fred' Farnfield has had success in Blandford on the Royal Signals Leadership Course and returned ready to lead from the rear. (He's had plenty of practice on those long endurance runs). Also mention goes to Cpl Chris Renshaw, LCpl Steve Boyd, LCpl Dave 'The Blair Witch' Rice and Sig 'Muggy' Mugford whom recently completed a COP Team Medic course. 'To all those who have done well……well done'. LCpl Steve 'Cabbage' Boyd went patrolling with 1 WFR again, this time around Strabane on the West border of NI for two weeks at the end of November. Thanks to everyone who supported Sgt 'Gaz' Watkins' daughter, Rebecca, for Children in Need. A special mention goes to Sgt 'Spike' Milligan who sponsored a HUGE £10.

NCC OLYMPIC STEPATHON IN AID OF IMPERIAL CANCER RESEARCH FUND

by LCpl Jo Keith and Cpl Graeme Keith

The gymnasium was where we found our inspiration to raise funds for Imperial Cancer Research Fund in the form of, a 24 hour step-a-thon. The aim of the event was, through a system of hourly stags, to keep two step machines working continuously for a 24-hour period. This was maintained primarily through NCC personnel and a couple of guest steppers from within 233 Sig Sqn. To make the day more challenging there was a program of step aerobics for those who had overindulged over the summer holidays. The day started with light humour and a casual climb up the Dutch elevations but eventually became competitive with sprints up Ben Nevis. Even WO1 (Supvr IS) Mick Brooks put his pipe away, until we finally realized how far we had traveled. We reached the height of Everest three times over, in total 165,332 feet. The event was well supported from the Lisburn Imperial Cancer Research Fund who worked extremely hard on the raffle, which Cpl Eddie Edwards appreciated when he won the fluffy Dulux dog. Reaching the pain threshold had to be made worthwhile by gaining sponsorship through request and persuasion; Cpl Max Wall doing a Grant Mitchell, Cpl Linda MacCulloch with an impromptu ride a nag to name a few. The easiest donation was the £10 note that was found in the gymnasium doorway. In total buckets of sweat were shed for a worthy sum in excess of £1,400. A big thanks to all those involved. What's next? Sponsored 24 hour ACFT?

MCKELVIE CUP SHOOTING COMPETITION

by LCpl 'Nige' Foulkes

The McKelvie Cup Inter-Troop Shooting Competition was held on 22 October at Ballykinler Training Centre. The day started in true Northern Irish tradition – early, dark and very wet! Even though the weather was horrendous – gale force winds, bitterly cold and horizontal rain – the event was extremely well supported, with all Troops entering teams. The competition consisted of three events: Clay Pigeon Shoot, 100m Rifle 5.56mm Practice and a 25m Browning 9mm Pistol Practice. NCC Tp started as they meant to go on – by coming bottom in every shoot. Thanks for coming lads! India Tp were obviously robbed and finished in third place, behind TM Tp and Romeo Tp respectively. Well done to Romeo Tp – someone suggested you display the trophy in the Guardroom, but your lads would never get to see it there…!!! A special mention must go to SSgt Mick 'Deadeye' Knowles, Cpl Ross 'Skill At Arms' Menzies, LCpl Nige 'Hair-Trigger' Foulkes and Sig 'Barn-door' Manifield for representing India Tp. When you get five minutes Ross, can you run the Troop through Browning 9mm Pistol Stoppage Drills? Oh, go on…please? Cpl Jenkins of Romeo Tp took the top honours in rifle and shotgun, and LCpl Boyd of TM Tp top honours in the pistol. Finally, a big 'Thank You !' to Romeo Tp for organising the day. Hang on a sec, didn't they win it?

MAXTREK 2000 - by LCpl Burrows

It's 4 o'clock on a Saturday morning and whoever volunteered us for the challenge of the day is refusing to take responsibility. Us being WO2 (YofS) 'Tac' Bartlett, LCpl Nick 'Jenks' Jenkins, LCpl Si Wellstead and myself LCpl Andy Burrows. The challenge of the day…..to scale the height of Mount Everest in 30 hours. The event took on the shape of consecutive ascents and descents of the infamous Slieve Donard Mountain which makes up part of the Mourne Mountain Range in Northern Ireland, each complete ascent and descent being 10km long. So to succeed in our task of scaling the height of Everest we would have to cover Donard a staggering 10.4 times (104km) with a total ascended height of 8,500m. Its fair to say we all underestimated the amount of pain

TM Troop Dress in style for their Fancy Dress Party

we were about to endure! The day started well, with all parties enjoying the first climb, but it was as early as the second climb when we realised that this challenge would best be tackled as a team. So we broke the legs down with LCpl Si Wellstead and LCpl Nick Jenkins completing three full rounds, an equivalent of 30km. Tac 'Mountain Goat' Bartlett, not to be beaten by Donard gathered up enough spirit to go one better with four (40km) and LCpl Andy Burrows after a lunchtime nap went one better still with 5 full ascents and descent, a respectable 50km. 13 hours after crossing the start line, the Romeo Tp team had completed one and a half times the height of Everest a truly outstanding achievement of which all can be proud. The event was run in conjunction with Cystic Fibrosis for which we raised £250.

EXERCISE VIA FERRATA FINN 2000 - by LCpl Chris Renshaw

Whoever said adventure training is great fun has obviously never tried to organise it. Exercise Via Ferrata Finn was TM Troop's level three annual adventure training exercise to the Dolomite mountain range in the Via Ferrata region of Northern Italy. When the bid went in for the equipment, Bicester came back and said sorry, we haven't got half of what it is you're after (more hair fell to the floor). Luckily LCpl Hayden 'the Dude' Lawer has a brother who works at Kinnegar stores depot, and managed to 'acquire' everything we were short of.

More fun was had trying to book the ferry; not being allowed to take a transit van without paying freight cost for it. After some gentle persuasion and quite a few promises of gifts from abroad (tall dark handsome men, chocolates, etc) by LCpl Chris Renshaw, the girls at the booking office waived the freight charges for us. Thank you. Everything we'd done up to now could have been for nothing, transport availability being the traditional hindrance right up until the day we departed.

So, we were finally all set to go, and after a few gentle words of wisdom by the Sqn OC, Maj Giles, (don't drink too much, don't do anything I wouldn't do etc) we departed (nearly) on time. After a nice calm ferry crossing to Heysham we set off on the drive south which was supposed to take us 8-12hrs, which we completed in a little under five hours (don't ask!) the fact that it was the middle of the night had something to do with this. Consequently, upon arrival to Dover, it was time for sweet talk and promises from LCpl Renshaw to try and get the two vehicles and pax on a much earlier hovercraft. Having successfully negotiated this, the journey continued onwards, and onwards, until, at around 0100hrs, as we were about to cross the German-Austrian border, we encountered our own fuel shortage problem with every 24hr garage being closed. The local petrol stations only took a locally issued charge card prompting Sgt 'Micky' Mann to have a quick whip round prior to persuading two local women that were passing to buy the petrol for him and for him to give them the money. Of course he didn't tell us this, he just chatted to the two women then got into their car and drove away, returning with a jerry can of petrol.

The morning we arrived in Italy, it was raining and so misty that there wasn't a mountain to be seen (maybe we were still in Holland after all). A rain soaked walk around town provided us with an opportunity to purchase local maps and gain professional knowledge of the area. The next day it was still raining so we opted for a little early R+R in Venice, where the OIC exercise Lt Elisabeth McLellan came out with the comment of the trip. While travelling down the Grand Canal in Venice, a funeral boat was just loading a coffin into it, when this was mentioned to her she responded with the comment 'Oh look, a wedding, don't they look nice' enough said I think. (In defence, the boat was blue and she saw lots of people and flowers as opposed to a coffin, but that's not going to change anything is it)? The next day brought glorious sunshine, so we preceded onto the first mountain after a necessary safety brief. We were all expecting something quite easy to break us in but, oh no, with LCpl Andy Widdup in the lead we set off up a mountain of scree that took us an hour to ascend. Then we reached the bottom of Punta Fiames, 2240m of wet rock going up and up and up. After a few choice words from the team we cracked the mountain with no problems, but if we thought that was bad it was nothing compared to the next day. This was the longest climb Ivana Dibona reaching a height of 3225m. People who visit the region and attempt Dibona get the cable car to the top and walk down getting picked up at the car park at the midway point, but not us. We decided to do the whole climb starting at the very bottom. In total that day we trekked 27km uphill, and when asked by people climbing down why we were climbing up, the day leader LCpl Hayden 'The Dude' Lawer merely replied 'it's because of who we are and what we are' and calmly continued upwards. The next day was just a baby climb really; we took the cable car up to top of Ivano Dibona and from there continued onto Ferrata Marino Bianchi (Cristelio), where we witnessed some of the stupidest people in all of Italy. They were climbing at over 3000m with sheer drops on either side with NO safety equipment at all, and when one pair got into difficulty Sgt Mann had to run to the rescue (what a guy). LCpl Bruce 'Give me more karabiners to clip on' Noble led the team up Tofana de Rozes 3225m. This was a very challenging climb as the wind, rain and mist descended on to the mountain and then we got stuck behind a group of French novice climbers who didn't have a clue. When we finally had the summit in sight a shock awaited us; it was covered with three feet of snow, which made it even harder to reach the top. The next day was a very justified day off.

The final climb was up the hardest and tallest mountain in the region, the Tofana Dimezzo 3243m. The day leader was LCpl Stu 'I'm going to use the hardest route I can find' Perkins who bravely led us up some of the toughest climbs any of us has ever experienced. We always knew when a hard bit was coming because LCpl Perkins would use words or phrases you would not want your mother to hear. The coolest member of the team when climbing was our PTI Cpl Mike 'Is this it?' Lake, who happened to celebrate his first wedding anniversary with wife Cpl Sunny Lake who went with us as admin commandante. Finally the R+R stage arrived starting with Lake Eibsee, a beautiful glacial lake in south Germany which we walked round and then went swimming in. Quote of the day had to be credited to LCpl Hayden Lawer when (having hired a pedalo) he enquired, 'How do you make it go backwards?' We then travelled to Fussen where you can see the castle that appeared in the film 'Chitty Chitty Bang Bang'. To do this we had to climb the Telegeilburg Mountain. However, when faced with the choice of walking up the Telegeilburg (two hours uphill) or taking the cable car the top, £3 and 5mins, everybody obviously choose the cable car except for Lt McLellan, Sgt Mann, Cpls Lake and Lake (weird or what). After we descended we continued the journey back north towards Calais, stopping off over night in Brussels. This afforded the opportunity for experiencing a bit of culture, taking in museums, art galleries - even a little bit of opera … (I said opportunity). The rest of the journey went as planned except for nearly missing the ferry because we were all in McDonalds, luckily we made it back just in time and returned to Lisburn as planned. Many thanks to all those individuals and departments, both in HQNI and 39 Bde and Signal Squadron, who have supported the exercise, your help has been very much appreciated.

The Team descending Punta Fiames

40th (ULSTER) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col A. P. R. Roberts MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. G. McGinley

ARRIVALS & DEPARTURES

Welcome to Capt Nick Morris on his recent arrival as Adjt, replacing Capt Andy Lucas, albeit Capt Lucas was actually gone for three months before Capt Morris arrived. No sooner had he arrived than he departed on first his NIRTT course and then JCSC. Meanwhile Capt Carl Kinghan MBE continues to hold the fort whilst also serving as PSAO HQ and 66 Sqns.

85 (ULSTER & ANTRIM ARTILLERY) SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj M R Fraser-Brenchley
SSM WO2 (SSM) Hedley

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

A belated welcome to Capt Eddie Spence who arrived in June 2000 as PSAO. Capt Spence comes from the RDG, but as his last job was AO at 39 Bde HQ & Sig Sqn it shouldn't be too much of a culture shock. He also managed to replace as PSAO Capt Carl Kinghan MBE the man who recruited him as a soldier in the first place.

Goodbye to Capt Jeni Ballagh who leaves us after only a short time to become 2IC Basic Company of Queen's University OTC. Good luck with the new post and thanks for preventing the Ops Officer from decorating his office!

EXERCISE SOUTHERN RUN

For some it's a walk in the park, for others no more than a stroll but for the rest of us who grimaced at the PTIs in an effort to pass our CFT at Ex Southern Run in September - well done. The aim of this annual exercise is to complete most of the ITDs required of all TA officers and soldiers. Apart from the CFT, the Squadron was put through its paces at weapon handling, the APWT and NBC training. Thanks to Cpl Burgess of 66

Sqn for the graphic description of the effects of a nuclear strike, and thanks to the Padre who provided an illuminating lecture on morality.

As we were recovering from the CFT SSgt Gary Shaw was given a bit of a surprise when he was called forward to receive the Wills' Trophy. Indeed he was so surprised that he started a new tradition of saluting in PT kit and which we believe he is now trying to have included in the drill manual (yes he has done the Drill Instructors Course). The Wills' Trophy is awarded for the best NCO, Regular or TA, in 11 Signal Brigade so this is a tremendous accolade for him and is well deserved. This was presented by Col Roger Davenport TD Deputy Commander 11 Signal Brigade. SSgt Shaw has worked tirelessly throughout the year with recruiting, recruit training and as Drum Major of the Regiment's pipes and drums. Congratulations and well done from the Squadron.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to WO1(RSM) Chris McGinley on his recent selection for commissioning. Congratulations also to Miss Anna Donnan, a former Civilian clerk , on her recent award of the Imperial Service Medal . The medal was presented by the Commanding Officer in the presence of the permanent staff and many of her friends and family.

Presentation of the Imperial Service Medal
(L-R): Capt Carl Kingham MBE, Miss Anna Donnan,
Lt Col Tony Roberts MBE

Congratulations also go to our SPSI SSgt Dave Gallagher on the award of his LS&GC and also to Cpl Colleen McCandless, Cpl Neil Telford and LCpl Joanne Sanlon on their promotions.

SOCIAL

The SSM's gender recognition ability has been tested (and found wanting) lately. This has been due to some of the lads dressing in grass skirts and bikinis or basques and stockings. The occasions for this cross-dressing were a foam party and the Rocky Horror Halloween Party. The two events were a big success. Go-go dancers, a foam machine (obviously) and a cannibal's boiling pot were organised for the foam party. Not many escaped being boiled - and most of the Squadron were pickled by the end of the night. A bit of time warping took place at the Squadron's Rocky Horror Halloween Party with the male members of the squadron raiding their partner's underwear drawer – some with worrying enthusiasm. A great night was had by all - many thanks to the SQMS, SSgt Tommy Johnston, and all those who helped out.

REGIMENTAL GOLF SOCIETY NEWS

The Clonaver Park Golf Society's end of season Annual Presentation Dinner was held on Friday 3rd November, it was attended by 55 members and their guests. This was the 8th Dinner Night in the Society's 9-year history. Trophies were presented for the monthly outing league and for the Annual Matchplay singles and Doubles competitions. All are looking forward to the Turkey Shoot in December.

The Winners
(L-R): Lee Whitley, Sig Pete Blane, Mr Richard McKeown, Capt (QM) Dave Crystal, Mr George Cook

321 EOD SQN RLC
THE ROYAL SIGNALS ELEMENT

EOD Branch ECM Advisor WO2 Dave Watson
Squadron ECM Advisor SSgt 'Robbo' Robson

Royal Signals Personalities:

Antrim	-	Cpl 'Nige' Cathrew
Armagh	-	Cpl 'Mac' MacDonald
Belfast	-	Cpl 'Richie' Fox & LCpl 'Deano' Messer
Bessbrook	-	Cpl 'Jamie' Leishman
Holywood	-	Cpl 'Eddie' Edwards
Lisburn	-	LCpl 'Rachel' Howarth
Londonderry	-	LCpl 'Dave' Boyle
Omagh	-	Sig 'Shoey' Traynor
Province Reserve	-	LCpl 'Jase' Manton
R & R	-	Cpl 'Fishy' Myers

Written by LCpl Dave Doyle

321 EOD Sqn is the Explosive Ordnance Disposal unit in Northern Ireland, responsible for the safe disposal of Improvised Explosive Devices and stray ammunition across the province. The unit comprises a HQ element at Lisburn and ten detachments (4-man teams) supporting the various Brigades. On each team there is an Ammunition Technical Officer (ATO), a Captain or senior rank, responsible for the team and the running of a task. This is the guy in the big green suit who walks down to the bomb! Also on a team there is the No. 2, he is the team 2IC and is responsible for all the EOD equipment used by the team.

He is also the Wheelbarrow driver; this is a remote controlled vehicle used to disrupt possible devices! The third member of the team is the ECM Operator, a member of the Royal Corps of Signals. He will either appears less than keen to go to work this morning!

The Wheelbarrow

be a TG, a Radio Op or a Spec Op and is attached to 321 EOD Sqn for a six month tour from either the UK or Germany, as part of 11 EOD Regt. The final member of the team is the Infantry Escort, attached to the EOD team from the resident Battalion. This soldier is responsible for the close protection of the team whilst on the ground. He also assists the other team members with their jobs whilst on task and back at base location!

Another proud day for Londonderry Det

The results of an EOD training day, carried out by the Londonderry Det. LCpl 'Dave' Boyle, Royal Signals is situated front left.

THE ROUTE TO 321 EOD SQUADRON - LCpl 'Deano' Messer

Just how do you get to become an ECM Operator with 321 EOD Sqn in Northern Ireland? It's not as easy as you may think, there are several challenges you must overcome before you qualify for employment with 321. Whether you volunteer or are simply sent to EOD, you could do a lot worse. Life with the RLC is mellow. However, the first stumbling block is you must be a Spec Op, Radio Op or Tele Op (TG) otherwise you're not getting in!

Don't get too comfy upon arrival at your UK or Germany based squadron, you won't be there long. From the word go, you'll be jetting back and forth to the town of Hull (this is not unlike Monaco) and Kineton (this is not unlike Outer Mongolia). In Hull, or just outside it at a place called Beverley, you'll attend several courses. First, you will carry out Cat C driver training along with an exciting Hazmat (carriage of hazardous materials) course; in total this lasts two and a half weeks. Next, you will do the advanced EOD van drivers course. This is a week of tearing around the countryside, keeping the needle in the red of course, with an instructor by your side. It ends on the Friday with a one and a half hour blue light run, where you follow a police traffic car, forget everything you've been taught and terrorise the streets of Hull, legally.

Now it's off to the Army School of Ammunition, Kineton. Here you'll spend five weeks on the Joint Service Explosive Ordnance Disposal Electronic Counter Measures Operator Course. Once you've successfully completed this course you'll be accepted for employment with 11 EOD Regt, basically you can operate anywhere in the world except Northern Ireland. Once back with your base squadron you will spend a couple of months consolidating your newly acquired skills and adjusting to the almost Mediterranean, feet up feeling you get from the Ammunition Technicians of the RLC. During this time you will conduct VVIP covers at many royal, military and sporting events, living it up in many a bought and paid for hotel at luxurious locations.

Once your boss thinks you're ready, he will send you on the EOD ECM Advanced (NI) course. This is another four weeks at Kineton, where you'll get to take on a lot more responsibility. Finally, just one more fast driving jolly in Hull, where you'll spend a few days tearing around the streets, with the needle in the red again, but this time in an unbelievably heavily armoured, 11 tonne, TACTICA. The locals love it! At last you fit the criteria for 321 EOD Sqn. You will soon embark on a six-month operational tour of NI where the responsibilities and rewards are second to none. Welcome to the wonderful world of EOD.

ARMAGH DETATCHMENT

ECM Op Cpl 'Mac' MacDonald

Although things have been quiet, we have managed to keep ourselves out of trouble, or at least Capt 'Hyacinth' Howard has had us scrubbing the detachment for all the visitors that we have been getting. It has to be said that if the millennium dome received as many visitors as we did, it wouldn't need lottery funding! The beginning of June saw the detachment vehicles go in for servicing which meant that the team actually got a night off in Lisburn as well as a deserved break from our pagers. A good time was had and a few well-deserved beers were sunk by all. The teams drivers continue to do a sterling job, they are out and about trying to break the land speed record and are expected to make a guest appearance on Police, Camera, Action short

NEWS FROM THE REGIMENTS

1ST (UNITED KINGDOM) ARMOURED DIVISION HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL REGIMENT

THE REGIMENTAL TUG OF WAR TEAM AT THE BRAEMAR GAMES

A late entry, but no less important, was the Regimental Tug of War Team's invitation followed by their participation in the Highland Games at Braemar, Scotland in September. After a full season of competitions and training, this event was to be the highlight of the Team's year.

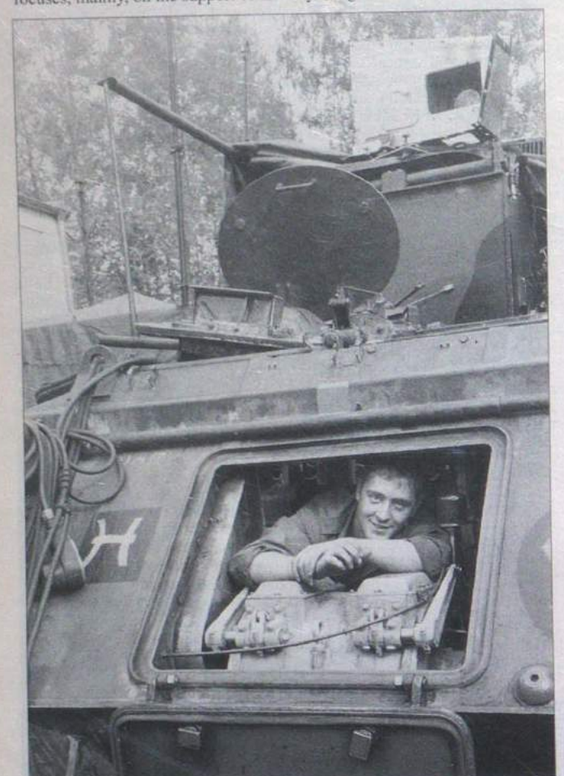
The CO and RSM manage to make the Games to support the ten man strong Regimental Tug of War Team

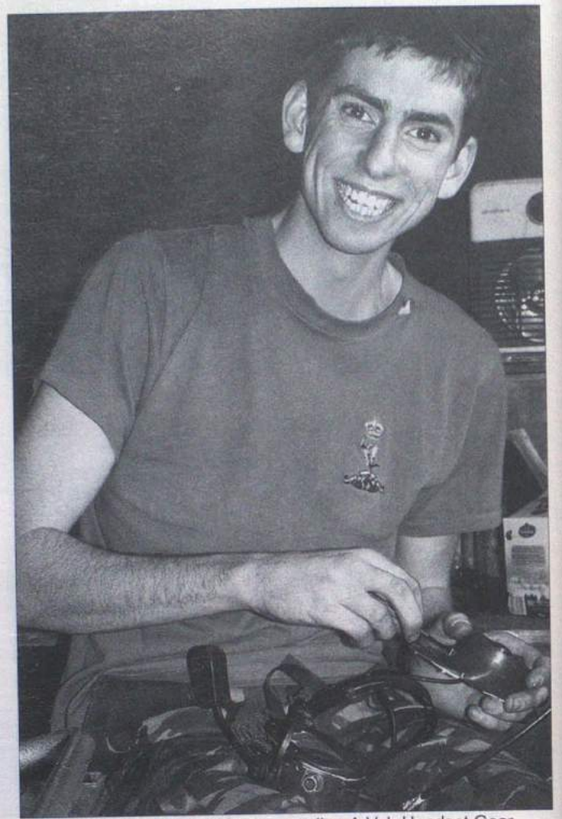
The full fury of the Team's combined power on full view, as they compete in several matches throughout the period. This well trained and disciplined team are cheered on by the RSM, Chris Hymas

MILITARY ACTIVITIES

October saw the Regiment deploy to Bavaria, to join soldiers from five nations, as part of the ARRC level exercise, Ex Arcade Fusion. This study focuses, mainly, on the support of the Royal Signals tasks on exercise.



Sig 'Geordie' Graham is finally talked into smiling for a photograph (no mean feat), as he once again finds his Detachment, a SAS/MC with an electromechanical problem

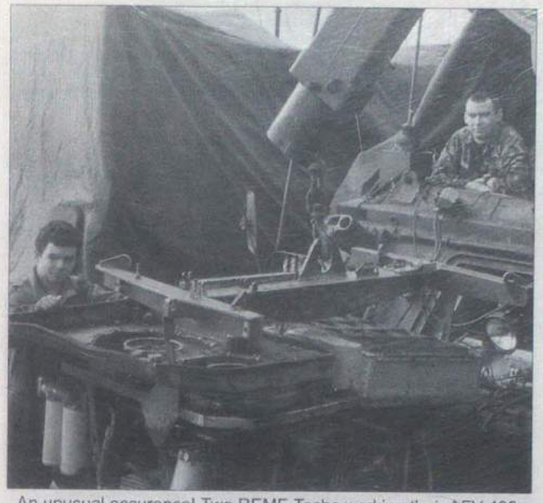


Technician, LCpl Ali Gage, mending A Veh Headset Gear

Driver Linemen, Sig Col Simm, mends a damaged 7 quad cable

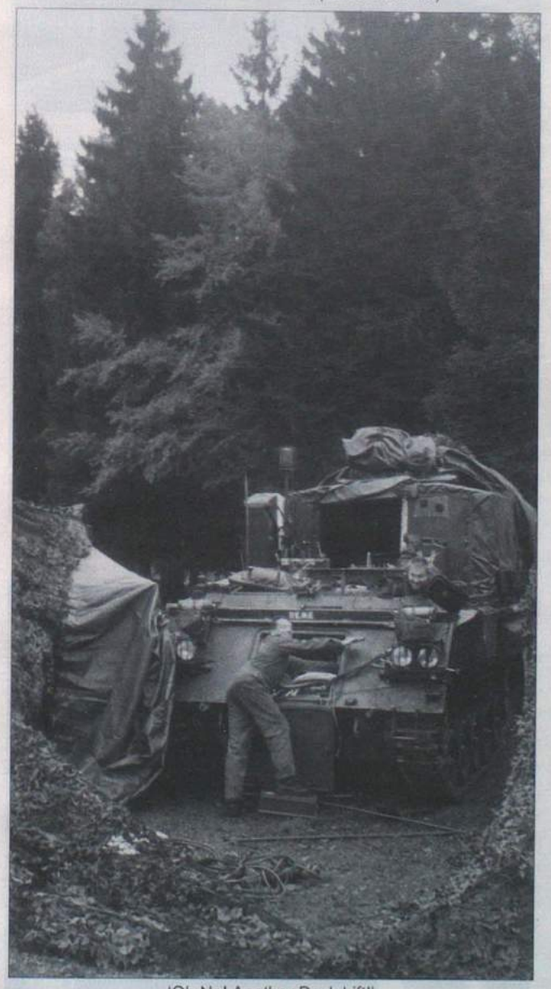
Forever mending cable heads,
Driver Lineman Sig Mandy MacKenzie, gets to grips with a 7 quad, under the expert tuition of colleague Cpl Allen

DON'T SEND US DIGITAL PHOTOS as most of them are only saved at 72dpi, for publication they must be a minimum of 300-400dpi



An unusual occurence! Two REME Techs working their AFV 439, known as 'Maurice', a definite problem child on this exercise! Also unusual is working in a green field site... (for Divisional Main Headquarters that is!)

Systems Operator, Sig 'Phsyco' Smith, on watch in the SAS/MC of Diamond 6, Papa Headquarters



'Oh No! Another Pack Lift!'
This time it is one of the Regiment's own AFV 436s that needs attention, just at the end of the exercise - the REME Voden is most useful for taking packs straight out of the vehicle, as seen here

Preparing to power the beast up, Driver Electrician, Sig Tom Saunders, carries the power cables to provide the lighting to Divisional Headquarters

ON OPERATIONS

Soldiers from the Regiment are frequently away on Operational Tours and Detachments, from BATUS- Canada, Bosnia, the Falklands to Kosovo. Operational Tours give the chance for our soldiers to put into practice all the skills that they learn in training and on exercise. The following photographs are all from Operation Agricola 3.

Driver Lineman, Sig Gail Evans, gets to grips with a drum of HQ Quad at Headquarters Multi National Brigade (Central), Pristina, Kosovo

This KFOR helicopter is captured on film, flying over a destroyed and vacant building near Pristina. This picture could equally depict the same scene in Bosnia

In the guise of a Desert Rat (convenience only!) Sig Gail Evans joins the multitude of R. SIGNALS soldiers who have experienced the pleasures of the Operational Tour work horse, the 'ISO container'. this time it houses the Line store for HQ MNB(C)

ADVENTURE TRAINING

Despite being an extremely busy period for the Regiment, the past two months have, never the less, resulted in ten soldiers from the Regiment participating in their Basic Freefall Parachuting course, with one of the soldiers, Sig Stables, completing a 15,000 foot Tandem Jump, as the highlight of her course.

EXERCISE GENOA DIAMOND

Ex Genoa Diamond was a two-week sailing expedition from ASTC Kiel, in Germany and some three hours from Herford. The expedition was designed to allow those participating to learn sailing skills, and to get to grips with basic navigation under the watchful eye of Royal Signals Bosun, LCpl Del Whyman, who is permanently based at Kiel. The soldiers sailed round several Danish ports, but as the majority were novices, the sea conditions took a few by surprise!

'Ready for action!'
Sigs McKinley, Potter and Booth, along with Sig Towell are prepared to set sail for Denmark, on the Corps' yacht
'Quicksilver'

Showing signs of deteriorating rapidly, the group display casual nonchalance after two days on board!
Dress standards begin to slip!

Finally, taking advantage of still water and warm weather, the group strip down to the bare essentials

2 SIGNAL REGIMENT

HEADQUARTER SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Bailes
SSM WO2 Hancock

OPERATION WATERFOWL

On Tuesday 30 October, when the cities authorities 'stood to' as the water reached 4.6mts high there was perhaps some indication that help would be needed to avert a pending disaster! Planning, only in its initial stages, took place in the civilian police HQ where Maj Jamie Compston (OC 214) managed to 'scare all' by turning up in full SOP's as the military LO. Fortunately the rivers did not rise any further (that night) and all were 'stood down'. The unit, like all good military planners, started to look at its manning and equipment because we had the sense to look at the weather report, which clearly predicted more rain strangely enough! Lo and behold on Thursday 2 November just as the troops had finished for the day (gone 1700hrs) and just as the Prime Minister was flying-in the civil authorities mobilised as the river rose again! The 2IC Squadron got the call from Operations (later to be known as OOPs) requesting '50 men down town in 20 mins'. Fortunately the singlies were still eating, the blocks were still full and the panic started! The rest you could say is history, however, it is important that all facts are recorded correctly and it is through these pages of our Corps publication that the important details are remembered. Hence for those hardworking members of 214 and 219 Sqn's who had been away on exercise in Germany and had stood down for the long weekend it was left to Support Sqn to save York, or Atlantis as it soon became known. As the call-in procedures kicked in and soldiers quickly responded to the council's requests, to fill sandbags, there was a sneaky suspicion this was going to be a long night! 50 hours later on Saturday afternoon some of our teams finally stood-down for a consolidated period of rest and well earned it was! As history is being written it is only fair to mention those who did not deploy on Exercise, from 214 and 219, as they became honoury members of HQ Sqn for this first 50 hours and they played their part exceptionally well. There are too many people to mention from the Regiment as a whole, who played their part above and beyond the call of duty. However, in a real time situation such as this Aid to Civil Community a lot of lessons were learnt, a lot of friendships forged and a lot of sweat was shed in averting a larger disaster than actually occurred. It is unfortunate however that considerable damage was unavoidable and widespread, but the troops from the Regiment carried out all that was asked of them, and more, in coming together for the good, benefit and support of the local population. Flooding has affected a few members of the Regiment and their homes and we have a great deal of sympathy for them and their families, particularly at this time of year, as they work towards rebuilding their homes and lives.

MIKE TROOP

Tp Comd WO1 FofS Dodd
Tp SSgt SSgt Swithenbank

Life in TM Tp has been hectic lately with preparation for PRE. At the same time the Troop has also been split as people leave us to join JCUFI Squadron. On 2 November the Troop and most of the squadron was put on standby to help defend York from the torrents of flood water the likes of which York has not seen for nigh on 400 years. Op Jorvik Giraffe (later re-named Op Waterfowl) saw members of the Troop filling thousands of sand bags, building flood defences, evacuating civilian personnel and helping prepare peoples houses for the impending floods. For the glory seeking members of the Troop this was the perfect opportunity, with people like Cpl Ed 'Two Crates' Waring who was only too pleased to find himself on page 5 of the Sun newspaper. Congratulations are in order to Cpl Lee Rumford whose wife Lisa gave birth to a little girl, Kaitlin, weighing in at 4lb 4oz. Congratulations also go to Cpl 'Shotgun' Salter on tying the knot with new wife Vicky under the most arduous conditions, after having their home flooded and then told it was going to be demolished. Welcome to Sgt Lee Turbitt who having had to rough it out with the weather in Cyprus has now found himself in sunny York, and is allegedly already plotting his escape. Farewell to Sgt Colin Pagette who has left us for pastures new in Germany. Unfortunately the Troop was unable to go to his arranged leaving party in Lancaster due too the flood crisis, but we all got together for one final session in York before he escaped to Germany leaving behind charges of indecent exposure to a Police Officer. Also to Staff Daz 'Monty Burns' Evans who leaves us for some cushy job at ISM troop leaving Staff Steve Swithenbank to bravely step forward and 'take the reins', and to Sgt Jim Davidson who was last seen 'swaning' it at 242 Sqn (oops news update! Falklands Squadron) and finally a fond farewell to sandbags and water, don't come back, you won't be missed.

REGIMENTAL MOTOR TRANSPORT

MTO Capt Rajandra
MTSNCO SSgt Mills

The last couple of months have been a busy period for the regimental MT, with exercises, battle camp and adventure training. Aside from Ops the MT have also enjoyed a few social functions, unfortunately the latest was cancelled due to the regiment being on flood alert and sandbag filling. This was really a blessing in disguise, not for those that got wet but to those in the MT who under the guidance of Cpl Findlay who had suggested the MT go out for Halloween as super heroines (any thing to get into women's clothing). Also a few members of the MT deployed on Ex Arreade Fusion with 214/219Sig Sqns. After the initial move into Wildfleken southern Germany the MT was attached to 7 Sig Regt working under the watchful eye of SSgt Phil 'Bag of Rags' Hay. Who kept us busy once Sig 'Last one out of bed' Shedden and Sig 'Playstation' Blundell made an appearance, they were kept busy issuing POL and trips to the PX. There are a few farewells, to Sig Coburn, going to Civ Div, LCpl Adams also going to Civ Div, Cpl Amrit posted to 30 Sig Regt, Cpl Ganesh, posted to 30 Sig Regt on promotion to Sergeant (congratulations). Not forgetting Sig 'Muddy' Mudd posted to the School of Signals good luck to you all. Welcome to Capt Rajendra and family and LCpl Brown and family hope you have a good tour with us!

REGIMENTAL GENE BAY

IC Bay Sgt Wyatt

First I would like to welcome back Sig Cleghorn, Tinker and Sworowski from their six month jolly to sunny Bosnia now it is time to start working for a living again boys so coveralls on and knuckle down. Congratulations to Sgt Jobson for being promoted but commiseration's on being posted from a superb unit. We wish you well at 21 Sig Regt and hope it is all you want it to be. Congratulations also to Steve Mitchell on promotion to Lance Corporal a definite change for the better. We would also like to welcome Sgt Stanley-Jones into the close family of the Light Aid Detachment.

TORNADO TROOP

Tp Comd
SSgt SSgt Neil Cooper

Tornado Tp, not unlike the rest of the Squadron has had an extremely busy past few months ranging from normal mandatory Technical inspections both first and second line, to Battlecamp and Regimental deployments on Ex Arrcade Fusion.

EXERCISE ARRCADE FUSION

Exercise Arrcade Fusion for Tornado Tp was to say the least slightly different from the normal run off the mill Regimental deployment. With the requirement for only three Trunk Nodes, Tornado Tp was sacrificed and the Radio Relay Operators were split into the other Troops within the Squadron. This left the poor old Systems Op's and 'Old Faithfull' SW022 in support of 7 Sig Regt at ARRC Star. After the long drive from Ayreshire Barracks to Wildflecken and straight into an IBCP, the Switch crew manned by Cpl's 'Snoz' Davis, 'Cozy' Cox, 'Dangerous' Shilton, LCpl 'The Mouth' Sibley and Sigs 'Tug' Bentley, 'Fozzy' Forster, and 'Freakishly strong' Holmes, left for the ARRC STAR. They were closely followed by its PV and LCpl 'Matt' Brameld expecting to set up and then relax for the three weeks with shorts and flip-flops. On arrival at ARRC STAR it became apparent that SW 022 would in fact play a more crucial role than first expected, mainly due to the numerous problems being experienced by SW 098. With SW 022 now playing such an important role and holding most of if not all the communications links at ARRC STAR the crew soon earned itself an excellent reputation with 7 Sig Regt. With the escalating friendly banter between Switch crews growing daily, morale was of the highest standard seen for a long time on a Regimental Exercise, which made for a most enjoyable exercise. All personnel safely returned to York just in time to save the city from flooding!

CELTIC TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Dhan
Tp SSgt SSgt Dharma

EXERCISE ARRCADE FUSION - by Sig Greaves

Ex Arrcade Fusion was a major Allied Rapid Reaction Corps exercise for the year 2000. 214 Sig Sqn was deployed on this exercise to provide a reliable Ptarmigan communications network in support of HQ ARRC. As the Unit furthest away from South Germany, it was obvious that we would be the first in by a week and the last out by a day, so come the end of the exercise we didn't want to go home MUCH! When we arrived in Wildflicken, the Radio Relay detachments deployed to build the network infrastructure whilst the Switches were involved in IBCP. Within a day of the Switch arriving in location, all the Celtic Tp links where holding steady. As a mixed race Troop the Chef, LCpl Bed had to cook different types of food to accommodate for people's tastes. Being a Gurkha himself, he made an excellent curry, which I had the pleasure of eating whenever I could! I think word got around and before long we had every man and his dog visiting. They all said that they were here to take a look at the Comms site but coincidentally they all managed to come around dinnertime! We were introduced to the nice, sunny weather that Germany had been waiting all year to give us, all one day of it. The rest of the time you were lucky to be dry or be able to see past the end of your nose due to the foggy conditions. Despite the conditions the exercise was a success, the goals set by HQ ARRC were achieved, and as a Troop we learnt some valuable lessons, which helped us to gel together. Personally, I really enjoyed the exercise and I hope that anything in which I partake in the future, goes just as well, (not to mention the tasty Gurkha curry).

ROMAN TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Hodgkinson
Tp SSgt SSgt Symonds

Once again Roman Tp has had a busy period, with yet another successful ARRC exercise under their belt. It was a baptism of fire for the new Troop Commander, 2Lt 'Hogdy' Hodgkinson, recently arrived from his troop commanders course, and Sgt Paul 'Airborne' Coxon from 12 Mech Bde, who both lead the Troop whilst SSgt Chris Symonds pushed out his EFP2. During Ex Arcade (Con) Fusion the Troop moved four times, even though this was supposed to be a static exercise. In true Roman tradition the Troop soldiered on, and put into practise all it's movement drills setting up in record time. Congratulations go out to Sig 'Zorro' Adkins for his promotion to acting Admin NCO, in the absence of Cpl 'Taffy' Langley. Recognition needs to go to Sgt Sanu for his sterling effort to visit the PX as many times as physically possible, whilst on exercise. He holds the record for the total amount of money spent in a single shopping trip and should be under investigation by the customs and excise for exporting goods into Nepal with PX price tags on them!

Not all the fun and games were to be had in the Node Home, the Relay site was named Misty Mountain, due to all the brilliant sunshine NOT! This location soon became known as the 'injuries Hill'. With afflictions such as Cpl Andy Preen having a coat hanger inserted up his nose, Sig 'Dangerous Brian' Jones poking a cam pole in his eye, Sig 'Brads' Bradley narrowly escaping electrocution doing something he shouldn't have. Also Sig 'Ash' Ashcroft suffering from some very suspicious friction burn from an unknown source! To keep spirits up Troop members were encouraged to allow the hair on their top lip to grow, some more successful than others, Sig 'Deno' Dean only managed a wisp, while true gringos sported some fine whiskers such as Cpl John Galletley, Cpl Rick Rickard and Cpl Andy Preen.

On return to York the Troop found themselves immersed in more ways than one in Op Water Fowl, supporting the local community during the floods along the River Ouse. Many of the Troop featuring on Sky TV and in the local papers. A job well done culminating in the Regiment being granted 'the Freedom of York'. After all the hard work the Troop is now beginning the backloading of the Ptarmigan equipment to Ashchurch, in preparation of Project Cormorant in the New Year. Roman Tp wish to say congratulations to 'Dusty' Millar, on selection for promotion to Corporal, and well done also to LCpl Si Hopkins on his promotion on posting to 21 Sig Regt as a Corporal. A welcome goes to LCpl 'Mac' McLeish, finally away from the Corsham Hub, and LCpl Lester from training.

VIKING TROOP

Tp Comd Lt J. D. Noble
Tp SSgt SSgt K. Curlett

The last two months have been an extremely busy period for the Troop including second lines, Battle Camp, plug ups, and some back to basics mil trg, as well as our deployment on Ex Arrcade Fusion.

EXERCISE ARCADE FUSION:

On 4 October we travelled from York to Hull to catch our five-star Cruise Liner to Rotterdam, an all expenses overnight journey with two free all you can eat meals, which went down well with the Pads. On arrival we then travelled to Ayrshire Barracks in Monchengladbach where we, at 2300hrs received another breakfast before commencing our onward journey to Rhone Kaserne in southern Germany. Here we spent two days on a plug up before deploying into the field to join the remainder of the Troop who had already set up their Radio Relay links. Sig 'Ayrton Senna' Rees decided to spin a rover in all directions and then park it in a ditch, obviously playing far too much 'Grand Tourismo' on shift. He is okay, unlike his wallet, which may feel slightly lighter by Christmas. The exercise got off to a flying start (not) with plenty of problems with SHF frequencies. However, with our excellent Tech support, all was in hand. Cpl 'Taff' Livesey is now a qualified SHF 'setter upper' and 'player wither', his expertise held the exercise together, so he says. The Relay Ops got bored and decided to lay down the gauntlet with a cycling competition 'The Viking Challenge' which was a 2km ride to the top of their location. Sig 'H' Harper holds the record of 9mins 21secs with protest from Cpl 'Andy' Plumb who got a cracking time of 9mins 19secs on his cracking unofficial bike. Sorry 'Andy' but we don't do suspension, that's official. On 12 October we were given a week's notice to move 20mtrs as 1 (UK) ADSR wanted our space. We offered to fight them for it but they declined as they didn't want to get themselves dirty. They remained a mere 24 hours before deciding it was not good enough and went, apparently due to the lack of Bio Boxes. We turned our attentions to the locals and football - '66 was revisited! This time they took a beating, literally, on their own turf. They lost by loads of goals to six. The following day we were treated to a Christmas shopping trip to the PX at Wurzburg, where all the Gurkhas went mad in the electrical goods section. Little did they know about the voltage difference, but they will find out soon enough! Our illustrious leader Lt Noble and Sgt 'Jim' Mason decided to get matching GI Joe haircuts, which is nice and they won't hear the end of it until it grows out. A well done goes out to the Switch Crew professionally led by LCpl 'Light-House' Culver as it did not crash throughout the entire exercise and still holds the title as the best Switch in the Corps. Another well done goes out to LCpl 'Andy' Williams and LCpl 'Silver Fox' Culver who came off the Lance Corporal - Corporal promotion board.

EXERCISE IRON FORAY

No sooner had we got ourselves established on Ex Arrcade Fusion then it was time to tear down and re-deploy back to the UK to join 3 UK DIV on Ex Iron Foray. This involved yet another long and tedious road back through Germany, in which Sig 'Jimmy' Rees demonstrated his complete inability to follow either the route card or the vehicle in front, and took the remainder of his packet on a scenic though short detour of southern Germany, nice one! Once back in York the Troop were then treated to approx 24hrs off before starting yet another long and tedious convoy to Bulford, to RV with 3 Div. On arrival we were taken to our locations (all cushy in barracks ones), with the exception of Sigs 'Andy' Fee and 'H' Young who had the considerable honour of deploying to the mud heap that was Beacon Hill, and remaining their for the rest of the week! The Ex was designed to test the Brigade staff more then anything else and subsequently we remained static for the duration, which meant Sandies coffee shop did a roaring trade in sausage butties! All went smoothly though and the Troop would like to thank 3 (UK) Div and particularly OSC 143 for looking after us.

HELLO'S AND GOODBYES

The Troop would like to say hello to SSgt 'Lamb Chop' Curlett who has just joined us from AFCO Newcastle and Sig O'Toole who has joined us from Torpedo (sorry, TORNADO) Tp. Goodbye to Cpl Andy 'But I Won That Race' Plumb, our Admin Tent Commander Cpl 'Bowser Boy' Parkhill, Sigs Ben Campbell and Andy Fee. This being their final exercise they will be leaving the forces in the near future. Thanks for all your hard work and best wishes for the future, you will all be sorely missed.

CORPS DINNER CLUB

IMPORTANT DATES FOR 2001

TUESDAY 8 MAY 2001
Corps London Dinner
The Savoy
Black Tie

SUNDAY 24 JUNE 2001
Corps Luncheon
Blandford

SUNDAY 2 SEPTEMBER 2001
Corps Luncheon North Catterick

FRIDAY 26 OCTOBER 2001
Scottish Dinner
Glasgow

For further information contact:
Miss Jo Hewitt
RHQ Royal Signals
Blandford Camp
Dorset DT11 8RH
Tel: 01258 482083
E-Mail: rhq-rsignals@army.mod.uk
Fax: 01258 482084

3(UNITED KINGDOM) DIVISONAL SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Phil Davies
2IC Maj Nick Bateson
Adjt Capt 'Taff' Watts
Ops Offr Capt Lloyd Golly

Spot the odd one out from the above. Does odd shaped balls give you a clue? Yes you've guessed it, the Rugger B.....rs have hit Picton Barracks. I realised that our days as a running Regiment were doomed as the RHQ gossip turned to Inter Squadron 10's rather than PB's. Both the Colonel and the greased weasel Adjt pulled on their boots to great effect and with the new Operations man, Capt Lloyd Golly (just on the mend from long term injury) shouting encouragement HQ Sqn stormed to victory. The new men are now firmly establishing themselves in RHQ and I can see the 2IC's reign of Knowledge is Power rapidly coming to an end. .....What knowledge!ssed.

a. I thought I hadn't seen the Adjt's dog for a while
b. OC HQ - Maj Ken Bailie
Give him enough rope and he'll hang himself
c. The QM (A) Maj 'Blackie' Widdows holds back the tears as the Colonel departs

REGIMENTAL SPORTING HEROES

Cpl Jackie Davies is pictured having won the Army Heptathalon back in the summer.
She's the one with the Army 2000 strip on! She has now been selected to represent Great Britain in the Ladies Bobsleigh and joins SSgt Daff Clash (Down Hill on a Tea Tray) in full time winter training with the British Olympic Squad. Congratulations.

Cpl Thomas and other members of 206 Sqn helped with 1 Div's 'Silver Child 3' fund raiser for Hope House and Great Ormond Street Hospital

202 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. Long
SSM WO2 (SSM) J. McNaught

Time waits for no man in today's army and this last couple of months has proven to be very busy. A busy exercise period with Regimental, Divisional and Army commitments have kept the Squadron out of trouble these past couple of months. Keeping antique armour on the road continually provides a challenge. Whether our 432's will start again after the Christmas break, though, is another matter entirely! Next year looks a busy one for the Squadron, with commitments to Kosovo, Bosnia and the Falklands. Current plan is to enjoy the December festivities with some quality family time and then hit 2001 refreshed and keen – see you there!

OVERLOON TROOP

Tp Comd Lt 'Gaz' Irwin
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Big Bad Joe' Rowe

Starting with the Troop day out at Andover Go – Karting centre where we had a wacky races day, followed by drinking afterwards, obviously not at the same time! The Squadron then went on to Summer Camp from 4–8 September to the Isle of Wight. Activities included the normal selection of climbing and canoeing followed with copious amounts of alcohol being drunk, for some strange reason the residents seemed to like us.

We've had a busy last few months involving exercises in 202 Sqn, which we all naturally enjoy. This started with Ex Staff Ride from 11–15 September, then Staff College Demo from 16–20 October, then the Regimental exercise, Ex Red Tricorn from 23–27 October, and finally with Ex Iron Foray 30 October–3 November! Also during this period several people from the Troop deployed to Canada on Ex Iron Hawk.

The Troop would like to congratulate Sig Dave Anson on his marriage to Rachel back in September and also to Sig Steph Bryant and Cpl Trev Evans on their marriage in October. It's not unusual that we have to say goodbye to members of the Troop who are off to 'pastures new'. Or should we say 'civvy-street' among them are Cpl Sean Bysouth who left in November, LCpl Nick Taylor leaving December and due to leave in the next couple of weeks are LCpl OJ Olejnik and LCpl Sid Marsh. The Troop would also like to welcome Sig Davies who greeted his arrival by going on exercise to Canada straight away. We have also had several members selected for promotion to Lance Corporal so congratulations go to Sig 'Randy' Hussey, Sig Steph Evans, Sig Rob Hocking, Sig Emily Knowles, and Sig Bob Rankin. Cpl 'Kev' Tharby has also just been promoted to Sergeant and we would like to thank him as well. The Troop is now busy looking forward to Christmas parties and a well earned break!

BUSSACO TROOP

Tp Comd Lt 'Colonial' Lumley
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Big Mac' McGuiness

A big Bussaco welcome to Sgt 'Kev' Dawes who has recently joined the technical workshops from HQ Sqn, and a warm welcome to SSgt Frank McGuiness who has just arrived from 16 Air Asslt to take the post of Troop Staff Sergeant. Goodbye to Sgt 'Armour' McNamara who has left us to go to HQ Sqn, and a fond farewell to SSgt 'Howling Mad' Howsen who has left us to move onto bigger and better things. The Troop has been busy, as usual, supplying support for Ex Iron Hawk in Canada, and also Ex Iron Foray supplying the usual communications and life support for the Divisional HQ. More news in January 2001, following the Christmas mayhem!

Also it's goodbye to the two 'para-maniacs' LCpl Mark 'Fruity' Fielding if off to 249 Sig Sqn (doesn't he just love Bulford!) and LCpl Andy 'I never get naked' Standing. Although we are all very sad by their departure, life must go on – and it has.

The Troop performed to their usual high standard on the GOC's major exercise – Ex Iron Foray. The GOC's Tac HQ crew, under the command of Sgt Jim 'The hairiest man in NATO' Gray, has made quite a name for itself at its regular SORLS demonstration days and will continue into the new year to help in the recruitment of potential officers to the Corps.

Sgt Gary in a rare display of compassion

Aside from that, the seniors and soldiers of Bussaco Tp would like to wish everyone a Merry Xmas and a Happy Year – keep that drinking arm in use over the festive season and we'll see you all in 2001

206 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Adsett
SSM WO2 (SSM) Smith

MONS TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Gardner
Tp SSgt SSgt Fairfield

EXERCISE RHINO WARRIOR – by Sig Lynn Garrod

Battle Camp, what an experience! Many thank to Sgt 'Rambo' Richardson, for his amazing portrayal of Mother Teressa, whilst rescuing two soldiers from the grips of Dartmoor. His strong man antics with three Bergens was very impressive. Capt 'Kamikaze' Kemp, gets a mention for his selective hearing, especially when route planning. This resulting in nine soldiers tabbing an extra 14kms resembling the cast of 'Dads Army', looking for an RV that Capt Kemp, had difficulty in finding. (Is Capt Kemp geographically challenged?). The Techs proved true to form, with the tactical sense of Chimps and the co-ordination of Lemmings, it was a good job the imaginary minefield was not real, or we'd have a few less Techs now. Get well soon LCpl Andy 'Water Wings' Ackers, the only NCO to pack a rubber ring in his webbing, (Next time take a fishing rod). For the final attack the sick, lame and pure lazy were deployed as an ambush party. They had a long wait as the Troop was waiting in the wrong place a couple of kms away in the wrong location. The section competition went well with LCpl Abbott leading his section to a very good win. The Battle Camp was rounded off with a good evening of presentations. SSgt 'Anchovy' Angove gave an excellent rendition of simply the best (although the mini dress and wig was OTT). Well done to all sections for pulling together and making the best of a bad job. Welcomes to the new members of the troop, Sig Ross Walsh, Sig Matt Senior, Sig Steve Cowan, Sig Gavin Rakocevic. Farewells to LCpl Steve Wood, LCpl Kelly Buddle, LCpl Ash Vingoe a sad loss to the Troop System Operators. Congratulations to Cpl Andy Ackers, Cpl Paul Whenman, LCpl Kelly Buddle on their recent promotions and to Sig Sutton and Sig Townsley on their selection for promotion.

INKERMAN TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Kemp
Tp SSgt SSgt Angove

The 'Fighting Elite' have been kept busy recently. With the Divisional assets coming together for the first time in five years, Ex Iron Foray was a huge success, thanks to the lads and lassies of Inkerman Tp deploying with their rebros! After the exercise, the Troop started preparing for the wind-down for Christmas, but the squadron had other ideas. Off we all deployed to Okehampton. Congratulations to Paul 'Chubby Chaser' Routledge for 'Top Tom'. Also, well done 'Fighting Elite' for their outstanding karaoke talents, led by the illustrious, most sought after, 'everyone wants a piece of me' SSgt 'Anchovy' Angove. The comedy factor within the Troop has once again been provided by Sig 'I'm going on SAS selection' Scott and Sig 'I'm also going on SAS selection' Thompson. Well done for their re-run of 'Carry on Camping' in the Black Mountains!

Quite a few people within the Troop have been promoted recently. Firstly, congratulations to Lt Kemp on his promotion to Captain. Also, selected for promotion to Corporal were LCpl 'Duty Fat Kid' Lewis, LCpl 'Very Good' Conlon and LCpl 'Jim' Kemp. Selected for promotion to Lance Corporal were Sig 'Old Man' Brown, Sig Dorey, Sig 'Ewok' Anderson and Sig 'Westermouth' Westerman.

The Troop would like to say goodbye and good luck to the following people: Capt Kemp who is leaving the troop to become 2IC of the Squadron and Sig 'Dangerous' Durwood who is looking forward to civilian life up in Scotland. Also goodbyes go to Sig Dorey, who has set up home in Kent and Sig 'Westermouth' Westerman who will be arriving at 39 Inf Bde after Christmas. We would like to welcome into the troop Sig 'Porridge' Rodda, and Sgt 'Smudge' Smith. The Troop would like to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

ADVENTURE TRAINING – EXERCISE DRAGON BERG SOUTH AFRICA 10–25 NOVEMBER 2000

After much planning and scheming to get a 3 fi week program into two weeks our intrepid explorers met at the Picton Barracks Guard Room on a cold and blustery Friday afternoon. They were all dressed up to face the weather between Bulford and Heathrow airport – all except Cpl Paul '140 Rand' Coates who, eager to hit the warmth of the Southern Hemisphere, arrived in a vest, beach shoes and a pair of jeans! After a pleasant flight listening to surround sound snoring, we arrived to a blistering 25 degrees at Johannesburg International Airport. We quickly moved to Avis car hire to pick up our red love bus before driving off to our hotel. Some then went shopping while the others enjoyed a spot of golf at the local country club.

The next was the drive down to Dundee and our battlefield tour of Isandlwana and Rorke's Drift which was probably the most impressive battlefield tour any of us have been on. Wasting no time, we then drove down to the Drakensburg mountain range where we began our eight days of trekking. The eight days seemed to fly by and after swimming in the mountain rock pools, sleeping in caves, showering under waterfalls and having a close encounter with a rather sleepy two metre Python, we were on the move again. 800km later, we found ourselves in the sunny seaside city of Port Elizabeth where we were hosted by Col (Retd) Brandt of the SANDF. He treated us to a night of South African delicacies and Afrikaans music that no one could understand except Lt Sean 'Mr Lubba Lubba Mmmm' Lumley who is native of South Africa (in other words a 'Colonial'). The next day Lt Riaan Brandt took us to Group 6 Regional Reaction Force (SANDF). Here we were hosted by Col Yam SANDF.

Lt Sean Lumley receiving a plaque from Col Yam of the South African National Defence Force

We were taken around to see the cannons that defended the city during WW2, a little of the South African arsenal and the lookout tower that has been conveniently converted into a bar! The visit ended with an exchange of mementoes (a track link from a AFV 432 for a brass elephant's head – good trade). It was then back on the road toward Cape Town, but not before a little tanning on the beach (Cpl Rob 'Buddy Dude' Hickley and Cpl Paul '140 Rand' Coates – no sun bed fees out here – bonus!). On the way down to Cape Town, two important stops had to be made. The first stop was on the Bloukrans Bridge to do the highest bungee jump in the world (Cpl Jim 'Angry' Annis, you can't have a shirt if you haven't done the jump!). The second was a spot of Ostrich riding in Oudtshoorn – well done Cpl Leroy 'Gym Queen' Wilson Cochrane and LCpl Andy 'Get Naked, Who Me?' Standing!

Finally we arrived in our last port of call – Cape Town! Cpl 'Taff (What! It's not a Rugby Tour?)' Morris went off to visit some long lost relatives (upon returning he insisted that we call him by his birth name – Huw). Meanwhile the rest of us sampled the local shops and beaches. Before winding up the tour, we had to go on a wine tasting trip around the world famous Stellenbosch wineries where much wine was bought (and consumed). A few more shops and night clubs later (unfortunately without Sgt Paul 'Grandad' Ashford who was enjoying a few relaxing days in the sun) we headed for Cape Town Airport and our flight back to the UK. All in all, a top trip.

A little bit of heritage at Rorke's Drift

7 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Richardson MBE
RSM WO1 Smoothy

The most important news from the Regiment has to be that the Adjutant, Capt Andy Aitken and his wife Phoebe are celebrating the birth of their daughter, Abigail Susan. Many congratulations on becoming a family!

EXERCISE ARRCADE FUSION 00

Ex Arrcade Fusion is an annual deployment involving the Allied Command Europe Rapid Reaction Corps Headquarters and some of its supporting Divisions. It is the major exercise of the year and enables 7 Sig Regt to exercise in its role in support of the ARRC HQ and Multinational Command Posts. This year these included Divisions in Turkey and Spain, as well as the STAR HQ concentrated around Wildflecken in Germany, all supported by elements of 7 Sig Regt. The majority of 232 Sig Sqn, part of 7 Sig Regt, deployed to Wildflecken to establish STAR HQ for Commander ARRC. The journey was long and once the troops had slept they set about the battle to claim the little real estate available for their vehicles. The site quickly turned into a German mud bath under all the movement and daily rainfall. The Squadron set up with the true professionalism that is always shown even in the most difficult and harsh conditions. Within the STAR HQ build, the squadron provided the communications that would enable the Commander to communicate with and control all the formations at his disposal.

The Turkish deployment started after eight days on an uncomfortable train before arriving in Ankara. With a police escort through the city centre the convoy eventually reached its destination for the next month, Mamak Barracks, which is home to the Turkish 4th Army Corps and more specifically the 1st (Turkish) Mechanised Division. For the duration of the exercise, Secondary Access Node (SAN) 874, under command of 2Lt Graeme Endean, provided close CIS support to this headquarters. 15 soldiers from 7 Sig Regt, Krefeld, and five from 30 Sig Regt based in Nuneaton, UK, provided Ptarmigan, Video Conferencing and IAARCIS to the Turkish staff enabling them to e-mail and speak securely directly back to ARRC Main HQ based in Fulda, southern Germany.

Sig Preston working with the American Tropo Detachment

After a short delay caused by a French train strike SAN 870 loaded up and finally left Ayrshire Barracks, bound for Madrid to provide CIS support to the Spanish Rapid Reaction Division. It was located in Zaragossa, home of the Spanish Military Academy, where Spanish Officers spend five years in training, and more importantly the largest training area in Spain. Once in Madrid, the Signals soldiers began setting up and waited for the Spanish to follow. They arrived a few days later than the British. Once the staff had arrived and the exercise was in full flow, the Headquarters was very busy indeed, with LCpl Bartlett working hard to install and maintain the Iarrcis terminal. The Spanish Signals Company had a similar set up and outlook to our own. Their assistance to us in many areas was superb, and we made many friends. The facilities were similar in all the Headquarters the Squadron supported. The Squadron also deployed facilities in support of the RAF, with the In Flight Reporting (Ifrep) Detachment being sent to Main HQ at Fulda. Aside from the Divisional deployment, there were a huge number of different nationalities working at 'EXCON', including British soldiers, Americans, French, Italian, Dutch and many more. The photographs show soldiers from 7 Sig Regt working with American soldiers from 268 Sig Coy, part of the 77 Sig Btn. The American 'Tropo' system, officially called the AN/TRC - 170 V3, was interfaced with the British Ptarmigan system. 'ZODIAC', the Dutch system, was also interfaced.

Sig Preston is shown the American Tropospheric Scatter communications

Ex Arrcade Fusion was an extremely demanding and challenging exercise for all the Signals personnel that took part, not least due to the actual deployment to three separate countries. Also there was the requirement for the communications to be 'transparent', that is, permanently established, in order for Commander ARRC to properly test and exercise his Headquarters Staff and subordinate Divisions. 7 Sig Regt deployed troops from 229, 231 and 232 Sig Sqns, as well as large elements of its HQ Sqn, and the general success was certainly thanks to the enormous effort from everyone within the Regiment who took part.

WIVES BATTLECAMP WEEKEND - by Sgt 'Drew' Drewitt

Once upon a time .....Long, long ago, OC 232 Sig Sqn, Maj Phil Baker, came up with an idea for a wives weekend. What a fine idea agreed everyone, and who shall be lucky enough to run with this plan? After much soul searching and shoulder sloping it was decided that the individual (who can be named as Sgt 'Drew' Drewitt for slabbing reasons) was chosen from a list of ..... being the only Sergeant on the conference! The wives met on a sunny afternoon in late September, firstly introduced to the weekend by OC 232 Sig Sqn and WO2 (SSM) Ian Carter. The first activity they took part in was the pastime of the gods.....DRILL! - with the ever-young SSgt 'Steff' Newton in charge. After a fun time wandering around the Main Square of 7 Sig Regt, they were transported in relative luxury to Arsbeck Training Area, where the good stuff started. The list of instructors read like a who's who of training: SSgt (SQMS) 'Adi' Chapman (bashas), LCpl 'Bob' Lovell (rat packs), Sgt 'Drew' Drewitt (Ranges) to name but a few. The most impressive results though were saved for the ranges, where Mrs Tracey Ritchie scored an almost perfect 58 out of 60 from 100 m. It was at this time that the decision was made to substitute the wives for their husbands on the next APWT. After a short journey round the corner to the Training Area, the wives were introduced to personal cam. How we giggled when they believed that cam cream on the teeth was standard practice to hide the shine of a smile! Next on the agenda was trying to guide Bedford's and Landrovers into and out of various positions. Mrs Rachel Laverick and Mrs Nikki Orr deserve a mention, as being able to scare Cpl 'Jeff' Sigston is a feat rarely achieved by anyone. All too soon dusk arrived, and with it the move to the basha site. After trying to explain about defence and the positioning of the bashas the wives decided to go with their maternal instincts and sleep where they fell. Dawn came all too soon and at 0530hrs the ladies were awoken gently from their slumber, with cries of, 'I wouldn't feed my dog this.' and, 'My husband doesn't get up this early!' Suffice to say, the instructor's emergency rations greatly increased.

'Are you sure
we rub our tums and pat our heads when we do this?'
(L-R): Kerry Cousins, Niki Orr, Petra Bowman
and the evergreen SSgt Adi Chapman

During the navigation phase most of the spouses found out what fun it could be 'bimbling' across hill and vale. The NBC football was, as always, a great success. However, Mrs Karen Williamson wasn't so sure and just sat down. The final activity was X-Country Driving - let's just say that, 'You look nervous.' and, 'Don't worry we can pick it up on the way back can't we?' were phrases heard all too often. Finally the weary but joyful wives were taken back to camp and into 232 Sig Sqn bar, whereupon they regaled their husbands with their 'war stories'. The CO, Lt Col Richardson MBE was on hand to present the certificates and listen to some interesting anecdotes (whinges) from the wives. To be truthful, when I was first handed this task, all I thought was, 'What a nightmare!' That said, the enthusiasm and interest shown by the wives who attended made it all worthwhile. One final note, to all those people not named, (lucky!) but without whom this whole weekend would have never got off the ground, thank you.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE

This year's Armistice Day Service took place at Rheinberg Cemetery. Members of 7 Sig Regt and 280 (UK) Sig Sqn took part in the service of remembrance. Cpl Bennett was the Bugler, and the Piper was LCpl MacDonald, both from 16 Sig Regt. Guests at the service included the Deputy Consul General from the British Embassy in Dusseldorf, Mr Richard Frolland, and Mr Robert Francis, representing the Royal British Legion. Chief Technician Allan and his family were also attending, as Mrs Allan's father was buried in the cemetery. Wreaths were laid by Sig Thornley (the youngest soldier in the Regiment), the Commanding Officer, Maj Harris (Officer Commanding 280 (UK) Sig Sqn), Mr Robert Francis and the Deputy Consul General. Following the service, the Piper played a number of very moving pieces, whilst poppies were laid on each grave. Many individuals commented on how relevant and moving the service was, being held in the cemetery, surrounded by the graves of servicemen often the same age as themselves.

KREFELD TO PRSTINA SPONSORED MARATHON

7 Sig Regt, based in Krefeld - Leicester's twin town - have just completed a combined rowing and cycling race to raise money for a Kosovo school. The Regiment deployed to Kosovo last year, where one of its Squadrons, 229 (Berlin) Sig Sqn, helped to rebuild Vllezrite Frasheri School in Vragolija which was badly damaged during the conflict. This August, the Squadron re-deployed to Kosovo to provide communications support to 3 Cmdo Brigade. They visited the school to see if they could offer more help. The teachers pointed out that the school was extremely overcrowded, and what they really needed was a classroom extension. Sgt Dave Bain, serving with the Regiment in Kosovo, came up with the money-raising idea of holding a sponsored race between soldiers in Kosovo and those soldiers back in Germany. The race would be on cycling and rowing machines, covering the geographical distance between Krefeld and Pristina, which totals some 1870km. Teams raced at both ends to see who could complete the distance in the fastest time. Sgt Bain's brother Steve, based in JHQ Rheindahlen with the RMP, joined the Krefeld team for the race, and the brotherly rivalry added to the competitive spirit between the two teams. Between them, the soldiers from 7 Sig Regt, and their families and friends have managed to raise some £4000 for the extension. Contributions have been pouring in from the most unexpected sources, such as £160 from some local Krefeld German residents, and even £1430 from RAF Bruggen, who have donated funds from their Balkans Aid Appeal. The people of Leicester, twinned with Krefeld, have also been helping: The Army Careers Office Leicester and the Lord Mayor's Office have both collected for this worthy cause. The effort to raise funds has been considerably encouraged by the prizes on offer, for most money collected. A huge vote of thanks goes to all those that have donated prizes - these include the following:

Cotswold Outdoor Company	£40 worth of Cotswold vouchers
P & O Ferries	Free return ticket (Calais-Dover) for a Car & two people
NAAFI Krefeld	Free case of wine
Station Welfare Fund	Camera worth DM250
PRI Fund	7th Signal Regiment Plaque

The team from Pristina were marginally ahead of the Krefeld team in a time of 13 hours. The people from the village of Vragolija, now re-named 'Lirragane', have sent a personal note of thanks to all who have helped, and it is perhaps best left in the way it was first written:

Capt Nicky James (pictured on the cycling machine)
is helped by her team mates

DEAR FRIENDS
Your entrance in Kosova cheered us very much and we don't have words how to thank you.
We are one village between two rivers.
We are little bit traumatised from the war, and we need time to stabilise our life's.
To you BRITFOR and to your soldiers we are very grateful, because with soft words you have respected us.
All the inhabitants of the village are wishing you a long life and successes, and from our harts thank you in the name of village Lirragane.

EXERCISE WET FEET II

Ex Wet Feet II was an Adventurous Training exercise based down at the British Mohnesee Sailing Club, near Soest, from 24-29 September 2000. Ten brave volunteers set out late on a Sunday night, little knowing the horrors that were in store for them the following morning – yes, it was the dreaded Swim Test! This was no gentle dip in a well-warmed swimming pool, nor was it with the help of wetsuits. No, it was simply 'Get your swimsuits on, walk into the reservoir, and swim out to the rescue boat and back'. Once bodies had returned from blue to pink, with the help of some thermo-nuclear showers, we were ready to do some sailing. Three of us had a bit of experience, having been on Ex Wet Feet I in April, so we rigged the Toppers as best we could, and set off across the water. Our memories must have been rather shaky, as SSgt 'Olympic Gold Snorer' FofS Sutton was seen drifting up a little backwater, re-tying his mast and muttering hard about amateurs .....!

The rest of the gang soon joined us on the water, and provided much entertainment for onlookers with the unpredictable steerage and efficient jibes – and that was before the lesson on jibing, too, as 2Lt Stewart Russell found out. Ah yes, the two 'attachments'. We were fortunate to have 2Lt 'Windy' Russell and OCdt Steve Rouse with us, on loan from Bristol and Shrivenham respectively. Piracy was definitely the order of the day, as they took it in turns to capsize each other. The girls, Sig Nicky Lowe and Sig Sian Lane, gave us some terrifying turns to watch, each time with the boat dipping closer and closer to the water – an impressive capsize, too. They were none too impressed when the Bosun race was joined by the Fos, OCdt Rouse and Lt Evans in the Stratus – who proceeded to overtake everyone, stealing all their wind. Sig 'Nabs' Nabokow did particularly well in the Laser, considering the boom was inches from the deck, and he had to lie flat along the boat each time he went about.

Capsize Drill (1)

The piracy continued, with Sig 'Shacks' Shackleton and Sig 'Steve' Barber linking up with another pair, 2Lt 'Not beans for breakfast again' Russell and Sig 'Alex' Kennett. Their victim was OCdt Rouse in the Laser, but alas they chose the wrong sailor to ambush, as his swift dodging and faster sailing clearly showed. However he didn't count on the perseverance of 2Lt Russell, who deserted his crewman, jumped ship and proceeded to swim over, capsize the Laser and hijack it – leaving OCdt Rouse to swim ashore from the middle of the Reservoir! Thanks to the expert teaching of Sgt Andy Quinn Williams, everyone returned with at least Novice I, and some Novice I and II qualifications. The evening entertainment included table tennis, basketball and a wide selection of DVDs from Rob the Windsurfing Instructor. The BBQ was a popular end to a highly successful week – roll on next Spring, for your next swim test, FofS!

(L-R): SSgt (FofS) Sutton, Sig Lowe, Sig Lane, Sig Nabokow, Sig Barber, Sig Kennett, OCdt Rowse, Capt Evans,
Sig Shackleton, 2Lt Russell

229 (BERLIN) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj D. Webster Royal Australian Signals
SSM WO2 (SSM) A. Burdge

YANKEE TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Liz Williams
Tp SSgt Sgt Kenny MacPherson

The month of November has proved to be yet another busy time for the Squadron, with most of the Squadron still on Ops in Kosovo. As a result of the recent Signaller to Lance Corporal promotion board, congratulations go to the following on being selected for promotion: Sig Nabokow, Sig Phillips 996, Sig Giann, Sig Preston, Sig Phillips 684, Sig Roberts, Sig Johns, Sig Murray, Sig Wythes, Sig Lowe. A hearty welcome to the two luckiest men in NATO, on their arrival in 229 (Berlin) Sig Sqn: Sgt Wood, LCpl McPherson. We all hope you enjoy your tour. As always, when new people arrive we must say goodbye to some. These poor unfortunates are as follows: LCpl 'Hoppy' Hopkinson on promotion to 16 AAB, Sig 'Marie' Butler to 2 Sig Regt, Sig 'Sadie' Kennedy to 30 Sig Regt, Sig 'Steph' Evans on promotion to the 1st Civ Div.

X-RAY TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Caroline Evans

Who are X-ray Troop? We are all members of 231 Sig Sqn who have been left behind to fly the flag whilst the remainder of the Squadron are sunning it in the Falklands. Whilst they are enjoying their six month R & R period we, the remainder, have been maintaining a fleet of 109 vehicles (three per man!) and providing any shortfalls in manpower that the Regiment (and Brigade) had on Ex Arrcade Fusion. Welcomes and farewells are too numerous to mention! The Troop strength started at 38 in June 2000 and even though we have had many departures the Troop strength now stands at nearly 80. When does a Troop change into a Squadron? We would like to congratulate the following on their selection for promotion: Cpl Andy 'Have you heard about my downhill' Dawson and Cpl Mandy May to Sergeant. Lance Corporal to Corporal – LCpl Roger 'What tram?' Manns, LCpl 'Ricky' Curran, LCpl 'Tim' Mullett, LCpl 'Muriel' Wiggins.

232 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Baker
SSM WO2 (SSM) Carter

ST.MARTINS DAY

On Wednesday 8 November 2000, 232 Sig Sqn volunteered to host this year's St Martin's Day Parade on behalf of 7 Sig Regt. The story goes that some centuries ago St Martin, a knight, was riding his horse along a country road on a frosty November evening. He came across an old beggar who was freezing cold, and without hesitation stopped, cut his cloak in two and gave half to the beggar. He became famous for his good deed, and this is now celebrated annually by a procession of children carrying lanterns behind St Martin, played by a man on a white horse. He parades around the local streets and finally ends up within Bradbury Barracks, where a bonfire is lit and the story of St Martin is replayed, followed by bags of sweets being handed out to local children. This year nearly 2000 German civilians attended the celebrations, and 850 bags of sweets were handed out to the children with the help of the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Richardson. This year the short straw for organising the event fell to SSgt George McGuire. The job of collecting large numbers of pallets and other burnable material from around the Regiment and building the bonfire, fell to Cpl Rose and a few willing helpers, including Cpl 'Damian' Gauchi, Sig 'Jack' Hawkins and Sig 'Scouse' Girvan. On the night in question it rained as expected for a military event. There was no problem lighting the fire as Cpl Sigston made sure it went up, thanks to a splash of kerosene. In fact the fire went up so quickly we thought it might not last long enough. After the re-inactment, the children collected their sweets and went on their way. The night wouldn't have gone nearly as smoothly if it wasn't for other members of the Squadron like Cpl 'I get to wear a vest' Johnston, who was in charge of traffic control. Thank you also to all the squadron 'girls', who handed out most of the sweets, and everybody else who got cold and wet – cheers!

Lt Col and Mrs Richardson (L) and Maj Lawrence (SSO) (back right) with members of 232 Sig Sqn, St Martin amd the Beggar. The local people of Krefeld helped to organise the sweets

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Allison
Tp SSgt SSgt Taylor

There have been several changes to the Troop in recent months. Welcome to Sig 'Godders' Godwin, Sig 'Quality Left Foot' Creighton and Sig 'Baldrick' Reynolds, all from Blandford and who are now well and truly indoctrinated into the Troop. Congratulations to all those recently promoted from LCpl to Cpl on exercise – Cpl 'I'm off skiing for a month' Buckle, Cpl 'I hate MT' Porter and Cpl 'Fibre Wrecker' Thompson. From Signaller to Lance Corporal - Congratulations to Sig 'Chico' Ankers, Sig 'Wide Boy' Entwistle, Sig 'How's Your' Harris and Sig 'Biker Chick' Turner. The Troop also says goodbye to SSgt 'Steff' Newton and says hello to SSgt Taylor. The Troop has just returned from Ex Arrcade Fusion where we deployed SAN groups to Madrid and Ankara (yes, we do get to travel beyond Wildflecken). Whilst the Turkish SAN enjoyed the hospitality lavished on them including being pummelled by large Turkish masseurs at the Turkish baths, certain members of the Spanish SAN became navigationally challenged! Looks like we could be buying GPS (and electronic tagging!) from Troop funds soon. Unfortunately the Turkish SAN arrived back a little jaded after also spending their return journey without any power on the train (after negotiating through customs in several former Eastern bloc countries)– only seven days or so! The Spanish SAN managed to see a little of Madrid after the exercise, including a trip to a theme park, where we all went on the Play-Station tower which dropped free-fall about 75m, all except Cpl 'Para' Porter who said dropping from large heights was 'unnatural!'

HOTEL TROOP - by Cpl Dunnington
Tp Comd SSgt Ironside
Tp SSgt SSgt McGuire

Down the track and Hotel Tp is still immersed in hard work and sweat. Goodbyes have to be made to LCpl 'Taz' Williams posted to 3 Div in Bulford - his entertaining evenings will be missed. Bye also to myself Cpl Rob 'Muddy' Dunnington, I'm finally escaping the clutches of 7 Sig Regt for the heights of Blandford on my T1. We welcome with open arms a few arrivals to the Troop, LCpl Mark 'Fat Bloke' Shirley, straight into the Tech Workshops from his Class 3 at Blandford. Hello also to LCpl 'John Paul II' Pope - after a brief spell in TM Tp he joins our Tech workshops. Finally welcome to Sig Chris 'Nige' Orr, a Brand new Installation technician from Blandford. Quite a few members of the Troop have had new arrivals of their own. Congratulations to Cpl 'Just a few words' Johnston and wife on the birth of their son, to Sig Kay Murphy and hubby on the birth of their son, to Sig Claire Porter and husband Dougie on their new addition. A quick mention for SSgt 'Red Viper' Ironside - congratulations on his impending promotion and posting to 16 Sig Regt as Training Warrant Officer, early next Year.

The majority of the Troop's effort over the last couple of months has been centred round the main ARRC exercise for the year. For a brief spell we had the pleasure of 2Lt Vanessa Galloway's command and company. Hopefully her sunny outlook will not be lost when she returns from her Troop Commanders course early next year. It was a gruelling drive down to the exercise area in Bavaria but the Troop's vehicles arrived without problem and we managed a few winks before the hard work began. A sterling effort was made by all throughout the exercise ensuring communications at STAR HQ were second to none. Thanks go to the lads from TM Tp for their help and assistance at 'the sharp end', especially Cpl 'Bobby' Hill. The exercise culminated in a visit by the Chief of the General Staff, and luckily many members of the Troop got the opportunity to meet and talk with him in a semi-informal atmosphere.

Our time in Bavaria was not without incident. On one cold and wet night someone kidnapped my toy chicken. It was a low and despicable act carried out by cowards. They even cut off a couple of toes, sending them in an envelope and also a picture of the poor bird trussed and blindfolded behind bars. Now as Christmas fast approaches, the Troop prepares for the winter, vehicle and equipment maintenance being a priority at the moment. I think if Cpl 'Richy' Wilson has to check serial numbers one more time he'll flip. Finally a special mention has to go to Cpl Jeff 'JuicyLuce' Sigston, who complained he's never in The WIRE! Keep up the good work!

TAC TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Lawson
Tp SSgt SSgt Griffiths

TAC Tp welcomes the following new members to its ranks, Sig 'Milky Bar Kid' Bowler and Sig Mears from training at Blandford, and Sig Lisa 'Private Benjamin' Matthews from 21 Sig Regt. Congratulations go to Cpl Gibbs who has recently come off the promotion board and is now filling the post of Troop Sergeant, and LCpl Ryall who has been selected for promotion to Corporal. Thankfully the future of TAC Troop has been secured with the birth of Gabriel to Cpl Steve and Vikki Gray - congratulations to both of them. A big farewell to Sig Andy Joynson who having passed P Coy has been posted to 16 Air Asslt Bde and Sig Sqn. After returning from a well-deserved summer leave it was straight into exercise season with Ex Warrior III, the build-up exercise for Ex Arrcade Fusion. The Troop was split into two roles, providing both watch-keepers for CP 232, and our primary role of SAN 860, the Main Bravo element of ARRC Main Headquarters. The latter soon became know as the 'Gypsy' SAN with no home. We quickly became experts at testing out all the accommodation at EXCON and trained athletes honed and ready for the next Play Station Olympics. Cpl 'Zebedee' Minto spent his days springing throughout the exercise between the chilly STAR HQ and the luxurious carpeted accommodation of the 'Gypsy' SAN. The SAN managed to stay occupied and focused, by watching Sig 'The Body' Fox strutting his stuff for the girls on exercise. SSgt 'Turtle' Griffiths provided the entertainment when he did a very realistic impression of a turtle by taking accidental cover upside down in some bushes outside of the G2 cell at the Main Headquarters. Lt 'Chubby' Lawson would have been worried about Staff's health, however it was only five minutes till the fourth meal of the day and he was in a hurry! Troop PT was taken by Sig 'Sweet-cheeks' Shillinglaw who, after running people into the Medical Centre, played the American Signals contingent at basketball - they said she was 'Mighty Fine' (and not bad at basketball either).

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON - by Sgt 'John' Brady
Sqn Comd Maj 'Wally' Drain
SSM WO2 (SSM) 'Dean' Ewing

7 SIGNAL REGIMENT BONFIRE NIGHT

The annual 7 Sig Regt bonfire night took place in Bradbury barracks on 3 November 2000. This year the task was given to HQ Sqn, overseen by the OC, Maj 'Wally' Drain, and under the control of WO2 (SSM) 'Dean' Ewing. An awful lot of preparation had to be undertaken to ensure that everyone enjoyed the display (Most importantly the children) and that the safety aspects were approached in a professional manner. The setting up of the event was achieved in quick time due to the Regiment being stood down for a couple of days prior to the event. During the evening the children were very much involved raising the Guy to the top of the fire, and whilst the firework display reached its climax the strains of the 1812 overture dominated the scene orchestrated beautifully by the cunning SSM. The Anglo-German Society set up a tent selling Gluwien to keep out the cold, which proved extremely popular. There were also stands selling alcohol and soft drinks, run by LCpl 'Old one' Scotty' Scott and a bratty stand ran by SSgt 'Tam' Buskie. The PA system also had to be set up. This task was given to TM Tp, and was tackled in the usual professional manner. The SSM had a few worrying moments when the display team arrived late, however, the whole event went off with a bang (literally!). The CO's wife Mrs Paula Richardson presented prizes to the children for the best guy and a painting competition making the whole evening a huge success. A special mention should go to both TM Tp and MT Tp for the Saturday morning clear-up under the watchful eyes of WO2 (SSM) Ewing, SSgt (SQMS) 'Steve' Behan and Sgt 'Bri' Sheard. The lads worked tirelessly to get the place cleared up and were rewarded with a few beers from the OC and SSM.

QUARTERMASTER (ADMINISTRATION) DEPARTMENT
QM (A) Maj 'Pete' Doherty MBE
RQMS(A) WO2 'Neil' James

It's been a busy and successful time for the department, both on the working and sporting front. The long hours of work in preparation for the LSI paid off with an excellent result, with the water-wastage check register gaining a LAURA grade E. On the sporting side of life, the QM(A) recently won the veteran race in the Poppy Appeal Fun Run. Congratulations go out to Sgt 'Dave' Howe on his recent promotion. A quick hello to LCpl 'Jonathan' Lovell, who is attached to the department from TM Tp, and a very warm welcome to Cpl 'Des' Lang, who has moved across from the QM (T) via Bosnia.

QUARTERMASTER (TECHNICAL) DEPARTMENT
QM(T) Maj Ray Cory
RQMS(T) WO2 Trev Henry

Calling all Technical Supply Specialists, for promotion opportunities report to QM (T) Dept, 7 Sig Regt. Bumper promotion boards resulting in congratulations to LCpls Clare Boswell, Adam Dunne and Bob Lovell on selection for promotion to Corporal. Not forgetting Sigs 'Chalky' White and Shirley Valentine who have been selected for promotion to Lance Corporal, well done all.

Sport is buoyant within the Department. The QM (T) is busy organising orienteering with willing volunteers LCpl Clare Boswell and LCpl Kerry Johnston. Meanwhile for the gladiators within the department SSgt Kev Scott has finally got the Regimental 2nd football team regular fixtures, which accounts for the regular absence of Sig 'Woody' Wood and Sig 'PC' Carter. The RQMS (T) can still be heard talking about rugby whilst getting him to play is another matter. Sig Thelma Marshall has shown the gents the way forward by attending boxing training whilst Sig Shirley Valentine and Sig 'Geordie' Ellis are well and truely sick of being battered around the ring. Ex Arrcade Fusion, just prior to the LSI, put the department under added pressure, and thankfully the Sergeants came to the fore, well almost. Within a day of the exercise manning going to print, Sgt Martin Didcotte had been admitted to hospital quickly followed by Sgt Dom Cooke who was bedded down. Not a problem, the QM (T) could still call on Sgt 'Scottie' Scott - alas this was not the case, more sick chits followed. Thankfully the RLC saved the day with Sgt 'Skip' Skipper answering the call - URS(T) does it again.

With a young inexperienced workforce, on-the-job training is the order of the day. The QM (T) is hopeful Sig Marshall will eventually drive a Leyland DAF through a 16ft entrance without hitting the gatepost. Sig 'Slug' Owen is slowly coming to terms with his favourite ITD, moral understanding, whilst Sig 'Taff' Pawsey is slowly learning the value of understanding. As ever there are goodbyes, and as the year draws to a close it is time to bid farewell to the majority of our civilian staff: Collette Devlin, Mick and family are off to York to recover their house from the floods. Closely followed by Emma Kinsey and husband Paul who are off to the delights of Brawdy - a fond farewell to you all!

MOTOR TRANSPORT TROOP
MTO Capt Neil Coatsworth
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Hay

There's been a lot happening within the MT since the last wire notes were submitted. We say goodbye to Cpl 'Taff' Kinsey who is posted to 14 Sig Regt on promotion to Sergeant. We wish him good luck for the future, and he will be missed by all in the MT. We welcome some new additions to the MT - Sig 'Rubber' Carter, Sig '2-Can Van Damme' MacDonald, Cpl 'Taff' Lee and Karen Williamson our new clerk. Congratulations to Si Lees, whose wife Sgt Terry Lees gave birth to a healthy baby girl named Tia. We've been very lucky with promotions this year: Cpl 'Taff' Kinsey and Cpl 'Daz' Mawson, both promoted to Sergeant. LCpl 'Bycycle Face' Alderson has been selected for promotion to Corporal. Also to Sig 'I Love Myself' Watson and Sig 'Big' Jack Russell have both come off the Signallers to Lance Corporals football season has started again and Sig 'Lisa' Gavin has been selected to represent the BAG female football team - well-done and good luck.

EXERCISE GOLDEN SANDS - by Sig Russell
(or EXERCISE EASY LIFE AND A GOLDEN TAN)

Sig 'Big' Jack Russell deployed for Ex Golden Sands on 15 August 2000. His first stop was Cyprus for an acclimatisation (just how long does it take to get used to drinking chilled lager!). Big Jack fitted in a mini tour of Cyprus and also visited the much-talked about Ayia Napa. The following week, Sig Russell deployed on the Army's favourite transport, the Mighty Hercules, landing at Alquatrana in Jordan. Big Jack was sent out on the advance party as the only UBRE operator. He was responsible for the comforts we all enjoy - i.e. power, lighting, attitude and humour. He worked closely with 62 SP Engineers and 1 Cheshires during the working day. The heat was intense, some days getting up to 47 C where the slightest movement had every one sweating to death. Sig 'Big' Jack Russell spent part of the exercise playing enemy for 1 Cheshire's 22nd Bn, fending off a company on his lonesome in his Russian trench (pretending to be a proper soldier). He also found time to be a spectator as both 1 Cheshire's and Jordan's Armed Forces (JAF) put on a fire power demonstration using various weapons. It was an enjoyable experience, which he will not forget for a long time to come.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP - by Cpl Campbell
Tp Comd WO1 (FofS) 'Tommy' Steele
Tp SSgt SSgt (FofS) 'John' Hoyle

First of all we'd better get started welcoming back LCpl Austin and LCpl 'I love myself' Dennant from a very tiring and hard working 4-month all-inclusive holiday in Split. Their trip was made all the more difficult with the early departure of Sig 'AA' Taylor. There was also a surprise return by Sig 'Jim' Brampton from the Falklands, which was welcomed by all in the Troop. There have also been a couple of new baby technicians fresh from the factory, TOT Capt 'Al' Scott and LCpl 'Carl' Robinson. Not forgetting 22 SAS look-alike LCpl 'Toothless Wonder' Griffin who accidentally bumped into the RSM and OC Squadron while sporting a full goatee. In the Troop, morale is very important and goes quite high on the priority list, so if you have any and would like to send some to us it, would be greatly appreciated. On a lighter note the Troop enjoyed a pleasant day playing pool at the local pool hall with some of the local produce being sampled. Unfortunately SSgt 'John' Hoyle must have had a late night and decided to get his head down for a couple of hours. The funny thing is though that no one bothered to wake him when they left, so the locals used him as a beer mat. Last but by no means least we have a few farewells to mention. I guess you should start by the most important Cpl 'Gogsy' Campbell. Young, fit, charismatic and courageous kind of guy that laughs danger in the face. No task is too hard to conquer; no situation is to tough to tackle. Overall a really great guy and one of the lads. (Note from Ed. - see author of this report for verification!) Also the Regimental Foreman of football 'I mean signals' WO1'Tommy' Steele, whom we should also congratulate on his Commissioning to Captain and last but not least the Technical Officer Telecommunications Capt 'I'm airborne and proud of it' O'Brien who is on his way home back to Hereford.

Why not visit the Royal Signals Museum?
For opening hours ring : 01258 482248

JOINT SERVICES SIGNALS UNIT (DIGBY)

ADMIN FLIGHT - by WO2 (Supvr R) Dalton

The Royal Signals presence in the JSSU Administration Flight has been bolstered by some high profile "handsome" chaps. Namely in the form of W02 (Supvr R) Frank 'Admin Boy' Dalton on promotion and the effervescent Sgt Dean 'Pot Supvr R' Butler, handling everything from flights to weapons and all things statistical - don't call us we'll call you! STOP PRESS. It appears that all those years of plying OC Admin Flight with free beers in the mess has led to SST (Super R) Chris Cullington finally getting a day job!

TRAINING FLIGHT - by Sgt Wardrope

Life in Training Flight continues at its usual hectic pace with all the instructors flat out running all sorts of courses and managing to fit time in for the odd 'fast ball' from WO1 (Supvr R) Skelth. He claims they're not 'fast balls' but 'career development tasks'. Goodbye and congratulations on a well-deserved promotion, to WO2 (Supvr R) Frank Dalton who is moving next door to become the 3 Sqn Co-ordinator. Hello to SSgt (Supvr R) Tim Stevens recently returned from a six month holiday in the Balkans and Sgt Billy Wardrope who joins us from Sunny Blandford. A big hello also goes to Cpl Kerry 'airwoman' Smith who comes to us from 1 Squadron and is overawed at once again being mentioned in an Army publication, Kerry has recently enquired about subscribing to The WIRE as she gets a mention in every issue, or so she claims! On the sporting front the Training Flight have managed to fit in the odd appearance with Sgt Billy Wardrope and Cpl Kerry Smith recently representing JSSU Digby in the East of England Army League Orienteering and the Royal Signals Orienteering Championships. Socially, we have also been very active and recently hosted (fast balled claims Sgt Billy Wardrope) the 3 Sqn sports afternoon where WO2 (Supvr R) Frank Dalton impressed everyone with his volleyball prowess and matching Ron Hill tracksuit (prototype version - very valuable!) very sporty!

SPONSORED SHAVE - by WO2 (Supvr R) Phil Sandford

June saw five of JSSU Digby's more hirsute personnel shave for charity. W02 (SSM) Steve Booth, WO2 (Supvr R) Phil Sandford, SSgt Neil McQuoid, Cpl Mick Taylor RAFP and Cpl Stu Wilson RAF, all agreed, with varying degrees of persuasion, to have their moustaches shaved off for charity. The Station hairdresser carried out the first part of the deed, but even she balked at the final shave, leaving the individuals to hurriedly purchase disposable razors and foam from the NAAFI, to rip the remaining hairs from top lips. Over six hundred pounds was raised for Downs Syndrome. As an aside, it should be pointed out that all top lips have since been restored to their former glory.

Before and After
(L-R): Cpl Stu Wilson, SSgt Neil McQuoid, WO2 (Supvr R) Phil Sandford, Cpl Mick Taylor, Danielle Booth and WO2 (SSM) Steve Booth

EXERCISE ICARUS SEAFARER

Ex Icarus Seafarer was a five day sailing exped in the Solent area, from 6-10 Nov, aptly whilst most of the UK was submerged in water. After initial briefings and some 'Bumps and Grinds' in Portsmouth harbour, the 7 intrepid members of the crew set sail to explore the hidden treasures of the Solent and the Isle of Wight. We immediately set an aggressive sailing stance as we ferry dodged (just) our way into open water. Nerves sufficiently frayed, we practiced tacking and gibing, for most of the day before heading for West Cowes, where a well deserved pint soothed some raw nerves, (ably sniffed out by WO2 Roy 'But it's opening time already' Poulton). The next day, we headed West, arriving after a thankfully uneventful days sailing, at Yarmouth. Tying up alongside the harbour wall was deemed not to be adventurous enough, so we tied up to the piles in the harbour (at the fourth attempt). Half an hour later however, having paid £1.50 for the privilege of having the harbour taxi ferry us the 20m to shore, we were regretting the decision. The final straw was discovering that the last harbour taxi ran at 2200hrs. To avoid a crew mutiny and save the last hours' precious drinking time, the dinghy was deployed for the short row to shore. Thursday proved to be the windiest day prompting JT Janine Atkins to enquire, 'Can we capsize this thing?' Arriving without incident back outside the entrance to Portsmouth harbour, we readopted our 'aggressive sailing stance' with LCpl Olive 'Ramming speed' Freemen at the helm. Deciding that power gives way to sail (although not when they're trawling!), she went after a fisherman kebab as she narrowly missed skewering three fishermen who seemed oblivious to the fact that a yacht had passed within three metres of their bow. A true testament to the argument that skippers shouldn't go below decks to make brews. It was therefore with some relief that both boat and crew arrived safely in harbour, ready to scrub down the decks and head out for curry and Karaoke down town.

Out on the rail are from front:
WO2 Roy 'I can see the pub' Poulton,
LCpl Olive 'Kamikaze' Freeman, JT Janine Atkins,
LCpl Stu 'I feel sick' Collins, First Mate LCpl Debs Jordan with JT Jo Johnston on the helm

OFFICERS' TRAINING DAY

Being a joint unit, there are obviously different standards for annual military training across the three services. In order to amalgamate some of these, QM, Capt Barry Spiers decided to organise an Officer Training Day, in order that officers could as a whole complete their annual DTD's (Digby Training Directives). The day began with breakfast in the officers' mess, obviously to prepare for an arduous day ahead. First item on the agenda was a bit of weapon training, or rather shot gun training, as we departed for the clay pigeon range. Next up was some personal fitness training in the gym (potted sports). At last, the highlight of the day approached, 'driver (go-cart) training'. After three hours of some particularly vicious driving, Flt Lt Gez 'Shumacher' Wood emerged in first place, with Lt Gary Davies RN in second and Capt Barry Spiers coming in with third. The day was rounded off with a bit of NBC (Nice Bar-be-que and Carlsberg) training, back at the mess.

14th SIGNAL REGIMENT (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)

237 SIGNAL SQUADRON (EW)

EXERCISE IRON HAWK - by Lt Laura Halpin Int Corps (V)

For seven weeks between August and October 2000, 237 Sig Sqn (EW) deployed to British Army Training Unit, Suffield (BATUS) on Ex Iron Hawk with 3 (UK) Div. At a squadron level the mission was to conduct progressive training on ODETTE, the very recently issued ESM equipment. By doing this we were able to support the wider missions of Lead Recce Task Force and Lead Aviation Task Force and ultimately that of 3 (UK) Div, whom we supported for the final Tactical Engagement Simulation Exercise (TESEX).

The sheer scope of the exercise ensured valid training for every level of the Squadron, many of whom had not previously experienced a protracted war-fighting exercise. A live OpFor gave the soldiers some excellent training opportunities in both EW and military skills; with over 4000 troops on the prairie, all speaking English within the same frequency band and using similar call-signs, the boys had their work cut out. Added to which they were contending with defending their dets against OpFor, whose unpredictable nature added a significant realism to the whole scenario. How much more realistic can you get than coming face to face with the enemy just when you thought the mission was over, and it was time to hang up the DFWES (Direct Fire Weapon Effect System) kit and relish some imminent tea and medals? We can relive the thrilling skirmish through the following extracts from Sgt 'Taff (Sassoon)' Willumsen's -

OC 237 Sig Sqn, Maj David Drinkall
standing infront of a TUM outside the Divisional Electronic Warfare Command Cell (DEWCC) in the snow!

Memoirs From The Frontline:

On a crisp September morning, as the sun rose slowly in the east, the lads at ESM 2 of the fighting 237th were unaware (as was the Divisional EW Command Cell) that every other frontline unit had retreated back past their location under direct orders of the Brigade Commander. Now being the spearhead of the Battle Group, they were to prove their combat effectiveness and earn the respect of both the Commander and some bloke in a Red Top Gazelle.

Having just consumed a brimming washbowl of Cpl Tommy 'India Lima Uniform' Tucker's curry, the lads were in good spirit and morale was high. Out of the blue a cry of 'Stand To!' was chorused around the det by Cpl Mick 'Dead Eye' Haltam (as no one took a blind bit of notice of the original call from LCpl Nick 'Back Pay' Harvie, who was on guard at the time). Under the watchful eye of Sgt 'Taff (Quick Draw)' Willumsen, the detachment was dispatched into its fire trenches. All that is, bar SSgt Stan 'Full Mags' Buxton, who remained in the det under guise of destroying the crypto, card tables and his blue SF bobble hat. Sig Bob 'Tracy' Fraser was the only person throughout the whole exercise who got to say 'contact' without being crated (eh YofS?). By this time, SSgt Jaffa 'Is this my Rifle?' Martin realised that the enemy threat was larger than first thought and in fact came in the form of Armoured Recce Troops. Four CVRT to be precise. This was not a problem for the well-drilled Forward EW Platform. Cpl 'Bus-Stop' Garner and Sig Eddie 'The Hammer' Green engaged their target and the kill was inevitable. On the south flank, Cpl Mick 'I'm 30 now' Haltam and det chef Cpl Tommy 'The Ladle' Tucker engaged a second Scimitar and confirmed a second kill to the EW boys. Resistance proved more stubborn on the northern flank and aggression was the order of the day if the enemy were to be routed. Sgt 'Taff (Rambo)' Willumsen and SSgt 'Jaffa (Jumbo)' Martin sprang from their fox holes oblivious of their own safety and carried out pairs fire and maneuver on the two remaining armoured vehicles. God only knows what the enemy vehicle commanders were thinking as the gruesome twosome notched up a third kill, forcing the fourth vehicle to rapidly retreat!

Butler Matrix Antenna/DF Antenna

As Sgt 'I'm still 29 Mick' Willumsen checked ammo and casualty states, SSgt Stan 'What's All The Racket?' Buxton emerged from the tent in order to inform us that it was all to no avail, as the surviving vehicle had only retreated in order to avoid the arty bombardment that he had called in on our position!' You will be pleased to know that the lads all survived to dig even deeper fire trenches and grow even longer stubble and 'taches - but not as long as those of the three 'moustakeers' of Ech, Sig Pete 'Freddie' Russell, Cpl Seth 'El Gringo' Campbell and Cpl Kevin 'Ainsley' Thomas.

The Rebros may not have seen quite this level of action, but what they lacked in live action, they made up for with home-grown entertainment. Risking life, limb and clutch to visit the outposts in the black of the prairie night, I, Lt Laura 'How many batteries does a Cylume take?' Halpin and my erstwhile driver, Cpl Rob 'Combat Clerk' Lloyd, got more than we bargained for at RRB 2, as we entered the det, clutching the mail and the fresh which we had struggled to procure from EXCON. It was no mean feat to tear ourselves away from Austin Powers, drag ourselves through the sweltering building, bat a freshly- showered eyelid at the SQMS - me, not Cpl Rob - and help ourselves to the fridges overflowing with fresh). We were greeted by a natty threesome in teeshirts adorned with what appeared to be white mine tape cut-out communicators and pips. Led by Capt Jean-Luc Picard aka Cpl Tom Wise, we were invited to sit down by Mr Spock, aka Sig Ryan Parker, sporting a pair of pointy mine tape ear extensions. The surreal entertainment didn't end there; 'Lt Uhura' in the shapely form of LCpl Eddie Banks then emerged from the back of the TUM bearing exquisitely prepared refreshments. Cheese spread and pate took on a whole new, futuristic appeal, displayed with geometrically- arranged biscuits fruit and brown on an empty egg tray (so fresh was getting through?). Chuckling indulgently and glancing round nervously for the incriminating underpants and pencils, while furiously planning our escape back to the sanity of the DEWCC, Cpl 'Wish I'd stayed in BG HQ' Lloyd and myself then found name tags being planted over our own. In the form of 'Capt Kirk' and 'Scotty' we were drawn haplessly into the charade - I know we're supposed to get in there with the troops, but wishing them good luck for tomorrow's theme of the 'A Team' (LCpl Banks was to get his own back in the form of 'Mr T'). Unlike Sig 'Where's the OC's Rover?' Bastable, we managed to locate our vehicle and bid a hasty and relieved retreat. Fortunately I remembered the mine tape pips and name tag just as I was entering 3 Div HQ.

Clearly the rigours of Odette training, defending and entertaining the dets were taking their toll on 237 Sig Sqn and so there was some very welcome R&R and Adventure Training to be had both mid exercise and after ENDEX. The adventure training was based out of Trails End Camp at the foot of The Rockies and soldiers got away to enjoy the stunning scenery while canoeing, riding, climbing and paragliding. Lt Fraser 'Basha' Reid enjoyed the scenery of British Columbia at particularly close quarters as he got intimate with a large tree during his inaugural paragliding flight. R&R saw us taking the Rockie Highway to various destinations such as Banff, Edmonton and Calgary, where the OC, Maj Dave 'Stetson' Drinkall won his spurs in the line-dancing arena.

Ex Iron Hawk was a tremendous success for the Squadron in terms of deploying with brand new equipment within a war fighting scenario and performing individual, team, collective and command training within that context. The opportunity to experience The Rockies through the adventure training packages offered by Trails End, and R&R greatly enriched and gave a good balance to the whole Suffield experience. BATUS comes highly recommended!

30 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Mike Lithgow MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) Al Higgins

VISIT OF THE COLONEL IN CHIEF THE ROYAL CORPS OF SIGNALS HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS ROYAL TO 30 SIGNAL REGIMENT 17 OCTOBER 2000

On 17 October 2000 Her Royal Highness The Princess Royal visited 30 Sig Regt. The aim of the visit was to give Her Royal Highness a feel for the role, importance and commitments of the Regiment in the usual relaxed and professional style expected of 30 Sig Regt. The programme was based around three Squadron demonstrations, the Families Centre, LSGC and Warrants presentations, a buffet lunch for all ranks in the Officers' Mess and concluding with an Operational Training demonstration. Below is an account of the various stands and the performances of various soldiers!

250 GURKHA SIGNAL SQUADRON

As part of the visit, Her Royal Highness was introduced to 250 Gurkha Sig Sqn commanded by Maj Cole. Here, Her Royal Highness was given the opportunity to meet several members of the Squadron and to receive a brief overview of some of the many tasks that 250 Gurkha Sig Sqn fulfils. These we split down into three separate phases. Firstly, Her Royal Highness had the opportunity to receive an outline from Sgt Mahendra and Cpl Om as to the part played by personnel from the Squadron on operations in Kosovo. This detailed the equipment, capabilities and manpower that had been deployed in theatre, as well as attempting to set the scene as to exactly what life in an operational environment is like for soldiers from the Squadron. In order to assist visually with this stand, one of the Regiment's satellite assets, a 501 Det, had been deployed complete with camouflage and sentries so as to set the picture. On completion of this demonstration, Her Royal Highness was introduced to members of the Squadron who man the tasking for Operation Scarab/Apollyon. Here Lt Morris, Cpl Mohan, Sig Charnock and Sig McClean were aided by other members of Victor Tp in detailing this specific tasking. Her Royal Highness's final insight into the Squadron came from her visit to the Trailwalker stand, manned by Sgt Nanda. Trailwalker is a commitment run by 250 Gurkha Sig Sqn and comprises of organising a 100km race over the South Downs every year in order to raise money for charity. The specific charity that this event raises monies for is the Gurkha Welfare Trust, which is concerned with helping ex-servicemen, their families and communities as a whole. This is done by sponsoring projects such as building wells and schools in the communities that Gurkhas come from and retire to on leaving the British Army. This year a total of 263 teams entered and raised a total of £50,000 for the Trust. Since first starting Trailwalker has grown and is now an international event being run in countries as far afield as Australia. Her Royal Highness has the opportunity to meet several members of the Squadron who had taken part in the Sydney Trailwalker, and incidentally won, as well as other members of 250 dressed in typical Nepali attire. Those personnel introduced to Her Royal Highness included LCpl Buddi, LCpl Tham, Sig Basanta, Sig Bharat Mani and Sig Ratna.

258 SIGNAL SQUADRON

On the day, the Princess arrived in Hanger 2 at approximately 1130hrs to be greeted by a host of SHQ personnel including the OC Sqn, Maj 'at LAND they called me Mr. Sheen' Deans, who escorted Her Royal Highness around the two stands displayed by 258 Sig Sqn. The first display was the Delta Tp stand, where she had explained to her the Regiments role on Op Basilica and Op Langar. While receiving her brief Sig Ian 'Furry Cup' Marsden wishing to show off his globe trotting talents tried to impress Her Royal Highness by saying, 'I was in Australia – look; here I am,' pointing to his picture on one of the display boards with a giant smile. We are all sure Her Royal Highness was impressed, being Royal she has probably never been there. REALLY! After the Delta Tp stand Her Royal Highness moved round to the Spearhead display where she was greeted by Sgt 'Big Gay Al' Barker who explained that he had deployed to Egypt on Ex Bright Star with a similar set-up where he worked his magic with eleven other nations. The Spearhead equipment was displayed, the systems where described, then onto the three roles of the unit, Strategic, Operational and Tactical which where expertly described by LCpl Aaron 'Dot Com' Donnelly, LCpl Matt 'Skeletor' Green and Sig Ian 'Minirod' Andrews respectively who finished off the 258 display. A select few headed to the Officers' Mess for lunch with Her Royal Highness. Practising to say 'Mam' as in 'ham' as in 'spam', LCpl Tony 'Taff' Gallagher greeted Her Royal Highness with 'Good afternoon MUM'! Following a swift kick from his wife, Julie (that is a crate from your wife Tony), 'Prince Taff' went red and proceeded to fumble his words and ended up only being able to say one word, 'YES'. 'So how long have you been here LCpl Gallagher?' 'Yes.' (Unlucky Tony that's got to be a crate).

256 SIGNAL SQUADRON

As part of Her Royal Highness's visit program, 256 Sig Sqn was given the task of taking Her Royal Highness through the medium scale headquarters that deployed to Sierra Leone in support of the Joint Task Force Headquarters. With the BFT (Big Tent) set up all was going to plan with troops to task, and an impressive comms infrastructure being installed. Just as everything had almost been put into place, another short notice JTFHQ task to Sierra Leone took the lion's share of personnel, equipment, and tentage, leaving the rest of the Squadron to re-assess and rebuild the format. The setup was now about a quarter of the size, with all the tentage and communications provided, coming courtesy of Alpha Troop's Exercise Battering Ram plug up. Lt 'The Director' Dagless was now responsible for auditions, rehearsals, and choreography as Her Royal Highness was to be taken through the various stages of the Sierra Leone deployment without the singing and dancing that normally comes with 'the big top'. Having practiced a few times so Cpl 'W Wi Wil Willy' Wilcock could get all his words out we soon found the big day was upon us all.

Her Royal Highness was introduced to the 256 Signal Squadron stand by Capt Owen '2IC, stand in OC, Ops, Movements Offr, and general juggler' Finnie. LCpl 'I'm about the only one from C Tp not deployed' Rose was the first to speak on his deployment to Sierra Leone, having been the ORLT team commander and one of the first soldiers into Freetown supporting the JTFHQ commander. Having spoken for a few minutes Her Royal Highness was 'winged' across to Sgt 'We benefited a lot' Shuck and Lt 'Scoff' Dagless to talk about the Spearhead Land element's deployment with 1 Para and 42 Cdo. Her Royal Highness, having been taken through the build up, was then taken through the meat of a medium scale deployment. Flt Lt 'Rear Details' Pearce, and Cpl 'Not a problem' Scott spoke about the Information Control System, and why a Crab should be attached to our Royal Corps. Having been shown the exits here, here and here, Her Royal Highness then went on to see Sgt 'Smiler' Ebdon. He gave an overview of the technical side of the deployment, she then went on to an impressive power demonstration by Cpl 'P Pow Power' Wilcock who managed to talk without hesitation or repetition for 'just a minute'. 23 Pioneer Regt were to finish off the display with an impressive talk of dare, emphasising not only their vital life and artisan support, but also the guard and security demands of deploying to the front line. Sgt Blenman, Cpl McGregor, and Pte Dacey showed once again the close bonds that have been built up between our units.

Everyone who took part here, and subsequently, were thoroughly proud of what they and the Squadron have achieved so far this year. With Her Royal Highness at the helm of her entourage that snaked its way through, all were pleasantly surprised at how warm and genuinely interested she was. This made all the effort worthwhile at the end of a great day. Special mention should go to Sig 'Wisp' Wood for pinching all the hors d'oeuvres, and to SSgt 'Mad' McNair for pinching all the wine at the Officers' Mess Luncheon, that still had the smell of fresh paint.

OPERATIONAL TRAINING DEMONSTRATION

On the final stand of the day, HRH The Princess Royal visited the 501 Club to witness a Military Training demonstration. The Training Officer, Capt (Tfc(R)) Chris Moye, briefed her on the range of Trade and Military Courses provided by the Training Wing. The demonstration lasted 15 minutes and was based upon the Regiment's involvement on Op Palliser in Sierra Leone earlier this year, where a detachment of soldiers from the Regiment were tasked with supporting 1 Para with securing Lungi Airport and provided communications using a UK VSC 501(E). Her Royal Highness watched the detachment come under attack from a small insurgent force that had broken through the airfield perimeter. After winning the firefight the detachment used fire and manoeuvre tactics to dispatch the enemy before withdrawing tactically from their compromised location. After the display Her Royal Highness met Lt Blaydon Morris and WO2 (SSM) Young who had both provided the commentary. She then met the participants who were ably led by Cpl 'Freddie' Starr.

CONCLUSION

The visit was a complete success and the Commanding Officer would like to thank all personnel for the time and effort that was put into the visit. The feedback that Regiment received was that Her Royal Highness was very impressed with the professionalism and dedication from the personnel in the Regiment, especially with the level of commitments and Operations with which 30 Sig Regt are tasked.

SUPPORT SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj R. H. Gladwin
SSM WO2 (SSM) Young

The Squadron says farewell to WO2 (SSM) 'Andy' Young this month after two years hard work as the Sergeant Major of Support Squadron. The Sergeant Major is leaving to take up his new appointment as the RSM of 31 Sig Regt (V) and a well deserved 'rest', at least that is what it seems like!

REGIMENTAL MOTOR TRANSPORT

MTO Capt G. Johnson
MT SSgt SSgt Nanda

As we enter the cold season, a few changes have been evident – nothing new there then – including a move from SQMS role to Gene Bay SSgt of SSgt 'I'm not SQMS any more' Crawford. Welcome onto the ration roll Pete and congratulations on your recent wedding. Gene Bay has started to flourish quite well now, although still no sign of Cpl Hari.

Maj 'Rod' Gladwin presenting WO2 (SSM) 'Andy' Young with his farewell gift of a silver swan

The lads have started to work well as a team and have produced some quality work, sufficient in fact to earn a sports afternoon from the MTO. Of course, the MT remain busy, what with our involvement in Ex Purple Iliad taking us as far as Lyneham, but taking the rest of the Regiment to Florida. Not all is doom and gloom however, and we did manage to send LCpls Bishop and Hill to Kenya on Ex Grand Prix (via Lyneham). Don't even try to tell us it was a nightmare out there, you could have stayed behind and end up in, well Lyneham. Thankfully the nations fuel crisis didn't quite hit as protesters had planned. Just as well really, as we would have struggled to get all the details to Lyneham sorted out.

It's not often we get to announce promotions in the MT, but much deserved congratulations go to Sigs Neil Grainger and Andy Middle who recently came off the Signaller-Lance Corporal promotion board. All those details to Lyneham Neil, we told you it would see you promoted. Also congratulations to LCpl 'H' Aitchison who came off the Lance Corporal-Corporal promotion board (thanks again to Lyneham). MT Tp could be forgiven for thinking that there was a representative from Lyneham on the promotion boards! Happy days in MT Tp, as we took to the football field to play the Pay Packets from TM Tp. Sadly TM Tp were short of a couple of players (too busy down the bank we think), and the MTO Capt Johnson showed his loyalty and said he'd play for the Pay Packets. Goals from Cpl 'Feddie' Starr (4), LCpl 'Ronald' Pierrpoint (2) and Sig Neil Grainger helped us to run out worthy winners by seven goals to two. Sig Prabin was gutted he didn't play – he was in Lyneham.

Lots to look forward to in the next few months. The Regimental Safe and Skilled Driving Comp being run by Sgt 'Ash' Ingham is starting to take shape, and we have our Xmas Function being run by Sig Andy Middle. Just check with Lyneham first though, Andy, that 6 December is OK with them before you start to book things.

EXERCISE RUNNEL STONE 2000 (27 – 29 OCTOBER 2000)

Exercise Runnel Stone is a Danish Home Defence Exercise. This year the Regiment was tasked to deploy a 10-man team to act as 'enemy'. Our mission was to plant an explosive device on two separate targets. On arrival in Denmark we were split into 2 x 5 man sections and each allocated a Danish reservist. After a short journey, by Bedford 4 tonner, we were dropped off to recce our objectives. Patrol Callsign 1B was led by Sgt 'Awsome' Burdus and Callsign 1A was led by Cpl 'Freddy' Starr. After both carrying out successful night recces of our objectives, which included a bonus prisoner for Cpl Starr, both patrols laid up during the next day. This time was spent finalising our plans so that when nightfall came, we were ready to move out (surprisingly no chopper was available). Patrol 1B successfully completed their mission gaining much praise from the Home Guard. Patrol 1A on the other hand, had a much rougher time of it. When making our way up to our objective, we found it guarded by every man and his dog. As a consequence the patrol was split and Cpl 'Freddy' Starr, was left to be 'the one that got away'. The Mission was finally achieved (while sustaining heavy GPMG fire), but we got there in the end. The most satisfying moment came at the de-brief when we heard that some of the Special Forces had been caught and that 30 Sig Regt were the only unit to take a prisoner. The boys thoroughly enjoyed the exercise, and all that is left to say is role on 'Runnel Stone 01'.

256 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. W. Cooper
SSM WO2 (SSM) Keen

SQUADRON MOTOR TRANSPORT

LCpl Comery organised a 24hr sponsored row in October to raise money for a talking aid for Marc Raven, a young man suffering from a one in a million condition that has seen his health deteriorate. The event participators were Capt Finnie, WO2 Blade, LCpl Mason, LCpl Slade and LCpl Comery. The money raised was sufficient for the talk aide and we thank the Regiment for their generosity in sponsorship.

The Sponsored Row Team

ALPHA TROOP

Tp Comd Flt Lt Paul Pearce
Tp SSgt SSgt Paul Storey

Ex Purple Iliad was a PJHQ led war-fighting exercise involving the JTFHQ staff, supported ably once again by personnel from around the Regiment. The main headquarters was located at MacDill AFB, Tampa Bay, Florida with outstations situated at New Orleans, Atlanta and South Carolina. The Exercise was conducted during the period 28 October 2000 – 22 November 2000 and, as you will read here, war really is hell. The big day had finally arrived with the advance party setting off in the early hours of the morning of 28 October 2000 to catch their 36-hour flight to MacDill AFB, Tampa, with a brief stop over in Gander, Newfoundland. On the night of 7 November with everybody now in Tampa, it was the done thing to get the scenic tour of the HQ from the Ex SSM, SSgt Paul Storey and then head for the Enlisted Club for a few $5 Pitchers of Bud. SSgt Dave Oliver seemed to enjoy his golden midnight shower from an unknown night-stalker, although Sig Daz 'I'm A Sex God' Lewis was quickly sent to New Orleans the next day with Sig Dean 'Testosterone' Roberts, for the remainder of the Exercise. Also on the first night of the Exercise, a few of the lads decided to take it upon themselves to choose where they slept. This involved a few lads sleeping with Staff Officers or waking them up all night asking them if they were called Chris. This applies particularly to Sig 'Lets Look At The View' Jones, Sig Al Neesam, Sig Tom 'American Psycho' Beerling and Sig Chris 'Howay Lads' Beattie. On the social side of this very hard and tiring exercise, there were plenty of activities on offer for the long days spent on camp. This included a beach, a golf course, a shopping centre and Restaurants. One of the most popular attractions were skiffs (a very low powered speed boat) that could be hired for a small fee. Sig Dave 'Lucky' Rodwell and Sig 'Lets Look At The Views All Night' Jones enjoyed these boats the most. They broke down and were drifting for seven hours in shipping lanes until they were finally rescued by the coast guards (nice one lads).

To briefly touch on the working of the Exercise, I would like to say a big thank you to everybody who worked on the SFCC detachment. This was by far the hardest working det on the Exercise (Oh really!? – OC Tp) led by Cpl Brett 'I've Been To Every Ladies Bar' Grist, myself and Sig Dave 'Lucky' Rodwell. Because we worked so hard throughout the ex we decided to treat ourselves to some R&R at the end. We all packed our bags and went off to South Beach Miami, where we found it hard to sit down and chill out with all the lovely ladies walking passed. Cpl Brett 'I've Been To Every Ladies Bar' Grist found it harder than most so he took a few pictures of the lovely ladies; forty-two pictures in one bar actually. Sig Dave 'Lucky' Rodwell was grateful of only being 20 years old and not being able to drink, saving his money with an early night back at the hotel. Better luck next year 'Rodders'!

Back to the main exercise. For those off-duty, Sgt Gaz 'Moneybags' Shuck set up a Squadron Bar in one of the hangars on-site, ably assisted by Cpl 'Willie' Will-Cock, LCpl Phil 'When Was The Last Time I Was Sober' Dransfield and Sig Prakash. This quickly became the meeting place before going on to the Enlisted Club and a great place to rip-off the staff officers. The Quiz Night was definitely one to remember. Where Cpl Slim 'Military Cabbage' Scott got the questions from is anyone's guess. We still can't believe that 'Chicks on Heat' won first prize, why Sig Stu Hemming was on their team and why Cpl V 'CO's Buddy' McIntosh decided to trash her own room. Generally though, the night time activities involved going down town to Ybor city or, as the Techs found out, there were plenty of 'other places' to go. The Tech bullies included Sgt Mark Ebdon, Cpl Barney Grey, Cpl Craig Anderson, and Cpl Gina Atkinson.

A well earn't end of Ex beer

JFHQ Sig Sqn and US support at the end of Ex Beach party

A big 'Thank You' is extended to the 501 Crew commanded by Cpl Dave Macdonald, Sig 'Taff' Colwell and Sig Chris 'Have You Met My Mate, The General' Beattie, for getting the footy scores on Saturday. This helped decide a much debated bet over the Middlesborough and Newcastle match; a big waaaaaah goes out to SSgt Paul Storey, and well done to Sig Chris 'Howay Lads' Beattie for getting your day off and saving your shirt from being burnt.

A job well done to all the telemechs under the supervision of LCpl 'Fergie' Ferguson, with LCpl Smith, Sig Whalley and Sig Richardson. The main comms asset on the exercise was JOCS worked by Cpl V 'Maniac' Mcintosh, Sig Colin 'Action Man' Robertson and Sig Kate 'This Is Good' Marsh. The ICC was run by Cpl 'Slim' Scott, and included Cpl Harrison (258 Sig Sqn), Cpl Barker (258 Sig Sqn), LCpl 'Nobby' Clarke, Sigs Stu Hemming, Leanne Fenton, Kelly MacLean (258 Sig Sqn) and John 'Lurch' Roberts. All in all it was the best Exercise I have personally been on in my career, I really recommend South Beach Miami to anyone going, the ladies are unreal!

BRAVO TROOP

Tp Comd Lt John Dagless
Tp SSgt SSgt McNair

Having finally stood down from the R1 and R-1 commitment the Troop now finds itself in a supporting role. Having been at R1 for over ten months, deployed on two Operations, and stood too for a dozen others it comes as a bit of a culture shock to step out of the unknown and into the chaotic Regimental exercise program. No sooner had we handed the JTFHQ1 task over then we were straight onto the Regimental Shooting Camp run by the Training Wing. This was a fantastic opportunity to let the snipers amongst the Troop get onto the ground and make the most of the facilities and opportunities that this full range package offered. Unfortunately the entire Troop was not available to do this, as we had already deployed a number of teams onto other tasks.

Sgt 'Scouse' Parry, and his crew were on their way to Kenya as part Ex Grand Prix in support of 1 Battalion Scotts Guards, having already proved themselves, holding the Regimental leg on Exercise Cygnet Globe at Bramcote. Cpl Bri Wilson in the meantime was in Corsica on Ex Arrcade Fusion in support of 16 Sig Regt. In the mean time the rest of the Troop on their return from battle camp would be getting ready to deploy to America. Ex Purple Illiad, (or Internal Look depending on what country you come from) was a JTFHQ Exercise designed to establish and test our working relationships with our American Allies. This resulted in dets being spread throughout the Deep South of America. B Tp was tasked to support the Maritime, Logistic, and Land Component Commanders Headquarters for the exercise. Effectively this meant one team supporting a small two star headquarters in Atlanta, another supporting 102 Log Bde in New Orleans, and a third team supporting a bunch of sailors in Tampa. The Americans proved themselves to be very enthusiastic, and helpful. The out Dets worked particularly hard, having deployed later, and having to rely for the main part on American bearer systems that the Dets found themselves mastering into order to trouble shoot for the Americans. Help was always at hand over the phone from Tampa. Just as they all worked hard they played hard also in the last few days in America.

A warm welcome is sent out to Sig Allen and Sig Lado who join us from 7 Sig Regt and 19 Mech Bde respectively, and goodbyes to LCpl Cooper who is posted to JCUNI, and Dickie Davis and Theresa Hampton as they join Civ Div.

CHARLIE TROOP

Tp OC Lt Lucy Pim
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Joyce

Having been out of role for a couple of months, Charlie Tp took on the role of Spearhead Tp. We all looked forward to a trip somewhere new and exotic and waited with baited breath for the pagers to go off. Well, that lasted all of five minutes, then reality set in. The message came down from on high that we weren't going to add a new stamp to the passport, but instead would have the pleasure of returning to Sierra Leone, to set up the Joint Task Force HQ Mk 2! Cpl 'It's not my tent' Nolan was particularly pleased at the thought of seeing the dreaded JTFHQ tentage again! When we landed in Lungi it was as though we'd never been away – the kid who'd hung around the gate at the old HQ, came and hung around as we waited to deploy to the new HQ – nothing like a familiar face to make you feel right at home! This was the first time we had made it past the gates of the airport, so seeing the surrounding area was enlightening to say the least. After a night on the RFA, we were up early to head off and start the build of the HQ. The tent erection went like clockwork, despite the heat; and within 48 hours the HQ was all singing, all dancing. Outstanding!

Life in Sierra Leone had definitely improved since last time, from our point of view. Before, we were living in 12x12 'on the edge of the jungle', and now we were neighbours with the President: air con, TVs, gym kit and a swimming pool (empty) included! Things were certainly a bit more bearable! When we arrived at DHQ in Freetown a Troop from 250 Gurkha Sig Sqn were already there, providing comms for the IMATT and Combined Ops Cell. So once the routines settled in, we started the job of integrating the Gurkha Tp into the HQ – the cunning plan being to hand-over to them, and escape! Thankfully all went to plan, and the majority of the Troop is now back in glorious Bramcote!

Congratulations and welcome go to LCpl Nath Hadley on his arrival to the Troop and on coming off the board (and on squeezing an Op in already!). Also, a warm welcome to LCpl Aaron Garside and Sig Claire Elkins on their arrival to the Troop. And a big round of applause to Sigs Si Powell, Gaz Shaw and Jo Wood on well deserved promotions! Charlie Tp now face preparations for whistle-stop tour in Kosovo at the beginning of next year; and we are all looking forward to the chance to relax next year as part of the out of role Squadron. Bags of adventure training and the like on the cards!

258 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj P. Deans
SSM WO2 (SSM) Forrester

Our preparation period for taking on JTFHQ was curtailed by the Regiment's commitment to Sierra Leone and as 256 Sig Sqn deployed we took on the Spearhead Lead Elements and Joint Task Force Headquarters 2/Shadow. Amidst this busy period, WO2 (YofS) Knight and family finally deserted 30 Sig Regt to lend a hand at PJHQ – so the 'tasked' becomes the 'tasker'. His replacement is WO2 (YofS) Goodlife who has escaped from 250 GSS. In addition, the Squadron have received tremendous results from the Signaller to Lance Corporal and Lance Corporal to Corporal Boards – a 'Well Done' to everyone concerned.

DELTA TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Chris Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim Lyons

After a great two weeks in Gibraltar on Ex Cygnet Rock, a Troop level exercise to practice medium range HF communications, we returned to start preparing for the R1 Role as JTFHQ Signal Squadron in December. Due to 256 Sig Sqn re-deploying to Sierra Leone we immediately took on the Spearhead role at the beginning of October. After the Troop prepared itself for the Spearhead Lead Element (SLE) role we were also tasked with providing a JTFHQ 2 Headquarters as well. This involved the Troop putting together a HQ complex and preparing the remainder of the Troop to be at R1. We were then called out to Aldershot to demonstrate our readiness and capabilities to Comd 12 Mech Bde who was obviously very impressed. Following our call out, the Troop deployed on Ex Sarum Bear as JTFHQ 2 for a week in the field on Salisbury Plain, which was a very successful exercise where much experience was gained. Following the last two extremely successful promotion boards, the Troop would like to congratulate the following people on promotion to Corporal. LCpl 'M J' Holt, LCpl 'Andy' Wright. Also congratulations goes out to Sig 'Ian' Andrews, Sig 'Ian' Marsden, Sig 'Neil' Climpson and Sig 'Richie' Maybank, on promotion to Lance Corporal. Finally this month we would like to say, 'Farewell,' to Sgt 'Billy' Kidd who has left the Troop to spend a short time in the crypto cell, before leaving Bramcote for Brunei. We wish him and his family all the best for the future and thank him for all the support he has given to D Tp in the past.

ECHO TROOP – by LCpl Stu 'Bubbles' Engleby

Tp OC Capt Karl Jeeves
Tp SSgt SSgt Alan Combe

It's been a busy period for Echo Tp with a host of new faces arriving and some of the older ones leaving for pastures new. So it's 'Hello' to Capt Karl 'Curtains' Jeeves fresh from recruit training and to SSgt Al 'Screaming Skull' Combe who joins us from 216 Sig Sqn. We have bidden farewell to SSgt 'Doc' Halliday who has left to teach all the nice Navy boys down at HMS Collingwood. Also it's been goodbye to Cpl 'Paddy' Bevan who has left for NI after completing his re-trade, to Cpl Dave 'Crater' Carter who has also left to go over the water. There are also goodbyes to Cpl Lynsay 'Xena Warrior' Howson who has made the step to civvy street, LCpl Lee 'Pickle' Nicol who is off to Blandford to impart his knowledge in Radex Tp. Finally, goodbye to LCpl Stu 'Belly' Engleby who departs for 21 Sig Regt.

We have also had a the good news of promotions in the Troop with LCpls Jeff 'Jeffers' Ford, Tony 'Big Arms' Gallagher, 'Big' Fred Hazard and Lee 'pickle' Nicol all coming off the Corporal Board. Also Sigs Mick 'Blinking' Allan, Michelle 'Cilla' Black, Dion 'Celine' Fotheringham, John 'Kebab' Lawrence and Lee 'Simmo' Simmons all getting the first foot on the ladder with promotion to Lance Corporal. In summary - Echo Tp isn't that bad a place to come! Further congratulations are extended to Sig 'Cilla' Black and husband John on the birth of their baby daughter Shannon.

To celebrate the passing of the members of the Troop who are leaving us Cpl Pete 'Winker' Watson organised a trip to the local bowling alley. Sgt Al 'The Gay One' Barker excelled himself with the amount of dirt he could find on those who were leaving and then it was time to start bowling. Cpl Lynsay 'Xena' Howson took great pleasure in chastising several members of the staff when her lane developed a temporary malfunction. A good time was had by all.

EXERCISE ABLE ALLY

Ex Able Ally is an annual SHAPE Exercise that is usually to be accompanied by a number of 'hiccups' and this year did not disappoint. It started with the ferry crossing from Ramsgate to Ostende being delayed by 16 hours due to the horrific weather at the end of October. So the Ramsgate Branch of McDonald's was duly eaten out of Big Macs and 'Lard' Fries. Nevertheless, the crossing was extremely choppy to say the least (everyone had to go and lie down!), but we eventually arrived in the exercise location in one piece. After the shaky start, the exercise went well (it's the first time that it's worked in ten years), although the auto tracking on the VSC 501 didn't work properly so the crew was reduced to manually re-pointing the dish (hard luck). Recovery to Bramcote was another very tiring journey but we made it back at 0530hrs on the 11 November to be met by Sgt Barker at the Guard Room who said, 'It's always nice to see a friendly face, lads!'

FOXTROT TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Mogs Southern
Tp SSgt SSgt Stu Fiddler

HALES AND FAREWELLS

This month we say hello to the following new arrivals: Cpl 'Neil' Harrison from 15 Sig Regt, Cpl 'Ronnie' Barker from TACP, LCpl 'Joe' Krikorian from the Comsec Monitoring Team, Sig Clare Louden from RSS Blandford. Lastly, also from 15 Sig Regt, to Sig 'Beef' Kirton, welcome to you all. I hope you have a successful tour with us. We are saying a lot of goodbyes. Best wishes for the future go to LCpl Kate Deal who is posted to JCUNI, LCpl Ian Richardson and family, LCpl Si Dennison and LCpl Gav Sayers who all leave for civvi street – good luck to you all.

CONGRATULATIONS

The following personnel are congratulated for being selected for promotion: LCpl Jim Stewart on promotion to Corporal, LCpl Andy Armitage on promotion to Substansive Lance Corporal, also Sig 'Smudge' Smith, Sig Danny Thwaites and Sig Kelly MaClean for promotion to Lance Corporal – well done all of you.

NEWS IN BRIEF

It has been a hectic time for the Troop of late. A couple of months ago the Troop were decimated by the deployment to Op Basilica in Sierra Leone. Approximately half the Troop deployed whilst the other half remained in camp. The tour turned out to be a real eye-opener for some (those not operationally qualified), with the hostage situation and Operation BARAS being thrown in – at least we were not bored! At last the Troop are all back together for what seems to be another very busy period ahead of us. We are now in preparation to receive the JTFHQ en masse from 256 Sig Sqn at the end of November, this will only give us a few weeks to prepare ourselves for the forthcoming exercises; at home and away.

51st BIRTHDAY IN BALKANS - by LCpl Sim Chochangi, Kosovo

The Queen's Gurkha Signals celebrated its 51st Birthday in Balkans on 23 September 2000. Originally the Regiment was established on 1 May 1949 in Malaya, which marks the formation of the Regiment and has served with the Indian Army as the Indian Army Signal Corps in twenties and thirties. However, the Gurkha Signals were granted permission to wear a Corp Badge, on 23 September 1953 in Lumjung Camp, Kaulalumpur. In 1977 Her Majesty the Queen granted her Royal title of Queen's Gurkha Signals. In 1983 the unit was reconstructed up to a Regiment Level, consisting of RHQ and four Squadrons in Hong Kong. Further detachments was set up in Brunei, Nepal and the UK. After the hand-over of Hong Kong to the Chinese authority, the QG Signals has been reduced to a single Squadron level, currently based at Bramcote as part of 30 Sig Regt. 30 Sig Regt is an operational unit, which provides secure strategic satellite communications back to UK for British Forces and NATO Forces from any conflict areas. Since the beginning of the Kosovo crisis, 250 Gurkha Sig Sqn deployed in Op Agricola with an intention to provide secure communication for HQ BRITFOR and HQ MNBC (Multi-National Brigade Centre). As our 51st Regimental Birthday was approaching closer and closer, we QG Signal personal decided to celebrate it in theatre. Therefore, on 23 September 2000 we all played football and basketball which was organised by Cpl Hari Gurung. At 2030hrs the birthday cake cutting ceremony took place in which our Troop OC, Lt Booker and Troop Staff Sergeant, SSgtNarayanbahadur Bhandari were involved. Some guests were also invited. When they all gathered around, SSgt Narayan Bhandari gave a short brief about the Regimental History. Tipan Tapan started right after the briefing with two pints rule, followed by buffet. Finally the celebration ended up at around 2330hrs.

Jai Queen's Gurkha Signal!

Why not pay your subscription by Direct Debit?

Ring 01258 482079
and we will send you a form

SSgt Narayan Bhandari and Lt Booker
Birthday Cake Cutting Ceremony

32nd (SCOTTISH) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO	Lt Col J K McKee MBE
RSM	WO1 (RSM) Hilborn

51 SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd	Maj Morna Strachan
SSM	WO2 (SSM) Davey Crocket

CONGRATULATIONS

There have been a number of reasons to celebrate in the Highland Squadron over the past three months. Congratulations go to 'Cabby' Henderson on his promotion to Corporal and to our chef Christine 'Delia' Simpson on her promotion to Lance Corporal. Also promoted recently were Michelle Rettie and Dave Davidson, both to Lance Corporal, well done. Celebrations and nappies abound in the Taylor household with the birth of Ben to Sgt Claire Taylor and Cpl Richard Taylor. Finally, congratulations also go to OCdt Colin Bruce on passing the Territorial Commission Board. We will of course be taking every opportunity from now on to 'test' his officer potential.

LCpl Simpson and Cpl Henderson

LCpl Rettie and the CO

LCpl Davidson and the CO

REGIMENTAL ANNUAL CAMP

The Squadron enjoyed considerable success at annual camp, performing well in both Ex Saltire and Ex Horseshoe. Ex Horseshoe saw our NCRS dets scattered around the north west of England and south west of Scotland. The Squadron CP was located at Longtown, with our OC, Maj Morna Strachan, Capt Linda Duncan, SSM 'Davie' Crockett and PSI, SSgt 'The Scottish Scouser' Leach providing traffic and various incidents, assisted by Regimental Recruit Training Team staff and recruits.

Things were going well all round until Lt Milne Weir and OCdt Davidson of 52 Sqn volunteered to act as refugees. Setting off on their own, having not waited to be fully briefed on the rules of engagement, they proceeded to visit B2 detachment, located at Carlisle Airfield. Their first mistake was trying to steal rations and equipment from the Det, commanded by Sgt Mike Webb. LCpl Michelle Rettie immediately sent a sit-rep to the CP while Sig Ricky Melia and Sgt Mike Wills gave chase. While trying to evade Sgt Wills - quite a feat in itself, Lt Weir had not noticed Sig Melia, and took refuge in the dets conveniently sited portaloo, upon which Sig Melia promptly locked it from the outside - leaving the said Lt Weir in the - well an awkward position. Lt Weir was eventually freed from his hideout at which point he decided to call ENDEX on the scenario for some unknown reason, although the thought of ending up 'blue' was evident in his face. We wish Lt Weir all the best and hope he will soon be 'regular' again.

35 (SOUTH MIDLAND) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

XXXV

SLIP SIDING AWAY

Looking out of my office window at Rugby TAC during the early evening of Friday 24 November watching the preparations for our deployment on Ex Silver Buzzard I took comfort in the fact that the weather was reasonably calm and the prospect of a dry exercise was looking good!

This was doubly reassuring as our second line inspection was to begin immediately after the exercise and the thought of our technical equipment caked with mud filled me with horror. I allowed myself the luxury of relaxing for a while until I over-heard the weather forecast on the radio and as I listened intently the colour drained visibly from my face.

The calm before the storm
Sgt Martin Walton (R) with the Regimental FofS

Storms had once again been forecast for the West Midlands and Worcestershire – our deployment area, and were likely to persist for the whole weekend, so the exercise area was bound to be awash with mud and other hazards. I tried to remain calm and keep the news from our detachments that were now waiting patiently at the Main Gate for the order to move. I then decided that in the interests of maintaining good morale to keep the news to myself but drew back from promising them a comfortable exercise and relied on the old chestnut that the weekend was going to prove ideal to improve all of their comms and personal skills. I bit my tongue in a desperate effort to stop myself from saying that some survival skills would also come in useful during the weekend, but this thought fizzled out as the vehicle engines ignited and I was engulfed by a cloud of exhaust fumes. As I waved them a cheery farewell I returned to the comfort of my office feeling a little guilty. Ex Silver Buzzard was our first Commex for many months it was therefore essential for it to take place to shake out the cobwebs that had gathered on both manpower and equipment and practise unit level comms procedures, which had not been tested since Annual Camp back in June. Despite the appalling weather the exercise was deemed a huge success by the Regimental Ops staff and the CO, Lt Col Stephen Potter, and his Ops Offr, Maj Chris Edwards, were visibly relieved and commented that many important lessons had been learnt. Everyone had performed well despite the limitations imposed by the weather and morale was boosted when the CO declared an early endex so that the recovery back to TACs could run as smoothly and safely as possible. Fortunately everyone returned safe and sound if not a little weather beaten to be greeted by yours truly and a hot meal. Well this was the least I could do before they tackled the enormous task of removing half of Worcestershire from our vehicle fleet, cables and equipment. Viewing all of this with a detached air that could almost be described as excruciating and despairing was our solo Tech Sgt Martin Walton who commented that the biggest mistake he made was not locking the gate before deployment and throwing away the key. To say that he was mortified when the hot jet wash failed after only three vehicles had been steam cleaned is perhaps an understatement – not even his immense technical skills could resolve that problem, although in desperation he did try and almost sent the steam cleaner into orbit! He need not have feared the second line inspection, although highlighting many problems – not of his making I might add – went as well as could be expected in the circumstances and he is now back to his old self. Well at least he was until the Landrover he was given to carry out a Regimental task the following week broke down in the middle lane of the M6. Cursing and swearing and with a major sense of humour failure, he managed, more by luck than mechanical expertise, to get the vehicle going again and continued on his journey. To add insult to injury a few miles further on he was pulled up by the police for having a faulty brake light! Happy New Year Martin, things can only get better!

FUNDRAISING FUN ON THE GREAT NORTH RUN

The Regiment is renowned for its fund raising activities especially for those charities local to the West Midlands and in particular the Princess Diana Children's Hospital. This year we had a slight change in direction in raising money for our traditional charities and turned our attention and main effort towards raising enough money for a Guide Dog for the Blind. All we had to do now was find a suitable high profile activity that would guarantee maximum support and the Great North Run fitted the bill exactly. Twelve members of the Regiment initially sponsored by 89 Sqn, who provided the entry fee for each runner, entered the event, which took place in the Newcastle area on Sunday 22 October. The team entry was deftly managed and controlled by SSgt Andy Egan who received tremendous support from all team members in securing adequate sponsorship and pledges. An unprecedented 36,822 finishers, including the regimental team, crossed the finish line and whether or not you were first or last the sense of achievement and fulfilment was exactly the same. While it would have been nice to have got a team member in the first twelve places (which were reserved exclusively for the World's greatest marathon stars), Cpl Adrian Proffitt in particular was more than happy with his 13,641 position finishing with a triumphant sprint. We now share something in common with the Great North Run as both of us have now come of age. The Great North Run has now grown into Britain's most popular road race and the World's biggest half marathon while the Regiment has now extended its charitable efforts over a much wider area embracing many national as well as local charities. Pledges are now being collected so if you owe the team money please make good your commitment. Early indications show that we should raise in excess of £2000 and early in the New Year we expect to make a special presentation to the Guide Dog Charity and hope to receive some valuable publicity for the Regiment at the same time. Continuing with the fundraising efforts the Regiment is also pleased to report that members of 48 Sig Sqn, who are maintaining their support for Ward 9, raised the magnificent sum of £500 for the Princess Diana Children's Hospital and a cheque was presented to the hospital on Saturday 9 December by Sig Neil Colledge and WO2 Carol Eden.

SIMPLY HAVING A WONDERFUL CHRISTMAS TIME

While composing these notes, I couldn't help thinking how quickly the year has gone by and we are already into the festive season and the frantic efforts have begun in earnest to prepare for and frequent many functions. Once again I also find myself with a tight deadline to meet as these notes must meet the Wire Christmas deadline or no turkey for me this festive season. As usual with the TA all functions are very much a family affair and old, new and honorary members share fond memories while enjoying good food, drink and hospitality. I do find myself reflecting from time to time that like others throughout the Regiment, here I am organising my own major function with a small but dedicated team and I ask myself is it all really appreciated. Is everyone fully aware of the painstaking efforts required to ensure a successful function and are my own personal endeavours worthwhile? The only analogy I can use is that it is similar to buying a Christmas present for your children. You don't really know if they are going to like it until the moment they open the present, you watch with nervous anticipation while waiting for that reassuring shriek of joy and the smile on the face that says it all. Then your confidence and self esteem is destroyed as you watch them discard the expensive and thoughtful present and play with the box instead! Functions are a little like that and I find myself waiting nervously for the smiles and laughter to emerge before I allow myself the luxury of relaxing – will it be Mistletoe and Whine or Eat, Drink and be Merry!

Fortunately this Christmas, so far, has been full of successful functions and as usual started with the Council House Dinner (superbly organised by Maj Richard Hemmings) which took place on Saturday 2 December in those illustrious surrounds of the City of Birmingham Council House. Special guests included the Right Worshipful Lord Mayor of Birmingham, Cllr Teresa Stewart and her escort, the Master of Signals Maj Gen I. O. J. Sprackling, OBE, Comd 143 Bde, Brig Andrew Meek, Comd 11 Bde, Brig Jonathan Cook and the Chairman of the West Midland Reserve Forces Association, Brig John Patrick. The Honorary Colonel, Col Brian Foxon and the CO, Lt Col Stephen Potter, welcomed all of our special guests. Much to the surprise of the recipients, the CO also took the opportunity during the evening to announce three promotions to the rank of Captain, and we extend our warmest congratulations to Capt 'Skip' Walley, Capt Carolyn Daly and Capt Chris Lewis on receiving their early Christmas present. On Friday 8 December both HQ and 89 Sqn held their Christmas functions in their respective TA Centres and by all accounts had a hugely enjoyable time. In 89 Sqn their master of theatrical design SSgt Charlie Walker excelled himself this year when he presented a circus theme for their annual bash.

With his deft theatrical skills he managed to transform the Squadron Training Hall into a Big Top complete with menagerie and many obscure attractions including a 'Man Eating Fish' and even managed to encourage Sig Kez Rea to don a Gorilla Suit – no jokes please that the Squadron is full of animals & clowns anyway! This evening was so successful that the traditional Santa's helpers failed to materialise the following morning for Operation Clean Up – but as I said before as I was mopping the floor, cleaning the tables and building a mountain out of the sacks of waste, I drew comfort from the knowledge that they opened the present shrieked with joy, laughed and smiled all night, danced until the early hours and put lots of money behind the bar and that was good enough for me – now I must hurry because I have that deadline to meet!

The Hon Col with Sgt Dave Butlin

RECRUIT PASS OFF PARADE

Recruiting is occupying our minds almost on a daily basis these days as regular recruiting provides the lifeblood of any TA unit. Early next year will see a major recruiting initiative and campaign and we hope to gain many new recruits as a result. In anticipation of this the Regimental web site is now up and running and is currently being updated by our resident web master Sgt Martin Walton. We also have a new and rather elaborate induction brochure (complete with new trade structure) that has just been released for its final print. This will also be released to the Regimental and Squadron Recruiting Teams early in the new year much to the relief of the CO who is no doubt thankful that the West Midland RFA have agreed to pick up the additional cost of printing. The brochure following its release will be issued to all of our recruits during their Phase 1 training which leads me nicely to give a report on the final pass off parade in 2000. The final pass off parade took place at Canley on Sat 11 Nov and was rather unique in that only four potential recruits had survived out of an earlier induction of almost twenty. In the absence of the CO, OC HQ Sqn, Maj Ricky Logan, conducted the pass off parade.

He presented the award of Best Recruit to a delighted and justifiably proud Sig Brian Gale of 95 Sqn.

The Course Photo

37 SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col P. J. Grogan
RSM WO1 M. C. Fisher

EXERCISE HORSESHOE 1

The Regiment has been through some major changes in this last reporting period, with the most important being the practice of our new role, this culminated in a Brigade FTX know as Ex Horseshoe 1. This Exercise was to train and evaluate the Brigade's ability to deploy NCRS in support of a national UN deployment, following a series of work up Comms and military training exercises. With briefings and language training completed the day came to deploy 37 Sig Regt to the Peoples Republic of Duart (Scotland & Northern England). The Regiment established a forward mounting base at Barry Buddon in the Cairngorm foothills, after a successful road-move, all detachments arriving safely and avoided Duarty import tax at the border. The Regiment was blessed by the padre and then blessed again by the RSM's in-theatre training package.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. Riley
SSM WO2 G Frazer

Day 1 - The arduous journey to the far reaches of the East Coast of Scotland took place on Saturday 9 September 2000. A journey that took over 24 hours with a 4-hour stop on that well known M6 car park and an over night stay in the five star campsite of Warcop, a much sought after venue. Noted for its beautiful scenery, flora and fauna. If you're really lucky you can hear the delightful songs from the lesser-spotted 5.56, accompanied by the sweet music of busy traffic of the babbling A66. After settling in and building our tactical over night shelters (with the exception of WO2 (SSM) Frazer). The night passed peacefully or should I say as peacefully as it could.

Day 2 - After a hearty breakfast we set off suitably refreshed (not) from our over night stay for the second leg of the journey. Armed with our sumptuous (bursting at the seams) haverbag we endured another gruelling six and a half-hours at the wheel. At last by 1130hrs we reached Barry Buddon Camp to a well-organised reception. After settling in unloading of stores/weapons etc we attended one of many briefings. The CO's opening address was followed by a Drum Head service, with HQ Sqn providing excellent choral support. With the briefings over, everyone retired for the night in readiness for the Military Training Phase of camp

Day 3 - Monday 11 September 2000, saw the start of RSM Mo Fisher's Military Training Phase of which the Squadron was providing Military Training Instructors for NBC, First Aid, Ranges, Fieldcraft and Tactics during the next three days. The inclement weather did not dampen our spirits, soaked our skins yes, but morale remained high, in the true professionalism of the Squadron. The Regiment was split into 12 Sections and then divided into two groups. The REME LAD represented the Squadron ably assisted by Sig 'Dorph-Photogenic' Lewis. The REME team, Lead by Sgt 'Jaffa' Rutter, Cpl Steve 'it is' Gladwin, LCpls 'Moose' Ferguson, 'Temple' Walshe and Cfn 'Radiator Cap' Coombes. Advised by SSgt Phil 'It's my Foden' Oliver, SSgt Paul 'Honest I'm not an Australian' Freeman. Military Skills was the order of the day, comprising of NBC, Command tasks, Section Battle drills, FCO and Hygiene in the field. The sections then moved to Sqn RVs to move into Harbour areas ready for the night time activities. Due to the extreme weather conditions, the Squadrons were brought back into camp. The evening tasks still went ahead with a cut off time of midnight.

Day 4 - This was the range package with CQB, Section in Defence shoot, and MMTT. The weather had greatly improved and morale was high. The skills learnt and refreshed in the previous days activities were put into practice during the various activities at the range stands.

Day 5 - A Military Skills competition was the highlight of the previous days training. The LAD were honing their skills in preparation for Western Approaches. The RSM issued a battle groups worth of AMMO and pyro and then lots more, (where did he get all that pyro) he gave a brief and then the competition started with an assault onto an enemy position. The SSM ably assisted by Cpl 'What's this wire for?' Hastings were acting as enemy for this first stand. 'Tasty' Hastings is now the Sqn Trip Flare expert. 1000s of rounds were converted into empty cases, with each section adopting different approaches to the assault. The LAD assaulted the position with gusto and all guns blazing.

Contact-can anyone see the enemy?

Maj Gen Grant Peterkin GOC 5 Div shares a joke with Cpl Clarke

Maj Hall is introduced to the Mayor of Dudley

March and Shoot, after catching their breath from their successful assault they moved off to Stand 1. A brisk march around the training area followed by a falling plate competition. Stand 2 – Vehicle Comd Task, due to the late start and the unfair advantage our team missed this stand out, or was it because they couldn't face the embarrassment if they got beat by another Squadron. Stand 3 – Battlefield First Aid Ex, OC HQ and SSgt 'GI Jane haircut' Hughes put them through their paces, they did well considering by this time they were 'chin strapped'. Stand 4 – NBC Exercise, SSgt 'Paul' Freeman greeted the team by lobbing an orange smoke grenade and shouting, 'GAS! GAS! GAS!' The smoke landed under the bonnet of the Land Rover the OC Sqn was driving. Every one emerged from the rover as if they had been tangoed. The OC was not amused. SSgt Freeman is now enjoying his cookhouse fatigues! All in all a hard but valuable three days training.

Day 6 – Exercise Preparation, much of the day was spent setting up Ech Ops and preparing B Ech for deployment.

Day 7 – 13 – The Exercise Phase, Ech Ops was manned by OC HQ, WO2 (SSM) 'Get the Tea on' Frazer, WO1 (MTWO) Jim Smiley, SSgt (SQMS) Dennis 'Can I park this Astra here' Wood, Sgt 'Sue are we on Zulu or tea-timings for shift change' Machin. Radio Det - manned by SSgt 'Sigorni' Hughes, Cpl 'Honest, I only buy these magazines for the interesting articles' Fitzpatrick, Cpl 'Tasty – Tea Boy' Hastings. Resup – WO2 'John' Downie, Sgt 'Nige' Haldron, Cpl 'Clare Kit-Kat, Where's that noise coming from' Brain, Sig 'Dolph toothache' Lewis. Line Support – SSgt ' Paul' Skelton, Sgt ' Twanny – Isn't this a nice cafetier' Borg. QM's Department - Capt John 'DPM- I don't care I'll be in Cyprus' Byrne, WO2 (RQMS) 'Graham - GPS' Bond, Sgt 'Pete' Savage. Chefs – SSgt 'Al' Permain, Sgt 'Ian' Ross and Cpl Powell. Medics – The very able Sgt 'Tea and sympathy – zero' Westwood. REME – SSgt (PSI) 'Phil' Oliver, SSgt 'Paul' Freeman, LCpl Walsh, Cfn Coombes. Mess Manager – WO2 'Eddie – PC' O'Cconnor.

WO2 'Sharp Shooter' Joe Krikorian discusses dress sense with WO2 Eddie O'Connor and WO2 John Downie

The Exercise started fairly slowly with not much tasking due to poor communications. The mobile phone network was soon humming. Taskings soon came in and re-sups got under way. The most interesting recovery request was from C/S Hotel 4 commanded by LCpl 'Burn that clutch out' Dunn, 'I seem to be geographicaly misplaced. Get me off this hill please.' In summery the Squadron worked very hard in what was a new Regimental role and it was enjoyed and valued by all.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
EXERCISE GOLDEN LION 2000 - by Maj John Riley

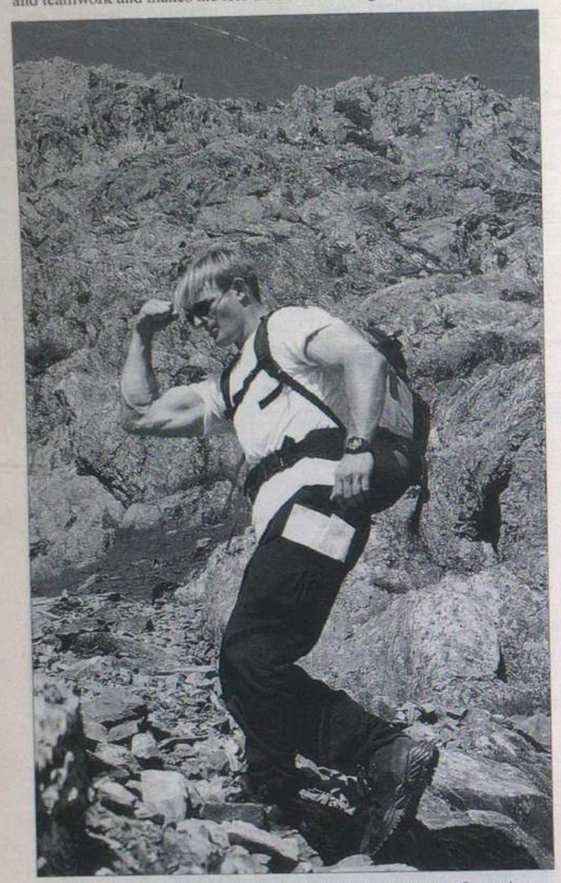
The Squadron deployed to North Wales for this annual exercise to conduct arduous training over the weekend of 4 to 6 August 2000. Once again the venue used was the Naval Air Command Mountain Centre Lodge, which is situated near Bethesda. This Centre is ideal for small groups offering basic accommodation with kitchen facilities at a reasonable cost. The aim of the exercise was to practice map navigation and route selection over difficult terrain on the Saturday and watermanship on the Sunday. For new members to the Squadron this was the first time that they had undertaken any outdoor pursuits and they were in for an experience. Capt (PSAO) Dave Cooper and SSgt (PSI LAD) Phil Oliver had organised the weekend, which was to comprise of climbing over Snowdon and surrounding mountains for one group whilst another group tried their hand at mountain biking.

I decided to take the group for mountain biking, thinking it was the easier option; whilst Capt Cooper took the mountain walkers. I soon realised that mountain biking wasn't easy and now know why cycles are referred to as 'push bikes' as both WO2 Eddie O'Connor and myself seemed to spend most of the time pushing the bikes uphill and then freewheeling downhill. Next time I agree to do mountain biking it will be in Holland and with an extra padded seat! The mountain walkers enjoyed the day with superb weather conditions, which enabled some effective map reading to take place. LCpl Steve Martin being extremely fit, after recently attending his PTI's course, was keen to show off his muscles and physique. Steve gained an 'A' grade on his course so now he can have the 'T' shirt to go with the pose, why are all PTI's so vain? Well done on gaining the high grade.

The Squadron travelled to Llangollen on the Sunday to take part in white water rafting on the River Dee. This was a fantastic experience and involved teamwork to remain afloat, at times the team didn't work and we got wet. The instructors at the Centre were excellent and knew the river and how to deal with different aspects of negotiating each rapid. They were enthusiastic in passing on this knowledge and important lessons were learnt. Everyone finished the day very tired and wet but with new knowledge and more importantly with a heightened respect for the potential dangers on fast moving water. It is essential that Territorial Army personnel have the same opportunity as their Regular counterparts to take part in arduous pursuits, as it is an effective way of building confidence and teamwork and makes the less attractive training more bearable.



LCpl Steve Martin doing his Hercules impression on Snowdon

53 SIGNAL SQUADRON - EXERCISE VIXEN OUTING

This was the final Exercise before camp at a very unusually sunny Sennybridge! The CO flew in by Gazelle to talk to everyone regarding the Exercise and future changes within the Regiment. The Regiment was deployed at various locations operating NCRS and MIVs. There was a delayed start from 53 due to vehicle problems on the way to Brecon. Once set-up good communications from all - another successful comms exercise for 53!

ADVENTURE TRAINING IN WALES

Set in the beautiful St David's Bay in Pembrokeshire, coasteering, kayaking and water-skiing were on the agenda. The coasteering proved to be the most popular event - wading around the coast and jumping off rocks left everyone exhausted but with huge grins on their faces. The group was split into two for the kayaking - half took the sea kayaks and the remainder took the regular kayaks. All met up on the beach for a BBQ and beers around the fire - an excellent night! Day Two saw seven of the group allowed to try water-skiing, without a great deal of success - a brave effort by Sgt Adrian Sharman, the only one who managed to stand up! The other group took to the waves to try body surfing but ended up in the local! Another successful and enjoyable Exercise organised by SSgt Graeme Smith - thanks to the PSI for getting us there - NOT!

ANNUAL CAMP AND THE 53 SQUADRON EXPERIENCE

During the second week of camp, the new OC, Maj David Munson, took over command of the Squadron allowing the 2IC a moment of relief, having completed masses of work in preparation for camp and enduring a very positive first week.

Capt Giles briefs the SSM on his plan,
'Over there. Not the end of my finger.'

93 Squadron after the Platoon Attack – 'Can we do it again?'

The weather tried its utmost to dampen the atmosphere, but spirits remained high and everyone pulled together and got on with their tasks. The following inset is an account of life on board E2 NCRS through the eyes of Sgt Dave Jones.

'The summer camp exercise was a mixed bag of delights for E2. We traveled to five different locations, worked with another Regiment, liased with the RAF, (albeit the Police) and stayed in two mental hospitals (sadly now in disuse).

It all started innocently enough. E2 comprising of Sgt Dave Jones, Cpl Pete Thomas, LCpl Mike Colley, Sig Chris Pollard and Sig Nick Carter were tasked to RAF Leuchars. Our task was to establish NCRS comms at a site adjacent to the main runway. Alarm bells should have rung with the signs, 'This way to the Air Tattoo' placed on every roundabout en route. On arrival our site had been turned into a civvy car park for the Tattoo the following day. Enquiries with the RAF MP established that no one knew we were supposed to be there. Cpl Pete Thomas established comms to inform what had happened, his only problem being the Italian Air Display Team in formation 50 feet above our heads. While waiting for our move we were treated to the whole programme, which was quite spectacular even though we had to wear our ear defenders for the whole afternoon.

The next move was with 39 Sig Regt, to Kirk Newton Airfield, then to East Fortune Hospital. This site had a varied history. It started off as an airship airfield. A hospital was built alongside the airfield, which was then changed into a mental hospital. We had an enjoyable few days here before being moved back to Kirk Newton. Again we had to set up a full working NCRS site next to an airstrip. Wide-open spaces, fresh air — wrong, massive rubbish dump about two miles up wind. We had no sooner set everything up than we were told to move again (phew), this time off to the Bridge of Earn to another disused hospital. We actually spent our rest time in one of the wards. Our cooking area and beds were laid out amongst the debris left by the vandals who had had the last ten years to smash everything they could. It looked like something out of a war zone. Still, 53 Sqn kept the flag flying high. We kept comms throughout the exercise. Mike's cooking kept our moral up (after a fashion). Cpl Pete Thomas's map reading got us there (in the end), Sig Nick Carter's stories of Saudi Arabia kept us amused and Sig Pollard's sense of humour kept all our spirits up. Roll on next exercise! A long but enjoyable two weeks - only a few teddies managed to find their way out of the cot! Ending on a high note - 53 Sqn won the March and Shoot, collected by SSgt Steve Parry - an excellent achievement by all.'

93 SIGNAL SQUADRON - THREE PEAKS CHALLENGE 2000

by Sig Paul Clayton, 93 Sig Sqn

During June 2000, Capt Marcus Cosgrove, SSgt Geoff Small, SSgt Robin Fitzpatrick and myself Sig Paul Clayton, undertook the national Three Peaks Challenge for the Neurofibromatosis Association, which included the highest peaks in England, Scotland and Wales. We started off with a night ascent of Snowdon and we completed the climb in less than four hours. We then went onto Scafell Pike, which has the reputation of being the wettest place in England, and it certainly lived up to its name. We all endured six hours of none stop gusts of wind and rain along with wind chill and exhaustion from the first peak, in fact as I was walking off the summit the mountain rescue had arrived and were turning people back (we all complete Scafell - just!) We then moved onto Ben Nevis. This was without doubt the best climb. We started off in brilliant sunshine then moved up into the clouds and finally onto the plateau and the snow. Once the Ben had been climbed we set off for our beds and party. This was most welcome after spending two nights and two days on a coach. The final total for our collective sponsorship was over £2,000 and a few blisters.

38 (CITY OF SHEFFIELD) SIGNALS REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

ANNIVERSARY HONOUR FOR LEANNE

Cpl Leanne Snow, who serves with Nottingham's TA Unit, 87 Sig Sqn and her husband, Sgt Darren Snow

Nottingham Territorial Leanne Snow was thrilled to be celebrating her paper-wedding anniversary with a silver honour from The Queen. It was two years to the day since the 30-year-old part-time soldier had walked up the aisle with the love of her military life. She was delighted that her husband Sgt Darren Snow (32) was there to watch as she received the medal for ten years outstanding service. The award was again presented on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen by Sir Andrew Buchanan, Lord Lieutenant of Nottinghamshire. Leanne said, 'Joining Triumph Road-based 87 Signal Squadron totally transformed my life. The best part of all was meeting Darren. He was my instructor when I enlisted, in 1989. I was so proud to have him there to see me get my medal.' Cpl Snow, a graphic designer, said that part-time soldiering had opened up a whole new world for them both. She said that soldiers in her Squadron were able to travel all over the globe. The opportunities included everything from skiing expeditions in Scandinavia, to short tours on operations with regular army units in the South American jungles. She added that the Territorial Army had also given her husband a whole range of technical and management skills. They had proved as useful in civilian life as on maneuvers.

Sgt Snow serves with 87 Signal Squadron's Derby-based sister unit. Both are part of 38 Signal Regiment (V). Their role is to provide emergency communications for the military and civil authorities in the event of a regional or national crisis.

OUR HERO

Family Pride – medal winning TA Signaller, SSgt John Dye, from Ripley, with his wife Vanessa and his four daughters

Four young Derbyshire ladies were thrilled to bits when their soldier hero won his 'medal from The Queen'. Everyone in Territorial John Dye's Royal Signals unit was delighted when the award for outstanding service was pinned to his chest. However, no-one's smiles could compare with those on the faces of his daughters, he said having the girls there to see the ceremony made it a day he would never forget. The 39-year-old, from Ripley, was given his award by Sir Andrew Buchanan, Lord Lieutenant of Nottinghamshire, on behalf of Her Majesty the Queen. SSgt Dye said, 'There were no fewer than 11 of us being presented with medals for long and valued service. It was a great night for 38 Signal Regiment. But the best thing of all was having my girls there clapping along with my wife, Vanessa (35).'

Capt Ken Scott said, 'We couldn't believe our luck when John transferred to our unit, in 1999. He brought his whole Signals Platoon along with him after their old Territorial Army infantry unit was disbanded - they're all terrific soldiers.' Capt Scott said people like SSgt Dye were playing an increasingly important role in the community. They were always on standby to provide emergency communications for the civil and military authorities in the event of a regional or national crisis. They could create a network for voice and data transmission that could cover an area the size of Wales. Capt Scott's regiment has detachments at three TA Centres in Kingsway, Derby, Triumph Road, Nottingham, and Ulverscroft Road, Leicester.

71 (YEOMANRY) SIGNAL REGIMENT BEXLEYHEATH

CO Lt Col C. H. Turner
SM WO1 (RSM) C. D. Tait

The Commanding Officers study period 2000. The topic this year was recruiting and retention. After the initial brief from the CO the various syndicates broke up to discuss and then come up with the solutions to the various questions posed. Already 55 minutes behind, a quick rethink of the timings soon had us back on schedule for the COs Scrap Yard Challenge. Each syndicate was given a box of bits and a brief to construct a weapon to accurately project a wooden bolt 25m. I have seen many awesome weapons in my time but I can honestly say some of these designs should have been included in the Janes Defence Manual. After lunch, the discussion groups continued and then it was time for the 'Shoot out'. Syndicates were given a target and four shots to hit the bull, the winning team managed to hit the target three times but also cut the outer bull line, well done. After 45 minuese of Unihock and a light tea it was time for the combined Officers' and Sergeants' Mess Dinner. This was an opportunity for the Regiment, and in particular the Officers to say a fond farewell to the CO, Lt Col Charles 'Bus Driver' Turner, Capt (QM) Bobby Andrews, WO2 Dave Norris and SSgt Andy Raynsford. We were entertained by 'Double Tap' a very interesting ultra violet drum band. The culmination of the night was the RSM's games night which included a Golf game, Bowling, identifying 50 pictures and of course some falling down water. The competition was won by 265 Sig Sqn, well done. Sunday morning came very fast and it was down to the Padre, Maj John Scott to get all the souls back together for the Drum Head (or was it bad head) service. Finally a briefing from Major Derick Harwood MBE TD from the Greater London RFCA, on the RFCA's recruiting strategy and RPIT. A very successful study period with a great deal of information and ideas to digest and implement.

The Regiment sadly says farewell to WO2 (RQMS) Terry Parle, who has been posted back to Liverpool, 33 Sig Regt to regain his scouse accent we think? We wish you and the family all the very best in your new posting. One RQ out and in pops another, we say a huge welcome to WO2 (RQMS) Steve Slanney all the way from Chicksands and hope you have a successful tour with the Yeomanry Signal Regiment (will he still be here after the LSI ?).

HEADQUARTERS
(KENT AND COUNTY OF LONDON YEOMANRY)
SQUADRON – BEXLEYHEATH

OC	Maj Pam Suddens
SSM	WO2 (SSM) Andy Church

The period just after camp is usually a quiet time for the TA. Members of Headquarters Squadron, however, are always active. WO1 (RSM) Dougie Tait led a joint team from HQ Sqn and 107 Cdt Sig Sqn to give a presentation to a local Cub Scout pack. We started with a basic lesson in First Aid. First Aid Trainer Sgt Julia Davenport showed the cubs how many bandages you need to turn one small boy into a mummy. Master Chef, SSgt Dougie Arterton amazed the boys with a demonstration of field cooking where he introduced the cubs to delicacies such as biscuits AB and corned beef hash from a 24 hour ration pack. Two expert cadet instructors led the final element of our presentation. WO2 (CSSM) Nina Martin and CSgt Robert Jenner turned the Scout Hut into an impromptu drill square, and the cubs into a fine body of soldiers. The cubs clearly enjoyed being soldiers for the evening and made us feel extremely welcome. We look forward to further collaborative ventures with our local Cadet Force.

SSgt Dougie Arterton left the cubs to go into the field and demonstrate his culinary skills in a survival scenario. The Squadron deployed in the woods and practised life without the field equipment that we normally take for granted. SSgt Dougie Arterton demonstrated that he is as expert a chef when using an open fire as he is with a Number 4 cook set. Equipped with fresh rations - freshly killed chickens – and the mark one bonfire, our gourmet chef ensured that no one went cold or hungry. HQ continued to maintain our high public profile on Remembrance Weekend. On the Saturday, a team deployed to Bexleyheath Town Centre where, as part of our meet the public brief. LCpl Christina 'The medic' Bienek gave a guided tour of the Ambulance and Sig Paul Swaffield made a valiant attempt at convincing the local youths that his radio equipment was more fun than their Playstations! The following day, Remembrance Sunday, with highly polished boots and shiny new OC, the Squadron joined the other uniformed services for the traditional parade in Bexleyheath to remember our fallen comrades from years gone by. This was the first opportunity for Maj Pam Suddens to lead HQ Squadron since she assumed command of the Squadron.

THE END OF AN ERA

It is with some sadness that the Regiment now says goodbye to WO2 (QMSI) David Norris. Dave has served with the TA for over forty years. (He has to retire, as there is no room left on his TA Efficiency Medal for any more bars). He is the final remaining member of the regiment who has been serving since the regiment was first formed.
WO2 Norris, joined the RAPC in 1971 he was posted to 94 (BY) Sig Sqn. As he finishes his service, WO2 Norris is a member of 68 (ICCY) Sig Sqn where he has expertly prepared the officers mess accounts. Dave will not be leaving the Royal Signals family, as he is a staunch member of the Reading Branch of the Royal Signals Association. We all wish you and your family all the very best for the future.

'The highlight of the training year for the Territorial Army is Annual Camp. This year we set off for Camp for 9-23 September. These dates may ring a bell as the period of the 'Petrol Riots' We normally expect the exercise scenario to develop eventually resulting in the TA being deployed and dealing with riots and various other incidents. This year, we had a real scenario including food and petrol shortages being reported on TV and in the newspapers'.

PHASE ONE

Consisted of a Mobilisation Exercise and an UNTAT training package. This included an insight into the services offered by the Mobilisation centre at Chilwell, a mines awareness package and a series of advanced practical First Aid scenarios.

PHASE TWO

The exercise phase, we deployed to the English version of the Somme, (aka Rabbit Wood) and prepared for any incidents, real or exercise. We did not have to wait long for the first incident – an emergency childbirth - Congratulations to Sgt 'Midwife' Chopper Twose on the delivery of his first exercise baby, ably assisted by his partner in crime, SSgt (SQMS) Ian Lapidge. Other incidents include tech Sgt Mick Weeks who was involved in a spectacular blue on blue incident. The esteemed tech paid a visit to the portaloo which exploded as he sat down. Incidents tooked many forms, another started as vehicle with a puncture and was escalated to reveal a fully fledged mine field.

THE END BIT

During the last year, HQ Sqn successfully hosted the Courage Trophy. The OC, Maj Corfield, has captained the Regimental shooting team which won nine trophies at the 1999 TA SAAM. Whilst it is obviously a matter of great pride that we have achieved such success, it costs us a fortune to engrave so many cups. HQ Sqn team members included Cpls 'Charlie' Woo, Mick Charter and Jackie Smoker who achieved the best female shot.

LIGHT AID DETACHMENT REME

OC LAD	Capt Julie Kiggell
SPSI	SSgt Ian 'Teflon' Tomlinson

The SPSI, SSgt Ian Tomlinson and Sgt Pill Green have spent much of the last few weeks concocting ideas for the COs Scrap yard Challenge as part of the COs Study period in Longmoor. There devious plans were put to the test and some very interesting ideas came from the items they provided. Other news from the LAD was Cpl Mike Charter who received the trophy for the most consistent shot within 71 Sig Regt. This is no mean feat when you consider that the Regimental shooting team, of which Mike is a member, won nine trophies at the 1999 TA SAAM. Cpl Hursey received the 'Q Cup' for the year 2000. This is an annual award, which is presented to an LAD member for commitment and achievement within the unit.

70 (ESSEX YEOAMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON
CHELMSFORD AND HARLOW

OC	Maj Craig Tallents
SSM	WO2 (SSM) Paul Humphreys
PSI	SSgt Jason Barsley

The Squadron has been through a busy period over the last few months with Squadron Training, Trade Training, Remembrance Weekend and a visit by the Brigade Commander.

BRIGADE COMMANDERS VISIT

The Brigade Commander, Brig N. C. Jackson MBE, visited the Squadron on its Training Evening on the 17 October 2000. During his visit to the Chelmsford and Harlow TA Centres he kindly presented three Kosovo Medals to LCpl Kelly Cloughton and LCpl Brown for their six-month tours with the Regular Army.

SQUADRON TRAINING

Ex Autumn Wind was a Squadron Comms Exercise conducted in the East of England area. The PSI, SSgt Jason Barsley confirmed that all the Exercise Objectives were achieved.

REMEMBRANCE PARADE

The Squadron paraded it self in Chelmsford for the Remembrance Day Parade. Having marched through the town centre they paid their respects at the Memorial. A curry lunch was laid on for all after the Parade at the TAC. The Hon Colonel, Col D. S. Casstles TD DL presented various decoration and certificates to members of the Squadron during the course of the day.

70 (EY) Signal Squadron marching through Chelmsford on Remembrance Day led by Maj Craig Tallents

TRADE TRAINING

Members of the Squadron attended a well organised nine day trade training course at Bexleyheath during the latter end of October and the beginning of November 2000. Maj David Swann who is the Squadron Traffic Officer led the team of Instructors on the course.

CONGRATULATIONS

The following have recently been promoted within the Squadron: Cpl Laskey, Cpl Liddle,Cpl Smith, LCpl Brown, LCpl Nugent, LCpl Vanson, LCpl Cambron and LCpl Gatward. The following have been awarded decorations:

Sgt Perry	The Lord Lieutenant's Certificate
LCpl Brown	Kosovo NATO Medal
LCpl Cloughton	Kosovo NATO Medal
LCpl Gatward	Bosnia NATO Medal
LCpl Nugent	Kosovo NATO Medal
SSgt Fensom	VRSM
SSgt Malyon	VRSM
Sgt Middleton	EM(T)

Members of the Squadron who received Decorations on Remembrance Day
Front Row (L-R): LCpl Gatward, LCpl Nugent and SSgt Malyon
Back Row (L-R): Sgt Middleton, Sgt Perry and SSgt Fensom

The OC, Maj Craig Tallents at long last tied the knot with Kate and all ranks wish them all the best for the future. We also wish WO2 Mark Bell and Tracey McKenzie who are late 265(KCLY) Sig Sqn a long and happy marriage.

NIJMEGAN MARCHES

Members of the Squadron who raised money for Charity by completing the Nijmegan Marches presented a Cheque for £1100 to the Royal British Legion on 7 November 2000. The team was lead by SSgt Jason Barsley our PSI.

Presentation of the cheque for £1100 to the RBL
Front (L-R): Mr Paul Tucker (RBL), Cpl Joe Smith and Mr Eric Seymour (RBL County Secretary)
Back (L-R): SSgt Jason Barsley, Sgt Natalie Gilby, WO2 Richard Pieper, SSgt Jim Swain, LCpl Kelly Cloughton and LCpl Ross Nugent

ADVENTURE TRAINING

Starting with Adventure Training, the Squadron had a tremendous weekend at Lydd where the activities consisted of arduous cycling and rafting with a Bar–B–Q on the Saturday night. The rafting was particularly good fun as the Squadron were split into teams and they had to build their own rafts and then cross a lake. There are tales heard in some quarters that SQMS John 'Squirrel' Fensom slept through the entire weekend.

Preparing their raft
(L-R): Sig Gill, LCpl Rouke, Sig Brown and LCpl Pilcher

On the water
(L-R): Pte Raynor, LCpl Nugent, LCpl Cambron, Sgt Catlett, Cpl Young

ANNUAL CAMP

The Squadron deployed on Annual camp to Wathgill in North Yorkshire. The first week comprised of a Mob Exercise, UNTAT Day and a Squadron Exercise for thirty-six hours. The second week was a Brigade Comms Exercise. All in all the Squadron thoroughly enjoyed their time in Yorkshire where they managed to have a day 'off ' in York. We would like to state for the record, 'The rain does not fall mainly on the plain'. Also the Squadron would like to mention to SSgt James Swain if you pack a trailer for camp, it's a good idea to take it with you?

Camp 2000
Back Row (L-R): Sig Nugent, LCpl Marshand, Sig Godfrey
Front Row (L-R): Cpl Farn, LCpl Cambron and LCpl Cloughton

FINALLY

Very many thanks to Margaret Nutbeem and Ted Mcallister our AO and Civilian Storeperson for their endeavours in the Office while we were having fun on the Yorkshire Moors.

265 (KENT AND COUNTY OF LONDON YEOMANRY)
SIGNAL SQUADRON - BEXLEYHEATH

OC	Maj Kieth Duffy-Penny
SSM	WO2 Stuart McHenery
SPSI	SSgt John Lynch

ANNUAL CAMP 2000

Well, it had finally arrived 'The Millennium Camp' for the Yeomanry. We were fortunate enough to have as our guests for the duration of Camp 2000 two United States National Guard SNCOs, namely 1st Sgt Richard 'Top Dick' Stockley and Sgt William 'Billy Joe' Kopsa, who both hailed from IOWA. Things started to run smoothly for our new Squadron members once we had secured the use of a UN translator (not for us but for them).

Camp got off to a pleasant start particularly for the newly promoted LCpl Sean 'Just started to shave' Walsh. The drive from Bexleyheath to Wathgill was long and arduous with the NCRS trailers peaking at a speed of 32mph, arriving in Catterick at 2300hrs with the rain lashing down, bringing credence to the then OCs favourite phrase that, '..if it wasn't raining it wasn't training!' The first day at Wathgill the Squadron was mobilised snaking through the normal stands of Health and Hygiene, Safe Driving, Theatre Brief, Intro to Foreign Weapons, Pay and Crypto. To cap the day off the elusive Combat '95 was issued to all and sundry. Then it was off to Whinny Hill OBUA for an UNTAT Training Day, covering Safe Driving, BFAT, Heli-Handling and mines awareness. The mines awareness periods certainly focussed the mind, especially as it was the first exposure for most pers. The Heli-Handling was made more interesting by the lack of Helicopter, although there were a few swooping ravens that we tried to bring in to land.

EXERCISE SHARP SIGNALLER II

The next couple of days saw the Squadron depart to the Catterick Training Area to participate in the infantry phase of Camp. The PSI SSgt John 'Bet' Lynch took centre stage to revise the Sqaudron in basic section attack skills, ably assisted by the PSI Tech Sgt Darren 'Daz' Lane. The duty Pl Commander for the Exercise was Lt Alex 'Pistol Pete' Downing and the Platoon Sergeant was Sgt Dave 'Wavey' Pryke. The cobwebs were soon blown away with a series of mini-skirmishes, with all concerned raising a tidy sweat. Much enjoyment was had with this back to nature approach to training and the PSI's teddy bear was only seen flying through the air once or twice during the whole morning.

By lunchtime all skills were suitably refreshed in preparation for the full blown Pl Assaults that were planned for the afternoon. On cue for these festivities the rain came down! The assaults soon started to run like a well-oiled machine with our National Guard guests performing outstandingly as the enemy, even using several new phrases that they seemed to have picked up from the Squadron, most of which we are not allowed to print. Some 'Private Ryan' performances were evidenced throughout the afternoon as soon as the red mist had descended, notably from Sig Joe 'Mad Dog' Parente and Sig John 'Why me? Do I have to do this?' Harvey. Then it was back to the Pl harbour area to settle into routine and await further orders. Surprise, surprise, to everyone's shock and amazement, a night recce was called for. Cpl Paul 'Yorkie' York was the successful candidate to lead this much sought after affair. (Once the patrol had departed a gentle snoring could be detected from the harbour area, although it was alleged that this was due to a rogue badger). The patrol returned having been undetected and successfully receeing the required loc, in preparation for a Pl assault the next day.

Spirits were high the next morning as the troops realised that come nightfall it would be time for Squadron Smoker. All concerned were pumped up and ready for the forthcoming Pl assault. Orders were disseminated from the Pl commander to the section commanders and then the somewhat inexperienced section commanders passed the info down to their sections. It was at this stage that the Squadron Quote Book had to make an appearance when one of the section commanders, who shall remain anonymous, reached the heading of Service and Support and said 'We have no service, and we have no support.' It's understood that Lt Richie 'Chrome Dome' Woodhams is still chuckling. (Perhaps SHQ had unwittingly been sussed). The final Pl assault came as somewhat of a shock as it was all uphill (what cunning DS), much to the amusement of Cpl Pete 'Bigfoot' Alsop. The enemy was given a good hiding even though they had meticulously set up depth positions. The day was a runaway success if only to see Sgt Emmett 'But I'm Squadron Yeoman' Vincent charging menacingly uphill.

SQUADRON SMOKER

It was expected to be a low-key affair after two days in the field with minimal sleep. How wrong could a prediction be? The beer flowed freely, even if the barman was a little unconventional with his service. We knew it was becoming a success once the Olde English cider, which no sane sober person would touch, started to be sold. The evening was rapidly becoming more and more raucous. Then 1st Sgt Richard 'Top Dick' Stockley started to challenge all and sundry to an arm wrestling contest. This was seen to be easy meat to the young thrusting Squadron members, especially as our guest was at least 55! But how wrong could they be as the Yank cleaned up without loss, at which point he decided to buy the whole Squadron a drink, apparently just to keep us happy. The predicted finish time of 2230hrs from our recently arrived PSAO, Capt Mike 'Ned' Kelly, came and went swiftly followed by a potato salad eating competition between LCpl Sean 'I'm an NCO now' Walsh and LCpl Liz 'Buffy' Blaber. Buffy romped home by two mouthfuls winning a Squadron sweatshirt in the process. The evening was topped off at around 0230hrs by an impromptu game of table tennis, with dustpans for bats and bred rolls as Ping-Pong balls.

RNR

The RNR day was spent sampling the hostelries of York and brass rubbing in York Minster. It was heavily rumoured that the Officers spent the day on a ski slope in Catterick??

EXERCISE HORSESHOE 1

Now it was time dust down the NCRS trailers and earn our money. We would be deploying a NMC and three out stations for the duration of the Exercise. The first port of call for the NMC was Cordilleras Farm complex on Catterick Training Area. An almost purpose built location for a NMC consisting of farm buildings around a gravel quadrangle. Once again, on cue, the heavens opened just as we started to set up and even though all pers had the now issued Gucci Goretex everyone ended up doing a passable impression of the man from Atlantis throughout. As per usual Cpl Mandy 'Jonny' Shannon and Cpl Pete 'Fanny' Sturman had done wonders in setting up their 24 hour Transport Cafe, like a veritable home from home.

No sooner had we got settled when we got the order to move to Otterburn Airstrip. A short 4-hour drive with the sprightly NCRS trailers. On arrival it was noticeable just how open the area was to the elements, although this was not too much of a concern as we were all well aware of how homely Johnny and Fanny would make the place. Spirits were high especially among the EDs, who always seemed to be plotting something especially LCpl Ian 'Zippy' Liscoe, who had arrived at camp shortly after having exploratory surgery on his wrist. Fortunately for two of our more junior members, Sig Quentin 'Jock' Mitchell and Sig Danny 'Have you seen my Greek girlfriend' Baird, a flight in a Gazelle beckoned. The picture on their faces rivalled children at a fun fair and later it would take a pound of lemons to wipe the smiles off their faces.

Open All Hours
Cpl Mandy 'Johnny' Shannon and Cpl Pete 'Fanny' Sturman

On their return we got the nod to move to Shaiba Bivi area at Catterick. So it was all hands to the pumps to take down 'Billy Smart's Cricus' and move with all speed back down the A1. The new loc was a god send with building galore and real sinks and toilets!! The comms assets were set up in double quick time by a merry band of nomads from three different Troops. Then disaster struck when it was discovered that a 110 Land Rover pulling an NCRS trailer had left the road near Skeeby Bridge. Transport was dispatched to the scene, where a rather sheepish LCpl Colin 'McCrae' Marshall was alleging to have been forced off the road by aliens. Fortunately all involved in the accident were uninjured, apart from pride. It's unsure whether the skid pan skills of LCpl McCrae endeared him to the local inhabitants as the main road from Skeeby to the A1 was shut for two hours, during their peak period!! All then returned safely to Wathgill Camp.

FAREWELL

On return to Bexleyheath it was time to say farewell to the OC, Maj Hugh 'I'm all choked up' Robertson, with hardly a dry eye in the house as he delivered his farewell speech. Then it was time to hand over to Maj Kieth 'DP' Duffy-Penny then up to the bar to celebrate. Once again the Squadron surpassed itself on the partying front. The piece-de-resistance coming from Cpl Tris 'George' Swain and Cpl Ian 'Zippy' Liscoe, with their rendition of the old children's favourite Rainbow. A night to be remembered forever.

PHOTOGRAPHS

Please do not ask for photographs sent for publication in The WIRE to be returned, unless they are really irreplaceable.

Contributors should be aware of the fact that although every care is taken with contributions, they should not risk losing photographs which cannot be replaced.

Contributors should also be aware that unless digital photos are saved to disk at a minimum of 300 dpi mono and 400dpi coloured, they will not be used.

NEWS FROM THE SQUADRONS

20 ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (200)

OC Maj I. G. Standen
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. Lawes

WELCOME

20 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (200) would like to welcome Sgt Croughton our new Master Chef and say goodbye and good luck to Sgt Punshon in his new venture.

ALPHA TROOP - by Sig Weller
Tp Comd Lt S. Hughes
Tp SSgt SSgt R. D. Burrows

Alpha Tp would like to welcome LCpl Cowley from 1 (UK) Armd Div who has joined us. Farewells go out to Cpl Robins who is posted to 1 (UK) Armd Div to be with his wife and Sig Smith who is posted to 16 Air Asslt, good luck to you both in your new units. The last couple of months have been busy with exercises taking up the majority of time. During our recent exercise in Poland we spent a lot of time towards the end of the exercise digging.

(L-R): Lt Robinson RA Sig Smith and Spr Jones Why didn't the Engineers dig these holes for us?

The Brigade HQ was dug in and the largest cam net I have ever seen was spread over the entire complex with trenches linking one complex to the next. The exercise had tired the soldiers out!

LCpl Evans an alert guard force!

Some of the officers obviously had too much time on their hands!

Lt Hughes in pole – and!

As did the technicians who proved that equipment care is definitely their business!

MOVING OR POSTED
DON'T FORGET TO LET US KNOW

(L-R): SSgt Yates, Lt Acton, Capt Gough, Cpl Daley and FofS Dawson

The technicians proving that equipment care is their business!

We then deployed on Ex Arrcade Fusion (or was it Confusion!). The exercise seemed to last for months but after three weeks we were back in camp to find that everything had been packed away and ready for our move to our new barracks.

EXERCISE ARRCADE FUSION - by LCpl Collins

Ex Arrcade Fusion was the final exercise on the calendar for us this year. The first hitch was when we turned up to the railheads to load our vehicles to be told that we were not expected until the next day. We eventually arrived in Fulda after a four-hour move when the temperature was about three degrees. Packet Two had an unscheduled stop at Mc Donalds due to the REME recovery 434 breaking down! – Well-done lads. We arrived in our new location, a police training barracks, at around 0400hrs. The next few days were spent preparing for the arrival of the DSG staff. With the arrival of the staff the pace increased (slightly) and everything ran smoothly. Capt Gough, the Recce Officer, had recced well due to the fact that the police training barracks had its own small café on the camp. (The locals seemed to like him as well!) Our next location was in the field where it rained constantly and this made the DSG Staff unhappy, (especially those that had forgotten their bivvie bags). After a few days in the field we moved back to Fulda airfield where we experienced gale force winds and used the REME wrecker to hold down the cookhouse tent. Lt Acton used to have a skull cap beret that resembled a swimming cap until Cpl Dunbar and Cpl Reardon got their hands on to it and moved quickly to ceremonially burn it.

Lt Acton with his 'flaming' Beret

Lt Acton and his 'flaming' beret caused much amusement. Good luck to 1(UK) Armd Div when they run the DSG next year!

TOUR OF BATUS - by Sig Jay Martin

On the Thursday I was told from a cast of thousands I had the chance to travel on the Sunday to Canada. Two days later I was on the 9-hour flight with LCpl Glenn Sheppard to Calgary. We arrived around midnight and after a 2-hour drive arrived in Ralston. I had forgotten to take my skis and it was snowing heavily. The next day I was told that I would be working in 6 Group; known as the worst group to be in – first in/last out. Working with all different cap badges we all managed to get along very well. Our job was targetry and bat sims, which was an exciting job to get as we got to follow Challengers and Warriors on live firing exercises and being in the Corps this opportunity does not arise everyday.

Sig Martin 'Can this be my personal weapon?'

We thought we had bad weather in Germany, however, it was nothing compared to the radical weather changes in Canada, one minute it was winter and then the next it was summer. We dropped our skis and picked up our suntan cream. We worked hard and played hard. I've got plenty of stories to tell but they'd never get through the vetting. If you ever get given the opportunity to go out to Batus then go – but don't get married!

EXERCISE LONG LOOK - by Cpl Reardon

One of the soldiers had dropped out and the Squadron had to find someone to go to New Zealand on Ex Long Look for four months. Seeing this as a chance in million I jumped at the opportunity. Thanks to the RSM and the Admin office I was whisked away to the land down under (or just next door to it at least!). Being Welsh it was a dream come true, from Germany to rolling green hills and 20 million sheep to look at.

My adopted unit was 3 Sig Sqn. When I arrived I was shocked to find that the Squadron was only 30 strong. Supplying comms for 3 Land Rover Gp and anti-terrorist comms for the south of the island. Work was different as they are jack-of-all-trades and they do not specialise in one area. Their equipment is a bit older than ours using Series 3 Land Rovers and radios from the Vietnam War. Their webbing was also from the Vietnam era, wearing steel helmets like those used in the 'Private Ryan' beach landing scene. I took part in the Anzac day Remembrance Day parade. Starting at dawn with a parade then making our way to the RSI (Returned Services Institute) and talking to the old boys, letting them swing the lantern and tell their war stories. Like the Spitfire pilot who was shot down seven times, without shooting down a single enemy aircraft. He was then moved to bombers where it was a lot safer. We also pulled up a sandbag to listen to the Vietnam vets.

During my time in New Zealand I spent one month on exercise learning about jungle tactics and a multitude of hand signals which I managed to confuse the MT Section with. I was given a week's leave and managed to cover the whole of the south of the island. I also managed to get some bungee jumping and sky biking in. The kiwi soldiers are a good bunch of lads and like a laugh. If anyone is thinking of going on Ex Long Look I would recommend it. However, don't forget your webbing, helmet and NO.2 dress!

RUGBY SEASON SO FAR - by Sig Pete Armour

The Union Season began today (14 November) with our first training session. Most of the old masters, SSgt Burrows, SSgt Yates and SSgt Low dusted off their boots and made an appearance alongside the new talent! – No not you Sig Brown. With our sights fixed firmly on the semi-final match in under four weeks, SSgt Burrows began the intro to the rugby ball for the less seasoned members of the team (Cpl Doyle and Cpl Thubron). Meanwhile the rest of the squad managed to do a very convincing impression of a team with little organisation and no talent.

After an hour of continuous passing drills we decided to cut our losses and head for the tackle bags. After we brushed the cobwebs off, we managed to separate the fairies (no names) from the rampaging monsters SSgt Yates and Cpl Reardon. As the light faded, along with our talent we headed for the showers to reflect on what is sure to be an interesting season with the inspirational speeches from the RSM. To quote, 'Clearly we need to train or we are going to get embarrassed in the cup. However, if we win then we can go back to the UK – that's your incentive if you need one.'

The rugby league season has ended (for those that it began in the unit). The highlight of the season was the involvement of Sgt Bean, LCpl Levi, LCpl Collins and Sig Armour in the final of the BAG Cup Final as they represented the Sennelager Stags. Unfortunately we were beaten by the RRW in a closely fought match. We did however get on to the TV as the match was televised! Congratulations to Sig Armour who managed to score a hat-trick of tries (and got a crate for it), while Sgt Bean as the Captain put up a valiant fight in the after match report which was aired on BFPS (I haven't seen any evidence of a crate yet).

SURFING WITH THE ARMY – LCpl Gaz Roscoe

Having just recently been posted into the Squadron, I was given the chance to attend a sport, which I enjoy – a relatively new sport in the Army – surfing. I took part in the Army Winter seeding meet, which was held on the south coast of Wales in the middle of nowhere - a little place called Brawdy – aka 14 Sig Regt. The meeting took place from 1-6 November 2000. The first few days were spent doing some friendly surfing giving some of the guys and girls a chance to catch up on some practice, which I definitely needed. The competition took place over the weekend. The heats were held on the Saturday with some good waves in the morning but dropping off in the afternoon. On Sunday the finals were held. Overall the week was a great success, and the members of the ever increasing club, improving their social skills – not forgetting the surfing of course!

SKIING WEEKEND - by Sig Ferris

As Austria is only eight hours away in a minibus we decided to go away for the weekend and we hit the slopes. I had never skied before and I was looking forward to the challenge. We arrived in our lodge on the Friday evening – waxed up our skies and hit the bar! Early o clock we eventually headed off (after waking Capt Gough up!). We arrived at Pitztal Glacier and as I received private lessons the rest of the group disappeared up the Glacier. I soon mastered the snowplough and was heading down the blue runs with ease! By the end of the first day I had mastered (shakily) the red runs and by the end of the first day I was skiing down with the rest of the group. The nickname 'Bambi' was due to my left leg doing its own thing! Just as I thought I was doing fine the rest of the group decided to do some jumps – not for me, well not just yet anyway. Capt Gough (on his snowboard), Lt Acton and Sig Bogart decided that jumps were the way ahead. Lt Hughes, Cpl Harris, Sig Armour and Sig Armour decided that egging down the slope was more fun, (when they were not on their backsides). All in all it was a fantastic weekend – good luck to our team in the forthcoming championships

THE GREAT NORTH RUN 22 OCTOBER 2000

by Cpl Dave Robins

Returning from Ex Arrcade Fusion on a damp October, Thursday, morning WO1 (RSM) Lawes and Cpl Daley, Cpl Thubron and Cpl Robins met up with WO1 Berry, WO2 Beech and Admin Man, SSgt Cappleman. After the initial travel problems the group began the long journey to South Shields via Calais. The M1 on a Friday night proved to live up to it's reputation and the decision was made to stop overnight in York. Thanks go out to 2 Sig Regts Duty personnel that night, SSgt Paul Gardner and Sgt Pete Preece for finding us some accommodation at such short notice. Saturday saw the group finally arriving at Whitburn Ranges, which was to be our home for the next two nights. Before we knew it Sunday morning was upon us and there we were in the centre of Newcastle, 200 metres from the start, black keep warm bin liner on and 49,000 other runners disappearing off into the distance behind us. Jonathon Edwards started the race and we were off, Jimmy Saville waving at us as we eventually ran past the start point. 13 gruelling miles, several OGGY OGGY OGGY's and frantic waving at BBC TV cameras later it was all over. Grab a T-shirt and medal, wrap yourself in baco-foil and it's off to the local pub for some post run sustenance. The conversation only broken by laughter at those members of the team suddenly hit by cramp. The return journey to Paderborn proved to be less eventful than the outward trip and all that remains is to collect the sponsorship money off those good enough to sponsor us in the first place. Roll on next year.

BRAVO TROOP

Tp Comd Lt J. Acton
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Gibbins

Bravo Tp would like to welcome SSgt Gibbins (and all his marine talk) and say goodbye to SSgt Crabb. The Troop had a good shake out exercise in Poland. It was good to get away from Sennelager Training Area. After Poland we had a week to turn our vehicles around and prepare for Ex Arrcade Fusion. The exercise period is now over and we are preparing to move barracks.

LONDON OTC VISIT - by Sig Anderton

The visit of the OTC gave Bravo Tp the opportunity to view the potential officers. For two days we instructed them in antennas and gave them an insight in to the Royal Signals. We also gave them the opportunity to drive armoured vehicles, motorbikes, DAFS and Land Rovers cross-country. They thought they could rival Colin McKay but we thought they could challenge driving Miss Daisy! After a long nerve wrecking day the instructors relaxed with the OTC in the Squadron bar. The Troop enjoyed instructing the OTC and we all enjoyed the visit.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Maj M. G. P. Bohanon
Tp SSgt SSgt H. Cappelman

Over the last few months the QM's Dept has been very busy preparing for yet another Squadron move to Talbot Barracks whilst providing support on Ex Prairie Eagle and Ex Arcade Fusion. The department would like to say congratulations to LCpl Neil Crawshaw and his new wife Sheryl on the birth of their son Ieaun and good riddance as he's posted to 7 Sig Regt. We also would like to say good bye to LCpl Mooney and his wife Mirrelle on their posting to 280 Sig Sqn. Also welcome to Sig Carr and Sig 'I want to be a rally driver' Mulligan. The whole Department deployed 'for a change' to Poland on Ex Prairie Eagle. All the vehicles eventually arrived after a long 2fi day drive even Sig Jones made it in the gas truck. During the Exercise the Department saw a few highlights.

Somehow if there was a toilet to dig, Cpl Tyrrell was always on the scene. Sig Mulligan managed to stag on for an extra two hours one night but made up for it the next day and slept most of it. Congratulations to Sgt Northeast and LCpl Mooney on their reversing techniques (in daylight) for getting stuck in the same trench twice. Sig Jones and the OC Sqn both fell in the 'FULL' swill pit. One night the DCOS and master driver tried to bump the Ech (without much success) as they were last seen with tails between their legs making a hasty retreat, closely followed by the QM, Maj Bohanan. The only problem was he only managed to catch Cpl Antell who was one of our guys.

The Department returned from Poland to deploy on Ex Arcade Fusion a week later. The Department Deployed on Ex Arrcade Confusion with a small amount of the manpower well done to Cpl Tyrrell on his efforts on the DSG Admin area. With his sidekick SSgt Low. A final mention to Sig Carr for all the extra stags he did.

4th ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (204)

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Sqn Comd Maj G. R. Norton
RSM WO1 (RSM) Craig

FAMILIES DAY AND WELCOME BACK PARTY

by Sgt Leadbeater

After many phone calls between Osnabruck and Banja Luka the date was finally set. The day started at 1400hrs with music and karaoke for the kids and the legendary Squadron bouncy castle and kiddies' carousel. Looking after both the bouncy castle and carousel was Sig Lucy Corlett and Sig Nicky Earl. The weather was superb and the food done to a treat. The day wound down at 1730hrs with both kids and a few adults ready for their bed. The evening started at 1930hrs with Cpl Nige Stiff and LCpl 'Stan' Standish keeping the refreshments flowing at the bar. The disco played some good, old tunes that soon got the crowd going. Later, it was on to karaoke with Cpl Pete Dugmore and Sig 'Little Voice' Earl the stars of the Squadron. Good food, good company and a great atmosphere, a great time was had by one and all. A huge vote of thanks goes to all that attended, especially to those who helped build, maintain and serve. Without their help and hard work, the day would not have been the success that it was.

4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (204) Families day

Wives and soldiers of the Squadron relaxing and enjoying the company and entertainment.

REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY - by Maj (Retd) Pat Maloney

There was no Garrison Drumhead Service this year with so many units away, however, the Service in the Garrison Church was attended by representatives of the serving and former Corps. The local Old Comrades retired to the Royal British Legion, where members of the local German Armed Forces Reserve Association also attended the traditional curry lunch. In the afternoon a Service of Remembrance was held at Sage War Cemetary (90km North of Osnabrueck). Wreaths were laid on behalf of RN, Army, RAF, Royal British Legion and the Bundeswehr. After the main ceremony wreaths were laid, and the Corps Collect said, at the two Royal Signals graves. Maj Graham Norton and Capt Ben White represented the serving Corps; Maj (Retd) Pat Maloney, Ex-Cpl Sid West and Ex-LCpl Robert McGilvary attended as Old Comrades; and OstFw a.D. Dieter Bockelmann represented Lw Fm Regt 11 (the German Air Force Signal Regiment who man many of the static locations to which we send signals). Sig David Fairgrieve (from Bonnyrigg in Midlothian) of 51st Div Sigs and Sgt Walter Hay of Guards Armd Div are buried at Sage. If anyone has any memories or details of them please send them direct to myself.

After the laying of the wreaths at Sage War Cemetary

OSCAR TROOP - by Sig Scott Walker

Tp Comd Lt Paul McTurk
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Olly' Oliver

The Troop returned from Bosnia safely and we now find ourselves secure from tours for at least a year. We wouldn't have got back from the Balkans so quickly if it hadn't been for the studious labours of the 7 Sig Regt augmentees who bolstered our numbers so big thanks need to go to them. Oscar Tp would also like to say hello and thank the fortunate augmentees who are still out there.

Congratulations are in order for Sgt Stu Mcneil on his promotion from corporal as well as LCpl 'Smudge' Smith and LCpl 'chip butty head' Goodwin for coming off the board. Sig 'thicket' Mockett and Sig 'stick it' Ashmore for coming off the coveted Signaller – Lance Corporal board while we were on post tour leave. All members of the Troop marked the return to Quebec Barracks with a cry of despair once they realised the extent of the workload that was to be carried out. The weeks immediately preceding post tour leave were a culture shock to many who had been skiving away on the hill top sites and allowing their sense of graft to deteriorate but now, further down the line, Oscar Tp is making good progress and who knows? We might even be ready for such hazards of the training year such as RSIT and 2nd Lines.

Sad farewells go to LCpl 'Mac' McKenna who is off to help blow things up at 11 EOD. Sig 'Ash' Ashmore and Sig 'Scott' Walker who are off to make their fortune in Civ Div. Grateful hellos go to Sig 'Whizzer' Whitham and Sig 'Martine' Mcutcheon straight from 11 Sig Regt.

PAPA TROOP - by Sigs Tooke and Ward

Tp Comd Lt Mike Parke
Tp SSgt SSgt Paul Davis

The last half of October and the first half of November were spent having a well-earned break on post-operational tour leave after Bosnia. The Troop returned from this well rested and ready to go straight into another hectic period. Well most us did anyway, Sig Nicky Earl returned with a broken ankle. Sig Lee Ward returned slightly later than the rest, hence the following telephone conversation (heavily edited) on our first day back from work between him (at his home) and the Tp OC. Sig Ward, 'Hello Sir I hear you've been trying to get hold of me, what's the problem?' Tp OC, 'Hello Sig Ward why are you at home in England and not here in Germany at work?' Sig Ward 'Oh you're joking Sir I could have sworn it was next Monday.' Well done Lee for yet another successful return from leave!

After only a few days back in Osnabrück the Troop deployed to Hohne to support a Duke of Wellington's Regiment exercise under the watchful eyes of SSgt 'Old Man' Davis. This exercise was to help them prepare for a forthcoming Op Tour. At the end of it some lucky members of the Troop got to see a firepower demo involving RAF Tornadoes and Artillery. Whilst the Troop were exercising the Tp OC, Lt Mike Parke, deployed to the local German Hospital to recover from his Sig Ward experience. Only joking, it was in fact for an intense and forced introduction to German food and TV, whilst the finest of German physicians tried to make his nose into an object that can be breathed through, and not just an eyesore to look at. This turned into something of a 'Carry on' experience with lots of Matronly type German Nurses scolding him for not speaking German, whilst he desperately fumbled through an English-German Dictionary trying to find words for 'bed bath please' etc.

As for the remainder of the Troop who didn't deploy (all four of them), there was Sigs Dan Tooke and Lee Ward who are on the driving course trying to get their 'H' Licence under the expert instruction of Cpl Nige 'Windswept' Stiff. Also there is Cpl Charlie 'Chaz' Henson making helmet covers in the stores. After a year and a half of dodging the driving course we have finally been introduced to the pleasures of track bashing. We have only broken a wagon a week so far, the first one being a brand spanking new 432 which Lee 'Legohead' Ward ripped the steering unit out of. The second died due to contaminated fuel that is suspected to be a legacy of our Kosovo days of 1999. Finally we are now back on the road causing massive amounts of unnecessary stress on German drivers with Sig Steve 'Hasslehoff head' Potts trying to drive us off a bridge.

CONGRATULATIONS, HELLOS AND GOODBYES

The Troop has had lots of successes recently with promotion boards, firstly on the Lance Corporal-Corporal promotion board congratulations go to LCpls 'Scotty' Rose, 'Charlie' Forsyth and Neil McElhinney on being selected for promotion. On the Signaller-Lance Corporal board congratulations to Sigs Jamie Masters, Steve 'Woggle' Moran, 'Gus' Crawford and Lucy Corlett. Our other big success is with Sgt John Swanston who has been selected for promotion to Staff Sergeant. Well done and congratulations to all of you! We have had a couple of additions to the Troop recently so a big massive welcome to LCpl 'Robbo' Robertson who has joined us from 3 Div, and the same goes to Sig 'Tish' Stevenson who has joined us from that lovely place Blandford. Unfortunately we have also had to say farewell to LCpl 'Drunken' Excell who is off to 16 Air Asslt Bde, to LCpl Craig Eden who is going to 2 Sig Regt, and to Sig Jimmy Findlay who is off to NI. Good luck to you all, you will be sorely missed!

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Pete McElwee
Tp SSgt SSgt Paul Buckley

MOTOR TRANSPORT DEPARTMENT - by Cpl Paul Maguire

With the work in Bosnia coming to an end it was time for the Ops team to plan the return journey back to Osnabruck. The QM Capt Pete McElwee informed the squadron that a Board of Officers would have to be completed before the Squadron started to leave the wonderful Banja Luka Metal Factory. Cpl Paul Maguire whom at this time was detached to the Metal Factory Multinational MT was seen to be pulling his hair out, as our friends from the other nations had not heard of a Board of Officers. It must be said that all was well and it must be mentioned that Paul had a great time. August was the month that Sig Jamie Smith was awarded the driver of the month from the GOC, SSgt Paul Buckley is now wondering if that was a good idea due to the fact that Jamie drove for SSgt Buckley whist he was on his DDE retest. It must be said that SSgt Buckley has never marked anyone for 26 minor faults, and two serious faults. On arrival in Osnabruck, it was work as normal for the first two weeks, before we started our well earned break for up to four weeks. The Troop have since returned from post tour leave and at this point we have four people who are supplying support to the Duke of Wellington's Tessex Exercise. We would like to say farewell to Sgt Mick Pryce who leaves us for sunny Aldershot, and a sad farewell to LCpl 'Chalky' White leaving the Army in January. Congratulations to LCpl Kurt Molden who has been selected for promotion to Corporal and is going to Cyprus in February. Sig 'Marlon' Brandon was selected for promotion to Lance Corporal, well done to you both.

Q MATTERS - by LCpl Lee Peacock

The deployment to Bosnia was a typical Army move ' Hurry up and wait', all in all a smooth and well rehearsed move. Once we had settled in we realised the task that was ahead of us. The task ahead was to back load around 75% of the equipment that was in the Banja Luka Metal Factory and from the hill top sites. This was not going to be a problem due to the fact that I was a Radio Operator by trade and my best mate SSgt 'Olly' Oliver had transferred me to the QM's Department for the tour. Working with the Dutch was a bit of an eye opener for me, especially when I am 5' 4" and one of them was 6' 9". The Department would like to say farewell to Sgt 'Spike' Hughes and his family. 'Spike' left us for 14 Sig Regt and a well deserved promotion to Staff Sergeant. A big welcome goes to Sgt 'Scholly' Martwich and Sig 'Bob the Builder' Steel, we hope that you enjoy your time here. Finally, The tour went well and due to the time off that I had during my time in Bosnia, that I have now decided to re - trade as a stores accountant.

12 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (228)

This period has been one of a dogged determination to succeed. The Squadron remained focused throughout and training was conducted at all levels beginning with troop level training and ending with the successful Divisional exercises in October, Ex Iron Foray and CAST(S) which saw all of the hard work come to fruition. We also managed to 'Stand To' almost 50% of the Squadron at R1 for the JTFHQ tasking from LAND. Since the successful completion of the exercise we are now concentrating our efforts on the deployment on Ex Lion Sun in Cyprus and the requisite training is well underway with all ranks being rigorously prepared by the PTIs and SNCOs. Concurrent activity for this period is the preparation for the RSIT inspection shortly after our return from Cyprus, which is being driven by M Tp and the FofS. We are also in the process of handing over our old Barracks and handing back the equipment from the JTF HQ call up. Also high on the agenda is the LSI preparation by the QM's Dept, which is upon us shortly after the leave period. As you can see, if it is a challenging life you are after then a posting to 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228) is the job for you.

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS TROOP

We are currently recovering from our busiest time of the year, the annual Staff Personnel Support Inspection and are now getting prepared for the Christmas break period. Pte Cheryl Roberts and the Chief Clerk, SSgt Steve Owen, are sorting out leave passes for anybody that wants to be at home for Christmas and the New Year. LCpl Jitendra 'G10' Shakya has recently completed the Inter Troop Orienteering competition along with the Chief but he sadly ran out of time and was disqualified unlike the evergreen Chief who achieved third place (from last) well done you! We are now revving up for Christmas and for the imminent deployment to Cyprus on Ex Lion Sun. The clerks will leave their dens and join the rest of us in the field for a change where they will be fully tested in military skills, leadership and adventurous training ability - and not a paper clip in sight.

ALPHA TROOP - EXERCISE IRON FORAY

Ex Iron Foray was the Brigade final exercise in SPTA over the period of 30 October to 3 November. It was the culmination of a series of Troop, Squadron and Brigade training exercises that had been conducted over the previous weeks. The exercise started well with hurricane winds and a torrential downpour as is normal for all major exercises. This was greeted with a mixture of emotions, ranging from the complex, Cpl 'Dog' Barker thinking that he was having a nervous breakdown (as his career rested on the briefing tent not blowing away). We then had Cpl 'JC' Whitworth crying with laughter whilst re-enacting the rain scenes from Forest Gump as he was stagging on in a Stage 3 swimming pool. The Squadron performed exceptionally well, despite having to overcome freak weather phenomena, a vertical learning curve and numerous teething problems.

We moved about Salisbury plain with surprising skill (for a first shot) and ever increasing speed (inside the speed limit of course) during the exercise, and we were learning all the way. Bets were eventually taken as to how long it would take to set up Main but we still don't know who won the bet. The OC thinks we can move, set up, communicate and cam up within 25 minutes including a 10km drive, we will succeed in the end I am sure. We may even throw in a quick meal just to show off our newly acquired skills. This subject has been hotly debated ever since. We also discovered that if we speak nicely to the Royal Engineers, they dig far larger trenches far quicker than any lineman can but using a tractor of course.

Wet 432
We told you it rained on the plain didn't we

There are far too many humorous tales to tell here about what happened during the exercise. A couple do spring to mind such as the 432 driver (Sig Dan Fallows) who in his rush to leave a location during the Squadron demo exercise for the wives visit, left his back door open much to the amusement of the assembled spouses. And finally special thanks go to the Squadron Public Relations rep, LCpl 'Not so Dangerous' Armstrong who adopted a no-mess policy informing the COS that he would have to sleep on the particularly boggy floor. He pointed out that there was only one camp cot and sadly it had Dangerous written all over it, and he wonders why he is called 'Dangerous'. Also of note is that after the exercise Cpl Barker was given a public dressing down in front of the Squadron before being promoted to Sergeant. So I guess all we have to do is make sure our tents do not blow away and promotion is in the bag.

Wives and families open day on the local training area

Following the six-week exercise period, which for the many 'Armour Virgins' among us was a steep learning curve, the Troop is now struggling to develop some form of routine. There is still plenty of work to do but the pace of life is nowhere near as frantic. Everyone is now looking forward to a Christmas at home and not in the Balkans, which is where we all had our Christmas Dinner last year. Straight after Christmas leave, we spend a short month in Cyprus on Ex Lion Sun 1 - 2001 to start the coming training year on a high note. Some factors remain constant, however, and the Troop Staff Sergeant's spending habits are no exception. SSgt Dicky 'Town Crier' Dyer still parts with absolutely no money at all; he's a genuine Cornishman who loves Tesco's Blue Stripe lager. Congratulations to Sgt Roy Davies and his wife on the birth of his new son Owen, who now replaces his adopted son Sig Simon 'The Sailor' Goundry.

The Squadron boxers are training hard under the RSM's watchful eye in order to attempt to hospitalize 9 Parachute Squadron RE in the inter-Squadron boxing tournament. Sig Dan 'Half the man he was' Fallows has stopped his daily subscription to Gingsters' and lost five stone in a fortnight. The other boxers: LCpl Chris 'Whippet' Kelly-Rutherford, Sigs Al 'Matchstick' Webb, Al 'Mega Head' Sweet and Chris 'Monkey-Hanger' McGeorge are all looking much fitter now than they were before the RSM got his hands on them. The Troop wrestler, Sig Matt 'WWF' Grochowina, decided not to box when the RSM told him that leotards are definitely not allowed on the night. Our Troop Christmas outing this year was paint-balling. A resounding success, the day was thoroughly enjoyed by all. It was surprising to see how many of the Troop exaggerated their paint-balling prowess when swinging a lamp afterwards in the pub. The Blue Team won the fight easily due to the poor tactics of the opposition. For those who couldn't make it, you missed an excellent day out and we will be back.

BRAVO TROOP - by Cpl Biddle

EDUCATIONAL BREWERY TRIP

As part of a morale boosting tour Bravo Tp departed on a Brewery Trip to Alton (Bass) Brewery under the watchful eye of SSgt Pete Mullen. The day got off to a wonderful start as soon as the two ladies escorting us around realised we were more interested in 'Beer Tasting' than walking around the Brewery. Although a quick tour was conducted and Cpl Keith Langan and Sig Phil Williams inwardly digested all the facts and figures for the quiz in the bar later on. Once in the bar Sig Chris Dunkin got off to a flying start but was soon flagging towards the end after visiting the toilet a few times! Once the finger buffet had been served and the Troop had totally demolished the food, the Troop presented a plaque to the brewery and SSgt Pete Mullen held a quiz all about the Tour promising the winners a late start to a morning in the not too distant future. Funnily enough the biggest group won consisting of Sgt 'Dog' Barker, Cpl Sarah Guthrie, Cpl Keith Langan (recently promoted to Sergeant), LCpls 'Geordie' Wharton, Paul Ford, Ross Williams and Sigs Katie Shrubsole and 'Tasha' Fussell. The beer tasting was over much too soon but the Troop had the opportunity to visit the historical town of Alton afterwards, tasting and testing other local beverages. Many thanks must go to the two minibus drivers who had the patience of saints for the whole day Sig Paul Denham and LCpl Phil Green. Of course they done it all for free out of love and respect for their fellow soldiers. It must also be noted that B Tp were also involved in Ex Iron Foray but A Tp have written long and eloquently about the subject so I will leave that alone.

SUPPORT TROOP - by Sig Fairbrother

When I first arrived in 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228), the majority of the unit was still serving in Bosnia on Op Palatine and life was very pleasant. Then they all arrived home and 'bang' things started to happen. Support Tp was a nightmare; we moved from Arnhem Barracks to T5 and just got settled, then moved again to T3 (another building). I had brushed plenty of boots but had not done any real Stores Accounting as yet. What a challenging time that was! Everyone from the QM down to me looked as if their heads were going to burst and I thought to myself, what a huge mistake I have made in joining the Army, surely every job cannot be like this? Soon the moves were finished and life started to settle into a routine, but not for long. I did not understand the cries ' lets get ready for exercise', sewing cam nets, putting on skirts, putting up endless configurations of tents and learning how to launch the chimney of a puffing Billy over T3. Rumour amongst the Toms was that we were in for a shock and as it would be the first exercise for the new Squadron and the OC had been told by the Brigade Commander that he was going to measure us against 1 and 19 Mech Bdes, no pressure then.

That's unfair I thought they have been together for many a year and I had been saddled with a group of moaning old Paras; they were very fit, but did not know one end of a 432 from the other. Many nights of no sleep, wet everything (and I mean everything), standing on guard, pan bashing, being told to do this and do that, and do it in this order, this way, yesterday, cam this, dig here, patrol this, deliver this, count these. How many of these do we have, 'I will rip your face off if you do that again, well done, try harder, good work', and the exercise ended. The Brigade Commander paraded us all in some old hanger at Luggershall and said, 'Well done! I am content, but not satisfied'. Well I can tell him I was impressed with myself, and so were Ming, Mong and Ding, the rest of the Troop's toms. We were all still alive although some nights we doubted even that. I had done bits of my trade and now felt I belonged to a formed up and professional Squadron. Sgt Mullen started to call me 'Doris 2' and seemed to trust me with limited tasks! We now look forward to Ex Lion Sun, a month in Cyprus military training and before that watching Sig Mike Hunt, box against 9 Para Sqn RE.

CHEFS - by The Chefs

We in the kitchens have had one hell of a time during the past few months, what with Exercises, CAST (S) and working in a kitchen that falls below the standards required in Bosnia to feed the refugees. Sgt Trotter has left and Sgt Wilson has arrived; us worker bees thought we were ridding ourselves of an Airborne Marine who believes in a 10 mile run for the chefs after breakfast. We hoped we were getting one of the normal variety, but, no, we get a slim Jim Army Basketball player who believes 10 miles is good after lunch. Sometimes watching the Welsh Guards' chefs existence looks good, until they do 10 miles on the drill square every afternoon, 'Ladles get on parade!' To add to our woes the QM has decided to borrow chefs from the rest of the garrison and send us all on Ex Lion Sun as foot soldiers! What's that all about? Next he will be expecting us to join in with the Adventure Training, or even be one of the crew for the Squadron sailing expedition to sunnier climes. With all this going on we will probably forget how to burn the supper, or worse still, forget about portion control on exercise.

242 SIGNAL SQUADRON

It is some time since we saw the move of HQ 2 Div from York to Edinburgh as a direct result of SDR - and the demise of HQ Scotland. This greatly expanded the population of Craigiehall and we have had a very busy, but productive, time both prior to the move and since looking after all the moves, changes, installations and IT that a major movement of staff generates. As ACISG becomes more involved with IT systems we have been busily expanding to support the Networks, system administration, asset tracking and service desk areas. Since June this year, when Maj Neil Stevens handed over to Maj Peter Stephenson, we have seen many personnel come and go. We wish all those who have left every success in their future and welcome those who have arrived, wishing them a happy and successful stay with the unit. June and July saw the normal upsurge of PA tasks and of course the build for the Edinburgh Military Tattoo. Mid July to mid September were taken up with this show - a spectacular this year for the Millennium.

THE END OF 240 SIGNAL SQUADRON

On a dreary day, Thursday 31 August, a short and simple ceremony was held at Carter Bar (The Scotland/England border on the A68) to mark the amalgamation of 240 and 242 Signal Squadrons. Our picture shows the 2 x OCs Major Peter Stephenson and Major (Tfc) Fred Calvert, with the respective squadron pennants.

Since 1920, 240 Signal Squadron (in its various guises) has been based in York. The amalgamation with 242 Signal Squadron is a direct follow on from the move of HQ 2nd Division from York to Edinburgh. 242 Signal Squadron now supports the full 2nd Divisional area from the Humber and Mersey to the Shetland Isles. This means that we are well dispersed with personnel based in Craigiehall, Glasgow, Kirkcudbright and Barry Buddon in Scotland and personnel at York, Catterick, Otterburn, Warcop, Leconfield and Preston in the North of England. This is a huge 'patch' and it is to our relief that travel sickness is not a main feature. We now find ourselves involved in a major cable and IT installation in Fulwood Barracks, Preston that has necessitated deploying military and civilian manpower from several locations. Looking back the Squadron has undergone a great deal of change and our area, responsibilities and manpower have increased. Looking forward there is change round the corner but where that will lead is ill defined.

RETIREMENT

One certain change is that our Chief Clerk Mrs Jean Livingstone's last day at work, after over 21 years with the Squadron, is to be Thursday 24 May. Any person wishing to join us, here in Craigiehall, on that day should contact Maj (Retd) G. A. Carmichael on 0131 310 2267.

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON (AIR MOBILE FORCES (LAND))

Sqn Comd Maj David Hudson
SSM WO2 (SSM) Ken Marsh

It has been yet another busy period for the boys of 249 Sqn. The touring of Europe and the world has continued with members of the Squadron gallivanting off to Canada and the whole Squadron deploying to Greece for a three-week Exercise. There has been the usual amount of departures and arrivals, particularly Sgt Pete Lawn who left on promotion to 3 Div – we know where you'd rather be! A hearty farewell goes to the footie mad 2IC, Capt 'Gwaa' Stokoe, who loved to remove his clothes in public from time to time! Congratulations must also go to Cpl Matt Tones on his pre-selection to Sergeant. To Cpl Matt Tones on his selection as a potential YofS and, you've guessed it, Cpl Matt Tones and Sgt Frank Baker on selection for the IS Op roster. Hello to the new QM, Capt Steve Morgan, and goodbye to Capt Ray 'Arkwright' Patrickson who left to take up the post of OC Sp Sqn at Blandford – what's happened to Carlisle? Congratulation to all those who were selected for promotion to Lance Corporal, they included: Sig Berry, Sig Clark, Sig Clayton, Sig Cole, Sig Gamgee, Sig Harrison, Sig Henson, Sig Jefferson, Sig McLeish, Sig Perkins, Sig Rodgers, Sig Smith, Sig Swift, Sig Taylor, Sig Waring and Sig Young. Finally, a well earned selection for promotion to Lance Corporal for Pte Hodgson the Squadron combat clerk and a warm welcome to the new 2IC, Capt Downes

EXERCISE ADVENTURE EXCHANGE 2000 – GREECE
by Lt Mark Stoter

Ex Adventure Exchange 2000 saw a marked shift away from the Squadron's usual CNR role and a move towards CIS management and increased use of SATCOM as the AMF(L) continues its trial of the IRTF(L) concept – a command and control system based on a theatre-wide tactical WAN.

Sig Whitelaw on an archeological dig

The deployment went smoothly and we arrived in the dustbowl of N. Greece in the middle of the night. Sig 'Crypto Kid' De-Gernier confirmed everyone's fears of snakes when he leapt out of his sleeping bag at 3am screaming about being bitten. His intrepid Tp Comd investigated, hunting the beast with a stick and torch, only to discover that the 'snake' was in fact a trouser twist. The RRBs deployed to two large features and seemed to be re-supplied by the Padre more often than the re-sup team. Cpl 'Firestarter' Clifton, easing back into life as a Det Comd, caused a scare with a NO PLAY message that a fire was advancing towards his location. A team of would-be fire fighters, led by SSM Marsh, rushed to the scene only to find the inferno at least 2kms away on the other side of the valley. Then there was the snake…

Other dangers were found closer to home. Requiring relief one morning, Lt 'Big Boy' Fayers ventured to the port-a-loo and left looking rather pale. As Mr Fayers commenced business, a hungry spider noticed something dangle into his territory and took a bite – a big bite. A special mention must also go to Cpl 'Peeping Tom' Walsh for ensuring the safety of RRB South every night, vigilantly patrolling the area and investigating the bouncing cars that turned up every night. Why he needed binos remains a mystery. Sgt 'Wacko' Jackson found himself as IC R&R and put together a superb three-day package at the beach for all those who wanted to go. Local relations were cemented and the Squadron particularly thanks Sig 'Willie' Whitelaw for improving Anglo-Russian affairs.

MY FIRST EXERCISE WITH 249 SIG SQN (AMF(L)) - by Sig Taylor

I deployed on Exercise Adventure Exchange to Greece during September, flying from the UK to Thessaloniki. We were then transported to the port where we entertained ourselves unloading the boat in the blistering heat. Just as our MT Sergeant had pulled out the remainder of his hair we began our 8-hour, 80-vehicle convoy trip to our exercise location Kozani, setting up the Ech CP complex in the dark was fun! I spent the duration of the exercise on wheels re-supplying all of the Squadron detachments in the surrounding countryside, enjoying the scenery as I drove. A well-earned R & R package at the end of the exercise was spent in a three star hotel 100m from the beach where we all sipped cocktails and bathed in the sun, great fun.

EXERCISE MISSION IMPOSSIBLE 2000 - by Lt Mike Fayers

Louise Redknapp, Denise Van Outen and nights in five-star hotels: another arduous exercise for 249 Sig Sqn (AMF(L)). Given a week of Squadron time before the vehicles arrived back from Greece, a cunning plot was hatched, including an even more cunning subterfuge involving 22 SAS and a plane at Stansted. By Tuesday morning, confusion abounded and the Squadron found themselves sat in a cold garage being strip-searched by a group of hairy Corporals before being dropped around SW England with tasks to complete in 48 hours. The initiative started early. Having seen through the smoke screen, many had chosen to hide money and cash cards in various places about their person. Naked star jumps produced money from the most surprising places and Sig Thompson will be remembered for intelligently taping his Barclaycard to one of his more intimate parts with duct tape.

Sig Louise Nurding on her Squadron Induction Day

The Squadron deployed in pairs and they were soon achieving their tasks. Task 7: Tell a joke or sing a song in front of 100 people. Having got a free ride into London on a train, Sigs Gallagher and Gamgee persuaded the buffet car manager to lend them his microphone. Two minutes later, a busy Inter-city was left in no doubt as to the size of Sig Gallagher's pet python. As a student, I have often wondered who passes by in the background of Richard and Judy: now I know, soldiers on initiative exercises trying to get on TV. Others made a beeline for the Big Breakfast, to meet Donna Air, Johnny Vaughan and be surprised by Denise Van Outen's fruity invitations.

We don't know this lady but she wanted to get in on the photo!

Some of the competitors obviously found the exercise too easy, so much so in fact that LCpl Lovell kept going through the night. Others, not content with pulling a pint in a haunted pub, pulled pints in all the pubs in London. In fact, a common theme seemed to be who could blag the most free food and beer. A special mention must go to LCpl Osmond and LCpl Telfer, who received free haircuts, toothbrushes, pants and socks, food at the Hard Rock Café and met Jon White, of previous 249 and 264 fame. The final scores were close, with all pairs exceeding expectations. The winners, by a narrow margin, were Cpl Galatin and Sig Henson.

ADVENTURE TRAINING – CANADA - by Sig Sokolowski

Tuesday morning, Bulford – 'Right, who wants to go to Canada Adventure Training next week?' 'Er, ok.' 7,000km later we flew into Edmonson Airport to daytime temperatures of 300C and crystal blue skies. Our final destination was Trail Ends Camp (TEC), a full three hours drive from the airport. We gained our first impression of just how vast Canada is as we drove along seemingly endless, razor-straight, roads. TEC itself is situated in the foothills of the Rockies, a short distance away from Calgary, and is renowned for offering some of the best adventure training in the world.

There were many activities on offer to us, none of which were for the faint hearted. I opted to do the horse trekking and parachuting. Although the horse trekking may have seemed to be the soft option, it was anything but. During the 3-day expedition our wrangler pushed us to the limits of our ability as we rode through dense forest, flowing rivers and open prairies, often at some speed, falls were inevitable and frequent. Accommodation at night was tents, with the cooking and eating conducted well away from them. There was an ever-present danger of curious bears and mountain lions anyone of which can smell food at some distance. We would have been in big trouble had a grizzly bear entered the tented area!

Horse trekking is not the only way to see vast areas of Canada – parachuting from heights of 3,000 feet is another. My last four days were spent at the Calgary Skydive Ranch at which we crammed in as many jumps as possible in the time allowed. Over the period I managed to complete eight jumps, of which three were free-fall. The jumps were all videoed and each of us had the look of death etched on our faces. It was a great opportunity to be able to participate in the adventure training on offer, the only regret is that we were not able to try all the activities available.

EXERCISE SEWER RAT - by Cpl Longworth

Copehill Down was the venue for yet another short notice exercise for the troops of the fighting 249 Sig Sqn this October. The FIBUA exercise which was the mastermind of SSgt Den 'Twitchy Tash' Yates began at about eleven o' clock on the Wednesday morning. A number of gloomy faces boarded the SPTA bound four wheeled Chinooks. Upon arrival at the training area we were all pleased to see that we had a nice house to get our heavy heads down in, however, this was dampened by the 10 mile tab to get there. The two sections thought Lt Mark 'where has my hair gone' Stoter had really gone to town, after they had been engaged by a platoon of warriors, but in fact it was just some confused infantry on Ex Iron Foray.

It was about 1730hrs when we arrived there, as it darkened outside the blokes were left to admin themselves ready for the night activities. Later on that night the sections received orders for fighting patrols from Cpl 'Mad Gypsy' Longworth, and LCpl 'Come fly with me' Turner. The enemy was provided by a number of our jumped up full screws including Cpl 'Look at me, look at me, I'm DS' Upcraft and Cpl 'Don't talk to me I'm DS' Clark. However, we got our revenge when the attacks flooded in at H Hour! The next morning was an early rise when we were introduced to our excellent FIBUA instructors, supported by members of 39 Sig Regt, SSgt Ward and Sgt 'Spats' Brody. Throughout the day we were revised and taught skills that would be required for the assault early the next morning. Amongst those skills taught was the grapnel hook technique, in which Sig 'I'm a weak maggot' Penny seemed not to excel and Sig 'Bear Wrestler' Berry was all over it like a cyclone. The day passed extremely quickly and before we knew it Cpl 'Loddy' Jones, Cpl 'Matty Boy' Tones and Cpl 'Cardiac' Kenny were briefing their sections for the final dawn assault.

The Artillery strike went in and we were off! Section by section we began the assault followed by new members of the DS including Sgt 'I wish I could get my knee down' Mcbean and Cpl 'I ride a hairdressers bike' Baigent. Another highlight was Cpl 'World Super Bike Rider' Longworth's ability to throw a grenade at a boarded off door only to bounce back and effectively kill his whole section! The relevant DS debriefed their sections, including a fruitful debrief by Cpl 'Honestly I've done FIBUA before' Meek. All of the antics out of the way now, it was time for the confidence course. Most enjoyed this, however, some folk including Sig 'crypto kid' DeGernier got a touch of disco leg on the high obstacles. Cpl 'SAS' Meakin enjoyed it so much he had another crack at it!

Sig 'Chuck' Berry exiting the sewer

Finally, we tabbed back to the Squadron's lines much to the dismay of Sig 'I'm signing off' Cole and Sig 'I didn't join up for this' Perkins-Maggots! No need to whinge, we got picked up a mile from the FIBUA village. All were smiling by the end of the week and a 'good crack was had by all'.

Endex for the dirty sewer rats!

ORGANISING A FUND RAISING EVENT?
WHY NOT PUBLICISE IT IN THE WIRE?
WRITE AND LET US KNOW WHAT IS HAPPENING

251 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj John Oakes
SSM WO2 (SSM) Gary Smith

HAIL AND FAREWELL

Departures and arrivals are still going strong with one new arrival and six departures. A big welcome to the Tech Wksp for LCpl Steve 'Can he play snooker' Davies posted from The Royal School of Signals Blandford. Farewell to Sgt Kieran 'Angry' Jukes posted to 14 Sig Regt, Cpl Kim 'How can I get out of this' Homewood who is off on his long awaited Class 1 course at The Royal School of Signals, Blandford. Not forgetting our very own magician LCpl Dave 'Le Sac Magic' Hunter who has gone to 3 (UK) Armd Div Bulford. After 22 hard years service we must say goodbye to SSgt Joy Phipps, SSgt Glynis 'On the skive' Watton and Sgt Jim 'All I know is Crypto' Kelly we wish them all the best for the future.

JEANS FOR GENES DAY - by Cpl R. G. Hanbidge

On 6 October 2000 all the military members of the unit were allowed to wear some non-regulation uniform (Jeans) for the day as long as they paid for the privilege. The price this year a staggering whole £1.00 coin. There were numerous other fund raising events on the day including raffles, bring-and-buy and wheel of fortune stalls, tea, coffee, cake and burger stands. One of the civilian members of staff wrote to more than 80 local shops asking for support, most contributed raffle prizes and gifts. The Squadron had already received over £130 in gift vouchers a week before the event, which was very encouraging. During the day the Ops Officer, Capt Keith 'Nobody tells me anything' Roach bellowed away on the microphone trying to drum up business which he seemed to do like a natural as all of the raffle tickets were snapped up in no time at all. A good looking Cpl 'Get me out of here' Hanbidge saved the day at one point along with help from LCpl 'Where's my string' Igo they dashed down to Tescos like Batman and Robin when the bacon ran out and the natives started to get restless (boy can Civvies eat!). One of the highlights of the day was the name the bear competition. This consisted of an expensive German made Steiff bear that was short of a name, everyone paid £1.00 to name it. When the winning name was drawn the look on peoples faces said it all, only in this unit could a German bear get the name Hitler! (no joke) Sgt 'Third Reich' Coldwell is considering renaming it. 'Himler is a nice name isn't it!!' Last year the Squadron raised more than £1,300 for the appeal and this year we were hoping to top £1.500 with an ultimate goal of £2.000 for the year 2000 so it was very pleasing when we realised we had raised £2200. All the money will help fund research into genetic diseases in children.

RAISING MONEY FOR LOCAL NURSERY - by SSgt G. Watton

During the last ten months 251 Sig Sqn has once again been raising money for the local Queen Mary's Nursery (QMN) which is situated on Middle Hill between the married quarters in Talavera Aldershot. Last year we raised £342 for them by doing a sponsored half marathon. This year, once again led by SSgt Glynis Watton we were able to raise a little more - £500, we managed this with help from parents who's children attend the nursery, as they donated children's clothing during the Summer which SSgt Glynis Watton and Sig Bret Merrick sold on car-boot sales. This together with a raffle earlier in the year and a generous donation from 251 Sig Sqn PRI funds enabled us to present a cheque for £500 to the Garrison Commander, Col Mieville on Monday 27 November 2000. We look forward to continuing raising money for the nursery in the future as we know it is a well deserved good cause particularly in light of so many of 251 Sig Sqn members using the nursery for their children.

IMPERIAL SERVICE MEDAL PRESENTATION
16 AUGUST 2000

Two long serving members of 251 Sig Sqn were presented with their Imperial Service Medals by the Commanding Officer, Col Carey, in Colchester on 16 August 2000. Mr Dance began his career, as a boy soldier, with the Royal Armoured Corps in 1952. He then joined the Royal Corps of Signals in 1954 to carry out his National Service, he re-enlisted after National Service serving in the regulars until 1963. Then he joined the Territorial Army and served with 36 Eastern Sig Regt until 1982. Mr Dance's civil service career began in 1974 where he served with the Communications Centre and Telephone exchange until his retirement in 1999 after a total of 47 years service. Mr Vandersteen joined the Civil Service in 1971, serving in Colchester, as a Government Telephonist, originally as part of 10 Sig Regt. The unit was re-designated four times in his career, finally ending up as 251 Signal Squadron in 1995. Mr Vandersteen retired in 1999 after 28 years of service. Family, friends and work colleagues attended the presentation that concluded with a buffet lunch at the Civil Service Club.

Mr Vandersteen, Mr Dance and Col Carey

101 LOGISTIC BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS & SIGNAL SQUADRON (261)

OC Maj Mark Baines
RSM WO1 (RSM) Udell

The Squadron has once again grown with Maj Baines' attempts to take over the world getting bolder! We have had a flood of new arrivals over our Brigade Exercise including two new arrivals on the baby front from The Yeoman, SSgt (YofS) Pat Smith and Cpl Andy Carr, we wish them and their families well. The last period has been dominated by Ex Iron Ration, 4500 Troops from 101 Log Bde and 3 (UK) Div descended onto the Plain to practice Logistic Operations and liaison work. Recently the Squadron has pushed the boat out getting the sports teams up and running. These include Football, Netball, Hockey and Golf although keeping the boys out of the netball skirts is proving difficult especially on the golf course! In addition Sgt Jim Turnbull is starting up a Judo team for beginners although he has managed to break Cpl 'Bish' Bishops' toe already, Good Luck to them all. Also well done to the boys who completed the Manchester Marathon last weekend, Excellent effort all round. Many Congratulations go to the six Lance Corporals who have been selected for promotion; LCpls Ronny Cuthbert, Ben Ellison, 'Fitz' Fitzpatrick, Dave Howie, Wayne Stewart and Dean Watson. The quick pace continued into November with comms for the Cambrian Patrol, the Squadron ITD Camp and the Wilkinson Sword of Peace Presentation to keep us busy as well as an official tasking to support 102 Log Bde on Ex SAIF SAREEA in Oman next summer means we have been really busy.

WILKINSON SWORD OF PEACE PRESENTATION

The Brigade Headquarters and Signal Squadron (261) was given the Joint award for Peace for its work on Op Agricola. The Brigade co-ordinated the response to the refugee crisis which was so large and so unexpected in Brazda. It is unusual for a HQ to receive such an award and it was a proud day in the Brigade. There was a parade at which the Minister for Defence Procurement presented the sword to our Squadron OC who received it on behalf of the soldiers who served on the tour. After lunch in the Officer Mess to which the soldiers who had been on Op Agricola were invited, the Minister and Chief of Joint Operations toured the stands that were set up. These included the TAC HQ staffed by Brazda veterans led by Cpl 'Tommo' Thomas. This was a very special day for this formation and the excellent parade marked the occasion well.

ALPHA TROOP

EXERCISE IRON RATION: MAIN/RSG - by Sig Sam Yardley

Ex Iron Ration started on 9 September when everyone's morale was extremely high, unusually for 0700hrs on a Saturday morning! When arriving complete at Rollestone Camp we all had the delight of erecting the complex tent which had predictably grown from its normal size to a massive 120ft x 70ft, this was only the start, as sewing up and erecting the cam net was a near miracle. Once the tentage was up the exercise began in earnest and the communications began to settle down but poor LCpl 'no comms' Cole had traumas during the night shift. The hitches were mostly minor although the RRB setting up in the firing line of the AS90s was a slightly bigger concern. The comms ops team spent a great deal of time out on the ground aiding our less comms capable Brigade units; antennas up trees, pointing the wrong direction, using the wrong type, they had it all. As all the units arrived on the net it was tested by the NBC Phase of the Exercise. Thanks to the visit of the SOinC and the Corps RSM most of the Squadron managed an extra hour out of Three Romeo. Comd 11 Bde did not time his visit as well due to another spell in NBC kit, but an excellent visit nevertheless.

The SOinC entertains Cpl Simpson and Cpl Reynolds
They're only smiling because they're not in Three Radio!

EXERCISE IRON RATION: FWD/FSG - by Sigs Watson & Wilson

Forward deployed to Aldershot on 6 September, our job was to provide two HF nets so that RSG could move to their new location and set-up. As soon as RSG was up and running they assumed control and we deployed to Rollestone Camp to join the 261 multi-traded squadron getting down to what they do best, tent erecting, stagging on and sangar building, fortunately no pan bashing! At last after a week of routine including video watching, stag and strategic battles on RISK we were warned that we could move to support the Brigade effort to aid the fuel crisis, this did not work out. Instead our hopes were re-lighted with an exercise deployment to the local jungle and we activated the HQ with the staff officers present and were visited by Comd 101 Log Bde, the Padre and our new Sqn RSM. When the enemy arrived it looked like Dad's Army and we predictably quashed them with devastating force and as we finished the QRF turned up to pursue them. The next day we were tasked to tear down and re-deploy to Aldershot and set up the control nets for the Brigade move back.

EXERCISE WINTER PYTHON – SQUADRON ITD CAMP

by Sgt Shaun Fardy

Deep into a wintry Hampshire in November the Squadron deployed to Longmoor Training area to complete our ITD training package. Under the command of the 2IC Capt Sarah Pedder and the RSM Eric Udell the brief was simple: 'Go forth and complete all of your ITD's for the year and don't come back until you've finished.' So the Squadron dutifully deployed on its heli-dafs full of anticipation, bravado and not a small amount of war stories.

Possibly the largest DS team ever assembled in anticipation as the troops dismounted, unaware that there was a substantial wager as to the first utterance of 'Get off the trucks!' but they were to be disappointed, the new touchy feely approach was to be employed at least for the first five minutes! By the time the RQMS WO2 Jim Alger had given the camp brief and PT had been called for just after 0600hrs the next morning there was a discernable sense of optimism that it wasn't going to be like last time.

The week progressed with pistol shooting run by OC Alpha Tp, Capt Lucy Thirsk ably assisted by SSgt 'It wasn't like this in NI' Jo Crowe and Sgt 'Chico' Towers which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Notable shots being LCpl 'Horatio' Mooney and Sig Mick Miles. A special mention to Sig 'Roger' Bannister who managed to carry his webbing all the way to the first stand before producing his sick chit. Other activities included Introduction to Competition Shooting (watch out at the Corps SAAM), NBC, Map Reading, Cross-Country driving and the necessary Recovery, Command Tasks and First Aid. All of which led up to a Patrol Competition. This was run over 36 hours and started after the CFT. It was a test of teamwork and personal skills culminating in a close competition but LCpl Dave Howie's section winning closely followed by Cpl Dave Laurence (AGC) and his merry band.

The stands included a traffic accident ridden with technicians (shame!), a chemical attack, a bogged-in vehicle, lots of enemy at 100, 200 and 300 meters, a night time wander in the Longmoor countryside culminating in a swift couple of laps over the assault course. The teams could have been forgiven for thinking that this was a very unrealistic scenario, no EFI, pirate videos or cheap Rolex's, not the normal operation!

The Pistol Range
(L-R): Sgt Fardy, Cpl Thomas, Sgt Towers

WELCOMES

The Squadron would like to give a warm welcome to the following; the Chief Clerk SSgt Andy Rutt AGC, SSgt 'Taff' Parsons (REME), Sgts Shaun Pargin, Steve Jackson and Shaun Fardy as well as LCpl Amanda Wright (our 1st Installation Tech), Sigs Michael Shepley and Mick Martin.

ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM

Check Out the Museum Shop

THE MUSEUM AND SHOP

Opening Times;

Mon – Fri (All Year) 10.00 – 5.00.

Weekends(Feb-Oct)10.00 – 4.00.

Presents & Gifts for all the family

New Childrens Toys & Gifts
Childrens Camouflage Uniform
Camouflage Pen and Pencil Sets
Tools and "Gadgets" for Dad
Uniform & Accessories
Books, Prints and Cards

Sig Patch Cummings at work on exercise - needs to grow a bit!

Dad's Army.
Mum's Army.
Kid's Army.

We help everyone connected with the Army.

The Army is like an extended family. When necessary, everyone rallies round. However, when the need becomes more specialised and more substantial resources are required, people turn to us.

The Army Benevolent Fund provides support for soldiers, ex-soldiers and their families when they are in need. But to continue our support, we need yours.

By making a donation or leaving a legacy you'll be providing the 'reinforcements' our soldiers rely on.

Please give generously.

ARMY BENEVOLENT FUND

I wish to donate the following amount to the ABF £_____ ☐

I enclose a cheque/PO made payable to the Army Benevolent Fund ☐

OR please debit my ☐ Visa ☐ MasterCard ☐ CAF Card

A/C No. ___/___/___/___ Expiry Date __/__

Name .....
(your name as it appears on the card)

Signature..... Date__/__/__
(This donation is invalid if this form is not signed)

Please send to: Army Benevolent Fund, 41 Queen's Gate, London SW7 5HR. Please enclose your name, address and post code when donating. For information on making or changing a will, Gift Aid donations, payroll giving and supporting fund-raising activities call 020 7591 2000.

(Registered Charity No. 211645)

JOINT COMMUNICATIONS UNIT FALKLAND ISLANDS

JCUFI UHQ
OC Maj Ian Hunter
USM WO2 Karl Weaver

It has been a busy period for all in the HQ of JCUFI during the past two months, with two major exercises involving the staff from PJHQ, and a major Infantry exercise on West Falkland. Welcome also to the new Second in Command Flight Lieutenant Helen Wass, who replaces Flt Lt Mark Wright, as the RAF's major influence on events in JCUFI. The units charity efforts have started in earnest with a sponsored cycle ride to Stanley, (a round trip of 68 miles), and another trip is planned to Darwin in the near future.

SOUTH GEORGIA
Ops Offr Lt Jon Mayne

As the long suffering JCUFI Operations Officer, with a string of thoroughly important but very tedious jobs to do, when the opportunity was given to escape my desk and take a trip to South Georgia, I jumped at the chance. I was given 18 hours notice of my impending trip as HQ BFFI had their act together in the usual organised manner. The situation was that the normal Royal Marines Mountain Leader in South Georgia was not being replaced, had been extended and was therefore granted R&R back in the UK. I was to go to South Georgia and replace him for six weeks, as being JSMEL qualified, I was the most suitable person to do the task. The sailing down on HMS Dumbarton Castle was thankfully calm and I had the JCUFI UQMS, Sgt Yendall for company. He was going to complete preparations for the withdrawal of the comms personnel and kit from South Georgia in March 2001 when the site will be handed over from the forces to The British Antarctic Survey. The weather was glorious as we approached South Georgia and the first views were absolutely breath taking. Snow covered peaks that rose straight from the sea, with glaciers plunging down the valleys between the peaks, with the odd iceberg floating by. The Garrison of approximately 25 military personnel is based at King Edward's Point near the old whaling station of Grytviken on the north coast of the Island. Because of the environment that the unit had to work in, my job was to act as safety cover and to take out any of the soldiers on days off for trips out into the mountains. Several trips out into the hills including cross country skiing were undertaken during my time, and during other periods my time was taken up by tasks such as re-laying some of the cables around King Edward's Point in preparation for the draw down. I returned to MPA in the Falklands after five glorious weeks on the Island, and my thanks go out to Capt Ian Brown Royal Engineers, and all of his detachment for my time there. Cpl Hart and LCpl Tasker left with me, leaving Sgt Nesbit to continue running the Island's communications assets until the close down is complete, so good luck to him!

ALPHA TROOP, RADCON - by Sig 'Silky' Wilkie
IC Sgt Charlie Hart

Things are now running like clockwork down at Radcon (well, almost) and a few good byes and welcomes have to be said. First of all sadly going back to Krefeld is Sgt 'Tiny' Tindale, and off to 14 Sig Regt is Sgt Dean 'Treat Yourself' Wilson. A warm welcome goes out to the newest members of Radcon (all the way from South Georgia) are Sgt Charlie Hart and Sig Adam 'Random' Tasker. With not a lot to do around these parts, a few of the Radcon 'Radges' have been keeping themselves busy with a few charity events. Cpl Nikki Davies raised a few quid for doing a sponsored bike ride from MPA to Stanley. Sig Iain 'Sherminator' Bibby, fresh from the march and shoot competition with Sig Chris 'Silky' Wilkie in which they finished a respectable third after the RLC, is off again on Ex Commando Challenge. He also hopes to collect some money for a worthwhile cause. The 'Radges' were also congratulated by Lt Col Rusby on an outstanding performance during Ex Purple Strike, when we provided communications throughout the Islands.

On a lighter note, Cpl Winston 'Dodgy Deals' Whyte has asked if anyone would like to invest in shares before he floats his latest venture on the Stock Market. The news from the hill tops is that Mount Adam has a new Crew Woman replacing Sig Aaron 'Fingers' Lightly which we are all sure will brighten up LCpl 'Itchy' Richie Harris' and Sig Mick 'Three Legs' Qualtrough's days (seeing as they haven't seen a woman in three months!) The lucky lady picked for this joyful task was LCpl Helen 'Warrior' Winterson.

LCpl J. J. 'Rambo' Roberts, Sig Andy 'Oldman' Porter and Sig Lee 'Virg' Parkin at Campito would like to say one thing, 'Dooe offee...Falklands?' Congratulations are also in order for the crew of Radcon and the hilltops that came off the board. Well done to Sig Nicky Brown, Sig Andy Porter, Sig Adam Tasker and Sig Mick Qualtrough (Get the slabs in.) On a final note, 'You're only as sharp as your knife.'

BRAVO TROOP JCUFI. (COMMCEN) - by LCpl Matt Childs
Tp Comd WO (CY) Ian Brown RN

It's now November, and the Squadron is already half way through its tour of the Falklands. Doesn't time fly when you're having fun! All the COMMCEN personnel are well into the routine of 2/2 and 2 off, and the time just seems to be whizzing by. Especially for the likes of Cpl John McGee, Cpl 'Ritchie' Applegarth and Myself, who have all been short – toured by three months, and are off back to sunny Krefeld on the 22nd of this month. We will use the time in Krefeld for some well-earned kidney rehabilitation!

The JCUFI band is now well up and running, after a name change, and is now called 'Last Orders'. The line up is Sgt Dave Burke on drums, Cpl Levi Wilson on lead guitar, Cpl 'Simmo' Simpson on rhythm guitar and JT Dave Kilgour on the 'rubber' bass guitar. They have been 'gigging' all over the base, and have done a charity gig down in Stanley recently. Well received by all, they have provided some welcomed relief from what normally passes for 'entertainment' down here. (When the bassist is sober at any rate!). We also had a CSE on MPA last month. The one and only Tony Hadley, complete with naff eighties haircut, came all the way down to the South Atlantic, and blew us all away with some blasts from the past from the eighties. Proof positive that once belonging to a dodgy 'New romantic' band doesn't do any harm to your career.

The Troop welcomes SAC 'Dangerous' Brian Mott onto B Watch, WOM Marie Mackenzie, also to B Watch, WOM Jenny Brown and SAC Michelle Marchant onto A Watch and Cpl Angie Witherall onto C Watch. Goodbye and good luck to WRO Helen Saunders, WOM Kerry Cooper and Cpl Al McCormack. All the best folks, wherever you end up. Congratulations to Sig Sam Clarke on being selected for promotion to Lance Corporal and for her sterling effort in the Inter Unit March and Shoot competition. (You can give the Techs back their cornflakes box now Sam).

We have Ex Commando Challenge coming up in the next few days, which will re – tread the route taken by 45 Commando during the 1982 conflict, with the team tabbing from Teal Inlet to Stanley over a two day period. The COMMEN will be represented by Sig Sam Clarke (That's twice Sam, get the ale in!), we all wish her good luck. That's all for now from the whacky world of Bravo Tp, COMMCEN Falklands, except for a special mention to WO (CY) Ian Brown and PORS Chris Kierstenson for the best haircuts sported by RN personnel. This is also my last set of WIRE notes, as I am off home in seven days. It's been fun (I think?). Watch this space.

CHARLIE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Harriet Hebblethwaite

Now half way through the tour, and we are still as busy as ever in Charlie Tp. In the last couple of months, members of the Troop have participated in the March and Shoot Competition run by the RIC, Exercise Purple Strike and Exercise Commando Challenge, an arduous 2-day march from Teal Inlet to Stanley. Thank you very much to 81 (V) Sig Sqn who came down as part of Ex Falkland Sound. This was a two-week exercise with the aim of installing as much cable as humanly possible in the shortest possible time. No mean feat I can tell you! R and R has started in earnest with most people heading for sunnier climes, all except Sgt Gaz Topps whose tan was not acquired from Ascension Island. Not having had enough of miniscule remote islands, I am off to Easter Island today to drink copious quantities of cocktails and bask in the Polynesian sun! Finally congratulations to Sig Niall Marshall and Sig Jim Brampton who have recently been selected for promotion.

FALKLAND ISLANDS TRUNK and TELEPHONE EXCHANGE SUPPORT TEAM (F.I.T.T.E.S.T)
by LCpl. 'Denzil' Depport.
IC Sgt Chris Crompton

Well, we've reached the halfway point in the tour now, and the weather still doesn't seem to be improving much. Workwise we are as busy as ever, so much that the workshop kettle is feeling a little neglected (though that's probably due to the fact that everybody's too lazy to make the brews). Three months into the tour, and we still haven't had word from our three mountain site Tech's (Cpl 'Tipsy' Routledge, Cpl 'Pretty Drunk' Hine and Cpl 'Totally Incapacitated' Robson). However, reports indicate that they are so busy up on the mountains that they don't have time to contact us (well, that's what they tell Syscon). Our most highly exalted IC, Sgt 'Steve Tickle' Crompton is absent at the moment, down to an unfortunate incident at Port Stanley Hospital, where a simple hernia operation went horribly wrong and something else was removed by mistake. For some reason he now has a much squeakier voice and insists on being called Christina! Cpl 'Huey' Simpson and his band 'Last Orders' entertained the residents of Port Stanley recently, which included such distinguished guests as the Governor of the Falkland Islands himself. The band managed to set a new record down here, clearing Port Stanley Town Hall faster than the Argentinians filled it in 1982. RAF Mechanics have finally discovered the reason why the Chinooks never seem to work. Cpl 'Meccano' Baulch, whose obsession with taking things apart and storing them for no apparent reason, has at last backfired after two rotor blades were found in the UQMS store. His, 'You never know when we might need them,' line didn't seem to wash with OC Air Wing. LCpl 'Colin McRae' Jordan is still looking for any openings in the field of Crash Test Dummy's. He is so desperate in his search that he has now got an impressive tally of two RTA's, Landrover take note! Last but not least, I'd like to say a little something for LCpl 'Smoky' Ross, but unfortunately he spends so much time advertising for Marlboro that there's nothing else to say about him!

LINE SECTION
IC Sect Sgt Dave Cascarino

In the past few weeks it has been an extremely busy time for Line Section, with the pending visit of 81 (V) Sig Sqn on their annual 'Busman's Holiday', it's been all hands on deck to prepare for their arrival. The project's crew, led by Cpl Glen Sunderland have managed the awesome task of completely tracing all the cabling in 12 and 38 Facilities. Sigs Jarred Morris and Jim Pearson now know the place like the back of their hands! Any Telemechs reading this article will know that this is probably a first since MPA became operational - a complete set of up to date records for the accommodation - a major achievement! At the beginning of November the TA arrived to assist us in the complete re-wire of the two Facilities, a mammoth task that involves 1000metres of cable tray and more than 6000metres of internal cable, I hope your tie wrapping skills are up to it lads! In addition to the re-wire of the accommodation, we also have a crew from 81 (V) Sig Sqn arriving to install a fibre optic network station wide, a total of approximately 7000metres of cable. To prepare for this LCpl Sharon McCreaddie and her crew of 'Line Dogs' have been busy inspecting and cleaning 150 cable pits, pulling in draw cords and generally having fun! Sigs Lee Moody, Simon Woodworth and Michelle Bargery are now all experts in using sump pumps and the mighty fibre glass mouse. As well as all the preparation going on, normal life in Line Section has carried on at the hectic pace to which we have become accustomed. Sig Tony Barclay has transformed the section stores areas into something that actually resembles a store - well done! Sig Mark Powell has maintained his tyrannical grip on the faults crew and has now got his name in bold print on the back of the fault controller's chair. LCpl Dave Healy and Sig Jim Brampton have toiled endlessly as the faults crew - don't worry guys there is light at the end of the tunnel!

POWER SECTION - by Cpl Casswell
IC Sgt Gaz Topps

The last month has been a busy time for the JCUFI Power Section, who are now involved in the hand over of the remote generator sites to Turners. Now that the contract has finally been signed, the checking and cleaning of the sites is now completed and the transition period is in full swing. Sgt Topps has been busy organising the JCUFI entrants into the March and Shoot Competition, and also into this year's Commando Challenge Competition. The March and Shoot Team finishing a creditable 12th out of 14 teams 11 of which were made up from the Resident Infantry Company and the RAF Regiment.

The course involved a five mile timed march, starting on the Darwin road, and finishing at Mare Harbour ranges. The culmination of the competition was a falling plate shoot in which the team did fairly well considering that they were the only team that had iron sites fitted and the targets were out at a range of 200m. Ex Commando Challenge is now taking place, with three of the section taking part in this charity event. The Exercise involves a team of eight people tabbing from Teal Inlet to Port Stanley across country some 48 miles, following the route that 3 Comdo Bde took during the 1982 conflict. Sgt Topps is the section commander with LCpl Cranney and Sig Marshall, making up the hard core of the team. The remainder of the team being made up from the various other sections within JCUFI. This event also finishes with a falling plate competition so we hope the team will fair better, against the likes of the Falkland Islands Defence Force, and the three other teams taking part in this arduous competition. The month has also seen Sig Marshall deploy on Ex Purple Strike with the boys from Radcon over to east Falklands, where he had great fun maintaining power for the Radcon CP. Congratulations to Sig Marshall for his promotion to Lance Corporal, well deserved! Well done, congratulations also to his long-term girlfriend Samantha Clark, who is also part of the Squadron. The Section also wishes to say a huge goodbye to Cpl 'Caz' Casswell, back to Germany where Jo will have to get used to him being at home again. Good luck Jo!

REMEMBRANCE PARADE SATURDAY 11 NOVEMBER 2000

On Saturday 11 November 2000 a small Remembrance Parade was attended by elements from all three services of JCUFI, held at Pleasant Peak Memorial. The memorial is situated close to Mount Pleasant Airfield and marks the spot where two Royal Signals Soldiers and the two Army Air Corps pilots were shot down and killed in the 1982 conflict.

The Ex Commander's Challenge Team
Top Row: Sgt Gaz Topps, LCpl Phil Brown
Front Row: Sgt Niall Marshall, Sig Bibby, LCpl Kev Cranney, Sig Wilkinson, Sig Sam Clarke, Cpl Baulch

1 (ROYAL BUCKINGHAMSHIRE YEOMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON (SPECIAL COMMUNICATIONS)

1 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Simon Gregory
SSM WO2 Dave Scott

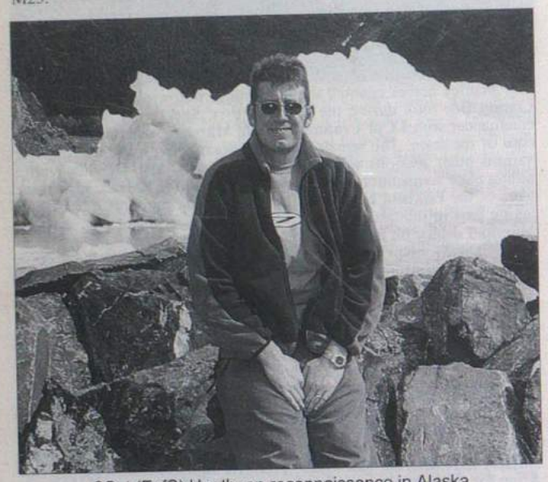
Traditionally the end of the calendar year has been a fairly quiet time for Special Comms, a chance to catch our breath before being catapulted into a New Year. Not so this year, with a later than usual Annual Camp dominating the period, and no let-up in the operational tempo. As these notes go to press, we are saying farewell to Sgt Jeff Hope-Jefferson, leaving the Corps for pastures-more-lucrative. We wish him well and thank him for his hard work in SC. We have also said best of luck to LCpl Paul Hadfield, leaving SC for the time being. Congratulations to him and to LCpls Mark Gower, Lee 'Splitter' Kemp and Sonja MacMillan on being selected for promotion at last. Congratulations also go to SSgt Dean Poole, for finally finding himself a house south of the M25.



SSgt (FofS) Heath, on reconnaissance in Alaska for next year's first exercise

ASSESSMENT COURSE 2 - 2000

The second Assessment Course of 2000 arrived in Bletchley on 10 September. The difference between this course and recent ones was that everyone was a volunteer wishing to serve with Special Comms. Everyone arrived not really knowing what to expect, but soon they found out that the DS were looking for something special. The course took shape and everyone was tested on a multitude of subjects such as giving a 25-minute presentation and participating in command tasks, and discussion groups. Interspersed with everything else was a good proportion of skills, primarily typing, at normal Corps standards. For those not taught Morse there was the chance to begin to teach themselves the art of changing dit's and da's into letters. At the end of a very good course, six out of the original eighteen students attempting the course were found suitable for further training in the art of Special Communications. Here's looking forward to the SC Course.

CAMP 2000 – by LCpl Colin Teo

Contrary to popular belief, annual camps don't start on the day marked 'Annual Camp'. For our Squadron, it started months earlier with the planners in the Ops and Training Cells. There was the usual action behind the scenes as the planners planned the plan. Suggestions for Bermuda and the Bahamas were turned down (come on, what would one do there? It would be a waste of two weeks..) in favour of somewhere much better –Denmark. The plan was that we would spend the majority of the two weeks being taught and tested on various skills, the fortnight culminating in the annual Runnel Stone Exercise held in Denmark.

How did it go? Very well indeed, all things considered. We got to Harwich on the Saturday, got on the ferry and arrived in Esbjerg, Denmark the next morning. Then came the road leg to Soegard Camp, the training barracks kindly loaned to us by the Danes. This was quite a modern barracks, located reasonably well away from temptation with very good accommodation and outstanding food. If you overdid the food, Cpl Sylv Hack and LCpl Roberts had the cure – this was PT. For those who think PT equals beasting, this was not so, with aerobics, fartlek training and sport making it more enjoyable (allegedly). The training occupied most of the days and evenings and was designed to upgrade and enhance skills. Thanks to the efforts of WO2 (YofS) Dave Hughes and the training staff, good results were achieved. Congratulations to those who passed their Class 3 to 2 upgrade – LCpls Stu Adams (also best student) and Colin Teo, who passed outright, and Cpls Mark Gott, Al Shrewsbury and Pete Litchfield plus LCpls Nick Vernon and Roberts. Congratulations also to LCpl Gareth Clarke for getting his Class 2 ED and the spark plug award, and Sig Nick Tustain for reaching Class 3 Tech status.

Lest anyone think our time was all work and no play, there were fun things to do as well. One could go out in the evening into Aabendra to have a quiet beer and a chat with the locals – despite the best efforts of 602 Troop who ran the en-suite bar back at camp. Not all the training was in the classroom either. Cpl 'Taff' Hamar and Cpl Mick Chapman did some fine cross-country driver skills training. This took place on a training area behind camp, lumpy, bumpy and wet, not helped by Danish APC's buzzing around at speed. It certainly increased the heart rate of the instructors, if not the students! There was also a competitive mil skills phase, with individual teams competing for the Brick Trophy with various stands and wet weather laid on for morale purposes. Brig Jackson, Director SC, visited the competition and witnessed various people dragging themselves through a small lake because they had not tied the command task rope tight enough.

Sig Nick Tustain listens in awe to the Director Special Communications

LCpl Ian McKerrow practicing the airborne role!

By the evening of the prizegiving, the Squadron had achieved its training goals and was moving up a gear to provide comms and support for Ex Runnel Stone. This is where teams of soldiers from the UK are deployed in SF type raids against the Danes, testing both them and their electric cattle fences. Each patrol had its Safehouse comms provided by a det from 1 Sqn in a location 'somewhere in Denmark'.

1 Sqn also provided its own bunch of cut-throats for a job of sabotage and subjugation. Led by Sgt Si 'Wes' Wesseldine, the team included two female saboteurs – LCpl Sam MacGillivry and Sig Tanya Whigham - and achieved its aims. Exactly how the patrol 'persuaded' the Danes to turn off the searchlight on top of their target must, unfortunately, remain secret for the next 30 years. Mention should be made of the excellent support available from the stores and the techs, both on the lead up to the exercise and during its execution. The MT and REME put a lot of effort in to keep vehicles serviceable, and it showed. Almost directly after the exercise, it was time to pack up and go home. Half the Squadron flew back to the UK by C-130, flying through the typhoon then sitting over Southern England. The rest returned by sea eventually, after being stranded in Esbjerg for two days waiting for the weather to clear up! All in all, an excellent and very busy camp, with plenty of war stories for the bar.

LCpl Colin Teo, Sig Karen Clarke and the SSM are presented with some giant Danish pastries

WANTED!

The Best Radio Sys Ops in the Corps

If you:

Rate yourself as a good operator,
Are adaptable and versatile,
Able to work on your own or in a small team,
Enjoy a challenge and
Enjoy foreign travel (often outside Europe),

Then Special Communications may be for you.

The next Spec Comms Assessment Course will be held in February 2001.
Those candidates assessed as suitable will be invited back for Special Communications Course 1/01, from April to July 2001.

Apply now, using the form in SOinC PD 206, available through your Sqn Office or YofS.

For additional information, contact the 1 (RBY) Sig Sqn (SC) Training Wing on (9)4240 8518 / 01908 638518 or the Sqn YofS on (9)4240 8516 / 01908 638516

SPORT

GOLF

BLANDFORD GARRISON GOLFING SOCIETY
By Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, President BGGS

The Winter Season is well underway and BGGS hits The WIRE with a good measure of success. CAPTAIN'S DAY at The Ashley Wood on 23 August was sponsored by Lloyds TSB. We were fortunate that Dick Good (an ex-Adjutant of 11 Sig Regt) represented the sponsors and presented the prizes. Not only did our Captain, WO2 Steve Bartram organise an excellent day but he also walked off with some of the prizes. He was the overall winner and winner of Division One. WO1 Mark Elliott won Divison 2 and Cpl Spittles won Division 3 just before completing his upgrading course. We are very grateful to Lloyds for their support and hope that Stuart Brooks the Group Director will be fit and able to join us next year. There was a remark that Dick only did it to get his photo in The WIRE again – some Adjutants never retire!

The BGGS Autumn meeting, sponsored by Trend, was held at Wareham. Unfortunately, the weather was not kind and the Club inadvertently put us on winter-greens. We are thankful to Arthur Fisher for his support for the event and to Alan Langlands for presenting the prizes as Arthur was held up on business in America.

The 'low handicappers' reached the Inter Unit Scratch Finals and having been beaten by Pirbright went on to win the Plate. The team was WO2 Andy Harriott, Sgt 'Ski' Nowosielski, WO2 Steve Bartram, Cpl Andy Lane and SSgt Chris Hood. The Team was successful in the Inter Unit Handicap competition by beating 32 Regt RA – 8 up. Both the 'A' Team and the 'B' Teams are lying second in their leagues and on form have very good chances of winning when all the matches have been played.

Finally, we would all like to thank WO2 Steve Bartram, our Captain, for all that he has done for the Society and we send him our best wishes in civilian life as he leaves on his retirement and heads into the land of big pay cheques!!

Dick Good, Lloyd TSB presenting
WO2 Steve Bartram with his fine prize.
WO2 Mark Elliott and Capt Nick Bain were also prize winners

PUBLISH IT IN THE WIRE

The Editor is always pleased to receive interesting articles and action packed photos

ROYAL SIGNALS YACHT CLUB

Admiral	Brig C. J. Burton OBE
Commodore	Brig H. H. Ham CBE
Vice Commodore	Maj D. C. A. Ellis (94371 5299)
Rear Commodores:
Offshore	Maj K. Whitehead (Mil: 94381 2531)
Dinghy and Day boats	Maj J. F. Calvert (94777 2204)
Windsurfing	Maj D. I. Gilchrist (94631 4219
Yachtmaster (UK)	Maj J. S. Stuart (Mob: 0796 7043868)
(Germany)	Maj I. C. Gray (94371 2261)
Retired Members Representative	Lt Col (Retd) M. J. P. Collins
Secretaries:
General	Maj R. Gibson (94371 5577)
Windsurfing	Capt A. J. Mould (94344 5111)
Soldier Members:
Offshore	Sgt D. Sangster
Dinghy	LCpl S. Southan
Windsurfing	Cpl A. Varney

THE ROYAL SIGNALS WINDSURFING CHAMPIONSHIPS 2004

The Royal Signals Windsurfing Championships 2000 was held at the Weymouth and Portland Sailing Academy over the period 27-29 September, 2000, in very windy conditions. The racing was organised by the Competition Secretary, SSgt Finnegan, and the Race Officer was Mr Mike Roach. Accommodation was provided for competitors in tents at Wyke Regis camp looking into the teeth of the gales above Lyme Bay, with chefs kindly provided by 1 (Mech) Bde Sig Sqn and 12 (Mech) Bde Sig Sqn. Those who attended enjoyed three days of thoroughly challenging and highly competitive windsurfing, in the face of adverse weather conditions. The first day's competition was cancelled due to winds approaching 35 knots, with only a few experienced sailors taking to the water for a brief time. However, on the second day, the gales abated somewhat and provided high wind conditions of 18-24 knots, force 4-5 all day. This allowed the race officer to hold six races for the main and novice fleets - a very demanding day!

The novices sailed a shorter course and performed admirably to cope with such strong winds. The third day was similar to the second, with a further three races held. Safety boat cover was provided by Maj Fred Pyatt, 1 (Mech) Bde Sig Sqn and Cpl Anderton, 14 Sig Regt. Their presence was invaluable as they had a steady trade recovering those with broken equipment or just aching arms. Regrettably, the number of competitors was down considerably compared with previous years and less than expected. This was attributed to the general level of commitments currently experienced by the Corps, preventing several seasoned competitors and novices from attending, as well as resulting in an overall reduction in the number of active windsurfers.

The competitors were visited on the second day by the Admiral of the Royal Signals Yacht Club, Brig Burton and the Commodore, Brig Ham. The Admiral returned on the final day to present the prizes, together with a representative of the sponsors of the event, Mr Jeremy Martin, from Admiral Management Services. This provided an excellent closing ceremony to a very closely fought competition that many had feared would be cancelled due to the weather conditions. The event also marked the formal close of the Army windsurfing career of Maj Dave Gilchrist, who retires from the Army later this year. Maj Gilchrist has been a leading light in Royal Signals windsurfing for over 15 years and has brought countless new sailors into the sport, as well as setting an outstanding example in the competitive arena. His drive and enthusiasm will be sorely missed by all Corps sailors, as well as those on the Army and Combined Services circuits. It is hoped that he will return as a guest sailor to future Corps Championships. The results of the Corps Championships 2000 are shown below.

The overall winner was SSgt Norman Finnegan, 14 Sig Regt, 2nd was SSgt Barrie Raine, 35 Sig Regt and 3rd Maj Dave Gilchrist, 238 (London) Sig Sqn.

RESULTS BY CLASS

Novice Competition	Winner	- WO2 Hall	- 238 Sig Sqn
	Runner-up	- LCpl Pond	- 238 Sig Sqn
	(Only 1 point behind)
Lady	Winner	- Sgt Taylor	- 30 Sig Regt
Veteran	Winner	- SSgt Finnegan	- 14 Sig Regt
Super-Heavyweight	Winner	- SSgt Barrie Raine	- 35 Sig Regt
	Runner-up	- Cpl Varney	- 3 Div Sig Regt
Heavyweight	Winner	- Maj Gilchrist	- 238 Sig Sqn
	Runner-up	- SSgt Bennett	- 1 Mech Bde Sig Sqn
Lightweight	Winner	- Maj Bowles	- RSS
	Runner-up	- Capt Mould	- DGD&D
Overall Champion	Winner	- SSgt Finnegan	- 14 Sig

Maj Dave Gilchrist is presented with a painting of him leading the fleet, subscribed to by Corps windsurfers as a token of thanks for his Herculean efforts supporting the sport over many years

Interested in learning how to sail?

Come and learn the exciting sports of Dinghy sailing and Windsurfing at the

Mercury Sail Training Week 11 - 15 June 2001

At The Dale Adventurous Training Center

All administration, including instructors and equipment, are provided, just turn up and enjoy yourself

Contact: YofS R. Owens, 14 Signal Regiment (Electronic Warfare) 94359 5656

THE ROYAL SIGNALS ASSOCIATION

Patron: HRH The Princess Royal

President: The Master of Signals

Chairman: Major General A. H. Boyle CB

Vice Chairman: Brig N. F. Wood Area1; Brig W. H. Backhouse Area 2; Brig S. G. M. Gordon Area 3; Big K. H. Olds Area 4; Brig P. J. Evans CBE Area 5; Lt Col J. G. Billingham Wales; Maj R. Sampson CBE Scotland; Lt Col C. N. Lightfoot N Ireland

General Secretary and Treasurer: Col A. R. Carter MBE — Assistant General Secretary: Lt Col I. J. Hamilton
Welfare Secretary: Mrs J. Cornick — Administrative Officer: Mr P. J. Cuckow (Membership & Records)

Association Office, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, Dorset DT11 8RH. Telephone: Military System (9) 4371 2090 or 01258 48 2090. Welfare Secretary Telephone: Military System (9) 4371 2089 or 01258 48 2089.

All contributions for *The WIRE*should be addressed to the Editor and any queries referred to him on extensions 2079 or 2085. Internet: www.royalsignals.army.org.uk/museum/rsa.htm

The Association communicates with its Branches and individual members through the pages of The WIRE, which contains accounts of Branch affairs as well as a forecast of Association events.

Branch Secretaries are asked to check that their Branch Members receive sufficient copies of The WIRE. Association HQ can arrange for copies to be delivered in bulk to Branch Secretaries for further distribution if this is convenient: it helps us to save on postage.

Dates of Branch events can always be published in The WIREand should be submitted to the Editor. We also welcome letters, requests to contact old comrades and announcements of births, marriages and deaths. We hope that each Branch will contribute a short account of its activities, preferably with photographs, at least once a year.

CABLE LAYING

Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, Museum Director

I recently received the attached missive which is self explanatory. I thought it might ring bells with the 'Old Hairies' of the Corps. Incidentally, why are Linemen called 'Hairies'?

From: Miss Daphne Hort, Devizes. Eldest daughter of Maj Aylmer Hort (served 1917 – 60 including TA - Died 15 May 1981).

I have been sorting out some of my father's papers and came across this verse. He composed it in August 1917 whilst he was serving with the Egyptian Expeditionary Force. His diary records that he was involved in many incidents and there were many hazards whilst laying line with the RE Signal Service in the area of Beersheba. You may find his thoughts to be of interest to some of those who have been involved on similar duties since then.

CABLE LAYING
WITH THE EGYPTIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE – 1917

I am waiting for the day
When wireless is the only way
No lines as far as I can see
What a paradise for me

I wandered by the ancient road
And reached a spot all worn and brown
Where once a row of tents had stood
Where once the Corps had settled down

And then upon a heap of stones
An old exchange lay long disused
I stopped and gazed upon the bones
And standing there awhile I mused

What men have spoken through thy cords
What hands have made thy shutters fall
When once the red-tabbed overlords
Did pester thee with many a call

Thy day is past; perchance at night
Some phantom people use thee still
Some operators hid from sight
Still puts them through to where they will Daphne Hort

You will note that 'phantom people' is not in capitals!! If you know of any wartime poetry by members of the Corps we would be pleased to hear from you.

NEWS FROM THE AO'S DESK

My first duty is to offer a very warm welcome to Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB, as the new Chairman of the Association and to wish him an enjoyable tenure of office.

Branch News: Margaret Dadson (Hon Secretary Middlesbrough Branch) has moved to 4 Greenway, Eston, Middlesbrough TS6 9EQ. At their 114th meeting on 10 November 2000, the Central Committee of the RSA gave formal approval for the formation of new Branches at Berwick upon Tweed and Exmouth. They also approved affiliation to the 254 Old Boys Association and the Royal Signals Band Reunion Association. Those holders of the Branch Secretaries List should add under Affiliated Associations the following should be added - 254 OBA, Mr G. T. Severs, 22 Dallington Close, Burhill Road, Hersham, Walton on Thames, Surrey, KT12 4JG. Royal Signals Band Reunion Assn - Mr K. Lugg, 13 Medbourne Close, Blandford Forum, Dorset DT11 7UA. Add to Area 1 - Berwick Branch - Mr F. Dempster, Jerih Cottage, Low Cocklaw, Berwick TD15 1UY. Tel: 01289-386687. To Area 5 they should add – Exmouth Branch, Mrs O. Irving, 15 Lime Grove, Exmouth, Devon EX8 5NN Tel: 01395-227308, E-Mail: w.irving@breathemail.net.

RSA Annual Reunion: For those who still do not know, this year's Reunion will be held at Blandford over the weekend 23/24 June. All members, their family and friends are welcome to attend. Detailed instructions should be sent out in March to those on the mailing list. If you do not get your copy, call Association HQ. Members of Branches may obtain details from their Hon Secretary.

Corps RSM: Those members who attended the Reunions and have come to know him as a true friend of the RSA will, I am sure, join me in congratulating WO1 (Corps RSM) Geoff Hodgson on his commissioning last November. Geoff is now the Adjutant of 33 Sig Regt (V) in Liverpool.

AGM 2001 & Branch Representatives Meeting: The meeting will be held in Chelsea Barracks at 1030hrs on Saturday 7 April.

New Life Members: A warm welcome is extended to the following who have enrolled as Life Members since the last issue of The WIRE -

Name and Former Rank	Branch	Served
LCpl Carol Hodgetts	Newark	1976-79
Sgt Dean Woodward	RHQ	1986-00
Cpl Rhys Goodwin	RHQ	1955-58
Maj John Morrison	Beverley Ex-Boys Assn	1952-87
Dvr Bill Davidson	Berwick	1940-46
Sig Stuart McKenzie	Berwick	1952-54
Sig Richard Bull	Salisbury	1945-48
Dvr Bob Fenney	Colchester	1938-46
Sgt Liz Watts	RHQ	1992-99
Sig Maurice Pilkington	RHQ	1943-47
Sig A. L. Drew	East Kent	1959-62
Sgt K. J. Roberts	RHQ	1977-90
Sgt Mark Stapleton	RHQ	1977-00
Sgt Chris Van den Kerkhof	RHQ	1977-00
Sgt Craig Avey-Hebditch	RHQ	1977-00
Cpl John Gregory	RHQ	1954-56
Maj Bob Yeomans MBE	RHQ	1962-00
Lt Col John Young	RHQ	1963-00
Sig Ken Moore	Birmingham	1954-56
Cpl Gerald Stone	East London	1986-date
LCpl Susan Hutson	East London	1991-96
Sig Kamaljit Ahluwalia	Middx Yeomanry Assn	1981-86
Cpl Dave Christison	RHQ	1991-00
Sgt Phil Davies	RHQ	1986-00
Sig Martin Earle	RHQ	1990-00
Cpl Bob Nixon	RHQ	1993-00

LCpl Neil Smith	RHQ	1992-00
Maj Alan Madsen	RHQ	1981-00
Sig John Parsons	RHQ	1951-53
Sig Jack Ingham	RHQ	1941-46
Sig Mark Grieveson	RHQ	1980-85
Sig R.A. Marriner	Swindon	1951-53
Maj Phil Brown	RHQ	1979-00
Sgt Yvette Grandfield	East Kent	1942-45
Sgt Derek Smith	Beverley Ex-Boys	1950-61
Cpl Tony Smith	RHQ	1962-78
Cpl Stephen Smith	RHQ	1984-94
Sgt Stephen Elsey	RHQ	1965-76
Sig Gwen Elsey (nee Kaye)	RHQ	1976-77
LCpl David Wilmot	RHQ	1993-00
SSgt Philip Locker	RHQ	1977-00
Cpl Christopher Sweeney	RHQ	1990-00
Sig Pamela Young	RHQ	1999-00
SSgt Mark Bristow	RHQ	1977-00
Cpl Stephen Mallaney	RHQ	1976-00
Dvr Eric Thompson	RHQ	1954-63
Sig John Boyd	RHQ	1951-53
Maj Norman Baker	RHQ	1943-70
WO2 William Ironside	RHQ	1975-97
Dvr A. R. Siddall	Chesterfield	1950-53
Cpl George Cartledge	Chesterfield	1949-51
LCpl Derrick Evans	Shropshire	1956-67
Cpl George Burns	RHQ	1975-90
Cpl Bob Miller	Southport	1971-93
LCpl Eric Grady	Southport	1960-63
Sig Bill Penkeyman	Southport	1958-60
LCpl Michael Leet	Newcastle	1992-00
WO2 Mark Gibbons	RHQ	1976-00
WO2 Nigel Thomas	RHQ	1977-00
Maj Carole Murdoch	RHQ	1991-01
Lt Col Malcolm McKinlay	RHQ	1972-00
Maj Allan Duncan MBE	RHQ	1964-00
LCpl Jim Claffey	Glasgow	1975-81
Sgt E. F. Butler	Glasgow	1979-86
SSgt Jean Thomson	Glasgow	1984-date
WO2 N. Sproul	Glasgow	1985-date
LCpl C. R. Lintott	Glasgow	1959-67
Cpl Gerry Houldsworth	Southampton	1854-57
Maj Julian Webster	RHQ	1959-92
Sig Rick Melia	Aberdeen	1999-date
Lt Ron Needs	RHQ	1944-47
Cpl Bryan Hopwood	Norfolk	1950-55
Sgt Norman Love	Norfolk	1940-46

ALDERSHOT BRANCH

Our Autumn Luncheon was held at the Army Golf Club on one of the few fine days in October, sunny, though too chilly to take pre-lunch drinks on the terrace as we have on many occasions even so late in the year. It was a convivial gathering at which we were joined by friends both from neighbouring Branches and of our Members. As guests of the Branch we were happy to welcome Dick and Susan Crombie. When Colonel Dick addressed us after lunch it happened to be one of his last speeches as Regimental Colonel and we were pleased to hear that he is taking up the appointment of Commandant of the Cadet Training Centre in Frimley. As this is only a stone's throw away from us we look forward to welcoming him as a Member of the Aldershot Branch and to seeing him and Susan at many a gathering in the future. Not the least of our pleasures was to have Bruce Beattie with us after a serious illness. Bruce has a very long association with Aldershot Garrison and although they do not live locally he and Jeanne are staunch supporters and join us on every occasion they are able. Welcome home! Lt Col Lynn Relph was the guest of Noel and Edelgard Moss and we extend her a warm welcome to the Aldershot Branch. In November we enjoyed a 'pig and whistle' occasion when Carole and Hywel Thomas organised a pub lunch at The Woolpack in Elstead. Having, it seems, only lately disposed of our Autumn gathering, our Spring Luncheon is to be an early event, owing to a formal Branch Dinner to be held in April. Our Spring Lunch and AGM will be on Sunday 4 February 2001 in the Garrison Sergeants' Mess and the cost will be £12 per head.

DON'T SEND US DIGITAL PHOTOS

as most of them are only saved at 72dpi. For publication they must be a MINIMUM of 300-400dpi!

BATH & DISTRICT BRANCH

Since our last report the Branch has enjoyed a Curry Lunch in May and a Barbecue in August. Both of which were well attended and enjoyed in lovely weather in the beautiful setting of Pockeridge House, 2 Signal Brigade, at Corsham, Wiltshire. The photographs show the Chairman of the Branch, Lt Col Geoff Oakley enjoying a beverage with Maj Jim Peck at the Barbecue; and our Treasurer, John Allen with the Committee members Roy Baldwin and Bristol Secretary, Ray Rigg with their wives.

In October we had our Annual Luncheon in the WOs' and Sgts' Mess, 21 Signal Regiment (Air Support), where we had the pleasure of the company of Lt Col I. J. Hamilton and his wife, Brig & Mrs N. C. Jackson representing the CO 21 Signal Regiment (AS), Maj & Mrs T. Dean representing 2 Signal Brigade and WO2 D. A. Giles from 21 Signal Regiment. The Standard was paraded by Committee Member Roy Platten. The Standard was also paraded by Cpl Mark Mitchell, 21 Signal Regiment (AS) HQ Sqn, on Saturday 11 November at the War Memorial, Combe Down, Bath and on Sunday 12 November through the city of Bath for the Memorial Service at Bath Abbey. Also on Sunday the Branch wreath was laid at the War Memorial in Bath by the Branch Chairman, Lt Col Geoff Oakley.

It is a continued sorrow that it is almost impossible to get younger retired members of the Corps to take an active part in Branch meetings and it is only due to the helpfulness of Capt Miles, the PSAO, that we have Cpl Mitchell to parade our Standard. The next meeting of the Branch will be the AGM in April 2001.

At the Committee Meeting of the Bath and District Branch of the Association, held on Monday 4 December 2000, a presentation was made to the present President of the Branch, Maj John F. Everett MBE TD MA. It was Honour Membership of the Association, together with a letter of Commendation from Maj Gen A. Yeoman CB, Chairman of the Association.

In 1949 Maj John Everett was one of the founder members of the Bath and District Branch of the Royal Signals Association and has been a most enthusiastic and active supporter of the Branch and all its activities since then. His encouragement to other members of his TA Regiment to join and support the Signals Association fully earned him the soubriquet, 'Father' amongst those still with us. John along with a few very loyal members kept the Branch going through the years with meetings and social activities held in various hostelries and clubs throughout Bath. In November 1976 he took over as President of the Branch and, after nearly 25 years in the post, continues to give it his enthusiastic involvement. The move of HQ 2 Signal Brigade from Aldershot and 21st Signal Regiment (AS) from BAOR into our District area gave the opportunity for a new lease of life to the Branch which Maj Everett fully grasped. He is very aware of the need to encourage younger and more junior members to the Association and communicates his views whenever the opportunity arises.

Over the years he has looked forward to and regularly supported the Royal Signals Association Reunion weekends at Catterick and Blandford where he was to be seen in the marching contingent for the Sunday morning church service. He is also a regular supporter of the Royal Signals Officers Annual Luncheon at Blandford. John can always be seen on parade representing the Branch at the annual morning Remembrance Day Service at the Cenotaph in Bath and, until last year, paraded and marched to the Abbey for the afternoon service. Maj John Everett has given nearly 60 years of active involvement and support of the Royal Corps of Signals and outstanding service to the Royal Signals Association.

Maj John F. Everett MBE TD MA

Lt Col Geoff Oakley and Maj John F. Everett MBE TD MA

The Committee of the Bath & District Branch of the RSA

John with some Members of the Association

BRIGHTON BRANCH

Our autumn programme got off to a splendid start. Steve White, our energetic new committee member, belongs to the St John's Ambulance Brigade and arranged for no less than six of their ambulances to come to our drill hall for us to have a good 'looksie'. They ranged from one of the earliest models to the most modern. The event was well attended, with the ambulances arousing a great deal of interest, thank you Steve.

For our October meeting Dee Barber, our hard working Secretary, arranged for her colleague, Judie Marland, to come and give a talk on the housing of ex-offenders. We had a good audience and a very lively discussion ensued. There were many different views expressed. Several speakers asked what happened to ex-offenders when they 'moved on'? Other wanted to know how many of those people re-offended? There were many who wished to know how many were successfully brought back into the community? Many thanks to Judie and Dee for such a thought provoking meeting.

Now what about our Annual Dinner/Disco? How did it fare? It was a great success. We changed hotels to the Courtlands in Hove, in the Drive just off the seafront. It had just been redecorated and the staff were most anxious to please. It is true that they lost your 'humble scribe's' bottle of wine, but they soon brought another one. It appeared that one lucky table had a free bottle! A few other changes were made. There were gentle hints about suitable dress, on this point everybody agreed. The number allowed to attend was cut back to 105 people. There is always the danger of overcrowding at these functions. Several people were unable to get tickets, as a result of this one person has already paid for next year! We were delighted to welcome our guests from Blandford Col (Retd) Cliff Walters and his wife Judy. Cliff is doing great things with the museum, he is the new Director.

(L-R): Bob Downs, Judy Walters, Col (Retd) Cliff Walters

He made an entertaining and forward thinking speech. The museum is in good hands. No event would be complete without our President, Brig Colin Brown and his wife Heather. Colin always 'chairs' the top table so smoothly.

(L-R): Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, Brig Colin Brown, Heather Brown

Members of 884 Troop at the Brighton Dinner/Disco

Finally it is a pleasure to note the presence of Alan Foot, the founder of our Branch. He comes a long distance to be with us every year, thank you Alan.

After the efforts of the Dinner/Disco November was a relatively quiet time. There was our Annual Fish & Chips Night. We all sat down and munched. Of course some thought of salt and vinegar some did not. many thanks to Gordon Holloway for going and getting the fish and chips.

Our December meeting is always Father Christmas and the children. Father Christmas had to be a Miss (Father) Xmas and of course many many presents were in her bag. There were about fifty adults and it seemed thousands and thousands of children, all very well behaved. Dee found a musician and he was first class. We had a few carols and one or two children played recorders. One pleasant surprise was that Colin and Heather were both able to be with us. Mince pies and sausage rolls made a good end to the evening. We have one more event to come and that is a Christmas Luncheon at the Ashby Hotel. They have a splendid chef and we all remember his summer effort with poached salmon with all the bits and pieces but you, dear reader, will have to wait for the report in April's copy of The WIRE, next year. Did I hear a groan and a comment 'no more'?

Your humble scribe's daughter has just asked whether he has finished - very nearly - Did he want a chocolate drink? No thank you but a double Scotch wouldn't go amiss!!

EAST KENT BRANCH

Roy Andrews, for so long the scribe of the Branch Notes, has at last decided to stand down and hand over his quill to another. Donald Crisp, currently the Branch Chairman, has taken up the literary cudgel, in the hope that he can maintain the standard set by Roy for so many years, for which we thank him. However, he still remains the Southeast England representative with the RSA.

Social: From past sodden experience we fully expected that the annual Remembrance Day Parade in Canterbury would be an amphibious affair. This prompted the illustration below of what we though was proper preparation and planning by holding a dress rehearsal. No, not really! It was just another figment of the Chairman's imagination. However, in a perverse way we were disappointed by the weather which, whilst remaining vile, stayed dry during the period of the march made by 18 members to the cathedral. Brian Calladine, escorted by Keith Chambers and Roger Stone, paraded the Branch Standard at the head of our contingent and on up the hallowed aisle. As always, a moving service after which the parade reformed for the March Past to rousing military music and furled umbrellas. Afterwards lunch taken by 48 members in the County Hotel and Marion de Rose once again added to the Branch coffers by holding a raffle, altogether a most enjoyable day.

An 'ole in the ground: during the recent dreadful weather in the South and Kent in particular a large hole appeared overnight on the lawn of our Honorary Secretary's lovely home. The hole was some five foot wide and of an indeterminate depth – some say that Australians could be seen at the bottom – but one wonders what might have happened if said hole had appeared at the height of the festivities at Gen John's hilarious Romanesque Barbecue some weeks earlier. Would we have still been here? Would his household insurance cover the loss of so many valuable members? Would he care??

News of Members: David and Sheila Geary, having left the county for what they thought might be 'greener grass' in Suffolk, realised the error of their ways and have returned, thus refilling the position of Resident Camera Crew for the many Branch functions. Frank and Olive Castle are looking well and have recently celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. Marie Crisp was recently the recipient of a new hip, courtesy of Maidstone Hospital where the boiled fish proved to be an excellent way to encourage patients to go for a rapid recovery and an early discharge. She is now virtually stick-free although not yet able to 'bend the knee' despite regular instructions from her husband Donald. Pat Harlow daughter of the late and sadly missed, Tommy and Eaddie Thomas, was a welcome lunch member and we look forward to seeing her more often. Jimmy Hand, our Ex-Officio Recruiter, is still having problems that the Royal Marsden Hospital is dealing with. Jimmy is one of a number undergoing experimental gene therapy and we wish him well. Bill Lovett, our erstwhile Honorary Treasurer until he was taken ill and hospitalised, is now back home and recovering from something mysterious and as yet has not been diagnosed. Denis Murphy has also been a guest of the NHS but is also home and recovering so he also has our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

New Members: Mr & Mrs Geldart of Whitstable – Ted served from 1954-62 in the Cyprus Signal Squadron and later he served with 16 Signal Regiment. Mrs Yvette Grandfield of Lyminge served as a Sergeant in the ATS Signals in Northern Ireland, Brussels and Bad Oynhausen from 1942/45. Mr 'Smokie' & Mrs Dot Mears of Birchington. 'Smokie' served as a National Servicemen from 1952 until 1954 in Catterick, 6 Armd Bde and Signal Squadron followed by a period in the TA.

Late News: Gordon Alexander, alas one of our less mobile members, has discovered a shop which loans invalid chairs free and is now terrorising the pedestrians of Ramsgate!

EAST LONDON BRANCH

What a successful year 2000 has been for us all, being the 75th birthday of the Branch. Membership is still growing and we are getting regular support from all our Members.

Our first social function for the year was our Annual Dinner and Dance in March to celebrate our 75th year as a Branch of the Royal Signals Association. The function was held in the Drill Hall of 26 (E) Sig Regt (V), with 140 Members and friends in attendance. Our special guests for the evening were Lt Col Allan and WO1 (RSM) Bob Stanton and his wife Ann, from 36 (E) Sig Regt (V) and Mike Sexton, our Area Representative. It was pointed out to me, by one of our members, that RSM Bob Stanton's first function when he joined the Regiment was our Dinner and his last function was once again our Dinner.

In May out Committee organised a trip, by coach, to Chatham Dockyard and Museum that was very enjoyable The Blandford Reunion, in June, gave some of us a chance to come along, meet Members from other Branches and see our Standard Bearer, Rob Dyball, collect our 75 Year Pennant. We were all very proud on the day. In October our Supper Dance, with live music, was held once again in our usual venue of 36 (E) Sig Regt (V), with over 130 Members and friends attended.

November saw two trips arranged for the same weekend. The first was a coach trip to France to collect some of the Christmas shopping, for those Members wishing to go. The second trip was for the full weekend 4-5 November, when eight Members paid a visit to Ypres, Belgium. It was arranged by the Woodbridge Branch of the Royal British Legion. They went to see the battlefields of the First World War. They also visited the cemetary of 'Tyne Cot', where over 12,500 men are buried. The Branch Chairman, Peter Phillips and the Vice-Chairman, Paul Burton, laid wreaths at the Menin Gate on behalf of our Branch and the Royal British Legion. One of our Members, Roy Bilby, who is the Standard Bearer for the Woodbridge Branch of the Legion, carried the Standard with great pride as the 'Last Post' was sounded at the Menin Gate. To his delight he was asked if he could attend again the following evening.

Finally on 18 November, Members who knew the late Sgt Fred Backhouse and Members from Catterick and East London Branches, attended the laying of Fred's ashes in the grounds of the old 11 Signal Regiment (Catterick) where our Branch trees were originally planted. Barry Greenwood stood in as Standard Bearer during the Service which was taken by an army chaplain. Our Branch would like to thank Stan Perkins for his help in arranging the Service for Fred's family. Our thanks must also go to our Social Committee Ted Head, Anita and Neil Keen and Linda Cooper for all their hard work during the year. We look forward to another successful year in 2001.

GLASGOW BRANCH

In writing this report I regret to say, I have to report the death of a very popular member of the Branch, Roderick 'Roddy' M. Hendrie, at the age of 84. 'Roddy', was a Dunkirk Veteran and a 'Desert Rat.' At the Branch meeting on 21 November the Chairman asked members to stand for two minutes in silent tribute to 'Roddy'.

Another 'Jimmy' meal was held on Friday 3 November, thoroughly enjoyed by all the members who attended. The arrangement in the capable hands of WO1 (SVWO) Terry McVey, was also complimented by the excellent meal produced by Chef Cpl Debbie Carruthers and her staff. Held in the evening it has increased the number of Branch Members attending, what has now become known as the 'Jimmy Club'. As has now become the custom a short service was held at the War Memorial at the Cross in Bishopbriggs near Glasgow, on 1 November at 11am when the two minute silence was observed. Attended by the Provost of East Dunbartonshire Council, who laid a wreath. Branch Member, Jim Prentice attended and laid a personal wreath with a 'Jimmy' insignia centre-piece. He also had to advise the Minister conducting the service as to the correct order in laying the wreaths, after the silence and not before as was initially instructed. Twenty-five Branch members attended with Bill MacNamara parading the Branch Standard, at the Remembrance Day parade in George Square Glasgow. The Branch's wreath, with the 'Jimmy' centre-piece was laid by Bobby Gilchrist. The Lord Lieutenant and the Lord Provost of Glasgow took the salute at the march past. Afterwards the Members who took the coach back to 32 Sig Regt, HQ, marched in front of the Regiment onto the square and they were then dismissed into the building, to a very appetising lunch, provided by Chef Cpl Debbie Carruthers and her Chefs.

The 10th Annual St. Andrew's Dinner/Dance, and 10th Anniversary year of the founding of the Branch, was held on Saturday 25 November 2000. The Branch President, Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB, presided. At the top table were the Branch Chairman, Joe Keegan his wife Cathie, outgoing Chairman, Bill Taylor and his wife Betty and Maj Maxwell TD 2IC, 32 Sigs. Regt. The company of 107 was piped into dinner by Pipe Maj Moir, who also played at intervals during the evening, receiving his reward of whisky in a quaich. The Loyal Toast was proposed by Elizabeth Graham, the toast to the Col. in Chief, The Princess Royal, proposed by member Jim Flockhart, the toast to the RSA was proposed by SSgt (SQMS) John Addison. The meal was superb, prepared by WO2 Master Chef John Wren and his Chefs. Sgt Danny Beattie supervised the waiters, who did an excellent job and were applauded for their contribution to making an evening, where nobody wanted to leave early. Maj Gen Anderson had welcomed the members and guests, apologised for the absence of his wife Margaret, who has not fully recovered enough to attend evening functions, but would hope to be able to attend future functions once fully recovered. Maj Maxwell gave a short speech on the role of the Royal Signals in today's conditions. Members of the Corps are scattered around the world, involved in the trouble spots, and it is not likely to get any better, so a lot of operations will fall upon volunteers from the Territorial forces. Gen Anderson thanked the Committee and Branch Members who support the organised functions throughout the year, and thanked the Commanding Officer and members of the 32 Sig Regt. for the use of their premises and their support, keeping the Corps family together. The President thanked the staff for the excellent meal and the service involved. Then he thanked Bill Taylor the outgoing Chairman, for his efforts in getting the Branch formed and his dedication and enthusiasm, in bringing it to the standard it has reached today. He then spoke of a Cpl Andrew Fraser of the 1st Battalion Royal Scots a regular soldier, who served from 1907 for 19yrs 222 days in the same Regiment, who died at the age of 79. He had been promoted to Sergeant but due to a lengthy spell in hospital with malaria and dysentery, did not obtain the substantive rank. Cpl Fraser moved from India to France in October 1914. He was in the trenches at Ypres where he was involved in six major battles including the 2nd Ypres. He moved to Salonika in 1915 and was subsequently invalided back to the UK. He was awarded the MM for Gallantry and devotion to duty, and the French Medaille de'Honneur in respect of his conduct in France. He also held the British War Medal 1914/20, Victory Medal 1914/18, LS&GC Medal with the Defence Medal for service in the Home Guard in WWII. Gen Anderson then asked, 'Why am I speaking of a soldier from another regiment? Because a member of this Branch, Mrs Catherine Lintott, the daughter of Cpl Fraser, had inherited these medals on the death of her mother, but the French Medal was missing. She had approached Branch Member Jim Prentice and he wrote to his friend Lt Cmdr RN (Retd) Ken Buckel in France for the address of the French Ministry for medals. Ken with the help of his daughter Sally in Paris, not only obtained a replacement medal from the French authorities, but said it would give him a great deal of pleasure, if Mrs Lintott would accept the medal with his compliments. The medal was sent to Jim who handed it on the night to the President, (who in turn had researched details of Cpl Fraser's records) to present it to Cathie on behalf of Ken and Sally Buckel. Cathie was thrilled to get the medal, tears streaming, she thanked the General and Jim. She held the medal for all to see amid applause and cheers from the members and their guests. She had no idea this had been planned in secret for weeks.

During the dance a raffle was held for a variety of prizes, a sum of £202 was raised for Branch funds. Just before the end of the evening a large square cake was produced with the icing of the 'Jimmy' Happy 80th Birthday Jim Prentice 28/11/1920, arranged by his daughters as a surprise. With the company singing 'Happy Birthday' whilst Jim blew out eight candles, before cutting it for all to get a piece. Jim was born in the year the Corps was formed, joined as a regular pre-war following in the footsteps of his grandfather who was a Colour Quarter Master Sergeant Royal Engineers 20th Sig Coy in WWI. A night of surprises.

MIDDLESBROUGH BRANCH

Our Chairman, Colin Dadson, unfortunately missed some of our earlier meetings this year, when his employment needed his presence in America. His location was in fact in Nashville or thereabouts; as one member remarked 'in the shade of Dolly Parton'.

On Sunday 10 September, like most neighbouring ex-Service Associations, we attended the Service of Thanksgiving and Remembrance at Eden Camp, near Malton. Despite the weather there was an excellent turnout, approximately 2000 ex-Servicemen, Servicewomen, wives, partners, husbands etc. attended. The Parade was led by the band of the Yorkshire Volunteers, followed by almost 100 Standards leading about 10000 ex-Servicemen and women, Land Army personnel and on this occasion Bevin Boys. The Rev John Manchester conducted the Remembrance Service, and Lt Gen Sir David Scott Barrett KBE MC accompanied by the Polish General, who has attended this occasion since it began some eight years ago, took the salute. The Parade was addressed by Lt Gen Scott Barren KBE MC, who expressed his surprise and great pleasure at the size of the turnout despite the weather. The overall attendance was down considerably, nevertheless it was a most impressive gathering. Our thanks must go to the Manager and Staff at Eden Camp for organising and coping with this massive attendance and mention must be made of the smart turnout of the Fusilier ACF who attended and their Officers and Senior NCO's and WO's who marshaled the Parade.

On Saturday 5 November, yes Fireworks Day, we invited members from other Associations in Area 1 to attend the Presentation of a 50 year Pennant to the Middlesbrough Branch and a Sunday Lunch at the TA Centre, Brambles Farm, Middlesbrough, 34 (N) Signal Regiment (Volunteers). Once again despite the weather we had an attendance of some 150 members. The Newcastle Branch was also awaiting presentation of a 75 year Pennant, and by arrangement this presentation was incorporated into the Ceremony performed by Maj Gen Archie Birtwistle. John Grange paraded the Middlesbrough Standard and the escorts were Audrey Grainge and Billy Watson. Incidentally Billy was presented with a 50-Year Badge after the Pennant Ceremony. The Newcastle Standard was paraded by ex-Cpl Harry Duncan and was escorted by ex-WO2 Ronnie Gordon and ex-Cpl Guy Turnbull. The ceremony was supported by a parade of Standards from the Darlington and Hartlepool Branches, the Korean Veterans, Combined Services, Army Vets and Burma Star Vets and Normandy Vets. To add to the occasion Members and guests had wined and dined before the ceremony. The lunch was prepared by Regimental Cook, WOI Neil Berry and ably assisted by LCpl Mooney. (Both members of 34 Sig Regt) and to say it was delicious would be an understatement. In September 1998 Neil prepared a lunch for us - that we considered excellent - how do you describe the one on 5 November. Our thanks are due to the Commanding Officer and the RSM of 34 (N) Signal Regiment (Volunteers) for the use of the Drill Hall, WO's and Sgts Mess and the JRC. Of course Bruce Bassett for his bar duties and to all those who helped and all who attended to make this a momentous occasion. Future activities involve a Social Evening in late November, a dinner and entertainment at The Ladle Restaurant and in early December incorporated with our monthly meeting a Christmas Raffle with which the Ladies will provide a buffet.

NORTHERN IRELAND BRANCH

November is always a busy month during the Remembrance period and the Branch was represented at various ceremonies. Firstly, once again, Vice Chairman Jim Reilly laid a wreath on behalf of the Branch at the civic ceremony, in the grounds of Belfast City Hall. At the Royal British Legion Pageant in the new Waterfront Hall in Belfast, the Branch was represented by Chairman John Brown and Harry Stanley. Then at the wreath laying ceremony at Palace Barracks, Holywood, Co. Down, George Cook and John Loveday attended on behalf of the Branch. On Remembrance Sunday the Branch led by our Chairman, John Brown, paraded under the auspices of 40 (U) Signal Regiment (V), to St Mark's parish church Belfast. The Standard was carried by Billy Dixon and the wreath was laid by Jim Reilly. After the parade John Brown laid a cross at the memorial in the TAVR Centre for our past Chairman, Tommy Maguire. All then partook of the hospitality of 40 (U) Signal Regiment (V), consisting of both solid and liquid refreshments. Thanks also go to Edgar McCall for the collection.

The Branch Committee met on Monday 4 December mainly to discuss a programme of social evenings for 2001. It is hoped to schedule specific months each year for talks or social events as we used to do some years ago. Three of our long serving Branch Members have not been well lately. They are Branch President, Maj (Retd) Bill Douglas, Billy Carey and Ernie Mansell. We send each our best wishes and hope for their speedy recovery.

Finally may we thank Lt Col A. P. R. Roberts, who is the CO and the RSM,WO1 (RSM) Chris McGinley, the Chief Clerk (sorry Christine but I can't remember your new title) and all in 40 (U) Signal Regiment (V) who facilitated the Branch during the year 2000. Also thanks to Peter Cuckow and all at RHQ/HQ, we wish everyone a happy and prosperous year in 2001. If you are reading The WIRE and are in Northern Ireland, then if you are not already a Branch Member or indeed are still serving, you are welcome to join us any third Wednesday of each month in Clonaver TAVR Centre, Belfast.

READING BRANCH

This Branch has recently experienced two sad events. Firstly, Vera, wife of our oldest member Maj Graham Robinson, died following a long illness. They had been married for 65 years and Graham, despite being ill himself, insisted on attending her funeral. Just four days after the funeral Graham himself died after suffering a stroke. He was 92, a great character and we shall miss him. The Branch was well represented at both funerals.

Now to happier times. Our third Christmas Party was well supported and judging by various comments was deemed to be a great success. The 'family' atmosphere was much in evidence with lots of members doing different jobs. We had an excellent Race Game organised by Jeff Hazel (former Chairman of the Branch) with David Norris (our 50-Club secretary) making a very able bookmaker. The buffet was provided by Thelma and John Wakefield (Social Secretary and Assistant) and their helpers. A very successful raffle was run by John Mumford (of Standard-Bearing fame) and Cheryl Jackson. The evening culminated with carol singing led by Alan Foot (our Branch Secretary) and accompanied by a real church organist on an electronic keyboard. This was probably the best part of a very good evening, and we were even congratulated on our singing that was not just loud but quite musical as well.

David Norris, as WO2 (QMSI) D.G. Norris, AGC (SPS), has finally hung up his spurs as a serving member of 71 (Yeomanry) Signal Regiment TA, which he joined upon its formation in 1969. He was the last serving Founder Member of the Regiment. His TA service, in 71 (Y) Signal Regiment and previous Infantry units in Berkshire, totals over 40 years and his retirement surely marks 'the end of an era'. David is also a founder Member of the present Reading Branch of the RSA, and he has served in various appointments on the Branch Committee continuously since 1971. He has been awarded Honour Membership of the Association and we hope to retain his services for many years to come.

SOUTHAMPTON & DISTRICT BRANCH

At the Branch social meeting on 7 November 2000, our Chairman, George Packer, presented a magnificent cake for auction. It was iced with the Corps' colours and surmounted with a 'Jimmy'. The cake had been especially designed and made by George's son Tony Packer. The top bid of £15 came from Tony Hull, a long standing Branch committee member and the Founder/Secretary of the Beverley Ex-Boys Association.

Tony Hull - Top Bidder

The annual Branch Christmas Lunch was held on Monday 4 December 2000 at the British and International Sailors Society Seafarers' Centre in Southampton. The gathered company of 27 sat down to an excellent meal, with a choice of turkey, Salmon or steak for the main course. The pulling of crackers and the wearing of festive hats soon relaxed everyone and put them in the Christmas spirit. As usual on these happy occasions, a short but appropriate speech was given by our President, Brig John Clinch CBE. He congratulated the Committee on their efforts which had made the lunch such a success and then called for the usual toasts. Ruth and Tony Dear, who organised the raffle, were assisted by Vera Packer and everyone present walked away with a prize.

The highlight of the Christmas Lunch was the presentation of the Association's 50 Year Certificate and Badge, together with a letter from the Association's Chairman, Maj Gen A. Yeoman CB, to the following members:

Brig J. C. Clinch CBE - The Branch President
Mr Ernie Budd - Committee Member
Mr Jack Cullingford - Member
Maj (Retd) W. C. (Peter) Loveless - Member

Presentations had already been made to the following Branch Members who, due to personal circumstances were unable to attend:

Mr Len Hill - Committee Member
Mr John Rush - Member
Mr Fred Griffiths - Member

In closing this ceremony, Peter Loveless gave quite a moving speech in which he expressed his personal tribute to the way in which the Branch had thrived and progressed under the current President and Chairman and to the sterling efforts of the Committee and the support of the Members themselves. The event drew to a close with those present having a determination to come together again at Christmas 2001.

(L-R): Jack Cullingford, Brig John Clinch CBE, Maj (Retd) 'Peter' Loveless, Chairman - George Packer, Ernie Budd

WEST LONDON BRANCH

We once again have changed our monthly venue. Our host Regiment having left their barracks for a lengthy period, we now enjoy the hospitality of the Royal British Legion Club in Richmond, where we meet on the last Friday of the month. On 16 October four of our Members went to the Tower of London to present a Plaque to the Yeomen Warders' Club, where we have been entertained on many occasions in the past. Cliff Wood, our Treasurer, was the original organiser in the eighties of our annual visits to Her Majesty's Palace and Fortress the Tower, since when we have enjoyed many a pleasant evening in the unique environment of this historic edifice. The photograph shows our Chairman, Maj Ron Miller, Cliff Wood, Ed Murphy and Stan Heath making the Presentation to Yeoman Warder John Kenny.

THE MIDDLESEX YEOMANRY ASSOCIATION

After the Christmas and New Year festivities, jogging appears to be the order of the day, not quite, let's just say that the Association is up and running, led by Col Simon Beazley, closely followed by our Chairman, George Key.

Our Annual Dinner at the Duke of York's HQ was a success thanks to our organiser, Maj 'Dusty' Miller. The 'Lafone' Day Parade, this year, was a short ceremony at St Paul's Cathedral. Unfortunately the Yeomanry Squadron was away on exercise and the Association Band were in the middle of moving from Uxbridge TAC to Hampton in Middlesex, so were unable to parade. The service in St Martin's was cancelled for the year 2000 only. Next year should see it all back to normal. The dinner will be on 19 October and Lafone Day on 21 October 2001.

The other date for your diary is 13 May 2001, the Cavalry Memorial Parade, not to be missed, around one hundred and fifty military musicians to entertain you. The Chairman and Committee wish you all a Happy New Year.

BEVERLEY EX-BOYS ASSOCIATION

After much campaigning and with the help of Lt Col Alan Davies, one of the new buildings at Blandford has been named 'Beverley Block' in honour of the 6 (Boys) Training Regiment based at Beverley in the 1950s. One of our members, John Wardle, has done a painting of the Beverley town crest (after we had obtained permission from the Town Council) with an explanation of the name and this has now been hung in the entrance hall of the building.

Whilst watching Countdown on 14 November my wife, Beryl, called me to say that one of the contestants had served 35 years in the Royal Corps of Signals. His name is Angus Cook, which sounded familiar so I telephoned him and he is an Ex-Boy and has now joined us. He is known as 'Gus'.

In our Christmas Newsletter we printed a list of people who attended our Reunion last October. Unfortunately we omitted the name of Ted Hunt, for which we apologise. We would like to welcome two new members, Gordon Cheyne and Bob McFarland, which brings our total membership to 159 at present. If anyone would like details of the Association, please contact Tony Hull on 01202 770261.

31 SIGNAL REGIMENT ASSOCIATION

Another busy year for the Committee led by Col Donald Crawford, so it's heads down for 2001. lots of goodies planned, so keep in touch. Please let our Membership Secretary, Chrissy Mills, know if you change your address.

By the time you read this we will have had our New Year Cheese and Wine Party. It is organised by our Secretary, Henry Holman. Other immediate dates are: Our Annual Dinner at the Duke of York's HQ on 31 March and our overseas trip to Ypres on 25-27 May 2001. For further information on the Ypres trip, ring 'Dusty' Miller on 01784 250756. We will be travelling on the ferry and not through the tunnel, by popular demand.

We said goodbye to the CO, Col Linda Harrison, and RSM, John Grigson, we can only hope that they passed on the information of 'How to take care of the Old and Bold' of the Association. The Chairman and Committee wish everyone all the best for 2001.

REUNIONS

MALTA/LIBYA COMMAND

YEAR 2000 RE-UNION
HELD AT THE QUALITY FRIENDLY HOTEL
LOUGHBOROUGH 29-30 SEPTEMBER

We met up in the lounge at 5.30pm and introduced new members to one another. Dinner was served in the restaurant at 7p.m. There was plenty of choice and it was an excellent meal. Afterwards it was back into the lounge for drinks and chat. Saturday, breakfast was at 8a.m. after which we hired a canal boat for the day, we had a fantastic time. At the end of the outward journey we had lunch at the Hope & Anchor pub. There was an extensive choice of meals and snacks, then it was back on to the boat for the homeward journey.

Captain of the Lugger – 'Geordie' Lawrence

By now our 'driver' Dennis Croot had got the hang of it, so we had a straight journey instead of a zig zag one. The rest of us were quite happy jumping off the boat to open the locks, a great day was had by all. Back at the hotel we held our AGM at 7p.m. It was chaired by Roy Andrews and was followed by dinner and then drinks in the lounge. On Sunday we had breakfast and then went our separate ways, a fantastic weekend.

ROYAL CORPS OF SIGNALS MALTA/LIBYA COMMAND

We are interested in people who served in Royal Signals Units in Malta and Libya at any time. We have a reunion each year to which you would be welcome. For further information please contact the Secretary:
Roy Andrews Tel: 01227 264551
Website: http://signalsmaltalibya.homestead.com/index~ie4.html

THE 5TH (LONDON) CORPS SIGNALS OLD COMRADES ASSOCIATION

The 5th (London) Corps Signals Old Comrades Association held its 55th Annual Reunion on Saturday 14 October 2000 in the Duke of York's Headquarters Club in Chelsea. In total seventy-seven members and guests were present for the reception, lunch, and Annual General Meeting. The Association was grateful to receive a message of congratulations from Maj Gen Alan Yeoman CB, Chairman of the Royal Signals Association. After the welcome to members and guests by Bob Roberts, OCA Chairman, all present stood in silence in tribute to the memory of 'Robbie' (P A F Robins) the oldest member and the unit's first Regimental Sergeant-Major who had died earlier in the year aged 97. In recent years the Annual Reunion has been given a theme and the one chosen for year 2000 was naturally 'The New Millennium'. The Chairman remarked that although the occasion was the 55th Reunion it was the first of the New Millennium and he hoped that more would follow. An excellent display again mounted by Sid Prior, the Secretary, sought to recall the past and look forward to the future although given the age of members the past was perhaps most in evidence. The Association's poet member, Ernest Lampard, had once more produced a theme poem and the Chairman read out the last five lines of the poem in proposing the New Millennium Toast that was taken after the Loyal Toast. The poem is reproduced in this issue of 'The WIRE'.

Today we join in celebration
Of the times in days of yore,
When as eager volunteers,
We heard the call and went to war,
To save our land from subjugation
And destruction.....at the hand,
Of a treacherous dictator
And his ruthless, evil band;
On this, our 55th Reunion,
Whilst we chat and reminisce,
Let's remember fallen comrades
Whose happy company we still miss;
They were the 'Flower of our Nation',
The Brave, the Strong, theJust,
Whose willing hearts and valiant souls
Triumphed in the dust.....
Of Africa and Italy,
Far, far away from hearth and home,
For freedom's sake and to ensure
Our safety in the years to come;
In this, the so called New Millennium,
We must therefore, play our part,
To honour their self sacrifice
And give this world a brand new start,
For our children and their children
Make the future clear and bright,
Where all may safely live in peace,
With faith victorious over might.

Ernest A. Lampard
52 L/M Section

At the Annual General Meeting which followed the four course lunch (which included 'Bangers and Mash' and Treacle Tart) the Chairman reported the conclusion the Committee had reached on the future of the Association noting recent reports that several WWII OCAs had formally disbanded. The 54th and 55th Reunions had been well supported and the AGM resolved that Annual Reunions should continue so long as the Committee could organise them and members supported the occasions, and that the Association should continue in being. The Chairman thanked Committee members for their efforts over the year emphasising the debt he and all members owed to Sid Prior the Secretary and mainstay of the Association who arranged the Reunion and produced the Newsletter. The Old Comrades are once more grateful to John Aked and his colleagues of 238 Sig Sqn who provided the amplification that contributed to a happy and successful Reunion.

260 SIGNAL SQUADRON SAM RSA REUNION 27-28 APRIL 2001 AT SOUTHEND

For further details contact Roy Andrews on 01227 264551 or visit our website:
http://260signalsquadron.oogo.com/

12th, 15th & 18th AIR FORMATION SIGNAL REGIMENTS ASSOCIATION

Our get-together at the Delaware Pavilion in Bexhill on 5 of October was a great success, with nine members attending. As we have only fifteen members in our Area, as many of them are unable to travel long distances this wasn't too bad. Apologies for absence came from Bill Smith, Roy Andrews, and Johnny Clinch (a new member we have yet to meet).

Harry Carver, who comes about 60 miles to the get-togethers, uses his car to pick me up on his way to Bexhill. This time he also collected Ken White who lives not far from me in Eastbourne. Ken came round to my place, left his car outside my house, and the three of us went in Harry's car to the Del La Warr. I mention this to you to show how expenses can be cut by car-sharing, so why not check through your Master Sheet, find out who lives near you, and make arrangements to travel together. Some of our older members probably don't drive nowadays, and they'd appreciate a lift to meet old comrades. We're all ex-Signals, so let's rally round and help each other. Try to bring a member who's never attended one of our get-togethers, next time, and let's get some more stories told of those old days!

I think George Blackwood scores full marks for his ingenuity. George lives closest to the De La Warr, but has difficulty getting there. He always seems to be attending hospital at the times we hold our little meetings, but this doesn't deter him. He's wangled his way into the good books of the Ambulance Drivers and persuades them to give him a lift -when they're taking patients home, and drop him off at the De La Warr. We fully expect to see a load of stretcher cases coming into the cafeteria, just to find out what those 'funny old men' have got to talk about every six months!

Unfortunately, Tony Ranger has had to resign from the Association through ill health. He's requested that we send no more Newsletters to him as he's unable to read them. We have also lost John Farrier of Crawley, who's son - also John - notified me from Norway of his death, enclosing a generous donation to the Association funds for the pleasure his father got from reading about the exploits of this Branch. This now brings me onto a request: John was at Thirsk and Uxbridge in the early '40s and had two friends there - Charlie Noel from Derbyshire, and Norman Reed, who was last heard of in Copthorne, Sussex. John (Junior) has been trying to trace them, without success, and would appreciate our assistance. Does anyone remember John Farrier at Thirsk or Uxbridge? Does anyone remember Charlie or Norman? If you do, please let me know (Paul Quinn 32 Windsor Way, POLEGATE, East Sussex, BN26 6QD, and I'll put you in touch with John (Junior) who would be very pleased to hear from you.

Remember the request I made for anecdotes, previously? The response wasn't very good, despite the tall stories that are told around the table at our get-togethers. However, I was able to collate enough to make up a book of them, and this will be coming out about the end of January. It will be priced at around £2:50 incl. p&p. It took me a long time to make up because some of the stories were so funny I couldn't stop laughing. I thoroughly recommend it to you all. You, too, will laugh when you read about the Colonel on the run-away donkey in Egypt, or the sad fate of the trainee DR.s when they encountered wet concrete on a newly built runway. What happened when Ken White obeyed the RSM's order to the exact word will have you doubled up with laughter. More details about the book when it eventually comes out in print. By the way, all profits from this book go to the funds of the 12th, 15th, & 18th AFSA. Talking of books, if anyone is interested, I still have copies of the book I wrote about life as an AA Patrol in the 1950s and '60s when we rode the motorbikes. It tells of the training we underwent, and the humorous incidents we encountered on the road in those days. Priced at £2:00 it is now a collector's item. Cheques to me for an autographed copy of 'The Yellow Motorbike'- an ideal Christmas present!

If any of you know any ex-Air Formation Signals wallahs in this area, please try to rope them into our Branch, and tell them to come to our next get-together at Bexhill in April. Date yet to be arranged. Even if they're not ex-AFS they will still be welcome. Toby Stickley is ex-RAF and therefore an Associate Member, but he still made us laugh when he told us some of his stories from the view of the 'Brylcream Boys' earlier this month. I've had 'phone calls from Johnny Egan and Colin Morgan who are extremely pleased with the way this Branch is 'mucking-in'. They keep complimenting me on organising it all, but I keep telling them that it is you lads who should be congratulated for coming to the get-togethers. Without your attendance there would be no get-togethers, and if we didn't have any get-togethers how could we laugh and joke about those old days and bring back happy memories? When we first started to use the De La Warr for these little re-unions the cafeteria used to be almost empty. When we attend now, the place is full, and we are crammed into a corner of a spare dining room round a huge table, and this dining room is now nearly full, too. I think visitors come just to see us enjoying ourselves over our coffees and lunches. 'Look, Mum, there are those funny old ex-soldiers we've been hearing all about. I wonder what they're saying.' 'Hush, dear, it must be rude by the way they're all laughing!' It only remains for me to wish you all an early Merry Christmas, and I do hope to see as many of you as possible at our next April get-together.

OPERATION GRANBY REUNION

SUPPORT HELICOPTER FORCE SIGNAL SQUADRON (4 SQUADRON) 21 SIGNAL REGIMENT (AIR SUPPORT)

It is hoped to hold a Reunion in March or April 2001, for all ex-members of the Squadron. The dates are yet to be finalised but Bath will be the venue for the event. Anyone who is interested is asked to contact the following:

SSgt Paul Parkes Blandford Mil 2903
E-mail: paulscottparkes@hotmail.com

Sgt Shaun Fardy Aldershot Mil 3749
E-mail: sfardy@yahoo.co.uk

254 OBA REUNION

The club is now an affiliated branch of the Royal Signals Association, just in time for the Millennium and for our eleventh re-union. We had a change of venue this year to the Royal Stuart Hotel in Derby. Not too many managed to get mislaid in the Derby one way system and all said that they had a fairly easy journey to get to Derby. Once again we had one of our down under exiles with us – Bob Shaw, and from Spain Anna and John Dove . There was the usual Welsh contingent and the odd Scot - although NOT resident North of the Border. Our ex India Boys contingent were there in strength, also in evidence were three Cadre members Norman Baker, Derek Cropper and Bill Medhurst. Two Widows came Val Forster and Jean Johnson. Then there was our wheelchair contingent Mavis Ramsay, Maureen Gibson, and Roy Hunter, a warm welcome to them all. The Friday as usual was arrival day and by the evening the bar was doing a roaring trade and tongues were wagging, to think it's only a year since they last saw each other. There was no outing planned for the Saturday so people were free to do their own thing. For most it was a trip to Derby's Eagle Shopping Centre and indoor market. All agreed that it was fabulous for shopping. Also on the agenda the Royal Crown Derby Museum and factory shop - well worth seeing. Others went to the arboretum especially to visit the memorial to our Korean war-dead. Still others went visiting friends etc.

The Saturday evening semi formal dinner took place starting at 1830hrs to allow plenty of time for the dancing. George Severs was once more in the chair and in his speech he welcomed all attendees and especially our widows and wheelchair members. He thanked Ann and Pat Fox-Roberts for their organisation of the event and Clare Brown and Val Forster for their collecting of subs from attendees and the donations towards a 70th Birthday present for Ann Fox-Roberts whose birthday it just happened to be. The hotel staff and in particular the chef were thanked — what a difference to the way we were treated at Stafford a year ago. George then pointed that this was the Eleventh year that we had had the Del Polton band. Maybe we should be considering them for honorary 254 membership. At this point George asked Roy Hunter to say a few words. Roy who has been confined to a wheelchair for the last three years explained that as a result of his sponsored walk albeit pushing his wheelchair he had raised £4136. The reason for his walk was Tristan Hyman a nine-year old who in addition to being a MS sufferer had also a badly twisted leg that needed two operations. Tristan has had the operations in Addenbrookes hospital and now has the use of his leg. The money was split £2000 for the operations and £2000 to Addenbrookes. The remaining £136 went to a charity that supported the childrens' ward in Addenbrookes. Roy thanked all 254's for their generosity in making it all possible. Well done Roy. George then called on Peter McNaughton who as usual proposed the toast to our departed comrades. The list now totals 105 with the new additions of Danny Daniels, Jim Iverson, Ted Crampton, Butch Eastham, Gordon Howie, Charlie Murrant, Dave Rye and Gus McDonald. Peter McNaughton then reminded the gathering that even the youngest member of 254 was now an OAP, a very sobering thought. Finally George gave out the news that Brian Fisher had volunteered to be the secretary - a daunting task - well done Brian. The formal part was then complete and soon the band was in full swing. The bars got busy again and tongues kept up their ceaseless wagging — how much more can be said? The evening ended with the playing of the national anthem after which there was a gradual drift to bed. All too soon it was Sunday (even with the clocks being put back an hour) and with many farewells all departed vowing to return again next year. In addition to those mentioned the following attended:

Deadly Baker	John Bass	Jack Batham
Mike Bayliss	Reg Brewin	Dennis Bowden
Jim Braid	David Bussell	Dennis Burge
Ken Brown	Wally Brown	Doug Bower
Eddie Brewer	Gerry Brewer	Titch Curtis
Dukie Cairns	Don Capon	Noel Clark
Casey Cole	Alan Crabtree	Jim Crow
Stuart Dunlop	Jim Esson	Ray Evans
Ron Fairbairn	Ken Francis	Chris Gentry
Bill Gibson	Bill Graham	Bill Grieve
John Grigsby	Don Hazel	Harry Hawke
John Heard	Don Herring	Bill Hills
John Jarratt	Bob Jarratt	Jim Jenkins
Roy Kelly	Bill Leech	Ken Lloyd
Fred Love	Tim Martin	Brian McDonell
John Mann	Mac McKay	Ted Mellor
Lou Munday	Don Nichols	Brian Huxley - Duggan
Geoff Oakley	Stan Parry	Ron Pearsall
Frank Pedley	Nat Preece	Bill Ramsay
John Radford	Terry Reeves	Dave Ross
Gordon Schofield	Don Savage	Alan Searle
Ernie Short	Toby Seymour	Roy Smithard
Busty Slade	Derry Smith	Brian Stockwell
Pat Soward	Clive Thompson	John Venning
Jess Weir	John Walke	Ernie Webb
Cliff Wood	John Wood	Peter West
Stan Whitehead	Bruce Howie	J. Hewson
David Abercrombie	Jack Allison	C. Ashton
Nigel Ribchester.

Some late news - Colin 'Jim' Stear who had his leg amputated below the knee a couple of months ago has now had his artificial leg fitted and he arrived back home on Saturday, 18 November, walking unaided. Looking forward to seeing you in Derby in October 2001 Colin.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING 2001

The Royal Signals Association's AGM combined with the Branch Representatives' meeting will take place in Chelsea Barracks on 7 April and not the 2 April as printed in the December issue of The WIRE

602 ASSOCIATION OF FRIENDS 2001 REUNION

WHERE...?

WHEN...?

WHO...Any ex or serving regular member of 602 Signal Troop (SC) or 1 (RBY) Signal Squadron (SC)

Contact: Gordon Duncan
Home Tel: 01923 835862
Work Tel: 01923 838020

LOST COMMS

Mr Leonard Moore would like to hear from any of his former pals from Trowbridge 'H' Squad of 'A' Coy from September 1940. Leonard can be contacted on 01277 352449.

Back Row: Sigs L. C. Moore, W. A. Perks, W. Wheatley, K. C. Jackson, S. E. Cullam, H. R. H. White, E. H. Becraft, E. Hall
Middle Row: Sigs F. A. Argent, J. W. Durston, E. Hughes, A. James, N. J. Cox, P. M. Skeens, E. V. Tombs
Front Row: Sigs R. Mash, J. S. Meekin, C. S. Oatey, M. E. G. Francis, E. H. G. Terry, P. Cooke

Were you in 1 ASSU from 1954 - 1960? Six of us are still alive and functioning. Do you recognise Don Prescott, Colin Stephens, Vic Prees, Tony Hull, Mike Enright or 'Prof' Newson? If so please ring Vic Prees on 01841 540570 or E-mail him on: vicprees@talk21.com

Ted Redfern would like to hear from anyone who remembers him from his time with 104 Beach Signals during the 'D Day' landings. Ted can be reached on 01209 890120

Maj (Retd) Bill Lavers served in Matruh Fortress Signals as a cipher operator during 1940-41. The CO was Maj Lazell and the SSM was 'Paddy' Walsh. Bill would love to hear from any readers who were at Mersa Matruh at that time. Contact him on 0118 983 2016.

From: Maj Gen E. W. H. Huntley, (PIVR) Ret'd
OVM, OWE, GCPR, GCSP, GCKM, CdeV, C
58 Langton Road,
London,
Ontario,
CANADA, N5V 2M1
Tel: 519 455 9303
Fax: 519 455 9868
E-mail: ernie@skynet.ca

Dear Sir,

The original 'F' troop, No. 2 Coy Egypt Command Signals (later known as the Pivot Group, 7th Support Group and 7th Motor Bde, 7th Armd Div), provided communications for the 3rd RHA, then with 25pde Guns on 18pdr (mountain) Gun chassis. This Regiment converted to an Anti tank role in 1939 with the 2pdr Bofors gun. I was then working with J Battery.

This photo was taken in 1938 at the Gun Range, Rebiquie, on the north side of the Cairo-Suez Road, about 25kms east of Heliopolis. The troop was seconded to the 4th RHA upon that unit's arrival in Egypt. For a short time, my detachment was attached to 'C' Battery, 4th RHA (Capt 'Jock' Campbell - later Maj Gen VC - was 2IC), crouching front and centre are Jimmy Beale, 'Tottie' Tate (killed in action), and 'Deadlegs' Williams. Standing (L-R) are Cpl Grant, 'Paddy' MacQueen, Raymond Moreby, ('Jock' Beasley - Command Champion Swimmer), 'Jiddy' Donaldson, Cpl Ulric Oliver, Ernie Huntley, 'Wally' Keeley, Tom Vinyard and LCpl Vasilla (line) and on the top of the vehicle Du-tiot Radio Mech. Missing, the Line Section, another Lance Corporal, Clements and 'Busty' Hicks. 'Nobby' Clarke (Operator Signals and Command Campion Boxer) who took the photo and Sgt Ivison, (whom, when I last saw him at BuqBuq, Egypt 1940, had been promoted to WO2).

I wonder how many are still with us, I believe Cpl Grant received a War-time Commission, 'Deadlegs' Williams transferred to the Field Security Police in Cairo, at his own request, in 1940.

Sincerely and Forever Aye.....

From: Professor Duncan Harris
Forge Cottage
Green Lane
Hooke
BEAMINSTER
Dorset, DT8 3PF
Tel: 01308 863337

Dear Sir,

Hooke Court, Dorset, 1941 onwards;
Rampisham Transmitter, 1941 onwards

I am writing a history of Hooke, a village in Dorset. According to older residents the Royal Signals were using Hooke Court from about 1941. It may be that those living there were operating the Rampisham Transmitter, at the top of the hill overlooking Hooke. I have been unable to trace the Unit. If anyone served at either the Rampisham Transmitter or was living at Hooke Court, I should be grateful for any information (for example: the Unit, the number of personnel involved, whether any other homes in Hooke were used for a billet, etc). I would like to hear about Hooke during the war: what it was like; what the 15th century wing of Hooke Court looked like (it has since been demolished). Any photographs of anything in Hooke would be most welcome and will be returned.

Yours faithfully…

COMCENS 'E' & 'F'- 2 Div 1966 to 1970

Mick Quennell and Bill Bailey, formerly COMCEN 'E' from 1966 to 1970, are very keen to locate other Troop members who served with them during the same period with a view to a possible reunion. Alan 'Geordie' Richardson, 'Slim' Cummins, Barry Wauby, 'Lofty' Hobbs, 'Taff' Jones, Ronnie Campbell, Ron Barrett, Reg Dukes, Benny Bingham and former Troop SNCOs Kenny Harlick and Jack Blackburn are just a few names that spring to mind but there were so many good people. We have fond memories of some great tines had during this period which at times seemed like one continuous party. Bill can be contacted at: 94 Downland Drive, HOVE, East Sussex BN3 8GL, Tel: 01273 730485. Mick can be contacted on 07971 325185. Bill will give people Mick's full address and land line telephone number if required.

My father, Philip Wallis (known, I think, as 'Nellie' Wallis after a music hall artist of the time) served in the Corps from 1940 to 1945, demobilising with the rank of Acting Lieutenant Colonel. From December 1941 until 1945 he served in India and Burma. I am trying to find out rather more about his service during the war, as he was very reticent about it. He died in March 1988. I should be very grateful if anyone who has any memories of him, however slender, could contact me: Nigel Wallis Cariss House, Huby, York, YO61 1HS.
Tel/Fax: 01347 810612, E-mail: nigel.wallis@barclays.net

CORRESPONDENCE

From: Douglas Bellshaw
13 Great Hall Close
Radcliffe
MANCHESTER
M26 4DA

Dear Sir, (Peter Cuckow)

This is a letter of thanks, may I first introduce myself. I am ex-Cpl 23963529, born Plymouth and married to ex-COMMCEN Op W/430277 Elizabeth (nee: Nisbet born Manchester). I joined, and ran for the Corps from 1966-75. After de-mob and pre-release course I joined the Greater Manchester Police and retired in 1995.

Sadly I had lost contact with all my old mates from 653 Signal Troop at Manorbier, South Wales. I am in contact with ex-crewmen from 7 Signal Regiment. Dave 'Chippy' Carpenter, of 20 Beddington Brompton Road, Weston Super Mare. I have also made contact with Lorraine Ward inj Truro, Cornwall and Ron Smith in Manchester. I'm extremely pleased to inform you that my advert in your Newsletter 2000 made my day. Yesterday evening there was the usual knock on the door, the gentleman who stood there and handed me the Newsletter had managed to track me down. It was Ian Lorimer of 55 Notredame Gardens, Blackburn, Lancashire, only a short distance away. We had served together in 653 Signal Troop, Manabier, attached to 36 HVY Air Defence, RA. I am extremely grateful to everyone concerned in re-uniting us. Apparently we are the only two from 653 to meet. Hopefully this will be the first of many more meetings.

I do recall being at Blandford for MPC and or my preparation for the 45 AYT at Prittlewell Information Office, Southend. If my memory serves me correctly my instructor was a Sgt Nurse? (Editor: You're quite right) Although aprehensive I felt I had to write and thank all those concerned and all the staff at the Royal Signals Association on a job well done.

Yours Faithfully.....

From: Maj (Retd) F. E. Sykes
13 Rue Montgermont,
77690 Montigny-sur-Loing
FRANCE

Dear Editor,

I was very interested in your article (letter?) in The WIRE (about the SOE with which the late Col F. W. Nicholls was concerned. He was in command of 3 Inf Div Sigs at Bulford when I was posted there in the summer of 1939. One could not have wished for a kinder or more understanding CO. I took over 'Y' Section which served (and still does:) 8 Inf Bde. We went to France for the winter, fought in Belgium in the spring, were evacuated via Dunkirk and were chosen to be re-equipped immediately with a view to returning to France. Fortunately, this never happened. I spent the next four years in various jobs in the UK and in 1944 was 2IC of an Independent Armd Bde & Sig Sqn. We went to France in July and I took over command in September. So much for my credentials, now back to Nicholls, affectionately known as 'Daddy'.

As you say, he had a vast experience of two closely connected subjects: how to intercept enemy communications (both radio and line) and how to protect our own. Even when employed in other spheres; he was known as a pundit on intercept, and his advice was sought both officially and demi-officially. The purpose of this article/ letter is to show the danger of applying principles in an inappropriate context.

First of all there was radio. It was said in the 1930s that the cavalry had taken it seriously and were fast progressing. The gunners had just met it and were making good use of it, and the infantry had never heard of it, which was not surprising because it had not reached them, except in the form of a rear-link station provided by the Royal Signals. Their enthusiasm was undoubtedly dampened by the fact that only some four officers in the battalion were likely to get close to the detachment. In 1939, the forward troops of the BEF were billeted around Lille. Permanent radio silence was enforced. In order to train, we had to drive about 20 miles south, if possible, taking a few infantry officers with us in order to familiarise them with the equipment. What made the restrictions ridiculous was that Belgium was neutral and thousands of workers crossed the frontier daily, thus enabling conventional espionage to get a far better idea of our order of battle than any interception of our exercise radio traffic. Later, if I remember rightly, the restriction was lifted, but not before precious months had been wasted.

Now we take a look at line communications. In the 1914-18 war, vast concentrations of troops faced one another over very short distances. This provided enormous opportunities for intercepting both telegraphy and telephony. The invention of the Fullerphone largely solved the problem for telegraphy. Where telephony was concerned nothing much could be done apart from speaking discreetly and patrolling as thoroughly as conditions permitted. Our forebears, however, had scented another danger: the telephone bell. I do not know when the decision was taken, but we ended the 1918 war and in some theatres, started the 1939 one, with the telephone D1, which had neither bell nor magneto ringer, but on1y a buzzer. This called for a special type of field switchboard, the principle of which was that each circuit terminated on a 'watch-type' receiver. When the operator heard a buzz, he put his hand over each receiver in turn until he had located the caller, whereupon he plugged into the appropriate jack. One might have thought that 'bellophobia' and 'buzzermania' would have perished in the '20s and '30s, especially since anyone can muffle a bell by turning the gongs upside down. But no such luck, the new field telephone, D5, was much like its predecessor. The contemporary switchboard, however, was high-tech. It could be called by buzzer, magneto and (I think) CBS. The calling signal actuated a sensitive relay that in turn actuated a pea-bulb that indicated the line to be answered. The invention was hailed with much praise but - alas - the field trials must have been too gentle, because it was soon proved that travel on bumpy roads or some nearby shelling completely upset the relays. They were, of course, readjusted as soon as possible, but in the meantime the HQ was incommunicado, and the OC Signals was told in no uncertain terms what would happen to him .....unless!! - experto crede!

The problem persisted throughout the war. Happily, partial relief was provided in the shape of field-telephony equipment obtained from friend and foe. The German forward-area switchboard was a masterpiece of simplicity and ruggedness. It consisted of a number of 4-line units, each line of which had a drop-flap indicator, a plug and a jack. All the operator had to do was to bring his own field telephone - magneto, of course!!

PS: Can any reader tell me of a major power that was, or is, equipped with buzzer telephones for use in forward areas ?

Yours sincerely.....

From: Maj TOT (Retd) C. G. Webb
1 Westminster Close
Burn Bridge
HARROGATE
N. Yorkshire HG3 1 LT
Tel: 01423-873237

Dear Sir,

Wire Magazine - Size of Print

Is it my imagination - but over the last few years has the size of the print in The WIRE got smaller? Perhaps I am going blind contrary to my optician findings, or is it just my age? Can I be the only one who has this difficulty? If there is anything you could do to increase the size of print to the size it used to be I am sure it would be appreciated by many old lags!

At the moment I skimp through the magazine with difficulty - then if anything looks interesting I get out the Magnifying glass to reduce eye fatigue.

Of course I recognise that increasing the size of print would increase the size and subsequent cost, however, I think the benefit would be outweighed by the fact more of the articles would be read! Perhaps you might even be able to down load it onto a CD for distribution. Wow, technology goes rampant!

Yours sincerely.....

(Editor's Reply: We have spot checked the size of the print in The WIRE going right back to the first edition, (printed in 1921). The size of the print has not changed. I have a similar problem to you and unfortunately it is just our age. The idea of down loading it to a CD for distribution is an interesting one and we will be looking into it.)

From: Maj TOT (Retd) Cliffe Webb
1 Westminster Close,
Burn Bridge
HARROGATE
N. Yorkshire HG3 1 LT
Tel: 01423-873237

Dear Sir,

Just for the Record

In the June edition of The WIRE at page 297 under the heading BEVERLY EX-BOYS Association, it was stated that Cliffe Webb had advised them that he could be the longest serving ex-boy. In fact the author of that article had been informed that I believed that I was the longest serving Beverly Ex-Boy to include Beverly and Regular Service only. I did not include TA continuation service, as I was well aware that there are many other Beverly Ex-Boys eg: (Tony Murray/John Morrison who having completed man service continued with PSAO service. So contrary to the article in the August edition of The WIRE from Capt (Retd) J. Esson (who was not a Beverly Ex-Boy) I believe I had the longest Regular Service of the Beverley Ex-Boys!

Yours sincerely.....

From: R. F. Venables (Ex Signalman 2369854)
10 The Knolls
Barrowby
GRANTHAM
NG32 1AY
Tel: 01476 561297

Dear Sir

For the last couple of months I've been trying to appease my curiosity regarding a posting that went wrong in the Second World War - I know I've left it rather late in life to pursue the subject. I have written to the Army Records Office who passed my enquiry on to the MOD Historical Branch who in turn suggested I approach the Royal Signals Museum. They could not help but thought a mention in The WIRE might bring some light to bear. I must add that the Historical Branch offered two practical solutions - one to visit the Public Records Office, alternatively employ a researcher unfortunately both suggestions beyond my means. So here is my story!

I was called up to the Royal Signals in April 1941 reporting to Ossett to undertake my 'square bashing'. From there I went to Huddersfield, to train as a wireless operator. After duly qualifying as a B3 operator it was on to Kirkburton holding unit, and then on to the Royal Signals unit at Mons Barracks, Aldershot (later to be transferred to Englefield Green near Egham). From here, in August 1942, I was posted overseas. Being the wireless operator in a squad of four under the charge of a Cpl Johnson, with the label 'Special Mission Section', (I've a hazy memory that it carried the number 14). We boarded the ship 'Highland Brigade' at Bristol then sailed up to Gourock to join a convoy. We disembarked at Durban to be eventually informed by the RTO that he knew nothing about us. We were instructed to board a boat that took us to Diego Suarez in Madagascar and served there for about three months. We then transferred to Nairobi and were absorbed into the East African Divisional Signals.

What I would like to know is where we were intended to carry out our 'Special Mission'. I don't think this title was misleading as we took on board the 'Highland Brigade' complete equipment for a wireless station right down to distilled water for the batteries. I repeat, I know I've left it rather late in seeking an answer but I would be grateful for any assistance anyone can offer to relieve my curiosity. Please accept my thanks in anticipation.
Yours sincerely.....

From: Len Turner
63 Maycroft
PINNER
HA5 3UB

Dear Sir,

I served with the 149 Anti-Tank Regiment, Signal Section during the Siege of Tobruk in 1941 and intend to join the 60th Anniversary celebrations in Brisbane, next April.

For some years I have been a member of the London Branch of 'The Rats of Tobruk Association' but due to decreasing numbers it is closing down this year. None of the remaining members are fit enough to travel to the Australian Reunion. At the present time I am in contact with: Mr Ron Hall, 14 Chase Avenue, CHELTENHAM, Gloucestershire, GL52 6YU, who is Secretary of the Cheltenham Branch of the Royal Tank Regimental Association. He is organising a party of 20, to make the trip to Australia. At the last check we had mustered nine. I am wondering whether any of your readers are ex-Tobruk Signals and may, perhaps, be interested in joining the group.

The trip will start on 1 April, 2001, with a stopover of two days in Singapore and two days in Hong Kong on the return trip. 14 days altogether at an inclusive cost of around £1500.
Best Regards.....

From: Ron Larby
178 Braemar Avenue
NEASDEN
NW10 0DS

Dear Sir,

I thought that those RSA Members who don't get down to London might like to see a shot of the Royal Signals plot in the Garden of Remembrance, Westminster Abbey.

Whilst inspecting the plot at the Opening Day, Thursday 8 November, I was approached by a chap, who noticing my Korean Medals asked me when I was there. He had a slight trans-Atlantic accent and when he replied to my answer, '1951-52,' with '52-53,' I had an inkling of who he was and I was right! He was Terry Wickens who had been in the same Troop as myself 'K', 28 Infantry Brigade Signals. He had later emigrated to Canada and we hadn't seen each other since 1952!

Terry explained that he had come over to take part in the 50th Anniversary of the Korean War BKVA contingent at the Remembrance Day Parade at the Cenotaph. I met Terry again at the Parade, which was headed by the BKVA this year. The Royal Signals was well represented amongst the 1200 members that took part in the Parade.
Regards.....

From: Ernest 'Joe' Glover
21 Melrose Park
BEVERLEY
HU17 8JL
Tel: 01248 869344
Fax: 01248 328327

Dear Sir,

Below is a photograph of Sgm Bob Coppen who was a Driver whilst attached to 10th Field Regiment RA 2 Division in India. We served together for over two years with 2 Div and only separated after returning to the Depot in Mhow, just before Partition. We lost contact with each other 43 years ago after we'd both married and it has taken quite a while to find each other. It was only after I had combed the London telephone directory that I was able to speak to a relative. However, it took a further two years to discover his whereabouts, Bournemouth. We are both in poor health but not down-hearted and regularly speak on the phone and exchange news by letter. We met, for the first time after so long, in April this year and had a five-day holiday in Bournemouth in September. We were able to talk over our experiences together. We had joined 2 Div just after Kohima and stayed with 10th Field before I was posted to Palestine with the Life Guards. I hope some of your Readers will find the foregoing of interest.
Yours Faithfully.....

From: Maj A. Helm R. SIGNALS
IMATT
Op Basilica
BFPO 622

Dear Sir,

SIERRA LEONE - JOINT COMMUNICATIONS UNIT (JCU)

As some of your readers will be aware there are a number of Royal Signals personnel serving with the International Military Advisory Training Team (IMATT) in Sierra Leone. Our aim is to form a Joint Communications Unit organised into five Squadrons with a strength of 35 Officers and 459 ORs. It will be a long, frustrating but satisfying task.

There has been a strong historical link between the Sierra Leone Signal Squadron and the Royal Signals since the end of the Second World War. Between 1944 and 1968, seven Royal Signals Officers commanded the Squadron. Unfortunately because of the civil war and disturbance in the country most of the history and all of the memorabilia has been lost.

I would be grateful if any of your readers who either served or knew people who served in Sierra Leone during this time could fill in some of the history. The names of previous Commanders are:

1944-48	Capt A. R. Duke	R. SIGNALS
1948-53	Maj R. E. Scouller MBE	R. SIGNALS
1953-56	Capt K. E. P. Andrews MBE	R. SIGNALS
1956-58	Capt D. A. G. MacKail	R. SIGNALS
1958-59	Maj M. G. M. Panton	R. SIGNALS
1959-63	Capt F. V. B. Phillip	R. SIGNALS
1963-68	Maj S. W. Mawson MBE	R. SIGNALS

The JCU would also be grateful to receive plaques from any Royal Signals unit who feel they can afford to donate one, with the promise that eventually Sierra Leone will reciprocate in kind.
Yours Sincerely.....

DONATIONS

Mrs M. Williams	£ 40.00
Mr R. E. Oldham	£ 50.00
Mr H. G. Miller	£ 10.00
David Hopkins	£ 47.00
A. H. McVitie TD WS	£ 20.00
Mrs J. Greenstreet	£ 25.00
Mrs E. C. Withey	£ 10.00
Mr H. Ladbrooke	£ 10.00
RSA Poole	£ 100.00
RSA Peterborough	£ 33.00
RSA Preston & Blackburn	£ 30.00
RSA Cornwall	£ 450.00
RSA Salisbury	£ 50.00
Blandford Tower Run the profits	£ 400.00
Dedication W. Wales Branch Standard	£ 47.43
42 Signal Regiment's Officers' Club	£ 164.00
33 Corps (SEAC) Association	£ 100.00
First Army Signals Reunion Association	£ 40.00
Beverley Ex-Boys Association	£ 25.00
Mrs Betty Gunn for the RSA Memorial Garden	£ 30.00
Don Ellingworth in memory of a friend	£ 10.00
Mrs M. F. H. Boswell in memory of H. E. Wilkins	£ 20.00
Maj (Retd) T. McKirgan in memory of Bill Duke	£ 25.00
Mr F. R. G. J. Rapsey in memory of Lt Col F. G. G. Rapsey	£ 50.00
Mr F. R. Johnson in memory of Lt Col R. J. K. Fenton	£ 10.00
3 Div Reunion Club in memory of Maj J. Hornby	£ 10.00
Maj (Retd) Steve Bresloffin memory of Lt R. Hornby BEM	£ 20.00
Lt Col (Retd) B. Beattie in memory of Lt Col T. N. Skelly	£ 50.00
Col D. B. Emley OBE in memory of Lt Col W. Stodart	£ 100.00
Collection in memory of Maj Eric Buirski	£ 310.00
Darland School, Wrexham in memory of Maj Eric Buirski	£ 67.50
Mrs P. B. Wood in memory of Maj Eric Buirski	£ 5.00
M. Robinson in memory of Maj Eric Buirski	£ 20.00
Maj W. Oates in memory of Maj Eric Buirski	£ 10.00
Collection in memory of WO1 M. F. B. Garland	£ 605.00
Lt Col T. P. O'Connor in memory of WO1 M. F. B. Garland	£ 20.00
W. Kay in memory of Brian Garland	£ 25.00
Langeleben Reunion Club in memory of Brian Garland	£ 20.00
3 Div Sigs Reunion Club in memory of Mr H. W. Palmer	£ 10.00
Maj (Retd) S. Bresloff in memory of Maj (Retd) R. G. Aitken	£ 20.00
RSA Reading in memory of Maj (Retd) T. G. Robinson ERD	£ 10.00

LAST POST

Aitken - Maj R. G. Aitken	Served 1946/86	Died 11/12/00
Armitage - CSM C. B. Armitage	Served WW2	Died Sep '00
Armstrong - Cpl B. Armstrong	Served 1964/77	Died 04/11/00
Bevan - Maj G. J. Bevan MM	Served 1936/71	Died 15/12/00
Brown - Maj M. P. Brown	Served 19??/00	Died 29/10/00
Buirski - Maj E. J. Buirski	Served 1935/70	Died 27/10/00
Churcher - WO2 N. C. Churcher	Served 1975/93	Died 03/07/97
Clark - Maj D. A. N. Clark	Served 1944/67	Died 02/11/00
Clayton - Capt J. R. Clayton	Served 1939/46	Died Feb '00
Cocke - Maj J. W. G. Cocke	Served 1938/57	Died 23/10/00
Coles - Sig G. Coles	Served 1952/54	Died 05/11/00
Copestake - Mr A. A. Copestake	Served 1946/68	Died 16/05/00
Dodd - Lt Col J. Dodd	Served	Died 10/11/00
Donald - Lt Col G. B. Donald	Served 1939/74	Died 22/11/00
Donaldson - LCpl F. Donaldson	Served 1941/46	Died 07/11/00
Flack - Sig J. W. Flack	Served 1944/48	Died 2000
Grainger - Brig D. H. Grainger OBE GC STJ	Served 1940/72	Died Mar '00
Gray - Maj T. J. Gray	Served 1938/	Died 18/06/00
Hendrie - Sig R. M. Hendrie	Served 1938/45	Died 2000
Hornby - Maj J. W. Hornby	Served 1960/00	Died 02/12/00
Hornby - Lt R. Hornby BEM	Served 1944/48	Died 11/11/00
Hunt - Sig G. L. Hunt	Served 1957/60	Died Oct '00
James - Capt C. V. James	Served 1939/44	Died Oct '00
Jones - Sig R. Jones	Served 1941/45	Died 21/11/00
Mailey - LCpl R. L. Mailey	Served 1938/46	Died 07/11/00
Merritt - Sig C. A. Merritt	Served 1938/43	Died 06/12/00
Naylor - LCpl R. Naylor	Served 1946/48	Died 2000
Ormiston - Sig J. T. Ormiston	Served 1942/47	Died 28/09/00
Palmer - Sig H. W. Palmer	Served 1923/45	Died 25/12/00
Payne - WO2 D. W. Payne	Served 1959-81	Died 01/10/00
Pengelly - Sgt L. R. Pengelly	Served 1941/46	Died Nov '00
Piddington - Col J. R. Piddington OBE MC	Served 1932/69	Died Dec '00
Prentice - Sgt J. W. N. Prentice	Served 1938/46	Died 23/12/00
Rapsey - Lt Col F. G. G. Rapsey	Served 1940/71	Died12 /11/00
Robinson - Maj T. G. Robinson ERD	Served 1941/59	Died 26/11/00
Simmons - Sig P. J. Simmons	Served 1964/68	Died 24/05/00
Skelly - Lt Col T. N. Skelly	Served 1940/71	Died 29/10/00
Stodart - Lt Col W. A. K. Stodart	Served 1929/48	Died 14/11/00
Webb - Cpl R. C. Webb	Served 1972/84	Died 08/10/00

Williams - WO2 W. I. Williams Service in the Royal Signals 1939-1967. Col L. W. Wright TD, DL, writes - 'Taffy' Williams who was an efficient Permanent Staff Instructor with my Regiment, 46 (North Midland) Signal Regiment TA and later in 43 (Wessex) Signal Regiment TA, died on 16 October, 2000. He was a loyal, courageous and courteous man and his death leaves a grieving widow and many sad friends.

Payne - WO2 Donald William Payne died on 1 October, 2000. Don, to all who knew him - was born in Manchester on 14 October 1931. He grew up and attended school there during the war years. Tragically when he was only 15 years old his father died and only two years later was followed by his mother.

Don spent the next few years living with various aunts and uncles until at the age of 19 years he joined the Royal Air Force, He trained as a Nursing Orderly and served for a period of three years. He was discharged in the rank of Corporal after three years. Immediately after his service with the RAF he enlisted in the Manchester City Police in September 1953 and he served with them for five years until August 1958 when he retired as a constable. He then enlisted in the Royal Signals in 1959. Here he trained as a Radio Technician after which he served mainly in the UK until 1963 when he was posted to Singapore where he remained for the next two and a half years. In 1965 he was posted back to 8 Signal Regiment in Catterick where he was originally employed as an Instructor until he took over as Regimental Provost Sergeant for the next three years. In 1968 he was promoted to Staff Sergeant and posted to Cyprus where he remained until 1972, when further promotion and posting took him to Blandford where he stayed until 1976. After spending time in Germany he returned to the UK to spend his last six months in the Corps. He retired in the January of 1981. On his retirement he was employed with the US Air Force at Burtonwood, Lancashire. He remained with them for about five years. For a time he was in business with his son but ill health brought about his early retirement.

Don was well respected wherever he served and was a devoted member of the sergeants' Mess. His wonderful sense of humour endeared him to all who knew him. A devoted family man, Don is survived by his wife for 47 years, Ellen, his son two daughters and seven grand-children.

Cooper - Maj Henry William George Cooper was born in Harwich, the son of a regular soldier, on 15 November 1909. He joined F Coy Boys two months before his 15th birthday on 2 September 1924. One of his fondest memories of Boys service was just before Christmas 1924, when the RSM asked him if he would box for F Coy in the Boys Army Boxing Championships. 'No thank you, Sir' he replied. However, the RSM was not to be deterred, he asked Harry again, adding 'You do want Christmas leave, don't you?' Harry won his first two fights, got a bye in the semi final as his proposed opponent was too injured from his previous fight to continue. In the final, the Boys' Champion from the previous year, being older, bigger and much more experienced, as Harry would cheerfully recall, 'knocked skittles' out of him!

On being mustered into the ranks at the age of 18, Harry rose through the ranks and in 12 years was acting CSM. During this time he served in Quetta, India, from 1932 to 1937 where he experienced the major earthquake of 1937. On the outbreak of war, Harry was appointed to an emergency commission, promoted to Captain in 1940 and to Major in 1942. He spent the majority of the war in the Dutch East Indies and retired in 1948 with the honorary rank of Major. The same year, he moved with his wife Doris, whom he had married in 1930, from Portsmouth to London where they become 'house parents' at a school for maladjusted boys, a job they both loved and were very successful at. Later he became a Local Government Officer. In 1950, after 20 years of marriage, they were blessed with the birth of their only daughter, Sally. On retirement in 1974 they moved to Eastbourne, where in the early 1980s Harry became a member of the Eastbourne Branch of the Association. In 1985, Harry began voluntary care service to a fellow ex-Signaller, Ken Biddleston, who had multiple sclerosis that caused him to be confined to bed. Until Ken's death in 1999, Harry helped him invaluably to have the best quality of life possible and formed a firm friendship with him. Ken had been a member of 56 London Div Sigs and Harry was made an Honorary member of their Association in recognition of his valued work and friendship with Ken.

Harry died in October 2000, a month short of his 91st birthday. He was cremated in Eastbourne on 23 October. Joining the family were many members of the Eastbourne Branch and four members of 56 London Div Sigs. Cpl John Bilby of the Corps Band played the Retreat. Doris pre deceased Harry and our condolences go to daughter Sally and family. Harry was a stalwart member of the Branch and will be sadly missed.

Cushen – Terence J. Cushen, died on 10 October, 2000, in hospital after a short illness. He joined the Corps on 5 April, 1951 as a National Serviceman at Catterick and signed on there as a Regular on 20 March, 1953. From there his service was as follows - Catterick until January 1956. FARELF (19 Air Formation Signal Regiment) until November 1958 - BAOR (4 Signal Regiment) February 1959 to December 1961 - Catterick again until August 1965 - FARELF (18 Signal Regiment/237(COMCAN) Signal Squadron) until February 1968. Once again BAOR May 1968 (6 Armoured Brigade Signal Squadron/7 Signal Regiment) until March 1973. Northern Ireland (40 Ulster Signal Regiment (V)) until October 1974 then UK (34 Signal Regiment(V)) until March 1975. He had then completed his Regular Service and left the Corps as a WO1 (RSM). Not satisfied, however, he joined the TA&VR and was commissioned as a Captain in 34 Signal Regiment (V). On entering civvy street he became a civil servant at Darlington for 20 plus years until his retirement at 65 in 1998. A keen member of the RSA he joined Darlington branch in January 1976 became Vice Chairman in February 1977 and Chairman in February 1987. Terry's funeral service took place at the Holy Family RC Church in Darlington followed by a short service at the Crematorium. His comrades provided a Guard of Honour from the Darlington Branch of the RSA and a trumpeter from 34 Signal Regiment Band. There were many mourners from a number of Branches of the Association and his civilian friends. We send our sincere condolences to Terry's widow, Margaret, and his family. He will be sorely missed.

Hendrie – Sig Roderick Hendrie - It is with deep regret that the Branch has to announce that one of our oldest members, Sig Roderick 'Roddy' Hendrie, Life Association No. 34168, passed away peacefully in Gartnavel General Hospital Glasgow, on 2 November 2000 aged 84. Roddy went to America with his parents at the age of six and they returned to Scotland when he was 16. On joining the Royal Corps of Signals in 1936 he served until 1945 as a dispatch rider. His decorations include the 1939/45 Star, Africa Star, France and Germany star, the Defence Medal, War Medal 1939/45 and the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal. He also had the Dunkirk and Belgium Medals issued to the veterans by the French and Belgium governments.

Roddy served in the UK, BEF, France, Western Desert, Africa and Belgium. He was with the 9th Army, 8th Army and 1st Army a 'Desert Rat' and a Dunkirk Veteran. He had a proud record of service in the Corps. He joined the Dunkirk Veterans Association at the West of Scotland Branch and was their standard bearer for nearly 20 years. He joined the RSA at the Glasgow Branch in December 1991, shortly after it's inception. In civilian life 'Roddy' had a varied career as an oil tanker driver, taxi driver, chauffeur to John Brown's shipyard directors, their ambulance driver, their Fire Depot and supervisor in their security unit.

The funeral was held in the chapel of the Dalnottar Crematorium, Clydebank, on the 7 November 2000. It was packed with mourners, friends and family, who had come to pay tribute to a very nice man and comrade. The service was conducted by Rev Ken Russell BD, (Padre to the Dunkirk Veterans Association), who also gave the eulogy. The coffin was draped with the Dunkirk Veterans Assn. Standard and the pallbearers, WO1 (SVWO) T. McVey, WO2 (SSM) M. McEvoy, SQMS J. Addison, Sgt J. Dollen, Sig D. Buntane Royal Signals with Sgt B. Yardley and Cfn K. G. Currie REME, were in uniform. All of them are serving members of 32 Scottish Signal Regiment (V). Twenty members of the Royal Signals Association Glasgow Branch attended, acting as a guard of honour, with Bill MacNamara parading the branch standard. Brian Warren, the Branch Piper, played 'The Flowers of the Forest' and a medley of airs.

The Chairman and members of the Glasgow Branch, who feel that the Branch has lost one of the stalwarts of the Association, offer their sincere condolences to Roddy's family in their sad loss.

Gaskell - Lt. Col. W. T. M. Gaskell who died on 19 August 1999, was commissioned into Royal Signals in June 1940 having passed into the RMA Woolwich shortly before War was declared. After serving in various units in England he joined 1st Armoured Divisional Signals in the Western Desert in January 1942 for operations which included El Alamein and the Advance into Tunisia. He returned home with 4 RHA Signal Troop in December 1943 and remained with them until after the D-Day landings. In September 1944 he was posted to 51st Highland Division Signals on promotion to Captain. He was Mentioned in Dispatches during this period. A year later he was in the Middle East, again as a Grade II Staff Officer, returning to attend a short Telecomms course at Catterick in 1947. This led to him becoming an instructor at the Bristol University Training Corps where he met his future wife Beatrice who was on an exchange visit from a French university. He obtained his BSc after two years at Shrivenham returning to the School of Signals as an instructor in 1951. He was then selected to take part in the 1953 Atomic Trials at Woomera in Australia. The Technical Staff Course followed in 1954 after which he spent three years at Regimental duty in Germany. In 1960 he was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel linking the Signals Directorate to the Ministry of Supply. He left the Army in March 1963 after accepting the special terms offered at the time.

For the next ten years he worked as a Marketing Manager for Elliot Automation/GEC at Borehamwood, Frimley, and finally Portsmouth. He then joined the Institution of Civil Engineers in London as Assistant Secretary, finally retiring in 1985. Meanwhile with others he set up an Insurance Agency - Headley Financial Services - near his home and was Director and Company Secretary until 1991. During the years 1963-1998 he was joint-Secretary of the '1st Armoured Divisional Signals in Africa' Annual Reunion. In 1978 he organised a memorable visit of the Reunion to Ist Signal Regiment in Germany which was then commanded by Maj Gen Peter Davies. Warryn Gaskell was a man of quick intelligence and wisdom. His enthusiasm and warm friendship will be missed by all who knew him.

Pagan – Col A. Pagan MBE who has died aged 77, served the Corps for over 30 years with great distinction. He was a natural leader imbued with a high level of initiative and devotion to the officers and soldiers under his command, in whom he took particular pride in their physical fitness. The son of a Royal Engineer, Archie was born in Edinburgh on 8 July 1922. He went to school in London, but left aged 15 to join Western Electric. He demonstrated his courage at an early age whilst working as a Senior Clerk at the Ministry of Supply. He received the GOC's commendation Certificate for showing 'initiative and pluck' by rescuing eight men from a severely bombed house in Streatham.

He joined the Corps on 3 June 1941 and was posted to India. He was commissioned on 24 September 1944 and following training at the Signal Training Centre, Mhow he was posted to 240 Signal Troop of 6 Air Formation Signals and served with that Unit at Imphal and Kohima through to the capture of Rangoon. After the war he commanded 151 Terminal Equipment Troop of 19 Air Formation Signals. In 1948 he returned to the UK and spent four years as an instructor at the School of Signals. This was followed by a year with 12 AA (M) Signal Regiment TA before his selection for the 1954 Staff College Course. On graduation from Staff College he held two appointments in Malaya, first as GSO2 SD at HQ Malaya Command and them as GSO (Signals) at HQ Federal Malaya Military Forces. In 1956 he was responsible for a major intelligence operation against the terrorists. It was known that the terrorists had visited a shop in Seremban seeking a radio that would enable them to communicate with Radio Peking. Special Branch, using an agent, planted a suitable radio that would send out a signal when receiving transmissions. A team under Archie's leadership, built the necessary direction finding equipment that enabled the location of the terrorist camp to be established even though they only listened in for short periods. Based an this information the RAF bombed the camp and the follow up patrol found the bodies of 11 terrorists including a much wanted leader Tan Fut Lang. Archie was awarded the MBE for his services in Malaya.

At the end of 1959 he was posted to 2nd Divisional Signal Regiment where he spent two years before taking up the appointment of DAGMG (Maint) at HQ MELF. He returned to BOAR in 1963 where he spent just over a year as 2IC of 22 Signal Regiment. In May 1964 he took over command of 28 Signal Regiment. Following a successful tour in command he joined the LIVE OAK staff where he spent two and a half years. On promotion to Colonel in 1968 he became Chief Instructor at the School of Signals. In 1971 he took up his last appointment in the Army as Commander British Forces Antwerp.

After his retirement in 1972 he was employed by the DHSS where he organised immediate treatment courses for the rehabilitation of young offenders (an alternative to the short sharp shock courses). He also became very active in charity work and became vice chairman of the Royal Philanthropic Society. Archie was a keen railway enthusiast and had a detailed knowledge of trains, trams and their associated timetables. He enjoyed the theatre and was a keen bridge player. In 1963 he married Mary Hancock, they had one son.

Copestake - Mr Alan Albert Copestake BEM 1922 – 2000, Yeoman Goaler HM Tower Of London (Rtd): Born in Steyning, Sussex, in 1922, the son of an RHA Trooper, Alan Copestake was educated at the Bishop of Wordsworth School, Salisbury. He joined the Army in 1938, as a junior soldier in the Wiltshire Regiment. Just 17 when war was declared in 1939 and being too young to accompany his battalion to France, he transferred to the Royal Artillery where he first saw action whilst serving with an anti-aircraft/coastal defence unit, defending Portsmouth and the Naval base, through much of 1940. Shortly afterwards he was posted to 146 Field Regiment RA, busy equipping for overseas service and in early 1941 travelled via the Cape, South Africa, to Egypt where his Regiment became a part of 8th Army. He was then actively engaged in the Gazala (Boxes), Tobruk, and Alamein battles with his unit directly supporting 7th Armoured, 9th Australian and 4th Indian Divisions at various times throughout.

He continued service throughout the Libyan campaign and into Tunisia, where on 6 March 1943 whilst deployed with the Artillery Support Battery, 2 Scots Guards, during the opening stages of the Mareth Line Action, his unit received counter-battery fire and Alan was seriously wounded. He was evacuated through Egypt to South Africa for treatment and in the autumn of 1943 he was returned to the fray with 8th Army, by now engaged in the Italian campaign. In the summer of 1944 he was transferred to the British Military Mission to Greece and continued his active service throughout the Liberation and subsequent Civil War in that country. (Sadly, the foreign decoration that the Greek Government awarded for that campaign, which Alan had long applied for, arrived two days after he died, in May).

In early 1946 he returned, ostensibly for demobilisation to the United Kingdom, but decided to soldier on and later that year, now aged 24, he re-engaged for Regular Army service, for 22 years in the Royal Corps of Signals, as a Driver/Despatch Rider. Because of his previous war service and experience, promotion came swiftly. He became an MT Sergeant/Instructor with the Motorcycle and Driver Training Group of Royal Signals Training Brigade at Scarborough.

In 1951 he travelled with his family, to Germany to join 19 Army Group Signal Regiment in Bad Oyenhausen near Minden. This was then still the British Army of Occupation, Germany, with six war-strength Divisions and a developing Cold-War. Later, in 1952 Alan moved to Rheindahlen, when the new Garrison was being completed as the Headquarters of the recently established British Army of the Rhine. His unit was renamed Northern Army Group Signal Regiment, a part of the 'new' NATO. A short time later, in 1954 he was posted to, 2 Wireless Regiment, (Later, 9 Signal Regiment), in Cyprus. During this time he continued with his sport, Full Bore shooting, winning that year's Middle East Champion Rifle Shot, in Egypt. No small feat with the numbers of servicemen deployed for the impending Suez crisis and the EOKA emergency in Cyprus. In 1956 he returned to Germany and rejoined his previous unit shortly to re-title, 28 (NORTHAG) Signal Regiment, in Rheindahlen, continuing with his sport of Service Rifle shooting.

In 1960, Alan was posted as WO2 (SSM) to 14 (COMCAN) Signal Regiment, in Gloucester. He was Squadron Sergeant Major to the Receiver/Transmitter Units of the Regiment, first in Normandy, Surrey and then at Bampton in Oxfordshire. About this time, with a mind to retirement from the Army, he approached the Body of Yeoman Warders in the Tower of London, with a view to taking up that position as a second career. Not surprisingly, his aspirations were interrupted, due to his being posted as SSM to 222 (Air Formation) Signal Squadron, Khormaksar, Aden, during the upheaval of the colony's final two years under British administration. His responsibilities with this unit, typical of Air Formation- airfield support activity, extended throughout Aden and South Yemen, along the South Arabian Peninsula via Sharjah and half way up the Persian Gulf to Bahrain. It was familiar ground for Alan and service he enjoyed. In 1967, he returned for his final year of Service in Royal Signals, with his previous unit 14 Signal Regiment. He had then completed 30 Years of military service. Despite an invite to join Aden Police and indeed, continuance on the Long Service List, he decided to change uniform, joining the ranks of Yeoman Warders in the Tower of London, in February 1968.

The Tower - During his first years he was regularly involved in the social aspects of the Tower and carried out the activities of Club Steward and Chairman of the Yeoman Warders Club. Later, he was instrumental in changes and improvements that were made within the Club, drawing up plans for refurbishment to the facilities that were not fully implemented until after his retirement. He served as the Trades Union representative for the Body of Yeoman Warders and the Tower sales staff, negotiating much towards improving their working environment. Alan was also instrumental in establishing the Royal British Legion as a branch, within the Tower of London, entertaining and giving tours to parties from other national branches and institutions developing invaluable contacts that would assist Warders in later years. He worked hard for various charities, regularly visiting local hospitals and often sponsoring find raising events.

In 1977, Alan took part in a Red Cross and Service charity event in Germany, The Hallemunsterland concert, re-enacting the Ceremony of the Keys. He also travelled to Chicago, to a trade fair in support of the British Tourist Board and UK commerce. The late 1970's also saw the Royal Signals first appearing on Public Duties, Alan rendered much assistance to the Corps detachments deployed during that summer. Alan received the Queen's Jubilee Medal and in 1984 he was appointed Yeoman Goaler, followed two years later by the award of the Freedom of the City of London, for services rendered to the community. In 1987 he was awarded the British Empire Medal in recognition of his fifty years in uniform serving Queen and country, and the charitable work he had been involved in, during his time in the Tower. He retired, with his wife Joan to Horsham in 1987 and continued for many years in support of the Royal British Legion and indeed continuing to lecture and guide various institutions on British History and the Tower of London.

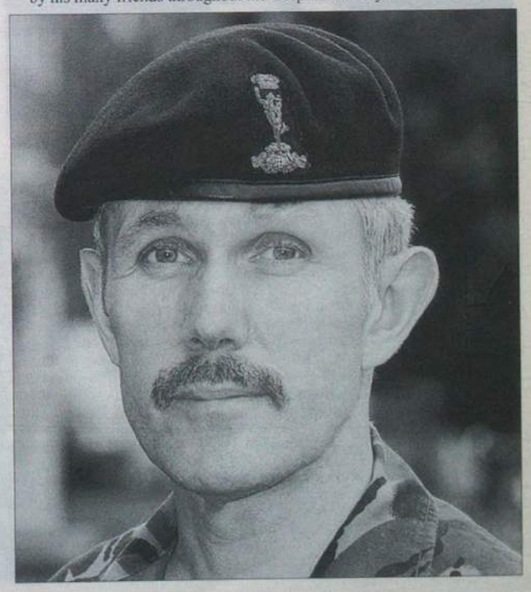
Alan died peacefully in St Catherine's Hospice, Crawley, following a prolonged illness on the 16 May, this year. 'The Beefeaters' provided the final honour and tribute by acting as pall -bearers at Alan's funeral, several of them were also ex-Corps members.

Turnbull - Maj Bob Turnbull who died on 30 October 2000 aged 49 had spent almost 30 years in The Army. An enthusiastic and well-respected officer, Bob was a diplomat possessing a certain charm but managing to still remain firm, fair and highly motivated. Cheerful and always good company he had time for all and paid close attention to the needs of the individual; he also had a passion for everything that he did and was involved with. He was hard working, determined, resilient, utterly reliable and had complete integrity: it is these characteristics that resulted in the consummate professional that was Maj Bob Turnbull.

Bob Turnbull was born on 22 June 1951 in Kelso in the Scottish Borders and was educated at Keith Grammar School. He initially joined the Cordon Highlanders in December 1971 as a private soldier and quickly made a good impression in the battalion. In his first year he was awarded the best recruit at his passing out parade, won the Regimental orienteering competition and a prize as best section leader. As a result he was soon selected for promotion to Lance Corporal and identified as having potential for commission. He therefore found himself at Sandhurst in November 1973 and at the age of 22 received a Special Regular Commission into the Royal Corps of Signals. His first appointment was as a Troop Commander at 4th Division Headquarters and Signal Regiment in 1974. During this first posting he completed his Royal Signals Officers Communications Qualifying Course in 1975, it was also during his time in Herford that he met his wife Rosemary. They married in August 1975 and went on to have their twin sons Richard and Roland, and their daughter Louise. In February 1977 he was posted to 3 Infantry Brigade Headquarters and Signal Squadron in Portadown once again as a Troop Commander. After two years in the province he was posted to 5 Field Force Headquarters and Signal Squadron as the Squadron's Second in Command. In 1979 he was also promoted to Captain shortly after which he embarked on Course 42 of Junior Division Staff College. His tour at 5 Field Force came to an end in March 1982 and he moved on to become the Adjutant at 14th Signal Regiment (Electronic Warfare). From September 1983 to July 1985 Bob was appointed the SO3 Communications at the School of Signals in Blandford, during which time he was selected for promotion to the rank of Major in September 1984. He then moved back to Germany to become a Squadron Commander at 7th Signal Regiment (Corps Main). During his time at 7th Signal Regiment Bob was to command two separate squadrons, raising the standards and performance of both squadrons through his personal involvement and calm determination to get results. Having spent two rewarding years in command he was appointed SO2 Communications at the Forward element of 2nd Infantry Division based in Bielefeld. On moving to Headquarters 1st British Corps he continued to be employed as a staff officer but as the SO2 G3 Electronic Warfare. As the end of his tour came around in September 1990, Bob took the decision to retire from the service: his terminal leave began the day that Iraq invaded Kuwait.

Having spent six unhappy months outside the service Bob took the decision to return to army life. On returning to the Corps Bob was sent to Glasgow as the Training Major of 32nd Signal Regiment (Volunteers). Then in July 1993 he moved down to Catterick Garrison assuming the post of Deputy Chief of Staff in Garrison Headquarters. Having spent almost three years at Catterick Bob then spent a year as an Observer Officer with BRITCON UNIKOM in Kuwait. On return from Kuwait in 1997 Bob continued serving with the UN as an SO2 in the British Contingent UNFICYP in Cyprus. Then in March of this year Bob and his family moved back to Germany as Bob took on the mantle of Regimental Second in Command at 16th Signal Regiment. This was a much-welcomed move for Bob as he was re-united with his family and made the return to Regimental Duty.

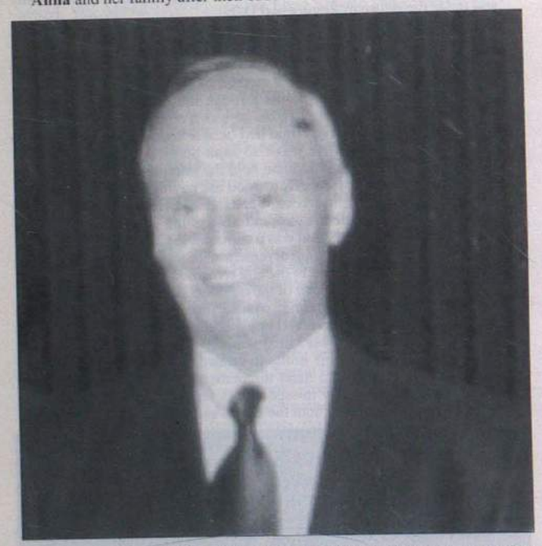
Bob was a great believer in the benefits of sport and adventurous training, indeed he put great stock in Field Marshal Slim's philosophy that every person has a stock of physical courage that can be drawn on, but also needs to be built up. Bob's method of achieving this was to constantly test and expand his limits through the many activities he was involved in. An immensely fit man he was a regular runner competing in half marathons and in his time had been a keen cyclist for which he received Army Colours. He was also Joint Services Mountain Expedition Leader (Winter) qualified and held the intermediate rock climbing qualification. He put these skills to good use having organized a number of expeditions in Italy, Morocco, Scotland and Germany. Bob's many interests included amateur radio and always the proud Scot he was a great fan of Burns' poetry and was a memorable Clan Chieftain at many Burns' Suppers. A life long involvement with pipes and drums, he continued to play the pipes; and to the end remained involved in the Corps' Pipe and Drum Band. His love of the outdoors also lead to his participation in alpine and nordic skiing, windsurfing, motorcycling and more recently he had become involved in paragliding. Although tragic it was perhaps fitting that Bob was killed while paragliding on the Mittaberg in Bavaria; still pushing his limits to ensure that he was both mentally and physically prepared to meet the demands of being a professional soldier. Bob will be sorely missed by his family, by the Regiment and by his many friends throughout the Corps and Army.



Bartlett - Chris Bartlett, many Royal Signals members would have been saddened to hear of the recent premature death of Chris Bartlett on 9 September 2000. He passed away peacefully in his sleep whilst on a visit to Germany acting in his capacity as President of 'The 1960's 16th Signal Regiment Club'.

Chris was a life member of the RSA since 1957 having joined at Harrogate Army Apprentice School in September 1954. He served with great distinction in the Corps until 1979. His first adult posting was to Singapore where he joined the Air Support Unit attached to 249 Signal Squadron. Many would describe as the finest Signal Squadron at that time in the Corps. Whilst serving in 249 Sig Sqn, Chris saw active service in Borneo. Following his time in the Far East he was posted to 16 Signal Regiment in BAOR. It was during his tour in Krefeld that he was quickly recognised as a skilled sportsman. These attributes were soon rewarded when he was established as the Corps goalkeeper. Chris returned to UK and was posted to 3 Div HQ & Sig Regt. He also served in 8 Sig Regt, 19 Bde HQ and Sig Sqn and then later 71 Signal Regt (V). After leaving the army Chris did suffer from bad health. However, this did not deter him from establishing 'The 1960's 16th Signal Regiment Reunion Club' His wish to bring together ex-members who were part of the regiment during that decade. In a bizarre way, it was perhaps fitting that he died at Rheindahlen with those very persons that he spent a lot of time and effort bringing back together again.

Chris met and married Anna whilst at Bunde and they were partners for 42 years. They were blessed with four children and settled at Leigh-On-Sea, Essex. Those that knew Chris will not be surprised to hear that he was a popular member the Navy & Military Club in Southend. Despite his failing health he continued with his charity work assisting the local hospital which he attended twice a week. It is the measure of the man that during the final few months of his life he found the energy to participate in a sponsored walk up and down Southend pier, reputedly the longest in the world. He was a good friend and will be sadly missed by all that knew him. We extend our sincere condolences to Anna and her family after their sudden loss.



Backhouse - Harold Albert Frederick Backhouse 'Fred' 21 November 1914 - 1 January 2000. Fred, as he was affectionately known for most of his life, was the eldest of three boys born in Wanstead, East London where he lived all his civilian life, initially with his mother until her death and, thereafter alone. His brother Ron died at a young age and is buried on the island of Malta (GC). His youngest brother, Len is still living and lives in Suffolk.

Fred joined a detachment of 54 Divisional Signal Regiment, Territorial Army in 1938 with the encouragement of his then employers. In 1939 whilst on Annual Camp with his Territorial Unit, Fred found himself drafted to France on the onset of hostilities. He considered himself fortunate to return to the UK by being evacuated from Dunkirk but was soon posted to North Africa. After the end of hostilities Fred continued his association with the Territorial Army by joining the newly formed 2/20 Signal Regiment (TA) where he became the driver of a radio vehicle, which apparently was always kept in immaculate condition. His pride in the job saw him rise to the rank of Sergeant. After various changes in the Regiment he became Provost Sergeant of the newly formed 30 Signal Regiment (TA) in 1967; he remained with the unit until he retired in 1974.

Fred inspired younger members of the Regiment to show loyalty to the Corps at all times, and in particular, the regiment with which he was serving. During the post-war period, Fred helped to re-form the East London Branch of the Royal Signals Association and became their Standard Bearer. He was well known throughout the Royal Signals Association, and well liked by all those with whom he came into contact. Some years ago The Royal British Legion invited various Corps to parade their Standards at the Festival of Remembrance at the Royal Albert Hall, this was considered to be a great honour. The Royal Signals invited Fred to represent the Corps. This made Fred very proud on that day. He remained the Standard Bearer of the East London Branch until 1995. Fred served the Royal Corps of Signals for 36 years, an achievement to be very proud of.

Aitken - Major Robert George 'Bob' Aitken. Bob was born 16 May 1928, son of a serving Gunner so was no stranger to service life. The family moved to India in 1938 where he completed his education at the Lawrence Memorial Royal Military School Lovedale. It was perhaps inevitable that he joined the Boys Company STC(B) Mhow aged 15 years to start his military service. While in Boys Company he rose to CPL Boy. After he had completed his trade training, gaining Class II Operator Wireless and Line (OWL) and exempt for education, he entered adult service.

He was then posted from Mhow to Rawlpindi and saw service at the North West Frontier. In 1947 he left India for the Middle East (LCpl), disembarked at Port Said joining 3 Div and was then posted to 6 Field Regt RA Palestine. In 1948 the Regiment changed its title to 76 HAA Regt RA (PL) and moved to Tripoli, North Africa. He was selected to become GOC Malta personal operator (Maj Gen Reville Smith) while in Malta selected for RCB and was offered a short term commission with the Pioneer Corps. Arriving in UK he was then posted to 150 OTC (NSOTW) Catterick as an instructor Cpl. Next posting London district, volunteered for parachute training and joined 16 Ind Para Sig Sqn. He completed the course but had a run in with a lazy 'chute which damaged his left leg and he then decided to give up parachuting. He was posted to the holding squadron in Winterbourne Gunner expecting a posting to 6 Armd Div Sig Regt. Posted instead to 2 Inf Bde Sig Sqn bound for Cyprus.

The trouble in Egypt caused 2 Inf Bde to move from Cyprus to El-Ballah at which time he was promoted to Sergeant. He left Egypt in 1954 to BAOR - 6 Armd Div stationed in Bunde and was sent to 1 RHA Sig Tp Munster. On his promotion to SQMS he moved back to Bunde. In 1958 he was promoted to WOII and moved back to England where he joined 42 Lancs Sig Regt Manchester (PST 2 Sqn). In 1960 he was off to serve in the sun again and was posted to Aden where he joined, on secondment, Aden Protectorate Levies, which later became The Federal Regular Army. On his return to England in 1964 he took up the post of RQMS 24 Sig Regt in sunny Catterick. He was selected to become RSM 4 Div Sig Regt in 1966 and it is in this post that he became the much-loved character of the Corps that many will remember. He held the dubious accolade of being the 'most photographed RSM in the Corps', not least because he selected the photographs for publication in The Wire which, then, was published monthly. After many months of this, his photograph failed to appear in one issue and there were many who were moved to enquire after his health. The status quo was soon restored, however, when his photograph then continued to appear on a monthly basis for the remainder of his tour. In 1968 he was Commissioned and posted to 229 Sig Sqn/Brixmis for a busy tour in Berlin and in 1970 he moved to 225 Sig Sqn. He was promoted to Captain in 1972 and moved to 16 Sig Regt. that he expected to be his final tour of duty. The Corps, however, had other ideas and in 1974 he was posted to Cyprus as a Major to join 9 Sig Regt. (OC 1 Sqn). In 1977 he returned to Germany to command HQ Sqn, 22 Sig Regt and then in 1979 moved to 28 (BR) Sig Regt as their Training Major.

He returned to England in 1981 to take up the post of SO2 Comms HQ Western district. After 40 years service to the Corps as both man and boy, he retired in 1983 and settled in Shrewsbury. Almost immediately he started a new career as an RO being appointed Camp Commandant HQ Western District, a job he thoroughly enjoyed, as it would have kept two ordinary men busy. He finally retired after ten years as an RO in 1993. He was unable to do nothing and so he undertook to become the Branch Secretary of the Shropshire Branch of the Association - just to keep his hand in. Many Corps members will remember the Grand National Sweepstake he ran each year and perhaps bought sweepstake tickets to assist in the raising of funds for the Shropshire Branch.

In all Bob Aitken has given a total of 50 years formal service to the Crown and many years further service to the Corps as a Branch Secretary.

He died on 11 December 2000 of cardiac failure in the Royal Shrewsbury Hospital. His funeral service was attended by the Shropshire Branch's standard bearer who led the cortege into Shrewsbury Crematorium.

He will be sadly missed by his much loved family, wife Josie, daughters Wendy and Anne, sons Christopher and Graham, daughters-in-law Wendy and Sue, sons-in-law Davey and Philip and his eleven grandchildren.

LATE NEWS....LATE NEWS....LATE NEWS

INTERNATIONAL MILITARY ADVISORY AND TRAINING TEAM (SIERRA LEONE) ROYAL CORPS OF SIGNALS CONTINGENT

CO JCU Lt Col B. P. Gilfether MBE
2IC JCU MajM. Helm
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. T. Archer

Things have been very interesting in this region of West Africa for some years now and to assist the peace process it was decided to send in a British Military Advisory and Training Team (BMATT). This was later, expanded to the International Military Advisory and Training Team (IMATT) to allow for colleagues from other countries to get involved in this very worthwhile work. As yet there has only been a British presence but this is due to change in November 2000 when ten officers from the Canadian armed forces arrive and take up their posts.

The Royal Corps of Signals were initially the major manpower suppliers to the IMATT in theatre, they were:

Brig S. G. Hughes CBE (Late Royal Corps of Signals)
Col M. Dent MBE (Late Royal Corps of Signals)
Col P. J. Moseley MBE (Late Royal Corps of Signals)
Lt Col R. G. Mather
Capt C. T. Bamber

Closely followed by:

WO1 (RSM) S. T. Archer
Lt Col B. P. Gilfether MBE

The remainder of the team has been slowly trickling into theatre. They are:

Maj M. Helm
WO1 (YofS) A. Drummond
SSgt T. W. Davis
SSgt S. Tocker

The team is just about complete now; we now just wait for a FofS to 'Volunteer' for the tour of a lifetime, is there a FofS out there who fancies a real challenge?

Life in Sierra Leone has been very interesting over the last four months. The capture of the Royal Irish soldiers in September had many implications upon the IMATT. The whole atmosphere changed overnight from one of relative calm to one of tension. The run up to Op Barras, the Oeration to repatriate the hostages, was a very fraught period for all. The relative success, only losing one soldier whose brother is incidentally in the Royal Corps of Signals, (condolences go to Jason and his family) was met with a mixture of great rejoicing and genuine sadness. The day the hostages were set free the people of Freetown were the happiest they have been in many a year. They were cheering and clapping as we drove down the street, shaking our hands and saying how sorry they were that someone had to lose their life. The people are genuine and you could see the pain in their faces.

The Republic of Sierra Leone Signals Regiment is starting to take shape and with the team firmly in place things are starting to happen at a pace. It is a very hard, and sometimes frustrating, job but everyone on the team is coping well with the added pressure of working in very high temperatures with very little financial support, the real pleasure is working with the soldiers. They are the proverbial sponge soaking up all the training and advice we can give to them and it doesn't matter how hard it gets they still end up smiling. On the equipment front we use a mixture of British, Chinese, American and civilian equipment. The Team has had to use all aspects of their skills and training to produce a comms package to support operational deployments sometimes at very short notice. Many thanks go to 30 Sig Regt and 14 (EW) Sig Regt for their help with providing some assistance with manpower and spares. The Team has adapted to the work well and the resourcefulness of some individuals has come to the forefront. There is no doubt the Royal Corps of Signals are making their presence felt in West Africa.

As this article is being written HQ 1 Mech Bde is arriving in theatre to take over from JTFHQ. Welcome to the Comds TAC element and also from 1 Mech HQ and Sig Sqn the admin support team. A farewell goes to Brig S. G. Hughes CBE who has headed back to MOD to take up a new post. His efforts in Sierra Leone laid the foundations for a better future for this war torn country.

COURSE No. 1 SIERRA LEONE SIGNAL REGIMENT

The Sierra Leone Signal Regiment has now formed as a working unit and has embarked upon its first signals cadre course. The course started, as with all military courses, with a photograph.

The course lasts for eight weeks and at the end all students will be fully able to work on all equipment that the army has, including the PRC 320, which the UK government has given to Sierra Leone. The army has a mixture of civilian and military equipment from China and the UK and will soon be receiving equipment from the USA. The course is being held in the Wilberforce Barracks area of Freetown. The Yeoman of Signals, WO1 Andy Drummond, has done a sterling job putting the course together along with his Sierra Leonean counterparts. Great assistance has also come in the form of augmentees from the UK, LSgt Paul Bain from ITC Catterick and Bdr Jim Rowe from Larkhill, many thanks to their units for releasing the soldiers to assist with the training.

The students are all from within the armed forces already and some have been involved with signals before but the standard of trade skills, due to the war, have eroded over time and are in need of re-teaching some basic elements. The students are both willing and able and are like 'sponges' absorbing the information. All the instructors are having a great time and a lot of banter with the students. SSgts Tom Davies and 'Tocks' Tocker are 'going native' and are having the time of their lives.

34 (NORTHERN) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col I. D. Westerman
RSM WO1 (RSM) Anderson

August 10 saw the conclusion of what had become a TA institution – Lt Col David Hargreaves finally left the Regiment after 30 months at the helm. He concluded the formal hand-over of the Regiment to Lt Col Ian Westerman at the front of the RHQ building. The Regiment would like to welcome Lt Col Ian and his wife Ronnie and thank Lt Col David for his tenure wishing him all the very best for the future.

EXERCISE MERCURY TROPHY

The Annual 15 (NE) Bde ACF Competition (Mercury Trophy and Signals Cup) was hosted by the Regiment at BDTA Outdoor Classroom ITC, Vimy Barracks, Catterick Garrison on 14 October 2000. 8 Cadet Team eventually entered the competition, which began at 0900hrs on the Drill Square. The drill phase began with a Stickman being nominated from each detachment, was inspected by WO2 (RQMS) Bell and the best was selected to run the parade. Cdt Cpl 'Bill' Beaumont of Brambles Farm Detachment was the best turned out Cadet overall and collected the prize.

The teams were then transported up to the Outdoor Classrooms area to begin the round robin of stands including First Aid, the Obstacle Course, Shooting, a Signals stand, Mast Erection, Line Laying, Command Tasks, Patrol Observation and last but not least a Mystery stand. Throughout each stand the Cadets were monitored continually for team effort, leadership qualities as well as being able to complete the tasks allocated. The Mercury Trophy was eventually won by the Brambles Farm Detachment with Darlington Detachment a very close Second (only 1.5 marks behind). Darlington gained revenge winning the Signals Cup with Brambles Farm a close second.

Overall the competition was a great success and special mention must go to Sgt Openshaw (49 Sig Sqn) and his merry band of helpers who organised and ran the Obstacle course. Also recognition should be given to the efforts of Cpl Downs, who had the Cadets covered in imitation blood from head to foot on her simulated accident. Congratulations on a splendid and overall successful day should go to all those that participated in or organised a stand.

'YOUR TURN' – SCHOOLS TEAM BUILDING EXERCISE

The Regiment was nominated to hold the youth version of the Command Purpose called 'Your Turn' on Thursday 21 September 2000. Schools from all over the Cleveland area were requested to nominate one student in the age group of 13-14 year olds with a total maximum of 30 students.

On arrival at Brambles Farm TA Centre the students were split into five teams and commenced with team building activities until 1030hrs. At this point the students were handed over to the Stand Controllers of the five tasks. These varied from driving a remote controlled car blindfolded around a pre-determined course in the quickest time possible. This was overseen by SSgt Rob Eden (50 Sig Sqn), to rescuing a hostage from a compound surrounded by an electrical fence (simulated) and breaking the code to gain access to the secure compound - headed by SSgt Ratcliffe (LAD) with Sig Yarker acting as the hostage. To complete a hectic morning's activities the students were able to sample the splendid cooking of Cpl Walker and Lorraine (Civilian staff). The afternoon activities were conducted in the main building of Brambles Farm TA Centre with guest speakers from the local radio station and council. The day ended with the students leaving Brambles with a better understanding of teamwork, collective responsibility and full bellies.

CORPS 7-A - SIDE FOOTBALL

The Royal Corps of Signals 7-a-side football competition was held at Blandford on Friday 8 September 2000. 34 Sig Regt (PSIs) entered what turned out to be the oldest (and heaviest) football team in the history of the game. After breezing through the early rounds (losing 2-0, 4-0 and 2-0 respectively) we found ourselves in the first semi-final of the plate competition. Faced with a young and thrusting 2 Sig Regt team (not even close in the experience stakes) we fancied our chances as we had quite sensibly paced ourselves. (In the knowledge that the training office, our centre midfield engine, had a combined age of 106 and that is only two of them). The game ebbed and flowed, then ebbed again, but solid defending from Cpl Kev Pountain and Maj George Whyman, coupled with the ever present danger of SSgt Tom Lappin, Sgt Kev Black and SSgt 'Wilf' Wilford up front, always gave the old and bold a chance. At the end of normal time it was all square at 0-0 thanks to some great saves by SSgt Bob Breheney and, until he was injured and had to leave the field (girly tech) Cpl 'Granny' Groundsell. So the game went on to the Golden Goal. 2 Sig Regt made all the pressure for a couple of minutes, but then the fitness of the geriatrics came through and the mighty 34th broke from the edge of their own box to run the length of the field. This left SSgt Stu McKinnon with a simple three-yard tap in. Stu is still doing his post goal celebratory lap of honour. The final was between 34 Sig Regt and ATR Bassingbourne – but we lost 2-0 so I'm not writing about it.

50 (NORTHUMBRIAN) SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Cmd Maj Graham Jennings
SSM WO2 Les Middleton

Since our last appearance we have bade a fond farewell to a number of people: NRPS SSgt 'Tommy' Williamson has finally hung up his boots and puttees after forty years of service to Queen and Country. His reward, a final posting to that big car boot sale, fondly known as retirement. Our Tech Workshops will never be the same without SSgt (FofS) Frank 'Sicknote' Potts. SSgt Rob Eden, our SPSI, has made the short trip up the A1 to our Debdon Gardens Detachment, stepping into the Ammo Boots of the departing legend SSgt (now WO2) Tom Lappin, who probably passed him going down the A1 to his new abode sunny Catterick. SSgt (FofS) Colin Raynor joins us from his Foremans Course with a brand new bride on tow. Sgt Kev Brass has chosen to spend his last year of service with us. We also extend the olive branch to our new NRPS SSgt Jeff Martin who brings a wall full of running medals and course photos to the SQMS's stores. Temporary member before moving to 49 (WR) Sig Sqn (V) is the SPSI SSgt Gregg Sharp who relearns the ropes to TA life. Finally, and not least, Debdon has a new PSI Tech in the shape of Cpl Jamie Topping who is quickly coming to terms with the TA way although his comments so far are unprintable. A number of promotions to report. Notably congratulations are due to WO2 (SSM) Les Middleton for his well deserved ascendance to real power and stick waving. Cpl Steve 'Swansea' Greenway who finally got a waiver for his Det Commander Course which he took in 1887! LCpl 'Iggy' Paterson has pinned on his first tape, proof that if you hang around long enough you will be rewarded with success. Hot off the press was the promotion of Cpl 'Cliffy' Readshaw's promotion to Sergeant over the Christmas Weekend.

TA RECRUITS COURSE

A couple of successes can be reported from Blandford. An honorary mention to Sig Anth Hollingworth who was awarded best recruit on the November 2000 Course (I should think so to after taking four years to do his Phase 2!) and Sig Tammy 'Britney' Speers who managed to complete the whole course without breaking a nail! Well done to the both of you.

ADVENTURE TRAINING – WALES

The Squadrons' second adventure training weekend of the year was a change from the normal Lake District trip and saw the troops deploying to the deepest, darkest Wales. After a long journey and not much sleep the troops were up and raring to go, armed with waterproofs (as the lovely weather of Wales did not let us down) and a change of clothing. The first activity of the day was Gorge Walking, donning hard hats all was well as the masses set off on a downward stroll to the start point of the walk. Experienced Gorge walkers Sgts Ross Blair and Pete Robinson did a sterling job at the rear pushing the pace along and recounting stories of 'did I ever tell you about the time when we went ghyll scrambling in the Lakes....' (apparently the last time that Sgt Robinson bought a round – July 1999). Within seconds of starting the walk, Sig Robinson tested his waterproofs by falling into the water and not content with the one fall continued to repeatedly fall in. Continuing onwards and upwards, all were trying to stay on their feet, especially Sgt Cath Sproat, who needed to be pried from two rocks after becoming stuck. After a couple of very enjoyable hours the happy, wet walkers arrived back at the mini-buses. In the afternoon the Squadron went climbing at an indoor climbing centre, a chance to dry off, as the weather was still very seasonal. They were taken to 'The Beacon Indoor Climbing Centre,' a building that was originally commissioned in 1916 by Marconi Wireless and Telegraph Company and used for transmitting traffic to the USA during the First World War. Steeped in communications history the antennas were dismantled and the building converted into the climbing centre in 1994. All participants for the afternoons training were issued shoes and harnesses and split into three groups dependent on their climbing experience. As the day went on the groups confidence grew and Sig Tony Standing and Sgt Ross Blair were climbing off to see who would be known as the Squadron's Champion Climber, only to be beaten by a six year old girl! Fun was had by all in this new and, as usual, windswept and very wet Wales.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

49 (WEST RIDING) SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Dave Sixsmith
SPSI SSgt Bob Breheney

Arrivals - A warm welcome to the new Sqn 2IC, Capt Dave Edwards, SSgt Ian Middlemiss and his wife Charlene and also to Cpl Paul Blakey, the new ED.

Promotions - Congratulations to SSgt Andy 'Nobby' Clark, LCpl Melissa 'Ciao' Bertuzzi and LCpl Adie 'Oh ok just one more' Sutcliffe.

Welcome Back - To Sig Ramzan who has returned from a FTRS at BATUS, Canada.

The CO promotes Sig Sutcliffe straight to Corporal for five minutes at least

EXERCISE AUTUMN BOUNTY 28-29 OCTOBER 2000

The Squadron found themselves Strensall bound for a test of their military skills and social interaction at all levels. One was passed with flying colours and the other will continue to be practised throughout the training year! The training proved very interesting with the predicted monsoon weather arriving just in time for the ranges. Lt Keith 'Barn Door' Williams was in good company with SSM Keith 'Stevie Wonder' Holdstock, more practice needed. The recognition was an eye opener with Capt Ruth 'get your coat' Middleton-Powell describing a Chinook as a Hercules with rotors on the top, thanks Ruth.

THE TA CUP

It was with some confidence that the Squadron Team arrived at waterlogged Sheffield for round two of the TA Cup. The Team was drawn against a medics' team and having won 8-1 against medics in the previous round we were ready. To say the pitch was muddy is an understatement and SSgt Mark 'the mud wrestler' Carrick had a wallowing time in goal. The best run of the match involved Cpl 'Bam Bam' Blakey running the full length of the pitch before being thwarted by a well timed tackle. Not bad for someone who doesn't really like football, kissball he calls it for some reason. It was 1-0 to the medics at half time and it took a great corner from SSgt 'Wilf - I'm claiming that' Wilford to set up the equaliser. The goalie actually punched the ball into his own net. The tale does not end an happy one as the team lost 2-1. Oh well, there is always next year.

745 SIGNAL TROOP, HULL

On Friday 24 November 2000 745 Signal Troop deployed to Catterick Training Area to take part in the Regimental Exercise. The exercise was a fully tactical communications exercise with live enemy on the ground, in the shape of fuel less farmers.

The Troop were able to practice their communications and soldiering skills using the Ptarmigan equipment consisting of a radio relay installation and an ELG, as well as the necessary admin set up, erected during a Force 10 gale. A special mention of Sig Serasinghe and Sig Lau for an excellent effort on their first exercise, panbash and brew making.

Congratulations to OCdt Victoria 'Wedgie' Wedgewood-Jones on passing her TCB with flying colours. She has now been issued with a small piece of mine tape to wear with her uniform, well done Ma'am! Well done to Sgt 'Bobtech' Godfrey on passing his C+E HGV training, eventually and to Sig Ross 'troop drunk' Pemble and Sig Kim 'quiet as a mouse' Whitehouse on passing Cat C HGV training. Congratulations to LCpl 'Robbo' Robinson, Sig 'Floppy' Courtney and Sig Pemble on passing their RMC course.

Sig Courtney and Sig Pemble also received their superb Blandford course reports and BITS results completing their hat tricks.

CHRISTMAS WEEKEND 1-3 DECEMBER 2000

Strensall is a popular destination for 34 (N) Sig Regt (V) at the moment and so the Regiment found itself at Queen Elizabeth Barracks for the Christmas festivities this year. The weekend took the form of a sporting competition.

Memorable moments: Cpl 'Bam Bam' Blakey, who claims kissball is for girls, limps off the rugby sevens after only half a game. The FULL CONTACT female netball and basketball competitions, we lost the battle but won the war. Father Time, 52 years of age, in the form of WO2 Al 'Taff' James who played in the winning rugby side. Cpl Paul 'I want to wear my ammo boots' Oliver complaining about the new tug of war rules of Maj 'Taff' Watts.

Most memorable moment: LCpl Melissa 'red badge of courage' Bertuzzi on climbing over the cargo net overcoming her fear of heights. Congratulations go to 90 Squadron for being crowned overall winners, well done.

MULTINATIONAL DIVISION (SOUTH WEST) AND BRITISH FORCES SIGNAL TROOP OPERATION PALATINE

OPERATION PALATINE

Tp Comd Capt Richard Byfield
Tp Sgt Maj WO2 Sgt Maj Tony May

BRITFOR Signal Troop was formed on 9 October 2000 close to the completion of the Commercialisation Implementation Teams work and the full withdrawal of Euromux carried out by 204 Sig Sqn. It now stands as an independent Troop numbering 1+47 with Royal Signals soldiers from 15 different units. The Troop provides Project Myra Communications to British Forces deployed on Op Palatine, maintains and repairs all British owned IT within theatre (averaging one computer for every two soldiers), and runs Banja Luka COMMCEN. After his own completion of the Myra course in Christchurch with BAe Systems WO2 FofS Steve 'King of Sideburns' Ruxton has taken on the unique responsibility of managing the new Myra equipment and continuing to assist in the roll out of telephones. His friendly nature helping to explain why many Staff Officers found their phones being installation 'Phase 2'.

The majority of the Troop is from 7 Sig Regt but numbers are boosted by six Territorial Army soldiers; some of whom such as Sgt Jim Bromfield 35 Sig Regt (V) have volunteered to extend their tour to 18 months. Banja Luka Metal Factory is much as many of the Corps remembers it but the Royal Signals commitment has been vastly reduced. The Dutch have taken on the main responsibilities to the Headquarters with a noticeably different attitude - coffee breaks forming the majority of working hours.

The Troop has been lucky on recent promotion boards and congratulations go out to Cpl Ian Evans and Cpl Steve 'Hypochondriac' Mallison. Several members also came off the recent Sig to Lance Corporal Board, well done to Sig Matt Brooker, Sig Rory Grant, Sig Heather Parrott and Sig Nick 'CDT Sin Bin' Smith. A special thank you must go to LCpl Richard 'Kiwi' Scarcliff and LCpl Simon Chittick for their outstanding assistance to EFI staff within Banja Luka.

On taking the chair the first thing WO2 Sgt Maj Tony May did was smarten up the image of the Signal Troop. All Corrimecs and ISO containers were painted and he set about construction of a restroom over the weekend 28-29 October. After borrowing tools from a locally employed civilian 'Boycee' and with the help of many Troop members a restroom was built for all personnel to watch TV and have a brew. SSgt Rob Smith showed off his power tool prowess along with LCpl Richard 'Kiwi' Scarcliff. The room was opened with successful celebratory promotion drinks on 10 November.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

BRITFOR SIGNAL TROOP MEDAL PARADE

Brig Aitken, Commander British Forces Operation Palatine, presented the Troops with their medals on 29 November 2000. A speedy medal distribution came as a result of much practice on the Brigadier's part and the chilly weather. The restroom was the obvious location for an extended coffee break and a fine cake decorated with a 7 Signal Regiment flash. LCpl 'Big Bird' Purvis' request to have the medal parade put back half an hour so she could say goodbye to her friend were met with a sincere apology by the Sergeant Major.

ARMY TRAINING REGIMENT BASSINGBOURN

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Sqn Comd Maj F. E. Hargreaves
SSM WO2 (SSM) A. Slaney

As this year draws to a close it has been a busy period for 1 (Trg) Sqn. The Squadron has trained around 600 Royal Signals soldiers and passed them out to Phase 2. The turnover of staff has been immense and the cycle continues. The recruits have raised a staggering £15783.13 for charity. So when you are contemplating your next posting and you want to make a difference - 1 Sqn ATR Bassingbourn is a challenging, rewarding and a unique posting. The OC Squadron made his mark as a 10pin-bowling demon during the recent Triangular Conference. WO2 (SSM) Slaney continues to fit in the odd resettlement course. To bring the reader up to date ATR Bassingbourn has some of the best sporting facilities available and the SQMS knows this because he is always out utilising them. It has been suggested that his uniform is in light care and preservation. Mrs Maria Mould Our Sqn Clk has now trained Barney not to eat recruits whole. He is to chew them first.

ALPHA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Emma Bruce

This month, Alpha Tp welcomes their new OC, Capt Emma Bruce from 16 Sig Regt and Cpl Knowles from 7 Sig Regt. We also welcome Cpl Mason back from a tour with 28 Trg Sqn Royal Engineers, and Cpl Carroll, who has come across from the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers. We also have a lot of good-byes this month: Firstly, to Sgt Clark who is eagerly anticipating his move 16 Sig Regt, as he knows the fishing around Rheindahlen is excellent. Cpl Mitchell AKA Sgt Mitchell who is off to rule the roost at 30 Sig Regt's Trg Wg, and Cpl Mason who is also posted to 30 Sig Regt. Lastly, farewell to Cpl Carroll who is off to pastures new with Essex Constabulary - good luck with your new career.

Congratulations to Cpl Mitchell who won the CO's Competition, destroying competition from the Engineers and the Infantry to win the coveted title of 'Best Section' for the August 2000 intake. Congratulations also to Sig Clifton-Sprigg (Best Recruit), Sig Mullen (Best Shot), Sig McKenzie (Best at PT) and Sig Kennedy (Best Endeavor) - Well Done and keep up the good work. A further well done to all members of that intake for raising almost £900 in charity money. The Troop organised and participated in a sponsored Cross Channel row using the rowing machines in the gym, covering the equivalent distance of Dover to Calais and back to Dover. The money has been donated to the Imperial Cancer Research Fund.

BRAVO TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Stu Gunson

With another 31 high calibre recruits turned out for Phase 2 training Bravo Tp has started to go through a period of major change. First to go was Sgt Paula Matheson who has moved, on promotion, to Sqn Ops at 3 Div. After saying goodbye to her in the last two editions she has finally managed to drag herself away from the fold. She was followed shortly after by Cpl Ron Grandon to earn lots of money and stripes on his Clerk of Works Course. Both will be greatly missed, good luck and all the best to you. We now welcome Sgt Jackie Collins on promotion from AFCENT with the promise of some outstanding moves on the drill-square. Cpls Andy Doyle and Mark Collins also deserve a welcome, not for arriving but after spending so much time skiving on courses during the last intake we were starting to forget what they looked like. The old intake get congratulations as well. Sig James Cullen – Best Recruit and Best Shot. Sig Tom Barrett – Best PT and Sig Tim Scrivin – Best Endeavour, well done guys and keep it up at Blandford. The whole intake also did well in our charity Wheelchair Basketball event raising £1234 for the Great Britain Wheelchair Basketball Association.

CHARLIE TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Ben Howarth

As Charlie Tp struggles uphill through another tide of recruits and our merry band peaks at forty-four, a wind of change is sweeping through the training team. Farewell to Capt Alex Clixby, recently departed to 19 Mech Bde; hello (again) to Cpl Al Nuttall. Where have you been Cpl Dave Knowler? Congratulations to Cpl Paul Conroy on his promotion and commiseration's on having to move to Echo Tp. Congratulations to Sgt Harry Ramsden on his conversion to healthy living. Finally but eternally good luck to Cpl Mark Brenen and his impending fatherhood. Believing we had seen it all the Troop have been privileged to witness the attrition method of completing the obstacle course. This involves the smaller recruits running directly into the six foot wall in a clear attempt to knock it down; maybe one day. Looking ahead a chill runs down the spine at the thought of kayaking, in Wales, in late December. Adventure Shivering. Happier times will be a wheelchair-borne spin around the basketball court in January to raise money for disabled British athletes.

DELTA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Hervey J. Scott

As the last intake of Delta Tp, 1 (Trg) Sqn approached the end of their Phase One training, all forty recruits took part in a charity event. The aim of the event was to raise money for the Army Benevolent Fund and the ATR (Bassingbourn) Play School. The recruits all obtained sponsorship from their friends and families during their long-weekend. Upon their return they took part in a simulated (in the gym) run, bike and row from Bassingbourn to Calais and back to Bassingbourn. Delta Tp recruits succeeded in raising a total of just under £1600 during the charity event. The cheques were presented to the two charities at the recruits' parents evening the night before they passed off from Bassingbourn. Delta Tp also bids farewell to Cpls Lythe and Smith who are posted to 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt at the end of their tours. Congratulations to Cpl Smith on his promotion on posting and for completing the Great North Run. Thank you for all of your efforts and best of luck in the future. Welcome to Sgt Dougie Icke and Cpl Jas Woosnam who are now both working at a phenomenal rate training the new intake of recruits. Cpl Woosnam has discovered that he enjoys drill so much, that he has applied to complete the All-Arms Drill course in January 2001 – best of luck to him and watch out Delta Tp! This has left Cpl Payton jealous that she has not yet become a Drill instructor, so she has applied to complete the NBC and the MLT courses instead.

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Chris Biddulph

A fresh start for Echo Tp, picking up a new intake for the first time in four months, having served as general backup to the other Troops in the Squadron for the last four months. Welcomes to Cpl Leon Teasdale who joined us from 280 (UK) Sig Sqn six weeks ago and to Cpl Jon Attwell fresh from ITGIS and MLT courses and 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn. Welcome also to the new Troop Commander, Capt Chris Biddulph. As mentioned above, we picked up a Troop of 21 Royal Engineer's and nine Royal Signallers three weeks ago and have recently returned from a demanding and arduous night exercising on the outside training area here at Bassingbourn. A night of high risk and danger has been planned for the instructor's as we take 30 recruits 'grand-prix Karting' next week. If their current drill performance is anything to go by then we are all in trouble as we allow 30 youngsters with the co-ordination of baby giraffes loose with combustion engines!! A full report will appear in the next issue of The WIRE. Finally, farewell to Sgt Roy Turner, who leaves us for 3 Div Sig Regt in the new year. We wish you and your family all the very best in your new posting, you will be a hard man to replace.

FOXTROT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Dave Jackson

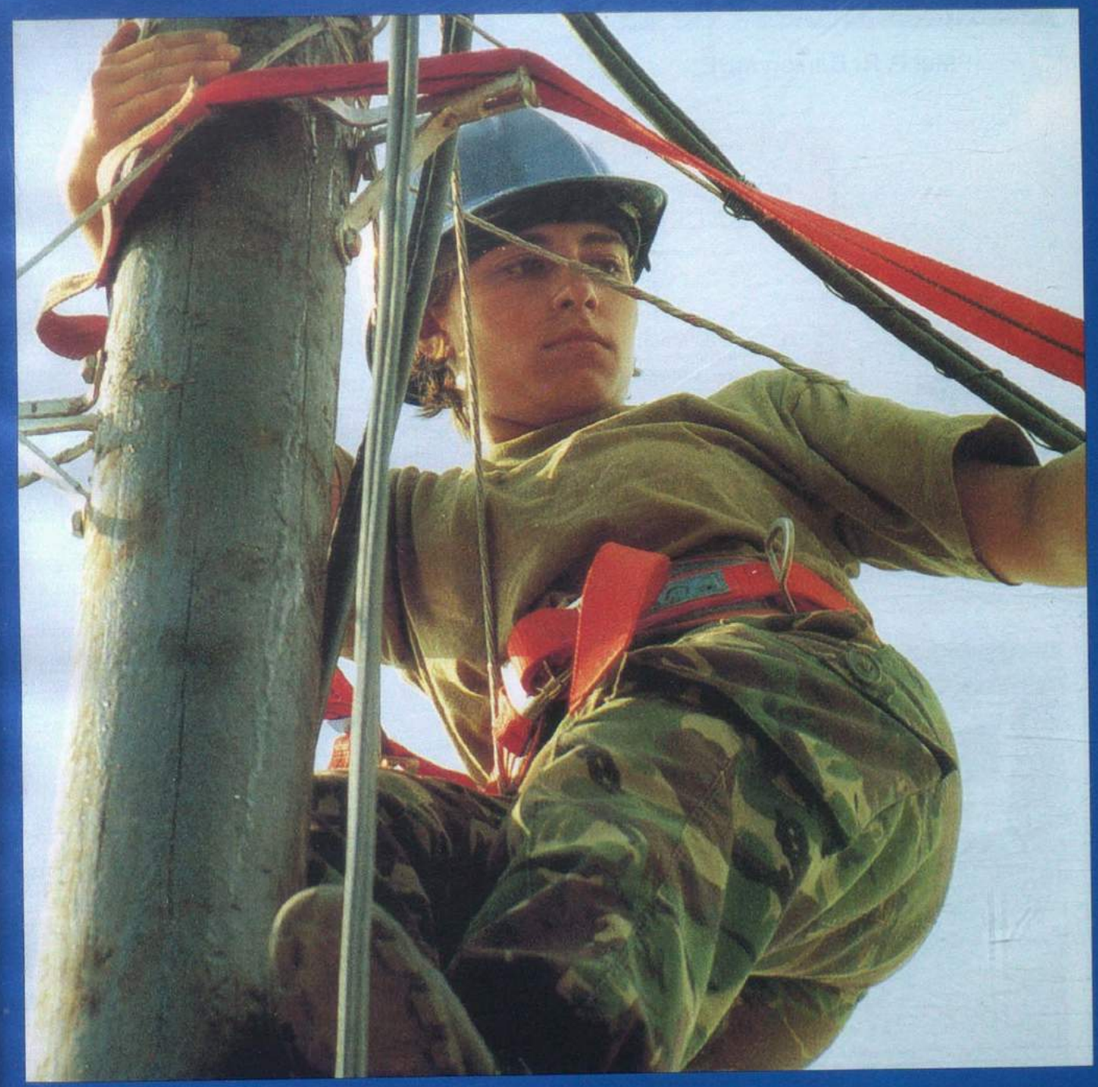
After persevering with a Troop of Engineers the F Tp training team is looking forward to picking up a new batch of Signals recruits, (Ask them how they feel in 12 weeks). There are two new faces in the Troop so hello to Cpl Dale King from 16 Sig Regt and Cpl John Atwell from 22[illegible] Sig Sqn. We will also be saying goodbye to Cpl Paul Smith who is posted on promotion to Naples to what he claims will be a really tough job. Also Cpl Gav Wilson who is due to go on promotion but nobody wants him. As for the rest of the training team, well Cpl Amanda Richardson is quickly becoming the Troop pin-up and Capt Dave Jackson has still not found his office yet. Our best wishes go to Sgt Craig Purdon who at the moment is sweating it out on his Sergeants course at Blandford.

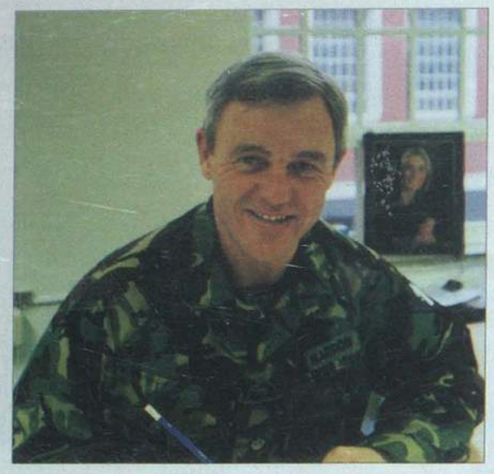
LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

THE Wire

April 2001



The Royal Corps of Signals



Maj P. R. Barron MBE

SSgt R. D. Inglesant MBE, BEM

MILITARY DIVISION OF THE MOST EXCELLENT ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE (ROYAL SIGNALS)

As Commander (CBE)	Col M. J. Dent MBE
As Members (MBE)	Maj P. R. Barron Maj D. J. H. Boxhall Maj J. A. B. Floyd Capt D. A. Wright WO1 J. R. Knight SSgt R. D. Inglesant BEM Sgt L. J. Robinson LCpl C. Rees
Queen's Volunteer Reserves Medal	Sgt J. M. Dennehy

Sgt L. J. Robinson MBE

LCpl C. Rees MBE

The Royal Signals Magazine

April 2001 Vol. 55 No: 2

The Wire

All correspondence and matter for publication in The Wire should be addressed to The Head of Publications, The Wire, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, DT11 8RH Dorset. Tel No: Blandford mil 2079 STD 01258 48 2079

Matter for publication must be received by the 15th of February, April, June, August, October and 10th December for publication six weeks later.

All enquiries regarding subscriptions/despatch should be made to Blandford Mil 2087 STD 01258 482087

Subscription rates 2001 (Bi-monthly) (Feb, Apr, Jun, Aug, Oct, and Dec). Individual: Yearly £12.00; Bi-monthly £2.00.

Remittances should be made payable to Royal Signals Benevolent Fund

Editor Lt Col (Retd) P. Valder
Deputy Editor Mrs J. A. Herring

CONTENTS

	Page
Editor's Notes	89
Movements	95
News from Headquarters	95
News of Training	97
News from the Balkans	106
News from Northern Ireland	108
News from the Regiments	113
News from the Squadrons	153
News from the Troops and Cadets	172
Sport	173
The Royal Signals Association and News from the AO's Desk	175
Reunions	180
Lost Comms	181
Correspondence	182
Donations	183
The Last Post	183

FRONT COVER
This month it comes courtesy of HQ 2nd (NC) Signal Brigade and Cotswold Garrison and shows Sig Muhammed of 238 Sig Sqn working in Kosovo whilst on an operational tour with the Communications Infrastructure Planning and Implementation Team, formed as a part of an 11 Sig Bde initiative

BACK COVER
2 Signal Regiment on parade as they receive The Freedom of The City of York in appreciation of their help during the recent floods

The closing date for copy to REACH this office, in order to go in the JUNE issue is 15 APRIL 2001

SIR DIRK BOGARDE

The gentleman who has been appointed by the estate of the late Sir Dirk Bogarde, to write his biography, seeks any information on his time in the Corps. He was, as Derek Van den Bogaerde, called up in the winter of 1940-41 and from May 1941 to February 1942 attended a Royal Signals OCTU Course at Catterick before being transferred to the Royal Artillery. Anyone who has any memories, photographs, letters etc which could shed further light on this part of Bogarde's life would be of considerable help to the biographer, John Coldstream. He can be contacted at: 11 Abbey House, 1a Abbey Road, St. John's Wood, LONDON, NW8 9BT or Tel: 020 7266 3779,
E-mail: jcoldstream@dial.pipex.com

Authors alone are responsible for the content of their articles. The opinions expressed in the articles of this publication are those of the individual authors and do not necessarily reflect the policy and views, official or otherwise, of the Royal Signals or the Ministry of Defence. This publication should be treated with discretion by the recipient.

© Crown Copyright

Disclaimer: No responsibility for the quality of goods or services advertised in this magazine can be accepted by the Publishers or their Agents. Advertisements are included 'in good faith'.

THE MAN FROM MANNING AND CAREER MANAGEMENT DIVISION

(Maj S. G. Hutchinson MBE R SIGNALS)

The last couple of months have been extremely busy ones for the Division with Roadshows to Cyprus, Saudi Arabia, Northern Ireland, London and Aldershot. Within the Division itself WO2 (SQMS) Scott has replaced WO2 (SQMS) Myles as the Staff Assistant and Derek Aitken returns to the Liabilities Desk after a long period away (I'm glad to see him back). There have also been a number of Promotion Boards held during the past few months and prospects for soldiers across the Corps remain healthy with around 20% being selected for promotion each year. The results of promotion boards held during 2000 are summarised below. Including reserves, a total of 1,164 R SIGNALS soldiers have been selected for promotion thus far in 2000; this figure should increase by a further 200 or so once future reserves have been taken into account.

Promotion Board	'Main List' Selections	'Reserve' Selections	Total Selected	Promotion Year Ends
2000 A1 (WO2 to WO1)	37	15	52	30 Jun 01
2000 A2 (SSgt to WO2)	79	27	106	30 Jun 01
2000 B (Sgt to SSgt)	100	32	132	30 Jun 01
2000 C (Cpl to Sgt)	160	9	169	31 Oct 01
2000 E (LCpl to Cpl)	275	None yet	275	31 Jan 02
2000 F (Sig to LCpl)	430	None yet	430	31 Jan 02
Totals	1,081	83	1,164

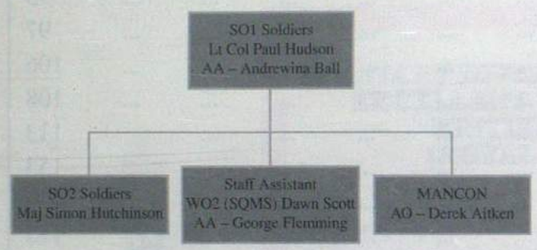
We have had a different focus for each edition and this time we turn to the 'Driving Force' behind the Division - Central Support.



SO1 Soldiers - Lt Col Paul Hudson is the principle figure in Soldier Wing and as the SO1 is responsible for all aspects of soldier manning and policy. A renowned Chocaholic, workaholic, Lt Col Hudson is frequently found working late into the night on issues relating to soldier policy, or at least that is what he tells us he is doing. The resident DIY expert Lt Col Hudson has plenty of experience covering holes, repairing fences and cementing cracks; vital attributes for the SO1 Soldiers.

SO2 Soldiers - Yours truly. Responsible for all aspects that nobody else wants, the SO2 Soldiers is the Divisional Point of Contact for litigation redresses, appeals, manning levels, Data Protection Act and establishments. A fine, upstanding member of the Division (some may disagree) Maj Hutchinson has few vices although his passion for rugby, chocolate and Guinness has already forced one visit to the tailors.

WO2 (SQMS) Scott - WO2 (SQMS) Dawn Scott is the new girl on the block although this has not prevented her from making an immediate impact on the Division. The Point of Contact for all visits to the Division WO2 (SQMS) Scott also has the responsibility for maintaining the Colonel's diary. A keen eye for detail and an uncanny ability to get you to sign for anything; little gets past WO2 (SQMS) Scott although do not be lulled into getting her to tell a joke as they are inevitably awful.

AO MANCON - Unfortunately Derek Aitken has been away for the last six months, although he has now returned with renewed gusto, much to the relief of the SO2. The focal point for all establishment matters Derek's post is not an easy one, however, if you want something doing just say that you have Canadian relatives or are a Rangers season Ticket-Holder (then again, someone must be).

AA - Andrewina Ball is the brain of the Section, afterall she is the only one with a degree. Responsible for providing Administrative Support to the SO1, Andrewina has her fingers in many pies, none more so than the production of career forecasts and the clearance of errors (unit/soldier mismatches on the mainframe computer).

AA - George Walker is the AA in Central Support. A 'Deputy Chief Clerk' George is the focal point for all information passing both in and out of the Division. A style icon and frequent modeller of Icelandic winter-ware, little phases George; although if you thought WO2 Scott's jokes were bad ……..

N.B. Since these profiles were compiled Andrewina has been promoted to the dizzy heights of AO and is now responsible for litigation redresses, appeals and associated matters. Congratulations are due to Andrewina on her much deserved and merited promotion.

REPRESENTATION AND REDRESS

Following on from previous Editions we have decide to take a brief look at the key aspects of Redress and Representation Procedures.

REDRESS OF COMPLAINT

· The key reference documents covering Representations and Redresses are AGAI Vol 2 Ch 70 and the MS Guide to Soldiers Confidential Reports, Ch 5.

* A soldier is entitled to submit a Redress of Complaint if, in his opinion, he has been unjustly reported on. A soldier has no right to Redress if he simply feels that he cannot agree with the opinion of his Reporting Officer.

* An application for a Redress of Complaint must include what corrective action, in the eyes of the complainant, is necessary.

* Submissions, together with copies of any supporting documents, are to be made to the Commanding Officer at the time of submission, unless that Commanding Officer is personally the subject of the complaint.

* The responsibility for resolving any formal complaint lies with the chain of command in which the officer or soldier is serving when the complaint is raised, even if the bulk of the investigation has to be undertaken by the individual's previous unit or formation.

* All cases should be resolved as swiftly as possible.

REPRESENTATION (NOT AMOUNTING TO A COMPLAINT)

* A Representation (NOT amounting to a Complaint) is submitted by a soldier who wishes to have placed on permanent record his opinion of a Reporting Officer's assessment; it is not a method to amend a CR.

* The Representation is taken into account by Selection Boards when considering promotions.

HELP !!!!!!! HELP !!!!!!!! HELP !!!!!!!

Are you sitting there reading this and thinking that you would like to do something a bit different, perhaps something out of the ordinary involving challenges, travel and communication. Have you ever considered being a Special Recruiter or member of the R SIGNALS Mobile Presentation Team. If you have, but have not known how to get about it then contact your Admin Office or speak to your 'boss', there are opportunities out there!

NEXT EDITION

In our next submission of The WIRE we will have a review of some of the visits that the Division has been involved in over the past 12 months.

IF YOU'VE LOST CONTACT WITH AN OLD FRIEND, WHY NOT SEND AN ENQUIRY TO THE WIRE YOU NEVER KNOW ONE OF OUR READERS MAY BE ABLE TO HELP PUT YOU IN CONTACT AGAIN

THE PODMORE COLLECTION

by Keith Olds

A recent acquisition of the Corps museum was the presentation of a valuable and interesting collection of badges, embellishments, formation flashes and other historic items now known in archival circles as the 'Podmore Collection'.

The generous donor, Brian Podmore, served 31 years in the Corps. He joined as a boy soldier in 1953 and became the last boy RSM of No.6 (Boys) Training Regiment at Beverley in Yorkshire before that august unit moved to Denbury in Devonshire. He served as a regular soldier for 12 years before joining the Staffordshire Constabulary with which he served for 28 years. He did, however, continue his connection with the Corps though his service with the Territorial Army, with which he served a further 19 years, retiring finally in the rank of Captain.

Brian developed a life-long interest in the embellishments and insignia of his Corps and his collection of Corps badges and other uniform titles will add considerably to the other artefacts held by the museum.

The Collection also includes unrivalled groups of Royal Signals Territorial Army insignia, Commonwealth Army Signals badges and cloth formation arm flashes of most of the formations of the British Army.

This truely amazing collection will be kept in the museum archives to preserve its cohesiveness as a collection, though various individual items may be used occasionally as part of a more general display. Anyone interested in viewing the 'Podmore Collection' should contact the Museum Curator.

Brian Podmore as Boy RSM of No.6 Training Regiment, Normandy Barracks, Beverley, aged 17 and a half, in July 1955.
The rank insignia, cap badge, shoulder title, lanyard and the Catterick Tudor rose he is wearing are included in the Collection he has donated

OLD WELBEXIAN ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT'S DINNER - 23 JUNE 01

The next President's Dinner will be held at Welbeck College on Saturday 23 June 01. The Annual General Meeting will take place on the subsequent Sunday morning.

Dress is Mess Kit for serving officers and Black Tie for retired officers. The cost will be £22. Timings are 1900 for 1930 hrs. Limited basic accommodation is available on request.

Applications, including a contact address and telephone number, should arrive at least three weeks prior to the dinner to:

Captain GW Thompson Royal Engineers
Adjutant Welbeck College
WORKSOP
Notts S80 3LN
Tel: 01909 476326 Fax: 01909 530447

CORPS DINNER CLUB IMPORTANT DATES FOR 2001

TUESDAY 8 MAY 2001
Corps London Dinner
The Savoy
Black Tie

SUNDAY 24 JUNE 2001
Corps Luncheon - Blandford

SUNDAY 2 SEPTEMBER 2001
Corps Luncheon North - Catterick

FRIDAY 26 OCTOBER 2001
Scottish Dinner - Glasgow

For further information contact:
Miss Jo Hewitt
RHQ Royal Signals
Blandford Camp
Dorset DT11 8RH
Tel: 01258 482083
E-Mail: rhq-rsignals@army.mod.uk
Fax: 01258 482084

ACHTUNG! MINEN!

THE MAKING OF A FLAIL TANK TROOP COMMANDER

2nd Edition in softback

Formed in 1943 to spearhead set-piece attacks by clearing mines on heavily defended positions, including of course, on D-Day the fortified beaches of Hitler s Atlantic Wall on the French coast. Flail-tank regiments played a crucial but dangerous role in the forefront of the Army s advance across Northern Europe in 1944/45.

Cost £5.50 plus £1.52 postage. Available from:
Ian Hammerton
Tanglewood, 65 Norfield Road, Wilmington,
Dartford Kent, DA2 7NY
Tel/Fax: 01322 522492

THE REAL MILLENNIUM REUNION

264 Signal Squadron

Weekend 10/11/12 August 2001

For further details please contact the SSM or the Unit Admin Officer on Civil (01432) 357311 or
Military (94475), Ext: 2253 or 2459

Interested in learning how to sail?

Come and learn the exciting sports of Dinghy sailing and Windsurfing at the

Mercury Sail Training Week 11 - 15 June 2001

At The Dale Adventurous Training Center

All administration, including instructors and equipment, are provided, just turn up and enjoy yourself

Contact: YofS R. Owens, 14 Signal Regiment (EW) 94359 5656

BEEN IN THE ATTIC RECENTLY?

Some of the displays in the museum are to be upgraded. We have purchased some new cabinets and are looking for donations of exhibits, paraphernalia, images and information on the following subjects:

The Corps Band; The White Helmets; Prisoners of War (particularly Colditz); Commonwealth Corps of Signals - Australian/Canadian/New Zealand/South African; The Cary Theatre and Troop Entertainment

Anything you might find on these subjects could make a big difference! If you can help please contact Stella McIntyre or Cliff Walters at the Royal Signals Museum, Blandford Camp, Dorset, DT11 8RH.

LANYARD TROPHY

23-25 May 2001 North Yorkshire

For further details contact
16 Air Asslt Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (216)
on Colchester Military 2747

Should you make a purchase as the result of seeing an advert in The WIRE, please let them know that you saw their advert in your Corps Magazine

SPECIAL FORCES COMMUNICATORS

TERRITORIAL ARMY

LEAVING THE ARMY? BE THE BEST

Interested in a challenging and useful part time career for which you get paid? Want to put your existing military and communications skills to further use?

Our requirement:- between 18 and 32 years old, physically fit, well motivated, keen to learn, discreet, honest, good interpersonal skills.

TA commitment:- 27 days including 15 days annual camp. In addition we require a further 10 days in order to develop multiple communications skills and become proficient in a wide range of military skills, to work in a highly demanding environment.

The opportunities:- personal development, travel, adventurous pursuits, annual financial bonus.

For further information apply to the address below quoting the Wire Magazine as the advertisement source:

PSI
R (SY) Troop (V)
Stirling Lines
Hereford
HR4 7DD

The Territorial Army is an equal opportunities employer

264 (SPECIAL AIR SERVICE) SIGNAL SQUADRON
WANTS YOU!

Volunteers from all Trade Groups within Royal Signals
Are Required for Service with United Kingdom Special Forces

If you are up for the challenge of working in an unusual and demanding environment, feel that you are self-disciplined, fit, motivated and that you have something to offer us, then give us a call.

Volunteers will need to be able to work alone and in small teams and be responsive to changing operational situations with little or no notice, within a Joint Force environment. Service with 264 (SAS) Signal Squadron attracts additional rates of pay, parachuting and lots of foreign travel.

We run regular Acquaintance Courses to give you the chance to have a look at the Squadron, and two Probation courses every year. Probation will include physical and military training, parachute and combat survival training and Special Forces communications training with equipment that you will not find anywhere else within the three Services.

Interested? Then Call:

The Training Officer on (9)4475 2741

Background Information can be found in SOinC(A) PD 206

OUR SHARE

(Lt Col (Retd) Pat Soward)

This is a review by Lt Col (Retd) Pat Soward of a small booklet about 1 Company, 15 Air Formation Signals. (Col (Retd) C. J. Walters)

Maj George McKowen, MBE, served in the Corps for 26 years and had the rare privilege of raising, training and commanding an Air Formation Signals Company throughout its active war service.

15th Air Formation Signals was formed at Stirley Hill, just south of Huddersfield, in January 1943 and Maj McKowen arrived in June to command 1 Company which started to form up at Dewsbury later that month. 30 days later UHQ and 1 Company moved to Cherry Valley Camp, Crumlin. The camp had been condemned by previous occupants, was immediately condemned again but to no avail! Transport was drawn, Albion 6 x 2 and Commer 4 x 2 3-Tonners, Fordson 15-cwts and motorcycles. G1098 stores arrived in a steady trickle. In November the complete, and trained, unit moved to Hendon where training continued, but now working up with 2 (Light Bomber) Group who they were to serve.

1 Company was the Line Construction Company and it moved to France in advance of the rest of the unit, arriving at Le Tronquay on 18 August, 1944 (D-Day + 73). Here it almost immediately split with the various sections assisting other Air Formation Signals Units on different projects. 2 Group finally moved to Europe in late September and 1 Company HQ moved to Brussels with the sections deployed to airfields at Vitry, Epinoy, Coxyde and Rosieres.

Shortly after VE Day, Maj McKowen arranged for a history of 1 Company since the day of its formation to be compiled and published. In his forward he hoped that each member of the company would, 'find it interesting and worthy of a place in your souvenirs'. Lt C. A. Pigott, of company HQ, was responsible for most of this work. In his conclusion, Maj McKowen writes, 'I told you in Ireland that I was proud to command you. I repeated this to you before we left for Normandy. I can now only say that your part, and the way you have played it over in Europe has made me more proud of you than ever. I ask you to believe me when I say that, for me, when I look back on my Army life of 20 years, the most efficient, the grandest crowd of officers and men that it has been my luck to serve with is No 1 Company, 15 Air Formation Signals.'

Maj McKowen's son, Andrew, visited the museum in January and, on his return home, sent a copy of his father's book to the museum where it can now be seen in the archives. The book, entitled 'Our Share', was meticulously researched and is exceptionally complete. It includes photographs of the officers, of the members of Coy HQ and of each section. Full nominal roles, including the names of those posted out and in, details of vehicle milages and of cables laid and refurbished are all included. Even a short history of the work of 2 (Light Bomber) Group, its Wings, Squadrons and aircraft types, is included. If ever there was an example of how a unit history should be written, this is it.

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive - beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

The Royal Corps of Signals

Festival of Music & Song
May 12th 2001
Doors Open 7.30
at the Poole Arts Centre

Featuring;

The Band of the Royal Corps of Signals
The Pipes and Drums of the Royal Corps of Signals
The Band of the Hussars & Light Dragoons
& the Childrens National Champion Choir of the Year

In support of
The Royal Star & Garter Home Registerd Charity No 210119
Royal Signals Education Trust Registerd Charity No 1070420

Tickets from £7.50 Concessions for Children & Families.
Box Office Hotline Tel; 01202 685 222

Enquiries;Adam Forty - Event Organiser
Tel; 01258 482 258 Fax; 01258 482 084

'CALL TO ARMS'

Review by Colonel (Retd) Cliff Walters

As a Major he was the SO2 Fixed Communications in Signals 34 from 1984 to 1986. During this period was the introduction (amongst other things!) of FASTNET, Facsimile machines in COMMCENS, FITS in the Falklands and early mobile radios in senior officer's staff cars.

'CALL TO ARMS' was published on 21 February 2001 and was commissioned by BT Defence to mark their part played in establishing the Defence Fixed Telecommunications System (DFTS). The marketing material advertises:

'A HISTORY OF MILITARY COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE CRIMEAN WAR TO THE PRESENT DAY'

The Editors, Maureen Bridges and John Pegg, have put together an excellent record of their subject. To imply that the book deals with ALL Military Communications throughout the period may be a little misleading. One would expect BT to concentrate on fixed communications, and this it does in a very interesting and thorough way; albeit that other aspects of communications are dealt with in less detail.

The early chapters give an excellent account of the advances in communications covering shutter telegraph, heliographs, lamps, semaphore and other 'physical' means of passing messages. Later, the opportunities exploited using electricity to carry signals are woven in to the narrative. This includes electric telegraphy, early telephones, manual switching and line laying.

Throughout the book there is detail given of the military communications organisations. Initially this includes the build up to the RE Signal Service and the subsequent formation of the Royal Signals. Later, it describes Air Support, Air Formation and fixed communication organisation in UK and overseas.

The history of Air Defence Communications in UK, from WW1 onwards, is dealt with in depth. This relates the AD task and organisation to the communications that were provided; mainly by landline. It is a fascinating and detailed account encompassing Sopwith Snipes, the Observer Corps, radar, sirens and so on, much of which may not be familiar to the Army reader. WW2 fixed communications are included.

Following on from WW2 the GPO were at the forefront of restoring fixed communications in UK and Germany. EMD, STARRNET, cross channel communications and the relationship between the GPO and Royal Signals are all subjects that will be recalled by BAOR warriors!!

To complete the history there is operational information on the Falklands War, Bosnia and Kosovo. The ongoing progression of fixed communications in UK, brought about by new technology, is given and such systems as the Defence Teleprinter Network (DTN), LINESMAN, Army Telephone Network, UNITER, Naval Fixed Telecommunications System are all aired. Many of these systems were costly to maintain and functions were duplicated. A major study in 1987 eventually gave birth to the Defence Fixed Telecommunications System on 25 July 1996.

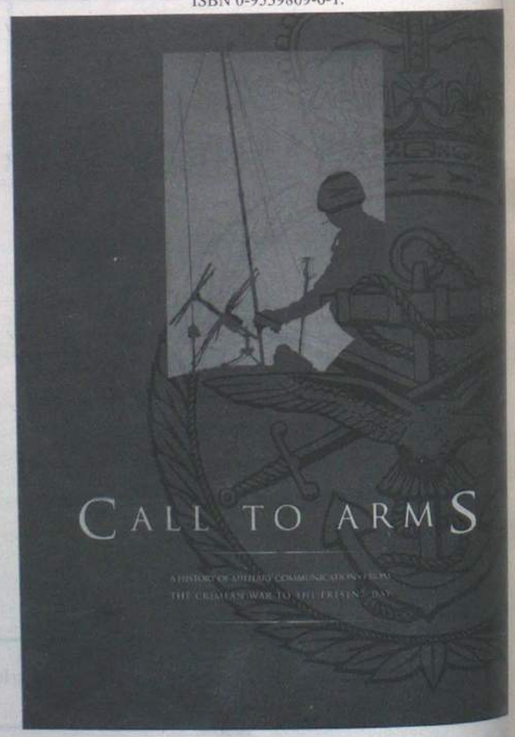
Read all about it. It is an enjoyable, interesting and a very detailed account of an important aspect of military communications that does not often get the limelight.

Past and present members of the Corps are invited to order copies of Call to Arms at a special price of £15.99 inc p&p (normally £19.99) by writing to the publishers:

FOCUS Publishing, 4 Watts Road, Tavistock PL19 8LF

Enclosing remittance, name and address and quoting reference CTA/WIRE. It is hoped that the Museum will stock the book soon.

ISBN 0-9539809-0-1.



MOVEMENTS

OFFICERS
MARCH 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Maj G. Harwood MBE	DISC Support Unit
Maj J. E. Mullender	21 Signal Regiment (Air Support)
Maj J. M. P. Leggate	16 Signal Regiment
A/Maj N. E. Baugh	HQ ARRC
Capt L. Keily	RHQ AFNORTH
Capt G. G. A. Reith	32 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Capt M. J. Spandler	16 Air Assault Brigade Headquarters
Capt D. T. H. Wilson	15 Signal Regiment

OFFICERS
FEBRUARY 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Capt S. E. G. Barnard	2 Signal Regiment
Capt B. M. Bingham	264 (SAS) Signal Squadron
Capt L. D. Burrell	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt M. J. Crinnion	Army Apprentices' College
Capt R. J. Farrimond	Royal Military Academy Sandhurst
Capt L. Golley	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt A. Greenfield	9 Signal Regiment (Radio)
Capt G. Hodgson	2 Signal Regiment
Capt A. Scott	7 Signal Regiment
Capt S. G. Scott	34 (N) Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Capt A. T. W. Steele	7 Signal Regiment

WOS AND SNCOS
FEBRUARY

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
WO1 RD P. Marshall	BMATT Sierra Leone
WO1 FofS P. S. Hodson	2 Signal Regiment
A/WO1 RD J. T. Cauldwell	35 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
A/WO1 FofS A. G. Jenkins	7 Signal Regiment
A/WO1 M. W. Gould	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
WO2 P. E. Stockell	HQ SOinC
A/WO2 RD J. S. Hogan	Army Apprentice College
SSgt H. Baker	Army Apprentice College
SSgt B. Wilkins	R&LS South
A/SSgt R. Carter	16 Signal Regiment
A/SSgt J. Driver	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
Sgt R. P. Atkinson	HQ Landcent
Sgt P. D. Batley	R&LS East
Sgt M. N. Campbell	7 Signal Regiment
Sgt A. P. Dear	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt J. P. Drewett	15 Signal Regiment
Sgt G. E. Dunstone	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt S. J. Hogan	ATACCS
Sgt D. S. Mahoney	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt J. M. Richmond	4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (204)
Sgt G. Smith	15 Signal Regiment
Sgt T. M. Whalen	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt S. J. Mesmer	UNICOM
A/Sgt C. J. Oneill	SHAPE ACE Commsec
A/Sgt P. E. Smith	RHQ AFSOUTH

WOS AND SNCOS
MARCH 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
WO1 FofS K. Dodd	Army CIS Services Group
A/WO1 RD G. C. N. Keane	40 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
WO2 RD M. J. Crowther	238 Signal Squadron
WO2 FofS J. B. Harper	SSU Digby
WO2 FofS A. J. Riglar	19 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (209)
WO2 FofS M. Roberts	225 Signal Squadron
A/WO2 RD A. A. Chapman	21 Signal Regiment
A/WO2 RD D. P. Coleman	6 Signal Regiment
A/WO2 RD A. J. Crawford	7 Signal Regiment
A/WO2 RD P. A. Gardner	University of Liverpool OTC
A/WO2 RD A. P. Ironside	16 Signal Regiment
SSgt M. R. Fitz-Patrick	4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (204)
SSgt C. Marlowe	36 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
SSgt J. L. Meek	RHQ AFSOUTH
SSgt W. J. Scoots	7 Signal Regiment
SSgt R. P. Shield	16 Signal Regiment
SSgt A. V. Smith	30 Signal Regiment
SSgt M. P. Townley	ATR Bassingbourn
A/SSgt N. J. Clay	ASTS
Sgt M. P. Curbishley	School of Army Aviation
Sgt R. J. Garlick	2 Signal Regiment
Sgt M. P. Gordon	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt C. J. Jacobs	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
A/Sgt J. N. Carter	31 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
A/Sgt D. J. Counter	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
A/Sgt C. H. Henson	The Royal School of Signals
A/Sgt G. A. Keith	30 Signal Regiment
A/Sgt D. T. Mawson	14 Signal Regiment (EW)

NEWS FROM HEADQUARTERS

HEADQUARTERS SIGNAL OFFICER IN CHIEF (ARMY)

TRIALS SUPPORT TROOP
COMMAND SUPPORT DEVELOPMENT CENTRE

SO3 (W) Trials	Capt J. A. Kennedy
Tp YofS	WO2 (YofS) Jon Evans
Tp SSgt	SSgt Tony Downing

The Millennium for Trials Support Tp was substantially quieter than 1999, with the Troop conducting only four major trials. Trials on the new EW system deployed by 14 Signal Regiment (EW) took up the majority of the early part of the year and involved the whole Troop, a Squadron from 14 Signal Regiment (EW), Y Troop Royal Marines and over twenty others from Units throughout the Army.

The Yeoman of Signals, WO2 Jon Evans took a short break from mountain biking to accompany Sgt Steve Lord on a HF trial with 1 (RBY) Sig Sqn (V). A complex trial which covered the majority of the UK from Newquay to Dundee, a challenge for the most competent of tradesmen. A number of Trials Teams have been working hand in hand with the RAF on a new piece of equipment for Tri Service use. LCpl Bob Roberts has managed to escape Blandford on two occasions, proving that trials work is not all done in the rain and wind of Blandford Camp. Enduring the heat of Cyprus and Kenya, LCpl Bob Roberts and a number of other expert users were sent to conduct long-range trials using a new HF System.

As part of the Digitisation Stage 1 Risk Reduction Programme, the Troop has also completed a comparison Trial between the data capability of Ptarmigan SCRA and new modern digital radios. Harris Radios provided the team with HF and VHF radios from their new 5800 family of radios, whilst the Land Systems Reference Centre was kind enough to assist by providing SCRA coverage and a couple of terminals. Encouraging results where found on both systems. Cpl Andy Lane and Cpl John Jenkins deployed to York at short notice in order to demonstrate the Harris 5800 HF systems near vertical incidence skywave capability.

LCpl Charlie Brown went away to Bisley twice this year to shoot in the Corps Championships where he came fifth in the service pistol competition and then to shoot for the Corps in the Army competitions where he came 32nd in the pistol match. In between trials the Troop managed a week's adventure training at sunny Brawdy! We all managed to get some surfing, golf and hill walking in, and generally have a very 'arduous' week.

After returning from Christmas and New Year the Troop have been working with the Power Section of The Royal School of Signals, receiving instruction on how to use the Field Electrical Power Distribution System (FEPDS). This was in preparation for the long awaited initial User Trials of the Field Electrical Power System (FEPS) headed up by our master of genes, Cpl John Jenkins, which is due to replace the 8/12kW, 16/24kW and 40 kW generator series.

Finally some welcomes and farewells, firstly we would like to welcome SSgt Tony Downing from 7 Sig Regt, Cpl Andy Parrott from 20 Armd Bde, LCpl Ronnie Allan from JCU(NI) and finally Sig Charlotte Driscoll from 3 (UK) Div and Sig Regt. A farewell goes to SSgt Ollie McGrail posted to 3 (UK) Div and Sig Regt, Sgt Steve Lord who is starting his Foremans Course, Cpl 'Beaz' Beasley goes on his T1 Upgrading Course and last but not least Cpl Sarah Guthrie posted on promotion to 12 Mech Bde.

GOOD NEWS TRAVELS FAST - PUBLISH IT IN THE WIRE

HEADQUARTERS
2 (NATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS) SIGNAL BRIGADE

CHANGE OF BRIGADE MISSION

The operational tasks and capability of 2 (NC) Sig Bde are specified in accordance with direction from CDS and CinC LAND. This direction is coordinated with the DMO and OGD. DCinC states the Mission of the Brigade and Comd Comms LAND exercises OPCOM on behalf of CinC LAND. SDR and subsequent review has confirmed and expanded the major tasks of the Brigade. Its capability is now being matched to this operational tasking and its ORBAT has been increased. New equipment is entering service and changes in commercial technology are being linked to the development of essential capability. In line with these changes, the Brigade is now able to achieve more flexibility and utility in its support to deployed Land Component and Joint operations. In recognition of its unique contribution in peace, and around the spectrum of conflict, CinC approved a new and more appropriate Mission for the Brigade:

'To provide and sustain current and future National and Land environment ICS capability around the spectrum of conflict'

The Brigade's capability is matched to high priority tasks in support of Land environment C2, Defence and National C2. Its Regular, TA and civilian manpower are structured and trained to provide high grade IT, HF radio and ICS installations and engineering services. The Regular, TA and civilian manpower of the Brigade are structured for wide utility within role. TA Regiments and Squadrons are recruited from across the GB. This pan-GB structure enables the Comd to develop capability and execute the Brigade's UK Base Specified Tasks in a coherent manner. Brigade capability is being progressively optimised to ensure the achievement of the Mission and tasks

BRIGADE STUDY PERIOD

In line with a change in Mission, the Brigade Study Period saw the concentration in Yorkshire of the Brigade's leadership to make an important contribution to the development of the 'Future Brigade' concept. Future Brigade will form the Brigade's input into Corps After Next and as such is key to the development of the Brigade. The two day Study Period, planned by Maj John Russell, was divided into an informing session with presentations from the DCinC, Lt Gen Sir John Deverell, the SOinC(A), Brig C. A. Burton with the audience of 160 officers and Warrant Officers tuning in Saturday night to GOC 5 Div, Maj Gen A. Denaro. Enthused Maj Russell, ' The Study Period brought everything that we have been striving towards both as a headquarters and throughout the units into one weekend where the key decision-makers could chart the Brigade's course'. The final day was spent presenting the results of hard worked syndicates - all contributing to satisfy one aim - moving the Brigade forward in a positive way.

OPPORTUNITIES ABOUND FOR 2 (NC) SIGNAL BRIGADE

2001 is proving to be another busy year for the Brigade with numerous operational and exercise deployments overseas. Detachments from the National Communication Signal Regiments are deploying NCRS to Germany taking advantage of a training opportunity with the ARRC; 31 Sig Regt (V) will be deploying LANWARD to the Ukraine on exercise and 71 Sig Regt will deploy a Foreign Office sponsored short term training team to the Barbados Defence Force.

97 (SFOR) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V) OPERATION PALATINE DEPLOYMENT

The highlight and main effort for 2001 will be in October when the Brigade will deploy a composite TA Squadron to Bosnia on Op Palatine. The Squadron, which will be known as 97 (SFOR) Sig Sqn (V) will be entirely TA, consisting of volunteers drawn from across the Brigade. The Squadron will complete a six-month tour ending in May 2002. Since the Brigade was warned for the task at the end of last year, there have been a huge number of Brigade volunteers to deploy. One factor that may have increased the number of volunteers is the flexibility that the Brigade has been given over tour lengths. At present, TA soldiers who volunteer to deploy on operational tours to the Balkans are required to commit themselves to an eight and a half month long period of service, once the six month tour, pre-deployment training and post-tour leave are taken into account. The Brigade, however, has been allowed to reduce tour lengths from six months down to two if required. This gives TA volunteers greater flexibility over when they can make themselves available for service and also gives them a better chance to receive employer approval to allow them to volunteer for mobilisation. However, there will probably not be a need for the Brigade to utilise shorter tour lengths as 70 % of the volunteers have made themselves available for a six-month tour. Throughout February Boards have selected the OC and fill all the posts within the Squadron. With so many volunteers coming forward, there are more volunteers than posts and the intent is to ensure that no volunteer goes away disappointed and the Headquarters is presently looking at other operational tasks and opportunities.

CUTTING EDGE TECHNOLGY REQUIRES CUTTING EDGE EQUIPMENT

Capt Gareth Marsh has written the Brigade's Equipment Strategy to reflect a new era in 2 (NC) Sig Bde. Says Gareth, ' There is an urgent Brigade need for an equipment strategy that will effectively maintain Brigade Military Capability over the next five to ten years. We will be achieving this through the modernisation of the Bde's equipment programme with new systems such as LOCK and SUNFLOWER this year. The main system within the Brigade, NCRS, will also undergo a mid-life enhancement programme, which will modernise the way the Brigade supports its National Communications role. These initiatives will ensure that 2 (NC) Sig Bde will continue to offer challenging and state of the art equipment to its TA soldiers for years to come.' Capt Andy McCole agrees wholeheartedly, 'New equipment combined with the enthusiasm of the TA soldier will compliment eachother and position the Brigade for successful wider deployments throughout the Land environment in support of operations and exercises. As the SO3 G2/G3 Ops for the Brigade, I am confident that we are up for the challenge.'

AU REVOIR RIEN ADIEU!

The Headquarters bids farewell on promotion to Col Geoff Cary whose unique sense of humour will be missed by all in Corsham. Col Geoff presided over a difficult time for the Brigade's ACISG with the loss of AFTS responsibilities but the opportunities presented by IT were fully exploited by Col Geoff and his team; resulting in the transfer of responsibility for ISIS to the ACISG. Col Geoff's next post is as DComd 19 Mech Bde - KFOR had better watch out! Retiring after spending a life in the Corps is Lt Col Mike Stevenson whose heart pounds to the beat of the Corps March. The Brigade has been very fortunate indeed to have an officer of Col Mike's quality in the G1/MS chair during this period of change in the Brigade. Equally the HQ is pleased (and relieved) that Col Mike has elected to continue his service with the Corps as an RO fulfilling his role by occupying the very hot G1/MS chair.

Finally, the staff will not see the happy, smiling face of PSAO 81 Sig Sqn (V), Capt John Harris anymore as John has taken advantage of an excellent opportunity to apply his talents elsewhere. John was instrumental in the move of the Squadron from Colerne to Corsham and for that we remain grateful. All the best for the future.

HEADQUARTERS
11 SIGNAL BRIGADE

Comd Brig C. L. Le Gallais OBE
COS Maj R. P. Wilson

HAIL & FAREWELL

Over the Christmas period, the Headquarters said farewell to Brig Jonathan Cook and Jane. Brig Jonathan has been in command of the Brigade for three years and has led with enthusiasm and dedication. It has been a busy and successful period for the Brigade. He led the Brigade through the SDR process and was the focus for the commercialisation of the Balkans. The latter is a considerable feat, for which, not only the Brigade but the Corps is thankful for the reduction in liability for R SIGNALS soldiers in the Balkans. He developed and practised challenging collective training Brigade exercises for the TA regiments, which were able to deliver effective Military Capability in support of the ARRC. He also remained at the forefront of JRRF planning with his guidance to 30 Sig Regt on operations. He leaves a Brigade that is looking forward to the introduction of new equipment and in which the ambiguity of the Chain of Command for TA units has been reduced. We wish Brig Jonathan and Jane well in their new appointment and look forward to the clear direction he will be able to give to Army Human Resources Policy. On 25 January 2001 we welcomed Brig Charles Le Gallais OBE and Jackie to the Brigade. We hope that you have a rewarding and exciting tour. We also said farewell to WO2 FofS 'Ratty' Stowell and Jackie. WO2 FofS Stowell was attached to the Brigade for a short period in September 1999 from 35 Sig Regt because he was too noisy. The Brigade TOT was involved in the commercialisation of the Balkans and we were able to give FofS Stowell something useful to do. He became the lead technical focus for Project CORMORANT and has provided a breadth of experience and advice to all units in the Brigade as well as the Headquarters. We were delighted to hear that he has been selected for promotion to WO1 because that gives us an opportunity to move him because he is getting a bit noisy for us as well.

PROJECT CORMORANT

Project Cormorant continues to heavily involve the staff of the Headquarters. The pre-contract negotiations have proved to take rather longer than anticipated and are due to be completed by the end of February 2001. This delay has been driven by the desire to have a 100% watertight contract that both meets our requirements and is within the ability of the contractor to provide. This along with the desire to have a full user trial with all the initial delivery of available equipment has lead to a change of the initial operational capability delivery to April/May 2002. However, the driver is to get it right first time and avoid any slippage in the delivery once the contract is signed. The remaining activates of preparing for trade conversion and driver training are well in hand and the future 'steady state' training plan is due to be finalised shortly. The message remains that Project Cormorant is coming, and the advanced military capability that this will deliver, will give the Brigade the tools required to meet the challenges of communications in the joint arena for the 21st Century.

BALKANS COMMERCIALISATION

Project Dagger has now been delivered to Theatre, which formalises the completion of 11 Sig Bde's commitment to the commercialisation project. Our congratulations go to the team, led by Brig Cook, Maj Jim Foulkes, Capt John Hiorns and Capt Al Garrett. A well run project that delivered modern equipment against changing operational requirements on time and released soldiers from static tasks in the Balkans.

INVESTORS IN PEOPLE

The Brigade Headquarters and 2 and 30 Signal Regiments have been recently re-assessed for IIP under the G6 LAND Convergence plan. We assume that all has gone well and await formal notification. There were a few tense moments when our typist, Mrs 'Robbie' Bragg, was in danger of overwhelming the assessor with her tales of Equality of Opportunity and Training and Development opportunities. She did ask to go back again after she had thought of a few things that she had forgotten first time around; but we were able to rescue the assessor by smuggling him out of the back door.

EXERCISE SAIF SAREEA

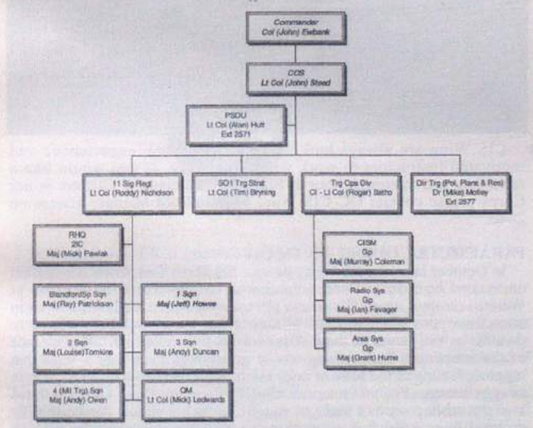
The Headquarters has been appointed as the One Star J6 focus for Ex Saif Sareea. This will prove to be a challenge, because it will run in conjunction with a full Brigade exercise cycle. Maj Duncan Parkinson has just returned from his first recce from the Oman and is now really beginning to look worried.

NEWS OF TRAINING

THE ROYAL SCHOOL OF SIGNALS

NEWS FROM THE HEADQUARTERS

The Royal School of Signals
Outline Organisation Chart
Italics indicate appointment in last 12 months



All change at the top of the RSS as Command of the School moves from Col Ken Hadfield to Col John Ewbank. At the same time the COS's post, which had been gapped for six months, was filled by Lt Col John Steed MBE.

The new Commander - Col John Ewbank

THE FUTURE
PUBLIC PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP AND DEFENCE TRAINING REVIEW

The Public Private Partnership (PPP) pauses temporarily to note the proposed changes that the Defence Training Review (DTR) is likely to bring to Blandford. The DTR implementation team is due to arrive at Blandford as this issue goes to press. The DTR is likely to bring substantial changes to Blandford over the next few years and whilst detail has yet to be firmed up, we can see that Defence CIS training is likely to gravitate towards Blandford in the foreseeable future.

TA HELP FILL THE GAPS AT THE ROYAL SCHOOL OF SIGNALS

The TA are increasingly being deployed at the RSS through the medium of Full Time Regular Service (FTRS) a total of five TA officers and soldiers are currently serving in the RSS. This has a double benefit, it gives valuable experience to the TA, whilst helping to fill gaps that Regular Royal Signals are unable to fill.

COMMAND AND INFORMATION SYSTEMS MANAGEMENT GROUP (CISM GP), TRAINING OPERATIONS DIVISION

OC Maj Murray Coleman
Trg Manager Mr Kevin Mather (C2 (HIO))
Sgt Maj WO2 (SSM) Paul Robson

This may appear to many of you as a completely new and previously unheard of organisation at the Royal School of Signals (RSS). With the continued rationalisation of the training base, RSS now has only three training groups, CISM Gp being one of them. The Group is established for around 90 staff with a 1:2 mix of military to civilian. The group itself is split into five Wings, each with its own distinct and individual areas of training responsibility.

CIS Wing: is responsible for all IT training to Royal Signals Tradesman and some Command Courses with particular involvement in IS Operator training and ATacCS.
Data & Security Wing: is responsible for Keyboard, JMH, Crypto and Infosec training.
C2W Wing: is responsible for all aspects of Command & Control Warfare training, including Electronic Warfare.
Command Training Wing: is responsible for command training to the Troop Commanders course, Captains course, the Pre-JCSC Module etc as well as elements of the YofS and FofS.
Technology Wing: is responsible for vocational education to the FofS course (BSc) and the CISM course (MSc) for staff officers.

As can be seen the Group has a broad and ever expanding training remit. We are always happy to answer questions or queries on the training delivered within the Group so do not hesitate to contact us if you feel the need.

COMMAND & CONTROL WARFARE (C2W) WING

OC Maj Graham Barber

The Wing continues to provide C2W & Electronic Warfare (EW) training for all Officers and Soldiers within the Corps. It also provides training for All Arms and Joint courses, and lectures to students in Service Schools all over UK. One of the more demanding and arduous tasks is teaching to the NATO EW courses held in Germany and Italy.

ADVENTURE TRAINING

It's not all work and no play in C2W Wing and at a social gathering Maj Ian Gray (Yacht Master and Con Man) suggested a week's sailing as a challenging pursuit. He then portrayed this as a regatta with gin and tonics, calm seas and plenty of sunshine. Well to the more experienced members of the Wing (Maj Graham Barber and WO1 Pat Hannan) it was obvious that this was a classical deception plan and they volunteered to hold the fort while the rest of the wing went on their cruise! On the first day with a Force 5-6 following and six hours into a twelve-hour trip from Cowes to Weymouth, WO2 Gordon Burns gave up the fight to keep hold of his breakfast and proceeded to feed the fish. The rest of the week was slightly less rough and much more enjoyable as everyone got to grips with the nautical terms of sheets, yards, jibs etc. On their return our newly qualified Competent Crewmembers (WO2 Gordon Burns and Sgt 'Miffy' Smith) were soon swinging the yardarm with stories of the seven seas.

TEAM BUILDING EXERCISE

The yearly pre-Christmas Team Building exercise was once again upon us and the OC, Maj Graham Barber, kindly volunteered Sgt 'Miffy' Smith to organise this prestigious event. The Command Instructors, Capt Stuart Boyne and Capt Jim Boyle and OC, Maj Murry Coleman and SSM, WO2 Paul Robson CISM Gp were duly invited. After many long and tedious exercise planning meetings it was decided that the exercise would take place in Salisbury. The exercise began and on arrival at Salisbury the floods which had hampered most of the country were no match for the minibus and our driver, Capt Jim Boyle, who proceeded to part the waters like Moses did the Red Sea. The exercise got off to a good start with an excellent working lunch where discussions focused on the route for the afternoon. With lunch over it was time for our Pathfinder, Maj Ian Gray, to take us to the famous landmarks of Salisbury. Unfortunately the flooding hampered this as most of these were under 6ft of water, therefore, it was decided that the best COA was to view these from afar while taking light refreshments at various old establishments. With the orienteering and physical exercise phase of the exercise over it was down to the electronic intelligence test ('Strike it lucky'). The OC, Maj Graham Barber, felt that the machine was no match for his team of Majors, Captains, WO's and SNCO's but, after a couple of hours and with resources running low it was agreed that we had won a moral victory. Overall a successful and enjoyable exercise which was well organised by Sgt 'Miffy' Smith.

COMMUNICATION AND INFORMATION SYSTEMS WING

OC Capt (Tfc IS) Fiona Nelson
Trg Co-Ord WO2 (Supvr IS) George Murray

INFORMATION SYSTEMS OPERATOR CLASS 1 (ISFR 2/00)

The second Information System Operator Foundation Class 1 course finished on 22 December 2000 and all twelve students were successful in passing the course. All of the students approached the course with a positive and enthusiastic manner, determined to learn as much as they could. They all worked extremely hard, and it was a credit to them that the Instructors commented on their thirst for knowledge and their willingness to study during evenings and weekends. The students were continually assessed throughout the course, and it culminated in a two-day exercise where they were thoroughly tested on all aspects of instruction delivered. At the end of the course a top student was identified. This was based on both the individuals performance in the various end of module tests, their practical skills and the confidence and aptitude demonstrated and assessed throughout the course. Cpl Justin Medcraft scored well in all of the exams and during the practical elements, demonstrating a logical, methodical approach to his work. Azlan Ltd (Training) presented the award to Cpl Medcraft having sponsored this course for the second time. Ms Jenny Barrow, Sales Manager and Mr Alan Clement, Public Sector Accounts Manager presented it on behalf of the Company. The Chief Instructor, Lt Col Batho, addressed the course, congratulating all of the students on their hard work and enthusiasm shown during the eleven weeks. The photograph shows Cpl Medcraft who is now serving with 15 Sig Regt with Ms Jenny Bower and Mr Alan Clement after the award presentation.

CIS Wing are always looking for high-calibre, experienced and motivated Instructors to work within the Wing. If you would like a rewarding and interesting tour at Blandford, training the Soldiers in our Corps please contact OC CIS Wing at Blandford Military Extension 2040.

PARACHUTE COURSE – by Sig Gaz Coy

In October last year my trusty partner Sig Dave Cracknell and myself embarked on a Joint Forces Parachute course which took place at Western-on-the-Green. The course started well with a healthy 30 or so in attendance, this wasn't to last as slowly but surely numbers started to dwindle as the nature of the course took its toll. After the full assurance of the instructors that nothing would go wrong, there was always that niggling feeling at the back of ones mind, BUT WHAT IF. Well, as sure as eggs are eggs fate was tempted. On Day Five, Sig Dave Cracknell had a slight mishap on exit and got caught up in his shoot. Amazingly he dropped from 3,500 ft in about three seconds but thankfully he escaped death, his injuries were a broken pelvis in two places and shattered pride. A very lucky escape! Dave is recovering at home, we wish him well and a 'speedy' recovery.

COMMAND TRAINING WING – by Capt Stu Boyne

What do the instructors of Comd Trg Wng do on the rare occasion when there are no courses on? Well, if it's summer they are off sailing and if it is winter they ski. That is just what happened at the beginning of December when Capt Stu Boyne took advantage of a quiet period and headed off to the slopes, leaving Capt Jim Boyle and new boy Capt Paul Merry in charge. Being secretary of Corps Snowboarding December provided the perfect opportunity to visit the Corps Snowboarding Championships, part of the Corps Winter Sports Championships in Zell-Am-See, Austria. The lack of snow did not deter over 50 riders from competing, however, the requirement to travel every day did curtail the level of après-ski! Unfortunately, as the Troop Commanders Course Officer, Stu Boyne had to return a week early. This disappointment lasted for as long as it took for Maj Murray Coleman, OC CISM Gp, to walk in to the office and order both Stu Boyne and Paul Merry to participate in a French Troop Commanders exercise in the Alps. Following this piece of entente cordiale, Jim Boyne, the old man of the Wing, will be joining the 'youngsters' when he accompanies the Troop Commander Course No 49 on their Adventure Training Qualification/Planning Exercise. It's definitely work hard play hard in Comd Trg Gp!

THE ROYALS SCHOOL OF SIGNALS MODERN APPRENTICESHIP SCHEME 'A REAL PARTNERSHIP'

The Public Private Partnership (PPP) process has stalled at the Royal School of Signals (RSS) in order to include the implications of the Defence Training Review (DTR) in the partnering requirements. While it is frustrating not to be further down the partnering route, it is refreshing to be able to report a blossoming arrangement which proves that small partnerships can work highly effectively whilst remaining flexible and sensitive to each partners needs and aspirations.

NVQs, Problem? No Problem! National Vocational Qualifications (NVQs) within the Army have been for many cap badges a policy aspiration as opposed to a policy directive for the simple reason that there is currently little or no funding for NVQs within the military. As a result, different local solutions have developed with varying degrees of success depending on the enthusiasm and commitment of personnel tasked with implementing an 'NVQ policy' within their unit. The Royal School of Signals (RSS) experimented with the provision of Telecommunications NVQs in the mid 1990s with funding through a Modern Apprenticeship programme with Dorset Training and Enterprise Council (TEC). Problems were encountered with the bureaucracy and probity of the whole process and so in 1998 the decision was taken to outsource the scheme on a nil cost basis to a professional vocational assessment provider, TQ Training Management Services Limited (TQ). Today RSS delivers Modern Apprenticeships in Telecommunications by means of a highly successful and dynamic partnership between RSS and TQ. At the time of writing over 1200 soldiers are currently working towards a level 3 NVQ in Telecommunications. 370 have already successfully achieved their level 3 NVQ as well as Key Skills at the same level. The partnership was the first scheme to deliver anywhere trainees with the completed Modern Apprenticeship (MA) in Telecommunications. It is now the largest supplier of Telecomms MAs in the UK. The model has proved so successful that work is now in hand to deliver the same qualification to signallers in field units who missed the opportunity whilst at RSS. The partnering model used successfully at the RSS is also being offered to the TA.

Teaching Knowledge, Skills and Understanding. An NVQ firstly requires 'knowledge, skills and understanding' to be taught in order to prepare a soldier to carry out a job role. Thus, the RSS contribution to the partnership is to concentrate on what it does best – to train and prepare young signallers to take their place as competent military telecommunications technicians or operators in the Field Army.

Demonstrating Competence. The past culture of civilian qualifications at RSS was one of course-based assessment with the opportunity for award at the end of a training course. An NVQ is centred on the individual not a course and requires a demonstration of competence in doing the job for real in the work place. This is where TQ enters the partnership. TQ employs former members of the Royal Corps of Signals and trains them as professional and dedicated NVQ assessors and internal verifiers. The entire assessment and internal verification process is undertaken by TQ, as is all of the bureaucracy demanded by the government funding agencies, the National Training Organisations, Awarding bodies and the Training Standards Council. Assessment of each soldier begins at RSS and is completed over a period of 18 months by TQ staff in Corps field units.

NVQ Field Offices. In the past, the majority of Army NVQ schemes have relied upon mapping a course to a qualification and qualifying the instructional staff as D32/D33 NVQ assessors. The logic was that if you could teach someone to do something and then assess their competence at doing it, this would be a perfect (and easy) way of achieving NVQs in the Army. However, 'course based' NVQs are now being turned down by the Training Standards Council on the grounds that the candidate has not shown any evidence of competence back at his or her place of work after the course.

The RSS / TQ partnership set as its goal from the start, to lead the way in rigorous field based assessment and thereby provide a robust independent quality assurance mechanism. TQ personnel conduct regular visits to all Royal Signals field units and have established three permanently manned NVQ offices in York (2 Signal Regiment), Nuneaton (30 Signal Regiment) and Bulford (3 (UK) Division Headquarters and Signal Regiment) in addition to the main NVQ office at RSS, Blandford. It is anticipated that more field unit offices will open in the near future.

A Successful Partnership. The RSS / TQ partnership has provided the following advantages:

- Provision of a dedicated team of professional assessors and internal verifiers outside the current MOD funded manpower of the Corps and yet drawn from the Corps
- Removal of the burden on staff in field units and at RSS who had been tasked with NVQ activities in addition to their day job.
- Consistent and independent assessment
- Centralised responsibility for quality standards

The RSS/TQ partnership is always interested to hear from any member of the Corps who is preparing to leave the Armed Forces after a successful career and is interested in working as a professional instructor or NVQ assessor in telecommunications, ensuring confidence and competence in today's young signallers. For further details on instructor roles contact the RSS Civil Admin Officer on Blandford Mil 2251 or external 01258 482251. For details on assessor and verifier roles contact Harry Griffin or Glenn Renshaw at the NVQ Office on Blandford Mil 2968 or external 01258 482968.

11 SIGNAL REGIMENT

1 SQUADRON- EX RAGING RHINO 26 - 28 JANUARY 2001 FROM A DS PERSPECTIVE - by SSgt McCulloch

As this was my first time on a Raging Rhino, it seemed appropriate that I should write a few words on the weekend's events.

Friday 26 January: All the preparation seemed to be going well under the diligent leadership of SSgt Smith. The advance party had only departed three hours previously when a member of it called asking if there, '....was a gas bottle that the No5 cookset actually fitted onto.' Unfortunately the person who was in charge of bums to seats had gone AWOL. So by the time the main DS party came to depart, there appeared to be very little space in the one remaining Land Rover. As well as ourselves, there was also the above mentioned gas bottle plus our personal equipment to somehow fit in. I offered to stay behind and make more room but unfortunately I was an essential member of the team and had to go along. To top it all off the weather had taken a sharp turn for the worse: vertical and horizontal water descended from the sky. There was Capt Connor, as vehicle commander and SSgt Dave Bousefield as Driver, leaving Sgt Twigg, myself and another crammed into the rear of the vehicle. As soon as we set off, at a fair rate of knots I may add, it became apparent that the canvas over the rear structure of the Land Rover was about as much use at keeping the rain out as the Millennium Dome was at getting tourists in. The cries of, 'Are we there yet?' kept coming from Sgt Twigg, but 'Nasty' Bousefield just laughed and put his foot down even more. After SSgt Bousfield had managed to loose the pack of North Dorset police chasing us since the Salisbury roundabout, we arrived at the location for the exercise. Although feeling cold, wet and travel sick, I bravely struggled on to the next phase. As the troops arrived on their warm dry buses I thought that at least the worst was out of the way, but then it started to snow. The troops were moved into the harbour areas under cover of darkness, arranged their sleeping accommodation and rested ready for a full day's training the next day.

Cpl Smith's Group

Saturday 27 January: We were awoken in the morning to 'slept like a baby last night' courtesy of the dulcet tones of SSgt Bousfield. The Snow had gone, the sun was shining and a firm crispness of frost lay on the ground from the bitterly cold temperatures of the previous evening. A great day for training lay ahead. First on the agenda that morning was to be Map Reading, the Groups set off in sections with members of the DS acting as chaperones. The padre and the OC Sqn, Maj Howes, also joined in on this one and on the whole the event went well without any serious incidents, but the proof in the pudding would be the night navigation that evening. That afternoon the sections went on a round robin visiting a multitude of stands including First Aid, anti ambush, NBC, Mine awareness and Section battle drills, all under the Watchful eye of the SSM, WO2 Andy Harriott and SSgt Bousfield. WO1 Bob Clubb and myself set out to place the markers for that evening's night navigation exercise. That Evening WO1 Clubb and myself briefed all the sections on our well planned and thought out evening's activities. 2 Section had an extra bit of a briefing which went along the lines of, 'If you see 1 Section can you tell them to be aware of the RF hazard at Gd.....' A contentious issue also arose when one of the section commanders spotted that the cut off time was the same for all teams, yet they were all being set off at 10-min intervals. WO1 Clubbs cuffed reply to this was that the groups going off first were older and slower, which seemed to be an acceptable explanation as there were no further questions from the section commanders. Fortunately SSM Harriott and Capt Connor deployed on the ground to see how the troops were getting on, but unfortunately they got lost. The SSM thought he knew the ground better than Capt Connor knew the map. How wrong he was, and much to the disgust of the fully tactical 3 Cdo Bde a Land Rover on full beam could be seen whizzing around Salisbury Plain for most of the night. In the end all sections achieved creditable results on what was a challenging course.

First Aid skills come to be tested

Sunday 29 January: I was yet again awakened by SSgt Bousfield's dulcet tones; 'Slept like a baby last night' now becoming very repetitive. However, I could handle this for two reasons, the first being it was Sunday and the last day of the exercise, and the second that it was yet again sunny, which is always nice. All that was planned for today was the patrol competition, which was the grand finale and a means to the end of the training. Sgt Twigg who is normally a good competent map-reader confidently deployed onto the ground to set up his NBC stand. After two hours and still no sign of the first section he realised he was in the wrong place, his explanation to the SSM was reported as, '....whilst swerving out of the way of a wild flock of sheep, sir, I got the vehicle bogged in.' The competition was deservedly won by 1 Section 1 Platoon. On completion of the patrol competition End Ex was called which only meant one thing to me, a journey in the back the LandRover with SSgt Dave Bousfield at the wheel. Not a pleasant thought. On the whole I thought the training went very well, due to the professionalism of SSgt Bousfield and his staff. A worthwhile Exercise and a good laugh (at times). Special thanks to the Gurkha Chefs for the fantastic curry on Saturday evening (We still have not found Sig Williams). A mention must go to Cpl Rumble whose elastic kept twanging him back to camp on every available opportunity and to Cpl Lyon who apparently couldn't deploy due to a broken nail.

EXERCISE RAGING RHINO
A STUDENT'S PERSPECTIVE - by Sig Sheilds, Rhino Tp

At approximately 1630hrs on Friday January 2001 Ex Raging Rhino began. After leaving 11 Sig Regt we headed towards the training area full of excitement about the exercise. However, this was soon quenched as it began to snow quite hard and it was settling on the ground. When we reached the training area we watched a light and sound demo after which we were led in to the harbour area. After a stand-to we set up bashas and got our heads down. However, as no white light was allowed, everything had to be done in darkness through the night that made things a lot harder. Reveille was at 0600hrs. We then stood to and then we were given time for personal admin, to clean rifles, and to eat.

As the day progressed we went to different lessons; these were first aid and NBC, mine awareness, unarmed combat, anti-ambush, map reading and section attacks. As the day turned into night the practical side of the exercise began, we started off with night navigation. Each section had ten checkpoints to go to, each checkpoint was worth points ranging from 25-150 depending on the distance travelled. The Section which earned the most before the cut off time of 2300hrs would win. As most of the teams were in before the cut off time the troops moved into the harbour areas and began the night routine of putting out sentries and standing to, followed by some much needed sleep.

On Sunday morning reveille was at a very early 0545hrs and the morning routine began at 0700hrs. For the final parts of the test phase; each section was split in half, one half of the section was going with the section IC and the other half with the section 2IC. Both halves of the section would be given a map and some checkpoints to go to. One half would cover NBC and mine awareness whilst the other half would cover First Aid and Anti-ambush, as with the night before the first complete section to be in the harbour area would gain maximum. As the very last test each section took part in section attacks to assault and overcome an enemy position whilst patrolling through a wooded area after which it was time to return back to camp after a tiring but very enjoyable weekend.

BLANDFORD CAVING CLUB

(L-R): Cpl JR Whitney, Cpl Tony Brown, Sig Amy Finnie
Kneeling - LCpl Carl Stephenson

Blandford Caving Club is a new and fast expanding club within the Garrison; with both Phase 2 recruits and Permanent Staff making up its numbers. The club is headed by Capt Jones with Cpl Brown and Cpl Whitney providing the training skills and technical knowledge. Although this is a new club, already three members, Cpl Savage, LCpl Stevenson and Sig Finnie, have gained their Joint Service Cave Proficiency Award and are all looking towards their Cave Leader Training courses. During its first few months the club has organised two trips to Yorkshire, descending some of the finest caves in the country; Alum Pot, Swinsto Pull-throu, Bar Pot into Gaping Gyll and Ireby Fell Cavern (a cave which recently took the lives of two cavers). It has also attended a Combined Services Caving Meet in the Mendips and has also had a trip to South Wales into Ogof Draenan, a cave which is proving to be one of the largest cave systems in the UK. The Club is very active with trips already planned for Yorkshire and Derbyshire. Some members are already booked onto an overseas trip planned for Northern Spain in September. If anyone should require any information on the Blandford Caving Club, do not hesitate to contact either Capt Jones on 94371 2041 or Cpl Brown on 94371 2702.

Taking a rest in Rhino Rift
(L-R): Sig Amy Finnie, Cpl JR Whitney, Cpl Ritchie Savage

DON'T FORGET TO LET US KNOW OF A CHANGE OF ADDRESS

LCpl Carl Stephenson — prussiking out of Rhino Rift

2 SQUADRON - IRON TROOP - by Sig Elliot
PARACHUTING COURSE

We arrived at Netheravon Camp on 28 January and we were shown to our accommodation. The course started at 0830hrs on the Monday morning with a couple of hours spent doing admin. We paid for six months membership and insurance with the British Parachuting Association. After completing the paperwork we started the ground training with our instructor, Ian Cessford. We started learning the stable position required for safe deployment of the parachute. This position was coupled with the five-second safety count, which is the time it takes for the parachute to fully open. The training also taught the correct position to adopt in the door of the aircraft to ensure we faced the wind on exit. We were given instruction on all of the equipment that we were going to use, and we were taught the drill for dealing with a malfunction of the canopy. This involved the procedure for cutting away the main chute and deploying the reserve in the case of an emergency. We practiced all of these drills every morning in case we had forgotten anything.

The weather was not good during the week but, fortunately, on Friday afternoon the winds dropped below 15mph which allowed us to jump. We lined up in groups of 13 and all of our equipment was checked before we went out to the plane. The chance to jump came without warning so I did not have the chance to get nervous. However, I became progressively more tense during the time it took the plane to get to 3500feet. Once we were at the correct height we were individually told to 'Get in the door'. When the word came to 'GO', everything seemed to go blank for me until the canopy opened and I had a few minutes drifting down to a soft landing. Fortunately a camera was mounted on the aircraft, so we were able to study our technique, or lack of it, in the post-jump debrief. The ground training had proved it's worth and, from the video, it seems that the area to work on was our position in the air, which is quite difficult to maintain. Due to the bad weather, we were unable to jump again until the following Wednesday. This meant that we had more spare time than usual so we did some course bonding at the local swimming pool. The course was made up of people from all three services and this made the atmosphere more informal and relaxed.

We felt more comfortable jumping again on the Wednesday, because we knew what to expect. This allowed us to concentrate more on our technique. We made a further two jumps on the Friday, getting progressively better with each one. The bad weather stopped any further jumps, but we can go back at weekends and pay as we jump. I thoroughly enjoyed my experience and I look forward to having another go in the future, hopefully progressing further in the sport. This experience has also given me an interest in military parachuting although I will have to work on my fitness if I am going to make the grade in 216 Sig Sqn.

2 SQUADRON - BEAUFIGHTER TROOP

WO2 'Ginge' Haynes approached the Troop Staff last week with a wonderful idea. He had been asked by the 'Cranborne Ancient Technology Center to help build a Bronze Age roundhouse. Yes, I can now see you all sitting up with interest embedded in your eyes! The Troop asked all 273 members for volunteers, of which seven decided that their ancestor's history needed to be rebuilt for all to see. So on a Cold, wet, miserable day they set off with the SSM to Cranborne to cover a 25m diameter roundhouse's roof with soil so that it may be seeded or turfed in time for its official opening in May. The roundhouse is based on and archaeological survey of middle Bronze Age sites on the Isle of Man. The main structure is an enormous timber frame supporting a (pitched) turfed roof. The structure itself can hold approximately 200 personnel.

SSM — at the bottom of the hill
Informing everyone of his parade tomorrow and don t forget your uppers.

Chain Gang top to bottom

WO2 SSM Maynes getting blisters on his hands for the first time

The day was spent with the team digging holes in the waterlogged soil, only to fill buckets and pass them up the chain to the top of the roof to empty them. Sig Heavey stated that she now knew how her grandfather felt working on the Chain gangs. The Troop did make a substantial breakthrough with the project, having completed the whole task by 3pm. The Staff at the centre were obviously impressed that the roof had been completed. They were also shocked that so few could accomplish so much in such a short period of time. They had, under guarantee, never seen a group of Phase 2 soldiers working with their favourite SSM before.

The highlight of the day turned out to be a guided tour of all the very interesting buildings by Mr Ben Koralek, who had brushed up on the history of each building for the interested troops. Also when Sig Adams stated that he had had enough of everyone taking the mike out of his ears, and gave them something else to laugh about, he informed everyone that his name was John Wayne Adams. The Troop returned to Blandford very wet muddy and tired at the end of the day. However, they felt pleased with their workload having achieved such a large amount in the day.

SATISFIED SOLDIER SCHEME – AFCO INVERNESS
by Sig Worthington

The following is a brief account by Sig Worthington, 3 Sqn, of her own time spent in the AFCO Inverness – 11-20 December 2000.

The end of the theory phase of my technician course was fast approaching, providing me with another opportunity to go on the 'Satisfied Soldier Scheme' (Sat Soldier). Fortunately for me Sgt Gallagher from AFCO Inverness had been down to RSS Blandford for the 'Recruiting Convention 2000'. WO1 Skimming, my Troop OC, had met up with Sgt Gallagher and they had discussed the scheme, both agreeing on the benefits derived from sending a SATT (Soldier Awaiting Trade Training) back to his/her home town and welcoming the continuation of the program. WO1 Skimming was keen to make SATTs available to the AICOs and AFCOs and my application to undergo another stint was therefore accepted. Living and working in Blandford, Dorset, puts me some 14 hours (by train) away from home and as a result I had not been back to Inverness for over four months. Now I was being awarded the opportunity to return home for a couple of weeks and also to give something back to the careers office where I was recruited.

I walked in the office on Monday morning, 11 December 2000, at 0845hrs – a somewhat later start that I had become accustomed to in recent months. It was a relief to see the same faces that had been there both for my last Satisfied Soldier visit and also throughout my own recruitment phase. They were all keen to find out how I was progressing and were quick to make me feel welcome. It's not often that someone of higher rank offers to make you a brew, so when SSgt Elder (RLC) volunteered to make me a coffee, I wasted no time in accepting. In the run-up to Christmas things become quieter with fewer potential recruits dropping into the careers office. I was still given the opportunity to share my experiences of life in basic training and pass on whatever advice I could, to better prepare new recruits for their 12-week introduction to Army life.

Many of the outlying areas that come under the boundary map of AFCO Inverness are more than 100 miles away (those on the mainland) and even further if you take into consideration the Orkney Islands and the Western Isles. I was fortunate enough to accompany SSgt Elder (RLC) on a school visit to Portree on the Isle of Skye. The aim of the visit was to update the vast array of Army literature held in the school library and to meet with the senior pupils interested in a career in the Army. These school visits are a valuable recruitment tool for the remoter areas and chatting with the youngsters about the opportunities I have already had provides some realism to go with the promotional information. From the questions asked, I knew the visit had been a worthwhile exercise. The remainder of my time in the AFCO Inverness passed quickly. My time was occupied manning the front desk and with visits to various job centres.

For the majority of 'new' soldiers, Phase 2 training proves to be a difficult period and family support can provide the necessary boost to ensure trade training is completed successfully. Where Phase 2 training lasts over a number of months the soldier can become disillusioned with Army life. Personally speaking, I have benefited greatly from the atmosphere on offer at the AFCO Inverness. The banter is a light-hearted change and my colleagues did all they could to make the experience enjoyable. Discussing my short, but 'developing' career in the Army and any achievements since last time, certainly makes me realise I made the right decision way back in November 1999 and has refuelled my enthusiasm of making the Army a career.

4 (MILITARY TRAINING) SQUADRON
by Cpl Barnes (216 Sig Sqn)

RSJCC – A STUDENT'S PERSPECTIVE

I knew that the RSJCC (Royal Signals Junior Commanders Course) had changed dramatically over the past few years, so I approached the course with an open mind and took it one day at a time. It was just as well because on only the second day of the course, the PT kicked in! From this point onwards, the PT got progressively harder and I came to the conclusion early on that this was not an attendance course. During the first week, there were a few classroom lectures, presentations and discussions, these were needed so we could move on to Week 2 and get stuck in to more practical work and command tasks. This second week proved to be a good laugh and really pulled the section together as a close-knit team. In more relaxed environment, we cracked on with our command tasks and were then assessed at the end of the week.

After two weeks on the course, we were at the half way mark and really looked forward to the remaining two weeks in Sennybridge (the warmest and driest place in Europe!) Everyone got forty winks on the coach up to Sennybridge, not too sure when the next sleep would come. Week 3 was very interesting, we covered map reading including a hard night navigation with full kit, (the incentive to do well was a warm dou bag at the finish and a rare opportunity for a good night's sleep for those that were in before 0300hrs). Lots of excellent range work (including pairs fire and maneuver and Section in defense) and some tactics lessons follwed. The first five days in Sennybridge were covered in slow time ensuring we got a grip of the mechanics and the correct drills in order for us at Junior Commander level to lead our subordinates. We then moved into the Final Exercise for the last five days, fully tactical. This combined everything we'd been taught throughout the course. The first night we stayed in some old buildings with all our defenses out, everyone was on edge as contacts were initiating left right and center. The sheep didn't help our cause as they set our trip flares off and we stood to unfortunately, there wasn't much sleep that night! The final Exercise was hard, bergans seemed to get heavier by the day, everyone was tired and morale was dropping. There were a few moves during the ex and everyone was assessed at Section Commander and 2IC level. We made our models, briefed the Section on our orders and then carried out Recces, Standing/Clearance Patrols, Fighting Withdrawals and Vehicle Anti-Ambush Drills with a Troop attack ending the Exercise. Endex was called and we boarded the coaches for our return to Blandford. Everyone was fast asleep before the coaches were out of the Training area.

Looking back, it was a very demanding course which sets you up well on return to your working unit. The instruction was excellent throughout and fortunately the weather held up with only small downpours. I left Blandford with Top Student and Top Field Soldier and recommend anyone attending the course soon to remember your matchsticks – they will come in handy to prop up your eyelids!

ROYAL SIGNALS TA CORPORAL'S COURSE
by LCpl Snell 31 Sig Regt (V)

It was surprising to discover on arrival that we were to be treated as junior leaders from the start-with the opportunities to develop leadership skills and take on responsibilities from day one. A challenging first week was thrown at us with the need to learn and understand a number of new subjects such as giving orders, method of instruction and internal security. This involved long hours from the students but the knowledge that the DS were always on hand to offer advice when necessary. The exercise in the second week was a chance to put into practice the skills taught in the first week. Whilst hard work, I think everyone would say they learnt a lot. All in all, the detachment commander's course is hard work, challenging, but above all, enjoyable at least it feels it on the final Saturday.

ARMY TRAINING REGIMENT BASSINGBOURN

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj F. E. Hargreaves
SSM WO2 (SSM) A. V. Slaney

ALPHA TROOP

Alpha Tp says farewell this month to Capt Emma Bruce who is moving over to Wray Company to take up post as the 2IC. The Troop would also like to congratulate Sgt Paul Conroy on his promotion, and wish him well as he leaves the mainland for a tour with 39 Infantry Brigade and Signal Squadron in Lisburn, Northern Ireland.

The November entry of recruits has recently passed out of training. Special mention and congratulations must go to Sig Briffett (Best Recruit), Sig McCallum (Best Shot), Sig Binder (Best at PT) and Sig Lewin (Best Endeavor) - Well Done and keep up the good work. The Troop as a whole is deserved of praise for the hard work they put in at Wimpole Farm filling in potholes and digging out roads as their 'Charity Event'. Wimpole Farm is a National Trust site that relies heavily on voluntary assistance in order to keep the establishment running. The Trust was extremely grateful for the help offered by the 36 eager recruits, and several members of the public commented on the hardwork and effort shown by our 'willing volunteeres'. Moreover, it was excellent practise for all shell-scrape digging and filling in that was to ensue on the forthcoming exercises!

(L-R): Sigs Pitt, Phillips, Phoenix, Byrne, Keight and Stow working hard at Wimpole Farm

BRAVO TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Stuart Gunson
Tp Sgt Sgt Mac McIntyre

For avid readers of the Brave Tp column, you will be disappointed to hear that nothing new or out of the ordinary has happened with this, the latest, course of Phase 1 recruits. If you are new to reading about us, the last edition of The WIRE will fill you in. This leaves us with Hellos and Goodbyes. After a brief spell as Troop Sergeant we say farewell to Sgt Jackie Collins as she crosses the road to take on Aisne Pl. All the best with the sick, lame and lazy! Welcome and congratulations to the new Troop Sergeant, Ian 'Mac' McIntyre, who after a stint as a B Troop Corporal many moons ago, returns from the depths of rehab Pl to take over the rightful slot for his new rank. Welcome also to Cpl Danny Cooper who joins us from HQ LAND and has taken over Cpl Doyle's Section. Finally welcome (once more) to Cpl Andy Doyle whose return from representing the Regiment at skiing has been eagerly awaited. Only in the hope that we will be able to get him to do some work now.

ARMY WHITE WATER KAYAK CHAMPIONSHIPS

After the build up to the Army Championships, ATR Bassingbourn knew that they were in with a chance after winning the Land Command Championships and doing well in the individual events at the Inter Corps. Postings had left the original two, three-man teams depleted to one mainly R SIGNALS team consisting of Lt Stuart 'Gunny' Gunson and SSgt Shane Wright with a token Royal Engineer, Capt Darren Talbot to make up the third member. The event was run on a cold and miserable weekend at Llangollen with the Dee at an exceptionally low level. This provided for an interesting race as the nature of the two biggest rapids was totally changed. Competition was fierce on the first day with most of the army's best competing for the team trophy. The temperature of the water and the time spent battling around the Bassingbourn lake paid off though as we came in first in the team event. This, it has been claimed, is because the team wanted to get off the water in record quick time and take the shorter, more fun, play-boats down to Eddylines and practice their rodeo skills Absolutely not true! Sunday saw the individual events where the team did reasonably well. SSgt Wright came 16th, Lt Gunson 21st and Capt Talbot 27th, this is despite Capt Talbot stopping to empty his boat after folding it in half on the Serpents Tail, a lucky escape and a good story. Congratulations to ATR Bassingbourn Army White Water Racing Champions

COMMANDING OFFICERS SPORTS COMPETITION

The CO's Sports competition drew to a close for the year with the Basketball Competition where the Squadron achieved a commendable third place against very strong opposition. With this result, 1 Sqn achieved second place overall in the competition beaten only by HQ Coy. HQ Coy winning obviously came as a shock as the PTIs are not expected to be good at sports. The competition had been well supported throughout the year by all members of the Permanent staff but particular mention and thanks is due to WO2 (SSM) Tony Slaney and SSgt (SQMS) Andy Crawford for their dedicated coaching and enthusiasm in all events throughout the competition.

CHARLIE TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Ben Howarth
Tp Sgt Sgt 'Harry' Ramsden

Following a successful CMS(R) the Troop passed off the square in fine form. Cpl 'That's a bollard' Brenen saving his pride by a little fancy footwork. Cpl 'Flopsywopsy' Knowler took his place as a slightly embarrassed usher out of harms way. Many thanks go to his wife Emma who spent a good three hours bubbling him at the parents' evening. I don't think the services of 'DIY' Dave will be too much in demand in the Squadron. Also on parade were Cpl 'Thank goodness my wife kept quiet' Nuttall and Sgt 'That's another bottle Boss' Ramsden. Amazingly 39 recruits had hung in there long enough to allow Charlie Tp to dominate the parade and the Training Team wish them (and their instructors) luck at Blandford. Charlie Tp will not reform until 14 May so the JNCOs have been temporarily seconded to bolster the other five Troops and the Troop Commander and Sergeant are rushed off their feet doing the sort of work that suits them best. 'Pass another biscuit Harry…'

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Hervey J. Scott
Tp Sgt Sgt Dougie Icke

Once again Delta Tp has succeeded in raising a staggering amount, £2200, for its two favourite charities, the Army Benevolent Fund and the Sunshine Pre-School. Delta Tp is now aiming to do even better with the next intake and beat the £3000 mark. Welcome to Cpls Andy Campbell from 1 Mech Bde HQ and Sig Sqn and Ann-Marie Ambury from Alpha Tp. Cpl Campbell is now busy enjoying his OASAA and the ITGIS courses before he gets stuck back into the training of recruits! A special mention goes to Cpl Ambury for winning the prize of Best Section in the CO's Competition. Congratulations to Cpl Jas Woosnam on passing his All Arms Drill Course and good luck to Cpl Lyndsey Payton who is preparing to go to Blandford for her Class One training. Meanwhile back in Bassingbourn Sgt Dougie Icke is keeping very busy organizing the Squadron's Trailwalker (UK) Team and raising even more money for a charity trek to Jordan later this year. Capt Hervey Scott is now back in work having spent three weeks in Belize running a diving expedition and trying to get a suntan!

ECHO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Chris Biddulph
Tp Sgt Sgt Mickey Piper

Welcome to our new arrivals, Sgt 'Mickey' Piper who arrived as the new Troop Sergeant joining us from 14 (EW) Sig Regt and Cpl 'Baz' Bazzard who comes to us fresh from sunny Cyprus. Farewell and best wishes go to Cpl 'Wayne' Bramwell, who leaves on promotion to 3 (UK) DSR.

The months of January and February have presented Echo Tp with change if nothing else. 'Mid-Ex' and 'Final Fling' went very well and without hitch despite weather that would make brass monkeys shed a tear or two. Cpl 'Fester' Teasdale has since been advised to consume a great deal of carrots. Despite the magnificence of consistently bright moons and clear skies, he still managed to find himself topographically misplaced during a night patrol, 'Tactical use of Terrain' came his retort!! Next time, 2 Sect will be issued with water wings, in case Cpl 'Fester' Teasdale decides to make the same 'Tactical use of Terrain' again.

A big thank you must to the US Marine Corps for donating more boxes of MRE (Menu Ready to Eat) than we could shake our racing spoons at. Capt Biddulph, however, managed to put a substantial dent in the supply. We watched in amazement and wondered, ' Where does he put it all?' The phrase 'boy in a sweet shop' best explains the picture! Echo Tp Pass-Off looms this week and so Troop moral is high, then we start all over again!

FOXTROT TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Dave Jackson
Tp Sgt Sgt Craig Purdon

The start of the New Year signals the start of a new pick up for F Tp who loaded up the last Troop onto the bus to Blandford just before Christmas. F Tp managed to raise over £1000 for the Royal British Legion with a golf drive. Sigs Brimfield and Anderson achieved more yards by throwing the ball than they did by hitting it. Good luck to all those from F Tp who are down at Blandford at the moment. A welcome back goes to Cpl Dale King who is now of some use to the Troop having passed his SAA course. Capt Jackson welcomes Cpl Sean Fielding into the Troop so the two of them can talk about the good old days in 3 Div and how great armour really is. One final word of warning goes to Sigs Thompson, Tipping and Bodle, wherever you hide we will always be watching you.

DON'T BE DISSAPPOINTED
COPY FOR
THE JUNE ISSUE
MUST
REACH THIS OFFICE BY
15 APRIL 2001

263 (HARROGATE) SIGNAL SQUADRON
ARMY APPRENTICES COLLEGE

Sqn Comd Maj Mel Rayner
SSM WO2 Hogan

THE COMINGS AND GOINGS

The Squadron welcomes the following 'new boys' WO2 Hogan fresh in from 264 Sig Sqn, who takes over as SSM, Lt Miles Booker from 30 Sig Regt who takes over in junior term as OC Penney Tp and Sgt McMullan from 14 Sig Regt (EW) who takes over as Troop Sergeant for Bradley Tp. Good luck and thank you go to SSgt (SQMS) Les North. Good luck on your forthcoming marriage to Joy, we all hope that you have a great time on Valentine's Day (you ole romantic!) and thank you for your efforts as acting SSM for the last few months!

INTAKE 00B PASS OUT

Well done to Penney Tp who passed out of the College on 21 December 2000. A great performance on the Parade Square and we all hope that you're working hard and doing well at Blandford. Congratulations to Sig Binner on winning the Commandants Trophy and the Prize as Best Royal Signals Apprentice.

PERMANENT STAFF CHRISTMAS PARTY

A big thank you to Cpl Jackie White and Sgt Mandy Korchel for all their efforts in organising a successful and enjoyable Christmas party. The Squadron permanent staff donned their glad rags, headed for the Lakeside Hotel at Frimley and partied the night away. At the end of the evening Cpl Clubb kept the stragglers entertained whilst they waited for transport with his rather interesting impression of a baby giraffe – needless to say after that display we were moved on by the bouncers!

SAILING ON THE SOLENT - by AT Wood

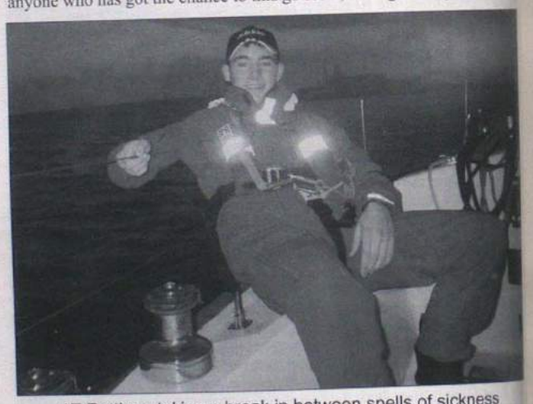
AT Allen, AT Dawes, AT Maxwell, AT Green, AT Cooper, AT Rattigan, AT Kemp and I were leaving early on Monday and so we arrived at a flooded College on Sunday night. Everyone was excited and wondering what was going to happen, as the weather was really bad; we didn't even think we would be going as everywhere was flooded and there was a really strong wind. Anyway morning came and we looked outside the girl's block, and it was flooded! Lt Shakespeare came and met us at 0700hrs and said everything was all right and that we would still be going. At the time I thought great, but that was before I knew what was in store for us.

We travelled by minibus to Portsmouth Harbour and that is where we met our skipper Joel and found out what boats we would be travelling on. I was travelling with AT Allen, AT Cooper, AT Rattigan and Lt Shakespeare on the boat Lambis. We had our safety brief and were issued with all our kit and food (Rat Pack)! Through the day we were taught about the boat, what to we had to do. We learnt that we had to take turns in cooking and washing-up each day; AT Rattigan had volunteered to be duty mum first so he had to cook dinner that night. Later on, we had sorted all our stuff out and Rattigan made something that he said resembled food! We prepared to take out the boat for a practise and I was thinking how rough the harbour looked, (well at the time I thought it was rough)! We went out and each took turns at steering the boat and practised a few other things at the same time.

The next day reveille was at 0700hrs and I was duty mum. I can't really cook but I got cooking some bacon sandwiches. It can't be that hard, I thought! I was in a bit of a mess so AT Kate Allen helped me a bit, also we had to call each other by first names, which was really weird, and some of us couldn't do it. I thought my sandwiches were OK but everyone said I was trying to poison them with raw bacon. More practice was needed. About 0900hrs we set off to our first destination and left the other boat, we had to cross the south Solent to get there and I got a turn steering the boat first that day. It was fine I was doing OK the water was alright, we were slightly tipping over to the right but not much, suddenly a gust of wind came and tipped the boat and made me fall off the seat. I dropped the helm so AT Kate Allen took over cause she has done sailing before and knew what it was like. I then started to get quite seasick and I felt horrible. What made it worse was that I had to make dinner! I put some sausages in to make some more sandwiches I thought, I won't under cook these I know what I'm doing now! Dinner came and I took the sausages out they looked a little crispy but I didn't think much of it until everyone tried to eat them! You could use them as hammers they were that hard I couldn't even cut through them, so yet another lovely dinner by myself I think everyone was hungry by then so I asked AT Kate Allen to cook for tea. Everyone seemed to be quite pleased, I didn't think I was that bad. Anyway AT James Cooper and AT Lee Rattigan were really ill. Next thing you know they were both taking a closer look at the sea!

Wednesday we set off to Ocean Marina harbour. The weather was a bit worse than the previous day, Force 4-5 and we practised tacking and jibing, about turns, and all other things we would need to learn to do. Anyway the duty mum AT James Cooper had decided to cook some bacon forgot it was there and after smoke started appearing decided to open the oven, the bacon was cremated! AT Kate Allen had to sort it out once again. Anyway we carried on with our journey and had decided to meet up with the other boat (Janthina). We met up at this really posh place. It was the most expensive but it was good it had everything you wanted there from shops to restaurants, it also had showers which were a welcome treat. We sorted out the boat and went for something to eat. The next day we got news of Gale Force winds of Force 8-10. I thought that they would not let us out in something that is really bad so we got ready and set off. As we set off into the storm, we were told to strap onto the boat and put on our life jackets. All I could think was Oh my God! The wind started getting stronger the rain started to pour, the waves became higher and it started to hail. It was then I knew that we were in the storm. The waves were 6-10 foot high and I don't like water! I thought I was going to die! The boat was tipping over at a 45° angle. I thought it was going to tip as the wind was only safe up until it hit 40 knots and when it reached 46 knots I thought we were going to die. Everyone else was saying don't worry but I could see they were scared too. We then headed back to Cowes, things started to become calm, but the waves were still high and when you looked off the back of the boat the waves looked massive. It was great.

Well that was that day and we went and met the others. When we pulled in at the side of Janthina, AT Lee Rattigan decided to jump off the boat and tie the rope, but as he was doing so he lost his footing and fell in the water! It did not take him long to jump back out again! We cleaned the boat out and then went out with the others. Friday we went through the Solent back to our start point, also we had a tea break because the weather was calm. Someone had to go up the mast. I was the smallest so I thought why not? As I got to the top the others started to have a cup of tea. I was hanging umpteen feet in the air and they were drinking tea! Then they decided to rock the boat from side to side so I was flying all over, it was really good though and we finished the day by putting up the spinnaker and sailing back to the harbour where we started. The next day we gave all the equipment in and off we set back to camp with the compulsory stop at Macdonald's first. Overall I would advise anyone who has got the chance to this go for it, it's a great experience.



AT Rattigan taking a break in between spells of sickness

AT Wood up the mast!!

A NEW YEAR – A NEW INTAKE

Monday 8 January 2001 saw intake 01A walk through the gates of the College to embark upon 28 weeks of glorious training! The following are the thoughts of one of the new intake…….

My first few weeks in the Army!! - by AT Harper Penney Tp

When I first came to the College, I had all kinds of doubts in my mind. Would I like it? Would I fit in here? The first night was terrible! I was in a room with complete strangers and I felt a bit home sick. Over the next two weeks, I got to know the girls in my room and some of the boys in my section. I found we all got on really well because we had so much in common. This made life really easy in and around the camp. I had made new friends and enjoyed working together with them in a team. At first, I didn't feel that I was part of the Army, everyone else in the barracks (the Seniors and the Permanent Staff) all seemed so settled. They wore uniform, we wore Corps tracksuits and I felt that we all stuck out like sore thumbs. Soon we got to wear our combat 95's and I felt a great sense of pride. I thought to myself, 'This is what I want to do.' Once we moved into Week Three, I was really settled. I still missed home and released that there was a lot to do, but I thought to myself if I work at this I could have a career for myself at the end of the course. If I stick at it, I could get away from the dead end jobs in Amble, and get a life! I know there is still a lot of work to be done if I plan to make it in the Army, but I am more convinced and determined to make it work now than I have ever been. I want to make it work for me and get a good career, but to do this I know I am going to have to work hard and put the effort in because I still have a very long way to go. All I have to do is remind myself that it will be worth it in the end. I want to feel proud of myself and I want my family to feel proud as well. To do this I feel I have to pass out in August because nothing would make me happier.

ROYAL SIGNALS CORPS CROSS COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIPS

Wednesday 31 January 2001 saw five intrepid members of 263 (H) Sig Sqn side step Leadership Week in favour of a trip to Colerne for the Corps Cross Country Champs. Anything has got to be better than strangling chickens at Bramley Trg Area! The Team comprised Maj Mel Rayner, Cpl Nikki Dean, LCpl Caz Burrows, AT Robertson and AT Lees. The course was two laps of a 2-mile loop which went from open exposed airfield to muddy, wet woodland tracks. It was a glorious day for the Squadron as Cpl Dean finished a convincing first, followed by Maj Rayner in second and LCpl Burrows in third. The fate of the Squadron now rested in the hands of the two ATs. They both finished in strong positions and ensured that the Squadron won the Championship. Both AT Robertson and Lees are congratulated on their excellent performance in their first Army competition. The euphoric bubble of victory was soon burst for the two ATs as they had to return to Arborfield and go straight back on exercise! College sights are now firmly set on the Army Inter Unit Championships on 14 February 2001, when the R Signals contingent is bolstered by the REME and the AGC (ETS). The team have high hopes of a good position in the competition – victory is within our grasp!

Squadron Cross Country Team
Maj Rayner, Cpl Dean, AT Robertson, LCpl Burrows, AT Lees

EXTERNAL LEADERSHIP II - by AT Tring Rawson Tp

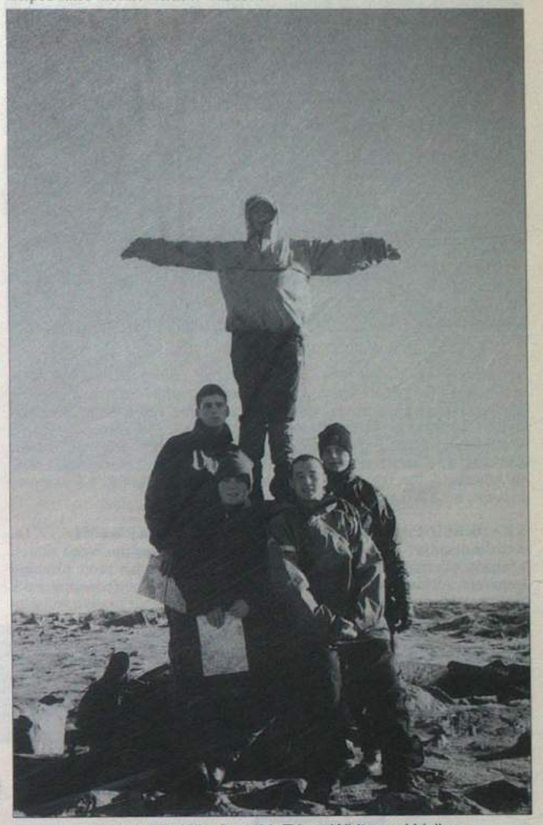
We were all looking forward to going to 'Sunny Sennybridge' for the second time in about two months. We couldn't wait to do two days walking in the rain! On EL I it rained constantly the whole week, I was kind of hoping, in a round about way, that a sudden, small miracle would occur and the rain would stop! We boarded the coach and within ten minutes everyone was asleep. AT Schofield then got out his guitar and gave us all some mid-journey entertainment. Lo and behold a miracle had happened and the rain stopped. Off the coach, drop kit off, pick walking kit up and off to play 3-legged football! All of a sudden, I found myself strapped to the admin vortex, thorn in my side, AT Ross!! The whistle blew and the game began, I nearly wet my pants laughing! Everyone was falling everywhere but eventually AT Ross and I made quite a good team. Our side eventually won, naturally! The walking came next, it was a good laugh, we had Capt Farrimond as our instructor. Our hill walking time can be best described as 'a comedy of errors'. We invented a few new games whilst up on the hills, such as 'The Voller', (this involves body surfing down the mountain on your belly in the ice – invented by AT Voller of course!) and 'Sawyerski', which if nothing else helped raise morale when it was low.



(L-R): AT s Wieckowski, Tring, White and Volle standing high AT Tweedie

Doing the Voller

Next was the much dreaded activity of caving. Cpl Sawyers was doing a fantastic impression of 'Bob the Builder'. Into the caves we went and as soon as I got into the darkest, holiest, caviest cave my light ceased to work and I had to do the whole cave with no light. Just my luck! The next day brought canoeing in open, 2-man, Canadian canoes. I was quite looking forward to that. I boarded my canoe with AT Urwin. We were doing really well until we capsized and after that I was absolutely freezing and couldn't wait to get out as I couldn't feel any part of my lower torso. Never mind we weren't alone as ATs Morris, Hetherington, Kirby, Lyons and Ross (to name but a few) also got a good ducking! Conservation day came and went…..rather slowly! Climbing Pen-Y-Fan four times became a tad tiring.

Two Section. Winners of the Conservation Day Challenge

Saturday was a visit to Swansea.....enough said! Saturday night was the climax of our Inter-Troop pool competition, which had been ongoing all week. It had been organised by AT Castledene, and was very well run indeed, I may add. The final comprised my good self verses my Troop Commander Capt Farrimond. He beat me hands down, not bad for someone who has never played. Yeah right! Sunday came and it was back to Arborfield, the Troop as a whole had a really good week, a few minor hiccups, but everyone thoroughly enjoyed it.

LEADERSHIP WEEK: 30 JANUARY – 3 FEBRUARY 2001

In the senior term, the ATs take part in Leadership Week which comprises command tasks, the assault course, a stretcher race, planning exercises, survival training and much more besides. The following are a few thoughts on the week from members of Scott Tp

COMMAND TASKS - by AT Rae

Leadership week is brilliant as it not only builds leadership skills, but also builds teamwork, friendship and most importantly trust. The best points about Leadership Week are the command tasks. A leader is selected and they have to brief, command and complete each task. The brief must be completed first as it tells the Section what the task is and what materials they have to complete it with. Then the commander must keep control of the Section as they try to complete the task. This gives them a chance to 'shine' and prove that they can become leaders in the future.

THE SURVIVAL EXERCISE – by AT Cryle

I thought this would be good, however it was far too easy and nowhere near 'survival'. We had our shelters almost ready made; we had tins ready to be used as pans for cooking and Oxo Cubes! Where are you going to find Oxo Cubes when you're surviving? It's not as if they grow on trees! Other than that it was cold and didn't really test us on how we would cope. (Shouldn't really say things like that as the exercise can always be made harder). I did enjoy the map reading phase though. Also keeping the fire alive was hard as the smoke kept getting into your eyes and collecting dry firewood was a real challenge. We had to pull together as a section and sort out our admin, sort out a stag roster and keep the fire alive, so maybe 'Survival' wasn't such a waste of time after all.

STRETCHER RACE – by AT Ross

At the start of the week, I thought it would be all paperwork and individuals trying to impress to gain their 'Lance Jack'. Then came the 'Stretcher Race'! I was dreading it as I had seen the previous Troop do it. As we picked up the stretcher and began to race, I was surprised at how well we worked as a section; we struggled and struggled but pulled together and got through it. We raced from one point to the next, doing command tasks on the way, swapped the stretcher for jerry cans, then got the stretcher back again. On and on we went. When it was all over, we were surprised to find out that we had won.....the wooden spoon! At least we did what we were supposed to have done and worked as a team. As it turned out, the stretcher race was nothing compared to the final race as we had to complete the assault course as well as command tasks, a land rover push and a stretcher carry!

NEWS FROM THE BALKANS

MULTINATIONAL DIVISION (SOUTH WEST) AND BRITISH FORCES SIGNAL TROOP OPERATION PALATINE

OC Capt G. J. Oliver
TSM WO2 (SSM) Churchward

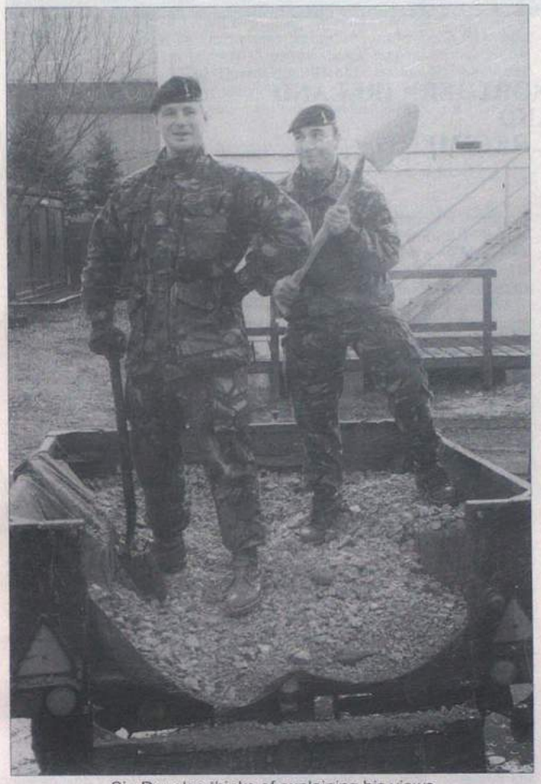
A composite Troop from 16 Sig Regt took over the responsibility for the British Forces Signal Troop in Bosnia-Herzegovina over the period 3-10 December 2000. Responsible for the provision of CIS to HQ BRITFOR and BRITFOR Troops within Theatre, the Troop has been kept busy, providing a reliable and professional service throughout the winter months. Although most (34 out of 43) of the Troop are from JHQ, we have been provided with welcome assistance by soldiers from 7 Sig Regt, 30 Sig Regt, 32 Sig Regt (V), 35 Sig Regt (V) and last but no means least, the RAF (1001 SU).

After a through hand-over from 7 Sig Regt, the Troop has been trying to attain as much road mileage as possible, between Glamoc, Sanski Most, Sipovo and Mrkonjic Grad, with a few additional trips to Sarajevo and Split thrown in for good luck. SSgt (FofS) Campbell has been keeping all of his technicians busy, maintaining and repairing the MYRA system and providing assistance and liaison to the Dutch Signal Support Battalion. Meanwhile, within the heart of the Troop, SSgt Bath has had the Network Control Centre (NCC) technicians and operators running around busily, with the exception of Sig Barker. She has admitted that the whole thing is far to technical for her and now makes the tea as SSgt Bath and Sgt Simmons explain it to her in slow time. The remaining sections of the troop have all been keeping themselves busy. Nearly all of the junior ranks have now managed to get through a week of adventurous training in Brac (see the article below) and everyone is now enjoying the regular Saturday morning PT and Spring-clean.

VISIT THE MUSEUM WEBSITE
www.royalsignals.army.org.uk/museum/

Saturday mornings are always fun
The Troop carries out maintenance of the vehicle-park after days of heavy rain

For those members of the Corps that have spent a winter in the Balkans before (and who hasn't?), we are pleased to say that whilst December and January were a tad chilly, we have only had three days of snowfall since the start of December. Indeed, we are now considering a change to shirt sleeve order as we bask in a regular 17ºC temperature during the middle of February. The CO 16 Sig Regt, Lt Col Morphet, visited the Troop in early February could not believe the weather system (or the fact that we were having our third mid-winter Troop BBQ) as he last saw Banja Luka in a chilly -20ºC haze in February 1997. Despite the hardships of good weather, and a relaxation on the two can rule, the Troop is now looking forward to the end of our tour in mid March, when 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt replace us.



Sig Douglas thinks of explaining his views on WO2 (SSM) Churchward's Sandcastle Building Competition

COMMCEN BRITFOR – by Cpl Andy Adam

We took over from the 7 Sig Regt COMMCEN team on 5 December 2000 and headed straight into a busy period, during the lead up to Christmas. With the DSO (Cpl Tony Cherry) at the reigns, polishing and making minor changes in the way we do our work, we were soon firing on all cylinders. For the younger members of the COMMCEN, there was a steep learning curve as they tried hard to remember the JMH instruction they had received on their Class 3 courses. Whilst everyone refreshed their skills, there were still some schoolboy errors, such as Sig 'Fast Eddy' Edwards attempting to reply to a test fax over the TG circuit.

At the start of January, the Support Helicopter Force and the 21 Sig Regt (AS) Signals Det pulled out of Split. This resulted in over one third of our message traffic disappearing overnight, just as the DSO's stationary demand arrived. Apologies go out to the rest of the Royal Corps of Signals, as COMMCEN BRITFOR now owns nearly all of the A4 paper and Fax Rolls in the Army - It has now been put under lock and key and has better security than the ODA. The other members of the COMMCEN, LCpls 'Paddy' Grills and Anthea Purvis and Sigs Sarah Howie and Shaz Norcross have all been kept busy. Especially on the day shift, whilst the DSO oversees and practices his managerial skills (via Actua Sports' Premier Manager) in preparation for his impending move to the 92nd (UK) Civilian Division. There have been some movements within the section, with LCpl Anthea Purvis returning to Scotland and 32 Sig Regt (V), being replaced by LCpl Steve Carroll who has joined us from 16 Sig Regt for a five-week medal tour. There is also a big hello from Sgt Karl Woodray and Cpl 'Flash Gordon' Scott who are being kept busy (so they tell us) behind the locked door of the ODA.

Cpl Pinkney smoothes away the bumps on the Troop ice rink, assisted by Boycee the local BFBS Engineer

ADVENTUROUS TRAINING IN BRAC - by Cpl Paul Munslow

After working in Banja Luka for two months, we were happy to take the opportunity of spending five days adventurous training on the island of Brac. Keen to do something different than our routine work, the promise of a few days of sunshine and outdoor activities was gladly accepted. Four members of the Troop, Cpl Jane Pinkney, LCpl 'The Head' Lambert, Sig 'Ears' Beckett and myself (Cpl Paul Munslow), all from 16 Sig Regt were fortunate enough to be the first Troop members to see what Brac could offer us. Over our short time in Brac, we managed to get involved in canoeing, sailing, rock climbing and sub aqua diving, all in great weather and a 17ºC temperature - far better than the cold weather we had left behind in Banja Luka. Although we only had an insight into each of the activities, it was an enjoyable package, allowing us to break up the monotony of life and get a few days in a nice hotel, with good food and lovely surroundings. Overall, we all had a great time, and despite the ten-hour coach trip each way, the adventurous training package offered to the British forces in the Balkans is certainly not to be missed.

Cpl Munslow (Sitting, Front) and Cpl Pinkney (Sitting, Back) during the five day Adv Trg package on Brac

ARE YOU RECEIVING YOUR COPY OF THE WIRE?

If not call 01258 482087 you may have moved and forgotten to let us know or perhaps you need to renew your subscription

NEWS FROM NORTHEN IRELAND

XV

HEADQUARTERS NORTHERN IRELAND AND 15 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col M. P. Llewellyn
RSM WO1 (RSM) A. Balsdon

Lt Col Gordon Rafferty did not want any fuss when he left the Regiment. As Sig Dunham drove him the opposite way out of camp against his final orders, with the spurious excuse that the road was dug up, Lt Col Rafferty was exasperated that his driver was once again doing his own thing. Sig Dunham was forgiven, however, when he drove out past the line of Officers and Warrant Officers allowing the CO to share a final bottle of port with his 'team'. We wish him congratulations on his promotion and his new job as Chief of Staff at HQ SoinC (A), and wish Debbie luck as she begins her weekly commute to London. Moving into a thatched cottage seemed like an attractive prospect until the stream changed direction and flooded the place!

On 13 November 2000 Lt Col Malcolm Llewellyn assumed command of the Regiment and the role of Chief G6. He has already made his mark and his Staff Officers are enjoying fresh challenges! We wish a warm welcome to him and his wife Carol (and also Gregor the dog) and hope they have an enjoyable tour.

'Congratulations are due to WO1 (RSM) Al Balsdon, WO1 (YofS) Rose, WO2 (YofS) Jenkins and WO2 (YofS) 'Tac' Bartlett who have recently been selected for Commissioning. WO2 Andrea Dunford AGC (SPS) is also congratulated on her selection for promotion to WO1.

THE OCCASION OF MISS KATHLEEN HUSTON'S RETIREMENT

Kathleen Huston has been a member of the MOD since 1984 serving as a Military Telephonist initially in Armagh, then Portadown, and latterly in the Lisburn Telephone Exchange. She is to be commended for her dedicated service over the last 16 years. Kathleen will be missed by all her working colleagues at the Lisburn exchange but we wish her a very happy, healthy retirement. The photograph below shows Lt Col Llewellyn, CO, 15 Signal Regiment, presenting Kathleen with one of the many gifts she received on her retirement.

Kathleen Huston receives flowers from Lt Col Llewellyn

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. E. Mullender
SSM SSgt Grattrick

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT

QM Major J. E. Mullender
RQMS WO2 Inman

Welcome to the new Royal Signals 'Province' Depot. Not only do we look after Headquarters Northern Ireland & 15 Signal Regiment, but now we are the Province store for all IT, BT, Motorola radios, Rigging equipment, and if you believe DLO, Province Cougar as well. These past four months have seen the busiest time known to the QM's Dept since the bomb in 1996, which saw the destruction of the old building 153. It started with the move into the new building 153 - thanks go out to the civilian removals firm who moved RHQ, Comms branch (now G6), and others into the building. It's all right fellows we did it ourselves, with the builders still rectifying faults around our ears as we moved in. On top of the move we conducted a Regiment Board of Officers, followed by the annual PRE (now ECI) and the bi-annual station armoury inspection. Not a bad feat for a department that is effectively five accountants short. After a hectic time we were all looking forward to our over generous 3-day Christmas and New Year break.

Welcome to 2001, which commenced with an increase in working hours and all leave cancelled, yet again due to our shortfall in manning and additional tasks as well as the LSI in March. However, this did not cause concern amongst one member of the dept namely Sgt 'Down trodden' Bradley who had managed to plan all leave before the new RQMS arrived. This resulted in a three week holiday in Florida in the month of December, coming back just in time for the Christmas break. Hence when the RQMS took a closer look certain members did not have any leave left to take anyway!

On a more cheerful note, we would like to say a fond farewell to WO2 (RQMS) Tony Frost, Sgt Kev 'Caveman' Joyce and LCpl Chrissie Davies (nee Marston). The department also welcomes WO2 (RQMS) Dave Inman, and Sgt 'Smudge' Smith, welcome to Hell(es), the new building 153, hope your tours are safe ones.

COMMCEN TROOP

Everyone in the Troop gives a big welcome to the following people: SSgt Karen Ripley, LCpl Lee Dickenson and family, LCpl 'Paddy' Hayes and Sig Chris Buck. The Troop says goodbye to the heads of the escape committee: LCpl Nicki Bird and Sig 'Matty' Matthews who are both leaving the Army to pursue new careers and challenges in civy street. Good luck to you both.

225 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj M. J. Smith
SSM WO2 (SSM) R. S. Thorne

December was the culmination of a challenging and rewarding year for the Squadron. In a time of testing manning states, numerous operational commitments, and the highs and lows of the sports pitch, the spirit of the Squadron has carried it through the tough times and the good times. In November the Squadron won the Inter-Squadron Shooting Competition, one of the CO's Cup events, on a bitterly cold day at Ballykinler. Several different shoots were run, culminating in the Fire Team Assessment, which caught a few of the more inexperienced firers unaware! A good learning experience for all, and a very enjoyable day. Perhaps more pleasing and worthy of note is the victory of 225 Sig Sqn in the Mercury Cup. This is contested over the year between all R Signals Units in Province and focuses more on military skills and endurance competitions. It is good to know that the continual banter of 'Lisburn - rear echelon' can be defied, and that our soldiers cut the mustard alongside the Brigade Signal Squadrons! The festive season was celebrated in style and we now focus on supporting operations in Northern Ireland in this new year.

225 Sig Sqn Shooting Team win the CO s Cup

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt P. R. Griffiths

It has been a period of change for SHQ Troop, as there has been a large turnover of personnel. Our new Sqn Clerk, LCpl Karina Kendall has been thrown in at the deep end, but is coping admirably, and seems to be settling in well to Squadron life. She is fast learning to deal with the constant stream of questions, quirks and labour involved in sorting out everybodys leave and travel. No-one has been sent to Outer Mongolia (yet), so she must be doing a good job! The Squadron MT has received a new fledgling from 1 (UK) Armd Div - LCpl Stu McCrone, who has been catching up on some well earned leave. We look forward to your return! After three years, one month and 28 days (but he wasn't counting!) LCpl Daz Pullen is leaving at last. He will be taking up the post of MT Corporal at 16 Sig Regt if he can remember where he has put his Combat 95. LCpl Jo Quinn also leaves us to join 7 Sig Regt as a storeman. She will wear her well deserved second tape on arrival. At the time of going to press LCpl 'Danny Boy' Richardson has just completed his resettlement and will be reduced to the ranks of 'passenger' on the plane home. Thank you for your hard work and best of luck to all three of you.

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt F. A. W. Stewart
OPSWO WO2 (Supvr R) P. F. Gardner

It has been a quiet period at work for the Troop, and thankfully the majority of the Troop managed to be home for Christmas or New Year. The Squadron bar has been lively with various watches celebrating the festive season in style. An excellent evening's entertainment was organised for the Squadron by Cpl Scanlan in the form of a horse racing night. All proceeds were donated to the Lisburn Station playgroup, Bo-Peeps. A big hand of respect and congratulations go to all those who competed in the Commanding Officers Cup Physical Challenge. This year's challenge was particularly arduous with multi-skill events testing the teams cohesion, stamina and determination. The final result was a draw between 225 Sig Sqn and 233 Sig Sqn, and the starred event gave them a narrow victory. We'll meet again soon for a re-show!

Many congratulations to WO2 (Supvr R) Gardner who was selected for promotion from the last board. Good luck to Sgt 'Monkeyboy Marrs, Sgt 'Handy Andy' Ball and Sgt 'Loz, who me?' Hill who have started their Supervisor Radio Course. Welcome to Sgts Steve Ayres, John Chambers and Mark Hopkins who step into their shoes. Good bye for now to Cpl Kennedy and LCpl Fox who have departed to sunny Chicksands on their T1 upgrading course, we look forward to your return in June. Best of luck for the future to Sgt Foster who has taken the leap of faith to make his fortune in civilian life.

GOLF TROOP

Tech Adjt Capt I. R. Hargreaves
FofS WO2 (FofS) A. G. Jenkins

After the busy Christmas season things have settled down to normality very quickly, in fact so much so that January seems to have passed very quickly, and with no events worthy of note. We sadly say farewells to LCpl Gaz Stokoe, LCpl Lee Stafford, Cpl Stew Street, and SSgt Brian Wilkins. Many congratulations to WO2 (FoS) Jenkins who was selected for commission on the recent Commissioning Board. The very best of luck at 7 Sig Regt, you will be missed by the whole Squadron. We trust that LCpl Stokoe and LCpl Stafford will be setting a fine example to the new recruits at 11 Sig Regt, whilst on their upgrading courses. Also welcome to our new arrivals, SSgt Dave Wilson, Cpl Mark 'Paddy' Partington and Cpl Ewen 'Boz' Litster.

233 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. N. Walker
A/SSM SSgt Alan

After the festive season the Squadron has returned to normal and is enjoying the calm before the storm. Plans are getting underway for numerous exercises, competitions and adventurous training whilst any remaining budget is now being hastily spent and Corporal CR's rapidly written. The Squadron extends the warmest of wishes to WO2 (SSM) Rob Dunseith for a speedy and full recovery.

With one event left in the 2000 CO's Cup, the Squadron has accepted that 225 Sig Sqn are well on track to keeping the silver. However, with the New Year has come new energy, and a well-deserved victory for the Squadron in the first event of 2001. The 'Tough Guy' competition involved a Land Rover pulling race, a mutli-gym activity challenge and a swimming competition with burden. All competitors were tested to their limits, and by lunch-time 233 Sig Sqn had won the closely fought battle. Long may it continue - we look forward to the next event with a definite psychological advantage!

The Squadron is particularly grateful to Capt Helen Bosley who has spent the last few months of her military life filling the rather vital role of Squadron 2IC. Capt Bosley arrived on completion of her tour as 2IC 3 Bde and Sig Sqn in Portadown and immediately got to grips with the large amount of Squadron administration. Her support has been invaluable and she is wished all the very best for her departure to civvy street and in her new job as she plunges into a world of PR and the big city life of London.

INDIA TROOP - by Sig 'Steve' Moran

Tp Comd Lt T. E. Grey
Tp SSgt SSgt C. Marlowe

The last month has been a relatively quiet period for India Tp, recovering from the Christmas and New Year period. On the subject of 'Hello/Goodbye', the first welcome goes to Cpl 'Lovejoy' Ford and his antique furniture. A warm welcome to the delights of Data Entry! Cpl Ford has taken over the DSO reigns from Cpl 'Ross' Menzies, who on promotion to Sergeant has moved onto bigger and better things and joined the System Administrators in the queue for 'Tea and Toast'.....Congratulations Ross! Congratulations also go to LCpl 'Mini-me' Smith on promotion to Corporal and Sig 'Karate Kid' Manifield on his long wait for his well deserved (?) promotion to Lance Corporal. Farewell to Cpl 'Jean-Luke' Meeds who moves on in search of new worlds and civilisations.....Beware 280 Sig Sqn, he will assimilate you! Finally, 'Bon Voyage' to Sgt 'Mick' Stoneman who has recently departed on a 'short tour' (did you see that in writing?) of the Falkland Islands. See you in the summer.....Baby-fever has also hit the Troop with the birth of LCpl 'I'm Losing Weight' Lucas and his wife Apples' baby boy Bradley.

The main event to report was the Troops Ex Indian Summer presentations, which were delivered in the presence of the OC Sqn and the Troop 'Headshed'. The purpose of the presentations was to select an Adventure Training/Fund-raising package for the Troop to organise and participate in. The Troop was previously divided into 'hand-picked' syndicates, and was tasked to research (some in more detail than others) a variety of ideas and then deliver their chosen plan of action. One of the more notable briefs was delivered by Sgt 'Err...' McArthur with an 80's style PowerPoint presentation, involving the clever use of several spelling mistakes (Technical Sergeant eh.....? Never mind.....) The Troop now awaits the return of the OC, whereupon he will select and nominate the lucky syndicate who will see their idea come into fruition.....or something like that.

As this article goes to press, Sgt 'Ian' Clark and Cpl 'Hat' Butterfield are experiencing the delights of Ballykinler Training Area as they participate in the Pre-RSSC/RSJCC work-up package organised by the Regimental Training Wing. Keep smiling lads.....it's only rain.....and wind.....and snow ! No doubt more of their exploits in the next issue.

NETWORK CONTROL CENTRE – by LCpl Mike Davies

Tp Comd Capt A. M. Haresign
Tp Sgt Sgt S. D. Johnson

Hello and Goodbye: There have been a lot of changes in the Troop recently. WO1 (FofS) Chris Gill, WO1 (YofS) Paul Rose and WO1 (Supvr IS) Mick Brooks have all moved upstairs to joint the new G6 Branch. WO2 (YofS) Russ Darlington has exchanged sunny Lisburn for sunny Nuneaton and joined 30 Sig Regt. Sig Dave Rhodes has signed off and joined '1 (UK) Civ Div', whilst Sgt 'Mac' Macgibbon and LCpl 'John-Boy' Walton have both joined Romeo Tp. There have also been several postings into the NCC. WO2 (FofS) Rick Gorman and WO2 (YofS) Rick Carley have replaced the outgoing seniors and the NCC Incident Team. Sgt Nige Cathrew has hung up his spurs with Romeo Tp to join us along with the newly posted LCpl Paul 'Westy' Westerman. Congratulations: NCC Tp would like to send congratulations and best wishes for the future to Cpl Linda MacCulloch and LCpl Sharon Pillans who both marry their respective partners in the near future. Congratulations also goes to LCpl Tony 'Nigel Mansell' Wressel who has returned from leave after losing £185 on the 'Drivefast' plan.

ROMEO TROOP - by Cpl Mason and LCpl French

Tp Comd Capt R. A. Hamilton
Tp (YofS) WO2 (YofS) N. J. Bartlett

First and foremost, a big hello to the new arrivals. Into the sleep deprivation seat goes Capt Hamilton ably supported by Sgts 'Mac' McGibbon and 'Spike' Kennedy, Cpl Kev Abbott and LCpls Steve Boyd, 'Boz' Bostock and 'John-Boy' Walton. A big thanks goes to Sgt Nige Cathrew for his time with the Troop and we wish him the best of luck in NCC. Final farewells and thanks go to Sgt Craig Brooksbank and LCpl Matt Thomas.

Due to operational commitments, it has been difficult to fit in all the training and range days that the role requires. However, the new arrivals have attacked the challenge with vigour and are now coming to grips with the equipments and weapons used by the Troop within the Province. R Tp did find time to have a Christmas party ably organised by Sgt 'Tug' Wilson and the raffle by Sgt King. How come the Sergeants' Mess went away with all the good prizes? Otherwise, R Tp has been preparing itself for 'the busy season' and possible future operations. As the adage goes 'One in, all in' and all personnel have kept to that ensuring that the Troop is permanently ready for the unexpected.

Those of you who miss or stand up are going to get the Good News

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

Tp Comd Lt E. L. McLellan
Tp SSgt SSgt F. Jarvis

Let's kick off with the arrivals and departures. Firstly, goodbye to SSgt Daz Ware who has gone off to join the dark side at the Tesco building and seems determined to take half the Troop with him, so much for his loyalty over the years. The contribution he has made to the Troop has been a significant one and SSgt Ware is thanked for his dedicated efforts as both Installations Staff Sergeant and more recently as Troop Staff Sergeant. Mean-while best wishes to Sgt Dave Hansen who has gone to sun it up with 30 Sig Regt, shame he hates flying! Also goodbye to Cpl Joe Smith who is off to Blandford on his T1 and Cpl Tanya Ballard who has gone to 12 Mech Bde, best of luck to all of you. Hello to LCpl Scott Duffie, who is joining TM Tp from sunny Cyprus, and Sgt 'Harry' Harris who has just come from 16 Sig Regt.

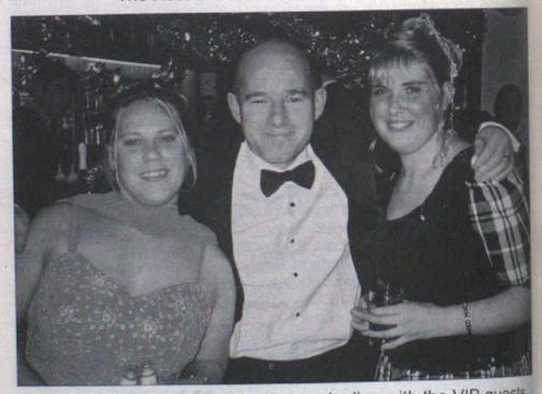
The Troop's best wishes go out to LCpl Pherris Baldwin, who is currently enjoying the selection process for 264 Sig Sqn, LCpl Stevie Hicklin on his Class 1 course in Blandford and also to Cpls Micky Lake, Micky Partridge and Jay Lowe who are currently on their Junior Commanders course. Well done to Cpl Chris Renshaw, LCpl Dave Rice and Sig 'Gaz' Mugford for all passing their Team Medics Course at Ballymena. Especially well done to Chris for scoring 98% in the final exam. Congratulations to the 233 Sqn Military Skills Competition team for coming a very close second. The team comprised of: SSgt Craig Marlowe, Cpl Si Wellsted, LCpl Alford, LCpl Pherris Baldwin, LCpl Manifield, LCpl Dave Rice, Sig Jackie Bridger and Sig Steve Moran, with Cpl 'Paddy' Briggs as a one man admin team! The stands in the competition were a Rummage search, Assault Course, a Timed Shoot, Observation, Incident Handling, Navigation and First Aid.

On the social side, Sig Michelle Rayner excelled herself in organising 'A Night at the Oscars'. All the boys were quite literally frog-marched to hire black tie, and didn't they all scrub up well! Cpl Joe Smith assumed the role of Sig Rayner's charming assistant host and between the two of them they awarded the various stars of TM Tp for their outstanding contributions to technical expertise, course attendance (biggest swan), sweetest smelling, best hair and many more achievements. A rather fine roast turkey dinner was provided by the chefs of the Sandhurst Restaurant and the EOD are thanked for the use of their bar the 'Felix and Firkin', where we hope to enjoy many more 'quiet sociables'. Those unfortunate enough not to be a part of the TM revelling were able to enjoy the annual radiance of the 'Lisburn Star', rigged to the top of the tallest tower on camp, the huge structure shining down gracefully on all.

The Felix and Firkin overflowed with Celebrities and Elvis

A Night At The Oscars with Technical Maintenance Troop
The Host and Hostess take centre stage

Cpl Joe Smith
a man who oozes charm, elegance and style, apparently



Sig Michelle Rayner plays hostess, mingling with the VIP guests
WO2 (FofS) Rick Gorman and Cpl Danni Tutton

3 INFANTRY BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (203)

Sqn Comd Maj D. B. Warne
RSM WO1 (RSM) A. M. Maxted

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS - CONGRATULATIONS

All SHQ congratulate LCpl Williams on her promotion. Well done.

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP

OC Tp 2Lt Lord
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Hoppy' Hopkins

HELLOS AND GOODBYES

Warm greetings go to SSgt 'Hoppy' Hopkins from Aldershot, Cpl Dave Owen and Cpl Wayne Topping who both had an exciting first job as barman on the Squadron Bar and haven't actually touched any kit yet. Sig Andy Hall who joins us from the MT who can make vehicles you thought you were using disappear in front of your eyes, Sig 'Dan' King and Sig 'Sammy' Wood from 249 Sig Sqn ((AMF)L), Sig 'Dave' Smart from 30 Sig Regt and Sig 'Sammy' Samson from 12 Mech Bde.

Goodbyes to Cpl Chris Bain who is bound for Chelsea Bks after getting married, Cpl Jase 'Too old' Craddock, off to the TA and Sig G. 'I'll sign back on for that carrot' Pyrah who is promoted on posting to Cyprus. We regretfully say farewell to SSgt 'Bob' Wallace who leaves us for 2 Sig Regt, everyone is sorry to see you go Bob (at least that was the message from 2 Sig Regt). We also say goodbye to Cpl 'SF' Link who is posted on promotion to 7 Bde, and last but by no means least, farewell to Cpl 'Don' Garner who also leaves us on promotion but stays within 3 Bde as the rear link Sergeant with the southern Armagh Battalion. Congratulations go to Cpl Matt 'Wide Boy' Dawson on returning from his Class 1 as an Installations Tech wearing his second tape. This year sees some members of the Signal Squadron attempting arduous courses. We see Sig 'Dan' King attempting P Coy for the third time (lucky) apparently he feels the course is so easy he has to attempt it three times, good luck Dan. Sig 'Sammy' Samson goes off to attempt 264 Selection, with only three days notice of his course, but we know he will do well. Lastly we see LCpl 'Mat' Page attempting his leadership course. All in all we look forward to a hectic year with Drumcree looming over the next couple of months.

CHANGES TO THE SYSTEM

After a long time of preparation and planning by SSgt 'Nobby' 'Sites' Noble, Sgt Andy 'Smiler' Lloyd and Sgt 'Gilly' Gilchriest, the new FRT system has finally come into being. The die hard Radio Techs are now having to come to terms with the flashing lights and drop tests while the System Techs are still trying to figure out, 'Why is the line wavy?' and, 'Where are all the marks and spaces?' All in all, our new system should allow us to have more time off for fun things like PT at 0730hrs, Cpl 'Edward scissor badge' Chwieseni is very pleased with the increased numbers he now has at his lessons. In other news, LCpl Nick 'But I checked the fuse' Watson is the most slabbed tech in the Province but is slowly being caught by LCpl Ian 'slow motion' Bradshaw. Cpl Richie 'I want to go to a depot' Birch is away shortly on his Skill At Arms course and should return just in time to witness the birth of his first baby liney. Cpl Matt 'closet gwa' Cree has managed to sneak off on his fibre course after getting away with having Christmas and New Year on leave. The only people not mentioned are Cpl 'Hatch' Hatcher, LCpl L. J. Murray and LCpl Iain 'I'm old school, me' Good, who might be upset if they weren't.

SUPPORT TROOP

OC Tp Capt Wright-Jones
Tp SSgt SSgt Rodgers

HELLOS AND GOODBYES

It is with much regret that we bid farewell to LCpl 'Dino' Kirk who is now off to Civ Div. She has supported the Troop and the MT with her experience, and she will be sadly missed. We will have to find someone else to keep the bar profit coming in and we all wish you the best for the future. We will also like to say goodbye to Sig Andy 'Turncoat' Hall who has moved to TM Tp, you can now start making molehills out of mountains, and Sig Steve Brown who has moved within the Troop to the SQMS's Dept, one day they will let you count the eiderdowns. On a more serious note they were both an asset to the MT and their departure has been felt throughout. We would now like to welcome LCpl Dom Ceolho, don't worry things do get better, well you do have marching season to look forward to. The Troop has been busy coping with getting ready for our Equipment Care Inspection (oops what generators) and trying to get some Christmas leave in. We now wish we had spent less time on documentation and more time checking windscreen wipers. At least the Quartermaster, Capt Wright-Jones has stopped seeing red now and has calmed down to bright amber. We would also like to thank the members of the MT Dept for the hard work and quick thinking that went into the armed alone weekend. Last but not least we would like to thank Cpl 'Higgy' Higgins and his merry chefs for all the work that went in over Christmas and New Year. We all appreciate the hard work you have done for us.

39 INFANTRY BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (213)

Sqn Comd Maj A. R. Knott
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. M. Lockwood

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Well done to all those involved in the recent exercise to ensure that the Brigade Officers are up to speed on their ITDs. The two day package was well received and on the whole enjoyed by those participating. Thanks must also go to WIS for providing the specialist weapons with which the RSM had so much fun!

Lockwood, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP

Tp Comd Lt S. Y. Richardson
Tp Sgt SSgt R. Atherton

OPERATIONS SECTION

Arrivals and Departures: A big Ops Sect welcome goes to all the newcomers in the Troop. The word is obviously out that Syscon is the place to work, as in the last two months they have been arriving in their droves. Hello to Cpl 'Bobsleigh' Kemp, Sig/LCpl Carol Westerman, Cpl 'Norry' Crook and Cpl Brett Grist. We hope you will all be very happy here. A sad farewell is given to Sig 'Snowboarder Supreme' Buyers, who after helping the Brigade to win the Corps Championships left for better things. The guys in the block would like to thank him for leaving behind his bed, his sunbed and of all things his car! Sig 'Dinga' Bell has also moved on to pastures new, finishing his tour with a friendly football match damaging his knee in the process. LCpl Charlie Henry Wood has left the Troop. The Group has become a much quieter place, no longer can we hear the cheerful little tunes being sung. We wish you the utmost success in your future career.

Section News: Congratulations and best wishes go to LCpl Mick Constable and his wife Karen on the birth of their son George. May the nappies always be clean and the nights never sleepless. Congratulations also go to Sgt 'Norry' Crook on his recent promotion. He is delighted with the event as he moves from sharing a four-man bunk in the Sandhurst Block, to a freshly painted room on his own in the Sergeants' Mess. Well done 'Norry', it is well deserved. Well done to Pte 'Stretch' O'Hare on passing his MPC course, to Pte Andy Aitchison and LCpl 'Geordie' Allinson on receiving the first class passes for their Police Advanced Driving examination and well done to Pte Haley Andrews who received a second class pass. A Troop mascot has appeared in the form of a small female Alsation/Collie Cross. Kirby Athertonis a delightful addition, although not according to Sgt Paul Faizey, who found a little present behind his desk! Good Luck Staff, in keeping your sandwiches to yourself.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE SECTION

Arrivals and Departures: Two new Systems Engineer Technicians plus one Technician are the arrivals this month in the forms of LCpl Fredrick Tedby, LCpl Robert Dilger and LCpl Craig Bate. Welcome to the better section of the Troop, prepare to fight for our honour. Goodbye and good luck to our resident DJ, Sig Billy Ellam who finally gets out into civvy street after four and a half years of suffering under the guise of being a soldier. LCpl Tim Davies has also been posted to civvy street, while Sig (soon to be a Lance Corporal) 'Huey' Lewis moves on to bigger and better things. We wish them the very best of luck and thank them for their efforts whilst in Province. Well done to Cpl Mick Jennings on his recent promotion, sorry you had to wait so long but blame the Foreman.

Section News: SSgt Terry McIntyre has been attached to 15 Sig Regt, paving the way for chaos and mayhem to reign. No, my mistake it is only Sgts Jonah Jones and Paul Faizey taking charge. For all you worried sailors, Fear not, he will be participating in the two weeks jolly, I mean hard work crewing, on Ex Kattergan Backstop. Well done to those of you who managed to acquire a few days extra leave after the weather closed in on Cambletown.

TM Section Christmas Function: (written by LCpl Lord) It was a dismal winter's evening, but spirits were high and festive, for the night held in store dancing and singing (most of it bad), as well as a raffle, Congratulations to Sgt 'Billy' Lilburn for winning the main prize of a DVD Player, to Cpl 'Scott' Tomblin who won an MP3 player and Sgt Lee Rotherford for winning the 14 inch Television, which will replace his old one that required turning on in the morning so that you could watch it that night!

LCpl Lord and Sig Roberts show their special bond!

I am sure that everyone had a really enjoyable evening and the highlight in my opinion was the rigging section taking to the dance-floor, with their rendition of the 'Birdie Dance', spectacular lads. However, thank you to the aforementioned riggers for the superb organisational job they did of arranging the night. Well done to the Squadron OC for clearing the dance-floor with an attempt at Dancing Queen and thank you Pte 'Stretch'O'Hare for being the evening's DJ. I would finally like to thank the Troop OC and all the Seniors for attending and making everyone feel young again.

The TM Section girls make the most of the evening to dust off their glad rags

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt G. Maddison RLC

RQMS' Department: Cpl McGuinness has decided to confuse all Squadron members by changing his name. He is, from this day forth, to be called Cpl Davies, or for those of us who are having trouble, Cpl McDavies gets a response. Congratulations to Sgt Al Keir and his wife Helen on their recent marriage. We all hope that you will be very happy together.

MOTOR TRANSPORT

It is with great sadness that the MT have to bid farewell to their very own 'Freddy Mercury' look-a-like, Cpl Stevie Hooper. The time has come, the walrus said, (Well they both have moustaches) for Cpl H to transfer his allegiance to the AGC SPS. We wish you all the very best and are sure they will realise your potential.

SQUADRON EVENTS

CORPS WINTER CHAMPIONSHIPS

DECEMBER 2000 - by Cpl 'Mac' Davies

On departure from a dizzly Belfast, the 39 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn snowboarding team were hyped up for a hard two weeks training and competition in Kaprun, Austria. After an arduous journey Cpls 'Mac' Davies, Neil Beedon and Sig Jamie Buyers arrived in Austria with the same expression, 'Where is the snow?' We were soon told that Week One Training had been moved to St Jacob, near the Italian border due to a lack of snow. This move, however, proved to be fruitful as Cpl Neil Beedon soon found out that novice training was harder than it looked. During the week, Cpl 'Mac' Davies and Sig Jamie Buyers were to find out, courtesy of the Dutch coach, that everything they had taught themselves over the years, was in fact wrong.

Week Two was held on the notorious Kitzsteinhorn Glacier and the competition started with two races of giant slalom, in which the team finished a full 55 points clear of the rest of the field. The next day's racing was to decide the individuand team placing, all resting on the performance in the slalom. After two races the team were guaranteed a first place and soon to be returning with some silverware to the Brigade. Well done to all the guys involved and a thank you to the Squadron for sponsoring us for the event.

NORTHERN IRELAND BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Well done to the 39 Brigade female basketball team, who strove to victory in the recent Northern Ireland Championships. Man of all the matches was LCpl Vicky Moran, who has proven that she is on the mend from her operation, showing her speed and accuracy under pressure. With regards to the male team, a nice effort but no cigar. The males crashed and burned but have vowed to come back with a vengeance next year.

ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM

Blandford, Dorset DT11 8RH ~ Tel: 01258 482 248

High Tech Interactives & Audio Points

Exeperiment with Sound - Build a Radio
How does Radio work ?
Crack Codes - Learn to send Morse

SPECIAL EXHIBITIONS

ELITE SPECIAL FORCES - Methods, Missions, Survival Aids
ENIGMA - Codes & Codebreaking
BEHIND ENEMY LINES - The Story of the SOE
DESPATCH RIDERS - & Motorcycle collection
ANIMALS AT WAR - & The animal VC

A DAY FULL OF FUN, DISCOVERY AND ADVENTURE, FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Enquiries
01258 482 248

Opening Times;
Mon — Fri (All Year)10.00 — 5.00.
Weekends (Mar-Oct)10.00 — 4.00.

Museum Trading

Colour Mail-Order Catalogue 2001
Many exciting new Items

To order your new colour catalogue
Tel: 01258 482 248
Fax: 01258 482 084
E-Mail; Royalsignalsmuseum@army.mod.uk

Silver Locket

1940 s Sweetheart Brooch

Corps Watch

Watchmakers screwdriver set

Screwdriver set

Regi-bears

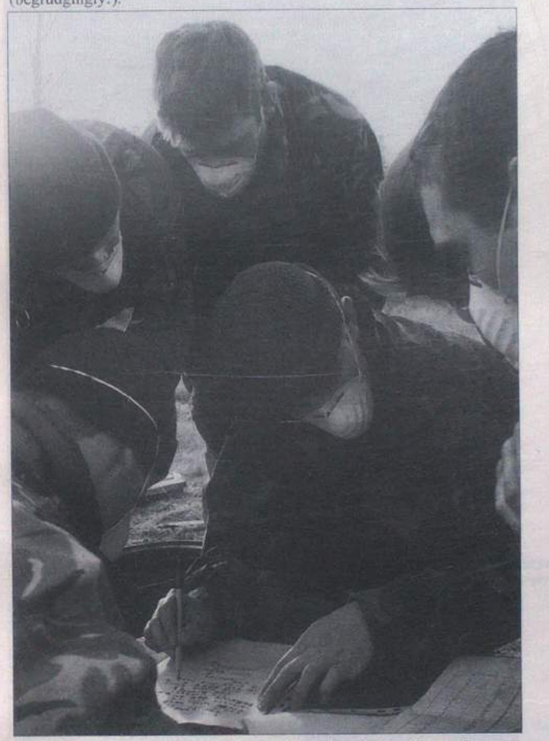
Nightcap Set

NEWS FROM THE REGIMENTS

1ST (UNITED KINGDOM) ARMOURED DIVISION HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL REGIMENT

MILITARY ACTIVITIES - EXERCISE BOLD ENDEAVOR

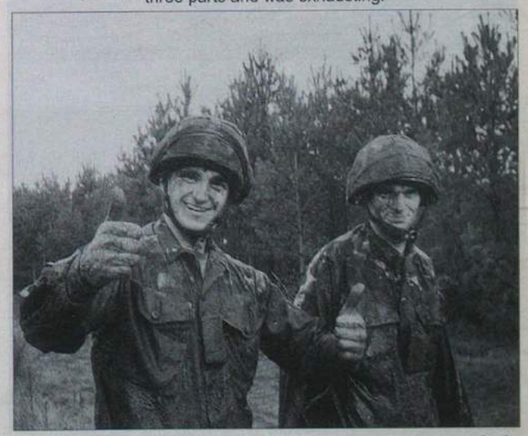
November saw 36 lucky members of 212 Sig Sqn participate in a three-day Squadron Cadre Course. Participants were chosen from Signaller to Corporal, and the course was designed to put soldiers in an environment where any latent leadership qualities could flourish. It was characteristically wet and cold for the duration (no surprises there!), and most of those who completed the course would later be heard to admit that they did enjoy it (begrudgingly!).



Protected from the lethal effects of the chemical spillage, Group Four struggle to translate the secret code which tells them the safe exit from the area - and the command task

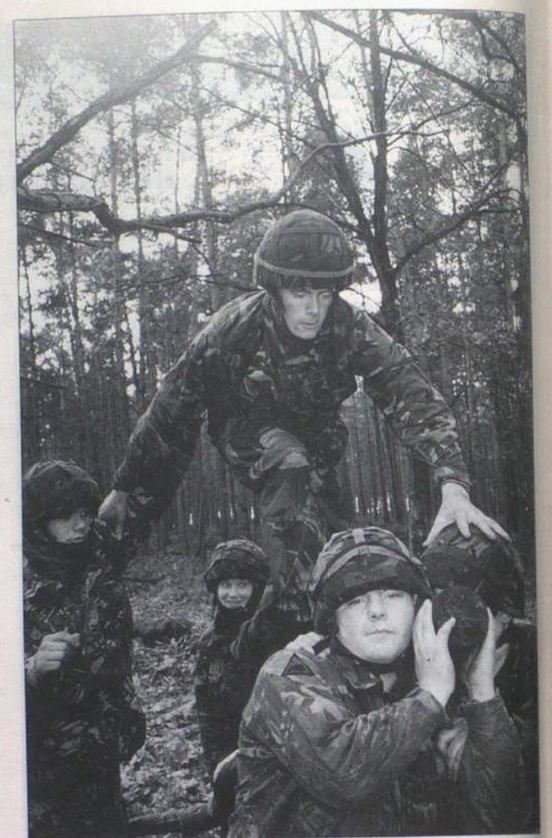
These lucky soldiers found themselves part of a gruelling endurance stand - this part, the stretcher race, came at the end of three parts and was exhausting!

The Team after they finished the assault course phase,
I said that it was cold and muddy,
it was, and it got worse as more teams went through it!



Sig Murphy and LCpl Harvey show their contempt of exhaustion!

LCpl Roberts gets to grips with mouth to mouth, during the first aid stand



Sig Johnston delicately makes his way along a slippery log held by his team - a good idea, but it led to bruises!

EXERCISE SHELLDRAKE SWORD

Just prior to the Squadron's cadre course, 201/211/212 Signal Squadrons were engaged in the annual major Arty live fire exercise, Ex Shelldrake Sword. This Exercise gave the much vaunted Offensive Support Group portion of Divisional Headquarters the chance to fire in anger.....

Soldier posing with a 3.5 kva generator under camouflage netting

LCpl Tiplady takes a massive chance with his life by allowing Sgt Maskerlyn of the RLC (our resident exercise chef and all round mad up for it bloke) to take a test drive of the ASV 436! A scary moment.....

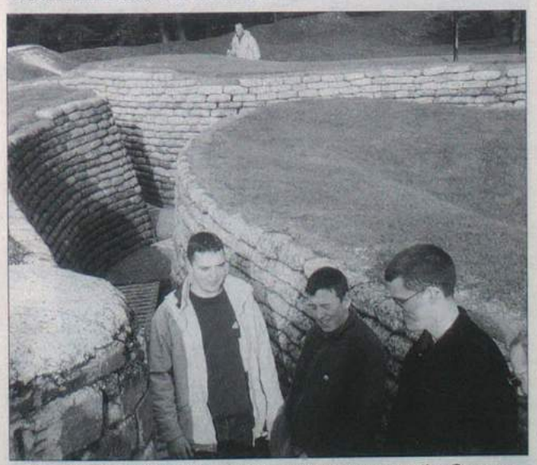
This exercise provided the opportunity for our soldiers to see AS90, MLRS and 105mm firing live! This open day included a look at the Rapier Field Standard C air defence system

The two Sqn Dvr Maintenance Instructors, LCpl Tiplady and LCpl Roberts teach the much loved track bash on their driving course

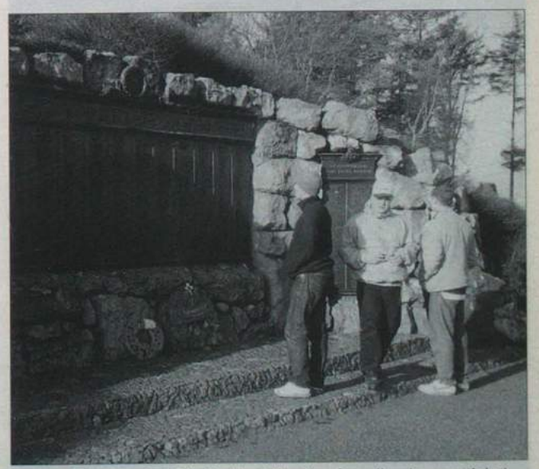
Taking advantage of the slightly more sedate pace of the exercise, members of the Squadron are familiarised with the various quirks and characteristics of the much loved ASV 436

EXERCISE SOMME EXPLORER 6-8 FEBRUARY 2001

Ex Somme Explorer was a Squadron run battlefield tour to the WW1 battlefields and memorials in the Somme area of France. 24 members of the Squadron took part, visiting the memorials at Delville Wood, Thiepval Ridge, Beaumont Hamel and Vimy Ridge. There was also an opportunity to visit the Museum of the Great War in Peronne.



Sigs Whitfield, Vickers, Hesketh and Smith explore the German trenches at the Canadian Memorial at Vimy ridge



Cpl Gallacher and Sig Smith at the Newfoundland memorial at Beaumont Hamel

2 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col I. Cameron-Mowat
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. C. Keilty

NEWS FROM THE SERGEANTS' MESS
FAREWELL TO THE COMMANDER 11 SIGNAL BRIGADE
BRIGADIER J. R. B. COOK

In October a select band of Warrant Officers and Senior Non Commissioned Officers from the far flung corners of 11 Sig Bde made the journey to the 2 Sig Regt and York Garrison Sergeants' Mess for the dining out of Brig Cook, 11 Sig Bde Comd. A very memorable night was had by all. The Mess President, WO1 (RSM) Keilty, was ably assisted by WO1 (Corps RSM) Hodgson and a plethora of other senior RSMs and Warrant Officers. The Commander can be seen departing the Mess with typical Sergeants' Mess panache. On behalf of all your Warrant Officers and Senior Non Commissioned Officers good luck and farewell in Upavon.

Departing The Sergeants Mess

GRANDMOTHERS VISIT THE MESS

Late last year saw the doors of the 2 Sig Regt Sergeants' Mess flung open to some of the grandmothers of the Mess Members. What an enjoyable night they had, almost drinking the bar dry of milk stout, port and lemon and nice cups of tea. Rumor has it that some of them even ventured into the City of York for an evening's entertainment, looking for a Bingo Hall the writer suspects. The Mess Members thoroughly enjoyed the evening's conversation something along the lines of:

Gran – 'EEEH isn't he smart' Member – 'How are you then?'
Gran – 'EEEH smart yes' Member – 'No, how are you?'
Gran – 'Milk stout luv' Etc.....

Thank you ladies for a pleasant evening.

Identify The Grannies
(Answers on a postcard to the Mess President)

NEWS FROM HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

OC Maj M. Bailes
SSM WO2 D. Hancock

EXERCISE COLOMER EBOR (EXPEDITION TO THE PYRENEES)
by SSgt Angus MacPherson MBE

It was dull and drizzly in Imphal Barracks on the day of departure, Saturday 13 January 2001. The party left camp at 1330hrs with all equipment and baggage loaded into two minibuses. We travelled to Colchester for an overnight stay due to the early flight the following morning courtesy of Buzz Airlines. We landed in Toulouse at 1000hrs local time. We were then met at the airport by Tpr John Howie and taken to our hotel in Luchon. The following morning we set off on a beat-up walk with light packs from the Col de Portillon (1293m). In deep snow our trek took us to the summit of Pic de Aubas (2071m) and across and onto the Pic de Arres (2161m). The next day we travelled over the border into Spain for a days Ski de Fond. Along the way we saw some spectacular falls and the prize for the best effort must go to Sig 'Geordie' Cummings for his acrobatics. Cpl Steve Hayward came a close second with a nosedive into a cluster of trees. The main 3-day expedition saw us trek from the Banos de Tredos (1810m) to the Refuge de Colomers (2140m), out over the Port de Colomers (2591m) and onto the Refuge Ventosa (2290m). Sig Roy Taylor was glad to see the Refuge as he panted around trying to find his cigarettes. The next day saw us walking out over the Port de Caldes (2570m), back past the Refuge de Colomers, to collect our transport at the Banos de Tredos. Quote of the day (as large white flakes fall from the sky):

Tpr John Howie – 'Here comes the snow again!'
Cpl Steve Hayward – 'How do you know that it's snowing?'

The Gang

The final day of the expedition took us to Peyresourdes where we spent the day downhill skiing. It was extremely busy with dozens of young children on the lower slopes. Sig Roy Taylor only managed a few hours before retiring with a sore knee and SSgt Colin Dawson managed to continue for the whole day despite injuring his side. We returned to Luchon for a spot of souvenir shopping before sampling the nightlife prior to our journey home. The flight was on time and this saw us back in York at 1630hrs on Sunday 21 January 2001.

In summary, the expedition ran very smoothly and apart from the snowhole all the other aims of the trip were achieved. Everyone had a fantastic time and most are already talking about returning to the Pyrenees in the summer. This was my third expedition that I had organised to the Pyrenees over the past two years and it doesn't get any easier, as you still have the same barriers to get over, time and time again. Overall it has been an absolute pleasure taking personnel from the Regiment to visit the glorious sites of the Pyrenees in France and Spain. It is now time for someone else to continue the motion and I'm sure the Pyrenees will be part of 2 Sig Regt for many years to come.

NEWS FROM 214 SIG SQN

Sqn Comd Maj 'Jamie' Compston
SSM WO2 (SSM) K. 'Are you calling me small?' Smith

FREEDOM OF YORK PARADE 27 JANUARY 2001
by 2Lt Senneck (214 Sig Sqn) and LCpl Dawson (HQ Sqn)

2 Sig Regt has been awarded the City of York's highest honour. On 27 January 2001 the Regiment was given the Freedom of Entry into the City of York. This means that the Regiment is allowed to march through the city, with bands playing, swords drawn and bayonets fixed. Not, alas, free booze in all pubs and clubs in the City. The honour was bestowed on the Regiment in recognition of its close ties with the city and the work it has done for the local community. This includes the links that the Regiment has with various charities including Mencap. The Race the Sun competition is also a large contributor to local charity funds, having raised over £85,000 in the last ten years. The work undertaken by the Regiment in the recent floods received particular attention and it was this, together with the numerous charity events accomplished over recent years that led to the Regiment receiving the award.

With only a few weeks notice of the pending parade, the Regiment was thrown into a fluster of action practicing drill and sorting out No 2 dress. The great day was well planned and eagerly anticipated by all. Unfortunately the weather failed to register the importance of the occasion and it was a dark, very cold and wet morning. The fog eventually lifted but the rain continued - perfect weather for a military parade through the streets of York. It did not, however, effect the performance of those on the parade as the command to 'Draw Swords and to Fix Bayonets' was given, the Minster forming the perfect backdrop. The parade lasted about 30 minutes, during which we tried not to move in between our drill movements, having to stay perfectly still. Families and friends of all those on the parade were stood in front of the Regiment, either side of the podium. A quick smile is all you could manage as long as you did not get caught. The Lord Mayor of York inspected the front rank of the parade and had a quick chat to some of the soldiers as the band began to play 'Rain drops keep falling on my head' to try and keep us all cheerful and alert.

The Lord Mayor, CO 2 Sig Regt, Sqn Comd 219 Sig Sqn and the YofS 219 Sig Sqn
at the Freedom of York Parade

Three squads of sixty then proceeded to march through the cobbled streets of the City in front of the large crowds that had gathered to line the route and to watch the parade. HQ Squadron, 214 Sig Sqn and 219 Sig Sqn just about managed to keep in step as they were led by The Commanding Officer past the Mansion House to give 'Eyes Right' to the assembled VIP's. There was the Lord Mayor of York, the Master of Signals, GOC 2 Div, and the Sheriff of York, who all later congratulated the Regiment on their smart turn out and their drill (they obviously did not notice 219 Sig Sqn later marching to their own timings). The parade was soon over and we were whisked back on to the coaches, where the warmth was heartily welcomed as we all chatted about the parade and whom we had seen on our way round. The police again escorted the coaches back to Imphal Barracks where we quickly alighted and trooped into Kohima Restaurant. All those involved in the parade returned to Imphal Barracks with family and friends where they were able to mix with the Lord Mayor, her dignitaries and other VIP guests and enjoy the excellent food and drink provided by Regimental kitchen staff.

NEWS FROM 219 SIG SQN

Sqn Comd Maj 'Super quiff' Stocker
SSM WO2 'Are you calling me small?' Renshaw

EXERCISE KALI GANDAKI EBOR
16 NOVEMBER 2000 – 7 DECEMBER 2000
(EXPEDITION TO NEPAL)
by Sig Mitchinson (219 Sig Sqn)

Expedition Members: Capt 'Boss' Tyndale, 2Lt 'Black Dog' Hodgkinson, SSgt 'Q-silly hat' Tuff, Cpl 'Beard Monster' Ross, Cpl 'Flower pot Man' Brewington, LCpl 'NE' Edwards, Sig 'Blonde Moment' Greenhalgh, Sig 'Dangerous Dougie' McAtear and Sig 'Evil Mitch' Mitchinson.

Ex Kali Gandaki Ebor was a three week expedition to the Annapurna region of Nepal undertaken by 219 Sig Sqn, with the exception of 2Lt Hodgkinson who is from 214 Sig Sqn and was a last minute (literally!) replacement. We departed from London Heathrow and twelve long hours later arrived in Kathmandu, a city bustling with activity and noise from the people, vehicles and animals of various sorts. At least the climate was considerably warmer than in the UK. The following morning we were taken on a sightseeing tour of the capital, which provided us with many fascinating and extraordinary sights. Street sellers desperately trying to sell us their merchandise soon plagued us. Most of us quickly learnt to ignore them but the girls just could not do that and ended up buying dozens of bracelets, rings, necklaces and all sorts of trinkets. They became less courteous as the days went by but I think it was the incident of Tommy Two Thumbs that was the final straw! We went on, past a man swallowing a snake, people kneeling or lying on the ground in prayer and up a couple of hundred steps, to the fascinating 'Monkey Temple'.

It was quite a relief to get away from the frantic bustle of the city and into the hills to start our trek. The bus ride to the starting point was fairly nerve racking due to the surface of the roads but the beautiful scenery soon distracted our attention. The weather was still extremely warm and carrying rucksacks all day was certainly taking it out of us. We found the opportunity to bathe in the river one evening, which was very pleasant until Cpl Brewington and Sig McAtear decide to be adventurous and cross the river and were unable to get back again quite so easily. Meanwhile LCpl Edwards tried to go paddling and ended up swimming for her life. The trekking route is becoming steeper and Day 2 will be a lasting memory for all of us; hill, hill, mule, hill, mule, climb, mule, mule, hill, what path? Hill, hill, hill, NOT ANOTHER MULE! We had an unexpected rest on Day 7 as SSgt Tuff had an unfortunate bout of food poisoning but, after being briefly admitted to hospital, he returned to the group and floated over the hills! Forever upwards we went until we finally reached the top of Thorong La pass where we were treated to some really spectacular views that were most definitely worth all the effort.

Day 2

DON'T SEND DIGITAL PHOTOS

The Top At Last

Our journey down the other side of the pass was considerably quicker than that going upwards, funnily enough! The most notable occasions on the downward journey were the windstorm - 2Lt Hodgkinson was blown over TWICE, and the glorious hot springs at Tatopani. The expedition finished with a day white water rafting, which was excellent fun and saw us throwing one another in within 60 seconds of getting into the boats. We also soaked a boat full of Germans for good measure but they failed to see the amusing side of it. After a night camping, in the lightest sense because the facilities were so luxurious and comfortable it was not really camping, we endured a truly frightening bus ride to Kathmandu for our final night in Nepal. A night out on the town could not be avoided. It is quite a miracle that we all managed to make it to the plane at 0530hrs the next morning and meanwhile, some poor Nepalese man is still looking for his rickshaw……..

219 SIGNAL SQUADRON CHRISTMAS FUNCTION
by Sig Marshall (219 Sig Sqn)

The Organising Party

The 219 Squadron Christmas function this year was a stylish event that was held at the lavish Novotel Hotel in York and saw the men wearing Tuxedos and the ladies some very elegant dresses. The event organisers were LCpls Matt Lutkin, Kelly Thompson and Lee Turnbull, ably assisted by Sigs John Kama and Diane Turner. The evening began with a flying start when the guests arrived and were greeted with a champagne reception in the hotel's main foyer. From there it was into the bar for a few more drinks before we all sat down for a delicious four-course meal. Entertainment followed shortly afterwards, courtesy of a band who covered songs from all the up to date artists and a few of those good old 60s tracks thrown in too. The band was excellent - they just happened to be cousins of LCpl Lutkin, and they soon had everybody out of their seats and moving around the dance floor in a variety of manners! The award for best dancer has to go to Cpl 'Centurion Willy' Rushton who thought it would be a good idea to show people how it used to be done 'back in the day of Julius Ceasar'. Many prizes were later to be won from a raffle and the 'Money Tree'; the star prize up for grabs was a 28' colour television, won by Sig Tom 'Geordie boy' McGaritty. A DJ was supplied to fill in the gaps between the live band and the prize draws and meanwhile the alcohol continued to flow, causing the dancing to become more frantic and embarrassing! The real party animals played on until the early hours of the following morning and were eventually ordered to leave by the hotel staff! All in all an excellent night was had by everyone who attended and a big pat on the back should go to the organising committee who did a superb job. Well done - and let's have another one next year!

EXERCISE JOLLY EBOR
25 NOVEMBER – 17 DECEMBER 2000
(REGIMENTAL EXERCISE ON HMS YORK)
by 2Lt Croslegh (219 Sig Sqn) & Sgt Tervitt (HQ Sqn)

This was a joint training exercise during which six members of 2 Sig Regt spent three weeks working alongside The Royal Navy onboard HMS York. During this period the ship was due to sail from Antalaya to Gibraltar via Naples. The exercise began with a 0230hrs start – nice! We caught the plane to Turkey via Brussels and as if the early start were not enough we discovered to our horror, on arrival at Istanbul, that our baggage had not flown with us. It eventually turned up four hours later and once we were cheerfully reunited with it we jumped on the bus for a thirteen-hour journey to Antalaya – nice! When we eventually arrived at the ship we were greeted with the unwelcome sarcastic comment of, 'Ah, the missing Army!' The remainder of the morning was spent finding our way around the ship, particularly the route to the accommodation. This became quite tricky as we were all separated and housed in different areas of the ship. 2Lt 'Jay' Croslegh ended up near the bridge, Sigs Reeves and Brittin with the stokers, Sig 'PK' Pikendra and LCpl 'KH' Khadgajung with the ship's resident Gurkhas and Sgt Tervitt ended up in the PO's Mess. We were each assigned a specific area of the ship to work in; LCpl Brittin on the galley, Sig Reeve in the comms centre, LCpl PK in the engine room, Sig KH in the engine missile room and Sgt Tervitt with the weapons. We rotated between each post after 48hrs, giving us the chance to see different parts of HMS York. When not on duty we spent the following days looking around 'Ant', as it became known. It was impossible to ignore the locals who were pressing us to buy all sorts of items from carpets to coats and watches. We later sought solace from their pestering in a restaurant where we dined like kings for only £4.00 – cheaper than McDonalds, bargain!

The ship at last set sail and one of the first mornings was spent in a shooting competition between the RN and the Army using a 5.56mm shoot. The target was a buoy that was trailing behind the ship. The grand prize for winning was a crate of beer and naturally, we drank to the RN's health later that night. In an attempt to win back their beer, the Navy again challenged us to a shooting competition, this time using a GPMG but they were again to be disappointed. As we collected our second prize in as many days the Captain of the ship was heard to mutter, 'You Army guys sure do shoot funny, you actually aim at the target'. On the 4 December the fleet held a 'Steam Past', which is when the ships form up in a line and the rear ship overtakes all the others. For this event, the ship's crew was in fancy dress and the fire fighting equipment was made ready. As each ship sailed past frenzied water fights ensued. Once the Steam Past had been completed the ships lined up along side each other and a 2km race began. HMS York started well and finished in joint first position.

A couple of days later we arrived in Naples and providing we had no duties onboard, we were able to go ashore and visit most of the major sights in the area. On the first day we visited Pompeii where the ruins are very extensive but well worth a visit. Well into the tourist spirit we then went to Rome, which offered some fabulous sights: the Spanish Steps (although not many were visible because it seemed the entire population of Rome was sitting on them eating their lunch), the Vatican and finally the Sistine Chapel. One of the main highlights of the entire trip was the Christmas meal, which was served by the Officers and was soon followed by an excellent Christmas show. The next day, we arrived at sunny Gibraltar where we were due to leave the ship and begin our return journey back to York. Arrangements were made to cross the border and take a train to Madrid and then another one to Bilbao where we would catch a P&O ferry to Portsmouth. However, upon reaching the border we encountered a major problem; the Spanish refused entry to the Gurkhas in the party without a Visa. An alternative plan was hastily hatched and the Gurkhas ended up flying from Gibraltar to the UK direct. Meanwhile the rest of us shot off for Bilbao and once there were presented with another disaster; the ferry had been delayed and would not arrive until 0200 the following day – great! The remainder of the day was therefore spent investigating what Bilbao had to offer, which was very little until we discovered the shopping mall. Finally we set sail at 0400hrs and eventually arrived in the UK the following afternoon and after spending two hours tracking down the hired minibus, we headed back up to York for a much-needed Christmas break.

HADRIAN'S VALLUM - by Cpl Ralley (219 Sig Sqn)

This charity event was organised to raise £3000 for Sig Leon Creighton, who was tragically injured in a swimming accident whilst serving on the last unit deployment to the Falkland Islands. He has been left paralysed and requires the use of a wheelchair. The money raised by the charity event is to be spent on upgrading the wheelchair. After some hard thinking and considerable debates, SSgt Pete Curtis came up with the idea of completing the entire 73 miles of Hadrian's Wall in a day by running, tabbing and cycling. He was never one for good ideas but many individuals eagerly volunteered to participate in the event. The whole stretch of wall was divided into ten legs and a team of four would each complete a leg. Legs 1 to 5 started from Bowness on Solway and would finish in Housesteads and legs 6 to 10 would start in Housesteads and finish in Wallsend, Newcastle. The legs varied in length from around 12 miles for the cycle legs and 6-7 miles for those who were either running or tabbing.

An 0700hrs start was in order for Leg 1, and the individuals concerned were soon wishing they had not gone out for a couple of quiet ones in Carlisle the night before. There is a rumour that LCpl 'Davey' Campbell did not let go of the safety Landrover for the whole 13 miles of his leg. It was cold and wet but everyone put in maximum effort and completed their legs in good time. SSgt Curtis helped his promotional prospects by giving the CO, OC, RSM and the SSM the hardest leg of the day! Although the girls would tell you something different, from what they were saying you would have thought that they had cycled up Ben Nevis.

A big thank you goes to 34 (TA) Sig Regt Newcastle for allowing us to use their facilities after the event. Sig Creighton was also there and it was an excellent opportunity to see him and wish him well for the future. A special mention most go to LCpl Di Turner who raised nearly £400 pounds by herself in sponsorship money and we are now well on the way to raising the £3000 needed for Sig Creighton's wheelchair.

3(UNITED KINGDOM) DIVISONAL SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Davies
RSM WO1 (RSM) Kidd

WO1 Chris Kidd would like it known Corps wide that he is the RSM of 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt. Despite reaching the pinnacle of his career in Bulford after 20 years service and having a whole board dedicated to himself in RHQ (They wouldn't give me one – 2IC) he still felt aggrieved that I left him out of the appointments list in the last issue!

SPORTING SUCCESSES

With some sporting superstars hitting key appointments in RHQ we must be in with a shout for the Birtwistle Sporting Pennant. Here is photographic evidence of our recent achievements ……..watch out for the Regimental Angling Team!!

Cpl Davis
pictured during one of the GB Women's Bobsleigh World Cup races in Calgary, Canada

Royal Signals Cross Country Champions 2001
You know the names already !!

Our star man on the day
LCpl Smith, third overall the first of our seven scorers in 24

Royal Signals Ladies Cross Country Runners Up
Lt Coslett, LCpl Fraser, LCpl Sweeney, SSgt Matheson, SSgt (YofS) Rouse

202 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Long
SSM WO2 (SSM) McNaught
OVERLOON TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Irwin
Tp SSgt SSgt Rowe

It's been an eventful couple of months for the mighty Overloon Tp when first and second lines have been a major priority. Ex Tricorn Bull was an educational exercise for the newer members in the Troop like LCpl Ange Nichols who has joined us from 16 Sig Regt. We had only just welcomed her to the Troop when she was whisked off to Bosnia on Operations. The Regimental Sports Week was a great challenge for us playing Football, Rugby, Hockey as well as many other events. We finished a quite respectable second place.

Farewell to LCpl Bob Rankin who's off to 4 Brigade, Sig 'Pie' Maxted who is promoted on posting to 2 Sig Regt and Cpl Kenny 'Garage King' Irwin who's going to 8 Inf Bde in Ireland. They will all be missed. After a great leaving do for all of them in the town of Swindon the local coach company are beginning to trust us to be a fun loving friendly bunch. Farewell also to LCpl Sid Marsh leaving for civilian street and welcome back to LCpl Evans and congratulations on her recent marriage to Cpl Trev Evans. Sig Rateliff arrives in the Troop, posted in from HQ Sqn. Lucky fellow.

WATERLOO TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Simpson
Tp SSgt Sgt Ashford

Life with armour is currently hectic with the seemingly endless cycle of inspections and exercise. The Troop was able to let off steam, however, by taking an afternoon away from the labours of exercise prep to trash go-carts at the Thruxton circuit. Sig Fildes swept the board consistently knocking everyone off the field (At least those of the racers who didn't make up their own route around the course, (that's you LCpl Cloughton). Congratulations to the new WO2 Craig 'DJ' Bruce BEM who managed to arrive, get promoted and leave all in the in the space of a couple of months. You were probably the shortest serving troop staffy we've ever seen! The Troop also welcomes LCpl Kelly 'Sonic the Hedgehog' Cloughton, Sigs Susanne 'GWA' Cooper, Andy 'Weiner' Wennington and Darren 'Mudflaps' Fothergill on board the fun bus. Tearful farewells were said to LCpl Chris 'Call that a punch?' Beevers and Sig Tony 'Peder' Fildes, who are shortly going to have to fend for themselves in Civvy Street. Sgt Navik 'Norgee' Elliott also leaves us to go and earn medals in Northern Ireland. The whole Troop is taking on a family atmosphere too. The Hardy twins Emma and Lee got married. (Will that couple making doe eyes at each other please stop and do some work?) Cpl 'Faz' Fazackerley and Sig Tony 'Funky Moped' Knight both got engaged (though not to each other).

BUSSACO TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Lumley
Tp SSgt SSgt McGuinness

Sig Cotterell driving the GOC's Tac

Well, 2000 with all its hype has come to an end and 2001 has begun. Last year ended with the usual flurry of Xmas parties and functions that left most members of the Troop pretty skint even before going on leave. The year kicked off with Ex Tricorn Bull 1 and the members of the Troop refreshing their skills in a Squadron exercise, one that would not have been complete without a touch of snow and Gulf War stories from SSgt Joe 'Nosey Neighbour' Rowe and SSgt Frank '16Air Asslt Giftshop' McGuinness.

The technicians are still 'under-manned' in the Squadron, and with that we would like to welcome LCpl Backhouse, LCpl Roberts, Sig Patten and Sig Smith to the Troop and we hope that you are not worked too hard by WO2 (FofS) Andy 'I'm always in control' Paton. We would also like to extend a welcome to Sig Brooksbank and Sig Gavin who have quickly become experts at maintaining vehicles and 'driving' around orienteering courses. As usual, Bussaco Tp continues to support Officer Recruiting by putting on displays involving the GOC's Tac HQ lead by Sgt Jim 'Hairy Man' Gray. The Tac Crew would also like to wish LBdr 'Soon to be LCpl RSIGNALS' Howell well with his operation and his re-trade to the Corps.

Finally, we would like to wish Sgt Jim 'Hairy Man' Gray, Cpl Bobby 'I like small families' Ball, Cpl Paul 'I'm an individual' Coates, Cpl Rob 'I hope there's a sun bed in the Balkans' Hickley the very best as they prepare to go to either Kosovo or Bosnia – get out there lads and do your part in defending the free world! Oh, LCpl 'Dirty Harry' Symons, we know that you have crossed over to the other side and are now a key member of the RP staff, but please, come and visit us some time…

206 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Adsett
SSM WO2 (SSM) Smith
INKERMAN TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Freemantle
Tp SSgt SSgt Angove

The 'Fighting Elite' of Inkerman Tp have returned from Christmas leave in high spirits (still drinking the same as they were before they went on leave). We returned to face a Squadron training exercise where the younger members of the Troop were put to the test by being placed in command of the rebro clusters…. God help us all!

The exercise passed by without mishaps with some of the troops performing better than others did. The majority of Mons Tp additions were not able to handle the fast pace of life in the 'Fighting Elite'. As the exercise went on rest became a distant memory and we all wondered what a sleeping bag was, (Unlike the DS that managed to stay bright and full of sound, especially Sig 'stand to' Rodda).

The troops of Inkerman Tp would like to congratulate LCpl Anderson and LCpl Brown on their promotions! We also have to say good-bye to a few members of the 'Fighting elite' which include LCpl 'Radcon' Richardson who has moved over to the gym and Sig Carol Westerman who has moved to Ireland. Congratulations to her and her husband on the announcement of her pregnancy. Last of all Sig Harris who has gone to 16 Sig Regt. Inkerman Tp wishes all of them the best. We have got some new members to our elite Troop, Sgt 'Smudge' Smith who has joined us from Bassingbourn and our new Troop Commander, Lt Freemantle, who is going to Blandford in a little while to complete his Troop Commanders course, we wish him all the best for that.

222 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Appleton
SSM WO2 (SSM) Nuttall

Members of the Squadron meet the 2IC, Capt Bee Bryan, disguised as a Beefeater on Arabian Challenge

On 18 November 222 Sig Sqn departed for the bracing sea air of Napier Barracks, near Folkestone for their Battlecamp 2000. This was to be a week of range work and ITDs followed by the fun part, two days of sailing and watersports. Yeah right, unfortunately the OC, Maj Appleton and WO2 (SSM) Nuttall had other ideas! The week started with the range work, consisting of the Small Arms Trainer (SAT), zeroing, a fun shoot and an APWT on Lydd Ranges. After the evening meal we started the ITDs with the rest being completed by Tuesday evening. This left two days for the sailing and watersports….or so we thought.

EXERCISE ARABIAN CHALLENGE

SSM Nuttall had arranged a little surprise for us. At 0400hrs on Wednesday we were rudely awakened to find that the two days watersports had infact changed to an initiative exercise called Arabian Challenge. So with our ID cards, a letter of explanation, a 50p coin, a packed lunch and a task list, we were dropped off in-groups of twos and threes somewhere in the county of Kent. As many of the tasks had to be completed in London, the aim for the groups was to make their way to the capital from their various drop off points. We had to complete tasks such as: meet a Squadron personality at a certain pub at a certain time, don't eat the packed lunch, sing in front of 100 people, get football memorabilia of Middlesborough and Everton FC, milk a cow, gut a fish etc, etc. At the end of the exercise on Thursday evening the Squadron seniors had arranged a smoker consisting of skits and awards. The awards went to:

Best shot on SAT: Sig Hawkes
Best fun shot on SAT: LCpl White
Best shot on ranges: Sig Bradley

All in all a brilliant couple of days!……By the way are the Squadron management team back from that pub yet?

Why not visit the Royal Signals Museum?
For opening hours ring : 01258 482248

7 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col J. E. Richardson MBE
RSM WO1 Smoothy

The last few months have been very hectic for the Regiment as we begin to welcome all the Troops home from various Operational tours in the Balkans and 231 Sig Sqn from The Falkland Islands. Welcome back to Germany!

KREFELD BIKERS CHARITY RUN
(MAD DOGS & BIKERS) - by SSgt Steve Behan

Early December 2000, I received a phone call from SAC Pete Way from the RAF, Club Secretary of 'The Adler' Motorcycle club in RAF Bruggen informing me that the club would be organising a charity 'ride out' in aid of 'Kindersdorf St Josef' orphanage on 15 December 2000. The word was passed to the boys and girls at Krefeld that the event would be taking place, and that money and presents would be required to present to the children on the day. Mr Simon Lees, collected all donations and presents on the 8 December and presented them to the Committee of the Motorcycle Club, so that a consolidated presentation could be made on the 15 December 2000. 15 December arrived .....and so did the weather, dark and overcast with the real threat of rain in the air. Eleven bikers turned out to 'brave' the elements, all dressed ready for a 'Michelin Tyre' advert.

RAF & Army Combined
(Note: Police Motorcycle without the mud!)

Krefeld Chapter Charlie s Angels

After an impromptu photo shoot, Cpl Craig Bowman decided additional photographs would be in order, to which he promptly lay down in the middle of the road, and snapped away. Weaving and swerving became a fine art at this point, especially on cobbles.

Krefeld rides out

The ride to Bruggen was uneventful, albeit a little chilly on the hands. We all assembled outside the RAF Police post for a consolidated photo, and to admire the large collection of presents, totalling 300 in all. Twenty-seven bikers were to be escorted by two Police outriders through the route. The signal came to start up and ride out, all with zeal and enthusiasm. One of the Police outriders had too much zeal, and 'dropped' his bike into a ditch directly outside Bruggen Station, much to the amusement of the remainder of the group, which in turn replied with a volley of left handed applause.

We arrived at the orphanage and were greeted by Herr Fester (No relation to the Adam's family), the Deputy Manager to the orphan village, and invited for coffee and biscuits. After all the formalities of presenting the gifts, all bikers made a separate 'bomb burst' back to home locations. Krefeld lads headed straight for a wall of rain, which accompanied us back home. All in all, DM3500 was raised to purchase some 300 gifts for the children at the orphanage. The weather could have been kinder, but what can you expect in December. A personal thanks goes out to all bikers of Krefeld, military and civilian alike, for donning thermal underpants and running noses for a worthwhile cause.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj 'Wally' Drain
SSM WO2 'JR' Ewing

The squadron Christmas function was held on Thursday 14 December in the Regimental gym. The Regimental Admin Office were issued with a route card stating directions to the event. The function was organised by 7 Sig Regt LAD led by Santa, SSgt Pete Lucas and his little helpers (the LAD). The gym was decorated with balloons, in the shape of Santas and Christmas trees. We were entertained for the evening by a live duo, 'The Look'. After the live band, we moved on to the disco where members of the Squadron proceeded to strut their funky stuff. Also on the night there was a money raffle, first prize went to Cpl Dave Harthill (LAD) second prize was won by Cpl Bradley also LAD (not a fix really), third prize went to SSgt 'Open all hours NOT' Prime. All winners received DM485.00 each. There was one more prize a golf jumper that was won by Sig Verrill (improving his dress sense 10-fold). Cpl 'John Boy' Walton, of the Regimental restaurant provided the food. It was of a very high standard (he must come from Bradford). All in all a good night was had by everyone involved, and many thanks go to SSgt Pete Lucas and his team for a great night.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

With Christmas out of the way, it was back to the graft for TM Tp. It took a while for everyone to settle down and work again after such an excellent leave period, especially now as the Regimental Foreman Capt 'Tommy' Steele has left to become the TOT of 30 Sig Regt.

LCpl 'Jezebel' Rees and Sig 'Kev' Taylor had a hectic time on their return, as they had the joy of moving to one of the field squadrons, so we bid farewell to them. Cpl 'Bobby' Hill is also due to leave our presence, as he goes to Blandford on his T1 course. Good luck 'Bobby', and be careful, Blandford has a lot of shop windows, try not to fall through any of them, or else that will be your T1 bonus money down the drain! The Troop also welcomes a few new Techs, LCpl 'Harv' Harvie arrived from 14 Sig Regt, and LCpls 'Kim' Roberts, 'Mack' McCreadie and Sig 'Mus' Musgrave came to the Troop fresh from the sausage factory.

The Troop would like to congratulate LCpl 'Mr Magoo' Logan and his wife Becky on the birth of a baby girl. Well done mate, didn't think you had it in you!

HQMT
MTO Capt Neil R. Coatsworth
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Hay

Sadly, we must begin with a few farewells. Sgt 'Taff' Kinsey who departs for 14 Sig Regt (EW), LCpl 'Big Jack' Russell who's off to AFCENT (unlucky), and 'Big Si' Lees, our friendly civilian Servicing Bay assistant, who has left to wash up and do the dishes, and last but by no means least, LCpl 'Scotty' Scott who departs us for Civvy Street after 22 years service. The latter was given a send off worthy of a Regimental Sergeant Major as he was dined out in style at a dinner hosted by the OC HQ Sqn, and waited-on by the Officers and SNCOs of the same Squadron. Meanwhile at the MT Christmas bash, Sgt 'Bri' Sheard was leading the way in the Indoor Go-Karting Championship, not only is he now the fastest thing on two legs, he can also go a bit on four wheels, securing himself the fastest lap of the day and a large shiny trophy. Not to be outshone, the JNCOs sent in their best man for the next event: The 'All-In' Chinese Buffet. Up step LCpl John 'Feed Me' Phoenix, (who is rumoured to have been evicted from a 'All the Pizza you can eat for a Fiver' promotion in Pizza Hut after devouring £240:00 worth in his first sitting). He proceeded to eat through the buffet in more style than Sgt Sheard managed on the Go-Kart field…..most entertaining. More was to come, this walking digestion system left with a doggie bag later on! Anyhow, to all those who leave us, farewell and good luck, and to all those who arrive, we hope you enjoy your time with us and until the next time, when the photographer will be someone other than Sig 'Lens Cap' Clark…..Cheerio.

GUARDROOM
Provo Sgt Sgt 'Paul' Deaville
Provo Cpl Cpl 'Stan' Knight

The Squadron would like to say farewell to the Provo Sergeant, Sgt Paul Deaville (undefeated cross-country super veteran), his wife Petra and son Daniel. He leaves the Regiment after completing 22 years colour service in the Army (ten of those years being spent here with 7 Sig Regt, hence the grey hair). Sgt Deaville will be completing his last six months at 2 Sig Regt based at York, and upon completion of which his family and he will start civilian life in Rotherham. Both the Squadron and the Regiment would like to thank Sgt Deaville for his loyal dedication to his duties whilst serving with the Regiment and sincere wishes to Paul and his family for the future.

Farewell to Sgt Paul Deaville

229 (BERLIN) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj D L Webster Royal Australian Signals
SSM WO2 'Taff' Burdge

Life in 229 Sqn has been hectic as usual, with the troops getting larger as more people return from Op tours. Just before Christmas we welcomed back all those remaining in Bosnia, and most from Kosovo leaving only a couple of EDs and Techs out there. The troops should soon be splitting back down to Charlie and Whiskey Troops and life should get back to normal. Yankee Tp has once again been showing off its sporting prowess in a Regimental Basketball competition. They sailed through all of the rounds even beating the COs team who were favourites to win. The final was a close match against X-ray Tp A Team and was won on a sudden death basket at the end, scored by the star player Sgt 'Woody' Wood.

X-RAY TROOP

New arrivals to the Troop have been brushing up their military and detachment drills recently on Exercise Young Shakedown. The exercise, which ran from 22-24 January consisted of both practical and theory lessons. The lessons, conducted in Bradbury Barracks, included harbour drills, convoy drills, vehicle contact drills, defence of a comms site and personnel admin in the field.

The exercise phase took place at Leuth training area. The students lined up in convoy under the watchful eye of packet commander Sig 'Ted' Heath. After taking an 'alternative' route to the one on the route card, everyone got there safely. Once on the training area, the dets were tasked to find their own harbour areas. This, however, involved some map reading and ended up like a scene from Wacky Races with dets driving all over the training area looking for the right location. The night passed relatively quietly with each det moving two or three times. However, the students would like to thank SSgt Ian Thourburn and Sgt Tom Anscomb for the free PT lesson first thing in the morning.

The exercise ended with a section attack on the enemy, under the command of Cpl 'Murph' Murphy. The attack was fairly hard, with one section giving covering fire and another attacking. However, a difficult railway crossing accounted for more members than the enemy.

232 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj P. C. Baker
SSM WO2 I. Carter

The Squadron members have all happily returned from Christmas leave and have been thrown straight into typical exercise season. Ex Arrcade Warrior 1 staged at Ayrshire Barracks (again) started well until the ground suddenly changed into a quagmire and most of us changed from being in the green cloth to brown. However, the exercise went well and for the first of 2001 it certainly set us up for Ex Arrcade Guard in March. The Squadron would like to say farewell to Sgt 'Drew' Drewitt who is posted with his family to 15 Sig Regt, also the SQMS leaves us SSgt Aidy Chapman posted on promotion to a far off land. A very special goodbye is said to SSgt Al Ironside who leaves the conferences in 232 Sqn to grace 16 Sig Regt with his presence. Top Tip for 16 Sig Regt, don't let him say anything in a conference or it will never end!

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd Lt 'One Time on Running Camp' Allison
Tp SSgt SSgt Tony Taylor

Delta Tp had an excellent December with plenty of Christmas spirit, as well as welcoming some cheerful new faces. First of all SSgt 'Come on you blues, TNT' Taylor has arrived from Ireland to take the helm. Sgt 'Grimes, I love lime scale' Overend has also come to help him. We also welcome 'Paddy' Morrison who's seen the light and left the almighty Tac to join delta force. Finally, a big hello to Kate Connelly joining us from the factory. Goodbye to SSgt 'Still recovering from the Spanish fiasco' Newton who's left us to go and sort out the TA. His antics will never be forgotten! We also say a fond farewell to Sig/LCpl 'I know I've signed off, but please don't make me leave or I'll top myself' Chico Ankers. He's off to conquer the world, or Northallerton at least and will be greatly missed by all, especially those bar flies not unique to 7 Sig Regt. You know who you are! The Troop's Christmas do was a shopping trip to Oberhausen. (got to keep the wives happy, you know how it is!) We started off with good intentions clutching our shopping lists, but the crowds were just too much to contend with so we spent the best part of the day in the Irish bar. The die-hards amongst us did do a bit of shopping as we decided to stay there all night and so needed some new groovy clothes to hit the club scene. The lightweight fairies of the Troop and a number of guests decided they needed their beds and went home, although a few were left behind, by accident of course! Recently the Troop all piled in the mini bus and went to Lazerquest, Venlo as a farewell outing for Chico Ankers. The Stonegrill dinner was superb, although the concept of having to actually cook your own meat at the table proved far too confusing for most of the blokes! A good night was had by all and a fair amount of alcohol must have been consumed as a number of members of the Troop accidentally forgot to pay their bar bills – allegedly.

HOTEL TROOP
Tp Comd SSgt 'Al' Ironside
Tp SSgt SSgt George McGuire

Hotel Tp would like to wish everyone a happy New Year but before we look forward to the future we would like to say thanks for last year. From a very successful Ex Arcade Fusion last year came the 'A' Team, equally led by SSgt 'More Torrent' Ironside and SSgt 'Expensive Pizza' McGuire, troops included Cpl 'Rosy' Rose, Cpl 'Dunna' Dunnington and Sig 'Barman' Harmon.

On to November and the traditional German St Martian's Day, Hotel Troop took the lead for this event, and from the cast of 'One' SSgt George McGuire volunteered to run this event. Cpls 'Fire starters' Rose & Sigston made sure the fire burned brightly, maybe even a bit too brightly, Ask the Kids! The Troop held their Xmas Function organised by Cpl 'Rosy' Rose at Taurus (A Tropical theme activity centre) near Venlo.

We all enjoyed an evening of bowling, barbecue food and laser quest, even though we had to keep reminding Cpl 'Jeff' Sigston and LCpl 'Scouse' Girvan that it was only a game. LCpl 'Scouse' Girvan can't remember much of the Do apart from waking up in a 2ton trailer.

A big welcome to our three new arrivals LCpl 'Jim' Rees, Sig 'Louis' Armstrong and Sig 'Kev' Taylor – Welcome to your worst nightmare. A sad farewell to Cpl 'Womaniser' Wilson who has gone to Blandford and LCpl 'Lenny' Victor who has left us for 1 UK Civ Div, best of luck to both of them. Not to be outdone by the 'A' Team photo, which was most upsetting, Cpl 'Jeff' Sigston decided to become a real life 'HERO'. Jeff amongst others helped to get a RTA under control – Sources tell us that Jeff single handily put out an un-extinguished cigarette. The Dutch driver would like his cigarette replaced. (Only Joking Jeff – Well Done Boys)

Finally, congratulations to LCpl Rees and Cpl 'Matt' Duddles who performed their first Gig of the Year. They would like to thank the Troop and TM Troop for coming and supporting them. They will keep you posted as to their next gig, so you can put your leave in! (Only Joking), Well Done.

PAPA TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt 'Gorg' Endean
Tp SSgt SSgt Kev German

Christmas has now been and gone but the bellies remain full of beer. As we enter a normal German Winter, freezing cold and still no heating in the Papa Tp garages, we would like to give a warm welcome to straight from the factory, Sigs Carr, Donald, Fitzgerald, Thorburn and Laker not forgetting LCpl Hindson from 16 Sig Regt. Also welcome back to LCpl Steve Beedie who on his first day back from leave took a dive during the warm up to a PT session and will be out of action for at least six weeks. Big congratulations to all those who were recommend for promotion and also to LCpl Si Cartmell and LCpl 'the gob' Sykes who both came third in the Corps Skiing Championships. As always a sad farewell to Cpl (now Sgt Bubble) Baxter and LCpl 'Mac' McLaughlin, along with Sig 'BA' Williams posted out and moving within the Squadron, LCpl 'Shortcut' Stanley. Finally myself Sig Jim Alderman and Sig 'Wasser' Wass would like to say goodbye to all our Readers out there until the next time.

JOINT SERVICES SUPPORT UNIT (AYIOS NIKOLAOS)

CO Lt Col R. A. Sharp MBE
Stn SM WOI (RSM) D. Richardson

COMMAND GROUP

January saw the hand-over of command of the Unit from Lt Col Whitby, who leaves on promotion to the Main Building at the MOD, to Lt Col Sharp. Congratulations to the out-going Commanding Officer and our best wishes go to him, Sarah and their family. It was no doubt a busy appointment that saw the amalgamation of the former 9 Sig Regt (Radio) and 33 Sig Unit into the Joint Service Signal Unit (Ayios Nikolaos). His departure through Mercury Barracks included the two transportation modes he became most accustomed to during his tour, the CO's car and his boat. The Unit welcomes Lt Col Sharp from LAND Command and we wish him, Erin and their family a happy and successful tour here at the sharp end of the Mediterranean. Also recently departed is the Adjutant, Capt Alan Owen who leaves on promotion to 11 Sig Regt. We will miss his sense of humor and unique dress sense. I'm sure he'll enjoy the challenges of Blandford and the Military Training Squadron but the RAF miss you already! Welcome in his place, and also from Blandford, to Capt Andy Greenfield who will probably hope to play some golf during his tour but arriving at the same time as a new CO has so far curtailed any hope of that.

Lt Col Whitby handing over command of the Unit to Lt Col Sharp

Lt Col Whitby being towed out of Mercury Barracks

The Chief of the Defence Staff, Gen Sir Charles Guthrie, made his final visit to Cyprus and this included a tour of the Unit where he was updated on the current situation and where he met Unit personnel.

SUPPORT SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Flt Lt J. D. Cumming RAF Regt
SSM WO2 (SSM) R. Buxton

SHQ has said farewell to WO2 (SSM) Steve White who remains on Island but moves across to the QM's Dept. The Squadron would like to wish a warm welcome to the new Squadron Sergeant Major, WO2 (SSM) Rick Buxton who has recently arrived from RMAS.

QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT
QM Maj (QM) P. Whitehouse
RQMS (Ops) WO2 (RQMS) D. Thornton
RQMS (Stn) WO2 (RQMS) S. J. White

Contrary to popular belief it has been another busy period in the QM's Dept with the majority of the work directed towards the success of the recent Board of Officers. It also seems to have been the period for promotion within the Department. Congratulations go to Sgt Tony Waddington on his recent promotion also to LCpl 'Pickles' (Bosnia) Hayward and LCpl Ivor Williams (RLC) on their selection for promotion to Corporal. Further congratulations go to LCpl Tony Murray and wife Sabine on the recent birth of their son Lewis.

TRAINING SUPPORT TROOP
Tp SSgt SSgt G. Steel

. . Training Support Troop continues to tick over. During recent times the troop has seen members participate in a number of events. SSgt Nikki Pearce APTC took part in the Cyprus Walkabout. This should consist of a two-day arduous navigation competition where competitors cover a distance of at least 90kms (depending on map reading skills). What she may not wish to mention is the fact that she was disqualified on the first day in tandem with the CO's wife. SSgt Gaz Steel and Sgt Dave Churchward took part in Ex Shifting Sands in Jordan assisting the Cyprus Logistic Unit with various field-firing exercises. That left Sgt Steve Hills RAF holding the fort back at camp continuing with annual guard force training and preparation for the Stations' annual military training exercise. The Troop would like to say farewell to Cpl 'Paddy' Reece RAMC posted to Depot Royal Marines on promotion, to Cpl Steve Forster RAF posted to RAF Brize Norton and to SSgt Pete Rouse and wife Louise who move to Aldershot. Quiz nights will never be the same without Pete's sad knowledge of Coronation Street. A warm welcome though to Cpls Chamberlain and Shaw both posted to the gymnasium. Cpl 'Granddad' Chamberlain was only on the island for two bleeps of the MSFT before going to Blandford to complete his Class 1. Finally congratulations to Sgt Dave Churchward and his wife Sandy on the recent birth of their son Jack. More helloes, goodbyes and congratulations are in order. Goodbye to Cpl 'Baz' Bazzard and his wife 'Shookums', they are off to ATR Bassingbourn. Thanks for all the help down in the Training Wing. Where's my CD Rom? Goodbye also to LCpl 'Andy' Lawless (RAMC). He is off to Aldershot to instruct Phase 2 training.

EXERCISE MERCURY BREAK

December saw the Training Wing organize the Unit's military training exercise, Ex Mercury Break. Due to problems with Cypriot public holidays and not being able to exercise on those dates we had to re-think our plans and conduct the whole exercise from RAF Akrotiri. This, however, proved to be an excellent facility to run the exercise from, being central to both ranges and training areas. The exercise was geared towards IS scenarios and planning for contingency operations, culminating in a 24hr deployment in Paramali village, home of many Ex Lion Suns. The exercise proved to be challenging and there were some outstanding performances. Cpl Forward has to be congratulated on the way he whipped (not literally) his Troop into shape when it was his turn to be Troop Sergeant. SAC Stuart was another who was up to the challenge and as he took on the role of section commander it was hard to tell that he had never done that job before. It was also an opportunity for the Unit to host three potential officers and give them an eye opener and under the watchful eye of Capt (in The WIRE again) Woodbridge they got stuck into every task. Well done to OCdt Marsh who handled the 'press' (Sgt Dave Churchward, Sgt Jack Teague and Craig Share) excellently? It has to be said that the biggest embarrassment of the exercise though was suffered by the DS, who put in an attack of the village with the EU pyro mountain only to discover that the troops had bugged out 30 minutes previously - nice one.

MOTOR TRANSPORT DEPARTMENT

Tp SSgt SSgt M. Fitz-patrick

A turnover of personalities in this period sees farewells to Cpl Guy Cresswell back to the sunnier climate of Catterick with 19 Mech Bde and to LCpl Pete Stainforth and Mia who are off to 30 Sig Regt. In their places we welcome Cpl Trev Shippey RAF and his family, LCpl Dave Collin and LCpl Andy Kinnaird. May you all enjoy a great tour at AY NIK.

840 SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Sqn Ldr M. Edwards RAF
WO Eng WO Dave Watson

840 Sqn continue to go about their business but have also become heavily involved in schemes to raise money for charities and other worthwhile causes. In recent months they have run charity cycle events not just around the Island but also up and around the Troodos mountain range. Their most adventurous, however, was the recent running of a Unit 24 hour Sportathlon with competition between the three Squadrons and a ladies' team. The competition kicked off at midday with a gentle game of cricket but got more serious as the other 11 sports unfolded. The competition was made somewhat more tasking as several of the events took place within both the Famagees Families Club and the 840 Sqn Bar. A saving grace in the early hours was the ready available Red Bull that kept spirits high and the energy levels replenished. Congratulations to 840 Sqn who walked away with the trophy but then they did organize it and do have more time to train!

840 Squadron winning sportathlon team

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR LCPL CRAIG BOWLES

LCpl Craig Bowles served in Operations Squadron as a Specialist Operator with 9 Signal Regiment (Radio). Tragically Craig was killed in a motorcycle accident in January 1998 whilst riding from Dhekelia to Ayios Nikolaos. Ayios Nikolaos Motorcycle Club, the Bondu Rats, felt it appropriate to mark the opening of their recently refurbished Clubhouse with a service to commemorate Craig at the site of the accident. The memorial is in the form of a large wooden cross upon which is mounted a brass plaque with a message from the Club. The service was led by Rev Pluck, Ayios Nikolaos Station Chaplain, and a wreath was laid by Lt Col D. J. Whitby R SIGNALS, the current Commanding Officer of JSSU(AN). The service was attended not only by representatives of the Army and both civilian and military members of Ayios Nikolaos but also the RAF Akrotiri motorcycle club.

Lt Col D. J. Whitby laying a wreath at the memorial service for LCpl Craig Bowles

CYPRUS SQUASH OPEN 2000 - by WO1 (FofS) Steve Bason

Royal Signals players competed in the 2000 Cyprus Open Squash Championships held at the Dhekalia courts. The competition was open to all squash players on the Island with entries ranging from military personnel, United Kingdom based civilians, local Cypriot players, visitors and holiday players. Two newly built courts offered excellent if not somewhat hot and testing conditions and an entry of 32 players in the Open afforded a punishing schedule of squash. In the Plate Competition Capt Gary Stratton, based at HQ British Forces Episkopi, faced Vaso the Cypriot No 2 player who proved too young and who eventually went on to win the Plate final 3-0. In the Over 35's Competition the final saw Vaso again, but pitted against WO1 (RSM) Dean Richardson from the Joint Service Signal Unit (Ayios Nikolaos). Royal Signals gained revenge with a comfortable 3-0 victory. The Open competition was hard fought in terms of the quality but also quantity of matches that had to be played over a short period of time. In one half of the draw WO1 (FofS) Steve Bason progressed through to the final, defeating a UK based civilian player who was out on holiday and in the semi-final overcame the tournament's No 1 seed Mr Rob Page in a close fought 3-1 match. In the other half of the draw WO1 (RSM) Dean Richardson progressed to the final following a semi-final victory against Mak Khan, a renowned Pakistani player on the Island from the 'Khan' dynasty. The final was set with two old Corps adversaries to the fore. WO1 (FofS) Steve Bason was the first to draw blood, quite literally when there was an altercation between Steve's racket and Dean's face. Steve, already impeded by the knowledge that his wife was due to give birth, at any time, to his fourth child ran out of dirty tactics. He lost in three punishing games to the older man. Many congratulations to the Royal Signals three who ventured up and down the A5/A2 and the corridor road in the mid-summer in search of glory.

WO1 (RSM) Dean Richardson receiving the Cyprus Open squash Winners trophy

234 SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. Urwin
SSM WO2 (Super R) S. Smith

The Squadron has seen a great deal of change over the past few months with the hierarchy being completely replaced with a better looking team! In August we said goodbye to the OC, Maj Mike Griffiths, who has moved to the MOD. We welcome Maj Tony Urwin who brings his wife and family from DERA, Malvern, we wish them a safe and happy tour. In October we said farewell to the outgoing 2IC, Capt Steve Palfreyman who has packed his golf clubs and returned to JSSU (Digby) on promotion. WO2 (Super R) Steve Smith has returned from Kosovo and is now firmly ensconced as SSM. WO2 (Super R) Martin Boston has moved onto pastures new in the QM's Dept and is busy counting blankets, we think!? LCpl Pat Abel volunteered to deploy to Golf Tp and her replacement LCpl Mandy Clapson can be found rearranging furniture when the OC and 2IC are away!

ITS

Life in ITS has been its usual busy self both in and out of work. The daily barrage of phone calls continues, 'My computer is broken...' or 'My computer doesn't work...' The majority of the calls, however, focus on the extra curricular activities currently being run out of this department! If it's not SSgt Pete 'Go-Kart' Howlett, then it's Sgt Craig 'Stables' Share, but more often than not its for SSgt 'Cossie' Calabrese, who has been busy organizing the Garrison Hockey side, the Adjutant's leaving do and the Station Bonfire Night. Recently Sgt Share competed in and won the Horse Riding Military Cup. This was a 3-Day event at Episkopi that included the All Island Horse Riding Championships. SSgt 'Cossie' Calabrese endured a busy week with the Royal Signals Ladies Hockey Team who spent a week playing games around the Island. The Girls certainly played hard both on and off the pitch winning all their matches and ensuring that the bars and restaurants in the Lamaca area, especially 'The Edge' will take some time to recover from the teams social antics!

FLS

FLS has endured yet another busy period. We said a fond farewell to WO1 (FofS) 'Hair-comb' Lane who leaves here on commissioning to 14 Sig Regt (EW). We welcome WO1 (FofS) Mick Solomons who joins us from Hereford. He has already brought a speedboat and completed a dry slope ski course so his hand-over notes must have been good. The Troop has been busy supporting the Squadron in most sporting areas as well as finding a little time for some adventurous training. Despite some manpower shortages Troop morale is still high and all are looking forward to some seasonal celebrations over the Christmas period. Earlier this year Cpl 'Geordie' Tonks arrived to assume the position of NCO I/C Line Section. The Telemechs have enjoyed some success with Sigs Kev 'Fat Ginola' Clark, Ritchie 'The new Diamond' Saether, Adie 'Magoo' Stokes and Baz 'Why is it always me' Molloy passing their Class 3-2 Upgrade with flying colours. LCpls Neil 'Gummy Bear' Leatham and Mike 'the Scrooge' Ridley have also been busy upgrading and learning the finer arts of Fibre Optic cables. The ownership of a sick chit seems to be a fashionable item at the moment with all but one member of the Line Section temporarily 'biffed'. This has had a severe knock on effect as the SSM has been unable to use anyone other than Sig ' Why am I always on fatigues' Saether to represent the Troop on every work party. The Mech's have also taken every opportunity to down their splicers and make the most of the Cyprus sun with one or two barbecues. One of this year's highlights was the Tele-Mech's Convention, held by 259 Sig Sqn at Episkopi. Despite only being a handful strong the section managed to beat 259 Sig Sqn convincingly.

F TROOP

The Troop would like to welcome Cpl 'Terminator' Howarth and his family who have recently joined us from the colder climate of Troodos. We congratulate Cpl Claire Waldron on passing her T1 Upgrade and Cpl Richie 'Skid' Rowe on passing his Diving Instructors Course - when are you taking us on a Troop try-dive? (Preferably down at Nissi Beach!) We bid Cpl Andy 'Angry' Johnson a fond farewell as he moves all of ten meters to H Tp.

ALL ABOARD HMS CORNWALL - Cpl 'Boris' Wade sets sail with the Navy

Working with the Royal Navy does have its pluses as I found out when WO (CT) Sheppard RN was able to get me an attachment to HMS Cornwall for two months. I joined the ship on the final stage of Naval Task Group 2000 'East Pacific & Caribbean Phase'. I flew out to San Diego and was met by one of the ship's company who introduced me to the rest of the company in various bars down town! San Diego was a maze of neo-clad buildings knitted together by a mass of overhead wires and streets packed with people. Finding the rest of the crew didn't take too long! I spent the rest of the week in San Diego learning the ship's daily routine, which included the actions on fire and flooding - daunting prospect! Whilst alongside I had a stroke of luck one night and bumped into a Top Gun aviator Capt 'Nobby' Clark USN, callsign 'Ripper'. He invited me on a tour of his ship the USS Carl Vinson. The arsenal of fighter aircraft and weapons on board was amazing. The only thing they didn't have on board was a MacDonalds!

Soon enough we had set sail onboard HMS Cornwall. We headed along the coast of Mexico towards Panama. The views were fantastic and quite often whales and dolphins would swim alongside the ship. My first stop was Caracas in Venezuela and after coming alongside I was eager to get my feet on dry land after being at sea for three weeks. However, I had to wait a few more hours as, on arrival, we were informed by a British Liaison team that there had been 28 murders and 2 kidnappings over the previous two days! Ayia Nappa sounds a safer night out! We headed away from Venezuela after a couple of days leave and I was eagerly awaiting my flight back to Cyprus from Antigua. However, I then received news that I was going to have to stay on board until Plymouth! It did mean that I was able to enter the Miss Cornwall competition, which I won, even if I did have to play the part of Mistress Gimp! (photo withheld). In summary I had an excellent trip working alongside the Royal Navy on HMS Cornwall. All I can say is if you ever get the chance to work with the Royal Navy, snap it up, you'll love it.

Cpl Wade goes matelot

H TROOP

With the onslaught of the harsh(ish) Cyprus winter the more adventurous members of the Troop were once more heading for the Troodos Mountains to put their bodies on the line. With the aid of Cpl Carl Gaber (FLS), the Troop was able to enter two three-man teams in the 12SU Walkdown Competition. In order to get the best out of our Technician he ran with the boss, WO2 Nick Smith and Sgt Daz Middleton, while Sgt Guy Townsend and LCpl 'Days to do' Booth volunteered to show Cpl Rob Forwood the way to do it! Having completed the Cyprus Walkabout Competition SSgt Nige 'Blisters' Francis was champing at the bit to attend but the kids Christmas party will always take precedence (apparently!). Happily we can report that all team members reached the bottom in one piece, although LCpl Booth will undoubtedly be purchasing a different pair of shorts if he is ever to attempt such a feat again! With hardly time to draw breath Sgt Guy Townsend and Cpl Rob Forwood were away on the annual Mil Training Exercise (Ex Mercury Break). It proved to be an interesting experience all round, not least because the RAF have widely differing views on the standard of transit accommodation for exercising troops (long may it continue we say!). Having spent the week dealing with a small band of anti-British desperados (and winning naturally) it was back for the Inter-Squadron Cross-Country and the Troop Christmas do.

12 (SU) WALKDOWN - 2 DECEMBER 2000 - by Cpl Leah Steward

On Friday 1 December, several members of the JSSU (AN) traveled down to Episkopi Garrison in preparation for the 12 SU Walkdown Competition. Alas this meant that we would have to forego an afternoon in the Squadron bar! That evening all the teams met for some last minute carbo loading before getting an early night in preparation for an early morning reveille - 0500hrs. In total there were nearly eighty teams competing. The teams all gathered at registration in order that the officials could check each team for the mandatory equipment and full water bottles. Buses were used to transport all 240 runners to the start point in Platres village. The idea of the competition is to run from Platres in the Troodos foothills to Episkopi Garrison, a distance of eighteen miles cross country. On arrival at Platres we stood around waiting for our turn to start - it was freezing! My team, The Bondu Babes, consisted of Capt Caroline Woodbridge, Mrs Lesley Urwin (The bosses wife), and myself. We had some T-shirts made sporting our team name on the front and our individual names on the rear. We set off from Platres at an even pace only to find 5km down the road that we were all rather warm. After removing our woolly hats and thermals we continued on to Checkpoint One. All told there were three checkpoints. They were spaced roughly six miles apart over some steep terrain. The first 15km passed quite quickly before cramp and fatigue began to set in. As the day wore on we slowed our pace but our spirits remained high. Capt Caroline Woodbridge annoyed us all by insisting on taking photographs, especially during the hilly bits! Our navigation was 'spot on' throughout the day although the safety vehicle at Checkpoint Three misinformed us when they told us the finish was only 1.5km away -it was in fact 4km away! We arrived at the finish elated to have completed the course in just less than five hours. Despite Mrs Urwin's cries of 'I'm never doing anything like that ever again', we have plans for next year! Our hard work paid off and brought a smile to our faces when we realised we had finished as the second ladies team and waited for the presentation to receive our trophies. A really enjoyable hard day in the hills and definitely recommended to any budding long course orienteers.

14th SIGNAL REGIMENT (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)

237 SIGNAL SQUADRON (EW)

The Christmas period proved an eventful time for the Squadron. In ebullient mood that the CO's Squadron Inspection had gone so well, Sgt Mick 'Toothless but Ruthless' Thorpe had pinched Sgt Jez 'You won't get any sympathy from me' Ward's chips and in the course of escape and evasion, managed to fall off a wall, breaking collar bone, arm, jaw and tooth. Christmas dinner had to be imbibed through a straw - hope they were good chips!

In preparation for deployment, members of Kosovo Tp have been on a two-week Albanian Course and have completed OPTAG training in Catterick, as well as ODETTE - and comms training. As Rear Details Tp fondly observe, 'It is with a tearful eye that we bid farewell to our men and women going off to war. Not because of any care for their safety but because of all the work they have left behind.' Sig 'Richy (Unprintable Nickname' Bastable has thoughtfully organized some Troop Go Kartiog in Haverfordwest to help his mates get over the sorrow of being left behind for four months. Don't worry lads, I hear that SSM Tony 'Why didn't I get a mention in the last Issue?' Frost plans to whip you into a frenzy of vehicle maintenance; mil skills and adventure training. On the agenda, (because I know that the suspense is killing you) is climbing and kayaking in the Peak District in June; Bavarian beer-swilling in September; and for the non-asthmatic, 2IC Capt Mark 'How big do you like your peaks lads?' Davies is planning a South American climbing extravaganza later in the year. As the OC, Maj Dave 'Deals on Wheels' Drinkall watches his boys head valiantly off to Kosovo under the proud command of Lt Phil 'Home Brew' Waddell, he tells me he is eagerly contemplating some hill- walking in the Black Mountains with WO2 Tony 'No really Boss, I'm happy with my car' Watters, as well as the chance to focus on his flourishing second hand car business. You did want a plug for that didn't you Sir?

Closer to home and just a few weeks away is the Regimental Boxing Competition. Cpl Seth 'I don't like running' Campbell (SHQ Tp) and LCpl Biggs 'Sorry, I overslept' Hancock are planning to lose 10 stone between them. That's gonna mean no Brawdy Lanes' pizzas lads. Special mention for Sig Julie 'Watch out for me left hook Tommy' Parry as she represents 237 Sqn in the female match.

New arrivals to welcome to our happy clan are 2Lt Liz 'How much AT can a Troopie fit in at Brawdy?' Robson; 2Lt Eddie 'Hammer' Maskell-Pedersen ; in the MT, Sgt 'Yes I really did volunteer to come here' Newton and Sig Russ 'Lambrini' Mowatt all keen and fresh from the factory. Congratulations to Sig Mark 'Boy' Thompson on his wedding and thanks to 226 Sig Sqn for stagging on so that 237 Sqn could all celebrate with him.

It has been an extremely rewarding and diverse year for 237 Sqn; we have deployed to Kenya, Canada - where we got in some excellent AT in the Rockies - and the odd lucky one got to Australia on Ex Long Look. We have had an equally high profile in the UK, attending demos all over the country, exercising on Salisbury Plain and participating in a joint comms exercise with the Royal Navy. However, for Adventure Training opportunities, it's all an our doorstep. With an on-site AT Centre, and the likes of Newgale Beach a mile down the road, Brawdy certainly takes some beating.

16 SIGNAL REGIMENT

EXERCISE INSTANT WHIP 19 – 26 JANUARY 2001

HQ Sqn deployed to the first of many locations led by Maj Bob Taylor. There were no hassles, despite the driving wind and snow of Germany. They were content to have their own personal German guard force, which the CO found were very thorough, not even allowing him on site without an escort from the Echelon. The new members of the Sqn were soon to discover the joys of movement and learn their new skills and drills. The SQMS quickly became a casualty of war so another fortunate soul replaced him who immediately drew up a new set of rules such as tables at meal times are for food not weapons. WO2 (SSM) Baird seemed to lose many an item, which Sgt Andy Hayler was always on hand to retrieve (or did he do it). After visits to Leuth, Arsbeck and Leuth again Endex was called and all returned joyful to camp safe in the knowledge that all had benefited from the experience.

TRAINING WING PRE RSSC/RSJCC 2001 - by Sgt Andy Hayler

After many weeks planning the course was about to start but the inevitable happened. After Christmas the sick chits surprisingly appeared and very soon out of the original !4 volunteers only four remained. The Training Warrant Officer, WO2 Chris Ward promptly asked for permission to cancel the course, and the CO tasked us to organise the course for the following week and with much hard graft all was complete. Then came the students, ready (were they?) and willing to learn. The commands and orders given and the fun was on its way. There were many incidents, one to mention was Sgt 'Where's my S10?' Hoskins, who in a smart and soldier like fashion informed the DS he had mislaid his respirator somewhere in the mud. The mud took a few more victims such as Cpl 'Help me' Appleby, last seen calling for assistance sinking into the never ending mud. The course was a success and achieved its aim and the proof will be in the improvement in quality of the soldiers attending the RSSC and RSJCC.

230 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Ian Lawerence
Sqn SSM WO2 (SSM) Rob Hood

TRUNK NODE 015

Tp Comd Lt Knightly Brown
Tp SSgt SSgt McNeill

Farewells go out to LCpl McDiarmid and Sig Langley to 15 Sig Regt and Sig Joyce to Civvie Street. Welcome to Sigs Patman, Robinson, Middlemiss and Brookes fresh from Blandford!

EXERCISE INSTANT WHIP 2001 - by Lord Bedford

Congratulations to TN015 for an admirable performance on the first exercise of 2001. A whole host of records were broken over the week, but first a few thank-yous to the attachments. LCpl Si Macey, the Chef, well done, Sig 'I don't care' Daniel, Sig Kelly 'Buttercup' Butterfield and the unusual number of Techs. Cpl Pete Burgess, Cpl Lisa Jacklin. Cpl George 'I'll stab myself to get out of exercise' Harrison, LCpl Dave 'Certa Cito' Driver, LCpl Danny 'Sprog' Miller, LCpl Jim 'Sprog' Duffield, LCpl Sunny 'I need a drink' Faid and LCpl Richie 'Spoggiest' Knight. The Node could not work without you.... The Node was run with ease, ably assisted by Cpl John Hall and Cpl Matt Finney, newly promoted to Node Command and supervised by Sgt Scott 'I want the bacon fat and the congealed lard' Day. The Switch crew ran into problems on Arsbeck Training Area with SHF shots. LCpl Nige McDiarmid, LCpl Stu Williamson, Sig Ricky Baron, Sig 'Paddy' Irwin and Sig Scott Cameron were rescued by the heavy mob, Sgt 'Party' Poppa and the Rotweiller, Cpl 'Dinosaur' McMinn. Comedy value on exercise goes to Sig Priest who spent four hours getting a light bulb up in the Admin tent, they don't make EDs like they used to! He was then tasked to put toilet rolls in all the portaloos this he did without question, putting them on those handy little shelves otherwise known as urinals, another record was broken by the Chef, LCpl Macey, who used four pans to make custard. Finally the Admin was run by SSgt John 'The DAD' McNeill ably assisted by his Lordship, Lord Billy Bedford who lowered himself to wait on everybody hand and foot, the Node should be eternally grateful. A mention must go to the QRF team of Sig 'Golden Blanket' Denham and Sig 'I'm putting my jacket on' Langley who impressively always allowed the phone to ring four times before waking. P.S. DAD = Defence, Admin, Discipline...!

TRUNK NODE 016

Tp Comd 2Lt Sarah Pittaway
Tp Sgt Sgt Dean Wilkinson.

TN016 has hit the ground running since returning from Christmas leave. Sgt Wilkinson has taken over from SSgt Coleman who has been posted 400m to the palatial HQ Sqn on promotion. Sgt Wilkinson has filled not only the Staff Sergeant's shoes but also the desk! All members of TN016 (with the exception of Sig Nowell) extend a warm welcome to Sgt Clark who joins us from ATR Bassingbourne. LCpl Vingoe settled into the Regiment by rescuing his neighbours from their burning building; an act dramatic enough to elicit an interview from BFBS that's a slab thanks! Welcome too to Sig 'Felix' Feline who joins us straight from training at Blandford. Fond farewells go to Capt 'Ollie' Dinnis who has gone to 7 Armd Bde; RQMS Dave Coleman who has been posted within 16 Sig Regt, LCpl Tim McGukin who joins 101 Log Bde in Aldershot and Sig Al Cowen who has gone to 21 Sig Regt. Christmas leave was brought to an abrupt end by the deployment on Ex Instant Whip. Our strength was bolstered by the addition of SSgt 'I play American Football' Lewis who joined us from Support Tp and Pte 'Can't cook, won't cook' 'Daz' Brook the chef. Ex Instant Whip provided us with a full spectrum of climatic conditions from snow to sunshine; it was a shame the Yeoman, SSgt (YofS) Faramus, couldn't provide us with a full spectrum of frequencies!

EXERCISE ARRCADE FUSION - 255 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. Burgin
SSM WO2 (SSM) Aimer

The recent ARRC exercise to Wildflecken, South Germany, brought a few surprises for the fitter members of 230 Sig Sqn. The local German community invited the squadron to enter their annual 'Run up the Hill' competition. This described perfectly the 5km uphill slog over cobbled German streets. The Squadron had many willing volunteers and successes! Unaware of their success, the team left the event early only to be summoned back to collect their prizes. LCpl Merrick won his category and Cpl McMinn won the over 50's.

Sig McGukin - Wildflecken October 2000

LCpl Walsh, Sgt Clarke - Wildflecken October 2000

230 Signal Squadron - Wildflecken October 2000
(L-R): LCpl McDiarmuid, Sig McGukin, Cpl Shepherd,
Cpl Countes, Sig Daniel, Maj Lawrence, SSgt Perham
(L-R): LCpl Walsh, LCpl Fail, Cpl McMinn, LCpl Merrick, Sgt Clarke

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Jo Stokoe
Tp Sgt Sgt Cooper

EXERCISE INSTANT WHIP 1

The Squadron deployed on the Regimental FTX with the aim of practising the deployment and movement of its Ptarmigan assets. Support Tp personnel found themselves working throughout the Squadron on either a Trunk Node, SAN Group or with CP16. The exercise got off to a good start when the 230 Sqn Radio Relay, attached to TN095, ran out of diesel on the initial deployment – nothing like prior preparation and planning! The 'no comms' record was set by SAN 882 who (through no fault of their own!) were out of the system for 19 hours! Fortunately, for the SAN GPs, end ex came 48 hours early and they returned to camp leaving TN095 exercising along with the TNs from 230 Sqn. LCpl Bishop worked tirelessly on the generators as no end of problems arose throughout the exercise. Sgt Cooper spent most of the time wondering what on earth he was doing there! Whilst 230 Sqn, who ran the exercise, enjoyed the culinary delights of fresh rations and chefs, 255 Sqn soldiered on with the delights of 'Pack and Go' dehydrated rations. This meant that 2Lt Emily Greenwood could constantly be heard complaining about how hungry she was! Despite these minor problems most people returned from the exercise having learnt something.

MAN TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Jeffery
Tp SSgt SSgt Fensom

MAN Tp would like to welcome Sig Jamie Buyers from 39 Inf Bde & Sig Sqn and Sig Taylor and his family from 14 Sig Regt (EW) into the Troop. Farewells go out to Sgt Dean Royle on his new post at 7 Sig Regt; LCpl Nat 'Klump' Kemp to 39 Inf Bde & Sig Sqn; LCpl Jayne 'Cover girl' Robinson to RSS and LCpl Kerry Sims to 21 Sig Regt (AS); we all wish them the best in their new jobs. Post Christmas blues have now washed over as the busy exercise season starts again both for the Regiment and ARRC. Congratulations go out to Cpl Mark Appleby, LCpl 'Iron lung' Boothby and LCpl Sims on their respective promotions. Sig Kelly Johnson can get a big crate of beer due to her recent prize for contributing the most to Regimental life, she was presented 'The Lord Trophy' by the CO in front of the whole Regiment. This is presented to the person who the CO feels has contributed most to Regimental life and therefore she should be very proud! We now hope that she will soon return from playing sport so we can all see who she is.

SAN TROOP

Tp Comd Capt J. Lucan (Lyons)
Tp SSgt Sgt I Green

Following Ex Arrcade Fusion in Italy, SAN Tp have busied themselves with the rigours of CO's week and RSIT – intermingled with the usual smatterings of Christmas parties and leave. The Troop Commander has found himself working hard on his tan and technique on the cosmopolitan slopes of various European resorts. His hard work (on and off the slopes!) has earned him recent promotion and a place in the Army Championships. In his absence, though, the Troop has been run with the iron fist of Sgt Iain Green, who reckons he will be due some leave on the OC's return....so he thinks! The first exercise of the year saw the Troop split amongst the various guises of TN095, Ech and the SANs. The week saw a variety of luxurious locations, some haute cuisine and a hefty amount of humour. It was an interesting start to the exercise year for all concerned! The Troop undergoes rigorous PT sessions – according to LCpl Buckingham who required extensive medical tests following a collapse after LCpl Lister's 'Feel the Burn' circuits.

ALPINE SKIING 15 NOVEMBER 2000 - 3 FEBRUARY 2001

by Capt John Lyons

Before we even got anywhere near snow this season, the Alpine team already had a clearly defined set of objectives that needed to be achieved. Firstly to retain the Royal Signals Championship before Christmas and then to go on and qualify for the Army Championships in January for the second year in a row. To this end the 'help' of WO2 (QMSI) Bob Price was enlisted to whip us into shape, although at the time it felt a lot more like a thrash. There were definitely a few members of the team who felt that after a session in the gym with the QMSI their arms had grown at least six inches - in length! Nevertheless the extra training stood the whole team in good stead for the up coming competition. It would be unfair at this stage not to extend a sincere thank you to Maj Tony Burgin and Maj Bob Taylor for releasing their men for the three sessions a day.

However, on a serious note, everyone was shocked to hear of the tragic accident that took place on the railway up to the Kaprun Glacier, in Austria, just ten days before we left. Coincidentally it was the same train that we used for the duration of the four-week training camp and championships. This had the knock on effect that we were unable to train on the glacier for the first three weeks of the camp. During the first week we had to travel to the other end of the valley, to the resort of Hintertux - a mere six-hour round trip each day. However, as this was the only resort in the area with any snow at the time it was very crowded and the weather was awful, as such the training value of the week was severely reduced. The following week we moved to the small resort of St Jacob where eventually the gods smiled on us and both the weather and piste were excellent for the next two weeks and all participants took full advantage of this. That said there was time to get out and see places at the weekend, teams went all over the countryside; Vienna, Salzburg and Garmish to name but a few. But just to put people back in the right frame of mind there was a bit of PT. On arrival in Zell Am See, QMSI Price decided to go and explore the town, this included a little drive around the lake. Yeah right, we knew a recce when we saw it. Believe me, a 14km run around a lake on a freezing day is enough to clear anyone's head.

The week of the competition was hard fought, particularly between ourselves and 7 Armd Bde Sig Sqn, although relations were always good natured, they were probably not helped by Cpl Bruce 'Bi-lingual' Findlay kindly explained to a member of 7 Armd Bde how to ask for sausage and chips. The same individual was later heard to ask confidently for 'Bahnhof mit pommes bitte'. The big advantage 16 Sig Regt had was strength in depth within the squad, thanks to a lot of hard work and training from Cpl Richie 'Don't know what your talking about' Turnbull, Cpl Bruce 'Oh to be a Hibie' Findlay and WO2 (QMSI) Bob 'Whose your daddy!' Price. In the end it was this team strength that would carry us through as we won the Team Slalom by more than enough to overturn our earlier defeat and claim the Team Championship. By the end of the presentation evening the team had been up to collect a mass of trophies, medals and other prizes from the sponsors Nortel, treading on the snowboarders sat on the floor all the way. This year we left as the Corps Team Champions, Team Slalom Champions, Runners-Up Team Giant Slalom and Capt John 'What do you mean I've got to pack my own boots?' Lyons left as both the individual Slalom and Giant Slalom Champion. All that was left to do was to return quietly to JHQ with all our things for a good Christmas. Oohhh no that would be too easy, someone had put a full page spread in the Sixth Sense under the headline 'Sweet Sixteen'. Just what we needed in the silly season, crated from all corners of Germany, cheers for that - Bah Humbug!

252 SIGNAL SQUADRON

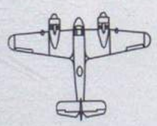
SINGAPORE TROOP – A RETROSPECTIVE LOOK

Singapore Tp has gone through many changes in manning over the past nine months, which has brought a new mix of personalities to the Troop. At the top, the Boss (Capt Graham Blondel) has left us to languish in the sunny heights of Gibraltar and the man who has to fill his big shoes is Capt 'Scotty' Steven. Both Troop Foremen, SSgt Bob Vowles (now with 8 Sig Bde) and WO2 Paul Lewis MBE (now Foreman of Cyprus) have been replaced by SSgt Rob Campbell and WO2 Ian 'Toothless' Outterson. Sgt Neil Walsh and Sgt H. Glean have both moved squadrons within the Regiment, whilst in the lower ranks Cpl Kev Brooker left for 7 Sig Regt, Cpl Jamie Topping went to serve with the TA in Newcastle for three years, LCpl Christian Wood moved to 280 Sqn and Sig 'Windy' Miller went to 30 Sig Regt. Sig 'Grif' Griffiths joined 259 Sig Sqn in Cyprus, Cpl Charlie Sunderland was re-united with Cpl Brooker in 7 Sig Regt, Cpl Tanya Lawrence (newly married) joined her husband in 15 Sig Regt, Cpl Paul Meardon moved across to TM Tp whilst Cpl Dave Hudson left his quiz partners behind and went to RSS Blandford. Lastly, but by no means least, a gifted soldier Sig Ayscough sadly left us to try and gain his five stars at McDonalds. The competent people who have arrived to replace the lost experience are Sgt Tony Ramsay, Cpl 'JP' Philips, LCpl Jim Elkin, LCpl 'Flash' Faithfull, LCpl Dave Needham, LCpl Gaz Smith, Sig Bobby Glennie and civvy storeman Dan Owen. With all this change in manpower and levels of experience the Troop has had to adjust and adapt to new working practices and a varied sense of humour which appears to have been a great success.

252 SIGNAL SQUADRON (BORNEO TROOP)

Borneo (CIS) Tp were once again engaged in a hectic ex period that culminated in Ex Arrcade Fusion 2000. The build up phase was as frenetic as ever with the new OC, Capt 'Herbie' Herbert joining the Troop and immediately searching through his MFO for his coveralls. Also new to the Troop was SSgt Mick Johnson who after achieving such magnificent grades during his IS conversion was rewarded with the task of moving 500 ATacCS boxes around the exercise area. The exercise itself provided great opportunities and YofS 'Stew' Hartshorne needed no encouragement to jump on the roof with a fibre optic cable just as the BFBS camera team started taping. The NETMAN Team (SSgt Martin Abraham and Sgt Dave Cox) made a concerted effort to change their name to the Sleepman Team and they displayed their bedsores proudly. The ISM Helpdesk team also took the opportunity to finish the ex early along with the Staff but at least they were good enough to wave out the coach as they left. SSgt Martin Bain made an angry announcement that he was retiring for good, but as usual everyone ignored this. Life was not made any easier when YofS 'Stew' Hartshorne, whilst demonstrating the correct use of the rifle sling, inadvertently knocked the bung of a water pipe in the accommodation area, what followed made the water scenes in Deep Impact look tame. The YofS would like to take this opportunity to apologise to the hundreds of soldiers who had to be rescued from the Block. Finally, well done Cpl Jim Butt on the birth of a baby boy (see you on deployments now!) and LCpl Kev Choules who, upon being told he was getting promoted replied, ' Yeah I knew I would anyway.'

21 SIGNAL REGIMENT (AIR SUPPORT)



REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS

CO	Lt Col Peter Gillespie
RSM	WO1 (RSM) Al Jenkins

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd	Maj Tom Dean
SSM	WO2 (SSM) Nick Organ

QUARTERMASTER'S (TECHNICAL) DEPARTMENT

This has been a very busy time for the QM's Dept, as well as the preparation for the forthcoming LSI and PRE the following new arrivals are welcomed into the Department: SSgt 'Scouse what accounts?' Deegan, Mr John Hutchinson (ex RLC) and Sig Sara Parker. We also welcome Cpl John Walsh and Sig Helen Best back to the Department after the close down of Split Tp. Post Christmas leave saw the RQMS Keith Merrie take up the RSM and FofS invitation to go Fan dancing, I think someone should have told him the difference between the aforementioned and Line Dancing: Brecon and Pen Y Fan are not really the place for a bird watcher and Blister hopping person to be. Sigs Judge and Fayers are off to Norway on a four-week skiing break. There are some that call it Ex Hard Fall, but I am sure that is just an excuse to qualify for rations and free flights. There must be some military value in the Exercise, however, as the QM, Maj Ken Clark has booked his flight for a week's visit. The writer of these notes, who wishes to remain unnamed, handed his desk over to SSgt 'Scouse' Deegan. After familiarising himself with the camp layout and finding out where each SQMS works came the time to check over the Accounts. The words rats, desertion and sinking ships were all that could be heard as he went off to RHQ to put in a preference posting proforma.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

Troop OC	WO1 FofS 'Ady' Knight
Troop SSgt	SSgt 'Spence' Ord

2001, a New Year, with some members of the Troop looking more like turkeys after the Christmas and New Year festivities. The Troop had a hectic December, what with organizing the HQ Sqn Christmas function, ably led by SSgt 'Darth Vader' Ord. Also, some members helped to organize the Corporals' Mess function and our own 'booze cruise', well, actually, a dinner on a narrow boat in between Bath and Bradford on Avon! Everyone enjoyed the afternoon which led on well into the evening, some more than others, notably Cpl Craig 'Lord Puff-Puff' Marshall and LCpl Andy Barnard with their alternative drinking games. We welcome the following new arrivals to the Troop: LCpl 'Chalky' Whyte, LCpl 'Taff' Jones, LCpl Emma Jones and LCpl Col Cross, all of whom come to us as baby techs, fresh from the factory. We also welcome back to the Troop LCpl Si Lee from 244 Sig Sqn. A sad farewell goes to Sgt 'Billy' Belshaw, who's leaving the Troop for 'Civ Div'. We wish 'Billy' and his wife all the best in the future. We are also saying goodbye to Cpl Rob 'Biker-Boy' Murray who leaves to commence his Class One in Blandford, when he gets better! A special mention must go to LCpl Paul 'Somebody get this horse off my foot' Angelidi, who is currently recovering from a nasty equestrian accident.

REGIMENTAL MT AND GENE BAY

MTO	Capt Pete Griffiths
MTWO	WO2 Dave White

After a long and busy year for the troop everyone was happy to see December come along. The morale of everyone was a little higher at the thought of going on Christmas leave. The generator bay would like to say hello to the new face of Sig 'DS' Porter who arrived last month for all the Christmas parties. First there was the Squadron Function which not many could remember anyway, then the troop had a night out in exciting Chippenham where Cpl Stevie Jay made life hell for a comedian on stage in a club. The next function (day/night) was the LAD function which saw some of the Gene bay lads attending. Then came the rugby match between the Officers and SNCOs v ORs which the ORs won with Cpl Stevie Jay 'getting stuck in'. On the last day everyone had great fun in the CO's challenge with big hangovers. 'Drill' Sgt Andy Hayes, Sgt 'Mac' MacDonald and Cpl Stevie Jay set up the driving stand from the MT. Meanwhile the rest of the lads had some work to do. MTWO WO2 'Chalkie' White completed the forced march, LCpl 'Russ' Russell and Sig 'Shaz' Loftus had to do a BPFA then form part of the team to do the assault course three times. Sigs Greg Ward and 'Big & Daft' Chilvers had a headache after completing some command tasks. Surprisingly enough we saw Cpl Carlton Keyes for a couple of days before he was away on leave again (most leave in NATO).

220 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd	Maj Jim Forrest
SSM	WO2 Dave Giles

The Squadron, having survived a hectic 2000, was released from the mad house for the Christmas/New Year standdown following a fun filled CO's Challenge. The Squadron has had an extremely busy year which had most tempers reach boiling point at some point. However, we enter 2001 with considerable daylight at the end of the tunnel. We have the Corps MAPPS trial to look forward to and yet another hectic year of external exercises. We now have a working hanger, some working structures and hopefully the arrival of some equipment which will lift some heads.

CHARLIE TROOP

Tp Comd	Lt MacDonald
Tp SSgt	SSgt Ezard

Charlie Tp started the year as they meant to carry on with various exercises and 'normal' work to complete until it finally arrived, the month that everyone looks forward to…December! With all the seasonal preparations taking place around us we were looking forward to bringing toys and wearing 'civvies' to work but alas we were to be disappointed as the new Squadron vehicles, changes in crew commanders and CES's were deemed more important. Although disappointed we carried on with the work given to us until finally the 'last week of term' arrived. After the last few months of hectic work a spell of time off was just what we all needed with only the junior ranks Christmas meal and the CO's Day to go spirits were high. The day of the Christmas meal arrived and passed without the slightest sign of any food throwing and made a pleasant change to be waited on hand and foot by the seniors. The CO's Day came and was jam packed with all manner of military and physical activities all of which the guys agreed was good fun. All that was left now was to pack our kit, say our farewells and 'do one'. Once back we had the Squadron Christmas party to look forward to and near the end of January we were 'treated' to a fancy dress party like no other with a few members of the Troop coming dressed as women. Special mention goes to Sig 'Ugly bird' Pankhurst with his rather convincing Lady Boy costume a mention also to Cpl 'Austin' Brown and last but not least Cpl Paul Howe and LCpl Sheena Underwood who helped with the organisation of the party. Although we have had quite a busy period the Troop has not lost or gained many members apart from the sad loss of Sgt 'Si' Oldman, who has moved to Squadron Ops. With Christmas and New Year finished we have another busy year to occupy us with various Squadron and Regimental commitments but in the usual Charlie Tp style we shall take it in our stride.

DELTA TROOP

Tp Comd	2Lt Wadia
Tp SSgt	SSgt Gilbert

Congratulations to LCpl 'Steff' Gibbs on his award for 'Best Tradesman' in the Regiment. Well done! Also Congratulations go to Cpl Dave Heath for winning the Junior Bobsleigh Championships! Nice to see all that time off was worth it! Good-bye's to LCpl Wayne Turner who was posted to 280 Sig Sqn, you'll be missed! LCpl 'DJ' Seymour who has gone to Blandford to do his Class 1, good luck, and finally goodbye to Sig Susie James who is leaving the army in two weeks time! Welcome to Sgt Bev McAuley, LCpl Steve Phillips, LCpl Nick Smith, Sig Al Cowen, Sig Kelly Freebury, Sig Danny Muhl, Sig Lee Pearce and Sig Paul Heywood, plus the others that will have arrived by the time this goes to press!

DELTA TROOP

MAPPS PRELIMINARY ACCEPTANCE TRIALS

At the start of December members of 'D' Tp, 220 Sig Sqn began training for the forthcoming trials of MAPPS (Mobile Access to the Ptarmigan Packet System). 21 Sig Regt (AS) has been given the 'honour' of trialing the new kit for a year, to basically ensure that it is up to scratch before going out to the more lowly units in the Corps! The Troop had to spend some time down at Christchurch, at BAe Systems, testing the kit prior to its arrival with the Regiment. Due to its nature this was very tedious work but the team worked well, kept amused by the Det Comds who constantly insult each other - the nickname 'Pigdog!' is one I recall. Sig 'Marie' Warner got a little concerned when someone from the Defence Procurement Agency tried to chat her up, but she soon gave him the cold shoulder! I must point out that the numbers out at the nightclub on the final night in Bournemouth were exceptionally disappointing, and thus my main aims with the troops training have now changed. At last on Thursday 18 January, not surprisingly a little later than expected, the vehicles proudly rolled through the main gate at Azimghur Barracks to begin the main preliminary trials. Heading up the 3 MAPPS nodes are Cpls Lee Francis and Jim Thisby, and LCpl Steff Gibbs with Cpl Si Hopkins filling in when required. Despite a 'few' initial problems the comms side of life seems to be going well. Unfortunately the support vehicle is a bit of a bizarre design, and hopefully the Health & Safety gurus will sort it out! One of the first main tests for the kit was at RAF Odiham on Tuesday 22 January, where it was lifted by Chinook. This went well, at least for the first node, because after that lift it started to rain so the RAF called off the other lifts. So, it was back to the tarmac for a road move to Barton Stacey Trg Area (BSTA). Fortunately, Lt Murray MacDonald, OC C Tp, had managed to ensure that the ground was already churned up by his LRs, obviously just to give the MAPPS Pinzgauers a bit of cross-country practice. There, (having got his LRs freed from being bogged in!) the Troop set about establishing comms. This took ages due to slight comms installation problems, but the links came in easily enough eventually. Well done to those from the Troop involved for a good first exercise and hopefully the rest of the trials might go smoothly?!

BOBSLEIGHING - by Cpl Heath

It all started in the summer of 2000 when I started to train down at Bath University with the GB bobsleigh team. I was released from work each morning to train, which involved doing exercises ranging from heavy squat sessions to sprint and pushing sessions. Yes, that is pushing a bobsleigh, as we have one on wheels down at Bath! After the selection race in October last year I was invited to represent Great Britain in an FIBT International Bobschool. It was a brilliant experience especially when you think how worldwide the sport is. There were 19 different nations taking part from all around the globe including Samoa and New Zealand. From there it was onto the Army Junior Championships to be held in Winterberg Germany, a track that I hadn't visited before. I got on alright with the track in general and all week kept on managing to reduce my times down, ready for race day. With my 'brakeman', LCpl Adam Grant from the Royal Engineers, we sprinted off the top and within one minute we had won the Championships! After Christmas it was back to Winterberg again for the British Championships. This time, however, my 'brakeman' was a civilian sprinter from the European Cup Team, hence a faster start giving a fighting chance against my junior rival Tpr Dai Palmer. In the race they got us on the first lauf but I pulled it back for the second, not too bad considering my team had only pushed together twice before compared to the two years Tpr Palmer's team have been together. I have now been selected to race at the Junior World Championships representing Great Britain so my hard work has started to pay off!

Cpl Heath and brakeman set off on another run

Cpl Heath is at present representing the Army, Joint Services and GB in Bobsleigh Competitions. He is hoping to start up a Corps Team, so any hopefuls should contact him at 21 Sig Regt (Air Support).

HEADQUARTERS TROOP (V)
BRITISH OPEN SQUASH CHAMPIONSHIPS
OVER 40's FINAL

Sgt Tom Pollard again reached the final of the British Open over 40s Squash Championships held at the National Indoor Centre at Birmingham. Tom, the holder of the title which he won last year, was this year up against a formidable opponent, the ex-World Open Squash Champion, Ross Norman, from New Zealand. Ross entered this event for the first time on reaching the age bracket. Tom was defeated in straight sets 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, however the match lasted for forty minutes and Tom made Ross work for every point. There were many 20-30 shot rallies and when Tom seemingly had Ross in trouble during the rally, the sheer skill of recovery from the ex-world champion could only be admired. There was some excellent squash played to interest a knowledgeable audience and it was agreed by several who were watching that if Tom Pollard could play a player of Ross Norman's calibre on a regular basis, Pollard had the ability and fitness to reach a far higher level. Tom who is a member of the Territorial Army in Bath, is an ex-Army Squash Champion, Wiltshire Champion and has played for Wales on many occasions. In his civilian occupation he coaches squash and tennis at schools in the Salisbury and Blandford area. At the end of the match, still full of adrenaline and typical of Tom's attitude he stated, 'I know what I need: more shuttle runs, more shuttle runs!

Sgt Tom Pollard (left) with Ross Norman
Ex-World Open Squash Champion

SQUADRON BELATED CHRISTMAS & NEW YEAR BASH
by Sig Lemon

The night started in true 220 Sig Sqn style with the transport failing to turn up and the coach money being spent on Taxi fares. Everyone was still in high spirits due to the large amount of people in fancy dress – a little worrying seeing that half the Squadron was in drag! Respect to LCpl Tim 'Talula' Lockwood for arriving fashionably late at the Guardroom looking more feminine than some of the women attending the function. The bash was held at Bath Rugby Club, and it turned out to be an excellent venue. The costs were kept to a minimum, and each individual was given a strip of raffle tickets with some fantastic prizes! Right at the start of the night the raffle was drawn with Sgt 'Are U happy with that?' MacDonald winning a camera. As the night went on people started to become less inhibited and ridiculous things started to occur. Examples include LCpl Tim 'Talula' Lockwood dancing a slow number with the Commanding Officer (enough said!), Maj 'Disco Diva' Forrest, the Sqn OC, giving us his rendition of 'You Sexy Thing' as well as giving Sig 'Lenny' Leonard his first stripe. Congratulations 'Lenny'! All in all the night was a complete success and everyone enjoyed themselves (some more than others, eh Sir!). I would just like to say on behalf of the Squadron well done and a big thank you to Cpl Paul Howe and LCpl Louise Underwood for arranging such a great evening.

Cpl Cooley takes the OC under his wing

244 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj David Bizley
SSM WO2 (SSM) Paul Williams
INTER SQUADRON COMPETITION CHAMPIONS
by WO2 (SSM) Paul Williams

Winning the Inter-Squadron Competition was the culmination of a years work for 244 Sqn. It started with the Five-a-Side football competition with each Squadron entering two teams: first and second places for 244 Sig Sqn. Next came the Regimental Athletics, and with almost half the Squadron (A Tp) on Exercise, it was never going to be easy, but we won it! The latter half of the year arrived and the orienteering competition took the Regiment to Sherewater, in Dorset. It was here that 244 Sig Sqn only managed a Second place to HQ Sqn. Despite the OC, Maj 'What's that in Mills?' Bizley and SSgt (FofS) 'Trailblazer' Todd's massive efforts and fantastic scores they were to be cancelled out by the weak links WO2 (SSM) 'Mind the steep bank' Williams and WO2 (YofS) 'Have I run out of time?' McCorry. Well done HQ Sqn. Next came the Regimental cross-country, and 244 Sig Sqn were back on winning form! A close competition over hard terrain around camp, that went right down to a re-count (where were the OC and FofS this time?) That was it, 244 Sig Sqn were now the Champion Squadron, mathematically we could not be caught. There was still one event to go, The CO's Challenge, and 244 Sig Sqn were playing for pride! Once again a close second for 244 Sig Sqn, just losing out to our main competitors, HQ Sqn. For them it was a hollow victory, however, as the war was already over. P.S. Was there a third squadron competing?

OPERATION AGRICOLA - KOSOVO
Det Comd SSgt Andy Gill

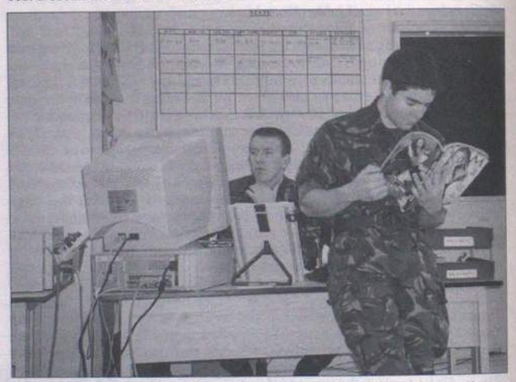
The Support Helicopter Force Sig Det is still going strong in Pristina. The CO, RSM, OC and FofS all arrived in December, but on three separate visits – just like the proverbial bus: no visits for months, then three come along at once. 2Lt Neal Clements came out with the OC and forgot to go back for a month. At least he's got a medal now. When he finally got back and was asked how it went he said 'The parties were good!' At least it gave SSgt Andy Gill a chance for some R&R and the rest a break from his PT sessions.



Stand in Det Comd 2Lt Neal Clements and Sig Tour Guide Young hard at work in the Sigs det

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS TROOP

SHQ Tp would like to say a sad farewell to Sgt 'Charlie' Farley our long standing and well loved MT Sergeant. His 60 a day (expletives that is) will be sorely missed. All the best to him and his family for their future in civvy street. Also, farewell to LCpl 'Geordie' Gough who leaves for Bassingbourne on promotion. We'll miss your bowling skills! Welcome to Sgt 'I've got a Beamer' Moore who has taken over as MT Sergeant.

A TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Bill Holbrook
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Render

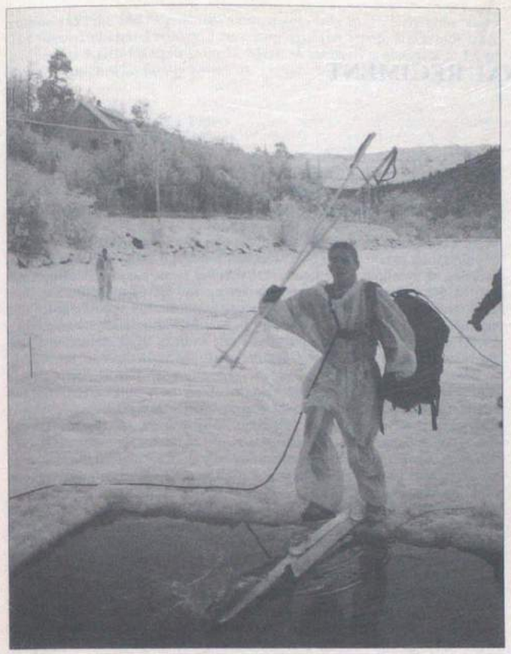
This year started with deployment on Ex Hardfall based in southern Norway. The Troop ran three consecutive Novice Survival Courses for the Light Dragoons while new members of the Troop were experiencing the delights of the Cold Weather Environment previously known as the 'Arctic' care of the Royal Marines and 249 Sig Sqn. The course covered topics such as 'Skiing', 'Survival in the cold weather (-30)', 'Teddy Throwing', jumping in frozen lakes and low level infantry tactics. As well as offering quality training, the deployment also gave us the opportunity to welcome new members of the Troop and say farewells to LCpl Jez 'My rover's in 3-wheel drive' Skelhorn on his way to 101 Log Bde. With Norway out of the way for another year the Troop is looking forward to Ex Ardent Ground in Poland in April.

PLEASE SEND ORIGINAL PHOTOS ONLY



Sig Melanie Hall
didn't see the hole in the frozen lake during his NSSC

Members of A Tp Ski-Orjing behind a BV206 — Snowcat

Alpha Troop hierarchy
Voss SSgt Jack Hawkins, Capt Bill Holbrook, SSgt Phil 'offender' Render— Capt Holbrook is the one in the middle

BRAVO TROOP
Sqn Comd 2Lt Neal Clements
Tp SSgt SSgt Carl Budding
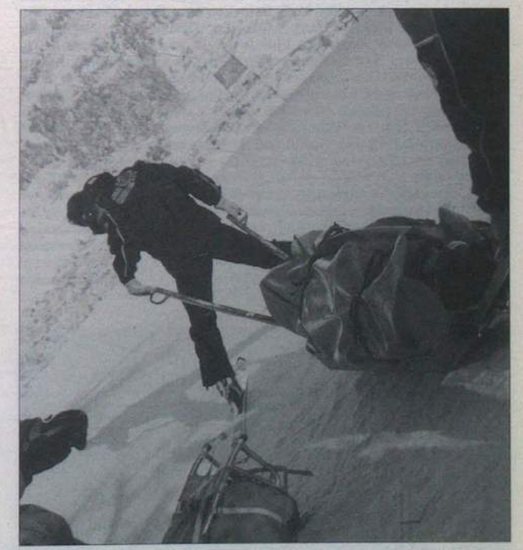
EXERCISE EAGLES FLIGHT (29JANUARY - 9 FEBRUARY)
by Sig Sutherland.

In the early hours of Monday morning, the deploying members of Bravo Tp met for a quick meal before beginning the slow, laborious drive to the wonderful 'Rollestone camp'. Once there, Sig Colin Sutherland could do nothing but complain about how cold and bored he was. He was soon sorted out because he had to deploy straight onto 'Stoke Hill', where one of the two deployed rebros was situated. Also with him was his Det Cmdr, LCpl Colin 'slingshot' Kingshot. We thought we were in for a good exercise: nothing to worry about but the random civvies that kept driving past and trying to see what we were up to. During the first week we had all sorts of visitors from dogs to horse riders. The most interesting visit that we had was from a Platoon of infanteers that happened to tab past our location as we were cooking bacon and egg banjos (they were not impressed). Everything was going fine until I went outside and found out that our fuel had been stolen and we were running out of power. If that wasn't enough the cam net collapsed, a mast broke and six Cam poles now look like horse shoes. As if it couldn't get any worse, it was also raining. We weren't the only ones to have fun. Cpl 'Speedy' Speed has developed a new sandwich, which has become known as the 'Foreman Special'. The events leading up to this strange invention are quite extraordinary. When Sig Tammy Yates asked FofS Todd What he would like in his Sandwich, (the choice being bacon, egg or sausage), the Foreman said 'what ever...'. So Sig Yates gave him the lot. He didn't have a problem with it, (so I was told). Just as the Exercise was drawing to a close, all our dets were back in with the exception of Cpl Speed's. The rover and trailer had become bogged in on top of one of the coldest hills on Salisbury Plain, due to the static nature of the exercise and the constant rain. Luckily, Sgt Gaz Chapman came to the rescue and skilfully managed to remove the Rover from the mud, refusing to get out the tow rope or to use his freshly cleaned Rebro Recce. All in all, not a bad exercise.

REGIMENTAL SKIING TEAM

The Regiment fielded a team of novice Alpine racers this year for the Corps and Divisional Championships in Austria and France respectively. Considering our relative lack of experience, a creditable performance was put in by all skiers in both competitions. In particular, well done to Cpl 'Rhino' Richardson. Bad luck to Capt 'Who put that tree there?' Hale who had a nasty accident in training in France, puncturing his lung. He had to endure hell in hospital being looked after by French nurses. We now look forward to competing in the HQ LAND and AWSA Championships in Aviemore at the end of February.



Capt (You should have seen that tree jump out on me) Hale takes the easy way down after puncturing his lung in an accident

IF DIGITAL PHOTOS ARE SENT THEY MUST BE SAVED AT A MINIMUM OF 400dpi COLOUR PHOTOS. IF THEY ARE ANYTHING LESS THAN THIS THEY WILL NOT BE USED. SENDING A PRINT OF A DIGITAL PHOTO IS NO GOOD!

30 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Mike Lithgow MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) Al Higgins

SUPPORT SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj R. H. Gladwin
SSM WO2 (SSM) Young

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP
Tp Comd Capt (TOT) Tommy Steele
Tp SSgt Sgt Deano Cartledge

It's the start of 2001 and we kick off another busy year with personnel from the Troop deployed in Kosovo, Sierra Leone, Kenya, Falkland Islands, Saudi Arabia, Turkey and Norway. As usual, there are a lot of new faces to be seen in the troop and we welcome Capt (TOT) 'I hate Geordies' Steele as the new TOT who has made the long journey from 7 Sig Regt. We also say hello to Sgt Dave Hansen, and straight from the factory LCpl Andy Clarke, LCpl Craig 'Stan' Standley, LCpl Kev 'Big Roy' Ward, LCpl Stuart 'Pasty' Cornish, LCpl Andy 'Johno' Johnson, LCpl Paul 'Ally' Mc Neal, and LCpl 'Bernard' Manning. However, where there are hellos there are always good-byes and we say cheerio to Cpl Alistair Barnaby Gray, Cpl Matt 'Where's the nearest off-license' Adams, Cpl Gina 'Ohh ahh just a little bit' Atkinson, and LCpl Jaman who have all decided to take a trade refresher course in Blandford. We also lose Sgt Collin Bentley and Cpl Dean Buckley to the training wing, even though they still spend most of their time here 'doing lesson plans'. Last but not least we say good-bye and good luck to Capt (TOT) Pete Gower who has moved on to a cushy job at DCSA, but will probably still ring up requesting SSgt Dean Cartledge to fabricate his ITD results! So all the best to everyone who have moved on to bigger and brighter things.....in some cases anyway.

256 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj J. W. Cooper
SSM WO2 (SSM) Keen

EXERCISE COASTAL RAM DRAGON - by Sig Griffiss

256 Sig Sqn was to undertake a sailing expedition were all comers could get their sea legs, but avoid the golden rivet. Borrowing a Victoria 34 from the Joint Services Adventurous Sail Training Center (JSASTC) we were to see set sail from Falmouth bound for Gosport. Enroute we visited Fowey, Plymouth, Salcombe, Poole, and Port Solent. The qualified crew consisted of YofS Pete Van Den Broek (Skipper), Sig 'Wyatt' Earp (Mate), and Tony 'Meat Head' Malia. Those putting their lives in their hands were SSgt Phil Joyce, LCpl Paul Lyndsay, LCpl Gav Vanden and myself - Sig Dave Griffiss. The weather for the start of the week was excellent, especially for the novices as there was no wind, so we just took in the sun and enjoyed the South Coast scenery. This was improved by stopping off each night to sample some of the South Coast's finest public houses. Although we were sometimes faced with the challenge of getting into harbor and mooring because of the skipper's reluctance to turn the engine on. Yet at the end of the week with a table booked in the skipper's favourite restaurant and time ticking on he was noted for loosing his engine shy tendencies. Anyway as the week went on the wind picked up and everyone started earning his or her money. By the end of the week everyone had reached their targets of becoming competent in their duties as crew. Despite living in cramped conditions for a week, no one had fallen out with anyone and we made the restaurant in time back in Port Solent. Everyone enjoyed the week and we all made our way back to Bramcote with the intention of sailing into the deep blue again.

Sig Griffiss sailing in the Solent - Exercise Coastal Ram Dragon

ALPHA TROOP
Tp Comd Flt Lt Paul Pearce
Tp SSgt SSgt Paul Storey

Following Ex Purple Iliad (see last issue for details), the Troop was involved in the handover of the JTFHQ role to 258 Sig Sqn. With this went a change in pace as the Troop stepped down from R1 to R3 and, for the first time in two years, everyone bomb-bursted away on leave with no worries of a callout. The handover/takeover went very well. What was left of the tented headquarters was set up for the post Ex Purple Iliad turn-round, giving 258 Sig Sqn the perfect opportunity to account for and operate the equipment. The Squadron Christmas function took place in a local 'top class' golf club and turned out to be a triple celebration; the Squadron had just won the CO's Challenge, we had come off R1 and, of course, it was Christmas. Not everyone made it to the clubhouse however, Sig Kate 'Munchkin' Marsh had an early night after failing to remember that it's a marathon not a sprint! Returning after New Year was a shock to the system, things happen much slower on R3. Looking ahead, the Troop is deploying to Sierra Leone in May for four months in support of Op Silkman and training has already begun. This will be the first time we have had a troop level deployment since Kosovo, and everyone is looking forward to it. On return from Sierra Leone, the plan is then to take on the responsibility for TWACN introduction trials within the Regiment before taking on the JTFHQ role again in December. We have had a large turn over of personnel in the Troop over the last few months. We have had to say good bye and good luck to Cpl Brett 'Mr Burns' Grist, LCpl Carl 'Jelly Belly' Ashton and Sig Lea 'Jack' Nicholson who are all continuing the exchange programme we seem to have with N.I. We would like to welcome into the fold Cpl 'Big Mac and fries for six and I'd better have a diet coke' MacDonald who has arrived from 15 Sig Regt. Cpl 'Bacci' Baxter from Krefeld, LCpl Carl 'Stickman' Greenhill. Finally a big welcome back to 'the training wing daddy himself' Cpl Bri 'The Daddy' Rawlings who returns back to the Troop after 14 months in 'The Wing'.

BRAVO TROOP
Tp Comd Lt John Dagless
Tp SSgt SSgt McNair

Just as the Troop was about to indulge in the festive treats and take a well-deserved break we had one more hurdle to pass, Exercise Apocalypse Ram. Apocalypse Ram was a Troop level leadership exercise designed by the JNCO's to put the Signallers into a number of challenging and demanding situations. The exercise program was to cover a wide range of disciplines including military, trade, driving, and command task stands. The weather was wet, the ground muddy, and the instructors merciless.

On arrival at Swynnerton the Signallers were thrown over the assault course twice, then put straight onto an orienteering course in order to warm them up for the rotation of stands that was set before them. With Sgt 'Pretty' Pritti from the Training Wing assisting with the military stands it was not long before the first night stand approached, a close target recce. Having been given orders and prepared for the task in hand the recces began. On arrival at the FRV each team had to make their way up a heavily guarded patrol lane crossing various obstacles along the way. On top of this each member of the various patrols was tasked to take note for their reports that were to be completed upon their return. Notable performances came from Sig 'I'll crawl all the way' McMillan who scored highly through rugged determination, and no one could forget Sig 'I need more bullets' Yoxall's lead in the 'run away' as he outran a pursuing Land Rover. With the first day done, and a warm drink and soup laid on by Pte 'Taff' Edwards whose support and cooking throughout the exercise could not go without mentioning it was off to bed to try and recover for the next day that started with an early morning run. Having gone through a number of stands over the following day it was left to members of C Troop to get the vehicles bogged in on the driving stand, but only after the instructor LCpl 'Pole Position' Stainsforth. Whilst this was going on Sig 'Deadeye' Niven was still trying to hit a barn door having consistently scored the lowest on a variety of SAT shoots. Sig 'Field Marshall' Beerling blew the whistle and his section stood up and slowly walked towards the enemy in a straight line, and Sig Lee Banks decided to give a lecture about his hero the Boss, Capt Dagless. In all the week was very busy with a wide variety of stands and situations. A special merit award will remain with Sig 'Doh' Simpson, who despite being unable to breath after a little bit of derogation PT, could still find breath to profess his view on about anything. With the job done it was onto Christmas leave.

No sooner has the New Year started and already members of the Troop are on their global travels again to Kenya. Following in Sgt (?) 'Scouse' Parry's footsteps Sgt (?) Bri Wilson is on his way to Kenya in support of Ex Grand Prix. His crew in addition to their communication tasks will be trying to beat Sig 'Bronzed' Bowyer in the tanning stakes, as he has been left at home this time. Finally having seen the Troops number dwindle over the past few months a warm welcome is given to Sig 'Salt of the earth' Pepper, and Sig 'Hockey' Brown from 16 Sig Regt. In addition to this, and as postings loom, a get ready to get busy goes out to 2Lt Steve Pritchard who will be taking over the Troop, and a look after him to Sgt Keith Langan from 12 Mech. A farewell is also sent to LCpl 'Gav' Vanden who finally leaves us.

CHARLIE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Lucy Pim
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Joyce

HELLOS

A warm Charlie Tp welcome goes out to LCpl Aaron Garside who has come to us from 7 Sig Regt (via Blandford); and also to Sig Roger Livesey who is fresh from the factory! Hope you both enjoy your time here – get your suitcases packed for a spot of globetrotting!

MY FIRST YEAR AT 30 SIGNAL REGIMENT
by Sig Richie Harrison

For a new Siggy my first year out of training has been unbelievably busy – including three Ops! I arrived at the Regiment in January 1999 from trade training, and was put straight into Charlie Tp. Before my feet had even touched the ground, the Troop assumed the JTFHQ role for the first time. Like most of the others in the Troop I didn't realise how hectic it would turn out to be! At the beginning of February the Troop deployed on our first JTFHQ exercise, back at Blandford and for the first outing everything went smoothly. It wasn't long before another exercise was planned - in the tropical climate of Ghana. The exercise was meant to be five weeks long but just as we had settled into a routine the Troop was tasked to deploy to Sierra Leone, which had just kicked off. We flew into Dhakar, Senegal , and set up a light HQ from which the Staff were able to work whilst we went forward to set up the main HQ in Lungi airport near Freetown. It was an amazing experience; we were based with the Paras, and at times you could hear the firefights nearby. The Troop returned in June and after a couple of weeks leave I took part in the Njimegan Marches. This proved to be very rewarding as the evenings in Holland more than made up for the pain of the days spent marching!

In September the Troop was placed on Spearhead – ready to move 'at a moment's notice'! I was put onto the VSC501 satellite det, but this didn't last long as Sierra Leone was far from over, and we were off again within a week! As the Troop had gained a lot of experience with the JTFHQ build first time round, it was decided that we were the ones to set up the new Headquarters at the Defence Headquarters in Freetown. The tent build was successful and after just one week I returned home, though others followed a few at a time as a routine became established. A year after my arrival and I'm now set to go to Kosovo for a couple of months to work in the COMMCEN. Hopefully I'll get the chance to travel this year as much as I did in the last, and with an exercise in the Virgin Islands later in the year things are looking good! All in all it's been a great first year at the Regiment!

FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF 30 SIGNAL REGIMENT
by 2Lt Pritchard

The Royal Corps of Signals is unique in that it sends its Young Officers straight to the unit where they will be posted, right after commissioning. Having escaped from RMA Sandhurst before last Christmas, 2Lt Laura Smith and I arrived at our new unit on 2 January. In doing so we were the first of our Sandhurst batch to 'meet the troops'. As I had arrived a week earlier than most of the Troop, Capt John Dagless (whom I am to take over from) had more time to spend with me, answering many of my initial questions. Capt Dagless has arranged a schedule to ease me into my new role and visit all the Regimental departments. My first port of call was Squadron HQ, followed by Regimental HQ on the second day. It was then that the CO welcomed 2Lt Smith and I to the Regiment and told us his expectations of YOs within the Regiment. We then met the Adjutant, Capt Andy Coulston, and he gave advice on how to avoid getting noticed for the wrong reasons!

2Lt Smith and I were introduced to the Regimental Yeoman, Andy Campbell who gave us a briefing about the Regiment's operational activities and its equipment. It was then that the penny really dropped just how different Regimental duty is to training. Having been trained at Sandhurst through the infantry Platoon and Company set-up, and concentrated on infantry tactics, it dawned on me that their were now additional trade and technical considerations. So instead of Sword Drill, there is now vehicle maintenance. Not every young soldier aspires to be RSM, some want to be Yeoman and others Foreman or ISMs. As well as left flanking section attacks on exercise, there is also VSC501, plugging up, beaconing up, multiplexing, Ptarmigan trunk bridging... Needless to say I can already see some of the steep learning curve ahead of us in the next few months! Although the troops were mainly absent during the first week, I got to meet a few. I was introduced to some of the equipment by Cpl McCone, and sampled some flavoured nuts and banana bread courtesy of LCpl Gontier. It appears that the current Troop OC has instilled an interest in wooden carvings in the Troop, as he seems to dispatch his soldiers across the world to shop for such items. The Officers' Mess was quiet as so many were deployed, with the main event being the 'garlic bread' debate... why the other members found this funny is beyond me, but apparently Capt Chris Preston did provide some with an outstanding lasagne. I hope to start playing sports, but was put off by seeing the results of a 'warm up' game of football ending in the QM (T), Capt Dougy Wright, breaking his nose and an NCO breaking his leg! At the end of the week, I attended my first Squadron O-Group and left looking forward to an eventful tour in one of the Army's busiest units. The pieces are coming together, but the jigsaw is pretty big....

258 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj P. Deans
SSM WO2 (SSM) Forrester

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS NEWS

Firstly, the whole of SHQ Tp would like to congratulate WO2 (YofS) Pete Goodliff on his well deserved promotion and wishes him luck when he finally decides on a job that is worthy of his godlike stature and gets posted. We would also like to say farewell to Cpl 'Richie' Homer and welcome Pte Nicky Mitchell into his well-worn seat. Additionally, there is SSgt David Oliver the new ISM 'Guru' to greet; he has travelled far to be with us - well at least two corridors and up some stairs. The Squadron Headquarters has started the year as it will probably continue with piles of paperwork and planning disappearing quickly and then reappearing just as quick. The main reason for this was Ex First Run which was the first full deployment of the Squadron since their re-rolling back to JTFHQ Sig Sqn (Oh! how we missed it last year!). We have also been busy preparing for Ex Boron Mercury, where we will be deployed to the arduous, inhospitable climate of Oman (Oh fate, how you mock us!). And then there is Ex Cobb Ring to Florida .... (Well, if it doesn't rain, it pours!)

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Chris Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim Lyons

After a particularly busy last quarter in 2000 Delta Tp are now settling down to the routine of Regimental life. The last couple of months have seen the arrival of Sgt Jerry Baxter and Sig 'DB' Williams from 7 Sig Regt and LCpl John Peach from PJHQ. Congratulations go to Cpl ' MJ ducking and diving' Holt and LCpl 'Ian the grey man' Andrews who have both been promoted after selection on the recent boards.

The Troop recently deployed to Stanford training area on Ex First Run where the Troop was treated to an evening entertainment package laid on by E Tp. It wasn't the same without Dumbo but it was a good imitation. The Troop managed to fit in some NBC defense training on the NBC battle run. LCpl Courtney 'Big and Daft' Watts gave the first syndicate a rare insight into a chemical casualty whilst Cpl M. J. Holt gave a practical demonstration on a choking agent which the sheep later enjoyed. The Troop is looking forward to handing over their Spearhead commitment in the next few months before sampling the joys of the JTFHQ.

ECHO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Jeeves
Tp SSgt SSgt Al Combe

Echo Tp has been pretty busy over the last few months: we've said farewell to Cpl 'Fred' Hazard who has departed finally (to 21 Sig Regt) and also to Cpl 'Jeffers' Ford, who went off over the water to 15 Sig Regt. We've also said hello to LCpl Sarah 'How do I do that?' James, LCpl Chris 'Dunn and dusted' who has arrived from Tidworth and last but not least Sig 'Pointyhead' Dyde straight from the factory back to his home of Nuneaton – nice! Also we say congratulations to LCpl Michelle 'Cilla' Black who gave birth to bouncing baby Shannon in the pre-Christmas period and is now back at work with her Troop.

Exercise Tartan Warrior - The Troop deployed to the Cairngorm region of Scotland, near Inverness, in order to provide an enemy platoon for the lads from 216 Sig Sqn. Needless to say the weather was Baltic and the lads spent most of the time either freezing and wet, or sleeping. LCpl 'Blinkin mick' Allan won the most captured trophy being caught a total of two (or was it three?) times; Sig Matt 'Gink' King got the E & E trophy and was last seen tearing across the hills looking over his shoulder. The week culminated in a final attack being put in by a depleted 216 Sig Sqn but not before Capt 'Mountain Goat' Jeeves led the platoon QRF on a quick four hour clearance patrol - successful, I might add. All in all it was a very successful exercise with the Troop lads kicking some airborne all over Inverness under the elite supervision of the Boss and stalwart Sgt 'Big Gay Al' Barker.

Exercise First Look 2001 – The Troop deployed to STANTA and Lichfield in order to blow out its cobwebs having freshly returned from Christmas leave. LCpl Aaron 'kushytime' Donnelly having by far the hardest time spending his lunchtimes and free time down the local pub whilst the rest of the boys in STANTA had to put up with rations. Comms were established with HMS Endurance and all the Troop dets ... eventually. The Troop also paid a surprise visit to the Delta Tp dets unbeknownst to anyone but Echo Tp; it was worth it just to see the faces of the other Troop Seniors but not for LCpl 'Blinkin mick' Allan who almost got used as a latrine. The Troop spent the second part of the exercise on Wretham Camp for a week of ITD's which went off as expected and full use was made of the watering facilities so that the troop could re-establish its clique.

Echo Troop has a busy period coming up. With a week's adventure training in, you guessed it, Inverness in what's believed to be the coldest week since 1982 (hurrah)! We also have Ex Cobb Ring, a three week exercise in Florida coming up in March, which I am sure will be very taxing, before finally taking over the R1 role in April for a good three months, so hold off the ops till then.

FOXTROT TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Mogs Southern
Tp SSgt SSgt Stu Fidler

Recent times have seen a plethora of new arrivals from a variety of places. A warm welcome goes to Sig Claire Louden and Sig Steve

York, both fresh from the Royal School of Excellence, and also LCpl 'Del' Jackson from 1 (UK) Div Sig Regt and Cpl Paul Roberts from the sleepy hollow of 280 Sig Sqn.

Exercise First Run - After a well earned and much looked forward to Christmas break, the Troop returned to work ready to deploy the mighty JTFHQ to Wretham Camp in STANTA. In preparation for the rigors of the exercise, as much humping and dumping as humanely possible was organized, and by Monday 8 January we felt ready to deploy. Although the backbone of the exercise was the build of the HQ complex, and engineering and commissioning of the CIS, elements of the Troop were lucky to enjoy a variety of other activities. As the other two Troops from the Squadron were deployed on military training exercises from Wretham Camp, we managed to squeeze onto some excellent live firing ranges and also join in on the Assault course and Confidence course. A few APWT shoots were enjoyed, particularly by Cpl 'Dead-Eye' Harrison and along with the odd BCFT and some inventive PT sessions everyone enjoyed a variety of activities. In addition a very successful short PACEX was run, affording the newer members of the Troop some tactical CNR training, enjoyed by all, especially the Ex DS who got to 'bug out' the Dets at unearthly hours of the night. Eventually the day dawned when the exercise had reached an end, and the practice all had put into humping and dumping was put to good use in the recovery back to sunny Bramcote.

The Troop is currently preparing to deploy to Oman on Ex Boron Mercury – another JTFHQ deployment. All are optimistic that it will prove to be an enjoyable trip! On return we will be punishing ourselves with some adventure training in the hills of Wales on Ex Foxtrot Dragon.

250 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. J. Cole
SSM WO2 (SSM) Chandrabahadur Gurung

QUEEN'S GURKHA SIGNALS

RECRUIT INTAKE 99/00 ATTESTATION PARADE

by LCpl Pratap Ghale

A career of service and honour began for the QG Signals recruit intake 99/00 when they took an oath of allegiance at the attestation parade held on 11 January 2001. A total of 50 newly enlisted members of QG Signals were on parade for the traditional ceremony at Gamecock Barracks, the home of QG Signals. For them it was the culmination of more than ten months intensive training since the day they arrived in England from Nepal. The inspecting officer was Brig S. M. A. Lee OBE, Colonel of the Regt. In groups of five, the Signallers donning their ceremonial uniforms topped off with the distinctive and stiff Gurkha hat marched smartly to the saluting dais where a table had been set up draped with the Union flag. With Brig S. M. A. Lee OBE, CO 30 Sig Regt and GM QG Signals looking on and a Pandit in attendance, they reached forward together placing their hands on the flag and in loud and clear voice swore the oath of allegiance, vowing to remain loyal to the Regiment. A smart salute and a quick march back to the squad was repeated in rapid succession until everyone had taken the oath. It was an equally special day for Lt (QGO)s Nirmalkumar Bhattachan, Yamkumar Gurung and Buddhi Bahadur Gurung who were officially commissioned as Lt (QGO)s. Brig S. M. A. Lee OBE congratulated the newly commissioned Lt (QGO)s before addressing the parade. A group photograph was taken at the end followed by a curry lunch in the main kitchen.

Jai QG Signals.

The QG Signals Recruits pictured taking the oath with the Col of the Regt witnessing the attestation ceremony

32nd (SCOTTISH) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col J K McKee MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) Hilborn

HEADQUARTER SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Roddy Sutherland
PSAO Capt John Lynch

REGIMENTAL TRAINING WEEKEND (RTW)

The New Year got off to a cracking start with the RTW at Redford Cavalry Barracks. The highlight of the weekend was undoubtedly the Officers' and Sergeants' Mess Burns Supper. A night of poetry, whisky and song was kicked off in fine style by the PSAO, Capt John 'Crusty' Lynch whose rendition of 'Address to a Haggis' was faultless, in addition the violent manner with which he split the haggis asunder produced uncomfortable noises from the English minority present. The 'Lassies' reply was enunciated by SSgt Marilyn 'Gagoul' Niblock in a style and manner that left all men quivering with shame in their seats. Only the recent demise of libel lawyer George Carmen prevented any libellous law suits being presented to the wily medic. Meanwhile a search party is still said to be trying to locate Sgt John 'Flooky' Flook who mysteriously disappeared just before he was due to present the REME's contribution to the poetry. The occasion was complemented superbly by the magnificent food provided under the supervision of WO2 John 'Egon Ronay' Wren. We look forward to next year's haggis neeps 'n tatties.

THE PIPES AND DRUMS

The Pipes and Drums continue to flourish under the expert tutelage of WO2 Douglas 'Drummie' Smith who was recently awarded both a Lord Lieutenant's Certificate and a bar to his Efficiency Medal. Well done Drummie. Cpl Ronald Mills social piping has been heavily utilised by 33 Sig Sqn to the extent that we believe he is soon to be issued his bushy moustache and 'Terry' Wig. Congratulations go out to Cpl Robert Brannigan on his recent promotion from Lance Corporal.

RECRUITS

Reports that the RRTT have been using a 'super potion' on recruits were given further credibility when a first, fourth and eleventh place were achieved on the most recent Recruits Course at Blandford. Well done to Sig Carolyn Dorian, Sig Sam 'Psycho' Towers and Sig Kelly Ann O'Donnell. After the news was released SSgt 'Dougie' MacDonald scoffed at the idea of a super potion and preferred to put at least some of the credit down to the size of his impressive moustache.

SKIING

Squadron personnel acquitted themselves admirably in the Royal Signals Winter Sports Championships held in Kaprun, Austria, with Maj Cammy Payn, WO2 (AQMS) Tam Davidson and Sig Towers all doing well with planks (or was it skis?) on their feet. The Squadron now hosts the individual REME Champion in the shape of Capt Dave 'Downhill' McBride.

PROMOTIONS

Congratulations go out to SSgt 'Dougie' MacDonald, Cpl Burns, Cpl McInally, Cpl McBride and LCpl Donna 'Kebab' Buntine on their recent promotions.

HONOURS

It was medals all round recently as HQ personnel received yet more honours. The lucky recipients of the Lord Lieutenants Certificate were Cpl Wilson, Sgt Murphy and Maj Sutherland – many congrats!

Why not pay your subscription by Direct Debit?

Ring 01258 482079 and we will send you a form

51 SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj Morna Strachan
SSM WO2 (SSM) Davey Crocket

CONGRATULATIONS AND FAREWELLS

Congratulations go to Squadron Commander, Maj Morna Strachan and Troop Commander, Capt Linda Duncan on the award of their TD and also to Sgt Kenny Lawson on the award of his Territorial Army Efficiency Medal. SSgt Denny McLaren is also congratulated on his well deserved promotion. We all wish to welcome Erinne Bird who weighed in at 8lb 6oz at 12:06 am 16 January 2001. Congratulations to Rebecca our 2 IC. In 2018 she can sign on!

Proudly displaying their medals
(L-R): Capt Linda Duncan TD, Sgt Kenny Lawson and Maj Morna Strachan TD

The Squadron bade Cpl Ian Grant a sad farewell as he hung up his boots after serving over 30 years in the Territorial Army, which was preceded by seven years regular service. Cpl Grant can be seen with the OC during the farewell party in his honour.

Maj Morna Strachan with Cpl Ian Grant
Recounting past misadventures

The Squadron presented Cpl Grant with a 'Jimmy' and his wife Irene was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers from the newest recruit Sig Kirsten Cowan-Smith. The Squadron thanks him, his wife Irene and the family for all their support over the years and our best wishes go to them for the future.

Dad's Army.
Mum's Army.
Kid's Army.

We help everyone connected with the Army.

The Army is like an extended family. When necessary, everyone rallies round. However, when the need becomes more specialised and more substantial resources are required, people turn to us.

The Army Benevolent Fund provides support for soldiers, ex-soldiers and their families when they are in need. But to continue our support, we need yours.

By making a donation or leaving a legacy you'll be providing the 'reinforcements' our soldiers rely on.

Please give generously.

ARMY BENEVOLENT FUND

I wish to donate the following amount to the ABF £_____ ☐
I enclose a cheque/PO made payable to the Army Benevolent Fund ☐
OR please debit my ☐ Visa ☐ MasterCard ☐ CAF Card
A/C No. ____/____/____/____ Expiry Date __/__
Name .....
(your name as it appears on the card)
Signature..... Date__/__/__
(This donation is invalid if this form is not signed)

Please send to: Army Benevolent Fund, 41 Queen's Gate, London SW7 5HR. Please enclose your name, address and post code when donating. For information on making or changing a will, Gift Aid donations, payroll giving and supporting fund-raising activities call 020 7591 2000.

(Registered Charity No. 211645)

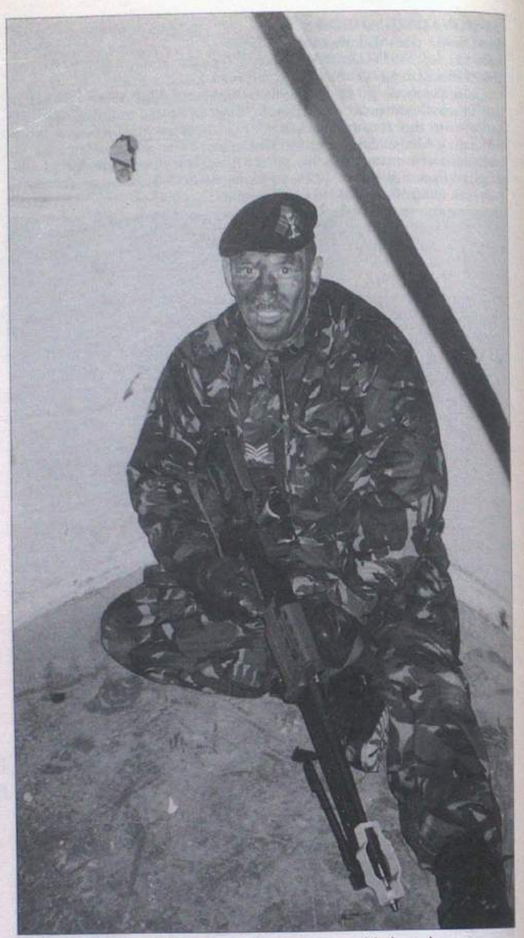
Presenting the flowers
Sig Kirsten Cowan-Smith and Mrs Irene Grant

OBUA WEEKEND EXERCISE : FIGHTING 51st

by LCpl Justin Gray

The Squadron deployed on an OBUA weekend by bussicopter, arriving in the dead of night to an eager enemy. It was a cold misty December morning as the training began. Our first task was to gain entry via a first floor window. Special mention goes out to Capt Linda 'Somersault' Duncan who almost perfected the backflip! In addition, SSgt Dave 'Houdini' Shand and Sgt Trevor 'Bump' King deserve a mention for their special efforts during the weekend.

SSgt Houdini Shand - found at last



SSgt Denny McLaren - Resting on his laurels

The next item on the agenda was to get used to patrolling in an urban environment. We just thought we had the hang of it until the shooting started. The decision was made that we were going to assault the house and orders were given. After some gentle persuasion, the Section started to move and was soon throwing themselves through open windows. When the smoke had cleared we headed back to the canteen for dinner and to recharge magazines and ready ourselves for a Night Patrol. In the course of patrolling the area we came under mortar attack and decided to use the sewer as a means of gaining entry to the occupied building. Many thanks to OCdt Colin 'Rapido' Bruce for that decision. Finally when the battle was over it was a quick trip to the showers before a few cooling ales to soothe the aches away. On Day Two the pace didn't slacken as we ended the weekend with a final assault against three fire positions. All in all a great weekend that is much lamented by all that took part.

Enjoying a cooling ale to soothe the aches away
(L-R): Sig Melia, SSM, Sgt King, OCdt Bruce, LCpl Davidson, Sig Lafferty, Sig Wiggin, SSgt Shand LCpl Gray, Sgt Lawson, Sig Bakewell

52 SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj Donny Gordon
SSM WO2 Karen Swan

The weekend 4-5 December 2000 saw the last RTW of the year 2000 with the Regiment converging on that St Tropez of the north, Cultybraggan or Stalag 14 as it is known to those who have ever been there. The weekend had two aims; to ensure that the Regiment had fulfilled its ITDs for the year and to celebrate Christmas (or TA Christmas anyway) in a sober and spiritually enlightening way. There are no prizes guessing which one of these missions was successfully achieved. Maj Morna Strachan, who conducted the Equal Opportunities training, was taught some ancient East Kilbride vernacular by the more down to earth members of the cream of the Regiment, 52 Sig Sqn (V). The meaning of the word, or indeed the word itself cannot be printed in these notes but for those of you who wish to see the good Major's reaction on discovering the meaning of the word can log on to our Regimental website at: www.tasignals.com and you will see the most toe curling photo ever published on the net. (She is the one distributing rolls). The weekend saw the soldiers' Christmas Dinner, or the Chimps Tea Party to give it its official title, where the Sqn Comds, SSMs and PSIs served the food to the hungry masses. The dinner went swimmingly with the carol singing being initiated and led by the Broken Voice Choir of the 52 Sqn junior ranks. They may not be the St Martin in the Fields choir but you have not heard 'Hark the Herald Angel Sings' until you have heard it from the mouths of those trained to sing on the terraces of Ibrox or Celtic park.

Later that evening an all ranks social was held in the Cultybraggen JRC, or the Barlinnie Outhouse as it is known to one and all in the Regt. Another tradition had to be carried out before the party could really get going. The Officers' and SNCOs' Messes take it in turn each year to host the other Mess for drinks. This time it was the SNCOs' Mess to host the Officers who were out for revenge after the previous year's wallet emptying escapade. The Officers met up in their own Mess, rubbing their hands in gleeful anticipation, before forming up to march purposefully down to the SNCOs' Mess. Their grins grew wider every time their left feet pounded the ground, their determination to reek financial ruin on the SNCOs making them impervious to the freezing cold puddles that they were stepping in. On arrival at the Sergeants' Mess the Officers' momentum was such that a mere door was not enough to stop them as they piled into the main room bellowing their war cry of 'Drink' like a vast army of Father Jacks. The seniors had not spent hundreds of years service without learning a thing or two and had formulated a plan to deal with the officers attritional assault. Using the manoeverist approach and the same plan Wellington used to defeat the French Cavalry at Waterloo, they strategically placed tables around the mess in order to break up the seemingly unstoppable mass of heaving commissioned-dom. This worked a treat with the officers broken down into manageable packets. Maj Donald 'Your're a bunch of two can Dans' Gordon stood his ground and was only defeated when the last, and lowest of the low, cards was played. 'Bar closed,' was the cry, 'Everyone into the JRC.'

Everyone had a great time in the JRC and when the DJ played the Squadron theme tune, Simply the Best, the whole Squadron formed their now customary circle to help Ms Turner along with the singing. The whole Regiment were treated to an impromptu show from the Squadron's own male dance troupe, the 'Pie and Chippendales' Cpl Phil Brown and Cpl Henry 'Dodger' Rodgers. The OC was heard to comment about Cpl Brown's choice of nether garments, 'What is a Rangers fan doing with green skiddies?'

DEPARTURES AND ARRIVALS

A number of personnel have left, or are about to leave the Squadron. We say a sad farewell to our Sqn PSI, WO2 (SSM) Sammy Shaw who is leaving the army after 24 years service and to Sgt Chris Kelly who is also joining Civ Div. We wish them both all the best for the future and hope that a five-day working week will not be too taxing for them.

Congratulations go to Sig Sharon Ferguson on the birth of her baby daughter, Olivia. The OC has promised that her training will start as soon as possible and that the first words out of her mouth will be 'Grid to Mag Add.'

Congratulations go to Sig James Minto on successfully passing a recruits course at RSS Blandford. We also welcome back to the fold LCpl Anthea Purvis and Cpl Gary Ballantyne RAMC back to the Squadron after very successful tours in the Balkans. Finally we would like to say a hello to' LCpl Johanne 'Pearl Diver' Mundie as she has extended her tour in Banja Luka until March. Hurry back we can't find the keys to the filing cabinets.

33 SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col Elton Davis
RSM WO1 Rod Cowan

42 (CITY OF MANCHESTER) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj M. O. Cummings
SSM WO2 (SSM) G. Ward/WO2 Maurice Aarons

EXERCISE REGULAR ROSE

ADVENTUROUS TRAINING (4-6 OCTOBER 2000)

Ex Regular Rose was the first activity of note during the current reporting period. This is when the Regular, NRPS and civilian staff go to do their own thing in some remote and hopefully picturesque part of the country. The task of organising the October Regular Rose fell to SSgt Sam Faulds, the Sqn SPSI. Probably because he had a pal in the training wing of 14 Sig Regt (EW), all and sundry found themselves at Brawdy in the wilds of Pembrokeshire which seems a strange place to hide a Signal Regiment! Hill walking, mountain biking, canoeing and horse riding (the choice of this latter activity had nothing to do with the fact that the new CO, Lt Col Elton Davis, is a rider of note and owns a string of horses) were the pursuits on offer. The two days proved to be great fun and a welcome break from the daily routine of work. Thanks are due to 14 Sig Regt (EW) for allowing the use of their excellent facilities and helping out with instructors.

CO'S COMPETITION - 14-15 OCTOBER 2000

The annual Commanding Officer's Competition was held this year in and around the Swynnerton Training Area during the weekend 14-15 October 2000. A variety of military training stands had to be negotiated by two Section strength teams from each Squadron. These included NBC, Comd Task, Comms Skills, Driver Skills, MT and BFA stands, together with a March and Shoot phase and rounded off with a quiz in the evening at an all ranks function. Unfortunately, 42 Sqn, as the current holders of the trophy and the champions for the last three years, had to relinquish their title to a very good team from 59 (City of Liverpool) Sqn. The day was not a total disappointment, however, as one of the Squadron teams managed to lift the 'Cowan Trophy' donated by the current RSM, WO1 Rod Cowan, for the best team in the March and Shoot.

POLICE POWER

42 Sqn currently numbers ten policemen amongst its members thanks to the pro TA attitude of both the Greater Manchester and the Liverpool Police Authorities. Sgt Tim Mounfield and Cpl Mike Regan, Constables with the Greater Manchester Police Force, are two of the fittest men in the Squadron and they have recently taken part in the annual 'Tour of Tameside', a 52 mile race across varying terrain in the Tameside area of Greater Manchester. The event billed as 'the toughest athletic challenge in the UK' saw competitors travelling from all over the world to compete. Beginning with an eleven-mile road race in the morning and a seven-mile road race in the afternoon on Day One, Day Two continued with a seven-mile (5 up, 2 down) hill race before a rest day on Day Three. Day Four was a half marathon, with the final day, unbelievably, including a five-mile cross-country race rounded off with a nine mile run along a canal. To their great credit both Tim and Mike finished the week with highly respectable times. Tim went round in a total time of 5 hours 3 minutes to finish 166th out of a field of 550, while Mike managed a time of 6 hours 22 minutes to finish 234th.

The Tour of Tameside Greater Manchester Police Team
Cpl Mike Regan (centre left) and Sgt Tim Mounfield (centre right) pictured with two of their colleagues from the Manchester Police

MACKAY TO MANCHESTER

42 Sqn can now claim that they are the first Manchester TA unit to have an Australian Reservist serving with them. Imagine the PSAO's surprise when into his office one day walked a potential female recruit who announced that she was from Australia and a member of the Australian Reserves, who was spending some time in the UK and would like to train with the Squadron! Authority was obtained to create a Squadron first and enable the famous slouch hat, complete with 'Jimmy' to the fore, to be seen in the squad on our muster parade. The owner of the slouch hat is Sig Karyn Forzatti who is a member of 141 Sig Sqn based at Jezzaine Barracks, Townsville in North Queensland. Karyn is a qualified Solicitor who arrived in England in March 2000. Karyn joined the Australian Reserve Army in July 1997 and became a member of 141 Sig Sqn where she trained as a radio and information operator. Although she has only been with the Squadron a matter of three weeks, she marched with the Squadron detachment through Manchester on Remembrance Sunday. She is on attachment with the Squadron until at least April 2001 but may apply for an extension if she finds that life in Manchester beats the sun and blue skies of her homeland!

No prizes for guessing who is the odd one out Sig Karyn Forzatti with (L-R): Sig Georgina Evans, Sig Anne Donnelly and LCpl Samantha Hickson

WINTER EAGLE 2000 (24-26 NOVEMBER)

The Squadron has returned from Ex Winter Eagle that was conducted in the Merseyside and Greater Manchester area. It was a full regimental deployment with the object being to exercise communications at Squadron level. The Squadron task was to deploy TN 031 and four RR vehicles together with a SAN and a SCRA.

The CO, Lt Col Elton Davis, being briefed by OCdt Danny Fenwick on how he proposes to defend the Sqn Trunk Node from attack

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are due to LCpl Dave Curtis who has joined the ranks of that rare beast, a class one TA tradesman. Dave is a technician with British Telecomm and has just returned from Blandford where he was successful in qualifying as a first class electrician driver.

OC Sqn, Maj Mica Cummings, presenting LCpl Dave Curtis with his B1 Tele Op (Elec certificate)

SOCIAL EVENTS

December is of course when a large number of social events have to be negotiated in between the day-to-day work and when stamina comes well and truly to the fore. Kicking off the social whirl, the Manchester Branch of the Royal Signals Association held their annual dinner at the Trafford Park Hotel, adjacent to the famous cricket ground, on 2 December 2000. They were fortunate to have as their guest of honour Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB, who most will remember as a very popular SOinC of recent years. As well as Maj Gen Tony Boyle and his wife Ann, other guests included the Commanding Officer 33 Sig Regt (V), Lt Col Elton Davis and his wife Sue, the OC 42 Sig Sqn (V) - Maj Mica Cummings and his wife Jennifer, and the PSAO - Capt Gerry Whelan. The Chairman of the Manchester Branch, Ron Taylor, gave an excellent speech and everyone felt most welcome. The occasion was marked by a presentation to Maj Gen Boyle. Maj Gen Boyle has taken over from Maj Gen Alan Yeoman as the next chairman of the Royal Signals Association.

Maj Gen and Mrs Tony Boyle flanked by lancemen from 42 Sig Sqn (V), Sig Alex Thomas and Cpl Stuart Green. Chairman of the Association - Mr Ron Wood, looks on

Gen Boyle accepting a gift from the Association welfare and entertainments member, Ian Ashworth Davies, watched by the CO 33 Sig Regt, Lt Col Elton Davis and the Chairman s wife Marrion

STAFF CHRISTMAS PARTY (13 DECEMBER 2000)

The permanent staff of the Squadron traditionally hold their Christmas lunch in Manchester's China Town where the fare tends to be not the slightest bit seasonal. This year the usual excellent food was enjoyed and the restaurant staff even managed to stump up a decent steak and chips for our civilian vehicle mechanic, Eric Lewis, who is a 'scouser' not keen on this 'foreign muck'.

The backbone of the Squadron: our AO Lilian Hall, Senior Storekeeper, Sharon Blythe, PSI Dave Kirk, Civvy fitter, Eric Lewis , SQMS (R), Bernie Meehan, Tech Sgt Taff Powell and FofS, Andy Owen (picture taken by the PSAO)

SQUADRON ALL RANKS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Squadron Christmas party was held on Saturday 16 December 2000, and proved to be a success beyond the wildest dreams of the organising committee. The drill hall was transformed into a magical Christmas scene by the flair and expertise of LCpl Sam Hickson, who proved to be the hostess with the mostest and decorator extraordinaire. A draw was arranged by SSgt Bob Duffield and Sgt Mick Hanna, with some very desirable prizes, while a superb meal was laid on by our very own Delia, Sgt Lesley Ward. A live band had the drill hall jumping and Sig Shezad Abdul Qadir Mukadam provided his own special touch as DJ for the evening. RHQ were well represented by the CO, Adjt and the RSM with the CO making the evening complete by giving the SQMS, Maurice Aarons, an early Christmas present by promoting him to Squadron Sergeant Major.

The Christmas party committee (L-R): LCpl Sam Hickson, SSgt Bob Duffield, Sgt Mick Hanna, Sig George Evans and LCpl Granville Smith Kneeling: Sig Shezad Mukadam and Sig Sharon Montgomerie

COAST – TO - COAST WALK

In the last issue of The WIRE we reported on the coast-to-coast charity walk undertaken by members of the Squadron from St Bees in Cumberland to Robin Hoods Bay in North Yorkshire, a distance of 200 miles, which they covered in only ten days. As with any sponsored event, it is almost as difficult to collect the sponsor money in as it is to carry out the activity. However, the money has now been safely gathered in and a cheque presented to the charity concerned. The picture shows the PSAO, Capt Gerry Whelan, and SSgt 'Rooster' Coburn, who both took part in the walk, presenting the cheque to Sister Aloysius the Principal of Francis House Children's Hospice. Francis House in Didsbury, Manchester is part of the Rainbow Family Trust and cares for children with a short life expectancy. It was opened by Princess Diana ten years ago and takes children from all over the North West of England. The Squadron has had an affiliation with Francis House through a former SQMS, SSgt Tommy Smith, whose niece was a patient there.

Sister Aloysius flanked by Captain Gerry Whelan and SSgt Rooster Coburn

PROMOTIONS

The Squadron did very well on the promotion boards held just before Christmas and would like to congratulate the following Squadron members on their success:

Dave Titheridge promoted to Major and appointed OC 80 Squadron.
Maurice Aarons promoted WO2 and appointed SSM 42 Squadron.
Bob Duffield promoted Staff Sergeant.
Duncan Anderson promoted Sergeant.
Harold Griffiths promoted Corporal.
Andy Connell promoted Corporal.
Paul Bennison promoted Corporal.
Dave Curtis promoted Corporal.

AU REVOIR

Finally we say a sad goodbye to WO2 (SSM) Graham Ward, our Sqn Sgt Maj, who retired from the TA at Christmas after many years of good service. Graham will be remembered as a Squadron stalwart and as a person of great good will whose tour as our SSM raised moral considerably. Although, he could be a tough disciplinarian when necessary, he was a Father figure to many young TA soldiers and was always approachable and patient. Graham is a senior manager with British Telecommunications and he will retain close links with the Squadron through his wife, our senior chef, Sgt Lesley Ward. Although this is au revoir, it is not farewell, as we will see Graham at his official dining out from the Squadron in February.

59 (CITY OF LIVERPOOL) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj Chris Heaton
SSM WO2 Bob Paterson

LT PAUL KNIGHT RETURNS FROM KOSOVO

Lt Paul Knight returned recently from a 6-month tour of duty in Kosovo on FTRS. Now back commanding Radio Tp and also as OC Regimental Recruit Training Team. Lt Knight found his time in Kosovo enjoyable and a real eye opener.

Lt Paul Knight waiting for take-off (Well that's what he said)

DO NOT ASK FOR THE RETURN OF PHOTOS AS THIS IS NOT ALWAYS POSSIBLE

COMMANDING OFFICER'S COMPETITION

One of the Squadron teams ably led by 2Lt Jo Down were victorious in the CO's Competition this year. This is the first time the Squadron has won this annual competition. The competition consists of various military stands covering all basic training and some surprises.

The assault course holds no fear for this intrepid team

RECRUITS ON PARADE

Our new recruits are welcomed with open arms
(L-R): Jeanette Hazel, Craig Bennet, Angela-Louise McQueen, Mark Lowe, Karen Shaw and Janette McManus

34 (NORTHERN) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col I. D. Westerman
RSM WO1 (RSM) M. J. P. Anderson

The news can finally be heralded, the WO1 (RSM) 'Norman' Yarwood has finally been dragged 'kicking and screaming' across to 'Civ Div' taking the small art gallery that was his office with him. The Regiment would like to take this opportunity to wish him and his wife all the best for the future. The Adujtant, Capt 'Dave' Wilson suddenly became efficient and ..... actually here. It was only when he peeked from behind an 'in' tray as high as an elephant's eye that we noticed that we actually had a new Adjutant. Also welcome to the new RSM, WO1 (RSM) 'Mark' Anderson and, the originally nicknamed, Capt 'Scottie' Scott. It is hoped that you and your families or partners have a rewarding tour in Brambles Farm.

The recruiting drive in preparation for the TA Open Day has begun in earnest with the CO, RSM and other key Regimental personalities heavily involved. Within the build up process, and as team leader for the Tees Valley County Employers Liaison Team, the CO found himself standing in front of a 50ft advertising truck in Stockton on Tees. The purple truck is being used as part of a national campaign to draw the attention of business people to the need for their support to the Reserve Forces personnel who work for civilian firms and businesses. On its journey around Teeside, the truck called in at NTL's headquarters in Stockton. LCpl Emma Higgins, who is employed by NTL as a customer services representative, was in attendance with her boss Bill Bates, Area Managing Director of NTL.

Lt Col Westerman - CO 34 Sig Regt with LCpl Emma Higgins and her civilian boss, Bill Bates, Area Managing Director of NTL

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Alan Watts
SSM WO2 (SSM) Turrington

SQUADRON ADVENTUROUS TRAINING

Adventurous training in the TA is not always as simple as it sounds – and the year 2000 was no exception for HQ Sqn. A new Sqn Comd, a new SSM and new SQMS – all discovered at around the same time that no one had booked a training area for the annual adventurous training event. After the initial panic, heads were replaced and a serious effort made to ensure that our soldiers did not miss out because of management drift. Eventually, with time getting short, a lifeline was thrown by a Keswick adventure company which, for a reasonable price, would provide a series of arduous and team building events over a weekend. Sgt 'Kev' Black, one of our PSIs, took the Sqn Comd, Maj 'Taff' Watts, to Keswick to discuss terms – after which the task of organising the event and accommodation was given to Sgt Black. In typically wet Lake District weather, 24 members of the Squadron set off to the campsite. Admin support was provided by a willing and able team led by SSgt Ian Cairnes and Sgt Bob Silk who cooked, drove and in every sense supported the more junior soldiers so that they could concentrate on their arduous activities. The next day brought a fine and sunny day. Up early for breakfast and then off into Keswick to meet the hosts. The training company provided four extremely well organised activities over the weekend – canoeing, climbing wall, mountain biking and ghyll scrambling. The participants could take part in as many activities as they wished, the only requirement being that they participate in at least three. The social gathering on Saturday night in a nearby pub (well done Sgt Black) was enjoyed by all, but with WO2 (SSM) Turrington ensuring that everyone got back to bed on time and in one piece. Sunday morning arrived and heads were a little clearer, after a hearty breakfast and a long walk in the countryside and lunch. Tents were cleared and all were returned to the delights of Middlesbrough.

49 (WEST RIDING) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Dave Sixsmith
SSM WO2 (SSM) Holdstock

SQUADRON CHRISTMAS FUNCTION 15 DECEMBER 2000

The Squadron personnel proceeded to Hull TAC for a well earned Christmas Bash on the Saturday evening, but not before the WO2 (SSM) Holdstock had them running around Beverly Westwood with all sorts of funny little objects in order to justify the evenings festivities. Cpl Andy Oxley even had to delay the purchase of some bunting so that he could take part in the 'fun'. The Squadron took a step back in time to join medieval jousting knights, court jesters and serving wenches at their annual Christmas bash organised by 745 Tp in Hull. The OC, Maj David 'I've got a large one' Sixsmith cut a dash as Blackadder, complete with a rather large codpiece. There was even a guest appearance by the Brigade Foreman, WO2 (FofS) Pete Stowell, in tights and buckled shoes, leaving him open to Corps bribery. Jesters abounded in all colour, shapes and sizes, with Sig Ben 'lightweight' Evans and Sig Ross 'heavy weight' Pemble being at opposite ends of the spectrum. Entertainment for the evening was started with Troop OC, Capt Ruth Middleton–Powell giving everyone a rendition of Michael Flatley's River Dance (which was dramatically improved due to alcohol intake). This was quickly followed by Sgt Alexander's rendition of 'Superman' (admittedly not very medieval) and Sigs Pemble and Stead's 'Music Man', which was anything but. On the whole the evening was a roaring success, with less complaints from the neighbours than usual!!! – We were obviously slacking in our old age!

Cpl Bam Bam Blakey
A Thorn between two Roses being LCpl Bertuzzi and Cpl Bedford

50 (NORTHUMBRIAN) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Graham Jennings
SSM WO2 (SSM) Middleton

A warm welcome goes out to the following new members of the Squadron: SSgt Gaz Steel, who joins us as the new SPSI, hopefully here to stay a little longer than the last few! Also a large welcome to Capt Dave Edwards, who joins us from 49 Sqn (V), taking over the Second in Command position. We have to say farewell to a number of personalities as well: SSgt Greg Sharp, temporarily with us as the SPSI, before moving to Leeds. SSgt John Howe, missing the winter months of the Balkans, has left for another FTRS tour, this time to Kosovo – safe tour and see you in July. SSgt Pat Bell has at last been prized away from Debdon Gardens and leaves us on promotion to WO2 (RQMS) (V) alongside the Regular WO2 (RQMS) Richie Bell and a nice cushy billet in RHQ – suppose 'Ding and Dong' is too obvious! Finally, last but not least, Cpl Paul Robinson has left the Squadron, posted to sunny Catterick. Of all the PSIs we have had the pleasure of hosting over the last few years, Paul was one of the most popular and will be sorely missed. Congratulations go to, in addition to WO2 (RQMS) (V) Bell, Sgt Gary Fletcher on promotion and he now makes that long walk up stairs to the Sergeants' Mess. As mentioned briefly in the last offerings of this publication a more formal congratulation and big slap on the back should go to Sgt 'Cliffy' Readshaw who was promoted at Queen Elizabeth Barracks, Strensall during the Regimental Christmas weekend.

OC 50 Sqn congratulates Sgt Readshaw, who on his promotion was heard to say, They told me it was only mess kit I would need!

In memoriam – readers will be saddened to learn of the death of Ex-WO2 (YofS) Alan Tibbett on 19 January 2001. He was a strong supporter of the local Royal Signals Association. Alan was a regular attender at mess functions and will be sadly missed by members of both messes.

On a sporting note, Lt Jez Bailey continues to represent the Regiment in the 2 Div Orienteering league, ably supported by the 49 Sqn (V) duo of SSgt (A/FofS) Ian Middlemiss and Sgt 'Ginge' Davey. The season is now in full swing, six events having already taken place and the Regimental Team is on course to reclaim the 2 Div TA League Championship. Fellow runners watch this space.

90 (NR) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)
Sqn Comd Maj Richard Lenton
SSM WO2 (SSM) Ward

EXERCISE 'COMPETITIVE CHRISTMAS'
by WO2 (SSM) Ian Ward

Christmas comes but once a year and with it is always the annual Regimental Christmas Weekend. This year the administration and organisation was the responsibility of 90 Sqn. Historically the event is normally centred around a team competition with a mix of military and non military activities. It was decided that this year's competition would be held at Queen Elizabeth's Barracks, Strensall and would be centred around a number of sports events and only one activity of a military nature - the dreaded assault course competition. The Competition began in earnest on Saturday with the preliminary rounds of the football and the final to be played in the afternoon. Each game was highly competitive and there were some memorable performances additionally there were some less memorable ones namely the SSM of 90 Sqn, WO2 (SSM) Ian Ward missing two penalties at crucial times in the competition. The football was interspersed with the Rugby 7's and apart from some dodgy refereeing decisions from SSgt 'Shaun' Fleming (it's a brave man that disallows the RSM's only try) all the games were played in good spirits surprisingly. Many competitors had never played their selected games before and the results remained astonishingly even.

'Hell hath no fury like a Goal Attack scorned'

Running concurrently in the warm gym throughout the day, were basketball, netball, and 'shinty'. These all proved to be fiercely contested and far more contact in the supposedly non-contact sports than was visible on the Rugby or Football pitches. The ladies became quite brutal at times and many male competitors limped off to lunch ruing their earlier 'all girls are softies' attitudes after the mornings battles. The sporting part of the day was concluded by a 5km cross-country run in the afternoon (or Bog Snorkeling as we would like to put it). After SSgt 'Gary' Jowers had attempted to drown the Regiment on his specially selected cross-country course the teams finished with just one point separating 49 and 90 Sqns at the top of the Leader board and 50 and HQ Sqn following just behind.

After the cross-country, it was a quick shower and into uniform for the Regimental Christmas Carol service held in the gym. Maj (QM) 'Les' Wood, the Training Major, Maj 'George' Whyman and The RSM conspired to drown the rest of the regiment out with their close harmony descants and accapello humming but were foiled by some loud flatness emanating from the direction from WO2 (RQMS) 'Richie' Bell. The remainder of the evening's festivities included the Junior Ranks Christmas Dinner (the normal tradition for this event is for everyone to be in fancy dress). This was served by the Officers and SNCOs and lead into the All Ranks Christmas Social where everyone could reminisce about the day's activities, the tackles, the goals and the near misses over a glass of beer or two (or maybe a few more in some cases).

Sunday morning came round all too quickly judging by the number of people who were looking the worse for wear. It had been decided to allow sufficient time for the competitors to recover from the efforts of the day before but there was inter mess football and netball events for those with a stronger constitution. This was followed by an extremely popular tug of war competition with both male and female teams taking part. It was evident from the start that the whole competition could be won or lost on this one event. After much shouting and screaming from participants and the crowd alike the event was won by 90 Sqn leading into the final competition with 49 and 90 Sqn on equal points. The culmination of the whole weekend was the assault course competition with a difference! Eight team members from each Squadron from the OC through to Signaller (typically one from each respective rank). 'All or nothing' was the key phrase for this event and tactics were going to prove decisive not to mention fitness and stamina. This event once again went to 90 Sqn thus leaving them the overall competition winners. Congratulations all round, especially 90 Sqn (what would we have done without the girls!) and commiseration to the others – better luck next year.

KEEP IN TOUCH – PUBLISH IT IN THE WIRE

35 (SOUTH MIDLAND) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

XXXV

CO Lt Col S. J. Potter, TD
RSM WO1 (RSM) J. T. Cauldwell

BACK ON TRACK

Following what can only be described as an enjoyable, relaxing and rejuvenating block leave it felt good to return to the hustle and bustle of daily life in a busy TA Regiment. Life felt good as I was also enjoying the benefits of a generous tax rebate and my recent travel claim was higher than expected so I bought myself a late but expensive Christmas present. I personally felt invigorated because there was a lot to do and it was almost gratifying to find that many areas of administration and operation within the TA Centre required my personal attention. Feeling surprisingly energetic, I set about the somewhat daunting task of reviewing and refining critical management procedures and was determined to seek improvements at any cost – this was my new year resolution.

Fortunately the remainder of the permanent staff could understand my concerns, after all our good reputation was at stake as sound administration provides us with the foundation for operational efficiency and subsequently encourages retention, which not surprisingly is one of the CO's key objectives for the new training year. With that thought firmly implanted in the grey matter I turned to the paperwork that had accumulated during our long break and started a methodical examination of the 'First Sight File'. This was essential but not riveting viewing and I resigned myself to the fact the my major review had to be placed on temporary hold until I surveyed the remains of what seemed like a tropical rain forest. I then stumbled across something that haunts me on a regular basis; the dreaded acidic missive from the Adjt remonstrating that once again some vital deadlines had failed to be met - he was clearly on the warpath! I slumped in my chair feeling my initial enthusiasm drain as I wrestled with my memory banks trying to remember what I had forgotten to do because (like the Government) I often confuse deadlines with guidelines. The pre-Christmas close down was something of a blur and the only deadlines that sprung to mind were those experienced by Railtrack and the silence I usually experience at the end of a telephone!

To cap it all while I was confronting this problem I received a call from the FSA telling me he overpaid me and wanted some cash back – now I'm just waiting for a call from the Inland Revenue to really make my day. By now I was consumed with guilt and remorse and was beginning to feel a little insecure. Even though my thought process had been derailed I made a mental note that part of my review was to ensure that in future we met all deadlines, guidelines and to toe the party line and to reassure RHQ that their concerns were being taken seriously. Comforted by this thought I continued toiling patiently through the mail folder and came across a very interesting directive from HQ LAND explaining how to recognise the symptoms of dyslexia. As I read on I was astounded by the revelation that one of the clearest indications of dyslexia was a failure to meet deadlines – the burden of guilt was lifted, we are all simply suffering from corporate deadline blindness! Now that I am back on track I've just got to convince the Adjt!!

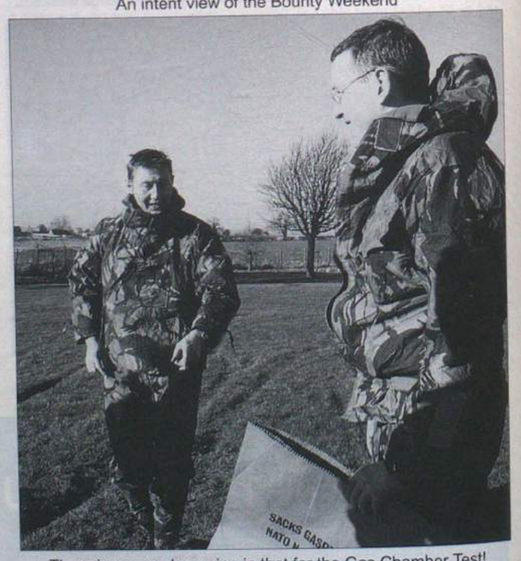
REGIMENTAL ROUND-UP

Post Christmas is traditionally a quiet time throughout the Regiment which is my explanation for the lack of submissions to The WIRE by other Squadrons, but as I surveyed the training calendar I noted that a number of interesting activities have taken place that cannot go unreported.

January and February did see a welcome return to basics as far as maintenance (yes it's back with a vengeance) with all Squadrons determined to put right the second line inspection observations. Running in parallel with this a combined team from the MT and LAD was equally determined to improve both vehicle maintenance and documentation throughout the Regiment under the guise of Ex Silver Spanner. This exercise was the brainchild of the MTWO, WO1 Mick Doherty and the LAD SPSI, SSgt Geordie Ord, and by all accounts has proved to be hugely successful not least for Cfn Paul Kane who, after making a welcome return to the TA after a two year absence, has finally got paid and will soon have his former rank and trade restored. Many observations have been raised that have resulted in major improvements of both the operational availability of vehicles and the back up documentation procedures consequently we can now all look forward with some confidence to a series of successful PRE's . A simple case of we are all right now and so are the Jacks. Elsewhere many Squadrons were addressing outstanding ITD issues to meet the first Bounty run in April.

An intent view of the Bounty Weekend

The Butt Party



There is no way I m going in that for the Gas Chamber Test!

No doubt motivated by the reported significant increase in bounty payments a surge of Bounty training has taken place resulting in Certificates of Efficiency appearing in RHQ before the end of January for early publication, which is something of a record. It is also encouraging to note the record passes in recognition training. Ex Last Chance but one was the first of these organised training sessions that took place during the weekend 13/14 January at Bramcote courtesy of 30 Sig Regt. This was a joint HQ Sqn/LAD/89 Sqn training exercise expertly organised by Sgt (DB) de Burgh who took the opportunity to remove himself from the tidiest office competition with his nearest competitor SSgt Dave Arnot to return to his natural home on the range. He even managed to coerce the catering staff at Bramcote to provide all meals over the weekend including two early breakfasts. This clearly contributed to the success of the weekend because all attendees were well fed, armed and motivated but not I hasten to add extremely dangerous. Those who attended, who were visibly relieved at completing their remaining ITD's, took great satisfaction and comfort in the fact that their training bounty was now secure except for one or two re-runs on the CFT. Cpl Sue Joyce in particular was disappointed by her performance but her stoic acceptance of this and determination to complete the run and to re-attempt the CFT was admirable and without doubt will ensure she receives her bounty on time. By contrast Cpl Angus Hamilton from the LAD was delighted as this weekend marked his last training weekend with the TA before he joins the commissioned ranks of the RAF. He was particularly pleased that he now qualifies for his final bounty although unknown to him he had already qualified through his attendance on Ex Western Approaches (sorry Angus). Next we saw a repeat of the hugely successful CO's management weekend, Ex Silver Outlook at Leek Training Camp during the weekend 26-28 January. Once again the CO reinforced and reasserted his key objectives that embraced Recruiting, Retention, Communication, Training and Opportunity and left no one in doubt as to their significance in ensuring the efficient and quality management of both manpower and resources and how that was to be achieved. The weekend as in the previous year involved interesting syndicate work that produced imaginative, stimulating and thought provoking presentations. Some of which will no doubt bear some influence on the imminent Training Directives. Saturday night saw the usual social get together of the Regimental Officers and SNCO's where a frank exchange of views of who could drink the most and sing the most insulting song also took place throughout what was a very pleasant evening.

The highlight had to be the RSM's humorous but thoughtful farewell speech in which he tried to enlist the CO into the Regular Army. Happily he soberly declined the offer. Sunday morning saw the final syndicate presentations that were remarkably succinct despite the early hours sing a long. This was followed by a combined Regimental Officer's and Senior NCO's photograph, copies of which I am assured are in the post. Following this we packed up and dispersed to our home TAC's armed with several ideas and challenges that could now be put to good practice and confronted with confidence. I almost forgot to mention that two budding PR officers in the shapes of Capt David Brough and Dave Tarrant by a happy coincidence managed to secure themselves an invitation to Central TV on Saturday 26 January. They were treated to a grand tour of the TV studios, including everything that happened behind the scenes that proved most enlightening. This visit was organised by the West Midland RF&CA and has managed to provide the Regiment with some useful contacts (including the Editor of Central News – the Holy Grail) that could help our recruiting efforts in the future. Dave Tarrant's claim to fame is that he also managed to sit behind the illustrious News Desk but thankfully was removed before the live broadcast – anyway it would have taken them days to put the makeup on!

Capt Dave Tarrant and his claim to fame!

ON THE MOVE

Once again the Regiment has seen one or two personality changes recently and we have just said farewell to WO1 (RSM) 'Geordie' Marshall who leaves the Regiment on posting to Sierra Leone. We have also extended a very special welcome to his replacement WO1 (RSM) Yogi Cauldwell and family and wish them a happy, fruitful and rewarding tour with the Regiment. For his last six months service we have also welcomed Sgt Gary Smith to Mike Tp. Meanwhile in Rugby, 89 Sqn have extended a traditional TA welcome to Capt Tom Jeffries who joins the TA fresh from the Regular Army and will fill a long vacated Troop Comd appointment. Elsewhere we bade a particularly sad farewell to two PSAO stalwarts. Capt Dennis Hawksford leaves 95 Sqn on normal retirement to his Farm near Shrewsbury and we have welcomed his replacement Capt Alex Rodgers. Capt George Cairns leaves 48 Sqn on early retirement. Their contribution over the years to the life and soul of the Regiment and their respective squadrons was significant and we wish them both a pleasant, peaceful but active retirement. Shortly we also say farewell to WO2 (FofS) Pete Stowell who leaves the Regiment on posting and promotion to 15 Sig Regt in March. We would like to take this opportunity of extending the congratulations of all members of the Regiment on his recent selection for his well deserved promotion to WO1.

Handover/Takeover of RSM

CONGRATULATIONS

A very special congratulation is also extended to Mr John Barker a former member 48 Sig Sqn who has also served jointly as their caretaker for 27 years. In recognition of this remarkable, dedicated and devoted service he was awarded the Imperial Service Medal. The CO, Lt Col Stephen Potter, presented the award to John at a special ceremony held at Sparkbrook TA Centre on Tuesday 16 January.

VISIT OF COMMAND 143 BRIGADE

On Tuesday 13 February, 89 Sig Sqn welcomed the Commander 143 Bde Brig Andrew Meek on a formal visit to the Squadron. The Commander was met by the OC, Maj Steve Pell, and was then given a full Squadron Brief. Following the formal briefings the Commander was given a guided tour of the Squadron and viewed a variety of training that was taking place. Here he met many members of the Squadron and shared one or two humorous exchanges particularly with our resident comedian SSgt Charlie Walker who, keen to show the Brigadier how successful he was at boiling rice, put his foot in it instead! This successful visit ended with the Comd being entertained by all ranks in the Squadron Club

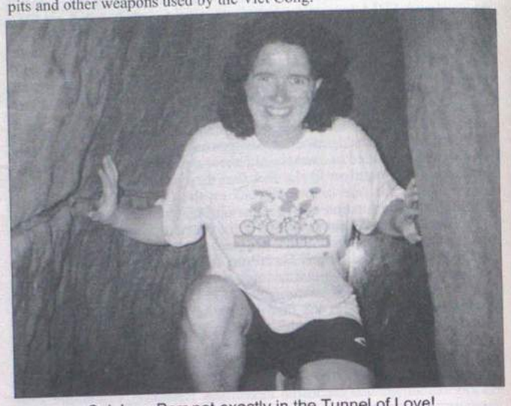
Sgt Mick Bell tryin to divert the Comd from enjoying his food!

The Commander with the OC 89 Squadron

NSPCC CYCLE RIDE

The Regiment continues its fund raising efforts in a variety of guises and it was pleasing to receive the following report from 58 Sqn, which highlights Cpl Jean Parr's magnificent efforts in raising £800 for the NSPCC. Cpl Jean Parr set off for Thailand in November last year to join in a cycle ride from Bangkok to Saigon. The trip was over 450 miles and the route took all fundraisers through Cambodia to Vietnam with road conditions that varied from good tarmac roads to dusty, bumpy dirt tracks. The local people were all very friendly, from the children who would stand at the side of the road to wave and say hello, to those who would ride alongside the group on mopeds to talk to you and practise their English.

Along the way the scenery was wonderful and we managed a number of excursions to local places of interest including the Twelfth Century Temples at Angkar. Here we were treated to monks playing music and elephant rides around the temple. The arrival at Phnom Penh was a little scary, as there were thousands of people in the city for the water festival. While we were here we took the opportunity of visiting the Toul Sleng museum which was a former school turned into a Prison and torture camp by the notorious Khmer Rouge. In Vietnam there was a trip down into the Cu Chi tunnel complex to crawl under ground to view the bamboo stake pits and other weapons used by the Viet Cong.



Cpl Jean Parr not exactly in the Tunnel of Love!

After this gruelling experience seeing the sites of Saigon and the Vietnamese coast was a fun and relaxing interlude. The highlight of the trip however, was the visit to the two children's charity projects that our cycle group was also supporting. The first was Krousar Thmey (New Family) a charity that helps to educate and support orphan and street children and here we were treated to the enjoyable spectacle of children performing in a dance and music show in national costume.

The second charity was at the actual finish of the cycle ride at a School for the Deaf built by the Saigon Children's Charity. Here the children turned out in force to cheer the cycle group across the finish line.

Special thanks must go to my many friends at 58 Sqn for their generous sponsorship and to the companies who have also given generously including Blue Circle, Cottage Delights, Wilkinson Stores, Hughes Concrete, Kerrygold and Dimensions Hair Salon.

36th (EASTERN) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col W. D. L. Brown TD
RSM WO1 D. T. Eaglesham

LONG SERVICE & GOOD CONDUCT PRESENTATION

The British Army is one of the few institutions that reward undetected crime, and three soldiers from the Regiment were duly awarded their Long Service and Good Conduct Medals on Friday 27 October. At a gathering held in Headquarters Squadron Sergeants' Mess attended by the majority of the Permanent Staff within the Regiment, WO2 (FofS) Phil Holland, SSgt Gaz Sullivan and Sgt Ian Chappell proudly received their medals from Brig D. R. Wilson, Commander 49 (E) Bde.

The proud recipients - The ones that got away with it!'
Standing (L-R): Sgt Ian Chappell, WO2 (FofS) Phil Holland, SSgt Gaz Sullivan
Sitting (L-R): Brig D. R. Wilson, Mrs Nicola Holland, Lt Col W Brown TD

With the memories of a very successful Annual Camp still lingering at the back of the mind, the Regiment knuckled down to the start of the normal training cycle leading into Christmas. Ex Pluto's Progress in October gave a much-needed opportunity for the Squadrons to deploy into the field and use the trade skills of their soldiers in a practical environment. The weekend also marked the end of an era, as Brig J. R. B. Cook visited the Regiment for the last time in his capacity as Commander 11 Sig Bde. He indulged himself in his favourite activity of talking to and meeting with the soldiers. In a short ceremony at the end of his visit the CO presented him with a Regimental plaque. The Regimental trade and management training weekends have now moved from Colchester TA Centre to a more centralised location at West Tofts Camp in STANTA. The success of this venture will be confirmed, or otherwise, at the end of the training cycle in April but suffice it to say that Regimental integration has improved tenfold over the last two months, particularly with regard to social interaction!

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj P. J. Minshall
SSM WO2 A. Wells

REMEMBRANCE PARADE - by Sgt Tim Gamble

It was Sunday 12 November 2000 and 36 (Eastern) Sig Regt (V) formed up at the TAC in Ilford to be inspected prior to the annual remembrance parade at the Redbridge memorial. The inspection was carried out by SSM 'I did not know about it' Wells, and the troops all proved to be a credit to their relevant Corps.

If responding to any advertisements in The Wire please mention that you saw it in your Corps magazine

Some of the Squadrons youngest soldiers (and Mr Butler!) who were on the Remembrance Day parade
(L-R): Sig Mann, OCdt Powell, LCpl McIntosh, Sig Painter, 2Lt Manickavasagan, WO2 Butler, Sig Meredew, LCpl Rodwell, Sig Collumbine, Sig Sangar

After the Regiment had formed up in Redbridge they were joined by various other services, clubs and many members of the public. The Regiment provided the memorial guard of honour, which consisted of four of HQ Sqn's newest recruits who were faultless through out.

The CO, Lt Col W. O. L. Brown TD, salutes after laying the Regimental wreath at Redbridge War Memorial

The afternoon's activities were rounded off nicely when the Honorary Colonel, Col Alan Hall TD DL, presented the CO with a bronze statue as a token of thanks for time spent with the Regiment.

The Honourary Colonel, Col Alan Hall TD DL, presents the Airborne Signaller to the Commanding Officer

Headquarters Squadron faces the challenges of the new year in good heart, and with confidence. The winter training season has been extremely busy for the Regiment and the Squadron with exercises, centralised training weekends and the inevitable Squadron training. Firstly, arrivals and departures: TA first - we would like to welcome into the R SIGNALS fold OCdt Emma Powell from MUOTC. Emma is currently on a gap year working for the Metropolitan Police as a Communications Officer, and she has got firm plans for the future involving RCB and a Regular R SIGNALS Commission. Another new arrival is Sig Orlando Baird. Orlando (another student) hails from Tobago, and has adapted wonderfully well to Recruit training and the cold winter in Ilford. Pte Katy Crockford transferred in from R SIGNALS and 54 Sig Sqn (V) - welcome to the Catering Department. Cfn Ian Heseltine also reneged on his R SIGNALS badge and transferred into the LAD as a Veh Mech. Departures among the TA include LCpl Gilly Baynes (AGC) from the LAD, who has decided to retire after 16 years continuous service initially with R SIGNALS, then RAMC and latterly AGC with a variety of units. We wish her well. Cpl Richard Fisher REME took the same tablet and retired to spend more time with his wife and young family after both Regular and TA service over some nine years - his contribution will be missed. Sig Denise Owen got a job, unfortunately this reduced the time available for TA and she left after two years service.

In terms of the Permanent Staff, Cpl Dana Grills was dined out from his 12 month FTRS tour, to be welcomed back to the TA as Cpl Grills (V) from the Tech Workshop. SSgt Tony 'Tiffy' Dale REME has been PSI of the LAD for the last 20 months - during his tenure, the LAD has gone from strength to strength, ably assisted by Tony's sense of humour, high standards and ability to motivate people. He is moving on to the Airborne workshop at Colchester on promotion to WO2 - this next appointment is airborne, and Tony is still very much a penguin – however, he is working hard on his personal motivation and thickness - oops!! – fitness, to prepare for the likely challenge of P Coy.

New arrivals include LCpl Zoe Evans (for a few weeks before discharge from the Regular Army), SSgt Brett Richardson REME as PSI LAD, Sgt Andy Crabtree filling a long vacant Technicians post in the Tech Wksp and Sgt 'Karen' Ellams to Regt Trg Wing. Welcome to the 'funny farm', and enjoy! Someone who should not be forgotton is the Squadron's erstwhile PSI, Sgt Tim 'What am I doing here?' Gamble. Tim has decided that the grass is greener on the outside and has signed the ticket to freedom - he moves to RHQ to while his time away until discharge. He is replaced by Sgt John 'Have you got a light boy?' Kelly, who has already adopted the trappings of a PSI. He drinks copious amounts of coffee, goes for a run at the drop of a hat, and is always off doing recce's and such like when the stores truck arrives full of boxes - he will fit in well. We look forward to the next Squadron training weekend - driver training at Longmoor, and the first Regimental Exercise of the year, Ex Milky Way in February - the wheel turns around and around Achievements in this period include the award of the Volunteer Reserve Forces Medal to Cpl Alan Roberts AGC for ten years meritorious and efficient service - this is the first award of this new medal to a member of HQ Squadron. The medal was presented by Col Alan Hall TD DL, The Deputy Lord Lieutenant for the Borough of Redbridge (and the late Regimental Honorary Colonel) on Thursday 16 November 2000 at Ilford. The picture shows Cpl Roberts accepting the congratulations of Col Hall post presentation.

Sig Imran Choudhry, after a long hard slog, finally passed all of the Pre-Sandhurst hurdles and was appointed as an Officer Cadet on 15 November - he is due to attend RMAS in late January/February 2001 for which the Squadron wishes him the best of luck.

The Squadron held its Annual Christmas Training Event at Wretham Camp on the weekend of 9-10 December. We deployed by coach to a secret location between Cambridge and Norwich to take advantage of a unique training opportunity to race quad bikes, and this proved to be an excellent event, bringing out the meanness and competitiveness spirit of some normally placid individuals in the Squadron and the LAD. There was a definite edge between AQMS Tony Johnson and his spanner boys, and OC 817 Tp - 2Lt Ramesh 'Speedy' Manickavasagan (known as RAM for reasons unknown to the Squadron). Unfortunately for RAM the LAD team proved that bit better at driving (or cheating) and emerged as winners of the Competition. That evening, the Squadron had the traditional Soldiers Christmas Dinner with the OC leading the team of overpaid waiters (Squadron heirarchy) to serve - as usual they met with the normal abuse, before sitting to enjoy their own meal. Presentations were made to Cfn Steve Nichols of the LAD as the best Recruit of the year and to Sig 'Reggie' Collumbine as the Best Soldier, both selected from a cast of thousands (or at least 35) for this prestigious award. The dinner was followed by the Christmas disco, (Pte Caroline Evan's stereo and handbag) and everybody partied until the early hours, with Pte Evans impressing everyone with her tribute to the Moulin Rouge. On Sunday morning, after breakfast and a move back to Ilford, a surprise was sprung on the war weary Sqn - Ex FALLBACK was called! This was slightly hampered by the Christening of the OC's Grandaughter – yes, Maj Pete Minshall is that old. 2Lt RAM Manickavasagan, ably assisted by WO2 (SSM) Tony Wells, successfully raised the awareness of the Squadron on security matters in general. It must have been riveting as, despite tiredness and the morning after blues, not one individual fell asleep!

STOP PRESS:

The Squadron conducted its inaugural training weekend for 2001 at Longmoor Driver Training Area in Hampshire over the weekend 13-14 January 2001. The training was shared with 45 Sig Sqn (V) from Colchester and involved the deployment of various vehicle types and personnel in a controlled move from TA Centres to Longmoor. This was followed by 36 hours of driver training and familiarisation on all vehicle types for those individuals who normally lead a more sheltered life. Participation was good, with some 80 all ranks attending. The programme was orchestrated by WO2 (MTWO) Steve 'Master Driver' Kentish, ably directed (or hindered) by his R Sigs Supremo, Maj Peter Minshall. A steadying hand to the tiller was applied by the shiny new (well, not so new!) PSI Sgt John 'I'm a liney - what am I doing here?' Kelly - a very enjoyable and challenging programme was devised that included advanced cross country driving (down 40' inclines in the dark - LCpl McIntosh), and which utilised all the necessary drills for on road and tactical movement.

EXERCISE SOLENT TIGER - by W/OCDT Powell

What luck, I had only been in 36 Sig Regt, for a week and I was given the opportunity to go sailing on the Solent for a weekend; how could I refuse! Then I remembered that I had never really had sea legs and my doubts began to set in. Too late, next thing I knew twelve of us set off from Ilford TAC, destination Gosport. After settling into our homes for the weekend, three 30 foot yachts, it was straight down to the pub for a few drinks. For the complete novices among us (most of us), Saturday morning was the time to learn the ropes! After a few lessons on safety issues and the basics of sailing, it was off into the open sea. Well, not quite it was only the Solent. The remainder of Saturday was spent perfecting our newly learnt skills in preparation for the race we were going to have on Sunday. My downfall was knots - figure of eight, half shank, slip, reef; how many can there be? I found sailing quite enjoyable, in one day we had learnt how to sail and with the help of our trusty captains all three boats made it to Cowes before nightfall. Today was the day that we had to prove ourselves in the race from Cowes back to Gosport, with no help except the wind and of course our skills! The race turned out to be a lot of fun, not to mention the underhand tactics to steal wind from other boats. I was extremely proud to be a member of the winning crew! After a wash down of the boats and final pictures for memories of a great weekend, it was home to a bed that didn't move!

Sig Mannion looks on with great interest as W/OCDT Powell engages her spoon in converstation

The crew of the Zidona, looking good!
(L-R): Sig Mannion, W/OCDT Powell, Lt Manickavasagan, Skipper, WO2 (FofS) Holland

The Village People Tribute Band, on board the Dosinia, about to treat the good people of Gosport with their version of In the Navy
(L-R): Sig Hill, WO2 (AQMS) Johnson, Skipper, WO2 Kentish, Sgt McDonald

44 (CINQUE PORTS) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)
Sqn Comd Maj M. Baker
SSM WO2 N. Fawsitt

THE SQUADRON – A POTTED HISTORY

The title Cinque Ports involves images of the South Coast of England. However, due to a number of historical factors, mainly Options for Change, the Cinque Ports have moved to Essex! Therefore, the title has been bestowed on 44 Sig Sqn (V) based in Southend-on-Sea, and Grays. The direct ancestor of the Squadron was North's Cinque Ports Regiment raised by the then Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, Lord North, in 1776. Expanded in 1792, the Regiment consisted of both Infantry and Cavalry and was based in the historic Cinque Ports of Sussex and Kent. Ever since then, the established location and role of the Cinque Ports have changed according to the differing threats to the nation's security. Over the years the Regiment became Volunteer Artillery and served in the Great War and then re-rolled as Anti Aircraft and was mobilised in World War II. It was in 1947 that the Regiment became Royal Signals with drill halls in Southeast England and was called 44 (Home Counties) Signal Regiment (Cinque Ports). The role of the Regiment was to support local authorities and the civil defence. In 1967 there was a further restructuring and 44 (Cinque Ports) Signal Squadron was formed from the old Regiment. The only drill hall was in Gillingham and the unit, together with Squadrons from Colchester and Cambridge made up 36 Signal Regiment with it's Headquarters in Wanstead, East London. The Regiment provided reserve communications for the BAOR and frequently went to Germany for Annual Camp. The break up of the Soviet Union resulted in the latest re-organisation of the TA, and though the Regiment escaped lightly, 44 Squadron had to move into Essex from Kent. This move started in 1992 and was completed in 1994 when the last troop left Gillingham. The new Headquarters is in Grays and we have an out troop in Southend. The move entailed absorbing members of the former units in Grays, Leigh-on-Sea and Prittlewell, which were 215 Squadron RCT, a troop of 70 Squadron, 71 Signal Regiment. The role of the unit also changed. We now support the Allied Rapid Reaction Corps based in Germany. This means that we will continue to train in mainland Europe and retain our Euromux and Triffid trunk communications equipment.

CURRENT NEWS

December saw the end of a rather busy year for the Squadron. There was only one weekend exercise in December, which was the OC's disposal weekend. This has traditionally been an inter -Troop competition with a Christmas dinner organised by one of the Troops. This year the OC had a brainwave and decided to make it an inter-trade competition with teams drawn from both Troops. This was designed to break down rivalry and encourage teamwork at all levels. It wasn't until the team lists were drawn up on Saturday morning that Capt Rowson pointed out that by having trade teams it would lead to same gender teams! All the females were in one team and the males made up the other teams. The OC stuck to his guns, muttering 'brains beat brawn anyday', more on the results later. The competition was based on junior leadership involving command tasks, weapon handling relay races, HF using PRC 320 and a communication exercise that required the teams to replicate objects from one room into another. A clay pigeon shoot on Foulness Island provided the fun element, with the Regimental Ops Officer supplying the ammunition. The day ended with everyone happy and all to play for on the next stage of the competition, the sports day on Sunday. First the teams had to survive the Christmas dinner. Southend Troop provided the catering support, ably led by Cpl Williams with Cpl Monk and Sig Robinson assisting. Our RLC chef, Cpl Ridgewell, oversaw the whole operation. Traditional Christmas fare was on offer - turkey with all the trimmings ie: alcohol. After the dinner, the conversation between the OC and the Chefs went something like this:

OC: 'The tomato soup was a bit, erm, tasty'.
Chefs: 'That was the bottle of sherry to add flavour'.
OC: 'The gravy was a bit rich'.
Chefs: 'That was the bottle of sherry to add flavour'.
OC: 'The custard had a strong taste'.
Chefs: 'That was the bottle of port'.
OC: 'The Christmas Pud was extremely rich'.
Chefs: 'That was the bottle of brandy'.

Just as well no one was driving! The Squadron was then unleashed on the unsuspecting Southend night-spots. All were present and correct on parade the next morning, one or two nursing hangovers and wishing they hadn't visited the Kebab shop. Sunday consisted of basketball and handball, with the results going towards the competition. The Line team, all men, won the whole weekend and the gallant losers were the Area Sys Ops, yes, you guessed it, the females! The OC had to admit that perhaps he might need to rethink the teams for next year! Whilst some were enjoying themselves, LCpl's Allen and Price were at Blandford on the TA Corporals course. They thoroughly enjoyed it and regaled everyone with their tales of derring do in the bar on their return. Congratulations go to LCpl Price on gaining Top Student.

45 (ESSEX) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)
COLCHESTER AND WARLEY TA CENTRES
Sqn Comd Maj Bill Shirley
SSM WO2 SSM Lou Walker

The end of last year was an extremely busy period for the Squadron. Ex Santa's Revenge was without doubt a great success with nearly 50 members of the Squadron turning in for what turned out to be a superb weekend. About the only person who didn't attend the weekend was the Sqn SPSI, SSgt Gerry McGachy, who used the excuse that his wife was about to have their second child and he didn't want to chance being that far away from home. As it turned out he made a wise decision as Sharon gave birth to a little girl, Tara Catherine who weighed in at 8lbs 2ozs. in the early hours of Saturday morning. Rumours that she had the baby at home because Gerry was too tight to pay for a taxi to the hospital are unsubstantiated. The beginning of 2001 has shown no let up in the number of commitments for the Squadron with the TTMs now well and truly jogging along and a number of exercises looming on the horizon. However, with attendance at weekends improving this is nothing we can't take in our stride.

EXERCISE SANTA'S REVENGE
45 SQUADRON CHRISTMAS WEEKEND 8 – 10 DECEMBER 2000
by 2Lt SA James

'Where are all your troops'? Inquired the SAT Custodian at Hythe Ranges.

'Over there in the Troop shelter' replied the PSI.

'That's not a bloody troop shelter, it's a condemned building, get them out before it comes down on their heads'! So began Exercise Santa's Revenge. With a strong head wind and bitterly cold weather 45 (E) Sig Sqn took on the Hythe Ranges. The main priority was to ensure that all those soldiers attending attempted to group and zero their weapon so they could fire the APWT. Interestingly enough, the only soldier with a SUSAT that day, managed to get the lowest score, something to do with the excitement of firing live rounds I expect! Whilst one team was attempting the APWT, the other was in the Small Arms Trainer trying out the Heckler Koch MP5's and Browning Pistols. At about 11 o'clock the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Brown and his driver WO1 (RSM) Eaglesham turned up to observe the proceedings. After having a go on the SAT where the RSM was soundly thrashed by Cpl Kev Elliott, the CO and RSM shot off to visit one of the other Squadrons and we got down to the serious business of eating! Credit where it's due, the chefs had even remembered the vegetarians this time. For the afternoon's activities we were once again broken down into two groups and after a centralised briefing by a Regular Para WO2 who was running the range we disappeared to our relevant activities. The first range involved a Northern Ireland security briefing before we converted our weapons to .22 and moved to the top floor of a house supervised by the T.A Range Team consisting of WO2s Mark McKenzie Bell, and Kev Groves, and SSgt Stu Bancroft. After loading and making ready in the attic we made our way out onto a rooftop balcony and were confronted with a three-street mock up of a town in Ireland. Targets were hanging on rails and moved around in and out of the houses. Occasionally a terrorist would pop their head out of a window or dash across the street and it was down to the fire team concerned to communicate with each other in order to acquire and destroy the target. I know that everyone had a good time and the training definitely improved communication skills, target indications and application of the marksmanship principles, although I am certain in my own mind that a ratio of 9:5 civilians to terrorists would be unpopular in the eyes of the Irish. Meanwhile the other groups were taking part in a fire control order and discipline range just up the road. After an initial briefing and loading up with 5.56 tracer, teams of four moved into a 'sanger' and, under direction of the fire team commander, engaged moving enemy targets up to 400m away from the location.

The range package as a whole provided some excellent shooting and made a great start to the weekend. Many thanks to the PSI Sgt Tosh Hodgskins and all the range teams down at Hythe. After heading back to camp and cleaning weapons we moved onto Phase 2 of the exercise - the 45 Sqn Christmas Function. This time it was the NCO's turn to be waited on hand and foot. The Seniors and Officers became waiters and waitresses and served a fantastic meal (cooked by LCpl Ian Molineaux) to all the peasants. The top table headed by Cpl Terry Stalley, then toasted the Seniors and Officers and continued drinking. Once the Christmas Draw had taken place the Junior Ranks disappeared to the brand new XL complex on camp where there was a disco laid on while the Seniors and Officers cleaned away the remains of what looked like a chimps tea party!

On the Sunday morning, despite freezing conditions and driving rain we kicked off the Officers and Seniors Vs OR's football match. Conditions were horrific underfoot and a desperate lack of football boots (and complete lack of talent) meant that the OR's quickly took the lead. After a rousing team talk by WO2 SSM Lou Walker the Officers and Seniors equalised before a lucky goal from one of the JNCO's took the match. Special mention must go to the completely impartial referee SSgt Ron Russell and LCpl Martin Woollard who couldn't kick a football if it was tied to his foot! Final Score Officers and Seniors 1 OR's 2. Till next year!

EXERCISE DRIVING SNOW
CROSS COUNTRY DRIVING EXERCISE 13 – 14 JANUARY 2001
by L/Cpl Adam Witcomb

On Saturday 13 January, 25 members of 45 (E) Sig Sqn (V) deployed from their respective T.A.C's to RV with elements of HQ Sqn at Longmoor Driver Training Area for a Cross Country Driving Exercise. Phase 1 practiced the Squadron's convoy drills, After an initial briefing and reminder about convoy drills, distances, speeds etc we were broken down into packets and began the move down to Longmoor Driver Training Area. During the move down, less experienced drivers were given the opportunity to be assessed by their more experienced co-drivers. On arrival at Longmoor we began Phase 2 of the exercise. The use of the vehicles in a way few of us had previously experienced! On the 'nursery slopes' the serious business began with quite a few vehicles getting bogged down in the mud pools. First person to get stuck was SSgt Mick Hampton in a Landrover (he achieved the same feat a little later in a Bedford this time!). SSgt Hampton had set the example that was quickly followed by LCpls Ian Strain and John Hazleton. Cpl Lee Farrow managed to get a Landrover full of recruits bogged in in exactly the same place and had to be recovered by Sgt Andy Gladman and LCpl Adam Witcomb in the winch wagon. In the evening we took part in a night navigation exercise. Using only convoy lights we set off in a giant 'conga' following the MTWO WO2 Steve Kentish who suddenly went 'off road' and was only stopped from falling down an embankment by a small sapling!

Sgt John Mitchell and Cpl Kev Elliot dispensing invaluable advice concerning cross country parking

Sunday consisted of the REME FRT giving us a lesson on self-recovery and the best bit of the weekend, the 'knife edges' in the Landrovers and 4 tonners - for attempting the baby 'knife edge', and then bottling out, the REME were the weakest link. Goodbye!

54 SIGNAL SQUADRON
THE SOMME BATTLEFIELD TOUR 2000

by Sig M. Brocklebank (757 Troop)

Members of 54 Sqn had a fascinating time on a visit to the First World War battlefields of Northern France. The weekend acted as an insight into the terror of this war and we saw evidence of the thousands of soldiers who lost their lives defending this area. We visited many cemeteries and monuments on our two-day trip. We saw some very large cemeteries whilst driving around the outskirts of towns and around the battlefields, and the experience left me feeling cold and solemn. The headstones showed the number of soldiers who lost their lives during this conflict, and some of the soldiers buried in these graves are only identified by an emblem of the Regiment in which they served. I thought how gruesome were the battles of this war that soldiers should be buried with their identities unknown. Some of the graves gave the ages of the fallen soldiers; most of them were only between eighteen and twenty-two, and I realised that they were not as old as the majority of our party. I am only twenty-one, and I wondered if I could have gone out to fight in a war like this. Eighty or so years after the end of the war, the landscape is still scarred with the evidence of the war, and the recently ploughed fields are covered with areas of whiter earth where the prolonged shelling has brought the chalk to the surface.

38 (CITY OF SHEFFIELD) SIGNALS REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS
CO Lt Col Nigel Harrison MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) Colin Milne

87 (CITY OF NOTTINGHAM) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj David Tomlinson
SSM WO2 (SSM) Vicky Hardy

The Regiment held the annual Regimental SAAM at Strensall during October, much to the surprise of the 'SAS' Squadrons the crowd in green tights swept the board! The Team's hard work in preparing for the Regimental SAAM paid dividends, when they won the Whitehead Trophy, the Coronation Cup, the Best Pistol Shot and Champion Squadron. The Team, consisting of WO2 (SSM) Vickie Hardy, Sgt Stu Nesbitt, Cpl 'I love the CO' Heather Blair, Cpl Paton, Cpl Keay and Sig Burton were assisted by the expertise of our ex-Borg' members, SSgt Jim McGuinness, SSgt 'Darth Vader' Dye and Sgt 'Happy' Hallam. These three are all excellent shots who joined the Squadron from 3 WFR. Well done everyone! We believe the OC is buying the drinks!

87 Sig Sqn Winning Team Regt SAAM

The Regimental SAAM Support Act always important on a range weekend are those anonymous heroes – the Butts Party! Thank you for all your efforts and keeping your sense of humour! Thanks go to SSgt 'Widebottom' Worrall, Cpl 'Alex' Derbyshire, Sgt 'Cowboy' Wilson, Sgt 'Wazzie' Wasden, Cpl Jackie Spong, Sig Aylward or Sig Towey?

LORD LIEUTENANT'S VISIT

Tuesday 31 October was a very special evening in Nottingham. The Lord Lieutenant of Nottinghamshire, Sir Andrew Buchanan Bt visited the TA Centre in order to present a number of medals to members of the Squadron. The proud recipients who received their medals in the presence of all the members of the Squadron, their families and friends were:

Territorial Efficiency Medal (TEM) - SSgt J. Dye, SSgt B. Jackson (Husband of our SSM), Sgt C. Toft, Cpl A. McGuinness, Cpl Hammett and LCpl Welsh.

Bar and Rosette to the Territorial Efficiency Medal - Ex- WO2 (SSM) N. J. Caldicott, WO2 P. Cooper and his wife SSgt C. Bull and Cpl C. V. Doda.

Volunteer Reserve Service Medal (VRSM) - Cpl L. Snow, who along with husband Sgt D. Snow (46 Signal Squadron) was also celebrating their second wedding anniversary. Following the presentation the Lord Lieutenant joined everyone for a curry supper.

SWIFT GETTING FASTER

Winning his civilian 'driving licence' will help Nottingham Signaller Lee Swift speed up military messages by 70 per cent. He is one of 40 part-time soldiers taking part in a unique £40,000 computer education programme. The Territorial Army (TA) troops have been taking classes alongside civilian students to earn their European Computer Driving Licences (ECDL). The seven-module course teaches people to use the latest business software packages. A pass is equivalent to an NVQ level 2, or five GCSEs. But while Lee's classmates apply the knowledge in the office, he will be using it on the battlefield with Triumph Road-based 87 Signal Squadron. Sgt Swift (29), a Land Rover Service Advisor, from Beeston, said, 'New computers are being developed to drive our global military radio system. Standard business software can now be used to compile and transmit huge amounts of data in an instant to command centres anywhere in the world. It will do away with complex inputting and signalling procedures, speeding communications up by more than 70 per cent, and it will make training soldiers to operate the system much cheaper and quicker. Part-time soldiers gaining ECDLs will also have a valuable benchmark qualification recognised throughout industry and commerce.'

The soldiers' computer course is the result of a unique collaboration between 38 Signal Regiment and Sheffield-based training firm, NTP Ltd. Military training budgets are providing half the cost of the £400-per-student fees. The rest of the money is coming via the government's 'Individual Learning Account' grant system, set up to help people improve their skills. As part of the deal, NTP is providing the training and test adjudication team, computing facilities and classroom accommodation.

Driving Licence for computers?
Sgt Lee Swift from Beeston Nottingham

46 SIGNAL SQUADRON
FIRMS INVEST IN FIGHTING FITNESS

Derby's territorials will be rowing their way to fitness for operations overseas, thanks to two city businesses. The part-time soldiers will be snapping to attention when their VIP guests arrive next week bearing gifts for their unit's new gymnasium. Kingsway-based 46 Sig Sqn has just invested £9,000 in creating the health and fitness suite. 28 February saw representatives from Henry Boot Homes (HBH) Ltd and the LCD Driver Training School who will be bringing along two £800 rowing machines to add the finishing touch. Sgt Sara Alsop, an accounts clerk from Chaddesden, said that it is vital that they're in top physical condition before going on operations. This year members from 46 Sig Sqn will be on service abroad in the Balkans, Canada and Germany. The rowing machines will be a godsend. They are among the best all-round fitness machines that money can buy. Sgt Alsop and her comrades made friends with HBH when the company began developing the Windmill Hill site, opposite their military base. The soldiers lost no time in inviting the builders to use their water and washing facilities. HBH representative Lee Midleton said, 'We're delighted to make an investment in the city's TA Squadron. Its part-time soldiers' commitment to our community and to the country is outstanding. Many of them have already been on voluntary tours of duty helping to keep the peace and restore shattered lives in places like Kosovo.' LCD Regional Sales Manager, Carol Bosley, said that the quality of the TA's skills and management training was second to none. She added that businesses throughout the region benefited from the skills and management training that the army gave them. The Signallers' gymnasium is now the finest military fitness centre in the county. Its equipment includes upright and reclining cycling machines, multigyms and moving running tracks, crucial for the build up of heart and lung capacity. Soldiers can concentrate on building their strength using a range of weights. Specialist TA physical training instructors will ensure that the troops hit peak form without strain or injury.

39th (SKINNERS) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col P. R. Towers
RSM WO1 (RSM) F. E. Roberts

HOPE & HOMES FOR CHILDREN
EXERCISE ENDURANCE LYNX

Over the last year 39 (Skinners) Sig Regt (V) have been helping to raise money for Hope & Homes for Children. Hope & Homes for Children was founded by Col Mark Cook, who was the Commander of the British UN Contingent in Croatia, and his wife Caroline, in September 1994, after they had both witnessed the suffering of the children made homeless by the War in the Balkans. Initially they raised money to rebuild two orphanages, in Croatia and Sarajevo, which had been destroyed in the fighting. Following appeals for help Hope & Homes for Children are now also relieving the suffering of children in Sierra Leone, Mozambique, Albania, Romania and Ukraine.

While rowing during a lunchtime training session the Adjutant, Capt Nick Peet decided to get involved and organise a 24hr 'Sponsored Row'. His plan was for six rowers to each row for half an hour in a three hour cycle for the total of 24hrs ie: four hours total rowing time or approx 56km each from 0800hrs in the morning on 23 January this year. Providing the team of six, including the Commanding Officer of the Regiment Lt Col Paul Towers, could stick to the speed set they would complete in excess of 330km (ie: from Bristol to Dunkirk). The team had been training since November last year and was confident that they could complete the row and hoped to raise in excess of £700.00 for Hope & Homes for Children therefore making a Regimental total of over £4500.00 for the year.

So the big day came and all six rowers were in quietly confident mood. The support team provided high energy food and drink, radio or video entertainment, wake up calls and the all important moral support throughout the row. After a very long night and many bananas the team completed the row at 0800hrs on 24 January, obviously, it being a 24hr row! The team had surpassed their expectations and completed in excess of 341.5km, a good job well done. Next time perhaps a 48hr row! So well done to Lt Col Paul Towers, Capt Nick Peet, WO2 (RQMS) Mick Ginty, WO2 (MTWO) Dennis Griffiths, SSgt Tony Ward and Sgt 'Scotty' Doyle and many thanks to the Support Team, Capt Tom Pengelley, Sgt 'Cookie' Cook and Cpl 'Badders' Badman.

The Adjt using his double orifice breathing apparatus

CO and MTWO Handover Takeover

The Team as the end of the Row

HEADQUARTERS (NORTH SOMERSET YEOMANRY)
SQUADRON - BRISTOL
Sqn Comd Maj R Belbin
SSM WO2 (SSM) Smith

REGIMENTAL TRAINING WEEKEND 1 – 13/15 OCTOBER 2000

For the first of this Winter's Training Weekends the LAD were once again chosen to host the Op New World volunteers at Longmoor Camp. It began with some Compass Work on the Parade Square with Cfn Airey demonstrating how to take a compass bearing and how to follow the 'needle' to ensure that you can arrive at your intended destination. This period of instruction was followed by Basic First Aid courtesy of Cpl 'Badders' Badman. Note: Proof that the REME can fix themselves as well as the Regimental Fleet. As the afternoon progressed Sgt Isaacs and his team made preparations for the last phase, the Night Navigation Exercise. The volunteers soon learnt that you cannot easily walk in a straight line through woods at night (unless you wish to put your recently acquired First Aid Training to the test).

SQUADRON TRAINING WEEKEND – 2/4 FEBRUARY 2001

To prepare the troops of HQ (NSY) Sqn for the Regimental Exercise Ex Bronze Lynx in March the OC, Maj Richie Belbin, used this weekend to blow the dust off the transport and take us to Hullavington Camp for a spot of field training. After a hearty breakfast at Horfield the Squadron was soon on its way along the M4 in convoy fashion to the Training Area on Hullavington's Airfield. Pulling up in a Holding Area the troops took up defensive positions while the Sergeant Major completed his Recce (or while WO2 'Dicky' Lee went to get the keys for the Training Hanger). In the mean time Sgt George Williams taught about moving into a location, from the Release Point to parking up and camouflaging the vehicles.

The first Lesson of the day was given by SSgt Rick Norman on the ULS. This simple switchboard is not complicated if you have used it before, but HQ when they are on the ground usually make do with a couple of field phones & everybodies personal mobile. Anyway having made eight connections to the ULS we were all soon talking to each other down the line. People took it in turns to man the buttons & between switching up or down, red switch or green, black switch or yellow the information was sinking in and a five way conference call was not beyond us.

More interesting lessons soon followed, Field Craft with Sgt Winfield, Rolling Replen with WO2 Bloomer and what must have been all his Christmas tree lights. Sgt Williams and 'Sighting a Tactical Workshop' and a Lights & Sound at night Demo were SSgt Norman's contribution included cracking a can of lager. Sgt Williams who made Lighting a Tilley lamp & using a No. 5 Burner sound very interesting gave the last lessons of the evening. Sunday's activity was to put up and taking down four 12 x 12 's and a 9 x 9 while the Q checked them out, followed by the final lesson, on 'Leaving a Location' which also included a sweep of the area. Back at Bristol everyone agreed that the training had been useful & helpful. Bring on Ex Bronze Lynx.

5 (QUEEN'S OWN OXFORDSHIRE HUSSARS) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS) - BANBURY & OXFORD
Sqn Comd Maj R. Stone TD
SSM WO2 (SSM) Philips
SQUADRON ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY
SATURDAY 2 DECEMBER 2000

The Churchill Club Committee ably led by Cpl Steve Brady and assisted by Cpl Kevin Durno and LCpl Claire Goodwin laid on an excellent Party at the TA Centre. The bar opened at 7.30p.m. for pre Christmas Drinks. This was followed by a splendid display of Fireworks organised and let off by Steve Brady who is now an officially trained 'Fire Work Letter Offer' The party went with full swing until the very early hours of Sunday. The draw, an elimination event got down to the final tickets when the 2IC, Capt 'Chuck' Robertson realised that both his and Andrea's Tickets were in the last five. Having won the major cash prize last year he very sportingly withdrew the tickets. A gesture that was very well appreciated by everyone, especially the Winners, LCpl Danny Palmer and Sgt Taylor's wife, Debbie.

PROMOTIONS

Congratulations to Steve Brady and Kevin Durno on their selection for promotion to Sergeant.

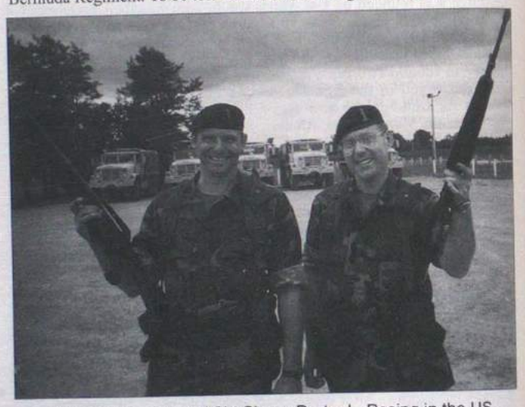
UK/US OFFICER EXCHANGE PROGRAMME

On 7 July 2000, 19 Reserve Officers from all parts of the British forces (Army, Navy and Air Force) set off from London Heathrow, bound for Washington DC. This was part of the UK/US Officer exchange programme which takes place every year, the aim of which is to place reserve officers from the three services with their respective counterparts and specialisation in order to develop understanding and good working relations. After a long flight, we arrived (snacked and filmed out) in DC to be met by a US Marine Major. However, due to the fact that nobody within the British contingent had met before, unless they had been sitting next to each other on the flight, it was a little difficult to determine who was who at the airport. After playing 'Guess who's in the British forces game' and the usual losing and finding people, we were whisked to the Capital, and housed in the Embassy Suites, a top-notch hotel. Our accommodation was spectacular with ensuite bathrooms and living rooms for each person. However, unfortunately we got to spent only five minutes in our room as we were yet again whisked off to what would turn out to be a familiar 'burgers and beer' night; and a very very late one at that.

The next day (very early, yawn!) we departed Washington to travel to our respective units located throughout the USA. We had been assigned to the 377 Coy who were on their trade training camp at Fort McCoy in Wisconsin. After a further series of flights in aircraft of ever decreasing size we arrived in Wisconsin to be met by an advance party of the 377th. After the initial surprise of 'Gee.... You guys do what????..... Communication?!....Hell...we're a truck maintenance Company!' we all got along famously! It would appear that somewhere in the dusty corridors of either the MoD or the Pentagon, there had been somewhat of a clerical error... However, on rationalising the situation, and recognising that we in the Royal Signal use 'trucks' and in the 377th did have some VHF radios, all was not lost! We also discovered early on, that we all did indeed share another common interest, 'Budweiser' which was discussed and exercised many a night.

Fort McCoy, our home for the following two weeks is a Total War Training Facility, a training camp a little smaller than Wales that hosts the National Guard and Reserve Force training. Each unit's training is closely monitored and assessed by a team of regular officers who watch, advise and mark the units in their operational and combat effectiveness whilst carrying out their roles. During our first few days at the fort we were shown the 377th's maintenance role. This consisted of stripping down old army trucks classed as unserviceable, and building the good parts back onto a basic glider assembly. The gliders consisted of a new basic cab and chassis and were delivered by the truck manufacturer on pallets. By completing a truck in this way, as opposed to purchasing an entirely new truck, the 377th Maintenance Company created a cost saving of around $60,000 per vehicle. The 377th target was to complete 14 trucks by the end of their camp. An average of one a day and a great saving to the US Government!

Lt Fensom and I were invited to the daily orders held by the camp commandant and his monitoring teams, and we were lucky enough to accompany them around the fort's training facilities. This proved a marvellous opportunity as we managed to get to see a great many of the National Guard and Reserve units in training. These units included Signals, Engineers, Rangers, Infantry, Marines and Air Assault. On some occasions we were able to participate in their training or exercises, which worked out quite well on the Marines APWT, as we won a bottle of bourbon and ten bottles of beer, (they never realised they had been hustled until the scores came in), which we shared with them in the bar a few nights later, along with a few chasers! Other jollies included, an 'Apocalypse Now' Style Air Assault with the Air Cavalry, Off-Road Humvee driving and the Ranger Air Assault Course, where Lt Fensom demonstrated an unusual abseiling technique not known to the Americans of launching into space head first and waiting till the second bounce before braking. The two week exchange flew by and we were sad to leave our new found friends. On meeting up with the other 17 Officers in Washington we swapped stories and had a 'stop, look and gasp' tour of the Pentagon, Arlington National Cemetery and a handful of other notable monuments where we could take in the 'Kodak spots'. Tired and exhausted 18 Officers were bundled on a plane back to Blighty, leaving 2Lt Durtnal to detour to Bermuda for an extra fun filled week with the Bermuda Regiment. To be told in the next thrilling instalment!



Lt Jason Fensom and 2Lt Simon Durtnal - Posing in the US

57 (CITY & COUNTY OF BRISTOL) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)
Sqn Comd Maj M. A. P. Webb
SSM WO2 (SSM) J. Tuck
REGIMENTAL TRAINING WEEKEND 2 - OFFICER TRAINING
by Lt Jason Fensome

39 Sig Regt held their second Regimental Training Weekend (RTW) of the 2000/01 cycle between 24-26 November 2000. However, whilst the Regiment's soldiers departed their TA Centres for a weekend of trade training at Browndown Camp, the Regiment's officers were instead ordered to travel to Colerne, the home of 21 Sig Regt (AS). The purpose of the weekend for 39's officers was twofold: (i) to participate in the new improved officer training programme, and (ii) to dine in our new Commanding Officer, Lt Col Paul Towers. The new officer training programme stems from the desire of our new Regimental 2IC, Maj Rosemary Tuhey TD (formerly OC 57 Sig Sqn) and of our not so new Adjutant, Capt Nick Peet to provide worthwhile training for 39's junior officers on what are ostensibly trade training weekends. The detaching of the Regiment's officers from the Regiment itself allowed for an uninterrupted focus on officer training, without the distractions of drinking coffee and reading newspapers in the Officers' Mess.

The theme of the weekend's programme was change, and it must he said, change for the better. The CO's intent was that the programme should he shaped 'like a venturi', with the initial focus being on the perspective from HQ LAND, ably presented by Maj Mark Cornell, the SO3 G6 Ops. Later the focus was reduced in breadth to the picture from Headquarters 2 (NC) Sig Bde, delivered by Maj Ian Brownlee, the SO2 O&D. The purpose of the morning's programme became very clear- the new buzzword at HQ 2(NC) Sig Bde is 'deployability' and the provision of the wherewithal to actually deploy.

After lunch, the focus narrowed yet again, this time to the CO's vision for 39 Sig Regt itself. Interestingly, the address was delivered by Maj 'Butch' Maycock our Training Major. The TM had already talked about 'range safety issues' all the way through lunch, and now we had to listen to him for another hour. The topic was 'The Deployable Regiment' and this certainly held our interest. Essentially, 39 Sig Regt will conduct over the course of 2001 an intensive programme of Regimental training, as well as providing comms support to the ARRC by deploying six NCRS Detachments to Germany for Ex Arrcade Fusion in October 2001 and by providing personnel to deploy with the TA SFOR Signal Squadron in November 2001. Oh and by the way, it's now official- NCRS can actually fly (albeit as an underslung load on a Chinook). The final part of the day's proceedings was a group exercise set by OC HQ Squadron, Maj Richard Belbin, who relatively fresh from his TA Squadron Commander's course, tasked the junior officers with a planning exercise based on the no longer hypothetical deployment of a TA Signal Squadron to the Balkans. The author's syndicate received divine guidance from our Padre, the Revd David Sutch, and was able to put together a workable solution. The day's work done, it was time to head for the Mess (or rather Bristol University Air Squadron's luxury portacabins in the case of the male junior officers) and prepare for the dining in night.

The dining in of the CO was a memorable occasion. The PMC, Maj Rosemary Tuhey, allowed herself to be persuaded into granting a 'comfort stop' by the QM, Capt Phil Abbot, and OC HQ. 2Lt Simon Durtnall left the table before said stop on the pretext of a nosebleed; and the newly promoted Capt Jo Howard demoted herself for the purposes of wearing incorrectly ranked Mess Kit. Anyway, proceedings moved to the bar, where the CO demonstrated his excellent singing voice. This was not a feat that could be matched by his subalterns. Getting up on Sunday morning proved to be a major challenge- Lt Rod Hook wanted to know exactly when he became old, because he could no longer cope with late finishes and early(ish) starts. It's a good job that his better half, Caroline, has agreed to marry him next year before he finally fades away.

Sunday morning saw the CO's lecture on British Military Doctrine and Mission Analysis. It was also the CO's opportunity to demonstrate his music video collection on CD-ROM. This was a piece of timely decision-making which heralded a much needed coffee break, prior to the final group task. The purpose of this was to apply the four mission analysis questions to 39's new mission statement. This was achieved in short order, and after the customary wash-up it was time to return home. In summary, the future at 39 can be approached with confidence; the Regiment will still practise its old MGW and ICP roles, but has gained a new deployable role with NCRS. 2001 will see 39 Sig Regt (V) send personnel into Europe for both training and operations, and closer to home the Regiment will practise it's new air-deployable role on exercise. TA units always thrive on a challenge, and 2001 will see no shortage of challenges both at home and overseas.

Thanks for the weekend must go the Regt 2IC, to the TM and the Adjt for constructing such a well-designed programme. Thanks must also go to all members of the Mess who made the dinner night such a success. Finally, a couple of new officers need to be welcomed to the Regiment: 2Lt Peter Lynch, who has joined 5 (QOOH) Sqn in Banbury, and 2Lt David Carter, fresh from BUOTC, who has joined 57 Sqn's Gloucester Troop.

47 (MX YEO) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V) - UXBRIDGE
Sqn Comd Maj C. M. Lankester
SSM WO2 (SSM) M. Gilfrin

There have been many changes in squadron personnel since annual camp. SSgt 'Tock' Tocker, the PSI Ops, has been replaced by SSgt Jay Saunders fresh from 7 Regt RHA. We all wish 'Tock' well during his tour in Sierra Leone. He regards his tour with the squadron as a milestone in his career, it's the only posting he has had where he has not been in big trouble! The new OC arrived in January, Maj Carla Lankaster, and it is a welcome return to her she having previously been the Squadron 2IC until 1999. The worrying aspect of these changes however, is that now, both the OC and the SSM are ex Tech's, it does not bode well for the Squadron's previously good standard of technical maintenance! All is not lost on this front. Sgt 'Baz' Kightley, alias 'Brains', has joined us from over the water. He is different, but starting to make inroads in the techery, which has been gapped of regulars for three years.

The Squadron itself remains reasonably well recruited and thankfully there are some high calibre, enthusiastic and well-motivated people coming into the squadron. The aim this year is to get the squadron back to full strength or just over, a position it was last in three years ago. The new changes in the Squadron recruiting team have brought with them some excellent ideas, which we will be implemented at the earliest opportunity. Special mention must be made here of the outstanding effort made by Sgt Ian Lane as IC of RRTT. He tackled a difficult and, at times very frustrating job, with determination and enthusiasm and overall his contribution to the Squadron and Regimental recruiting team was second to none. He has now handed over responsibility for recruiting to Cpl Tina Gross. It couldn't be in better hands.

The Squadron has recently completed Ex Eastern Venture, of which more later, and is now faced with Ex Bronze Lynx, a Regimental exercise that involves Brigade Headquarters. It hopefully will give the Squadron the opportunity to work closely with 2 Bde HQ to develop ideas for the new freedom given by getting out in the field and going tactical! After five years in the portacabin at Corsham most Squadron members are looking forward to the change. The training of the Squadron continues apace and several members are taking the opportunity given by 37 Sig Regt (V) to attend a trade week, hopefully all will upgrade in trade in one fell swoop. Sig Griffin recently joined us from HQ Sqn. He achieved an excellent and well-deserved course report on his recruit's course, coming second overall and Top Field Soldier. Well done Sig Griffin.

There has been a crop of well deserved promotions, notably Cpl Mark Joiner, at present on his Class 1 ED course at Blandford, LCpl Dudley another ED who joined us during annual camp 1999 from 191 Cadet Detachment here in Uxbridge. Since then he has completed his recruit course and is already a Class 2 ED. A remarkable achievement. Cpl Tina Gross who has just completed a year FTRS with 7 Signal Regiment in Germany and Kosovo has also received well-deserved promotion. Congratulations to them and others who have been promoted. Congratulations also to Sgt Paula McNeil, from all Squadron members, on the birth of her son on 4 February. We wish Paula, her husband and the child every happiness for the future.

EXERCISE EASTERN VENTURE 47 SQUADRON FTX

The squadron took part in Ex Eastern Venture, which was held at Thetford Training Area from 24 February this year. The concept was an out of area operation with the Squadron, organised as two Troops, communicating on behalf of the UN in the former state of Stanfordshire. Stanfordshire, having been ravaged by civil war and fought over by Breckland and Thetfordia, requested the deployment of British Troops in support of the UN. 47 Sig Sqn deployed at short notice to provide both HF and VHF communications in support of the UN humanitarian effort. Enemy was provided by RAF Northolt under the command of Flt Lt Marcus Senescall, a former Troop officer in the Squadron. 191 Cadet Detachment also produced cadets to act both as British forces or local militia as the scenario dictated. UN liaison officers 'UNLO', produced traffic for transmission throughout the exercise. It varied in content and urgency and required much thought from the communicating troops to work out priority and encryption. This soon reached an excellent standard as the exercise progressed. At the same time as communicating each Troop had to defend its site in a potentially hostile environment, and also respond to taskings on behalf of the UN. Confrontations with local militia, rescuing a downed NATO pilot, ambush and recce patrols and finally an attack on the enemy base location all added to the fun aspect of the exercise. Whilst tactics were not looked at too closely, there were one or two radical ideas forthcoming. A new ambush light was designed by one of the Troops. Painted black and green, it was also easily portable and could be directed in almost any direction to illuminate the enemy. It was self-powered and although a touch on the heavy side at 1800 kilos was quite effective. The 110 in its designation did not, apparently, relate to the voltage! Another Troop laid on a spectacular ambush, which caught the enemy perfectly in the killing area. The cut off, however, required about a kilometre of communication cord in order to signal the enemy approach.

SSgt Saunders is to be congratulated in producing an excellent intelligence picture for the exercise and a realistic scenario. The exercise also made novel use of the NCRS box by using the HF capability only supplemented by VHF in what was virtually a highly capable and mobile Command post. Much thanks should also be directed towards SSgt Cummings the NRPS SQMS for all his efforts in the catering department. He really does look after the Squadron well and takes a lot of the administration burden on his own shoulders. It is very much appreciated by all.

MOVING OR POSTED
DON'T FORGET TO LET US KNOW
WHENEVER YOU HAVE A CHANGE
OF ADDRESS

71 (YEOMANRY) SIGNAL REGIMENT
BEXLEYHEATH

CO Lt Col C. H. Turner
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. D. Tait
70 (ESSEX YEOMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON
CHELMSFORD AND HARLOW
Sqn Comd Maj Craig Tallents
SSM WO2 (SSM) Paul Humphreys

The Squadron has been through a busy period over the last few months with the Christmas Bash, Vehicle Servicing, and Trade Training.

CHRISTMAS BASH

The Squadron went to Crowbourgh Camp for its 'Bounty Catch Up' weekend and its Annual Christmas dinner over the period 8-10 December 2000. The Sqn Comd, Maj Craig Tallents was seen during the weekend trying to communicate using a Land Rover Tyre while looking for keys and to this day a red face appears when the subject is mentioned. Sgt Dave Catlett is now known as 'Matelot' with his love for water. The Christmas Dinner was superbly organised by SQMS 'Squirrel' Fensom and his staff with the Officers and SNCO's serving the soldiers their meal, and a great time was had by all.

Bounty Catch Up Weekend
(L-R): Sgt Natalie Gilby, Cpl Joanna Smith and LCpl Nugget Nugent marching between stands

TRADE TRAINING

The Trade training cycle is with us again and the majority of the Squadron are involved either Teaching or as students. The Trade courses are over four weekends during January and February 2001 and we are hoping for good results.

FINALLY

We welcome back SSgt Kirk Humphries from a seven month tour in Banja Luka and we would like to wish LCpl Kelly Cloughton all the best during her year long attachment to 202 Sig Sqn in Bulford.

SUMMARY OF DEPLOYMENT ON OPERATION PALATINE MAY 2000 – DECEMBER 2000 - by SSgt (YofS) (V) Kirk Humphries

As a member of 70 (Essex Yeomanry) Signal Squadron I volunteered for an OP Palatine tour to work as part of the Commercialisation Implementation Team Bosnia (CITB) in the Balkans. Normally I work as an Integration Professional on Synchronous Digital Hierarchy (SDH) Transmission Equipment for BT at Adstral Park. This work involves the integration of new and existing equipment into BT's core transmission network. My deployment was fully supported by BT and they agreed to keep my position open until my return. I completed my mobilisation and theatre training at RTMC Chillwell and on Salisbury Plain, prior to deploying to the Balkans. During my tour I was based in the Banja Luka metal factory, working as the CIT YofS, with a multinational team of about ten, mainly R Signals personnel. The commercialisation project involved the replacement of military communications systems with four commercial off the shelf (COTS) supplied by BAe Systems. The project involved the installation of four sub-systems, which were:

MYRA – The bearer system
LATTICE – Rapid reporting network
LOGAN – Liaison Officers network
CURCH – Aviation network

My main effort throughout the tour was working on the mobile projects (LATTICE, LOGAN and CURCH). This involved liasing with not only UK military staff, military staff from other nations and the contractors both English and local, with regard to the installation, commissioning and the subsequent use of the COTS System, this on its own was no mean feat! Due to the many varied locations where the equipment was to be installed, I was required to travel great distances by both road and helicopter around Bosnia and Croatia. For the fixed project (MYRA), I was responsible for the writing and verification of all procedures. This was to ensure that the equipment was being operated at its optimum and all faults were being reported, by the user to the Network Control Centre in Banja Luka and that they were being dealt with correctly and in a timely fashion.

Throughout my deployment I was able to use skills acquired from my TA training and experience from my employment with BT. I was able to develop new skills and build on existing ones. Overall my experience was a good one and the personnel I met and worked with were very helpful.

SSgt Kirk Humphries and Capt Rob Francis enjoying an ice cream at a Canadian base

PHOTOGRAPHS

Please do not ask for photographs sent for publication in The WIRE to be returned, unless they are really irreplaceable.

Contributors should be aware of the fact that although every care is taken with contributions, they should not risk losing photographs which cannot be replaced.

Contributors should also be aware that unless digital photos are saved to disk at a minimum of 300 dpi mono and 400dpi coloured, they will not be used.

265 (KENT AND COUNTY OF LONDON YEOMANRY)
SIGNAL SQUADRON - BEXLEYHEATH
Sqn Comd Maj Kieth Duffy-Penny
SSM WO2 (SSM) Stuart McHenery

EXERCISE SANTA'S SLEIGH

The weekend of 8-11 December saw the Squadron deploy on Ex Santa's Sleigh. The ME of the weekend was to train and test all Squadron personnel on ITDs and to celebrate Christmas with a Squadron Christmas dinner. Friday night it was off to Longmoor to set up base in the Officers' Mess. The majority of the evening was spent in true Yeomanry style propping up the bar, warming up for the following evening's dinner, and we even had time to squeeze in a briefing covering the weekend's events. Saturday started bright and early, albeit slightly bleary eyed, and it was straight into the training programme. The round robin kept everyone on their toes ensuring they were in the right place at the right time. ITDs being ITDs there was a fair amount of death by Power Point, although all instructors did their level best to keep their productions interesting. The most interesting scam was Lt Richie 'Chrome Dome' Woodhams slipping subliminal messages into his presentation so that by the end everyone wanted to have a pint and a fag. There were two practical training stands that were being run during the ex, trailer reversing and cross country driving. Both were extremely entertaining as Squadron personnel showed off their unmatchable skills. There were trailers snaking all over the square and the Squadron prided itself in its own version of a TEWT, the DEWT (Driving Exercise Without Transport) brought on as a result of recent cutbacks. LCpl Liz 'Buffy' Blaber, Sig Mick 'Why's that then?' Hockley and Sig Cassie 'Minty' Murray became experts of the DEWT art as shown in the attached photo.

The DEWT as demonstrated by Sig 'Why's that then?' Hockey,
LCpl Liz 'Buffy' Blaber and Sig Cassie 'Minty' Murray

Whilst completing the cross-country driving it was alleged that the Regimental MT Sergeant, who shall remain nameless, was spied grounding a Land rover, then trying to run and hide as we passed. Then it was off to lunch and time to dine out the previous Maj Hugh 'Who?' Robertson. This was a slightly unusual event, brought by very busy schedules for all parties concerned. It was a very sombre emotional affair with hardly a dry eye in the house, made even worse when he admitted that he missed all of us now he was OC of the Berkshire Yeomanry. The afternoon continued with the remaining ITDs, finished off with Recognition instructed by SPSI, SSgt John 'Bet' Lynch. Then it was time to prepare for the Christmas Dinner.

This year the Dinner had been given a theme of 'Sports through the ages'. All and sundry got into the spirit of the occasion. There was a fine display of sporting wannabees, including golfers, mountaineers, tri-athletes, footballers and cricketers. Although one of the most memorable sights was Cpl Pete 'Big Daddy' Alsop in his wrestling outfit, the attached photo really doesn't do it justice. The evening was a runaway success highlighted by the flaming sambuca contest.

Cpl Pete Big Daddy Allsop flanked by LCpl Sean Apples Cox and LCpl John Tell me another Harvey

Sunday morning arrived even blearier eyed and it was off to PT, which was well received by all and sundry (not). Sgt Dave 'Psycho' Pryke and Cpl Kenny 'Get down and give me five' Foxwell co-ordinated gym activities although it was obvious that the majority of participants had peaked the night before. All personnel managed to survive albeit touch and go with Sgt Emmet 'Jean' Vincent. Then it was lunch and back home for a well earned rest.

LONDON DISTRICT X-COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIPS

As tradition dictates, the Squadron once again entered a team into the London District X-Country Championships, which were held at Windsor Great Park on the freezing cold morning of Sunday 21 January. The five man team consisted of Cpl Tris 'Not another baby' Swain, LCpl Adrian 'Weeble' Keeble, Sig Danny 'Have you seen my bird?' Baird, Sig Darren 'Hay' Bailes and Sig Mick 'Why's that then?' Hockley. The team finished a creditable fifth, in tough conditions, and will now be going onwards into the National Championship. Sig Cassie 'Minty' Murray entered the female competition and came an awe inspiring eighth.

LOOK FORWARD

The Squadron is now preparing itself for deployment to Gibraltar for Annual Camp in July, so it's time once again to brush up on those infantry skills and boost our fitness.

NEWS FROM THE SQUADRONS

20 ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (200)

Sqn Comd Maj I. G. Standen
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. Lawes

GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK!

We would like to wish our current 2IC, Capt Ben Fitch, all the luck as he moves from the fighting 20 Brigade on to JCSC. We would also like to say farewell to SSgt Phil Whyte as he moves to Civilian Street and thank him for all his hard work.

ALPHA TROOP - by LCpl Donaghy & Sig Hepworth
Tp Comd Lt S. Hughes
Tp SSgt SSgt R. D. Burrows

After a very successful move from Antwerp Barracks to Talbot Barracks Alpha Tp were looking forward to relaxing at the Squadron Christmas function. This function involved three committee members from Alpha Tp, LCpl Mal Donaghy, Sig 'Krusty' Weller and Sig Rachel Reeve who spent the majority of the week before decorating the function room in Athelone Barracks. If I say so myself the room looked tree-mendous (there were Christmas trees everywhere). The SNCO in charge of the function SSgt Rookes kept the committee happy by buying them all drinks. The night was a success even when Sig Hepworth decided to grace us all with his dancing skills (please don't give up your day job). After a well-deserved leave Alpha Tp have been preparing for the PRE, Second line inspections and the forthcoming exercises. We are enjoying our time in our new barracks, as come November we will be deploying to Kosovo for six months. Congratulations must go to LCpl Davies, LCpl Jones, LCpl Barritt, LCpl Dodge who are newly promoted and to Sig Ashdown and Sig Heathcote who have also come off the Lance Corporal board. Finally it is time to say farewell to LCpl Elvis Jones who on his promotion has moved over to the dark side AKA Bravo Tp. Sig 'Jay' Martin and Sig 'Krusty' Weller who are both posted to Northern Ireland good luck to you both in your new troops. Alpha Tp would like to welcome LCpl Chris Parker from 1 (UK) Armd Div and Sig Virtue who has joined us straight from Blandford.

ALPINE SKI RACING AKA TWO MONTHS SKIING

by Lt S. Hughes

When I arrived at the Unit almost a year ago I was given the job of Unit Ski Officer, a job that I looked forward to doing. Being in a Brigade Signal Squadron I never believed that the opportunity to ski for two months would arise, it did and I took a team away to train and then to compete in competitions...

It all started in November at the Royal Signals Corps camp when Cpl Si Harris, Sig Chris Anderton, Sig Alex Light and myself began our training (in my case learning to ski properly).

(L-R): Sig Alex Light, Sig Chris Anderton, Cpl Si Harris and Lt Sofia Hughes - 200 Signal Squadron downhill racers!

The month of hard training paid off, as we all competed in the Corps championships and Cpl Si Harris came second. For the majority of the team this was the first opportunity to race, we were instantly nicknamed the cone heads and this stuck with us throughout the season. Sig Chris Anderton is shown here making his way to the start of a GS event.

Sig Chris Anderton - What do you mean I look like a cone head?

After the month of hard training and racing we were given Christmas leave to recover. In order to get our skiing legs back after Christmas the team went to Chamonix and took Sgt Andy Dawson along from 7 Sig Regt to train them. Our thanks go to him for helping us prepare for the Divisional Championships. During the week of pre-Divisional training the team worked hard and played hard, some of the team members decided to get in touch with their feminine side.

Cpl Si Harris and friend - Do I look camp?

The team then moved to Les Contamines to compete in the Divisional Championships. Overall they came third in the Minor Units Competition out of the possible five minor units. We thoroughly enjoyed our time skiing and would like to thank our boss Maj Standen for allowing us to ski and take part in the competitions.

BRAVO TROOP - by Lt J. Acton

Tp Comd Lt J. Acton
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Gibbins

Life has been relatively busy in Bravo Tp since the return from Christmas leave, despite the lack of major exercises. This probably had something to do with half the Troop being absent for three weeks to take part in an 'arduous, challenging, physical exercise' – at least, that was how Lt Acton described almost a month's Alpine and Nordic skiing at the 1 Div Championships in France. At least they brought back some silver. In the meantime, LCpl Dickenson has left the unit for the sunnier (?) climes of Northern Ireland, whilst badly needed fresh bodies have been provided in the shape of LCpl Gobie and Sig Beavis, farewell and welcome respectively. The other new(ish) face in the Troop is that of LCpl Jones, who picked up his tape and an internal transfer to the premier Comms Troop within the squadron in the same month! Welcome to you as well. Congratulations are also due to be given to LCpls Cooper, Lewis and Walker, who were all promoted after Christmas, who now can't use the excuse, '...but I'm just a siggy...' All three discovered their hard-earned extra pennies soon disappeared with the added responsibilities of rank as they all 'volunteered' to buy the rest of the Troop a few diet Pepsis in the Squadron bar to celebrate. Hectic times are ahead with several squadron training exercises leading into Ex Rhino Charge in April. PRE and second line inspections have somehow slipped into the middle and the Troop Comd still needs to be reminded not to arrive at work in a ski suit and goggles. Sgt Corcoran keeps on muttering 'It'll all turn out fine in the end', and who knows – he may even be right!

ULTIMATE GAP YEAR - by 2Lt Nilene Hennessey

I'd been with 20 Armoured Brigade for barely four days and already had my first windup – Cpl Thubron told me the RSM wanted me to fetch the keys to the indoor grenade range – I suppose seeing LCpl Doyle doubled up with laughter should have alerted me... I am a Gap Year Commission Officer. After a month at Sandhurst I went out to 20 Armoured Brigade Headquarters and Signal Squadron (200) in Sennelager for four days before Christmas, just to get to meet the people here and enjoy the Christmas parties. I was given three weeks off for Christmas and I went home to South Africa, it was a treat seeing the sun again! On returning I went to join Lt Sofia Hughes and Lt James Acton and their skiing teams in Les Contamines, where they were competing in 1 UK Armd Division Skiing Championships. It was fantastic, first time skiing, almost first time in snow actually! The rest of this year is going to be just as good. It's filled with different courses – in two weeks I'm doing a parachuting course here in Bad Lippspringe. As I'm shadowing James Acton I will be getting to see what its like to be a Troop Commander, in a sense. At the end of this year I will be going to St. Andrews University, and then after that possibly do a Regular Commission.

NORDIC SKIING AKA HARD WORK

by Sig Nathan Fearn

On the 16 of November 200 Sig Sqn sent its Nordic Team to the Royal Signals Winter Sports Training Camp in Zell am See in Austria. Out of the six of us only a few had any experience. The worst thing for us was the fact that the snow was very sparing and that we were made to do lots of 10km road and mountain runs. Our training also included roller-blading (much to Capt Ben Fitch's disgust). Eventually the snow fell and we travelled for an hour each day to find that we had so much work to do as the majority of the first day was spent on our faces. Unfortunately at the end of the camp there was no Nordic competition as the snow had disappeared. Before the Divisional championships we stayed in Chamonix for a week. We originally thought that we would drink lots of beer and have a relaxing holiday. However, Lt James Acton had a different plan and being in charge of the team he beasted us all around several loupes. At least we could now practice on snow. Just when we thought we had it just right we put on the wrong wax and were overtaken by OAP's! After this training phase we entered in the Divisional Competition and it was time to put on the sexy Lycra suit as modelled by Lt James Acton.

Lt James Acton - We ve just won the Minor Units competition

Sig Steph Bogart competed in our team and was the only female to compete in a mixed team and beat several males even though she had only been on snow for three weeks. She won a medal at the Divs for the Best effort. She then went on to the Army competition and won a gold medal in the 15km Classic as a senior novice.

Sig Steph Bogart at the start of the 4 X 10 Km Biathlon Sprint

During the competition phase we lost Sig John Walker, as he needed to return to Paderborn on a course, then Sig Mark Harris damaged his wrist. That left Lt James Acton, LCpl Eddie Gregory, Sig Steph Bogart and myself to compete in all the events including the Patrol race. At the end of all the hard work we came away first at the Minor Units competition. We now need a rest after all the hard work.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt K. A. Jones
Tp SSgt SSgt H. Cappelman

QUARTERMASTER DEPARTMENT PERSONALITIES

QM Capt K. A. Jones
RQMS WO2 G. W. Beech

The return from Christmas leave proved to be return the ' nose to the grindstone' as the Department prepared for hand-over of QM's. Out going QM, Maj (QM) Mick Bohanan, carefully explained exactly what he required for the arrival of the incoming QM, Capt (QM) Kevin Jones. With its usual effectiveness and a few unusual late nights everything was ready and the Squadron was handed over successfully. Thanks go to everyone involved in the hand-over for a job well done. All that remains to be said is the Department wishes Maj Bohanan and Jackie all the best in Cyprus with his new job as OC Support Squadron JSSU and to welcome Capt Jones and his wife Jane. The King is dead. Long live the King. Apart from the hand-over the other major event of recent months has been the squadron move into Talbot Barracks. The majority of the groundwork has now been completed with only the Singlies accommodation and Restaurant currently remaining in Antwerp Barracks. Plans are afoot to move them by the end of February so hopefully by the time you read this the whole Squadron will be in Talbot Barracks. This will be the first time in 18 months that the Squadron has occupied the same barracks. With a couple of exercises looming, preparation for and the convening of a Board of Officers, the move of Brigade HQ and a couple of other things on the agenda it may well be that some of those noses will be looking slightly shorter than usual in the not to distant future. Oh well. Roll on November when we deploy on Op Agricola to Kosovo for a well-earned rest.

MOTOR TRANSPORT

After a splendid Christmas break the MT is open for buisness. A fond farewell goes out to Sgt Rog Moore and his wife Stephanie on a posting to 21 Sig Regt (AS), Cpl Doick and his wife Ann, on promotion to Sergeant and a posting to 1 (UK) Armd Div. Thanks go to both of you for all you did at the Squadron. We would like to welcome the following into the MT, Sgt Aide Haslam who joins us from 16 Sig Regt and waits for his family to join him and Sig Lee Armstrong on his welcomed return to the unit. Good luck to all of you

7 ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (207)

Sqn Comd Maj Mark Roberts
RSM WO1 (RSM) Mark Tivey

This issue, a few articles from the major events over the past few months; an adventurous training expedition to Nepal - Ex Himal Diamond, a high profile visit from the Colonel in Chief, Her Royal Highness The Princess Royal, the Satisfied Soldier scheme, the 2000/2001 skiing season and the first visit of our new Commander.

EXERCISE HIMAL DIAMOND
16 OCTOBER TO 14 NOVEMBER 2000

Ex Himal Diamond, was an adventure training exercise set up by Capt Adam Corkery. It was designed as a long distance trek from Jiri into the heart of the Khumbu region of the Nepalese Himalaya. The team, consisting of Capt Adam Corkery, Cpl Roger Mortimer, Cpl Daz Pickard, Sigs Kev Cannon, 'Magic' McDermott and Chris Nixon paraded outside the Troop office at 0900hrs, Monday 16 October, just in time to see the rest of the Squadron deploying on Ex Rodents Revenge. We all felt really guilty (honest). The journey to Munster Airport and on to Heathrow was pretty uneventful apart from a few overweight bergans but we passed through the airports without any real difficulty. After a little time in the UK before the flight to Nepal, we all met up at Heathrow on the Wednesday with a 16-hour flight ahead of us. After a short stopover in Abu Dhabi, we arrived in Kathmandu on 18 October 2000. The first couple of days in Kathmandu were quite an eye opener with everything from beggars to street sellers. Roger 'It's beautiful mate' Mortimer became the group's first and main shopper with Daz Pickard attracting every single con artist from miles around. For our first meal, we all opted for steak that was pleasant enough until the Boss announced half way through that '…It might not actually be beef!' - cheers for the warning! On our 10-hour trip to Jiri we encountered everything from broken seats to near-broken knees and a burst tyre on a mountain road, which the driver and the locals fixed in quite an impressive time. Jiri was small but it was quite literally the end of the road and comprised mostly of lodge houses or small stores set up at the front of the houses. This was it: the start of the trek...

The first week was actually some of the hardest trekking of the whole expedition as the altitude was low enough to be able to cover a good distance each day, and the whole team felt suitably tired but rewarded by each evening. The scenery amongst the foothills was awesome and at altitudes of up to 3500m, they would have classed as mountains in their own right anywhere else in the world. We all experienced a few new situations from beggars with tales of appalling poverty and hardship to wild and very dodgy mooshrooms (spelling by Chris) to injuries and disease that had an effect on the group as a whole. We also had a couple of days of rain in the first week during which Chris tried to prove that a Buffalo jacket was waterproof and then spent many hours drying out the evidence! Science has not yet found out why feet smell but we wished that someone would find a cure for 'Magic' and Kev's. They are the only guys that can clear a room in seconds just by taking their boots off! We reached the relative haven of Namche Bazaar on Day Seven of the trek and we were all glad of an opportunity to rest whilst acclimatising to the altitude. With knees rested and stomachs replenished from the new German bakery, we were ready to enter the upper Khumbu and over the next week, spent short days slowly gaining height and walking towards our goals of Kala Pattar and Chukhung Ri.

The Group in the Upper Khumbu with Mt Ama Dablam in the background

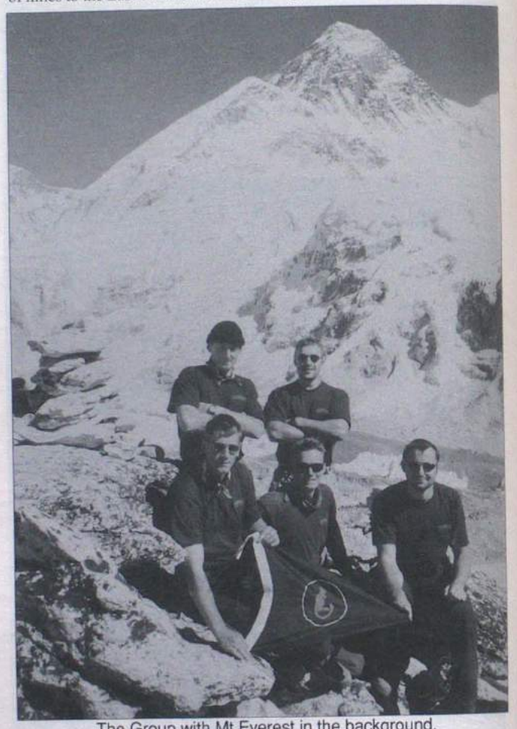
Arriving in the village of Lobuche on Day Thirteen, one of the party was struck with a case of mild altitude sickness and felt unable to proceed the next day. The remainder of us went on up to the high point of Kala Pattar at 5500m - a long slog from Lobuche but with some quite outstanding and very worthwhile views of Everest which was just a couple of miles to the East but three kilometres higher!



The Group with Mt Everest in the background, a mere 3,000ft higher!

After a few photos and a hasty descent back to our hovel in Lobuche, another of the party became unwell with mountain sickness and a descent the next day was the only option.

A lot of good quotes came out during the trek - the most memorable was from the boss on the leg from Khumjung to Tengboche, 'Today's leg guys is a traverse followed by a slight rise at the end.' A typical Rodney understatement for what turned out to be an enormous climb!

Dingboche provided welcome relief from the altitude and all felt well enough to continue up to Chukhung and an attempt on Chukhung Ri, a small peak dominated by the awesome South face of Lhotse, the fourth highest mountain in the world. Days Seventeen to Twenty were spent losing height back to a mountain airstrip in a village called Lukla where we were to fly back to Kathmandu from. The runway is carved out of the side of a valley and must be the least level in the world. Careering down the side of a mountain in a Twin Otter at an angle of about 15 degrees is an experience none of us will forget for a while I suspect! Back in Kathmandu was a chance for yet more shopping and some sightseeing. We went to visit a temple that was a real eye-opener as we could see the place where the locals bring their dead for open-air cremation. We also experienced some more of the culture that has been developed over the last 2500 years including the Sadhus - funny men who grow their hair long in dreadlocks and smoke drugs all day and practice a form of yoga. They earn money by donations and by letting the tourists take photos of them in contorted positions. This was pretty much the culmination of the trip away apart from, the trip back to Hohne. All in all, Ex Himal Diamond was a great success and all those who took part benefited in many ways. We all came away with a greater level of self-reliance and confidence, fitter and certainly more culturally aware.

Celebration drinks in Kathmandu
at the end of Exercise Himal Diamond

MEDAL PRESENTATION BY THE COLONEL IN CHIEF HER ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCESS ROYAL
10 NOVEMBER 2000

Friday 10 November was a day that the Squadron will not forget in a hurry. In an event that drew the line between our deployment on Op Agricola III in Kosovo and our re-rolling to warfighting, the presentation of our NATO medals had been eagerly anticipated. For our hard work within the freezing temperatures of snow-covered Pristina in February to the scorching heat waves in August, we were to be rewarded by having a personal visit from our Colonel In Chief. Accompanying Her Royal Highness was the Representative Colonel Commandant, Maj Gen Stokoe and the Regimental Secretary, Col (Retd) Carter. Soon to be Alpha Tp Commander, 2Lt Karen Moore managed to escape her Troop Commanders' course to act as ADC to our Colonel in Chief. On a cold, windy day in Hohne the Squadron had prepared not just the usual 'on the parade square' medal ceremony. So that we could explain exactly what life was like out on tour, we decided to set up a series of displays in the field to cover the main aspects of our deployment. SSgt Dave Sloane presented the Armoured Headquarters that deployed six times throughout the tour. Capt (QM) Dave Wilson then gave a tour of Echelon highlighting the extraordinary low level of resources that were available to support a Brigade Headquarters of over 500 personnel. Lt Andy Hill presented the final stand portraying SYSCON, Spec Tasks and a simulated Rear Link Detachment. Her Royal Highness surprised many of us with her genuine interest and in-depth knowledge of the detail of the stands. Her Royal Highness also presented LS & GC medals to Cpl Gav Dent and Sgt Dave Schofield and the Accumulated Service Medal to Jack Walker. In return, the Mayor of Bergen presented our Colonel In Chief with the Bergen Medal of Honour, and Sgt Gaz Higham's son Dale presented the legendary Silver Rat. All in all, after nearly two weeks of preparation, the visit was a tremendous success. For many it was the first time that they had met their Colonel in Chief, a memory that will remain for a very long time.

SATISFIED SOLDIER - by LCpl Johnston

I recently returned from an attachment to Glasgow Army Careers Office as part of the Satisfied Soldier Programme. On arrival at the careers' office three other Signallers and I were briefed on the dos and don'ts when dealing with the members of the public and the criteria for possible applicants to meet. After that, I was straight in with the public. It was a varied experience in the type of situations I dealt with from discussing my experiences with applicants to reassuring terrified mothers. I even had to break the unfortunate news to one individual that he couldn't join the Army to evade a spell at Her Majesty's Pleasure! I thoroughly enjoyed my time in Glasgow Careers office and would recommend participation in the satisfied Soldier Scheme to all.

FIRST VISIT BY NEW COMMANDER. BRIGADIER G. BINNS MBE MC
1FEBRUARY 2001

A bitterly cold and snowy day was host to the first visit to the Squadron by the new Commander of 7 Armd Bde, Brig G. Binns MBE MC. After a walk around the Squadron offices and garages, the Brigadier moved to the field for lunch followed by a medal presentation to those individuals absent on duty for the visit of Her Royal Highness. He then spoke briefly but in glowing terms to all ranks of the reputation of the Signal Squadron and his desire to start working with us. After a presentation by the OC on the role and organisation of the unit, the commander was then escorted around the various Troops and spoke individually to the majority of people present. The day ended with the Commander and the Squadron both happy and looking forward to a continued good working relationship for the future.

ALPINE SKIING SEASON 2000 / 2001 - by LCpl Jennings

This season's 7 Brigade Ski Team consisted of Capt Adam 'Nice Socks' Corkery, Lt Andy 'Have you seen my shoes' Hill, LCpl Mick 'Fathead' Jennings and last but not least, Sig Paul Wraight. The Corps Skiing Championships in Austria was the first competition of the season and got us off to a good start. The team went on to win the Giant Slalom, come second in the Slalom and gain the Silver overall. With team medals and prizes galore the team took a well-deserved break over the Christmas stand down. On arrival back in Hohne the team prepared for a further ten days racing in the 1 (UK) Armoured Division Ski Championships located in the French Alps. There was some excellent weather and some hard racing, the team carried on in good form and collected the Minor Units (Germany) Trophy. Capt Adam Corkery, Lt Andy Hill and Sig Paul Wraight capped of the excellent result by qualifying for the Army Championships. Unfortunately they were brought back down to Earth as they were summoned back to Camp to get on with some graft! All in all it was an excellent season for the Squadron and they achieved some impressive results to build on for next year. By the way, if anyone finds a pair of Fila shoes and a green fleece in 'Crazy Daisy's' bar please return them to Lt Andy Hill, - he's had very cold and wet feet since December!

The Alpine Ski Team
(L-R): Sig Paul Wraight, Capt Adam Corkery, Lt Andy Hill and LCpl Mick Jennings with the Viking Trophy

19 MECHANISED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (209)

Sqn Comd Maj Paul Peel
RSM WO1 (RSM) Miles Webb

It seemed like only yesterday that the Squadron was returning after six weary months in Kosovo, yet here we are again, all packed up and ready to take over from 3 Cdo Bde Sig Sqn, so there is a sense of déja-vu for many in the Squadron. Since practising our brigade movement skills on a number of exercises towards the end of last year, we have spent most of our time working up to the imminent deployment for what will be a very different tour from last year. That included an 'amusing' three days with the OpTAG team, learning how to say things like 'tung, si jeni', and getting a thorough chest-poking from interpreters, (some more embarrassing than others). Congratulations go out to Maj Peel, SSgt 'Storeman' Smithurst and LCpl 'MT' Berry on their GOC's Commendations for their work in Kosovo last year, and to Sgt Mick Clarkson for his Air Officer Commanding No 2 Group's Commendation. Also to WO1 'Don't you know who I am, I'm the' (RSM) Miles Webb for being selected for commissioning (and the Corps RSM job if he wants it) and WO2 (FofS) Nick 'My name's spelled' ter Morsche and SSgt Steve Legg for their LS&GC Medal. Praise also to the 2IC, Capt Alex 'Elvis' Clixby, for managing to pronounce the Foreman's name about seven different ways during the citation. Did the SOinC notice?

You can get LS&GC Medals in Christmas crackers these days!
(L-R): Maj Peel, SSgt Legg, Brig Burton, WO2 (FofS) ter Morsche, WO1 (RSM) Webb

ALPHA TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Graham Clarke
Tp SSgt SSgt Jase Smithurst

On return from a very boozy extended Christmas break, the Troop has changed dramatically. First of all, we would like to welcome Cpl Robinson, Cpl Russell, LCpl Horsburgh and Sig Birkett to the Troop, and to wish Cpl Alexander good luck in his posting to 1 Div, (rather him than me). Things have been pretty hectic during the build-up to Op Agricola 5, but not without the chance of having a few Troop days out. Special mention must be made of Sig Thomas who was hilarious on our Troop Initiative Day. Also 2Lt Graham 'Billy Whizz' Clarke, not only for looking like a Beano character, but also for his extremely long account of what he and his Troop have been up to for the last few months.

BRAVO TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Simon 'Eric' Bristow
Tp SSgt SSgt Eric 'Taff' Williams

This has been a busy period for the Troop, as we have not only been preparing for our deployment, but pre-empting anything which needs doing in the next few months that we won't be able to do in theatre, namely destroying our livers! As well as the Troop curry night which left a number of the Troop feeling a little worse for wear the following morning, we had the infamous Troop 'Mystery Tour'. With no idea of what was to come, the Troop was dropped off in Darlington in camouflage (ie: dressed semi-convincingly as civvies), split into groups, and given a number of tasks to complete, including having to make their way to Richmond. Within a few hours, people had been back to school, swept litter off the streets, test-driven sports cars, and even arranged blind dates for Saturday night. Sadly for Cpl 'Smiler' Breaks he was stood up and left to keep himself entertained for the night, (no change there then)!

There was also the golf afternoon, where LCpl Chris 'Fore' McKechnie successfully herded the Troop around nine holes of Stressholme Golf Course. The afternoon was enjoyed by all, but was made even more amusing by Sig 'Harry' Harrison sporting the latest in golfing attire, the water-prone SSgt Eric 'Splash' Williams and the exceptionally bad golfing skills of the boss, Lt Simon 'You mean the balls supposed to go forwards?' Bristow. With the arrival of OpTAG training, Bravo Tp has become no more for the next 4fi months (RIP), having re-formed as HQ Tp. The lucky members of the Troop were fortunate to stay with HQ Tp, but the majority of the Signallers have been temporarily transferred to Radio Tp under 2Lt Clarke and SSgt Smithurst. Although they spent weeks crying and begging not to endure such torture, they were eventually carried down the corridor kicking and screaming, and had to be locked in Alpha Tp's crew room to stop them going AWOL. Come on guys, 4fi months isn't that long!

Aside from all that, congratulations go to Cpls 'Big' John Quinn and 'Oz' Gambles, LCpls 'Greg' Robinson, Paul Tunnacliffe, Chris 'The Golfer' McKechnie and Lindsey Rakocevic who are all wearing their new rank, and to Sig Mike Whatmough who has been selected for promotion but is yet to wear the tapes. If you guys can get promoted, there's hope for the rest of us! Goodbyes go to Sig Kevin 'sorry I'm late' Herbison, enjoy Blandford, and to Sig Chris Lane, good luck in civvy street. Good luck also to LCpl Chris McKechnie as he temporarily detaches himself to Blandford for his re-trade course, (leave the little Siggies alone). See you in eight months!

1 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (215)

5 DIV CROSS COUNTRY LEAGUE - by Sig Hartfield

The running season is upon us once more and so, ably led by SSgt Chris Coates, the Squadron searched out its racing snakes and entered them in the 5 Div Cross Country League. The team has excelled thus far coming second in the Army Relay Championships, held at Bulford, and fourth in the Royal Signals Championships held at 21 Sig Regt, Collerne. Even our finely tuned athletes (really) deserve a break from all the exertions of the season. After the Royal Signals Championships at Collerne were out of the way it was straight down to the metropolis of Bath for a night of, ermmmmm….. socialising. The Spanish and American students seemed really impressed with our stories of running and running, honest! They must have pictured us as a team of Forest Gumps. That was until Cpl ' Two Teeth' Chadwick got on the scene and then it was the students turn to run and run and run. There are still races left this season but as for the nights out we'll wait for Collerne again as next year Cpl 'Two Teeth' is posted.

SIERRA LEONE

During October/November Staff from 1 Mech Bde were tasked to provide a Headquarters in support of British Forces in Sierra Leone. In response to this, elements of the 215 Sig Sqn were put on standby to go. After much deliberation on what and who to take 'The chosen few' were deployed to Freetown under control of the QM, Maj Fred 'I love fish' Payet and WO1 RSM 'Johno' Johnston. On arrival in Freetown a lot of the boys went down with the dreaded travel belly. Blame apportioned to some very dodgy food eaten during the overnight stay in Dakar and so most spent their first few days in theatre crammed into a cubicle designed for one. To greet us in Freetown were Sgt 'No hair now' Eastman and Cpl 'Two Teeth' Chadwick, fresh from their voyage of the Seven Seas. The local job centre was being run by SSgt Mick 'Steiner' Brown, who in his first few days had employed half the Sierra Leonian population to work at Jamil Lodge aka 'The Palace'. Unfortunately comms jobs were few and far between due to our colleagues from 30 Sig Regt, so under the guidance of Lt/Capt Pete 'Beaker' Brunton (congrats on the promotion) we went about providing the other essential life support requirements to the Headquarters. The time we did get off was rare and usually spent down on Lumley Beach. LCpls Steve 'Beach Boy' Giroux and Franny 'nice tan' Francis claiming the most hours on the beach. Christmas was made bearable by Sgt Dave 'Duff, Duff, Duff' Duff and his merry band of helpers in the sauna, I mean kitchen. The New Year's Eve celebrations rocked, or should I say splashed thanks to all the lads filling the swimming pool using the two water bowsers. They do have a purpose after all!

EXERCISE WHITE WALL DRAGON KESWICK

As with most adventure training packages we had to wait for early February (Nice weather), before we started trawling the available manpower to dig out the lucky unfortunates for the week's trip to the Lake District. First thing Monday morning we were all mustered wearing jeans and designer tops, everything that wasn't on the kit list. After twenty minutes of throwing everything that wasn't tied down into the back of the transit, we set off. Six hours later we arrived, the drizzle was out to welcome us. It's a shame nobody else was. We had the campsite to ourselves, obviously not peak season. Then came the fun bit, trying to erect our Gucci, all singing, all dancing inflatable tent.

Big enough for all, or so we were told. It just so happened that each night in the early hours, as if on a timer it decided to deflate itself. By the second night most were sleeping in the mini-bus, anything with a permanent roof. After a hectic Monday night checking out the Lake District's only bar, we awoke wearing the tent's roof. We quickly dried ourselves off and then set off for Skiddaw. Up we went and down we came. Then it was into Keswick for an admin/shopping trip, mintcake all round. The next day the intrepid adventurers, led by the illustrious leader Lt 'G-Man' Wills, attempted Hellvellyn, England's third highest peak, but due to the weather conditions 'we failed'. With a tear in our eye after the previous days failure we decided to up the ante and conquer the illustrious summit of 'Cat Bells' the Lake District's 349th highest peak, phew! Although the weather could have been better we all achieved our objectives, our wallets are considerably lighter and we're all far better at darts

16 AIR ASSAULT BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (216)

Sqn Comd Maj N. Fraser
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. Drew

In line with the rest of 16 Air Asslt Bde the Squadron has had another busy period involving a number of exercises of which two were overseas – Ex Iron Hawk, in Canada, and just before the Christmas stand down Ex Suman Warrior, in Malaysia. Post stand down the Unit has quickly been put to task with Ex Parthian Shot, a Squadron Training Exercise, followed by Ex Eagles Flight, a Brigade Air Concentration on SPTA with the Squadron providing EXCON facilities. Pre-Para Courses and Basic Parachute Courses continue at pace and gradually the Squadron is addressing short falls in parachute trained personnel. The re-structured Training Wing, under the guidance of Capt John Griffiths, is now beginning to flex it's muscles with revised training programmes focusing on trade skills, unit fitness and military training, all designed to maximise the collective performance of the Unit.

Despite a busy period, postings in and out remain fluid. The Squadron would like to say farewell to Sgts Frank McGuinness and Al Combes, whom both depart on promotion to 3 (UK) Div Sig Regt and 30 Sig Regt respectively. Lt Rob Hamilton who leaves on early promotion to Romeo Tp – best get polishing those pearl handle six shooters and arranging that Stetson. Also farewell to Sgt Gileard to 24 Regt RLC, Cpl Barringer to PJHQ, Cpl Hoskins to Aborfield (tasked to identify 'likely lads' for 216), Cpl Ayre AGC to the Posties, LCpl Simpson to COMSEC Tp and LCpl Chackfield to 280 Sig Sqn. Postings in have been equally numerous – big changes have taken place in the Troops with SSgt Dez Elderidge from 31 Sig Regt and Sgt Pete Dimmack from 14 Sig Regt both arriving at A Tp, and 2Lt Dean Atkinson taking over the helm at B Tp. To those recently arrived – welcome.

Congratulations and well done goes to all those who came off the recent promotion boards; as with the postings in and out they are too numerous to mention. Several are staying in the unit to make use of their experience. Also congratulations to those Squadron personnel who have managed to beat the winter weather to complete their jumps courses – we all look forward to your 'punch nights'!

EXERCISE IRON HAWK (12 SEPTEMBER – 7 OCTOBER 2000)

Ex Iron Hawk was a HQ 3 (UK) Div led FTX in BATUS. The Div's constituent Brigades were represented by HQ 16 Air Asslt Bde and the Lead Recce Task Force (LRTF) HQ. A number of milestones and 'firsts' were achieved during Ex Iron Hawk, not the least of which was the successful deployment of the Lead Aviation Task Force and the first Division sized deployment to BATUS.

For the Squadron, Ex Iron Hawk had two distinct phases. The first saw a small number of dets providing intra theatre HF and INMARSAT comms support to 3 AAC BG and the Pathfinder Platoon on build-up training in the first month of the exercise. This was followed by the deployment of the Brigade Main HQ, initially as an EXCON supporting the LAvnTF TES exercise and subsequently as a player HQ during the Div TES phase. It was the first (and only) time this year that the Brigade HQ has worked with a UK higher formation HQ. This provided an excellent opportunity for both the Brigade and the Squadron to advertise the strengths and weaknesses of air asslt operations when used in conjunction with conventional armoured formations. Whilst the scope of the exercise proved less challenging from a comms point of view than we had initially anticipated, the size of the training area and the limited assets available forced us to rely on HF comms throughout. This proved challenging, but ultimately successful; defying all the scaremongers who'd previously said that HF comms were unworkable in BATUS.

A trip to Canada wouldn't have been complete without taking the opportunity to take in some of the local culture and do a spot of adventure training. Medicine Hat provided some entertainment whilst Calgary proved a more popular destination for those in search of some more intensive R'n'R. The adventure training package was run by 3 (UK) Div and gave a few of the Squadron the opportunity to try free-fall parachuting, para-gliding and white water rafting to name but a few of the activities. No report on an OTX would be complete without mentioning the weather - it started hot and dry, then rained, then froze and then went very windy. At minus 17°C it was colder than most of us had expected and the snow made our camnets stand out brilliantly!

EXERCISE GREEN TALON (16 – 28 OCTOBER 2000)

Ex Green Talon was a LABTF ex based on 3 Para to welcome them back from five years in the wilderness. The exercise was based on two key phases: a airborne operation into Otterburn after the initial planning and rigging at AMC South Cerney followed by a redeployment to Carlisle airport and a TALO/RAL operation into the STANTA area. Unsurprisingly for Otterburn in October the weather was destined to be foul for the planned Friday drop. Despite this drills were carried out, the parachute pax deployed managed to get a 'fun' jump from the Skyvan and everyone prepared to go to red on and then sit back down to return to Lyneham. The Squadron Ops Team and Air Adjt, Capt John Griffiths, furiously worked and reworked contingency plans to recover MSPs, wedges and pax from the possible divert options. However, with blind optimism the 15 ship stream headed north with an airborne UHF relay courtesy of 70 Sqn to provide the Bde Comd the live feed from the Pathfinder Platoon, with Squadron personnel deployed in the patrols as usual. In Chalk 2, the OC on his first Brigade jump managed to get '1000, 2000' out before meeting the DCOS's feet in his face! After a brief entanglement they managed to land safely and join the rest of the Tac staff and communicators tabbing off the darkening DZ. After a couple of hours de-rigging the Para Tac crew arrived in surprisingly undamaged wagons and joined the rest of the para pax for a long bus trip back to Colchester and an operational pause. 48 hours later the Squadron was up at Carlisle airport planning and preparing for a TALO/RAL deployment. During the second assault, from Lt Tac and Para Tac plus a few TSBs we then ended up with 4 HQs on the ground ranging from Cpl Richardson and a few radios with the Comd, WO2 (YofS) Jones and a skeleton staff in the dome tent having tactically moved across STANTA, the rest of the Ops Team and Tac staff in Para Tac having been delivered by a combined SH/road insert, and a dormant HQ of dismounted kit back in Sculthorpe. Stretched to the limit, and despite a dodgy patch of HF in the night, comms held for the 3 Para and 4 Regt AAC combined assault into the village.

The RSM aand OC Squadron practice their modelling stance for next year s C&A Catalogue

EXERCISE SUMAN WARRIOR (10 – 26 NOVEMBER 2000)

Ex Suman Warrior is an annual exercise organised and run on a rotation basis by those countries that form the Five Powers Defence Agreement (FPDA with SUMAN standing for Singapore, UK, Malaysia, Australia and New Zealand). This year the rotation of the exercise fell to the UK and in particular 16 Air Asslt Bde. Due to the proximity of the other countries to the UK the exercise, although the responsibility of the UK, took place in the town of Ipoh, Malaysia. The exercise took the form of a Multinational Brigade CPX – run by HQ 16 Air Asslt Bde with 216 Sig Sqn running various background activities and providing the usual command supports. Each national contingent had a BG (-) in country, except the UK which had BG HQs from 3 PARA and 4 AAC, and elements from other Brigade units, namely 7 RHA, 21 (AD) Bty, 36 Regt RE, Pathfinder Platoon and 13 CSS Bn. In all the Squadron had 60 personnel in country with another 140 from across the Brigade, including a large Brigade HQ contingent.

The stated aim of Ex Suman Warrior is to exercise elements of the FPDA Armies in Combined Operations with the objectives being to develop interoperability, extend knowledge of each others' organisation, equipment and unit capabilities, practise command and staff procedures in combined operations and to foster better relations and mutual understanding amongst FPDA countries. The exercise started with the necessary round of and they re off! — the race for the door

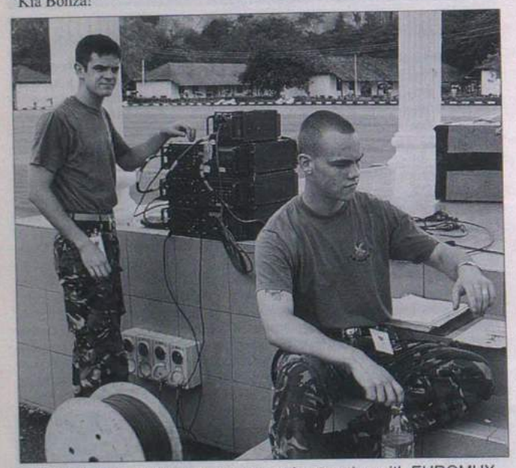
Contingent Armed Forces briefings and cross briefings on tactical operating procedures relevant to the forth coming CPX, for which Multinational Division (Central) were HICON with CAST (N) 'marshalling' the exercise play. Also as build up training HQ 16 Bde ran a TEWT based on the exercise scenario. The TEWT was conducted in multinational syndicates with the scenario based on a NZ BG assaulting a Coy position involving integral support from attack and support helicopters.

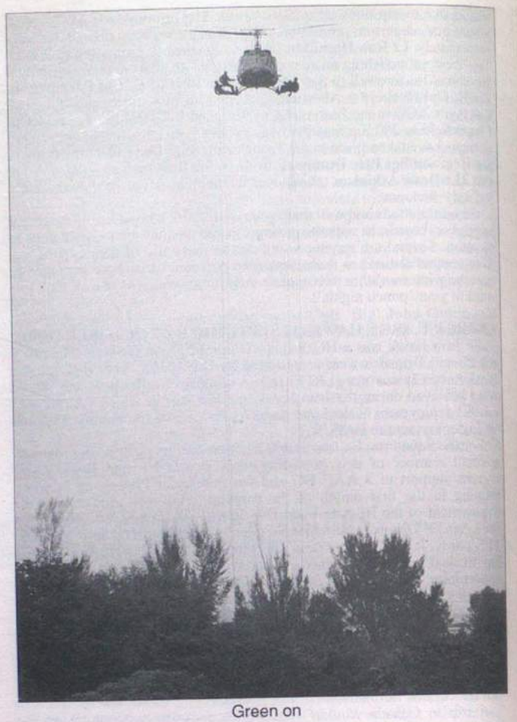
The CPX was programmed to last three days with two battles being fought. It started with the hardship of moving from air-conditioned offices into the uncomfortable working conditions of Brigade Main and BG tents. The heat and humidity combined with the frequent afternoon monsoon rains made for testing times especially when trying to maintain exercise CNR and Euromux comms. Running concurrently with the CPX were background activities – namely jungle familiarisation, helicopter abseiling, command tasks and 'potted sports'. The responsibility of which fell to the Sqn Trg Offr, Capt John Griffiths, with assistance in particular from jungle warfare instructors courtesy of the Pathfinder Platoon and heli abseiling courtesy of 7 Flt AAC with their Bell 212. The idea being that all those not involved in the CPX or real time exercise administration was split into multinational Platoons. Platoons rotated round the activities on a daily basis, although most afternoons saw those not wisely employed bused down to the local outdoor swimming pool or 'sight seeing' in Ipoh. All contingents agreed the background activities were a real success – it gave those not directly involved in the CPX an opportunity to view some of the country, work and socialise in multinational platoons and for many to experience a jungle environment for the first time. The day following the end of the CPX was set aside for the exercise tear down, post exercise party and the Contingent Rugby 10s Tournament. The latter of which many felt was the most important aspect of the entire exercise. On a heavily water logged and muddied pitch five teams took to the field (two UK teams were fielded as the Singaporeans had already decided rugby wasn't for them). The tournament was a real spectacle with some excellent rugby being played - congratulations going to the winning team, you guessed it - New Zealand, with the UK A Team coming a creditable second overall.

After the closing ceremony and post exercise party the contingents went on three days in-country stand down. The UK contingent was split between Kuala Lumpur and Penang – both locations involved four-star hotels, excessive drinking in the local bars and nightclubs, plenty of Christmas shopping, and mixing with all three genders. No overseas deployment would be complete without a long illustrious list of shame – a few deserve a special mention but what happens on tour stays on tour – 'Kia Bonza!'

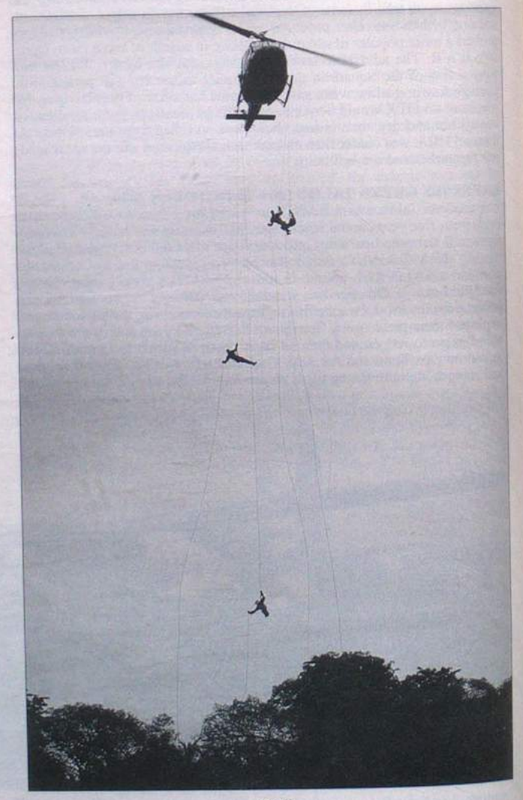


LCpl Ebdon and LCpl Browning getting to grips with EUROMUX

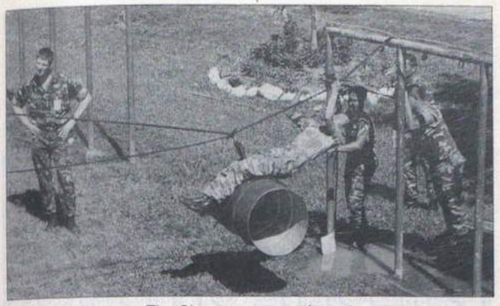
ORGANISING A FUND RAISING EVENT? WHY NOT PUBLICISE IT IN THE WIRE? WRITE AND LET US KNOW WHAT IS HAPPENING



Green on



GO!!



The Singaporean contingent fail to understand why there are actually no sharks, but tackle the command tasks anyway

A Brigade Instructor with the Australian Contingent

SERVICE OF REMEMBRANCE

Within Camp Sayed Putra lies a small cemetery, run by the Commonwealth War Graves Commisson, where British Army Gurkha soldiers killed in action during WW2 and the Malayan Emergency lie at peace. In a tranquil setting, surrounded by imposing cliffs, and to the sound of Highland Cathedral being played by a Malaysian army piper, members of the UK contingent assembled for a ceremony taken by the local Reverend, Dr S. Batumalai. The Brigade Comd dedicated a bench and laid a wreath to all those fallen while the OC laid a wreath on behalf of the Squadron, honouring a Royal Corps of Signals Gurkha, Cpl Rambahadur Gurung, who was killed on 7 July 1950.

The OC lays a wreath on Cpl Gurung's grave, Ipoh, Malaysia

EXERCISE PARTHIAN SHOT (8 – 19 JANUARY 2001)

Directly on return from Christmas stand down the Unit embarked on its first sqn level training exercise in twelve months. Ex Parthian Shot was conducted over a ten-day period and was split into two phases; phase one was run as cadre to teach those newly arrived in the Unit and the more junior soldiers the intricacies of the specialist communications used within the Brigade, combined with some basic military skills training. Phase Two saw a full Squadron deployment to various locations round the country. This second phase included a visitors day for Brigade staff recently arrived in the Brigade, outside agencies such as LAND and JHC, and other R Sigs Units with interests in the Brigade. The emphasis during phase two shifted to the planning and working of a multitude of communications systems over distance (particularly HF) and Troop level procedures in the establishment of the units various deployable headquarters. Day one saw the Brigade Main HQs deploy to SPTA and STANTA with Lt TAC parachuting on to Thorpe DZ to marry up with the pre-positioned Brigade TAC. Vehicle borne Rear Link Detachments were deployed to Bramcote, Colerne and Canterbury in order to simulate support provided to BGs and to achieve realistic distances over which to communicate. Each HQ saw at least one move with all deployed assets, accept B Tp Bde Main, re-deploying to Watton Airfield, STANTA, for the particularly successful visitors day. The exercise overall was a success – with the fluidity of recent postings in and out the need for sqn level training is viewed as extremely important. By the nature of the air asslt role the requirement for individuals at all levels to operate in isolation from the Squadron chain of command is something we must prepare for. This can only be achieved with confidence if sufficient training time is allocated to practice what we would do on operations. A big thank you should also go to the support provided by 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt and 249 Sig Sqn (AMF(L)) for the provision of a Trunk Node and two 501 Satcom Dets respectively. This enabled Ptarmigan coverage on SPTA and STANTA by means of a satellite bridge through Corsham Hub.

JUNGLE WARFARE INSTRUCTORS COURSE (JWIC)

by Sgt Thornton

As most will realise 16 Air Asslt Bde has a wide and varied role. It maybe called to operate in almost any climatic condition and recent events have highlighted the need for experience in jungle operations at all levels and across all arms. Within the last twelve months members of the Unit have deployed to three different jungle theatres. On operations in Sierra Leone, a Brigade Exercise in Malaysia and with 2 Para on Ex Native Trail in Belize.

The Course … after a long and tiresome flight Lt Toby Courage and myself arrived in Brunei. Having worked in and around an Infantry Brigade for the last few years, I expected a course run by the School of Infantry to hit you in the face and start off at a hectic pace. This was not the case and I was pleasantly surprised at how structured our build up was. The course was progressive, building up from acclimatisation through to a final demanding two-week exercise. The course is All Arms and all ranks, however the majority of the course was from infantry battalions. It covered jungle operations from individual skills all the way up to coy group level. The first exercise included basic lessons in jungle skills such as navigation (something which tests your navigational ability to the limit) and jungle survival. In the main it was designed to get you used to the strange environment that is the jungle. After more time spent covering classroom work and a fare amount of range practice including contact drills from individual to section level we deployed on the second exercise. This was ten days long and, although not tactical for the full ten days, it proved to be a lot harder than the first. It confirmed all of what had been taught to that point, i.e: navigation, survival, communications, heli operations and CTR's to name but a few. It also acted to get us further adjusted to the heat and noise of the jungle. It is not until you actually leave the jungle that you see what effect it has on your body. Many lost large amounts of weight and suffered at the hands of the extremely annoying insect population.

Following the second exercise we had a bit of a breather from what was turning out to be a fairly intensive course - three days R&R in Malaysia; just about enough time for Lt Courage's mosquito bites to clear. After catching up on our drinking skills it was back to tea-total Brunei. On our return we spent the last week before the final exercise covering boat operations and river crossings (an alarming fact was the ever-present requirement for a crocodile sentry). On insertion, during the final exercise the view from the helicopter across the jungle proved to be quite a sight. Once on the ground the exercise began in earnest. It was fully tactical for two weeks, which meant no hammocks. The thought of sleeping on the ground along with a massive insect population was not overly appealing, but it was not as bad as I had been lead to believe. The exercise itself covered all of what had been taught throughout the preceding weeks, namely CTR's, ambush and contact drills, camp attacks, coy defensive operations, the list goes on. On reflection the final exercise was hard but enjoyable testing all the components of jungle infantry operations.

Stig of the Dump or is it the Brew Boy?

The course has reinforced my view that within Royal Signals units there is need to train for all types of environment on a regular basis. Soldiering in any extreme of climate is testing but only by experiencing the difficulties can you hope to overcome them on operations when other pressures need to be dealt with. A point to note is that the one job that everyone wanted to avoid was radio operations. Without doubt the most physically demanding job on the course was being a HF or VHF radio op. Lt Courage (or Brew Boy as he was known) wanted the job but his comms skills weren't up to it! At the end of the course the SNCOs and officers stayed on for a couple of extra days to complete a water safety officer's package to enable them to run river crossings themselves. The JWIC was an excellent opportunity, which has enhanced my soldiering skills immensely. It was intensive, the spectrum of the syllabus was very broad indeed, but the training team was excellent. Special mention should be made of the Admin Officer, Capt Campbell R SIGNALS, who kept us all in dollars throughout and made sure we got our flights home for Christmas.

VISIT BY NORMANDY VETERAN MR TOM BENTLEY 6TH AIRBORNE DIVISION SIGNALS

On 25 January Charlie Tp hosted the visit of Mr Tom Bentley - a veteran who took part in Op Overlord. Mr Bentley served with 6th Airborne Division Signal Regiment and inserted by parachute into Normandy ahead of the D-Day landings of 6 June 1944. The visit was to mark his 80th birthday. The day included a brief on the unit and a walk around the Squadron lines and heritage room. While in the heritage room he spotted himself on a 6th Airborne Division Regimental photograph taken in April 1944 – approx two months before D-Day. He presented to the Squadron a framed photograph of himself boarding a modified Sterling bomber at 2200hrs on D-1 (5 June 1944) together with the original manifest, which included the name Lt Col Smallman-Tew (originator of the 'para-cord' lanyard worn by the unit to this day). His stories put into perspective how fortunate we are today and what a debt of gratitude we owe those that fought in the campaigns of World War I and II.

OC presents Mr Tom Bentley with a Squadron plaque

2001 – THE JOURNEY CONTINUES

The New Year has started as last year ended with the pace of life continuing to be extremely busy. The Squadron remains heavily committed to Brigade exercises, although in the margins time for squadron level training, adventure training, troop activities and sport remain high on the priority. Manning and equipment issues continue to be addressed at an equally frenetic pace. Little rest for the wicked and 2001 looks set to be as busy as 2000; but we wouldn't want it any other way.

THE 60th ANNIVERSARY AIRBORNE OFFICERS' DINNER

16 Air Assault Headquarters
& Signal Squadron (216)
will host the annual

AIRBORNE SIGNALS OFFICERS' REUNION DINNER AT CAYTHORPE COURT FRIDAY 27 JULY 2001

Returns will be dispatched in March to those officers eligible to attend. However, any ex-Airborne Officers not in receipt of a Return should contact:
Maj (QM) Steve Clarke on 01206 782784
or Col Mil (9)4651 2784

'Go To It!'

12 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (228)

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED
ARMY CUP BOXING

We were drawn against 9 Para Sqn RE in the Army Cup boxing and the task of getting the team together and their training fell as always to the RSM in the absence of a qualified person. The team of healthy volunteers were finally assembled and set to the task of getting fitter and learning the ancient art of pugilism from scratch. They only had four weeks to get ready after volunteering for the bravest thing that they had ever done. We trained hard and then harder and then our trainer told us to train even harder, so we did. After four weeks of this the team was finally selected for the fights. We were led into the night by LCpl 'Killer' Kelly – Rutherford in the first bout who achieved a very creditable stoppage which put us on an incredible 'high'. That was, however, to be our only high point of the evening against a very strong opposition. The team must however be commended for their efforts and they consisted of these brave souls: Sigs 'Flying Fists' Fallows, 'Machine' McGeorge, 'Lightning' Webb, 'Herby' Hide, 'Crazy' Hunt, 'Powerful' Perry, 'Fighter' Fenton and last but not least Sig 'Swede' Sweet. All of these brave men put their lives on the line that night for the Squadron and we were all immensely proud of them and look forward to next year and hopefully a little more success.

EXERCISE LION SUN

After the fun and festivities of Christmas and the New Year (everyone say 'Alka Saltzer' and 'Slim Fast'), we left the cold, wet shores of good old Blighty for the much warmer climate of Cyprus on Ex Lion Sun 1 2001 for a month's intensive training. The advanced party, including the Ops Officer, RSM, SSgt Dyer, Cpls 'Paddy' Briscoe, Al Wilson, LCpl Ross 'Everybody, let's get naked' Sharpe departed, just after the New Year celebrations had died down, paving the way for the main party's arrival on 9 January at RAF Akrotiri. The bags collected, we travelled down the coast to our new temporary home at Radio Sonde Camp just outside Happy Valley and Episkopi Garrison. On seeing Radio Sonde for the first time the first words to enter our minds were help, escape and freedom but we grew to like it there. The amenities weren't bad and we had the Sutler's Bar courtesy of H. Fazullah and Sons, to supply us with all sorts of consumables. Chocolate, Lager, tea/coffee, soft-drinks, lager, toiletries, lager, postcards/stamps, lager etc. etc. including now infamous burgers – I'm not quite sure what they were made of; plenty of cats around, not one cow!

After we unpacked the bags, came the more serious note of briefings on various types of issues relating to our stay. Security, health and safety, types of wildlife we might meet (hands up those afraid of rats, spiders, lizards, cockroaches and snakes), road safety (including pictures that would make you wince and go 'Ouch, thats gotta hurt' – those crazy Cypriots!). An informative briefing on infantry training, from section level up-to company-level from a Sergeant of the KOSBs (kill, kill, kill). On top of this came 'acclimatisation training' (BPFA and tabs, nice!) which set us up nicely for the next couple of weeks ahead. Over the next couple of weeks we had a rotation of ranges, adventure training and more in-depth infantry skills training ready for the final exercise. Highlights included night-nav (plenty of thorn bushes), learning how to blow out of as many orifices as possible whilst attacking an enemy position up-hill, the visit from the Brigade Commander and finding out if we could keep last night's meal down whilst sailing on a small boat (plenty failed!). Occasionally we were let off the leash, with the day trip to Paphos being very popular (something to do with the number of pubs and bars in the town. After all of the beat up training and in what seems no time at all, the final exercise arrived. Three days and three nights of pure heaven. It was time to put what we had learnt into practice.

Dawn broke on the rose-coloured cliffs as two ridged raiders carrying team SBS (yeah right! Faces included Sgt. Trev 'Get Some' Allen, Cpl Phil 'Who ate all the pies' Green, Sigs 'Bof' Walker, Al 'Where's my webbing' Sweet, 'Wookie' Stockdale and various others), made their way up-to the beach under simulated cover of fire. This was supplied by the Navy and to the accompaniment of 'The Ride of the Valkyries' playing in the background. One minute later, the main body of a Company-sized attack were given an impromptu lesson in how to swim with all your kit on from a landing craft. Wet, they stormed the beachhead fighting through up into a valley and beyond. The exercise had definitely begun. Over the next couple of days, we fought through various locations, carried out patrols and seemed to tab everywhere. Somebody who shall remain nameless decided that he wanted to visit the locals, taking the platoon with him but due to a small navigational error he got us lost! We also used helicopter lifts to storm an enemy stronghold in The Village and then in the good traditions of the military we spent 15 cold hours on the side of a hill, waiting to ambush the enemy.

With everything done and End-ex being called, it was only left for us to clean up, take some Squadron photos and look forward to the R+R phase and maybe take on a few rays. The R+R phase itself, was a 4-day boat trip to Egypt and Israel, a huge success! With everyone enjoying themselves, even if on the first night we had the worst storm for 10 years and some of the party who will remain nameless (the 2IC), took to sleeping in lifejackets for fear of a Titanic-style disaster. Which was obviously never going to happen. We also held a Squadron Smoker in the last week at the local rugby club. The platoons were tasked to produce a 10 minute skit which they set about with relish. 2 Platoon managed a skit about how things went on exercise, with Cpl Paddy Briscoe playing the part of the OCs radio op. This showed us how easy it is to be the OC. Everybody does the hard work and he gets to lead people to certain death at the hands of unscrupulous enemies. 3 Platoon worked on the theme of Man Oh Man ably led by our industrious clerk, Pte Cheryl Roberts, assisted by Sig Pippa Lavenu who then destroyed the egos of the command team completely getting them to reveal their innermost secrets. It is also rumoured that they can also dance a bit but that is another story. In conclusion the Exercise was a huge success and we all learnt so much. Cyprus was an experience everyone will remember for a long time to come for a great many reasons some good some bad and some that we don't talk about! We are now back in the real world and the tan is fading and we are looking forward to the exercise season on Salisbury Plain and Canada.

238 (LONDON) SIGNAL SQUADRON

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj Ian Seraph
SSM WO2 (SSM) Ewan Hall

MIKE TROOP
Tp Comd Capt (TOT) Bob Nicol
Tp Sgt Sgt Andrew Twizell

The last couple of months have seen a number of departures from the Troop. Goodbye and good luck to Mick Ambler who has left the Army and is now working oh so hard for a living with 'One to One'. The Troop also says farewell and congratulations to Cpl Steve Mesmer who is posted to the Unicom Team at Worthy Down and promoted to Sergeant on posting, again we wish him well. There have also been a number of welcome additions to the Troop. A big hello goes to Cpl Chris Bain and his wife Cheryl who join us from Northern Ireland. The welcome handshake is also extended to LCpl Wes O'Connor who joins us after completing his T3 at Blandford. The New Year has already been a busy period for the Troop, especially the hard task of cramming in the remaining leave entitlement for this leave year. The ACISG led by Sgt Chris Jacobs but ably abetted by Cpl Paul Smith and his team continues with the ongoing process of updating all the IT within London. The FRT's as always remain constantly employed. Sgt Cory Pennicott although a member of the Troop never seems to be here at present doing.....whatever. Where are you, Cory? Good luck to LCpl Wes O'Connor who has just started a computer repair course in Cirencester, the first from this Troop on this particular course. Radio Section consisting of Sgts Andy Carnegie and Andrew Twizell continue to do its Radio thing, believe me we are busy. The Section eagerly awaits the new stock of radio equipment to issue to all the guardrooms within London and bring them up into the early twentieth century! Finally, the Troop says hello to Sigs Andy Milne and Tim Peacock, detached to Bosnia/Kosovo. We haven't forgotten you.

OSCAR TROOP – by Cpl McChesney
Tp Comd Maj (Tfc) Carl Storey
Tp Sgt Sgt Mandy Eardley

The military presence within the Troop itself has diminished somewhat in the past few months, as the civilian element has taken over the general day to day running of the COMMCEN. The general downscaling of the military in the COMMCEN, and the recent installation of Amcersps, which has replaced the familiar Trend printers, has triggered a lot of changes within the Troop with the Operators needing to be more IT friendly.

Over the last few months key personnel have gone, after 39 years service and a Sky TV debut, Maj (Tfc) Dave Gilchrist has been posted to civ div, all the Troop wish him well for the future, but not as much as the corps windsurfing fraternity will. Also a fond fare-well to SSgt Karen 'I've given up smoking again' Ripley who is going over the water to 15 Sig Regt in Northern Ireland, to be reunited with her husband Sean. We will miss you Karen,. Everytime I think of you whistling like a blackbird in a wardrobe on adventure training, or I see a lone shoe heel stuck in the sand with-out an owner at Sloane Square a wee smile comes across my face and happier times are remembered…ha ha! Sgt Karen ' I can recommend getting your head down on the ticket machine at Sloane Square sottaly tober' Ellams has departed to Ilford with 36 Sig Regt. We will miss your unique brand of entertainment so good luck. Lee 'I hate nights' Pearce is off to 21 Sig Regt, Colerne after successfully completing his re-trade to Area Systems Operator, no more cushy postings for you Lee. Also, last but not least, Sig Ian ' Where's my green ronhills with the elasticated waist?' Slight, who has followed me to every unit and every shift since I left Catterick, good luck 'Slighty' I am sure you will have an internet café near you and where ever you lay your hat your mouse will roam. A warm welcome goes to Maj (Tfc) Carl Storey who after many years active service with those 264 boys will finally have to work for a living …(size 10 slippers in the post sir)

RADIO TROOP – by Sgt Tait
Tp Comd Capt Andy Wilson
Tp Sgt Sgt Mark Brooksbank

Firstly congratulations to LCpl Jay Beattie on his promotion to Corporal and to Sigs McGregor and Parker on receipt of their first tapes both can know be found tying their own shoe laces with in the troop lines. Sadly a fond and emotional farewell to Cpl Stevie Hook who deserts us for 21 Sig Regt. The training wing will never be the same again with out him rambling round quoting PAM's and other training manuals.

Competing in a recent potted sports event, the seniors were not interested in losing and were determined to win, by cheating. Chief instigator was Sgt Bob 'Win and I'll break your legs' Garlick, whose new rules of basketball are being faxed as we speak to London Irish RFU Club, to see if they can incorporate them into a game plan for Saturdays match with Saracens. Feeling they had won, they were disqualified from two of the three games by WO2 SSM Euan 'It's my game and if you don't play properly I'm going home' Hall. However, the seniors may claim a moral victory for in the extra time played in the bar, Cpl 'Coma' Storey drunkenly invited anyone who would look at him to the Troops' Xmas function.

After Christmas we have been carrying out CBT (compulsory basic training) for members of the Troop who will be lucky enough to ride on ceremonial occasions. This has brought forward some unnatural bikers, Sig Toby Green deserves a mention, who whilst attempting a hill start, felt the need in mid flap to pull down on everything he had a grip on, causing the bike to flip, hit the wall and bounce back onto the ramp. An application to the 'Purple Helmets' is sure to follow. This selfless act of show boating was tame compared to what happened to Sig Maggs ' I had to drop the bike' West. She was doing all right until she hit Kings Road (literally) while trying to negotiate a corner! As all good women she managed to blame the bike and not her natural show stopping abilities. After the ambulance and police got there she was able to walk again aided with crutches, no one is too sure whether she passed or not but a swift recovery is expected.

The football team has improved with the aid of a couple of new players. The last game against MOD A we lost 7-0. When we played them on 24/01/01 in the Quarter Finals of the Londist Minor Unit Cup, however, the score was a closer 6-5 at one point we were 5-2 up. I must mention the scorer of a hatrick LCpl Shaun 'Wrighty ' Dinsdale, How I don't know, but I do know that he scored one with his left cheek (not his face), a move which is in no coaching manual. There was also a steady display of 1950's football by Sgt Ian 'Charley Charles Charles' Tait who was playing his first game since a life threatening injury late last year. He even managed to contribute a goal after beating the same defender at least 12 times (why let the truth get in the way of a good story). Also I must mention Sgt Mark 'Ramon Vega ' Brooksbank who chipped in with two goals, one fumbled in with his knee and the other was an unstoppable header from 20 yards into the top left corner. Both, I might add, were past our own keeper, I don't know whether he has, but he will be getting a slab in. Although he denies responsibility for this and AKA Alan Hansen he blames the keeper for poor positioning. However, a berth was secured in the semi and we hastily await a big money spinning tie against the posties from Mill Hill.

Here pictured is Sgt Bob 'let me tell you' Garlick poised like a striking cobra awaiting the arrival of HM The Queen. His role is to alert the Gun Position at Green Park to enable them to Fire a Royal Salute at the moment Her Majesty's foot touches the ground at the Palace of Westminster, prior to the State Opening of Parliament. He is located on the Third floor of Victoria Tower (Palace of Westminster) and is able to give the command by observing the arrival of the Royal Coach through a retractable floor in the Tower. He is connected by radio to Sgt Mark 'Green Seven' Brooksbank at the Gun Position who on receipt of the order 'fire fire fire' will instruct the Gun Commander to give the order to fire. Behind Sgt Bob Garlick are historical scenes including the Reformed Parliament of 1833, Queen Victoria opening Parliament in 1845 and Churchill addressing the house during the Second World War. Sgt Bob Garlick is able to do this as he still has a radio. After completion of his task he descends to the ground floor and helps Sgt Ian 'Oops did I need that?' Tait to pick up the pieces of his radio.

Sgt Bob Garlick above Sovereigns Entrance, Palace of Westminster, in Victoria Tower

243 SIGNAL SQUADRON

5 DIV BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS

by Cpl (Paul 'Pinky') Floyd

On Tuesday 6 February 2001, 243 Sig Sqn traveled to Tidworth Leisure Centre to compete in the 5 Div Minor Units Championships. After two sessions at Bulford and Blandford to hone our basketball skills, FofS 'Kev' Moir, realized that half our team were not too proficient at the game. However, he assured us with great confidence that we had the ability to win the competition and qualify for the Army finals to be held in Grantham.

Each game was to be played with 12-minute halves, three personal fouls, five team fouls and one timeout per half. The three personal fouls were something that would come back to haunt us later in the day. The day according to FofS 'Kev' Moir was going to be long and tiring as we had three games to fit in. Our first game started nice and early at 0930hrs against Depot Royal Irish. We started a little shabbily and the Depot took the lead and by half time we were 14 points down. I have to say at this point that 243 Sqn was just starting to warm up and the damage was soon to come. LCpl 'Ali (Shorty)' Way performed his dazzling manoeuvers alongside LCpl 'Steve (dunking)' Miller closely supported by 'Kev (the wall)' Moir, Cpl 'Olly (seldom sober)' Gray, and LCpl John 'Lanky' Liddell. The other team members rotated through which included Maj Graham 'Climb every hill top' McNeill, Cpl Paul 'Pinky, super sub' Floyd, Sig 'John (ugly)' Denyer, and Mr David 'I wish I had a stronger wrist' Anderson. The second half saw a strong performance all round and we ran out winners 41 – 34. This win boosted the team's confidence and we now looked forward to our next opponents. Our second opponents of the day were 91 Sqn RLC, who were convincingly beaten by the RMP. They approached the game with energy and vigor to overcome their first loss. After a few minutes of fast and furious play we settled into our game and all team members had a period of good court time. By now 243 Sqn were really cooking on gas and came out convincing winners 36 – 15.

The third and final game was against 6 RMP who had won all their previous matches throughout the day and were now positioned as our main opponents in the Championship. Having watched their games it was evident that this was going to be our hardest game, as some of the opposition looked 7ft tall and the remainder at least 6ft 4'. The game see-sawed, but we soon came to terms with their size and their elbows started to connect with our players as they became more frustrated and by the end of the half we were up. The second half saw a turn in fortunes and the RMP's came out with new tactics and the teams inexperience began to show as they clawed their way back into the game. Things grew tense and it was at this point that the three personal foul rule came back to haunt us, as FofS Moir was replaced by Sig Chris 'Oatmeal Savage' McGuire after committing his third and final foul, FofS 'don't kick the basketball'. The responsibility was now down to the remainder of the team, all who were under 6ft 2', to try and win the game. However, even a few spectacular three pointers by Cpl 'Olly' Gray and LCpl 'Steve' Miller couldn't save the day as we lost by a mere four points 24 – 28.

A great day was had by all and we finished runners up. We now look forward to the Army finals in March and expect to exact revenge on the RMP's at Grantham, both on court and in the bars.

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON (ACE MOBILE FORCES (LAND))

EXERCISE HARDFALL 2001 -NORWAY

by Lt Mike Fayers - OC Owl Troop

The Squadron deployed on its annual pilgrimage to Norway in early January to an alarmingly green Norway, with the usual seamless transition into war with a six-hour trip actually taking 20hours. On arrival the Squadron was introduced to its new friends, some members of Alpha Troop, 2 Sig Regt, some movers from 50 MM Sqn and a Squadron worth of Light Dragoons. It wasn't long until our new friends were also bonding well with the Quartermaster's Department, testing QM Steve 'Cough cough' Morgan and RQ Andy 'Scrumpy' Slack and their merry men generosity to issue shiny white kit. Eventually, we were all ready for our Novice Ski and Survival Course and some good old-fashioned clean fun…….or so we thought!

The first morning was a quick orientation to our pocket contents, which was soon to become the bane of our lives, but the cornerstone of our fitness programme. Everyone was amazed just how many pairs of gloves, chocolate bars, para cord, ski wax, hats and other bits of kit you would never see again could actually be spring loaded into our four pockets. However, our introduction into kit inspection artic style was soon over and we were on the slopes under our MSIs for our first morning of falling over with Army Planks on. I had left the UK quietly confident having skied before, but unfortunately my planks and I had a slight personality clash: That's to say we had differing opinions on what direction we thought we should be heading in, usually resulting in high speed followed by a sudden halt. By the end of the first day most had come accustomed with their special skis and legs relationship.

Survival Night
Lt Fayers and Cpl O Donell go about making a home for the night

The rest of Week One was a mixture of skiing, falling over, tent routine and cries of 'front support place', 'show me your (insert any item of kit, usually that item most difficult to get to)' not to forget lots of practice of our new found friend the snow plough. Most of this was under the careful eye of our attached Royal Marine Mountain Leader, Sgt 'The Moose Hunter' Renny who kept the course amused trying to work out exactly what he meant by his RM tongue. The finale to week one was a night ski that practised our snowplough to the exhaustion of our thighs, followed by the feared ice breaking drills. This was run by the Sgt 'Formally known as Jacko' Jackson and Cpl 'Warm kit on' Witham and was actually quite enjoyable. No one had any major dramas though some did seem to spend longer in the pond than expected!

MOUNTAIN LEADER DICTIONARY

Saying	All that good stuff
Definition	A bit of beautiful and pucker mixed together with the finest ML planning.
Saying	Beautiful
Definition	Just how I would have liked to have planned it.
Saying	The soldier formally Known as airborne.
Definition	One that has been swayed to the dark side of the MLs' training methods.
Saying	Front Support Place
Definition	The press up position.
Saying	Hot Wet
Definition	A cup of tea, white one or NATO to the rest of the Army.
Saying	Lack of Moral Fibre
Definition	People who have an injury.
Saying	Nutty
Definition	Chocolate, biscuits, boilies, jelly babies and all that good stuff.
Saying	Pucker
Definition	That which the Marines do.
Saying	Obviously
Definition	Anyone who has also spent most of his or her life gaining the ML qualification would understand.
Saying	Dragoons slayer
Definition	ML
Saying	These people are in way over their heads
Definition	Their Training has obviously been insufficient
Saying	Threaders
Definition	I'm rather tired of today's activities and working with amateurs.
Saying	Top of the hill-Go!
Definition	Haven't planned the next phase, needs ten minutes pass me my fag packet.
Saying	Wobble
Definition	Response to female emotions.

After a relaxing weekend absorbing the breath taking sights of Voss everyone was ready for the Survival and transition into tactics phase. Most of the course turned up for the first stand 'survival' wearing every bit of warmest kit they possessed and with strange limps, however, these were soon removed. After a brief tour of improvised shelter it was time to perform the dastardly deed on the chicken. Nobody was too upset, as these particular chickens virtually jumped onto our knives as they were that sad. After some helpful hints such as the wind direction we set about making our homes for the night. For some this did not only involve borrowing design hints from the DS examples but the floor, ceiling and the front door. The night was cold, but bearable thanks to our raging infernos and burning gaiters. Unfortunately the snow conditions did not allow snow holes, and despite being threatened with a night in a Quincy, the course was spared the ordeal. With our NSSC qualification in the bag after a few gentle bergen moves and helium pulks; all that was left was a week of tactical training, which proved to be equally as demanding and just as enjoyable when falling over.

Artic Warfare phase - All the gear no idea!

KIWI TROPHY 2000

by Lt Mark Stoter, OC Pussycat Tp and Sig 'Eddie' Waring

While stationed in Bulford many years ago, a contingent of the New Zealand Army were tragically killed when a building collapsed on to them. Not content with making their successors carve an enormous Kiwi into the hillside in memoriam, their legacy exacts its revenge in the form of a 23km march and shoot competition, completed once a year. So, one foggy morning in November, the Sqn (the other units seem to have forgotten the occasion) formed up in pairs and set off on the competition. Sig 'Eddie' Waring left in 22nd position.

The OC, Lt Stoter and LCpl Haffenden all set off before Sig Waring and employed a cunning subterfuge, adding an extra three kilometres before rejoining the route slightly in front of Sig Waring. Two and a half hours later, most arrived at the firing point. A falling fig 11 target at 200m would not seem too taxing (indeed, Sig 'Deadeye Dick' Waring only missed four shots out of ten) but LCpl Osmond, LCpl 'Scouse' Conroy, SSgt 'I'm so weak' Raybould all managed to miss all their shots, with WO2 (FofS) 'Cyclops' Holyoak managing only to miss nine out of ten. The SSM, Sgt Maj Marsh and the OC, Maj Hudson, led the way, not missing a shot between them. The overall result was close, with Cpl Keightly, Cpl Jones and Sgt 'Maurice' Pay coming first, second and third respectively. Sig Waring came in 33rd. The event took much organisation and the Squadron would like to thank SSgt (YofS) Hughes, WO2 (YofS) Kerr, SSgt Andy Allan, WO2 (RQMS) Andy Slack, Lt Mike 'My God! It's huge!' Fayers and the 2IC, Capt Terence Downes. Sig Waring was not involved in the organisation but is thanked nonetheless.

259 SIGNAL SQUADRON

GENERAL'S VISIT TO 259 SIGNAL SQUARON

Maj Gen Angus Ramsey CBF, recently paid a visit to 259 Sig Sqn. The purpose of the visit was twofold, firstly to see the Squadron complete with new developments and secondly to present four soldiers with the Modern Apprenticeship Scheme (NVQ Level 3 in Communications.) The General was shown various aspects of the work of the Squadron and was given an opportunity to see the Installations Technicians at work utilising some of the latest technology in Health and Safety equipment. Further demonstrations that took place included the video conferencing equipment, which is of particular importance, due to two of 259 Sig Sqn's Troops being isolated commands. On the technical development side, one of the Squadron's SNCOs, SSgt Elliott has completed a cable and circuit database for use by the Squadron. This provides a rather more user-friendly system than the existing paper records system, which are used to track telephone connectivity. The finished product has been found to be very easy to use and has been adopted by the Royal Signals as a Corps standard. In addition to this development FofS Winckle has designed a web site for the Squadron, which includes information on personalities, social events, work etc. This will provide yet another tool to help overcome the problems of having three Troops in different corners of the island. The visit culminated with a presentation in the Jimmy Club for Cpl Croft, Cpl Hogg, Cpl Palfrey and Cpl Readehead to receive their Modern Apprenticeship Scheme NVQ Level 3 in communications. This formally recognises the abilities of Royal Signals Technicians as amongst the most capable and professional military tradesman in the world and is a valuable recognition of their competence.

EPISKOPI TROOP – by LCpl Dan 'Barnsley boy' Reade

Tp Comd Lt K. L. Milner
Tp SSgt SSgt G. Mathieson

Now is the time of change out here in sunny Cyprus and the floodgates now open to many new arrivals and departures. 259 Sig Sqn takes on a fresh batch from the factory and re-trading personnel to its team. Here at Episkopi we'd like to give a big welcome to Sig George Forman, Sig Adam 'The bear' Huber, Sig 'little' Phil Harris, LCpl 'Big' Phil Parish, Sig Vicky 'New Bird' Marsh and their new Telemech sensei Sgt Terry Rogers. Also into the Troop we've had some new tech blood in the form of LCpl Paul 'Old Man' Fox, LCpl Steve 'Speed' Hudson and LCpl 'Scott' Varley. Regrettably with all these arrivals we have also had to say goodbye to some of our friends as they move on. These being Sig Robbie 'Minceboy' Williams to 30 Sig Regt, Sig Wayne Garnett to 8 Inf Bde, Sig Emma Flynn to 3 Div, Sgt Mark 'Flash' Gordan to Blandford and finally Cpl Steve 'Coops' Cooper, who decided he liked it out here so much he has moved to Nicosia with his family. All the best in the future people, you will be sadly missed.

Promotions – We would also like to congratulate LCpl Lindsay Stewart on promotion to Corporal, Sig Andy 'Mini-Coops' and Sig Kev Moss to Lance Corporal. A big farewell goes out to him as he goes to 21 Sig Regt (AS), good luck in the future.

DHEKELIA TROOP
ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

Recently the Troop has had a high personnel turnover. We would like to say farewell to SSgt (FofS) Bernie 'Skeletor' McAndrew and his wife Claire, Cpl Darren 'Swampy' Robson, Cpl Jase 'Lord Lucan' King and Sig Rab 'Peanut' Winter (Don't worry Lynne's been putting in some long hours). Good luck to you all in Civvy Street. Also leaving but on promotion to Sergeant, Cpl Adam 'Pugilist' Torrington, his wife Nicky and daughter Chelsea to sunny Gibraltar. To Lance Corporal, Sig Rachael 'Mrs Nicholson' Hulland (watch out for the ivory hunters) and Sig Craig Bate to Northern Ireland, and Sig Martin 'Twitchy' Fell to Airfield Tp. Finally goodbye to Sgt Fiona 'Nünschüff' Whitty to JSSU Ay-Nic, Sgt Lee 'Goal Bird' Turbitt to 2 Sig Regt and last but by no means least Cpl Ritchie 'Mince Boy' Palfrey (Cheers for the pager back), to JCU(NI).

The Troop would like to wish a warm welcome to Sgt Stu 'Sooty' Foster, wife Nicky and son Callum, to Sgt Richard 'Lurch' Musgrove, wife Carol and daughters Lucy and Charlotte. Also Cpls McCullen and Morgan, LCpl Gordon 'Gofer' Pyrah, LCpl Dave 'I'm going 264 I am' King. Fresh from the factory is LCpl Tom 'After shock' Cockerill, Sig Ben 'Linford' Mitchell, Sig John 'Pizza Boy' Dent, Sig Chris 'Monkey Boy' Hodgson and finally Sig Andy 'Private' Pyle. We would like to welcome back from Kosovo Sig Steve 'Pole Climber Extraordinaire' Baxter, Sig Gareth 'From Russia with Love' Davis and Sig Ben 'Hyouge nappa' Tierney after a three month deployment (Holiday).

Congratulations are in order for LCpl Jim 'Imaginary Canadian girlfriend' Stokes on his promotion to Corporal in the Falklands and his fifteen seconds of fame. Also LCpl Colin 'Stumpy' Simpson and Mr Graham 'part timer' McDougall on their upcoming marriages. Also well done to Sig Kye 'Trocs' Topping on his marathon car-washing event. It only remains to say thank you to Cpl Brent 'Skin' Readhead who compiled these notes.

AIRFIELD TROOP - by Cpl Bilby

Tp Comd Lt S. J. D. Covey-Crump
Tp SSgt SSgt B. Stenhouse

The one thing missing from the beer and BBQ life-style at Airfield Troop was a place to drink the beer and have a BBQ, therefore the troop embarked on making one of those essential items, a patio. Enclosed in its own fenced off area the Airfield Tp patio offers the social drinker a chance to sit back and enjoy the delights of a Cypriot summer in a surrounding that lets your imagination run wild. In fact you have to let it run wild as it isn't painted yet, but soon to be finished it should be good to enjoy when the summer gets here. A special thanks must go to Cpl Rudd and Sig Milevsky for putting a lot of effort into the patio's construction. Goodbyes to LCpl Barnett, Sig Stanley and Sig Murphy we hope you do well at your new postings. Welcome to LCpl Berry the new technikettle support, Sig Kendal, Sig Orr and wife Rebecca.

BFBS FOOTBALL COMPETITION

The venue was set, the BFBS wireless for the Blind competition took place on Saturday 23 September 2000. 259 Sig Sqn entered three teams into this event, two from Episkopi and one from Akrotiri. The Episkopi teams consisted of 'The Old Codgers' headed up by the daddy of the old codgers WO2 (FofS) Frank Cowan and the 'Young Ones' headed up by LCpl Carl Tindall. Fortunately the two teams were entered into different leagues hence they would not meet each other until the later stages if at all. Both teams had a tough draw with the Old Codgers having to overcome the KOSB if they were to succeed. The young ones had a good run in their league not conceding a goal in the five games however due to other results they had to go into a penalty shoot out to proceed further into the competition. As for the Old Codgers letting in that only goal all afternoon proved fatal hence they were condemned to sit out the rest of the competition. The penalty shoot-out for the Young Ones was a tense affair and due to LCpl Chris Palmers and Robbie Williams missed efforts all appeared to be lost. However, they were riding their luck on this afternoon as the Opposition could not afford the time to stay on so the Young Ones were given a bye into the Plate Competition. Luck was fast running out for LCpl 'I look good' Carl Tindall and his crew as once again a penalty shoot out proved to be the hurdle that dispatched them from the competition. Sadly no trophies for 259 Sig Sqn but a good performance was put in by all concerned and everybody came away with a lovely sun tan. Well done to all those who were involved.

101 LOGISTIC BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS & SIGNAL SQUADRON (261)

OC Maj M. Baines
RSM WO1 E. Udell

The Squadron has been busy developing it's sporting prowess and exploiting the adventurous training opportunities available as it prepares for Ex Saif Sareea II, which commences deployment in June. Having already completed our first Exercise of the year, Exercise Black Mamba when Brig Shaw visited us, the preparations for deployment to support our sister Brigade in Germany have begun. Meanwhile twelve of the Squadron have been to Norway on the ski proficiency courses and another dozen to Bavaria on the Brigade ski trip while the remainder were coming second in the Corps cross-country and competing in basketball, football and hockey.

ALPHA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Lucy Thirsk
Tp Sgt SSgt Joe Crowe

Alpha Tp has had a significant changeover of personnel with six new arrivals including 2Lt Cas Wootten from RSS to takeover from Capt Lucy Thirsk off to pastures new in Ireland. Cpl Thurston, LCpls Beerling and Skehorn and Sig Hebdon to swell the ranks and replace Cpls Galloway and Ellison, LCpl Lavender and Sigs Treen, Holden and Mills, we wish them all the best.

ADVANCE SKI PROFICIENCY COURSE - NORWAY
by LCpl Andy Cole

A new milliennium, a major hangover and its off to Norway for a 10-day sking course. Having been bumped onto the advance ski proficiency we were ready to go !

Day One included the usual briefings and issue of stores. We were split into groups and issued skis and poles. It was then a ten minute drive to the local slope for a few hours of showing off and falling over so the instructors could guage how we got on. After this introduction the next couple of days were spent at Lillehammer on the olympic slopes including the women's downhill and some more adventurous off-piste powder sking with the draglifts proving too difficult for some. After the glamour of the slopes it was onto the more arduous tour leader training, this involved a change of skis, boots and the addition of skins. Skins are attached to the bottom of the skis to allow you to go uphill and across flat terrain. It was easier than Alpine and after three days we were confident for our expedition. After a two-hour bus ride up to the Rondane National Park we completed a 9km trek to our overnight shelter. The weather was outstanding and the trek a good but steady pace.

The last two days involved digging a snow hole and living in it and then digging ourselves out of it and treking through the whiteout to return to base. A very enjoyable course and we are looking forward to going on our Instructors Course next year.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd/QM Maj Peter Beauchamp RLC
Tp SSgt SSgt Martin Stebbing

We would like to welcome to the Troop LCpl Tim McGukin from 16 Sig Regt. Congratulations to LCpl 'Geordie' Watson on selection for promotion along with Signaller now LCpl 'Nice but dim' Dimberline and Cpl 'Heir Wez' Barry on his marriage to Tanya.

PARAGLIDING COURSE IN BAVARIA
by LCpl Skeggs

I has returned from Christmas leave with a terminal case of the back to work blues, ready for another year in green, when out of the blue came a the offer of three places for ten days paragliding in Bavaria, which could just not be passed up. Many hours of grovelling to the Troop Staff Sergeant secured a place for Cpl Paul Rhodes , Cpl 'Geordie' Watson and myself on an incredibly 'Gucci' course. Eleven hours of travelling in total; flights, no problem…Club Class but seven hours on numerous trains which should have been condemned was no fun. None the less we arrived. Thus began ten days of soaring through the sky like a bird; climbing invisible thermals to reach the misty heights of the clouds and above, to reach up and touch the heavens, to sit side by side with angels in absolute europhia, or so we thought. Imagine, launching off the top of a hill at an angle of 45 degrees, one hundred and fifty feet up. A rush, oh yes. But now imagine launching off this same hill twenty one times, and the only way to reach the summit of this hill is to place one foot in front of the other, while also carrying all your equipment on your back. All this hard work was in preparation for the 'Big one'. Launching off the top of the mountain who's shadow we had been living in, to conquer the mother of them all. Only to have our dreams dashed down at the last minute by the lousy weather……Damn. Out of the ten days, not only did we fly like a bird, but also many other smaller adventures were had when the weather was not in our favour. Tracking down the Snow leopard which turned out to be the biggest, and I mean 'Massive', tabby cat known to man. Exploring the most fantastic and surreal castle seated in the clouds as well as a touch of sking. What a fantastic week !

264 (SPECIAL AIR SERVICE) SIGNAL SQUADRON

After several years absence from The WIRE Magazine it was decided that it was about time that the Squadron started making contributions again. There have been a lot of changes in the past two years, both in terms of our location; we've just completed the move into a new camp, and our numbers. The Squadron manning situation has never been so healthy before, and that is purely down to the number of volunteers attempting Probation. Whilst there still are a number of vacancies for posted in personnel, the majority of posts are for Special Forces Communicators (those that pass Probation). The last course statistics are as follows:

PROBATION COURSE STATISTICS 2/00
(JULY – DECEMBER 2000)

	Started	Completed
Tele Op (Tg)	24	12
Tele Op (Sys)	6	3
Tele Op (Spec)	1	Nil
Tele Op (RR)	1	1
Tele Op (R)	5	1
Tele Tech (Sys)	7	3
Tele Tech (R)	3	2
Tele Mech	1	Nil
Dvr Elec	1	1
Dvr Lmn	3	2
All Arms Signaller	2	1
Officers	1	1
TOTAL	53	27

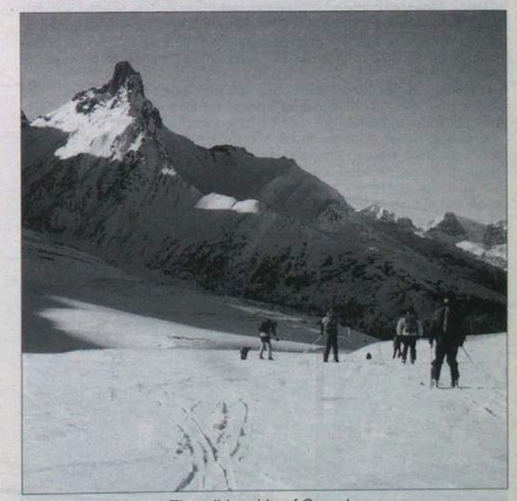
Apart from Probation the Squadron has been exceptionally busy both operationally and on exercise, but despite this we have still found time for a bit of downtime:

EXERCISE DOLPHIN'S DRAGON 14 – 21 JULY 2000

Ex Dolphin's Dragon was a Sub Aqua diving adventure training trip to the Red Sea, led by the Squadron 2IC. The aim of the exercise was to qualify all the participants to PADI Master Scuba Diver in just one week. This was achieved by starting early and finishing late! The group of 13 Squadron members lived aboard a boat called the Sir Cousteau that travelled North from Hugardha to some of the more remote dives on the Red Sea. The instructor on the trip was a former Second in Command who was a hard taskmaster but knew all the best sites in the area. It is hoped that the Squadron will be going to the Red Sea again soon!

EXERCISE THERON CHANCE 18 – 28 JANUARY 2001

Members of G Troop 264 (SAS) Sig Sqn deployed to Jasper, Canada during the period 18-28 January 2001 on Ex Theron Chance, a military Ski training exercise to develop skiing and extreme weather survival skills. Our macho Squadron Chief Clerk accompanied the Exercise just to confirm why he is Commando and Parachute trained. Training was based around the Marmot Ski Basin, located a few miles outside of Jasper, where the Squadron conducted downhill training. They also conducted Ski touring close to the Athabasca Glacier with the aide of local ski guide Peter Lemieux, during which they learned about ski touring, patrolling and survival techniques. A number of these techniques were put into practice later on during the R&R phase when some of the guys had to E&E from rather hot locations.



The wilder side of Canada

The Exercise participants spent the evenings exploring local cultural events sampling local beverages and tasting fine local fare. Its amazing how different steak and chips tastes in Canada. An awesome time was had by all. So if you want to go on top trips with hard-core dudes…. then do Probation.

280(UNITED KINGDOM) SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. A. Harris
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. Kearney

KILO TROOP - by LCpl 'Twinkle Toes' Clarke
Tp Comd Lt L. J. Calderhead
Tp SSgt SSgt Weavers

Firstly the Troop has to say a fond farewell to Sig Si 'Firestarter' Hall and wish that all his future comrades at Northwood appreciate his fire NCO capabilities. The Troop would also like to say goodbye to Cpl Andy 'Silver Fox' Wilkinson and family on his recent posting to 3 Div. We welcome to the front line Sgt Stu 'Mean 'n' Green' McNeil, LCpl T. 'Old School' Turner, LCpl Neil 'Brad' Gritt and also last but not least LCpl Jimmy 'The bellies Gonna Get You' McGrory. We also welcome Sig 'Ski, who me I don't Think so' James back from the COMMCEN at JHQ. Appreciation is given to Sig 'Tidy' Rolf on taking cover on PT by producing an almost near perfect pike dive. Get well soon messages have to go out to Signaller soon to be LCpl Lloyd who is feeling the effects of a harsh Christmas. Also loads of sympathy has to go to LCpl 'Done it better' Jones who had the River Dance performed on his anatomy by some members of the local populace. Next on the get-well roster is SSgt 'Have you seen him' Weavers currently being stood in for by SSgt 'Barking Mad' Tyson. Well done goes to Cpl Matt 'Winged Warrior' Baber on his weeks holiday at Hereford and would like to thank Cpl Sammi 'Bleach my Tips' Samuel for taking a months vacation in Australia. The Troop hope that Cpl Matt 'Sniffler' Grant has improved after his much needed plastic surgery on his huge proboscis. A big shout goes out to all the lucky guys and girls on the Det in Banja Lukkkkaaaaaa (Daz, Coops, Donna, Woody, Cookie 'Jackhammer'). We would like to say that we are missing you but alas we cannot! Mentions also go to Steve Hudspeth on his Class 1, the line guys Kerry, Monty and Dave, Sig 'Drive U round the Bend' Plummer on her arrival in Feb and Sig Polly '£200' Pollock on his close shave with the law. Oh yeah and Cpl Jimmy 'Summerville' Cunningham don't forget us now you have a new record contract with A+M records. Finally, congratulations to the boss on her promotion to Captain.

44th BERNER DISTANZMARCHE
by LCpl 'I'll Get The Batteries' Booth

On 1 December 2000 our motly crew set off to participate in the 44th Berner Distanzmarche near Bern in Switzeland. Setting off at the ungodly hour of 6 o'clock we started the 7-hour trip down to Thun Kaserne, our home for the next few days. Most of us got our heads down, including LCpl Timmy 'Tea Connoiseur' Mallett and LCpl 'Toothy' Roberts who after the night before managed to stay unconscious nearly the whole journey. Upon arriving in Switzeland and experiencing several weather vortexes we carried out a route recce with Sig 'I can drive…honest' Smiejkowski at the helm of the minibus. Everybody except WO1 (RSM) 'The Beast' Kearney then decided they'd have been much better off staying at home.

Arriving at the registration and briefing point in Belp we were entertained by a sword wielding maniac hacking up a children's play-ground. We immediately felt safe in the knowledge that all Swiss homes had assault rifles! With the briefing over we made our way to the start point and at 1400hrs we strapped our bergans on and set off on our 45km 'walk in the park.' After a while it became clear, as we tabbed along in file, that not all of the 2500 participants were taking the event seriously. Some individuals were bimbling around stopping off at all the pubs/bars en route. Not bad for the Swiss equivalent of the BCFT! With the pride of the British Army at stake we soldiered on. As the night fell and the kilometres went by it also became clear that we would have to finish the route if only to avoid the bodily odours of Capt 'The Beans' Wilson.

The victorious Berner Distanzmarche Team — Before sore feet!

Eventually after several killer hills, endless woods and a promotion (congratulations Cpl Mallett!), we were welcomed by the surprised organisers, as we jogged over the finish line. We then hobbled to collect our medals from our gracious Swiss hosts. Leading the way were Sig 'The Rug' Parrington and Sig 'The Poster' Watson. That evening we managed to hobble down town to celebrate picking up the Best Team award and generally just finishing. Unfortunately Sig 'The Joker' Sinclair collapsed unconscious before finding his 'Bear Ladies'. Sunday called for a trip up Mount Eiger and the ski resort at Grindewald. Whilst Sgt 'Skimeister' Taylor zoomed off everybody else half skied half fell down. Sig 'Beer Me' Crowder seemed to have the right idea improving Anglo American relations in the wigwam!

EXERCISE SNOWY BACKSTOP 2001

On 27 January 2001, 17 members of the Squadron departed for a week of alpine skiing on Exercise Snowy Backstop 2001. Sgt 'Pathfinder' Mason and Sig Sarah 'One Ski' Kimberley were the first to arrive at the exercise location. However, due to slight navigational embarrassment they spent two hours on route attempting to dig the car out of rather deep snow. Eventually they met up with the rest of the clan at the rustic cabins that were to be the groups home for the next week. Then there was a brief acclimatisation period during which time Lt 'How the hell did I get up there' Calderhead and the seniors acquainted themselves with the slopes while the remainder investigated the alternative recreational facilities in the town.

The novice group, also known as the performing arts group, was taught by Cpl 'Are you sitting comfortably?' Casswell from 7 Sig Regt. The beginners after starting on the baby slopes where there were many falls, much laughter and many teddies thrown were all just about standing up by the end of the first day. Or were we? Cpl Doc 'It's not a pole it's a light sabre' Savage? Sig Dave 'Text me' Kreuzcek was always first to the coffee house due to his inability to stop! Sig Rick '1157' Sinclair was the king of the de-kit on the slopes. Cpl Bri ' I didn't spill a drop' Woolley mastered the art of turning right so much that he forgot to turn left! Meanwhile in the other group, led by Sgt 'Pathfinder' Mason all eight members were skiing in a much more competent manner. That is all except Cpl Daz 'I wanna be T' Pearce who needed a bit more one to one tuition. The award for the most crashes and burns, however, undoubtedly goes to LCpl Esther 'AAAAAH' Humby who also had the most bruises at the end of the week.

After being moved to the more advanced group LCpl Gordy 'I am the weakest link' Kirkwood and Sig Sarah 'One-ski' Kimberley managed to loose a ski each. Maybe they were not so advanced after all! The rustic cabins certainly added to the novelty value of the exercise and many team bonding sessions occurred in this somewhat cosy accommodation. This was not helped by the rather poor key control maintained by certain members of the group. One occasion saw Sig Col '10 slices' Rolfe, Cpl Steve 'Golden blanket' King and LCpl 'Pick up the cordless'

LCpl Humby in action
(and in the position she spent most of the week)

Chacksfield together with three other members of the group in the loft of one cabin. Needless to say this did not impress SSgt Kev 'Whatsit' Roberts or LCpl 'I wanna be Sysco' Turner on their return! Exercise Snowy Backstop was an excellent exercise that was enjoyed by all. If Sgt Mandy 'Pathfinder' Mason wishes to find this article we all advise her to follow the arrows and not the road-signs!

JOINT COMMUNICATIONS UNIT FALKLAND ISLANDS

UNIT HEADQUARTERS - by Lt Jon 'J.A.P.' Mayne
OC Maj Ian Hunter
USM WO2 Karl 'Gone Fishing' Weaver

As our six-month tour nears its end the unit has seemed to increase its activity level rather than winding down for a smooth hand-over. There have been several visits to the unit over the past month, including four German Media from Krefeld who came to report on their local BFG unit serving in the remoteness of the Southern Atlantic. The visit was a resounding success with visits to a Nature Reserve to see penguins and sea lions and a trip to see the wonders that Stanley has to offer. There was also a helicopter flight to visit one of our remote radio-rebro sites and spend a day experiencing what it is like to live for six months on top of a hill. The following week the Commanding Officer, Lt Col J. E. Richardson MBE, and WO1 (RSM) S. Smoothy paid us a visit, and this was the first opportunity that the members of the Squadron have had to meet the CO since taking over the Regiment. The visit went extremely well with the exception of attempted poisoning at the hands of Sig Bibby due to his cooking skills on Campito, and the CO's failure to catch a fish, but maybe that was just the USM's lack of knowledge when selecting a good fishing spot. The whole of 231 Sig Sqn would like to wish 219 Sig Sqn best wishes and good luck for there winter tour.

RADCON, ALPHA TROOP - by LCpl Helen 'Warrior' Winterson
I/C Sgt Charlie Hart

Only 23 days to go. Ask anyone and they can tell you exactly that. It's not that we are all counting the days, in fact the last month or so has been quite eventful. Firstly congratulations to Cpl Nicky 'Sturdy Girl' Davies on coming second in the Stanley Half Marathon in typical Falklands weather. The JCUFI March and Shoot Competition was held in January, and I am happy to boast the fact that the Alpha Tp Team came a well earned second place after the Officers' and Seniors' Team who we must say won under very dubious circumstances. Need we say more? Cpl Nicky Davies has been busy raising money, along with others she cycled 60 miles from MPA to Darwin and back again. They raised £610.24 for WRVS and The Open University Development fund for the disabled. Quite a few sore backsides, large and small after that event! Christmas and New Year went down well with everyone making a great effort on Christmas Day with their Cowboy and Indian outfits. In particular LCpl 'Dins Dog' Dinsdale in his cow suit and Sig Nicky Brown as Pocahontas. Everyone enjoyed the BBQ. It certainly made quite a change to be eating burgers and sausages for Christmas dinner. Morale in RADCON is high at the moment, we are all eagerly awaiting the arrival of 2 Signal Regiment, and are happy in the knowledge we will all return to Krefeld slimmer and fitter due to being gym queens and kings.

BRAVO TROOP - By Cpl Charlie Sunderland
I/C WO (CY) 'Buster' Brown RN
2 I/C CPOWEM 'Tim' Isherwood RN

As February rapidly approaches and along with it the end of our tour (for the Army Element anyway), it's time to look back over the past few months and reflect on the good times had by the members of Bravo Troop. November saw the premature departure of Cpl John McGee, Cpl Richie Applegarth and LCpl Matt Childs (the surplus to requirement boys). Nice of you to come along for the ride and hope you have all dried out now or at least your kidneys have! Also that month came the next round of COMMCEN V Syscon Go-Karting and for the second time the Syscon Techs were victorious taking prizes for first, second and third place. Special mentions must go out to Cpl Angie Weatherill who claimed the 'Driving Miss Daisy' award for taking three hours to do ten laps, and to LCpl Dan 'Schumacher' Seward for taking the championship title for the second time. Better luck next time COMMCEN. Most of the Troop managed to celebrate Christmas with the usual Festive Frolics, however, this year's shenanigans had a slight Wild West theme with most of the guys dressing up as Cowboys and Indians for the Christmas Day B-B-Q. No Wild West Bash would be complete without a Village Idiot so, thanks to Cpl 'Chelle' Gilmour for filling the role just nicely. Now that the New Year has been rung in everyone's attention has turned to preparing the hand over to our replacement the lovely 2 Signal Regiment. Guy's we all wish you the best for the next six months and hope you enjoy it as much as we have. Finally… … Congratulations to newly promoted LCpl Sam 'Rat Catcher' Clarke. Well done Sam from all the members of Bravo Tp.

CHARLIE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Harriet Hebblethwaite
Tp SSgt SSgt Tony Black

Since the last exciting instalment from Charlie Tp, we have been kept fairly busy over the Festive Season. SSgt Tony Black and myself have both taken R&R, the former on a trip around the Chilean Lake District (?) with Sgt Mick Yendell, and I went to Easter Island in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. After much cheap Chilean booze, Pina Coladas and loose women (no that wasn't me!) we returned for the remainder of the tour. Sgt Chris Crompton and Cpl 'Simo' Simpson organised the Troop function, which was held in Stanley. Needless to say I will never look at LCpl Jordan in the same way again, and I am not too certain whether the barmaid in the Victory Bar appreciated Sig Maskell's 'trick'. Sharkies Bar increased its takings a hundred fold over the Christmas period with Line Section organising the highly successful Christmas Party for JCUFI, with the JCUFI Band 'Last Orders' providing the entertainment. Christmas Day itself was marked with a BBQ and games, and there was a New Years Eve party too. Apparently I was there! Charlie Tp's Seasonal 'Sports' Program kicked off with Troop bowling and golf, but unfortunately the trip to Sea Lion Island and the Fitzroy Rodeo were thwarted due to an urgent cable fault. We are all looking forward to 2 Signal Regiment arriving to take over JCUFI, but all are in agreement that this has been an enjoyable tour with some happy memories. I am now permanently deaf due to a combination of helicopters, loud music and unrelenting gale force winds.

LINE SECTION - by Sgt Dave Cascarino
I/C Line Section Sgt Dave Cascarino
I/CProjects Cpl Bob Cope
I/CMaintenance Cpl Glen Sunderland
Ship's Cat Sig Tex Walker

Life has been as hectic as ever in Line Sect since the last time of writing we have all been having so much fun! The re-wire of the accommodation blocks has been our main priority, with three crews all working flat out to finish the re-wire before the arrival of 2 Signal Regiment. It has been a race against time but the Mechs of 231 Sig Sqn are made of stern stuff and we expect completion very soon. Line Sect were responsible for the JCUFI Christmas bash, and mentions must go to LCpl 'Shaz' McCreaddie and Cpl Glen Sunderland for their expert planning - the night was a great success, but who would expect anything less from the Telemechs? Thanks partly to the mammoth efforts of Cpl Bob Cope and LCpl Jim Stocks, the station now boasts a new Cyber-Café called Area 51. After much scratching of heads and waiting for local purchase stores, it was officially opened by CDS General Sir Charles Guthrie. Plans are now afoot for an expansion to the facility, so watch out Jim - best you break out your Cat 5 head again! To the Line Sergeant's dismay, the whole of the section, with the exception of Cpl Jim Stocks, are due to leave in February, to be replaced by Installation Technicians from 14 Signal Regiment. It goes without saying that you will all be missed terribly. As we all know a mention in The WIRE costs a round or two, it is with thanks, that the following people are mentioned:
Cpl Glen 'Glenda' Sunderland
Cpl Bob 'Dope' Cope
LCpl Sharon 'Ice Maiden' McCreaddie
LCpl Lee 'Unlucky in love' Moody
Sig Tony 'B.A.' Barclay - storeman extraordinaire!
Sig Michelle 'Onion' Bargery
Sig Ross ' where's me tape?' Harmon
Sig Jarred 'Brown bottle' Morris
Sig Chris 'Rocky' Orr
Sig Jim 'Geordie Geek' Pearson
Sig Mark 'Ghengis' Powell
Sig Sean 'Tex' Walker

It remains only, for this callsign, to thank the above mentioned for all their extremely hard work and effort. It may not have been the smoothest of rides guys, but take with you the knowledge that you are all now fully fledged members of the 'MECH' fraternity. The guys from 14 Signal Regiment will have to go some to outclass you lot!

POWER SECTION - by Sgt Gaz Topps
I/C Section Sgt Gaz Topps

This has been a busy period for Power Sect. Cpl Caz Casswell departed as part of the restructuring of Charlie Tp, ensuring the obligatory photo in front of the Chinook was taken and placed in the memorabilia of the Section Hall of Fame. However his replacement, Sig Sooty the black cat has fitted in well after a short period of adjustment and friction between WO1 Lister. Congratulations to Sig Niall Marshall on his well deserved promotion, it's like being a full Corporal in Tech years. All members of the Section have taken their R&R, with Sgt Gaz Topps topping up the sun-bed tan in Ascension. Most went to the same Sunshine Island, although LCpl 'Monty' Learmonth took his locally, visiting the Stanley metropolis and the wildlife of Saunders Island, seeing some fantastic sights that you would never see in other parts of the world.

Christmas brought some partying on a monster scale. Sig 'Scotty' Maskell fails to recall most events of the day, although he is told that it was the best Christmas he has ever had. Team FED had a fantastic time at the Go Karting. Sgt Gaz Topps, LCpl 'Monty' Learmonth and Sig 'Scotty' Maskell set the standards all day, demonstrating some excellent driving skills and determination, but to no avail as they were pipped at the post by the USM in the final hour. Sgt Gaz Topps, LCpl Kev Cranney and Sig Niall Marshall were part of the Commando Challenge Team that followed the route from Teal Inlet to Stanley. It covered some arduous terrain over 50km, finishing with a falling plate shooting competition. The Team raised £215 for the '82 Trust charity which raises money for service personnel and their families who are in need of assistance following the Falklands War.

The tour comes to an end with mixed feelings, the comradeship that has been built over the tour has been fantastic, although we are all eager to get away and see our families. We will miss our days out golfing and afternoons at Gull Island Pond canoeing and sailing, but I am sure we will get over our traumatic separation and resume Regimental life with some happy memories.

FITTEST SECTION - by LCpl 'Denzil' Depport

I/C Section Sgt Chris Crompton

With only three weeks of the tour left to push, excitement in FITTEST section is running at an all time high, with most of our members relieving their tension through a heavy course of bowling and bar lounging. The weather down here has taken a turn for the best, with glorious sunshine gracing MPC on most days. This seems to have taken a profound effect on our most distinguished section SNCO, Sgt Chris Crompton, who keeps visiting that well known sun-trap Pleasant Peak, to clear up the numerous 'faults' which mysteriously keep appearing there. We are slightly worried that the FITS cabin may be emitting an unusually high amount of radiation as he keeps coming back looking more frazzled by the day. LCpl Robson has recently wandered down from Mt Kent, to be replaced by Cpl 'Knife Wound' Baulch. LCpl 'Gimpernet' Jordan has upheld his reputation for spending more time and money on the internet than Bill Gates, while LCpl 'Smoky' Ross has finally reached the dizzy heights of chief inhaler for Marlboro. Our newest edition to the team LCpl 'Giz a Quid' Robson is so broke that he has applied to join a mail order bridegroom list and he is currently looking to hitch up with any wealthy lady who can pay for his 10 pint a night habit. Our resident Marconi engineer, multi-millionaire and international playboy Mr John 'Al Fayed' Nicol has just returned from his Christmas leave where he was reported to have broke more casinos and made more posh ladies swoon than James Bond. To finish off, I must say that our time down here has been enjoyable (though perhaps not very beneficial to our livers) and we hope that the incoming FITTEST section from 2 Signal Regiment have a great tour. As for myself, LCpl 'Smelly Smock' Depport, I have managed to travel to and change allegiance with every mountain top in the Falklands, which must be a first. I think I will contact the Guinness Book of Records!

EXERCISE COMMANDO CHALLENGE 2000 - by Sgt Gaz Topps

Sgt Gaz Topps	Cpl 'Stig' Baulch
LCpl Phil Brown	LCpl Kev Cranney
LCpl 'Eddy' Irvine	Sig 'Bibbs' Bibby
Sig Sam Clarke	Sig Niall Marshall

Ex Commando Challenge is a patrolling competition based on the route yomped by 45 Commando Brigade during the Falklands War, initially with the purpose of raising sponsorship money to be donated to the '82 Trust. This is a Falklands charity that assists Service personnel and their families who are in need as a result of the Falklands War. Due to a lack of resources the route was shortened this year to only 50km, this was to be completed in two days, covering some of the most difficult and unrelenting terrain any of the team had ever experienced. The team had trained hard prior to the event, competing in the March and Shoot competition against Gallipoli Company, 1 Gurka Rifles, who at the time were the Roulement Infantry Company (RIC).

The first day started very early and at a very hard and fast pace. The ground was undulating, full of 'babies heads', rivers and ditches. We met all checkpoints and were catching up with the RIC, the leading team, and morale was high. One of the check points saw the team looking towards Cpl 'Stig' Baulch for his experience in building a raft for a water crossing, this ended in a strange looking vessel but none-the-less it floated long enough for the task to be completed successfully. Sgt Gaz Topps, the Military Training meathead, was the first to fall by the wayside. He suffered a muscular injury and although he struggled to the point of extreme agony had to retire with the nickname 'Steve Tickle'. The team was taken over by Cpl 'Stig' Baulch, finishing the first leg with a gruelling command task set by the Falkland Island Defence Force. (FIDF). This involved moving a huge amount of ordnance over a large water hazard and for some considerable distance. That night we stayed in the 5 star hotel provided by our sponsors, 'Survival Aids', this consisted of bashers, compo and all the fresh water you could drink. Day Two saw some weary bodies and even worse terrain to afford. The Police Section had to retire due to too many injuries, leaving 231 Sig Sqn, FIDF and the RIC to carry the torch. Some historic sights were visited during that day, Two Sisters, Tumbledown, Mt Longdon and Wireless Ridge, these all took their toll on the team's feet leaving them with blisters and open wounds. The team finished the day at the Stanley ranges for a falling plate competition shoot.

Overall the team came third with the FIDF in first and the RIC collecting second. The charity was given £2000 by HQ BFFI and the individual contributions by 231 Sig Sqn came to £215. Congratulations to all those who finished the patrol, and a special well done to Sig Sam Clarke, the first female to enter the competition and complete it. Those that attempted to follow the route, now know the pain and anguish of those before them, who did not only made it to Stanley in five days on foot but also fought a war when they arrived.

March and Shoot: Bravo Troop Team
Sgt Blizard, LCpl Seward, Cpl Brookes, Cpl Wilson, Cpl Swann, LCpl Hart, JT Harvey, LCpl Irving, Sig Clarke

JCUFI MARCH AND SHOOT COMPETITION

By Sgt 'Snowy' Blezard

On Friday 12 January, JCUFI held an Inter Troop March and Shoot Competition. There were four teams entered: Alpha Troop, Bravo Troop, Charlie Troop and a combined Officers and Seniors Team. The competition involved a 10km forced march followed immediately by a falling plate shoot at 200m. Each team consisted of eight people, with at least one female in each. It was a tri-service competition with members of the RAF and Royal Navy being 'encouraged' to take part. Congratulations to WO2 (USM) 'Death from Above' Weaver, for succeeding in making members of both the RAF and the Royal Navy physically sick during the training. Charlie Tp were penalised when Cpl 'Where's the Line?' Baulch got a bit carried away helping other team members, and crossed the line with more kit than even he can shake a stick at. Congratulations to the Officers and Seniors Team for winning both the march and the shoot phases, and therefore the whole competition.

TORNADO TWO ZERO - by WO2 (SSM) Karl 'gone fishing' Weaver

On Wednesday 13 December 2000 I was fortunate enough, after a little gentle persuasion to be given a chance of a life time experience of a trip in a Tornado F3 over the Falklands for 1fi hours. The build up started three days early with medicals and briefings followed by equipment fitting which in itself took over two hours. All this completed, it was time for the flight itself. After a very light breakfast (to make sure I was not going to see it again), I reported to 1435 Flight Tornado Squadron MPA at 0800hrs, to start the process of preparing everything from clothing to yet more briefings to flight orders. All suited up and wearing enough kit to keep a family of refugees warm over the winter period, I made my way out to the aircraft hanger.

Having been shown around a Tornado before I thought it only right to carry out a few of my own first works checks. two wings, two engines, three wheels and a wind screen all seemed to be in order apart from a dodgy looking back left tyre which I was told had a few more take off and landings left in it. All outside checks completed it was time to climb on board and get strapped in to the rear seat. All pre-flight checks done which included me turning on and off radar buttons (who said it was going to be a free ride?), it was time to close the canopy and taxi out of the hangar. With our wingman only feet away from us on the runway it was Select first gear, slip the clutch and chocks away. Within seconds we were Airborne, acceleration fast leaving MPA way behind in the distance.

The first 15mins of flight was very sedate with only a few turns and twists with both aircraft maintaining a height of around 300 feet. My pilot then informed me it was time to liven things up and with a drop down of the gears things started to get very interesting. My 'G' pants started to inflate every time the pilot put the F3 into a tight turn pulling around 4 'G', it got to the stage that I thought my legs were going to explode with the amount of pressure that was being put on them. It was now time to go supersonic, from around 400mph to Mach 1 (760mph) in less than six seconds, nearly as fast as my mountain bike with the wind behind me. Then it was vertical from 300 feet to 21,000 feet in less than 20 seconds with both afterburners on before rolling over to level out.

We attacked a few of the permanent hill top sites around the Falklands before searching for the VC10 refuelling tanker. With more fuel on board it was back to the fun and games with yet again enough 'G' pulled to make your eyes pop out. At this stage I had not reached for the sick bags that I was given as part of my kit but the pilot seemed to be doing his best to get me to fill them. After a quick one sided dog fight with a C130 Hercules that was on a training flight it was time to head back to MPA and carry out a few low level attacks on the runway. 1 hour and 40 mins later it was time to come back to earth, with the undercarriage lowered and a quick squeal of the tyres we were back on the ground.

A trip of a lifetime that will take some beating in the future.

WO2 (USM) Karl Weaver
on the cockpit familiarisation phase of his re-trade course

1 (ROYAL BUCKINGHAMSHIRE YEOMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON (SPECIAL COMMUNICATIONS)

Sqn Comd Maj S. Gregory
SSM WO2 (SSM) D. Scott

A typically busy period for the Squadron, January and February incorporated a patchwork of equipment trials, continuation training, exercise, parachuting, the current Special Communications Course and the start of the first SC Assessment Course of the year. Timely congratulations must go to the following members of the Squadron who were successful on the first promotion board of the year: Sigs Brown, Carrington, Chambers and Jones, LCpls Clarke and Roberts and Cpl Gott. Congratulations go to WO2 (YofS) Dave Hughes who was awarded his Long Service and good Conduct medal on Tuesday 13 February. The medal was presented by Comd 2 (NC) Sig Bde, Brig Jackson MBE who also took the opportunity to present the Yeoman with his belated warrant. Equal congratulations go to Sgt Ian Lumsden-Gordon who was presented with the Volunteer Reserve Service Medal by the Brigade Commander during the same ceremony.

PROTECTIVE DRIVING SKILLS COURSE

by LCpl Dave Marshall

For Cpl Stu Penman and myself, we were on our way to the Royal Military Police Close Protection Unit for what we thought was going to be a long intensive week of driving on the Protective Mobile Skills course held at Longmoor Camp. On Monday we were looking forward to a good day's driving but unfortunately the DS had other plans, mainly death by view foil. The driving started on Tuesday with Cpl Stu Penman and myself let loose around the roads of Surrey in a worryingly new and powerful Omega, unfortunately for me it was an automatic. So when I eventually stopped trying to change gear it turned into a really good drive, and by the end of the day we were eventually putting into practice what had been taught the previous day. The driving was very controlled concentrating on good tactical skills other than speed. Wednesday involved Anti-Ambush skills in the crash cars, although there were no crashes we managed to burn out the clutch on one vehicle and the other two will never quite be the same again. Again on Thursday, we were out on the road this time we had had unexpected vehicle upgrade having just managed to master the skills in the automatic we had been put in a manual 5-series BMW not that we complained. It took some time getting used to the car but we were more confident and were let off the lead a little more than on Tuesday but we never came close to breaking the speed limit – honest. (LCpl Gower may have forgotten to mention exactly how many days after the course that he wrote off his own car. Could be a re-course.....)

LS&GC and VRSM presentations with the Brigade Commander

SQUADRON BURNS NIGHT – SATURDAY 3 FEBRUARY

Carefully and lovingly organised by Capt Alan Houghton, WO2 Willy Ironside and Sgt Ian Lumsden-Gordon, the night was not only a celebration of the man Robert Burns himself, but also the dining out of Capts Richard Newhouse, Conrad Giles and Sgt Michael (Jeff) Hope-Jefferson. All started well with Athol Brose, a deceivingly potent creation, the recipe acquired in Dundee. Feeling the effects at this early stage, the diners adjourned to the table for a traditional menu of haggis, tatties and neeps followed by a long collect of Scottish bards poems and speeches. To say the night was a success would be something of an understatement due in no small effort to the PSAO'S orchestration. The assembled Mess looked resplendent in a sea of tartan and even 'the Laird of Toytown' SSgt Deano Poole made an effort and borrowed Rupert Bear's trousers for the occasion. A mention must be made of our chef for the evening LCpl Flo Jordan who, as always, did us proud and LCpl Den Comiskey amazed all present, with his first class piping skills. Sincere thanks go to the Squadron members and cadets from our local ATC who all waited on with consummate proficiency. Finally, to the three Mess members to whom we bade farewell from Spec Comms, we wish all of you nothing but the very best for the future.

PARACHUTING WEEKEND - by Cpl Jase Broome

The news of the next training jump was met with mixed reception around the Squadron. An impressively ugly grin from the face of Cpl Mick Peace told a story of its own and so once again to Lyneham it was to be. The volunteers for the jump; myself, Capts Angus Eavers and John Collyer, Cpls Mick Peace, Sylvester Hack, Ian McKerrow and LCpl Roberts got off to a 0400hrs start in worse than dubious weather. Once the team met up with the 21 SAS Regt (V) sticks, the all clear was given for the drops to begin. The next challenge was to find the right aircraft on the pan in a minibus packed with the team in full kit. Some twenty minutes late, a safe drop was had by all onto South Cerney with some more than others looking forward to the next one.

Two Scots, three Englishman and a Welshman. So why six skirts?

NEWS FROM THE TROOPS AND CADETS

600 SIGNAL TROOP

Tp Comd Maj Ron Kirkwood

600 SIGNAL TROOP - WHERE ARE THEY AND WHAT DO THEY DO??

600 Signal Troop operates out of Basil Hill site in Corsham. Occupying a small tract of land on the same site as HQ 2 (NC) Sig Bde & HQ DCSA and in the not too distant future UKNDA. The Troop, as part of its organisation, contains RSSST(UK) not to be confused with RSSST(Blandford)! RSSST(UK) carries out annual screening of all Ptarmigan assets in UK (not an RSIT inspection). They also provide System Support for tactical communications systems used by the UK Field Army wherever it deploys. It has also been used to supplement RSSST (Germany) during times of intensive deployments requiring RSSST involvement in Germany. The team currently provide System Support for the following systems:

Ptarmigan	Cleo / Myra Systems
UK Tactical SATCOM	Euromux
Bates/Ptarmigan Interface	ADCIS/Ptarmigan Interface
Euromux/Ptarmigan Interface	CIS/Ptarmigan Interface

The team is required to be involved in any Unit, Formation interfacing or trial activities employing any of the Systems mentioned above.

UK TACTICAL SATCOM

Satcom/Euromux team supports the field Army (RAF and Navy upon request) tactical satellite terminals, both Military and Civilian. These involve: UK/VSC 501, non-enhanced, enhanced and BV installed
Military off the Shelf Terminals, variants 1 to 4 International Maritime Satellite (INMARSAT)

Involvement being most exercises above Unit level, trials as and when they come up, which includes in service trials if the equipment is just being introduced into service. They are also involved in the following future systems, which at this early stage is just meeting attendance, but will be present (aiding RSSST Blandford) at the User Trials when the equipment eventually comes into service:

UK/TSC 503 UK/PSC 504 UK/PSC 506

Satcom/Euromux team as Ptarmigan team is also involved in the commercialisation of the Balkans (Myra/Cleo). This involves being on call to rectify faults as and when they come up in the Hub, recently installed at Corsham, or being on standby to ease the transition of units when they roulement in either theatre by being present in either Kosovo or Bosnia. RSSST(UK) techs are heavily involved in the trialing of new equipment (MAPPS, G-TAP etc) and are now circuit managing state of the art equipment on the Myra/Cleo hub.

DOWN UNDER

The OC, Maj Ron Kirkwood, saw that the Myra/Cleo project was in safe hands and thought he'd hotfoot it to Australia on the bizarre excuse that an ABCA (Australian, British, Canadian and American) planning conference required his presence, he was quickly followed by SSgt (FofS) Kev Peters. The conference (the bit that got in the way of the Social side) went well. All five nations (New Zealand is an associate member, which basically means they aren't mentioned in the title) cooperating well, in trying to plan a test schedule for an exercise taking place in Ontario, Canada in 2002. A four day conference, which felt like four weeks, was intertwined with events such as an ice breaker function and an evening wine tasting to help foster good working relations. These events worked so well; that all nations are looking forward to what the New Zealanders are putting on for entertainment, at the next conference in April/May this year. Hearty hellos, go to both WO2 (AQMS) Chris 'I'm only here for a couple of months before I get promoted' Rawlings and Sgt 'Taff (I'm only here for a couple of months before I get bust)' Tanner, hope both your tours are what you wish of them.

FREQUENCY MANAGER/COMSEC
DATA PRODUCTION TEAM

A three man team in charge of Policy and permanent allocation of frequencies, Spectrum pricing Communications Information Packages for the British Army in all theatres around the world, Station football team, IIP, Equal opportunities. I think everyone gets the message. Any queries please phone the squash courts where all 3 can be found any time of the day.

PCGC/CDA HQ LAND

SSgt Neil Evans Sgt Steve Pope
Sgt Paul Green Cpl Carl 'Radar' Noott
Sig Sadie Kennedy

Now that version 17 of the Ptarmigan Database is done, does that mean PCGC can go back to sleep? The new database was finished and distributed on time leaving December what it is traditionally best kept for. The drinks, the parties and the Sergeants' Mess v Officers' Mess football match. SSgt Neil 'You only see goals like that in the premier league' Evans managed to put two in the net, helping raise the score to 8-1. Sweet revenge for last year! Whilst CDA is handing over all its accounts ready for the takeover by UKNDA in May, it's farewell to WO1 (YofS) Steve 'Geordie' Holt who leaves us for the Falkland Islands as the newly commissioned traffic officer JCUFI. Welcome to Sig Sadie Kennedy who joins us from 7 Sig Regt

LS&GC PRESENTATION

Brig J. M. Shaw MBE, ACOS G6/Comd Comms Land, coincides his visit to 600 Sig Tp with the LS&GC presentation for SSgt Ian Munford and Sgt Steve Pope. Congratulations to both soldiers for 15 years exemplary service.

Brig Shaw MBE, SSgt Munford, Tina Munford, Sgt Pope & Karen Pope

PROMOTIONS

Congratulations to WO2 (FofS) Bob Wymer on his recent promotion to WO1.

SPORT

GREAT BRITAIN LUGE CHAMPIONSHIPS

by LCpl J. O'Leary

This is a follow on to the last article, which referred to the Ice Sports Camp in Lillehammer Norway as a novice training camp with a view to further training for those who showed particular promise.

Well, after the first insight to sliding down the icy slopes all aboard a T-tray, I continued to pester the Winter Sports Secretary. Once again, I missed out on the British Army Novice Championships in Winterberg (Germany), because I took my two children on holiday to Cyprus as arranged before I got into this sport. This being the case I asked if I could take part in the GB Novice Championships at Innsbruck (Austria), to my surprise the answer was yes and details would follow. I received my joining instructions by fax with all relevant info including a costings page at a total of £450 for a week half-board including four slides per day. I had almost decided that it was beyond my reach, however, to my surprise £200 was being refunded on return to the UK. Unfortunately this was of little or no help as it was nearing the end of the month. Luckily I have an excellent job with White Helmets Motorcycle Display Team and my boss, Capt Kyra MacAnulty, said she would do her best to get me there if I could honestly say that I felt I had a chance at doing well. With that end in mind we approached the PRI fund and were given £200 to cover the track fees payable upon return to UK this was a great help, also another £75 to help towards the accommodation costs. We also approached G3 .PAT HQ 5 DIV and received a further £100. Now there was light at the end of the tunnel (a proviso of the money was that I wrote various articles and gave some action photographs) all I needed was £75 plus money for lunch (all sorted).

So there I was Saturday 20 January 0800hrs departing for Abingdon (4GS RLC) where I was greeted by SSgt Graham Holmes who had collected all the sleds together and got a minibus from the Army Sports Board with which we were to begin a mammoth journey to Austria. There we were midday turned around and driving to Dover. From there by boat to Calais (obviously taking in the amenities food/shopping/drink) and arrived at Calais at 8 o'clock CET. Our minibus was loaded down with all the sleds and was restricted to 65 mph. Meanwhile some of the civilians who were competing in the championships and were to travel in convoy could go a lot quicker but we kept to our snails pace. Taking turns to drive we kept to a good average speed only stopping for a fuel break (and a strong coffee) to keep us going. Bashing down the tarmac, driving through the night the roads suddenly turned white with snow and come 0200hrs we thought we must be getting close, allowing for the conditions, we plodded along and arrived at 0845hrs tired but relieved that the journey was over. We checked into our rooms and had a traditional squaddie shower then went to meet the local populous (Ann Marie's for Ham and Eggs) hit the spot quite nicely. 28 hours after leaving Blandford we were eventually at the track where we walked up and down several times to affiliate ourselves. Stopping at potential hazard points to compose and imagine our lines in and out of the turns looking like slow motion rave heads, rolling our bodies end lifting our hands (revision) all done and back to the hotel to unpack/settle in and have our tea.

A few pints of the local brew to relax into the change of scenery and time difference (my excuse). The start of a new day saw me up and about at 0600hrs on a roll and feeling good, downstairs for a swim, then into breakfast with a very large appetite. I was ready for it and was on the bus by 0800hrs (sled in hand). We drove up to the track, got changed, walked the track once again and was now ready to go. Having not slid for a while we were informed that we would be starting only half way up (from Kreisel) Turn 7. All seemed well, the ice was good so instead of getting two sessions of two runs each, we got two sessions of three runs each. Most took the extra slide as we all needed the practice but more importantly we were having so much fun all going extremely well with six slides in day one and no injuries to mention, spirits at Camp GB were high.

On to the important social side (work hard - play hard) into the sauna, swim and solarium then on to dinner (three course obviously!) and a couple of wets to aid a good night's sleep. However, all this only happened after the sleds had been prepared for racing the following day (safety is of paramount importance) and seeing as how we were paying we wanted all to be perfect which pretty much set the trend for the week to follow. Advancing further up the slope in accordance with an individual's performance just as we did at the Novice Sports Camp and the same as we will do for all the tracks until they become old hat as every track is different and experience counts for everything.

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday went well for all (practice makes perfect and all that) it probably helped that the Italians and Austrians were there and we could look to them for advice and techniques so we watched them. The current World Champion was also there and we analysed their lines and tried to incorporate them into ours and in particular I observed their form and poise once in the sled (their aerodynamics). There I was mixing it with people who were at the top level of their chosen sport. Even the best are looking for that all important 1,000th of a second off their time, for hints and tips, this feels great the World Champion watching me for hints and tips (maybe not).

They stood at the side of the track and spectated at British Champions Andy Croucher (Male) and Laura James (Female), both in the REME, and the rest of the GB squad. This is one team that GB has which actually competes upon the same platform, at the same high standard as other nations. This despite the lack of natural tracks to train on that many other nations take for granted. You may well expect to see team GB doing well at the Winter Olympics 2002 at Salt Lake. For my part I have been asked if I would like to team up with Andy Croucher to form a doubles pairing. We are looking forward to making a medal winning combination, along a long road and hopefully getting onto the winners' rostrum in to 2006 Olympics.

The only thing that restricts our performance is, as always, funding. As with all sports the better equipment and training facilities we have the better we will do and have accelerated performance increases (Steve Redgrave and the rowing team lays testament to this). All potential sponsorship support would be greatly appreciated from transport to clothing or even financial would be a fantastic help! We have a large doubles sled that could quite easily accommodate logos and a uniform. As you can see, as per British Eurosport, Luge gets good coverage with a wide audience and is quite often on x-trerne sports.

One final thanks to all who have supported me along the way, from White Helmets for time off work and all those who have funded me. A big thank you goes to Meru Hedges from Outdoor Essentials for some clothing, who can be found on quite a few army camps and via Directory Enquiries.

RUGBY

ARMY U 21 RUGBY - 2000/2001 SEASON

In September 2000 the Army held trials for this squad and the U 20's. We went down to Aldershot for a weekend of drills, games and a final match against RMAS on the Sunday afternoon. It was a hard two days with a lot of people playing very well, especially the Fijians that have joined the ranks recently. In the final game that I played in the A string, we won 18-15 after eighty minutes. Within R Signals, Sigs Sila; Drewery; Harlock; Littlehales and Garside also played who all later made it into the squad. The selected squad met two weeks later for a game against Queens University, Belfast; this game was played at Ballynehinch RFC in N.Ireland. The game was very much a showpiece, as the Army has not played a representative game in N. Ireland for a very long time. Although a hard game we did win convincingly. The evenings' proceedings were made very special when we were joined by many of the RGBW soldiers at the camp we were accommodated in. The beer flowed and the boys had an excellent time. The coaches looked on it as a great team building exercise and to this day believe this had some bearing on our later success.

The next two games were against the two well known universities; Oxford and Cambridge. We were taken a bit by surprise and two performances let us down when we only drew with Cambridge and then lost to Oxford putting some pressure on team places and the team. The final lead up game was against the famous Welsh club side Llanelli. This was played at Aldershot where we put out an attacking side that should have won had it not been for the ' score tries only' attitude. The result forgotten we looked onwards to the Inter services U 21 Championship with great confidence in our ability. We were to host the Navy for our first game, but the Navy had already lost their first game to the RAF by a few points and were out to avoid a whitewash in the championship by beating us.

This was not to be, particularly with Sig Sila and LCpl Beart of the Royal Signals starting and Sig Harlock on the bench, the team were out to do the business. The squad had an excellent lead up to the game with some strong training sessions and the uplift of the English international victory the day before. The game began and the impressive Eric Butadroka scored an early try and that set Lt Geary of the RLC to lead the Army to a devastating 70-6 victory, which was enjoyed by the whole squad. Eric Butadroka was awarded man of the match and this took us into the deciding game with the RAF in the highest possible spirits. The following Thursday the squad met, and despite the prospect of forthcoming Army Cup matches with their individual units, morale was still high. Training sessions continued but the atmosphere was a lot more intense as the players knew we were not far away from taking the championship. Against RAF Halton, the squad included LCpl Beart and Sig Sila on the pitch, with Sigs Simmonds and Harlock on the bench. This game was a lot harder and the RAF fought well, but unfortunately the game saw some seven sin bin offences often turning the game on its head. With only twelve players in the Army team for the last seven minutes, they stood their ground and won the game 35-13 to win the championship.

That night we celebrated in style in Guildford and the next morning was not a pretty sight. This was the end for the Army U21 for the time being and the U20 took the reigns...

With two games under their belts, the U20's have seen a loss against Hertfordshire, but an emphatic win against a Welsh national league side. They now enter the County Championship with the spirit the U21's took into the Inter Services. We now look forward to three events; firstly the U2O County Championship, The Combined Services U21 season and the tour of South Africa in June. We anticipate great success.

Army Under 21 Rugby Team

HOCKEY

ROYAL SIGNALS LADIES HOCKEY TEAM
CYPRUS TOUR OCTOBER 2000 - by Sig Lindsay Smith

The Royal Signals Ladies Hockey Team, arguably the most successful Royal Signals Corps side with three consecutive Outdoor and two Indoor Inter-Corps Championship titles, were given the opportunity to undertake their first tour since the team was set up in 1992. The release of additional funds from the cancellation of the Corps Millennium Sports event meant that an overseas tour was achievable and Sgt Pam Mitchell and SSgt 'Cozzy' Calabrese volunteered to get the tour rolling with sunny Cyprus as the venue. D-Day was 1 October 2000 and started with a rendezvous at Blandford Camp at 1600hrs to catch the transport to Heathrow. The journey from Heathrow to Larnaca was enlivened with the introduction of the fines system, courtesy of Cpl 'I'm not going to get fined this year' Cath Burgess. Instead of the usual flash cards we had dummies, which had to be in your mouth within a ten-second count. It got us noticed at the airport!

Our base camp for the tour was Dhekelia Garrison where we arrived drained and tired from the flight at early o'clock in the morning. Later that day we had the requisite security briefings and frantically tried to memorise the names of the Out of Bounds establishments. Our first hockey game was held in Happy Valley, Akrotiri, vs the Exiles a friendly team consisting of a mix of ex – pat and service personnel. Before the start of the game the Exiles were presented with a trophy by our Tour Captain, SSgt Fran Graham, a ceremony that was repeated at all the subsequent games. The match provided coach SSgt 'Bru' Baker with a good opportunity to conduct some pre-inter corps training. The final result was 6-1 to the Signals but the real winner was the heat with all players realising the need for acclimatisation. This first game also introduced two tour T-shirts, one for 'Player of the Match' and the other for the 'Plonker'. Both shirts had to be worn by the winner until the next match. Unfortunately there was a 'no washing' rule which resulted in some very unsavoury shirts by the end of the tour! Wednesday was our introduction to the beach, where of course we concentrated on acclimatisation training and how to get a better tan! That afternoon saw our second match at Happy Valley, versus the Saxons. A slightly harder game, as the Saxons had the accolade of being the best team on the Island, with a final result of 5 – 0 to the Signals. The next day the team moved base to Paphos, for some mid–week R&R. the day was ours shopping, bathing and sitting by the pool. It was here that SSgt 'Cozzy' Calabrese lived up to her Mission Statement for the tour ' There are no problems only solutions'. Maj Louise Tomkins decided that she simply must have an inflatable giraffe and 'Cozzy' scoured the town to produce 'Gerard' who then became our team mascot for the rest of the tour. Thursday night was theme night dreamed up by Sgt Pam Mitchell. Teams of three people making five legged teams with the centre person sporting a ridiculous dress. It was a memorable evening resulting in each threesome singing a Karaoke tune in order that they be released.

Friday provided an opportunity for some to experience parascending, before returning to Dhekelia to play our final game before the tournament. This was to be an interesting match as our opposition, Styx, were SSgt 'Cozzy' Calabrese's own team. Styx proved to be a worthy opponent and provided a very enjoyable game, the final result 4-1. Entertainment at the post match drinks was a kangaroo court. Members of the team were judged on some of their exploits and were exposed to some flash new words; superfluous, supercilious and rhetorical which were adopted for the remainder of the tour. Saturday was tournament day. The squad was split down into two teams, Royal Signals A and the super B Team. The tournament was a round robin with two of the Cyprus sides, Saxons and Styx. Both Signals teams won their matches against the Cyprus teams and had a hard fought game against each other which resulted in a 0 – 0 draw. Player of the match for the tournament was Sig Gemma Officer for her courageous goal keeping. Styx won the tournament by beating the Saxons, as a touring side the Signals were unable to win but were honoured by the Saxon Team who presented their runners up medals to the Signals A Team. Our thanks to the organisers and participating teams for allowing us to compete. That evening the Styx team hosted us at a Meze, entailing 20 courses with a mixture of dishes – some less popular than others! Our last day was spent in Water World where there were flumes, pools and lazy rivers, a brilliant day that nobody wanted to end.

An outstanding tour which will set the tone for future tours and a well deserved reward for players who have committed much time and effort to the Corps Team over the last few years. (Cpl Sue Neate – you were missed!) Finally a huge thankyou to Sgt Pam Mitchell and SSgt 'Cozzy' Calabrese for making the tour happen

SQUASH

ROYAL SIGNALS SQUASH CHAMPIONSHIPS 2000

The year 2000 Royal Signals Squash Championships were played at the Corps Squash courts, Blandford Camp. Although not as well represented, as in previous years, it did not affect the standard of squash played over the three days. Due to the fact that the majority of players were eligible to play in the 'Over 35' competition, (come on, where are the younger players in the Corps) most players had more matches to play than they expected, in some cases playing the same person twice. The 'Open Competition' went pretty much to form and according to the seeding. SSgt Dave Gallagher had his usual easy passage to his place in the final, beating SSgt Ian Piears in a very good semi-final. WO1 FofS Steve Bason had a much tougher time reaching the final, eventually overcoming Capt Yam in their semi-final match in straight games. The final was won by the very much on form Dave Gallagher 3-0; Steve Bason obviously suffering the effects of jet lag, having flown from Cyprus that week, watch out next year Gallagher.

The players who lost in rounds 1 and 2 of the main competition played in the 'Plate Competition' and as in previous years it was to be more exciting than the 'Open Competition'. The 'Plate Competition' brings together players more evenly matched with each other, and a chance to win something as well. The final was more of a battle of pride than a game of squash; the two (older) Gurkas, Sgts Hari and Chandra played a thrilling five setter, with Sgt Chandra edging the fifth to win. The 'Over 35 Competition' is becoming more and more like the 'Open Competition' with an increasing number of players reaching the ripe old age of 35. Capt Yam had the pleasure of playing WO1 FofS Steve Bason (again), but this time in the Over 35 Final. The semi-final Open game between the players the day before took its toll, and Steve Bason came through as the winner.

The team competition consisted of one league with all teams playing each other. With the (dodgy) team from Northern Ireland, 15 Sig Regt, fielding two Corps players came through as clear winners. For the first time, a ladies competition was played and Cpl Helen Nolan beat LCpl Justine Graham 3-0. Hopefully more women will enter next year's competition and make Cpl Nolan's defence more difficult. The three days of Squash was enjoyed by all the players who participated and congratulations go to those who reached the finals.

INTER CORPS SQUASH

The players selected to represent the Corps in the Inter Corps championships were:

No 1 SSgt Dave Gallagher
No 2 WO1 FofS Steve Bason
No 3 SSgt Ian Piears
No 4 Capt Yam
No 5 WOl FofS Adrian Woodley

Due to Unit commitments, the Corps Team was perilously weak and three regular players were missing. However, congratulations goes to those selected. The competition was held for the first time at Aldershot in the new Army Squash courts. Unfortunately last year's runners-up performance by the Corps was not to be repeated. The team's main aim was not to be relegated, but with a very much-weakened team, it proved too difficult and the Corps lost all its matches, albeit by the narrowest of margins. The matches against the AAC and the APTC were both lost 2-3. Adrian Woodley and Ian Piears had very tense and difficult games against the APTC, both players eventually losing their matches 3-2. It was extremely close in the end, with relegation finally being decided by individual games won by players.

NORTHERN IRELAND
INTER CORPS SQUASH CHAMPIONSHIPS

The inaugural NI Inter Corps Squash Championships took place on 19 October 2000. Due to several Corps pulling out of the competition, the two leagues were reduced to three teams in Division One and four teams in Division Two. The R SIGNALS were considered to be a strong Corps and were placed into Division One, along with the REME and the Infantry.

After an initial briefing, play commenced and it was soon evident that Division One was going to be a close competition between the Infantry and the R SIGNALS. Both teams easily beat the REME be a three-nil margin so it was all down to the match between the favourites. SSgt Dave Gallagher from 40 Sig Regt, quickly disposed of the Infantry number one seed and proceeded to encourage (??) his other team mates. Unfortunately the encouragement was not enough and SSgt John Heaton (HQN1 and 15 Sig Regt) went down by three games to nil. The deciding match was now to be between the Infantry number two and SSgt Ian Piears, also from HQNI and 15 Sig Regt. This proved to be a close game but SSgt Mears eventually came out on top in the fifth to win the game three games to two, the match two games to one and the first ever NI Inter-Corps Squash Championships.

Being the inaugural competition it is now up to the other Corps to follow in our footsteps and attempt to remove the trophy from our grasp next year. SSgt Dave Gallagher - 40 Sig Regt, SSgt (Supvr R) Ian Mears and SSgt John Heaton both of HQNI and 15 Sig Regt, were chosen to represent the R SIGNALS.

THE ROYAL SIGNALS ASSOCIATION

Patron: HRH The Princess Royal

President: The Master of Signals

Chairman: Major General A. H. Boyle CB

Vice Chairman: Brig N. F. Wood Area1; Brig W. H. Backhouse Area 2; Brig S. G. M. Gordon Area 3; Big K. H. Olds Area 4; Brig P. J. Evans CBE Area 5; Lt Col J. G. Billingham Wales; Maj R. Sampson CBE Scotland; Lt Col C. N. Lightfoot N Ireland

General Secretary and Treasurer: Col A. R. Carter MBE
Welfare Secretary: Mrs J. Cornick
Assistant General Secretary: Lt Col I. J. Hamilton
Administrative Officer: Mr P. J. Cuckow (Membership & Records)

Association Office, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, Dorset DT11 8RH. Telephone: Military System (9) 4371 2090 or 01258 48 2090. Welfare Secretary Telephone: Military System (9) 4371 2089 or 01258 48 2089.

All contributions for The WIRE should be addressed to the Editor and any queries referred to him on extensions 2079 or 2085. Internet: www.royalsignals.army.org.uk/museum/rsa.htm

The Association communicates with its Branches and individual members through the pages of The WIRE, which contains accounts of Branch affairs as well as a forecast of Association events.

Branch Secretaries are asked to check that their Branch Members receive sufficient copies of The WIRE. Association HQ can arrange for copies to be delivered in bulk to Branch Secretaries for further distribution if this is convenient: it helps us to save on postage.

Dates of Branch events can always be published in The WIRE*and should be submitted to the Editor. We also welcome letters, requests to contact old comrades and announcements of births, marriages and deaths. We hope that each Branch will contribute a short account of its activities, preferably with photographs, at least once a year.*

NOTES FROM THE AO'S DESK

We start by acknowledging the contribution made to the Royal Signals Association by Maj Gen Alan Yeoman CB. As most of you will know General Yeoman handed over Chairmanship of the Association to Maj Gen Tony Boyle at the beginning of this year, after holding office since 1995. During those five years he has visited many of our Branches, from Guernsey to the Shetlands. There can be few members who have not encountered his enthusiasm and passion for the Association. It was fitting that General Alan was awarded with Honour Membership of the RSA at the last meeting of the Central Committee he chaired, in November 2000. We wish him and his wife, Barbara, all the very best in retirement.

BRANCH NEWS

The 18th Divisional Signals Reunion Assn has reluctantly been forced to disband. Holders of the Branch Secretaries List should delete them from the list of affiliated associations. The List should also be amended to reflect the following changes: The e-mail address of Tony Hull (Beverley Ex-Boys Assn) is now: bebe.tonyhull@lineone.net Dennis

Wilson (Hartlepool) is now: denwil@btinternet.com Jim Brown, Hon Secretary of the Hull Branch, has moved to; 71 The Parkway, Willerby, E Yorks HU10 6AY. His telephone number remains the same. Dennis Egan informs me that the date for the 12th/15th/18th Air Formation Sig Regt Assn Dinner has been change from 28 April to 12/13 May. Venue is still in Stoke on Trent. Phillip West is the newly elected Secretary of the Brighton Branch. His address is: 4 Hawthorn Gdns, Broadwater, Worthing, W Sussex, BN14 9LS. Tel: 01903-530431. As she hands over office, we thank Dee Barber for all her hard work, which is very much appreciated.

New Branch in Edinburgh: It is hoped to start up a new branch of the RSA based in Edinburgh. Anyone who is interested in joining or finding out more details should contact SSgt Bob Harvey, 61 Sig Sqn (V), Chesser Cres, Edinburgh EH14 0RS.

The Royal Hospital, Chelsea: Four former members of our Corps were recently admitted to the Royal Hospital: Brian Howarth, Peter Turner, Edward Taylor and James Woolgar. We wish them a long and happy stay at Chelsea.

Founder's Day at the Royal Hospital: Founder's Day this year will take place on Thursday 7 June and the Reviewing Officer will be HRH Princess Alexandra, The Hon Mrs Angus Ogilvy GCVO. Association HQ should have a (very) limited quantity of tickets, which will be offered to those Branches nearest to Chelsea. The Governer's Review on June 5, is a full dress parade open to the Public and Association members are welcome to attend. Anyone interested in attending the Governer's Review is asked to call the General Administration Officer at the Hospital for further details. Tel: 020 7730 0161.

E-mail: For those who had not noticed, we have dropped the 'mail.' from our E-mail address. It now reads: rhqrsignals@army.mod.uk

RSA Reunion – accommodation: We have been offered caravans for hire over the forthcoming annual Reunion weekend, 23/24 June. These four-berth vans can be sited on Camp, for a fee of £150. If four members could get together to share a van, it would cost them less than £40.00 per person. Meals may be taken with the rest of the members in the Regimental Restaurant. Anyone interest in utilising this facility should contact Janice Pickard on 01963-362606.
E-mail: janice@jangor.fsnet.co.uk

New Life Members: A warm welcome is extended to the following members enrolled since the last WIRE. We hope that those members shown as in the 'RHQ Branch' will make contact with their nearest branch of the RSA. We wish those who have recently left the Corps every success in their 'second career' and hope that they will stay in touch with Association HQ.

Rank and Name	Branch	Service
LCpl Matthew Wootton-Jones	RHQ	1991-00
WO1 Paul Sexby	RHQ	1976-00
Sgt Jim Street	RHQ	1942-47
LCpl Royston Rambridge	Beverley Ex-Boys Assn	1953-61
SSgt Ian Swan	RHQ	1976-00
Sgt John Bright	RHQ	1942-47
Sig Kevin Bakewell	Aberdeen	1999-date
LCpl Steve Franklin	RHQ	1977-00
Sgt Matt Murray	RHQ	1976-00
Sgt Mick Rutherford	RHQ	1985-00
Cpl Stephen Humphries	RHQ	1988-00
Cpl George Taylor	Berwick	1954-56
Dvr Alan Timson	12/15/18 AFSR Assn	1946-49
WO2 Jim Whelpton	Beverley Ex-Boys Assn	1951-76
Sig Eric Timewell	Southport	1950-52
Cpl Tom Watkins	Southport	1960-74
Sig Bert Weaver	Bristol	1952-55
Cpl Bert Beckett	Bristol	1945-48
LCpl Ian Sanders	RHQ	1985-95
Sig Brian Pratt	Rotherham	1950-52
Sgt Rod Hood	RHQ	1988-00
Cpl Damian Walker	RHQ	1988-00
Sgt D. L. Almey	RHQ	1986-00
WO1 Simon Lock	RHQ	1977-00
Sgt Gregory Cropper	RHQ	1989-00
Sgt John Robinson	RHQ	1987-98
Sig Mike Mann	RHQ	1988-00
SSgt Peter Lavers	RHQ	1967-94
SSgt Paul Waters	RHQ	1989-00
LCpl Paul Bradley	RHQ	1972-78
Cpl Colin Nicholas	RHQ	1948-60
SSgt Michael Shirley	RHQ	1975-99
Sig Nicholas Critten	RHQ	1995-00
WO2 Chris Nutt	RHQ	1974-00
WO2 Greg Robertson	RHQ	1965-00
Sgt Nick Turner	RHQ	1978-00
Cpl John McHale	RHQ	1978-00
WO2 Peter Turner	Royal Hospital, Chelsea	1933-56
Dvr Alfred Sumner	Sale	1948-50
Cpl Bill Gardener	Bedford	1942-46
Sig W. T. C. Heeley	Birmingham	1950-52
Pte Mary Liddiard (Power)	RHQ	1952-53
Sig Adrian Hall	Brighton	1961-65
SSgt Ray Counley	RHQ	1977-00
Cpl Phillip Rowley	RHQ	1988-00
Cpl Gary Meir	RHQ	1978-00
SSgt Kevin Quinn	RHQ	1978-00
Cpl Kevin Johnson	RHQ	1977-00
Sig John Wood	RHQ	1958-60
Sig Kieron Rolls	RHQ	1996-00
Sgt Dave Blair	RHQ	1988-01
Sgt Nelson Townsend	RHQ	1951-54
Maj Tim Bushell	RHQ	1969-01
Cpl Doug Bellshaw	Preston & Blackburn	1966-75
SSgt Derek Livesey	Preston & Blackburn	1975-99
Sig Bob Bonner	West London	1948-50
Capt Alexander Fennell	RHQ	1995-01
Sig Darren Clarkson	RHQ	1996-01
Cpl Hugh Macdonald	RHQ	1943-47
Cpl Nick Chapman	RHQ	1978-00
Cpl D. J. Bruce	East London	1977-86
Sgt Les Bostock	RHQ	1971-95
Sig Brian Lee	RHQ	1953-55
Sig John Perkins	RHQ	1954-57
Cpl Kevin Hibberd	RHQ	1985-99
LCpl Jonathan Nelson	RHQ	1993-99
Sig John Burt	RHQ	1943-47
LCpl Ted Clegg	RHQ	1953-56
Maj John Ankers	RHQ	1952-87
Sig Brett Baber	RHQ	1996-00
Sgt Ian Pearson	RHQ	1982-00
WO2 Steve Bertram	RHQ	1978-01
Maj Geoffrey Purdy	RHQ	1961-81
WLCpl Elizabeth Axe (Sheldon)	RHQ	1942-46
Maj Tim Mountford	RHQ	1966-00
WLCpl Rachel Carr	RHQ	1983-87
Sgt Tony Clarkson	RHQ	1955-69
LCpl Stuart Russell	RHQ	1990-00
Cpl Matthew White	RHQ	1995-01
Sig Barny Barnard	RHQ	1985-01
WO2 Steve Bolton	RHQ	1977-01
Sig Chris Woodcock	RHQ	1996-01
Sig Michael Johnson	RHQ	1985-98
Cpl Alan Johnson	12/15/18 AFSR Assn	1940-46
LCpl Frank Crompton	RHQ	1939-46
Cpl Edward Taylor	Chelsea Hospital	1938-60
SSgt Marlene Niblock	Glasgow	1974-date
LCpl Mark Nichols	RHQ	1994-01

Recently I have been informed that the listing of new Life Members in The WIRE is a waste of space. I had always believed that I was providing a service and that readers were interested. I would now like to hear your view - if the general opinion agrees that it is a waste of space – then no problem, I will discontinue the item.

BRISTOL BRANCH

We can look back on another year of regular monthly meetings, held at the TA Centre, Horfield Common, Bristol, and have maintained our average attendance of 16 members. Every other month we devote the meeting to Branch and Association Business, followed by a buffet held in the WOS' & Sgts' Mess, with several of our members partners also attending, it is always an enjoyable and convivial 'get together'. On the alternate months we leave business on one side, and devote the evening entirely to social activities, including the occasional guest speaker, or a visit to a local hostelry for a game of skittles.

The highlight of each year is our Annual Christmas Dinner, held in early December, and this year was no exception, only even more so than usual. A recent examination of archives produced the information that the Branch was at least 50 years old, so we immediately applied for, and were granted, a '50 year Pennant' for the Branch Standard. Rather than wait until the 2001 Reunion, we decided to ask for this to be presented at our Annual Christmas Dinner, so that most members could be present at the occasion.

Bristol Branch Christmas Dinner
((L-R): Ray Rigg - Secretary, the Master of Signals, Chick Cheetham, Mrs Annie Sprackling, Capt Tom Pengelly, Mrs Joy Cheetham

In view of this, we invited the Master of Signals, Maj Gen I. O. J. Sprackling OBE to be our guest and to make the presentation. We were delighted and honoured when he agreed to do this, and there is no doubt that the attendance of The Master and his wife Annie added greatly to the sense of occasion.

The Master of Signals presents the 50-Year Pennant

It is worth noting that the Master and his wife drove up the M5 from Exeter to Bristol in one of the worst, heavy and continuous rain and wind storms of the winter, so we were doubly grateful that our guests decided nevertheless to brave the storm and relieved that they arrived safely. To add to the spectacle the Standard was paraded around the dining room, both before and after the presentation, by our Standard Bearer - Mike Hawkins, accompanied by pipes and drums of The Bristol Pipe and Drum band. It was a truly memorable occasion.

Finally a footnote from our Chairman, 'Chick' Cheetham, 'Whilst we were on holiday in Malta in November, my wife and I attended their Remembrance Day parade in the capital city, Valetta. We can assure any members who have any connection with Malta that the parade had a large turnout, and was well represented with poppies sent by the U.K., Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Germany and many many other countries. The President of Malta was there to take the salute at the march past. There were many other dignitaries attending. It was gratifying to see so many people remembering those that gave their all during those trying times.'

CAMBRIDGE BRANCH

It is quite a while since the Cambridge Branch received a mention in The WIRE so here goes. We have had quite a busy year and following the successful St George's Day supper last year it is intended to hold another this April. Capt Len Carr, our Treasurer and PSAO of 54 Signal Squadron, more than ably assisted by LCpl Karen Carter also from the Squadron, provided a super spread enjoyed by about 20 members. The Cambridge Drill Hall was the venue and was suitably decorated with the Flag of St George. During the summer a number of members made the journey to Blandford for the Annual Reunion and enjoyed meeting up again with old friends and acquaintances and have already planned this year's trip.

The Branch Standard was extremely busy at the beginning of November when our Standard Bearer, Ken Grange, assisted by Tony Peachy and Peter Hirst were invited to attend a number of functions. The first of these was the British Legion Festival of Remembrance held in the Cambridge Guildhall on Sunday 5 November. Four members from 54 Signal Squadron were also in attendance, LCpls Karen Carter, Alison Radcliffe, Grant Wilson and Sig Karen Everett. On the morning of Saturday the 11 November the Standard was paraded at the Armistice Day Parade at Ely in Cambridgeshire and in the afternoon at the Burma Star Memorial Parade at the Cambridge City Cemetery. The following day, 12 November and the Standard paraded with 54 Sig Sqn at their annual Remembrance Day parade at Fulbourn, a village just on the outskirts of Cambridge. In the evening the Standard Bearer and escorts were at a concert held by the Littleport Branch of the British Legion. The Standard was paraded and received by Col D. H. Bristow OBE DL and all proceeds from the concert were donated to the Earl Haig Poppy Fund.

Our November meeting saw an old friend of the branch, Mr Terry Beaumont who regularly gives presentations on his many interests, including the history of the Spitfire and his part in recovering and flying aircraft, which were lost in the Second World War. The meetings never seem to last long enough when Terry starts to speak and the assembled members are totally enthralled. To round off the year we again joined the Signal Squadron for their annual Christmas Draw and social evening. We would like to thank the Squadron for its assistance and hope to encourage a few more of their number to join the Branch.

EAST KENT BRANCH

The Branch AGM was held on 14 January at the County Hotel in Canterbury where 58 members assembled to welcome our guests for the occasion. The guests were Maj Gen Tony Boyle (only 12 days into his Chairmanship of the Association) and his wife, Ann. Having welcomed our guests the Branch Chairman, Donald Crisp, opened the proceedings. Following the preliminaries the Treasurer, Lt Col Mike Barrett, presented the Financial Report which showed the funds to be in a very healthy condition. This was followed by the Chairman's Report which illuminated the successful entertainment programme devised by the Committee. After this he thanked each of the Committee individually for all their hard work thoughout the year. He also thanked them for their company during his time in office as both he and Mike Barrett would now, in line with the Constitution, stand down having completed their terms of office.

The new Committee was then proposed and elected:

Mr John Ballantyne	Chairman
Mrs Jo Barrett	Vice Chairman
Mr Ted Drake	Honourary Treasurer
Maj Gen John Badcock	Honourary Secretary

with Mr Vincent de Rose, Mrs Marion deRose, Mr Trevor Allison, Mrs Doreen Allison, Mrs Marion Ballantyne. completing the Team. Mr Roy Andrews, having served for so many years on the Committee in so many capacities, is also standing down and will also cease to be the Southeast Representative at RHQ. All his hard work is much appreciated. At the end of formal business Maj Gen Boyle spoke at length on the work of the Association, its many strengths , its benevolence, its strong contacts with the serving members of the Corps, its manpower and retention problems together with the aspirations of those in high places to combat those problems - and all this from a Chairman who had only been in office for 12 days!

His talk met with a generous response after which John Ballantyne presented the General with a cheque for £200 for the Corps Benevolent Fund. Jo Barrett then presented Ann Boyle with a bouquet and Donald Crisp offered a cartoon to the General, it had been prepared and framed earlier, depicting an irreverant and negative response to the aforementioned talk. Donald was most insistant that the subject matter was all the idea of our esteemed Honourary Secretary who, he claims, commanded him to picture it thus. The cartoon was accepted gratefully and is to be consigned to the 'smallest room'.

This rounded off procedings from the top-table and we settled down to enjoy a delicious lunch accompanied by a great deal of nostalgia and a lot of 'Do you remember when.....?' or 'Whatever happened to.....?' conversations. We sadly said farewell to our guests after lunch and they made their way back home to deepest Wales, a memorable day. It was good to see so many members at the AGM but inevitably there was some who had fallen foul of the winter weather or other ills and ailments. Sadly Bill Lovett is still unwell as is Jimmy Hand who remains in the tender care of a hospice in Rochester, Maj Charles Hughes has a recurrence of an old problem and we wish them all well.

If the writer can take a moment to indulge himself just a little, he would like to mention that his son, Paul Crisp, a sergeant in the Metropolitan Police and a member of the Royal Protection Group, has been made a Member of the Victorian Order in the New Year's Honours List. He only mentions this because Paul was trained as an Apprentice Telegraphist at Harrogate from 1971 and left there as Apprentice RSM in 1974 to go to 1 Signal Regiment in Verden.

In keeping with tradition the outgoing Members of the East Kent Committee looked forward with eager anticipation to being 'Dined Out' on 8 February, but the best laid plans did not foresee that Doreen Allison, wife of Trevor, would perform a dive (with pike) from the top of her stairs to the bottom. Thus severely breaking her ankle. Nor did those well laid plans anticipate that Donald Crisp, the present writer and outgoing Chairman, would be heavily engaged in attending to his wife, Marie. who had suffered a frightening but thankfully minor stroke the night before, and was himself resting after spending the whole of the previous night at the hospital and paying the obligatory visit during the day. Both Doreen and Marie are now progressing well and apologise for not being in attendance but judging from the telephone call made to Donald during the festivities and the raucous grape-induced laughter accompanying the kind call we were'nt missed.

SICK PARADE REPORT

Firstly, due to a mistaken source of information I reported last month that Major Charles Hughes had 'suffered a relapse' of some mysterious ailment. I must now apologise to Charles who did not suffer a relapse of anything and all is well. Ten brownie points are to be deducted from the source of information who also owes Charles a pint: Jimmy Hand is still receiving treatment from the Royal Marsden Hospital and is fairly comfortable. As an aside, when the writer visited Jimmy recently another visitor turned out to be (after much quizzing and questioning because after all this time we were both unrecognisable:) one of the writer's Radio Mechs. when he was Troop Sergeant of the 4 Div Sig, Refit, Radio Relay Troop in 1959. A certain Sig Brian Roalf and I reminisced long and with much nostalgia whilst Jimmy lay entranced on his sick-bed. Bill Lovett, he of the mysterious and indeterminate symptoms of my previous writings, is now well and overflowing with beans. His previous ill-health he blames on the NHS for mis-prescribing his medication which has now been rectified.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

This month's activity took place at the Ashford Bowl where 26 of our athletic Members competed for the much prized and jealously guarded Ten Pin Bowling Trophy. Once again the Trophy went to 'an Andrews': Roy Andrews, a stalwart of the Branch and South East Area Representative at Association HQ, brings his family posse each year to compete and display the talents of his grandson, Neil who has won the Trophy several years in succession. He was again successful this year despite the efforts of the Hon. Sec. to 'load the dice' against him by arranging for all the other lanes to have the benefit of side bumpers: I mean, what sort of gentlemanly conduct is that for a Major General ? As usual, much fun and jollity was had by all.

GLASGOW BRANCH

A founder member of the Branch, Bobby Gilchrist, at the age of 76, asked members to sponsor him in a charity bid, in aid of the 'Roy Castle Lung Cancer Foundation'. We all thought he was mad, to volunteer to be raised 130 feet in the air in a basket, then slide down a zip slide to ground level. Bobby, who is an ex-Lance Corporal, who served with the Corps from 1943 to 1947 was the oldest participant to complete this daring feat, despite the fact that he has only one arm. Bobby was proud as an ex-smoker, to have raised £250 for the foundation.

Bill MacNamara, has paraded the Branch Standard at further festivals of Remembrance in the millennium period. He has been to Milngavie, Hamilton, Ayr, Falkirk, Helensburgh and Drymen in the last few weeks. In these travels, Bill has had inquiries from ex Corps members, who have seen the standard at these ceremonies, about the Glasgow Branch, if it included members from the West of Scotland. The answer to that is yes. Bill inquired if it were possible to have small cards printed, which members could hand out to interested inquirers. The committee agreed to look into the suggestion.

The Branch members were invited by the members of the Regimen to attend a social function, initially in the Wos' & Sgts' Mess, then to a kareoke and raffle in the JRs' Mess. Although only six members took advantage of the invite, it was a very enjoyable evening. Our thanks go to all ranks of the Regiment for entertaining us. The annual Burns' Supper was held on 20 January in the Officers' Mess in Jardine Street, with the kind permission of the CO of 32 Sig Regt, Lt Col. J. K. McKee MBE. Joe Keegan, as Chairman welcomed the members and guests, then said the Selkirk Grace. Pipe Major Bill Cleezy of the Corps Pipes and Drums piped the haggis in. Bill McNamara gave a resounding address to the haggis waving a large kitchen knife around. The menu was a choice of haggis or steak pie excellently produced by chef, Cpl Debbie Carruthers and her chefs. Sgt Danny Beattie monitored the waiters and ensured the glasses were replenished. Capt Keith Anderson, in his own inimitable style and 'suit', proposed the immortal memory. Somewhat different to any rendition I have heard before. Jim Lockhart gave the speech to the lassies, to which Ivana Muir, Branch Secretary, responded wittily as a true-blooded Ms. (I think she was just kidding). A guest, Drew Dickson, gave his rendition of Tam O' Shanter and Holy Willie's Prayer, to which he received a long round of applause, for his superb memory of the many verses. Another guest, Miller Frondingham, provided musical interludes on the accordion and mouth organ. The evening was then open to any individual to provide songs or poetry to entertain the company. Brian and Anne Warren sang solos and duets, which were roundly applauded. Joe Keegan as Branch Chairman, thanked the chefs for an excellent meal and Danny and the waiters for their excellent service with a round of applause from the company. He thanked the members and guests for their contributions to the evening's entertainment and the members and their guests for their attendance. The evening finished with the company singing together Auld Lang Syne.

The Branch members were invited to attend the presentation ceremony of members of 32 (Scottish) Signal Regiment (V), who were to be awarded Territorial Medals and Certificates, to be held at the HQ in Jardine Street, Maryhill, Glasgow. The medals, bars and certificates, were presented to the recipients by the Lord Provost of Glasgow and Lord Lieutenant Alex Mosson, accompanied by the Commanding Officer, Lt Col J. K. McKee MBE. The Lord Provost in his speech stated the pride Glasgow had in being associated with the 32 Territorial Regiment and the RSA members linked to the regiment. Afterwards a curried meal was laid on, with a glass of wine to toast the members awarded the decorations. It was a very pleasant occasion for the Branch members who witnessed the ceremony. Our thanks to WO1 (SVWO) Terry McVey for inviting the members and for his invitation to the next 'Jimmy Club' meeting on 16 February. The Branch Chairman, Committee Members, Members and Associate Members wish all Members of the RSA a belated, 'Guid New Year.'

HULL BRANCH

The year 2000 opened with the AGM in February, where three true and trusted volunteers were voted in as Branch officers (mind you it was the same three as last year). Thanks go to Mr Roy Drewery - Chairman, Mr Jim Brown - Hon Secretary and Mr Bill James - Treasurer, for guiding us through the year.

June saw our annual tour of the battlefields take us to Ypres and the Somme a very poignant pilgrimage. Members also attended the Blandford re-union weekend, a good time was had by all. In July we joined the 'Kohima' veterans in York the weather stayed fine and the food and entertainment was enjoyed by all. We had a get together with York Branch and members of the local TA at Halifax barracks during September. Maj David Sixsmith - OC 49 Sig Sqn (Leeds) and Cpl Mark Warrington 745 Sig Tp (Hull) had just returned from Bosnia, they spoke about the work carried out and the conditions for both soldiers and civilians alike. Our thanks to them both for giving the time to join us at what turned out to be a very enjoyable evening. November's Remembrance Parade at the Hull Cenotaph was well attended. The Hon Secretary laid a wreath on behalf of the Branch, Mr Walter Raywood paraded the Branch Standard. Lunch was held back at Halifax barracks. Later in the month 30 members and guests attended the barracks for our annual Regimental dinner. Thanks go to WOII Alan James, Cpl Mark Warrington, Sgt Stuart Keys, Sgt Gary Openshaw and Troop members for making the occasion a success.

Again our monthly luncheons have been well attended both old and new hostelries have been visited. The year ended in the usual festive manner with a good feast at a local hostelry. Our thanks go to all who have supported the Branch over the year and we hope 2001 sees another successful twelve months.

LOUGHBOROUGH BRANCH

Loughborough Branch held their Annual Reunion Dinner Dance on 18 November 2000 at the Carillon Rooms, Loughborough. 95 sat down for dinner, which was followed by dancing to The Terry Stewart Band. They came from all over England, (Isle of White, Cheltenham, Southport, Bristol, Worthing, Cornwall, Bracknell, Derby etc.) as well as our local Branch members and friends. Some of the ex-Signals hadn't seen each other for 30 years, and most had served some time during their Army career at Garrats Hey, Woodhouse Eaves, Nr. Loughborogh. The evening was a tremendous success and naturally there were lots of reminiscing amongst us all. We put on coaches, etc to pick up those around the area so that everyone could enjoy themselves. All are looking forward to next year's annual dinner dance that is booked for Saturday, 24 November 2001. During the evening Ben Banyard thanked all that had supported the Branch in raising £2700 for an electric wheelchair for June Ross. This of course included the RSA Benevolent Fund, British Legion, etc as we went through SSAFA and with the donations from Ron's friends who were in the Royal Signals we were able to get the chair in eight weeks. Well done everyone and sincere thanks from June Ross. If anyone reading this would like to join our Branch please ring our Chairman, Ben Banyard on 01509 503585. (The photograph is published courtesy of The Loughborough Echo).

NORTHERN IRELAND BRANCH

Our December meeting was a short one and was followed by a social evening. January's meeting was also a short one as George Cook had arranged through WO1 (RSM) Steve Lockwood for speakers from 39 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn to visit us. Two excellent speakers, SSgt Rob Atherton and LCpl Debbie Bevan, gave us a very detailed insight into their experiences whilst in Kosovo. Also present were Debbie's husband, Cpl 'Paddy'Bevan and their Driver, Pte Shane Nobes. It is good to know that the Corps is always at the forefront of any action and those of us who are a little bit older are usually intrigued to hear about the up to date equipment being used today (but then ours was up to date when we were using it). The thanks of the Branch go to all concerned. The Branch held a disco on Friday evening for the 'younger' members and friends. Though numbers could have been better the evening was still a success.

On a sad note it is with regret that we report the death of Patricia, wife of our long serving member Ernie Mansell. Ernie and Patricia have always supported the Branch over the years at Formal Dinners and other functions. Our sympathies go out to Ernie and his family. The Branch was represented at the funeral by the Branch Vice-President, Maj (Retd) Noel Johnston and Mrs Johnston.

If you are reading The WIRE and are in Northern Ireland and if you are not already a Branch Member or indeed are still serving in the Corps, you are welcome to join us any third Wednesday of the month in Clonaver TAVR Centre, Belfast.

POOLE BRANCH

It was no doubt fitting that Maj Gen Alan Yeoman's last official engagement, as Chairman of the Association, was to our Branch Christmas Dinner held on 15 December. The General lives just four miles from our 'base' and it was very good to see him and Barbara again - in very good form after another cruise. Fifty-four of us sat down to a traditional festive season dinner, our largest number so far. Not only is the Broadstone Royal British Legion Club well respected for its catering but the franchise holder, a former ACC Sergeant, was a member of Bob Peake's staff at Blandford during the 1980's and he always looks after us extremely well. It was good to see the many guests who come each year and some of our friends from the Dorset Branch. The high point of the evening was the presentation of Honour Membership to our Branch founder, Jimmy Logan. It was a very well kept secret and such was the surprise it reduced Jimmy to tears and rendered him speachless - for the first time ever according to Eve, his devoted wife. The award was richly deserved, for not only did he start the Branch but it was his dedication and determination that has kept it going for over 20 years.

We held our AGM in February despite our Secretary, Tony Curnow, being unable to attend owing to illness. There was a good turnout and a very pleasant evening ensued and functions discussed and agreed upon. We are very fortunate in being so close to Blandford and having the chance to share in many joint activities with the Dorset Branch, indeed some members attend meetings at both Branches. Should any other Association members find themselves in our area on holiday they are more than welcome to join us for an evening if their visit coincides with the first Tuesday of the month. A telephone call to Tony Curnow on 01202 770906 is all that is needed. After our AGM we had a group photograph taken to record in our Branch Album .....

(L-R): Bob Peake, Jess Weir, Nick Nichols, Brig Paddy Evans, Jimmy Logan, Peter Blunt, Don Mollison, John Hyde
(L-R): Pauline Peake, Carole Bamford, Pat Evans, Eve Logan, Carol Stephenson, Rose Beddingfield, Sheila Hyde

It is with great sadness that we report the death of Maj (Retd) Roger Pickard - late Curator of the Royal Signals Museum. He was an excellent Branch member and he and Danny attended our meetings and functions on a regular basis, always with a smile and they were good company to be in. Roger had battled bravely against ill health over the past few years and seemed to have won a long-term remission. Unfortunately it was not to be and he died peacefully at home on 13 February. Our greatest sympathy is extended to Danny, a wonderful devoted and patient wife, their children and grandchildren.

ROTHERHAM BRANCH

Here is the first official photo from the newly formed Rotherham Branch of the RSA with their recently dedicated Standard.

SOUTHAMPTON & DISTRICT BRANCH

We report the death of Capt (Retd) John Hollis MBE. He died peacefully on 2 January 2001 at the age of 89. John was a Life Member of the Corps and a member of this Branch. The funeral was held at St. John's Church, Rownham, on 10 January 2001. The Branch was well represented and our Standard Bearer, Brian Littlecott, carried the Branch Standard. The President, Chairman, Committee and all members of the Southampton Branch extend their belated condolences to John's wife, Nancy and all the family on their loss. Further details are published under the Last Post.

The highlight of the Branch social meeting held on 2 January 2001, was the presentation of the RSA 50 Year Badge and Certificate, together with a congratulatory letter from the Association's retiring Chairman Maj Gen A. Yeoman CB, to Mr Jack Cullingford and Mr Fred Griffiths. Our Branch President, Brig John Clinch CBE, made the presentation. Both of them are long serving members of the Branch and were very appreciative of the honour, as was evident from the short speech of acceptance from Fred duly endorsed by Jack.

(L-R): Brig John Clinch CBE, Mr Fred Griffiths, Mr Jack Cullingford

TUNE IN TO THE WORLD

Hampshire school pupils have been to Russia, the United States, Sweden and a host of other countries - via the airwaves. Applemore College near Hythe marked the centenary of Marconi's famous first radio message from the Isle of Wight to Cornwall by launching its own radio club. Expert help came from the Waterside Amateur Radio Society led by its Chairman, Maj (Retd) John Daw BEM. He gave a two-day series of talks to the Applemore Radio Club. The first day was given over to communications down the ages from Mercury to the present day. The second day covered the practical aspect and equipment working. The talks were very well received, with praise given for the content and presentation. His next project is well in hand as he is organising an Amateur Radio and Computer Rally at the Applemore College to be held on 15 September 2001. John Daw's radio experience began when he enlisted in the Royal Corps of Signals on 3January 1938. The 4th September 1939 found him crossing the border into Poland as part of a team to establish communications back to the west and the UK. The German invasion of Poland resulted in a recall back to the UK; exiting the country just ahead of the invading forces. John served throughout the war in the Middle East, Italy, France and Austria. He was well known throughout the Corps, rising through the ranks to become a Foreman of Signals and was eventually commissioned. He retired in 1974. John is a long time member of the RSA Southampton Branch and at the grand age of 80 is still very active in the amateur radio world as his involvement with Applemore College shows..

BEVERLEY EX-BOYS ASSOCIATION

On reading the February edition of The WIRE, under 'Late News', we have noticed that Pat Drummond's son, WO1 Andy Drummond, has followed in his father's footsteps and is doing a sterling job in Sierra Leone. Pat Drummond joined the 6 (Boys) Training Regiment at the age of 16 in 1950.

Just before the last reunion, I had a telephone call from a lady named Muriel Mongomery. She had seen an article about BEBA in the Hull Daily Mail and she used to be a WVS Volunteer serving the boys from 6 (Boys) Training Regiment with tea and tea-cakes at the TOCH. We arranged for Jack Quigg to present her with a bouquet of flowers, (see the picture, courtesy of the Hull Daily Mail).

We also invited her to the Reunion and she came to the Meet and Greet on the Saturday afternoon and to the church service on the Sunday. We have since received the following letter from her:

Thank you all for the way in which you showed your appreciation of the work of the WVS. It was very gratifying to be so well thought of after all the years. I was pleased to see you all looking so well and smart, and hope you had safe journeys home.

Beverley is not the same without the barracks, the bugle calls used to drift across our sleepy town. Thank you also for the flowers they were a joy. Wishing you all Good Health, Good Luck and Happy Years.

Muriel Montgomery

We held a postal vote for the location of our next Reunion and although we only received 65 votes from a possible 158, the majority were for the Lensbury Hotel, Teddington, London. The Committee, at their meeting on 10 February, decided to book the Lensbury for Saturday 6 October 2001. Full details are available from Tony Hull tel: 01202 770261. We would also like to welcome the following new members: Don Horton, Albert Trevor and Mrs Kathleen Smith, the wife of Ron Smith, (Corporal in the Stores at Beverley, who died in 1975).

REUNIONS

ASSOCIATION OF HARROGATE APPRENTICES

Douglas Dickason Honourary Secretary of the Association of Harrogate Apprentices

ANNUAL REUNION 13 AND 14 OCTOBER 2000

Uniacke Barracks is at present undergoing a major rebuilding programme and it was there amid the mud, scaffolding that the Second Reunion of The Association of Harrogate Apprentices was held. That is to say nothing of dodging the squads of students who were being drilled by those loveable creatures called Drill Instructors, on any spare patch of road in the absence of 'God's little acre', the barrack square.

Friday got off to a fine start with some 200 members, with or without partners, attending a reception in the Sergeants' Mess commencing at 1900hrs. It was a miracle that they actually found it as all the usual known landmarks had been erased. Soon there could be heard the rattle of glasses accompanied by the chatter of many mouths rejoicing in the meeting of long lost friends. Many pints were downed that night and by the early hours only the stalwarts remained catching up on the news after many years of separation. The evening was supported b a splendid finger buffet prepared for us by the catering staff of the Sergeants' Mess. Our thanks go to the Mess caterer and the staff.

Saturday morning started for some a bit bleary, only from tiredness I might add, although they appeared to be missing from the church service. This was held in Hildebrand as Uniacke is still without it's own church. The service was conduced by Padre Patrick Irwin and our own Louis Kinsey 55B. Louis is a Major in the Salvation Army and is based at Catterick Garrison. His delivery of the service was superb and with so much truth and feeling that I am sure that those who attended the church thought that they were still back at Uniacke doing term time all over again. After the service the members made their way back to Uniacke to the lecture theatre for the Annual General Meeting. Members met up with those who were unable to attend on Friday evening, along with those who did not attend the church service.

Two main points came out of the meeting. The first being that the Army Foundation College should be approached and be asked to permit The Association of Harrogate Apprentices to hold all future reunions, at Uniacke Barracks. With the exception of the June meeting at Blandford in 2001. After all, it was pointed out by many members, Harrogate is our home and we have many fond memories of it. The second point was that The Association should present the Army Foundation College with a trophy that would be competed for on an annual basis. It could be presented for accomplishment in sport, individual or team, best recruit or squadron. I am certain that in the fullness of time a suitable name and idea will be forthcoming.

Doug Dickason and Terry Cawthorne man the Reception Table

In the absence of our Chairman, Col (Retd) C. J. Walters, Maj (Retd) Bryan Maltby stood in and did an admirable job in controlling the proceedings. Maj Gen (Retd) J. D. Stokoe CBE was again elected as President, Col (Retd) C. J. Walters was re elected as Chairman. Douglas Dickason is to remain as the Honorary Secretary and Terry Cawthorne was elected as the new Treasurer. Louis Kinsey was voted on as the new editor of the Newsletter. The newsletter is published twice a year, in January and July. The editor is hopeful that members will send him good material for publication, the better the stories and articles he receives the more interesting our newsletter becomes. So please could members send in material and not leave it up to the editor to do it all himself. The newsletter can only be as good as the stories and articles it contains.

One problem the Association has is recruitment. It is amazing that from all the Apprentices who were trained at Harrogate over the years, 1947 - 1996 and the last thirty six years of this was Royal Corps of Signals, that we have only just over four hundred members. We need more members to broadcast that the Association is in existence and encourage ex-Apprentices to join. We also need the serving members who passed through Penny Pot to join. The address of the Association is: Douglas Dickason, Hon Secretary-AOHA, 25 Cherry Waye, Eythorne, Dover, CT15 4BY. I will be only too pleased to send details and an application form. The Association is also backed by the RSA as we are affiliated members.

The next reunion and AGM is to be held at Blandford and will coincide with the RSA weekend on 23 and 24 June 2001. As many of our members live in the southern half of the country and find it difficult to attend the reunion held in the north, it would be a good opportunity for those members to come along and meet up with old acquaintances. More details will be made known as and when they are available.

MEMBERS OF THE 12TH/15TH/18TH AIR FORMATION SIGNAL REGIMENTS ASSOCIATION will meet in reunion in Stoke-on-Trent on Saturday, 12 May. All past members of these units, their sister Air Formation Signal Units and CAFSO Staff who served in the UK, Europe or the Middle-East will be welcome. Contact Colin Morgan (01554 774638) for membership details

REUNION

DELTA TROOP - 22 SIGNAL REGIMENT
AUGUST 24 - 26 2001 INCLUSIVE

Location TBC

All Members from 1972 -1977 welcome
For further details contact either:
Mr Frank McCormick
Tel: 01438 832902 (H) Mob: 07787102860
or:
Maj P. H. Grainger
Tel: 003143 3284815 (W) or 003145 5273494(H)

THE MIGHTY THREE NORTH CAMP

3 SQUADRON, 7 SIGNAL REGIMENT

We are planning to hold a reunion for all ex-members of 3 Squadron, 7 Signal Regiment, who served in the Squadron between 1977 and 1980. We are hoping to hold the reunion in April 2002. Hopefully the venue will be the Garrison Sergeants Mess at Catterick Garrison. The people who have been contacted and are interested are myself, Angus (Mr G. Morrison), Bob Hami Hamilton, Vic Bannister, Ralph Smith and Paul Gaffney. We are hoping for a good response so, any other ex-member of the Squadron during this time, who is interested can contact Angus at: Mr G. Morrison
MOD Police
NATO (SGT) Balado Bridge
Kinross
Tayside, KY13 7NH
Tel: 01577 862456

LOST COMMS

Seeking Robert 'Bob' Cobb, ex- 56 Sqn, Air Training Corps, Woolwich. Past members are active with reunions and a newsletter and several always ask after you. We would like to hear from you, and any other past 56ers, to know if you are well. Better still, to see you at a reunion, the last Saturday each April, Pilot's Pals, Biggin Hill.
Contact Marten Bowtle, 107 St. Williams Way, Norwich, NR7 0AN, Tel: 01603 701779 or E-mail: 56PHOENIX@mbowtle.fsnet.co.uk

Mr Patrick Crago is seeking the present whereabouts of some of his former pals. Namely Jim Barlow (from Gorton Manchester) and Walter Riggins, with whom he served during trade training in 1955. Also Alan Kennedy (from Dundee) from the time they spent in 2 Signal Regiment, Dusseldorf, attached to 23 Fd Regt RA. Patrick would also like to hear from anyone who remembers him from 252 Sig Sqn in Hong Kong 1960-63. Patrick can be contacted on 01202 381105

Peter Vinicombe would like to hear from anyone who served with, or remembers, his late father; the former Sig Peter Vinicombe. Peter was a lineman, who served throughout WW2 in units such as: 52 AA Bde, 29 Lt AA Regt, 10 Corps Signals, 4 Trade Trg Bn, 1, 2, 3 & 4 Coy AA Signals, plus 80 AA Bde, 4 Armd Bde and 3 Armd Bde Sig Sqn as a Reservist from 1945 to 1947. He settled in the Filey area of North Yorkshire. Please call 01609 778220 if you can help.

From: Peter W. Curtis
'Porthgwarra'
Cattle Lane
Abbotts Ann
Nr. Andover
Hampshire, SP11 7DS

Dear Editor,

Royal Corps of Signals
North China Signals Section Tientsin (Tianjin) 1934

I recently made enquiries at the Corps museum concerning my father's service in the 'Signals' and in particular the North China Signals Section which was operating in China in the 1930s. The Archivist suggested that I write to you in the hope that you may wish to publish my inquiries in The WIRE and perhaps elicit some response from former members of the Corps and their families.

My father was 1858971 Sgt William 'Bill' Robert Andrew Curtis who was posted to China in the 1930s. My mother either went with him or followed later with my sister Mary and elder brothers Tony and Reg. I was born in Tientsin on 2 August 1934. My birth certificate is signed Lt F. S. Whiteway-Wilkinson (for the Brigade Major) and I was christened in the Church of All Saints Tientsin. The baptismal certificate was signed by Douglas Duncan (Chaplain). My godfather on this occasion was Sgt William 'Bill' Horobin who later obtained a commission and attained the rank of Colonel. He retired sometime after World War II. My father became a Civil Service Radio Operator and spent the war years staffing various Aircraft Direction Finding Radio Shacks (DFS), all communications at this time were in Morse Code. He had postings from Lands End to the Isle of Lewis.

In 1981 I was fortunate to be able to visit China. Armed with information given by my sister, who was of school age in 1934, I went in search of our 'Army Roots'. As a result of requests to the appropriate Chinese Authorities I was able to make an 'accompanied' visit to Tientsin. My sister had recalled that the Quarter we lived in was named Mimosa Court. In 1981 the Chinese authority informed me from their records this was now 38 Ronghua Lane, Guangdong Road, Hexi District, Tianjin., roughly translated this means 'luxurious place'! The 'neighbourhood committee' warmly welcomed me and everyone treated me like the prodigal son. I found to my surprise the house was occupied by a retired Chinese Soldier. The Quarters' layout was a replica of what one would expect of an army camp in the UK. The houses had, however, suffered some structural damage in the 1977 earthquake and repairs were being carried out at the time of my visit. I have photographs taken in 1934 and 1981.

Since my retirement we have been piecing together our family histories together with any 'adventures' associated with it. What I would like to find out is whether there are any more 'Tientsin children' out there and does anyone have any information concerning the reasons for the British Army having a presence in China in the 1930s and of course the function of the North China. Signals Section etc. I am also anxious to find other information concerning the ships that the soldiers and their families would have been conveyed in to this far-flung outpost. Your assistance will be appreciated.
Yours Sincerely.....

Glenda Rice-Howitt would like to hear from anyone who served with her father the former LCpl Francis Joseph Rice (known as 'Jock'). Mr Rice enlisted into the Corps in Glasgow in 1928 and left in 1934. He was recalled for WW2 and served in North Africa. Please contact Glenda on 01566 86570.

Geoffrey Martin and Eric Thurgar would like to hear from anyone who was with 30 Wing Section, Air Formation Signals - 1942/46. They can be contacted on 01753 715088 or 3 Douglas Road, Slough, SL2 1NU

Stella Thomson (nee Webb) of 9 Potters Way Plympton, Plymouth, PL7 1QP, would love to have a reunion with old comrades pictured in the photo. They were stationed at 69 Brigade, Bath, at the time. Her twin sister and she were also at 3 AA Group, Bristol and 1st AA Group, London. They also served overseas in Helmond - Holland and Brussels (Royal Signals).

Stella Webb, Daphne, Rosemary Scott-Ellis, Bobby

Frank Crompton would like to hear from any of his Royal Signals colleagues who were at the following places at the times stated: Signals Training Camp (formerly the Thomas Cook Holiday Camp), Prestatyn North Wales from September to December 1939. Dainville, near Arras, Northern France from 1940 up to the time of Dunkirk. Also Bad Oyenhousen, Germany from 1945 to 1946. He can be contacted at:

118 Saddle Mews
Douglas
Isle of Man
IM2 1HU

CORRESPONDENCE

From: Alan Boot
90 Glebelands Road
KNUTSFORD
Cheshire WA16 9EA

Dear Sir,

Subject: 'Hairies'

I expect that by now you will have been inundated with replies to the question posed in 'The WIRE -Feb 2001' in the article entitled 'Cable Laying', why are linemen referred to as Hairies?

Well at the risk of boring you here goes! A short and hopefully humourous explanation. Our comrades in lesser trades alleged that all linesmen had hairy bums, an allegation probably not without some foundation! Hence the full and rather affectionate term ascribed to us was 'Hairy Bummed Linemen'. (This, of course, is the politically correct version and for 'Bum' one should read 'Arse(ed)').

Hoping that the foregoing was of interest to you.
Yours Sincerely.....

From: Lt Col (Retd) F. M. Orr OBE
The Larches
Hunton Road
SCOTTON
North Yorkshire
DL9 3NN
Tel: 01748 834265

Dear Sir,

In the last issue of The WIRE Col (Retd) Cliff Walters asked why Linemen were referred to as 'Hairies', and whilst no one can ever be certain of the origins of such nicknames, I think that the following is the most logical and probable explanation.

In the late 19th Century a draught or rough coated horse was known in the army as a 'hairy' (see 'The Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English'), indeed by 1915 apparently any government draught horse was known as a 'G S HAIRY'. It therefore does not take much imagination to see why in WW1 the same name was also applied to RE Linemen. Imagine the state of these individuals when, in the winter of 1917 for example, they laid down a 13,000 mile cable system in one month prior to the battle of Cambrai (I find these statistics hard to believe, especially as the work was carried out in secrecy. However, Nalder quotes them and they are repeated in 'Through to 1970'.). They must indeed have worked like and resembled their rough mud covered namesakes.

I also include the poem 'Decibel - 5 to 4 Against', it is not war poetry but I think it will be of some interest and is certainly relevant to the 'Hairies' of our Corps.

DECIBEL - 5 to 4 against

The Walrus and the Signalman were tying back the twine;
They wept like anything to see the losses in the line;
'If only we could measure this, oh wouldn't it be fine?'
'But there are piles of Volts and Amps' the Walrus cried with glee,
'And so we multiply them up, and make them Watts you see.'
The Signalman only shrugged and said, 'Oh what's a Watt to me?'
'If seven Volts at seven Amps are starting off from 'S',
You've nearly fifty Watts with which your meaning to express;
Unless they meet a Decibel, and then they're something less.'
'A Decibel,' the Walrus said, 'Is really very clear;
A unit of transmission loss, to give you some idea.'
The Signalman said nothing, but wiped away a tear.
'Now if you take a hundred Watts and put them in a pen
With ten selected Decibels, the Watts will shrink to ten.'
'That's simple,' said the Signalman. The Walrus spoke again
'But if, instead of just one Bel, you turn it into two,
Your hundred Watts will shrink to one - I trust that's clear to you?'
The Signalman replied at length, ' Thank you, I'm sure I do.'
'Six Decibels reduce by four, and nine by eight;
Four thousand times is thirty-six, so all the experts state.'
But at the point the Signalman remembered he had a date!
'PINPOINT'
08/08/36 - Air Contingent Signals, S. R.

From: Sgt (Retd) 'Scriv' Scrivin
64 Albermarle Drive
Catterick Garrison
North Yorkshire, DL9 4HA
Tel: (01748) 833054

Dear Sir,

The enclosed cutting from the North Yorkshire News dated Wednesday 10 January 2001 may be of interest to you. In your December issue you pointed out that Mercury Bridge was closed just in time for it's re-opening. I do appreciate that copy has to be placed with you in advance and it was very nice to see that the ties with Catterick are maintained. I should also like to point out that for many years the bridge was unnamed as the plaque in the picture was missing. Due mainly to the efforts of Mr Stan Perkin the aforementioned plaque was found and replaced just in time for the centre pillar to be washed away.

In the same paper is a picture of and an article about my son Timothy 'Timo' Scrivin who is at the moment in Beaufighter Troop, 11 Signal Regiment, on his Area Systems Op Trade Training Course. He has won the Best Endeavour award in his training troop. Sig Scrivin won the prize for the recruit who worked hardest and improved the most during the 12 weeks of basic training.

'It is a real surprise for me to receive this award and a great honour for me and my family, who will be really proud of what I have acheived.'

'Timo' (as he likes to be known), completed basic training at Bassingbourn on 11 November 2000 and has followed his father into the Corps. Dad was Sgt 'Scriv' Scrivin a former RTG who retired under Phase 2 redundancy in 1983.
Yours Sincerely.....

From: R. C. Bullock
1 Seagrave Court
Arnold
Nottingham NG5 6JA

Dear Sir,

I feel the need to pay tribute to a very special lady, who is very deeply committed to, and involved in, the successful running of the Nottingham Branch of the Royal Signals Association. We hold our monthly meetings at the premises of 87 Signal Squadron, TA. These are situated on Triumph Road, Lenton and I am sure that I speak for Branch Members when I express our appreciation to the Unit for extending this courtesy to us. At the last meeting before Christmas, we were ushered into the Sergeants' Mess, to find sherry for all and mince pies in abundance. The latter provided by the very special lady previously mentioned. Her name is Mrs Tina Ward and she is ably assisted by Mrs Norma Toft, who has also played a very important part in making the Branch the success it is today. While we all appreciate the effort made by Maj (Retd) Ron Toft to re-establish the Branch and accord credit to Mr Eric Haris, for continuing where Ron left off, (due to ill health, I hasten to add), I believe that the two ladies should get credit where it is due, or maybe over due, for their sterling support and service. So lads, raise your glasses and let's have a toast

'Mrs Tina Ward andMrs Norma Toft'

From: J. Y. Templeton
6 Everton Road
CROYDON
Surrey, CR0 6LA
Tel: 020 8654 8408

Dear Sir;

In response to Col Walters' query (February's WIRE) regarding why Linemen are called 'Hairies', I offer two possible explanations:

a) In the old days there were three types of Lineman, Field, PL and UG but the generic appellation for all Linemen was HA which meant 'Hairy' with the A standing for a part of his anatomy.

b) In the days when the Army used many horses, cavalry horses were sleek, pampered animals. However, the draught horses were, generally, of a more robust and hardy appearance and mostly pretty hairy round the legs and were known as 'Hairies' eg: 'Artillery Hairies'. Compare the sleek suave operator type with your typical lineman and you can see the connection.

There was another query some time ago asking why we call Mercury 'Jimmy'. I got the following explanation from Maj Derek Roberts and he got it from his Dad who was a founder member of the Corps. When the Corps first formed it appeared on the Notice Boards at Maresfield that the new Corps wanted an emblem and asking for suggestions. One of a group gathered round the board, probably a 'Hairy' said, 'We've already got an emblem, LCp1 Jimmy Emblem in our Section.' When eventually the Corps decided on Mercury as the Corps emblem and posted a photograph of him on the Notice Board one of the original group said, 'There's our new emblem and it's our Jimmy with no clothes on,' hence 'Jimmy'.
Always glad to help earnest seekers after knowledge.....

From: Bill Yates
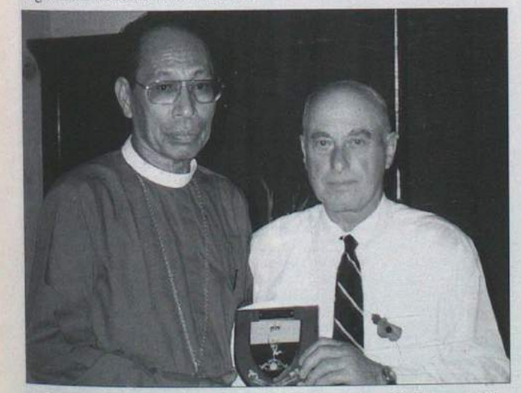
6 Regnum Drive
Shaw
NEWBURY
Berkshire, RG14 2HF
Tel: 01635 44207

Dear Sir,

On a visit to Rangoon Cathedral in 1999 I discovered that out of 98 Regimental and Corps plaques the Royal Signals plaque was absent. With the help of Peter Cuckow, from RHQ Royal Signals, it was arranged for me to be able to present one on my next visit. I served with 82 West African Division, 17 Indian Division and Burma Command Signal Regiment.

Bill Yates from Reading RSA presents an engraved plaque to the most reverend Andrew Mya Han, Bishop of Rangoon in the forces Chapel on Armistist Day 2000. The presentation was in memory of all the Signalmen we left behind in Burma.



During our third revisit in November 2000 we also visited some of the Chindit areas in North-East Burma. We also delivered a second donationof 1,000$ US (changed on the 'Black Market' to 407,000 Kyats), on behalf of the Burma Star and Royal Sussex Associations. This was to complete the rebuilding of their church in the small town of Katha, about 200 miles north of Mandalay. This donation is enough to complete the ceiling in teak and all the electrics.

The 9 Bn Royal Sussex Regiment camped on the football field opposite the church and attended morning service on Christmas Day, 1944. this was just before the heavy fighting at Pinwe and Hill 60 which took place only a few days later and during which they suffered heavy casualties. It saddens me to see the number of Signals Boy Soldiers' graves in Rangoon and Htaukkyan cemeteries, all recognisable by their first three regimental numbers. I acknowledged the memory of two of our unit's drivers, who were killed after the war finished, by laying two poppy wreaths on behalf of the Corps and the Association.

DONATIONS

Frank Corser	£ 10.00
Terry Wickens	£ 15.10
Capt (Retd) F. Dempster	£ 30.00
Mr C. Cunningham	£ 50.00
Mr P. B. Cairns	£ 13.00
Mrs M. L. Britt	£ 25.00
RSA East Kent	£ 200.00
RSA West London Branch	£ 75.00
Certa Cito Lodge	£ 10.00
The Glossop & District Royal Signals OCA	£ 25.00
From an ex-Far East POW	£1500.00
From the legacy of Mrs Marie Brown	£23581.82
Mrs M. Jones in memory of WO1 (RSM) M. F. B. Garland	£ 20.00
Mrs R. B. Sutherland in memory of WO1 (RSM) M. F. B. Garland	£ 5.00
E. M. Erskine in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule, Col J. R. Piddington & Lt Col (Retd) E. G. Day	£ 75.00
Mrs E. Day in memory of Lt Col E. G. Day	£ 100.00
Mr K. Teare in memory of Lt Col (Retd) E. G. Day	£ 10.00
A. T. & E. K. Burrows in memory of Lt Col E. G. Day	£ 10.00
Mrs E. Goddard & Mrs S. Lander in memory of Lt Col E. G. Day	£ 15.00
Mr & Mrs R. Henry in memory of Lt Col E. G. Day	£ 25.00
A. Overton in memory of Lt Col E. G. Day	£ 20.00
Mrs Shaby in memory of Lt Col E. G. Day	£ 10.00
John Crosby in memory of Col (Retd) J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	£ 25.00
Lt Col (Retd) B. Beattie in memory of Col J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	£ 25.00
Tom & Jane Bolton in memory of Col (Retd) J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	£ 25.00
Robert Warren in memory of Col J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	£ 25.00
3 Div Sigs Reunion Club in memory of Col J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	£ 10.00
Collection at the service of thanksgiving for Lt Col J. D. Yule	£ 236.50
Maj B. & Mrs M. Kentish in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 20.00
Former Colleagues at De La Rue Bull Machines Ltd in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 25.00
Mrs E. Trubodyin memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 10.00
Maj (Retd) B. Martin in memory of Lt Col J. D. Yule	£ 25.00
Miss E. Allden in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 20.00
Mrs F. R. E. Turner in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 20.00
Lt Col J. Sheepshanks in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 100.00
Lt Col (Retd) N. A. V. Ribchester in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 20.00
Gerald Carrington in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 20.00
G. B. Franklin in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 25.00
Colditz Society in memory of Lt Col (Retd) J. D. Yule	£ 30.00
Donated at the funeral of Col W. A. K. Stodart	£ 275.00
WO! (RSM) K. Hadfield in memory of Lt Col T. N. Skelly	£ 10.00
Maj (Retd) J. Radford in memory of Maj R. G. Aitken	£ 25.00
Maj (Retd) K. Hadfield in memory of Maj R. G. Aitken	£ 10.00
Maj (Retd) J. E. Stroud in memory of Maj (Retd) R. G. Aitken	£ 25.00
3 Div Sigs Reunion Club in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 10.00
J. Bergelin in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 50.00
Donated at the funeral of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 250.00
R. P. Dagg in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 20.00
A. A. Green in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 10.00
S. E. Moxon in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 10.00
K. E. Moxon in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 15.00
Lt Col (Retd) B. A. Beattie in memory of Charles Page	£ 25.00
Mrs (W) G. Rapsey in memory of Lt Col F. G. G. Rapsey	£ 250.00
Andrew Davis in memory of Mr K. O. Davis	£ 10.00

LAST POST

Allen - Sig C. G. Allen	Served 1941/45 Died 20/01/01
Bergelin - Maj F. Bergelin	Served 1934/68 Died 23/01/01
Bradshaw - Lt N. Bradshaw	Served 1942/46 Died 27/01/01
Bumpus - SSgt F. J. E. Bumpus	Served 1957/75 Died 08/04/00
Clarke - Maj W. H. Clarke TD	Served 1941/69 Died 29/12/00
Coatesworth - Lt Col D. Coatesworth MBE	Served 1940/62 Died 03/01/01

Publish it in
The Wire
The Editor is always pleased to receive interesting articles

Cotterell - Sig L. Cotterell	Served 1942/47	Died Feb '00
Crump - SSgt D. E. Crump	Served 1951/73	Died 21/02/01
Day - Lt Col E. G. Day OBE, TD	Served 1931/59	Died 26/12/00
Deeth - Cpl A. W. Deeth	Served 1939/46	Died 21/12/00
Delaney - WO2 G. E. C. M. Delaney	Served 1969/78	Died 16/01/01
Gladwyn - Lt Col R. F. C. Gladwyn MBE	Served	Died 24/12/00
Gunton - Maj N. G. Gunton	Served 1941/68	Died 25/12/00
Hill - Sig L. H. Hill	Served 1939/46	Died 17/02/01
Hollis - Capt J. A. Hollis MBE	Served 1940/47	Died 02/01/01
Hunt - WO1 G. Hunt	Served 1956/78	Died 13/01/01
Jackaman - WO2 W. R. Jackaman	Served 1927/43	Died 09/11/00
Kelly - Sig G. L. Kelly	Served 1940/46	Died 11/02/01
Mayne - Maj W. R. Mayne	Served 1948/83	Died 23/01/01
McLoughlin - Cpt T. J. McLoughlin	Served 1965/88	Died 05/01/01
Nickson - Cpl H. W. Nickson	Served 1940/46	Died 15/01/01
Page - Maj Gen C. E. Page CB, MBE, DL	Served 1940/74	Died 31/01/01
Piddington - Col J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	Served 1932/69	Died 22/12/00
Pickard - Maj R. Pickard	Served 1953/85	Died 13/02/01
Rapson - Sgt F. V. Rapson	Served 1936/46	Died 24/01/01
Reekie - Dvr D. Reekie	Served 1938/46	Died 27/09/00
Robinson - WO2 C. L. E. A. Robinson	Served 1940/59	Died 03/05/00
Slender - Sig J. W. Slender	Served 1952/55	Died 07/02/01
Smith - LCpl S. Smith	Served 1942/49	Died 18/10/00
Smyth - Wo2 T. J. Smyth	Served 1948/60	Died 08/02/01
Tibbett - WO2 A. Tibbett	Served 1960/84	Died 19/01/01
Tonge - Maryn Humphries Tonge	Served	Died 30/10/00
Truckle - Cpl P. Truckle	Served 1970/81	Died 12/01/01
Varlow - Mr J. Varlow	Served 1939/46	Died 12/01/01
Wornham - Dvr C. T. Wornham	Served 1946/49	Died 14/06/99
Yule - Lt Col J. Yule	Served 1936/61	Died 25/12/00
Ziar - Sig I. M. Ziar	Served 1939/45	Died 06/04/00

Ormiston – Sig John T. Ormiston from Newcastle upon Tyne, died after a short illness on 28 September 2000. His Army service commenced with basic training at or near Donnington in October 1942 shortly after which he joined the Corps in Glasgow for training as an Instrument Mech. However, in January of the following year he was posted to Catterick where he qualified as both Operator Keyboard & Line and Operator Wireless & Keyboard. He then joined 4 Wireless Group at Egham becoming a member of 15 W/T Det. Type 'M' Golden Arrow Section and was with the liberation forces until May 1945. In August of that year he joined 3 Coy 3 GHQ in Egypt and became responsible for the building and operating of a cinema at Polygon Abbassia Garrison.
On being demobbed in June 1947 he returned to his former employment as a cinema projectionist becoming a manager of what was the first Tatler News Theatre in Newcastle and then a complex which included a Restaurant and Night Club. After closure he was appointed 'Evening Manager' at the Newcastle University Students' Union until retirement after which (because for most of his life he worked in the evenings) he became a loyal supporter of the RSA (No. 27034 Newcastle Branch and the local Branch of the Normandy Veterans Association. Sincere condolences to his widow Peggy and son Michael.

Clarke – Walter Harold Clarke, It is with regret that we report the death of a former Royal Corps of Signals comrade. Walter was 80 years old and passed away on Sunday 14 January 2001, after having attended Southampton General Hospital with heart problems.
During his wartime service Walter landed in Normandy on D-Day 6 June 1944 on Sword Beach at 0630hrs and played an important part in Beach Sub-area Signals.
Walter became a member of No 24 (Wessex) Branch of the Normandy Veterans Association in 1993, proving to be a very loyal and popular member with a ready smile, infectious laugh, honest disposition and a strength of will that helped him cope with the loss of two wives. During the time that he shared comradeship in the NVA he met and married Claire and they settled in the Thornhill district of Southampton. Claire has regularly accompanied Walter to the Branch monthly business-cum-lunch meetings and we hope that she will continue to be able to join us on these convivial occasions.
The funeral service took place at the Southampton Crematorium at 1430hrs on Tuesday 23 January 2001, the service being conducted by the Rev G. Annas of Saint Christopher's Church, Thornhill. Upwards of 20 bemedalled veterans of the NVA and the British Korean Veterans Association formed a Guard of Honour with the Branch Standards of the two associations being paraded. All the while under firm control of NVA Branch President, Philip Hedley-Prole. During the service, veteran Fred Nicholas, a friend, spoke a few words about Walter's service, of his love of vehicles, especially motorcycles and of speed! He ended by saying that if Walter could not find anything good to say about a person, then he would say nothing at all. Many partners and other friends from the Southampton Ex-Service Men's Club attended the service and afterwards met at the Club for the wake, in honour of a true friend and a real gentleman. We offer sincere condolences to Claire and family members.

Hollis - Capt John Hollis MBE died on 2 January 2001 at the age of 89. He served with distinction in the Corp and was a member of the Southampton and District Branch of the RSA. As a Captain, he played a key role on D-Day, commanding an enemy intercept unit. He was involved in one of the heaviest battles in Normandy when crossing the River Orne where his Section was able to give advance warning of several German counter attacks thereby saving considerable casualties. John's war came to an end when a mine blew up his jeep at Wesel. One of Southampton's most prominent citizens he was awarded the MBE in recognition of his role in World War II.
Born in London, John moved to the Southampton area in 1935 while working for Cornhill Insurance. He quickly established himself as a member of the local community. After the war he returned to Southampton and re-opened Cornhill's office. At that time he lived in Highfield Lane with his wife and three children and began a long association with Highfield Church where he was treasurer for ten years. After his first wife, Eleanor, died following a long illness, he met Nancy, who was a widow with three children. They created a record at Highfield by being married with all six children present in church. In 1964 John joined the Insurance Brokers, Bowing Rose in Southampton and retired as a director in 1976. A man with a great sense of community, he was a member of the Southampton Abbeyfield Society and a trustee of the Langstaff Trust, dedicated to looking after the lonely elderly. He was also the Master of the Lodge in Southampton's Masons. As Chairman and President of Rownhams Conservatives he kept a keen interest in the constituency and in national politics. His second wife, Nancy, their six children, eleven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren survive John.

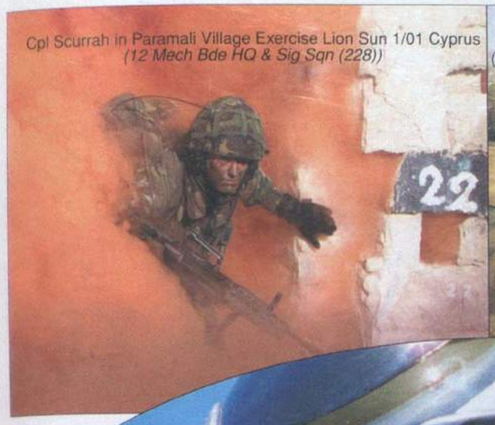
Tonge - Martyn Humphreys Tonge was born on 2 March 1918 and died on 30 October 2000. He served with the Royal Signals but was a very private man and little is known of his military service, but it is understood that he served in the Italian Campaign, joining it from Sicily. He was a well respected man and a wonderful character.

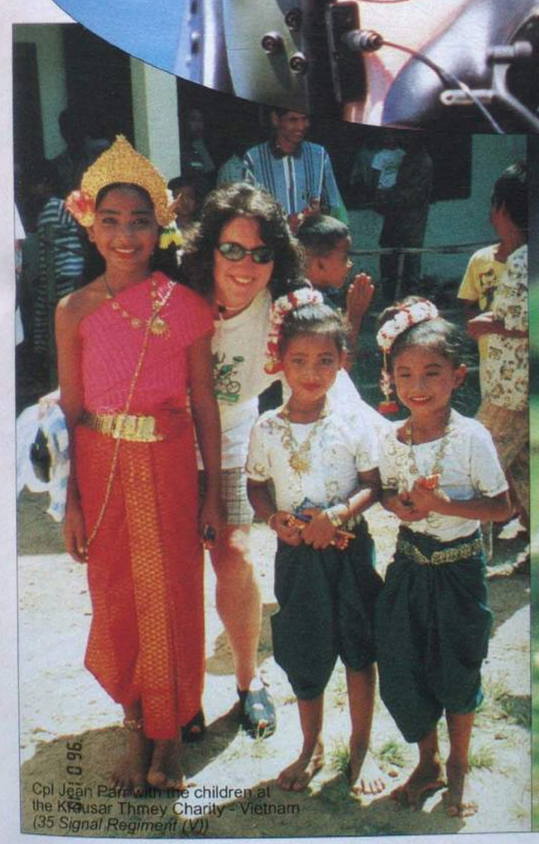
Varlow – John Varlow - it is with sadness York Branch report the death of their former Chairman, John Varlow in York District Hospital on 12 January 2001 at the age of 80. John joined the Supplementary Reserve in May 1939 and was called to the colours in August 1939. He served as a Despatch Rider with Northern, Command Signal Company at York and Catterick Garrison HQ. He re-mustered with 9 Corps Signals and served in the Orkney and Shetlands Defence Company from 1942 to 1944. He was badly injured in a motor accident in 1942. In 1944 he was posted to India serving at GHQ New Delhi. After de-mob in 1946 he returned to Post Office Telephones in York where he remained until his retirement in 1985. He was invested as Serving Brother of the Order of St. John and was a 'founder member' of the York Branch of the RSA. He served the Branch with distinction as Secretary and later Chairman. He was awarded his '50-Year Badge' in 1994. The aftermath of his accident left him with a severe disability that he bore with great fortitude and cheerfulness, ably supported by his late wife Doris a former teleprinter operator who he married in 1942 at Catterick Garrison Church. His funeral, at York Crematorium, was attended by officers and members of the Branch. John will be greatly missed by all his friends at the York Branch and we send our sincere condolences to his family.



Cpl Scurrah in Paramali Village Exercise Lion Sun 1/01 Cyprus
(12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228))

Cpl Lee Farrow about to be called as a witness!
(If anyone can identify the driver the PSI would be extremely interested in his whereabouts)
(36 (Eastern) Signal Regiment (V))

WO2 (SSM) Weaver in a F3 Tornado
21000 feet up and about to be sick
(Joint Communications Unit Falkland Islands)



Cpl Jean Parr with the children at the Krousar Thmey Charity - Vietnam
(35 Signal Regiment (V))

LCpl Dudley takes a walk in the park
(249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))

THE Wire

June 2001

The Royal Corps of Signals

A PHOTOGRAPHIC TOUR

HRH is met by The Master of Signals and someone looking like the Colonel but with shorter hair

Cpl Milligan
the proud recipient of the 2001 Ernie Bayley A

Lt Monica Taylor (RAO Det Comd) asks, 'What's it like to be a Princess?'

OC 206 Sqn in full flow 'No, no Bill don't tell her that'

HRH is presented to John Templeton and members of 3rd Divisional Signals Reunion Club

HRH The Princess Royal visits 3 (UK) Divisional HQ and Signal Regiment

202 Sqn charm the Princess while Big Al contemplates another all day breakfast

SSgt (YofS) Rouse deputises for OC 222 Sqn and is presented to The CO and RSM try not to play the proud fathers

The Royal Signals Magazine

The Wire

June 2001 Vol. 55 No: 3

All correspondence and matter for publication in The Wire should be addressed to The Head of Publications, The Wire, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, DT11 8RH Dorset. Tel No: Blandford mil 2079 STD 01258 48 2079

Matter for publication must be received by the 15th of February, April, June, August, October and 10th December for publication six weeks later.

All enquiries regarding subscriptions/despatch should be made to Blandford Mil 2087 STD 01258 482087

Subscription rates 2001 (Bi-monthly) (Feb, Apr, Jun, Aug, Oct, and Dec). Individual: Yearly £12.00; Bi-monthly £2.00.

Remittances should be made payable to Royal Signals Benevolent Fund

Editor Lt Col (Retd) P. Valder
Deputy Editor Mrs J. A. Herring

Member of the Association of Service Journals

CONTENTS

	Page
Editor's Notes	185
Movements	187
News from Headquarters	188
News of Training	190
News from the Balkans	191
News from Northern Ireland	193
News from the Regiments	201
News from the Squadrons	229
News from the Cadets	243
Sport	244
Royal Signals Yacht Club	247
The Royal Signals Association and News from the AO's Desk	248
Reunions	253
Lost Comms	256
Correspondence	257
Donations	259
The Last Post	259
Late News	263

FRONT COVER
Armoured fighting vehicles at work
Challenger and CVR(T) Scimitar with close air support
(Courtesy - AFV CIS School Armour Centre)

BACK COVER
Dawn breaks majestically over the big country that is Africa, with the sun rising serenely on another wonderful day in the Corps.
(Courtesy - 36 (Eastern) Signal Regiment (Volunteers)

The closing date for copy to REACH this office, in order to go in the AUGUST issue is 15 JUNE 2001

ADEN

As Officers of the Corps are aware, a picture is painted each year to mark the Corps' service in overseas stations. In 2002 Aden will be the subject location for the Corps painting.

Anyone with experience, memories or colour photos of service in the 'Barren Rocks' is asked to contact the Editor, who is charged with providing ideas for this picture, before all the local knowledge is lost in the 'mists of time'.

Authors alone are responsible for the content of their articles. The opinions expressed in the articles of this publication are those of the individual authors and do not necessarily reflect the policy and views, official or otherwise, of the Royal Signals or the Ministry of Defence. This publication should be treated with discretion by the recipient.

© Crown Copyright

Disclaimer: No responsibility for the quality of goods or services advertised in this magazine can be accepted by the Publishers or their Agents. Advertisements are included 'in good faith'.

THE MAN FROM MANNING AND CAREER MANAGEMENT DIVISION

(Maj S. G. Hutchinson MBE R SIGNALS)

It has been a busy few months within the Division but then again when is it quiet? Yet again the Soldier Wing Roadshow has been touring the country with visits to 2 Sig Regt, 14 Sig Regt and 264 (SAS)Sig Sqn; our thanks go to all those who have been associated with the smooth running of these visits. The pace has been no less hectic within Officer Wing with issues such as the introduction of the new MS Year and OJAR dominating proceedings. In terms of personnel, the Division welcomes Maj Jonathan Whiteley (SO2 INT), Angela Ellis (AA Courses) and Eileenan McGlynn (AA C Wing). A sad farewell is bade to Maj Graham Fairclough who left for sunnier climes (Cyprus); who said those within the MCM Div could not organise their own postings ? – at least Graham got one right !

January saw the start of the Soldier Promotion Boards cycle. Promotion prospects for soldiers throughout the Corps remain good with approximately 20% of the Corps selected for promotion each year. Including reserves, a total of 1,207 R SIGNALS soldiers were selected for promotion during 2000. The results of these boards are summarised below.

Promotion Board	'Main List' Selections	'Reserve' Selections*	Total Selected*	Promotion Year Ends
2000 A1 (W)2 to W01)	37	15	52	30 Jun 01
2000 A2 (SSgt to WO2)	79	27	106	30 Jun 01
2000 B (Sgt to SSgt)	100	32	132	30 Jun 01
2000 C (Cpl to Sgt)	160	9	169	31 Oct 01
2000 E (LCpl to Cpl)	278	50	328	31 Jan 02
2000 F (Sig to LCpl)	387	33	420	31 Jan 02
Totals	1041	166	1207	*As at 26 Mar 01

In terms of postings we continue to do our utmost to ensure that both Officers and Soldiers alike continue to get as much notification as possible of a forthcoming posting. Short notice moves are, however, an inevitable consequence of promotions, operational priorities, undermanning and compassionate postings. In order to make the system work and minimise any potential disruption or disappointment it is essential that we receive your Posting Preferences. Less than 40% of our soldiers submit Posting Preference Proformas. They take less than ten minutes to complete and in many cases could be the main factor in determining where and when your next move is likely to be.

On an extremely positive note, the Division has been fortunate enough to send a number of Desk Officers away on unit visits. In January four members of the Division visited 249 (AMF(L)) Sig Sqn in Norway during Ex Hardfall. The visit was a great success and our intrepid travellers left Norway extolling the virtues of Winter Warfare Training. More recently, but by no means less exotic, four Desk Officers visited 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn in Aldershot. The visit was tremendous value and those fortunate enough to attend received a valuable insight into the workings of a Brigade Signal Squadron.

(L-R): Elaine Easton, Carol-Anne Forrest (with the Wings!), Lesley Scott and George Walker contemplate a life outside the APC

We continue to be extremely receptive to invitations to visit units; it is important not only for the staff to visit units but also to give the soldiers an opportunity to meet those who are intrinsically involved in the management of their careers.

WARNING ORDER

With effect from 8 June 2001 Soldier Wing R SIGNALS/INT CORPS MCM Div will be adjusting to a two wing structure as opposed to the three wings it is today. In essence, one wing will manage all Operator Trades and the other all support trades such as Sys Engr Tech, Tech Sup Spec and those on the RD roster. Additional staff are being recruited to assist with the career management of the CEGs. It is hoped that this reorganisation will be conducted with minimum disruption and in many cases the Desk Officer and telephone number will remain the same. Apart from the introduction of a new Officers' post, Officer Wing should remain largely unchanged. A more detailed brief will accompany the next edition of the MCM Div Newsletter.

WISHING TO CONTACT THE DIVISION ?

R SIGNALS/Int Corps MCM Div has, at last, been brought into the 21st Century with the introduction of its very own Internet Terminal. Whilst allowing units to contact the Division more easily, individuals are reminded of the need to involve the chain of command in career management issues.

Our Internet Address is: rsignalsintcorpsmcmdiv@dial.pipex.com

ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM - VOLUNTEER GUIDES

The museum is open every day from mid-February until the end of October and is manned by volunteers at the weekends and on public holidays. Outside that period it is open on weekdays except over Christmas and the New Year. The 'weekend volunteers' play a very important and significant role in the museum, meeting and greeting visitors, talking to them and making them feel welcome. As word has spread that the museum is open and that it is an interesting place to visit, with displays and 'visitor trails' that appeal to children of all ages as well as to adults, so visitor numbers have increased. Weekend takings this February were up 83% over February last year and the takings in March were up 22%.

The message is a two-fold one. When you or your friends plan to holiday in this area, include a visit to the museum in your plans. It may be located within the confines of a very active military camp, but it is open to the general public and the displays are of interest to those who have not served in the forces as well as to those who have. Secondly, if you live within easy reach of the museum and would appreciate a rewarding day working in the Museum at the weekend, occasionally, contact the Volunteer Coordinator, Lt Col (Retd) Pat Soward (01258-860647) or a member of the museum staff (01258-482248) for details.

Other volunteers work in the museum on weekdays, carrying out research and generally assisting the permanent staff. This, again, is very rewarding work and as a volunteer (in either role) you will learn much about the Corps that you did not discover in a lifetime of service!

A FIVE STAR EVENT BOOSTS THE ARMY'S NATIONAL CHARITY

A unique military event took place on Tuesday 27 March 2001, at the Royal Hospital Chelsea. All ten living British Field Marshals, including HRH Prince Philip, The Duke of Edinburgh and HRH The Duke of Kent, attended a commemorative Chapel Service and Dinner on behalf of the Army's national charity, The Army Benevolent Fund (ABF). Two former Prime Ministers - Sir Edward Heath and John Major and seven former Secretaries of State for Defence: Lord Carrington, Lord Gilmour, Lord Mason, Sir John Nott, Michael Heseltine, Tom King and Michael Portillo also supported the Dinner.

Gathered in the historic setting of the Great Hall at the Royal Hospital were a total of 111 'stars', calculated at one for a Brigadier, two for a Major General, three for a Lieutenant General and four for a General. The Field Marshals alone rated 50 between them. Not included in this total were five for Sir John Mills and four for Stephen Fry, both of whom were guests at this unique event. Sir John, famously portrayed Field Marshal Haig in the film 'Oh! What A Lovely War' and Stephen Fry played the blimpish General Melchett to perfection in the BBC television series 'Blackadder'. Patrick Shervington, Director Fundraising for the Army Benevolent Fund, said:

'It is a sobering fact that the Army Benevolent Fund supports soldiers, ex-soldiers and their dependants from three successive centuries - amongst them Great War veterans born in the late 1890s right through to Service families who have babies born in the 21st Century. Conscious that - to misquote - 'There is no longer a Field Marshal's baton in every soldiers knapsack.' I felt that a celebratory evening to pay tribute to the 5-star Army rank would be a focus for raising funds for the Charity.'

Promotion to Field Marshal and to Admiral of the Fleet and Marshal of the Royal Air Force has been suspended in peacetime, although not formally abolished. Only 138 men have held the rank since King George II introduced it into the British Army in 1736. Chairman of the Army Benevolent Fund, General Sir Jeremy Mackenzie, who is Governor of the Royal Hospital, hosted the Dinner that raised nearly £40,000. Fittingly, the last Field Marshal to be appointed in 1997, Lord Inge presided over the occasion in his role as President of the Charity. The roll call of those who reached the ultimate pinnacle of 5-star rank included the two most senior; His Royal Highness Prince Philip Duke of Edinburgh, appointed in 1953, and Lord Carver, appointed in 1973, who as a young officer in the Second World War was awarded the DSO and MC. Also present were the other Field Marshals, in order of appointment: Sir Roland Gibbs, Lord Bramall, Sir John Stanier, Sir Nigel Bagnall, Lord Vincent, Sir John Chapple and His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent. Only His Majesty King Birenda of Nepal, who was appointed an Honorary Field Marshal in 1980, was unable to be present.

A highlight of the evening was the formal presentation to the Royal Logistic Corps of two paintings by the celebrated artist, Terence Cuneo. D-Day and Sefton were bought at auction for £30,000 by Mr Raphael Djanogly and the money was donated to the Army Benevolent Fund. Artist and former England cricketer, Jack Russell, has been commissioned to paint in oils a picture of the Field Marshal's Evening. This will be made into a limited edition, of 138 prints. Musical entertainment was provided by the Band of the Welsh Guards who played the Regimental Marches of all the Field Marshals.

MOVEMENTS

OFFICERS
APRIL 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Maj M. G. Webb	MoD Centre Block
Capt A. Balsdon	21 Signal Regiment (Air Support)
Capt A. P. J. Coulston	Exchange Officer Australia
Capt R. D. Cowan	11 Signal Regiment
Capt S. A. Dixon	15 Signal Regiment
Capt C. P. Gill	2 Signal Regiment - JCUFI
Capt A. Higgins	2 Signal Regiment
Capt C. F. B. Hymas	7 Signal Regiment
Capt W. McCreath	JSSU Digby
Capt C. G. McGinley	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Capt M. Rouse	16 Air Asslt Bde & Sig Sqn (216)
Capt M. A. Schofield	280 Signal Squadron
Capt S. A. Smoothy	2 Signal Regiment

OFFICERS
MAY 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Lt Col A. P. R. Roberts	PMSP
Maj A. Weaver	JSSU Oakley (US Det)
Capt G. P. J. Buxton	MCM Division
Capt D. W. Craig	2 Signal Regiment
Capt N. Donohue	Army EMC Division
Capt M. R. Edwards	11 Signal Brigade Headquarters
Capt K. V. Fowler	7 Signal Regiment
Capt A. V. Hilborn	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt S. G. Jackson	7 Signal Regiment
Capt I. Rutherford	The Royal School of Signals
Capt S. W. Slater	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt S. M. Toms	14 Signal Regiment (EW)

WOS AND SNCOS
APRIL 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
WO1 RD S. T. Archer	7 Signal Regiment
A/WO1 RD A. J. Barry	HQ 2 (NC) Signal Brigade
A/WO1 RD I. J. Carter	12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228)
A/WO1 RD G. R. Crozier	UOTC Birmingham
A/WO1 RD S. Day	33 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
A/WO1 RD A. J. Frost	2 Signal Regiment
A/WO1 RD J. G. McNaught	15 Signal Regiment
A/WO1 RD R. J. Pye	30 Signal regiment
A/WO1 RD G. D. Robinson	4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (204)
A/WO1 RD S. J. Russell	32 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
A/WO1 RD T. Smith	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
WO2 RD S. H. F. Bovan	JSSU Digby
WO2 RD T. W. Comyns	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
WO2 RD A. Dick	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
WO2 RD T. Parle	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
WO2 RD M. E. Walton	1 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (215)
WO2 RD K. R. Peters	JSSU Digby
WO2 K. S. Scaife	1 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (215)
SSgt FofS D. R. Crowther	HQ SOinC (A)
SSgt FofS R. G. James	The Royal School of Signals
SSgt FofS A. J. Miller	35 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
SSgt FofS L. R. Morrison	2 Signal Regiment
SSgt FofS B. Palmer	2 Signal Regiment
SSgt FofS B. D. Pradhan	21 Signal Regiment (Air Support)
SSgt N. L. Cain	259 Signal Squadron
SSgt T. Davies	35 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
SSgt R. G. Stenhouse	16 Signal Regiment
SSgt N. M. Wakefield	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Sgt M. P. Curbishley	31 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt N. Flanighan	8 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (218)
Sgt M. P. Hay	ACIO Irvine
Sgt R. G. Kidd	HQ Brunei Garrison
Sgt M. King	37 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt C. A. Leader	ACIO Doncaster
Sgt R. A. Lodge	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt S. W. A. Murray	NSE Northwood
Sgt G. Padfield	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt K. D. Perks	AFCO Birmingham
Sgt J. G. Pollock	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt D. R. Potts	RHQ AFSOUTH
Sgt S. M. L. Samuel	12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228)
Sgt J. M. Simpson	AFCO Birmingham
Sgt M. A. Tench	2 Signal Regiment
Sgt T. N. Treadwell	RHQ AFSOUTH
Sgt P. C. Walledge	8 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (218)
Sgt L. Younger	241 Signal Squadron

WOS AND SNCOS
MAY 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
WO1 RD S. C. Keilty	HQ SOinC (A)
WO1 FofS R. H. Batley	40 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
WO1 FofS A. Holyoak	The Royal School of Signals
WO1 FofS P. L. Lewis	21 Signal Regiment (Air Support)
WO2 RD R. G. Dalton	30 Signal Regiment
WO2 RD G. Dewar	249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))
WO2 RD P. G. Griffiths	2 Signal Regiment
WO2 RD J. A. Smith	JSSU Digby
WO2 RD P. Tasker	15 Signal Regiment
WO2 FofS D. J. Coffey	249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))
WO2 FofS M. R. Flather	16 Signal Regiment
WO2 FofS N. Hendry	HQ British Forces Cyprus
WO2 FofS P. A. Holland	RHQ AFNORTH
WO2 FofS P. J. Hubble	15 Signal Regiment
WO2 FofS P. Johnson	SHAPE Regional Sp Gp
WO2 FofS N. A. McGregor	The Royal School of Signals
WO2 FofS G. J. Pearson	31 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
WO2 FofS M. P. Riley	CIS Eng Gp
WO2 FofS K. Robinson	36 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
WO2 FofS J. K. Sutton	280 (UK) Signal Squadron
WO2 FofS I. J. Walling	600 Sig Tp
SSgt FofS R. D. Allen	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
SSgt FofS S. W. Crowther	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
SSgt FofS D. K. Fielding	71 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
SSgt FofS M. Frangleton	7 Signal Regiment
SSgt FofS P. A. Leach	225 Signal Squadron
SSgt FofS O. D. Leyland	259 Signal Squadron
SSgt FofS N. J. Mitchell	242 Signal Squadron
SSgt FofS S. G. Prendergast	HQ SOinC (A)
SSgt FofS P. R. Stevens	280 (UK) Signal Squadron
SSgt FofS J. P. Walsh	34 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
SSgt K. Barker	JACIG
SSgt P. J. Brooker	ATR Bassingbourn
SSgt P. A. Dunn	JSSU Digby
SSgt S. Fleming	ATR Bassingbourn
SSgt R. G. Foster	HQ DSSS
SSgt G. R. Williams	34 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt L. J. Chappell	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt P. J. Conroy	39 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (213)
Sgt A. Costello	15 Signal Regiment
Sgt P. Farmer	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt A. J. Finn	7 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (207)
Sgt C. H. Giles	238 Signal Squadron
Sgt R. M. Goldsmith	30 Signal Regiment
Sgt L. Griffiths	36 Signal Regiment (Volunteers)
Sgt M. P. McChesney	2 Signal Regiment
Sgt M. J. J. Nowosielski	280 (UK) Signal Squadron
Sgt C. G. Pennicott	HQ DFTS
Sgt C. A. Porter	241 Signal Squadron
Sgt G. Smith	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt I. Smith	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt B. R. Steadman	243 Signal Squadron
A/Sgt S. D. Roughton	ATR Bassingbourn

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive - beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

NEWS FROM HEADQUARTERS

HEADQUARTERS SIGNALS OFFICER IN CHIEF (ARMY)

ROYAL SIGNALS WEB SITE

The Army web site now features a new and up to date section on the Royal Signals. The old single page of outdated information has been replaced by a site containing over 100 pages of information ranging from sports and activities to individual regiments and pictures from the White Helmets. With every major unit throughout the Corps having its own page the site is set to expand and become even more comprehensive. Units are not limited to the single page that currently represents them, once the new content management system is online units across the world will be able to access the site and change their own pages accordingly.

The site is primarily being used as a recruiting and information tool with plans laid down to expand the serving soldier section in the future to allow access to recent pamphlets, course guides and much more up to date information.

The current site was created by 2Lt Graham Gaw, a TA officer from 32 (Scottish) Signal Regiment (Volunteers) who does similar work in his civilian career. The site took less than two weeks to put together and he returns to Blandford on a regular basis to assist in updating the site and turning the many ideas of the SORLS team into reality.

If you have any suggestions for the site or want more information about how you can update your unit's pages then contact the Royal Signals Webmaster by e-mailing: signalswebmaster@army.mod.uk.net
You can visit the site directly at: www.army.mod.uk/royalsignals/

HEADQUARTERS MULTI-NATIONAL DIVISION (CENTRAL)

Chief CIMIC Maj Keith Danby
Chief EW Capt Terry Crosby

With a unit name like that you may be forgiven for thinking that we are in the Balkans somewhere but no, this Airmobile Divisional HQ is tucked away in JHQ Rheindhalen with just two R Signals personnel.

Maj Keith Danby is a character that no-one can forget and he finally comes to the end of a long and eventful career in August when he retires into the civilian world. What will the Hash House Harriers and CATS (the Amateur Dramatics Club) do without Keith and Jenny? Plans are already underway to ensure they are suitably dined out in style.

Capt Terry Crosby has spent the last two years getting stuck into a slightly unfamiliar employment role in Electronic Warfare. Off the beaten track (literally) he pulled a bunch of no-hopers from scratch to win the UKSC(G), BA(G) and Army Minor unit orienteering championships all in one season. In February, Terry led an Adventurous Training Exercise to Nepal to trek around the beautiful Annapurna region. In amongst the party of 14 was Sig Ryan Mitchell (7 Sig Regt) seen here making sure the COMCEN in Pokhara was still alive. On the last day of the 8-day trek, they visited a Gurkha Welfare Centre and presented a cheque for £2000 for the Gurkha Welfare Trust.

Capt Terry Crosby (left) and Sig Ryan Mitchell (7 Sig Regt)

ROYAL SIGNALS INSPECTION TEAM HEADQUARTERS LAND COMMAND

OC Maj (TOT) Plumb
FofS WO2 (FofS) Marston-Weston
Management Sgt Payne

5,4,3,2,1 RSIT ARE GO!

A busy New Year has seen RSIT not only overseeing the high standards of maintenance throughout the Corps, but also keeping their bodies and minds sharply tuned with some arduous training. First port of call for the fearless team was the notorious waters of Colerne swimming pool for a spot of canoeing. The fiasco began with a short swim test with the ability to swim a necessity not a luxury given the standard of canoeing. The man responsible for organising the day Sgt Paul Hughes set off in his natural team colour of milk bottle white and astounded all with his ability to canoe in a small circle, with the idea of going in a straight line sadly way beyond his capabilities.

This may of course been an unselfish gesture by him to allow the Royal Signals Gurkha Capsize Display Team the space they needed to express themselves freely. However, Sgt Lal 'Turtle' Gaha and Sgt Suren 'Torpedo' Rai soon overcame their desires to instantly capsize and mastered the art of canoeing almost in a straight line. The other end of the pool was almost in reach. Eventually Sgt Suren Rai came to realise that he wouldn't be able to ram raid his way out of the pool and began stopping before hitting the sides. The waters hadn't even settled from the last capsize as Maj Gig Plumb, WO2 Fofs Andy Marston-Weston and Sgt Tim Mayner conformed to canoeing protocol and stayed in their canoes in a straight line to the other end of the pool ....and back.

Eventually Cpl Tara Daneey from Basil Hill Gym had seen enough and her nerves could take no more, so canoeing was shelved and a nice relaxing game of water polo was suggested. Oh dear, enter Maj Gig 'Great White' Plumb who must have mis-heard polo as rugby. Sgt Tim Mayner was proudly displaying his ability at water polo and only seconds later was coming up from under the water gasping for air with the ball gone along with all feeling below the waist. A fine sporting display was shown by Sgt Tim Mayner, WO2 FofS Andy Marston-Weston and Sgt Suren Rai despite Maj Gig Plumb's best efforts to restrict their creativity whilst his two team mates showed all the water agility of a couple of housebricks.

PATHFINDERS

A test of the Team's navigational skills was next. The Team was set the challenge by Sgt Paul Hughes to navigate around the historic town of Evesham, following a river. The biggest achievement of the day was probably no-one reporting to the police a suspicious group wandering around almost hypnotised as their leader explained the relationship between breeding rabbits and the growth of a sunflower. Maj Gig 'Honest as the day is long' Plumb had his work cut out for him with the continuous struggle to keep Sgt Tim 'Wide-boy' Mayner on the straight and narrow when he stumbled upon an unmanned ferry and his mischievous grin couldn't hide his joyriding intentions. As the sun was setting and the tired Team was making its way back through Evesham town centre they found their light at the end of the tunnel 'All You Can Eat For £7'. A poor unsuspecting Indian was about to have his business plan tested to the limit because if there is one talent RSIT has in abundance it's eating, and boy did they eat, even Sgt John 'Two Puddings' Payne was suitably stuffed by the end of the feeding session. It would appear even Sgt Lal Gaha is starting to get an RSIT belly. Here the day ended except for WO2 FofS 'Shandy' Andy Marston -Weston conning free beer from the publicans in Evesham by claiming that the bottom half of every pint of lager was flat (how do they do that Andy?).

TRAINED KILLERS

Weapon training, Battle PT and a blast on the MOD video game (SAT) next on the menu, yummy. When Sgt Tim 'ND' Mayner finally worked out which way to put the magazine on, he set about earning his new 'ND' nickname. Never mind Timmy. Maj Gig 'Brute Force' Plumb set about redesigning the rifle, 'It will fit this way.' Sgt Lal Gaha effortlessly slipped back to his drills with the only noticeable mistake by WO2 FofS Andy Marston-Weston being unable to find his boys brews when called upon. After faultless displays on the weapon test the Team headed off for some background activities (a cup of tea) before the afternoons fun and games. A sunny afternoon in Corsham is a quiet, relaxing and soothing experience, picturesque countryside, wildlife roaming free, almost perfect silence except for the peaceful sound of a gentle breeze. Not when RSIT have got a couple of logs.

WO2 (FofS) Marston-Weston inspects RSIT 's bellies

Grunts, groans and screams of pain (or was it laughter at our gymnastic skills). Corsham's forest SQMS, SSgt Ade Lines and the RAF Regiment's Cpl Mike Davis joined the Team under the watchful eyes of Basil Hills gym RAF PTIs, Sgt Steve Moore and Cpl Tara Dancey. After a good PT session the day ended with a competition on the SAT.

If I keep staring at it, maybe it will go away

The Team's self sacrifice and etiquette were unquestionable with the OC, Maj Gig Plumb winning the shoot and Sgt Paul Hughes who organised the competition coming a close second. As the day came to an end among cry's of 'I'm normally a much better shot than that' all disappeared off into the weekend with the satisfaction of another day's pay earned.

Why not visit the Royal Signals Museum?
For opening hours ring :
01258 482248

HEADQUARTERS 2 (NATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS) SIGNAL BRIGADE

2 SIGNAL BRIGADE SWINGS INTO OPERATION PENINSULAR WITH A VENGEANCE

2 (NC) Signal Brigade is the LAND Command lead for the provision of Land environment CIS to support military efforts to eradicate Foot and Mouth Disease in the mainland UK as part of Op Peninsular. In addition to normal tasks of supporting operations and exercises worldwide, Peninsular has witnessed the deployment of TA soldiers and equipment providing integral CIS capability to deployed Military/MAFF C2 Nodes throughout the stricken areas. Not a pleasant duty but one nonetheless taken on by the Brigade as a Main Effort until the outbreak is finally quashed. As the SO3 G2/G3 Ops, Capt Andy McCole emphasises, ' The Peninsular task is one where R SIGNALS must take immediate action to provide the right assets, at the right time in the right place to ensure a full delivery of CIS capability in the field. In this the Brigade has not been found wanting. With a Joint Ops Room established on Day One of the military involvement in the outbreak units were immediately warned, thorough planning of the hot CIS issues leading to the speedy, successful deployment to the regional Brigades so that they could do the business.' Andy, a ten-year veteran of the Corps, enthuses pride in the Brigade for its can-do attitude across all units.

The man who is responsible for ensuring the right kit gets out to the staff user in the correct quantity, using well developed Just In Time (JIT) principles, is the Brigade's SO3 (W) Tels/Eqpt/G4, Capt Gareth Marsh. 'I've been responsible for ensuring UOR action takes place for key requirements identified in the field. The Brigade has deployed EMS Response/Support teams, Mould Insertion Vehicles and crews, CIS LOs plus over 15 EMS terminals in support of the operation. Brigade CIS professionals have done this without complaint and it provides yet another example of the inherent synergy between the regular and the reservist right across the Brigade. I have no doubt that we will be able to duke this one out and provide an even better service in the future from what we have learned from Peninsular.' Maj Iain Brownlee - SO3 G3 O&D adds, 'I'm just glad that we have such an obvious high trade skill level across our TA soldiers that really complements the hardened 'street-sense' of the Regulars! Where would we be without it?'

COMMAND POST EXERCISE (CPX) HORSESHOE EAGLE 2 SIGNAL BRIGADE DEPLOYS TO POLAND

The Brigade will deploy to Poland as part of the scenario for Ex Horseshoe Eagle. This CPX involving the Brigade CPX and Regimental Command Groups will concentrate on the work needed to plan a deployment into an operational theatre and established connectivity to support a far ranging multi - national coalition force. The Exercise will be centred on the AMC at South Cerney and will concentrate on tackling the real time issues of Mission Planning, Battle Procedure, the Estimate/Orders process and CIS provision. This will test the Brigade thoroughly in a scenario that closely matches one that closely represents the type of operation many Brigade personnel will experience in the next 12 months.

From vision to reality! A major build; well planned, underway on time and on budget - another 2 Sig Bde achievement! The Comd visits RM Condor, near Dundee, to review the progress on the new build of the hanger to house 2 Sig Sqn's latest state of the art equipment with OC 2 Sig Sqn. The delighted Comd (centre) meets with the smug, Florida sun-tanned OC, Maj Eric Blyth (L) and (R) his 2IC, Capt Andrew 'I cannot comment on the existence or non existence of such a mission whether in fact it ever existed – yet' Bruce.

NEWS OF TRAINING

AFV CIS SCHOOL
ARMOUR CENTRE

Chief Instructor Lt Col Christopher Donaghy
Sergeant Instructor Sgt Gary West (Author)

For those who have never heard of the Armoured Fighting Vehicle (AFV) CIS school, and I'm sure there's a few, here's our pitch. The AFV CIS School is part of the AFV Training Group located at the Armour Centre in Bovington. Although geographically near to Blandford, our world is about a million miles from that of the Royal School of Signals. We are Battle Group focussed and we train anyone concerned with operation in Armour in various aspects of CIS and command and control. This effectively boils down to all RAC, some Sappers, Infantry, RA and an occasional AAC.

There are only two of us from the Corps here in this 'near flung' outpost of the R SIGNALS world; the CO, Lt Col Christopher Donaghy and myself, Sgt Gary West. The remainder of the instructors and command appointments within the CIS School are filled with Household Cavalry & RAC Officers and WOs, one RE Sergeant and some contract Civilian instructors. We are expected to teach all aspects of communications applicable to an armoured Battle Group, at all levels. Now, that could mean teaching basic voice procedure to the recruits in the morning, briefing Commanding Officers after lunch followed by antenna theory in the afternoon to Advanced Signallers. So a varied life is the routine pattern.

All instructors at the school including the RE and R SIGNALS personnel are required to have all completed the RAC Signals Instructors course and the AFV CIS School cadre. Therefore, my replacement can expect to have his head stuck in Pamphlet No 5 (AFV Signals handbook) and the LCTP for the first few months in the chair, with a TP or two thrown in for good measure. Once these two courses are passed, however, you can look forward to an extremely interesting and varied tour. That is of course if you can put up with incessant whinging from the RAC sergeants about being on the lower pay 2000 scale, say good-bye to the Crew Commanders pay boys.

VISIT OF YEOMAN OF SIGNALS COURSE

It has to be admitted that this article was prompted by a visit from the Royal School of Signals. On Wednesday 21 February 2001 we hosted a visit from the Yeoman of Signals course. The idea of the course was to acquaint the nearly new Yeomen with the communications systems employed within an Armoured Battle Group, then have a little fun on the driver training circuit. The day went well. The visit started with a brief from one of the Group Warrant Officers, WO2 Rab Livingston 1RTR, followed by a tour around a Challenger 2 (CR2) with SSgt Darrin Abbott 2RTR. The visitors were genuinely surprised with the lack of space to operate within the confines of an otherwise sizeable MBT. The Yeomen were then treated to a 'cabbie' around the training area on a CR2 driver-training tank and a CVR(T) Scimitar, with a chance to get filthy through some quite deep puddles. All in all, the visit was a success and may well be repeated on future courses.

ARE YOU RECEIVING YOUR COPY OF THE WIRE?

If not call 01258 482087 you may have moved and forgotten to let us know or perhaps you need to renew your subscription

ARMY TRAINING REGIMENT
BASSINGBOURN

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj F. E. Hargreaves
SSM WO2 (SSM) A. V. Slaney

The big event of the year was the OC's pay rise that extended to a new flashy motor and some dancing lessons. Welcome to Staff Sergeant (SQMS) Paddy 'The Painter' (not) Townley who has joined us from 264 (SAS) Signal Squadron. He recently has been displaying his artistic skills by demonstrating how not to paint the Corps colours in SHQ. Congratulations to WO2 Tony 'I don't play practical jokes' Slaney on his well deserved selection to WO1. Congratulations to SSgt (SQMS) Paddy Townley on his well deserved selection for promotion to WO2. The 2IC, Capt 'Scotty' Scott would like to thank the SSM for stealing his bicycle back. A common occurrence at ATR Bassingbourn is the re allocation of resources. (Using anyones bike and then abandoning it.) Yes SSM it was me.

ALPHA TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Sarah Irwin

It has been a cut and paste month for A Tp. Cpl Nutall moved up from C Tp, along with Sgt Conroy on promotion. Capt Emma Bruce moved to Wray Coy as 2IC, but is still only a phone call away from Capt Sarah Irwin – I know where you live! Cpl 'NIMDA' Knowler has been posted to 30 Sig Regt, hope it goes well. His replacement comes with a ready-made story about a Chinook and its door falling off – can anyone guess who it is yet?

BRAVO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Darren Talbot (RE)

Welcome to Capt Darren Talbot who has joined us from 28 Squadron (Royal Engineers). Cpls Matt 'What's ITGIS' Witham and 'Smudge' Smith. Goodbyes go to Lt 'Gunny' Gunson who has moved to 28 Sqn (RE), Cpl (Now Sergeant) Dave Langridge posted on promotion to 21 (AS) Sig Regt and Cpl Mark Collins over to Somme Platoon for a rest. Congratulations to Cpl Mark Collins and Marissa on the birth of their first child – many sleepless nights to come! Finally hello to Cpls Andy 'Head Down' Doyle and Danny 'Lets have some port with that' Cooper.

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Hervey Scott

Delta Tp has continued training its latest intake of recruits despite the best efforts of Foot and Mouth disease to stop us. Cpl Lindsey Payton is still away enjoying herself in Blandford on her class one upgrading course. Welcome to Cpls 'Geordie' Gough and 'Trumpet Boy' Bazzard from 21 (AS) Sig Regt and JSSU (AN) respectively. They have already started to get to grips with recruit training, with lots of enthusiasm and new ideas. Meanwhile Capt Hervey Scott and Sgt Dougie Icke are busy visiting a sick member of Delta Tp in hospital. Not a recruit as you may imagine but Cpl 'Sick Boy' Campbell, who has come up with a weak excuse of something to do with Pneumonia! The highlight of Cpl Campbell's little holiday so far, was when the nurses in the medical center thought he was a recruit because he looked so young!

ECHO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Chris Biddulph
Tp Sgt Sgt Micky Piper

Well it has been a relatively quiet period for the 'Mighty Echo' Troop. Last time we left you, Echo Tp was preparing for a Pass-off parade, 27 recruits passed out and proceeded to begin Phase Two training at RSS Blandford and RMSE Chatham respectively. After dispatching 27 recruits back to their parents, the Troop permanent Staff headed for North Wales and a spot of Adventurous Training. Unfortunately, the punishing regime prepared by Sgt 'Mickey' Piper was cut short by the discovery of foot and mouth disease. The finale and, as it turned out, the highlight of the trip was a night out in the thriving metropolis of, wait for it, Bangor! Mind you, it definitely rates higher than Hollyhead! The training team is now occupied with transforming yet another batch of healthy, motivated and intelligent young men and women into trained soldiers of the British Army. Quite a task!

FOXTROT TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Dave Jackson
Tp Sgt Sgt Craig Purdon

This month the mighty trots say a fond farewell to Sgt Gav Wilson who is off to 14 Sig Regt (EW), (Our deepest sympathy to the regiment). He is leaving after a pretty hectic last week, which involved him winning the CO's Best Section award, being promoted and taking the pass off parade - best of luck Boy Wonder. Hello to Cpl Blacklock who is arriving in the very near future, he'd best know where the kettle is. Sig Tony Richards is to be congratulated on not only winning the award for best overall recruit but also passing RCB and being accepted to start training at RMA Sandhurst in May. We hope he knows it involves more than just drinking brews! Finally a big thank you goes to the Troop for digging deep and raising over £1300 for a local charity. We are now away on a couple of weeks leave and then it is down to the local station to collect the next lot of willing volunteers.

NEWS FROM THE BALKANS

MULTI-NATIONAL BRIGADE (CENTRE)
HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON
OPERATION AGRICOLA 5

NEWS FROM KOSOVO
Sqn Comd Maj Paul Peel
RSM WO1 (RSM) Miles Webb

Picture a cold day in the mountains, around 200 worn but smiling faces parade outside the Pristina University building. After six months of freezing Kosovo weather, we were finally going home. 332 days, 4 hours and 32 minutes later we have returned to what is a very different place.

Arriving on the advance party on 8 February we were all carrying plenty of warm kit to cover ourselves with as we dismounted the plane. That we did, struggling down the steps looking like Michelin men, to be met by confused-looking Royal Marines in shirt sleeve order. Our initial reaction was that they were all either mad or extremely hard, but to our pleasant surprise it was warmer than it had been back in Catterick, so it was not long before we joined them. After watching the same presentations that we'd seen during OPTAG training, we were issued with our Paradigm phone cards, (our vital link back to our loved ones in the UK, allowing them to whinge at us for a whole 20 minutes per week). After a short journey we arrived at our home for the next four and a half months. The gate guard, finally seeing that the end of his sentence was in sight, had to be controlled to stop him performing some true Kosovo-style celebratory fire.

After a short but very effective hand-over from the Marines, we were finally in the hot seat, and hot it was! Troops were immediately dispatched throughout MNB(C) and beyond, supporting the Brigade's troops deployed to lend a friendly hand to our American and French neighbours, (the American camps always being preferable, as the cookhouse hands out free coke and Burger King is only a stone's throw away). Those who remained in Slim Lines, (the HQ's new location), soon discovered its delights. We were surprised to find that the XL Club looked more like a Yates's Wine Lodge, there was an excellent gym, and that there was even a barbecue area and volleyball court. In a month or so, it will make the perfect sunbathing area! Oh, and all the Scandanavian Battalions have saunas, but the less said about that the better – we'll only get jealous! However, it hasn't all been work! The combined Officers and Sergeants Mess had a visit from the Irish Transport Regiment's band who kept us entertained with Irish folk songs and anything else that they could sing for an entire evening, thanks to SSgs Steve Legg and 'Sammy' Samanjoul. Also the Swedish group 'Kamostars', who due to a last-minute cancellation and some extremely quick thinking and action by Sig Jamie Danby, were brought in at the last possible moment to do a 'gig' for us.

DON'T FORGET TO LET US KNOW OF A CHANGE OF ADDRESS

Not to be outdone by Kamstars, the RSM gives his rendition of 'Sweet Caroline'

It was an excellent night, with the added bonus of Miss Bikini of Sweden showing us how to dance, making us all want to get up on the stage and join in. Yes, we wanted to sing with the band! We've started to settle down now, and for the first time have the whole Squadron within our own Bridage area, not that we expect it to stay that way. Some people have even got their R and R out of the way, but with only three months left, even they should still be sane by the time we go home. In fact, with a summer tour this year, we might even want to stay on. (Only joking 7 Brigade!).

The Chief Clerk shows the OC and Ops Officer how to play table football

On a final note, overwhelming congratulations go to Sgt Neil Hunt and SSgt Jase Smithurst who have both recently been selected for promotion; our best of luck to you in your new jobs. Also, good luck to WO2 Nick 'Foz' ter Morsche as he fades away to discover life outside the Army. And I final mention for WO2 (YofS) John Wright, who's been particularly upset that he hasn't seen his name in print for some time. Nothing much to say about him, but it's enough for a fine anyway!

CIVIL MILITARY OPERATIONS - by WO1 (RSM) Miles Webb

After a settling in period, Adjutant Capt Alex Clixby, OC Radio Tp 2Lt Graham Clarke, myself and other members of the Squadron set about identifying possible CMO projects for the duration of the tour. Our first port of call was the Children's Hospital in Pristina, not far from ourselves. 'Saffy', the Mess barman, introduced us to the hospital director and we very soon learned of the desperate situation that the hospital was in. There were 400 children waiting to be seen by the doctor, and only one ECG machine, which was itself unreliable; each machine costs £2500. A friend of mine living in Malta mentioned that she had some friends working for SOS Albania in Kosovo, and after several E-Mails, SOS Albania (Malta) have agreed to send a cheque for £2500 to cover the cost of a new ECG machine – excellent news. In the meantime members of the Squadron, with generous help from 38 Engineer Regiment (thanks lads), have started a refurbishment campaign within Pristina Hospital. They are currently designing wooden benches for the waiting rooms, along with decorations and murals to be displayed on the ward walls. Capt Alex Clixby, 2Lt Graham Clarke and LCpls Jase Whitehead and 'Shaggy' Palmer will be abseiling down the PTK communications building (the tallest building in Pristina at 69 metres) to raise funds. Raising funds for the ECG machines was always going to be the biggest hurdle, but any more funds received can now be diverted into other projects outside the hospital, such as the football club. We are also organising a theatre-wide half-marathon on 3 June to raise more funds for the hospital. Children's toys and clothes go a long way in Kosovo, particularly for the orphaned children who depend solely on external support. If you have toys or clothes that you have grown out of and wish to donate, please send them to 19 Mech Bde HQ and Sig Sqn at Gaza Barracks, Catterick Garrison, and we'll ensure that they are brought out to theatre.

With Manpower shortages in the Squadron, WO1 (RSM) Miles Webb and 2Lt Graham Clarke go recruiting at the Children s Hospital

HEADQUARTERS TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Simon Bristow
Tp SSgt SSgt Eric Williams

A little over two months ago we were spread throughout the Corps. The fortunate (or unfortunate, depending on your position), were then chosen, and HQ Troop was finally brought together. Individuals were dispatched to either the COMMCEN or NCC after some gruelling courses (they're worth nothing to civilian employers, honest lads), and have since settled in to those long days and even longer night shifts. Since arriving in theatre, the COMMCEN personnel have worked their socks off! Under the guidance of part-time DSO/Commcen IC and full-time Gym IC, Sgt Mick 'Terminator' Clarkson, the crew has made the COMMCEN their own with never a dull moment. LCpl Jase Whitehead had gone to great 'lengths' to work with the guys from 30 Sig Regt, even going to the 501 Det to 'put a mast up' in his spare time. Meanwhile LCpl Greg Robinson and Sig Shaun Falconer have taken to poetry; not so much heart rending, but rather stomach churning. LCpls Glen Armitage and Kelly Garrett have teamed up with Cpl Billy Russell and the DSO (Double Sausage Order) to sabotage the link on each and every day shift, thoughtfully providing the night shift with something to do. Believe it or not, they do work now and again…

Under the watchful eye of SSgt Paul 'Stiff Barron' Brannon the NCC crew are now in the swing of things. After many changes, the NCC is now the way we want it…for now anyway. It comprises three departments; OATIS headed by Sgt Andy 'Six Shooter' McNeil, CLEO supervised by Sgt Mark 'I'm not your pal, does your phone do this?' Brundle, and Polygon run by Sgt 'Lenny.net.com' Martin. We appear, without a doubt, to be the busiest department, due to the lack of IT knowledge of the users in the Headquarters, and Cpl Auz 'We're not magicians' Gambles is leading the fight with his patience and calm manner. LCpl Mark 'I can't do that, can I? Carlisle is finally getting to grips with the systems after a lot of head scratching; the new Dell servers were successfully put in place after their belated arrival and are making life much easier. At least we no longer have to hold the power switches on with blu-tac and banner rubbers like the old Compaqs…h'allegedly!

As Cpl Pete 'Webmaster' Hoggart finishes the new OATIS intranet (it's been a long time coming but its worth it), Sgt Andy 'Internet Guru' MacNeil leads the way for the welfare internet, and is therefore a wanted man. The trouble is, nobody can ever find him. If you see him, please write to NCC MNB(C), Op Agricola 5, BFPO 559! Finally, we say a big farewell to Sig Falconer who leaves shortly for 1 Div. A big welcome also to all the augmentees who will be with us for the rest of the tour; those not already mentioned include Cpls Milton, Whenman, Smith, Lodge, Kelly, and Hadley, LCpls Comery and Pratap, and Sigs Earp, Rigby and Maxfield. And most importantly, a very big 'thank you' to their units for releasing them; don't worry, we've found plenty of work for them!

RADIO TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Graham Clarke
Tp Sgt Sgt Andy Allen

Following Christmas leave, the Troop swelled to a healthy 55 through restructuring prior to our deployment on Op Agricola 5, and evolved into what is now Radio Tp. For many of the Troop, returning to Kosovo less than a year since finishing Op Agricola 2, better accommodation and a new gym do little to appease them. Suffice to say, it's not much like 'Groundhog Day'! Fortunately, the relatively tense situation out here has given cause for numerous and varied Troop deployments. Amusement was had at the expense of the French Mountain Troop, whose gigantic berets make them resemble the 'Mario Brothers'. Of course, with their world-renowned sense of humour they take the joke so well! Full credit to our American colleagues, who manage to uphold their cheery and helpful outlook despite having to wear every item of issue clothing plus more body armour than Robocop, all at the same time. Clearly paving the way on the 'hearts and minds' front. The Pakistani Special Police Force deserves particular mention for riot control drills that can only be described as 'efficient'. Having instructed the crowd a whole three times to disperse, they then wasted no time at all in deploying CS gas into the crowd, followed up quickly by a flurry of batons, hospitalising 15. Fair play to them, the crowd weren't a problem after that! Congratulations go to SSgt Jason Smithurst (currently back in the UK) who is posted as SSM Birmingham UOTC on promotion to WO2. Cheers Jase! Birmingham UOTC will be better for it. We also wish Cpl 'Hodge' Hodgkinson the best of luck on his posting to JCUNI and to Sig (soon to be Lance Corporal) Lindsey Rakocevic who's off to Ireland. Farewells also to Sigs Knowles, O'Rourke and Weller who all leave the Army shortly. The Troop welcomes Cpl 'Stevie' Stevenson and hope he is not too mentally scared from his experiences at gate 'Terminator', or gate 5 as all non-Americans call it.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Dave Sacree

We have been here in Kosovo for just over six weeks and Sp Tp have settled down into our work routines and some departments are working round the clock to keep the Squadron moving forward. The Troop as, a whole, have taken on extra commitments with the Military Transport section taking on the Force Signal squadron driving requirements, the Light Aid Detachment (REME) looking after said vehicles and the Quartermaster's Department taking on the theatre stores accounts. As stories go concerning the troop, several incidents of note have occurred, some a little too eye-watering for full publication but Cpl Darren 'Bunk Bed' Smith had a little accident that involved a few stitches and lots of pain in the nether regions. Ouch! Another incident occurred when LCpl Kelbie 'Bertie' Bassett tried stealing a towel from the shower room where Cpl Darren 'Benger' Clough was still in the act of washing. After a short scuffle Cpl Clough ended up running down the corridor in his birthday suit with blood emanating from a rather painful gash on his bottom. As a break from the norm, the 'Kamostars', a band hailing from Sweden, treated the squadron to a performance of several recent hits. A band from Swebat supported them with renditions of classic hits. All who attended had a good night. Welcome to the new members of the Troop, Sig Elliot Keightley and Cpl Dave Pendleton. Goodbyes to long serving members of the troop, Cpl Carl 'Speed Demon' Harris, Cpl Ally 'Golden Blanket' Munro and Cpl Ian 'Victor Meldrew' Smith.

NEWS FROM NORTHERN IRELAND

XV

HEADQUARTERS NORTHERN IRELAND AND 15 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col M. P. Llewellyn
RSM WO1 (RSM) Balsdon

RHQ have seen a fair amount of movement recently. A warm welcome and a large in-tray are extended to Sgt Craig Dixon on his return from sick leave. LCpls Brown and Bowes have been doing admirably as our R Irish representatives in the Orderly Room, covering for him. WO1 (RSM) Al Balsdon has had a very tricky final month preparing for his move to 21 Sig Regt on Commissioning to Captain - tricky in as much as he has had to remember to come in to his office occasionally between packing up his quarter. He will be sorely missed in RHQ, for his humour and banter as well as the work! Congratulations to him and Sue on their engagement - he has proved himself to be a pure romantic at heart. Welcome to WO1 (RSM) Jim McNaught and his family. No doubt you will enjoy your time in the Regiment - good luck! The Regiment and G6 Branch are busy preparing for the 'Marching Season' but extra curricular activities are still featuring strongly on the Regimental calendar.

MERCURY CUP TOUGH GUY COMPETITION
15 FEBRUARY 2001 - by Cpl Shane Blakey, HQ Sqn

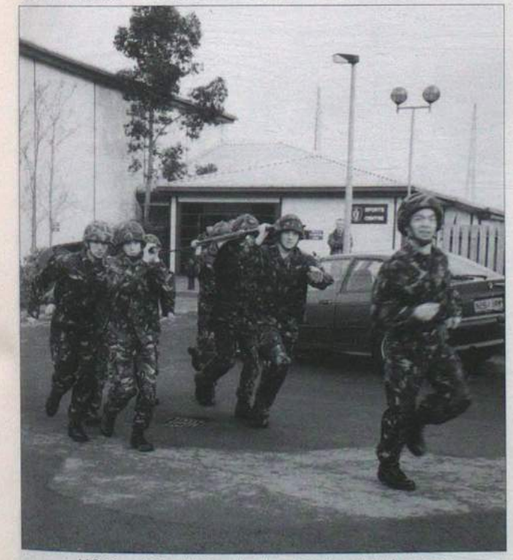
On the 15 February 2001, ten lucky 'willing' volunteers from HQ Sqn took part in the Mercury Cup Tough Guy Competition. It was a physical challenge (very physical) fought out between all Signal Squadrons in Province. It was broken down into four stages. The first event was 'Get mean with yourself. A 3km stretcher race/ammo box carry weighing about 100kg. The Team achieved a very commendable time aided by Cpl 'I'll carry the stretcher by myself' Toner - the Squadron PTI! After the first 200m half the team had nice bruises, but after a rapid change of tactics we gained Third place in this event.



HQ Sqn 'Tough Guys' set out on the stretcher race

After a brief rest it was time for the second event 'You know it hurts'. There were two rowers and two bikes and the idea was to get the best combined distance in the time given. SSgt 'Tri-Athlete' Chivers covered most of the distance on one of the bikes by himself. Included in the competition was a 'joker' that you could play on any event and double your points for that one. We played ours at this stage after a team consultation, unfortunately to no avail! This was followed by 'Keep to the rhythm of the beat'. This was basically the military bleep test. We thought we would be tiring by now but using the experience of the PTI Cpl 'Mark' Toner not one member of the team dropped out before level 12 and we actually came First! We had also been 'strongly encouraged' throughout by SSgt 'Icky' Gratrick. The final event for the day was 'No gain, no pain' – this was a 30-min swim in four separate lanes. In each lane the participants had to do a specific stroke except one where you had the pleasure of swimming with a traffic cone for company! To make it more challenging it was in combat trousers and shirt. The team would probably agree this was the longest half an hour of their lives. Sig 'Revs' Reveley came up with an original idea of swimming with the cone by placing it on his head and doing an impression of Co-Co the clown. He looked stupid but it proved to be an effective method for himself to the amusement of the others. The pain paid off, and we beat the other two Squadrons in the Regiment. We look forward to the next challenge!

ARMY BADMINTON CHAMPIONSHIPS 19–23 FEBRUARY 2001
by Sgt Stephen Anderson, HQ Sqn

Following last years' success Maj Dave Duggan decided that the Regt would enter both a male and female into this year's contest. The team list was as follows: Men's Team: Maj Dave Duggan, WO2 Dave Ormorod, WO2 Gaz Bennett, SSgt Sam Slade, Sgt Steve Anderson, Cpl Danny Mills, Cpl Terry Twinning, Sig Henry Brennan, Sig Mally Mallinson, Sig Rob Moore, Sig John Rees and Sig Ash Ward. Ladies Team: Cpl Cathy Winder, LCpl Michelle Rayner, Sig Pippa Henderson and Sig Kerry Stewart.

The team arrived at 5 Trg Regt (TA) RLC, Grantham on the Sunday before the competition was due to start, and arranged to meet at 0800hrs Monday morning. The days were spent hard in battle. Some players were battling so hard that they broke a number of racquets. 'Whatever you do, don't lend Maj 'Dave' Duggan one of yours if you want it back in one piece!' Players of all standards were trying their best. Some of them were even getting extra coaching whilst warming up. I am not sure if making Sig John Rees do press-ups every time he lowered his racquet will improve his game but it was funny to watch.

In the evening Sig Pippa Henderson wowed us, and all of Grantham Town with her amazing singing skills, don't give up your day job just yet! Cpl 'Terry' Twinning spent the rest of the week getting constant grief from the rest of the team, as he changed allegiances and started supporting the Ghurkhas half way through the Tournament.

On the whole the competition was an excellent success for 15 Sig Regt - all members of the team came away feeling a sense of achievement and are looking forward to the Corps in October. An extra special well done and congratulations go to the following people:

Male Veterans Doubles Winners:
WO1 Chris Sturdy RE and WO2 Dave Ormorod
Unit Doubles Runners-up:
WO2 Dave Ormorod and Cpl Danny Mills
Mixed Doubles Winners:
Capt Layton-Shaw RMP and WO2 Dave Ormorod.

CO'S CUP CROSS-COUNTRY - 23 FEBRUARY 2001
by SSgt Mark Chivers, HQ Sqn

The CO's Cup Cross-Country race was held on 23 February 2001. We had had a decent spell of weather for this time of year in Province, but as we began setting up for the race it was 'four seasons in one day' - rain, snow, wind and sun. Three teams braved the storm. The race was run over the quality cross-country course of last year and at 1410hrs the CO dropped his arm and we were off like greyhounds from the traps. Two Regimental runners continued the fast pace. Sgt Dave Kilgallon held on to the first lap and a quarter. Then SSgt Kenny Butler left Dave and SSgt Icky Gratrick standing - even after repositioning a direction sign he still took first place! A hard run competition over a demanding route - well done to all who took part.

Results	Males	Female	Team
1st	SSgt Butler	Lt Mclellan	HQ Sqn
2nd	Sgt Kilgallon	Cpl Lake	225 Sig Sqn
3rd	SSgt Gratrick	Capt Stewart	233 Sig Sqn

Should you make a purchase as the result of seeing an advert in The WIRE, please let them know that you saw their advert in your Corps Magazine

Plenty of enthusiasm and sunshine for the line-up

SSgt Ikky Gratrick strides into Third place in an interesting pair of shorts!

EXERCISE WINTER WARRIOR 2001
28 FEBRUARY - 14 MARCH 2001
by Cpl Carolyn Thomson, 225 Sig Sqn

On 28 February six keen comrades departed for a skiing adventure in Austria. Cpl 'Chicken Lip' Hopgood with his kevlar 'Nothing's getting into this baby' suitcase, Cpl 'Wheels of steel' Hobson, LCpl 'Crazy Daisy' French, Sig John Rees and Sig 'Soul Glow' Ward. After a 19-hour journey of pure fun on the ferry/coach we arrived in Hochfilzen – a quaint little village surrounded by snowy mountains. The first weekend was spent Nordic skiing, which proved to be the least enjoyable activity for the majority of the group! Cpl Hobson mastered the art and was in his element - Cpl Hopgood felt the most pain being as tall as 'Tom Thumb'! Having qualified for the bronze award everyone was relieved to be moving on to the alpine phase. Once again Cpl Hobson learnt quickly and at the end of the week actually won the slalom race, receiving a hard earned medal for the team. Cpl 'Howwww u doin' Thomson picked up the prize for fastest female and received a recommendation to join the BLAST program (sounds good to me!) Cpl Hopgood was also a racing snake, but no match for LCpl French when it came to dobbing and getting the worst wipe-out award. Sig Rees laughed his way through the whole week watching the misfortunes of others. Sig Ward tried to be 'Tom Cruise of the slopes' and was as cool as the snow beneath him, until he came plummeting down the slope himself! Everyone enjoyed the exercise and would not hesitate to go back. Not only was the skiing challenging and good for the thighs, but the events organised for apres-ski were good fun too.

15 Sig Regt team on Ex Winter Warrior 2001

REGIMENTAL POTENTIAL LEADERSHIP COURSE
13-14 MARCH 2001 - by LCpl Dave Rice, 233 Sig Sqn

The Regimental Potential Leaders Course was organised by Capt Stewart, 225 Sig Sqn, and aimed to develop the leadership qualities of signallers and JNCOs within the Regt. The first day of the course involved mainly classroom work. Most entertaining were the five minute lecturettes given on a subject chosen by the syndicate DS. These included 'Children's Television' by Sig Jackie Bridger, and the rapper 'Eminem' by Sig 'Kenny' Everett. Each member of the syndicate was also given a subject about which they had to 'chair' a discussion, and were given key issues to raise. The main task was to make sure that both sides of the argument were heard and to keep the discussion going. The hardest part of the day was a first attempt at a written estimate. Having completed a timed written attempt, the syndicates then compared notes to see how they had all gone about solving it, before being put out of their misery and being given the 'DS solution'. Day Two was held at Kinnegar Station and Palace Barracks. The day consisted of a series of leaderless tasks followed by command tasks in which each member of the syndicate took a turn to be in command. The most challenging of the tasks was one that involved trying to cross a pool of water using a floating platform, grappling hook and various planks and ropes. The possibility of getting soaked was imminent, unless we used our heads to figure out how to stay dry. Once Cpl Danny Pearson had 'taken the plunge' though, we all took the attitude of 'one in all in'.

Not exactly staying dry!

The command tasks were varied, but seemed to involve quite a lot of climbing up poles and ropes, and entertaining 'acrobatics' by certain members of the syndicates, notably Cpl 'Mini-Me' Smith. Each member was given an opportunity to command one of these tasks, before the syndicates moved to Palace Barracks for the final race over the assault course. At the end of the second day everyone had enjoyed some aspect of the course even if they were a bit apprehensive on the first morning. It was a good learning experience and two days away from work!

PLEASE NOTE

THE COST OF YOUR WIRE IS NOW £12 PER ANNUM - £2 PER COPY

IF YOU HAVE PAID £9 BY CHEQUE THIS YEAR WE WILL BE LOOKING FOR A FURTHER £3
THANK YOU IN ANTICIPATION

Definitely a team effort

Hanging in there

INTER-SQUADRON SQUASH COMPETITION - 21 MARCH 2001
by Capt Tam Malley, 225 Sig Sqn

A hard fought contest by all in the Inter-Squadron Squash Teams in this year's competition. Squash, is like fine wine. It is a game which improves with age. If the average age of the teams fielded is anything to go by. Clearly a game of wit and cunning, not agility! Victory was taken by 225 Sig Sqn, but the hardest fought match was between WO2 (SSM) Neighbour, HQ Sqn and SSgt Heaton, 233 Sig Sqn. Well done to all for their effort and determination.

225 Sig Sqn hold on to victory in the Inter-Sqn Squash

CO'S CUP SWIMMING COMPETITION - 2 APRIL 2001
by Sgt Dave Milne, 225 Sig Sqn

The CO's Cup swimming competition was an easily won victory for 233 Sig Sqn. 225 Sig Sqn and HQ Sqn fielded somewhat dubious teams, unable to show their true talent due to manning difficulties. The 'Best Effort (Biggest Biff)' award goes to WO2 (SSM) Thorne. That said, all those who competed gave it their best and a good day was had by all.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj D. T. H. Wilson
SSM SSgt Gratrick

Over the past few months, HQ Sqn has been through many changes on the management front. The 2IC Sqn, Capt J. Howell-Walmsley suffered a bad viral illness, and has taken a period of extended leave. He has thankfully recovered and now looks forward to taking up post as Trg Offr 1 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt. As a result of this WO2 (SSM) Neighbour took over the posts of 2IC Sqn/OC COMMCEN Tp/ UWO and SSgt 'Icky'Gratrick moved up to SSM. More recently there has been a change at the helm, with the Squadron saying farewell and wishing all the best for the future to Maj J. Mullender and his wife Lesley. A warm welcome goes out to Maj D. T. H. Wilson and his wife Colleen for their tour in NI. Finally a welcome back to work for Veronica after her seven weeks in plaster!

WO2 (SSM) Neighbour makes his debut as the Genie
in the New Harp Players pantomime - Aladdin
'You command and I obey, Oh Master! ...'

COMMCEN TROOP
Tp Comd WO2 (SSM) Neighbour
Tp SSgt SSgt Ripley

Everyone in the Troop says a big welcome to the following people; LCpl Barrett, LCpl Broderick, LCpl McDiarmid, LCpl Smiejkowski. A goodbye and all the best in the future, goes to the successful escape team; Cpl Ritchie 'Arthur Daly' Evans who is leaving to go to Germany, Sig Dave 'rudolph' Green moving to CAFTG, Sig Nige 'Tp morale' Green who leaves on promotion to 7 Sig Regt, Sig Pippa 'High Jump' Henderson who joins 1 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt and finally Sig Adam 'Laura' Ryan who joins a previous escapee at 21 Sig Regt.

225 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj M. J. Smith
SSM WO2 (SSM) Thorne
ECHO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt F. A. W. Stewart
Tp SSgt SSgt (Supvr R) Jacklin

Another busy period for Echo Tp with an unusually high turnover of personnel. Cpl Aldred, Cpl Gutteridge and Cpl Carter have now started their long awaited months of resettlement and termination leave, we wish them the best in their new chosen careers. The following personnel have also moved on; Cpl Kirkwood (39 RA), Cpl Waites (DSSS), Cpl Bibby (RSMPT), Cpl Sly (JSSU Oakley), Cpl Scanlan (14 Sig Regt (EW)), Cpl Shaw (RSS, Blandford) and Cpl Poole (DSL, Beaconsfield) – many thanks to all of them for their long suffering hours of hard work. CPO Kavanagh, LCpl Stevenson, JT Clements and LCpl Scott are also thanked for their hard work on roulement tours. We welcome Cpl Bebbington, Cpl Flatman, Cpl Dale, LCpl Halliday, LCpl Smith and LCpl Fletcher.

GOLF TROOP
Tp Comd Capt R. J. Craig
Tp SSgt SSgt Wilson

The month of March saw quite a few changes to the Tp. Firstly we say hello to Cpl Debbie Whatmough and Cpl Gary Bond and Cpl Pete Hall who have arrived fully refreshed after their T1 upgrading. Also welcome to Cpl 'Scotty' Pearson who has joined us from 8 Bde Sig Sqn. The Troop said goodbye to Sgt Wayne Ballard and Sgt Stu Murray who are off to pastures new in Balado Bridge. The Troop would also like to congratulate Sgt Lyndon Box, Sgt Craig Brankin and Sgt John Hatch on passing their FofS entrance exam, and Sgt Dave Kilgallon, Sgt Lyndon Box and Sgt Stu Murray on being selected for promotion. Finally the Troop would like to congratulate SSgt Dave Wilson and his wife Lynne on the birth of their daughter Eleni.

SUPPORT TROOP
Tp Comd Capt P. R. Griffiths
Tp SSgt Sgt Milne

Welcome to LCpl Fisher, LCpl McCrone, his wife Claire and baby Lennon who have all joined us from 1 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt. Cpl Clayton has also recently arrived from 34 Sig Regt. Newly promoted Cpl Jo Quinn has now moved to 7 Sig Regt – congratulations to Jo and Jim who are now expecting an addition to the family. Cpl Pullen has left to join 16 Sig Regt. We thank them for their hard work here and wish them all the very best in the future.

233 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj A. N. Walker
SSM SSgt Allen

First the Squadron would like to say a fond farewell to WO2 (SSM) Rob Dunseith who now moves to pastures greener having served the Squadron with dedication and loyalty. Best wishes are extended to both him and his wife Tracey. Capt Lucy Thirsk is warmly welcomed into SHQ, arriving from Aldershot to assume the responsibility of Sqn 2IC – good luck! Sqn Clk, Cpl Steve Lucas and his family are congratulated on the birth of their latest family addition, Alexandra, who seems to be causing plenty of sleep deprivation. The Squadron has excelled itself in the CO's Cup Swimming with a decisive victory, due by no small means to the strong support given from across the Squadron. Congratulations and may the winning continue for a long time yet.

INDIA TROOP - by Sig Phil Brocken
Tp Comd Lt T. Grey
Tp SSgt SSgt Marlowe

Another fun-filled few months in India Tp! But first a few hellos and goodbyes. Welcome to Cpl Jason 'Biff-Chit' Nicholls who has joined us from 2 Sig Regt and Cpl Justin 'BPFA' Medcraft who has joined us from EC Branch. Cpl Jeff Ford has also joined us from 30 Sig Regt and has some very old boots to fill in the shape of Cpl Graham 'Where's my pension book?' Keith! There are also a few people leaving this month that the Troop will be very sorry to see go. We start with SSgt Craig 'Ethos' Marlowe who has moved on to show those people in the TA what real soldiering is all about! Thank you for all your hard work and commitment to the Tp - what will we do without you? Also leaving is Cpl Graham 'Grandpa' Keith who not being content with two rows of medals has re-joined 30 Sig Regt to try and get a few more before his pending retirement! Cpl Ian 'PC Plod' Wardle has gone back to Blandford to undertake his T1 Cse. Finally LCpl Jim 'Iron Mike' Quinn has departed with his wife Jo to 7 Sig Regt to cause some chaos there! Good luck to you all in your new postings. A pat on the back is in order for Lt Tim Grey on convincingly beating everyone in the Troop Clay Pigeon Shooting organised by Cpl Andy 'Just one more course please' Butterfield - a good day was had by all involved.

And finally many congratulations to both Sgt Ross Menzies and his wife on the birth of their baby son which they have named Sean and to LCpl Kev 'Toff' Lucas and his wife on the birth of their son Bradley.

NETWORK CONTROL CENTER - by LCpl 'Deano' Deans
Tp Comd Capt A. Haresign
Tp SSgt Sgt Johnson

Welcome to all the new members of the Troop and goodbye to the lucky ones who have escaped! Firstly WO2 (YofS) Rick Carley from 280 Sig Sqn, who replaces WO2 (YofS) Russ Darlington who has gone to 30 Sig Regt. WO2 (FofS) Rick Gorman has moved across from TM Tp, LCpl Paul Westerman has arrived from 3 (UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt, Sgt Nigel Cathew who has moved to us from R Tp, and LCpl 'Dinger' Bell from 14 Sig Regt (EW) via a re-trade at RSS, Blandford. So far this year it has been 'all systems go' in the fast moving world of the NCC. The new management team who have taken the wheel are hell-bent on reducing the Province fault status and with an ever changing sea of faces in the team. Outside of the NCC incident room itself, the Troop has been active on the sports field - the most notable event was the McKelvie Cup Inter-Sqn Swimming Competition, where the Troop showed their true sporting potential by coming in last! The Troop's young Techs have also been busy out on the ground with attachments to the Brigade FRT's getting hands-on experience with the comms kit in use in the Province. Teams of Techs also went down to 40 Sig Regt (V) to assist with their preparations for RSIT.

ROMEO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt R. A. Hamilton
Tp SSgt SSgt Bartleet

A warm welcome to this months new arrivals, Cpl 'Stef' Crouchman and Sgt Booth who join the Ops Sect from 30 Sig Regt, and Cpl Berry, LCpl Lohse and LCpl Springett who join the workshop from TM Tp. As usual there was the annual last minute rush to squeeze all remaining leave in before the end of the financial year. That said, the Troop personnel did complete their quarterly training, with a special mention to LCpl 'Bigtime' Hendrie who enjoyed swanning around in his flying suit a little too much and to Sgt 'Mac' McGibbon who clearly didn't enjoy flying at all. On the sporting front, R Tp were presented with the coveted McKelvie Cup for 2000. The winning continued along this vein in the first match of 2001 with a victory in the swimming. A notable performance from SSgt 'Dave' Mudway who won the backstroke by a clear length. A good team effort in the relay events ensured that the Team Captain , Cpl 'Shaggy' Ashurst stepped forward to collect the trophy. R Tp are looking forward to a busy year with a few notable highlights on the agenda. A number of personnel will participate in the Cheviot 2000 Fell Race, raising money for the Rett Syndrome charity, followed in December with a skydiving expedition to Florida.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt E. L. McLellan
Tp SSgt SSgt Jarvis

TM Tp has had yet another manic month or two of goodbyes. Cpl Andy Berry has moved across to R Tp and is currently undergoing the necessary transformation from professional Tech into 'Cowboy'! Sig Springett gets a hello and goodbye, spending a record one-week with TM Tp prior to moving across in the same direction. LCpl Michelle 'Claire' Rayner has now left to join the Royal Signals Mobile Presentation Team and is wished the very best for her time there, whilst Sig 'Muggy' Mugford has shed his rank and moved on to civilian life. SSgt Flo Jarvis finally managed to escape to I Tp where it is hoped that he is enjoying practising his trade once more. He is given a very big thank you for all his hard work as Tp SSgt for TM Tp. Meanwhile there have been a few new faces including LCpl Tanya Webb who has returned to the Regiment following her re-trade - welcome back. LCpl Stanham also joins the Troop having completed his trade training. It is hoped that you both enjoy your time here. Congratulations must go to Sgt Nick Goodwin who was successful on the last promotion board and now awaits his promotion to Staff Sergeant. With personnel desperate to use up all their leave entitlement prior to April, March was a rather quiet month with numerous people away. Those who were in Province made the most of the various leaving functions and Troop members and their families, on the occasion of saying goodbye to LCpl Rayner, enjoyed a very good night out.

HQNI and 15 Sig Regt Hockey Team

ARE YOU RECEIVING YOUR COPY OF THE WIRE?

If not call 01258 482087 you may have moved and forgotten to let us know or perhaps you need to renew your subscription

40th (ULSTER) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col A. P. R. Roberts MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) G. C. N. Keane

The Regiment bids farewell to the Commanding Officer who leaves for the rigours of Abbey Wood. After what seems like an eternal farewell period involving many dining/lunching outs Lt Col Tony Roberts hands over command to Lt Col Robert Kelly on 20 April 2001. The CO enjoyed a salubrious dining out from the Officers' Mess at Clonaver Park TAC which was supported by the Pipes and Drums from 69 (North Irish Horse) Signal squadron (Volunteers), who provided an excellent demonstration of their ability and why it is that they are so much in demand. Capt Carl Kinghan is much relieved at the return of the Adjutant and is now safely enseonced within the realms of 66 (City of Belfast) Signal Squadron (Volunteers) once more. Carl, thank you for the sterling work you put in whilst I was away. WOI (RSM) McGinley leaves us for 14 Sig Regt (EW) where he will arrive as Capt McGinley. Congratulations, you are no longer required to work for your living! Welcome to WOI (RSM) Keane, and before you ask, yes he is, who has already set about the Regiment with vigour. As I write he is setting about the CO in the Sergeants' Mess during yet another lunching out. A long afternoon ensues I am sure, more of which in the next bulletin.

EXERCISE SCOTTIE FINN IV 21- 25 FEBRUARY 2001
by WO2 (SSM) L Whitley

Well, it is that time of year again. Support Sqn setting off to the Ski slopes of the Cairngorm and the Lechte in North Eastern Scotland. The Snow reports were more optimistic for good skiing for the first time in many a year. The advance party. consisting of the QM (V), Capt Maurice Stanley, WO2 (RQMS) Derek Irvine. WO2 (FofS) Robert 'Dixie' Dixon, SSgt Steve 'Franz Clammer' Delaney, SSgt 'Charlie' Milligan (Master Chef) and Sig 'Clive' Dunn, left in the early hours of 21 February 2001. They were there to take over the accommodation and recce the slopes before the main party arrived the following day.

The Team!
Yes! It does snow in Aviemore - (but not during RSIT weekend)!
Back Row (L-R): 2IC Capt Tom Dick, WO2 (FofS) Robert Dixon, LCpl Michael Ware, Sgt Lizette Murdoch, SSgt (SQMS) Jim Clasper
Front Row (L-R): WO2 (RQMS) Derek Irvine LCpl Paul Calvert (Ski Instructor)

The Stopover Hostel in Grantown on Spey, near Aviemore was once again used as the base for all the activities. This hostel is central to the slopes that we intended to use for our weekend training. The main party under the control of WO2 (SSM) Lynda Whitley left Belfast to join the advance party on 22 February 2001. The group consisted of many men and women who had never skied with the Squadron before and they were looking forward to the weekend. All envisaged a good time. We held our now ritual dinner night, where all had a scary story to recollect. There were many who had defied the laws of gravity to stay on their feet, for most of the time anyway. We left for Belfast on Sunday morning with everyone looking forward to a good, long rest. Just as well as there were storms brewing over the North Channel across to Belfast Lough.

The weekend marks the end of my tour as SSM. I hand over control of the Squadron to WO2 (SSM) Tom Johnston at the end of March and move to the post of RQMS (V). I would like to thank all the members of the Squadron who have supported me during my two years in the post.

EXERCISE PRONTO FINN 17-19 FEBRUARY 2001

Some 20 soldiers from 69 Sig Sqn took part in the above Alpine Skiing Exercise held in the Cairngorm region of the Scottish Highlands. They were based at the Stopover Hostel in Grant own-on-Spey, Moravshire. The weekend started with a long journey with the main party leaving the Limavady TAC at 1930hrs on the Friday and arriving at the hostel at 0630hrs on the Saturday. The packet leaders, OCdt Robert Owens and Sgt Keith Colhoun made the journey slightly longer. They decided to take the scenic route around Glasgow. This others found strange, as sleeping in the back of their vehicle was Lt John Black a native of the city. Why did they not wake him for directions?

The main body was met by the advance party consisting of SSgt (SQMS) Lloyd Cammack, SSgt Christine Williamson and the Pipe Major, Sgt John Taylor who demonstrated throughout the weekend that he is as good a chef as he is a piper. Despite a meagre three hours sleep: the group was up, ready and enthusiastic for a day on the slopes. We were split into three groups those who could ski, beginners and absolute beginners. SSgt Les Gamble who could not grasp the point that he was meant to do up his boots claimed the main event of Day One. Several times, to the bemusement of onlookers, a set of ski's complete with boots would glide down the slopes. A frantic madman chasing after them in his army issue green socks. We ended the day feeling that we were at least getting somewhere and retired to the hostel to soak our tired limbs and partake in the 'Après Ski'.

Day Two started with a reshuffle of the groups. LCpl Paul Cawery, our instructor from 8 Inf Bde Sig Sqn. took charge of the absolute beginners. He quickly realised that his work was cut out for him. He asked the group to ski towards him to assess the standard. The group set off one by one, unfortunately not all in the direction intended. Some time later, on regrouping we tried again, and again, and again, until eventually we were ready to move on. Sig Chris Usher, who for the past two days had been complaining that he was not used to skiing and preferred snowboarding finally got his wish. Unfortunately he was on a 'T-Bar' and there was someone attached to the snowboard at the time. The result was Chris, a snowboarder and a lift operator. got to know each other as they were dragged along the ground. Not to be put off Chris had another go on the T-Bar. This time joined by that well-known downhill skier Sig Jim McKee. They did very well for about ten metres and were last seen gracefully moving downhill on their backs.

The weekend was a great success, made better by the abundance of snow and the fine weather. Our thanks go to our instructors SSgt Pat Gannon, Sgt Mark Comerford and LCpl Paul Cawery and. to the SQMS and his team for their efforts in organising the exercise.

39 INFANTRY BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (213)

Sqn Comd Maj A. R. Knott
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. M. Lockwood

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Our beloved Chief Clerk, SSgt Stu Smart (AGC) is to be commissioned. The Squadron would like to extend their hearty congratulations and wish you and your family every future success. Do not forget that you are now required to buy a Labrador and smart casual trousers!

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP
Tp Comd Lt S. Y. Richardson
Tp SSgt SSgt R. Atherton

OPS SECTION

Arrivals and departures: The hello's this month are extended to Sig Gary Weller and LCpl Gerard Tierney, who join us in COMMCEN and Syscon respectively. We hope you will be very happy seconded to a room with few windows and no means of escape. The other new chap in our midst receives a Rover Group style welcome, the name on the bottom lip is LCpl Joe Rushbrook. He is an appreciated relief as he is shortly to undertake his PTI course to replace LCpl 'Pritch' Pritchard as Squadron beaster. Unfortunately we have had to say goodbye to Cpl Russ Craig, infamous for his delightful shirts and his drinking ability, and also to LCpl Vicky Moran, renowned for her sporting prowess and roller coaster moods. Thank you for all your endeavours in the Crypto Cell and SYSCON during your time with the Brigade. We wish you every success. We also said a small farewell to Sig 'Penfold' Andrews who departed the Squadron believing Nirvana was awaiting him in Blandford. We hope your wishes and dreams come true in Bath!

Section News: Pte Keith Hardy has decided the time has come to switch his allegiance and has put in a transfer to become a Dvr Rad Op while Cpl Mandy Smith has been given an absence of leave, while she undertakes her Class 1 at the Royal School.

crew consolidate their experiences. On the third day we had, what appeared to be idyllic weather, an absolutely still sea and no wind. However, the rest of the crew grumbled as no wind meant using the engine, which somewhat defeats the objective. On arrival at Campletown, we visited many of the local public houses to experience the fine Scottish welcome, reserved for military personnel. It was during this time that the weather took a change for the worse, leaving the Moyle Maiden Crew 'stranded' at Campletown for three whole days. The famous five were forced to spend their time drinking in the local area, wondering what their associates were up to on the other side of the water. When the storm moved on, the crew made a speedy recovery back to Province under the threat of the RSM posting us AWOL, to prepare the ship for her next voyage.

The final stand of the Bde Comd's Rover Group

It is with much sadness that the section bid farewell to the Driver element of the Rover Group. What good the Rover Group will be without any drivers is beyond us. We give a big thank you and good luck to LCpl Neil 'Geordie' Allinson, LCpl Andy Fleetwood, Pte Andy 'Aitch' Aitchison and Pte Hayley Andrews. Things will not be the same around here without you, it will be quieter for one and hopefully we will get some work done. God speed and we hope you have every success in whatever you do.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE SECTION

Arrivals and departures: A new Tele Mech has arrived to help the Riggers reach maximum capacity. But wait, what is this, a female rigger. I have never heard of such a thing. All we can say is thank goodness Sig Jason Ellam has left and we look to LCpl Lynsey Byrne to put the Riggers firmly in their place. A thousand welcomes from the section, hurrah, another girl for the Lanyard Team! The section bids a sad farewell to Cpl Emma Dignall, who has finished her time here, and left with essay writing skills she did not know she possessed. Thank you for your excellent judgement calls and all your hard work, we wish you well. Congratulations to Cpl Ian Burgon on his recent promotion. Welcome back to our two intrepid riggers, Sig Dean Roberts and Sig Andy Morrison, from their epic adventures to the Falkland Islands. Lets hope your now have penguins out of your systems and can concentrate on the slightly warmer climbs of Province.

SAILING – by LCpl Chris Lord

The journey of a lifetime began at Bangor, on the East Coast of Northern Ireland with a select number of courageous sailors. The Ship's Captain, SSgt Terry 'Mad Dog' McIntyre and first mate LCpl Steven 'Musto' Ireson, commanded a rather inexperienced crew consisting of Sgt Lee Rotherforth, LCpl Mick 'Jenno knows' Jennings and LCpl Chris 'Sick Boy' Lord. First port of call was Troone, the pilgrimage across was by far the most stomach wrenching experience of LCpl 'sick as a dog' Lord's life. The second day entailed a journey up to Tarbot, which was an enjoyable day's sailing for all concerned and helped the

LCpl Lord sleeps off the excitement of his unscheduled holiday

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt G. Maddison RLC
MTSNCO Sgt Eley RLC

Congratulations to Capt Gail Maddison on her recent acceptance for a transfer into the AGC(ETS). We hope a Reg C comes your way, the RLC's loss will be the AGC's gain.

RQMS DEPARTMENT

Congratulations to Cpl John Davies and his wife Anna on their recent marriage. Shame about the honeymoon, but at least Anna now knows just exactly what she is letting herself in for! We wish you a long and happy life together.

MOTOR TRANSPORT
A FAREWELL TO ARMS

Once upon a time, in a garage far, far, away 39 Bde HQ and Sig Sqn had an elite RLC Motor Transport Unit. Everybody loved the MT, as they were at the beck and call of the Unit twenty-four hours a day, yet rarely complained. But the big bad Support Battalion came over the horizon and gobbled the Mt Dept up. The Unit were dismayed at the loss of their friends. The daddy of the MT Department was a big, bald headed SNCO called Sgt Andy Eley, who spent his entire posting to the Unit on resettlement or planning ways of leaving the community of Army to seek his fortune. He was occasionally deputised by Cpl 'Geordie' Waterworth, the 'Del Trotter' of the MT. These two intrepid warriors were helped in their capacity of providing movement around the village of Province by several little helpers. There was Cpl 'Faz' Farrell, who was leaving having spent two years at the Diving Club, LCpl 'Taff, the Magpie' Lewis, who strut his stuff on the rugby pitch and was so sad at leaving the girls behind, along with LCpl 'Brammers' Bramwell, currently undertaking his PTI course. These little Pixies were not the only fluffy bunnies to play in the MT Dept, there was also Pte Mick Battle, Pte Steve Elford and Pte Chris 'Speedy' Wilkinson. Such was their dismay at seeing the Sp Bn looming, they tried to re-capbadge, terminate their service or to get posted as quickly as possible. Others, such as LCpl Dave Blower, Pte Shane Nobes, Pte 'Pops' Pople and Pte 'Newboy' Evetts resigned themselves to the fact they were going to be consumed into the vast empire. Pte Louise Craig, on successful completion of her MPC course threw herself at the Sp Bn, with unbridled excitement, as she knew once inside there would be a fresh supply of male bunnies to entice into her web. And so 39 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn, after trying to fight the Sp Bn, withdrew into the back ground to lick its wounds, and reminisced about the good times when they still had an MT. They sat and remembered the little fairies who picked them up and dropped them off so effortlessly. We hope they will all live happily ever after.

SQUADRON EVENTS
BRIGADE SAAM

The Competition started with a select number of 39 Bde's finest sharp shooters. The team consisted of Cpl Rick 'Dead Eye' Sherriff (Team Captain), LCpl Chris 'Pistol King' Lord, Sig Gordon 'Oops that was not me' Wallace, along with our more experienced shooters in the forms of Pte Mark 'Where are my trousers?' O'Hare, Pte Val 'Who messed with my sights?' Hardy and Pte Danny 'Where's the range?' Blakey. Most unusually we were privileged enough to include two riggers on the team in the form of Sig Del 'Pie Muncher' Slowey and Sig Andy 'Needs Glasses' Morrison. We started the competition with massive amounts of enthusiasm, which was quickly depleted, once we saw just how good the opposition was. The night shoot was the highlight of the whole competition, having just one member of the team hitting the target. Well done Pte 'Stretch' O'Hare. The final shoot was a knock out competition, which we took at its word and were knocked out. Still better luck next year lads, we cannot possibly get any worse!

EXERCISE FREEZING FINN - by Cpl Kenny Purdie

Once more, the brave and the stupid of 39 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn deployed to deepest, darkest Bavaria for a spot of suicidal training. The exercise began with a nightmare minibus journey of epic proportions, destination Krefeld with a stopover with 7 Sig Regt. However, due to unforeseen problems differentiating between diesel and petrol, the journey was punctuated by a brief halt in Wigan to have the tank drained. After a mammoth 26-hour trip, we arrived at Krefeld. This was then followed with a further seven hours before arriving at our Guesthouse. Next time, sod the extra expense, we are flying!

The skiing began with the normal admin nightmare of people whinging 'My boots don't fit', 'I've bought two left boots all the way from Northern Ireland and only just realised', coupled with ' my boots don't fit in my skis Staff!' But soon enough we were on the slopes looking good whilst static, but extremely dangerous whilst in motion. Memorable points of the week were SSgt Rob 'The Egg' Atherton and his 140m slide/fall down a slope called 'The Wall'. At the end, he moved from the sitting to the standing position, a manoeuvre for which he failed to slow down, resulting in the local populace asking him if he were James Bond. Pte 'Watch Out, Andy's about' Aitchison and his repeated attempts to wipe out anyone else on the slopes, will remain with us, much to the distress of his fiancée Cpl Mandy 'I hate you Andy' Smith. Of course my own spectacular lesson, instructing on how to use a certain delicate area of the body as a stoppage system, in conjunction with a large fir-tree. I still sing soprano and my eyes are watering even now as I think of that moment.

WO2 Kemp shows us how to pose with style.

Many Thanks go to the organiser of the event SSgt Rob 'Don't Panic' Atherton as well as the two instructors; Sgt Dean 'Show Form' MacKenzie, an expert on looking good and general posing. Also to the mysterious WO2 from the RLC know only as 'Ol Jon!' who took a group of novices and turned them into something resembling Japanese pilots at Pearl Harbour.

Mentions must also be made of the AO Capt 'Mad as a fish' Maddison for her efforts at teaching LCpl 'German for G is Gay' Uppal the cultural delights of Neil Diamond, nice harmonies Ma'am. Well dones also to Cpl 'Belly's gonna get you' Dignall for keeping the German chip industry afloat, Cpl Brett 'Bambi on ice' Grist, for sheer determination combined with a death wish, and lastly the OC Sqn, Maj Andy Knott; although he only joined us for a few days, he entered into the spirit of things. Sir, you really did suit the 'Mong of the Day' wig. (Although though did you Cpl Purdie!)

After another, more successful, stopover in Krefeld on the way back, sampling the hospitality of 232 Sig Sqn, it was back to Northern Ireland, with a look forward to next year's trip: don't forget, next time we fly!

Cpl Purdie looking as stylish as ever as 'Mong of the Day'

COMIC RELIEF

Well done to all participants in the Comic Relief 'Pants to Poverty' Day. The Squadron raised over £700 for the charity, so well done to all those who gave in the spirit of the occasion.

EXERCISE KATTERGAT BACKSTOP
28 FEBRUARY – 10 MARCH 2001

Ex Kattergat Backstop was an Adventurous Sail Training exercise co-ordinated by Adventurous Training Group (Germany) and British Kiel Yacht Club. The primary aim of the exercise was to safely deliver the new fleet of yachts for BKYC from the Najad boatyard in Henan, Sweden to Kiel. Four members of the Sqn volunteered to take part in this Offshore Sailing expedition. SSgt 'Seadog' McIntyre headed up the expedition ably assisted by Sgt Lee Rotherforth, Cpl 'Shippy' Ship and LCpl 'Musto Man' Ireson. After a marathon journey, via the North Sea and Hamburg, we arrived safely at BKYC for a brief by the Commandant. Upon arrival at the Najad boatyard in Henan, a look of disbelief on the crews' faces said it all. There was a good ten inches of snow underfoot and the new fleet of yachts was frozen into the freshwater fjord!

After recruiting the services of a steel-hulled boat to act as an icebreaker we finally set sail for Ellos. A rigging expert from Najad accompanied each boat individually and checked nothing was amiss and that the mast wasn't about to fall down on our 350-mile trip back to BKYC. There was a nice 10knot breeze as we meandered our way down the picturesque fjords to Ellos. Fully victualled we set sail for the Danish island of Anholt. Unfortunately the wind died on us but we did have the opportunity to hoist the spinnaker and manage a few broaches on a shy reach. The remainder of the journey was spent under engine until we arrived on this remote island in the Kattergat during nightfall. With a welcome change in the weather we set off on our merry way to Middlefart. After three days of strenuous sailing we were rewarded with a run ashore. After another cracking meal from our gourmet chef Sgt Lee Rotherforth, we explored the Danish town of Middlefart.

With ideal weather conditions for sailing and due to the fleet being well ahead of schedule, it was decided to hold a 50-mile inshore race. This gave all the crew opportunities to put their skills into practice. With long beats and plenty of chances to fly the kite, all crews were thoroughly tested in their drills. Despite nearly 50 miles and eight hours racing the boats were remarkably close at the finish at Damp marina in Germany. The sea was choppy for the final day as we beat back to Kiel. The aim had been achieved with all boats delivered safely to BKYC. A BBQ was held and a few beers sunk in the Yacht Club all accompanied by some salty sea-dog yarns! The four members of the Squadron all agreed that a lot had been learnt and an enjoyable if not arduous time was had by all. Finally I would like to extend my thanks to all the staff at BKYC for their organisation and professionalism throughout the exercise.

321 EOD SQN RLC
THE ROYAL SIGNALS ELEMENT

EOD Br Advisor WO2 (Super R) Dave Watson
Sqn ECM Advisor SSgt (Super R) 'Robbo' Robson

OMAGH DET - by LCpl Roderick

The last few months have been fairly quiet. However, we still have had enough to do with the day to day running of the detachment. As the ECM operator I am responsible to the team for all the communications and ECM equipment and due to the high state of readiness we are on, it all needs running up and testing daily.

LCpl Roderick
instructs members of the detachment on the art of communications

The recent foot and mouth crisis has added an interesting twist so that our task drills now include disinfecting and decontamination of equipment and ourselves. We have also been practicing various ways of getting our equipment and personnel to incidents.

LCpl Roderick keeps his weapon skills up to speed during a terrorist weapons range day

We can drive, however, if the incident is long distance we can also get the RAF to fly us there (weather dependant, and not after 1630hrs or weekends). Additionally, we have also been improving our public image by running stands at several KAPE events. These are organised by the resident battalion for local community groups such as the young farmers, boys brigade and scouts. They receive various presentations on the team equipment and gain an insight into what we do and what EOD is like. They also get to play with the Wheelbarrow, and if they're really lucky they get to try on a bomb suit or get a free ride on a Blackboard (a heli-portable go-kart).

The Air Cadets get to don the EOD suit and become ATO for the day

The main aim behind these visits is to reduce the chances of the individuals going home, seeing the EOD team on the streets and chucking bricks at us - especially after we have just re-painted the Tactica's.

ANTRIM DETACHMENT - by Cpl Gillett

Having been earmarked to move from Londonderry to Antrim, I was extremely happy because Antrim is currently the busiest EOD detachment in Province. Unfortunately, the goalposts were moved and Londonderry suddenly had an upsurge in tasking - with mortar attacks on camp, vehicle borne bombs and just to top things off pipebombs. Oh well, who wants to be on the receiving end of a mortar anyway? Suddenly, things started to calm down in Antrim, I think they realised my RBtR was coming up. With the amount of jobs reducing you would think I could sit back and relax a little. Not a chance - I do not think that it's possible to have more inspections and visits. Then there are SSgt Robsons' 'Little Projects', mine being to set up a presentation for the visit of the current Supervisor Radio Course. On returning from R&R I had my Presentation vetted by SSgt Robson, lets just say I made a few changes after this. Only nine weeks to go until I return to the mainland supposedly, I've not been told that I am extended yet but I'm confident I will be!

LONDONDERRY DETACHMENT - By Cpl Wishart

I arrived at probably the largest (and what I thought the quietest) EOD detachment in Province. However, this soon changed. Until this time Londonderry Det was known as the SCAIRDYCAT DET, as the team never seemed to want to leave the camp. On my first morning here the team was tasked to carry out traffic duties at a suspicious vehicle. After a really wet six hours we all retired to the detachment to get warm, or so we thought. Things soon changed that evening when the Boss got a rather large mortar bomb delivered to the Officers' Mess accommodation - how's that for service! Due to this the Boss managed to break all land speed records for the fastest thing on two legs as he hurtled into the detachment. So, once again we donned our good old combat 95 to play bomb heroes!

PUBLISH IT IN THE WIRE
The Editor is always pleased to receive interesting articles and action packed photos

NEWS FROM THE REGIMENTS

2 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col I. Cameron-Mowat
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. Keilty

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj M. Bailes
SSM WO2 (SSM) Hancock

EXERCISE KEY LEADER - by Sig Cleghorn

Preparing for the Regimental Leadership Course started as early as November 2000 even though the course wasn't until February 2001. Briefs by the RSM and WO2 (SSM) Gardner made me feel nauseous over Christmas, so I thought I'd do something sensible and lose three stone to come down from a 42' waist to a 36' waist. To come top of the course was my ultimate goal, the top student would hopefully be promoted on the spot, so I was gearing myself up for the certain hardships and demands to come. The time before the course flew by and suddenly Monday 19 February, the dreaded H Hour was upon us. The first few days were spent in York and involved a shedload of drill, so before I knew what was happening I was marching up and down the main square ten to a dozen. Two days later we departed York and headed for the sunny climes of Otterburn Training Area. It was easy to identify the training area as it was covered by an ever-increasing snow cloud. Typical!

The course was pretty intense and I enjoyed it. We had several lessons on our arrival at Otterburn and learnt many 'green' things, ranging from keeping our feet clean in the field to the map symbol for a public house (a very useful one for the future). The weather deteriorated and the snow was now coming down in inches, however moral was still high and people were getting stuck in. Suddenly on Friday, just before the final exercise was due to start, the course was stopped due to the foot and mouth crisis. There was a collective sigh of relief as the course had been cancelled, but we were denied the chance to prove ourselves on the final exercise.

Overall it was a bit of a shame after all the work that was put in by everyone, however many lessons were learnt and stored away into my grey matter for the future. Now I must get my map out and seek out some Public House symbols.

214 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj J. A. Compston MBE
SSM WO2 (SSM) 'Dwarfism is not a crime' Smith

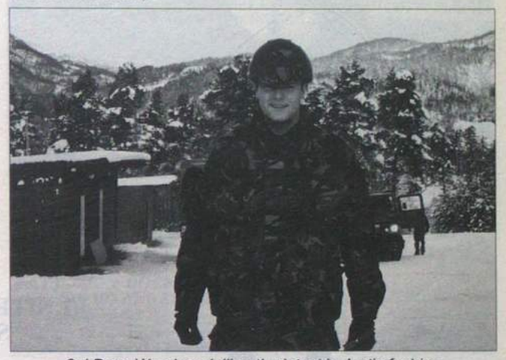
The frenetic pace of life in 214 continues unabated. Although we have been denied the chance to do any exercises or Adventurous Training due to the worsening foot and mouth crisis, there has been plenty to be getting on with. The lucky devils in SHQ have moved into their plush new building, unfortunately this has meant that SSgt Colin 'Equal Opportunities' Dawson has had to reduce the size of his 'love-me wall' in his rather more bijou new office, a real shame that...

EXERCISE HARDFALL 2001
by Cpl Dave 'Well hard for a Tech' Wood

Languishing in the garages, sweeping up and fixing wagons were beginning to take their toll. So when SSM Smith asked for volunteers to partake in a novice ski and survival course in Norway I jumped at the chance. Christmas, New Year and a few pounds later, five members of the illustrious 214 Sig Sqn, including LCpl Andy 'Tidiest man on the planet' Williams, Sig Dave 'Sexpest' Sexton, Sig Martin 'Ask a stupid question, Ski Biff' Cassidy, Sig Paul 'Not another rash! I've got a bad ankle honest' Smith and myself, landed in Bergen airport, finding ourselves part of 249 'We think we are Special Forces but we are not' Signal Squadron. We were taken by coach to Brandset Camp, our location for the next three weeks. After a hot meal and a good night's sleep we awoke to a typically freezing morning ready to begin the course. The first few days consisted of lectures, collecting stores and an introduction to skiing. The first week ended with three nights in the field on Exercise First Chill, learning and practising basic skiing techniques and surviving in the extreme cold temperatures of the arctic. On the last night we learnt how to fall over whilst skiing at high speed down a mountain. Apparently it was supposed to improve our skiing. The last training day of the first week was Saturday and the dreaded ICE BREAKING DRILLS. This consisted of launching yourself into a semi-frozen lake. Throwing your Bergen on the ice, shouting your name rank and number, plunging your head under the water, trying to reclaim your breath, claw out of the water using your poles and then a short run followed by a small cup of rum.

After a weekend of 'time off', most of which consisted of exchanging broken stores and turning around personal kit, we deployed on a round robin field exercise. This included survival, 10-man tent, British four-man tent and snow holes (although this was cancelled due to the inclement weather in the arctic).



Cpl Dave Wood modelling the latest in Arctic fashion

This week ended with the ski test, which was the final eliminator prior to deploying on the final exercise. Ex Arctic Fox consisted of a seventy two hour patrol competition, negotiating sixteen stands ranging from basic harbours to section attacks and a memory test, carrying full kit on skis over a thirty kilometre distance. We found the conditions very different from those we were used to on exercise and this meant the experience was very beneficial to improving our military skills. Overall we found 'Ex Hardfall' to be a challenging and interesting experience that on completion was a valuable and enjoyable insight into the difficulties of working in extreme conditions.

EXERCISE EAGLES FLIGHT - by LCpl 'Bulldog' Middleton

On 28 January three Trunk Nodes from 214 Sig Sqn deployed on exercise to Salisbury Plain to provide SCRA(T) coverage over a two-week period for 16 Air Asslt Bde's main exercise for the year. The exercise was booked with the usual traditional weather for this time of year wind, rain, storms. It was going to be an interesting time as a selection of trunk node vehicles were equipped with road tyres instead of cross-country tyres. This was going to keep the REME more than busy enough over the period.

The exercise started on the wrong foot for Trunk Node 023's first location, as it had been double booked with the Irish Guards. This didn't please the Relay Operators within the Troop who were already setting up their detachments. Sig 'I love the Irish' Penny and Sig 'Emerald Isle' Price crossed the Irish off their Christmas card lists as they had fully set-up their detachment and weren't too pleased with a 35 year old Guardsman trying to tell them what to do. Trunk Node 021 had a quiet and easy exercise as they were located at Rollestone Camp for the duration of the exercise. It must have been really hard for them having to shower in warm water everyday and eat in a proper cookhouse. Sgt Dave 'Best Recce Sgt in the Royal Corps' Pope managed to bog in his Recce rover whilst looking for a new location for the Node. He refused point blank to be recovered by the REME so self recovered over a three-hour period. He must have been quite stressed after getting his rover out as he started to chain smoke his recce driver's packet of cigarettes. This is from a man who detests smoking at the best of times. Trunk Node 023's move into their hide location was going very well till LCpl 'I Know the Plain like the back of my hand' Carter bogged his vehicle in by sliding off the side of a soft verge. The REME couldn't work out how he had managed to get his vehicle in such a position that it would need not just one but two REME recovery vehicles to bring him back onto the track.

Beacon Hill was out of bounds to all military vehicles after the exercise due to the bad weather that we had coupled with the nice bit of informal landscaping done by Celtic Tp. SPTA were not too happy with this and informed Celtic Tp they would not be allowed to take their tracked vehicles up the hill again. A nice touch considering the whole Troop is wheeled! Overall Trunk Node 023 performed well considering the lack of experience within the troop due to the reshuffling round of the Squadron and the dodgy weather conditions. We won't mention anything about 16 Air Asslt Bde because they are great obviously.

'BIG BREW' IN AID OF THE INDIAN EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS

by Cpl Bom Gurung

The Gurkha wives at York successfully organised a ' Big Brew' coffee morning on 13 February 2001 in aid of the earthquake victims in Gujarat State, India. All military and civilian staff based at Imphal Barracks wholeheartedly supported the event by turning up for the coffee and generously contributed money towards this humanitarian relief. The raffle, with some excellent prizes, proved to be an excellent money-spinner, but there was some doubt about the 'fixing' of certain prizes. Overall the wives managed to raise £350, which was later deposited to the Earthquake Relief Fund Account at the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank.

The CO, Lt Col I. Cameron-Mowat, appears determined to keep hold of a toaster won by Mrs Geeta Gurung
The MTO Capt (QGO) Rajendraman Gurung looks on

Military and Civilian staff based at Imphal Barracks queuing up for a brew

3(UNITED KINGDOM) DIVISONAL SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Phil Davies
RSM WO1 Chris Kidd

VISIT OF HRH THE PRINCESS ROYAL FRIDAY 30 MARCH 2001

The day dawned and the two people wholly responsible for the visit, Ex Commanding Officers Lt Col (Retd) Graham Leach and Col Neil Couch turned over and went back to sleep. Meanwhile in RHQ the Young Pretender to the throne Lt Col Phil Davies finally started to think about his brief as the Royal Flight hovered over Picton Square. The RSM deemed to show us his human frailty by losing it with the shrub deliveryman, and the Regiment realised it was a special day as the 2IC's Para smock had been surgically removed. The Devil's Adjutant remained cool as ever and sat unmoved practising his citations. It was a good job he had been posted in, as he appears to be the only one to have mastered both reading and writing. The sun shone from a blue sky, the daffodils swayed in the breeze of a perfect spring day and even Bulford looked hospitable. We all had a brilliant day. The Princess Royal enjoyed a tour of the Regiment culminating in the celebrations of the 3rd Divisional Signals 50th reunion. The Commanding Officer would like to thank The Master of Signals, the Reunion Club President and the Regimental Secretary for all their help with the visit. As they say in the Training Wing .....Happy Days! (See the inside of the front cover for a pictorial history of the Royal Visit).

222 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Bert Appleton
SSM WO1 Matt Nuttall

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Nicky James
Tp SSgt SSgt Paula Matheson

What a welcome to 222 Sig Sqn after a much deserved Christmas break. Two small scale exercises, First and Second line inspections and Regimental Boxing Championships and it's only the beginning of March. It's all change in SHQ Tp at the moment with many new faces and departures. Firstly, we would like to welcome back Sig Onslow from his tour of duty in the Guardroom as RP Staff, wish all the best to SSgt Meek who left us for sunny Naples and LCpl Muir in his new posting, just up the road at 1 Mech. Also, leaving us are LCpl Hyde who has left to become a civilian and Cpls Walton and Pilmer who are both at Blandford on their T1 courses, Good Luck.

On the arrivals side welcome to SSgt Matheson who joins us from Oman Tp, 222 Sqn, Cpl Bielski, LCpls French, Fulton, Leckenby and Young all from TM Troop, HQ Sqn and welcome back to 3 Div to LCpl Taylor, back from six months in Corsham. Congratulations to LCpl White and his wife on the birth of their new daughter. Congratulations also go to SSgt (YofS) Rouse on her recent promotion to WO2, LCpl Perrin who competed in the Snowboarding Championships and Cpl Beck and LCpl Whitehead who both fought in the Regimental Boxing Championships. A key concern of our new Commanding Officer, Lt Col Davies is the need for continual training of troops and ensuring everybody has an appreciation of the role of the regiment and the different squadrons within it. As a result of this the whole Regiment has been involved in a week of trade training. This has been a major event and has involved virtually every department with the aim of refreshing skills to enhance the effectiveness of all those involved. Just over the horizon for SHQ Tp are the Regimental Military Skills Competition, Exercise Spring Foray and RSIT Inspections.

ADEN TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Steve Knight
Tp SSgt SSgt Shaun Littlefield

The Troop has been kept in confinement due to the outbreak of foot and mouth but hopefully they will get over it soon. The regular humdrum of maintenance and inspections is keeping them on their toes. Since the end of February we have had a steady stream of rats leaving our glorious ship, most notable was Sgt Jase Cook who shall now be known as Mr Cook, whoever taught him about speeches needs shooting. In the past few days we have seen the departure to greater things of Cpl Kev Fearns, who is off to a popular phone company however, 'Would you buy a phone from that man?' A mention must go out to 2Lt Steve Knight the Troop OC, for his sterling map reading on the exercises that we have been on since he arrived. If Aden is heard to be going on 'Knight Manoeuvres' we are not driving in the dark, we're lost! A welcome must also go out to the other new arrivals, LCpl Fairbairn and Sigs Littlewood and Husband. SSgt Shaun Littlefield has kept the pace of life at a gallop and the future holds excitement and unknowns for all, with various extraordinary exercises in out of the ordinary places. Aden Tp can look forward to an interesting few months ahead.

SHARJAH TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Simon Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Bru Baker

Life in the great Sharjah Tp was going to busy for the next few months because first and second line inspections were here again. We had a couple of exercises, one was helping 16 Air Asslt Bde where Sgt Howes and Sgt Meadows were both playing Yeoman. They planned and ran the exercise, a job well done. The other was a Regimental Exercise (Arabian Freezer) where the weather was the usual, wind and rain, but the highlight of the exercise was when the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Davies and the RSM, WO1 Kidd were temporarily immobilised after visiting our Node Home and Radio Relay sites when their rover became bogged in. Thanks to Sgt Smith for the mammy impression. The Troop would like to welcome Sig Pheasey who has come straight from the factory and we would like to say goodbye to LCpl Vose who has gone back to the factory and now is at Sys Ex 'Goodluck'. Congratulations to 2Lt Simon Smith, the Troop Commander and to LCpl Elcock who both were awarded their Army Junior Colours for Hockey at the 2001 Inter-services. We had a visit from our Colonel in Chief, HRH The Princess Royal, which was a good experience for people who have never met Her Royal Highness before.

OMAN TROOP

Tp Comd SSgt Clash

Oman Tp has had enormous changes in personalities over the last few months. We would like to take this opportunity to say goodbye and good luck to all those having left us recently. LCpl Chris Webster has travelled a huge distance to join 12 Mech Bde in Aldershot, likewise Cpl Lee Necrews has traveled to the far off land of Blandford with his brood, joining the RSS Sys Ex training team. Sig Andy Brewer along with his family (and his Lance Corporal) is now part of 7 Armd Bde in Hohne the was last seen with his eyes bulging at the thought of all the extra money that he was going to get! Closer to home Sig Payne has gone to the sunny climate of SHQ Tp along with SSgt Paula Matheson to take over the reins, a short but sweet time with Oman. Finally, our very best wishes and genuine thanks to our two 'civilian-bound' likely lads, Cpl Stu Manaton and Cpl Mark Catney. Both have the tenacity and personality to make a success of whatever they choose to do, Good Luck and keep in touch! Cpls Hoggart, Knapman and Milton are currently on tour in the Balkans, sorely missed as that leaves our Troop with only one class 1 JNCO tradesman! Not everyone is leaving, we also have two new members to the Troop albeit from inter Squadron postings. So without further ado, welcome to Sig Stacey Bargery from Out Of Use Troop, and Sig Brown from SHQ Troop. Finally, hello again to SSgt Daphne Clash, back from her Skeleton Bobsleigh season and back in the hot seat.

EXERCISE ARABIAN FREEZER – by Sig Bargery

Oman Troop took part in Ex Arabian Freezer, 12 – 16 February 2001. The Exercise had originally been planned to be a 222 Sig Sqn 'shake the cobwebs out after Christmas' type of affair, but then somehow the whole Regiment seemed to get involved! Needless to say we duly proceeded in communicating like the professional Royal Signal Soldiers we are. One of the more notable occasions, however, was when the Troop carried out a move during the evening. On this occasion comms were proving a little tricky and it was well into the early hours before there was any shut-eye to be had. A rude awakening occurred nonetheless in the form of expletives and bellowing from SSgt Clash who was not overly impressed to find the Trunk Node asleep at 0730hrs. The OC and SSM who had happened to witness this sorry sight were also bemused to find Cpl Lee Necrews fast asleep with his eyes wide open in Node Command, upon being woken he then clutched his knee in agony as if that had been the real culprit –WHY? Many lessons were learned during this fairly straight forward exercise, and hopefully the results will be seen in the near future.

ARMY WINTER SPORTS CAMP WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS SKELETON BOBSLEIGH

by SSgt Daphne Clash

In October 1999 I was lucky enough to go on an Army Winter Sports Camp in Lillehammer in Norway. I did a week's novice course in the exciting sport of 'Skeleton Bobsleigh', (headfirst on a sled down a Bobsleigh track) see photograph. This progressed onto a further weeks training with the Federation of International Tobogganing in Austria, and finally becoming Army Female Champion and British Intermediate Champion 1999/2000.

SSgt Clash competing for Great Britain
in the Skeleton Bobsleigh World Championships

So, with all of three weeks sliding experience I was invited to attend British Team Selection in October 2000 in Lillehammer. During selection I gained the rank of GB female No. 3, which meant I would be competing for Great Britain on the Europa Cup circuit. I had been a bit naive to the consequences of being selected, and hadn't altogether realised that potentially I would be away competing for three months! Thankfully, I got the backing from my OC and the Unit to go and slide.

Before all the comments of 'swanning it' spring to your minds consider this: not only was I competing for the team, I had also been made Team Captain, which unusually for any TC meant I was responsible for much of the logistics of the team. This most importantly involved much of the accounting and financing of the team, the travel arrangements and training requirements along with the usual welfare/morale/discipline role. So there! I would hate to sound like I am complaining - I am not, but with the best will in the world having nine people from different backgrounds, ages and sexes travelling around in a minibus for much of three months is a recipe for disaster. I now feel like I qualify for a psychology degree!

Back to the sport, we competed in France, Austria and Germany travelling backwards and forwards to the different tracks and races. Amongst all this, there were further British Team selections to make sure the best people were competing at all times. The pressure was exciting and intense towards the end of the season, which for myself ended at the World Championships in Calgary, Canada. It was a great experience, and whilst not being a threat to the Worlds best, I was delighted with my result having been the only woman in her first competitive season. My final rankings are as follows:

Great Britain Female	3rd
Europa Cup Ranking	7th
World Ranking	22nd

Remember, next year it could be you! If you would like to try this sport or the sports of two-man Bobsleigh (yes, that is open for women too!) or Luge watch out for details of this years Ice Sports Winter Camp in Soldier Magazine. If you are one of those people who think they have done everything, try this, you will not regret the thrill!

5th DIVISION HOCKEY CUP FINALS 3(UK) DIV HQ AND SIG REGT VS 30 SIG REGT

by Sig McKelvie

After a lot of hard work, good commitment and an outstanding attitude towards teamwork and determination, 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt made it into the 5th Div Hockey Cup Final against 30 Sig Regt. The team managed to beat four teams in seven days including 32 RA 4-1, 43 RA 4-1, 22 Eng 6-0 and 11 Sig Regt 4-3 despite being down 3-0 at half time. This had the CO, Lt Col Phil Davies, biting his finger nails.

The final match showed a lot of good hockey and tremendous determination from both teams, each eager to win. Twenty minutes into the game 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt had a spell of superb hockey. SSgt 'Bru' Baker provided the ball for SSgt Shaun Littlefield to drive down the right wing, beating 3 players and forcing the goalkeeper into an error to put the ball into the back of the net, 1-0 to 3DSR. The battle went on until 5 minutes from half time when Cpl 'Jas' Holcombe split the opposition's defence in two with some silky skills, but was stopped from a definite goal by a brutal tackle from their keeper. This resulted in a penalty flick and the keeper being sent off. Sig Mat Salmon, one of the team's combined services players, took the flick comfortably, putting 3 (UK) Div up 2-0 at the end of the first half. It was much more of an even affair in the second half with 30 Sig Regt piling on the pressure and creating some good openings. This was rewarded with a goal 10 minutes from the end, but 3DSR held them off to win 2-1. SSgt Littlefield was voted man of the match.

SHERLOCK HOLMES

It has been suggested that the following is the shortest Sherlock Holmes story ever told:

Holmes and Dr Watson went on a camping trip. After a good meal and a bottle of wine, they lay down, in their tent, for the night and went to sleep. Some hours later , Holmes awoke and nudged his friend. 'Watson look up at the sky and tell me what you see?' 'I see millions and millions of stars,' replied Watson. What does that tell you?' asked Holmes.

Watson pondered for a minute then finally he said, 'Astronomically, it tells me that there are millions of galaxies and potentially billions of planets. Astrologically, I observe that Saturn is in Leo. Horologically, I deduce that the time is approximately a quarterpast three in the morning. Theologically, I can see that God is all powerful and that we are insignificant. Meteorologically, I suspect that we will have a beautiful day tomorrow.'

Yes,' said Holmes, 'but what does it tell you overall?' Watson was silent for a time, then Holmes spoke, 'Watson you imbecile, some scoundrel has stolen our tent!'

The team would like to thank SSgt Baker, the coach and captain of the team, for his commitment and effort in mentally and physically preparing them prior to, and throughout the tournament. His 'Battle of Britain' speech was well received when the team was 3-0 down to 11 Sig Regt and went on to win 4-3.

Sgt Steve Pickering
receives the 5th Div Hockey Championship Cup

IF YOU'VE LOST CONTACT WITH AN OLD FRIEND, WHY NOT SEND AN ENQUIRY TO

THE WIRE

YOU NEVER KNOW ONE OF OUR READERS MAY BE ABLE TO HELP PUT YOU IN CONTACT AGAIN

3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt Hockey Team
Back (L-R): Maj Adrian Perry, Cpl Jas Holcombe, Lt Pete Simpson, WO1 (ASM) Colin England, Sig Richie Martin, Sgt Steve Pickering, SSgt Bru Baker
Middle (L-R): WO2 (RQMS) Kenny Scott, SSgt Shaun Littlefield, Sgt Chris Wilson, Sig Matthew McKelvie, Cpl Lee Necrews, Sgt Richie Bennett
Front: Cpl Mark Turner

Why not visit the Royal Signals Museum?
For opening hours ring : 01258 482248

JOINT SERVICES SUPPORT UNIT (AYIOS NIKOLAOS)

CO Lt Col R. A. Sharp MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) D. Richardson

The second anniversary of the formation of the Joint Service Signal Unit (Ayios Nikolaos) was celebrated on 2 April 2001 with a lavish celebration in the Warrant Officers' & Sergeants' Mess attended by all Unit Officers'and SNCO's. The Corps of Drums of the 1st Battalion the 22nd (Cheshire) Regiment and the Akrotiri Band provided a beating the retreat presentation and the weather held off long enough as the raining season came to a close.

The Commanding Officer (R) and the Adjutant (L) toasting the anniversary of JSSU(AN)

SUPPORT SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj M. G. P. Bohanan
SSM WO2 (SSM) R. Buxton

HELLOS/GOOD-BYES/CONGRATULATIONS

Welcome to the new Officer Commanding, Maj Mick Bohanan and wife Jackie, we hope you enjoy your tour in Cyprus re-living your youth as you were here many years ago. Welcome also to the new SSI, 'Muscles' Jamie Dury APTC and his wife Deb. Congratulations go to Flt Lt Ian Cumming RAF Regiment who has just been selected from his promotion board to Squadron Leader and will now be back to the RAF flying a desk complete with Brylcream and silk scarf. Congratulations also to WO2 Steve White on his selection for promotion to WO1, after several tours in the Mediterranean will he give some one else the chance to serve here. Also to SSgt Gary Greaves and SSgt Gaz Steel on their RD selection for promotion to WO2. Farewells go to Sgt 'Geordie' Alsop, Sig Vicki Lewis and Pte Bridgid Ellis who have departed to Civilian Division. Welcome in their places to SSgt Gaz Greaves and to Sgt Mac Macintosh. Finally congratulations to LCpl Dave Collin and his wife Nic on the birth of their son Laine.

QM'S DEPARTMENT
QM Maj (QM) P. Whitehouse
RQMS (Ops) WO2 (RQMS) D. Thornton
RQMS (Stn) WO2 (RQMS) S. J. White

LOGISTICS SUPPORT TROOP
SWIMATHON

Now that the summer was over LCpl Simmons decided to organise a 24-hour Swimathon to raise money for both a children's home in Famagusta and a special needs school in Larnaca. The event was a great success raising over £500. The aim was to swim the length of Cyprus from Cape Apostolos to Yeranisos in a 24 hour period which was completed easily following the amazing efforts from both Cpl 'Herbie' Herbert, WO2 'On leave again' Danny Thornton, who each swam over 500 lengths. Amongst all the floats, snorkels and flippers lurked Sgt 'Geordie' Alsop taking underwater photographs - in his diving rig. Unfortunately none were fit to be published. All in all a total of 11,515 lengths/180 miles were completed.

MOUNTAIN TREK

As part of another Logistics Support Day-Out the Troop decided to take a well earned break (it must have been a Monday) and try a spot of hill walking in the Troodos mountains. The proceedings were organised by Cpl 'Griff' - the chain saw' Griffiths and started with the usual early departure along the corridor road and the two-hour drive up to the mountain. The plan, if there really was one, was to get the troops out of Ayios Nikolaos and spend some time walking in the hills whilst getting to know a bit more about each other ...bonding. The walkers departed Troodos Station for the hills watching in dismay as the safety wagon driven by Sig 'Pathfinder' Bastow departed in the opposite direction, complete with packed meals. A lot of km's and pain later, which included a walk down the mountain to the Platres Trout Farm to try and find our packed lunches. Then an even more interesting and an undemanding 'hike' up the Caledonian Falls, the walkers finished the day with a small bottle of Keo and a light snack since the lunches couldn't be found. Some time later the pathfinder, Bastow plus the packed meals arrived just as we were to set off for home. Cheers pathfinder!

SKIING TRIP

The Troop organized a well deserved day out skiing in the Troodos Mountains. We arrived at Troodos and those that could already ski bomb burst onto the slopes, which left most of us who didn't have a scooby. After about an hour most of us were getting the hang of things apart from LCpl Dave 'I should have stayed in work' Collin who spent more of the day on his backside than he did on his ski's. The instruction was given by SSgt John 'I look great in pink boots' Driver who also managed to wangle the rest of the week off work to stay for the NEFSKI championship, admittedly competing in the Inter Services Competition and winning the trophy with the Army Team. Thanks must go to LCpl Andy Kinnaird, the new CO's driver for organizing the day.

GOLF COMPETITION

March saw the inaugural Log Sp Tp Golf Competition played at the infamous Ay Nik Golf Club. 18 members of the Troop, of various standards, took part in what proved to be both an enjoyable and eventful day, with more Roy Wood performances than Tiger. Noticeable efforts which must be mentioned were those of Sgt Steve Moses who almost hit two different cars with consecutive tee shots and to WO2 Steve 'H&S' White who managed to spawn the nearest the pin prize. Thanks go to SSgt Scott Cain who put the day together and still didn't manage to square away a prize for himself.

TRAINING SUPPORT TROOP

While Log Sp are away on field training, the Training Wing have continued in their quest to come to terms with the Joint Approach to Military Training. Learning that when the Navy say that they haven't touched a weapon in 30 years they actually mean it, and that the RAF would really prefer to be called by their first names, 'If you don't mind Sarge'. Members of the Wing have also been allowed out of the 'Black Hole' to take part in various courses and activities away from the norm. Sgt Steve Hills has recently returned from the ITC Wales on successful completion of his UTO course and is busy looking for field firing to organize. Sgt Dave Churchward who has just completed his map reading instructors course on the island and is now pointing out to anyone who will listen that the odd pile of rocks strewn around are actually old churches and can be used as reference points. SSgt Gaz Steel has recently returned from leave and is taking it easy in the SSI post as usual making the odd brew and organizing shopping trips - no change there then!

MT/LAD
MT SNCO SSgt J. Driver

The MT continues to support the Tri-Service personnel of Ayios Nikolaos. A turn-around in manpower has seen SSgt John Driver, Janet and their children arriving from across the island to replace SSgt Mark Fitzpatrick. We wish Mark good luck in his new posting in BFG and hope SSgt Driver has another enjoyable tour in sunny Cyprus. We would like to wish a warm welcome to Cpl Neil Fraser and family from 11Sig Regt. He has already found the pressures of life on the island easy to live with and has wasted no time purchasing anything that is tax-free, but volunteering to help organise the Squadron's summer party on his first day at work was a good move. The Squadron have been busy on the playing field most notably on the football pitch where the Squadron Team has just fought it's way through to the semi-finals of the ESBA Minor Units Trophy beating 62 Cyprus Sp Sqn RE by 5 goals to 0. Also during the annual NEFSKI championships on Troodos SSgt John 'I may have put some weight on' Driver skied away with several top prizes (yes we do have snow as well as sun)! The Station Orienteering team has also had a run of success recently and is now leading the opposition on island and is looking forward to the Island Championships on 20 April hosted by ourselves.

234 SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj A. Urwin
SSM WO2 (Supvr R) S. Smith

Not a lot to report from the Squadron. While Log Sp play away, 234 Sqn get on and do the business in the office. The Squadron now holds it own Cyprus Champion, not football, rugby or cricket but the 'Cyprus Slimmer of the Year'. After being ridiculed and chastised for more than gaining the 'Cyprus Stone', WO2 Tony Quinn decided enough was enough and entered the On-Island Slimming Competition. After two months of puffing and panting at the cardio-vascular centre, and having to forgo extra helpings of tzatziki Tony lost 2'/2 stone and raised £500 for charity.

Next stop is to sort out all the IT problems in the Unit. In the next edition of The WIRE look out for more pictures of Capt Carolyn Woodbridge, a report from Capt Forbes Guthrie on his journey to the centre of the World, Maj 'The Galloping Major' Tony Urwin on his two wheeled trek around the island. Also FofSs Mick Solomon and Colin Hamilton on their weekend boating regattas to Turkish controlled Northern Cyprus.

840 SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Sqn Ldr M. Edwards RAF
WO Eng WO Dave Watson

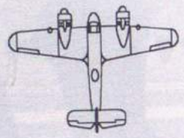
A quiet period at the Trenchard Site with congratulations to our Royal Signals representative, Sgt Kev Cooney on selection for promotion.

WO2 Quinn



21 SIGNAL REGIMENT (AIR SUPPORT)

CO Lt Col Peter Gillespie
RSM WO1 (RSM) Al Jenkins

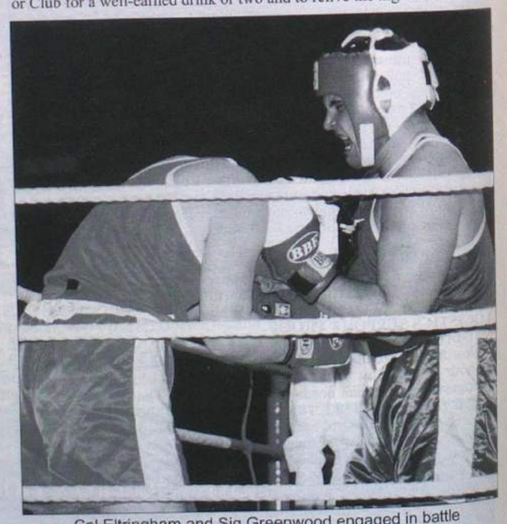
REGIMENTAL BOXING CHAMPIONSHIPS
by WO1 (RSM) A. Jenkins

From the very outset it was apparent that the Regimental Inter-Squadron Boxing Championship was going to be a very special event. Seldom have I seen a unit so galvanised and an air of anticipation quickly spread throughout the Regiment. After three months of grueling and intensive training all three Squadrons were in a position to submit a team and it became apparent that a preliminary event would be needed. This was meant to be a relatively low-key affair with the boxers fighting for a place in the final on the main night. The soldiers however, had other ideas. There was virtually a full Regiment watching the preliminaries. Squadron pride was at stake and the cheers echoed to the rafters as each bout concluded. Standing on the sidelines I could see the fervor and excitement generated in the gymnasium and I knew full well that the finals would be memorable.

The finals took place on the evening of Thursday 29 March in full view of a packed crowd. The Regiment was delighted to host guests from the Joint Helicopter Command and the local community. Principal amongst these was Brig N. C. Jackson MBE who had kindly agreed to present the prizes. Nine bouts were scheduled along with five walkovers. 244 Sig Sqn started the night in a commanding position after their success in the preliminary bouts, however, it was still very much all to play for. As the thumping music of Robbie Williams' 'Let me Entertain You' died away and stage smoke flooded the arena, the first boxer, Sig Campbell 220 Sig Sqn, emerged to the martial accompaniment of a Highland drummer. His opponent, Sig Parsons 244 Sig Sqn, quickly followed this time escorted by a piper from the Queens' Gurkha Signals. The gymnasium erupted into a cacophony of sound as each Squadron attempted to drive their fighter on to success.

Sig Campbell and Sig Parsons trade blows in the opening bout

It would be unfair to dissect each bout as in many ways every boxer who entered the ring was a winner. However, worthy of particular note are Sig Reeve of 220 Sig Sqn who stopped the unfortunate Sig Whitton, 244 Sig Sqn, with a spectacular knock – out and Cpl Eltringham of 244 Sig Sqn who beat Sig Greenwood of 220 Sig Sqn in a real battle. Similarly, Cpl Conley of HQ Sqn defeated Sig Perks of 220 Sig Sqn in a bout that displayed skill, bravery and tenacity and led to the fighters being awarded the prizes for best boxer and most gallant loser. Perhaps the only disappointed people on the night were those who were awarded a walk over victory. Each was fully prepared, both physically and mentally, to fight and it was only the lack of an opponent in the correct weight category that stopped them doing so. Nonetheless they all stepped forward when called and had their moment in the ring. Congratulations must go to 244 Sig Sqn who emerged as the overall victors. The boxing finished, prizes were awarded and everyone retired to either their Messes or Club for a well-earned drink or two and to relive the night's events.



Cpl Eltringham and Sig Greenwood engaged in battle

The commitment to such a rigorous training schedule, the sacrifice of personal time and the sheer courage of each fighter who volunteered are beyond question. Right from the outset it was determined that this contest would not impinge on the operational effectiveness of the Regiment. This placed a huge burden on the boxers and trainers to prepare themselves in the time available. The skill and ability shown in the ring demonstrated that they undoubtedly achieved this. It only remains for me to thank the Squadron coaches, the QMSI and most importantly the boxers for a truly superb evening. I look forward with anticipation to the next one!

The Regimental Boxers

The victorious 244 Signal Squadron Squad

30 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col N. A. W. Pope
RSM WO1 (RSM) Pye
SUPPORT SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj R. H. Gladwin
SSM WO2 (SSM) Young
REGIMENTAL TRAINING WING

The last few months have seen a good deal of change in the Training Wing personalities. Farewells go to Sgt Dan 'Awesome' Burdus to Lightning Troop Blandford, Cpl Bri 'Mine's a Salad' Rawlings to 7 Armd Bde via 256 Sig Sqn, Cpl Gore 'Tex' to 280 Sig Sqn and Cpl Mick Pegg to the Chelsea Pensioners after completing his 22. A welcome to Sgt 'Military Training' Mitchell from ATR Bassingbourn, Sgt 'Col 'KFC' Bentley and Cpl Dean 'Guru' Buckley both from TM Troop, Cpl Helen 'Helga' Nolan and Cpl Willy 'Wheel Spin' Wilcox both from 256 Sig Sqn. It has been a busy start to 2001 for the Training Wing. Course fever has hit the Regiment this year with 'The Wing' being more in demand than ever before. The publishable highlights to date include; the civilian sponsors visit, which went off without a hitch as they admired Cpl 'Eddie' Edwards DIY skills in our new look Training Wing, Cpl Lee 'thal' Starr returning in victory from his Other Arms Skill at Arms course, having never run around so much in his life. Cpl Helen Nolan flying out to Sierra Leone to move a tent and LCpl 'GET MASSIVE' Mason going on his RSJCC followed by a posting on promotion to ATR Scotland. Looking to the future we are now bearing down on the new course schedule. This will see some of the instructors tasked with 15 weeks of back to back courses. On the Mil Skills side, the prep for Exercise Arduous Cygnet, the CO's Cadre course, is going well with Sgt 'Military Training' Mitchell and his planning team bringing the exercise together. The future of the annual battle camp looks much in doubt with the Foot & Mouth crisis .The inside is that, now Sennybridge is out, the exercise will be held in Florida - only joking! More likely the venue will be Hangar 2 as for Exercise Cobb Ring earlier this year.

256 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj J. W. Cooper
SSM WO2 (SSM) Keen
A TROOP
Tp Comd Flt Lt Paul 'RAF' Pearce
Tp SSgt SSgt Paul 'The Maggot' Storey EXERCISE GINGER RAM – by Cpl Rawlins

Since Christmas A Tp have been off task, with the other two Troops taking the lead in operations. We have used this time to train for our forthcoming deployment to Sierra Leone. The first main event on the calendar was Ex Ginger Ram, the Troops' CNR week held in the Nottingham area in January. For many it was the first time they had seen, let alone used, Clansman since training, as our primary role is Satcom. We had four detachments sharing three locations. There were lots of moves, crash outs and loads of voice procedure. Sig John 'Jar Jar' Roberts was moved from det to det to fill the gap left by LCpl Wayne 'Aged 13 /' Carr who was removed from the exercise to play Regimental football. Then to another det to fill the gap left by Sig Stu ' Of course I know better I was in the TA' Hemming's teddy that was left in the first location! six Techs joined us from TM Tp, thanks for all your help guys, but what exactly did you do? The next main event was a force on force military training exercise held in Tidworth designed to improve infantry skills within the Troop with the very kind help of the 1 Mech Bde training wing. Ex Ram Atallinn was excellent training opportunity for Sierra Leone, So why were we issued Arctic rations? We had every thing from Harbour drills to vehicle contact and even hide and seek with LCpl 'Nobby' Clarke and the rest of his comedy section. In a cunning ploy to deceive not only the enemy but also the DS he decided not to defend his vehicle but park it to one side and hide up for the rest of the week. Despite Sgt Mark 'Please can I fire all the pyro now?' Ebdon and Cpl Bri 'The Daddy' Rawlings shouting 'come out, come out where ever you are.' the section decided to remain silent even after they were contacted by the other section. Nice one lads. During a visit from the Squadron Commander and the SSM WO2 (SSM) 'Can I be civpop?' Keen the training was in full swing, there was a little surprise for the exercising troops. Up until now we had only practised contact front or side this time we had contact front, side, top, middle and bottom, but not from the enemy but just civpop children wanting sweets. Sig Stu 'RoE' Hemming decided that begging was a crime punishable by death so he ordered one of the section to 'shoot him!' When we returned to camp the troop, were fed up with training and all decided a posting was in order, however the Moscow State Circus is fully manned and they have no need for extra clowns, perhaps the Corps band have a few vacancies for trombone players!

THE FUTURE, HELLOS AND GOODBYES

As always we have a big turn over of personnel in the troop with LCpl 'Mel' Jones cutting his ties with the Army and joining Civvy Street, and Cpl 'Annie' McIntosh doing the next best thing after signing back on a 3-month posting to HMS Collingwood. We also offer a big welcome and a hearty handshake to the following. Cpl Matt Whitfield and Cpl Holly Glen both from N.I. LCpls Benjamin Williams from 21 Sig Regt and Chris 'figure 12' Haddrell from 7 Sig Regt. And finally we have our fair share of FNGs, including Sig 'Geezer' Finnigan, Sig Luke 'What? When? Why? Who? Did I say what? ?' Watson and Sig 'But Cpl Rawlings told me to' Edwards. Welcome to you all and we hope you enjoy your time with the Troop.

BRAVO TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Steve 'Chocolate Frog' Pritchard
Tp SSgt SSgt Heather 'Mrs Graham' McNair
HELLOS AND GOODBYES

2Lt Steve 'New boy' Pritchard fresh from the factory- good luck on the troop commanders course, hurry back Staff can't work the kettle without you, Sgt 'Keith' Langan and family, posted in from sunny Aldershot. Cpl Rob 'Wiggy' Wiggins from 7 Sig Regt, it's good to get another RR Op in to show them what to do! LCpl Wes 'Veg' Vegh, LCpl 'Matt' Mills, LCpl 'Don' Donaldson all from the 264 selection course. LCpl 'Jamie' Goulty from 12 Mech Bde, LCpl Mackay from 2 Sig Regt. Goodbyes to Capt John 'cirus the virus' Dagless posted to officer recruiting Blandford, Cpl Neil Coils off to Civ Div, Cpl John 'cowboy' McCone off to 21 Sig Regt, Sig Tom 'ant head' Beerling off to 101 Log Bde- congratulations on your promotion. Sig Dan 'I ain't signing for it' Shore off to the glorious life in Civ Div.

CHARLIE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Lucy Pim
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Joyce
HELLOS AND GOODBYES

Hello to the sprogs from Blandford: Sigs Hanes and Livesey, and to Sig Freear from 1 Div in Germany. Goodbye and good luck to Sgt Matt

Booth who has gone to 15 Sig Regt; and to LCpl Tracey Fairbairn who has gone to the glorious 3 Div. Good luck to those leaving us for Civvy Street: LCpl Gray Fields, Sig Jo Wood and Sig Brian Martin.

OPERATION AGRICOLA - KOSOVO by Sig Shaun Marsden

On 11 January this year ten members of Charlie Tp left Gamecock Barracks to set off for Slim Lines, Pristina, Kosovo. For four of us, Sigs 'Chiggs' Chignell, Andy 'Riz' Risley, Richie 'Shovel Hands' Hancox and Shaun 'The Body' Marsden, it was our first operational tour. Although the tour was only lasting for about six weeks and we would be COMMCEN crew, all of us were immensely looking forward to deploying. It would make a refreshing change from normal daily life in the Regiment. At Brize Norton, I was a bit surprised walking towards the plane to see that it had 'AIRTOURS' and not Royal Air Force written down the side of it! The flight lasted three and a half hours and I must admit that it felt like I was on a plane to Tenerife. However, on the descent into Pristina airport it definitely looked different. Once off the plane we were shipped through the TDC very quickly as the flight had landed earlier than expected (bonus!). On the other side we were greeted by our advance party, Sgt 'Waggy' Wagstaff and LCpl 'Rosie' Rose. The drive to Slim Lines gave me a chance to take in some of the scenery - honest opinion was 'What a dump'. I think they employed one man to build half a house then take the money and run. That's pretty much all there was to see - that and a load of lunatic drivers on a death wish. Also on arrival in Kosovo the sun was shining which I had not expected, but that would change two days later as 4 – 5 inches of snow fell in 48 hours.

I had not done COMMCEN work since Phase 2 training in Blandford so I was worried that I would look like a useless sprog who was no good for anything but making the brews (which I was pretty good at by the end of the tour). We shadowed the people who we were replacing and it all soon came flooding back to me. We were soon ready to take over the shifts and just wanted to start getting into routine and get things underway. During the first few rotations, the days off were nothing but shopping trips, with most people going to Bondsteel Camp, the US camp, or to KFOR MAIN to get their duty free. The facilities on Slim Lines were excellent. An Internet café always killed a couple of hours, then there was the Echos, the gym, a good running track on the perimeter of the camp (if you don't mind breathing in all that smog) and probably the most important place of all - the bar.

The weeks went by pretty quickly, too quickly some might say. Some of the lads got the opportunity to spend a week in Macedonia adventure training. Every thing ran pretty smoothly throughout the tour with no major mistakes or dramas to talk about. Into the last week, there were mixed feelings, some people didn't want to leave having just settled in and others couldn't wait to get home.

SUPPORT TROOP - by LCpl 'Phil T' Dransfield

There have been a few changes since the last lot of wire notes, Op AGRICOLA saw the departure of LCpl 'Phil T' Dransfield and Sig 'Ritchie' Hancox to Kosovo, who after setting up and doing the hard work were replaced by LCpl Tony 'The Mouth From The South' Comery. Op Silkman saw Cpl Daz 'B The Funky Ed' Brown on yet another sun drenched tour in Sierra Leone. Sig Lila QGS got away onto some well-deserved long leave in Nepal, the arduous time spent in Canada with the Army shooting team had obviously taken its toll!! Cpl Willy 'Back Door' Wilcox has sadly departed us to greener pastures, and obviously a bigger biscuit barrel, to go and work in the Regimental Training Wing, all the best Willy. We've also had a few new arrivals into the fold, Sig Wally 'You'll Soon Find Out Why' Wallis is already pushing for his first, (charge that is). Whilst the cherry on the icing is the arrival of the new MT boss, Sgt Phil 'The Groper' Graham from ATR Bassingbourn. The lads are in uproar after finding out he's an ex FAG OP, he will soon be remoulded into a proper tradesman with the help of the Operator adjusting tool! And Sgt Mark Ebdon has finally been given an empire to run with the arrivals of Tele Mechs within the Squadron. Lubrication all round please sir.

258 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj P. Deans
SSM WO2 (SSM) Forrester

SQUADRON HQ NEWS

The Ops Team have been busy recently. After the 'arduous' recce by the Ops O, Capt Preston and Y of S Goodliff, the plan eventually produced an enjoyable and beneficial CPX in Oman. This was the Squadron's first chance to work with the Sultan's Armed Forces and proved to be an excellent recce for the 'Migration' of the British Army to the Middle East this summer. Whilst a full account of the events can be found below we learnt a great deal about our hosts and the country which brought out the best and sometime the worst in all of us. Almost without exception the Omanis are friendly and helpful, but often the technology we imported had not yet reached the middle of the desert. Our Omani counterparts had not seen some of the systems we brought into theatre and used the exercise as a learning experience. In additional they do not posses the sense of urgency expected by some of us and we were left without life support for the initial stages. Fortunately by the time the staff arrived the Squadron personalities had moved mountains and provided a sustainable headquarters and flawless communications infrastructure.

No sooner has we landed back in the UK than the Squadron sent two individuals off to Guyana to help observe the elections. This was not in Africa, as one officer thought, but the North-East coast of South America and a former British colony. As usual the Regt were ready long before the political agreement had arrived and LCpl Thwaites and Sig King started the roller-coaster ride of go / no go. Eventually they deployed to Northwood to join the staff and eventually set off to the airport. All of us were slightly jealous of the twenty-four hour delay in Paris and Barbados on the way out and showed very little concern as to the difficulty of finding a room with a view for the satellite shot out of the four-star hotel in Guyana. Congratulations to both individuals for showing initiative throughout the trip and well done to Sig 'Arfur Daley' King for scrounging three new comms systems on arrival. Finally thanks to Cpl McDonald for all his help over the past weeks and hope he will be just as happy back in the Troop. The Ops Team look forward to returning to Oman for Saif Sareea II and the biggest thing since Ben Hur.

DELTA TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Chris Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim Lyons

The month of February began with five lucky Signallers being attached to Foxtrot Tp on Ex Boron Mercury in Oman for three weeks. Based in the desert, we were tasked with installing the JTFHQ complex providing communications by VSC 501 and 522 HF in the main HQ supporting the staff from Northwood, with the forward element some 800km away. In between shifts, we enjoyed the use of the Oman Army's swimming pool and facilities also visiting the local town of Nizwah. We had time for 24 hours in Muscat to experience the sights and sounds of the capital before returning to England. On arrival we were greeted by a blanket of snow, a stark contrast to the weather in Oman. The Troop would like to say goodbye to LCpl Andy 'Foxes' Wright and Sig Jamie Cassells and to say hello to LCpl Andy 'The Old Faithful' Pennock and Sig Phil 'Dinger' Bell. After our Spearhead callout to South Cerney on Ex First Flight the troop demonstrated its readiness to deploy at short notice as part of the lead element working with the current Spearhead Battalion being 40 Commando. The Troop is now clocking five and a half months on Spearhead. This has left us all looking forward to a well-earned leave period over Easter before taking over the role of JTFHQ.

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Karl Jeeves
Tp SSgt SSgt Al Combe

Once again Echo Top strike fear into timid hearts as they prepare to assume the Spearhead Lead Element tasking for the Regiment. Congratulations to now LCpl Dion Fotheringham and LCpl Lee Simmons, for well earned promotions. Hello's to LCpl Chris Dunn, Sig Al Dyde, Sig Littlehales and the two Smudgers who are to be known hence as 740 and 442. A cheerio to Sig Andy Doherty, who leaves us for 16 Sig Regt and a posting to the same Troop as his brother. Apparently they are very close. Once again the emphasis has been on training as we ready ourselves for the R1 role. Ex Cobb Ring took place over the month of March, however, Hangar 3 in Bramcote looks nothing like Tampa, Florida. Some you win, some you lose! On the sporting field the Troop continue to prop up the Regt Rugby team and have drafted in the assistance of SSgt Al Combe. Who is alleged to have retorted upon questioning, 'I don't know what position it's called; you know the one that sticks out the back of the scrum thing.' The Troop also played a convincing role in the Squadron's recent victory in the Regimental Endurance competition. The Troop have a number of challenges facing them, such as playing rugby in the Army Rugby League Nine's competition. Also the Troop looks towards the R1 role and hopefully an operational tour in the near future.

FOXTROT TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Mogs Southern
Tp SSgt SSgt Stu Fidler

HELLOS AND GOOD-BYES

The Troop warmly welcomes Sigs Mark Lawrence, David Brown and Rory Masters straight from The School, ready and willing to get stuck into what is going to be a busy year for the Troop.

EXERCISE BORON MERCURY

On 9 February the first lucky people from the JTFHQ Signal Squadron set off for our exercise location in sunny Oman. Shafa camp, less than two hours drive from the Capital Muscat, was to be our home for the next three weeks. The following week saw several flights arriving with the rest of the Squadron, and laden with the re-packed, re-manifested and re-loaded freight, via Greece and Cyprus for the start of Ex Boron Mercury. Comms were soon established, the bar opened and the pool recced (and guarded daily by Cpl Andy 'I'm not an LSE' Moffat). The exercise was a prelude to the up and coming Ex Saif Sareea running later on in the year. It gave delegates from the Omani Army a chance to walk round and see a JTFHQ setup and to talk with the members of the Squadron. It also gave the Staff Officers a chance to work with the Squadron prior to Ex Saif Sareea. Once the work routine was in place there was plenty of time to enjoy the splendors of the Sultanate with 24hr R and R packages into Muscat. Every man and his camel enjoyed the chance of cheap gold, cheap clothes and expensive beer, with an overnighter in one of Oman's smarter hotels. Delayed flights were a bonus when several members found delight in the new improved five pint jugs, although it only ended being a three pint jug by the time Cpl Neil 'I'm always working' Harrison finally learnt how to pull a pint.

Secure Comms were kept constant by Cpl Lucy 'Who's got the key?' Mason, who didn't think guarding the crypto was secure enough and so locked herself in the office. She found the key in her pocket within half an hour, so all was well and faith was restored. The forward HQ was led by our illustrious leader, the Troop OC, 600 miles further south, giving all involved a nice little earner in their back pockets. All in all the whole exercise ran very smoothly and a good rapport was achieved with the Omani Army and a good working relationship built up with the JTFHQ Staff Officers. Special thanks goes to Cpl 'Reg' Perrins and LCpl 'I'm just waiting for my skiing holiday' Barnwell who ran the bar and kept the boredom down to a minimum. Unfortunately LCpl Barnwell, the Squadron VE forgot his trade and managed to blow up the 501(E) Satellite Detachment whilst removing the batteries. Finally one last mention to Cpl Lucy 'Crypto God' Mason, who when asked by the aircrew if the crypto was secure in the plane, replied 'Yes I've tied it down with some rope'!

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Emma Rae
Tp SSgt SSgt (SQMS) Browitt

Welcome to the newest Troop on camp, formed within 258 Sig Sqn it's called Support Tp, and is headed by SSgt Mark 'Brewkit' Browitt, the SQMS and is an amalgamation of the SQMS Dept, MT, Tele Mechs, Installation Techs and soon to be introduced Techs! The first task given to this Troop was to go to Oman on exercise with the rest of the Squadron. Meanwhile those left behind had a leisurely three weeks in the almost deserted Hanger. I was one of those left behind with the task of turning a bleak room assigned to the Technical Workshop into something resembling just that! With polyfilla and two layers of paint the room looked halfway there, and with two workbenches organised and electrical power points fitted to them, the benches were then earthed. What with a bit of furniture and stores the place started looking a little more professional. Then the leisurely pace changed to frantic when everyone came back from Oman, and I had to organise the first Troop event for a Wednesday afternoon. Well what choice did I have? Bowling it was! Fifteen people turned up for two games in the Lakeside Bowling Alley. They included Capt Emma Rae, who lost even to SSgt Browitt at least his excuse was a crook elbow (which we tried to even out by playing with left arms only and then using the metal bench to send the bowls down the alley). The Troop is looking forward to some more Wednesday afternoons with trips to Bass Breweries in Stoke and Laser Quest in Coventry, such a hard Troop life we lead! Congratulations to SSgt Browitt for his recent promotion to WO2, hope it doesn't change things too much! Not much is forecast for Sp Tp except for the three month exercise in Oman called Saif Sareea, Exercise 2nd run and 3rd run; 1st line, 2nd line, PRE and RSIT inspections in between the exercises; monthly JTFHQ plug-ups and anything else that pops-up! A busy year ahead.

EXERCISE BORON MERCURY FEBRUARY 2001

Ex Boron Mercury was a three-week deployment to Oman, to prove the effectiveness of JTFHQ. Support Troop's role in this exercise was very diverse. Responsibilities ranged from Technical support and Cabling infrastructure for the Comms, power for the exercise courtesy of the Driver Electricians, logistical support under SSgt Browitt and life support from the Medics and Chefs. Life on the exercise was pretty grim for the first few days and chefs worked extremely hard to spice up the rations packs. Meanwhile the rest of us worked like Trojans to get the Comms up and running, but things soon settled down and morale was raised with the introduction of food and beer (Cheers REME). All in all, it was a very worthwhile exercise, everyone got a good tan and the LSSA and LOA always helps!

250 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj J. J. Cole
SSM WO2 (SSM) Chandrabahadur Gurung

OC 250 and his team

DEPLOYMENT ON OPERATION BASILICA/SILKMAN
by Sig Bharat Ghale

All are aware of the past and current situation of Sierra Leone and the involvement of the British Forces, who have been playing a vital role for the Government of Sierra Leone in assisting in the keeping of peace and security. Shortly after the British hostages were rescued from the 'West Side Boys' rebels, 14 personnel from 250 Gurkha Signal Squadron were deployed to theatre at short notice.

We flew to Sierra Leone from RAF Lyneham in a Hercules via Tenerife, a very beautiful island belonging to Spain where we 'unfortunately' had to spend the night. When we arrived in Sierra Leone (Lungi Airport), the weather was extremely hot and humid. The people of Sierra Leone seemed to be very dis-organised largely due to the prevailing situation. Not only that but driving around Freetown is very slow, with the roads amongst the busiest we have ever experienced.

We deployed to three different locations, with one to RFA Sir Percivale, 4 to Benguema Training Centre (BTC) where the Sierra Leone Army (SLA) were undergoing training by the Resident British Infantry Battalion. The remainder deployed to Defence Headquarters (DHQ) at Cockerille Barracks where the Joint Task Force Headquarters (JTFHQ) is currently based. During the tour we had the opportunity to work both at DHQ and BTC and with soldiers from many different units such as 1 R IRISH, 1 PWO and 2 RGR. Our main task throughout was to provide civilian satellite communication, WOTAN and HF for the HQ's in theatre.

After spending almost three months in theatre, it was time to return to UK and we departed Sierra Leone on 6 January 2001, full of good memories. We would like to thank all members of 1 Mech Bde, RFA Sir Percivale and the training Battalions for making our tour enjoyable and worthwhile. We look forward to serving there again in the future.

The one working heli in theatre

31st (CITY OF LONDON) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col P. D. Wenlock TD
RSM WO1 (RSM) YOUNG

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS - ALL CHANGE AT THE TOP

Since our last WIRE notes the Regiment has under gone a considerable amount of change in the RHQ hierarchy. We have said a sad farewell to our CO of two and a half years, Lt Col Linda Harrison TD, and to WO1 (RSM) Gibson and his wife Kay. Col Linda departed for the HQ LAND Staff Pool and RSM Gibson has taken up a 'Granville' role in his wife's Post Office. We wish them both all the best for the future. Both are remembered for their hard work, sense of humour and above all professionalism. We were delighted to welcome our new CO, Lt Col P. D. Wenlock TD, back into the fold after a stint as a Staff Officer in HQ LAND. We wish Col Paul and his wife, Ann, a happy and successful tour. Additionaly we welcome WO1 (RSM) Young who has joined us from 30 Sig Regt.

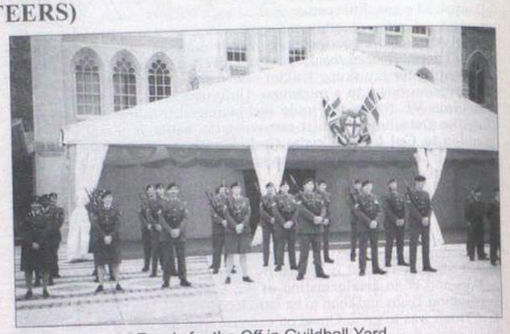
The New Boss

THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW AND ARMISTICE PARADE 2000 – CITY OF LONDON

This year the Regiment was bestowed the privilege of being the Guard of Honour for the Armistice Parade and Lord Mayor's Show in London on 11 November 2000. After several rehearsals in both Coulsdon and White City TA Centres, the big day finally came. The Guard consisted of a contingent of approximately 40 Royal Marine Cadets, 45 Soldiers & Officers of the Regiment and 40 Veterans. The CO, Lt Col Linda Harrison, commanded the parade on her birthday (no, we didn't ask!). On arrival at Mansion House the contingent demonstrated its ability to shuffle for Britain and awaited the arrival of the Lord Mayor's State Coach and then the eleventh hour. The 'Last Post' sounded and the City of London became silent. This was followed by a fly past by a 'Hercules' at the sounding of 'Reveille' and the general salute to the Lord Mayor as he inspected the Guard. A cracking day for everyone on parade and we didn't get wet (quite). However we did take part in one of the biggest parades in London and we got the rare opportunity for the TA to show what it can do for Ceremonial duites.

L-R, LCpls Allott, Burne, Kelly, Eastwood-Bell and Sethna



Ready for the Off in Guildhall Yard

41 (PLK) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Lankester
SSM WO2 Watson

PLK REMEMBRANCE SERVICE 5 NOVEMBER 2000

Squadron members attended the PLK Remembrance service at a new location this year. The wall plaques listing PLK soldiers who died during the two Great Wars were moved last year from their home in Mercury House, The Duke of York's Barracks, to be re-housed elsewhere within the Borough of Kensington. The two plaques were blessed and dedicated by the Regimental Padre, Maj David Crawley, in their new location, the children's library. SSgt Dave Holman proved to be an excellent bugler, a hidden talent not many in the squadron realised he had! The Mayor and Mayoress of the Borough of Kensington and Chelsea attended the service, as well as many past members and friends from the PLK. After the service we moved to Kensington Town Hall for drinks and a curry lunch as well as a chance to catch up with members of the PLK Association, and remember old friends.

COULSDON REMEMBRANCE PARADE 12 NOVEMBER 2000

The Squadron marched from the TA centre on Marlpit Lane to Old Coulsdon church to participate in the local Remembrance Day service there. This service was taken by Canon Stephen Maslin and attended by members of the local community. Capt Steven Ong laid the 41 (PLK) Signal Squadron wreath.

CHRISTMAS BALL 2 DECEMBER 2000

What a night! Yet another excellent Christmas Ball, superbly organised by Cpl Julia May, LCpl Maria Traynor and LCpl Pearl Sethna. Christmas Balls at the Squadron seem to improve each year, and this was one of the best yet.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are due to Sig Michelle Critcher who successfully passed her fast track recruit training, to become the newest member of the Squadron, and Sig Russell Banks who recently completed his Recruits Course at Blandford. Congratulations must also go to LCpl Alison Kelly, who gained her first stripe in October, and Capt Beth Pollard, who was awarded her third pip by Lt Col Linda Harrison in October.

HELLOS AND GOODBYES

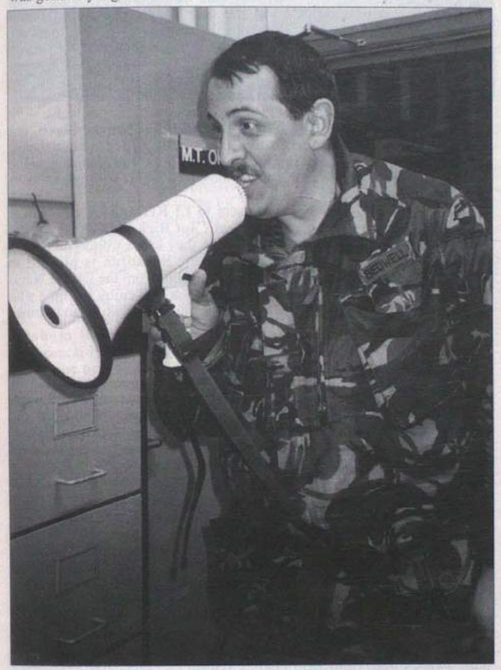
The Squadron has had much upheaval of late, not least with the departure of Capt John 'I love London Transport' Symmonds and Capt Beth 'Pretty Polly' Pollard, both of whom have moved on to the sunny pastures of Southfields. Capt Symmonds has become the new Regimental Ops Officer, whilst Capt Pollard is to work with the Regimental Recruiting Team. I'm sure we'll see them back at 41 soon! In their place, we welcome Lt Susie Sidwell, who is the new Troop Commander of N Troop, and Lt Paul Ukpai, who comes to take over the running of the Squadron Recruiting Cell. Lt Debs Speakman has moved from the Squadron Recruiting Cell to become the new Troop Commander of K Troop. It is always sad to see a member of the Squadron leave, and we must mention Sgt Amy McAuliffe who decided to hang up her boots. Recently married, Sgt McAuliffe decided to call it a day, and we wish her all the best in her new civilian life.

FOOT AND MOUTH

Foot and Mouth Disease has seen us all confined to barracks, so training has been rather scaled down recently. Still, a chance to catch up some of our basic theory, and to get into those garages, and working on our vehicles. We did however get the chance to enjoy a couple of weekends out and about before the crisis started...

SQUADRON RANGE WEEKEND

The Squadron deployed to wet and windy Napier Barracks for a weekend on the Hythe Ranges (and boy was it windy!). LCpl Mark 'H' Hornibrook and Pte Guy 'SD' Scott-Douglas demonstrated great initiative by diving into the nearest fire trench each time brass was to be collected. Its a pity no one told Pte Scott-Douglas he could get out of the fire trench when he had finished – he might have gone very hungry, whilst the rest of the Squadron were enjoying their lunch! The Padre, Maj David Crawley, popped down for a chat on integrity. All, it would seem, with the exception of Cpl Julia 'Little Miss Honesty' May, have yet to work out what the word means, or even how to spell it! The weekend was run by SSgts Dave 'BT' Holman, Steve 'Ring my' Bell and Cpl Kevin 'Beddy' Bedwell. They organised a mammoth shoot on the Saturday involving GMPGs and LSWs, (more ammunition than Sig Leigh 'Bomber' Harris could even dream about...), and a great morning's shoot on the SAT Range on the Sunday. (Who says you can't shoot at an APC with 5.56mm? – Lt Debs 'Take on anything' Speakman'). Although we did have a few teething problems getting out of bed and down to breakfast on time on the Sunday morning, and we had to wait behind 400 hungry cadets trying to beat us into the cookhouse, it was generally a good weekend.



Cpl Bedwell - CAN YOU HEAR ME?

OFFICER TRAINING

The Officers of 31 Sig Regt (V) roughing it at their country retreat

All Officers from the Regiment attended a weekend's officer training in Surrey in February. We worked hard on the Saturday and then got to 'play' on the Sunday. Lt Susie 'Annika Rice' Sidwell proved she had what it took to unravel 'The Secret of the Camellias', whilst Lt Paul 'Rainman' Ukpai demonstrated that paras just don't care about getting wet. Capt Steven 'Mine's a whisky' Ong proved the most important skill an officer needs is lashing, and an ability to construct a cantilever, whilst our OC, Maj Toby Lankester, proved once again, that you really can wear army issue trainers...

Lt Paul Ukpai proving that he is more than a match (in weight) for four Subalterns and a Squadron Commander

COURSES

We're been very busy getting ourselves taught and trained over the past couple of months. Lt Debs Speakman attended her Radio Techniques Course at Blandford in February. LCpl Alan Bryan achieved 'Best Endeavourer' on his Corporals' Course at Blandford in February. ('Best Student' went to LCpl Tia Snell at 83 Sqn, so well done 31 Sigs!). Sig Scott Fisher achieved 'Best Student' on his ED course at Blandford in March, and Pte Guy 'SD' Scott-Douglas passed his recruit's course at Grantham in January. Sig Kris Todd also gained his class 2 Tele Op (TG) so well done to him as well.

56 SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)
Sqn Comd Maj Sarah Streete
SSM WO2 (SSM) Kevin Godden

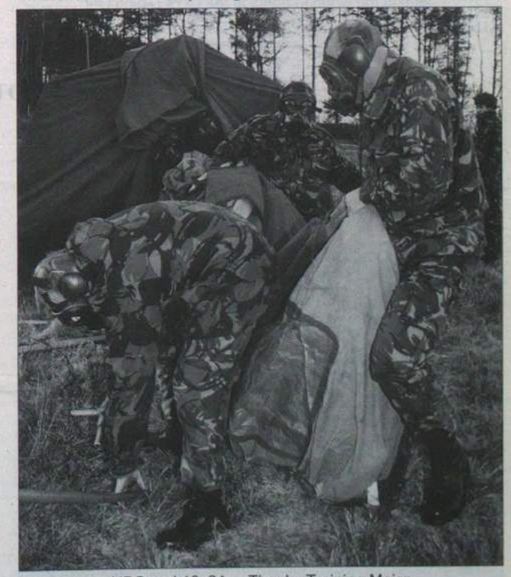
HELLO'S AND GOODBYES

We greeted back Lt Kieron Francis from his tour of duty in Bosnia at our Christmas party and enjoyed sitting through all his war stories. He then went straight off to spend his money travelling around Australia and will be back when it runs out! We said 'goodbye' to SSgt Chris Maginnis who has decided that having spent the last six months working with the 2 (SE) Bde Trg Team, he would rather be one of them and so is transferring from us. I am sure they will benefit greatly from his experience and skills.

REGIMENTAL MILLENIUM WEEKEND

The New Year weekend was judged to be a great event by all who attended. It gave us our first opportunity to meet our new CO, LtCol Paul Wenlock and tested us all on a variety of skills required by members of the Royal Signals. The day ended with the inevitable assault course run where everyone was urged on (most firmly – no-one dares to take a breath, let alone stop!) by PTI Cpl Jo Reader. Evening entertainment was provided in the form of Squadron sketches which managed to humiliate a number of key personnel and in particular, the Permanent Staff featured quite high in this!



NBC and 18x24s - Thanks Training Major

83 SIGNAL SQUADRON(V)

Sqn Comd Maj Julian Carmichael
SSM WO2 (SSM) Bob Stephens

CO's DINING OUT

On 18 November, Lt Col Linda Harrison TD, Commanding Officer of 31 Sig Regt (V) was dined out by the Officers and Sergeants at a combined mess function in RHQ, Southfields, London. Prior to dinner the Officers' and Sergeants' Messes had the honour to present former mess members with gifts for their service. These included Maj Steve Baker, ex OC of 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn(V), Capt Tim Winterson, former MTO and newly promoted Maj Anandin, the RMO who was presented with his commissioning certificate! Sgts Ali 'Egon Ronay' Matabbin and Bruce 'Ronny Briggs'Casburn were also given presents for their loyal service. The recipients were then piped into dinner by the Regimental Piper, SSgt King. A superb dinner then followed and Col Linda Harrison was presented with a sword as a gift from the Regiment. She in turn presented a beautiful framed painting of the Presentation of Colours to the PLK in 1799. The Honourary Colonel gave an amusing speech and Col Linda Harrison was piped out by the Regimental piper who played a tune specially written for the occasion. The framed, printed pipe tune was then presented to Col Linda Harrison in return for SSgt King's quaich. A rather unique tribute!

There then followed a regimental 'rave' where Officers and Sergeants demonstrated their qualifications at the All Arms Disco Dancing School. First and second class rosettes were awarded to Capt Paul 'Chardonnay' Samways and SSgt Baz 'Tiger' Roberts, the organisers of the event on behalf of the PMCs Maj Julian Carmichael and WO2 Andre 'FFR' Scrivener. The band played on and several members of the messes were late for church the next day. Mr Vice, the brand new squeaky clean 2Lt 'Chippy' Woods, carried out his duties faultlessly and, much to Maj Julian Carmichael's annoyance, failed to incur any fines.

Lt Col Linda Harrison will be missed by all ranks. Her final day was Thursday 30th November when Lt Col Paul Wenlock TD assumed command.

The Adjt and the Honorary Colonel, Maj Gen W. J. P. Robins CB OBE, setting the world to rights at the CO's Dining Out

LONG SERVICE AND GOOD CONDUCT PRESENTATION

The Squadron were honoured to be part of the medal presentation which took place at their TAC on Tuesday 7 November. The Brigade Commander, Brig N. C. Jackson MBE presented SSgt Craig 'String Fellows' Bruce MBE and WO2 (FofS) Jamie 'Danny Boy' Harper BSc with their LS & GC medals. Congratulations to them and their families.

HELLOS AND GOODBYES!

The Squadron has bid a fond farewell to its PSI, SSgt Dez 'Two Can' Eldridge, who has left us for the sunnier climates of 16 Air Asslt Bde Sig Sqn at Colchester. We wish both him and his family all the best and extend a big thank-you for all the support they gave the Squadron during their time with us. A huge hello is sent to SSgt Tony Wringe, 83 Sig Sqn (V)'s new PSI. We hope that your time with us will be as enjoyable, as it will be challenging! A warm welcome is extended to 2Lt David Grant, who joins the Squadron from the depths of HQ. We hope he enjoys his time with us and that he manages to last longer than Lt Andy Lowther, who is abandoning us after just a few months in post. We hear he is of to sunnier climates having secured a 3-year contract to work in Australia. Good luck to both David and Andy in their respective comings and goings.

A big Hello is sent across the seas to Lt Linda 'Skippy' Davis, our Australian Troop commander. Linda is currently filling a regular post whilst her colleagues are out in East Timor. We hope you are managing to get in loads of adventure training and look forward to your return to 83 Squadron (by the way, we've moved!)

Hello and congratulations is also sent to Lt Keriana 'Kiwi' McKee (previously Houia) who has recently wed Capt Rick McKee of the New Zealand Army Intelligence Corps. We hope they had a wonderful day. In keeping with our International flavour, the Squadron is pleased to welcome in to our ranks Miss Kristensen, a sailor from the Danish Naval Home Guard. We are sure that Miss Kristensen will enjoy her time with us whilst we in turn hope to gain an insight into her culture and Armed Forces.

PROMOTIONS

Congratulations to Cpl Tia Snell on her recent promotion following completion of her RSCC. Cpl Tia Snell excelled achieving Top Student and was recently identified as a potential TA Yeomen. Well done and keep up the good work. Congratulations are also sent to Cpl Laurel Allott who was recently promoted. Cpl Laurel Allott has worked hard this year becoming a unit first aid instructor where she is known to perform a mean trick or two with a string of sausages! Well done.

LORD LIEUTENANT'S CERTIFICATE OF MERITORIOUS SERVICE

Congratulations to SSgt Matt Cahill on receiving The Lord Lieutenant's Certificate of Meritorious Service. The presentation was made by Field Marshal Sir John Chapple GCB CBE DL, at The Duke of York's HQ, Chelsea on 7 March 2001. It was awarded in recognition of SSgt Matt Cahill's contribution to the Territorial Army and in particular his commitment and tireless work for 83 Sig Sqn (V). The award ceremony was followed by light refreshments and the chance for other award winners and their families to meet.

32nd (SCOTTISH) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col J. K. McKee MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) Hilborn

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj Cammy Payn
SSM WO1 McVey

EXERCISE SNOW LION 2001

Well done to the Regimental Skiing Team on Ex Snow Lion. It was trophies galore (again) at the LAND and AWSA Alpine Ski Championships in Inverness in early March. HQ Sqn made up the backbone of a strong Regimental team that performed in excess of its own high expectations. The LAD walked away with the TA Minor Units Slalom and Giant Slalom, the 'A' Team, which included Lt Col McKee, Maj Payn and AQMS Davidson came away clutching first in the TA Major Unit Slalom, the TA Major Team Combination, the TA Royal Signals Unit Champions and runners –up in the TA Giant Slalom. The OC also won the individual TA Royal Signals Unit Individual Prize. The whole event was undoubtedly helped by some of the best ever snow in Inverness and the excellent admin assistance from 51 Highland Bde support staff.

TRAINING

The Squadron completed the last of this training year's Regimental Training Weekends in Edinburgh in the second weekend of March. It was a busy weekend for all concerned with leadership training, drill, pistol firing, assault course competition, and command tasks for the soldiers and JOTES training for the Squadron Officers. The REME have been kept busy with trials of the new Boughton RB 44 vehicle, which has been introduced for trials in conjunction with the new NCRS equipment. The new training year will be providing fresh challenges for the Squadron, especially with the impending arrival of the new Command Troop at the Squadron location. Command Troop will be a welcome asset to the Squadron and will provide a much-needed focus for signals training which has been previously lacking at Jardine Street.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Maj Dudding and WO2 Joe Butler who were awarded the Joint Commanders Commendation and GOC's Commendation respectively. The awards were presented during a visit by Maj Gen Gordon, GOC 2 Div, on 14 February 2001. Well done to Cpls Norwood and Addines, LCpl Boyce and Cfn Henry who have completed the HAZMAT course at Redford Barracks in Edinburgh? Congratulations go out to Cpls Sliman, McInally, and Gibbs who recently completed their REME Senior Military Cadre Course. Well-done to 2Lt Ian Davidson, who can now exchange his white epaulettes for pips after passing his commissioning course at Sandhurst in February. 2Lt Davidson is now on his way to 52 Sig Sqn to take up as Troop Commander and we wish him well.

Maj Gen Gordon presents Maj Dudding and WO2 Butler with their awards

DEPARTURES/ARRIVALS

With the disappearance of Maj 'Roddy' Sutherland to Kosovo (allegedly to add to his impressive medal collection) the path has been cleared for a new broom at the OC's desk. The new broom in question is Maj 'Cammy' Payn, who brings with him 30 years of TA experience to the job. Maj Payn has also decided to bring with him a new Squadron 2IC in the shape of Lt Phil Donegan, who has now been fully re-integrated into the Glasgow lifestyle following his lengthy sojourn with the Edinburgh communicators. We wish them well in their new posts. The Sqn would also like to say goodbye to the QM, Maj Ian Dudding, and wish him well at 81 Sig Sqn. His departure has made way for Capt Graham Reith, the new QM. Those of us familiar with recent Regimental history will remember Mr Reith in his former capacity as RSM. The new QM has insisted that his arrival (along with his football boots) in Glasgow is in no way connected with the recent poor fortunes of a well-known south-side Glasgow football club. The Regiment is set to say a fond farewell (for the second time!) To WO1 (RSM) Angie Hilborn, who has been picked up for her commission and will be departing for 3 Div. The RSM joined the Regiment in January 1999, having previously served as a Staff Sergeant PSI in the training wing from 1994 to 1997. Place your bets now for the completion of a 'hat-trick' of appearances with the Regiment some time in the future! Also on her way is Cpl Liz Leitch, who departs for an S-Type Engagement in Northern Ireland.

51 SIG SQN (V)

Sqn Comd Maj Morna Strachan
SSM WO2 (SSM) Bertram

TAJ MAHAL CHALLENGE NOVEMBER 2000

by Sig Grant, 51 Sig Sqn (V)

On arrival at Heathrow airport my thoughts were of excitement and trepidation. What had I let myself in for! I decided to travel to India after I saw an advert in the Scotsman in May 2000 for enthusiastic volunteers to take part in the 'Whizz Kidz Taj Mahal Challenge November 2000'. Cycling through Rajasthan, taking in the beautiful countryside and marvelling at a way of life so rich in customs and traditions – What could possibly be challenging about that? Like all those taking part, I was set the target of raising £2500 by January 2001, with the first instalment of £1500 due in September. Raising the money was quite a task and there were times when I wondered if I would make the target. In the months leading up to my trip, I organised various events in Aberdeen to reach my goal. The first was a Fun Day held in the car park of my local Safeway supermarket. Together with the Customer Services Manager of Safeway, we organised a pipe band, highland dancers, car boot sale, bouncy castle and various other stalls. This event had the added bonus of taking place the day after I got back from annual camp in Ripon, so I believe I was still functioning on NCRS Det time! Another event I arranged was a Horse Race Night that was held in The Highland Arms, Gordon Barracks. Judging by the sore heads the day after, and the amount of money raised, I presume a good night was had by all! The last event was an Aerobathon held in the Warehouse Health Club. I was pleased when I reached my target of £2774.90, but all of a sudden the truth hit me. 3 December was only days away and I was actually going to take part in a 341km cycle across Northern India with another 15 unsuspecting people.

The trip itself was fantastic, the people so friendly and the food brilliant. I was in India for nine days and the cycling part lasted five days, Monday – Friday. I couldn't believe when it started raining on our first day – considering the weather we had been having at home in the run up to my trip. Fortunately, it didn't last and the rest of the time was glorious sunshine, hot, but not too hot for cycling in eight hours a day. Accommodation during the cycling stage was camping and the other three nights in hotels. Although on two of the camping nights we stayed in the grounds of tourist complexes to allow us access to toilets and showers, which I'm sure pleased my camping buddy Pippa! The terrain for our mammoth journey was generally flat with a couple of hills thrown in for good measure. The state of the roads themselves was another matter entirely, let's just say we regularly took part in the game of 'dodge the pot-holes'. Travelling with us at all times was a group of men from Nepal, each with their own role to play in making our trip even more enjoyable. The cycling team comprised two guides and a mechanic and behind us throughout the journey was a bus with a couple of helpers. One group we all found amazing and really kept spirits high (not that they were ever low) and made everything all the more worthwhile was the advance party. Every day they would wake us up at 0600hrs with a hot drink and a bowl of hot water for washing, probably having been up two hours prior to this to boil it! Once we had finished our fabulous breakfasts, they would then dismantle everything and move on to the stop that was designated for lunch, where again we would sit down to a feast. On arrival at our evening campsite, our tents were already erected, we were given hot water for washing before sitting down to a thoroughly delicious dinner. They did this every day, were accommodating in every way possible and always seemed so happy to see us. They had the most basic of amenities yet were able to make life so comfortable for those five days – they were an amazing bunch of people who I can't thank enough!

Sig Grant — Whizz Kidz

Every day was an eye-opener and a fascinating insight into rural Indian life. Along the route I took an elephant ride up the Amber Fort in Jaipur, met some of the smiley children from the remote village schools and also a visit to the ghost-city of Fatephur Sikri, built at the height of the Mogul Empire. One of the highlights of the Challenge was the homestretch mile into Agra ending at the Taj Mahal – the world's most enduring monument to love. It was a wonderful moment when we arrived at the Taj Mahal. All the bruises, sore bottoms and aching muscles seemed to disappear in an instant!

Whizz Kidz was one of the first charities to pioneer overseas events and seeing its fundraisers push themselves physically to the limits in a bid to help disabled children seems a fitting gesture. Whizz Kidz is all about empowering disabled children by providing them with 'tailor-made' mobility aids such as wheelchairs, tricycles and walking frames to give them a sense of independence and their first real taste of freedom. Future Whizz Kidz overseas events for 2001 include the Inca Challenge to Peru and the Killimanjaro Challenge in Africa, and for 2002 the Vietnam Cycle Challenge, Everest Challenge and China Wall Challenge. If you would like to spice up your life and take part in any of these exciting events (I would thoroughly recommend it), call Jane Atkinson on 0207 233 6600 or visit http://www.whizz-kidz.org.uk. On a final note, I would like to extend a warm thanks to all my sponsors for their support, including the individual members of 51 Sig Sqn (V) and to the Squadron itself and 32 Sig Regt (V) for their generous donations!

CONGRATULATIONS

Firstly congratulations and a warm welcome go to WO2 (SSM) Lynn Bertram, on her return to the Squadron, and her appointment as SSM. SSM Bertram has recently returned from a tour of duty in Kosovo, and prior to that spent a year on an FTRS posting at Cetwynd Barracks, Chilwell, training and testing personnel in preparation for deployment to the Balkans.

Why not pay your subscription by Direct Debit?

Ring 01258 482079 and we will send you a form

52 SIG SQN (V)

Sqn Comd Maj Donny Gordon
SSM WO2 (SSM) Swan

After the hectic festive period, the squadron has experienced a more relaxed start to the year – mainly due to the recent outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease. March started with Ex Snow Lion with 2Lt Davidson and L/Cpl MacDonald representing 52 Sig Sqn as part of the ski team, and Sig McGilvary as part of the fatigue team. After initial teething problems the week ended extremely well with medals galore, but although it was snowy- we didn't see any lions.

Cpl 'Billy' McPherson shows a future (distant) Squadron Member how Comms can be fun, while Sgt Sam Wilkie makes sure that the set is switched on

The Lord Lieutenant of Lanarkshire, Mr G. K. Cox MBE, JP is welcomed by the Squadron OC, Maj Donald Gordon

This was closely followed by the Regimental Trade training week where we provided students for all courses, where Cpl Phil 'I'm not angry' Brown attained the top student on the NCRS instructors course, and one of the Squadron minibuses managed to clock up 100+ miles whilst sitting in the car park. After a couple of weeks rest we had the Lord Lieutenant of Lanarkshire present Cpl Val Bowden, Sgt 'Hamish' Graham, WO2 (YofS) Helen Jephcote, with their Lord Lieutenants Certificates, Cpl Craig Douglas with the Territorial Efficiency Medal and WO2 (YofS) Helen Jephcote with the first bar to her Territorial Efficiency Medal. Sgts Jackie Main and Sam Wilkie were presented with the Volunteer Reserve Service Medal.

Then due to the restrictions caused by the Foot and Mouth epidemic we had to cancel the Squadron Inter-Troop Mil-skills competition, and instead had to rough it at Faslane where a varied programme of sporting and arduous physical and mental activities were pulled together at short notice, culminating in an evenings bowling at the 'Swally Alley'. To round off the month the TA Centre was open to the public for the National TA day event, which saw a number of near and long term potential recruits, and former servicemen and women. This period has also seen the departure of SPSI WO2 'Sam' Shaw and PSI Tech Sgt Chris Kelly both on leaving the Army for pastures new – welcome to the real world chaps. Welcome to the new SPSI SSgt John Leach who has managed to spend the first 20 days of his appointment out of the office on Op Slubber.

TA TEACHES REGULARS TO SKI

by Cpl Stuart (Cabbie) Henderson

After completing my Novice Ski & Survival Course, while attached to 249 Sig Sqn (AMF (L)) in Norway last year, I was recommended for Military Ski Instructor. I returned to Norway to complete the course in November. It was an intensive 5-week course, run by The Royal Marines under the watchful eye of experienced local ski instructors. We learned everything we could about skiing, including downhill and cross country techniques, ski history and the different instructional techniques, while all the time perfecting our own skiing techniques. After the course it was home for X-Mass and New Year, before returning to Norway in January to teach my first course. My students for the Novice Ski and Survival course came from all over, ranging from Royal Ghurkha Rifles and Light Dragoons, through to Royal Signals and RLC. For many of them it was the most arduous and challenging course they have completed. Extremely cold temperatures and lack of snow made this course even harder for students and instructors alike. Over the first few weeks I was their first point of contact and a source of knowledge for everything they needed to know, to survive and work in a cold weather environment.

Cpl 'Cabbie' Henderson — The easy life

Skiing day and night, steadily increasing the amount of equipment carried and distances travelled, the students soon progressed from complete novices, many of whom had never skied before, to being trained soldiers capable of skiing miles, carrying all the equipment needed to be self sufficient, to work and survive in this environment.

Cpl Henderson — Where did my BBQ go?

In the final week, the students went off to complete Arctic Warfare Training, while I was lucky enough to help with filming Blue Peter, who were doing a program on what we do in Norway. We were filmed building and living in a snow hole, Ski Jarring, which is getting towed by a vehicle while on ski's, and performing Ice Breaking Drills, all with the presenter, Simon, taking part. The programme was due to be broadcast at the end of February, and we all received a Blue Peter badge for our efforts. This rounded off my trip to Norway.

61ST (CITY OF EDINBURGH) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)

The last couple of months have been extremely busy for Edinburgh's Signal Squadron. March madness gripped the Squadron as not only was training happening in abundance with trade camp but the relocation of TA Centres was also on the cards. The Squadron has moved from Chesser Crescent to newly refurbished facilities on Lanark Road. The new centre will provide better training facilities and working environments for both the permanent staff and the troops when they train in the evenings and weekends.

An initiative weekend saw LCpl Alex Cook and Sig Graeme Tait blag their way to York in an attempt to ring the York Minister Bell. Unfortunately renovation work prevented them completing their task and left them pondering how they might get back to Edinburgh in time to claim their bounty. Other members of the Squadron managed to slide down the banister at the Sheraton Hotel, meet someone famous, get on television and LCpl 'Victor' Robertson even flew a helicopter!

The recent foot and mouth outbreak led to weekend training being relocated to TA Centres, resulting in what was to be an NBC weekend at Otterburn being held in and around the TA Centre. With the local press in tow the weekend went with a splash. Cpl Paula 'Laminator' MacLean and LCpl Ilona Borland excelled themselves again with their innovative and fun lessons. Congratulations to SSgt Rowena Clarke on becoming acting Sergeant Major and LCpl Donna Davanna on her recent promotion.

EXERCISE MAPLE SALTIRE

In March eight members of 32 (Scottish) Signal Regiment (Volunteers) travelled to Alberta, Canada in order to put the SKANTI radio through its paces in extreme weather conditions. Two long-range phases were conducted with the team communicating back to Scotland using voice and Morse. In between these phases the team carried out local training around BATUS, which involved off road driving, helicopter marshalling and short-range comms using the UK/PRC 320 around the prairie. After the comms phases the team took a well earned break in the Rocky Mountains staying at the Army's lodge in Canmore. The team was able to enjoy dog sledding and snowboarding before the seventeen-hour flight home on a C-130. Many thanks to WO2(YofS) G Moody for his help during our stay at BATUS and everyone else the team managed to rope in.

The Secret seven arrive at Edmonton Airport to be met by an unexpected heat wave

It's behind you! The new 15m mast gets put through its paces at Wainwright

Testing the SKANTI in the Ops Room ...

... in an MFO Box

Alternative Comms on the prairie at BATUS

Cpl Davidson using the UK/PRC 320 during the short haul phase of the exercise

Sgt Webb with his dog-sledge team on a frozen lake in the Rocky Mountains

SSgt Harvey going flat out on the slopes at Nakiska

33 SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS
CO Lt Col Elton Davis
RSM WO1 Dos Day

OPERATION PENINSULAR - by WO2 (RQMS) Forshaw

WO2 (RQMS) Forshaw spent two weeks as a Military Liaison Officer (LO) in Cumbria. 42 (NW) Bde had established a Headquarters in Carlisle to combat FMD in Cumbria and prevent its spread into neighbouring counties. The Regiment answered the call for personnel by despatching myself, SSgts Faulds and Martin at very short notice to Carlisle.

Confusion reigned on the first day. Sets of maps, a short brief and we were on our way to the first task. I was to be an LO, whose job it was to provide the Headquarters with as much information as possible, in order that after slaughter, the most efficient means of disposal was found for the animals and then co-ordinate that disposal through to completion.

Having served for 21 years with numerous operational tours under my belt I thought that I had seen most things. My people skills were about to be put severely to the test. How do you comfort a farmer and his wife whose life's work has to be destroyed and now lies rotting in front of them? How do you convince the young farmer with small children that the cattle and sheep lying dead for seven days are a high priority and will be moved soon? Inevitably, there was a short honeymoon period; the army had arrived and everything was going to be all right. As the days went by it became increasingly difficult to meet those expectations.

The Headquarters was growing by the hour and more agencies were coming on line. All the stops were being pulled out to combat this virulent disease. It seemed that we were running to stand still as the number of outbreaks grew daily. Sixteen days on, our short tour of duty ended. I left feeling that we had made a contribution but I was frustrated that we had not yet beaten the disease. It was humbling to see field after field bereft of livestock. It is not a task I would like to repeat, but it was worth being involved in the national effort.

LIGHT AID DETACHMENT

Since the last entry there has been a few minor changes. Firstly Capt Atkinson has taken up an FTRS post recruiting for the Regular Army in Liverpool. He was officially said goodbye to from the LAD on the eve of the TA Open Day and a good night was had by all that attended, but Capt Atkinson still managed to talk most of them under the table. Capt Furber who joins us from 206 Regt RLC is his replacement, a very warm welcome! Sean Tran has been promoted to Sergeant and is currently on tour in Bosnia with 2 Bn REME. SSgt Mal Pool has been promoted to WO2 (AQMS) to replace WO2 (AQMS) Don Siddorns, who for 12 months, has been studying for an HNC in Management for his new position in his civilian career. At the end of March the LAD took part in the TA Open Day and the spirit of the occasion was not dampened by the weather. We thought we had invented a new sport of barrel chucking when some of the visitors were a little too enthusiastic when sluing the Foden crane to negotiate the obstacle course, which had been set up. Well this brings as up to date from the LAD front but watch this space for the next entry by the LAD on what training they have been carrying out.

HELLO AND GOODBYE

The Regiment would like to bid a fond farewell to the RSM - WO1 (RSM) Rod Cowan, who is posted to sunny Blandford as the 2IC of 4 (Mil Trg) Sqn, many congratulations on your commissioning and good luck for the future. We would like to wish a warm welcome to the new Training Major – Maj Gary Hailstone and the new RSM – WO1 (RSM) Dos Day, have a very happy and successful tour with the Regiment.

FOCUS ON 55 (HEADQUARTERS) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj W. Wyper
SSM WO2 M. Robertson

There have been a couple of changes in personalities within SHQ. Congratulations to SSgt (SQMS) Mick Robertson on promotion to WO2 and his appointment as SSM of the Squadron, also congratulations to Sgt Alan Stowers on promotion to Staff Sergeant and his appointment as SQMS (V). The SQMS (NRPS), SSgt George Whittfield continues to beaver away in his stores in between games of squash. (Still playing high standard squash at his advanced years).

MEDAL PARADE

CO presents Bosnia medal to Capt Shoaib

CO presents KOSOVO medal to Lt Knight

On 24 March the Regiment held a medal parade, where the Commanding Officer presented TA Efficiency Medals to a number of members of the Regiment. The CO also presented the RMO Capt Amir Shoaib with his medal for service in Bosnia and presented Lt Paul Knight with his medal for service in Kosovo.

35 (SOUTH MIDLAND) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

XXXV

CO Lt Col S. J. Potter TD
RSM WO1 (RSM) J. T. Cauldwell

STILL OPEN FOR BUSINESS

While the present Foot and Mouth crisis continues to provide a constant flow of human-interest stories for the national and regional press, it has obviously had the opposite effect on our Corps magazine contributions. We are now all too well aware that the knock on effect to our training programmes has reduced the number of activities where most of our stories are drawn from. Consequently some of our most promising weekends that included Comms exercises, bounty weekends and participation in sporting competitions (in particular orienteering) have had to be cancelled or redesigned. This caused great disappointment throughout the Regiment especially to those who still had bounty obligations to fulfil. Fortunately during any crisis there always appears to be a saviour who comes to the rescue. In the case of those who could not fulfil their full bounty commitment, it came in the shape of the CO, Lt Col Stephen Potter who used his discretionary powers to good effect and certified those deserving cases efficient. Interestingly we have it on good authority that the CO decided to make his announcement on Friday 16 March. This came as something of a relief to at least 15% of the Regiment who, up until that point, had watched the prospect of receiving their increased bounty on time fade on a daily basis. This thoughtful and charitable initiative had the immediate effect of improving morale at the stroke of a pen. Now all we have to do is to use our deftness and resourcefulness to generate some interesting activities and adapt to the interruption to our training cycle, which is likely to continue for the next few months at least. We do take consolation in the knowledge however, that although our opportunities to train outside of barracks are temporarily restricted, spirits throughout the Regiment remain high and at least we are still open for business!

EXERCISE SPRING EAGLE

Although bad news generally comes in threes more good news followed the CO's bounty decision. Only this time it came courtesy of HQ 143 Brigade who granted the Regiment a dispensation that allowed a limited deployment of comms assets to RAF Stafford for Ex Spring Eagle during the weekend 24/25 March. Considering that this was likely to be the only field commex before our Annual Camp in June it took on a greater level of importance, as far as the development of comms skills was concerned. Thankfully, RAF Stafford provided the real estate that would accommodate a Regimental Concentration, which allowed some useful comms training, SOP procedural training and equipment testing to take place, culminating in a plug up exercise.

The RAO planning his next move with Cpl Tony Blakemore

The weekend also offered an opportunity to see what the other half gets up to with a useful cross trade training programme designed and executed by the Regimental YofS, WO2 Phil Tonks. This included a presentation by the LAD on the difficulties they face cm a daily basis both in barracks and in the field, which proved to be one of the highlights of the weekend. Our fortunate CFT exemptions were also expecting a run round the airfield but much to their relief the area proved unsuitable as a CFT circuit - but at least they showed willing. The Regimental support elements were also out in force. WO2 Mick Kearney and his team did not disappoint with their unique skills at turning compo into compost -joking apart we all fed well during the weekend and the Pizza made by SSgt Paul Holland, ably assisted by Cpl Steph Gibbons was excellent. It was also good to see the RAO, Capt John Middler and his small team composed of Cpl Tony Blakemore and Avril Forsyth.

Cpl Sian Taylor ready to start the plug up exercise

They were busy trying to put the RAO BSV together to make it operational, but quite literally lacked the power to do so because the Regimental Technical element got their first! Teamwork throughout the exercise was quite apparent as Sig Cezarina Riley of 58 Sqn would not deny.

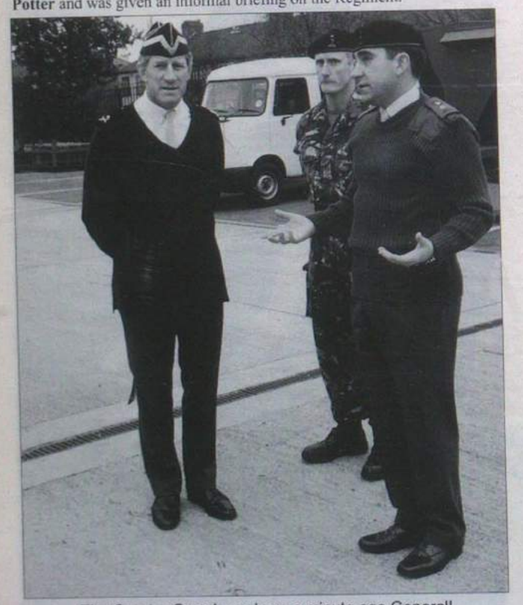
Reversal of Fortunes - Sig Cezarina Riley with mug of tea watching Sgt John Scott doing all the work!

She spent most of Saturday being mesmerised by Sgt John Scott also of 58 doing all the work, but in consolation she did offer him a sip of her tea! Altogether it was a successful weekend that achieved a number of useful continuation training objectives, not least getting us out of barracks against all odds. It has to be said that attendance was relatively high despite the fact that the weekend coincided with Mothers Day and some obscure International. The prospect of losing an hours sleep with the arrival of British Time also did not put many off attending the weekend, but it did leave WO2 Kev Robinson somewhat perplexed with his Guard Roster, especially as three bright sparks insisted on leaving their stag an hour early!

The smile that says it all!

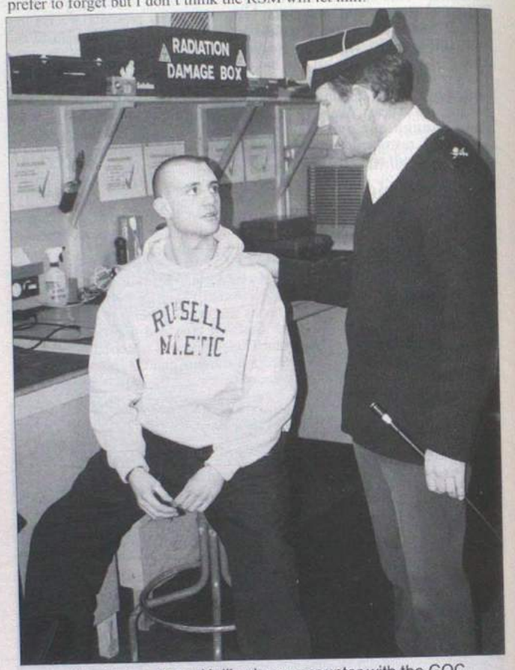
VISIT OF GOC 5 DIVISION

On Tuesday 21 February the Regiment was delighted to receive the inaugural visit of GOC 5 Div, Maj Gen A. G. Denaro CBE accompanied by his ADC. The GOC was met by the CO, Lt Col Stephen Potter and was given an informal briefing on the Regiment.



The Quarter Guard was here a minute ago General!

Following the briefing, the GOC was given a grand tour around all facilities in Canley. Here he was introduced to all departments and freely chatted to the Chief Clerk, WO2 John Watson and his civilian Admin Asst, Miss Lindsay Cain. In the QM Dept he had a humorous encounter with SSgt Mike Nixon who, if my memory serves me right, declared himself to the oldest surviving NRPS! Following a brief discussion with the QM and after sharing one or two war stories the GOC moved on to Mike Troop Comd where he was met and escorted by SSgt (FofS) Steve Brown. Another memorable encounter occurred during this stage of the visit that Sig 'I was super-glued to my chair' Parry-Hall would probably prefer to forget but I don't think the RSM will let him!



Sig Simon Parry-Hall's close encounter with the GOC

The Grand tour of the facilities ended with a visit to the LAD and MT where the GOC was met and escorted by the MTWO, WO1 Mick Doherty who took the opportunity to reinforce the CO's message that the lack of space at Canley was a major problem. After a short break, the GOC then joined all available Permanent Staff in the Sergeants' Mess. Here he presented the award of the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal (Military) to a very proud Cpl Wayne Hunt who is to be congratulated on receiving this distinctive award for completing more than 15 years irreproachable service.

The GOC pictured with Cpl Wayne Hunt

The GOC then presented the 5 Div Sports Trophy in recognition of the Regiments outstanding sporting achievements and successes to a delighted Capt John Middler. This successful and notable visit drew to an end with the GOC joining all ranks for lunch before returning to Shrewsbury.

The GOC presents Capt John Middler with the 5 Div Sports Trophy

TERRITORIAL ARMY DAY

The need to engage in effective recruiting because it is vital to our future as well as our ability to remain operational remains a constant but achievable objective. We are also conscious and recognise that increasing public awareness of the TA is a vital step to recruiting new blood. It was therefore refreshing to see key messages being reinforced for the Spring Recruiting campaign as well as the TA Day, which took place on Saturday 31 March. The new Regimental Directive also gave us a timely reminder of our responsibilities towards effective recruiting and the importance of maintaining an inflow as well as encouraging retention by remaining active. It was with these convictions that we viewed this year's TA Open Day with a mixture of confident expectation and foreboding. While we were confident that our initiatives this year would be more successful than last year when attendance was low, our natural fear was that we would fail to entice our target age group to come along and see us. So far, our fears appear to be unfounded, as a fairly hopeful turnaround seems to have occurred. As well as opening our doors to the public, we were also active in many town centres right amongst the population. Subsequently by adopting a more active and robust approach outside the confines of the TA Centre (short of press-gangs you understand) we attracted scores of inquiries and genuine interest.

Out and about amongst the local community

Having said that, on reflection, our excursions into one or two local pubs during lunchtime was not such a good idea, as Sig Phillipa Holt would testify! The early indications are however, promising, and judging by the number of potential recruits appearing on Training Nights, we are beginning to reap the dividends of a more enterprising approach to recruiting. We are now quietly confident of reaching the CO's recruiting targets - now I just need to brush up on the attestation process.

The kids are all right
The RSM with his children in Rugby's town centre

NEWS IN BRIEF

As usual, one or two changes have taken place and we have recently welcomed to the Regiment, SSgt Terry Davies to 95 Sqn and Cpl Jason Craddock to 58 Sqn. We wish them both a pleasant and rewarding tour with the Regiment and their respective Squadrons. Sadly we have also said farewell to the OC LAD, Maj Jim Taylor but happily have welcomed him back immediately as PSAO of HQ Sqn. Many congratulations Jim on your recent selection for the post. Finally, special congratulations are extended to Sgt 'DB' De burgh on his selection to Staff Sergeant.

36th (EASTERN) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col W. D. L. Brown TD
RSM WO1 Dougie Eaglesham

SNCO CADRE COURSE
(17 – 18 FEBRUARY/17 – 18 MARCH 2001)

Scribed By Cpl Price, 45 Sqn (Top Student)

It is a cold, wet February night at West Tofts Camp, STANTA Training Area. Twelve potential SNCO's, the 'elite' of the Regiment, stand in a car park wondering what fiendish, devilish tasks ahead of them. Not allowing time for a Dry Martini the RSM, WO1 Eaglesham, summoned us to our first briefing. On completion of the brief the RSM asked the question 'Is anyone nervous or unsure of what is expected of them on this course?' A wry smile appeared on his face as 12 shaky hands were gingerly raised in the air. It was now time for the dreaded entrance exam and, expecting the comforting warmth of a classroom, we were then led as a course into an area reminiscent of a pathology lab (minus the corpses and surgical equipment). Vacant expressions were the order of the day when we were presented with the test papers. The second phase shortly followed, elbows on desk, head in hands and total concentration. For some this lasted for the duration of the whole test! Following a comfortable nights sleep we were then tutored on the requirements and responsibilities of SNCO's within the Regiment. All were obviously happy with their expectations of the course as no bags were packed and no one absconded during the night! On the Saturday morning we began the BCFT (TA). Under the watchful eye of PTI LCpl McKintosh and all the Cadre DS, we embarked on a precision timed exercise to coincide with the visit of the Commander 11 Sig Bde, Brig Le Gallais. The Brigadier was to be in position at the finish line just prior to the squad's arrival. Although this was carried out with the subtlety of an inner city train in a shunting yard, eventually perfect timing prevailed. Full of confidence and fixing war faces, we rounded the final bend verbally encouraged by the DS and reached the 6km mark. Instead of the Bde Comd however, we were met by SSgt 'Jim' Pollitt and his mobile tuck shop, touting for business! All was not lost as the Brigadier soon arrived on the scene and had a relaxed, informal chat whist we carried out our warm down exercises. Evening entertainment consisted of a night navigation exercise in vehicles. After plotting our route from a map and writing a 'detailed' route card we were stunned to have our maps taken away from us. This meant that we would have to cover the full 25km course (some of it off road) relying completely on our own written route cards. Some groups were crying as we left the start point! The exercise turned out to be success with most groups' getting back within the allotted time. Unfortunately a search and rescue team had to be sent out to retrieve Cpl 'Pathfinder' Roberts. We were all very sympathetic to his defective compass story! Following further various tests, we bid our farewells and retreated to the comforts of our own homes.

Weekend Two started familiarly with an equally cold and wet March Friday night. Due Foot and Mouth our supposed field exercise at STANTA was substituted with a weekend at Colchester TAC. Unfortunately the best-laid plans of SSgt 'Hopalong' McGachy and Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins had fallen apart. The two PSI's were both obviously disappointed that their 'World War 2' re-enactment exercise had had to be binned and had been replaced with Leadership, Initiative and Management Training. We were rudely woken at 0330hrs, given a full cooked breakfast and had our wallets removed for 'safe keeping'. We were then herded into the TAC bar and the need for a £10 note, notebook, watch, ID Card and mobile phone became apparent. The course was broken down into groups of 2 or 3 and loaded onto a minibus before being dropped off at various points around the M25 by Cpl Martin Woollard and LCpl 'JR Hartley' Hazleton. Exercise Great Escape had begun…(More reports of this exercise in the next issue of The WIRE). Sixteen hours later we were all seated in a classroom awaiting the start of our next task. Under the watchful eye of the course DS we needed to produce a written appreciation of survival at sea in a life raft, with limitations! Familiar posture followed i.e. elbows on tables, head in hands and total concentration. This continued for the next 2 hours. On completion the summary was interrupted by Cpl 'Darren' Wilson and Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins fervently championing the virtues of navigation by sextant and the possible evolution of a transistor radio to a transmitter. Sunday saw the start of the final exam, usual posture adopted but surprisingly good results achieved by all.

Sig Robinson, Top Student on the Junior Cadre Course, is presented with his certificate and first tape by the CO

The CO, Lt Col Brown, presented our well-earned course certificates and this treasured moment was (hopefully) captured on film. Congratulations to Cpl 'Tex' Bennett who started the course as a Lance Corporal and endured friendly ribbing from the rest of us for both weekends. Unfortunately, modesty prevents me from congratulating the Course Top Student!

ORGANISING A FUND RAISING EVENT?
WHY NOT PUBLICISE IT IN THE WIRE?
WRITE AND LET US KNOW WHAT IS HAPPENING

'Ooooooooohhh don't sir, it tickle's — LCpl Bennett receives his Corporal's stripes from the CO

A big shout from all the SNCO Cadre students to SSgt 'Gerry' McGachy and Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins for organising a superb, constructive weekend at such short notice, and for providing dynamic, interesting training throughout the entire course.

Cpl Rob Price recieves his richly deserved Top Student award from the CO. A pensive looking SVWO, WO1 Les Scott, looks on and wonders if Rob has been practicing that very special smile

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON - ILFORD

Sqn Comd Maj Pete Minshall TD
SSM WO2 Terry Butler BBC

The Regiment, and HQ Squadron in particular, has been especially busy since our last entry in The WIRE. We entered the New Year and Exercise season in good heart - the Squadron has come a long way in the last two years, and continues to make progress. We have had an extremely hectic time of late, and it seems that every weekend revolves around some form of training; Comms Exercises, Regimental Centralised Trade Training, Squadron ITD's or recruiting activities, you name it we've done it. We are now into the throes of PRE preparation, and the QM, Maj Phil Daisey, has found his usual large stock of paint, brushes and rags to keep the troops fully employed.

Our recruiting has been going very well - we are now a regular feature in local town centres during weekends, and have recently participated in a very successful Job Fair at a local Further Education College. This visit prompted 24 firm enquiries, of which three are now well into the documentation and selection process, with a number of others hard on their heels. We are, however, never complacent and our next major effort will be the TA Open Day on 31 March, when we will be hosting a targetted audience of local MP's, Councillors and major local employers, in addition to the normal displays in the Town Centre and TA Centre – more news about this in the next issue. The Squadron has had one or two departures; Sgt John Kelly leaves us for 3 (UK) Div Sig Regt where he intends to be the best damn PSI in their Training Wing (sorry for stitching you up, John, but you deserve it!!). Sig E Hall has left the TA for the delights of the regular RAF, and has been well briefed on marching sideways.

Op Pennywort has impacted on Squadronn Training over the last few weeks, and because we have been confined to the TA Centre there has been no chance to improve the 2IC's navigation skills (which may not be a bad thing). The MTWO, WO2 Steve Kentish, has also been pining for the great outdoors – he thoroughly enjoys 'terrorising' our young drivers on his notorious, and exhilarating, cross country driving weekends. The last weekend of this ilk provided excellent training opportunities for the REME Recovery Mechanics, whilst at the same time demonstrating the excellent off road, off track, (and then into holes) driving skills of the majority of our team – or perhaps not! We look forward to more of the same, and are now trying to devise new and innovative training which makes the most of the limited resources in Ilford TAC. 'Appreciation' takes on a whole new meaning when the Ground consists of the Sports field and back gardens of our neighbours; we now appreciate STANTA that little bit more.

The Squadron has had recent cause to be extremely proud of two of its soldiers. The Lord Lieutenant's Certificate, which was awarded to WO2 (SSM) Terry Butler, is bestowed to exceptional individuals whose long and meritorious service and personal contribution to the Reserve Forces is of major significance and deserving of recognition. The Burberry Trophy, which was awarded to Cpl Micheal Egonjobi, recognises an individuals outstanding achievement over a 12 month period, or one particular event which has not already been recognised by any military or civilian award. Field Marshall Sir John Chapple GCB CBE DL, The Lord Lieutenant of London, presented the awards at a reception held at the Duke of York's Headquarters in Chelsea on Wednesday 7 March 2001, and the paragraphs and pictures that follow outline the soldiers' achievements in detail.

LORD LIEUTENANT OF LONDON'S CERTIFICATE OF MERITORIOUS SERVICE

WO2 (SSM) Terry Butler joined the Territorial Army in 1979, initially serving with the 10th Battalion the Parachute Regiment before moving to HQ Squadron, 36 Signal Regiment, in 1998. Employed by Fords at Dagenham, he has been a successful leader and mentor for his contemporaries and juniors, and instrumental in building up a new troop at the Ilford TA Centre. Mr Butler is a mature, experienced soldier who epitomises all the best qualities of a Volunteer. Reliable, punctual and an excellent SNCO he displays all of the military qualities of leadership, example, tolerance and management expected, though rarely demonstrated, of an individual of his advanced years and experience. He has made the transition from an infantry, parachute orientated, background to a more technical environment with ease, and has fitted into the Squadron and the Regiment extremely well. The Squadrons recent surprise success in the Mountvoy Trophy was due, in no small part, to WO2 Butlers motivational powers and training skills, and he continues to lead from the front as the new Squadron Sergeant Major.

WO2 (SSM) Terry Butler receiving his certificate from Field Marshall Sir John Chapple GCB CBE DL

THE BURBERRY TROPHY WINNER
CPL MICHAEL EGONJOBI

An Electrician Driver, Cpl Michael Egonjobi has been with the TA in Ilford since 1994, and is an Information Technology Engineer in a Further Education College in North London in civilian life. Cpl Egonjobi has had an outstanding year during which time he has been tested to his limits and beyond, and has not been found wanting in any respect. The last twelve months has seen him coming top of his upgrading course at Blandford, and he has recently passed the Regimental SNCO cadre course. He is an inspiration to others and has performed to the highest tenets of the Volunteer ethos.

Cpl Egonjobi recieves the Burberry Trophy and commemorative cup from Field Marshall Sir John Chapple GCB CBE DL

(L-R): Cpl Egonjobi, Maj Pete Minshall TD (who always makes the picture), Lord Lieutenant and WO2 (SSM) Butler Question:
Is it just me, or do the FM and SSM share the same gene pool??

Continuing on the personal development theme, Sig Jamie Pemberton achieved an A Grading on his MT Accounts Course and LCpl Sarah Hall shocked the Squadron and herself by not only passing her Corporals Course, but actually doing rather well and gaining a B Grade – congratulations to both soldiers on achieving excellent results on external courses. Other praiseworthy achievements are Pte Johnnie Walker (the oldest, but newest, clerk in the world) passing his TA Recruits Course and Class 3/2 Mil Clerks Course in succesive months and Sig Kim Mann, having taken her Radio Systems Op Class 3 at Annual Camp, decided to top it up and pass her Recruits Course.

The Squadron heirarchy stumbles on. Maj Peter 'Dashing Major' Minshall TD still thinks that he is a Sergeant Major rather than the OC, and booms and bcks with equal vigour. Capt Gordon (QM(V)) 'I'm the Messing Officer' Shelley is currently learning how to use a knife and fork on his Squadron Commanders Course - perhaps they will show him how to navigate on Weekend Exercises as well! The QM, Maj Phil Daisey is due to retire from the Army in August after many years of undetected crime, and he will be succeeded by Capt Geoff Woodcock (of Corps RSM fame); little does he know what he is letting himself in for. The RQMS (R), WO2 Steve Russell has pulled 'The Badge' and is due to move on promotion to RSM of 32 Sig Regt (V) in April - just as we were getting used to him. He is obviously the first Yorkshire Scottish RSM! Our congratulations go with him. The SSM, WO2 Tony Wells, is to retire from the TA in April after reaching his sell-by-date. Tony, who has served with 39 Sig Regt as well as this Regiment, is now angling for a post with the London District Recruiting Team in order to stay in uniform - we wish him luck. He is to be succeeded as SSM by WO2 Terry Butler - oh dear, 'The Blue Wings of Glory' will really be flying the Squadron now! Our long serving (he says long suffering) SQMS, SSgt Bill King is due to retire in May 2001, after 20 glorious years in post, which followed two years as a PSI with the Squadron, and a full Regular career. You can tell that he is reaching retirement age, he is going grey, his figure has filled out, he is slowing down in speech and has to be helped on and off the badminton court after each game. Bill is to start a third career at age 60 with a Watch and Clock maker near his home; we are all wondering what sort of time piece he used during his Regular and NRPS career, it was obviously faulty, as he was always on time. Bill has been a stalwart of the Squadron since the PSAO was in short trousers (he's still young) and has seen generations of Volunteers (and QM's) come and go, and after providing such an excellent 'Q' service to the Sqn and the Regiment he will be a hard act to follow.

REGIMENTAL GOLFING SOCIETY

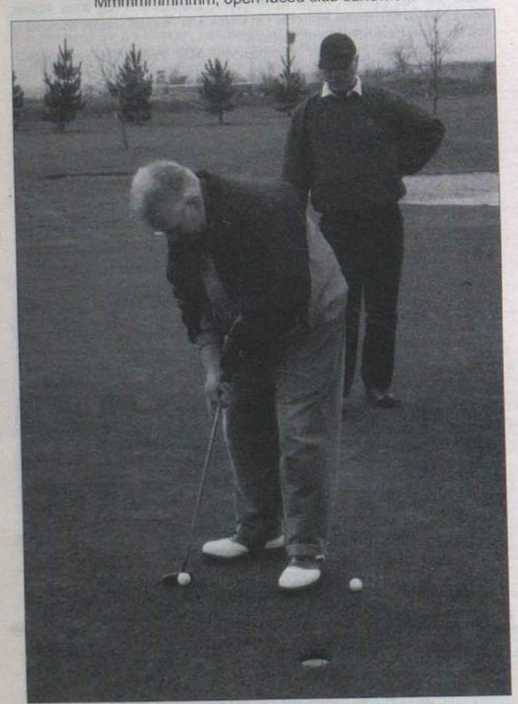
It's the first outing of the year, it's Brett Vale GC near Colchester, and it's crazy Golf again! Maj Phil 'I've got new clubs' Daisey scores a nett one on the Par 4 fifth hole; what a star - but there's better to come. Maj Dave 'You can't cut me' Watson drives a full inch off the ninth and still scores a point – 'Oh, but we can cut you, Bandito.'

Fast greens and good fairways saw some very good scores, with Capt Rod Allen taking the category 1 with 38 points and Capt Len Carr sneaking off with category 2 after scoring 35 points. The two nearest the pin winners were SSgt (now WO2) Martin Wright and Maj Dave Watson.

IF DIGITAL PHOTOS ARE SENT THEY MUST BE SAVED AT A MINIMUM OF 400dpi COLOUR PHOTOS. IF THEY ARE ANYTHING LESS THAN THIS THEY WILL NOT BE USED. SENDING A PRINT OF A DIGITAL PHOTO IS NO GOOD!

The RSM, WO1 Dougie Eaglesham, spent some time taking photographs around the eighteenth green, bringing shouts of slow play as, yes, you've guessed it, Maj Dave Watson struggled hard to put himself into posing mode. All in all, this was a very good start to the season, and we continue to lay down the single leather gauntlet to all comers (Training Programme permitting, of course).

SSgt Ron Russell (in the background)
I suggest you use an open faced club. A sand wedge perhaps?
Maj Dave Watson (foreground)
Mmmmmmmm, open-faced club sandwich!



Maj(QM)Phil Daisey, the wily old dog, uses all his experience as he magically produces a second ball from his trouser leg at the final hole

44 (CINQUE PORTS) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)
SOUTHEND & GREYS

Sqn Comd Maj Mark Baker
SSM WO2 Neal Fawsett

It has been a busy time for the Squadron, with PRE on the horizon and the introduction of RPIT, the PSAO attending an early learning course on computers and farewells and goodbyes, and, more importantly, nobody putting themselves up to write the Wire Notes. I therefore find myself jiffed to put pen to paper, so to that end……..

Farewells and Goodbyes - The Squadron sadly says goodbye to our old SPSI, SSgt Anita Smith, who leaves for the more exotic posting of 30 Signal Regiment – we wish her well and hope she manages to get on all the sailing courses she desires (although there can't be many more that she needs before being qualified to drive the QE2). We also say bye, for a short time, to LCpl Keirsty Shaw who goes on yet another FTRS deployment, this time to BATUS (Don't forget the postcards, Keirsty). We welcome SSgt Craig Marlowe who joins the Squadron from 15 Signal Regiment and assumes the role of SPSI; we wish him well for his tour. We also welcome back from her FTRS 'Job' Sgt Sally Hewson – back to the real world now, Sally! That's all from the Squadron for this issue, but I am sure that next time around there will be a huge contribution, as the task has been delegated to some young officers (Basically, don't hold your breath). The last comment is directed towards HQ Squadron – start polishing that trophy, because the Mountvoy is ours this year!

45 SIGNAL SQUADRON (V) – COLCHESTER & WARLEY
Scribed by Sig 'Jim' Crouch

Sqn Comd Maj Mike White
SSM WO2 Louise Walker

Time and tide stops for no man, and it is with great regret that we say farewell and adieu to the old Officer Commanding, Maj Bill Shirley, who leaves us on a free transfer to RHQ. It is fair to say that throughout the Squadrons long and distinguised history, we have seen nothing like his razor sharp wit, immaculate dress sense and dutiful sense of punctuality. Hang on, that last sentence needs to be rephrased…….. Our sincere best wishes go out to him. The king is dead, long live the king, and so it is that we welcome the new OC, Maj Mike White, after his long exile to RHQ as Ops Officer. One of the new and exciting changes that the OC is advocating is for port and champagne to be available on tap during the consolidated training weekends - a radical idea from a radical man, I'm sure you'd all agree.

GENERAL

Warley TAC is 45 Sig Sqn's poor and often forgotten cousin, and now consists of one EAN, which of course is the fantastic 551. The centre commander is WO2 Groves, known affectionately as Kev, Grumps, Boss, and very occasionally Sir. We were recently joined by a new SPSI, SSgt Gerry McGachy. A fine and outstanding soldier with a great career behind him (Gorbals, Bosnia and Gulf, to name but a few, we've all seen the paper cuttings)!!. In charge of recruiting is SSgt Stu Bancroft, another seasoned veteran who must have had a hard paper round. We do have some younger members, honest. Next on the roll of honour is troop SNCO Sgt Andy Gladman, our own semi- tame traffic cop. Stores are administered by our own mafiosi Cpl Benito Cook, and keeping the Mux running like a well oiled machine are LCpl Justine Putnam (and 'Lucas' her Siamese twin), and Sigs Alison Oddy, Lorna Scotch Stuart (Get a round in !) and Shirley Andrews. Shirley also makes sure that our resident Liney, Lee, dries behind his ears at all times as he is her little brother. On a power trip at Warley are LCpl Debbie Harrigan, who braved sniper alley in Basildon and walked the slightly safer ones in Sarajevo as well, and LCpl Kev Urand our second copper. Head of Relay is the sylph like LCpl 'Titch' Titchmarsh, Det Commanders are LCpl Matt Joyce, and Sig Crouch.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations go to SSgt Dacre Barwick, mmm nice shiny new crown, and Sgt Kev Elliott on his third – it was the only way we could get rid of him, only joking Kev, well done guys!

EXERCISE SPRING EAGLE

Now to Exercise Spring Eagle, or Spring Roll, Spring Onion, Spring Chicken, we heard them all. Those valiant battlers braved another fine spring weekend (Yeah right !) to do the signalling thing. In spite of floods, cold weather, Op Pennywort, and Dets full of regular Technicians, comms were established regardless. This was mainly due to para-cording LCpl 'Titch' Titchmarsh to the free standing mast (Is that why it fell over ?), preventing that all encompassing 'With all due respect Sergeant……'.

RECRUITING

SSgt Stu Bancroft is looking forward to getting his hands on lots of new recruits on the national T.A. day - he's good at that (with all due respect Stu)!!. We also aim to deploy our cordon bleu sloppy, LCpl Ian Molineaux; compo aux naturel can be fun, a first aid team will be standing by ! If all else fails, is press ganging still legal?

PRESENTATION OF THE VOLUNTEER RESERVES SERVICE MEDAL

The Squadron had the honour of being visited by Col Davenport (Deputy Commander 11 Sig Bde) on 22 February, and he kindly accepted our invitation to present the VRSM to Sgt Rosemary Prince, who joined the TA in september 1989. A technician by trade, Sgt Prince is a keen and successful sportswoman who has been a member of the winning team in the Divisional Orienteering championships on no less than four separate occasions. Dedicated and committed, Sgt Prince is a classic example of the archetypal TA soldier, and the award that Col Davenport presented to her was richly deserved.

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive - beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

Sgt Prince with Colonel Davenport, immediately after the presentation

REGIMENTAL SENIOR CADRE COURSE
A PSI'S PERSPECTIVE
Scribed by Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins (Senior Instructor)

Having been a military training instructor for some six years now, I wasn't unusually bothered when SSgt 'Gerry' McGachy breezed into my office some time last November to inform me that we had been selected to run a Regimental Cadre Course. Over the next few months I came to realise just how easy it is at the 'sharp' end. Standing in front of a class of students imparting the information is the easy bit of being an instructor. The real skill is in the preparation of a course, making sure that all of the T.O.'s are met, finding instructors and equipment and generally tying it all together. In the months that followed we planned, replanned and then planned it all again until finally we had a workable programme, all the equipment we required, and a handful of instructors to play with. All we needed now were the students! After an initially slow start names started to come in and the course was finally loaded with seven senior Corporals (and one Lance Corporal) selected from within the Regiment. In addition to a number of mandatory entrance tests (including a written exam, BCFT (TA), and Weapon Handling Tests), the first weekend of training consisted of a number of 'theory' lessons designed to increase awareness of the responsibilities of a SNCO within the Regiment. WO2 SSM Louise Walker conducted the first lesson in 'The Sgts Mess', which was met with a great deal of enthusiasm (someone's obviously been telling stories)!

Sgt Hodgskins in full flow; Cpl Egonjobi and Sig Himsworth look on, obviously enthralled

The first weekend seemed to go really fast (which is more than can be said for Cpls Roberts and Wilson on the night navigation) and before I knew it the students were giving presentations themselves and we were packing up to come home. Weekend 2 was my territory! The idea was to combine the SNCO's and JNCO's Cadre Courses' and take them out for 48hrs in a field environment assessing the students in an infantry environment. Plans and recce's were conducted, enemy troops briefed and an exercise the likes of which hasn't been seen since the Dunkirk landings was ready to go…….

I got out of bed to the news that there had been an outbreak of something called 'Foot & Mouth'. As my parents hadn't even thought of having me back in 1967 the full implications of the disease weren't apparent to me until later that week when a slightly 'older' member of the staff (name withheld to protect the aged) pointed out to me that STANTA was likely to be closed down for the foreseeable future. Range control at the time would not even let me book a SAT range for fear of spreading the disease! So now I had a total of 17 students and nowhere to take them! Once again I shuffled paper, rang the RSM a lot and generally cried when no one else was looking until I hit upon Plan B. Bearing in mind that Training Area's were now closing daily, it was obvious that we would not be able to test the students in a field environment and therefore Weekend 2 was designed to support the overall Cadre Aim. Namely, 'to develop our JNCO's in order to prepare them for their future roles as SNCO's (& JNCO's) within the Regiment'. Weekend 2 took the form of Leadership and Management Training. After an initial insight into Written Appreciations the students were packed off to bed for the night (all 3 1/2 hours of it)! At 0330hrs I was met by 17 bleary eyed, bad tempered NCO's who, by now, were demanding to be told what was going on. Tempers didn't improve as we took their wallets away, split them into pairs, and thrust a task sheet into their shaking hands. The groups were then led outside in the pouring rain and loaded into minibuses. Exercise Great Escape had begun!

Cfn Nichols demonstrates the Immediate Action Drill adopted by the REME when no NAAFI breaks have been forthcoming for some time
'All together now' I'm a little teapot, short and stout ...'

12 hours later, with all groups safely back at Colchester, it was time to look back on what had been achieved. All the groups had done well with the majority of the tasks being completed in some way or form. Special mention must go to L/Cpl 'Tex' Bennett and his partner Sig Everitt who walked for three miles in the pouring rain from their drop off point before being picked up by the tailor to the House of Commons and taken for tea and cakes! Cpl 'Cookie' Cook spent the morning sitting at the studios of Channel 4 filling his face with free cakes, waiting for the arrival of a celebrity. Although he didn't manage to complete as many tasks as some of the other groups he reckons he had a much better day than most. That night the students attempted a 2-hour written appreciation; all appeared to be going well until an hour and a quarter into the exam Cpl Roberts sighed, shook his head and ripped up his work. Apparently he'd talked himself into a plan that couldn't possibly work! Later that night as I sat marking 17 written papers, I have to admit I was stunned by the standard of work that had been produced by the students. I lost count of the number of A grades I was forced to award!

The final morning consisted of more written exams, and a lesson on patrol harbours. The arrival of the CO indicated the end of training for the day and the Cadre paraded in the drill hall to receive the CO's address and collect a well-earned certificate of course completion. After two promotions, LCpl 'Tex' Bennet to Corporal, and Sig 'Robbo' Robinson to Lance Corporal after coming top on the Junior cadre course, the award for Top Student on the SNCO's Cadre was awarded to Cpl 'Rob' Price and the course then dispersed to their respective TACs. In summary, we managed to achieve the original aim set to us by the RSM and this was evident in the results of the final written examination. All that remains to be seen now is if the NCO's concerned can take what they have learnt and apply it in the workplace. It has to be said that the pre-conceived idea held by many regular soldiers that the TA is a waste of time could not be more wrong. Every soldier who attended the cadre was enthusiastic, confident, and a pleasure to instruct. I am in no doubt in my mind that those who passed the 36 Signal Regiment Cadre Courses' are equal to their peers in the regular Army.

DON'T BE DISSAPPOINTED
COPY FOR
THE AUGUST ISSUE
MUST
REACH THIS OFFICE BY 15 JUNE 2001

The combined cadre course
Back Row (L-R): LCpl Bennett, Sig Himsworth, Cpl Price, Cpl Roberts, Sig Goodger, Sig Sladden, Cpl Wilson, Cfn Nichols, Sig Scholten
Centre Row (L-R): Sig Robinson, Cpl Cook, Sig Sinclair, ig Szabo, Cpl Griffiths, Cpl Monk, Cpl Egonjobi, Sig Everitt
Front Row (L-R): Sgt Parkinson, SSgt Smith, WO1 (SVWO) Scott, Lt Col Brown TD, SSgt McGachy, Sgt Hodgskins

54 (EA) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)
CAMBRIDGE, BEDFORD & NORWICH
Sqn Comd Maj Dennis Prince
SSM WO2 Martin Wright

EXERCISE FINAL CHANCE – 02/04 MARCH 2001

Yet another successful weekend was completed by the glorious 54th designed to clear all outstanding ITD's for the current training year and to carry out some much needed maintenance. After the initial welcoming brief and orientation of Cambridge TAC was conducted by SSgt 'Gazza' Sullivan, the two training modules began, headed up by Lt Glenn Baker (maintenance) and Sgt 'Del' Parkinson (military training). First on the agenda was the range package, and after an impressive mornings shooting it turned out to be OCdt 'Rick' Morley who came out as top dog with an excellent group size of 35 mm (although he still maintains it was closer to 33 mm) – well done Ricky. Battlefield First Aid, conducted under the expert instruction of Sgt 'Jo' Outlaw and Cpl 'Daz' Wilson, was the first activity of the afternoon, and this was closely followed by the TACFT under the direction of our resident PTI, Sgt Kev King was ably assisted by his two beautiful assistants, Gaz and Del. On Saturday evening a combined Officers and WO's & Sgts Mess function was held to dine in our OC Squadron, Maj Dennis Prince (only a year late, but hey, better late than never sir), and to say farewell to our old Squadron Scarey Monster, WO1 (SVWO) Les Scott who is leaving us on promotion, and will be greatly missed. A good night was had by all. Finally, congratulations go to Davey 'Get Some' Dewart on his well deserved promotion to Lance Corporal.

KILIMANJARO – 'It's attitude, not altitude, that's the problem!'
by our roving travel correspondent, SSgt Gaz Sullivan

As the SPSI of 54 (EA) Sig Sqn (V), I was delighted to receive an invitation from Cpl Eddie Allen (a member of the Squadron) to climb Mt Kilimanjaro in Eastern Africa. After toying with the idea for at least five minutes, I found myself on a plane, at the start of February, heading for Johannesburg. On arrival in Jo'burg we finalised preparations on our equipment, and on 2 February our small team of three (the other participant being Luis Chin, a work friend of Cpl Allen) flew to Tanzania. At Kilimanjaro International Airport we all boarded a bus for the one hour drive to our hotel. Some locals call this 'the drive from hell' and we soon found out why – Tanzania has a definite lack of tarmac in many places. Shaken but not stirred, we finally arrived at the Keys Hotel. After settling into our mud huts everyone received a briefing in broken English (which was handy, because I can only think in broken English) as to what would happen over the next few days. We then had supper and a few local beers to toast the mountain and finally, after a long day, hit the sack.

At approximately 0230 hrs I was awoken by 633 Mosquito Squadron who had decided to launch an attack on my head. After a fierce and bloody battle around the mud hut, I admitted defeat and just got used to the idea of being 'chomped'. At 0530hrs we all received an early call and, after breakfast, set off to the Machame checkpoint, where we booked on to the mountain and logged all our details. We then met our head guide and admin team; six porters had been assigned to us, along with one chef, Roman our assistant guide and Peter, our head guide. All this manpower for an expedition team of only three may seem wasteful, but as time went by their experience and knowledge of the mountain became invaluable, and essential to the success of our venture. There are many ways to ascend the 19,340 ft of Kilimanjaro, which is technically undemanding but physically gruelling, but with the advice of our head guide we opted for the Machame route. This would take five days to ascend and two days to descend, allowing us plenty of time to acclimatise to the increasing altitude.

SSgt Gaz Sullivan and his team working their way to the peak — and this is Africa?

After five days of tabbing over hard terrain whilst the elements conspired against us, we were woken at 0015hrs on 8 February to start the final ascent to the summit of the mountain. We left Barafu Camp (4550mt) and once again headed upwards for what seemed like an eternity. The altitude was affecting all of us, although Luis in particular was suffering. Cpl Eddie Allen and I decided to continue the ascent with our assistant guide, which gave Luis the opportunity to ascend at a much slower rate with Peter. We were faced with a 1 in 3 slope that consisted of snow and ice impacted on to scree and which seemed to go on for ever. The higher we went, the harder it became to fill your lungs full of air. As a result this slowed us down and gave us the impression of being drunk, and believe me, readers, I recognise the symptons! At 0530hrs we reached Stella Point (Gillman's Peak) at 5685mt. The sense of relief was enormous, and we stood for a short while gazing across a glacier that was framed, in relief, by the full moon.

Roman, our guide, advised us that sunrise was in one hour and we slowly pushed on to the Uhuru Peak at 5896mt. The temperature was extremely low and we were later advised that, given the severe wind chill, it was recorded at 42 Degrees below freezing. At 0631 hrs we arrived at Uhuru Peak and, in doing so, had reached the summit of the tallest freestanding mountain in the world (two thirds the height of Everest). We stopped and contemplated the view across to Kenya from the rooftop of Africa.

CORPS DINNER CLUB

IMPORTANT DATES
FOR 2001

SUNDAY 2 SEPTEMBER 2001
Corps Luncheon North - Catterick

FRIDAY 26 OCTOBER 2001
Scottish Dinner - Glasgow

For further information contact:
Miss Jo Hewitt
RHQ Royal Signals
Blandford Camp
Dorset DT11 8RH
Tel: 01258 482083
E-Mail: rhq-rsignals@army.mod.uk
Fax: 01258 482084

A tired but happy SSgt Gaz Sullivan (left) and Cpl Eddie Allen (right) hoist the Squadron standard atop Uhuru Peak

After remaining at the summit for approximately 30 minutes we started our descent back to the camp. This proved to be worse than the climb up in many ways, as the sun was causing the snow and ice to be treacherous. On our 'slide down' we passed Luis making a balls out effort to reach Stella Point, and seeing us put him in good spirits. We managed about two hours sleep prior to the next leg of the descent, and soon after we woke were told the bad news that Luis had not reached the summit, though he did manage to get to Stella Point. After about three hours we reached Mweka Camp, and there were a few 'Kilimanjaro' beers drunk in celebration. After supper we bedded down in the tent for our last night on the mountain. After a two and a half hour slog through a mud bath the following morning, we eventually reached our Hotel in style after hi-jacking a lift in a passing Land Cruiser, only to be told that there was no hot water. In true squaddie fashion, this did not deter us from quickly turning ourselves and our kit around, and we were soon in the bar having a final drink with our new found friends that we had met along the way. This was a once in a lifetime trip, and was throroughly enjoyed by all concerned. Unfortunately, SSgt Gaz Sullivan never found Pauline (Regimental Joke!)

SSgt Gaz Sullivan — Read the book, bought the T shirt, got the certificate and, undoubtedly - Done The Business, oh yes!

37 SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col P. J. Grogan
RSM WO1 M. Fisher

67 SQUADRON – by WO2 Monty Walker
Sqn Comd Maj Mal Cooper
SSM WO2 Monty Walker

Firstly my congratulations to Maj Mal Cooper on his promotion and taking over as OC Squadron. So, what have we been up to this last two months? 13 January was our belated Christmas Draw. The timing proved popular with a high attendance and an extremely enjoyable night. The following weekend we were out on exercise 'Vixens Outing'. Freezing conditions with snow over the Saturday night tested our endurance somewhat, welcome to 2001! February brought Ex 'Rickshaw Ramble', testing our driving and map reading skills with command tasks thrown in. All good training for our SFOR commitment later in the year. Ex 'Shape Up' was a little more laid back, practising the drill needed for The Freedom of Dudley Parade, Management training and ITD's. A lot of work was put into the weekend. At the end of the month we had a number of Squadron members attending a concentrated trade-training week at Fremington with a good number either attaining or increasing their trade qualifications.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj J. Riley
SSM WO2 G. Frazer

EXERCISE VIXENS OUTING

After a long Christmas break it was time to blow away the cobwebs and practise field and detachments skills. The Squadron deployed to Nescliffe Training Area for a Regimental Communications exercise with the aim of teaching new members of the Squadron how to be effective in filed conditions. With the saying 'anyone can be uncomfortable' it was decided to set up the eats and sleeps in the derelict ammo bunkers. However, no one took into account that when the temperature drops these bunkers become large freezers. Well the temperature did drop, dramatically and the amount of electric heaters that suddenly appeared tested the output of the generators. The temperature on the Friday evening was recorded at -13 , a tad on the chilly side and everyone was becoming to resemble Michellen Man with the amount of clothing being worn.

Along with the usual admin support it was a great opportunity to carryout on the job training with the NFQ (not fully qualified) members of the squadron under the direction of Sgt Matt, 'Have you felt how warm it is in my Landrover?' Bellamy and Sgt Twanny 'I know nothing' Borg. The REME were left to their own devices, re-fitting the winch wagon, they said it was so that it would convert into a workshop, it was becoming to look like a mobile sauna with the amount of heat being extracted. It was a pleasant surprise to wake up to snow covered ground, perhaps to those who stayed in the bunkers, however, Maj John 'Where's the wine waiter?' Duggan may have disagreed as he decide it was warmer to Bivi out. On End Ex, LCpl Steve 'I know the way out of these woods' Martin was seen disappearing in the opposite direction to the packet only to reappear a few feet from the line up. The problem was that he was on the other side of the fence at a dead end. Needless to say the Squadron were very supportive and encouraged his task of taking the trailer off to manoeuvre. His co-driver, Cpl Claire Brain made a statement that you wouldn't have found a female driver doing something so stupid made no impression at all.

Once again an excellent weekend of constructive training took place to enhance the skills of the squadron, the only problem is that they keep going on FTRS.

The REME adding extra insulation to the Winch Wagon
You wouldn 't believe that it was so cold judging by the lack of clothing, mind there was a lot of 'hot air ' around at the time
(L-R): LCpl Lee Carol. LCpl Steve Walsh, Sgt Glen Draper

A brief moment of sunlight during trade training with the ED s fitting new heads to cables
(L-R): LCpl Mac Mackay, Cpl Claire 'It keeps my head warm' Brain and Sig 'Stu' Swinnerton

LCpl Steve 'Of course I can map read' Martin with Cpl Claire Brain at a dead end of the track. 'How am I going to get out of this,' LCpl Martin wonders?'

FAREWELL TO THE REME PSI

The Squadron said farewell to SSgt Phill Oliver who left on promotion to Warrant Officer. His sense of humour and commitment will be missed and he was an excellent ambassador for the REME whilst serving in a Royal Signals Unit.

The CO, Lt Col Grogan (Left) presents SSgt Phil Oliver with a farewell gift

96 SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj R. J. Bowden
SSM WO2 J. Convery

EXERCISE FAST MOVER

LCpl John Ryan's lifetime ambition was achieved when an invitation was received to fly with FRADU, who conduct training for interception using Naval ground observers. A day of training started with a weather brief, followed by a video and training session on cockpit drills and safety, with particular attention paid to the ejector (injection John?) seat procedures. Then came the flying suit fitting and a helmet check to ensure correct fit and function. Finally another walk through – talk through the ejector seat procedures in a classroom mock up. Unfortunately, storms were hitting the area throughout the day, with very high wind speeds, so flying was out of the question. Luckily, the following day was calm, bright and clear. At 0830hrs two Seahawks took off into a clear blue sky, with LCpl Ryan in the second. Then followed a training exercise consisting of one Seahawk being directed in behind the second by orders from ground observers. LCpl Ryan stated that the best moments were when he was offered control of his Seahawk at 22500ft and asked to keep the jet in level flight. This he described as 'interesting' and the whole experience as 'Awesome, because other words just can't describe the feelings'. Many thanks go to FRADU and the pilots (especially Roger) for a superb experience and realising one soldier's dream of a lifetime. LCpl John Ryan is currently serving six months FTRS in Kosovo and has been selected for 97 (SFOR) Signal Squadron (V) who will deploy to Banja Luka in Bosnia late in 2001.

EXPEDITION TO BELIZE

The Squadron was contacted by Jan Clemons of Rugby High School for assistance in outfitting members of an expedition to Belize. The expedition was to conduct a survey of wildlife, concentrating on reptiles and amphibians. The Squadron was happy to assist where we could and supplied equipment including wet weather clothing, camping equipment and basic survival supplies.

The expedition travelled to Las Cuevas Research Station in the Cayo district of Belize, until Guatemalan incursionists raided the camp. They then moved to a Forestry Station in the Mountain Pine Ridge called Douglas D'Silva. Here the project work could begin in earnest, and consisted mainly of surveying for lizards and snakes during the day and wading through ponds at night doing amphibian work. Several colonies of Vampire bats and False Vampire bats were also discovered and several surveys were conducted at different times of the day and night. There was also the chance to do a bit of sightseeing. This included a day trip to Caracol, the largest Mayan site in Belize, a visit to Belize City, including the zoo, which is unique in that it houses only animals native to Belize and an overnight stay at Orange Walk.

The final phase of the expedition was the Reef Phase. A water taxi was taken to an island called Caye Caulker, situated in the coral reef off the coast. This reef is the second largest in the world (the Great Barrier Reef in Australia being the biggest) but is also the longest continuous reef in the world. Several trips to different areas of the reef were undertaken, including shark ray alley where there was an opportunity to swim with sharks and stingrays.

EXERCISE LITTLE WARRIOR

Unfortunately, the outbreak of Foot and Mouth resulted in a last minute adjustment of the plans for this weekend. Once a year, the OC, Maj 'Badger' Bowden, organises an OBUA weekend which is generally open for all members of the Regiment. Due to the Foot and Mouth crisis, the exercise planned for Cellini Village at SENTA was relocated to the TA Centre in Coventry. A number of ITDs had been planned into the scenario for the Exercise, so these were extracted and conducted within the TAC. These included Fitness training, First Aid, Shooting skills and NBCD. Of particular note was the NBCD training conducted by Cpl 'Shirley' Temple and Cpl Ade Hillyer. The Squadron was placed into a scenario based on operations in the vicinity of a chemical processing plant, such as the one in Bohpal, which led to the death of thousands. With this in mind, the Immediate Action and Decontamination drills were carried out with a little more attention to detail, the lessons learned from the NBC Battle Run at Thetford coming to the fore. Of note was 2Lt Mathew Longcake, who consumed as much Fullers Earth as he applied. The raised levels of skill are the reward of the instructors' imagination in making the subject relevant, interesting and fun – even in a respirator!

38 (CITY OF SHEFFIELD) SIGNALS REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

SENDING A MESSAGE TO THE WORLD

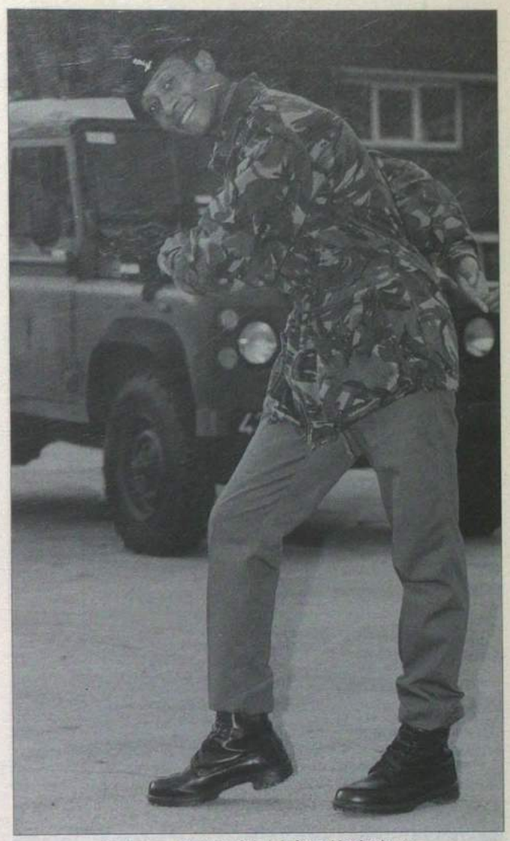
Leicestershire Sig Jackie Bailey and her team will be plugging NATO into Europe-wide maneuvers, next month. Top military brass from every nation in the treaty organisation will be waiting to see if 46 Signal Squadron can prove the British Territorial Army's worth. The South Wigston-based part-time soldiers will set up radio links right across Germany, Holland and the UK during the ten-day exercise. Their job will be to help complete the network that will keep soldiers in touch from 11 army divisions drawn from seven countries including the US, Italy and Greece. Cpl Bailey, a professional chef, from East Hamilton said, 'This is our regiment's most important deployment in 60 years. We're now an essential part of the Allied Rapid Reaction Corps (ARRC) communications system. We must be ready to send fully formed squadrons anywhere in the world in support of NATO operations. We'll be under the microscope on Exercise Arrcade Guard. We aim to put out the message loud and clear that the Territorial Army is ready for action.'

Cpl Bailey said that teams of Signallers would be sailing from Hull and flying out from East Midlands Airport to join the maneuvers, which begin on 17 March. She said that the troops would take 38 Signal Regiment's fleet of 33 lorries and support vehicles. She added that her Regiment were the world leaders in the military use of high frequency computer controlled long distance radio equipment. Because the soldiers' radio system is completely self contained it is more reliable and far less vulnerable to attack than those relying on other infrastructures such as satellite links.

Radio Link Up - Cpl Jackie Bailey

LOOKING FOR AN EDGE

Nottingham's entrepreneurial song and dance man is getting into step with the Territorial Army. Twenty-one-year-old Challan Sinclair is already one of Britain's busiest young people. On top of a burgeoning stage career, he owns his own internet company and holds down a high-flying information technology consultancy job. However, he said that there was still one more string he simply had to add to his bow. Today he swapped his sharp business suits and stage clothes for combat green and a rifle. For the next two weeks Triumph Road-based 87 Signal Squadron's newest recruit will be under orders as he learns the soldier's basic skills. Challan's career began when he was only 13 years old when he set up his own leaflet distribution business. Before he was 14 he had half his school class on the payroll. By 16 he was making money from market research too. Then his dancing feet led him on stage and at 18 he choreographed and performed in his first show at Caesar's Palace, London. Before long he had also set up his own internet provider firm. His abilities were spotted by Midlands information technology company boss, Graham Beastall, who 'head-hunted' Challan. The young part-time soldier is now key to his plans to turn his £3 million organisation, Soutron, into a £25 million firm within five years. Mr Beastall said: 'Challan couldn't do better at this stage of his career than to join the Territorial Army (TA). They will help turn him into something exceptional. I need people with the sort of leadership and management skills the army will teach him.' Challan, from Nottingham city centre said, 'A lot of young people won't join up because they have a stereotyped view of what the TA is about. Anyone who wants to expand their horizons and get something out of life should try it - it will give them an edge.'



In step — Challan Sinclair from Nottingham

DEADLY ARMS
HIGHLIGHT NEED FOR MORE TROOPS

Guns that caused carnage in Kosovo have added vital urgency to Sarah Alsop's drive to recruit more Territorials in Leicestershire. The two Kalashnikov AK47s were among a haul of automatic weapons confiscated in the Balkans by British soldiers. Sarah said that the most shocking thing was that many of the lethal automatic rifles were taken from gun-toting children, some as young as ten years old. Sgt Alsop, from Loughborough, who serves with the Leicester-based troop of 46 Signal Squadron said, 'We're in the middle of the Territorial Army's (TA) biggest ever recruiting drive. It's climax will be TA Day, on 31March. There will be displays in towns and city centres across the UK, including Leicester. Ten per cent of our troops in the Balkans are part-time soldiers like me on short voluntary tours of duty. Seeing the arms cache really brought home to me the urgent need for us to bring in more recruits. The Balkans is awash with arms. Without NATO'S peace support operations the vicious inter-ethnic killing would quickly flare up again. Without a fully recruited TA, Britain could not keep up her life-saving work in places like Kosovo.' The Russian-made assault rifles were on display at the recently opened East Midlands-based national Reserve Mobilisation Centre. One of the weapons was found hidden in a rubbish skip in the centre of the busy Kosovan capital, Pristina, loaded and ready for action. Another was abandoned in the street by a group of small children who scattered as a British patrol approached. The weapons are part of a growing haul still being recovered from people's homes and hidden stores across the country. All part-time troops bound for operations overseas go through preparations at the centre, in Nottingham, before flying out. Dozens of soldiers from the Leicestershire's five TA bases have already been through the system. Leicester's TA Day display will take place in the Haymarket shopping centre on Saturday, 31 March, between 10am and 4pm. The TA's bases in Brentwood Road, Ulverscroft Road, and in Tigers Road, South Wigston, will also be open .

PLEASE SEND ORIGINAL PHOTOS ONLY

Guns of Kosovo — Sgt Sarah Alsop from Loughborough

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS
CO Lt Col Nigel Harrison MBE
RSM WOl (RSM) Colin Milne
HEADQUARTER SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Bill Evans TD
SSM WO2 (SSM) CliveHowland

Current members and ex members of Headquarter Squadron were presented with their well deserved medals by the Regimental Honorary Colonel, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB, on Saturday 10 March 2001 at Manor Top TAC, Sheffield. The presentation was followed by a buffet in the Warrant Officers' and Sergeants' Mess, which was enjoyed by the recipients and their families.

Back Row (L-R): Lt Col N. P. Harrison MBE (CO), Mr A. Austin, Cpl P. Allan, Mr A. Thwaites, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB (Hon Col), WO 1 (RSM) C. Milne
Front Row (L-R): Mr E. Hurt, Maj W. F. Evans TD, Mr G. Findlay, Maj J. Ahern TD, Mr L. Tidy
Mr Len Tidy, Mr Grant Findlay and Mr Ted Hurt were awarded the Imperial Service Medal for a combined total of over 96 years Civil Service

87TH (CITY OF NOTTINGHAM) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)
Sqn Comd Maj David Tomlinson TD
SSM WO2 (SSM) Vicky Hardy

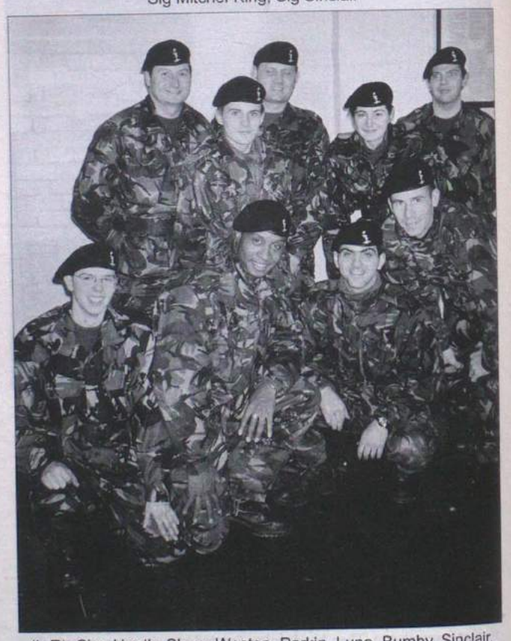
The Squadron has now well recovered from the New Year festivities and some are now quietly panicking to ensure that all ITD's are complete. We are entering the BOUNTY zone! Recruiting remains buoyant within the Squadron, we are bringing in some very talented people. The current group is gelling together and enjoying the training! Despite being out in the elements all weekend they were still enthusiastic and full of smiles when they returned to the TA Centre on Sunday night. The mixture of talents within the group is wide, with three students, a teacher, a dancer, an engineer, a cook and last but not least a natural comedian; Sig Mitchel-King an ex-regular member of the Parachute Regiment, but it does help if you are mad enough to jump out of serviceable aircraft.

Sig Mitchel-King, Sig Sinclair



(L-R): Sigs Heath, Shaw, Weston, Parkin, Lune, Bumby, Sinclair, Matto, Mitchel-King

To blow away the cobwebs the JRC organised an all ranks function to cheer people up. Cpls James 'Baby' Paton and Cpl Kev 'I'll make that' Bedford and the rest of the JRC committee conspired to lay on a Hawaiian evening to brush away the winter blues. In charge of the bar was SSgt Pete 'Trust me I'm a Medic' Wand who displayed a hidden talent concocting a wide variety of salubrious cocktails! Some required a knife and fork to eat as they had so much fruit in them! He even managed to produce some nonalcoholic cocktails. Large quantity leftovers, free to a good home! The theme for the evening was definitely relaxed as can be seen below, with everyone enjoying dressing up! The OC Squadron, Maj David Tomlinson, was dared to wear a hula skirt, however, no photographic evidence has yet come to light. The search goes on.

(L-R): SSgt Newman, George! SSgt Dye, Cpl Bedford, LCpl Magas Kneeling (L-R): Cpl Keay, Cpl Brittain

A first appearance was recently made by our youngest recruit, six month old Jodie Toft, with her mother Helen, a Corporal CMT RAMC with the Squadron. Jodie has close ties with 87 Sig Sqn as her father is Sgt Craig Toft the MT Sergeant and her grandfather is Maj (Ret'd) Ron Toft a past OC of the Squadron. Only another 17 years to wait. Perhaps we will all have Number 8 dress by then!

EXERCISE ARRCADE GUARD 2001

March 2001 - a Squadron under the command of Maj David Tomlinson was trained and ready to deploy in support of 1 Signal Brigade on Ex Arrcade Guard Trialing NCRS + (WAN over HF radio links). Then the Foot and Mouth outbreaks hit Europe the day the troops were due to deploy. At short notice the exercise was cancelled. Contingency plans swung into action and the trials were transferred to all points of the UK -inside training areas belonging to 14 Signal Regiment, 30 Signal Regiment, and 32 Signal Regiment. The advance party, which left these shores before the borders closed were stranded in Holland at Maastricht with SSgt 'Daddy' Burton and Capt Bev 'Snapper' Swift. Although not sure when they would get back – they set up two Dets on the sports-field at AFNORTH and communicated back to the 'HUB' based in Sheffield then Brawdy in South Wales. ADAPTABILITY IS THE NAME OF THE GAME - and the Regiment showed that it could adapt as the scenario changed -almost hour by hour! Cpl Heather Blair shows NATO members of 1 Company AFNORTH based at Maastricht, Holland how easily she can erect a 15m pneumatic mast with a couple of team mates. 'They were very keen to see how easily the masts were put up -, as their masts need 8 Men to put them up!' said Cpl Blair.

38 Signal Regiment (V) demonstrates the 'new ' pneumatic mast to NATO Troops at Maastricht

HOUSE HUSBAND TO COMPUTER GURU

Sgt Barry Baldwin (HQ Squadron) left the domestic chores and child care worries behind when he deployed to Maastricht as the Network Administrator for the two Dets based there on the NCRS+ trials. Sgt Baldwin who also works as a storeman in HQ Sqn was propelled into this important role because of his civilian qualifications. He looked after the NT server and engineered the system before handing over to the Signals Operators. Although he has a Computer Science degree - when his son Jack came along he agreed to be the 'house husband' while his partner does the nine to five job. 'It's very rewarding looking after my son - and it allows me to put extra time in with the TA'

CORPORAL SWIFT-A REAL HIGH FLYER!

Cpl Swift - 64 Squadron was the only exercise casualty when she was literally blown away by the high winds at Brawdy. 'I stepped out of the vehicle and the next thing I was carried away like Mary Poppins!' she said. She got patched up by the medics and carried on typing - but using the remaining six fingers! Some of her colleagues found it amusing and she had to endure being called 'Fingers' for the rest of the exercise.

DON'T SEND US DIGITAL PHOTOS
as most of them are only saved at 72dpi, for publication they must be a minimum of 300-400dpi

NEWS FROM THE SQUADRONS

2 (CITY OF DUNDEE) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)

Sqn Comd Maj Eric Blyth
SSM WO2 (SSM) Lance Thornton-Granville

PROJECT SUNFLOWER UPDATE - by Capt Bob Davidson

The Christmas and New Year festivities were barely over when 12 members of the Squadron deployed, kicking and screaming, to the USAF base near Horseshoe Beach in West Central Florida. The purpose of the trip was to carry out training in the deployment of an aerostat, which is a major component in the Sunflower System and will soon be in service with the Squadron.

On arriving at the base on day one of the course, the team was greeted with the sight of the aerostat already inflated and secured to the mooring platform. This resulted in a number of comments; 'My it's chuffin' big!' (lots of people), 'Will you look at the hydraulics on that?' (Sgt Dave 'Let me show you my toolbox' Heap), 'Oh Shit!' (Capt Bob Davidson, Sqn Ops Officer).

The theory of 'Lighter Than Air' flight, pressure systems, hydraulics and rope splicing were just a few of the items in the programme. After a few days intensive training, working at strange hours of the day and night because of the dependency on the wind conditions, and complaining about the weather. Florida is not always as hot as the brochures make out and during the two weeks of training the team managed to experience the hottest and coldest days experienced in that part of Florida for over 40 years. The crew was getting to grips with their new toy and had managed a number of launches and recoveries of Aerostat No 5616. Of course it wasn't all hard work and the call of Orlando and Universal Studio's Islands of Adventure proved irresistible when we organised a day off over the middle weekend of the course. It has to be said that civilian contractors have yet to learn the power of that well known military cliché, 'You're in your own time now,' when it comes to packing away kit. What did they expect at 1145pm on a Friday night when the group was informed that our one day off was to be tomorrow, it took the 12 strong Squadron Team 25 minutes to pack everything away. Seven hours later we were in convoy down the I95 heading for Orlando and Universal Studios' Islands of Adventure.

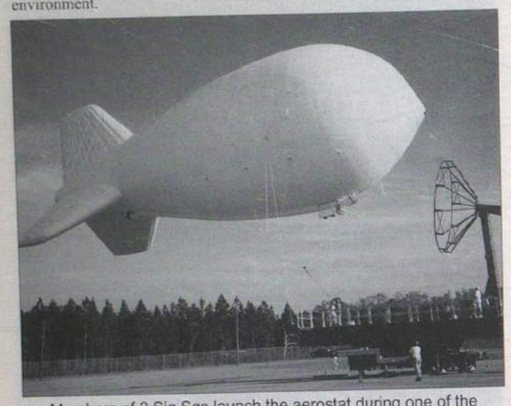
The second week flew by as we got to grips with procedures for inflation, deflation, launch, recovery and (please no) break - away drills. Being Florida, the sun didn't stay away for long, and true to form when the sun came out so did the Scottish white arms and legs, as those of us fresh from a Scottish winter took advantage. This was done much to the amusement of the locals who were still well wrapped up and regard the low 20s C as 'freezing'. One of the highlights must have been when she reached her normal operational altitude of 4500ft for the first time and thanks to the clear blue sky, we were able to see her in her own environment.



Members of 2 Sig Sqn launch the aerostat during one of the training missions at Horseshoe Beach, Florida

By the end of the second week we were all skilled enough to walk away from Horseshoe Beach confident in the knowledge that we could take control of this highly technical piece of equipment. There was one minor detour on our route home, unfortunately our flight plan meant that we had to spend 12 hours in New York on the way back to Glasgow. All too soon we were home to the anticlimax of 'business as usual' and await the arrival of the equipment in the UK so we can demonstrate and pass on the skills to the other members of the Squadron during Ex Mercury Rising our annual camp in July.

WO2 ANDY WATERSTON DINING OUT - by Sgt Tracey Waterston

The date was set then reset, all to accommodate the Scotland v Italy rugby match. The menu picked, the gift bought all that was left was to dine Andy out in style. I decided that it was time to experience the delights of top table dining and accompanied Andy as Mrs Tracey Waterston, this also meant that I had to behave, or at least try to. It was an excellent opportunity to purchase a new dress for my very small wardrobe. After a lovely glass of sherry in the mess we were led down to the drill hall, which conveniently converts into a lavish banquet room (thanks to RQMS Bert 'No you can't have that, stores are for storing don't you know' Wright). As we stood to say grace Andy a blue nose through and through spots something on the edge of the table, a little poem from SSgt George Cowan which read, 'He is blue, he is white he is something dynamite, Caniggia! Caniggia! Caniggia!' for those in the know Dundee beat Rangers the previous weekend, not only that but Dundee United also beat them midweek, just reminding you in case you had forgotten Andy! This was taken in good spirits until it came to speech time? The whole mess remembers Andy's infamous Immortal Memory speech of 35 minutes! We got ourselves comfortable and made sure our glasses were full, (SSgt Bob 'I can drink more than you can Bob' Tasker and Sgt Bob 'No! I can drink more than you can Bob' Murray) took this opportunity to drink, refill, drink and refill their glasses thanks to 'Albie' our wine waitor. Andy was presented with a Signaller in Combat 95 courtesy of the Corps Museum and a pair of wellington boots, for those in the know. The Squadron wishes to thank Andy for all his hard work and dedication to Squadron life throughout his tenure as SSM and previous years in recruit troop. Andy has left to take up the post of WO1 (RSM) at the Angus and Dundee Battalion ACF, we all wish him well. PS. Andy thank-you for your desk, chair, coat hooks and pictures which you kindly donated to Comms Troop, well Tracey said just take them before he comes back.

20 ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (200)

Sqn Comd Maj I. G. Standen
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. Lawes

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

In December the Squadron completed its planned move to Talbot Barracks, Sennelager and the RSM is glad to be back with the lads in the same camp, as much as they are glad to have him there! The Squadron Ops Team led by Capt Simon Gough had no sooner unpacked their slippers and smoking jackets before they were deployed with the Squadron on Ex Mailed Maestro 2 around the Sennelager Training Area. The Squadron was put through its paces by the gruesome twosome WO2s (YofS) Al Roberts and (FofS) Andy Dawson with sleep deprivation being high on the agenda. Sgt Jay Shuttleworth said it was the best exercise he had ever been on and was glad the Training Wing had joined SHQ.

Maj Iain Standen presented YofS Al Roberts with his Warrant

Fond farewells are bid to Capt Ben Fitch as he has departed on his JSCC course; the women of Paderborn are still in mourning!

Left Capt Ben Fitch
receiving his armoured fist from the OC Maj Iain Standen

Welcome to Capt Phil Muir who has hot-footed it from his attachment with the RRF to steady the ship. We would like to congratulate him on his wedding to Deborah and wish then all the best for the future. The team is now well into the planning for the Squadron's deployment to Kosovo in November.

CHEQUE PRESENTED TO THE COMMANDER 20th ARMOURED BRIGADE

WO 1 (RSM) Lawes, WO1 Trevor Berry, WO2 Graeham Beech, Cpl Arthur Dayley, Cpl Ross Thubron and Cpl Dave Robins returned to England to compete in the Great North run. SSgt Hank Cappleman provided the Admin Support for the event. The team travelled back to Newcastle and competed in the half marathon alongside 49 000 other runners. After 13 miles and several OGGY OGGY OGGY's and frantic waving at the BBC TV cameras the event had finished. They were given a medal and a T-shirt each. The Team collected several thousand DM's. The other event, which collected money for the Commanders fund was the Games night in the Gauntlet Bar, organised by Cpl Tris Dunbar. This was a successful evening and with the money collected from the Great North Run a cheque for DM4000 was presented to the Commander 20th Armd Bde.

(L-R): Brig J. R. Cook OBE MC receiving a cheque from Cpl Tris Dunbar Back Row (L-R): RQMS Graeham Beech, RSM Lawes, WO1 Trevor Berry, SSgt Hank Cappleman, Sgt Eddie Corcoran

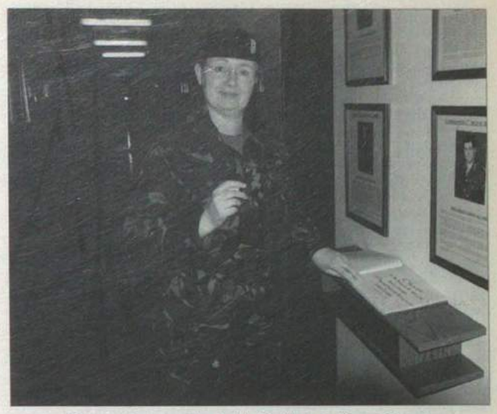
VISITS

The Commander of 20 Armd Bde and Paderborn Garrison, Brig J. R. Cook OBE MC, recently made his first visit to his Brigade Signal Squadron at their new home in Talbot Barracks, Sennelager. During the visit he unveiled a plaque to mark the unit's occupation of the barracks, before touring the site to view the refurbishments and meet the soldiers. He finished the visit by having tea with the unit's officers, warrant officers and Senior NCOs.

(L-R): OC Maj Iain Standen and Brig J. R. Cook OBE MC after unveiling the plaque in Talbot Barracks

The move of 20 Armd Bde HQ and Sig Sqn (200) into Talbot Barracks completes a process that began in the summer of 1999. In order to free up space in Barker Barracks for other units, the bulk of the Signal Squadron moved to a temporary home in Antwerp Barracks whilst the Squadron Headquarters remained in Barker Barracks. This situation had remained so until just before Christmas 2000 when the unit was finally able to collocate in a single location in Talbot Barracks. Talbot Barracks offers living, eating and working areas all on a single site, a rare occurrence for a Brigade Signal Squadron. Prior to the unit's occupation of the barracks it was extensively refurbished and will continue to be developed over forthcoming months, making it a tremendous asset, which the unit is very pleased to have secured. The Deputy Garrison Commander, Col Lynn Relph (late Royal Signals) also visited the Squadron recently and spent the afternoon touring Talbot Barracks and talking to the soldiers.



Deputy Commander Col L. Relph late Royal Signals on her visit around the Squadron

ALPHA TROOP - by LCpl Davies

Tp Comd Lt S. Hughes
Tp SSgt SSgt R. D. Burrows

During the past two months we have lost some good faces from Alpha Tp. First of all we shall say our good-byes to LCpl Sam Hall who has gone to Blandford on his Class 1, Sig Martin and Sig Weller who have gone to sunny Ireland, cheers for your graft lads. We also have to say good-byes to our personnel on detachments. Firstly our Arctic warrior, LCpl Dodge, then LCpl Barritt and Sig Harrison who have gone on a four-month holiday to Batus, don't forget the postcard. Finally Sig Ashdown who is in Poland on Ex Prairie Eagle. Sig Heathcote who is leaving us soon, is going to Civ Div, best of luck Petal! LCpl Knox and LCpl Collins have decided to go on the beat and transfer to the RMPs, morning all! Out go the old, in with the new. We'd like to welcome Sgt Giffin from 14 Sig Regt, Sig Gordon from 16 Air Asslt, Sigs Brown, Virtue, Robson and Bevan all fresh from the factory

BRAVO TROOP - by Sig Kean

Tp Comd Lt J. Acton
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Gibbins

After returning from some well-earned Christmas leave it was back to business as normal for the Troop. With over half the Troop either away at the Corps Skiing Championships or on courses it was a busy few weeks for the remainder. Lt Acton, Cpl Harris and Sigs Light, Anderton, Bogart, Harris, Walker and Fearn were the select few who took part in the Corps Skiing Championships. Well done to all and extra congratulations to Sig Bogart who won various events in the Nordic Individual Novice categories and was selected as an individual for the Army Championships.

Early in the year an 'H' licence-driving course was held for the members of the Troop still to earn their panzer wings. LCpl Cooper and Sig Beavis passed with flying colours and are now truly part of the Armoured Brotherhood. The move of the Squadron from Antwerp Barracks to Talbot Barracks was completed in the New Year. After many months of waiting the single soldiers of the Troop were told their new accommodation block was ready and the move was accomplished quickly over the weekend. Everyone seems pleased with the new block especially Sig Walker who has a very scenic view of the RSM's office from his window. During the first week of March it was our annual commitment to JOTES. We set up various comms stands for the junior officers to be tested on. The comeback was good but next year, don't forget to bring your wellies! Ex Mailed Maestro was also held in March, a tough four days, but much was learnt. SSgt Gibbins has entered a team involving many of the Troop for the Nijmegen Marches in June. He has come up with an intensive training programme and training has begun in earnest. Many people have a tough decision to make - whether 25 miles a day for four days will be better than a week at work.

Welcome back to Cpl Nix who has returned from his Class 1. Farewell to LCpl Dickenson who is posted to Northern Ireland, your hard work for the Troop will be missed. Lastly congratulations to Sigs Walker, Anderton, Jones, Lewis and Cooper on their promotion and a big hello to Sigs Young and Mills from trade training and Sigs Ferris and Beavis who have seen the light and transferred from Alpha Troop.

IN AT THE DEEP END - by Cpl Nix

On my return to Bravo Tp after a busy six month course in Blandford (no, really, it was), I was literally thrown in at the deep end. I had timed return just right for a squadron exercise - how lucky I felt. To top it all off I was informed that I was to be the Complex Corporal. I had to get our Troop Staffy to say that a couple of times before it sank in. This was the weird bit; here I was a panzer virgin with not a clue at all. To say I was worried would be an understatement. With just about zero time to prep the wagons as per usual we deployed onto the training area for what was to become a very steep learning curve. G3 Ops deployed with a crew of Sig Alex Light, a new lad to the Troop, Kev Beavis and myself.

Due to the Squadron's under manning because of a lot of people away on courses, we could only deploy one headquarters. So with a mixture of Bravo and Alpha Tp we began. The first move and set up was slow but sure and I put it down to the cobwebs that needed blowing out, (I prayed it was, anyway. The RSM was biting his lip!). It was at this point the whole exercise started to go into a blur as we were moving two to three times a day and the lads and lasses soon started to gel together as a team. The Exercise was a mixture of everything with Moves, Comms, Rolling Replens, NBC (we're so lucky), Anti-ambush drills and Defence of a Comms Site. All in all a lot to take in when you haven't had much sleep. My job did start getting easier as we progressed - I soon learnt that it is impossible to do everything yourself. Once people had their own jobs to do and knew where and when things were expected to happen, the load became lighter.

The Complex was going up a lot quicker, the comms were going in, and the only real problem that still hindered us was the cam nets, which were either miles too big for the wagons, or like cling-film on them. By the end of the week when we rolled back into the garages everyone had learnt something. It had all come together: we were working as a team and it showed. Everyone was totally exhausted (an average of three hours sleep per person during the week). We were glad to see the end and get into the bar for a few beers. I walked away with a slight smile. I had survived without too many run-ins with the senior ranks. I had learnt a lot about the Complex side of a brigade and found out just how many arguments start over guards.

TEN PIN BOWLING TEAM - by LCpl Si Jones and LCpl Lee Gobie

This year was the first year that 200 Sig Sqn had decided to send in a bowling team to the Army Bowling Championships in Leeds. The previous year LCpl Si Jones, who became the Serving Army Bowling Champion for the year 2000, had represented them. Not only was this a competition for the team but it was a chance for LCpl Si Jones to defend his title. The Team was comprised of personnel from both Alpha and Bravo Troops. LCpl Si Jones (Team Captain), LCpl Karl Flannagan, LCpl 'Taff' Barritt and LCpl Lee Gobie. The Squadron had done their best to get the team back to the competition by first trying to get flights and when this fell through, as bowling is not a recognised sport, they paid for a ferry ticket and gave some financial support to the team. This resulted in LCpl Lee Gobie needing to persuade his wife to give him the car, and, begging on the phone, he finally achieved his aim. The team left Germany on Thursday 1 March and drove to York where 2 Sig Regt supplied their accommodation. The competition was a three-day event, starting with the singles bowling on Friday morning. This was the main competition for all participants. In the afternoon came the doubles team event with two teams comprising LCpl Si Jones, LCpl Lee Gobie, LCpl Karl Flannagan and LCpl 'Taff' Barritt. That brought about the end of the first day's bowling, overall not a bad day was had by all. We eagerly awaited the results, which left LCpl Si Jones in first place and the rest of the team in good positions.

Saturday was the team's day of rest in preparation for Sunday, the main event of the whole competition, the team bowling. We, as the Team, were representing the Squadron in the Minor Units Trophy. We took this part of the competition most seriously, as this was what was going to fill the Squadron Trophy Cabinet. Although the Team bowled well together they did not have enough points to clinch second place so had to be happy with third. The disappointing thing for the Team was that there were no prizes for third place. However, congratulations to the Team for getting this far. LCpl Si Jones was the only member of the team ranked high enough to play further games in the competition and take part in the Army Championship. He ended up third overall in serving members, the title of Serving Army champion going to WO2 Andy Griffin from 1 (UK) Armd Div, congratulations to him.

Commiseration to LCpl Si Jones for not retaining the title and congratulations to the whole Team for doing so well. LCpl Si Jones went on to play for the Army team. At the time of print there were no results. Once again we would like to thank 200 Sig Sqn for their help and dedication in getting the bowling team to the Army Championships. Well done to everyone that entered.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt K. Jones
Tp Sgt Sgt A. Haslem

EXERCISE WINTER TRAINING BAVARIA 2001

by Sig Jase Brown

The journey down to Haus Drie Muhlen was a long but worth while one. Sig Kev Bevis and myself were the only two from our Squadron. Sig Bevis was sent into the beginner group and I ended up in the advanced group. To start off with the snow was fantastic but after a while it got quite slushy. After hard days the evenings were spent wandering around the town or having a few sociable drinks. I enjoyed the two weeks and would like to have the chance to do it again.

Sig Jase Brown finding his skiing legs

4th ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (204)

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Sqn Comd Maj G. R. Norton
RSM WO1 (RSM) Craig

OSCAR TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Mike Parke

Another year and the fun began in earnest with 2nd lines, a Troop exercise and RSIT all in a short space of five weeks. Since then we have had a Squadron exercise and Exercise Prairie Eagle in Poland.

The Troop exercise actually saw Capt Paul McTurk deploy in the field for the first time in two years and now we can see why. No great incidents to report except for the two articulated lorries that Sig Rob Trotter was keen to get alongside. Sig 'Scott' Ashmore is sure he said to move right and not left. An enjoyable time but glad to see that the Admin office were back in camp night and day seeing to our every needs.

Poland was a first for a lot of people in the Troop and for the majority started off well with a marathon 20 hours sleeping session on the train journey with the armour. Once there it was a days exercise prep and then straight out into the field. The first few days were fast and furious with lots of moves practising for receiving the Staff for the final three days. By the time they did come our Troop skills and drills were fast and slick. There were a few casualties along the way, both vehicles and personnel. The worst event was a cross-country move in which three vehicles, in their eagerness to practise the herringbone formation upon halting, all threw tracks within 300 metres of each other. At the end of the exercise phase and before the recovery to Osnabruck, there was a squadron smoker with skits, the Troop got off quite lightly but the usual people (OC, RSM, 2Lt 'Fi Fi' Taft of Papa Tp) all got some flak. The culmination of the whole Poland experience was the long awaited train journey home. After the Tp OC had spent an hour arguing with a non-English speaking Polish female train official about how the armour should be correctly chained on (lots of arm waving and gesticulating). It turned out she had been running a delaying tactic to hide the fact that the Polish locomotive had not turned up to pull the train. Everyone then got on the train and collapsed into sleep. Upon our return to Osnabrück it was straight into the full exercise turnaround and then preparations for Rhino Charge before going on Easter leave.

The Troop would like to welcome Sigs Dave Doble, Dougie McCutcheon (and his amazing wardrobe), 'Whizzer Whitham' and Cpl Ricky Curran and family to the delights of Osnabruck. Inter Troop postings have seen in Lt Mike Parke at the start of February who has come to the dark side from Papa troop. We now have two lowly techs Cpl Dan Taylor and LCpl O'Donovan who are getting along well (as well as can be expected) and now saving the Army money by not wearing the seat of their pants out by being in the technical workshops. Farewells go to LCpl 'Scotty' Robertson who has gone to 16 Air Asslt Bde, Sig Scott Walker to Civ Div, and Capt Paul McTurk to 1 Div before going off to carry out his transfer to the AAC. All the best to you all! We are all looking forward to the forthcoming year and all it brings especially Oman.

PAPA TROOP - by LCpl Rose

Tp Comd SSgt Davis

It's no great surprise to hear that Papa Tp are wading through another busy period (is there any other sort?). Troop and Squadron Exercises have all rolled into one, culminating with exercise Prairie Eagle over the period 8 March to 6 April 2001, in that lovely place called Poland (which still seems to be the coldest place around).

Exercise Prairie Eagle started off being very busy for Papa Tp with four moves a day. This did not last long because as the Exercise progressed we lost most of our manpower to Oscar Troop, ending up with only two guys from Papa Tp manning the HQ, an experience in itself. Thanks go out to the guys who helped (bailed) Oscar Troop out! Most of the Troop returned to sunny Osnabruck a week early with the remainder staying to run EXCON. At least Pay 2000 has arrived to divert our attention (or aggression!). To say that it has been well received is probably the 'Understatement of the Year'. The main effort for April is Rhino Charge which, all being well, should start on or around 23 April, after the Troop return from a well deserved leave.

Some of the funny sides to the past few weeks have been LCpl Frazier Anderson and Sig Nicky Earl staring into each others eyes on the two man sniff test during the NBC phase of Ex Prairie Eagle, though they did look quite a match for each other. The Troop would like to say thank you to the 2IC, Capt White, for entertaining the Troop with a practical demo on how NOT to put a bench up, thanks Sir. Sig Earl and LCpl Dinsdale from Oscar Tp went off for a bit of quality time during the set up phase of the Exercise. Unfortunately they became geographically challenged, but luckily could see signposts for 'Droga Powowa'. Sadly this is the equivalent to looking for the town of 'Ausfahrt' when driving along a German Autobahn. By nightfall, and after much Turfer winch practice, they were safely back at EXCON.

It's been like musical chairs recently with Sgt Charlie 'Chuck' Henson takes his subtle nature to RSS Blandford…God help them. Good luck Charlie and Debbie in your new posting. LCpl Jamie Masters has gone the same way. Sig Kev Wright has also gone to Blandford with the White Helmets. Good luck for the future lads. Another farewell goes to LCpl Gus Crawford on promotion and posting to PJHQ, all the best. Finally we would like to say welcome to LCpl Bob Rankin and family who join us from 3 ADSR. Sigs Ian 'Mank' Muirhead and Craig 'Veitchy' Virtue from the school of excellence. Welcome to you all and we hope you enjoy your tour with 4 Brigade. To conclude a busy month again, we look forward to the new challenges that April and May will undoubtedly bring us, and we also look forward to the arrival of our new Troop Commander, 2Lt Henderson, who will be joining us in April 2001.

7 ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (207)

Sqn Comd Maj Mark Roberts
RSM WO1(RSM) Mark Tivey

THE RELUCTANT STAFF OFFICER - Capt Steve 'Laughing Boy' Abram

As I prepare to depart on my reckless way for the Junior Division of Staff College I thought it would be appropriate that, as Second in Command, I should write the opening paragraph of the latest dispatch from 'The Desert Rats'. Already being the proud owner of a black dog (that could pass, at a distance through squinting eyes, for a black lab), head of a small family and having just ordered a four wheel drive (in which to do the weekly shop), I thought that my life was complete and that I required no further training in order to launch myself into the next world. I speak, of course, of that time in an Officers' career where the transition from Regimental Duty to Staff Officer becomes inevitable. I was of course wrong.

The field role of the 2IC of an Armoured Brigade Signal Squadron has always been, certainly in this Brigade, that of Recce Officer for the HQ complex, Echelon and other elements in support of the Bde HQ. In essence, as my former det commander, Cpl 'Sticky' Allardyce and sidekick, LCpl 'Magic' McDermott, will tell you this is a very exhaustive and often time consuming task. It is not easy trying to manage the Recce task and eat as much fast food / sweets / coffee as possible, do a spot of shopping at the PX, drive over some dodgy terrain 'because that looks like a bit of fun', then find somewhere quiet to park up so as not to be disturbed until the next day! I jest (slightly) of course, but this was not to be the case on my last two exercises with 'The Premier Brigade of The British Army'. The OC thought it was about time I got some Staff training in……

Imagine my surprise, on departure for Ex Rats Reminder in February, to be informed that 'No, you won't be needing the Landrover this time, Sir, just collect that large bag of Lumicolors, an eraser, and all that brew kit, 'cause you're fighting with the enemy this week!' Immediately checking that I was on the right fill, quick scan through the 2IC's job spec and tentatively checking my pulse, all confirmed that my worst fears had been realised. There was no escape, it was going to be me, G3 Ops and a pile of maps, Scotch tape and lumicolor – I was 'The Reluctant Staff Officer'. Having suffered the opening phase of the exercise with a tirade of titters and giggles at having been 'grounded' I entered the mysterious world of the inner sanctum, the nervous centre, the deployed 'puzzle palace' that is the HQ Complex. I had sited this monster many times before on the Bergen-Hohne training area and in the toxic industrial wastelands of Kosovo, but I had rarely dared to darken the doorstep of the complex in preference to the relative comfort of the Recce Rover. With a deep breath, followed by smacking my head on the red light in the foyer (an activity to be repeated throughout the following week!), I quietly slipped into the limelight, dumped my kit and found a perch. First task, mark the map. An easy task to cut my teeth on, although deciphering the COS's unintelligible scribbles on the talc was not simple; guidance from my mentors Capt Jason Etherington and Capt Simon Thomas, SO3 G2 proved useful. By the end of day one I was an expert in TAI's, NAI's, RL's, RFL's, TASKORG, Warning Orders, timelines, even the enemy's First Tactical Echelon was embedded in my slowly expanding 'Staff Brain'. Occasionally seeking refuge in Comms Ops for a brief return to earth, a cup of half decent coffee and some of the OpsO's biscuits (if Sig Woodhouse had left any!), this was the way that first exercise (stripped of the recce job) unfolded.

Rat's Reminder ended, and I emerged feeling confident that the transformation from 2IC to SO3 might not be as painful as I had initially expected. Glad that it was over, I quickly reverted to my old role of G1, Admin Officer, and bean counter! (To my predecessors - somethings never change). Perhaps resting on my laurels a little too much, I was slightly unsettled to realise that the next deployment, Brigade CAST in March, would see SO3 G3 Pens/Reluctance in the field once more without his wheels! I accept now that the end is nigh for me as a 2IC, but the future is not all doom and gloom - I dare to say that I am even looking forward to it now!

It is uncanny, but it seems like only yesterday that we came back from Op Agricola 3. As I type the Squadron is embedded into preparation for deployment back to Kosovo, and as you read, the Squadron will already be well on the way to delivering the first elements of manpower and equipment in to theatre. It will be almost as if we'd never left. However the Squadron is keenly looking forward to another successful tour, and adorning the earlier pages of The Wire again (I say this latter point with some confidence as Capt Adam 'The General' Corkery is no longer in charge of the submission of Wire Notes for 7 ABSS!). Anyway, in order to avoid breaking with tradition the Troops now report on their activities over the past month. As for me, I accept that I will probably now be 'crated' by friends past and present for finally getting my name in The WIRE! To Capt Stuart Whittley, of 2 Sig Regt - Be Prepared!

'This scene looks familiar!'

THE COMPETITIVE SPIRIT

Sporting achievement is not always an easy thing for as small a unit as ourselves to attain. However, I am glad to report that despite the onslaught of exercises and operational deployments (not forgetting SSI's and LSI's) the Red Rat is very much 'Alive and Kicking' on the sports field. Earlier this year the Red Rat Rugby Club achieved the pinnacle of their field in qualifying as finalists in the BF(G) Minor Units Rugby. A bitterly hard fought contest against our old adversaries, 4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn, the final result was difficult to predict. Of course the score line cast the last vote, but it could have easily gone either way. Victorious in defeat, the team went on to prove their worth with style and panache, emerging (somewhat wearily) from an equally well played 'third half'!

The arrival of SSgt Sanderson has led to the birth of our latest most popular sport, Hockey. With good leadership and motivation SSgt Sanderson has quickly realised our potential with success in a very short period of time. First onto the rostrum were the ladies' Hockey team who won the title of BF(G) Hockey Champions, followed swiftly by an emerging mens' team who secured the trophy as Hohne Garrison Major Units Hockey Champions. Players of particular note were SSgt Sanderson and Sig Stubbs (who was the secret weapon for our side, being a 'cack handed' player he completely threw the opposition). Also there, representing the Sqn by playing for other teams were LCpl Saunders and LCpl Barney. On the football pitch, the Squadron Team, led by SSgt Tim Parker, currently commands the top of our league in the Minor Units competition. It is hoped that once the last few games are fixed in the rapidly diminishing diary, we will emerge victorious. In terms of individual achievement, the spotlight has been firmly on Cpl McTurk, who continues to represent the Squadron and the Corps at BFG, Army and Inter-Service Badminton, achieving much success. She has now, quite deservedly, convinced the OC to buy her a new racquet from Squadron funds!

For those less sporty, the competitive spirit abounds in other arenas. Inter Troop paint balling has been a bit of a theme over the past month. Alpha and Bravo Troops battled it out recently with LCpl 'Love God' Jennings and Sig Mark 'Legless' Fairley getting the Firing Squad treatment for no apparent reason. This was followed by Ops/ES and Support Troop with an equally successful day out. Support Tp emerged victorious from their battle with the individual Sniper Trophy going to Sgt Jim Pritchard for his snake in the grass routine, beating LCpl Si Pereira with a single shot as he was celebrating Kosovo style on the track.

So beware the opposition! The Desert Rats are out there competing at many levels and to a great standard, a trend that it is hoped will continue when we return from Kosovo in November. Next year we are in a heavy training year and the calendar is already packed, but we will be eagerly defending our current titles and battling hard to get our hands on 'the ones that got away'!

'The Storm Troopers of Support Troop'

ALPHA TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Karen Moore
Tp SSgt SSgt Andy Buckle

At the beginning of March the Squadron deployed to Sennelager for the Brigade CAST exercise, where Alpha Tp's famous LCpl Maton had to re-wire the whole of CMSC and spent 38hrs with no crewman, he would like to thank Capt Hill for that. After the exercise we returned to the delights of Hohne, where some of the Troop were immediately sent on their way, with minimum time for turn around, to Fallingbostel. This time providing support to 1 Black Watch's conversion exercise. Unfortunately there was no translator available, so the lads didn't have a clue what was being said on the nets! Finally the Troop would like to say farewell to Capt Hill, good luck in your future employment (you'll need it!), and welcome to Sig Miller, hope you have a happy stay.

BRAVO TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Johnnie Nicol
Tp SSgt SSgt Dave Sloane

The Troop would like to congratulate SSgt 'Dave' Sloane on his recent promotion to WO2. We would also like to say hello to LCpl Fox, LCpl Brewer, Sigs Barton and O'Connor, and a goodbye to Capt Corkery, Sigs 'Ronnie' Barker and 'Michelle' Cowley - best of luck for the future. Also good luck in Canada to Sig 'Kerry' Hopkinson, we will see you in Kosovo in July!

OPS/ES TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Ollie Dinnis
Tp SSgt SSgt Sanderson

Firstly the goodbyes. Ops/ES bid a fond farewell to SSgt Dave Baddeley on his departure to Civ Div, Cpl Baz Park to 238 Sig Sqn, Sig 'Taff' Hughes, to 1 (UK) Civ Div and also to Cpl 'Yoda' Holloway and LCpl 'Goat' Butler who depart the LAD for the last time. A big welcome is extended to SSgt 'Sandy' Sanderson, Sig Laura Ward, Sig Chris Barr and Sig Lee Barney. Congratulations to the last three mentioned previously on their promotion to Lance Corporal. Recently the Troop took to four wheels, donned crash helmets and went go-karting, with mixed results. It was decided that LCpl Butler was the winner, of course that had nothing to do with the fact that it was his leaving do. A unanimous decision was had by all that LCpl 'Finbar' Saunders, who thought he was Nigel Mansell, was disappointed when it turned out he was more like Postman Pat when he came out with a fourth place finish. Sig 'Stubbsy' Stubbs who also thought he was a Nigel but turned out to be a bit of a flop as he kept crashing. Finally farewell to WO2 (YofS) Mark Dennis, Alison and 'Oh F!' the dog, who move on promotion to 16 Sig Regt. The shortest tour with the Squadron on record! Big congratulations also to LCpl Chris Barr and his wife Lisa for the latest edition to their family, a baby girl Chloe.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt (QM) Jon Duckworth
Tp SSgt Sgt Jim Pritchard

With many postings in and out, exercises and a little bit of an LSI, this has been a turbulent period for the Troop. Farewell's first to Capt (QM) Dave Wilson and Colleen who have moved on promotion to 15 Sig Regt, Cpl Den Nordon and Debbie who disappear to AFNORTH in Holland, Cpl Zac Topping and family, posted to 16 Sig Regt and Sig 'Glass Back' Milne who moves on to 11 Sig Regt. Last but by no means least, goodbye also to LCpl Andy Long and Sig 'Mr' Danny Knutton who both step out into the big wide world. The Troop extends a warm welcome to Capt Jon Duckworth, Claire and George, LCpl Paz Parry from 16 Sig Regt and Sigs Shirley, Smyth and Donnelly from RSS (Holiday Camp) Blandford. Finally congratulations to LCpl Si 'Snake Hips' Pereira, who steps in the door to be promoted to Corporal.

16 AIR ASSAULT BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (216)

Sqn Comd Maj N. D. Fraser
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. Drew

INTRODUCTION

Life at both the Brigade HQ and the Squadron remains ever hectic despite the training restrictions brought about by the Foot and Month epidemic. In barracks training has formed the basis of the weekly program since the restrictions came into being with the imaginations of the Ops Cell, Training Wing and Tp Comds being pushed to the limit. SHQ has been kept firmly on its toes reacting to the ever changing exercise plot dictated by the Brigade HQ, while attempting to address the establishment review and general 'house keeping' with the time brought about by the enforced pause. Jumps courses are continuing, as is P Coy (albeit inside the wire at ITC Catterick) and the Squadron Preparation Course.

The posting plot remains fluid – goodbyes go to the MTO, Capt Mark Schofield and his wife Sally, who depart for Germany and 280 Sig Sqn in particular. Your efforts in guarding the PRI funds as though they was your own will never be forgotten! Also goodbyes go to Cpls Childs, Perry, Clancy and Wilson who leave for 238 Sig Sqn, 249 (AMF(L)) Sig Sqn and 3 (UK) Div Sig Regt respectively – good luck in the future to you all. Welcomes go to Capt Mark Rouse and his family whom arrive from Germany – remember thriftiness is next to godliness when it comes to PRI funds! Other postings in have been numerous and a big welcome goes to you all.

On a sadder note this year's Lanyard Trophy competition has been postponed until 17-19 October. Further details can be obtained on Col Mil 2739 – WO1 (RSM) Drew. As mentioned above All Arms P Coy is still running despite the Foot and Mouth epidemic – what can be a better opportunity to get on it while other commitments are being cut! Go to it.

EXERCISE NATIVE TRAIL - by Cpl Hughes

Early in January I headed off to the 'sweat-pit' more commonly known as Belize on Ex Native Trail with 1 Bty 7 Para RHA. Many of the soldiers taking part on the exercise were 'jungle virgins', including myself. We therefore attended a basic jungle course on which we learnt a variety of skills such as survival. The course covered the construction of shelters, collecting and purifying water, making traps, building fires for cooking and food preparation techniques. Learning how to kill and skin pigs and chickens was one of the highlights of the basic course. The river crossing was also very interesting. We swam across in five teams, while a safety boat provided defensive cover against crocodiles.

After the basic course I was based at Augustine Camp on the edge of the 'J', where I was employed in my primary role of fixing radios. The rest of the lads went on to an intermediate jungle course that included field firing and an FTX. The jungle is a harsh environment, however we benefited enormously from an excellent standard of training provided by the Jungle Warfare Instructors. It made us all feel more comfortable about dealing with and overcoming any situation that arose.

For adventure training I spent five days in St Georges Caye, holding on tightly to a windsurfer in the Caribbean Sea. After much hard work and even more patience I gained my Level 1 Windsurfing qualification. Other courses that were available included scuba diving, canoeing and sailing. For a well-deserved break at the end of the exercise we had four days R&R and I chose to go to San Pedro. Others went to Cancun (Mexico), Honduras or Cay Corker.

EXERCISE EAGLE'S FLIGHT

The end of January saw the elements of the squadron deploying on Ex Eagle's Flight, a Brigade Level FTX on Salisbury Plain. A Tp's Bde Main HQ provided an EXCON function in order to keep track of the various battle groups and support units involved. In addition to the provision of EXCON communications A Tp was also able to conduct its own rebro exercise. Its rebro detachments were moved all over the area, primarily by helicopter, in order to practice the establishment of rebro networks. Such training is vital as the efficient deployment of such detachments is key to how the Squadron does its business. This phase proved to be a great success. The training culminated in competition in which detachments were pitched against one another in a fully tactical set-up race. This clash of the titans almost saw Sig Bellamy take the victory, but his cam net became 'airborne' at the last moment and the glory instead went to Sig Currie. Sig Bacon's efforts were perhaps the least glorious as, during a road move, shouts of, 'Let's off road,' became cries of 'Let's call for recovery,' as he got himself bogged in!

During the second week a few members of the Troop were employed as rear link teams working directly with the Battle Groups. Battle group taskings included the securing of two airfields by TALO insertion in order to allow the AAC to conduct deep strikes using its attack helicopters. The rear link teams provided man pack HF (PRC-319) and UHF (PRC-346) comms and deployed by both Chinook and C-130. They were a great success despite the magnificent men in their flying machines dropping one force at the wrong end of the airfield!

REBRO moving into location during Exercise Eagle's Flight

Eagle's Flight also provided the opportunity to shake out the Squadron's parachute inserted TAC Headquarters elements supplied by Charlie Tp. Unfortunately the weather once again triumphed over the parachute but undaunted the Brigadier, his staff and Charlie Tp deployed by CH 47. On landing Charlie Tp deployed Light TAC. This man portable headquarters is designed to afford the Brigade Commander and his staff maximum flexibility to move around the battlefield and is also established to provide a near immediate TAC Headquarters following a parachute insertion. The man-pack rebro was also deployed in order to establish robust VHF comms. With the notional parachute insertion a success the race was on to recce a site for, then establish the more substantial parachute deployable vehicle-borne Brigade TAC Headquarters which is based around two TULs and a 12' by 12' tent. This was initially located at a notional heavy drop DZ site, where it would have landed had an Airborne Taskforce insertion happened for real.

Once the Brigade Recce Officers' party had chosen a suitable location Brigade TAC was quickly set up and established on a number of exercise nets. With the deployment phase achieved, the COS ordered us into the TAB'ing phase. The staff and Signallers set off on foot in small groups to the extraction point where a CH 47 took us to the EXCON location. All in the entire shake out proved an excellent opportunity to practice the Brigade TAC assets with a view to further enhancing the deployment SO1s.

GRADE 3 ARMY MINOR UNITS BOXING

The Squadron has dedicated significant efforts in recent months to the Grade 3 Army Minor Units Boxing Competition. Run by the illustrious Capt Stott from Brigade HQ and coached by WO1 (QMSI) Berry, the team achieved a great deal in a short space of time. Its first confrontation came in the semi-final of the competition in which it took on 7 Coy, 1st Bn, The Coldstream Guards. This clash produced some excellent bouts, with the quality of boxing being of a very impressive standard. The team's hard work paid off spectacularly as they managed to secure a 5-2 victory over the Guards. Special mention should go to Sig Donnelly who achieved a convincing first round win. The final was against 9 (Para) Sqn RE and it took place in Aldershot on 8 March. Everyone expected an outstanding nights boxing and no one was to be disappointed. Both teams fought hard and the event proved to be quite a spectacle for the sizeable audience. Unfortunately 9 (Para) Sqn managed to secure the title despite some excellent individual performances from the Brigade HQ and Sig Sqn Team. Sig Weallean and Sig Fitzpatrick stood out particularly.

The Boxing Team
joined by the Comd 16 Air Asslt Bde, Brig Wall OBE, the Squadron OC and the RSM

EXERCISE ANGLIAN WARRIOR (Squadron Air Skills Cadre)
by Capt Griffiths

Due to an incredibly busy eighteen months since the formation of 16 Air Assault Brigade, the Squadron has had little time to dedicate to the acquisition of air skills qualifications. This was particularly true of helicopter handling skills. With the whole of the UK training areas out of bounds for the benefit of our cloven hoofed brethren, Ex Anglian Warrior was devised to overcome these shortfalls whilst at the same time building up our parachuting experience and expertise. The Exercise was designed to encompass three separate elements, a Landing Point Commander and Rigger Marshaller course, a Parachuting Continuation Training Package with 2 PARA, and a Parachute Chalk Commanders Course. These took place in a variety of locations including Colchester, RAF Odiham and AMC South Cerney. Almost one hundred personnel from the Squadron were involved. With assistance from the immensely helpful Joint Helicopter Support Unit, SSgt Walker and Sgt Makings spent the first half of the week ensuring that the Squadron toms were fully versed in rigging vehicles ready for under-slinging beneath Chinooks. At the same time the Corporals, SNCOs and Officers were lucky enough to receive the necessary entertaining power point presentations required to qualify them as Landing Point Commanders. Thursday and Friday saw the two groups despatched to connect what they had rigged to Chinooks at RAF Odiham. Despite the coach breaking down on the way, a wide range of loads, including an ISO container, were rigged and flown around the camp perimeter. A stomach-dropping ride in the Chinook followed before everyone being awarded either their Landing Point Commander or Rigger Marshaller Qualification. Meanwhile, SSgt Hatton and his band of ferocious troopers were being instructed by the RAF in the art of parachuting whilst wearing webbing, with their weapon strapped to their side and also carrying 100lb containers - at night. The weather once again was not kind and only half of the planned number of jumps actually happened.

Parachute Training during Exercise Anglian Warrior

NITEX

As with the rest of the Army 16 Air Assault Brigade's exercise programme has suffered severe disruption due the Foot and Mouth Disease crisis. NITEX, a major RAF tactical leadership training exercise, was to be the Brigade's first casualty. It was postponed during the deployment phase. Bravo Tp were put on 'stand by' until later on in the week when the go ahead was finally given. One of the CV detachments was the first to deploy closely followed by the Rear Link Teams (RLTs). Sigs Fyfe and Benson manned RLT 1 and Sigs Fletcher and Watts manned the RLT2. The journey was horrendous, taking about 11 hours to drive up to RAF Luecars in a mini bus, but at least the exercise was finally underway. Ex NITEX was primarily a RAF exercise but it did include elements of 1 Royal Irish towards the end. The two RLT detachments were deployed to provide UHF ground-to-air and HF comms through the use of PRC 346 and PRC 319 man-packs. The RLTs first deployed to two airfields north of RAF Leucars, one on the Isle of Skye, the other at Macrahanish. Both provided skywave links to Colchester and RAF Luecars as well as UHF comms to the RAF helicopters and AWACS. For the RLT dets the rest of the week was very quiet; at least up until the deployment of 1 Royal Irish. This gave the teams the opportunity to undertake their own comms exercise around the local area. However, once the Royal Irish were given their tasking the RLTs found themselves preparing to fly with the BG on a mission to secure a further airfield. Simultaneously to 1 Royal Irish's attack, a Special Forces assault was to go in onto the main objective. The RLTs role was to provide HF and UHF comms support to one of the Royal Irish's company HQs. RLT 1 was to be inserted by CH 47 and RLT 2 by C130 however unfortunately bad weather, and not Foot and Mouth Disease, stopped play this time and the assault was cancelled.

EXERCISE DIAMOND CUTTER – by LCpl Crutchley

Ex Diamond Cutter was a six-week long exercise conducted by 1 Royal Irish in the Shoshong Training Area in Botswana. On 27 January 2001 I deployed with the advance party. This consisted of pioneers, engineers and REME. Together we were given the task of establishing a camp in the bush some 30km from civilisation. A week later B Coy of the Royal Irish moved in and commenced a rigorous field-firing package.

I, together with a member of the Signal Platoon, were at that point whisked away to the Kalahari Desert in south-western Botswana to run a week long HF training course for the Botswana Anti-Pouching Unit. This unit was established to track poachers deep in the bush – and seemed to conduct a shoot to kill policy! The course we designed gave the unit a comprehensive insight into HF theory and also dedicated significant time to practical exercises. The radio we were using was the American PRC 1099 man-pack. The course was a complete success with all students obtaining outstanding results.

LCpl Crutchley with the Botswanan Anti-Poaching Unit

After the conclusion of the HF course we headed back to Shoshong Camp where B Coy were well into their field-firing package. The Signals Detachment had set up an EXCON to co-ordinate the training. The EXCON personnel were kept very busy with many heat casualties, and the occasional more serious incident including shrapnel wounds and a groin injury sustained through a .50 cal. breach explosion! I managed to get on a four man recce patrol deep into the bush during which we encountered some hostile wildlife. At three in the morning we came across the only hyenas within 50km, and they seemed to be decidedly displeased with our presence. Fortunately, we were carrying live rounds for just such an eventuality and were able to dispatch the hyenas with little difficulty. The training culminated with a 4-day final exercise. Following a 20km insertion march the Royal Irish conducted operations against the Botswana Defence Force (BDF). We set up various harbours, OPs and ambushes and conducted numerous CTRs. The exercise was challenging and exciting. As the final event we switched back to live ammunition to conduct a raid on a heavily guarded communication station (courtesy of the pioneers). The raid incorporated the use of snipers, GPMG, .50 cal., mortars, LAW 94, grenades and bangalor torpedoes. This awesome amount of firepower was a definite success as there was not much left of the camp by the time we had finished!

With the final objective secured we conducted an extraction to a barbeque area. The lads were then let loose for five days R and R after which the camp was stripped down and we set off on the 3-day journey back to the UK. The exercise was an excellent opportunity during which I learned a tremendous amount.

Relaxing in the bush

12 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (228)

MCM DIV VISIT - by OCdt Stone

In order to enhance an already worryingly good relationship with the MCM Div desk girls, the 2IC invited them to visit the Squadron for a couple of days, leaving newly promoted (or demoted depending which way you look at it) OCdt Ben Stone to organise the whole visit. The trip began with a bit of armoured vehicle familiarisation. This consisted of an hour of ripping chunks out of the 1st Battalion Welsh Guards parade square in a panzer. Lesley Scott and George Flemming started the drive under the command of a very nervous Cpl 'Crouching Dale, Hidden Pie' Petty. He then got his own back by scaring the life out of Elaine Easton and Carol-Ann Forrest with his extreme driving. With much relief we led them away from the 'slightly overheated' panzer and off to watch the Brigade HQ and Sig Sqn on command tasks. In the evening the visiting party were collected and taken to down town Aldershot for an innuendo laden pub-crawl and chest poking session. Being a Monday, 'Cheeks' was given a wide berth and everyone tottered home. The next day it was back to business. The team provided some excellent answers to several burning issues raised by Squadron management personnel. Despite acute hangovers, they managed to answer all questions before they returned to sunny Glasgow. Their opinion of our hospitality will no doubt be evident in coming promotion boards and future postings.

Elaine Easton from C Wing, MCM Div passes on her extensive armoured driving experience to Cpl Petty

BRIGADE LEADERSHIP DAY - by Cpl Collins and Cpl Scott

Just for a change Alpha Tp is as busy as ten men after finishing DS1 Trials and then straight into a board of officers and first lines. Keeping everyone on their toes and being the only number in the Squadron Telephone Directory has meant never a dull moment. There has been a massive change around of manpower with new arrivals and departures all over the place. Farewell to LCpl 'KR' Kelly-Rutherford back to his airborne roots, congratulations LCpl 'Dangerous' Armstrong and his brother LCpl Brett Appleyard on passing probation and their departure to 26-Blah, Blah, Blah. Also LCpl Damien Chorlton off to the 'feds' (book em Danno murder one) after getting married to the nurse that is constantly repairing his fragile bones. Last but not least Cpl 'Blue Oyster' Briscoe off to sell his ginger wares at 14 Signal Regiment. Owls 'gentlemen only' night-club will never be the same again. Welcome to Cpl Jo Collins on arriving in the unit and on having to write the Wire notes as soon as he gets here. Cpl 'Tips' Tiplady from 1 Div, LCpl 'Juggsy' Wilson and LCpl 'Jess' Limbert also from the fighting 1st. Welcome and get on them panzers. Also new on the arrival list is LCpl Andy Porter from 7 Signal Regiment. Congratulations to Sgt Roy Davies and Sgt Simon Barker on successfully passing an extremely hard and arduous Royal Signals Sergeants Course; they were the only people to actually benefit from the foot and mouth crisis. However, neither managed to get their name on the cup. Well done to Cpl 'Grandpa' Lea on not only passing his weapons instructors course but coming back to a store full to the brim with kit from the board of officers and sorting it without even breaking into a sweat. Last but not least a special mention to Lt Ed Dickson and his merry band of men who are off to Cyprus sailing (will we ever learn), good luck and stay away from RAF Akrotiri. On Monday 26 March, selected members of 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228) attended a Brigade leadership day. The day commenced with an opening address by the Commander, Brig J. Cooper DSO MBE, who emphasised the importance of leadership and what skills he hoped people would gain from the days activities and lectures.

Sgt Coldwell 's team being briefed on one of the command tasks

We then received lectures by various Brigade staff on the following four leaders:

1. Field Marshall Viscount Montgomery of Alamien
2. Field Marshall Viscount Slim
3. General Patten
4. Field Marshall Sir Claude Aushleck

The briefings focused on their different personal leadership qualities and styles and how this was portrayed by their peers and troops. The military lecturers were followed by two civilian speakers. The first speaker, Mr Taylor, was a Korean War veteran. The second civilian lecturer, Mr Rafferty, was CEO of Ipsarris. Each speaker presented their personal views on leadership and their opinions on what they thought makes a good leader. Their views were valuable and illustrated with personal experience that added to the overall worth of the day. To prepare for the afternoon activities we were sub-divided into teams ready for the forthcoming events. These activities consisted of four assorted command tasks, an assault course and the dreaded stretcher race. Once the command tasks were complete, we made our way to the assault course. After a walk through, talk through demonstration of each obstacle, the teams lined up for a head to head challenge on the course.

Cpl Kev Dade and LCpl McGonigle examine a particularly nasty river crossing

To conclude the day, each team competed in a stretcher race. This involved carrying what can only be described as a tonne weight around a short course. After we recovered from this, we freshened up and retired to the Sgt's mess for a meal and drinks followed by a few badly placed bets on the charity mess horse racing.

TAQEX - by Sig Shrubsole

On the return from a wonderful time in Cyprus on Ex Lion Sun 1/01, that I am sure everyone will agree with, we went back to normal everyday work with many new faces. Welcome to LCpl 'Jonah' Jones, LCpl Jon Hemming, LCpl 'Gem' Treen, Sig 'Dan the Man' Tasker and let's not forget Sig 'I didn't realise I needed a rifle for guard' Jones. With all these new arrivals there was only one good bye and that was to LCpl 'Penguin' Sharpe who as gone on to 16 Air Asslt Brigade.

The month started off well. First there was Ex TAQEX. Time well spent setting up and tearing down, moving armoured vehicles from car park to car park. I suppose this is the next best thing considering the foot and mouth crisis. After all that movement we were to deploy to CAST (S) in order to stay put in one place for a week. We tracked down to Warminster as fast as we could (a staggering 28mph downhill, wind assisted). After about four hours, and only one pack fire, we finally arrived to find ourselves setting up again. The exercise went well with the golden blanket award going to Sig 'What's for tea?' Jones who slept the whole way through the exercise excluding meal times. The week soon past and it came to tearing down and going back to sunny Aldershot. The whole exercise went well and the OC was very pleased with everyone's' hard work. Now it is just a case of working up for first lines. A final well done to Cpl 'Who ate all the pies?' Petty on his promotion, just in time for pay 2000!We are all now looking forward to a thoroughly well deserved Easter break.

238 (LONDON) SIGNAL SQUADRON

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj Ian Seraph
SSM WO2 (SSM) Melanie Crowther

Firstly we have a change of personnel in the Squadron hierarchy. We've said our goodbyes to WO2 Euan Hall, who has now left the Army and welcomed our new SSM, WO2 Mel Crowther. Congratulations also go to SSgt Ian Tait for picking up his crown, as of 01 Apr; He's currently away enjoying the delights of the SQMS course. The last few months have been very quiet for 238 (London) Signal Squadron, the Op Penywort restrictions have crippled most of our planned training, so its been a time of leave throughout the squadron. We have recently been put on standby for Op Peninsular with C2 support to local units, so we await tasking.

MIKE TROOP
Tp Comd Capt (TOT) Bob Nicol
Tp Sgt Sgt Andrew Twizell

Another period full of excitement in Mike Troop, with even more fresh new faces. Welcome to Cpl Baz Park who joins from Germany. Hello, also to Cpl Dana Grills who joins us from 36 Sig Regt. What part of America do you come from? Finally welcome to LCpl 'Bash' Bashir who comes to the troop after completing his T3 course at Blandford. As always along with the hellos come the sad farewells. It is goodbye and good luck to Cpl Dean Spiers who not only leaves the Squadron but the Army. We wish Dean and his family well for the future. The Troop has also said farewell to Sgt Chris Jacobs who couldn't leave London fast enough for his new posting, Cyprus. We wonder why? The ACISG, Radio and PA Sections all continue carrying out their ongoing tasks. On a sporting front, the recent sporting events have not gone as planned. In the joint Squash and Rowing Inter-Troop competition the Steve Redgraves of the Troop did us proud but the same could not be said of the Squash players, and in the volleyball competition the less said the better. Congratulations to Cpl Paul Smith who not only passed his silver while on Winter Warrior but also has been recommended to become an instructor. Finally we look forward to the imminent return of Sigs Andy Milne and Tim Robinson from Kosovo and Bosnia.

OSCAR TROOP
Tp Comd Maj (Tfc) Carl Storey
Tp Sgt Sgt Mandy Eardley

The Troop itself has been pretty quiet lately, due to the annual rush of personnel applying for the rest of their leave entitlement before April deadline; so not a lot has been happening on the military side of life.

COMINGS AND GOINGS

On a sadder note, Mr Dick Steer, the Engineering Officer has finally hung up his telephone and retired from the civil service after many years' service. Dick who was also a former member of the Royal Air Force worked at 238 Signal Squadron for more than ten years. Everyone sends best wishes and good luck for the future. Mr Ian 'Sludge machine internet gigolo' Slight has finally dekitted and has successfully applied for a civilian job in London Central COMMCEN, so he will be doing the same job but won't have to do PT anymore which I'm sure he will be GUTTED about, ha (only kidding)

SPORT

On a cold March morning, the 21st to be exact, Location: Chelsea Barracks gymnasium. A mix and match team comprising of LCpl Brain 'Should have joined the Navy' Stewart, LCpl Nicholas McGregor, LCpl Ayesha 'Wee Yin' Mohammed, Cpl Annette 'Don't make me serve' McChesney and last, but certainly not least, SSgt Tommy 'Calm down, clam down' Burns won a major victory in the annals of sporting achievement. We beat Radio 'loads to choose from' Troop 3-0 at the annual inter-troop Volleyball competition. OK so we got beat by Mike 'full of baby techs' Troop in the next game, but we won overall and a good time was had by all.

RADIO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Andy Wilson
Tp Sgt Sgt Mark Brooksbank

The winter months have been a fairly quiet time for the troop, with everyone catching up on leave that they didn't have the time to fit in. During this quiet time one or two rare sighting have been made, the OC Troop in uniform, the OC Troop on Pt and the OC Troop in work although not all in the same timeframe. Some welcomes, a big hello to Sig Grant Mockett who arrives from the barren lands of Osnatraz and to Cpl Sean Childs who will soon arrive from 216 Sig Sqn, oh boy what a shock you will have coming here. Although the Op Penywort restrictions have severely limited our training capabilities during this period, we have managed to acquire some new trade expertise, thanks to our co-operation with 31Sig Regt (V). Lanwood is HF based communications equipment, originally designed for post-strike communications to the USA. Several other employment options are now being tested for Lanwood; as part of this our Radio trade's are learning how to operate it in the event a quick deployment is required. The idea being the volunteers would back fill us at a later date. The silver lining to all this is that we've been allocated two places to go to Cyprus in July! – As part of 31 (V) Signal Regiment's summer camp.

The Squadron football team has gone from strength to strength, Wednesday 28 March has gone down as a day in history, 238 Sig Sqn finally won a cup semi-final and now have a final appearance on 2 May. Their opponents will be either The Kings Troop RHA or No 7 Coldstream Guards. The semi took place at Hounslow against BFPO Mill Hill, for only the second time this season we were able to field a strong team. The weather was typical, 'four seasons in one day' and the pitch very heavy. After a quick team talk from Sgt 'Virgo' Brooksbank 'SCORE AS MANY GOALS AS YOU CAN', the team set about its task. It wasn't long before Sgt ' Where is my match ball?' Tate opened the scoring with his first of three, a screemer, of his big toe, from a full 27 and half yards ish. The team picked up in momentum and by half time had sailed into a good 2 – 1 lead. The second half the team clicked and BFPO were left facing an onslaught. LCpl Wes O'conner was orchestrating the game and when needed, the back three were always equal to any small counter attack they could muster. With the final whistle and a hatrick each to Sgts Tate and Carnegie and a goal each to Cpl Smith, LCpl Dinsdale and Sig Green. Final score 9 – 1, watch this space for further news.

(L-R): LCpl Burgess, Sig Mockett and Sig Howland
Enjoying a break from their training on the Lanwood equipment at 31 (V) Signal Regiment

BOARD OF OFFICERS - by Cpl Powell

It has been yet another busy period for the already overworked QM's Department. The increased workload has meant many late nights and early mornings. Despite the laborious checks and counter checks, there has been surprisingly few teddies thrown. With the recent board of officers and a surprise, but satisfactory LSI, the department has also had their fair share of success. Neither were aided by the untimely departure of Mr Dave 'I can't count' Wagstaff and LCpl Joe 'Is it dinner time yet?' Roberts.

A big hello to SSgt Pete 'Bob the Builder' Mullen who has taken over from SSgt Sam Parke who has set his sights high as the new Bongo Troop Staffy. Congratulations go to Sig 'Shadwell' Davies and Sig Rob Hunt on passing their gruelling Class 2, a shining example to new arrival Sig 'Kav' Kavanagh. Good luck to SSgt Jim Lemon who is promoted and posted across the road to RLC TDU, also in Aldershot.

243 SIGNAL SQUADRON

BASKETBALL NOTES - by Cpl Gray and LCpl Miller

After coming second at the 5 Div qualifying basketball tournament at Tidworth 243 Sig Sqn qualified for the Army Minor Units championships at Grantham. The Team was lead by WO1 Kev 'Get To Bed' Moir backed up by Maj Graham McNeill, Cpl Paul 'Methane Man' Floyd, Cpl Olly 'Traveler' Gray, LCpl Steve 'Love Struck' Miller, LCpl John 'Mr Muscle' Liddell, LCpl Ali Way, Sig Chis 'Grab a Granny' McGuire and Sig John 'UMIN' Denyer. The night before our first game we had a team building exercise with a couple of the girls' teams. It was a pound a pint and soon Sig Denyer unleashed his best chat up line, 'I'm not here for the basketball I'm here for you,' and unlike on the court he did score.

We were all up bright and early for the first game at 1015hrs on Tuesday 2 March against the RLC. Our Team started a bit bleary eyed but proceeded to pick up the game towards the end of the half. After the break LCpl Liddell managed to spend more time on his feet than on the ground and we started to build up a healthy lead, because of this we were able to rotate the squad so that everyone had some court time, even Sig McGuire. The final score was 61- 31 and we felt confident for the second game against AFTC Harrogate. After a few hours rest we started as we finished the first game building a lead with stunning fast breaks. Despite Harrogate having a 6' 5" man-mountain we dominated the boards and scored some long range jump-shots. There was a little tension as LCpl Liddell kept on getting body slammed by the opposition, but same heroic 'off the bench' performances led to an emphatic 57 - 10 victory to get through to the semi's. After our day's performance we set off high spirited to the bars of sunny Grantham. We settled again for pound pint in Chicago Rock Cafe for a dismal performance singing yellow submarine on the karaoke. Cpl Floyd, LCpl Miller and Sig Denyer did their part for Anglo-American relations with three young ladies from Tennessee and showed them warm hospitality. Wednesday we had a day of rest and recuperation and watched a few of the Major Units play. On the evening we had a few more team building drinks which led to an early night for our big semi final game the following day.

Our opponents for the semi finals were the AGC who had an Army player on their team and we knew we had to close him down if we were to win. Our starting five was WO1 Kev Moir, Cpl Paul Floyd, LCpl John Liddell, LCpl Ali Way and LCpl Steve Miller. Unfortunately we quickly fell behind and we were not playing like we had in the previous games, so a change was made Cpl Floyd was swapped with Cpl Gray but by the end of the first quarter we were still behind by 18 points. WO1 Kev Moir gave us a harsh team-talk at the interval that led to us tightening up the defence and being more aggressive on the offence. This stopped their star player from scoring and we had pulled it level by half time. In the second half we were almost point for point and neither team were able to establish a lead. Towards the end of the third quarter we started getting in foul trouble and their free throws interrupted the momentum of our offence. In the fourth quarter once again their star stepped up and we found it difficult to get our shots to fall. LCpl Ali Way got in foul trouble from marking their best player and so WO1 Kev Moir and LCpl Steve Miller were left with the job. However they ran down the clock and with five seconds remaining and we being one point behind we gave away two free throws. They made both of their shots but despite a last second three point shot from us the AGC just beat us by one point and knocked 243 Sig Sqn out of the competition. The final score was 64 -63. Although losing we held our heads high and headed back to Salisbury knowing we played well and enjoyed a good week.

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON (AIR MOBILE FORCES (LAND))

Sqn Comd Maj David Hudson
SSM WO2 (SSM) Ken Marsh

Once back from the ice of Norway the Squadron launched into a series of training weeks and Data over Radio trials. It has taken weeks to thaw out the toes and fingers and get life back to normal. The last few months have been busy with movement of personnel in and out of the Squadron. Many being posted on promotion: Sig Clayton to 30 Sig Regt, LCpl 'Nice T-shirt' Clegg over the road, Sig McEnaney to 16 Air Asslt Bde, LCpl Osmond to 16 Sig Regt, LCpl 'Give me my second stripe or else' Palin to 1 Div, Sig Swift to 11 EOD and Sig Young to 21 Sig Regt. Those on the move include: LCpl 'Vinnie' Haffendon to 7 Sig Regt, LCpl Hardy to 2 Para, Sig Jim 'Jam' Lee to 16 AirAsslt Bde, LCpl Tierney to NI and Cpl 'The aim of this lesson is to...' Witham to ATR Bassingbourn to worry recruits. A special mention goes to Sig Waring for managing to get posted and also get selected for the Combined Services Beach Volleyball Team! A final farewell to the footie crazy old 2IC, Capt Stokoe who has now taken over as Adjt 30 Sig Regt - all the best. A hearty welcome goes out to Sgt Crawford, LCpl 'Mrs Fruity' Fielding, Sig Sloan, Sig Snape, Sig Walker, LCpl Weight, Sig Whitson, LCpl Williams and Sig Woodward. We also have a few leaving their green suits behind and exchanging them for other colours: Sgt Eden, Sig Green, Cpl Keightley and Sig 'Liz' Taylor- all the best for the future - live life and prosper.

EXERCISE HARDFALL 2001 - BLUE PETER HOST
by Capt Teri Downer

The Squadron was fortunate enough to host 'Mat' from Blue Peter for two days during Ex Hardfall 2001 in Norway. The aim was to allow him to experience some of the harshness of Norwegian weather and hopefully toughen him up a bit, but more importantly get 249 on prime time BBC. (This included SSM (WO2) 'Ken' Marsh showing his best side during a BV sketch -'Oh look SSM my breath freezes when it touches the window of the BV, why is that?) Mat was kitted out in some of the Army's best arctic kit and taken up into the hills surrounding Voss. He did not take a liking to the itchy Extreme Cold Weather hat and when asked why he insisted on wearing a bright red woolie hat he replied, 'A top hat for a top bloke,' - this received a few hidden sniggers from the hardy men around him at the time! He was teamed up with LCpl 'Messtins' Sustins ('why do they call you mess tins - oh you eat from them in the Army don't your) and began to dig a snow hole. Many hours later they settled down for some gorgeous scoff 'lancashire hot pot' and a wet (brew). After a few hours Mat was up again on candle watch (just because he is civilian he does not get away with stag)! He then emerged from the snow hole to a fine morning and was transported down to the lake for a quick dip - ice-breaking drills. This was something he really did not like, he would not smile on exiting the water or even stop far a chat before going into the warming tent! Obviously not toughened him up enough yet. The footage taken was screened during March just gone - if you missed it we have a few copies in the Squadron!

Mat from Blue Peter just a little wet and unhappy

259 SIGNAL SQUADRON

FUN IN THE SUN - by Sig Ben Tierney, Dhekelia Troop

The Squadron has just completed its annual cadre course for 2001. The course started on 12 March, that's when morale was left in the accommodation! However the prospect of not working with Cpl Brent 'Skin' Readhead for the week did keep me going. From then on it was fun all the way. The course included activities such as command tasks that were made easier by a short tab across the bondhu (16kms not including geographical embarrassment) and other skills such as drill and PT, and not forgetting MOD 90 checks at 0300hrs in the morning! However, the weather was good at approximately 25 degrees, and the course contained the usual amount of comical errors under pressure. Also included into the course were classroom lessons to catch up on sleep! To finish the course, there was a final exercise that I was appointed Platoon Staff Sergeant for. I nearly flapped so much I took off when the first task was an RTA incident to deal with! After all that, things didn't go too badly. With all the lessons learnt, the biggest one is simple; never try to put leave in at the last minute!

SKYDIVING TELEMECH (SORT OF) - by Sig Pyle, Dhekelia Troop

Between the dates of 26 February and 9 March Sigs John 'Macam' Dent and Andy 'Sugar' Pyle attended the Cyprus Joint Services Adventure Training Centre (CJSATC) basic parachuting course. After an intense day of being taught exits, flight, landing and emergency drills, we took to the skies. The day began with 12 students from the Navy, Army, RAF and Royal Marines looking apprehensive to say the least, knowing they would have to drop 3,500 feet! The same feeling happens when Cpl Jim '15 seconds' Stocks is issuing work out. The course progressed, and individual coaching was given to each of the free-fall wannabes. When the instructors were happy with our ability, a number of students progressed to free-fall, which resulted in a few disco dances to maintain stability whilst approaching terminal velocity! All in all, it was a very enjoyable course, with the exception of a few landings, and just one of the many adventure training courses available here in Cyprus.

GOODBYES AND HELLOES- by Cpl Si 'Monkey boy' Hogg

It is also time to say goodbye to three members of the Troop. Firstly to Cpl Si Hogg who is posted to 7 Brigade to do some work! Also to Sig Matty Stables who is posted to JCU (NI) to catch up with previous members of the Squadron, and finally to Sig Lynne Marshall who is moving on to pastures new in Civvie Street. We wish them all the best for the future. It is also time to welcome the new arrivals to the Troop. Firstly to LCpl 'Queenie' King, Sigs 'Magic' Johnson, 'Taff' Davies and 'Lefty' Wright to Line Section. Also to Cpl 'Mac' Macallum to Comms Section, and Cpl 'Paperwork junkie' Molden to the MT. A warm welcome is extended and the best of luck to you (enjoy Napa!)

AIRFIELD TROOP - by Sig Wells

After an eventful afternoon of Kart Racing and plenty of bombing and shunting around the corners and many spin offs into the bondu, LCpl 'Twitchy' Fell won the final to become Airfield Troop's Grand Champion. The Troop would like to say goodbye and good luck in their next unit to SSgt Stenhouse and family, Sig King, LCpl Barnett and Sig Stanley. A big hello to the new arrivals to the troop, who are LCpl Lewis, Sig Kendall, Sig Jordan and Sig Orr and family. Congratulations to LCpl Fell for getting promoted and transferred to a proper working Troop.

EPISKOPI TROOP - by LCpl 'Barnsley Dan' Reade

Epi Troop would like to say a big hello to its latest arrival Cpl 'Manc' Singleton fresh from the UK. However, we're also losing a long-standing member. One of the old boys Cpl Bob Cope goes to the land of the leprechauns to see what the crack's like over there, all the best in the future mate. Cyprus held it's Nefski championship to which five of the lads joined in with one casualty Sig 'little' Phil Harris thought he'd stab himself with a ski and 259 Sig Sqn cleaned up in the novice event taking three of the four medals. Also here the sun's coming out to play and the Troop Cliff Diving Competitions have started; Time to see who's got the highest aspirations.

101 LOGISTIC BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS & SIGNAL SQUADRON (261)

Sqn Comd Maj M. Baines
RSM WO1 E. Udell

Being busy is becoming a bit of a habit in the Squadron! Thankfully the beginning of the year has offered plenty of opportunity for sport and adventurous training. Behind the scenes though the Ops team have been toiling with planning for Ex Saif Sareea II to Oman this summer. The Squadron is now seriously gearing up for its advance party deployment in May with the main body due out in August. In preparation we deployed to Sennelager to support 102 Log Bde HQ in their build-up exercise for Oman Ex Platinum Halberd, it was a great success for the 102 staff who are used to exercising RAF-style and looked quite shocked to see camnets and grass and rain.

ROYAL SIGNALS MINOR UNITS RUNNERS UP 2001
by SSgt Martin Stebbing Team Captain

Some weeks before the competition and prior to going on Christmas and New Year leave the OC Squadron informed me that he had a cunning plan. 'Staff,' he said, 'I want you to enter two teams into the male minor unit race, so we can hopefully push some of the other team runners further down the field.' The first week back from leave a Squadron Cross-Country race was organised to aid team selection. As the day of the race approached and after numerous team changes and training sessions the final selection was made. The day of the race was here and just as the team was about to leave the Unit received a visit from the CDT team having aged about 20 years within a few minutes and numerous telephone calls later the team was allowed to set of for Colerne. On arrival at Colerne the teams were booked in. As we had some time to kill it was decided to walk the course. Perhaps a wet suit would be the order of the day after seeing the length and depth of some of the so call puddles that would have to be encountered not once but three times as the race was three laps of the route. After a blistering start by Cpl Fitzpatrick which he unfortunately could not maintain the Team pushed out an impressive performance and as the results were placed on the board it became clear that the Team had come second. The cunning plan had worked.

Cross Country Team
Back Row (L-R): Cpl 'Taff' Lean, Cpl 'Richies' Middleton, Cpl 'Fitz' Fitzpatrick, SSgt Martin Stebbing
Front Row (L-R): LCpl Tim McEnkin, LCpl Lee Marten, Cpl Mark Simpson

COMBINED JUDO CHAMPIONSHIPS – GOSPORT

Two of the unit represented the Army at the Combined services Competition in Gosport. Judo is a sport that has been steadily growing in the unit. Having competed at the Army Championships earlier in the year this was a opportunity to do better. Sgt Jim Turnbull had an excellent competition coming up against the combined service champion in the semi-finals meant he went away with a well-deserved Bronze. LCpl Harris was extremely brave having only been fighting two weeks he tried hard and went on the attack, although not winning anything showing he has potential for the future with some practise!

Sig Sam Yardley enjoying the new Squadron Sport of Judo watch out Lee!

EXERCISE LOG FLAKE II - 2Lt Cas Wootten OC A Tp

The beginning was an uncomfortable, long and tiring journey to Bavaria but bravely SSgt Al Dummer, Sgt Sean Fardy and Cpl 'Taff' Lean tackled the driving while everyone else slept! After sampling the local cheap refreshments and a bit of over-sized Jenga the course began the next morning with meeting the self-loving, over-confident but generally nice ski instructors. After getting our ski legs the course progressed with everyone improving rapidly. Lots of aching for all to come home with as well as sun-burn for me, sun stroke for LCpl Danny Martin and a career on the stage for our very own stripper Sig 'All Muscles' Blower!

SUPPORT TROOP
Troop Comd / QM Maj (QM) Peter Beauchamp RLC
Tp SSgt SSgt Martin Stebbing

We would like to welcome to the Troop the following persons Cpl Dennis and Sig Austin both Installation Technicians. We would like to wish LCpl (now Corporal) Rabey good luck in his new posting to Army Apprentice College Arborfield and his promotion.

PLEASE NOTE

THE COST OF YOUR WIRE IS NOW £12 PER ANNUM - £2 PER COPY

IF YOU HAVE PAID £9 BY CHEQUE THIS YEAR WE WILL BE LOOKING FOR A FURTHER £3
THANK YOU IN ANTICIPATION

280(UNITED KINGDOM) SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Jim Harris
RSM WO1 (RSM) Craig Kearney

SQUADRON HEADQUARTER'S TROOP

SHQ would like to say farewell to WO2 (FofS) 'Fluffy' Flather, who is departing to 16 Signal Regiment and also Cpl Paul 'Golden Keyboard' Cunningham who has departed to HQ 1 UK Armd Div in sunny Herford. The Troop would like to welcome LCpl Dunc McKee who had joined us from 1 Black Watch and Sig Jo Gill who has joined us from Kilo Tp. Congratulations go to SSgt Pat Farrell on being presented his LS&GC Medal.

JULIET TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Jim Barber
Tp SSgt Sgt Kev Roberts

Juliet Tp has seen a lot more movement within its personnel this month. A warm welcome goes out to Cpl 'Slim' Humphreys and family who have recently arrived from 1 (UK) Div, Sgt Steve Templeman accompanied by wife Joanne and son Christopher. Cpl Wayne 'Mini Thorpe' Meeds, LCpl Alex Brown, and Cpl 'Ritchie' Brown who recently completed his T1 at Blandford. Welcome to LCpls Tony Hogan and Neil Haggar who have joined Juliet Tp from the MT Section. We would also like to say farewell to Cpl Daz Rickard who has joined Comms Sp Tp (the dark side!). Best wishes go out to Sig 'Old Man' Walker who has left for Blandford and our Troop OC, Capt Higgs, who not only has been posted to 14 Sig Regt but has recently been promoted and married to Jo (congratulations from all of us). We now look forward to 2Lt Barber joining us from his Troop Commanders Course. We also wish to say good luck for the future to two of the longest serving members of the Troop and inspirational members of 280 Sig Sqn's Army Cup Final achievements, Sgt Valentine and Cpl 'Captain Marvelous' Brown. A big shout to our boys and girls on operational tours Sig 'Russ' Abbott, LCpl Ian Wallace,LCpl Gordie Kirkwood, Cpl Dave Rycroft and Sig Sharon 'Watch the garage door' Young. They are all currently in Bosnia and also LCpl 'Mac' Mcalpine who is in Kosovo. LCpl Tim Mallett deserves a special mention for passing RCB. Sandhurst next step and then who knows OC J Tp… Finally we'd like to say congratulations to Cpl Al Gore and his wife Amanda on the birth of their daughter Liberty.

KILO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Lindsey Calderhead
Tp SSgt SSgt Graham Weavers

After many early starts and hectic days of work, the second line inspections are finally over for the year. A lot of hard work had been put in by everyone in the Troop and we're all glad they are now over. Sadly we have had to bid farewell to Sig 'Pol' Smiejowski who has abandoned us for 15 Sig Regt along with a shiny new stripe. We wish 15 Sig Regt the very best of luck! Leaving us in the near future is Sig 'Wingnut' Machin who will be joining 7 Sig Regt. Also departing us very soon is Sgt 'Have a Shot' Porter who will be leaving us in the more than capable hands of Tyson, the Troop dog. We wish him all the best at 241 Sig Sqn in Donnington. Where did you say Donnington is Sgt 'Have a Shot' Porter?

Kilo Tp also say a warm welcome to Cpl 'Jock' Taylor, LCpl 'Smudge' Smith and Cpl 'Mad dog' McGee who have already managed to fit into the Troops wild and wacky way of life. We are all eagerly awaiting the return of Cpl 'Daz' Cattle, Cpl 'Mr. Universe' Cook, LCpl 'Woody' Wood, Sig 'Chick' Henley and Sig 'Coops' Cooper, who will be ending their four month tour out in Banja Luka this month. Talking of people on holiday sunning themselves, Cpl 'Devo Daz' Pearce, Cpl 'Mr. Hanraty' Baber and LCpl 'Cuppa T' Turner are all currently taking a break in Gran Canaria for ten days. We just hope it rains every day for them!

As Easter leave approaches we all look forward to Cpl 'Monkey Boy' Harrison's Wedding on 12 April, who has spent the last month finalising things for the big day. This has included dragging some of us singlies along with him to the shops to purchase pots and pans for his new home due to the necessity of a car to put it in. The singlies will be sad to see him leave the block that obviously has nothing to do with the fact that his sky digital box is going with him.

Unfortunately a major tragedy recently occurred within the Troop as Sig 'Rolfie' Rolf twisted his ankle on a PT session. It was most upsetting to see him limping around, but don't be sad he is still his happy self.

SUPPORT TROOP
QM Capt Steve Toms
RQMS WO2 (RQMS) Kev Innes

On the evening of 14 March the QM(T) dept of the Squadron bade farewell to the Quartermaster and his wife Jan. Capt Steve Toms has been with this Squadron since July 1998 and during his time he managed to fit in a tour to Kosovo. The function was held in a Chinese Restaurant in Krefeld. The night was very pleasant and enjoyed by all that attended (especially Dionne, the RQ's wife, who has always got something to say and joke about when it comes to the QM).

We all wish him, Jan and their family all the best in their new home, in the posting and in the future. Soon Capt Mark Schofield will be taking over the department and we hope that the QM, his wife Sally and their family will enjoy being part of this busy Squadron.

ANGLO GERMAN SHOOTING COMPETITION

by LCpl Sally Hubble

The annual Anglo-German shooting competition took place at Francisca Barracks on 2 March. There were ten teams, each of four people. Competitors included the local German shooting team and German Guard Service as well as the 280 (UK) Signal Squadron shooting Team and some of our seniors and officers. The main competition was with the Browning 9mm Pistol. SSgt Dave Copley won Best Individual Shot and Best Team (along with the RSM, RQMS and SSgt Graham Weavers). LCpl Sally Hubble came second overall and won Best Individual Female Shot. After the main competition the Germans had a chance to use the Rifle 5.56 and LSW. At the end of the day's shooting in the rain and cold, the Germans brought a keg of beer, which went down well in the bar. There was also a presentation for the winners, followed by an evening of Karaoke.

280 Signal Squadron Shooting Team
(The two best shots are on the extreme right)

STORMING OF THE GATES - by Sgt Walsh

The annual tradition of storming the gates took place on the 23 February 2001, where the towns folk of St Tonis, storm the camp. This tradition marks the end of carnival week where the carnival committee and members of St Tonis have a mock battle against the guard of Francisca Barracks. The guard consisted of twelve of the squadrons personnel who took on the theme of a mediaeval night, dressed in knights costumes and armed with maces, swords and pikes to protect the castle which had been erected on the front gate. The evening commenced with the town's folk of St Tonis gathering outside the castle gates and become an angry mob trying to break down the front gate.

The Carnival Committee President and Princess with the OC and 2IC - Nice Medallions!

Once the town's folk had stormed the camp and got through the main gate, fireworks and loud explosions were heard. Once inside the castle turrets they were met with the guards who grace fully retreated giving them access to the camp. The carnival prince and princess were then welcomed into the camp by the OC, Maj Harris. The procession was then escorted to the gym by the guard force and LCpl Macdonald playing the bag pipes. Once in the gym the conquering of Francisca Kaserne commenced and traditional carnival celebrations took place for the last time.

During the evening both parties said their farewells with presentations and the 'Key to the Camp'. This was to mark the last event of the storming of the gates which has taken place at 280 (UK) Signal Squadron over the past 28 years.

JOINT COMMUNICATIONS UNIT FALKLAND ISLANDS

OC Flt Lt Wright
OpsWO WO2 (Supvr R) Dalton

Written by Sgt Steve Trump

With the arrival of a new OC and OpsWO it was decided that it was about time The WIRE included some notes from JSSU (FI) a little known about detachment in the Falkland Islands. We say a fond farewell to Cpl Gaz 'Stripper' Leadbitter and WO2 (Supvr R) Andy Marchant with his 140 photographs of King Penguins. They are both heading back to UK and there's a special farewell to Lisa Grundy who was mad enough to travel 8000 miles to visit her husband Sgt Paul 'Grim Reaper' Grundy. A warm welcome goes out to WO2 (Supvr R) Frank Dalton and LCpl Greg Edwards who have both recently deserted UK to join us down here in the Southern Hemisphere and congratulations to Sgt Deano 'On The Wagon' Lightfoot on his recent selection for promotion.

It has been a very busy period for all at JSSU what with Ex Mercury Cell being called, which meant the deployment of several Unit personnel aboard HMS Leeds Castle. A big thank you goes out to our resident tech Cpl Stu 'Wannabe Commando' Wilkinson for making everything go so smoothly during this deployment after much hard work. As one of the smallest Units on the Islands we have been actively involved in the BFFI Cup events and recently came a very proud sixth place in the Cross County after a good run from the team which included JSSUs 'liquorice allsorts' team of all comers!

The Unit has had a hectic social life over the last couple of weeks which included ten pin bowling and numerous Gozomies held in the 'local' Squirrel Bar. One of the most successful and hardest fought events was the go-karting organised by Sgt Pat 'Green Slime' Savage, it was eventually won by Sgt Eddie 'Schumacher' Mackie. However, the most memorable moment was when Cpl Katie 'Mad Woman' Driver almost killed Sgt Steve 'Squash Mad' Trump by ramming him off the track. Later Sgt Trump seemed quite proud to be told he was the only man in the Falkland Island to have rolled a go-kart.

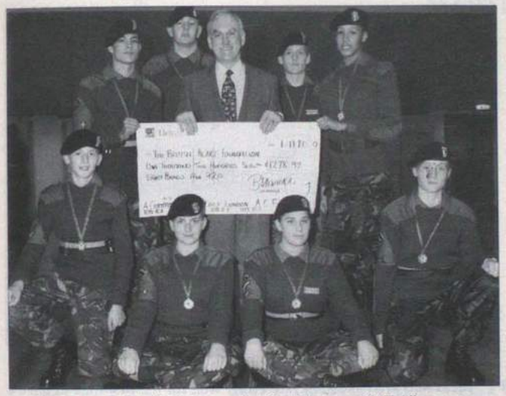
MOVING OR POSTED
DON'T FORGET TO LET US KNOW
WHENEVER YOU HAVE A CHANGE
OF ADDRESS

NEWS FROM THE CADETS

107 CADET DETACHMENT ROYAL SIGNALS - BEXLEYHEATH

SPONSORED WALK IN AID OF BRITISH HEART FOUNDATION

On 16 July 2000 a group of 60 cadets from 107 Royal Signals South East London ACF based at Bexleyheath TA Centre and sponsored by 71 (Y) Signal Regiment, walked from Big Ben to the Thames Barrier a total of 11.5 miles. The day was rather warm and in the 70s but a few of the younger cadets were glad to get to the finish line at the Thames Barrier and down a few cans of well deserved pop! This was some achievement especially for the 13 year old cadets who had done nothing like this before. Our Commandant, Col M. P. Sharpe, came on the walk with us. An old Signalman himself he battled on and completed the walk. This was all done for a great cause; the British Heart Foundation and the cadets raised the fantastic sum of £1,278.00. Mr Terry Kingsman, Director of the British Heart Foundation presented medals and certificates at a ceremony held at Bexleyheath TAC on 1 November 2000. The cadets then presented him with the cheque.



Back Row (L-R): LCdt Hergest, LCpl Watson, Mr T. Kingsman, Cpl Edwards, Cdt Francis Front Row (L-R): LCdt Robinson, Cdt Driver, LCpl Watt, Cdt Grant

Mr T. Kingsman presenting a medal to SSgt M. Fry

CADET FORCES SIGNALS ADVISOR AND NATIONAL ACF/CCF INTER-DISTRICT RADIO NET

PROJECT MILLECOM

by Capt M. J. Buckley M1CCF/M1ACF, Cadet Forces Signals Advisor

Project Millecom is a project which aims to unite young people throughout the world by radio communications. It commenced on 1 January 2000 and has been outstandingly successful. The Radio Society of Great Britain (RSGB) through its United Kingdom and International networks encouraged young people of all nations and of all abilities to communicate with each throughout the year 2000 by HF Radio and arranged for the issue of a special amateur radio call - M2000Y.

The project was launched at the London Amateur Radio and Computer Show, Picketts Lock, London. A combined youth stand was set up by the RSGB, subsequently a semi-permanent station has been set up in Blandford Camp using a former D11/R234 Radio Cabin outside the Museum. The first call was sent out on the stroke of midnight (or was it 00.01?) 2000.

The Objectives having been clearly met in 2000 the project has now been extended into 2001. Promoting communication between young people world-wide throughout the Year 2001, using hobby radio and the Radio Cabin, which remains in use, on Blandford Camp. International friendships between young people over the air is something no other hobby can achieve and this is being taken up by the Army Cadet Force and Combined Cadet Force Signal Platoons as they visit Blandford and other parts of the country, using a new callsign - M2001Y/70.

There was a special two-week activity period at Easter and it will happen again by being part of the summer activities in 2001. Signalling Cadets are, once again, using amateur frequencies around 3.600 MHz, 7.080 MHz & 14.300 MHz to make worldwide contacts. The aim continues to be one to one contact by young people, in our case Cadets!

The photograph show ACF Cadets using the Radio Cabin and a shiny new Racal Syncal 2000. If there are amateurs out there who would like to help, please contact the CFSA via the Royal School of Signals or E-mail at CFSA@milnet.uk.net

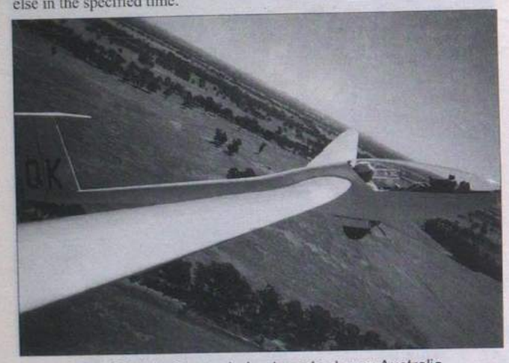
SPORT

AUSTRALIAN INTERSERVICE GLIDING COMPETITION LEETON, NEW SOUTH WALES, DECEMBER 2000 – JANUARY 2001

by Maj Charles Cooper, UK Exchange Officer - Army Comms Trg Ctre, Melbourne, Australia

As luck would have it, I was invited to fly for the Australian Army team in the Interservice Gliding Competition, an annual competition, held in Leeton, New South Wales, on the edge of the Murrumbidgee Irrigation Area - a brown landscape punctuated with glistening blue canals, orange groves and nut plantations. For those unfamiliar with gliding, this form of adventure training involves a plane without an engine being towed up to about 2,000-ft altitude behind a tug aircraft, before being cast loose. Gliders gain further altitude by circling in invisible bubbles of rising warm air, called thermals, and can reach tens of thousands of feet high.

The aim of this competition was to fly furthest and farthest. The type was known as 'assigned area tasking', in which the surrounding area was divided into four quadrants, centred on the airfield. At the daily briefing, pilots were assigned selected quadrants in a specified order and given a target time window (usually five hours). Then after studying the daily meteorological reports and working out an estimated speed for the day, the pilot selected registered turning points in each assigned quadrant, and came up with a cunning plan that would get them further than everyone else in the specified time.



Maj Charles Cooper being launched over Australia

The flying was superb, and so much better than in the UK (mainly due to temperatures of around 40 degrees Centigrade!). Flying under cloud streets at 10,500ft at 250kph, and experiencing lift so strong that the grip of the stick comes away in your hand is quite an experience. Seeing potato sacks swirling up in invisible thermals at several thousand feet is quite astounding. Playing 'chicken' with wedge-tailed eagles with talons extended at 5,000ft, (I won!) and finishing a 490km 5.5hr flight with ten minutes of dusk remaining, landing on a dark strip with mist rising off the surrounding canals and engulfing the field is majestic – (thank God for a full moon!) I benefited greatly from the training and learned a lot from some very experienced pilots. Then there is all the personal development that went with it – learning to work a bit faster under pressure, whilst navigating. Flying, monitoring airspace and radio traffic, photographing turn points (the proof that your actually flew to where you declared you would!), and calculating if you have enough height to get back. It gets busy up there. I wish to thank the Corps and the Army Sports Lottery for their support in this event.

'Map reading, the laid back way'

The results were pleasing. The Army won for the first time in quite a few years, with a little help from some German Army National Service pilots and myself, the token 'Pom'. There is now an invitation to take an UK team to the next competition, which will be held in Leeton from 27 December 2001 to 11 January 2002. Less experienced pilots can fly in a 2-seat glider, a perfect way to 'learn the ropes'. Serving as well as retired members and Civil Servants are eligible. If anyone is interested, make sure you are a member of the Army Sports Lottery, and get in contact with me at Charles.Cooper@defence.gov.au or wherever I end up when I'm posted in April!

CORPS GOLF (GERMANY)

The Corps Golf Squad had an extremely successful season, remaining undefeated throughout the Inter-Corps league and finishing top of the table. The top four teams competed in a knockout competition on 31 October - 1 November 2000 and we were drawn against the REME. Confidence was high as the league match had been a comprehensive victory but the semi-final was not to be so easy. After the morning 4-ball matches, we found ourselves behind by $3^1/_2$ to $^1/_2$. However, during the singles matches, spirits rose and the deficit was pulled back with the eventual score being $6^1/_2$ to $5^1/_2$ in our favour. Exceptional performances came from Maj Mick Bohanan who won 8 and 6, Cpl Ian Hare who won 5 and 3 and LCpl Graham Rennie who beat the REME No 1 by 2 and 1. The final was played against the AGC, whom we had also beaten comprehensively during the league match. Unfortuately, they gained revenge in a shortened match consisting of singles and narrowly won by $4^1/_2$ to $3^1/_2$. Would we have pulled back the deficit had there been a 4-ball match - we'll never know.

Sadly, the Squad has lost the services of its Captain, Sgt Brian Turner, its experience in the form of Mick Bohanan and its youth in Ian Hare. Thankfully, Maj Tim Prince, WOI (YofS) Neil Ferris and ex-WO2 (RQMS) Terry Marsh have joined the squad and we are confident of going one better this year.

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive - beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

The Team
Front (L-R): LCpl Nige Brennan and Cpl Ian Hare
Back (L-R): SSgt Willie Scoots, SSgt Andy Saunders, Sgt Paul Taylor, Maj (QM) Mick Bohanan, Cpl Craig Bowman, LCpl Graham Rennie and SSgt (FofS) Bob Pace

SNOWBOARDING

LOCAL TA GIRL CONQUERS THE SLOPES!

by Cpl P. A. White

Lancashire Girl, Cindy Meller, clears the 'board', taking three top prizes at the Royal Signals annual Snowboarding Championship in Austria. Cindy, from Darwen near Blackburn, flew out to take part in the Royal Corps of Signals Snowboarding Camp and Championships at Zell am See in Austria, She beat opposition from the Regular Army to take the Gold Medal in the Womens' Slalom. She then went after the Gold in the Womens' Giant Slalom and success won her the trophy for The Womens' Champion of 2000. A week was spent training then a week in competition, 'It was tiring, but fun' she says smiling.

This is not the first win for Cindy who after nine years is now a Sergeant in the T.A Royal Signals at Blackburn. Earlier in the year she was on the winning Shooting Team taking home the trophy for Best Female Shot, testament to her expertise as a Skill At Arms instructor.

In her civilian life Cindy is a personnel assistant at Wolstenholme International, manufacturing metallic flakes and pigments in Darwen, she also studies part time, currently undertaking a Professional Course in Personnel and Development. 'The TA has taken me places to do things I would never have done otherwise,' she explains, 'Before this I have snowboarded at Aviemore, and two years ago I spent two weeks with 143 Brigade in Cyprus.'

MARTIAL ARTS

LISBURN-BASED SIGNALLER KICKS-ASS AT ARMY EVENT

A Lisburn-based Signaller kicked-ass when he took part in the Army's Martial Arts Championships. Sig Jamie Emett, based at HQNI was one of around 40 competitors taking part in the event held at the Army School od Physical Training in Aldershot. Competitors of all grades and skills demonstrated their prowess in karate, tae kwon do and tendo.

For the tae kwon do competition, participants had to prove their ability in a range of skills including patterns, which are set routines and sparring. Jamie took up tae kwon do last year and was a runner-up then. He said, 'I also do kick-boxing, but you can't do that for the Army so I took up tae kwon do. My background does help. I came to this event last year and was runner-up then. I don't get nervous before competitions, and I'm pleased to have got to this level this quickly. My unit gives me time off to compete, and provides transport so that I can get to the various locations.'

Jamie joined the Army in 1998 and has served in both Cyprus and Northern Ireland

ROYAL SIGNALS VICTORIOUS AT INTER-CORPS SWIMMING AND WATER POLO CHAMPIONSHIPS

Report by Major T. P. Langford

The 12th Inter-Corps Championships were contested at Arborfield on 30 November 2000 and yet again we demonstrated the depth and talent in the Corps with the outstanding results all three teams achieved.

INTERNAL CORPS COMPETITION

The Internal Corps Competition was held at Colerne on 21 November 2000 with teams from UK, Germany and the Individual Training Organisation (ITO) battling for the medals and cups. It was apparent after the first few events that the swimming would be a two horse race between UK and ITO. The Competition was decided in the relays and the depth of the UK team (they achieved a sub 2min 4 x 50m Freestyle Relay time) came through with them winning the Competition by three points. In the Water Polo all games were extremely close with the UK team winning their two games by three goals in each game to be crowned winners. Brig H. H. Ham CBE kindly presented the trophies to the winning teams.

Brig Ham CBE presents the Water Polo Cup to SSgt Spence Ord

Brig Ham CBE presenting Cpl Ollie Olver with the Swimming Trophy

INTER-CORPS CHAMPIONSHIPS PREPARATION

The teams were then retained at Colerne for a training camp prior to the Championships at Arborfield. SSgts Paul Gorman and Mike Openshaw with the help of Cpl Sara Lacey trained the swimming teams and Mr Mick Flaherty developed the Water Polo Team's fitness and tactics. The Water Polo Team had four warm up games against Bradford-on Avon (lost 9-4), twice against Weymouth (losing both games 15-5 and 9-5) and finally Frome (education is an understatement as we lost 24-1, Lt Ben Psaila scoring our goal).

INTER-CORPS CHAMPIONSHIPS

We moved to Arborfield after an extremely successful training camp and confident we were capable of contesting all three titles. The swimming is the first Championship and both the male and female swimming teams were extremely strong, also for the first time in living memory we entered two female teams. The female swimming teams first event was the 4 x 50m Freestyle with our A Team of Lt Vanessa Galloway, Capt Tanya Noakes, LCpl Nicky Ainscough and Lt Catherine Jardine winning in a time of 2mins 5secs, which was a new Inter-Corps record; Lt Catherine Jardine recorded a sub 30secs leg. The B Team finished sixth out of nine entries. The next event was the 4 x 50m Breaststroke Relay where again our A Team were winners with Cpl Sara Lacey recording a sub 30secs and again our B Team finished a very creditable sixth. The final female event was the 4 x 50m Medley Relay where our A Team finished second and the B Team improved on the previous events by finishing fifth. The overall result was very close with our ladies being crowned Champions by one point over the RLC who were extremely strong and a little surprised to be beaten! The B Team finished sixth overall and demonstrated the depth we have in the Corps.

The female swimming teams with the Inter-Corps Shield

The male swimming was an even tighter affair. In the first event, 4 x 100m Freestyle, we finished second to the RLC with both Cpl Lance Barr and Sig Ollie Smith producing 60secs swims. The 4 x 50m Breaststroke was next on the blocks and our team was the strongest I have seen in this event. The team of LCpl Aaron Gartside, Sig Carl Renshaw, Sig Mark Chilvers and Sig Sean Peart set a new Inter-Corps record of 2mins 18secs beating their nearest rivals in this event, again RLC, by nearly 9secs. The third event was the 4 x 50m Freestyle where the team of LCpl Matt Lee, Cpl Jack Homer, Sig Robbie Williams and Sig Tony Davies finished second to the RLC by less than three tenths of a second. All four swimmers recorded sub 28sec legs and Cpl Jack Homer and Sig Robbie Williams were under the 27 sec mark. The final event was the 4 x 50m Medley Relay, the Championship was extremely tight with our team leading RLC by two points. RLC won the final event and we finished third which meant we shared the Cup. For the first time we entered two Water Polo teams which created two pools of four teams. The B Team were drawn against RE, RA (last year's Champions) and REME. The Team was superb and lost narrowly to the RE 5-3 in a game they deserved at least to draw, they then met the RA and as expected lost 7-0 but they kept their best game until last and deservedly drew 3-3 with the REME. The B Team finished joint third in their Group. The A Team drew APTC, AGC and Int Corps. The first game against APTC was a little physical. However, our defence was outstanding with Capt Pete Griffiths pulling off some amazing one on one saves in goal (and as Mick Flaherty keeps telling us - If they don't score you can't lose!) and we managed a 3-1 victory. Against the AGC we met the best forward in the Army. Our tactics proved themselves and we beat the AGC 5-0. The final game in our pool was against the Int Corps where we won comfortably 12-0 and finished top of our pool. In the first semi-final APTC met last years Champions the RA and beat them 8-7 in a thrilling game. In our semi we met the REME who led 2-1 after the first quarter but as the game progressed our overall strength and depth surfaced and Maj Tim Langford chose this game to score his annual goal. We ran out winners by 6-2. In the final we again met the APTC who we beat 3-1 in our first game of the day. We expected a very physical game that would run to the wire. However, again the skill level of all 13 players proved their worth as we eventually won by a staggering 10-1, the biggest margin I have seen in the final.

Maj Tim Langford being presented the Inter-Corps Water Polo Cup

The Corps Water Polo Team - Inter-Corps Champions

Sig Ollie Smith was presented with the Best Royal Signals Water Polo player trophy for his outstanding display over the Championship

Sig Ollie Smith being presented with the Best Water Polo award by Maj Tim Langford

Yet again the results achieved by the Corps were exceptional. My thanks to all individuals for their effort over a very hard week and to their Units for releasing them. Special thanks to Mr Mick Flaherty, SSgts Paul Gorman and Mike Openshaw for training the teams. Also congratulations to Cpl Sara Lacey on her recent marriage - from all members of the teams we wish you happiness and the best of luck for the future. Anyone interested in representing the Corps should contact Maj Tim Langford on 943824284. The Internal Competition will be held on 20 November 2001 with the Team Camp running until the Inter-Corps on 29 November 2001 - see you there.

INTERESTED IN ICE HOCKEY?

The REME Stallions are looking for anybody interested in training or playing Ice Hockey.
We are also looking to play other Services, Corps or Regiments.
For further details contact WO2 (AQMS) Patey on 9214 841 5470

ARMY BOXING CHAMPIONSHIPS 2000

by Cpl Tony Booth - 600 Signal Troop

This year only two people represented the Corps at the Army Boxing Championships, LCpl 'Nathan' Dorrian of 3 (UK) Div & Sig Regt and Cpl 'Tony' Booth of 600 Sig Tp.

LCpl Dorrian boxed at L/Middle and Cpl Booth boxed at Super Heavy. There was a large turnout for the L/Middle Division, which meant that LCpl Dorrian had a real battle on his hands and would have to fight at least five fights just to get to the Finals!! LCpl Dorrian fought hard and well to get through to the Semi-Finals where he was drawn against a very experienced boxer from the 7 RLC team (three years in a row Army Champions). The fight went the distance, which was three fantastic rounds of pure heart and soul, with neither boxer wanting to drop the pressure. LCpl Dorrian lost on points, in what must have been, one of the closest fights ever seen.

Cpl Booth was more fortunate with a smaller turnout at the Super Heavyweight Division. Only four people had entered at this weight, which meant that Cpl Booth's first fight was in the Semi-Finals. Unfortunately, he was drawn against the huge 17 stone Welshman from 1 RRW who was widely tipped to win. Just four seconds into the fight, Booth let rip with a powerful punch on the Welshman's jaw, (sending his head about a foot off of his shoulders), which was followed by the referee jumping in, and with a count of eight, the fight was stopped. A total time of just 12 seconds!! Cpl Booth was drawn against Gdsm Culsworth from the Coldstream Guards in the Finals.

On the big night, and the last fight of the evening, Booth stepped into the ring, perhaps a little too confident of the outcome. He again used his strength to knock the Guardsman into the corner, where the referee had to stop the fight, re-adjust the Guardsman's head-guard and warn him for turning round. The Guardsman then used jab and move tactics to keep the stronger Booth away. The following rounds were Booth chasing after the Guardsman but receiving constant jabs to the head and body. At the end of three rounds of 'blood and guts', the Guardsman deservedly won on points.

Much congratulations to both Boxers for some excellent boxing. The only let-down of the night, was that only two boxers represented the Corps, when much smaller Regiments managed to enter a dozen boxers. Come on lads (and perhaps even ladies??), lets have a much greater Corps presence at next year's Championships!! Perhaps, even a Corps Boxing Team?!

ROYAL SIGNALS YACHT CLUB

Admiral	Brig C. J. Burton OBE
Commodore	Brig H. H. Ham CBE
Vice Commodore	Maj D. C. A. Ellis (94371 5299)
Rear Commodores:
Offshore	Maj K. Whitehead (Mil: 9621 80133)
Dinghy and Day boats	Maj J. F. Calvert (94777 2204)
Windsurfing	Maj D. I. Gilchrist (94631 4219
Yachtmaster (UK)	Maj J. S. Stuart (94371 2101)
(Germany)	Maj I. C. Gray (94371 2261, Fax 2668)
Retired Members Representative	Lt Col (Retd) M. J. P. Collins
Secretaries:
General	Maj R. Gibson (94371 5577)
Windsurfing	Capt A. J. Mould (94344 5111)
Soldier Members:
Offshore	Sgt D. Sangster
Dinghy	LCpl S. Southan
Windsurfing	Cpl A. Varney

WEB SITE

The Club now owns a web site that will become a new medium for club members. The Web site already features the Offshore Section and dates for next year. The URL is http://www.bigfoot.com/~royalsignalsyc (The ~ (tilda character) is above the # key). The full address is http://www.royalsignals.army.org.uk/yacht_club/yachtclub.htm. To tell others about this site, inform them of the shortcut, or type in 'Royal Signals Yacht Club' in inverted commas into any search engine, and you will find the site. Once there, you will see the full details of the current committee, the calendar for future events, and you will be able to E-mail or phone any member of the committee.

OFFSHORE SAILING 2001 REVIEW
TRAINING EVENTS 2001

In 2000, I told you that we qualified two coastal skippers, one day skipper and in the region of 40 Competent Crew. By May 2001, we already qualified in the region of 53 Competent Crew, and soon will be starting on more Day Skippers and Coastal Skippers. The most notable event so far was the Corps Sail Training week in UK, which was supported by some 42 people. The trip started at Gosport, moved on to Lymmington then Dartmouth, sailed overnight into Yarmouth, then moved up to Ocean Village before returning to Gosport.

NEW NAJAD DELIVERY MARCH 2001

BKYC (Kiel, Germany), accepted their new fleet of ten Najad 331 in March 2001. Pictures are on the Internet site. Of the 60 of so people assisting in the delivery, over 10% were R SIGNALS.

FUTURE EVENTS

The next major event in the offshore calendar, which should include 80 sailors, will be in Germany/Denmark between the 15th and 26th of July 2001. Contact 2Lt Steven Davis on Herford Military 3742 if you would like to enter. Most of those taking part normally have never sailed before, and will all walk away with a Competent Crew certificate, racing experience, and fantastic, but occasionally cloudy memories of late nights in Denmark.

TRAINING AND QUALIFICATION

If you want to either improve your sailing, or become more qualified, then contact the Offshore Training Secretary, Maj Ian Gray. If you have a qualification, and want to put it onto the Corps Database, then either Email Ian Gray, Fax, or speak. There will be a Day Skipper Course between 28 August 2001 and 2 September 2001 for ten people. Names will be chosen based upon experience.

CORPS YACHTS

The Corps still owns three Corps Yachts; Quicksilver which is based in Kiel, Germany, Skywave and Petasus which are in Gosport. Any currently serving or ex-R SIGNALS person may charter the yacht as long as they have a minimum qualification of Day Skipper. More details about booking are on the Internet, but contact either of the Yacht Masters for more information.

INTERESTED IN SAILING?
Volunteers are required to join the British Antartic Expedition 2001

The Royal Signals are sponsoring legs 1 & 2 of this chance in a lifetime expedition.

24 Crew Required

Positions Range from Complete Novice to Watch Leaders

Leg 1 - (27 August - 18 September 2001)
Southampton - Canaries

Leg 2 - (18 September - 17 October 2001)
Canaries - Rio (Trans-Atlantic)

Contact: Sgt H. Skidmore

Royal School of Signals, Blandford Camp,

Blandford Civ (01258) 482032 or Mil (94371) Ext 2032

THE ROYAL SIGNALS ASSOCIATION

Patron: HRH The Princess Royal

President: The Master of Signals

Chairman: Major General A. H. Boyle CB

Vice Chairman: Brig N. F. Wood Area1; Brig W. H. Backhouse Area 2; Brig S. G. M. Gordon Area 3; Big K. H. Olds Area 4; Brig P. J. Evans CBE Area 5; Lt Col J. G. Billingham Wales; Maj R. Sampson CBE Scotland; Lt Col C. N. Lightfoot N Ireland

General Secretary and Treasurer: Col A. R. Carter MBE
Welfare Secretary: Mrs J. Cornick

Assistant General Secretary: Lt Col I. J. Hamilton
Administrative Officer: Mr P. J. Cuckow (Membership & Records)

Association Office, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, Dorset DT11 8RH. Telephone: Military System (9) 4371 2090 or 01258 48 2090. Welfare Secretary Telephone: Military System (9) 4371 2089 or 01258 48 2089.

All contributions for The WIRE should be addressed to the Editor and any queries referred to him on extensions 2079 or 2085.
Internet: www.royalsignals.army.org.uk/museum/rsa.htm

The Association communicates with its Branches and individual members through the pages of The WIRE, which contains accounts of Branch affairs as well as a forecast of Association events.

Branch Secretaries are asked to check that their Branch Members receive sufficient copies of The WIRE. Association HQ can arrange for copies to be delivered in bulk to Branch Secretaries for further distribution if this is convenient: it helps us to save on postage.

Dates of Branch events can always be published in The WIRE and should be submitted to the Editor. We also welcome letters, requests to contact old comrades and announcements of births, marriages and deaths. We hope that each Branch will contribute a short account of its activities, preferably with photographs, at least once a year.

Branch News: After around 22 years in office, Jimmy Carruthers has stood down as Hon. Secretary of the Liverpool Branch. The Branch and Association offers Jimmy their sincere thanks for his outstanding contribution. Jimmy Mayne is the newly elected Secretary and his address is, 20 Ashton Drive, West Kirby, Wirral CH48 0RQ. Tel: 0151-6255862. The Rotherham Branch has had a change of Secretary; Keith Bates was elected at the Branch's recent AGM and can be contacted at, 92 Howard Road, Bramley, Rotherham S66 2SU, Tel: 01709 547688. Bryan Whittaker has been elected as the new Secretary of the Colchester Branch. Bryan can be contacted at, 75 Lower Kingsland Road, West Mersea, Colchester CO5 8AH, Tel: 01206-383682. Somehow Association HQ has been advertising the incorrect address for Eric Harris, Hon Secretary of the Nottingham Branch. Eric's correct address is, 74 Apollo Drive, Hempshill Vale, Nuttal, Nottingham, NG6 7AG. My apologies to Tony Hull of the Beverley Ex-Boys Assn for getting his e-mail address incorrect in the April WIRE. It should read: beba.tonyhull@lineone.net. The Hon. Secretary of the '254 OBA' is Mr Brian Fisher, 29 Haslemere Drive, Penketh, Warrington, Cheshire WA5 2RP, Tel: 01925-727420, E-mail: A254mech@bfisher.freeserve.co.uk. Peter Dooley, Hon Secretary of the Southport Branch, has a new address, 34a Chambers Road, Southport PR8 4JQ, Tel: 01704-512723. E-mail: 'pjdooley27@hotmail.co'. Brian Podmore is the new Hon Secretary of the Shropshire Branch. Brian's address is, 22 Westwood Court, North Street, Leek, Staffs, ST13 8DQ. E-mail: jimmy@royal-signals.net. Holders of the Branch Secretaries List should make the necessary amendments regarding the above detail.

Annual General Meeting: The combined AGM/Branch Representatives Meeting was held in Chelsea Barracks, London on Saturday 7 April 2001. Over 130 members, representing 49 of the Association's 69 Branches were present. Five of our affiliated associations were also represented. It was also good to see four of our Chelsea In-Pensioners there. It is hoped that the minutes are now with Branch Secretaries. Maj Gen Tony Boyle chaired an interesting and enjoyable meeting during which Col Neil Donaldson, the Regimental Colonel and representing the SOinC(A), gave an update on Corps matters.. As a result of three amendments approved at the meeting, the Association Rulebook has been reprinted (as at April 2001) and copies are available to members from Association HQ. After the meeting Dave Walker and Tom Ditch (Dorset Branch) organised a raffle, which raised £190 for the Benevolent Fund. Our thanks go to Dave and Pat Maloney for donating the prizes. Many acquaintances were renewed and new friends made at the meeting. Our thanks go to 238 Sig Sqn for their assistance with the meeting. Thanks also goes to all those who made the effort to attend, many having come from far afield. Next year's AGM will be held on 6 April – have you got that in your diary John?

Corps Carol Service: This year's Corps Carol Service will take place on a date yet to be confirmed at the usual venue of St Stephen with St John, Rochester Row, Westminster, London. The service will start at 1800 hours, after which everyone is invited to join the Master of Signals in enjoying sherry and mince pies in the nearby Parish Hall. All serving and former members of the Corps, plus their families are cordially invited to attend.

Did you serve with 7th or 11th Armd Div in 1945? 7th Armd Bde Sig Sqn, based in Hohne, Bergen Belson, Germany are looking for former Corps members who served in the area during the later stages of WW2. They would like members to contact them concerning the history of the Corps' participation during the fighting in the area and on to Hamburg. The unit would like to invite concerned members to a Remembrance Service in November. Fuller details will appear in the August WIRE, but in the meantime anyone interested is asked to contact RSM Mark Tivey on 0049 5051 962555 or 962267, Fax 962422.

New Life Members: Thank you to the numerous members who took the trouble to let me know that they consider the list of New Life Members to be useful. This service will continue and the list of those enrolled since the last WIRE is shown below.

Rank & Name	Branch	Served
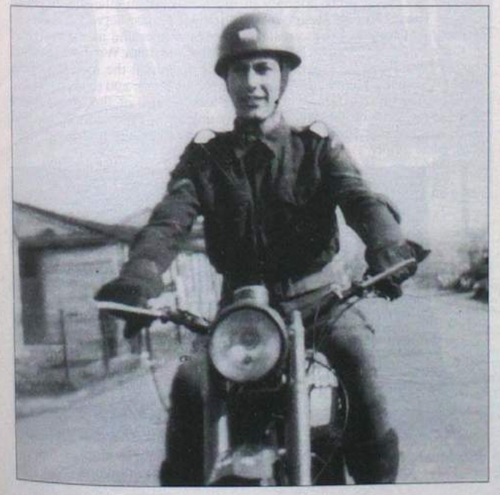
Sgt Ted Williams	RHQ	1961-69
App Ross Munroe	RHQ	1999-00
WO1 Alex Sherrard	RHQ	1978-01
SSgt Geoffrey Coatsworth	Beverley Ex-Boys Assn	1950-78
Cpl Lindsay Howson	RHQ	1993-01
Cpl Paul Willmer	Derby	1993-date
LCpl Robert Holt	Derby	1998-date
LCpl Robert Bromwich	Derby	1992-date
Cpl Kevin Twigger	RHQ	1977-01
SSgt Colin Brown	RHQ	1979-01
SSgt Christopher McKenna	RHQ	1984-01
Cpl J. D. Donnison	RHQ	1989-01
SSgt Ray Stokes	Berwick	1960-82
Cpl Keith Taylor	RHQ	1977-87
Sig Conrad Warne	RHQ	1996-01
SSgt Steve Harrison	RHQ	1977-00
WO2 Biddy Baxter	RHQ	1977-01
WO1 John Gibson	RHQ	1975-01
LCpl Virginia Hopson	RHQ	1980-84
Dvr Frank Goddard	West Wales	1945-48
LCpl Ted Reed	West London	1947-49
LCpl Chris Mitchel	West London	1996-date
Sgt Ralph Porter	Catterick	1960-78
Maj Philip Akass	Aldershot	1938-48
LCpl Sally Reggler	Exmouth	1983-94
Capt Guy Anstiss	Middlesex Yeomanry	1994-date
SSgt Bob Breheney	RHQ	1977-01
Sig Chris Ankers	RHQ	1995-01
WO2 Wayne Cox	RHQ	1977-01
WO2 John Prowse	RHQ	1978-00
Sig Sam Stroughair	RHQ	1997-01
Sgt Allan Beever	Rotherham	1950-68
WO1 Gordon Smith	RHQ	1951-76
Sig Peter Vass	RHQ	1953-64
Cpl John Wagstaff	RHQ	1980-93
Sig Steven Thomson	RHQ	1992-01
SSgt Keith Langton	RHQ	1977-01
WO1 Phil Jones	RHQ	1977-01
WO1 Nick Hawley	RHQ	1977-01
Sgt Jim Harvey BEM	RHQ	1977-01
WO1 Phil Court	RHQ	1977-01
SSgt Graeme Chapman	RHQ	1987-01
Cpl Lex Barker	RHQ	1985-date
Sgt Nigel Brewin	Dorset	1978-01
WSgt Jo Richmond	Catterick	1970-80
Sig Nick Gibbon	Reading	1951-55
Cpl Gordon Canning	Reading	1951-55
Sig Darren McAlister	RHQ	1995-01
Capt Helen Bosley	RHQ	1994-01
Sig James Angliss	RHQ	1954-56
Sgt John Sears	RHQ	1945-48
Sig Peter Bird	RHQ	1953-55
Sgt Pamela Foakes	Colchester	1968-75
Sig Sid Noon	Colchester	1943-47
Cpl John Ridler	East Kent	1949-51
Sig Gordon Stephens	RHQ	1950-52
Sgt Les Sharp	RHQ	1951-73
Cpl Ian Allmark	RHQ	1981-94
LCpl Lee Anderson	RHQ	1985-94
Cpl Phil Annison	RHQ	1972-94
Sgt Trevor Allen	RHQ	1977-94
Cpl George Amos	RHQ	1974-94
LCpl Bob Armstrong	RHQ	1984-94
Cpl Robert Arthur	RHQ	1980-94
LCpl Kenneth Armstrong	RHQ	1985-94
Sig Joanne Smith	RHQ	1997-01
Cpl Scott Dernie	RHQ	1986-01
Sig James Walker	RHQ	1963-81
Sig Vic Rayner	East London	1941-47
WO2 Tony Wells	East London	1978-date
WO2 Bob Woods	RHQ	1953-92
Sig Tony Stevens	Loughborough	1950-52
LCpl Leslie Wright	Loughborough	1955-57
Sig L B Kilbourne	Loughborough	1947-53
Cpl Jim Traynor	RHQ	1961-70
Sig Brian Roalf	East Kent	1958-60
Sgt Bradd Braddock	RHQ	1987-01
SSgt James Eddowes	RHQ	1977-00
Cpl Peter Davenport	Newark	1962-71
Sig Collin Cawkwell	Newark	1947-49
LCpl Jimmy Lafferty	Newark	1962-71
Cpl Frank Bowles MBE	Cardiff	1953-58
Sig Thomas Kitchen	Rotherham	1949-50
Cpl Lyn Sheridan	RHQ	1990-01
SSgt Patricia Millar	RHQ	1979-01
WO2 Mark Harvey	RHQ	1977-01
Cpl Neil Cox	RHQ	1991-01
Maj Brian Murray	RHQ	1963-01
Sig Morris Carpenter	12/15/18 AFSR Assn	1942-47
Maj Andy Talbot	RHQ	1990-01
WO1 Ernie Adams	RHQ	1955-76
Sgt Clem Clements	12/15/18 AFSR Assn	1940-46
Capt Richard Newhouse	RHQ	1994-01
WO2 Mike Goatley	RHQ	1963-89
Sig Thomas Lafferty	RHQ	1965-76
Cpl Eric Ball	RHQ	1951-53
WO2 Rick Powell	RHQ	1977-01
CplConrad Towner	RHQ	1992-01
Pte J. A. Glasgow	Glasgow	1975-83

LEST WE FORGET

Ex-Signalman Albert Thurling (pictured below) never forgot his friend John 'Jackie' Marwick, a young Kirkwall, Orkney soldier who died in the military hospital in Glasgow in 1948, after several weeks illness.



He was given a full military funeral in Kirkwall but no gravestone. Albert raised the matter of the absence of the gravestone with the MoD and his intervention and persistence has resulted in the War Graves Commission providing an appropriate stone for the family grave where Jackie is buried.

LOST

THE 'JOE COTTERELL' CROSS COUNTRY CUP

The Cup is presented in memory of Joe Cotterell who ran for the Army in the mid-1930s and won the Egyptian Command Cross Country Cup three years in succession. The last known recipient was Bill Bailley, 1 Armd Div HQ & Sig Regt Cross Country Champion – February 1990.

The Corps Property Manager, Maj (Retd) Pat Lafferty is anxious to trace its whereabouts.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED by Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, Museum Director

We are in the process of gathering material for a new book,

'A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE CORPS'.

I would be grateful for any suitable photographs (with appropriate captions) that depict the Corps on operations: particularly since 1970. If you have any other photographs that you believe may also be worthy of this project please contact the Museum Director. Tel : Blandford Military 01258 48 2267.

MEDALS PRESENTATION TO THE MUSEUM

The death, at the age of 89, of Lt Col Edwin Day OBE TD (known in the Corps as Edward) was recorded in the April WIRE. On 30 April his wife Elizabeth presented his medals to the Museum where Col (Retd) Cliff Walters received them. Lt Col Day OBE TD gave a total of 42 years of his working life to the Corps which started in 1931 when he was commissioned into 55 (WL) Divisional Signals (TA) and at the outbreak of war he commanded the Div HQ Signal Section. He went on to command 13 Air Formation Signals in Operation Overlord with distinction and was Mentioned in Despatches (1944), appointed OBE (1946) and awarded the TD (1945). His distinguished military career took him to Egypt, Sudan, Catterick, Larkhill, and Suez. He retired in 1959 and after a short spell as a 'civilian' he became Secretary of the RSI in 1962. He was involved in the planning of the move of the School of Signals from Catterick to Blandford. Having set up the Museum in Blandford, he assumed the appointment of Museum Director in 1967. He held this position until his retirement in 1976. He was also active in local politics and became a prominent Conservative in the Tendring District Council, Walton. He met his wife, Elizabeth, in Egypt in 1948 whilst she was serving with the WRAF and they married on 30 April 1955. As such this presentation day was also their anniversary. He is also survived by his daughter Rosemary.

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON AMF (L) REUNION

249 Signal Squadron AMF(L) are to hold their 26th ANNIVERSARYon at Bulford Camp. For a programme and booking form any Serving or ex-Squadron Members wishing to attend are to contact the SSM on

94321 2193 or 01980 672193

ALDERSHOT BRANCH

In April we enjoyed an outstanding event, a formal Dinner in the Garrison Sergeants Mess to celebrate a further two successful years of the Branch. We were delighted to have as our Guest of Honour our new Association Chairman, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB with his wife Ann.

Remembering Borneo - The After Dinner Speech
(L-R): Maj Gen Tony Boyle and Edelgard Moss

The dinner was attended by our President, Gen Henry Hild MBE and his wife Janet and by Nigel and Betty Ribchester who have a special mention as they were celebrating their Golden Wedding. It was a memorable occasion for Nigel as he also received from Gen Tony Boyle the 50-Year Badge.

Maj Gen Tony Boyle - RSA President (R)
presenting a 50 Year Badge to Lt Col (Retd) Nigel Ribchester
(Nigel is the author of the Signal (Cary) Theatre 1945-1973, a multi volume record, recently presented to the Corps Museum)

The night proved to be not only an auspicious but an hilarious occasion as Gen Tony, General Henry Hild and Nigel all had served together in Borneo. Col Neville Lyons presided over the dinner and mention should be made of the way in which Edelgard Moss and Jean Wilson organised the very attractive floral arrangements that decorated the tables. Thanks are due to Joe Fairbairn, the Garrison Sergeant Major and to his excellent Staff for the presentation of the dinner and the use of the Mess. Nigel Ribchester brought not only a large contingent of celebrants of his and Betty's anniversary but buckets of champagne to ensure that our glasses were never empty.

Lt Col (Retd) Nigel and Mrs Betty Ribchester
Golden Wedding Anniversary - Congratulations

The occasion was organised by our Chairman, Brig Noel Moss, as a successor to our 50th Anniversary dinner and it was a most enjoyable evening befitting the Branch that epitomises the Home of the British Army. Our Annual General Meeting was held in February on the occasion of our Spring Luncheon for which we again were indebted to Joe Fairbairn for the use of his Mess and the excellent service of his Staff. Once more, they did us proudly. In March we were given a very good talk with slides by Tony Harmsworth, the Waterways Manager of the Basingstoke Canal Authority, whose family had been associated with the Canal from its inception. His knowledge of the Canal was an education even to those of us who had long been familiar with it, and the evening proved most enjoyable.

COTSWOLDS BRANCH

We were pleased to welcome Lt Col Bob Peake,our Area Representative and his wife, to our February Meeting when he outlined to us the work of the RSA and answered many questions and queries to everyone's satisfaction. This is the first time, in over twenty years that we have had a visit from outside the Branch and look forward to a return visit in the not too distant future. Our March meeting was our Annual General Meeting, when all the Committee were re-elected. The Chairman, Maj Arthur Cropp and our Secretary, Mrs Cropp informed those present that they both intended resigning from their posts at the end of this Branch Year. This was received with dismay, but we all realise that their efforts over the past 18 years has kept the Branch going and they are going to be a hard act to follow. The Membership must pull together over the next year and find replacements.

DORSET BRANCH

As usual we have just, by the skin of our teeth, managed to defeat the deadline for the publication of our Branch notes. On Friday 23 March we held our Annual Dinner in the Crown Hotel, Blandford. During the evening our President, Pat Lafferty, welcomed the guests, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle the Association Chairman and Mrs Boyle, Col J. K. Ewbank, Commander The Royal School of Signals and Mrs Ewbank and WO1 (RSM) H. Kemp and Mrs Kemp. The highlight of the evening was a tribute paid by the President to Jimmy Wilds, one of our oldest and longest serving members. Jimmy has spent 34 years as a member, serving eight years as Assistant Secretary and 30 years as Standard Bearer. He holds the 50 Years' Service Badge and is an Honour Member of the Association. Well done Jimmy. During the evening Jimmy presented his name-sake to the Branch. The photograph shows Pat Lafferty receiving the 'Jimmy' on behalf of the Branch (PS. Pat is on the right). Some 89 members, their wives, and guests attended the Dinner and a good evening was enjoyed by all.

THE EAST KENT BRANCH

Nearly fifty Members gathered on 11 March at the Shant Hotel, a delightful olde worlde establishment near Sutton Valance, to first of all listen to a most interesting and amusing talk given by Miss Karen Bennett, the granddaughter of Maj Tom and Mrs Doris Bewsey. Karen took part in last year's Millenium Marathon which she completed despite suffering a knee injury during the latter part of the event. This most entertaining talk and description of the training, build up and final day was followed by a further talk, this time by Karen's mother, Pauline, who is the Area Secretary for the Cancer Research Campaign, and she enlightened us on how the donations are spent and how the Research Campaign is progressing. Both these talks were loudly applauded and a further donation was made by the Branch from the proceeds of the raffle. All this was followed by a delicious lunch.

NEWS OF MEMBERS

Roy Andrews was an original member of the first Branch Committee and served in many capacities until 1997, when he became the South East Representative on the RSA Central Committee. He completes his tour of this appointment at the forthcoming AGM and will then step down, to devote more time to his other 'iron in the fire', the Tripoli Signals Association. We are all very grateful to him for all his efforts over the years.

VALE

It is with much sadness that I must report that Mr Jimmy Hand has finally lost his battle with cancer after many months of treatment. Jimmy was a most entertaining and popular member who took it upon himself to discover and enlist ex-members of the Corps into the Branch. His funeral on 21 March was attended by several of the Branch despite the distance involved and by many members from his local branch of the Royal British Legion, where he was an enthusiastic and popular member. The sympathy of the Branch goes out to his wife Pam and the family.

GLASGOW BRANCH

The ' Jimmy Club' meeting was held on 16 February in the WOs & Sgts Mess. The invitation was extended to members of the Branch by WO1 (SVWO) Terry McVey. An excellent meal was provided prepared and served by chef, Cpl Debbie Carruthers, helped out by waitresses Sharon McKenna and Caroline Dorrian of 32 Sig Regt (V). Sgt Danny Beattie was in charge of the bar service, much appreciated by the branch members, voted a very convivial evening.

The Branch Standard Bearer, Bill MacNamara, paraded the Branch Standard, at the 60th Anniversary ceremony, of the bombing of Clydebank, which resulted in so many civilian casualties, with half the town's houses and other buildings being demolished in March 1941. My own late wife was fortunately in a shelter that night. The family home was destroyed. The family was evacuated to Troon, Ayrshire for safety. Bill was also invited to attend as a representative of the Branch, to take part in a Standard Bearers Competition for Service Associations, organised by the Royal British Legion Scotland. Bill took the honours, by winning the special award for associations, of the May Peat Trophy and a commemorative medallion. Well done Bill. The RBLS also had a competition for their own members in which Association Standard Bearers were not allowed to participate. The presentation of trophies for both sections was made by our Branch Member, George MacFarlane, as the RBLS Western District Secretary.

The Regiment held an open day on Saturday 31 March. The Branch was allowed to have a stand with photographs and memorabilia, to attract the attention of any ex Signals who could be interested in joining the Branch. The meals cooked in the field kitchen were excellent, and the regiment's cooks did a roaring trade with their hot dog stand. A display of the food packaged for use in the field, was certainly 'up-market' in the memories of most of the older members of the Branch. The Signals Army Cadets also had their own spot and their Miniature Rifle Range was a great attraction for the younger male and female visitors. Their equipment on display was also upto date.

Arrangements are well in hand for the ceremony of Beating Retreat and the Drumhead Service to be held on 28 April to mark the tenth anniversary of the founding of the Branch. This is to be held in the HQ of 32 (Scottish) Signal Regiment (V), with kind permission of the CO, Lt Col J. K. McKee MBE who has intimated that he would have some of the Regiment attend the ceremony. To round off the day a buffet and disco is arranged.

MANCHESTER BRANCH

Members of the Branch travelled South to the RSA AGM on Friday 6 April 2001, led by the Chairman - Ron Taylor, Vice Chairman - Pete Griffin, Branch Secretary - Harry Ferguson and Entertainment Supremo - Ian Ashworth-Davies. Also in the party were Mrs Ida Harvey, Roy Gartside, Harry Jones and Norman Tipton. Ron said that it was the largest contingent ever to attend from this Branch.

On Friday evening we were joined by Ivana Muir, Glasgow Branch Secretary, who had earlier taken afternoon tea with Ida at Mr

Mohammed al Fayed's emporium in Knightsbridge. We were royally entertained by Ida at the Civil Service Club in Whitehall. The party got away from the Union Jack Club for the AGM before the Met Police cordoned off the entire area, because of a 'suspicious' illegally parked car, outside the club.

The concensus was that this year's AGM had quite a lighthearted feel to it, the hospitality was of the usual high standard, and the two-day trip deemed a great success.

HUDDERSFIELD BRANCH

The Huddersfield Branch of the Royal Signals Association held their fourth Christmas Dinner on Sunday 25 January 2001, at the Bradley Park Golf Club. The Guests of Honour were Capt Rejendra Gurung and Cpl Balaram Pun of 2 Signal Regiment, Royal Gurkha Signals. Capt Gurung gave a short talk on the Gurkha Welfare Trust, and was presented with £50, the result of a raffle run during lunch. Cpl Balaram then awarded Mr Trevor Dean with his Life Membership of the Association.

Back Row (L-R): Mr R. Pawson (Treasurer), Mr P. Berry, Mr J. Dearden, Mr D. Pollard, Mr P. Smith, Mr T. Dean, Mr D. Crawshaw, Mr A. Dunn and Mr P. Ling
Front Row (L-R): Mr D. Tippon (Vice Chairman), Capt Rajendra Gurung, Mr J. Hurst (Chairman), Cpl Balaram Pun and Mr G. Scott

NORFOLK BRANCH

Our AGM was held on 9 March at our usual meeting place: the TA Centre, Aylesham Road, Norwich. The existing Officers were re-elected en-bloc the only vacancy being the Parade Marshall, there were no takers. The new post of Assistant Secretary and Public Relations was filled by Brian Gibbs. The meeting continued to be quite lively and we had an average turnout of 35-40 ably presided over by the Chairman, Maj (Retd) Mike Sexton, who has organised a visit to the Muckleborough Collection on 12 May. The Collection is an interesting one of military memorabilia and is housed in a museum in Weybourne, Norfolk. By popular request there will be a further visit to see the Shuttleworth

Mrs Cynthia Wade, Mrs Ann Boyle, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle, Mike Sexton

(L-R): Don Ellingworth (Branch President), Mrs Cynthia Wade, Mrs Ann Boyle, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB, Maj Mike Sexton, Mrs Francis Greenwood

Collection of WWI aeroplanes, both British and German. They are all working machines and there are several other attractions as well. Should any other Branches wish to visit the phone number is 01767 626227 and the Group organiser, Tony Podmore, will send full details.

Our Branch Dinner was held on 24 March at the Hilton Hotel in Norwich, where we were regaled with the presence of the Association Chairman, Maj Gen Tony Boyle CB and his wife, Ann. They were warmly welcomed by the Branch Chairman - Maj Mike Sexton. The Association Chairman spoke at some length on the work of the Association including its benevolence work. He also spoke of the problems being faced by the serving members of the Corps with the shortage of recruits and the retention of trained personel.

At the conclusion of his talk the Branch Chairman presented him with a Branch cheque for £100 for the Royal Signals Benevolent Fund. Another welcome guest was Mrs Cynthia Wade, the wife of the late Maj Gen A. Wade who was the first President of the Branch. Both Mrs Ann Boyle and Mrs Cynthia Wade were presented with bouquets by Brian Gibbs.

Our Branch publication 'Jimmy News' suffered a short demise due to the illness of the Editor, Keith Swetman. Keith felt that he could not carry on but we are glad to report that its original founder Colin Spencer (ex 3 Div) has volunteered (?) to pick up the cudgels once more. Anyway he is making a very good job of it and is very much appreciated by the Branch. With his permission I reproduce a part of his 'Prayer for the Stressed':

Help me to be careful of the toes that I step on today, as they may be connected to the feet I may have to kiss tomorrow. And help me to remember, when I am having a bad day and it seems that people are winding me up, it takes 42 muscles to frown, 28 to smile and only four to extend my arm and smack somebody in the mouth.' C. Spencer.

READING BRANCH

It was with great sadness that we heard of the death of Col Harold Shorter on 4 March, 2001. To many of us in Reading Branch he had been our OC, CO and CSO in our Territorial days and subsequently a founder member of the Branch. Harold served two tours as Chairman and although ill health had prevented him from attending any of our events in recent months we kept in touch. He will be missed by all that knew him.

On 17 March we held our Spring Luncheon. Although the attendance was smaller than we might have wished, those who came gave a splendid illustration of the 'Corps Family' enjoying themselves. Our guests of honour were Maj and Mrs Neville Hogan, representing the Gurkha Welfare Trust. After our first year of supporting this excellent cause the highlight of the luncheon was seeing our President, Maj-Gen MacFarlane, presenting our cheque to Maj Hogan. After lunch we held a very successful Annual Draw. In the afternoon of 17 March we held our 30th Annual General Meeting. To start the proceedings our Branch Vice-President, (Jeff Hazel) read out the Branch 'Roll of Honour' which now comprises the names of the 40 members who have died since the 'new' Reading Branch was formed in January 1971, and this was followed by a short silence in memory of our 'absent friends'. Following the presentation of the usual Reports, the Meeting proceeded to elect the Committee for the new year, as follows: Chairman: Mrs Pauline Tennant, Vice-Chairman: Maj Brian Billsberry. Hon. Secretary, Hon. Treasurer and Membership Secretary: Alan E. Foot, Social Secretary: Mrs. Thelma Wakefield, Asst. Social Secretary: John Wakefield, 50-Club Secretary: David Norris, and Publicity and Newsletter Secretary: Miss Cheryl Jackson. The ex-officio members of the Committee are our President: Maj-Gen Bill MacFarlane, Vice-President: Jeff Hazel, Standard Bearer: John Mumford and 94 Signal Sqn Rep: Sgt Chris Lewis.

Why not visit the Royal Signals Museum?
For opening hours ring : 01258 482248

SCARBOROUGH BRANCH

The Branch A.G.M. was held on 9 April 2001 at Coldyhill Lane Barracks, Scarborough. Branch President, George Rusby, opened the proceedings by thanking the Committee and all members for another good year. Chairman, Derek Rigby, started the business of the 53rd Annual General Meeting. Treasurer, Brian Mortimer, reported that the Branch funds were in a very healthy state. Branch Secretary, Steve Jewell, gave a report on the past year and highlighted the successful social programme arranged by the Committee. Vice-Chairman, Harry Harper, reported on the Royal Signals Association AGM, which had been held in London. The following Social Events have been arranged for the coming year:

29 June 2001	Informal Dinner
21 July 2001	Family Evening - Disco and Barbeque
26 October 2001	Annual Formal Dinner
11 November 2001	Curry Lunch
24 November 2001	Cheese and Wine Evening
8 December 2001	Christmas Dinner

On Friday 11 May, we held a Charity Race Evening in aid of the Army Cadet, Stephen Menary who was injured by a terrorist bomb. The evening started with the Horse Racing, many of the races had been sponsored by the Korean Veterans Association, REME Association and Osgodby Wine Club and we say a big thank you to these organisations for their support. Included in the evening were a raffle, and a special prize for the lucky numbered ticket holder, and a buffet supper. The whole event was superbly organised by Steve Jewell and the Social Committee to whom we also say a big thank you. We are pleased to announce that as a result of this evening a cheque for £310 will be donated to this very worthy cause.

Committee Meetings are held on the first Monday of each month and Branch Meetings are held on the second Monday of each month. If anyone reading this would like to join our Branch, please telephone our Branch Secretary, Steve Jewell, on 01723 379922 or 01723 375646.

SOUTHAMPTON & DISTRICT BRANCH

The Branch held its AGM on 6 March 2001. Two members announced their retirement at the meeting. Our Chairman, George Packer and Committee member, Ernie Budd. Both, now well into their eighties, are giving way to the 'younger' generation. They joined the Association in 1947 when the Branch was formed from Signallers who had served in the 43rd Wessex Division Signal Regiment throughout the war. They gave loyal and dedicated service to the Branch as Committee Members and George is staying on as an ordinary Committee member. Brig Johnny Clinch CBE was re-elected as President. The Branch membership now stands at 72 (including associate members). Our new Chairman is Sidney Lionel Smith. He is the first Chairman who is not a veteran from the 43rd Wessex Division, Signals Regiment. Sidney was born on 11 October 1928, in Wimbledon, London. 19037873 Sig Smith, enlisted in the Corps in August 1946. He trained as a Driver and served until November 1952. In July 1947 he joined 118 Dvr Troop, 15 Air Formation Signals Regiment, Buckeburge, BAOR, where he served until October 1948. His next posting was to the War Office in London. In October 1949 he found himself at SHAPE as part of West Europe Signal Troop, Fontainebleau.

The war in Korea Was the next area to demand his services and in September 1951 he was posted to the 1st Commonwealth Division and served in Kure (Japan) then Seoul, Taegu and Pusan in Korea. He was repatriated in September 1952 and left the Corps that year.

Handing over the Chairmanship
(L-R): George Parker shakes hands with Sidney Smith

SOUTHPORT BRANCH

The Southport Branch held its annual Dinner Dance at the World famous Scarisbrick Hotel on Lord Street Southport. Col John Roberts, our guest of honour, gave an excellent and entertaining speech. Col John who is a local Southport man and his wife Liz were made up to be back in Southport as they say round here. We have had three new members recently. They are Eric Grady, Eric Timewell and Bill Penkeyman. If there is anyone around the Southport area who is interested in joining our association we meet every third Thursday of the month in the Conservative Club Bath St Southport at 8-o-clock. We hold a yearly Social Evening and other functions and run subsidized transport to the annual reunion in Blandford. Contact Peter Dooley on 01704 512723 if you require any information about the Branch.

WEST LONDON BRANCH

The Annual General Meeting in March followed our very enjoyable Christmas Party which for the first time was held in our new venue, affording generous space for the excellent buffet furnished by our Ladies Section and for our Raffle. Our respected Treasurer, Cliff Wood, won a trip on the London Eye. No one told them he suffers from vertigo. We hope he and Ann enjoyed it. AGM Night is Fish and Chip Night, when all attending Members partake of our national dish courtesy of the Branch. This is a great occasion, the feast taking place during the interval and coinciding with the Raffle. Pat Miller, with her usual efficiency, organised the raffle, and Sheila Ruff did a great catering job with the fish and chips. Our President, John Daw attended the meeting with Margaret. We always are pleased to see them as they now are resident on the Hampshire coast but make the effort to be present on every special occasion. This was a very special occasion, the President presenting Cliff Wood with a 'Jimmy' in recognition of his great services to the Branch. Cliff was standing down after many years service on our Committee. He was a Member of the London Branch, the forerunner of the present. It fell into a limbo in the late 70's and was reconstituted as the West London by those of us who survived its demise. Well done, 'Chippie', we owe you a great debt! The Branch meets on the last Friday of every month at the Richmond British Legion Club situated on the Westbound carriageway of the A316. There is free parking. All Corps, serving or retired are welcome.

REUNIONS

260 SIGNAL SQUADRON ASSOCIATION REUNION WEEKEND

BACK TO WHERE IT ALL STARTED - SHOEBURYNESS

Some six years ago four or five of us met up at the RSA Weekend and that was the beginning of the 260 (SAM) Signals Squadron Association. Since then we have had two meetings at Lutterworth, one at Loughborough, at Dortmund, Germany for the millennium year and this last one took place in Southend. The reason we were at Southend was this was where the Squadron began what was to be a nine-year run supporting the Gunners of 36 Heavy Air Defence Regiment with communications.

The weekend began with a majority of the number of members attending arriving by the late afternoon and early evening on the Friday 27 April 2001. After the usual travelling wash and brush up it was head for the BAR, anyone would think we were a load of large consumers of falling down water, well nothings change there then. This was followed by an excellent meal and, after a return to the room that dispels that self-inflicting falling down water, many memories recalled over what we all got up to some three decades ago. I say self inflicted as the next morning we had only ourselves to blame. Saturday was the day to return to all the old haunts but unfortunately we were restricted entry to parts of the old camp as the developers have now started to repair and build new housing but the security officer explained what was being done and gave us a picturesque brochure. If you look at the Squadron web site under history there is a small article about the housing development. That left the rest of the day to explore the town of Southend and for at least one of our party to have some real English FISH and CHIPS, see he's a foreigner, well ex-pat living in Germany. We had an invitation to the Naval and Military Club that most members of the Squadron took up and spoke to the local members over coffees and drinks at lunchtime. Come mid afternoon our group returned to the hotel for a shower and some relaxation before the start of the evening's program. Yet again the gods smiled on us and apart from a cool breeze the sun shone all day, the weather was excellent for most of the weekend. At approximately 1800hrs the AGM kicked off. The Secretary, Roy Andrews announced that a replica of the Thunderbird Missile, manufactured in brass on a plinth and made by Frank Woodall, who is our associated REME member has been bought by the club and would be presented to the winner after the main raffle later in the evening. There were apologies for absence sent in by letter and phone but the Chairman has, since our last meeting, moved and forgotten to let Roy know his new address. If anyone out there sees Mr Tony Morgan around Wales somewhere then please call Roy Andrews, but this could be a tall order considering his name and the and the country he has moved to. At this point, however, we would like to send a GET WELL message to Anna Seymour and Rita, Peter Lori's partner who both had operations in the week prior to the club weekend. We all hope to see you next year fit and well. Due to the fact that we lost our Chairman and the Vice Chairman, John Seymour, is looking after his wife, Roy asked Archie Cairns if he would like to step in as Deputy Vice Chairman and he accepted and Chaired the rest of the meeting admirably. If next year we have to find another stand-in Chairman we will have more Chairmen than committee members. Pat Andrews was seconded into the Treasurer's post and gave a favourable report on the club finances. Roy and Pat bought all the scarves and ties the aim being to sell them to the members to top up the coffers again, this went very well. The only exception was the two-associated members who were presented with a tie each. The Committee members remained the same except for the new Chairman.

All the business was concluded for the last year and for the next meeting it was decided to go back to Loughborough at the Jarvis Loughborough Hotel but the dates have now changed due to the Hotel's commitments and they are Friday to Sunday 12 to 14April 2002. Please can you all amend your diaries accordingly. Proforma's will be sent out shortly to all members, but if you are not a member and you wish for further information then contact Roy and Pat Andrews on 01227 264551 or yours truly Steve and Ursula Freeman - Pannett on 01603 300027.

The subject of the current running web site was put to the floor and it was suggested that we try and make an all out effort to improve the site for which members were asked to supply any anecdotes about their time with Squadron that might spruce up the site. We also hope that it will seek out the many folks out there to join the Squadron Association. Our web site address is http/:www.260signaisquadron.00go.com; Give the site a visit and let us know your views. The meeting closed and the merriment began in Ernest and Fred, John, Bill etc. 44 sat down to an excellent meal and the hotel staff looked after us very well over the whole weekend. A round of applause was given to the waitresses and we conveyed our heart felt thanks. There then followed the raffle that netted a small prophet £52 to boost the club finances. The bar was the next port of call and here we stayed till the call of the bed was heard. We were ready for some shut-eye to prepare us for the next day's tasks and that was a sobering thought. It meant the journey home for most of us. After a late breakfast there was the big round of good byes and the hopes of seeing all again in a year's time. Yours truly delayed his departure to change the unwelcome flat tyre on the car and of course the weather men got it right this time it rained and just as we were about to leave it stopped and the homeward run was done in brilliant sun shine. See you all next year god willing.

DENBURY

On 19 March 2001 a new egroup was formed for all the 50 somethings who started their Royal Signals Lives at Denbury Camp. The egroup has grown quickly by luck and word of mouth, it now stands at 29 members. Its address is http://groups.yahoo.com/group/denbury_boys

12th, 15th & 18th AIR FORMATION SIGNALS REGIMENTS ASSOCIATION

On Thursday, 5 April, we held our bi-annual get-together at the De La Warr Pavillion in Bexhill, Sussex, and there was a record attendance. Out of the nineteen Members now in the South East Region we managed to get twelve of them together for three hours non-stop 'lamp-swinging'. We also had four 'apologies for absence' from Members unable to attend. Considering that some of our Members are unable to travel, and some live much too far away, (our furthest one is in North Humberside!) to get to the gathering, this was a very good turnout. Originally I intended these get-togethers to be an annual event, but after the first one it was unanimously agreed that they be held twice a year. As one of the Members said at the time, 'None of us are getting any younger, and these meetings could be the last chance we'll get to remember the good times we had with the Regiment.' My sincere thanks to you all, and I do hope that we'll see you all again, and some of the absent faces too, at the next get-together in October.

A newcomer to our April gathering was 'Clem' Clements, who kept us in fits as he regaled us with some of his Army experiences. Clem has written a booklet - actually, it's more of a tract – about how he 'wasn't there' to win the War, and he lent it to me to read. I found it hilarious, and if anyone else would like to read it I suggest that they contact him. Perhaps he'll get a few copies run off for those who are interested. Write to Mr A. Clements, 85 King George VI Mansions, Court Farm Road, HOVE, East Sussex, BN3 70Y, or telephone 01273 557004. Don't forget to forward the cost of photo-printing to him, either. £1 should about cover expenses, and it will be money well spent. From the collection made at the get-together I was able to forward a cheque for £35 to Dennis Egan, and he sends his thanks to all. The South East Region is now in the black again, so let's hope that the Post Office doesn't put up the cost of postage. I was also able to sell four copies of 'Swing That Lamp' at the gathering as well, and the money for these was forwarded to Pat Soward. Anyone else requiring a copy please contact Pat. Full details are to be found in the National Newsletter that you recently received. Don't forget that all profits from the sale of this book go to the 12th, 15th & 18th AFSA.

Paul Stickley produced a momento which brought back memories to many of us - an original Bar-None' badge, in perfect condition. It's fifty odd years since I last saw one of them! Do any of you remember those cigarette cases that German pows used to make out of aluminium scrounged from crashed aircraft, and inserted with pieces of coloured china from broken crockery? Paul also still had one of them that he showed to us. There's no doubt about it, these gatherings certainly do bring the memories back to us.

Now, get your diaries out and make a note of this date. Our next get-together will be on Thursday, 4 October, in the cafeteria of the De La Warr Pavilion, Bexhill-on-Sea, East Sussex, from 1100hrs to 1400hrs and we hope to have a good attendance. Once again, I urge Members to share their cars and try to bring someone who is not mobile. For those of you who have not yet attended one of our gatherings I can promise you that you'll really have three hours of enjoyment as you're transported back to 50 odd years ago with comrades from your old Regiment. Please try to come, and if it's your first attendance I guarantee it'll be an experience you'll never regret. Have a good summer - if we do manage to get one! I hope to see as many of yon as possible again in October. All the best, and Certa Cito to you all.

WERE YOU AT BAD EILSEN OR BUCKEBURG WITH 2TAF?

The Bad Eilsen Reunions 2001 and 2002 wish to contact all servicemen/women and civilians based in that part of Germany between 1945 and 1955. This year the Reunion will be the week from 22 to 29 August in the village spa of Bad Eilsen and the organiser will be delighted to send further details. Please contact Geoff Lipscombe, 60 Firsby Avenue, Shirley, Croydon, CRO 8TN, Tel: 020 8655 2511, email: geoff.lipscombe@btclick.com

660 SIGNALTROOP (EOD) / EOD ECM OPERATORS

All serving and former members of 660 Signal Troop (EOD)/EOD EMC Operators, are invited to a reunion at Didcot Station Sergeants' Mess on 7 July 2001. Contact, either Capt Phil Ashworth, mil: 94234 3368, civ: 01235 513368 or Cpl Steve Bruce, mil: 94234 3437, civ: 01235 513437 for further details.

254 OBA (SOUTHERN CHAPTER) DINNER

The Uplands Park Hotel, Droxford, Tuesday, 27 March, 2.30pm. The first Old Boys start to arrive, amongst them the far traveled Bill and Sheila Leech from Exeter later to be joined by Jim and Rita Braid from Little Clacton, Roy Smithard from Rugby and Dot and Brian Fisher from Warrington. Sudden alarm: mine host, ex A/T RSM Boy Brian Lay, has elected to take a holiday and go skiing on the most important evening in his hotel's calendar. Still time proved that in spite of his absence (or perhaps, as some sceptics opined, because of it!) the evening went without a hitch.

At last all 36 have arrived; with difficulty the 'deep and meaningful' discussions are temporarily suspended and we move into the dining room where difficult choices are made from the wide-ranging menu. Pat Soward welcomes all, particularly Iris Emerson with her son-in-law, Jim Parker and Ken Wood accompanied by his daughter, Carole, and son-in-law. Ken is still bronzed from his recent trip 'down under' where he met up with the West Australian chapter and has much to recount. George Severs says grace in his inimitable style and we tuck in. The chef has excelled himself with range of choice, quality and quantity - a little too much for some of the ladies - but Old Boys remain staunch trenchermen.

A sudden surprise as coffee is served, the ladies are presented with a boxed orchid each and the Shooters Port is broken out - compliments of our absentee landlord! All too soon the evening comes to an end and those travelling start to drift away. Those staying overnight enjoy a nightcap and meet up again over breakfast - all promising to meet again at Derby for the 'national' reunion in October.

'F' BOYS COMPANY ROYAL SIGNALS 1920-41 REUNION

The Tenth Reunion of 'F' Company members will be held on 26 September at the Union Jack Club, Sandell Street, London situated just behind Waterloo Station. We have booked the spacious Gascoigne Room, with bar, from 1100hrs until 1500hrs. A curry lunch will be provided. There will be an alternative meal if we are advised well in advance of the Reunion. The cost this year is £15.00. Invitations will be sent out early in May/June to members who are currently on our list, but all who served in 'F' Boys Company 1920-41 are eligible to attend.

Contact is the Hon Secretary, Victor Dugdale, 12 Deep Well Drive, Camberley, Surrey, GU15 2HF, Tel: 01276 29176.

MALTA LIBYA COMMAND 1947 TO 1967

This year the reunion is at The Jarvis Hotel, Loughborough, Leics. Regular, National Service, WRAC, wives and partners are welcome. The programme is as follows:

Friday 28 September 2001	- Arrival and nostalgic evening
Saturday 29 September 2001	- AM Canal Boat Trip PM Annual General Meeting followed by Gala Dinner and Cabaret
Details from the Secretary on -	Tel: 01227 264551 internet: roypat.Andrews@ic24.net. Web page: http://www.homestead.com/signalsmaltalibya/index.html

600 SIGNAL TROOP (EOD)/EOD ECM OPERATORS

All serving and former Members of 600 Signal Troop (EOD)/EOD ECM Operators, are invited to a Reunion at Didcot Station Sergeants' Mess on 7 July 2001.

Contact either Capt Phil Ashworth
Mil 94234 3368, Civ 01235 513368
or Cpl Steve Bruce
Mil 94234 3437
Civ 01235 513437
for further details

BEVERLEY EX-BOYS ASSOCIATION

We would like to extend a warm welcome to a new member Peter Vass. Our next Reunion will be held on Sunday, 6 October 2001, at the Lensbury at Teddington Lock, Broom Road, Teddongton, Middlesex which is situated right on the banks of the River thames. There is good accommodation available but it does need to be booked early and we will have use of the leisure centre and swimming pool. Full details are available from the Branch Secretary, Tony Hull on Tel: 10202 770261, or E-mail: beba.tonyhull@lineone.net

REUNION BEVERLEY EX-BOYS ASSOCIATION

Our next Reunion will be held on Saturday, 6 October 2001
at Lensbury at Teddington Lock

Contact Tony Hull on 01202 770261
E-mail: beba.tonyhull@lineone.net

3RD DIVISIONAL SIGNALS REUNION CLUB

3rd (UK) Div HQ and Signal Regiment was honoured by a visit from the Colonel-in-Chief, HRH The Princess Royal, on Friday 3 March 2001. The CO, Lt Col Philip Davies, Royal Signals, was kind enough to invite a number of Club Members to join with the Regiment at Bulford to share in this proud occasion. The chosen few duly gathered at Picton Barracks to be put through a vigorous rehearsal of what we were to do and say to the Royal visitior by our President, Brig Ronnie Stonham. He, by a mixture of good humour, tact and will power, blended everything together in the short time available to him. Watching him demonstrate how to curtsey was a delight.

The Colonel-in-Chief arrived at the Regiment by helicopter at 1204hrs and spent three hours being shown round but I shall leave that side of the visit for the Regiment to describe. We were all assembled in the Sgts' Mess Annexe where HRH arrived at 1500hrs. At the entrance, waiting to be presented to HRH by the Master, were our President - Brig Ronnie and our Chairman - Maj Derek Roberts. The party then moved into the ante room where the remainder of the Club Members were gathered in what I can only describe as 'photograph order' carefully arranged by SSM Strudwick.(I wish you could have seen him chivvying assorted Brigadiers, Colonels, Majors, ex-RSMs, very old soldiers and a good selection of wives into some sort of order.) We then had a group photograph taken as a memento of this occasion. The President then escorted HRH into the bar area where lined up ready to be presented were Founder Member and Vice President - Maj Ken Smart, the Treasurer - Mr Ernest Packham and Secretary - Mr John Templeton. Each of these three then gave a short presentation on the formation of the Club 50 years ago, it's fortunate financial position and how we were able to contribute to some Regimental purchases, not least the 'Ernie Bayley Award' for the Soldier of the Year. Also how the Club recruited and ran it's day to day affairs and how the Club had grown from a group of comrades who had served together in World War II into a reunion association firmly linked to the Regiment.

We then returned to the ante room where the other members of the Club were gathered in four groups. The President then formally welcomed HRH, the Colonel-in-Chief, to the Club and explained that as she had spent her time with the Regiment meeting young soldiers of the modern Army we now hoped to give her a glimpse of how things had been for old soldiers of an older Army. He began his narration with a reference to the late Brig Bertie Brett who went to France as the Signal Officer of 7th Guards Brigade equipped with some high tech pigeons against the might of the Wermacht. Then came some vignettes from Peter Clifford, Les Wright and Ernest Packham of what it was like during the early part of the invasion of Europe. The theme was continued -with anecdotes about the drive through the Low Countries into Germany from 'Trader' Horn and memories from the late Maj Gen Tony Tighe. Brig Ronnie continued his narration by telling that after VE Day the 3rd Division had been designated the Imperial Strategic Reserve and sent to Egypt and Palestine in an Internal Security role until being disbanded in June 1947. Brig Johnny Clinch reminisced on tho se days. The disbandment did not last long as events in the Middle and Far East led to the Division being reformed in a hurry at Colchester in 1951and it's move to the Canal Zone in June of that year. Maj Prescot, Maj Roberts and Bill Barnard told some tales of these hectic days. The Division returned to Colchester at the end of 1954 and settled down to some peacetime soldiering rudely interrupted by the Suez Crisis in 1956 and the Jordan affair in 1958. John Templeton told of these serene days. The President moved on to the 1960s,70s and 80s which saw the Regiment move back to it's historic home in Bulford and then to Soest to join BAOR and it's transformation to an Armoured role. Harry Hawke, Maj Derek Roberts and Brig Johnathan Cook were able to fill in some of the details of these days. Brig Cook having served as a subaltern, Captain and finally CO in the Regiment during this time was well placed for this. Brig Ronnie concluded his gallop down memory lane by asking the Chairman to escort HRH round the room in order to present to HRH the members present. The members were all impressed by the warmth and interest shown by HRH in her tour round the room. On the conclusion of HRH's tour the President escorted HRH to the table where the Ernest Bayley Award awaited presentation. The Secretary then asked Cpl Stuart 'Spike' Milligan to step forward, the Adjt to read the citation and invited HRH to present Cpl Milligan with his award. This concluded HRH's visit and she departed to applause from members.

Saturday 7 April saw Club members gathered at the El Alamein Room of the Victory Club in London for our Annual Reunion Luncheon and AGM. We were joined by our Regimental guests and Brig James Shaw MBE, ACOS G6 CIS HQ Land Command our Principal Guest. The Brigadier was accompanied by his wife, Mrs Liz Shaw. After the usual greetings and examination of the photograph taken at the Royal visit, provided due to the endeavours of Capt Terry Crane, we whizzed through the AGM and made our continued existence legal. We then sat down to an excellent lunch after which our President proposed the Loyal Toasts and introduced our first guest. Brig James thanked us for our invitation and told us how highly the soldiers of our Corps were held by Commanders and Staffs throughout the Army. He pointed out that Royal Signals were deployed all over the world in some very unusual places and jobs. Notwithstanding all this over-stretch we were still well represented in many sporting occasions. All in all the Corps was in good heart and we should be proud to be Signals.

Brig Ronnie, having thanked Brig James, then proposed the toast to the Regiment and asked the CO, Lt Col Philip Davie to give his 'report to the shareholders'. In response the CO told us that Spring would reach Bulford in June this year by order of the MoD and Div HQ. Things were still pretty busy in the Regiment with detachments in all the places mentioned in the media and some which are not mentioned. Life goes on though, as it always does, and people cope. They still find time for sport and adventurous training and morale is high. In short the Regiment is in good heart and happy. Our Chairman then proposed the toast to the Ladies and welcomed our only 'first footer' this time, Maj Peter Unwin. The Secretary then proposed 'Absent Friends' and announced the raffle. The President cut him short and ordered him 'front and centre'. The Chairman then produced an Honour Members Badge for the Secretary, read the citation and asked Brig Shaw to present the award. The Secretary in reply stated, 'This is the third time in eight days that I have been rendered speechless. I shall remain that way. Thank you.' The raffle, organised by Ernest Packham, assisted by Committee members, raised more than £60-00 in spite of a low turnout of 49. That concluded the Reunion and we all went home.

BIRGELEN VETERANS ASSOCIATION INAUGURAL AGM AND DINNER

Ther AGM and Dinner will be held at the Trecarn Hotel, Babbecombe, Torquay on 22/23 September, 2001. Members wishing to attend should contact

Maj (Retd) F. P. Searle Tel: 01903 786549 or E-mail: Cyril@charding.freeserve.co.uk

Bookings can also be made via the website www.searlesite.com

EX DENBURY (NEWTON ABBOT) JUNIOR LEADERS

It is regretted that the former three yearly reunion which used to take place in Newton Abbot can no longer be held. The venues that we used are no longer available owing to closure. There will be a meeting at Blandford during the Corps week and Reunion each year on the Saturday evening. All ex Denbury Junior Leaders and Staff will be welcome in the Sergeants' Mess, in Blandford from 6pm. This year this will be on Saturday 23 June.

LOST COMMS

Joe Smith is seeking his old pals Ron Evans, Tom Chown and Pete Murrells from their time in No 1 Squadron, Palestine Command Signal Regiment, Sarafand in 1946-48. Joe can be contacted at: 39 Shepham Lane, Polegate, East Sussex, BN26 6NA

Tom Smith is looking for Des Pollard. They were at Catterick Camp 7TR then on to 3TR Aisne Lines in July 1955. He and Sammy Schofield have been trying to find Des for quite a while. Tom can be contacted at :
Tom Smith, 34 Hill View DR, Kilsyth 3137, Victoria, Australia
E-mail: menthee@one.net.au

Seeking the former Sig Karl Hand, who left the Corps in 1982, whilst with 5 Field Force Signal Squadron. Believed to have settled in the Rochdale area. Anyone who can help is asked to contact Harry Ferguson on 0161 4422 054.

Anyone who knows the present whereabouts of Christopher Smith, who served in the Corps as a Lance Corporal at Newton Abbot in the 1950s, please contact Paul Frost at www.knarle@btinternet.com Paul's father (22792950 M. J. Frost) and Christopher served together.

Anyone who served in 8th AA Divisional Signals during the period September - December 1941 is asked to contact Mr M. Forshaw, 76 Falcon Hay, Fazakerley, Liverpool, L10 7NU

Mr John Dangerfield is seeking the present whereabouts of his former pal Michael Leather, with whom he served in 2 Trg Regt, Catterick, in 1954. Anyone who can help is asked to call John on 01453 810355.

Douglas Smith would very much appreciate hearing from any Switchboard Operator who served with 80 TOS, 12 Corps Signals in Tunbridge Wells around June/July etc 1942. He would also like to hear from anybody who was with 43 Operating Section, 1 Corps Signals Tunbridge Wells from 1942 to April 1945, when they were in Iserlohn Germany. Contact him at Castilian House, 34 Park Avenue North, Abington, Northampton, NN3 2JE.

Brian Mellors would like to know if any readers recall LCpl Ivan Gore (Service No. 2363787, possibly), who joined the Corps in 1939 and served with the BEF in France. He can be contacted at: 'The Maples', West Hill, WINCANTON, Somerset, BA9 9BZ, Tel: 01963 32251

Mrs Jean MacKenzie is seeking the present whereabouts of Victor Dark. Her late husband, John, served with Victor in the 1950s in BAOR. Anyone who can help is asked to contact Mrs MacKenzie at : 43 Allendale Cottages, Banknock, Bonnybridge, Stirlingshire, FK4 2HE.

R. J. McBride is trying to contact Roy Gibson who was a Captain in the Royal Signals in December 1945. At that time he was stationed in Singapore but had been in Burma before that. He came from around Manchester but by December 1945 his parents were living in Stockport. Mr McBride can be contacted at 5 Anne Arundel Court, Dumfries or:
E-mail: bob@ancestors.worldonline.co.uk

J. W. Neve would like to trace the whereabouts of two colleagues who served in 2 Corps in the BEF in 1940, they are Sgt Ryan possible initials of W. A. who came from Sunderland, and Cpl A. Hewson No. 2325798. They all got home from Dunkirk and they would be between 80 and 90 years of age now. Mr Neve can be contacted at 4 Hurst Croft, Warwicks Bench Road, GUILFORD, Surrey, GU1 3TJ.

Rod Stone, John Phillips, Paul Ponsford and Mick Vanter would like to make contact with any old members of 'O Troop', 1 Squadron, 9 Signal Regiment (1968-1971) who remember them. They recently had a very enjoyable 'mini-reunion' after 30 years, enjoyed it so much that they are going to do it again soon. Anyone else who would care to join us would be more than welcome. So where are the likes of Dave Manders, Ron Kirkwood, Bob Watkins, 'Chalkie' White et al. Rod can be contacted on 0116 2600169.

Conrad Barrell, would like to hear from anyone who served with or remembers his late father - Cpl L. C. A. Barrell R. SIGNALS, 12 Line Communications. He transferred from the Hampshire Regiment to the Royal Signals in September 1945 and died as a result of an accident in Europe on 8 June 1946. Please contact Conrad Barrell on (01255) 241452 if you can help.

The above photograph came into the possession of Eric E. Powell. It was taken in 1942 in the area around Qum in Iran. The photograph is of the WOs and Sergeants of the 5th Infantry Divisional Signals. (At the time, the 5th Infantry Division was a part of the 10th Army). He can identify two of the group for certain, one being himself (third from the right seated). Of the two seated in front of the group, the left hand one is SSgt Ted Bolton later RQMS. Can anybody identify any of the others? If so please write and let the museum know: The Archivist, The Royal Signals Museum, Blandford Camp, Dorset, DT11 8RH

Bob Shimmon would like to hear from anyone who served in 648 Sig Tp, Brunei in 1966-68. Bob can be contacted on 0121 6058568.

CORRESPONDENCE

From: Sgt Philpott
Military Transport Section Support Troop
230 Signal Squadron
16th Signal Regiment
BFPO 40

Dear Sir,

I am writing to The WIRE on the advice of Mr Tim Stankus at the Royal Signals Corps Museum, who suggested that I might place an enquiry in The WIRE to contact former members of 16 Signal Regiment, formerly the 2nd Line of Communication Signal Regiment that served during the period of 1958-1960.

I am acting on behalf of a retired member of the Corps, Sig John Wallace and a pal of his Sig Gordon Smith. They are particularly keen to contact any fellow members of the 1959 Nijmegen Marching Team, led by Lt Griffiths. Other Team Members that can be remembered are John Crossman, Mike Turner and Derek 'Del' White. Mr Wallace and Mr Smith are planning to arrange a visit later this year, both to the current 16 Signal Regiment, now based at Rhiendahlen, and to the former home of 16 Signal Regiment, Bradbury Barracks, Krefeld, now home to 7 Signal Regiment.

It was the first time 16 Signal Regiment entered a team in the Nijmegen Marches and therefore rather memorable, especially as they did so well. I am hoping that with that in mind some of your readers will remember their time with 16 Signal Regiment and the Nijmegen Marching Team, and will put pen to paper and get in touch. All corrrespondence should be addressed to Sgt Philpott.

As always seems to be the case, time is against us, as 7 Signal Regiment are due to move from Bradbury Barracks towards the end of this year, therefore if you have any ideas or suggestions that you think will assist in the task of locating these former colleagues, it would be very much appreciated.

Yours Sincerely.....

From: Andy Andrews
26 Mayfield Park Street
Firpponds
Bristol
BS16 3NG

Dear Sir,

I spent my last year in the LAD as WOIC in 1947 having taken over from Nobby Clarke. Four times a day I drove along the Tampines Road, past Changi Jail to the LAD situated at the parade ground adjacent to the WAAFS quarters in Changi.

My friend at Elim was the Sgt DR Norman Croft an ex-TT Rider. Of course the subject was always motorcycles and I believe that at least one of the DR Team at Elim became a TT Rider in later years. Bill Body, I believe, too was a leading light in the Trials World. Some of the army bikes were fitted with megaphone silencers! I said nothing on my role as I too lived motorcycles. Norman Croft later lost his life racing a Velocette in France about 1949.

Charlie Long was the RSM at Elim in 1947 and came from Norfolk, he was a good man. He asked me to share the expense of Stephen our batman who was about to be evicted from Singapore Hospital with pneumonia, as he had no money. Charlie and I paid and Stephen lived.

After demob whilst having a liquid lunch in Dursley I heard a pub landlord, whom I know well, discussing wartime events. He used to be a Major in the Royal Marines. Odly enough the Royal Marines were at Elim before 19 AFS. I told him that there were crocodiles inthe camp and he retorted that he knew, and one of the Marines used to breed them there! They were there all right, along towards the AQMS Store House and from the tracks I saw they were six footers at least. I never saw one but the tracks were there.

What happened to Sgt Riggs and Pam, AQMS Osbourne's daughter. Clearly they were made for each other as Sgt Buddere always said? Does anyone know?

Yours Sincerely.....

From: A. H. Thomas
32 Grasmere Close
Tettenhall
Wolverhampton
WV6 9DP
Tel: W'ton 752811

Dear Sir,

I the April issue of *The WIRE*we were invited to express our opinions as to whether or not the list of 'New Life Members' should be published. I believe that it should, on the grounds that the new Members know that their names have been circulated. I was particularly interested to see the names of two new members of the 12/15/18 AFSR Association of which I am a member.

Over the years my wife and I have commented favourably on the smartness and turnout of the soldiers in training as they paraded at the Annual Princess Royal Day Parade and at the courtesy shown to us as we made our way to the various exhibits during our enjoyable stays in or near Blandford for the Royal Signals Reunions.

It is interesting to note that after varying lengths of service 40 of the 88 new Life Members listed as RHQ, left the service in the years 2000 and 2001. I'm sure we must have seen some of them and if so then it augers well for the future of the RSA.

Yours Sincerely.....

From: Capt R. A. G. Rickard
Charlwood Court
33 Chilcote Close
St Marychurch
Torquay
TQ1 4QT
Tel: 01803 312172

Dear Sir,

Here is a photo of a group of ex-Royal Signals who meet monthly at St Marychurch, Torquay.

V for Vintage - A very active group!
(L-R): Harry Vennel, Bob Thompson, Allan Pledges, Bert Legg, Tom Evans and Jim Drake seated Wally Dolman

From: Col (Retd) A. Hawksworth TD DL
105 Grangewood Road
WOLLATON
Nottinghamshire
NG8 2SX
Tel/Fax: 0115 9283439

Dear Sir,

'TA' or 'V' ?

At a recent 38 Signal Regiment (V) Reunion Dinner we sorted out the problems of the Western world and then turned to more important matters. High on the agenda was the history of the post-nominal use of 'TA' or 'V' by TA regiments and officers! We concluded that before 1 April 1967 both regiments and officers used 'TA', that with the formation of the Territorial and Army Volunteer Reserve in 1967 regiments changed to 'V' and officers to 'TAVR'. Following the Shapland Report in 1978 (and the consequent reinstatement of the old Territorial Army name) regiments retained 'V' but officers reverted to 'TA'.

I understand that currently both regiments and officers use 'V' and, assuming we got it right as far as the Shapland Report, the question is when did the change to 'V' for officers take place (and why)? Can anyone help?

As an aside, it does seem strange that we have a Territorial Army of which both the regiments and the officers are labeled something different, ie: 'Volunteers', especially when all our regular soldiers are also volunteers. Some branding confusion here I think, which cannot help in the recruitment battle.

In any case, has the time come to drop any distinction and accept that TA or regular we are all just 'Royal Signals'?

Yours faithfully……..

From: Jim Jacobs
15 Angus Close
Fareham
Hampshire
PO15 6BA
Tel: 01329 235155

Dear Sir,

Colleagues disagree with my confirmed belief that the ABLE, BAKER, CHARLIE phonetic alphabet introduced in 1943 was not replaced until 1958. Certainly in my Gunner Battery it was still in use right up to the date of my discharge from the Army, 14 March 1957, although I understand civilian airlines had already adopted ALPHA, BRAVO, CHARLIE. I am convinced that former experts among the readers of The WIRE will recall the changeover date.

Yours Faithfully.....

From: Michael Hamill
28 Methuen Road
Bournemouth
Dorset
BH8 8ND
Tel: 01202 552833

Dear Sir,

My Grandfather served with the Royal Engineer's Signal Service during the First World War. I am trying to find out which Signal Company he served in. Once I have this information I can ascertain to which Division, Corps or Army he was attached and not only where, on the Western Front, he served but also in which specific battles he took part.. To date I have the following information:

(a) His Army records were destroyed in an enemy air raid in 1941.
(b) The RE Museum at Chatham have no record of him.
(c) The Royal British Legion in Newcastle/Sunderland area (where he lived) couldn't help.
(d) Newspaper adverts in the same area proved to be fruitless.
(e) The Coal Board records(he worked with them before and after the war) were no help.

I do have the following facts:

(i) 50934 Sgt Paterick Hamill
(ii) Born 21/12/1879 - died 29/03/1935 aged 56 (partially due to gas inhalation).
(iii) Lived 163 Charles Street, Boldon Colliery, Co. Durham.
(iv) Married Jane Gibson Flockhart of Heaton Northumberland.
(v) His civilian occupation was Miner/Shot Firer Boldon Colliery, Newcastle-upon-Tyne.
(vi) He was a Kitchener Volunteer - Royal Engineers
He enlisted 19/09/1914 at age 34 and became a Lance Corporal in November 1914.
(vii) He was posted to France on 24/07/1915.
(viii) He was discharged CD (Corps Depot?) Thetford Norfolk, 21/12/1918 392(XVI(A)) KRs
(ix) He received the following medals/decorations:
1914/15 Star Victory Medal War Medal
Silver War Badge (1918) No: B193378
(x) It is possible that he served in one of the following Divisions (Inf) 18 (Eastern), 19 (Western) and 20 (Light). They all went to France in July 1915.

I hope that somebody reading this will be able to help me. I can be contacted at the above address and telephone number.

Many thanks in anticipation.....

From: Mr G. S. Kennard
16 Conifer Close
ORMESBY ST. MARGARET
Norfolk
NR29 3RU

Dear Sir,

The Communications and Electronics Branch of the Canadian Forces will be celebrating their Centennial in the year 2003. The C&E Association, in collaboration with the retired C&E Branch Members and the Associations of retired Royal Canadian Corps of Signals personnel, proposes to produce a year-long series of activities to commemorate this event.

I am a Life Member of 'The Signallers Club of Canada' and intend visiting Canada during September 2003 to take part in these celebrations.

Could any reader of The WIRE please help me? I am looking for a 1900-1920 pattern PACE STICK to take with me on my visit. Apparently the first RSM of the C&E was an Englishman, selected straight off one of the Drill and Duties Courses of that time and they do not have a stick in Canada. We are prepared to pay a reasonable price for one.

Yours Sincerely.....

From: Mrs A. A. Neal
25 Sandown Avenue
Dagenham
Essex
RM10 8XD
Tel: 020-8592-6846
E-mail: aneal@cwctv.net

Dear Sir,

I have been in touch with Tim Stankus, the archivist of your Museum, who has been so helpful and I understand that you do a magazine called The WIRE, which goes far and wide. I realise that this is probably a long shot, but I am finally going to Poland on 25 May 25 to visit my father's grave. He is buried in Malbork. On checking with the little information that I have, something of a mystery has come to light.

The official form that my mother received stated that he died in Stalag VIIIB but was buried in Malbork, which is the opposite end of Poland. I have now had confirmation from the MoD that he was in fact, captured in Givenchy 21 May 1940, arrived in Stalag XXA on 10 June 1940 and moved to Stalag XXB 1 November 1940, died on 16 July 1941in Reserve Hospital I Danzig, of toxaemia. He was buried in the local cemetery before being reburied in Malbork. I wonder if there is anyone who remembers my father and could shed any light on this or indeed give me any information at all. I was only three when he died, so obviously my mother could not tell me too much, if indeed she was aware of much that had happened. She died quite a few years ago now, so I do not have anyone that could answer my questions. As I have now retired I am able to go to Poland. My father was Corporal Richard Wallace 6084502 - 2nd Army Signals.

I should be most grateful if you could put something in The WIRE that may give me some answers and additional information. Many thanks,

Yours Sincerely……..

From: Maj J. F. Stokes TD
52 High Street
Island Bay
Wellington 6002
New Zealand
Tel/Fax: 64 4 970 3353

Dear Sir,

I was sorry to hear of the death in December last of Lt Col Jimmy Yule. He had a few days of worldwide fame in early 1983 and the story is worth the telling.

It started in Colditz Castle in the last war - it was the place where the really bad (or valuable) POWs were kept and Jimmy was there, sleeping in the bunk below Charlie Upham, the New Zealand double VC. The prisoners had made a wireless receiver and had it hidden up under the roof - very few knew where it was but the daily news was passed round the camp - a great morale raiser. The War finished and Colditz became a Museum. Fifty years later a workman rewiring the roof found the wireless and the rest is best told in Jimmy's own words -

'Thank you very much for taking the trouble to send me that cutting (the Wireless at Colditz story) from the Wellington (New Zealand) Evening Post. My involvement in the story started with a telephone call from my good friend Kenneth Lockwood. He told me of the chance discovery of the Radio Shack by these German workmen and the finding of bits and pieces including an exercise book with my name on it. I asked, 'What book?' An hour or so later I received faxed copies of several pages (Kenneth had already received copies of each of the 29 pages). They were mine all right. But I don't remember writing a word of it.

Kenneth told me to expect a phone call from The Daily Telegraph because he wanted the story to appear in the English newspapers before the Germans ran it. It was a busy time on the telephone. Interviews with all sorts of people including the BBC World Service and Reuters. Thus the word spread around the world. By Thursday evening everything had quietened down – but no – a call from Toronto CBC – result interview then coast to coast across Canada and the USA. The local people hadn't finished – BBC East had a slot.

I don't think the German workman realised what he had started when he told the Curator of the Colditz Museum about his find. Certainly I am amazed at the worldwide interest that has been shown. It makes me feel very humble. However, what is interesting about the whole affair is that there was no rhyme or reason why the cabin should have been discovered at all. Apart from the fact that the roof was in disrepair and the Germans thought they had better do something about it after 50 years of neglect! Perhaps it is as well that it has been found now and not say in 24 years time - at least a few of us are around to talk about it!'

Yours Sincerely……

From : Len Cox
31 Wheatfield Crescent
Mansfield Woodhouse
Mansfield
Nottinghamshire
NG19 9HH

Dear Sir,

Yesteryear - in the days of the 19 & 52 sets

I distinctly remember Maj Bower saying to a very young Sergeant (me) after the 1947 Berlin Signal Squadron Christmas football match, 'Laddy, when your old and grey like me you'll happily remember today.' I must be old and grey since today (for the first time in many many years) I thumbed through my army memorabilia and in doing so did remember that Christmas day with much joy. With no one here to share this occasion with I thought of you, and in doing so send my apologies as well for probably boring you - since you no doubt have some of the enclosed in The WIRE archives. They were great days and great comrades - I wonder where they all are now?

Yours Sincerely…….

PS: In 1947 J Troop Royal Signals of 5 Division Signal Regiment (who I was with) was seconded to the Berlin Signal Squadron because of the unrest amongst the Berliners due to food, coal etc. shortages.

From: Maj (Retd) & Mrs Steve & Maureen Bresloff
3 The Pastures
Penyffordd
Chester
CH4 0HQ

Dear Sir,

I have just attended, as 'husband of', a Ptarmigan Function held in the Crown Hotel, hosted by Lt Col (Retd) Andrew & Denise Symmons, an excellent affair, one of which they should be very proud and many friends were linked up again.

In my case it was fourteen years since I left Blandford, after serving as School Adjt. 1980-1985 and in those days used the museum as a shortcut to talk with others in the main building, and so I could not leave Blandford without visiting what over the years I have read so much about.

I would just like to say that I left that building on the Sunday morning with a lump in my throat. I have visited a few military museums in my day but the Royal Signals Museum is outstanding. The displays and the models are excellent and the Morse spilling over the airways was music to my ears. What a credit to the late Roger Pickard and of course so many others, you can all be very proud. If I lived nearer I would be a weekend volunteer. I was lucky enough to meet the famous General Jimmy Helier and his wife who made us very welcome.

Museum Staff, you made an old man happy but a little plea please, how about a little corner for Boy Soldiers, after all General Swainson was an ex-Boy Soldier and they named a road after him! There have been many others who have climbed the ladder to fame. Again my thanks for all your work.

Sincerely.....

(Note from the Museum Director: We are currently planning a Museum display to cover the Training Organisation. This will include the Boys and the Apprentices. We hope to have this ready for the RSA Weekend in June.)

From: Maj (Retd) N. L. Baker
Greenbank
Winterbourne Stickland
Nr. Blandford
Dorset
DT11 0NB

Dear Sir,

I am writing about your list of 'New Life Members of the Royal Signals Association' on page 176 of the April edition of The WIRE. You invited comments on the continuation of the service.

I feel most strongly that the list is not a waste of space. Over the years I have rejoiced in finding the names of old friends in the Corps. I served from 1943 to 1970 and made many friends during that time.

Please carry on your good work.

Yours Sincerely.....

DONATIONS

RSA Catterick	£ 510.00
RSA Aldershot	£ 231.00
RSA Bedford	£ 40.00
RSA Norfolk	£ 100.00
RSA East London	£ 200.00
RSA Lincoln	£ 75.00
Dave Silburn, Jim Robinson and Dave Cunliffe	£ 70.00
Mr B. Philips	£ 10.00
Mr D. J. Mann	£ 100.00
Mr Edgar McCall	£ 8.00
Mr A. R. Ayres	£ 20.00
Middlesex Imperial Yeomanry Lodge	£ 80.00
3 Div Sigs Reunion Club	£ 90.00
56 Division Old Comrades Association	£ 250.00
Certa Cito Lodge	£ 30.00
Legacy from the Will of Sgt P. J. Price	£5000.00
Collection at the funeral of Col J. R. Piddington OBE, MC	£ 75.00
Mr & Mrs R. G. Thompson in memory of Lt Col J. Yule	£ 25.00
RSA Bournemouth in memory of Mr B. Burch	£ 5.00
3 Division Signals reunion Club in memory of the Rev R. W. Hubbal	£ 10.00
Lt Col J. Rose in memory of Maj R. G. Aitken	£ 100.00
Lt Col (Retd) J. A. Montague MBE in memory of Col H. G. Shorter TD	£ 10.00
RSA Reading in memory of Col H. G. Shorter TD	£ 25.00
A. S. Forty in memory of Col H. G. Shorter TD	£ 20.00
Anonymously in memory of Col H. G. Shorter TD	£ 10.00
Mr D. Ellingworth in memory of Lt Col R. R. Morrison BEM	£ 10.00
The Inner Wheel Club of Wantage in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 50.00
The Rotary Club of Wantage in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 200.00
W. J. Northmore in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 25.00
A. J. Lees in memory of Maj F. Bergelin	£ 25.00

LAST POST

Amor - Sig E. D. Amor	Served 1940/46	Died Feb '01
Arch - Sig H. A. W. Arch	Served 1942/46	Died
Aston - Mrs Shirley Aston	Served 1942/46	Died 15/03/01
Bartlett - Sgt K. M. Bartlett	Served 1940/46	Died 27/04/01
Burch - LCpl B. Burch	Served 1926/38	Died 02/03/01
Byrom - Lt Col G. Byrom TD	Served 1939/67	Died 24/03/01
Coleman - Maj W. N. Coleman	Served 1932/62	Died 04/04/01
Copeland - Sgt A. W. Copeland	Served 1946/48	Died
Cokayne - Maj C. B. M. Cokayne Lord Cullen Of Ashbourne MBE	Served WW	Died Dec '00
Coverdale - M. Coverdale	Served 1939/44	Died Dec '00
Cox - Maj G. A. Cox	Served 1953/72	Died 07/04/01
Emerson - Sgt J. E. Emerson	Served 1945/57	Died 06/02/01
Finney - Cpl M. G. Finney	Served 1956/67	Died Mar '01
Foxon - Capt H. P. Foxon OBE	Served 1939/46	Died 19/01/01
Hand - LCpl J. P. Hand	Served 1953/56	Died 13/03/01
Hardman - F. E. Hardman	Served	Died June '98
Hardman - LCpl K. R. Hardman	Served 1964/77	Died 03/03/01
Hebdon - WO2 J. E. Hebdon	Served 1939/64	Died 27/04/01
Hill - Sig L. H. Hill	Served 1939/45	Died 17/02/01
Hibbins - LCpl J. S. Hibbins	Served 1940/46	Died 01/03/01

Hubbal - Sig, The Rev, R. W. Hubbal	Served 1943/45	Died
Johnson - Sig J. E. Johnson	Served 1942/47	Died 04/04/01
Kennedy - Capt P. G. Kennedy	Served 1942/47	Died 22/03/01
Knight - Maj T. Knight	Served	Died 13/05/01
Leatherland - Maj F. W. Leatherland TD	Served 1942/72	Died 09/03/01
Lees - Maj A. J. Lees	Served 1938/78	Died Aprl '01
Livesey - WO1 R. F. W. Livesey BEM	Served	Died 09/03/01
Marciniak - Sig B. Marciniak	Served	Died
Matthews - C. H. C. Matthews	Served	Died
McKenzie - Sgt J. McKenzie	Served 1960/78	Died 03/05/01
McNulty - Cpl G. W. McNulty	Served 1955/77	Died 24/03/01
Moody - Sig F. C. Moody	Served 1939/46	Died Aprl '01
Morrison - Lt Col R. R. Morrison MBE	Served 1938/62	Died 25/04/01
Nippers - WO1 F. N. Nippers	Served 1937/45	Died Apr '01
Parton - Sig G. Parton	Served 1949/56	Died 03/04/01
Price - Sgt P. J. Price	Served 1944/47	Died 11/11/00
Ross - WO2 R. G. Ross	Served 1951/73	Died 07/03/01
Shorter - Col H. G. Shorter TD	Served 1942/67	Died 04/03/01
Stapleford - Mr W. Stapleford	Served	Died 17/04/01
Sparrow - Sgt R. M. Sparrow	Served 1966/88	Died Feb '01
Spencer - WO2 J. R. Spencer	Served 1942/46	Died 01/03/01
Vincent-Smith - Brig C. Vincent-Smith TD	Served 1938/67	Died 26/03/01
Wellings - Maj D. V. Wellings MBE	Served 1941/62	Died 04/06/99
Wickstead - Sgt A. Wickstead	Served 1940/48	Died Mar '01
Williams - Pte E. Williams	Served NS '50s	Died 10/03/01

Pickard – Maj Roger Pickard 13 February 2001. He was born on 25 February 1935 and was commissioned into the Corps on 29 July 1955 and served for 29 years. Roger will be best known to the Corps of today in his capacity as the Curator of the Museum but his service started in 1 (BR) Corps/23 Signal Regiment and soon after in 18 Signal Regiment FARELF 1958-62. Here he met his wife, Danny and they married in Singapore. Roger's subsequent service was in BAOR or UK with one further tour in 253 Signal Squadron FARELF 1964-66. Having succumbed to technological education for two years at the School of Signals he served with the TA and at the heart of the Corps' training establishments. He completed his service with HQ 11 Signal Brigade (V). On retirement, from the Corps, Roger became Curator of the Museum for over 14 years. It was during this time that the Museum took great strides from being a domestic concern to becoming the larger business venture of today. It was due to Roger's dedication, and knowledge of the Corps and its equipment that the Museum now presents such a professional display of the Corps' heritage. Roger was well liked by all who knew him. He was a member of the Poole Branch of the RSA. His sense of humour, helpfulness and cheerful nature endeared him to us all. He died following a prolonged illness that he bore with fortitude. He gave the whole of his working life to the Corps and his funeral was attended by family, friends, colleagues, RSA members and Museum Trustees. Cliff Walters delivered the eulogy and Tim Stankus played Last Post followed by a jazz melody to end an emotional and uplifting service. Roger is survived by his wife Danny and his children Tamsin, Martin and Michael. He will be sadly missed by us all.

Roger leading the Troops in Singapore

Hibbins - LCpl John Shelford Hibbins died aged 91 on 1 March 2001 after suffering a stroke. He was a Life Member of the Royal Signals Association and a member of the Southport Branch for almost eleven years.
Jack, as he was known, was born in Lincolnshire in 1910 and worked for W. H. Smith Newsagents in Liverpool and Blackpool and then for the Prudential Assurance Co in Chorley. On 8 August 1940 he enlisted at Ossett and was trained with the Royal Signals as a Wireless Operator. He was then attached to Artillary Units serving in Iraq and Persia. He afterwards took part in the Italian Campaign, still working with Royal Artillary Units. After demobilisation, in March 1946, Jack lived in Southport and again worked for the Prudential until his retirement in 1972, when he took on the role of a retirement visitor for the Company.

Jack married Hilda Caldwell in February 1941; they had a daughter Carol. Sadly Hilda died in 1983.
Jack was a big man in every sense of the word. He had a major operation for cancer of the throat some years ago and recovered well, but found sustained speech tiresome. He had chronic bronchitis and emphysema needing constant recourse to inhalers and an oxygen cylinder and was unable to tolerate cigarette smoke. It was a pleasure to visit him and to witness his courage; we never heard him complain and he had a great sense of humour.
Jack's funeral service took place at Leyland Road Methodist Church in Southport on 12 March. Branch members attended and our Standard was paraded by our President, Graham Krinks. Fittingly the entrance hymn was 'Oh Valiant Hearts' and the minister, The Rev D. M. King spoke movingly of Jack and of the work he had done over the years. We send our sincere condolences to Jack's daughter Carol, son in law Andrew and all the family.

Woolston - LCpl Steven Dieter 'Stevie' Woolston passed away at Gloucester Royal Hospital on Sunday 21 January 2001, having been ill for some time with a lung disease. He joined 57 Signal Squadron of 37 Signal Regiment (V) at Cheltenham in April 1987. Possessed of a quiet, genuine and friendly personality he quickly became a popular and respected member of the Unit. Using his already well developed practical, driving and electrical skills he became a Driver Electrician, quickly attaining Class 2 standard and provided a first class service wherever and whenever it was required. His skills, ability, reliability and determination marked him out as a great example of the TA Royal Signals soldier, earning him promotion to Lance Corporal. It was sad when family and work commitments brought a premature end to his service in October 1992. Since leaving the TA he maintained contact with the many friends he made during his service and continued to demonstrate his generous and selfless nature to all that came in contact with him. His funeral, at Gloucester Crematorium, was very well attended with a sizeable contingent of serving and former members of the Corps there to pay their respects. He will be missed by his family and his many friends.

Delaney - George Edward Cann Myers Delaney. It is with deep regret that I have to inform you of the sad loss of 'Del' Delaney as he was known to most of us. He died in Colchester hospital on 16 January after a short illness. 'Del' was born in Northumberland, joined the 12th Royal Lancers in 1945 and served for 14 years. He did tours in Palestine, Malaysia and Germany. In 1949 he married Phyl who managed to be with him in Malaysia and Germany. After leaving regular service he joined the TA in 1959 at Colchester and served with the Essex Yeomanry Squadron. He was very involved in the various re-organisations of the TA in particular in 1969 when 71 Signal Regiment was formed from a number of Yeomanry Regiments. Firstly as Squadron Sergeant Major of Essex (Y) Signal Squadron and later with Alan Foot and others as part of the training team at Bromley. He finally retired from the TA, in 1978 but has remained in contact with all the Old Comrades Associations - 9/12th Lancers, Essex Yeonmanry and the RSA both Brighton and Reading Branches. His funeral was well attended by representatives from all the OCAs and the Branch Standard was paraded. He will be sadly missed and our sympathy goes to his family.

White - George White passed away suddenly on 21 January 2001 aged 74 years. George enlisted on 16 March 1944 and served at Perth with the Black Watch. He was soon transferred from them and posted to the RASC Training School at Chesterfield. He left after training and was posted to India. He served in Burma, Singapore and Java and returned to the UK on demobilisation in 1947.
George was an Association Life Member and there were four Standard Bearers at his funeral The Royal British Legion, the RASC, the Royal Signals Association and the Burma Star Association. There was also a large gathering of members from these associations, his family and many other friends in attendance. He leaves his widow Barbara and a son, to whom we send our condolences.

Jones - Stanley Raymond Jones joined HM Forces in April 1940. He first served with the Welsh Regiment and soon after transferred to the Royal Corps of Signals as a Driver. He served in India with 32 Armd Div Signals and in 23 Brigade (Special Forces Signals) with the Chindits in Burma. At the end of WW2 he returned to Germany where he served until demobilisation.
Ray died on 20 November 2000, aged 84 years. His funeral service was at Chesterfield Crematorium on 27 November. Members of Chesterfield Branch and the Branch Standard Bearer were in attendance, along with members from the Burma Star Association, Fellowship of Services and the Royal British Leagion.

Hill - Sig Leonard Henry Hill was born in 1920 in Teignmouth and died on 17 February 2001. He joined the Corps as a Despatch Rider on 29 August 1939 and was mobilised on the 1 September 1939 into the 43rd (Wessex) Divisional Signals, a Territorial Army Division recruited from Hampshire, Dorset, Somerset and Wiltshire. Initially trained in the Salisbury area he served in many parts of the country and eventually landed in Normandy on 22 June 1944. His Division was involved in many of the battles in Normandy - Hill 112, Mont Pincon and the crossing of the River Seine at Vernon. In September the Division was involved in Operation Market Garden (The Bridge too Far) and then moved to Maastricht as backstop for the Battle of the Bulge. The Division was also involved in clearing the West Bank of the Rhine prior to the crossing at Wesel. This was followed by the fighting into Germany with many small battles towards Bremen and the signing of the cease-fire on Luneburg Heath. Len was demobilised in 1946 and subsequently worked for the SEB in Southampton until his retirement in 1965. He was a member of several ex-service associations:-

- Royal Signals Association Southampton Branch - Committee member and holder of the 50 Year Badge and Certificate.
- Normandy Veterans Association.
- Market Garden Veterans Association - National Committee member and Regalia Secretary.
- France and Germany Star Association,
- 43rd Wessex Association. He was also a member of the West Country Association of Hampshire.

Hand – LCpl J. P. 'Jimmy' Hand who died 13/03/01; a tribute based upon an address by the Rev Bernard Foulger, Padre to the Royal British Legion. 'My first encounter with Jim was at a British. Legion meeting at the Ivy Leaf Club when he promptly told me, 'You're Church of England, I'm Roman Catholic, we both serve the same boss in slightly different ways.' A truly Scouse way of introduction for that was where Jim was born - Liverpool. He was one of the members of the Legion Choir Boys - choirs are known for their singing - these were known for their charity work, especially at Christmas in raising funds for the purchase of small food parcels for distributing among ex-service widows and widowers. The choirboys at the Branch Meetings always stood in the comer of the bar - it's never going to be quite the same again without Jim there. He was also involved in charity work at his local, the Ypres Tavern where a number of ex-service personnel gather on a Saturday lunchtime. The Tavern has supported many charities over the years.
Jim was born in Liverpool on 7 January 1936 one of a family of three children and .is now survived by his sister Cathy and brother Tom. Jim joined the army and the Corps as a Regular in 1953 at the age of 17 years. He was posted to Hong Kong Signal Regiment and later to 40 Div Signal Troop in FARELF. Having done three years and been promoted to Lance Corporal; Jim left the army in 1956 and returned to Liverpool and civilian life: He was to find employment with the Plessey Company at the Royal Radar Establishment at Great Malvern on Ministry of Defence work. It was during this time Jim was to meet his future wife Pam who was employed as a cook in Malvem College for Boys. They formed a friendship, fell in love and were later married in Malvern Roman Catholic Church on 4 June 1960. They had a very happy marriage having celebrated their Ruby Wedding last year. They had a family of three sons - Christopher, Stephen and Robert, two grandchildren - Joseph and Megan, daughters-in-law, Nicky, Amanda and Vicky.
He was an avid reader, a member of the Sittingbourne Branch of the Royal-British Legion. Also he was one of the earliest members of the East Kent Branch, Royal Signals Association in which he played a major part in the recruiting of new members and, with Pamela, took part in many of its activities. Jim in his earlier years was a very keen soccer player and cricketer and later for him it was to become a spectator sport but not before he had displayed his ability as a spin bowler and batsman in the East Kent Branch annual cricket matches. Jim could be seen in November time in various places in Sittingbourne with his poppy tray; he was a familiar sight to many. A Pakistani gentleman asked Jim for a poppy with the Star of David emblem. Jim promptly sent him to me for this emblem. Jim explained to me later that an Asian gentleman had gone to a Roman Catholic for a Jewish Star of David and Jim had sent him to a Church of England Padre: Jim could make a story from any small incident such as this.
Jim's health started to decline some five years ago - there was further deterioration in December last year when he was admitted to the Royal Marsden Hospital on 2 March. Sadly he died there on the 13 March with his wife and family at his bedside. Jim bore .his illness with great courage and dignity, never complaining, thankfully accepting each day as it came being able to spend it with his wife, Pam and family. Jim loved his family especially his grandchildren - in turn they all adored him. Jim was a very much loved and treasured husband, Dad, Grandad, brother, relative, friend, neighbour, service colleague and legionnaire who will be very much missed by all who knew and loved him.'

Amor – Sig Edgar Darlington Amor died aged 89 on 3 February 2001 in hospital. On 27 January Eddie was still busy finding guests for our Annual Dinner Dance but on 30 January he was taken into hospital where his life hung in the balance for some forty eight hours before he died. His funeral on 9 February was well attended and was a very moving experience for all present. We were joined by Burma Star members and both Standards were paraded, ours by our President, Graham Krinks. Eddie was born in Moss Side Manchester, the youngest of five children. He started work in removals with Walter Carter (Harrods) Ltd in Manchester in 1927. He was called up in 1940 and trained with the Royal Signals as a Wireless Operator and then sent to India where he served in Abbottabad in 1941 and then with the N.W. Frontier Force in Kohat. By this time Ed was a Special Operator. He then served with the 14th Army throughout the Burma Campaign. After the War he rejoined -Walter Carter and met and married Margaret Calverley. They lived in Manchester where their first son Phillip was born in 1949; sadly Phillip died in 1965. Ed was made Manager of Carters in Southport and moved there in 1950 where children John and Margaret were born. When the Southport Branch closed in 1972 he returned to Manchester until retiring in 1974. Eddie was widely known and well liked by all his friends. He was a debonair character, a gentleman with a great sense of humour. He was a fair man with a real sense of justice likely -to take the side of the underdog. He was a great reader with a depth of knowledge and wisdom that stayed with him until the end. For many years he was a member of the Wings Quiz Club in Southport and appeared on TV in '15 to 1'. He wrote successfully a number of plays and songs. He had an ability to talk and relate to people of all ages and it was rare to hear him raise his voice. He was a keen dancer despite suffering from arthritis and loved sport, especially football, cricket, bowls and snooker and whilst in India played in goal for the unit hockey team. Eddie was a member of Probus in Southport and of the Conservative Club. He was a founder member of the Southport Branch of the Royal Signals Association twenty-one years ago and was our first Secretary; he was also a member of the Burma Star Association. He was presented with his fifty-year badge on 21 May 1992. He was the embodiment of the finest spirit that we could possibly find in an organisation such as ours; we shall miss him. His principle interest was his family, he always inquired about his grandchildren and followed their progress closely. He leaves behind his wife Margaret, son John and daughter Margaret, daughter-in-law Angela, son-in-law Dan and grandchildren Richard, Claire, Kate, Paul, Louise and Ruth. We send our condolences to them all.

Emerson - Sgt John (Prof) Emerson enlisted in the Corps' Boys Training Company at Catterick in the September 1945 Intake and was caught up in the move to Harrogate (Army Apprentices School) for just one Term before joining man's service in January 1949. He trained as an Operator Keyboard & Cipher and then saw service abroad before completing his eight years with The Colours at Gloucester, 1 War Office Signal Regiment (Traffic), later to become UK Comcan Signal Regt. On leaving the Corps he studied for and was accepted by the Diplomatic Service, firstly as a Cipher Operator later to move upwards to become Head of a Department, based in London, involved with Finance and Overseas Assets. John described himself as a 'Travelling Man' and no wonder as his duties took him to our Embassies/Consuls everywhere on our planet. To keep some sort of record of his travels and to avoid confusion, John kept a Map Board of his visits. It shows a massive 247 pins - you name it John went there. Retiring in 1993, so unlike the majority of us who take our roots elsewhere, John continued to live with his family at Purbrook Hants, the place of his birth. John, a devoted family man who enjoyed life to the full, will be deeply missed by his wife Iris, daughters Jackie and Susie, sons-in-law Jim and Andy and his five grandchildren and his many friends of the 254 Old Boys Association.

Aston - Shirley Aston (ne: Webb) died, in Australia, on 15 March aged 77 years. She served with the Royal Corps of Signals from 1942-1946 as a Teleprinter Operator. The President of the Returned Services League of Australia visited her whilst she was in hospital and also read out her service history at her funeral. She was stationed in Bath, Bristol, London, Holland, Belgium Germany and France. Shirley's husband John, is behind her in the photo. He died two years ago. They met in Antwerp while John was awaiting demob, after spending six years in the Middle East.

Hornby - Maj John Hornby was a loyal and unbelievably dedicated serving soldier and officer for close to 40 years. During this time he and his family followed the flag and met all the demands and rigours of military service. A measure of this commitment was his successful career as a soldier culminating in his promotion to WO1 (RSM) and his subsequent commissioning and appointment to Squadron Commander. John served extensively in Germany and England and was awarded both the Member of the British Empire and Long Service and Good Conduct Medals. In recent years his duty brought him to the Salisbury area where he established his family home. He served as a Quartermaster in Blandford and Tidworth before moving to 3(UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt in Bulford in 1993. John suffered from advanced bone marrow cancer. It was the measure of his extraordinary determination and professionalism that despite extensive pain and debilitating drugs he worked whenever he could and continued to provide an extremely useful service to a hard pressed Operational Regiment. Throughout his illness he has continued to undertake tasks such as treasurer of the 200 strong Normandy Officers Mess, organisation for the Regimental Open Day, and rear party administrative support to operationally deployed Squadrons. John also worked tirelessly for the Church of St Mary and St Nicholas in Wilton. John was a widower, his wife having tragically died of cancer in 1993. He leaves three adult daughters and a 17-year-old dependent son. He remained steadfast in the maintenance of his own morale and in his responsibilities to his family. His life is a constant reminder to all members of the Regiment of the military values of courage and selfless commitment. 3(UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt wishes to express its heartfelt thanks for Maj John Hornby's devoted service.

This poem was written by John's son Chris and was read at the Memorial Service at Wilton on Friday 15th December 2000.

DIFFICULTY

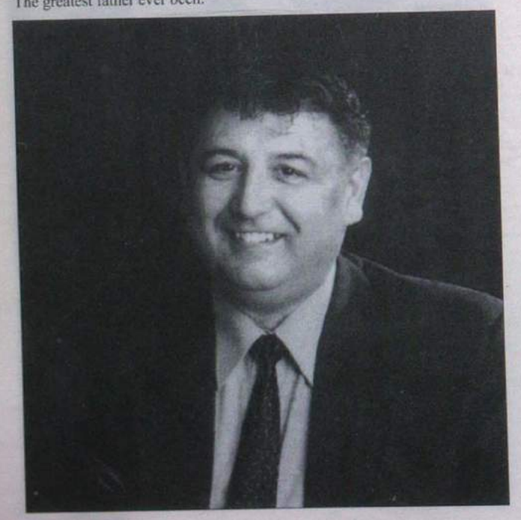
It's so difficult to see,
The things that are inside of me,
The little things that make me cry,
The things that make me ask why?

It's so difficult to see,
The choices which lay ahead of me,
The future is the dark cloud,
I just want my family proud.

Could do better is what they say,
What makes the demons go away,
I'm not crazy,
I'm not sad,
I'm having problems with my dad.

It's the little things that make me cry,
If you were me, you'd see why,
I don't want to say goodbye,
I don't want anyone to die.
I don't want to live in fear,
Knowing that death is near ….

Now that death, been and gone,
Now the fight to carry on,
I know he'll look down on me,
The greatest father ever been.



Parton - Sig George Parton died in Erskine Hospital on 3 April 2001 having entered the hospital in 1997. He was called up for National Service to Jardine Street , Maryhill, Glasgow in 1949, as a Signalman Driver in the Corps, and served until 1956 when he then transferred to the Parachute Regiment. In 1961 he transferred to the Royal Engineersand served until 1963. He served in Catterick the UK and Libya having dropped his rank of Lance Corporal in the Royal Signals to join the Parachute Regiment. George Parton was cremated at Woodside Crematorium, Paisley. The Parachute Association were represented with their Standard. Members of his family, including his son who lives overseas, and friends were at the service which was conducted by the Chaplain for the Paras.

Devine – Capt (Retd) George Devine, late Royal Signals. George Devine came to 216 Para Sigs in 1974 as a mature WO2 (YofS). The rest of our gang were all young Sergeants. We did our Airborne thing for two more years until I went to BAOR, and George became WO1 (RSMI) in the Signals Wing at RMA Sandhurst. 16 Para Bde folded its tents in 1976. George and I met rarely after that, our subsequent reunions usually under the haze of an Airborne Forces Day. In latter years we wrote or 'phoned, now and then, and we exchanged Xmas cards. On retiring from Regular service George became a PSAO with 31 Sig Regt (V) in London. He and his wife Margaret bought a house in Fleet, which remains the family home. George retired from TA service in 1997, aged 60.

George was a rare wee gem of a Glasgow-born Scot. He was quietly amusing, humorous, totally efficient, and a kind, tolerant leader. His was the voice of reason when masters Marshall, McBirney, and Hamilton, thrusting and aggressive young Sergeants, started to ricochet off the walls of authority erected by some of our then 'born-leaders.' When life became fraught we could always go to see George, who would calm us down, discuss an alternative assassination method, and pour water on the flames. For that alone, he earned our undying gratitude. I remember that George, a mature 37-year-old, struggled manfully to keep-up on road runs. It was a young and very fit Squadron. At the same time though he was heavily involved with the world of Military Display Free Fall Parachuting. He jumped with the internationally renowned Red Devils, and the Royal Signals own Blue Helmets. His team-mates then included Maj Mike Forge, who was killed in the Falklands War; Sgt Jim Robins, who died in a tragic parachuting accident, before George's very eyes; and Sgt Steve Whittick, a 216 Sqn member from the 1960s. I heard that George continued to Free-Fall long after he left 216, making his last jump in 1997. He was both well known and respected in that particularly elite world. As a footnote to his FF days … George was one of few to be presented with a Gold Lanyard by HRH Prince Charles at an ABF Day parade in the late 1970s. This award was made to Para Bde 'Troopers who had completed a minimum of 1,000 FF jumps. The story goes that when HRH stopped in front of George he noticed that, like himself, George was wearing a Queen's Jubilee Medal. 'How did you come by this?' asked the Prince. 'I was in the right place at the right time, Sir,' retorted George. 'Funny enough, so was I,' concluded HRH. Smiles all round. The tale was later published in a Readers' Digest 'Humour in Uniform.'

April 1975 - Escape and Evasion - Rannoch Moor, Scotland. One of the Running Teams consisted of Lt Nigel Jackson, WO2 George Devine, and SSgt Dick Hamilton. The Hunter Force was provided, vigorously, by Para Regt 'troops from the Vigilant (Missile) Platoons of HQ Coy, 16 Para Bde. Of course we were (all) eventually caught, and beasted, and interrogated at the infamous Kamp Tominsky Rehabilitation Centre (a nissen hut in Camp Cultybraggan). Years have dulled the pain suffered, but one relevant memory abides … a cunning plan was that George had secreted, about his body, a tiny tube containing a £5 note. Later, 'on the run', we attempted to buy food from a woman at an isolated cottage. In exchange for the rations George was encouraged to produce the cash. This he did after retiring behind a shed. The note was gingerly handed-over, and we took to our heels with the grub! The entire valley heard precisely what the woman thought of 'dirty *$£!! escapees, and their *$£!! money!' Rarely had I seen George move quite so fast!

For many years George and his wife, Margaret enjoyed themselves as active members of a Scottish Country Dance Society. A letter from George in 1997 says that they had been to St Andrews for the Society's Summer School week, and were due to visit Aberdeen for the Scottish Society's Annual Grand Ball. I heard that George was still dancing in February this year, against all medical advice of course. I also heard that, in January of this year, he successfully 'Addressed The Haggis' at no less than four Burns' Suppers. Determined, or what? In latter years, as a relief from the stresses of TA life and London, George took to the hills, quite literally. He would travel to the north of Scotland where he would join forces with an old Free Fall chum, Alec Munro, late 3 Para and The Red Devils. The pair would wander up hill and down dale, enjoying freedom and scenery, and reliving their youth. George had made plans to visit me in Shetland this autumn, for a walk along the 'banks' and seashore. His enforced absence, on other duty, grieves me dearly.

On 6 April a Requiem Mass was held for George in Church Crookham, followed by his Internment at Aldershot Military Cemetery. The Service was attended by very many family members and friends, from across the globe. Among the gathering were Para Sigs comrades Nigel Jackson, Johnny Fielding, Steve Marshall, Jimmy Campbell, Craig Treeby, Guy Richards and Joe Fairbairn; and Malcolm Coupar, late of the Blue Helmets. George, as you move-off to the final DZ RV in the sky, I wish you the fond adieu of an airborne comrade, proud and privileged to have served briefly in your shadow.

The picture is a hook on which to hang my farewell Capt (Retd) G. Devine who passed away on 31 March 2001, after a short illness bravely borne.

1974 Photo
(L-R): Sgt Dick Hamilton, Sgt Steve Marshall, SSgt Dougie Baikie, WO2 (YofS) George Devine, Capt Craig Treeby
(all of 216 Para Sig Sqn)

Bell - Sig Herbert J. Bell was born in Holloway, N. London in 1919 and joined Standard Telephones and Cables in 1937. While at STC he joined the TA and was mobilised on the outbreak of War. He was sent to Europe and was evacuated from Dunkirk on the Destroyer Scimitar.

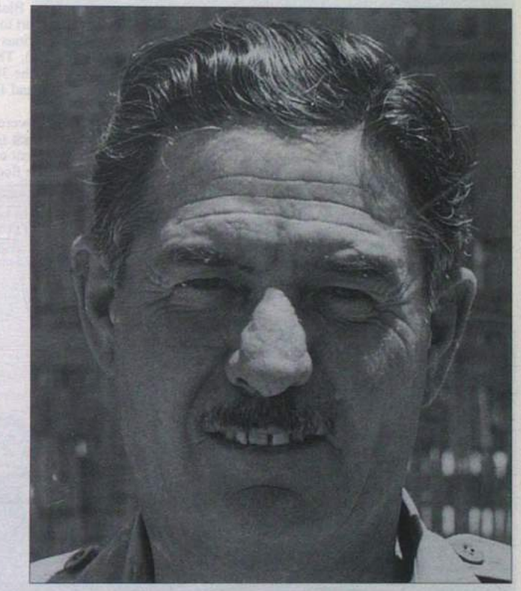
Later he went to the Middle East for the Syrian Campaign and joined the Para Brigade where he served in the Special Operations Group. His first drop was at the Greek/Albanian border where he spent nine months signalling for the Partisans. Later he was sent, with a Lt Duffy, to rescue 13 American nurses and aircrew who had crashed en route from Malta to Italy. They finally got the Americans aboard a British MTB and they were transferred to Bali in Italy. It is understood that he earned the MM for this mission. Later he moved to Sienna and was then dropped into Northern Italy to harass the Germans. On release from the Army he returned to STC and was eventually sent to Australia and decided to stay after meeting Irene Taylor who he subsequently married. They had two children, Christine and Grant. Their family was their great joy and they were delighted when their grandchildren, Andrew, Christine and Jarrad arrived. He was a modest man who was not only a hero but a man who led a useful and productive life.

Buirski - Maj Eric Joseph Buirski died on 27 October at Wrexham Maelor Hospital aged 84. Eric was born in Swellendam Cape, South Africa in 1916 and joined the British Army in 1935.

His initial training was at Catterick and then he went to India, which he regarded as the best part of his career, and often spoke of his time there with affection. He loved all sports, taking an active part in many for the whole of his army career. He represented the Corps at the highest level at rugby, cricket, hockey and golf. His Officer Training was at Bangalore and following his parachute training, he joined 50 Indian Parachute Brigade as a Major and head of the Signals Squadron. He served in Burma and was at Sangshak and Imphal - March and April 1944. Returning to the UK in 1947 his service included Malta, Kenya, Germany (Krefeld and Rheindahlen) and Cyprus (Akrotiri and Episkopi). His last six years service were in Chester at Saighton Camp, HQ Western Command. He retired in January 1970 and was then appointed, in July 1970, to the Telecommunications Office , Hanover, as a Retired Officer. He served there for ten years.

Finally, he retired in 1980 and returned to Marford, North Wales where he lived with his wife, Margaret, whom he had met in Cyprus 1959, where she was teaching Service children in Limassol, and his daughter Kate, who was born in BMH Hanover. Golf was a hobby which he enjoyed until he was 79. His health gradually deteriorated following a heart attack. He still kept in touch with many he had served with over his 34 year career. A life he loved.

His great joy was his family, Margaret, Kate and Toni and his grandchildren, Thomas and Thea. He was truly a soldier and a gentleman, loved and respected by many.



LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

XI

HEADQUARTERS
11 SIGNAL BRIGADE

Comd — Brig C. L. Le Gallais OBE
COS — Maj R. P. Wilson

HAIL AND FAREWELL

No farewells for this edition, there are only welcomes – Hooray! We welcome Maj Bob Appleton to the Headquarters as the SO2 Ops on an FTRS contract. It appears that the terms of Bob's FTRS contract run in decades as opposed to years. He joined us from HQ LAND (a previous FTRS contract) and in addition to his responsibilities as the SO2 Ops, he will be the principal link officer with the TA. Capt Mick Purves has also joined us on attachment to assist with Ex Saif Sareea. Welcome to you both and we are sure that you will enjoy your stay in Donnington.

CONGRATULATIONS

Brig Charles Le Gallais has been awarded the CBE in the Operational Honours List for his work in the former Yugoslavia. It is very encouraging for all of us to learn that one can be made a CBE, simply by attending a number of social functions; arranging for a piper to be present at one of them and being a 'thoroughly good chap'. Since the announcement prompted a further champagne celebration in the Headquarters, we are all hoping this is the style to which we can become accustomed. Seriously, whilst we are all delighted for Brig Charles there are some, less savoury individuals, in the former Yugoslavia who wish he had never visited.

PROJECT CORMORANT

Capt (TOT) John Hiorns continues to run with Project Cormorant. We are happy to update the last WIRE notes and report that the contract has been let – at last. The first slice of Project Cormorant is due to be declared operational in August 2002. In order to meet that time-scale, 2 Sig Regt is now conducting AS Op conversion training, which includes members from 30 Sig Regt. Once that conversion training has been complete, Cormorant underpinning knowledge training will commence in order that operators are able to meet the Initial Operational Capability 1. It is anticipated that Management Training and User Trials will be conducted from February 2002, with the first collective training conducted from April 2002. This should ensure that the first slice is indeed declared operational in August 2002.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

EXERCISE SAIF SAREEA II

The exercise gathers pace. A high level briefing for the ex was conducted in Donnington on 29 March 2001 which COMBRITFOR, Air Vice Marshall (AVM) Torpy attended, accompanied by UK Ex Director AVM Harris and the UK Chief EXCON, Brig Freer. The J6 lead, Brig Suleman from the Sultan of Oman's Armed Forces also attended, accompanied by two Omani staff officers. The briefing team, led by the Comd, Brig Le Gallais comprised Maj David Somerville, from PJHQ and Maj Duncan Parkinson. The intention of the day was to give confidence to the lead players that the J6 picture reflected, accurately, the J3 picture. The aim of the day was achieved and AVM Torpy was heard to say that he had learned more about the exercise in the 90 minutes brief in Donnington than he had been able to piece together in the preceding months.

COMMUNICATIONS PROJECTS DIVISION (CPD)

PROJECT IZAR - by Cpl Steve Mottram

DE&I, DESIGN & INSTALLATION SERVICES BRANCH

So who are we? Communication Projects Division (CPD) based in Blandford was assimilated into DCSA's Directorate of Engineering & Interoperability (DE&I) during December 2000 and continues to provide support to the defence fixed communications systems worldwide.

Project IZAR was the commercialization of Op Silkman communications in support of the JTFHQ based within the Sierra Leone Army HQ on the outskirts of the capital, Freetown and Benguema Training Centre (BTC). The project, utilising civil satellite bearers and COTS equipment used in the Balkans on projects MIRA and CLEO, has now replaced the majority of the 30 Sig Regt communications equipment at both of these locations. All circuits and facilities including DFTS, PATRON, CUTG, JOCS, VTC, Internet and IMN circuits are routed through the UK Hub in Corsham providing a better qualify of service and enhanced facilities.

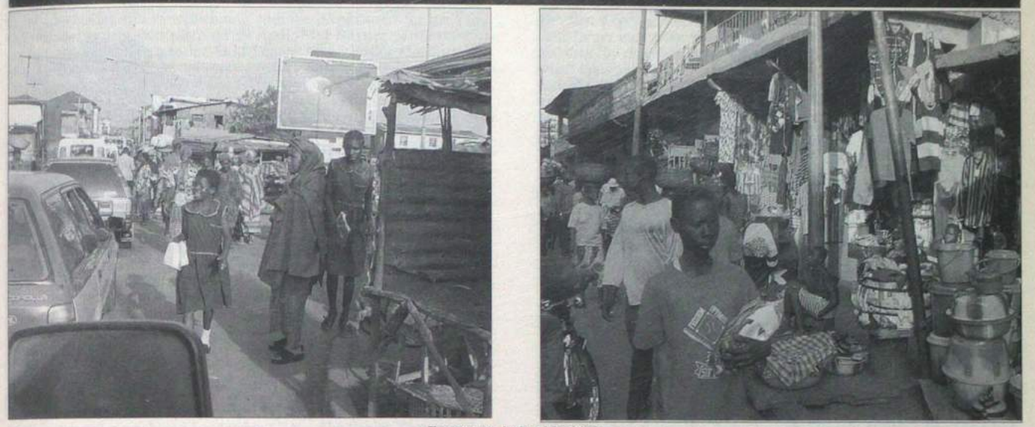
The project started in January. The three modified ISO containers were configured and fully tested by BAE Technicians from BAE Systems in Christchurch and members of DE&I's Design & Installation Service Branch (DIS) and Information Systems 7 (IS7), and 600 Sig Tp prior to deployment. An installation team was then assembled using personnel from five different units namely 30 Sig Regt, ACPO, 600 Sig Tp, DIS Blandford and HQ LAND to travel out to Sierra Leone to prepare the area for the equipment and then flood wire the HQ complex ready for the arrival of the containers.

Rear (L-R): Capt Jason Hazelwood, LCpl Chris Nugent, Cpl Lee Bearfield, WO2 (SSM) Mark Bullivant, LCpl John Brotherford, SSgt Kev Wosika, Capt (TOT) Tony Woolaston
Front (L-R): Sig Tom Hobson, Sgt Paul Landregan, Cpl Steve Mottram, LCpl Carl Stephenson, Sgt Joe Mcguiness, Mr Chris Ashcroft
(Missing from the picture are Maj Keith Pritchard and Sig Andy Hartshorn)

We flew from Brize Norton by Tristar on 29 March with an overnight stop in Dakkar and arrived in Lungi airport at midday on the 30th. After briefings and admin we set off via mexi-float for the other side of the bay, which was where the RFA Sir Percivale was docked. This was to be our home for the next four weeks. Travel from the docks to JTFHQ, the other side of Freetown, was in itself an experience! Two miles and one hour later having passed buildings riddled with hundreds of bullet holes from the troubles, open sewers, and the general appearance of overcrowding, where every piece of floor space was lived on, we emerged on the other side. From then on it was pretty much a straight run to the HQ.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS



Freetown At It's Maddest

The main task for the first week was to flood wire the HQ and surrounding areas with all the cables, both fibre and copper, and fit trunking. During this time all work was overseen by Maj 'Chief Leaner' Pritchard whilst Capt 'Howdybuddy' Hazelwood and Capt 'Did I tell you I was posted to Gibraltar?' Woolaston worked on the handover package within the HQ. Obviously due to the heat the workload was very tiring and so the newly formed MTDPF (Mech &Tech Democratic Peoples Front) balloted for a day off; so Sunday was spent on the beach. This is were WO2 SSM 'SUPLEX' Bullivant came into his own, after countlessly being attacked in the sea by local kids who strangely mistook him for a new climbing frame he decided to hone his newfound wrestling moves on a couple of them. Sgt 'Parasasghurkacommando' McGuiness tried his hand at a recently discovered pastime called Fatbellied bodysurfing ably aided by LCpl 'Surfgod' Brotherford. Whilst all this was going on LCpl 'Winge for NATO' Stephenson continually complained that, 'The sea's too salty. The sand's to hot blah blah blah!' All the local beach traders were fended off bravely by LCpl 'Turkish' Nugent, unfortunately it was too late for LCpl Chris 'Local boy' Stanley who was forced to buy everything.

JTFHQ Complex

After the containers arrived the circuits were tested thoroughly and all settings were checked by the Chuckle Brothers, SSgt 'Senior Chuckle' Wosika and Sgt 'Junior Chuckle' Landregan. Loopback plugs were being thrown about like they were going out of fashion and 'To me, To you' was heard on many an occasion. All this was again overlooked by Maj 'Chief leaner' Pritchard, who had obviously encountered a serious earthquake in his past and now felt the need to lean against something all of the time!

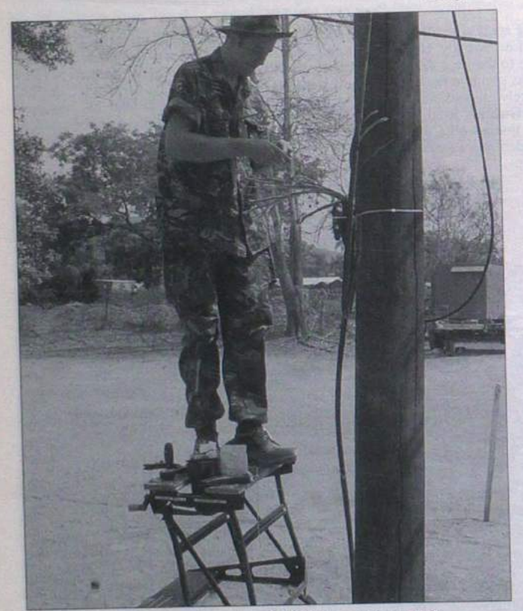
Cpl 'I just drive' Mottram did what was best and cleaned the vehicles and Mr Chris 'Expendable Civvy' Ashcroft rubbed cream into the blisters that had now formed from sunburn. At about this time Sig Andy 'Half tour' Hartshorn had to return to UK on compassionate. At about the 3-week point, strange medical ailments became apparent within the team. Sgt 'Miximitosis' McGuiness developed conjunctivitis and Capt 'One eyed Willie' Woolaston developed problems with his eye (although it was noted that it remarkably healed itself as the wheels of the Tristar touched down in the UK and he got up off his club class AeroMed seat)!

Having successfully completed the JTFHQ the team moved to the Jungle location of BTC. Again the area was flood wired providing DFTS, CUTG and a four terminal welfare Internet café, much to the delight of the CO of 1LI who had just taken over the training establishment from 2RGR. During the installation, a few of us were lucky enough to watch the passing out parade of the newly Ghurka trained SLA soldiers, and what can be said, the drill and the general professionalism of their troops was amazing! They were a credit to their training.

STUCK FOR A GIFT? TRY THE MUSEUM SHOP TEL: BLFD 482248

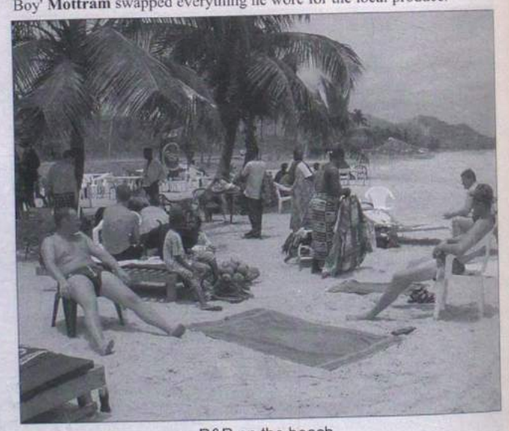
LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

Benguema Training Centre



Pole Preparation - by LCpl Stephenson at BTC

With all the equipment in and working it was now simply a case of the team tidy and packing up at both sites. Whilst Capt 'Hey, Lets off-road / Madmax' Hazelwood and Sgt 'Paradigm Kid' Landregan sorting out the Cyber-café at BTC. As we had finished ahead of time and with two days left to spare we went to the beach and 'power-tanned'. On the first day Cpl Lee 'Whiteboy' Bearfield finally made it to the beach and consequentially burnt to a crisp, whilst LCpl 'Turkish' Nugent managed to achieve a tan that a German would be proud of. Sig Tom 'Lobster' Hobson bravely fended off yet more beach traders, Whilst Cpl Steve 'Del Boy' Mottram swapped everything he wore for the local produce.



R&R on the beach

263 (HARROGATE) SIGNAL SQUADRON ARMY APPRENTICES COLLEGE

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj Mel Rayner
SSM WO2 J. Hogan

SHQ has experienced a massive turnaround over the past few months, with the arrival of a new 2IC, Capt Liz Warhurst (nee Allan), SSM John Hogan and SSgt Baker as the new Sqn SQMS. As is always the case with arrival in new units, we have hit the ground running. Maj Mel Rayner has welcomed the return of both a 2IC and SSM in post and is looking forward to the extra time she will now have, not .... The Foot and Mouth disease has impacted significantly on our ability to train our Apprentices in realistic field conditions. However, in the fine style of the British Army we are finding solutions to the problem. (The Small Arms Trainer has never seen so much action!) There is no replacement for living in the field for a few days in the wind and rain. As the term draws to its conclusion, life is accelerating with the preparations for the Pass Out Parade, which takes place on 19 April. Maj Rayner is particularly excited about her return to the Drill Square as the Parade Commander, after an absence of over seven years. Looking forward to the start of May, the Senior Term, Rawson and Scott Tps, will move on to Blandford for their Phase 2 Training, while we welcome the arrival of the next Apprentices. A slightly smaller intake, means that we are able to get the NCOs away for vital instructional, career and educational courses. Finally, the Squadron would like to congratulate Sgt Korchel on her selection for promotion to Staff Sergeant, well done.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ATFC AND AN ATR?

Army Training Regiments (ATR) and the Army Technical Foundation College (ATFC) both conduct Phase 1 training, so what differences are there between the training? The Apprentices stay at the College for 28 weeks while a recruit will spend only 12 weeks in an ATR. The Common Military Syllabus Recruit, (CMSR) which every recruit must pass is completed by the ATRs in 11/12 weeks, so what do we do for the remainder of the 28 weeks? The key word in our title is 'College', we educate. The Apprentices (only Technician and Operator trades) complete a package called the Foundation Modern Apprenticeship (FMA), which is based primarily around Key Skills and NVQs. The Apprentices study a variety of subjects including Maths, IT, Military Science and Military Studies. All of which help to prepare them for their Education For Promotion (EFP) 1. The course includes two weeks of External Leadership and a weeklong Leadership Cadre. The Senior Term spend a week on exercise where they are tested in various command appointments and delivery of orders and finally finishing the term with a week of Field Firing at section level. In a nutshell, an Apprentice will move on to Phase 2 having completed the CMSR and a FMA (if they have worked hard enough) as well as having under his or her belt, command and leadership experience.

BRADLEY TROOP - JUNIOR TERM
Tp Comd Capt Roddy Wilson
Tp Sgt Sgt Mark McMullan

LIFE IN THE FIRST TERM AT ATFC ARBORFIELD
by AT Elgie

THE BLOCK

Not knowing anyone at the start was really strange, having to make a whole new group of friends. In a way it was familiar because of changing schools, but we all soon settled in. By the end of the first week we had all got to know each other. Doing the block jobs wasn't the best thing, nobody had any control or knowledge of command and everyone went in all directions. We didn't know how to iron or clean, to be honest it was like starting at primary school, not knowing the basics of what we were supposed to be doing. As time went on, friction became a major problem, because, we started to get to know each other more. We didn't agree on many things, and we argued constantly. Although we made good friends we became familiar with the more lazy members of the Troop. However, we are all working more as a team now and all members of the Troop are now pulling their weight. Now we all happily get along, doing all of our jobs up to standard and meeting the requirements. I think the whole Troop have bonded really well, however the motivation and team work never kicked in until after our exercise, Exercise Milks Teeth.

EXERCISE MILKS TEETH

This is the first exercise you will go on. It is a good exercise where you learn the basic military skills, such as cooking, administration, cam and concealment, map reading and learning more about harbour areas. On this exercise we had to do stag, which on the first night I stagged up and down my section line for an hour. On the second night I had to do stag in a shell scrap with another person. The second night, I went on twice. During the exercise the thing I really enjoyed most was firing blank rounds as it was first time and I also got to fire on automatic. The worst thing about Ex Milks Teeth was sleeping out in the freezing cold. All we had for shelter was a poncho, a bivi bag and our sleeping bag. The other thing I did not like was carrying my bergen around. (I think I might become an officer and get someone else to carry it for me). Cam and concealment was really good. You had to cam yourself up including webbing, hands and face. After you have cammed yourself up you had to hide while the Troop NCO's had to find us with the help of a spotter. We then went on various map-reading exercises, which improved our skills and in some cases found them to begin with. We also learnt the art of how to patrol around areas and the different techniques used such as staggered file and single file. With this came all the different hand signals used both in the day and night. Overall this exercise was really good, providing us with all the basic military skills.

EXERCISE DRAGONS TEETH

Ex Dragons Teeth wasn't as realistic as it should have been, because of the foot and mouth and a result we had to do all of the training on camp. However, what we did do in the two days was challenging, fun and hard. The first day was raining and cold but we soon seemed to forget about that. Target indication was our first stand followed by judging distance and then fire and manoeuvre. This day was simply for practice except for target indication, which was one of our main tests we all passed. At the end of the day we were all tired, but I knew if we had been on a real exercise we would have found it more difficult. The second day was better, it was raining on and off and we had a test on fire and manoeuvre. This was brilliant, to make it better it was really muddy. All of the Troop thought it was good even though all their bounds made them crawl through the muddiest patches. If we had been on exercise we would have found it more difficult but I think we would have coped. The bad thing about the two days was the weather and not being able to do the real thing. It would have been a lot better if we were able to go into the field and practice our military skills living and surviving in the field without the block comforts to rely on.

PENNEY TROOP - JUNIOR TERM
Tp Comd Lt Miles Booker
Tp Sgt CSgt 'Digger' Gardiner RGBW

MY AMAZING DAY OUT - by AT Atkinson

When I joined the Army I wasn't expecting to go to museums and to go bowling, but it just goes to show if you work hard, you play hard. Thursday 29 March, I woke up with a big smile for once and I was happy to get up that early. I didn't believe where we were going when Sgt Gardiner first told us. The artillery museum was enjoyable because when I first decided to join the Army I wanted to join artillery, because I like the idea of being in control of big guns. The most amazing piece of kit there, was the A590, British made and the best in the world. We got to climb over them and get inside, the A590 was really small inside, I couldn't imagine working on a hot day in there. The next place we went to was an armoury where we were told the history of British rifles. I couldn't believe how many weapons were in there and when we got the chance to look about the armoury I was overjoyed. All my mates were looking at the modern weapons and anti-tank weapons, but I went to look at the World War II rifles. I've always been interested in WWII. I've got loads of books on it back home. When I got to look at the Browning Automatic Rifle I couldn't put it down. Next was the main attraction, BOWLING! At first I couldn't hit a single pin, but as soon as I got warmed up I got four strikes in a row. After bowling I played on the arcades and ate burgers, back to my original civilian life eating burgers and playing on arcades. Overall it was a good day and it has made me work harder to go out again.

VISIT TO THE MUSEUM AT RMCS SHRIVENHAM
by AT Harper

On Thursday 29 March, our Troop staff decided to give us a break from our busy lives and took us out for the day! The day started off really well; it was a chance to put on our civilian clothes and relax for the day. We got on the road and everything was fine until Sergeant McLaughlin got a flat tire. It finally got fixed and everyone arrived at the Museum. We went into the armoury and looked at some really cool rifles. I've never seen so many and I never knew there were so many different types. We then moved on to the gun shed where there were a lot of really big guns. We got a chance to look around, and climb on some of the tanks. The WO2 who showed us around showed us one of the tests you do to join the Artillery. You had to be able to lift one of these really heavy shells, and it was funny catching the males in the Troop trying to lift it, and struggling, when the staff sergeant could lift it with one hand. I did learn something I don't want to join the Artillery! After that we all went to the Mega Bowl and I actually hit some of the pins! Everyone enjoyed themselves, whether they were good or bad, it was a laugh. After we had a few games we all had a go on some of the amusements. Lt Booker and Sgt Gardiner had a go on a horse racing video game and it was really strange to see our troop staff having a laugh and being civilians! The day was really enjoyable and a nice break for the Troop and the Staff. It gives us a reason to work even harder so we can do more things like this!

OUR DAY OUT - AT Hamnett

E Well, our day started a bit flat, literally, we had only been on the road for 15 minutes and we had got a puncture. However, it was a welcomed stop for all those who had gone a whole twenty minutes without nicotine. After a few of AT Jenner's jokes, AT Eddon's moaning about car sickness a few snacks, LSgt McLaughlin had changed the tyre and covered his suit in oil. We piled onto the minibus and set off on our way. We arrived at the Museum just behind the others and were ushered into the Gun Shed. We watched a short film about different kinds of weapons and ammunition. Then we went to look at the guns. We were let loose on the huge contraptions. Eddon and I were in our element. We took it in turn to get in the driver's seat and pretend to be driving in the Gulf. It was about that time that AT Austin came and spoiled our fun by telling us to get outside. Next we walked over to the Armoury. We were talked through most of the weapons there and were shown how they worked. It was then that I became grateful for the SA

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

80, as I would not like to be carrying some of the rifles from earlier centuries. We were talked through the ammunition as it was passed around. The Sergeant Major wowed Sgt Gardiner by telling him about the new technology, for the future. Then we were taken back to the minibus. LSgt McLaughlin turned on the radio and a few songs later and we were outside Megabowl. We all got into teams and swapped our shoes. We were allocated our lanes and the games began. The first game was won unexpectedly by AT Edmonson. We began to feel the tension between Eddon and Austin as they were both in last place with a very poor score. I was now enjoying the game and took my place at the start of the lane. I was determined to get a strike. I took a run up to the pins.... BANG.....no I didn't get a strike, I had actually landed on my bum and my whole team were rolling around laughing. I gathered myself together and finished the game in second place. We changed our shoes back and walked over to the arcade games where Sgt Gardiner and Lt Booker were amusing us all on the Derby horses.
Overall I thought that the day was great.

RAWSON TROOP - SENIOR TERM
Tp Comd Capt 'Pierre' Farrimond
Tp Sgt Sgt Colin Gaul

Coming to the end of a very busy senior term everyone is looking forward to pass-off day. With all the exercises cancelled due to foot and mouth the Troop has had to do a lot of improvising and making as much use of the camp real-estate as possible, this being no problem of course being R Signals we are used to improvisation. We would like to take this opportunity to wish all the best to Cpl 'Clubby' Clubb and his girlfriend on the smooth delivery of a new communication system (yes a baby).

RAWSON TROOP BATTLEFIELD TOUR - by AT Burnand

Friday 6 April and we watched scenes from famous films about the D-Day landings. That evening we made our way to historical Portsmouth for the Troop's maiden voyage abroad. We had fun strutting our stuff on the dance-floor on the 'Pride of Portsmouth'. Eventually we arrived in France after seven hours of feeling not 100% We boarded our coach and made our way to Aramange and visited the D-Day museum. It was quite exciting and we all got sore necks from sitting in the 360 degree cinema. After tasting the local dish of steak and chips we made our way to Omaha Beach. At the beach the loss of life really hit us all. I think it is impossible for our generation to comprehend how many lives were lost all we could do try to imagine. This was time to reflect on what they gave their lives for. From Omaha we went to Point-de-Rock and went in the German gun emplacements it was an odd feeling knowing that you are walking in history this was the highlight for me. We then went into airborne country and to Pegasus Bridge, we enjoyed walking across the first part of France to be liberated by the allies. Then finally we went to pay our respects to British troops who had made the ultimate sacrifice. We held a mini remembrance ceremony where we laid a wreath on behalf of 263 (H) Signal Squadron. We then made our way back to Le Havre Port and home to the college.

SCOTT TROOP - SENIOR TERM
Tp Comd Lt Nick Galle AGC
Tp Sgt Sgt Amanda Korchel

NORMANDY BATTLE FIELD TOUR - by AT Roberts

After a day at the movies (watching old war films!) we finally set off France. Scott Troop being the senior Troop (and the better of the two!) we got the Gucci bus. After about two hours of boredom (getting a big film fanatic sitting next to you, doesn't make travelling a lot of fun!) we arrived in Portsmouth. Seeing the ferry raised a strange fear in the strangest people, eg: AT Lorna 'Taz' Robertson one of the more eccentric people in the Troop was nearly in tears with fear! After a hard night's boogying (alcohol free of course!) we awoke in Le Harve. After another journey with the same exciting company (this time sleeping!), we arrived at Arromanche, Normandy.

We then received a tour round a D-day museum by a French guide, whose English was quite patchy at times. Cpl Ross 'H' Harmer being the funny man of the Troop, seized the opportunity immediately and proceeded to attempt a very poor French accent. We learnt about how Arromanche was the site for Mulberry harbour, a man made monster dock made by the Allies. We then walked up an enormous hill to get to a 360degree cinema. 'How does that work?' I hear you cry, well it's a circular room with screens all around. It was one of the freakiest things I have ever seen in my life, it's like being drunk without the alcohol! After a quick spot of lunch we were off, this time to Omaha Cemetery. It was amazing, I never thought it would be as big as it was, but with the time against us we couldn't really get a good look around. We then quickly drove off to Ponte de Hoc, the cliff the US Rangers assaulted. Unfortunately the clock was ticking so we rushed off to the main British, (and Signals asset) Pegasus Bridge. This was where Cpl Waters made his famous 'Go to it' run (winning the MM). We then went onto Ranville Cemetery. Ranville Cemetery is predominantly British graves so we deemed it appropriate to hold a service there in memory of those who have fought before us. Cpl Ross 'H' Harmer had brought a CD player and a few fitting CD's. AT Ben 'Slobbo' Roberts, AT LCpl. Newton (Rawson Troop) and I (because we were the youngest in our respective Troops) had been selected to lay the wreath. We opened the service with the hymn 'I vow to thee my country' followed by a few readings from AT's. AT Darren 'Clueless' Kewley read the Corps collect. We then, thanks to Cpl Ross 'H' Harmer's excellent stills with a CD player, had the worlds quietest last post followed by a two-minute silence. We ended the service with the National Anthem. We then return to Le Harve to get the ferry back to good old Blighty. Yet again, Scott Tp led the way by dancing like idiots and requesting stupid songs like YMCA. After another night on 'The Pride of Portsmouth' we arrived in Portsmouth where we got back on to the Gucci bus. The ride back I can't say much about because as soon as we got on, I fell asleep straight away, but I imagine it was extremely interesting! Looking back on the trip it was an excellent learning experience and the one major thing I have learnt is 'Dolce et decorum est pro patria mori' ('it is sweet and noble to die for your country') is a lie, there is no beauty in war only pain and suffering. Scott Troop would like to thank 2Lt Galle for making the trip possible.

EXERCISE LONDON LEARN - by AT Roberts

We left straight after breakfast on the Saturday morning for Chelsea Barracks, London. After about an hour we were in Central London and passing all the attractions such as the London Eye. When we arrived at Chelsea we were briefed by the Troop OC, 2Lt Galle (AGC) on the do's and don'ts of the exercise. Then we were off! The whole Troop had to go to Sloan Square tube station to receive a Gucci all day rail pass, then we left. My partner, AT Peter 'Mother' Reveley, and myself went to Westminster. As we left Westminster tube station, the first thing we came across was a huge clock! (Commonly known as Big Ben!) We realised that we had a slight problem, no camera! So we ran quite literally back to the station (why we ran I don't quite know but we thought time was of the essence) and bought one. It cost £10.99 for a little disposable camera, it's daylight robbery but we had no time to argue. We just bought it and went.

We then decided a trip to see the 'big man' was needed, so we took a walk to Downing Street. After five minutes of strolling down a road not knowing where we were, we found the back of Downing Street, now all we had to do was find a way in! We took a little walk though Horse Guards and picked up an answer to another question on the way! (What time does the guard mount?) As we walked out though Horse Guards Parade we faced the Guards Memorial, then to our left we noticed a police officer, we were there. With a little talking, I got AT Peter 'Mother' Reveley and I in. We walked in expecting the house to be part of the main street but were quite disappointed to find it round the corner from the rest, by itself. We got a police officer to take a photo of us outside the door. (One thing I noticed during that day was how helpful the police are).

AT Roberts and AT Reveley outside No 10 Downing Street

We then set our sights on the US Embassy, but there was a snag, we had no idea where it was. On our way there, (after getting directions from a traffic warden) we came across an open topped bus, which took us to the Dorchester Hotel, (Bonus, two extra tasks completed). We then arrived at the Embassy and it was closed. Disappointed as we couldn't complete the task of shaking a US Marine's hand, we took a photo anyway to say we had been on foreign soil. As if by luck while we walked back to Marble Arch station we saw another building, the US Naval HQ for the UK and inside was a US Marine. We went in and after about half an hour of phone calls we finally got to meet the marine, Pte Davoy. He had the photo taken and then left us, all that work for one picture! Happy with our effort AT Peter 'Mother' Reveley and I had lunch, but of course on the move! We got on the tube we thought might go somewhere close to Tower Bridge and we had no real idea where we were. We got lost, twice in fact, first was on the tube and the second time trying to get out of Embankment station!

AT Peter 'Mother' Reveley, who's first time it was in London, wanted to see a few sights so I took him on a little guided tour whilst trying to complete the tasks, we visited HMS Belfast, crossed Tower Bridge, visited the Tower of London and I polished a Beefeaters shoes! Unluckily for us he was ex-forces and had been a Coldstream Guard for 22 years, so when I just held the rag above his shoe so we could just get a photo and go he had a go at me telling me how to bull boots! So I bowed down to his demands but told him I wasn't really going to clean them and we got the photo and walk away briskly, very briskly! We then had the idea that we could actual do one of the two hardest tasks an the sheet, dedicate a song to our Squadron OC (Maj Rayner). Checking the time, it was already 1315hrs and ENDEX was at 1500hrs and we also had to get our camera developed. So on our way, we stopped at The Strand to get it developed and carried on to Leicester Square, home of Capital FM. After all our efforts when we finally got there we were told they couldn't tape it for us so we had just wasted an hour! But all was not lost, we managed to find a Chinese restaurant and get chopsticks which was another task down. We quickly collected our fiim and went. Arriving at Sloane Square with ten minutes to spare we thought we had done it, but then trouble hit us, AT Peter 'Mother' Reveley couldn't find his ticket! It took me five minutes to convince the lady in charge of the station into letting AT Peter 'Mother' Reveley through and with about four minutes to spare and a seven-minute journey we ran! Making it in at 1500hrs exactly, we got on the bus and yes, fell asleep!

EXTERNAL LEADERSHIP 1 - by AT K. Hooper

It was EL 1 and Scott Tp were finishing off their first visit to Sennybndge in sunny Wales, pre-Foot and Mouth. During the week we had enjoyed walking in the Welsh mountains, canoeing in a canal, climbing one of the best artificial walls in the south of Wales, and had been down an extremely cold and wet cave. This was where after a few tears and some sulking, AT Waters had argued that '....he wasn't going down that bloody hole', in his shrill Geordie accent! AT Rae, had nearly got himself drowned after catching his belt going through a water filled hole, so in all, a good caving experience. On the Saturday we were given a free day where about 20 or so members of both Troops went paint balling. With Cpl White and Cpl Harmer were in charge of the Scott Tp Team and Cpl Barker in charge of the Rawson Tp Team. Scott Tp was confident of a win. Cpl Barker got himself 'killed' within minutes of each game so Scott Tp strolled along to success. Cpl White's SAS tactics and Cpl Harmer's madness, we blitzed them in almost every game. Then that night came the ultimate embarrassment, DRESSING UP! Most members of the two Troops made a good effort although the amount of males, ATs Iddon, Roberts, Reverly and Lancaster to name a few, dressing up as females was rather distressing! There were a lot dressed as Father Christmas and also one Rudolph! AT Ross, of Rawson Tp, beat the males with his chimney sweep costume, and AT McDonald, of Scott Tp, was top female as a 70's hippie. This was the end of a great EL experience, but unfortunately we had something to look forward to, arriving back at the ATFC!

14th SIGNAL REGIMENT (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)

CO Lt Col N. J. Borrill
RSM WO1 Palmer

226 SIGNAL SQUADRON (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)
Sqn Comd Maj Jonathan Gillespie
Sqn SSM WO2 (SSM) Dave Watson

The Squadron has been relatively busy over the past couple of months. Main events have included the visit of HRH Prince Philip, Spearhead personnel being on and off the bus (ultimately off!) to various unheard of locations around the world and the deployment of several LO teams as part of Op Peninsula, helping to combat the Foot and Mouth crisis. Our commitment to Op Silk is ongoing with WO2 Denver Owens and Sig Langhorne continuing to maintain a strong 226 Sqn presence on the EW Detachment. WO1 Mick Jones and SSgt Al Grundy (Int Corps) have also been busy running training in Sierra Leone.

SQUADRON HEADQUARTER'S TROOP
Tp Comd WO2 Amies
Tp Sgt Sgt Gemmel

The Troop would like to give a big welcome to Sgt Archie Gemmel, his wife and their two children who join us from Blandford. Sgt Gemmel is well remembered by the OC from their days in Celle where the Regiment used to be based. The only departure from the Troop is Capt Liz Warhurst who has been posted to 263 (Harrogate) Signal Squadron at the Army Technical Foundation College in Aborfield. We wish her all the best in her new job as 2IC Squadron. Meanwhile Capt 'Rich' Quinsey has made a side ways move from 640 Sig Tp (EW) to take over the reigns as Squadron 2IC. Congratulations to WO1 Mick Jones on his selection for commissioning, they'll take anyone these days you know (only joking)! He can now look forward to a twelve month tour of the Falklands with his wife Helen and family.

EXERCISE DRAGONS WINTER ADVENTURE

Early evening on 21 February the mighty SHQ Tp, 226 Sig Sqn (Electronic Warfare), commenced on an epic 18-hour drive up north, heading to Scotland for Ex Dragons Winter Advenure.

One week of adventure training consisting of downhill skiing, trying to find the abominable Frank'. The whole week was well organised by SSgt (now SQMS) Sorley. Everyone eventually learned how to ski, even Cpl Vicky Austin, albeit with many hours of tuition from Cpl Heath Stringer, whose mission was to 'splat' as many kids as possible. The rest of the crew comprised of Cpl Pete Byrne, consistently maintaining the fact that he used to be able to ski, Cpl Dave Brumfeld (i/c posing), LCpl Lee Manton, LCpl 'Trec' Trearty, Sig Liam Cade, Sig Clive Clayton, Sig Jonah Jones and Sig Lloyd, who pretended never to have skied before. Get the beers in lads!

Pte Williams and LCpl Manton enjoying the sunny slopes of Aviemore

The week was a huge success and a deserved break that came to an end with Pte 'Will' Williams not wanting to come home and heading back towards Edinburgh from Carlisle, to get to Wales!? Potential candidate for the Pathfinders, we think not!

640 SIGNAL TROOP (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)
Tp Comd Capt Richard Quinsey
Tp SSgt SSgt Eric Head

Another busy period for the Troop, especially with regards to comings and goings of personnel. A big hello to Sigs Donnelly, Hargate, Mooney and Coppack, all fresh from the factory. Greetings also to SSgt Andy Davies who has made the long distance trek from 237 Sig Sqn (EW), which is in some place called Brawdy! Welcome back to SSgt Dave Scanlan who simply cannot get enough of that Sierra Leone nightlife. Tearful farewells to Sgt Chris Dunn and LCpl Sarah Burton who have moved to the dark side aka Romeo Tp, Cpl Glenn Roberts and Cpl Chas Caley who are both off to 11 EOD and a hurry on back to SSgt Kit

Clements, currently deployed on Op Agricola. January saw the Troop travel to tropical Templeton on Ex Whale Herd. The exercise was aimed at introducing the Troop's new vehicles and equipment to the relatively inexperienced personnel so that we are able to accomplish our role within 16 Air Asslt Bde and MND(C). Special mention goes to Sig Dave Stevens on his navigation skills and Sig Adam Welton who successfully found and nearly overcame Sgt Si Green who was doing a very good impression of a gorse bush until a land rover went over it. On a sadder note, as a result of the Foot and Mouth crisis, there is absolutely no way out of the Brawdy triangle. There is always next year!

ROMEO TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Jones
Tp SSgt SSgt Murray

It has been a quiet couple of months in the Troop. Lots of arrivals and only one departure, recruiting is on the up! We would like to welcome Cpl 'Richie' Canale, who joins us from 11 EOD and Sigs Danny Suggett, Alex Webb and most recently Dave Ward, all straight from the factory. A big goodbye and good luck to Cpl Edwards who has been posted to 4 Armd Bde. The major event within the Troop was the visit of HRH Prince Philip. This brought about all the normal activities associated with such an event, but on the day it all came together and will be remembered by everyone involved. All planned exercises have had to be put on hold as a result of Op Peninsula and the on-going foot and mouth crisis. Fortunately though the wonderful Welsh weather is keeping our morale sky high, roll on the summer!

237 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj D. Drinkall
Sqn SSM SSM T. Frost

A very busy period for the Squadron with the majority of the Squadron in Kosovo and many more tied up supporting Op Slubber/Peninsula across Wales. The remaining soldiers have come together into a single Rear Troop. Recent news from the Squadron include a baby for Sig Thompson, a marriage for Sig Neale, a posting to Australia for WO2 Watters and a posting to Oman for YofS Thomas. SSM Frost is soon to be posted to 2 Sig Regt as RSM, the Squadron is sure that 2 Sigs will appreciate his soft spoken non-confrontational attitude. Also recently in reciept of a child is Sig Ryan Parker, the Squadron wishes the mother and Ryan their best wishes.

SQUADRON BOXING TEAM

The Squadron side, led by Lt Eddie 'Rockie' Maskell-Pedersen, did the Squadron proud on the evening of the Regimental Boxing night, by being unbeaten in the Ring. Sig Flook and Cpl Campbell, who was forced to drop out of the competition due to a knee injury, much to the relief of his potential opponent, coached the Team. Lt M-P won both his bouts in good style, being the only fighter to fight twice on the night. LCpl Biggs Hancock was the other Squadron fighter and towered over his opponent, who withdrew from the ring with a leg injury. With two wins under his belt Lt M-P was the obvious choice for the best boxer and carried away the trophy for best boxer in front of an enthusiastic group of 237 Sqn supporters.

EXERCISE FINAL FLING I

Early morning on 10 February, hailed the start of another Monday morning. On this particular Monday morning Ex Foxes Fling was due to start and the participants boarded the bus for the short trip to the exercise location. Continuing the Sqn OC's policy to improve the driving skills of the Squadron, Ex Foxes Fling was a serious experiment to test each member of the Squadron and to find out who was in fact the best driver. The bus pulled up at BP Karting at approx 1100hrs. On arriving and various safety briefings, overalls and helmets were donned ready for the ensuing battles. Each member got the customary four-lap practice and we were then onto the first of 23 four-lap heats.

As the day progressed there became a clear picture that some people were in urgent need of help. The most obvious of these being LCpl 'Biggsey' Hancock, who was voted the worst driver of the day, managing to get the slowest lap time of the day, and creaming into every corner and consistently finishing in last place. Meanwhile the fight for first place was hotting up. The main contenders were Sig Ryan 'Featherweight' Parker, Cpl 'Spick - Skinny' Lane and LCpl 'Baz - Village' Green. At the end the not so surprising victor was our very own IC Sqn MT, Sgt Brett ' I do this for a living' Newton. Fortunately the only casualties of the day were the carts themselves, far from squaddie proof and having to sustain the not insubstantial weight from the likes of LCpl Pete 'Tinky' Nex and LCpl Biggs 'these things are designed for children' Hancock. They were subject to savage abuse from drivers including, but not limited to, Sig Jim 'What does that flag mean?' Bradford and Capt Mark 'I'll get you next time' Davis.

SIB are still investigating allegations of match fixing by Sgt 'Taff - Bet you can't knock the 2IC off the track' Willumsen and grotesque speeding by Sig Russ 'Lambretta' Mowatt. A very worth while day in which all personnel learnt a great deal, none of which they are allowed to apply to Army vehicles.

THE ROYAL SCHOOL OF SIGNALS

VISIT BY MAYOR OF BEVERLEY TO ROYAL SCHOOL OF SIGNALS, BLANDFORD

His Worship The Mayor of Beverley, Cllr Neville Holgate, accompanied by Mace Bearer, Mr Ken Loft and members of the Beverley Ex-Boys Association recently visited the Royal School of Signals, Blandford in Dorset. The aim of the visit was to see the soldiers' new accommodation building named after the town of Beverley. This naming commemorates the five years spent at Beverley by 6 (Boys) Training Regiment, Royal Signals in the early 50s. The day started with the Mayor and BEBA members meeting the Commanding Officer of 11 Signals Regiment and exchanging plaques, and this was followed by a visit to the Warrant Officers and Sergeants' Mess for coffee with the Regimental Sergeant Major. Once again a Beverley plaque was presented to the Mess and the RSM presented the Mayor with a miniature Dress Sword. Following a trip to the Instructional Wing and to the Corps Museum, the party moved on to the Beverley accommodation block, where Sig Graham McEwan, a new recruit from Bridlington, was introduced to the Mayor, and a tour was made of the building. The visit was a huge success, and the Beverley Ex-Boys Association is very grateful to the Mayor, 11 Signals Regiment and all others who contributed to the occasion. The photograph shows His Worship The Mayor, The Mace Bearer, and Sig Graham McEwan at the entrance to the Beverley Building.

TRAINING OPERATIONS DIVISION
AREA SYSTEMS GROUP
OC Maj Grant Hume
SSM WO2 Neil Roome

The group comes under the command of Maj Grant Hume. In fact since the last entry most of the hierarchy has changed so welcome to anyone new! The group has had numerous visits over the last six months, keeping the 2IC busy if nothing else. A number of external visits have also taken place, including a trip to the French School of Signals, ESAT, Rennes by the OC, WO2 (YofS) Paul Ruddock and WO2 (YofS) 'Chalkie' White. The Group HQ says goodbye to SSgt 'How many hats' Brand and WO2 (FofS) Riglar as they progress to pastures new. Congratulations to WO1 (FofS) 'Football Guru' Rutherford on selection for commission – now you have to join us in the cheap seats of the Officers' Mess, never mind. Finally, these notes would not be complete without a word to say farewell to Sig 'No I'm not an officer' Crossley as he leaves the Army on his 22 year point. All the best, enjoy the party and let us know how you get on.

BATTLEAXE TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Phil Day MBE

The past six months have been extremely busy within the Troop with lots of comings and goings. Welcomes to Sgt Dear from Wet and Miserable Cyprus (or is it the other way round), Sgt 'Scouse' Creevey from Sysex, Sgt Andy Lockie from TM Tp, Sgt Andy Smith from 19 Mech Bde, Sgt Yvonne Jones from PMB and LCpl Emma O'Neill from 21 Sig Regt. Farewells to Sgt 'Ski' Nowosielski off to 280 Sig Sqn, Sgt Dave Potts off to Naples!!! Sgt Jackie Simpson off to Special Recruitment in Birmingham, Sgt Mark Tench off to the flood capital of the North, 2 Sig Regt in York and LCpl 'Aggy' Agnew off to 30 Sig Regt. Also congratulations and farewell to, soon to be, SSgt Dave Moore to Northern Ireland and, soon to be WO2 (FofS) Karl Scaife off to 1 Mech Brigade. SSgt Tol will be leaving us in July and taking up his new post of WO2 SSM 250 Gurkha Sig Sqn. Also worthy of note is that SSgt Krishna has been given a third extension to his service, which now makes him the most senior Staff Sergeant in the QG SIGNALS. As well as all the new stuff the trainees are still coming through and making our lives worth living. On a sporting front Sgt Lisa Openshaw is being presented with Regimental colours for her cross-country exploits whilst WO2 (FofS) Steve Davis is busy with his marathon running and his shore fishing competitions, he even managed to win a Trophy for the years Heaviest Cod! Finally the Radio Relay section has some good news of their own. Firstly Sgt Steve Pengelly has been crowned the Army Open Doubles Badminton Champion, AGAIN, and congratulations go to Sgt Ash Doe and his wife, Cpl Christine Doe, on the birth of their son Thomas Arthur. Let's not forget to welcome Fenton Wright on his arrival in the Section.

'Men of Steel ' — or is that the gentlemen in the background?!!! (L-R): Sgts Gaz Eastlake, Mark Yuill, Scouse Creevy, Ash Doe, Max Wright, Mark Tench, Steve Pengelly

'SAY PANTS TO POVERTY' - by Sgt Yvonne Jones

On 16 March 2001 members of staff, military and civilian made themselves the laughing stock of Catterick building in Blandford. Seven individuals participated in 'say pants to poverty'. The aim was to raise money for Comic Relief by wearing pants outside the uniforms. The individuals Capt (Tfc) Day, WO2 (FofS) Davis, Sgt Yvonne Jones, Sgt Mary Hessel, Sgt Ian Davis and Mr Ray Sharp endured the constant giggles and blushes of the SUTs, upgraders and course personnel, as we carried out our normal duties of the day. These included standing in front of a class teaching and in the bosses' case processing six monthly interviews (could the troops keep a straight face!) Capt Day (OC Battleaxe Troop) paraded his silk boxer shorts to the Troop, obviously paid far too much money. Whilst FofS Davis destroyed his stud image by wearing 'Y' fronts that Homer Simpson would have been happy with. Me, I stuck to issue WRAC knickers, which dashed a few people's dreams. Thanks go to The Satcom section who gave 100% to the cause with Sgts Hessel and Davis wearing pants that conjured up a very different picture than their personalities give. At 1430hrs we all met up in the foyer for a photo and were joined by Lt Col Batho (Chief Instructor) in his boxer shorts (Bart Simpson) I might add, and a tray of money which he had collected from the guys and girls upstairs. Thanks also go to Sgts Skidmore (soon to be SSgt), Sgt Meredith and SSgt Tipple for the additional contributions made from their departments, all of which were greatly appreciated. In total we raised £196 without any physical endurance. Thanks go to all particiPANTS and people who contributed to such a worthy cause.

SATCOM SECTION VISIT TO THE IMPERIAL WAR MUSEUM
by Sgt Ian Davis

Recently the Satcom Section, Sgt Dave Davis and Sgt Mary Hessell, took ten soldiers from Kohima Troop, 11 Sig Regt to the Imperial War Museum in London. The journey was a nightmare - negotiating London in a MT Minibus was not fun. For the Kohima Tp guys, the visit was a day out and an opportunity to see what the generations before them had experienced. The Trench Experience was visited by most, which is a life size reproduction of a real trench, even including the smells. It makes you realise that army life these days isn't quite so bad after all. The main purpose of the visit for the Satcom Section was to see the new Holocaust exhibition. Neither of us can say that we enjoyed the exhibition, but it was definitely an experience. The exhibition covers all aspects of the Holocaust, from the mid-1930s to the end of the Second World War. It is frightening to think that history seems to be repeating itself in certain parts of the world.

KUKRI TROOP
Tp Comd WO2 Paul (YofS) Ruddock
SSgt SSgt Mick Openshaw

ESAT VISIT

As part of the ongoing liaison between the Royal School of Signals (RSS) and the French Army equivalent, Ecole Superieure Et D'Application Des Transmissions (ESAT) at Rennes, a visit was programmed over the period 27 February – 2 March 2001. The party included Lt Col Malnuit (French liaison Officer based at RSS), Maj Coleman (OC CISM Gp), Maj Hume (OC AS Gp), Capt Boyne (Comd Gp), Capt Sutherland (RS Gp), WO2 (YofS) Ruddock and SSgt (YofS) White (AS Gp). The aim of the visit was to learn about French equipment, techniques and instructional methods. The two Yeomen though they were involved to provide the technical knowledge, however, it soon became apparent that the officers needed two OR's to drive. As usual the MOD spared no expense for the visit. So, having set off from Blandford in a hired minibus, we arrived at Poole ready for the (cheap) overnight crossing to Cherbourg. From Cherbourg we drove for three hours to Rennes. Over the next two days we received presentations and demonstrations on various aspects of training covering Area Systems, Radio systems, Satellite and C2W. Unlike the RSS, the French only train senior NCO's and officers at ESAT, all junior rank training is conducted in units. In the evening on the first day the British party were treated to a meal (and the odd drink) at a traditional creperie by the ESAT instructors and Lt Col Croft R SIGNALS the British LO based at Rennes. Overall, the visit was a great success and we were particularly well hosted by ESAT personnel.

SYTEMS EXERCISE TROOP
Tp Comd WO1 (FofS) Docherty

This has been a busy time for the Troop with the usual back to back command courses combined with the operator and technician courses. We have said a lot of sad farewells from the Troop. Leavers are Sgt Ritchie 'We still have our copy of the photo' Morgan, Sgt 'Mad Mick' Heathcote, Sgt Lee 'I'll sort it out later trust me' Ford, Cpl Rob 'Old Man' Burns, Cpl 'I am sure I have uniform somewhere' Hannon, Cpl 'Si' Stuart and Cpl Jules 'I am sure there still a sport I have not done' Portlock. The Troop says hello to the new players Sgt Ian 'Shifty' Rutland, Cpl Jimmy 'Mad Jock' Frew, Cpl 'Hartley' Hare, Cpl Leigh Necrews, Cpl Ritchie Savage, LCpl Jenkins, LCpl Masters, LCpl Steve Vose, and special welcome to the Troop cake maker LCpl Jayne Robinson. The Troop are indebted to the RSE section who, on one of our rare days off this year, organised a very interesting day out to Bovington Tank Museum. This was followed up by an inter-section bowling competition, which was won by the Radio Relay (Gods children) section. The Troop would like to say a special farewell to LCpl Suryabahadur 'Zig' Thapa who is leaving the army at the end of his service, taking long leave in Brunei first. We wish him luck 'down on the farm' back in Nepal.

COMBAT SUPPORT TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Krishna Bahadur Gurung

It is with sadness that we have to announce that God's chosen tradesman, the TeleMech has now officially ceased to exist and instructors within Cable Systems Section are now busy training and moulding the Installation Technician to take it's place. Now officially recognised as a full member of the Technician trade group it is hoped that pay 2010 will redress the oversight of its predecessor. A fond farewell also to the Lineman trade that is no more, we have had to counsel and console our six linemen in the George III bar on a number of occasions. It is said that the line team had a limited time left in CSS as they have been confirmed as the source of the latest 'foot in mouth' disease. CSS would like to say hello to Sgt 'Taff' Lougher and his 'iblinks' who arrived from 39 Inf Bde, Sgt 'Tosh' Pope from 3 Inf Bde, Sgt 'Yorkie' Sowden from 642 Sig Tp (currently trading his slipper for combat boots), Sgt Gaz 'I wont be stopping here too long' Sinclair from 1 Div and finally LCpl 'Pecks' Ramsden. We wish a fond farewell to Sgt 'Bing' Crosby who is posted on promotion to 16 SR. SSgt Crosby will quickly undertake an operational tour of Tenerife and Kosovo. Also leaving are Sgt Trev Croxon who is going on to do green stuff for the TA deployment and Cpl 'Windy' Miller leaving for life on the other side of the fence. CSS has also seen the departure of members of its civilian instructor contingent and best wishes go to Les Collins, Martin Jessett and Richard Taylor who will leave us in a state of calmness and serenity. Finally, congratulations go to Sgt 'Fudge' MacPhee, deputy chief fairy who has been selected for promotion and posting to 16 SR, his wings will be passed to Sgt 'Yorkie' Sowden.

BACK TO SCHOOL

CSS have been busy involved in a voluntary project to assist St Leonards School in Blandford with a large project to enhance the IT facilities throughout the classrooms. The initial start of involvement was in December 2000 when SSgt Paul Gorman was approached to design the Network expansion. Once the school had procured all of the equipment CSS were able to gather a volunteer team who worked in the evenings and weekends headed by Sgt 'Tosh' Pope. Given that structured Wiring is the latest cabling technology employed within the Installation Technician trade environment, it is down to the commitment of the Line staff (Cpl 'Goose' Newman, Cpl 'Windy' Miller and LCpl 'Pecks' Ransden) that the project has progressed to its current stage. The entire project is now in its final stages and barring any further visits from the Dorset Police to find out who has set off the alarms when the school is closed (a difficult one to explain away with a handful of computer equipment), we should be finished in time for next term. The expansion along with the increased bandwidth availability should assist the school in meeting the government targets for IT in education.

TC 49 EXERCISE MOGUL DRAGON

The Officers of Troop Commanders Course No 49 awoke on the morning of Saturday the Third of February, to begin our journey to Austria for a week's adventurous training in the mountains. The course members were required to plan and organise the expedition as an integral part of their training.

You would have thought that with the knowledge that Radio Group was now behind us and the slopes of Austria were beckoning that we might have shown some enthusiasm to be up and on our way – not a chance. In true Army fashion, despite a three-hour journey, we made it to Stansted Airport three hours early! At the happy hour of 0630hrs we attempted what was to become the seemingly impossible task of getting to Austria. The check in girls, impaired by the early hours no doubt, were not on top form. After booking in about half of our kit, they decided that the weather was too bad in Munich – our intended destination – for any flights to leave; so, they recalled all the baggage and booked us onto flights to Frankfurt. But wait, alas there are now no flights at all to Europe due to bad weather! After a further hour and much discussion, pleading and downright begging by the expedition organiser 2Lt Laura Clark, we were once again booked onto a flight that now existed to Frankfurt (very freak weather conditions in Europe!) Third time lucky, we made it to the departure lounge but as we began to board, (after the final boarding call had been made) it transpired that 2Lt Steve Davis had, amongst the confusion, not been booked on to the flight. The difficult (?) decision was made to leave him! However, in his usual style, he chatted the airhostess up and made it onto the flight. Once we landed in Frankfurt we faced a nine hour train journey with five changes (would 2Lt Davis make it?) in order to meet up with Capts Stu Boyne and Paul Merry. The intrepid pair had been ordered at the last minute to go on an exchange adventure training exercise with the French Army the previous week; again, in arduous mountain terrain. Eventually at 0200hrs the expedition made it to our humble accommodation in Zell-am-Zee, Austria. Not much was said except to acknowledge breakfast timings of 0900hrs before all personnel crawled to their much longed-for beds!

The first morning was spent admiring the amazing mountains, detailing of groups and hiring out of kit. The expedition was lucky enough to have four ski instructors meaning that all abilities had an instructor to help them improve. The four groups then spent the afternoon either learning on the nursery slopes (how embarrassing!) or improving on various runs around the pistes. The afternoon was finished with a bit of après ski before returning to the chalet in the evening

Days Two and Three were spent higher up in the resort for all groups, with everyone agreeing that their skiing had come on brilliantly. An introduction to snowboarding package had Capt Stu Boyne, 2Lt Ben Norton and 2Lt Steve Davis having a 'radical' time bouncing around the slopes and creating their own jump off the side of a mountain – purely for the purpose of showing off! The most improved award for these days went to 2Lt Ben Psaila who no longer posed a threat to other skiers due to his natural kamikaze approach to skiing. It was also around this time that the den of inequity that is 'Crazy Daisy's' was visited. The Troop Commanders being as refined and well behaved as they are, had a couple of quiet cokes in this establishment before returning for an early night at the chalet. (Well, that's our story!)

(L-R): Capt Jim Boyle, 2Lts Ailsa Labran, Pete Jones, Karen Moore, Adam Clowes, Bridie Henderson, Jim Barber, Ben Psaila, Laura Clark, Paul Merry

By the end of day four it was decided that the snow was becoming too thin (due to very warm temperatures – how awful for us). Therefore on day five and six, the group ventured out to Kaprun to ski on the Kitzsteinhorn glacier. The snow here was so much better and everyone found that their skiing improved and we all definitely had more fun. (Faster more cooperative snow you see!) The last days' skiing was spent in a snow-storm, but this couldn't put off the talent on snow that was Troop Commanders Course No 49. (Budding James Bond stunt doubles actually!)

(L-R): 2Lts Adam Clowes, Bridie Henderson, Ben Norton, Cath Jardine, Steve Davis, Pete Jones, Ben Psaila

The journey back to Blandford was just as depressing as the outward journey, taking almost as long. However, we chose not to take the scenic route and went direct from Munich instead. Many thanks must go to our external instructors, Gareth Pope and SSgt Cal Bruce without whom the expedition would never have been as successful. Thanks also to Capt Jim Boyle and 2Lt Alisa Labram for sharing their expertise and finally to Capt Stu Boyne and 2Lt Laura Clark for all of their hard work to make the expedition happen. All involved have taken some superb memories away with them and more importantly are now inspired to organise adventurous training for the troops back at their parent Regiments – you know who you are – BEWARE!

(L-R); 2Lts Adam Clowes, Cath Jardine, Karen Moore, Vanessa Galloway

EXERCISE GRAND PRIX 01/01 POST EXERCISE REFLECTIONS - by Padre Roy Hemmings

Introduction: There I was quietly preparing for Christmas when the DACG for 43 (Wx) Bde phones up looking for someone to go to Kenya in January/February. Well good experience for Padre David Moss I think, lucky old thing not long back from `Long Look' and here he is off to Africa. `Well actually we meant that perhaps you might go'. So the surprise I thought I was being asked to deliver to David was all mine. Well, quick word with the family, the usual flattering comments about doing without me for a few weeks,., and general agreement that it was too good an opportunity to miss. Not that I think the 'they' who were `looking for someone to go' were actually engaging in an exercise in `family democracy'. Now since I had only barely dipped my little toe into the African continent before, and that only if you count a quick 36 hour R&.R package to Cairo and the pyramids after an Ex. Lion Sun, I began to see Kenya as both an exciting adventure and an educational opportunity. So I had last worked directly with infantry 8 years ago, and never directly with artillery, but perhaps the IRRF Battle Group wouldn't notice a little rust around the chaplain's gills, and at any rate aren't we all saying now that we have to be more adaptable and mobile. Well you'll have to ask 1RRF if they noticed, but I can furbish my more serious reflections on the adventure and experience that was my January I February in Kenya.

Basic Chaplaincy Cove - Sunday Services: A brief chat with the 1 RRF chaplain gave me an overview of what to expect, and the advice that instead of poorly attended services in the canteen I might like to follow his example and link in with the local Anglican Church across the golf course. I took a more ecumenical view - (although 1 offered a service in the canteen on the first Sunday in Nanyuki I had no fellow worshipers though I had earlier ventured across the golf course with a couple of chefs in tow whom I had left after 90 minutes still involved in the service at St George's) - and preached by invitation at the local Presbyterian Church, attended the Roman Catholic Mass of Father Carlo, as well as preaching and celebrating the eucharist at St George's. It was quite a humbling experience to celebrate communion amongst the staff and mostly geriatric patients in the local hospital, a reminder of times gone by when my flock was not so young.

Memorials: I had two requests for memorial services whilst on exercise, the first from the Royal Engineers' Troop Comd and the second from OC `X' Coy 1RRF. The Engineers' service took place outside the classroom built at the Nanuyki Children's Home in memory of Sapper Stuart Clarke, killed in a road traffic accident in 1999. The 1RRF service took place immediately on the Company's return to Nanyuki from Dol Dol company exercise area at the military grave of Fusilier Munster, killed in 1956 in the Mau Mau rebellion.

Visits: The usual round of visits to each location to see each company began with a quick visit with the CO and BGSM to Mpala Farm ranges and the RHA Battery at Ol Pejeta: a first view of giraffe, baboons and zebra; and first awareness of the heat, hills and thorns that would face the infanteers on their company live firing phase. Other visits, some overnight, would follow at Lewa Downs (company acclimatisation) with an excellent chance to get closer to the animals (I do mean elephant, rhino, giraffe, zebra, warthog, and ostrich - and am not making a comment about the level of exercise aggression being shown), Dol Dal, Mpala, and for adventure training to Navasha, as well as to Archers' Post for the final exercise (at 40+ degrees and only comfortable by 11pm, quite hot enough for me,not to mention the soldiers who had to stay longer and mount attacks).

Welfare: Fortunately we had no major dramas or tragedies during the exercise, the Regiment was well aware of the commitments they had already fulfilled in 2000, and they had an impending move to Celle. The inevitable home-based compassionate cases were dealt with in the normal way, and the exercise was sensibly adapted to the conditions. The final exercise inevitably led to some cases of heat exhaustion, though the medical cover was on hand and very few cases had to be hospitalised. Of the few that were, several were down to the inevitable stomach upsets/viruses picked up in new and foreign locations. Welfare as with illness and injury is one of those areas where success is measured by less activity. Notwithstanding the complaints that come from cumulative days away from home, and mid-exercise blues, this exercise was thankfully relatively trouble free.

ITDII-Moral Understanding: It was good to be asked by `E' Battery of 1 RHA and the 1 RRF Mortar Platoon to talk to them on the ITD 11. The 'downtime' inevitably created, when they were at their range phase at Mpala Farm provided the ideal opportunity for discussions in the bush. A discussion exercise on the need for a moral code and some of the choices facing us as people led to lively debate even in the heat of Africa.

GS – 'Hearts And Minds': Perhaps this wouldn't usually warrant its own section, but as I said I viewed the exercise as an educational opportunity as well and since many of us have seen the importance of local community contact in modern operational areas I found on my return to an infantry exercise local contacts gained a higher significance. We were involved in distributing the clothes collected by 1 RRF, and chose quite intentionally to widen the choice of beneficiaries. There are always competing rivalries even for the receipt of 'aid', so we decided to give to the four locations where we were doing small projects. We still did some repair work and built a new porch at the Nanyuki Children's Home, which many of you will remember is near to the NSG camp. We also worked at the Laikipia Rehabilitation Centre far Street Children, Likii School that serves the nearby shanty town and the Kiranga Primary School at Ontulili a village just outside Nanyuki. Re-roofing and repairs were done by the domestic pioneer aided by the Padre, AGC det, and members of HQ Coy. The Engineers Troop as well as providing exercise support undertook very good and much appreciated work providing a covered cooking area as well as levelling and erecting posts for a football pitch at Kiranga School. They also repaired a river bridge on the way to Mount Kenya, graded roads for the ranchers, and built a much needed football pitch at Likii School to be used by Fr Carlo's 'Street Kids' Team. All in all the projects and clothes were much appreciated, as witnessed by the various 'thank you' dances that were performed by the schools. True we are primarily there to exercise, but as the QM of the LI suggested as they were taking over `perhaps some of our G5 projects could be better co-ordinated'. He's right I'm sure, and amongst our other duties chaplains with battle groups may well find time to help locally, and find it very rewarding and enlightening - I certainly have.

Educational Sponsorship: Through church and school contacts I became aware of the intense desire amongst even the poorest that their children should receive education. Since the state system ceased to offer free education at any level the need for sponsorship has increased. In discussions with the CO and others the overall benefit long-term of education to a developing nation like Kenya was a point where we obviously were in agreement. Although many of us as individuals probably already sponsor a child through education in the developing world, we did think that a closer link with Nanyuki children might prove worthwhile. As a result I have made contact with several local Christians including Franciscans involved in sponsorship through an organisation in the area. I hope to pursue this as a project, with the benefit of low overheads, direct personal contact, and a local link maintainable through chaplains and local churches between the army and Nanyuki (our training centre). The benefit of education is obvious, as is the benefit of such a personal pastoral link. Anyone interested in sponsoring the education of a local Nanuyki child, personally or as a church, regiment or garrison please contact me on e-mail: RyGHemmU&aol. com for more information.

Adventure training: Yes the padre did take the same time off as other members of HQ Coy. Two enjoyable days at Lake Navasha which included mountain biking through Longanot National Park and Hell's Gate, a walk down the Hell's Gate gorge to the hot springs and Masai village, and afternoon tea at Elsamere (the home of the Adamsons). Also I spent an enjoyable 24 hours with TA members of the permanent range team at Sweet Waters Safari Park in a tented camp by the river: yes more animals including a lioness looking for supper very close to the truck. A 24-hour camel safari with AAC, which included a night in a traditional Somali nomads' but with camel for supper, and on pancakes with honey for breakfast, concluded my adventure training package. The regimental package also included diving and sailing options at the coast, a strenuous high altitude climb up Mt Kenya and for a few enthusiasts an eight day expedition up Kilimanjaro. The Regiment had set out to provide adventure training for relaxation and to encourage interest in Kenya, and had subsidised all the activities. The companies rotated through, and all personnel were able to take advantage of a good package. The only blip possibly the ex-Korean War two-man tents provided by BATLSK at Navasha.

Conclusion: As I said in the introduction I saw my brief exercise with the RRF BG as an opportunity for adventure and education. I was not disappointed, and enjoyed it. Africa does get under the skin; and seeing wild animals in their natural habitat, albeit in game parks, hunting or grazing, not fed by humans and living natural lives, is impressive (Longleat just does not compare). I enjoyed the visits to other churches, and the African's style of worship. The Roman Catholic girls' choir and their liturgical style was very impressive. The Christian faith plays a very important role in Kenya, but they have the difficulty of many schismatic denominations (2,000+ are registered by the government) whose leaders are often motivated by financial gain. However, they also remain a tolerant people whose constitution places value upon freedom of religion. We must honour this and encourage both ecumenism within the church, and tolerance with other minority faiths, whilst ensuring that Christianity is properly taught. Yes the local's pressure selling attempts and outright begging can be irritating, but who can blame them? Every European is rich by their standards. Yes, they do have a serious 'AIDS' problem, a resultant orphan problem, and as a consequence a substance abuse and crime problem - especially amongst the street kids. No excuses, but nevertheless no Christian can fail to appreciate the need to help them. It is true that their attempts at democratic government need constant encouragement, and that we need to emphasise the need for free speech and a multi-party system. 'Laid back' they certainly are, hakuna matata - no problem, but they are moving forward and they are trying to help themselves. Yes, militarily Kenya provides excellent exercise areas, but more than that the Kenyans are our friends. We have a duty to encourage peace and democracy there, and to facilitate a fairer deal for their poor by encouraging more compassion. I certainly hope to keep in touch with some of my contacts over there, and hope to be in touch with some of you, my colleagues, to see if we can help more

11 SIGNAL REGIMENT
BLANDFORD SUPPORT SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Ray Patrickson
SSM WO2 Chris Naylor

There have been a number of changes in the Squadron since the last set of WIRE notes were submitted. Maj Ray Patrickson has taken over the hot seat from Maj Mick Pawlak, who has not managed to escape Blandford, but simply moved upstairs to take over as the 2IC 11 Signal Regiment. WO2 Chris Naylor has recently taken up the SSM post, replacing WO2 'Spike' Haynes, who has moved down the corridor to be SSM 2 Sqn. It would appear that there definitely is no escape from Blandford! Much to the relief of the Sqn 2IC, Capt Bob Stanton, WO2 Mark Brunning has taken up the LSL post of Unit Welfare Warrant Officer, where he will be working alongside the rapidly ageing Unit Welfare Officer (AKA Families Officer). Finally, SHQ has a new clerk, Miss Sheree Russell, replacing Miss Maxine Lloyd who has gone off to work as a holiday rep (Hi-de-Hi). Welcome and good luck to you all.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP
Tp Comd WO1 (FofS) C. N. Mackay

The Troop has been losing military personnel on a grand scale. Firstly, a fond farewell to Sgt `DJ` Lockie who has moved to Area Systems Group to teach Ptarmigan after failing to master Clansman. On the civilian front we congratulate Mrs Lynda Burn on her promotion and wish her all the best in her new job with DHE. We will miss her efficient work and volatile temper - honest! Farewell and bon voyage to Sig Knight and his family on departure to 3 (UK) Armd Div in Apr 01. Finally, good luck to Cpl `Shergar` Dobson who leaves for his T1 course. We wish him lots of luck especially when he has any contact with electricity. We welcome Sig `Dangerous` Davis on completion of his T3 course. Welcome also to our new R & I clerk Mr `Kipper` Fish who has come from the QM's to do some proper work. Also to Sig `Digital` Smith who arrived and departed all in the same month. We wish him good luck finishing his Class 3 course.

TROOP GO KARTING - by Cpl Mileham

As a leaving function for Cpl `Shergar` Dobson, an afternoon of Go Karting was organised. Teams of two were randomly drawn out of a hat as follows: Cpl Mileham/Mr Mower Sgt Eaves/Cpl Dobson
Cpl Whitmey/Mr Pounds WO1 (FofS) Mackay/Sig Smith
Mr Rick Tilley/Mr Del Arnott Cpl Shree on his own

Once the qualifying race was complete, it was clear the 1-hour race was going to be a close run event. Sgt `Keanu` Eaves and Cpl `Shergar` Dobson closely followed the East Anglian dream team of Mileham/Mower on the starting grid. Also in the running was Cpl `JR` Whitmey and the Troop's Michael Hutchings lookalike, Mr Ted Pounds (without the noose and lemon), WO1 (FofS) `Highway Code` Mackay and Sig `Digital` Smith, Mr Rickardo `Speed Meister` Tilley and Mr `Del Boy` Arnott and finally Cpl `Too short to see over the steering wheel` Shree. As the first ten minutes elapsed, the first driver changeover started with Mileham/Mower leading by a whisker. Unfortunately, Mr Mowers changeover from Zimmer frame to Go Kart was not as slick as planned. This was further compounded by his insistence on presenting a bus pass for inspection! This opened the way for Eaves/Dobson to take the lead. When Sgt Eaves took the reins on changeover it was clear that he meant business. (Sighs of relief went up thanking the heavens that he had just recently stopped moonlighting as a taxi driver. Only a few minor incidents happened during the hour-long race. Three black flags were produced - Sgt `Keanu` Eaves for having an overloaded vehicle, Cpl `Bomber` Mileham for taking the Foreman out of the game-plan, and finally one for WO1 (FofS) `Sunday Driver` Mackay for using Cpl Shree as a brake and managing to stall an automatic Kart! As the race continued, the Eaves/Dobson team used their weight advantage to pull away from the rest and took the chequered flag. An award ceremony afterwards gave a chance to receive liquid refreshment and to give the winning duo their trophy. A special achievement award (a large wooden spoon) was presented to Cpl Shree for last place. However, he had difficulty in prizing it off Mr `Black Widow` Tilley who is the normal recipient. A great time was had by all and it was an ideal way to say farewell to Cpl Dobson. Enjoy your T1!

5 DIV SKIING CHAMPIONSHIP - by Cpl Andy Mileham

The Regiment sent a four-man team to compete in the Divisional Skiing Championships. Capt Steve Jones lead a motley crew of Sgt Dave Uttley, Cpl Laurie Askin and Cpl Andy Mileham. The leisurely 24 hour drive to the French Alps did nothing to dampen the teams enthusiasm, and after three hours practise we went straight into the first race. As the initial seedings came out, Sgt `Muttley` Uttley headed the crazy gang, followed by Capt Jones, Cpl Askin and Cpl Mileham. As the races came and went the nearest we came to an avalanche was the descent in the ranking made by the novice of the team, Cpl Andy Mileham. However, gains were made by the rest of the team and their overall performance improved during the two weeks. Well done to Cpl Askin who finally managed to get away for a skiing competition at last, even though he is in the latter stages of resettlement. Also, well done to Cpl Mileham who survived some hideous collisions with only a broken nose. Finally, better luck next year to Sgt Uttley and Capt Jones who narrowly missed out on qualifying for the Army championships.

AMATEUR NATIONAL HUNT COURSE - by Cpl 'Andy' Dobson

The Army runs two horseracing events per year, both being held at Sandown. The races are organised under National Hunt rules but all riders must be serving personnel. This year 11 Sig Regt sent a soldier to the British Racing School Newmarket. The course was organised specifically for the Armed Forces with the aim of qualifying individuals to enter these races. The lucky soldier was Cpl `Andy` Dobson who has always had a close affiliation with the horseracing industry, as both his brother and cousin are Flat Jockeys. The course covered topics such as fitness, race position, style, safety, diet, and the rules and regulations pertinent to racing events. The course was an intense five days and involved riding every morning, with lectures, tuition and fitness assessments being carried out until late evening. Having completed the course Cpl Dobson is now undergoing further preparation and training with an aim of representing the Corps for the first time at the events held in 2002. Watch this space for further developments.

QUARTERMASTER DEPARTMENT
Quartermaster Lt Col Peter Whitehead

It's a long time since the Blandford Quartermaster Department news has appeared in print so, inevitably, much has changed since the last report. The appointment of Quartermaster has been handed over from Lt Col Mick Ledwards, leaving the army after 37 years of service, to Lt Col Peter Whitehead. Col Mick has achieved a great deal during his reign in Blandford and we wish him and Sue well for the future, which we believe does not yet involve true retirement! Congratulations are in order for WO2 (RQMS) Tony Barry, who has just been selected for promotion to WO1 and will be moving on to Corsham to take up post as GSM, as soon as a suitable replacement can be identified and despatched to Blandford. Congratulations are also due to Sgt Steve Newman who has just been selected for Staff Sergeant, his posting is already overdue and he is willing to be posted anywhere to escape the rigours of the MSA account! SSgt Mick Dullaghan will be left to soldier on with the ET and says he is looking forward to 'breaking in' the new RQMS (Whatever that means!). LCpls Karen Tarry and 'Geordie' Rees MBE are both continuing to carry out the ET SSgt's bidding, looking after Demands, Receipt Vouchers, Backloading, the Armoury – in fact, they do everything else! At present the Tech Stores are being ably managed by Acting Stores Officer Eric Tai BEM, a former RQMS in the Corps, until a permanent Stores Officer is appointed. The stores team are bearing up well under the strain of a famine of staff but the Civil Admin Office have assured us that reinforcements are on the way! WO2 (RQMS) Gaz Cole and his general team are still striving to keep up with the ever changing demands of maintaining Blandford Garrison and its environment in good order. The latest challenge to face Garrison SQMS, SSgt Nick Oldcroft, and his assistant, Senior Storekeeper Mark Tai, is the fitting out of yet another brand new soldiers accommodation building, built on the site of the dreaded Anson and Benbow blocks, both demolished during the last 12 months. Meanwhile, at the Blandford Accommodation Reception (it used to be called a Bedding Store!) SSgt (SQMS) Chris Hood and his team of building managers control the ever-changing population of soldiers that continually flood in and out of Blandford on basic, upgrading and military courses. Never has so much been QM'd by so few!

PROVOST SECTION - by Cpl Nicki Buckley

Just a few hellos and goodbyes from the Provost Section, Blandford Camp. First of all a big goodbye to Cpl Dom 'Homer' Cox, who has just completed his 22 years service with the Corps. To honour the occasion, the Squadron arranged a dining out for Dom, which took place in Humph Bahadur's Restaurant and was attended by the Commanding Officer 11 Signal Regiment, Lt Col Roddy Nicholson and the RSM, WO1 (RSM) Harry Kemp. The evening was a great success and was enjoyed by all who attended, although the heirarchy did politely decline an invitation by Cpls Nikki Buckley and Laura Shaw to continue the movement down at the local Blandford night spot! Cpl Cox was sent off in style and the event was also an ideal opportunity for the Squadron to say farewell to the unit Quartermaster, Lt Col Mick Ledwards, who is leaving the Corps after 37 years of distinguished service. A sad goodbye also to Sgt `Brummie` Perks, who has been the Garrison provost Sgt for the past two years and has done a 'brilliant job'. Who writes these WIRE notes? Seriously, 'Brummie' will be sorely missed and he can now rest his vocal chords as he takes up his new post as a recruiter at ACIO Brighton. Good luck to 'Brummie', Linda and family from us all. A big hello to SSgt 'Chalkie' Meek, the new Provost SNCO, who has joined us from 4 Squadron. and is raring to go (no respite for the Phase 2 trainees!). Finally, well done to LCpl Paul Kemp on passing his pre parachute course. Unfortunately, he has had to return to Blandford before continuation training has been completed, due to the Foot and Mouth outbreak (hope you get well soon Paul).

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

HARROGATE CUP
INTER-SQUADRON SWIMMING COMPETITION
by Sig Finnie (3 Sqn)

The evening of 21 March 2001 saw two bus loads of swimmers from Blandford, (and one volunteer who gave a correct answer to the 'sink or float' question), descend on Bovington Pool for the Harrogate Cup Swimming Competition. The evening produced an exciting and very close run competition with some outstanding performances from all three Squadrons. With only a limited opportunity to train beforehand, 3 (Harrogate) Squadron managed to provide tough opposition for the other squadrons. Sig Phillips swam outstandingly to win the Mens 50m freestyle, aerodynamically assisted by his wonder trunks. Sig 'Fish Boy' Lovell also won the 100m freestyle allegedly smashing the one minute barrier (is this physically possible?) and Sig Patterson produced an exciting finish to win in the finals of the Women's 50m freestyle. However, it was the Men's 50m Butterfly that provided the evening's moment of top entertainment. Sig McEwan (1 Sqn) stormed to an easy win with Sig Mason (3 Sqn) and Sig Dunno (2 Sqn) gaining impressive second and third places respectively, about a minute behind, but both showing true grit and determination having done much of the final length underwater! Despite 3 Sqn leading after the individual events, the Squadron were pipped at the post by 2 Sqn in the relays with the final scores as follows:

2 Sqn 44 pts
3 Sqn 42 pts
1 Sqn 40 pts

The Regimental 2IC, Maj Mick Pawlak congratulated Sgt McAlister APTC and his staff who organised an excellent event and all the competitors (especially the two male 'Butterfly specialists') who took part in a gruelling but enjoyable evening of sport. The following individuals represented 3 (Harrogate) Squadron:

MENS TEAM	WOMENS TEAM
Sig Clamp	Sig Finnie
Sig Lovell	Sig Hennis
Sig Phillips	Sig Patterson
Sig Marsh	Sig Rokavada
Sig McSween	Sig Anderson
Sig Cooke	Sig Worthington
Sig Mason	Sig Ingram
Sig Howarth	Sig Coonan
	Sig Lomax

1 SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj J. G. J. Howes CANADIAN SIGNALS
SSM WO2 A. J. Harriott

Lt Col Scantland CANADIAN SIGNALS visited the Squadron and more importantly the OC on 27 March 2001. The short visit by the senior Canadian Officer in this country involved briefings on the Squadrons responsibilities and meetings with cadre personalities. The visit went well and provided the OC with a reminder of home. The Squadron says goodbye to Capt Guy 'Scruffy' Bowdler (civilian) who will be missed by all, especially the badminton players amongst you. Congratulations must go out to SSgt Dave Bousfield who recently came off the Staff Sergeant to Warrant Officer's board and will take up his post in an office 20 metres away as SSM 3 Sqn on 7 May 2001.

KOHIMA TROOP
Tp Comd Capt P. Connor
Tp SSgt SSgt D. Bousfield

Life in Kohima Tp has maintained its usual hectic pace at the start of this year, with the Troop topping 200 SATTs throughout February. The restrictions imposed by Foot and Mouth have severely curbed our usual activities for employing the soldiers, as all adventurous and military training has been put on hold. Question: how do you keep 200 17-20 year olds constructively employed whilst maintaining their interest and spending no money when you are not allowed to step near anywhere resembling countryside? Step forward SSgt 'Last in, first out' McCulloch and his magical mystery tour of military museums of the South Coast. If it ever sailed, submerged, flew, rolled, fired, stabbed or sliced then Kohima Tp have been there and done that but didn't buy the T-shirt (due to monetary constraints).

Charity work seemed another fine way of keeping the lads busy, whilst this also has the added bonus of putting something back into the community and giving Blandford Camp a good name. We are working on two projects at the moment: Swanage Railway and Holton Lea Respite Home. I cannot say much about the Swanage Railway project as it is still in the planning phase, but hands on work is due to start in April. So by the time you read this we should have helped out and left our mark on a fine piece of Dorset's heritage, a very worthwhile and enjoyable project.

Holton Lea is a respite home for disabled people and their full time carers. It is set in 350 acres of beautiful Dorset countryside overlooking Poole Bay, and as long as we dip our boots and drive over disinfected hay we can work on the grounds without restrictions. There are lots of little projects going on in Holton Lea, ranging from building bird-hides to constructing wheelchair-paths around the grounds. The staff are delighted with our help and the soldiers find the work hard but enjoyable (unless it rains) as they can not only see the fruits of their labours accomplished, but can also see the benefit gained by those less fortunate than us.

TRIP TO GIBRALTAR 15 FEBRUARY - 19 FEBRUARY 2001

On a cold and frosty morning seven budding Technicians from 11 Signal Regiment set off on an attachment to Gibraltar organised by Kohima Tp. In the usual fashion the RAF were up to their tricks and the flight was delayed, but after a few hours wait we were off. The few days in Gibraltar involved a visit to the host Signal Troop so we could see what we would be doing if we were posted there (oh yeah, really!). The next day we wanted to see how the locals lived, so a trip around the town was called for. Never before has the town seen such a strange bunch of tourists, as T-shirts and silly hats were the order of the day. A trip around the rock, both inside and out, was also arranged. The walk to the top was very tiring, (even though we were in the back of the Land Rover). The monkey's thought they could get the better of us and Sig Chimp was attacked, but we all parted as good friends. This was followed by a look around the submarine in the harbour, which was very interesting. Sig Chimp even got his own tour guide… To end it all the RAF met our previous expectations and it took three days for us to get back to the UK. (Not that any of us were complaining, the more days in the sun the better!). Overall we all had a very enjoyable and informative time.

7 SATTS in the sun
(L-R): Sigs Gemson, Demwell, Grayhurst, Thompson, Budd, Holmes, Grindle

4 (MILITARY TRAINING) SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj K. A. Owen
SSM WO2 K. Read

4 (Mil Trg) Sqn continues onwards despite the ravages of Foot and Mouth. The Royal Signals SNCOs Course (new name for the Sergeants' Course) and the RSJCC have continued with the exception that all field training is now taking place within the confines of Blandford Garrison. Unfortunately the Leadership courses are all currently cancelled, as the demands of the course on external training areas cannot be replicated at Blandford. The new SNCOs course has been initially well received by the students. Its development follows on from the changes made to the RSJCC and the course programme now reflects more leadership and management modules. What 'no more coffin drill, it was not like that in my day' I hear all the die-hards cry – well things are even worse than that as the requirement for NO2 Dress has also been removed from the course! Course attendance levels are improving and the number of students failing the BCFT on Day 1 of the RSSC and RSJCC averaged only one per course, which is encouraging. It must be emphasised that this entrance test is conducted by the Garrison gym over a eight mile course in two hours and is no harder or easier than a 'normal' BCFT in any R SIGNALS Unit. This BCFT is included not for the sake of having a test for a test's sake but as the minimum level of fitness that a student requires to take part in the field and command phases of the courses. The TA team continue to turn out TA Recruits and Corporals in a succession of two week courses while the remainder of Mil Trg Tp churn out Phase 2 Recruits hoping that they leave at the end of the week retaining slightly more Military Knowledge than when they arrived. There are always posts for instructors within the Squadron, from Corporal to Staff Sergeant, and in all disciplines. The Squadron has instructors from most trade groups and includes female and Gurkha soldiers on the staff. If any potential instructor is keen to find out more about the job here, then they should ring WO2 Kev Read on Blandford Mil 2501.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

ROYAL SIGNALS SENIOR NCO'S COURSE
A STUDENT'S PERSPECTIVE
by Sgt Kev Heaton & Sgt Nicky Francis

On 18 February 2001, the Royal Signals Senior NCO's Course No 66 assembled and began with a brief introduction to Blandford Camp and its training areas via an eight mile CFT route. The course began with an easy-going pace commencing with command tasks and some notional Troop management exercises. Just about everyone was waiting for the sudden change in the DS, from good cop to bad cop. The expectation was that the course would be run in the same manner as the Detachment Commanders/Junior Commanders courses, but the bomb shells never dropped, and the course were treated as 'adults' (to a degree). The course was split down into three sections, which later fought for section competitions. One such competition was the Assault Course, which saw blood and sweat as Section 1 (airborne, SAS, Duty Bird and Ghurkha Section, (not that anyone thinks that the division of Sections was unfair,) just pipped Section 3 to the post. The competition also saw Section 3 loose a key player due to an injury to Sgt Pete Preece that no one wanted to clarify - say no more. The Burden Retrieval competition (a march and shoot but picking up HEAVY burdens on route) was again fought tooth and nail seeing Section 3 stride out to win. Other competitions were just as hard fought for, with the points totalling up to mean that Section 1 were the 'surprise' winners, Section 3 a credible second and Section 2 bringing up the rear. A memorable point on the course was during the Command Tasks, when Sections 2 and 3 battled head to head using rope tensioning systems and brute strength to overcome the usual electric fences and crocodile infested swamps. Section 2 managed to get slightly ahead in the race with 11 of the 12 members at the finish, whilst Section 3 had three finished. The outcome was that Section 3 still managed to win and thanks go to Sgt Dave 'Arnold Schwarzenegger' Potts of Section 2 who couldn't quite find the energy to pull himself all the way along the rope, but did manage to clear the water. The course was continually changed during the five weeks due to the current Foot and Mouth crisis, and thanks must go to all the DS because of all the hard work they put in to keep the course running smoothly. Lots of hard work obviously went on behind the scenes to keep the course afloat. We just hope that not too many complaints were received from the Married Quarters about the Battle of Pond Bottom!

OC San's comments: This article was produced by two students who have just completed the RSSC (formerly the Sergeants' Course) in its new format. It continues the series of articles about the courses run by the Squadron which have been written by the students themselves.

2 SQUADRON
WIN THE HARROGATE CUP SWIMMING (AGAIN)
by Sig Helen Stanyer

On Wednesday 21 March, Bovington Camp was the venue for the Inter Squadron Swimming Competition, a part of the Harrogate Cup. 2 Sqn had a strong team following the extensive (two visits) and wonderful training by Sig 'H' Stanyer and Sig 'Krissy' Rodway. There was however lots of moaning by the men (boys) saying they were getting physically abused in the pool, claiming their arms were falling off - however the girls seemed to be coping well enough.

Sig Jock McNab in the backstroke

Sig 'Spanish' Savory started us off in the 100m freestyle, and although it was under protest he did well and came Third, setting the tone and the men carried on to do us proud claiming an impressive number of points. The most credit must go to Sig Camiss, who was bullied into doing the 50m Butterfly, even though he had never swam it before in his life. He came in Second, which was brilliant, as he swallowed half the pool and swam vertically down the second length. He certainly got the atmosphere going and almost had Maj Tomkins (OC 2 Sqn) in the pool dragging him along. The girls were fantastic as they cleared the board, being beaten in only one race. The winners of the girls individual events were Sigs 'Krissy' Rodway, Cath Mitchinson, Becky Bosher and Sig 'Is the bar open yet' Stanyer.

The last race was supposed to be the chain of command race, which was mysteriously cancelled - who knows why? However, we have come to the conclusion that Cpl 'I'm desperate' Aitchison and WO1 'I still turn heads' Coffin, were convinced that the girls wouldn't be able to keep themselves under control when seeing them in a pair of skimpy Speedo's. A special thanks to all who took part for their hard work and enthusiasm and the organisers for making it happen. It was a real team effort for us to lift the Trophy and take the Squadron total to three wins in three Harrogate Cup competitions.

THE HARROGATE CUP NETBALL - by Sig Rankin

I had never played netball before so when I was volunteered I was rather surprised. The rest of the team hadn't played much either so I was not alone. Before the competition took place we had a few nights practice which improved our game considerably. One of the opposing teams had three players who represented 11 Signal Regiment at the sport, which obviously gave them an advantage. The first night of the competition went well, with Iron Tp scoring 13 – 7 against Ulster Tp, getting us into the semi-finals. On the second night, with our confidence soaring from the evening before, we played even better with Iron Tp scoring 10 – 7 against Kohima Tp. This endeavor got us into the final. After getting this far it was clear it was going to be a 2 Sqn final, and it was. The team members involved were Sig Bosher, Sig Dukes, Sig Houghton, Sig Rodway, Sig Lyon, Sig Douglas, Sig Withers, Sig Kelly, and myself. By this stage in the competition we were working well as a team, listening to each other and our skills had improved considerably, so I thought we were in with a good chance of winning. Unfortunately we lost to Beaufighter Tp our sister Tp 11 –7 in the final, but had a good game. The competition was a lot of fun and we had played well throughout the event. As an added bonus each of us received a runners up medal for our efforts. From a Squadron point of view the competition was a great success with both first and second place. Following on from the volleyball which the Squadron had already won we are well placed in the Harrogate Cup so far.

Beaufighter Troop winners of the Harrogate Cup Netball
Back Row (R-L): Uluivuya, Gros, Harrison, Sanders, Pheasey
Front Row (R-L): Reid, Westcorr, Edwards, Collins

VERTICAL LIMITS FOR GARRISON CHILDREN

During the half term school holiday period, the gymnasium staff carried out activities introducing Garrison children to some new and exciting pursuits. This consisted of indoor games of touch rugby and skills, co-ordination exercise and an introduction to rock climbing on both the gymnasium climbing wall and the huge climbing rock located outside. The children were a bit apprehensive at first, but very quickly gained the necessary confidence to take their bodies and minds to the limits. They all thoroughly enjoyed themselves with some of them requesting when was the next activity week? A very special thank you goes to WO2 QMSI Bob Whitaker APTC who organised the activities, Mr Jim McDougal the rock climbing instructor and WO1 Gary Waters who ably assisted.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

EXERCISE SOUTHERN TARTAN CHALLENGE
SAILING THE SOUTHERN OCEAN
TO SCALE SOUTH GEORGIAN PEAKS - by Capt Tania Noakes

The poster that I had initially seen in the Joint Services Mountain Training Centre Ballachulish Drill hall concerning Exercise Southern Tartan Challenge more than demanded a cursory glance. The exercise was to be a joint sailing and mountaineering adventure with the ultimate aim of placing a Service mountaineering team on the Sub Atlantic Island of South Georgia. A yacht would set sail from the United Kingdom in September 2000 down to South Georgia breaking the journey into legs and changing crews after each. The Leg from the Falklands to South Georgia and back would also embark a mountaineering party onto the island for a month as the yacht circumnavigated the island before regrouping and returning to the UK via the Falklands in a further series of crew changes. It is difficult to say when and where I first heard of South Georgia but at that stage I knew it to be one of the most remote and challenging mountaineering destinations the World over. It has attracted climbers of the highest repute some of who have succeeded and some have failed in their ambitions to scale the snow and ice clad peaks of the island's interior. As a keen mountaineer the opportunity for about a month in such a unique location seemed too good to be true. Reading further I learnt that the plan was for the team to sail to and from the island on a 50ft yacht hence encompassing another keen interest of mine, sailing. The Southern Ocean is justifiably renowned for its fierce storms, huge seas and profusion of treacherous icebergs. I simply couldn't imagine a more ambitious or challenging undertaking, or one that I wanted to be a part of more! That left me with two small problems, firstly how to convince the expedition Leader Maj Bill Bilous RE that he needed me on the team and second how to convince my unit to release me. In the end the fact that I was Royal Signals cap badged helped with both. The team needed a communications officer and I was soon identified as the lucky winner of that coveted post and my sympathetic Commanding Officer recognised the expedition as simply a chance in a lifetime and gave the go ahead for my release.

I have since spoken to Maj Bill Bilous the expedition Leader at length about what spurred him on to organise the expedition. Many years ago he read Sir Ernest Shackleton's book 'South' within which he recounts the disastrous yet miraculous events of the expedition he lead to the Antarctic with the aim of making the first crossing of the Antarctic continent. The expedition was a failure in that it did not achieve its aim. However, set against the background of the First World War and succeeding as it did in such feats of bravery, skill and strength. Shackletons story recounts how after their ship was crushed in pack ice they drifted on the pack for four months. After the pack ice began to break up he lead his men to Elephant Island, a barren rocky island at the tip of the Antarctic peninsular using the life-rafts that they had salvaged. From there he led a small party to sail in one of those life rafts to South Georgia across the Southern Ocean in all its winter fury. His party succeeded in landing on South Georgia's uninhabited South side with no hope of sailing round the island against wind and tide. The old Norwegian Whaling stations on the more sheltered north side of the island were their only hope of raising a rescue party and so they crossed that glacier bound with no equipment to speak of and little physical reserves after such a long and arduous ordeal. Shackleton and his party reached Stromness Whaling station and were hence able to raise a rescue party for their comrades on Elephant Island. It is a true story of such humanity and courage against the odds that I recommend anyone with an adventurous bent to read it. The fact that Shackleton and his men achieved what they did without the loss of a single life is further evidence of this man's great Leadership qualities. Maj Bilous had been understandably inspired by the truly adventurous nature of this story and also Shackletons recollections of 'a mountainous island fortress guarded by glaciers on all sides which reach down to the very shores of the Southern Ocean'. The plan was spawned shortly afterwards and together with the help of Maj Nigel Williams, another Royal Engineer, but this time with a passion for sailing, they brought the exercise to fruition. The majority of the preparations for the expedition had to be made in my own time, however, I am lucky to be in a job which keeps me in good physical shape anyway and allowed me time to pick up certain essential items of communications equipment. The expedition start date was fast approaching, every week the yacht, a civilian chartered high latitudes 50 called Ice Maiden sailed closer to the Falkland Islands where the South Georgia Leg crew would changeover with the crew from the previous leg. I checked and rechecked the communications aspects of the planning and checked and rechecked my own packing for the mountaineering phase. South Georgia simply isn't one of these locations where if you've forgotten something it doesn't matter. The team had to be completely self reliant including its own means of getting off the island (the yacht), its own satellite communications in duplicate and its own doctor. The amount of organisation that the Expedition Leader Maj Bill Bilous undertook and succeeded with is truly astounding and deserves every credit that can be given.

The day of the South Georgia legs departure from Brize Norton on 27 December soon arrived and for many it was the first meeting of the team. What I have often found to be the beauty of Service expeditions is that you can select a group of people who hardly know each other, throw them together in some fairly arduous circumstances, give them a common aim and they will not only succeed but they will often leave the best of friends. In this respect Service expeditions are excellent vehicles for demonstrating the power of teamwork and the necessity of facing up to and dealing with interpersonal issues. If two people have a problem with each other in the Southern Ocean or on the mountain they must resolve it and work together or they may put their own lives and others at risk. The Flight to the Falkland Islands via Ascension Island was uneventful enough and soon the team were pulling out all the stops in a effort to get the yacht ready for its gruelling passage to South Georgia. In that time the number of people that said that they thought we were mad for sailing 'down there' in 'that' grew daily. Although we might have harboured concerns when we took the yacht over, by the time we had finished in our preparations we all knew how ship shape Ice Maiden had become. The voyage down was supposed to be the easier sailing leg due to the fact that the prevailing winds and surface currents would be behind us. The reality proved otherwise. The first few days were good sailing, but beating to windward so quite energetic and I spent a good 36 hours feeling decidedly unwell. It leant extra credence to the Shackletonian quote 'Some of the men are over their sea-sickness and no longer want to die'. On our second day out from the Falklands we saw our first Icebergs, huge majestic snow covered plateaux and strangely carved pinnacles glowing turquoise in the sun. The radar was simply littered with them and we felt very relieved that the seas were so calm at that time. The third day was our first glimpse of southern ocean fury and a South West force 7 blew up against us slowing our progress considerably. Following that we had a day where the Ocean was like a glass mirror it was so still and the sun was so fierce we were all asking for extra sun-block, that day we passed the half-way mark to South Georgia, now just over 400 miles left! After such a marvellous day of sunshine we drove on into our first Force 8 again from the West and this time since we had passed the Antarctic convergence zone whipped up over seas as cold as 2 degrees centigrade. Even in our modern protective clothing our hands and feet were frozen and I was more deeply impressed than ever before with what Shackletons men must have lived through. Having said that with all the advances that man has made over the years the sailing wellington is simply the pre-historic of all adventure clothing. The idea of a thin shell of rubber being somehow insulating against Southern Ocean temperatures is quite clearly ludicrous and far too many times I lay in my bunk massaging my lifeless feet after a three hour night watch had sent them into hibernation. 'Roll on the mountain phase' I found myself thinking, along with every other mountaineer on the trip. That is not to say that the sail down to South Georgia didn't have moments of pure pleasure. Our first sight of the wandering Albatross was really something special, they are amazing birds as they silently glided on their huge wingspan over the waves behind the yacht in the evening light. One thing that really struck me was that even in the midst of a raging Force 8 storm the bird-life never left us. There were always Anarctic petrals, Albatrosses and gulls racing the waves or sheltering in the wind shadow of the yacht. However, when on the morning of the seventh day I woke from dreaming that I was in Hell only to find out that I was on watch again I knew my enjoyment of the sail down was wearing pretty thin. I was more than a little relieved to make landfall that evening and for the first time in a week enjoyed a full nights sleep without having to brace my body against the bunk to stop falling out of it. We made Landfall at King Edward Point, the only permanent settlement on the island. The military presence is also here, although by the end of March the hand-over to the British Antarctic Survey should be complete and the Military will withdraw from the Island. There was a great deal of construction work going on when we arrived and it was a relief to be on the rigid raiders with all our mountain gear ready for insertion onto the beaches below the Nordenskold Glacier. I have never started a mountaineering expedition before in immersion suits wading ashore in the shadow of a massive glacier. It was a surreal experience, to land not ten meters from several Elephant Seals who barely batted an eyelid at our presence. As soon as the rigid raiders turned tail and sped away from the beach the sheer size of the glacier became apparent. Huge parts of the ice face were calving away into the sea on a regular basis and the seashore was littered with ice debris. Myself and my climbing partner Captain Stuart Macdonald had delayed our insertion by a day from the rest of the team so as to ensure all the communications batteries were fully charged. This meant that we had the beach to ourselves in one of the remotest spots in the world. That afternoon we load carried of all our equipment and the Team's communications equipment up through the moraine onto the edge of the glacier. It was backbreaking work as were the subsequent days hauling sleds of gear up the glacier to base camp.

In total we spent three weeks on the island, climbed several new peaks, one of which was our primary target Mount Roots, which at 7483ft had been the highest remaining unclimbed peak on British Territory. I also took part in an attempt on a new route on Mount Paget, the unclimbed East Ridge. The team started out in superb weather and reached an altitude of 8500ft before severe weather forced a retreat. I personally learnt a great deal from that trip, perhaps more on a human level than on a technical one. The views from Pagets East Ridge were phenomenal. The Allardyce mountain range is the main spine of the island and we were climbing on its very edge with massive glaciers falling away to the Ocean at either side of us. The snow petral followed us up into the mountains too, and even at altitude were darting about the skies above our heads, it is apparently in these mountains that they make their nests. The weather was one of the things that struck every member of the mountaineering party most profoundly. It really is a place where you can experience four seasons in one day. I remember one evening going for a walk across the glacier by moonlight when the air was so cold my teeth hurt and the following morning our snow cave began to melt away in a thaw. The winds can come from nowhere, and go from complete calm to 100mph winds in a few hours. We would lie awake in our tents and listen to the roar of the wind approaching, it would build to a crescendo then suddenly strike the tent, grabbing it and shaking it with all its might. We called it the inter-city wind and it was as regular as clockwork.. When the pressure started to rise we would suddenly have the worst weather of the entire trip, and then when it fell again we would have perfect tranquil weather. The changeable nature of the weather meant not only the added danger of being caught out in an exposed position on the mountain but also several enforced snow-cave bound days which were terribly frustrating. After three weeks up in the mountains the team regrouped and headed back down the glacier to rendezvous with the yacht and find out about their adventures. We had pre-arranged a pick up date with them back on the beach many weeks ago. Returning to the beach, where the Elephant seals still loafed about and the glacier calved its ice at us with even greater frequency, was really quite satisfying. We had achieved a great deal as a team, seen parts of the island that only a very privileged few have seen and become good friends. We enjoyed our final evening before the rest of the world would intervene and pick up the pace.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

Ice Maiden sailed up to the glacier snout to greet us and we were picked up by Gemini with our kit and loaded on board. The Sailors had succeeded in their aim to circumnavigate the island and we exchange our stories with renewed enthusiasm - a fresh audience for each other's tails of daring do! There had been an intention to attempt to cross the island as Shackleton had done to reach the whaling stations in his rescue bid from Antarctica. The time remaining, and the fact that the return sail to the Falklands would be so much more difficult and time consuming meant that we simply could not attempt it. With the decision made the team spent several days turning equipment round and re-stowing for the return sail. I must admit that I was not particularly looking forward to the return sail. Having spent no small time throwing up on the voyage down and the rest of the time tired, cold and wet, the small activity and excitement of an Ocean passage no longer measured up against the discomfort endured. We made short day sails up the coast to Husvik harbour and then Prince Olav harbour and this did nothing to reassure me as I spent most of the day trying to stop myself from retching. I have never been seasick before, and I have done some considerable sailing, however, the motion of Ice Maiden was more than a match for the toughest of stomachs. Both Husvik and Prince Olav harbour are also old whaling stations and yet are now in some considerable state of disrepair. It is amazing how quickly nature has reclaimed the island. The fur seal population has rocketed in recent years and both harbours were teeming with wildlife when we visited. The innocent little fur seal is certainly deserving of a mention here, if not a complete reassessment of its character. I had always been lead to believe fur seals would be gentle harmless creatures, but I am now firmly convinced they are the rottweiller of the seal fraternity! They have nasty yellow fangs and run at great speed towards you snarling like an angry dog. One local 'expert' suggested that they were only playing but this received the scorn that it deserved. Our sail back to the Falklands in the end turned out to be really quite enjoyable, if a little drawn out. It took us eight days in total where as five would have been enough, thank you. We enjoyed some very fine sailing weather and then experienced our first force nine of the trip. We watched an iceberg glide past not thirty meters away and Albatrosses followed us most of the way home. We eventually sailed in to Mare Harbour to the most wonderful sunset of the entire trip. It was almost as if the weather knew that the sun was setting on our expedition as well. There is so much more that I could write about this trip. I have not written about the people and perhaps that is a great mistake, for it truly was the expedition members who made the trip so special. I could write a short story on each of the characters in this story and what we learned from each other. Rather I hope that I have given you a taste of what the trip was like. South Georgia is a truly amazing island and it leaves an impression on you like nowhere else. I for one wish that the military presence on the island would continue, if only to give other military personnel the opportunity to see such a wonderful place. Sadly the opportunities to visit are reducing and increasingly the privileged few are there because they have the money to get there. Ex Southern Tartan Challenge was a superbly successful expedition in an intensely challenging area of the globe. A place where unpredictable weather and its remoteness combine to necessitate good decision-making and resourcefulness if you are to survive let alone succeed in what you aim to achieve. Not only did we achieve climbing the third highest peak in British Territory, but we circumnavigated the island too, and you can count on one hand how many yachts have done that. Yet the exercise is far from over, even as I type the yacht Ice Maiden is sailing back to the United Kingdom with various different crews. Part of me wishes that I was still aboard…

1ST (UNITED KINGDOM) ARMOURED DIVISION HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL REGIMENT

EXERCISE FULL MOON

212 Signal Squadron conducted their battlecamp 12-16 February 2001. an arduous and informative package covering all aspects of military skills and drills required of the soldier and junior commander.

LCpl Bird and Sigs Beazley and Douglas receive their orders

LCpl Stables demonstrating 'a grip firm enough to support the rifle'

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

SPORT - INTER SQUADRON BOXING COMPETITION

During the first few months of the year the Squadron boxers have been undergoing a gruelling fitness regime in order to prepare themselves for the Inter Squadron Boxing, organised by Lt Madgwick and 211 Sig Sqn in March. All the boxers showed immense courage and heart in both the preliminary rounds and the finals. The night of the finals was excellent with considerable skill and determination shown by all. The evening ended in a draw between the two Armd Sqns 211 and 212 Sig Sqns.

LCpl Whiskey - 212 Sig Sqn shows his power on his way to winning the Light Heavyweight title against Sig Simpson of 211 Sig Sqn

Sig Kibble on his way to victory in a hard fought fight

With every reason to be proud all the boxers display their Trophies, kindly presented by Brigadier Shaw

GOOD NEWS TRAVELS FAST - PUBLISH IT IN THE WIRE

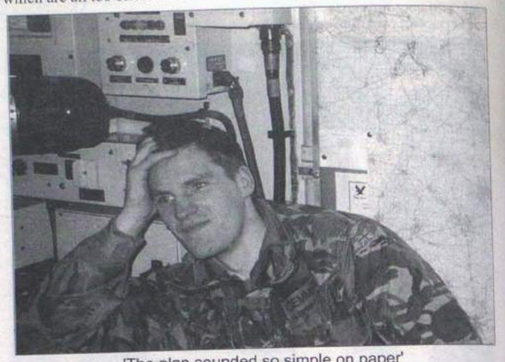
LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

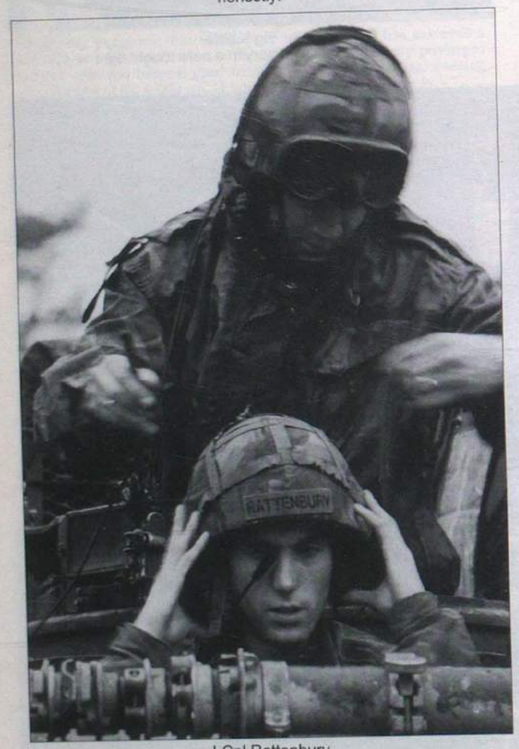
EXERCISE PREMIER LINK ONE

Soon after the Christmas break Ex Premier Link 1 was conducted. This was a Squadron level exercise for 201, 211, 212 and HQ Squadron with some common training. The emphasis was on movement and low level drills and skills which are all too often over looked on the bigger exercise commitment.

Sig Marshall claiming, 'My cam cream blew off on the way down, honestly!'



'The plan sounded so simple on paper'
Cpl Gemmel 201 Sig Sqn



LCpl Rattenbury
tries to remove his headset from his eye after a six-hour move

Cpl 'I am the firestarter the twisted firestarter' Ridgers plans to burn down Sennelager Training Area

BEEN IN THE ATTIC RECENTLY?

Some of the displays in the museum are to be upgraded. We have purchased some new cabinets and are looking for donations of exhibits, paraphernalia, images and information on the following subjects:
The Corps Band; The White Helmets; Prisoners of War (particularly Colditz); Commonwealth Corps of Signals - Australian/Canadian/New Zealand/South African; The Cary Theatre and Troop Entertainment
Anything you might find on these subjects could make a big difference! If you can help please contact Stella McIntyre or Cliff Walters at the Royal Signals Museum, Blandford Camp, Dorset, DT11 8RH.

LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS.....LATE NEWS

ROUTINE

Due to the concern about the possible spread of Foot and Mouth disease Premier Chain was cancelled. In its place some good quality comms training was conducted in barracks and there was an intensive maintenance period.

After two and a half years in the unit Sig Sue Brydon finally discovers where the radios are

Sig Rigg
desperately trying to pretend that he knows what he is doing

Comms Troop on a good day. Successfully demonstrating the various orders of dress available to today s modern soldier

WO1 RSM CHRIS HYMAS'S SEND OFF

The Regiment said goodbye to RSM Hymas who left the Regiment on commissioning in March. The day started with an RSM's Parade followed by some robust, but enjoyable, PT and then an All Ranks function in the evening with ticket sale money, fittingly, going to charity.

As the CO and RSM inspect 212 Sig Sqn for the last time
LCpl 'Bonecrusher' Whiskey shows that he has the eye of the tiger

The RSM
on his daily commute into the office

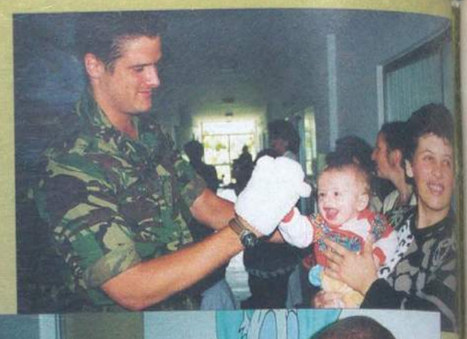
'Highly polished boots' that will be bulled then

The RSM on being told that he doesn't have to buy a Volvo and a labrador

THE Wire

August 2001

The Royal Corps of Signals



MULTI-NATIONAL BRIGADE (CENTRE) HEADQUARTERS & SIGNAL SQUADRON OPERATION AGRICOLA 5

CIVIL MILITARY OPERATIONS - 209 Signal Squadron have undertaken a number of CMO tasks. the above photos show members of the Squadron engaged in an assortment of activities. (For further details see unit notes on page 279)

The Royal Signals Magazine

August 2001 Vol. 55 No: 3

The Wire

All correspondence and matter for publication in The Wire should be addressed to The Head of Publications, The Wire, RHQ Royal Signals, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, DT11 8RH Dorset. Tel No: Blandford mil 2079 STD 01258 48 2079

Matter for publication must be received by the 15th of February, April, June, August, October and 10th December for publication six weeks later.

All enquiries regarding subscriptions/despatch should be made to Blandford Mil 2087 STD 01258 482087

Subscription rates 2001 (Bi-monthly) (Feb, Apr, Jun, Aug, Oct, and Dec). Individual: Yearly £12.00; Bi-monthly £2.00.

Remittances should be made payable to Royal Signals Benevolent Fund

Editor Lt Col (Retd) P. Valder

Deputy Editor Mrs J. A. Herring

Member of the Association of Service Journals

CONTENTS

	Page
Editor's Notes	281
Movements	287
News from Headquarters	288
News of Training	289
News from the Balkans	297
News from Northern Ireland	299
News from the Regiments	307
News from the Squadrons	360
The Royal Signals Association and News from the AO's Desk	383
Reunions	389
Lost Comms	390
Correspondence	390
Donations	391
The Last Post	391
Late News	392

FRONT COVER
Stonehenge at the Summer Solstice 2001 taken by Mr N. T. G. Patrick who is an ex-member of the Corps and a serving member of the MGS at Blandford Camp

BACK COVER
30 Signal Regiment - Exercise Hurghada Conquest
(L-R): WO2 (SSM) AL Keen, WOCdt Jenny Page, OCdt Phil Way, Sig Stu Hemming, OCdt Adam Dawson

The closing date for copy to REACH this office, in order to go in the OCTOBER issue is 15 AUGUST 2001

THE CORPS EXTENDS ITS DEEPEST SYMPATHY TO THE EDITOR OF THE WIRE LT COL (Retd) PETER VALDER ON THE RECENT DEATH OF HIS BELOVED WIFE 'ANNIE'

Authors alone are responsible for the content of their articles. The opinions expressed in the articles of this publication are those of the individual authors and do not necessarily reflect the policy and views, official or otherwise, of the Royal Signals or the Ministry of Defence. This publication should be treated with discretion by the recipient.

© Crown Copyright

Disclaimer: No responsibility for the quality of goods or services advertised in this magazine can be accepted by the Publishers or their Agents. Advertisements are included 'in good faith'.

YOUR ONE DAY'S PAY - WHAT HAPPENED TO IT IN 2000

INTRODUCTION

Your One Days Pay is the main source of income for Corps Funds. It is very encouraging that in excess of 90% of the Corps makes this generous annual contribution. Officers pay an additional 0.75 of One Days Pay each year into the Officers Fund. The latter is a mandatory subscription under QR's and is used in support of Officers activities only. Retired Officers may volunteer to pay an annual subscription of £25 or more and this also entitles them to receive The WIRE and certain facilities funded from the Officers Fund. SNCOs and WOs may subscribe a further 0.25 Day's Pay for their own Sergeants' Messes fund.

PURPOSE OF CORPS FUNDS

A Trust Deed is registered with the Charity Commission and sets out the main purpose for which Corps Funds may be used. These are:

The relief of poverty for all members of the Corps, serving or retired, their families and dependents. This is the main area of expenditure.

To maintain and improve the physical efficiency and morale of the Corps at large, e.g.: Funds for sport and Adventure Training etc.

The payment of donations to charitable organisations concerned with the welfare of Signallers and their dependents.

HOW ARE CORPS FUNDS STRUCTURED?

There are three main funds known collectively as the Royal Signals Benevolent Fund. These are:

The Corps Fund (Soldiers activities)
The Officers Fund (Officers activities)
The Association Fund (Welfare and Benevolence)

Expenditure can only be made in accordance with the Trust Deed and in compliance with Charity Law.

The chart below shows the combined income and expenditure of all funds for the Financial Year 2000.

INCOME

The total income for the year was £873K. The main source of income was from the subscriptions of Officers and soldiers (£517K). In addition most subscribers support their subscription by means of a Gift Aid Declaration, previously known as a Covenant, which enables the Corps to reclaim tax on subscriptions received at no cost to the subscriber (£138K). Income from our investments amounted to £160K and donations accounted for the final £58K. All legacies and donations are allocated to the Association Fund for reinvestment in order to meet the cost of future Benevolence. Tax may also be reclaimed from individual donations, however small, supported by a Gift Aid Declaration.

EXPENDITURE

Some £335K, or 38% of income, has been spent on benevolence in support of both the Serving and Retired Corps. This includes a grant of £26K to the Army Benevolent Fund that gives the Corps tremendous support in meeting its financial commitments to those in need.

The Corps employs a number of personnel including for example the Corps Accountant and Welfare Officer and incurs running costs all of which amount to £101K. The Royal Signals Institution and Heritage costs were £33K, and this includes the cost of Lectures and Corps Prizes and the Insurance and Maintenance of both Corps Silver and Paintings. The Royal Signals Corps Band was subsidised by £12K. This was mainly used to support the Band in a professional way with sheet music, instrument repairs and uniforms. The Band of 34 Sig Regt (V) and the Corps Pipes and Drums were also subsidised by £11K and £2K respectively.

The Games Club authorised expenditure of £47K in support of Corps Sport and the Royal Signals Yacht Club received £5K. The Wire was subsidised by £43K. Capital Grants of £12K were approved by the Heritage Committee for the purchase of Corps Paintings and Silver and The White Helmets received a loan of £30K towards the cost of new motorcycles.

The funds allocated £43K to Corps Entertainment for such occasions as Royal Visits to Units and the Annual Reunion of the Royal Signals Association. Provision of £152K (See Note 1) was made to the Serving Corps and included £24K for Adventure Training and £54K in grants towards various Millennium celebrations. Finally, £58K has been invested to help to ensure we can meet our future commitments.

SUMMARY

The One Day's Pay Scheme continues to be extremely well supported by the Corps and Regimental Headquarters is most grateful to those who contribute. However, the call on Corps Funds is an ever increasing one and every subscription received is both valuable and important to enable the current level of support to be maintained.

It is hoped that this brief explanation of our accounts for 2000 satisfies the interest of Subscribers and is an encouragement to the few who for whatever reason, do not currently subscribe. If anyone requires any further information please ring Mr Alan Wilkinson, the Corps Accountant, on Blandford Military extension 2086.

THE ROYAL SIGNALS BENEVOLENT FUND 2000

Where did the money come from?

INCOME	£k	%
Soldiers' Subscriptions	347	40
Soldiers' Covenants	93	11
Officers' Subscriptions	170	19
Officers' Covenants	45	5
Investments	105 / 55	18
Donations	58	7
£873k

NOTE: The Association is shown in shaded areas

How was the money spent? (All figures are in thousands)

EXPENDITURE	£k	%
Association Welfare and Benevolence	305	35
Association Grants (Army Benevolent Fund etc.)	30	3
Salaries	47 / 23	9
Running Expenses	14 / 17	4
Institution	8	1
Heritage	13	1
Band	25	3
Sports	52	6
Wire Subsidy	43	5
Capital Grants	42	5
Entertainment	9 / 35	5
Other (Note 1)	152	17
Investment or Carried Forward	58	6
£873K

NOTE 1:	£k
Adventure Training	26
Grants	2
Millennium	3
Recruiting	33
HQ Officers' Mess	19
HQ Sergeants' Mess	5

THE LONDON MARATHON 2001

(WO2 Carl Tucker Royal Signals)

THE TEAM
Sir Steve Redgrave
Lady Anne Redgrave
WO2 CSM John Tovey (Para) (V)
WO2 SSM Carl Tucker (R SIGNALS)
Sgt 'Blue' Cole (Para)
JUO Nick Wigram (ULOTC)
JUO Ben Coxon (ULOTC)

The head of security of the London Marathon approached WO2 John Tovey in February, asking if he could field a team to support Steve and Anne Redgrave in this year's London Marathon. John, a CSM at the University of London Officer Training Corps then selected a team from the OTC to assist him.

Two months later and after much negotiating by John for free Adidas equipment and not nearly enough long training runs the team embarked upon their task with unprecedented vigour.

Due to Steve's busy schedule since the Olympics he and his wife Anne had not trained nearly as much as they would have liked, for the marathon.

They had on average been running every 2-3 days with one long run of two hours per week. However, with a 2-week skiing holiday, the week before the race and the fact that he and his family were all living in a caravan, whilst their house was being re-built, they were optimistic of achieving their goal of a 4-hour marathon.

The day of the race started well, the team had spent the night in a hotel in Greenwich courtesy of the sponsor's of the marathon.

The team was escorted to the VIP enclosure, where they mixed with the likes of the Redgraves, Steve Rider, Neil 'Foxy' Fox and personalities from the BBC sports and news teams as well as the 'elite' athletes.

At 0900hrs Steve started the wheelchair race and at 0915hrs the ladies race. After a quick photo call, see photo) Steve then started the main race at 0930hrs, before the team inserted themselves behind the club runners for their race.

The team started at a 91/2min mile pace far the first half of the course, before the distance started to take its toll on Anne so the pace was cut to a steady 11mins pace for most of the remaining course. The crowds on the day were fantastic. Wherever the team was running the crowds were cheering us on, in particular Steve and Anne who had time to speak, have their photos taken and shake hands with anyone that came running along.

The team completed the marathon in a respectable 4hr 56mins before heading off with aching legs for a photo and interview session, then onto a well deserved leg massage given by Nick Wigram's girlfriend and her physiotherapy colleagues. Steve and Anne kindly signed a Union Flag for the OTC before heading back to their hotel, whilst the remainder of the team were brought back down to earth with a bump and had to resort to public transport to get themselves home. The team would like to congratulate Sir Steve Redgrave and his wife Lady Anne after Sir Steve, named in this year's Honours List, received his Knighthood on 1 May at Buckingham Palace.

THE MAN FROM MANNING AND CAREER MANAGEMENT DIVISION

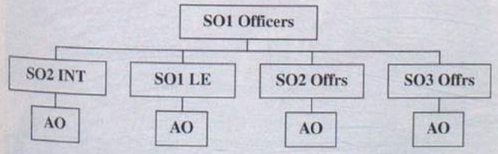
rsignalsintcorpsmcmdiv@dial.pipex.com
(Major S G Hutchinson MBE R SIGNALS)

With summer arriving in Glasgow (yes it does shine for two days a year up here) there have been some significant manning changes within the Division. On a sad note we bade farewell to Maj Bill Cochrane who finally retires after serving the Corps for over 40 years. Bill joined the Army on the 24 April 1957, aged 18, The Tories were in power (how things have changed) and Harold Macmillan was the Prime Minister - rumour has it that Bill has a glass cabinet put aside in the Corps Museum. Our loss though is others gain and no doubt the golf courses around Edinburgh will be doing brisk business following Bill's retirement. We do however welcome Capt Colin Vaudin who takes over from Maj Steve Turnbull as the new SO3 Officers (more later). Steve Turnbull leaves us for the CISM Course, being lured to the South by warm weather, mental challenge and sailing. As I promised in the last Edition, I will devote the majority of this iteration to the Divisional Reorganisation.

Since its inception in December 1996 R SIGNALS/INT CORPS MCM Div has remained largely unchanged, with the current establishment continuing to reflect the concepts inherited from the M&RO and PB organisations. As a result, we have a divisional structure that is not ideally suited to either the current or future needs of the two Corps. The last few years have also seen a significant increase in the emphasis on the active management of officer and soldier careers which, whilst welcome, has increased the pressure on this Division. It was to address these factors, together with a desire to provide a far more cohesive and responsive form of career management, that Col Dyer made a case to the Military Secretary for additional staff in the Division, a case that has been largely successful.

OFFICER WING

The revised structure for Officer Wing is as follows:



SO1 Officers – SO1 Officers will be responsible for R SIGNALS Lieutenant Colonels, from Pink List through to the Blue List or retirement. He will provide direction and co-ordination to Officers Wing as needed to achieve a more cohesive service to units and organisations. He will lead on all policy issues and will deputise for the Divisional Col as necessary.

SO1 (LE) R SIGNALS Officers – No change – responsible for all R SIGNALS LE Officers.

SO2 R SIGNALS Officers (from 28 Aug 01) – The SO2 Officers will support the Majors community whilst having additional responsibilities for both the Beige List and Staff Selection. This will give a critical community better dedicated support at a time that they most need it.

SO2 INT CORPS Officers – No change – responsible for all INT CORPS Officers up to Lieutenant Colonel.

SO3 R SIGNALS Officers – The SO3 Officers takes over responsibility for the Junior Officer Community, but the majority of boarding responsibilities will be retained by the SO2 Officers.

SOLDIER WING

Within Soldier Wing, all R SIGNALS Operator Career Employment Groups (CEG) will be managed from one section, with the Support CEGs being incorporated into another. Overall, a taut but more flexible structure will be introduced with responsibility for functional areas being passed to the three new Executive Officers (EOs). Retired and Regular Officers will still provide essential military judgement and up-to-date expertise with Administrative Officers (AOs) acting as the direct interface between the Division and units on the ground. Allocation of trades to Wings is as follows:

Op Trade Section	Support Trade Section	INT CORPS Section
Capt Knight	Maj (Retd) Campell	Maj (Retd) Warlow
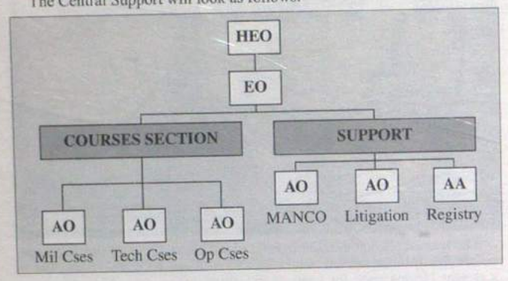
Area Sys Op	Instl Tech	Op MI
Radio Sys Op	FofS	Op MI(L)
YofS	Dvr
IS Op	Elec
Supvr IS	Tech Sup Spec
Spec Op	RD
Supvr R	Unspecified Posts
Ling Op (until all have transferred to the INT CORPS or left the Service

Direct responsibility for the day to day management of the R SIGNALS Soldier Wing element within the Division will pass to SO2 Soldiers with the SO1 having over-arching responsibility for both the R SIGNALS and INT CORPS components therein.

CENTRAL SUPPORT

The Central Support will look as follows:



Where feasible, administrative tasks, particularly those not requiring military judgement, have been centralised within a new, enlarged Central Support Wing. The Wing will be headed up by an HEO and will consist of three sections: Courses Section, Support Section and the Divisional Registry. The Courses Section will continue to be run by an RO2 until the current incumbent (Maj (Retd) Adamson) fully retires in July 2002, after which time, the post will be filled by an EO. Responsibility for course loading will fall to three AOs: AO Military Courses, AO Trade Courses and AO Operator Courses.

The majority of amendments will come into effect on 25 Jun 01, although the new SO2 Officers will not be in post until 28 August 2001. Likewise, the HEO has yet to be recruited although by the time the next Edition of The WIRE is published there should be a name in the frame.

In summary, the new structure - which sees a significant enhancement of extra 'horsepower' at the middle management level - will meet current needs and, we hope, provide the depth and flexibility necessary to respond to future manning and career management challenges. Above all else, it should allow the career managers to concentrate more fully on the detailed career management of our people. As such, this is extremely good news! For those of you who have not yet realised, R SIGNALS/INT CORPS MCM Div has been brought into the 21st Century and now has its own E-Mail Address which is as follows:

rsignalsintcorpsmcmdiv@dial.pipex.com

HCPT The Pilgrimage Trust

Patron: HRH The Duchess of Kent GCVO

JUBILEE A.D. 2000

JOINT SERVICES HOSANNA HOUSE GROUP IN LOURDES

Recently, Cpl J. Hodson of the Medical Centre - 11 Signal Regiment, was able to go to Lourdes with the Joint Services Hosanna House Group that took a group of disabled ex-servicemen and woman for a week of respite care. This was organised in conjunction with the International Military Pilgrimage. The 43rd International Military Pilgrimage in Lourdes is a spectacle to behold. Over 20,000 servicemen and women descended on the tiny hamlet in the foot of the Pyrenees, France, on the weekend of 18-21 May 2001. All came under an umbrella of peace.

The International Military Pilgrimage began in 1958 when the French authorities, as a way of celebrating the centenary of Lourdes, and an act of reconciliation after the Second World War, invited the German Military to Lourdes. Over the years the pilgrimage has expanded to include over forty nations from Croatia to Australia, Latvia to America. Every year more than 3.5 million pilgrims travel to Lourdes from around the world. A unique meeting place, it is for the Christian revival of his faith, for the sick a hope of recovery and for the heart a reason to hope. For the Joint Services Hosanna House Group there is no exception as a group of disabled servicemen and women were taken to Lourdes in conjunction with the International Military Pilgrimage. They were taken for a week of respite care and for some with a hope of renewed faith or some form of healing whether in body mind or spirit. The guests were cared for by volunteers coming from all of the services both serving and former serving.

The Joint Services Hosanna House Group was formed five years ago as part of the Handicapped Children's Pilgrimage Trust. The guests that formed the group represented Broughton House, Combat Stress, St Dunstans and the Burma Star Association to name a few. The RCPT is a charity group, which gives respite care to disabled children and adults throughout the year. Again the Carers are all volunteers and are from all walks of life. This year, the JSHHG joined the British contingent of the IMP at the opening mass at St Joseph's chapel in the main domain. The service was lead by the Catholic Bishop to the Forces, Francis Walmsley. We were also reminded of our baptismal vows when Alec Wilson was baptised by the Bishop.

For the next couple of days both groups would join together and parade through the streets to the main Basilica for various services ranging from Mass to the Blessing of the Sick. Hotels emptied along the narrow streets as people rushed out to watch and clap - 'Les Anglais Les Anglais' they exclaimed as they stood in wonder and admiration at the spectacle of it all. For the first time the JSHHG guests proudly marched with the British contingent displaying medals won in previous conflicts. The Royal Tank Regimental Band rounded off the spectacle we had experienced throughout the weekend with a marching display and BBQ at Hosanna House. Stories from serving and former service people were shared in the relaxed atmosphere at Hosanna House that over looks Lourdes, which is down in the valley.

The British contingent was waved off from Lourdes station by some of the guests before the rest of the JSHHG continued in Lourdes for a further five days. The guests were treated to visits to the seaside, Lourdes visit with a history tour and shopping. Visits to the shrine of Our Lady were also incorporated into the programme for those who wished to go. Evening entertainment's were laid on for the guests at the house and humour became the order of the day. At the end of the week a solemn ceremony took place at the Cenotaph in Lourdes where two wreaths were laid in honour of all past fallen comrades both foreign and British Armed Forces. One was laid by Ann Pulman, and the other by Maj Gen Peter Chambers, who is also President of the Joint Services Hosanna House Group. As the Last Post was played and the silence swept across all those stood at the cenotaph, people stopped in wonderment at the respect being paid. A moving moment for the Servicemen and Women, who were honouring the past that day. After a pleasant and uneventful return to the UK the group parted with the swapping of addresses and telephone numbers with friendships being forged, and old friendships being enhanced.

The group is always looking for willing volunteers, so if you would like to volunteer for this outstanding week, with the opportunity to help former serving men and women then contact Cpl Hodson on Blandford Mil 2446. If you would like to make a monetary donation to help offset the cost of next years trip, then please make cheques payable to HCPT (JSHHG), and send them to Cpl Hodson, Medical Centre, 11 Sig Regt, Blandford Camp, Blandford Forum, Dorset, DT11 8RH. Your support for this worthwhile charity will be greatly appreciated.

Cpl Hodson - 11 Signal Regiment, SOSI Hartley - ex-RN with members of the Czech Republic Army

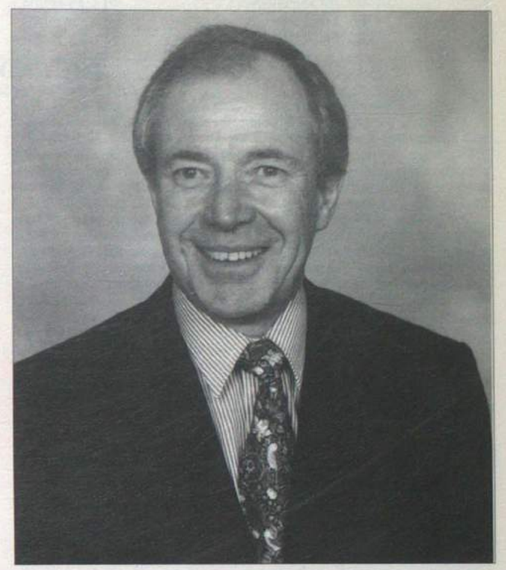
Should you make a purchase as the result of seeing an advert in The WIRE, please let them know that you saw their advert in your Corps Magazine

British Heart Foundation

THE BRITISH HEART FOUNDATION 40th ANNIVERSARY

(Maj (Retd) R. J. Goddard MBE)

TAKE HEART FORTY YEARS OF PROGRESS



I joined the Royal Corps of Signals as a boy soldier in September 1962 at Kinmel Park Camp, Rhyl in N Wales. A few years later, May 1996 to be precise, I decided it was time to begin a second career. So having had one job for the previous 34 years, I stepped into the unknown and applied for a job as an Area Organiser for the British Heart Foundation (BHF). I knew very little about the charity. However, the job description seemed to be just what I had been looking for. Here are a few details about the Foundation.

The BHF is trying to solve the questions surrounding heart and circulatory disease - the UK's biggest killer. It could affect any one of us regardless of age, status or occupation; from mothers and fathers to teenagers and babies. Heart and circulatory disease is responsible for four in ten of all deaths in the UK, (one person every two minutes) which has one of the highest death rates in the world. We have learned a great deal over the past 40 years - for instance, we can now identify babies with heart defects even before they are born. We now know about the damaging effects of smoking, eating fatty food, obesity and lack of exercise. However, there is still a great deal to learn about the causes, prevention, diagnosis and treatment of heart disease. The BHF receives no government funding and is supported entirely by voluntary contributions. Thanks to the generosity of the public, the BHF has been able to play an important role in such advances as improved heart valve replacements, pacemakers and 'clot-busting' drugs.

I know from my time in the Services that many demands are made upon your free time (what free time I hear you cry) and that there are many equally deserving charities to raise funds for. With your support, however, we can advance research into the causes, prevention, diagnosis and treatment of heart disease. Therefore, if you would like to help by giving a little of your time to organise or take part in a fundraising event, you can be sure that your efforts will make a difference, that will benefit a great many people today and for generations to come. Contact Rod Goddard MBE, British Heart Foundation, Community Fundraising, 239a High Street, Erdington, Birmingham, B23 6SS, Tel: 0121 382 3168 or 0800 169 3672, E-mail: Goddard@bhf81.demon.co.uk

WARRANT OFFICER CLASS ONE S. C. KEILTY
ROYAL SIGNALS CORPS REGIMENTAL SERGEANT MAJOR

WO1 (CRSM) Keilty joined the Corps as a Junior Signalman at Albermarle Barracks, Ouston, in September 1978. He trained as a Combat Radioman at 8 Signal Regiment Catterick and was subsequently posted to 22nd Signal Regiment, Lippstadt in April 1980. During his time with Echo Troop, 2 Squadron he was promoted to Lance Corporal and posted to 7th Signal Regiment, Herford, in May 1983. During this tour he trained on the newly introduced Ptarmigan system and carried out an operational tour in the Falkland Islands.

In 1986 after promotion to Corporal he was posted to 3rd Armoured Division Headquarters and Signal Regiment in Soest, serving as a Detachment Commander and Reconnaissance Corporal for Trunk Node 043. Having gained promotion to Sergeant he returned to 22nd Signal Regiment in August 1990 whereupon he deployed on Operation Granby attached to the Army War Graves Service. Returning from the Gulf he joined 1 Squadron as Troop Sergeant of Major Access Node 002. He took up the post of Troop Staff Sergeant of Trunk Node 015 in 16 Signal Regiment, Krefeld, in July 1992. He remained with 230 Signal Squadron in Krefeld as it amalgamated with 7th Signal Regiment in January 1994. In April 1995 he was selected for promotion and posted to 15th Signal Regiment Northern Ireland, where he served as Squadron Sergeant Major of Headquarters Squadron. He was subsequently posted to 30th Signal Regiment, Bramcote, in February 1997 taking up the appointment of Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant (Technical). In May 1999 he was appointed Regimental Sergeant Major of 2nd Signal Regiment, York. In January 2001 he attended the Late Entry Commissioning Board in Blandford and was selected for commissioning during the year April 2002 -March 2003.

He assumed the appointment of Royal Signals Corps Regimental Sergeant Major on 7 May 2001.

WO1 Keilty is married to Raphaela, they have two children Allison aged 14 and Scarlett aged 10. He has a passion for adventurous training, which has taken him to places as varied as India, Chile, Argentina, Africa and the South Downs competing keenly every year at the Trailwalker (UK) 100km Challenge.

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive - beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM HERITAGE LOTTERY DRAW

WINNERS

1st	Mrs Hayler	5th	60(H) Sig Sqn	6th	Lt Col J. Dryburgh	Mr J. Carruthers
2nd	Mr Homewood		Mr P. E. Hall		Mr B. Budden	Lt Col Martin
3rd	Mr Chapman		Mr P. D. Parker		Mr D. A. D. Smith	Miss E. Greenwood
4th	Mrs Coates		Mr S. Swinfield
	50 (H) Sig Sqn

THE END OF AN ERA

Lt Col J. Steed - Chief of Staff The Royal School of Signals

Today saw the end of an era with retirement of Roy Howe, Carpenter and Joiner. Roy's association with the Corps started on 27 September 1971, when he joined the then named Training Aid Workshop, as a Carpenter and Joiner. Prior to this he had trained and gained experience working for a caravan manufacturing company, a local building firm and the Forestry Commission.

A 'Training Aid' and the title 'Carpenter and Joiner' were flexible definitions, as he was soon to discover because his skills were soon put to the test. As were his skills of being a cabinet and model maker! Roy quickly became a valued member of the woodwork team as his craft skills developed and he gained in experience. He was also more than willing to undertake projects other than those considered routine. Four examples of his range of abilities follow:

Box Bodies: One of the largest training aid projects produced for the RSS was identified in 1989 and finaly came to be manufactured in 1995. The box bodies, located in J Corridor area, are a mock-up FV 430 series of vehicles to provide the students, together with the Radio systems fitted and connected to the Racal simulator a feel for working in the back of a 432/436 in simulated 'field' conditions. A coup for the RSS which many other Units have viewed and copied. All the carpentry was completed by Roy.

Flag Pole: A flag pole in the Roosevelt Garden required replacing and surprise, surprise the item was unobtainable at the time. With an eight metre long sapling supplied and with just the means of an adze knife (a crude axe) and a huge amount of skill, Roy produced that which was required. It lasted many years until the Camp had a refurbishment in 1997.

Roll of Honour Display Units: Cabinet making skills were required to manufacture the units for the Garrison Church in order to display the 'Roll of Honour Parchments'. Roy completed the task to his high standards.

17th Century Model of a Signalling Tower: The Museum was another customer to benefit from Roy's work. Originally requested to act as a musical cigar box, for an outgoing Commander. It was seen and a second box was requested, to be manufactured and housed in the Catterick Museum. Today the model can be seen in the Royal Signals Museum in Blandford.

'Woodwork - Evening Classes apart from his daily duties Roy embarked on a second career, that of a woodwork instructor for students in the evenings. The post, sponsored by the Dorset Education Authority (DEA) provided finance that enabled woodwork to be taught to military and civilian students from within the Blandford area. Roy gave woodwork instruction to students of all abilities, some of the completed projects were exhibited by the DEA who held Roy's instructional abilities in high esteem. The classes ceased when Blandford Garrison was upgraded in 1997 and the Workshop was deemed not to continue to function.

A request was made by his colleagues to mention the Workshop Tea Fund. The Workshop Tea fund has been managed by Roy for a number of years, at a cost of 50p per person per week. This fund provided the workforce with at least 15-20 cups of tea or coffee, it also financed the Christmas Lunch, at no extra cost. There are ways and means of achieving this.....periodically Roy would go 'walkabout' to check on customer relations'.....

Since the rebuild in 1997 it is fair to say that Roy has been pacing himself for retirement, handing some of the carpentry responsibilities to the other carpenters and concentrating on other duties. These included, in the last three years, substituting for the SW Tech Officer, during his absences, and ensuring that the expenses, paint and metal requirements were demanded on time. He also considereed 'going early' as rumours that PPP would happen during his time on the Camp. As most people are aware it will happen in the near future!

Seriously, if you take a walk around the School through classrooms and offices, in fact nearly all the buildings of the RSS, you will see ample evidence of Roy's skills. All completed to a very high standard with just a few hiding a 'feature' (a past workshop euphemism for cock-up).

To finish on a personal level, Roy is a loving caring husband to his wife Carol and father to his children Darren, Sarah and Claire and a recent addition to the family grandson George. Over the years Roy also found time to visit an ex-colleague on a regular basis, now in his 90s Harry Howells, who I am sure has taken great comfort from these meetings, reliving the good old days. The words gentle giant, reliable, responsible, capable, dependable, sometimes grumpy (it must be said), gives his best, willing to help, to please and most important a skilled craftsman, all these apply to Roy Howe.

We should all applaud him for his 29 years of loyalty to the Workshop and the RSS through the 'old days' and recent changeable times, Roy thank you for your time with the Corps. Congratulations Roy the Corps wishes you a long and healthy retirement.

MOVEMENTS

OFFICERS
JUNE 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Capt L. J. Calderhead	HQ SOinC (A)
Capt B. A. Knight	CPD CIS SVCS Gp
Capt N. H. Smikle	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Capt D. J. Williams	16 Air Asslt Bde & Sig Sqn (216)
Capt A. G. A. Woolaston	642 Signal Troop (Gibraltar)

OFFICERS
JULY 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
Maj L. J. Plumb	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Capt N. P. Fanning	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Capt A. T. Kelly	660 Sig Tp 11 EOD Regt RLC
Capt D. G. Skimming	16 Signal Regiment
Capt K. T. Wilson	I & S 238 Signal Squadron
Lt K. P. Simonds	Flying Wing SAAVN

WOS AND SNCOS
JUNE 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
A/WO 1 RD T. W. Comyns	The Royal School of Signals
A/WO 1 P. F. Gardner	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
WO 2 RD G. Dewar	249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))
WO 2 RD K. Marsh	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
WO 2 RD D. Thornton	2 Signal Regiment
WO 2 FofS K. P. Curtin	30 Signal Regiment
WO 2 FofS M. C. Duff	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
WO 2 FofS D. G. Jones	BMATT
A/WO 2 RD S. R. Morgan	7 Signal Regiment
A/WO 2 RD D. I. Sloane	1 (UK) Div Signal Regiment
A/WO 2 FofS J. W. Chambers	16 Air Asslt Bde & Sig Sqn (216)
A/WO 2 FofS R. L. Clifford	12 Mech Bde & Sig Sqn (228)
A/WO 2 FofS M. A. Paveley	7 Signal Regiment
A/WO 2 FofS K. Robinson	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
SSgt RD M. A. Brown	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
SSgt J. W. Graham	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
SSgt B. Green	1 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
SSgt S. A. Jacklin	11 EOD
SSgt T. R. G. McIntyre	36 Signal Regiment (V)
SSgt S. D. Moffet	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
SSgt M. G. O'Doherty	HQ DSSS
A/SSgt YofS P. T. Ashford	UKNMR SHAPE
A/SSgt C. P. Ashworth	225 Signal Squadron
A/SSgt J. R. Brooke	225 Signal Squadron
A/SSgt D. Butler	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
A/SSgt D. B. Longmuir	921 EOD
A/SSgt L. J. Mason	Army School of Ammo
Sgt S.D. J. Banks	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt M. Clayton-Batty	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
Sgt S. C. Curry	The Royal School of Signals
Sgt S. R. Gurney	HQ DSSS
Sgt S. R. Lewis	259 Signal Squadron
Sgt I. L. Overal	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt M. G. Poyning	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt A. R. Sims	7 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (207)
Sgt S. J. Willumsen	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
A/Sgt I. Kirkland	JHQ North

WOS AND SNCOS
JULY 2001

Name and Rank	Unit to which posted
A/WO1 RSM D. Rook	21 Signal Regiment (Air Support)
A/WO1 FofS L. D. Marshall	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
A/WO1 FofS K. Sturman	LSP Oman
A/WO1 A. B. Marchant	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
A/WO1 T. Phillips	Joint Services Support Unit Digby
A/WO1 P. A. Tretheway	HQ DSSS
WO 2 RD D. G. Inman	8 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (218)
WO 2 RD S. B. Shepherd	7 Signal Regiment
A/WO 2 RD M. P. E. Angove	16 Signal Regiment
A/WO 2 RD G. C. Smith	16 Air Asslt Bde & Sig Sqn (216)
A/WO 2 RD G. Steel	15 Signal Regiment
SSgt C.F. Bruce	16 Signal Regiment
SSgt S. Dewhurst	The Royal School of Signals
SSgt S. M. D. Fairfield	NACOSA SHAPE
SSgt J. M. Gorman	31 Signal Regiment (V)
SSgt C. Hinderson	NATO Comms School Latina
SSgt P. S. Latimer	DISC Support Unit
SSgt S. E. Littlefield	7 Signal Regiment
SSgt M. Sala	280 (UK) Signal Squadron
A/SSgt M. J. Cowlard	The Royal School of Signals
A/SSgt A. W. Dutton	21 Signal Regiment (Air Support)
A/SSgt J. E. Kielty	16 Signal Regiment
A/SSgt K. P. Lawton	30 Signal Regiment
A/SSgt G. A. Sorley	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
A/SSgt P. Stroudley	16 Signal Regiment
Sgt S. C. Bottomley	14 Signal Regiment (EW)
Sgt A. J. M. Giddens	19 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (209)
Sgt R. I. Hawkins	3 Inf Bde Hq & Sig Sqn (203)
Sgt A. P. Minorczyk	32 Signal Regiment (V)
Sgt C. M. Ramsden	3 (UK) Div HQ & Signal Regiment
Sgt K. J. Roberts	30 Signal Regiment
Sgt S. S. Sanderson	Rocchan (Balado Bridge)
Sgt D. J. Thwaite	101 Log Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (261)
A/Sgt P. A. Grundy	JSSU (Ayios Nikolaos)
A/Sgt A. Nuttall	249 Signal Squadron (AMF(L))

RO2 CIS CO-ORD POST AT ALDERSHOT

Due to the forthcoming retirement of the present incumbent, Major (Retired) David Stubbs, an RO is sought for the G6 CIS Branch of HQ 4th at Aldershot with effect from 8 August 2001. The officer will be responsible to the Commander G6 CIS for staffing Divisional Communications issues, including telephony, radio and cryptography policy. He or she will be required to act as the Branch co-ordinator and to oversee IT issues and frequency and Mould Radio issues. Other duties include telecommunications advice on ICP, MACA and ops, to act as HQ and Branch Security Officer, to give support to Comd G6 as CO HQ 4 Div and to substitute for him as required. Specific responsibilities include the co-ordination of HQ Military Training and Accounts Inspections, the supervision of IT Staff and the co-ordination of Royal Signals Corps issues in the Division. He or she will be required to perform military duties appropriate to his or her rank, including Duty Staff Officer.

The officer should preferably be an ex-Royal Signals officer with both regimental and staff experience. No formal technical qualifications are required but a broad knowledge of military communications and information systems is essential. The officer must be IT literate. Interested persons should contact CM (Pers) 2c (RO) at Bath on 01225 449113 or Lt Col P. J. Hryhoruk R Signals on 94222-2448, DDI, 01252-347448, as soon as possible.

FOR SALE

The following items, belonging to Mr Phil Clifford (ex-Corps) are offered for sale. Prices subject to 'bartering' with current owner, but expected to be extremely reasonable.

(1) Royal Signals Mess Dress Tailored by Michael Jay Ltd, complete with Captain Rank. (Jacket 40/42 chest, Trousers 36 waist/inside leg 31) (Includes waistcoat).

(2) Service dress tailored by Michael Jay Ltd (Jacket 42/44 chest, Trousers 36 waist/29 inside leg) (Includes Captain rank insignia)

(3) Service Dress Hats x2 (Brown & Blue, size 7)

Enquiries in the first instance should be made to Maj R. Patrickson on Blandford Mil 2893

WANTED

No 1 Dress (Blues) to fit 42/44 chest

Please contact Maj R. V. J. Brannigan
SO2 CD & V
Royal School of Signals
Blandford Mil 2421 or Civil 01258 482421
01258 459452 (Answer Phone)
or Fax: 01258 482664

IF YOU'VE LOST CONTACT WITH AN OLD FRIEND, WHY NOT SEND AN ENQUIRY TO THE WIRE

NEWS FROM HEADQUARTERS

ROYAL SIGNALS INSPECTION TEAM HEADQUARTERS LAND COMMAND

HQ LAND G6 POLICY & PLANS
SAILING WEEK 23 – 30 APR 2001

As part of an IIP/Adventure Training package HQ LAND G6 Policy & Plans Branch embarked on the Royal Signals Sail Training Week. The 7-day trip began at Gosport where we boarded our Victoria 34 – Yacht ENSIS from JSASTC. Over the following week we sailed to Lymington; Weymouth; across Lyme Bay to Dartmouth and back on an overnight passage to Yarmouth for dinner in the Royal Solent Yacht Club. Finally we sailed in 40-knot winds to Ocean Village in Southampton before finally returning to Gosport for a 'quick' wash and brush up of ENSIS.

Four members of the team - Majs Rupert Janes, Mo Cooper, Mark Billingham and Capt Katrina Reynolds successfully qualified as RYA Competent Crew. Majs Sharon Nesmith and Charles Bishop both extended their experience as RYA Day Skippers. The R SIGNALS Sail Training Week was a superb adventure sail training activity and details of future R SIGNALS sailing events are available on the Internet at 'www.royalsignals.army.org.uk/yacht_club/homepage.htm'. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all although the weather was a little unkind at the beginning of the week. Our thanks to our skipper, Maj Richard Quinlan who ensured we became familiar with every sail onboard! We flew the Spinnaker more often and more successfully than any other Yacht in the Flotilla!

HEADQUARTERS 2 (NATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS) SIGNAL BRIGADE

It has been a busy few months for the Brigade and the Headquarters in particular. Whilst the focus has been on Op Peninsular and the foot and mouth crisis the HQ has also hosted visits from the Master of Signals and DCinC LAND, deployed on Ex Horsehoe Eagle the Brigade HQ annual CPX and on Ex Appalachian Horseshoe the HQ adventure training exercise in the USA.

OPERATION PENINSULAR

The Brigade operational main effort since March has been Op Peninsular, although at the time of writing (start of June) the commitment is beginning to scale down. The initial Brigade role was to assist the Regional Brigades who were providing MAFF with a supporting command and control (C2) infrastructure capable of co-ordinating the civil and military assets employed in the process of carcass disposable. LAND directed that the C2 for the deployment should be conducted utilising the existing fixed civilian and military communications infrastructure. In the event of additional ICS support being required, 2(NC) Sig Bde was tasked to be the co-ordinating HQ for the provision of ICS to the Regional Brigades. However at the outset of the deployment mobile phones were the chosen form of comms for the military teams on the ground. This was due to the ease of connectivity that mobile phones offered, as the military on the ground were required to liase with a number of disparate civilian agencies such as MAFF, NFU, contractors and farmers. Additionally MAFF were funding the use of mobile phones hence there was a greater reliance on the mobile network rather than utilise military systems. However limited use of MOULD was made in the 143 (WM) Brigade and 160 (Wales) Brigade areas for which 37 Sig Regt (V) deployed additional MOULD assets. Most of the CIS provided below Brigade level during the establishment of joint military unit/MAFF C2 nodes was supplied and funded by MAFF. This included comprehensive suites of PCs formed together to the MAFF LAN and faxes. These systems were found to adequately provide the capability needed to conduct routine business. However, at each C2 node established by the Regional Brigades, 2 (NC) Sig Bde deployed an Electronic Messaging Service (EMS) laptop, this allowed forward deployed military elements access into the Defence IT systems, principally ISIS, increasing their operational effectiveness, as they were able to capture, disseminate and share information quickly. The Brigade deployed a total of 21 EMS terminals to support the deployed C2 nodes throughout the Regional Brigades who reported that they were extremely useful tools to have. Additionally the TA National Communications Regiments and ACISG Squadrons provided EMS technical and training support to the C2 nodes. The Brigade also arranged for 24 hour ISIS cover for the static headquarters that were involved in the Op Peninsular effort.

EXERCISE HORSESHOE EAGLE

The FA Cup Final weekend in May will be remembered by many for very different reasons. It was the scorching hot weekend during which Liverpool won the Cup (but don't remind the Commander who is a staunch Arsenal fan) but for the Brigade staff it meant Ex Horseshoe Eagle, a Brigade HQ CPX which took place at South Cerney. The Exercise was designed to be a training exercise for the HQ staff as well as practice and further integrate the Regular and TA components of the staff branches within the HQ. The scenario was a simulated deployment to Poland as part of a fictional European Force. For Chief of Staff, Maj Paul Kelly it was to be his final exercise as COS after two and a half years with the Headquarters.

Brigade Staff gather around the Bird Table during Ex Horseshoe Eagle

EXERCISE APPALACHIAN HORSESHOE

Ex Appalachian Horseshoe was a Brigade HQ adventurous training exercise which saw five members of the HQ deploy to the USA for 2 weeks in late May/early June. The lucky five being Lt Col Mike Stevenson, Maj Iain Brownlee, Capt Gareth Marsh, Capt Andy McCole and Cpl Pete Sears. The aim of the exercise was to walk the Shendandoah National Park section of the 2000-mile long Appalachian Trail.

The Shenandoah National Park, located in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia, is world-renowned for its natural beauty (the area was also where the film Deliverance was filmed) as well as being the location for the highest concentration of Black Bears in North America. Despite assurances from the HQ resident North American, Maj Paul Kelly, that Black Bears aren't that dangerous when compared to the Grizzly variety we fortunately only came across one bear, heading in the opposite direction, during our time in the National Park. The size of the bear remains the subject of much debate in the HQ and very much depends on who you talk to (and the amount of alcohol consumed), with estimates varying between seven and twenty-five foot tall! The assurances regarding the relative cuddliness of Black Bears fell on deaf ears as when the bear was spotted four members of the team ensured that they were moving rapidly in the other direction. The notable exception being Lt Col Mike Stevenson, who despite his best efforts, couldn't make the bear sit still for a decent photograph.

The second part of the exercise saw the Commander and Chief of Staff flying out to join us in order to visit the 1108th (US) Signal Brigade in Frederick, Maryland. The 1108th are our sister brigade in the US and 31 Sig Regt (V) and 1111th (US) Sig Bn (who are one of the two major units in the 1108th) have particularly strong links. As well as being given an opportunity to visit the unique and enviable US communications facilities we were also given a thorough tour of the Gettsyburg Battlefield and the opportunity to see the sights of Washington DC. The exercise also gave us the opportunity to marvel at the shopping ability of Maj Paul Kelly whose choice of designer brightly-coloured casual shirts purchased at the Potomac Mills Discount Mall can be best described as 'very North American' in style!

NEWS OF TRAINING

THE ROYAL SCHOOL OF SIGNALS

11 SIGNAL REGIMENT
1 (OUSTON) SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj J. G. J. Howes Royal Canadian Signals
SSM WO2 (SSM) Andy Harriott

RHINO TROOP
Tp Comd WO1 Bob Clubb
Tp SSgt SSgt Dave Smith

During the month of May the Troop has been relatively quiet. Cpl Bob Lovell has successfully passed his Royal Signal Detachment Commanders course, and I'm sure he has enjoyed the time away from the normal work environment (a well deserved rest), congratulations! SSgt Dave Smith is looking forward to his R&R before he starts his EFP2 at the end of May. Dave has been busy reading and putting into practice the contents of the Drill manual in preparation for the RSA weekend in June.

SSgt Dave Smith showing he is not really cold!

Dave has also started his new hobby of sub-aqua, a sport he discovered whilst on holiday in the Maldives back in February. However, the coastal water around the south of England are not quite the same, though not so bad now that he has purchased a dry suit!

The Troop performed well during the Harrogate Cup Athletics competition despite the size of Rhino Tp, which is out numbered by three-fold. We achieved some fine wins throughout the day. Particular congratulations go to the effort of both 4 x 100m-relay male and female competitors. The male team was Sig Hodge, Sig Stardy, Sig Wood, and Sig Westmoreland. The female team was Sig Mc Mann, Sig Ball, Sig Hollandot and Sig Stodart. The culmination of the athletics day was an inter troop Tug of War competition. Representing Rhino/Kohima Troop were Sig Marshallsay, Sig Thomas, Sig Nurse, Sig McLoughlin, Sig Marshall, Sig Evans, Sig Saunders and Sig Forrester. They performed outstandingly on the rope and found a new sport to pursue. Well done.

WO2 (SSM) Andy Harriott just before using his stick to encourage!

2 (CATTERICK) SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Louise Tomkins
SSM WO2 (SSM) Spike Haynes

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO CRICKET TOUR 2001 - by Sig Cull

You have all seen the pictures, people lying on the beach, having fun playing a bit of cricket. That was me 18 months after joining the Army. At the end of January I was asked to tour Trinidad with the full Army cricket side. I was delighted to hear this as the furthest I had ever toured was Holland when I was 15. I was sure this tour was going to be a bit different in more than one way. It all seemed unreal for a couple of weeks then things started to get rolling. Letters started coming in with details of the tour, flights, accommodation etc. There was a training session in Taunton arranged for the weekend before we left. This was for the team to get to know each other. Most of them knew each other from last season but for me this was the first time I had met them. I knew a couple of them having played for the Royal Signals and Army under 25s. The two other Signals players were 2Lt Senneck and LCpl Ford, both had experienced army cricket before. Some of the real characters of the team stood out on this weekend, some for their cricket and some for social reasons. On this weekend all the tour kit was issued. It was worth going on the tour just for the kit we received and many thanks to must go to Capt Grinonneau who organised all of it. Now we were all ready for the tour. It still seems unreal, one week I was on guard the next I was in Trinidad.

The eight and a half-hour flight seemed a long time but you knew the tour had started when we tasted the local beer for the first but not the last time. On arrival at the airport drinks awaited us and already we could feel the humidity of the place. The first day brought us our first game and our first victory. The police force proved easy opponents and we ran out easy winners thanks to a good 49 not out from 2Lt Senneck. The second day took us to the Queens parks Oval home of the West Indies for a net practice. It was great to be here as the West Indies had been here the week before playing South Africa. It was the first time I had ever been to a place like this. We were to return here in the next few days to play against Queens Park CC. The team had really started to bond and we notched up four wins from four games. Some outstanding performances coming from 2Lt Senneck and LCpl Ford bringing us through the games. Our fifth was against Wanderers CC that contained West Indies A trialists. With some very good cricketers they proved too strong as they ran out close winners. Our final game proved easier as we ran out easy winners to end the tour on a high and end up with five wins from six games.

A long tour had nearly come to an end, exhausted but still enough energy for the last night, a team meal followed by a great evening out. On returning I was pleased to find out that I had been sponsored by BAA. Now I look forward to the Australia tour in November. Many thanks to Maj Frost, Maj Ross-Hurst, Lt Col Jukes (tour manager) and Capt Kenyon who all made the tour possible.

THE ROYAL SIGNALS YACHT CLUB SAIL TRAINING WEEK
by Sig Gwilliam

The crew were; Skipper Maj Rob Gibson, Mate Maj Andy Whitmore, Cook/Ents Capt Dave Kenyon, Duty Colonial Lt Col Dan Farmer USA, Skippy (broken ankle) Maj Jim Langly, and fellow novice Sig 'Ships cat-always asleep' Rick Llwellyn. It was a normal Friday afternoon in the rest room waiting for knockoff when Capt Kenyon walked in and said, 'Who wants to go sailing for a week?' Sig Rick Llwellyn and myself eagerly put our hands up and that was it, what was I going to let myself in for?

We paraded at the MT at 0700hrs Monday morning and travelled down to Gosport on one of those lovely army coaches, but it was a nice day. We did all of the usual safety briefs and then went and got our wet weather kit, (praying we wouldn't need it) and stowed the rations and kit on board. After that we then set sail for Leamington with the sun on our backs and the wind in our faces. At Leamington we all ate thanks to culinary genius of Capt Dave Kenyon and then Sig Rick Llwellyn and myself went out for a few beers (not a good idea). In the morning the destination was Weymouth and that is when the seasickness kicked in. That day I wondered why I ever even bothered coming and the hangover I had from the night before just added to the problem. At one point I was hanging over the side feeling rough as rough wondering why I had volunteered for this. As we got into Gosport Maj Rob Gibson assured me that it wouldn't be the same the next day but I didn't believe him. On Wednesday we set sail into a south westerly for Dartmouth and it was really rough just past Portland bill, and with the wind coming from the wrong direction we decided to put on the 'iron sail' but we still didn't get in till late that night. From Dartmouth it was on to Yarmouth which took all day and all night and we had to anchor just outside of Yarmouth and wait for the tide.

At Yarmouth Sig Rick Llwellyn and I went out for fish and chips and then it was time for the dinner at the yacht club. After a nice meal we went to a couple of pubs and then the trouble started. Just as we were getting on the boat Maj Jim Langly decided to jump from the side of the pier onto the boat twisting his ankle, it was funny. In the morning, after breakfast, Sig Rick Llwellyn and I both did our competent crew tests that involved a race in a rubber dinghy across the harbour and we all got terribly wet. Then off we went to Cowes for lunch and then back to Gosport, to hand the boat back in. It was a week enjoyed by all.

DON'T SEND US DIGITAL PHOTOS
as most of them are only saved at 72dpi, for publication they must be a minimum of 300-400dpi

Sig Gwilliam at the helm

Life on the ocean wave

3 (HARROGATE) SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Andy Duncan
SSM WO2 (SSM) Dave Bousfield

DRAGON BOAT RACE 2001 - POOLE HEART APPEAL
by Sig Ingram

On a sunny Sunday morning in May, members of 3 (Harrogate) Sqn, 11 Signal Regiment climbed aboard two 4 tonne trucks and headed off to Poole Park to take part in the Poole Heart Appeal's annual Dragon Boat Race. Thirty-three members of both Lightning and Ulster Troops took part in the day's events alongside such teams as the Royal Marines, Tesco, Asda and other assorted civilian companies. All in all, twenty-seven teams took part in a very competitive event. 3 Sqn entered three teams and each team was as good as the next (bearing in mind that no team had done any prior training) and produced some very creditable times in the morning trials. Coupled with some dubious time keeping and lack of experience, the 11 Signal Regiment team narrowly missed out on the Final, but took a well earned fourth place. A Phase Two soldier captained each team, and they all managed to produce the goods; they were Sigs Atkinson, Harper and Hennis. I would like to mention everyone individually, but that would take too long, so with that thought in mind I would just like to say thank you to LCpl 'Chelsea' Reynolds for organising the much enjoyed day. Each member of the team accosted the Regiment with sponsorship forms and we raised over £1000 for charity.

HARROGATE CUP SWIMMING COMPETITION
by Sig Finnie

The evening of 21 March saw two buses of hopeful swimmers, plucked from the cookhouse after giving the correct (or incorrect?) answer to the 'sink or swim' question, descending on Bovington Pool for the Harrogate Cup swimming competition. The evening produced an exciting and very close run competition with some outstanding performances from all the squadrons, with limited training 3 Sqn managed to provide tough opposition and did themselves proud. Sig Phillips won the Men's 50m Freestyle, aerodynamically assisted by his wonder trunks. Sig 'Fish boy' Lovell won the 100m Freestyle, allegedly smashing the 1 minute barrier (is this physically possible?) while Sig Paterson gave an exciting finish to the Women's 50m Breastroke. The Men's 50m Butterfly provided the evenings top entertainment as Sig McEwan (1 Sqn) stormed to an easy First with Sig Mason (3 Sqn) and Sig Dunno (2 Sqn) giving very impressive Second and Third places, about a minute later, after what looked like two very painful yet determined performances. 3 Sqn were in the lead after the individual events. Unfortunately the chain of command race didn't take place due to absences. I suspect that if 3 Sqn had managed to get LCpl 'Chelsea' Reynolds into a pair of speedos and kept the Norwegian whaling fleet at a safe distance, we may have gained another victory. The final scores were impressively close: 44 – 2 Sqn, 42 – 3 Sqn, 40 – 1 Sqn. Maj Pawlak was quick to congratulate all those taking part for an eventful evening and presented prizes to the successful competitors. Many thanks to the QMSI and his staff for another well organised and well run event.

The 3 Sqn swimmers were: Men's Team Sig Clamp, Sig Lovell, Sig Phillips, Sig Marsh, Sig McSween, Sig Cooke, Sig Mason and Sig Howarth. Women's Team Sig Finnie, Sig Hennis, Sig Patterson, Sig Rokavada, Sig Anderson, Sig Ingram, Sig Worthington, Sig Coonan and Sig Lomax.

4 (MILITARY TRAINING) SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Alan Owen
SSM WO2 (SSM) Kev Read

The Squadron has seen a number of changes over the last few months. Capt John Williams has left for his QM's appointment in 216 Sig Sqn and Capt Rod Cowan has taken over, having arrived on commissioning from 33 Sig Regt. New arrivals also include SSgt Tara Pun who joins the SNCOs' Course as a section DS. Other changes include SSgt Andrea Burdus moving across to the RSJCC now that SSgt Richie Long has moved to JSIO. SSgt Bill Butler moves on to become the SQMS in RSG and SSgt Chippy Pomfret has taken his place in Mil Trg Tp. Congratulations are in order for Sgts Richie Ayling and Nick 'Grumpy' Ulley for their recent selection for promotion to Staff Sergeant.

COURSE UPDATES
RSSC/RSJCC

The notes for RSSC and RSJCC (TDT 4005 and 4006) have been rewritten as of May 2001. These documents set out the course aims and objectives and define the starting standards. Hard copies have been sent out to all Royal Signals Units in order for students to read them prior to attending. If any student does not have access to a copy then they should call the 4 Sqn Clerk on Blandford Mil 2191. The joining instructions for both courses have also been rewritten to reflect the new course content. There is no longer a requirement for No2 Dress or best boots to be brought on the courses. Course Admin Cell in the RSS send out individual copies of the joining instructions to students, however, in the event of your Adjt or 2IC losing them (heaven forbid) then ring the Sqn Clerk for another copy.

LEADERSHIP COURSE

The next Leadership course will start in October 2001. Course loading will be for 20 students.

TERRITORIAL ARMY COURSES

The TA team continue with their round of TA recruit courses. Due to the pressure of numbers WO2 Mick Senior and Sgt 'Tank' Sherman were detached from their TA units to assist with the last course. Despite recruit numbers being lower than expected it still took 'Tank' three weeks longer than anyone else to write his reports.

TA RECRUIT COURSE 09/00 – A STUDENT'S PERSPECTIVE
by Sig Dorrian

Before arriving at Blandford I thought a working day was 9 to 5 (maybe 8am on a long day!), 5am was certainly the middle of the night and I had no idea how much one could fit into a single day. These concepts were shattered within 24hrs of arriving and I had no idea how I was going to survive the next two weeks. I was not in this alone though, there were 32 other souls being punted from pillar to post and I never imagined what help they would be. I soon realised that to succeed on this course we would all have to work together. My unit had done quite a lot of pre-course training with me, but there was still a lot I had to learn. The classroom work was sometimes difficult to take in, but the instructors made it all enjoyable. I was really looking forward to the exercise, but was not fully prepared for the seasons of Salisbury Plain; I thought I had hypothermia on more than one occasion! The exercise itself was hard work, but as section 2IC I enjoyed the added responsibility and found it challenging. The course culminated in a Parade, which had to be practised for hours. I was really proud to march onto the Parade Square with the rest of the course, knowing just what we had achieved in such a short period of time. Overall I found the course enjoyable and rewarding. It was well organised, demanding and forced you to reach for your limits then try to go a bit further. The only thing I am not in a hurry to repeat is the gas chamber, but I do look forward to returning to Blandford on my Corporals Course.

MILITARY TRAINING TROOP
Tp Comd WO1 F. G. Waters
Tp Sgt Sgt R. A. O'Neil

On taking over as the Troop Commander of the TA Corporals and Recruit Course last August I wanted another challenge, and by God I got one! I have to admit I have inherited a very professional and adaptable team that require a special type of instructor, with high standards of discipline and a sense of humour. In March this year course 0010/00 took place in Blandford. Due to Foot and Mouth Disease it was touch and go as to whether the course was still going to take place, but again as ever being the British Army we were well adaptable and changed the programme with a flick of a coin. All training was conducted around the Blandford Garrison area with a number of different pursuits thrown into the programme to make the course a little more interesting. The Development team erected a High Wire course to build confidence in the recruits and all of them fully enjoyed it (probably). Special thanks go to Sgt Dave Uttley and Cpl Tony Brown for their support with this activity. Everyone who passed out is to be congratulated and welcomed to the Corps. The Top Student of the course went to Sig Ramsay of 63 Signal Sqn who, as an individual, performed exceptionally throughout the 2-week intensive course. A very special thanks goes to Lt Col A. P. R. Roberts MBE, CO 40 Sig Regt, who carried out the duties of Reviewing Officer.

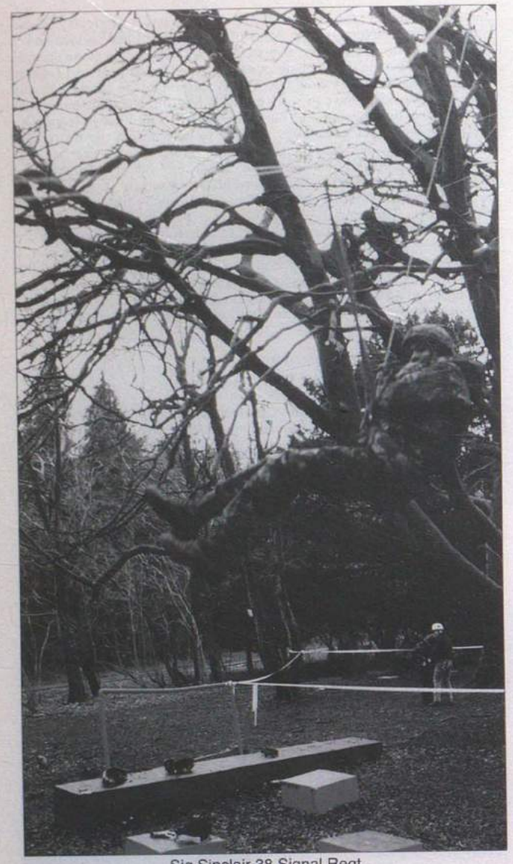
Sig Jenkins 33 Signal Regt being assisted by Sig Sinclair 38 Sig Regt



Sig Sinclair 38 Signal Regt
on descent from High Wire confidence course

THE LONDON MARATHON

by WO2 P. Tindal, Infantry Advisor - 11 Signal Regiment

Having watched the London Marathon every April, it has always been a goal of mine to complete this fantastic run. Being posted to Blandford with the Royal School of Signals, this was too good a chance to miss. The application form was sent off with both fingers crossed, but by December the bubble had burst and it became obvious that I would have to wait until at least next year. Then, speaking to a couple at one of the many Christmas parties, I was offered a place to run for the Lords Taverners' charity. Sgt Danni Thwaite was unable to run because of injury, and so suddenly I was in. I made a silent oath to start training right away.

Christmas came and went, as did New Year. Back to work after leave and I still had done nothing. The Lords Taverners' sent me my running pack: running vest, shorts, sweatshirt, tracksters and baseball cap. We may not be fast, but we will be smart! So it was with heavy legs that I started the long run to the level of fitness that was required. A bout of flu in January slowed the training down for a couple of weeks and further problems arose with the outbreak of foot and mouth. Some of the events I was to run in as part of my preparation were cancelled and restrictions on all running routes around camp lead me to do most of my training on a treadmill in the gym, not ideal but it was better than nothing. Mid March saw me at the start line for the Bath half marathon on a cold, damp Sunday. A modest sub 1:40 was keeping me on course. Then, at the end of March, it arrived. My race number 33910. Not the most noticeable number in the field, but it was mine. Sponsorship was the next problem. Having pledged at least £500 it was now that the real trouble started. The Mess at Blandford started me off with £200 and the SQMS of the Squadron would not let anyone depart without a small donation of a quid. The courses that come through the Squadron also helped out by stumping up some cash.

Suddenly the big weekend had arrived, it was time to set off for London. At the London Marathon you have to collect your race number from London Arena which is an event in itself. All the top sporting companies have stalls trying to promote their latest sports equipment though there are also plenty of freebees up for grabs. It was an early night on Saturday for the 0930hrs start the following day. Over 35,000 runners, family and friends all heading to Greenwich is a nightmare scenario, however Connex South Eastern railway have free trains into Greenwich and Maze Hill stations which are just a short walk from the start point. London has now got three start points; I was on the red start. The time passed quickly waiting for the start, joining the long line of people wanting to use the toilet certainly passed 30 minutes. Just before I headed into my start pen I heard someone calling my name. Imagine my surprisewhen I turn around and see WO2 Dougie Graham, complete with kilt! So after briefly catching up with news I moved to my pen. Runners are put in pens according to their expected finish time, with that in mind I was surprised to see three runners carrying a life sized mini just behind me.

At 0925hrs we started to edge forward to the start and then the gun fired. I have heard stories how long it takes to cross the start line but it only took me four minutes. Talking later to the people who were in pen 9, they took 20 minutes to get going. The race starts off by heading through Greenwich where the crowd and bands are fantastic. It's easy to get carried away at this stage, added to the fact the course start is considered fast you must keep yourself in check. During initial miles I was clocking 8:30 ish and was comfortable. Then at the five-mile point I realised that I had clocked a 7:25 mile! Who did I think I was kidding? I had been warned about getting carried away and I had not realised how quickly I had speeded up. I changed my pace but the damage had been done. I knew I would suffer from that mile later.

Leaving Greenwich behind we came to the first landmark, Cuttysark. Quick waves at the TV camera then head down for the next part. The route to Tower Bridge from Cuttysark is a long one. Once you are on it, psychology kicks in for two reasons, firstly you are crossing the Thames to the same side of the finish, and secondly you are very close to the half way stage. The crowds at the bridge were fantastic, they made everyone feel like a million dollars. In my case green and crinkled! Making the half marathon marker at 1 hour 48 minutes was also not good time keeping. It is at this stage that you see the elite runners. The only difference is they are at the 22-mile point and have passed the infamous Isle of Dogs. The Isle of Dogs starts at the 16-mile point. Past runners will tell you it is very quiet and little or no crowds; on the contrary I found the crowd was fantastic, but it was cold, very cold. Then on the Westferry Road just past the 19-mile point, bang. The dreaded wall. I didn't just hit the wall, I smashed into it! Now instead of grabbing water and drinking it while still running, I was walking whilst drinking as I was incapable of doing two things at once. Slogging on and back on The Highway it was my turn to be at the 22-mile point when others were at halfway, but it only lifted my moral marginally. Back under Tower Bridge, too tired to look up to see if anyone was still on it, we passed The Tower. This is where a mat is laid down to help runners over the cobbles. Did it make a difference? Not to me, but by this time I was numb from the waist down anyway. Finally the end was near. Travelling along the Embankment, which had hundreds of people, was tremendous. But it was nothing to Birdcage Walk. Every runner was treated like a hero from the crowd and it only came second to the feeling of crossing the line. What did I feel like? A sense of achievement? Pride? Yes, but more so, relief that it was finished. Time at this stage irrelevant, but for the record 4:11:14. The total money raised was £505.

So is London as good as they say? The simple answer is yes. The crowds, bands and party atmosphere is second to none. The organisation is fantastic, water at every mile, glucose drinks at every five miles and Joe Public handing out every conceivable type of food makes it a day to remember. Would I do it again? 14 April 2002 is already marked in the diary. London Marathon!

THE LAST 'BRUGGEN 10' - by Sgt Dani Thwaite

As it was the last RAF Bruggen 10 Km road race I thought it would be a good idea to enter both a male and a female team. Once all the administration had been completed 15 of us went to Bruggen where we met WO1 Chris Christie and WO2 'Taff' Thomas. It was a pleasant day, although windy, and after WO1 Joe Docherty and SSgt Dan Burdus had talked tactics some members of the team decided to attempt a sub 60-minute race. Despite Sgt Jayne Davies' horror the girls' team intended to break the 75 minute mark. LCpl Sarah Jordan and Sig Nat Curtis both achieved their goal, however Sgt Dani Thwaite just missed out with an admirable 77 minutes. All four members of the male team (WO1 Joe Docherty, WO2 'Taff' Thomas, SSgt Dan Burdus and Sgt Steve Newman) achieved their target. Cpl Billy Watts and LCpl Griffiths also both finished in good positions. Overall the male team came second and the girls team came third. Our thanks go to our dutiful driver Cpl 'Richie' Savage for a safe and pleasant journey!

PLEASE NOTE

THE COST OF YOUR WIRE IS NOW £12 PER ANNUM - £2 PER COPY

IF YOU HAVE PAID £9 BY CHEQUE THIS YEAR WE WILL BE LOOKING FOR A FURTHER £3

THANK YOU IN ANTICIPATION

The assembled Team

REGIMENTAL ATHLETICS - 2001

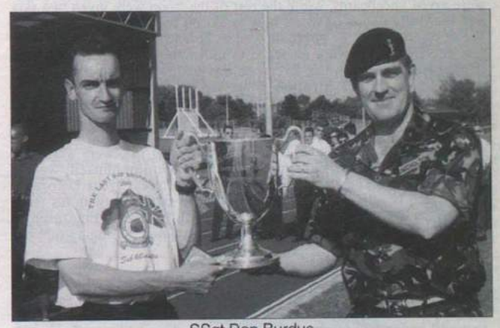
The Royal Signals has become synonymous with athletics and RSS/11 Sig Regt is no exception. Equally, our success over the years in not by coincidence. It is the ability to attract the 'smarter' recruit whose measured approach and commitment to train will always ensure that the flower will bloom on queue. Athletics is normally associated with 'white shirted' officials, suntan lotion and shades. However, this was not the scene that greeted the athletes in early March when training started in earnest. The enthusiasm and commitment of the athletes was matched only by the intensity of the rain - it was more like aqua aerobics than athletics. Towards the end of April there was a mad but brief flurry of activity down at the track as teams were identified for the Inter Squadron Athletics Championships. It was a very successful event - the competition was fierce, the stand was packed with supporters and the sun put in a rare appearance. 3 Squadron won the event but there were some notable performances throughout providing an excellent forum for identifying new talent for the Regimental Team.

This season an initiative has been introduced which should have far reaching consequences. Three coaches from Wimbourne Athletics Club have been employed to provide their technical expertise every Tuesday evening. Additionally, there is free access to a Blandford Camp based pole-vaulting club every Friday evening. The initiative has already proved to be a great success. It clearly focuses the mind of the athlete and fuels his/her desire for success. The future benefits of athletes being exposed to quality coaching will be felt in the Corps, Army and in some cases beyond. This year 12 athletes were entered in to the Dorset County Athletics Championships. This was our first measure of progress since the Inter - Squadron competition. Each athlete successfully achieved a seasonal/personal best and returned to Blandford Camp with 5 Dorset County Championship titles.

The 5th Division Major Unit Male & Female Team Championship was our first team outing this season (23 May 2001). Again the sun blessed the event with it presence and the stand was alive with noisy competitors, all willing their team members on. RSS/11 Sig Regimental male team were the overall winners with 274 points but 21 Sig Regt kept the pressure on, finishing only 14 points behind. The female team put in an equally sterling performance finishing as runners - up to 3 DSR. Since last season the female team lost some quality athletes through postings. However, the current team fully intends to emulate their success of last year.

The Regimental Athletics Team trains every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evening between 1900 - 2100hrs. Everyone is made to feel welcome no matter how badly you think you are at your event. The ongoing problem getting athletes off trade training highlights the need to have a big squad. Whether you are a competitor or a spectator, your support is essential. It is not only a good day out but the individual performance you witness will be the result of many months of hard graft.

Maj Paul Flavel hands over the baton to Sig Griffith



SSgt Dan Burdus
collecting the 5 Division Male Team Champions Cup
The presenting officer looks quite familiar and pleased

The 2001 Regimental Athletics Team

263 (HARROGATE) SIGNAL SQUADRON ARMY APPRENTICES COLLEGE

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj Mel Rayner
SSM WO2 John Hogan

Life here at the College remains ever busy and with areas now opening for training, we are now back in business. On the social side of life, the permanent staff is recovering from our TCP (tennis, croquet and Pimms) night, which was a resounding success, not a lot of tennis took place but plenty of C & P.

BRADLEY TROOP - SENIOR TERM
Tp Comd Capt David Farrimond
Tp Sgt Sgt Mark McMullan

Baby Tp as its' currently known, is expecting its next new arrival in the form of 'Baby White' due in July. Baby Sophie Clubb has made her debut and has already been supporting the Troop at the CO's Cup. Congratulations to Natasha and Clubby on their recent marriage. Good luck to Sgt McMullan who is probably doing knees to chest on his advanced drill course at the moment.

WATER SKIING - by 3 Section

Our whole Troop went water-skiing at Thorpe Park Lake. It was a treat for doing so well the week before. The day was a chance to relax and let our hair down, for those of us who have it. We arrived at the lake and received our wet suits. Although it took a long time to get them on, it did wonders for the figure. The wet suits made us all look smashing, that is apart from those who can't be helped, AT Woodward for one, who's large gut was even more obvious. The people who had not skied before were given kneeboards, while the rest of the troop were given two skis. Sgt McMullan showed us all how to ski on two skis then on one ski. We're surprised that he never showed us how to ski bare footed. After a few attempts AT Sowiak managed to move about 40m before he sank into the freezing cold water. Everyone was getting to grips with the skiing after a while, and AT Stratton impressed the Troop by staying on for about seven laps of the lake. AT Heydon came close to death after AT Gordon went straight over his head although there wasn't much inside to damage. So far the Troop seemed to spend most of their time in the water swimming that also included two Troop Corporals who were worse that any of us ATs. Capt Farrimond seemed to enjoy himself, we can remember him shouting, 'Show me the money,' just before he disappeared headfirst into the water, trying to catch fish with his teeth. Overall the day was very enjoyable and we all had a great time, even on the way home Capt Farrimond kept us entertained by singing (not bad for an officer).

EXERCISE LONDON LEARN

As a part of our leadership training Bradley Tp, 263 (H) Sig Sqn, went on a trip to London. The day was designed so we had to make our way around London and complete a number of tasks set by our Troop OC. The only problem with the day was that we were not allowed to take any money; or our much-needed mobile phones. The only way to achieve some of the tasks was to beg the locals for their help. Most of the people around London were very understanding, giving us free food, free taxi rides and also letting us help them complete some of their jobs (clean a prison cell in a police station). One of our tasks was to visit the fire station and hospital. KFC and McDonalds were the best as they gave us a belly full of food to keep us motivated. During the day most of us got lost, even with our free rail/travel ticket and map, the London underground was a maze. A lot of the time was spent running around from place to place, AT Kain ways more aware of this as she had to walk the streets in her socks (high heels are not very good for running in. At the end of the day we had all returned back to the bus, except for AT Heydon's group that went to the wrong museum and ended up an hour late. Sgt McMullan was happy, not! All of us had a good time although we were ready for bed we could understand why the day was based on being a Leader and the skills that a leader must have.

LIFE IN ATFC ARBORFIELD IN THE LAST MILLENIUM
by 2 Section

In the last millennium if the weather was poor ponchos were issued as waterproofs. There was a hood and no arms, which made it difficult for fire maneuvers in wet conditions. The ponchos were also for bashers in the harbour areas at night. There were not many facilities available for map reading, which resulted in lack of orientation. Because of lack of funds, resources and time, first aid wasn't a priority. Therefore, when diseases spread, it wasn't noticed immediately. It is a known fact that when casualties were left on their beds to fend for themselves, with no medical attention they seemed to live. Those casualties who had assistance from the medical staff lost their lives, due to germs that passed from the staff's hands to the casualty. Carbine rifles were used. The use of machine guns had just started. They used a handle to work the machine guns. Blanco was put on all of their equipment to protect them. Helmets were much heavier then they are now, indeed all equipment was heavier. Horses were used to pull the equipment. There was no penicillin available at all and socks were placed inside mugs to help keep them dry and stop infection passing. There was no running water at all. Only officers used swords. When men were enlisted they were given a shilling, which is equal to 1 0p. No fruit or vegetables were issued and ration packs consisted of two boiled sweets, hard packed biscuits and milk powder. There was an airdrop every three days, or at least there was supposed to be. The airdrops consisted of clean clothes and extra rations but before this happened a flare had to be set off at the point everyone had passed. Training consisted of being told to run through Jungle Green (JG) where mines and traps were planted. So if you didn't finish your training it was because you died of standing on a mine or your leg getting chopped off in a trap. Life then was much more dangerous and the Army was not organised at all. It was a matter of going in the Army ready to die. You were really lucky if you survived at all. Thank God for rapid changes.

LIFE AS AN APPRENTICE TRADESMAN IN THE CURRENT MILLENNIUM

As you walk through the main gates of the Army Technical Foundation College as an AT with 28 weeks of basic training ahead of you. You know that only hard work and determination and the six core values of the Army will see you through - Loyalty, Integrity, Commitment, Courage, Discipline and Respect. Once you have learnt the core values you stand a good chance of passing out of the college as a potential leader in the technical corps of the Army. To equip the ATs with the skills they need to pass out of the college, a variety of excellent facilities are provided. These facilities include excellent sporting areas such as a new sports hall, gym, squash courts, floodlit astro-turf, many outdoor rugby and football pitches and a full-length indoor swimming pool. Also there is a large learning resources centre with Internet access. This can come in handy because you will do a lot of academic work while you are here. The training programme is quite hard at the college, but if you try hard you will find it easier in the long run. You will do mostly circuit training and on the odd occasion you will do 4-6 mile tabs carrying weights varying from 21b to 351b. You will also do assault courses and stretcher races. Whilst at the college you will go on four exercises. These are held near Aldershot. You start off with Ex Milkteeth which is just a training exercise, while Ex Dragons Teeth is a testing exercise. The other two exercises are done in the senior term. You will do lots of fun things while you are at the college like firing live and blank rounds and also going on the SAT range. Things that aren't so nice are things like NBC (Nuclear, Biological and Chemical warfare training). Some of the lessons can be boring too. Up to week seven you have to wear a CRAP hat, this is until you pass your drill test, which is a very proud moment. This is when you will receive your beret and cap badge. A lot of the troop staff are very good, they know when to have a laugh and when to be serious. The staff will treat you well if you work hard for them, your section and your troop. The Army Technical Foundation College trains the four main technical corps of the Army - The Royal Corps of Signals, The Royal Engineers, The Royal Logistic Corps and The Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers. Once you have passed out of the College, provided you have worked hard during your time here you will be fit and have many NVQs in subjects such as IT and core skills. You will also have the necessary skills and qualifications to work your way up the rank structure relatively quickly and eventually, maybe, get a commission and become an officer.

AN INSIGHT INTO LIFE AT THE AATC (ATFC OF THE NEXT MILLENIUM)

In the year 3001 at the Advanced Army Technical College (AATC), Intake OOA. I am writing this article to inform future ATs what it is like at the college. The Lifestyle at the college is pretty hectic, very little time to yourself. We get up at 0530hrs to parade outside at 0600hrs to go to scoff. PT every morning is for two hours. You then have a variety of lessons until drink break, then the lessons continue until evening meal. Then an evening tab (an average five to six miles). The rest of the evening we do our admin with a 15-minute NAAFI break in-between. Lights out is at 2200hrs. This is our average day.

Attitudes within the College ATs must always be positive and willing. Any signs of negative attitude and you get sent directly to the RSM, with the possibility of negligent discharge. The attitude towards discrimination of any kind is very strict. Any reported or rumoured incidents will be severely dealt with. The accommodation consists of a long wide corridor with lockers on one side and individual bed spaces opposite. The ablutions are at the end of the corridor. However they are not detached, it is all one room. Each accommodation block can hold a single Troop (around 30 ATs). Breakfast is at 0620hrs. Breakfast consists of a single pill, this provides us with what we need to perform our duties of the day. At 1300hrs we stop for a drink supplement and at 1800hrs we take another pill, this is to help our bodies to recover for the next day. Our Equipment Our working dress consists of a lightweight inner suit and our main protection is a Biosuit, this gives us protection from blasts and shrapnel. The Bio-suit integrates with your body to give increased strength. The suit also gives a source of power supply, which can be used with telecommunications, equipment. We get given great in depth training on them, as they can be quite complicated. The helmets we are issued give complete head protection as well as built in communications systems, x10 magnification and infrared for night vision. Our personal weapon is a combined 5.20 rifle and a 40mm grenade launcher. When integrated with the optional display, the rifle can take out an enemy at 1000m. The round is a plastic cased chemically tipped bullet. The grenade launcher is effective up to 1200m and is capable of delivering chemical, biological and conventional explosives.

Our Training Programme consists of NBC, Drill, PT, Skill at Arms, Bio-suit Training, Inter-Planetary Operations, leadership Training, High level First Aid Training, exercises and education eg: Maths, IT, and Science. I hope this gives you an insight into life at the AATC and how you will be trained. I would be lying if I said that it's easy, but it is worthwhile when you pass off.

PENNEY TROOP - SENIOR TERM
Tp Comd Lt Miles Booker
Tp Sgt CSgt 'Digger' Gardiner RGBW

EXTERNAL LEADERSHIP - by AT Oxley

It was around 1400hrs when Penney Tp arrived in Sennybridge, exhausted. (They hadn't even done anything yet). The EL staff laid down the law with a few rules and a briefing, then we all unpacked and settled in. The following morning we set off for the mountains. We learnt a lot of navigation skills and that we weren't as fit as we thought we were. We were the only group on Monday to reach the top of a beast, named Tan. I felt a sense of ride and physically drained. The next day was the big one - SNOWDON! It was hard, but we worked as a team and got through it. Sadly we didn't reach the summit, but I did nearly die jumping over a mineshaft. The walking brought out our strengths and weaknesses. Kayaking was the next activity on the agenda. We arrived at Swansea and got 'kitted up'. After we had our safety briefing we headed for the surf. I was absolutely petrified. The waves were crashing down on to my kayak and pushing me to the shore. I began to get in the 'mood' and started to ride the waves. I have never enjoyed myself that much before. Overall EL has been quite an experience. Different emotions have been rushing through my, head like Formula 1 cars on a racetrack. I have thoroughly enjoyed myself and have discovered the new me, (Scary Cat!)

LEADERSHIP WEEK - by AT Eastell

I enjoyed leadership week because of various reasons. The teamwork built up between the member of the section, in such a short time, was immense. Mainly because of the two stretcher races the section really started to learn a lot about each other. In some cases friendship became closer and others grew apart. The whole week, including the command tasks brought out the core values in everybody. The discipline to listen to the team leader. The selfless commitment to complete a set task. The courage to stick at the job in hand when things get difficult. Loyalty towards the team also stood out, as everyone wanted to complete the tasks. The survival night was educational, learning about all survival tips. I think it was important to take it in as it could happen to any of us. The building of shelters, fires etc was hard work but made easier by teamwork and kept the majority of us well through the night. The killing of a chicken for dinner was something I would never have done before and it tasted good! Leadership week was a good experience and I had a great time, as many things we do at the College, people who join adult entry don't get the chance to do, so I felt lucky and privileged.

LEADERSHIP WEEK - by AT Moore

Leadership is one of the most emphasised qualities at the Army Technical Foundation College and therefore one of the most important weeks at the College. It starts with some briefs from the CO and the Sqn OC about their thoughts about leadership and the qualities needed to be a leader. We were tested to the limit on our leadership skills and teamwork in our first stretcher race in which 110% was required and it was our job to ensure everyone was giving it. Survival night tested us again under pressure when we had to make our own shelters and fire to keep us warm for the night. The end of the week was marked with another final stretcher race to test our endurance and how the team had developed during the week; it was about heart and determination which everyone showed lots of and we all learned how to be a team. Overall it was a tiring but fun and successful week and it was enjoyed thoroughly by the whole Troop.

LEADERSHIP WEEK - by AT Duncan

On the first day of leadership week we had a lecture all morning on the qualities of a leader. Our first lecture was off Lt Col D. A. McAvoy. Maj Raynor gave the second lecture and the third lecture was by WO2 (SSM) S. J. Hogan. It was interesting finding out about when they were junior soldiers and finding all the qualities that leaders need or will gain. In the afternoon we did some Command Tasks. We learned the three ways you can do them, autocratic, democratic and silence. We learned that using just one of these ways wasn't good and you had to use at least autocratic and democratic. The first stretcher race was OK. We learned how to work as a team and who were the weakest and stronger members of the section. On Wednesday we had survival night. We had to kill skin and gut a chicken for food. When we got to the training area we had to build a shelter using logs and string and a plastic sheet. It had to be able to keep you dry and warm. We had to build a fire to keep warm and to cook our food on. We made some weapons and some traps to find and get food. When it got dark we did night navigation. We were given certain bearings and a distance and you had to find a bag and stamp your paper. It was quite hard in the dark and even harder if your pacing was out. On Thursday we went to Gibraltar Barracks and did command tasks. We each had to give people jobs, like time keeping. On Friday was the Intersection stretcher race. We had to get certain obstacles over the assault course, do Command tasks and run with the stretcher. The fastest section did it in 41 minutes. 3 Section worked really well as a team. As I am the weakest member they helped me a lot. I found it really hard, but they helped me keep going. Overall I enjoyed Leadership week a lot and I learned a lot including how to work in a team and how to motivate myself and others and about selfless commitment.

SCOTT TP - JUNIOR TERM
Tp Comd Lt Nick Galle AGC
Tp Sgt Sgt Amanda Korchel

VISIT BY WALLY HARRIS MM - 28 MAY 2001

As part of the Scott Tp Battlefield tour to Normandy, Mr Wally Harris MM was asked to lecture the Troop on his experiences of Operation Overlord, the codename for the initial operation of Allied Liberation of Europe. In 1944 Sgt Harris was a LAD Sergeant with the REME supporting the Royal Artillery in their push through northern France. The lecture was fascinating and reminded us all of the commitment and courage shown by the men of Operation Overlord, in the summer of 1944. It illustrated clearly that the role of war fighting is not exclusive to the combat arms. We must all, be proficient in the skills of our fundamental trade, soldiering.

Mr Harris had already played a role in the liberation of Sicily, at Field Marshall Montgomery's request for 'battle hardened troops'. He was to be sent on return from the fighting in the Mediterranean, straight into the training for the D-Day assault. Mr Harris landed on 6 June 1944 following the main assault on the beaches. Progress in-land was rapid but bloody, the Armoured Artillery Regiment was moving in column through the villages of north-west France when they were contacted by a heavy machine gun position from the flank. Mr Harris had the presence of mind to dismount from his vehicle and return fire. The German position was manned by 13 enemy troops, once Mr Harris had suppressed the incoming fire he rounded up some of his men and launched an attack, killing the remaining enemy and taking prisoners. For this Mr Harris won the Military Medal. Later in the campaign he was also nominated for a Victoria Cross, the highest award for gallantry, for saving a Guards Officer's life under heavy enemy fire. All this is hard come to terms with when being told by an eighty year-old man. One thing that Mr Harris was at pains to express, was how destructive war is and why Phase One training is so important. It teaches soldiers drills and skills that one day anyone of us may rely upon. Not only to save our own lives, but also those around us, regardless of cap badge. After the campaign Mr Harris MM came to Arborfield as an instructor at the College, he remains in good health living in Bracknell today.

Mr Wally Harris MM Lt 'Nice Suit' Galle and members of Scott Troop

LIFE AS A SECTION COMMANDER AT THE ARMY TECHNICAL FOUNDATION COLLEGE
by Cpl Sawyers

The British Army is held in very high regard throughout the world, it is both respected and feared. I believe the reason for this is simple, it's mixture of sharp discipline, maintenance of high standards and above all tough training. The claims that today's Army has 'gone soft' are unfounded and are normally levelled by those who have no experience in the training of apprentices. Training, particularly for apprentices, must be safe, achievable and above all, progressive. Safe training, however, does not mean boring or unadventurous and definitely does not mean 'soft'. You must make life for the apprentice challenging, you must push them further than he or she is used to, but you must allow for the apprentice to learn, give them time to profit, usually from their own mistakes. Life for the section commander at the College is more than just another posting, you have to be fully committed to all aspects of training the apprentice. Good leadership ability and very high standards are' a must. You must inspire the apprentice throughout the training with commitment, enthusiasm and by leading by example, 'follow me' rather than 'off you go'. As a section commander you must encourage healthy competition, praise or reward success and expose poor performance. Developing the 'will to win' between individuals, or as a team, will result in disciplined, more motivated soldiers. All apprentices regardless of rank, gender or ethnic origin must be given an equal chance otherwise you go against all the rules of team building. A section commander must be aware of all his or her subordinates' strengths and weaknesses, recognise the weaknesses and be prepared to spend time coaching or giving extra tuition. At the same time, praising strengths and rewarding good effort. Humour is a powerful tool in effective training, if it is used wisely. The apprentice will retain more information if the training is fun and he or she will be looking to learn more. However, the apprentice should not be ridiculed or made fun of just so the instructor can get a cheap laugh, nor must the essential points of training be left out. Discipline is still a major aspect in training today's apprentice. As a section commander you must be entirely clear as to what disciplinary powers you are allowed and what can be interpreted as bullying or abuse of authority. Regulations are clear and are normally published on orders, all disciplinary actions are recorded and open for inspection at any time. The apprentice very quickly learns where the line in the sand lies with all the section commanders. Life at the College for a section commander is, without doubt, very hard work, however, it is extremely rewarding. Turning a civilian into a soldier is a long process but is very rewarding. I still have the utmost respect for my Section Commander in training and will remember him forever, I am sure my apprentices feel the same way

ARMY TRAINING REGIMENT BASSINGBOURN

1 SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj. F.E. Hargreaves
SSM WO2 (SSM) A.V. Slaney

The Squadron would like to extend a warm welcome to its latest SQMS, SSgt (SQMS) Shaun Fleming and his wife Katie, fresh in from 34 (N) Sig Regt (V) in Hartlepool. It seems the new SQMS cannot keep away as this is his second time at the ATR. True to the Royal Signals tradition of in at the deep end, he competed for the Squadron in the Inter Squadron Athletics, played Regimental cricket and took part in the Inter-Squadron rowing competition within his first two weeks. At present the new SQMS is in the process of writing risk assessments, COSHH reports, updating shelving registers and doing all of his fire checks for the Squadron (welcome to the Army of the 21st Century).

The Squadron would like to say goodbye and congratulations to the outgoing SQMS, SSgt now WO2 (SSM) 'Paddy (five lines)' Townley who leaves the Squadron to take up his new post as SSM 264 Sig Sqn. The 2IC, Capt Adrian Scott thought that the old SQMS used the Squadron as his own personnel R+R centre away from 264 Sig Sqn, as he must have had the shortest posting in Corps history, seven weeks to be precise. Also we wish good luck to Capt Scott during his period standing in for the Adjutant. The SSM, WO2 (SSM) Tony Slaney has once again proved his physical prowess by representing the Squadron in the javelin, high jump and 400 metres at the Inter-Squadron Athletics (where the Squadron finished in a creditable third place). Also in the Inter-Squadron Duathlon (run, bike, run) and rowing competition.

Meanwhile the OC, Maj Fred Hargreaves has just returned from a week's all-inclusive holiday in Turkey where he has been busy brushing up on his tennis and working extremely hard on his suntan. Hope enjoyed your well-earned rest Boss.

ALPHA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Sarah Irwin
Tp Sgt Sgt Si Roughton

The Troop has undergone major restructuring over the last two months. Farewells to Sgt Paul Conroy who has been posted to his family in Northern Ireland and to Cpl Dave 'NIMDA' Knowler and wife Emma who have gone to 30 Sig Regt. The Troop welcomes Sgt Si Roughton, his wife Karen and 'bump.' The Troop also welcomes Cpl 'Paddy (really Derek)' Niell and his family who joined us in March from 14 Sig Regt. 'Special mentions' from the last CMS(R) go to Cpl Flo Watts for his help on Mid Ex and to the rest of C Tp in general for their lesson cover that was given to us despite their exceptionally busy programme. Cpl Mark Brenen, A Tp must be congratulated for his efforts in raising over £900 by organising an inter-section basketball competition in wheelchairs! The money will go towards the purchase of a wheelchair for the Great Britain Wheelchair Basketball team. The friends and relatives of the Sappers (and three Signallers) are thanked for their generosity. The members of A Troop are looking forward with curiosity to the next CMS(R)!

BRAVO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Darren Talbot RE
Tp Sgt Sgt Mac McIntyre

Another 35 high quality recruits have (nearly) made it through Phase 1 training as we write… only Final Exercise and passing off the square left to go. Goodbye to possibly the shortest tour Troop Commander in the history of the Troop, Capt Darren Talbot (RE) is off to pastures new (without green kit) as an area manager for Aldi… but not before poaching OC Foxtrot Tp, Capt 'Jacko' Jackson to join him in the retail industry. Foot & Mouth has caused a few hiccups along the way, with the introduction of new training areas to the ATR programme and the cancellation of the traditional Adventure drinking (I mean training!) This now takes place locally, but it does bring dry-slope skiing into the program, along with kayaking at the White Water Centre in Nene – a truly terrifying experience for many of the recruits – but that is the aim of adventure training isn't it? Cpl Matt Witham and Cpl 'Smudge' Smith are settling in well, both still managing to avoid the dreaded ITGIS course so far, although Smudge does have the second part of his OASAA course to do in a couple of weeks. Cpl Danny Cooper is currently away learning how to achieve the co-ordination of a baby rhino on his Drill instructors course and the rest of the training team (that'll be Sgt 'Mac' MacIntyre and Cpl Andy Doyle) are looking forward to a well-deserved training break.

CHARLIE TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Ben Howarth
Tp Sgt Sgt Harry Ramsden

The glorious Charlie Tp has once more swung into action following an enforced stand-down. Now surviving on a wing and an OC's prayer an entirely new team of NCOs have joined the merry throng. Bdr 'Is that the time?' Cole has begun to amuse with his constant failure to quite make it and we are quietly hoping not to have to put this on his week twelve report! Cpls 'Constant Flow' Watts and 'Time I was going' West have joined the ATR from 3 (UK) Div and thus far are really rising to the challenge of the training environment. Last but far from least is Cpl 'Where's the gym?' Darby who's talent on the athletics field was a great asset in the inter-Squadron competition. The elusive OC, Capt 'It's a course, honest' Howarth has been making his absence felt disappearing off swimming and coming back tanned for much abuse. Portsmouth, sure that's not Portugal? Lastly it would be amiss not to mention Sgt 'I'm in training' Ramsden for his starring role in the Troop 'Spot the Sergeant in the gym and win a pie' competition. Sgt Ramsden is sadly leaving the Troop at the end of this CMS(R) to go back to the field Army and his sense of spirit and good humour will be sorely missed.

DELTA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt H. J. Scott
Tp Sgt Sgt D. K. Icke

Delta Troop has just waved a fond farewell to the last intake of recruits, who by now will be in Blandford ready to start their trade training. Almost immediately the new intake has arrived bringing us forty-four Sappers ready to be educated by a Royal Signals training team. The last intake went without a hitch despite the best efforts of Foot and Mouth disease to interfere with the training programme. Notable highlights included spending Ex First Night in the woods next to the NAAFI, skiing on the dry ski slope at Ipswich for adventurous training and a map reading exercise on the airfield! The adventurous training package was memorable due to the spectacular crashes of Cpls 'No brakes' Campbell and 'Arctic Warrior' Bazzard, who were both outdone by Sig Burrows who managed to go the entire length of the ski lift backwards. Throughout the past twelve weeks Capt 'Kindness is weakness' Scott has continued to surprise the recruits with his novel approach to welfare issues. Meanwhile Cpl 'Time off' Payton continues to work on her tan in Blandford, whilst allegedly completing her Class One upgrading course. Cpl 'All the gear' Gough continues to motivate his recruits whilst amassing more equipment than he knows what to do with and winning the CO's competition for Best Section along the way. Sgt 'Dougie' Icke continues to extort money from recruits' parents, for the National Deaf Children's Charity, whilst training for the army triathlon in June. Best of luck Dougie!

Delta Troop
on the ski slope during the Adventure Training package

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Chris Biddulph
Tp Sgt Sgt 'Billie' Piper

This month has yet again been an eventful one for Echo 'Echotubbies' Troop, 1 Trg Sqn, with the training and Pass off of another twenty-eight free spirits going forth to the field Army. The usual characters were there to make it an interesting intake, special thanks to the following: Sgt 'Admin' Piper, 'is that really my job and what is wrong with going on to the RSM's rehearsal without a sash'. Cpl 'Half a job Bob' Green, whose belief that working hard the last week will make up for it, is just not withstanding. Of course we cannot forget the actual recruits, so the best moment has to go to Sig Harvey who left a very suspicious pair of leopard skin pants in his shell scrape when 'Bugged Out'. Not that he was made to wear them for a while afterwards over his uniform! We would like to give a special thanks to Cpl Smith of Bravo Tp, for the unbreakable morale and help he brought onto our final exercise, as our own NCO's keep hurting themselves! Finally huge congratulations to our robust leader Capt 'Iron-Buttocks' Biddulph, for raising a grand amount of money for charity at the London Marathon, and managing a proud personal time of two hours and forty-nine minutes.

FOXTROT TROOP

Tp OC Capt Dave Jackson
Tp Sgt Sgt Craig Purdon

This month has seen the mighty trots receive yet another bunch of recruits who are just bursting with energy, which is becoming far too much for the rapidly aging training team. Hello to Cpl 'Blacky' Blacklock from 1 Div who must be at least 100 years old, (and looks every day of it). Cpl Dale King is still being threatened with his drill course but keeps relying on the old excuse that the dog ate his pace-stick. Capt Jackson is now much more mature and sensible now that he has reached 26 but his claim for benefits to pay Squadron funds is falling on deaf ears. We have also been joined by Cpl 'Ann Marie' Ambury who takes our ginger contingent up to two along with Sgt Craig 'Strawberry Blonde' Purdon. For anybody wishing to contact us we will be either on the golf course, the athletics track or hiding from SHQ.

FAREWELL TO THE SQUADRON AND THE CORPS

by WO2 (SSM) A. V. Slaney

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the Officers and Soldiers with whom I have served with over my last 23 years in the Army. In particular are all of those individuals with whom I have had the honour of serving with here, in 1 (Training) Squadron at the Army Training Regiment Bassingbourn (especially my lifesaver Maria, our beloved Sqn Clerk). The quality of these people here at the Training Regiment has been extraordinary and has meant that over the last year I could concentrate on my resettlement and planning for my future outside of the Corp. Both Debbie and I will no doubt shed a tear or two as we are going through the gates on Friday 20 July 2001 for the last time, but the memory of those 23 happy years will remain forever.

Bassingbourn has been an absolute dream post for my last 3fi years and is one that I thoroughly recommend to any fellow Warrant Officer who enjoys being around extremely competent people, enjoys a challenge and wants a very rewarding and satisfying tour. A final thank you goes to WO2 (CSM) 'Taff (Junior)' Jolly for acting as my wingman during his time here 'cheers bud'.

I start my new life as a Police Officer on Monday 23 July 2001, so thankfully I will not have enough time to become maudlin or morose. I do hope that I bump into members of the Corps both past and present in my future life and please remember, if you have eight digits in your Regimental number you will probably be safe. If you only have six digits, chances are you will have dipped out.

'Good luck, good hunting and goodbye.'

NEWS FROM THE BALKANS

MULTI-NATIONAL BRIGADE (CENTRE) HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON OPERATION AGRICOLA 5

Sqn Comd Maj Paul Peel
RSM WO1 (RSM) Miles Webb

NEWS FROM KOSOVO

There have been split feelings in the Squadron since you read our last entry in The WIRE. There are some who would say that they can barely remember R & R, let alone ever working in Catterick. Others can barely believe that we have already been here 115 days and only have 25 to push (oh for the short whistle-stop summer tours – unlucky 20 Bde).

As the tour has progressed, things have become a little easier as we have learned some of the little tricks and easy way around problems. However, we have not been short of work, especially as we have recently lost a large number of people to R & R. Add to this the three or four days after R & R when people still require 'motivation' to do any work, and it all adds up. Our tasks for the last few months have not changed much with the exception of the locations. We've spent plenty of time deployed out of our own Brigade's area, working with both Brits and Scandinavians, as well as sitting on hill-top sites in peaceful bliss with no RSMs to 'find' jobs for us.

Once again, it hasn't all been work. The Officers, Warrant Officers and Sergeants' Mess had a number of highly successful functions, including dog-racing, Zulu, Commitments and Blues Brothers' nights, and the XL bar brought in the Irish Transport Regiment band and had a charity games night. Thanks to initiative and groundwork from WO2s Steve Legg and 'Sammy' Samanjoul, a band called 'Silk and Steel' came and gave us an open-air concert, playing for about four hours in total. The guys were a lot better singers than the girls, but nobody seemed to care as heads were continually pointing in the direction of the women. Even Cpl Grant 'Dougie' McDougall from Support Troop claimed to be having a good night!

CIVIL MILITARY OPERATIONS – by Capt Alex Clixby.

Throughout Op Agricola 5, 209 Sig Sqn have identified and undertaken numerous CMO tasks with the aim of helping the local Kosovan population; both the Serbian and Albanian communities. So far, we have managed to raise approximately £4,000 through donations from various organisations and from charity events that we have held. One such event was a sponsored abseil down Pristina's tallest building, the PTK tower that stands at 69 metres. From this abseil 2Lt Graham 'The Boy' Clarke, LCpl 'Shaggy' Palmer, LCpl Jase Whitehead and myself raised just under £1,000.

The registered Domain Name for the Beverley Boys' Archive - beverleyboysarchive.co.uk

One last photo to remember them by in case 2Lt Clarke's knots aren't quite up to scratch
(L-R): LCpls 'Shaggy Palmer and Jase Whitehead,
Capt Alex Clixby and 2Lt Graham Clarke

In all 86 'volunteers', from all over the Multi National Brigade (Centre) AO, abseiled off the building. This included the OC, Maj Paul Peel and WO1 (RSM) Miles 'I hate heights!' Webb, LCpl 'Shaggy' Palmer and LCpl Jase Whitehead also successfully completed the grueling 'Mile up, Mile down' sponsored event, where they climbed the steps from ground floor to roof of the PTK tower and then abseiled off – 25 times in total! It was an exceptional effort, although the pair of them did look rather worse for wear by the end of it. The money raised has been used to purchase an ECG machine for the hospital (all the money for this was donated by SOS Albania) and six new wooden benches for the hospital waiting room.

Sig Danny Watson and LCpl Kelly Wellburn caught on camera carrying the newly made benches into Pristina Hospital

I also wrote letters to two schools in Darlington asking them for toys and games for the children at Pristina hospital. After an assembly visit from SSgt (Now Sergeant Major, well done Jase!) Jase 'Impress the children' Smithurst, both the teachers and children at Firthmoor and Dodmire Junior School decided that they would like to help – who could resist that dashing figure in a set of combats?! Both schools managed to collect an amazing ten MFO boxes full of toys and games. These were delivered by Capt Simon Bristow, WO1 (RSM) Miles Webb, SSgt 'Tug' Wilson, Cpl 'Zippy' Hill REME, LCpl Greg Robinson, LCpl Kelly Wellburn, LCpl 'Woody' Wood, Sig Danny Watson, Sig Steve Shaw, Sig 'Scissors' Whittaker and myself. The 'kids' were delighted, as were the children at the hospital when we started handing out toys. It was great to see the youngsters, many of whom have had pretty miserable lives, smiling and laughing.

In order to show parity to the Serbian community, we have now shifted our focus to them. Maj Roddy 'Dark Horse' Sutherland of 32 (Scottish) Signal Regiment (V) planned a visit to the Serbian YU project building in Pristina. Approximately 120 Serbians live in the YU Project, a 'self contained' block of flats near the city centre. The residents cannot really leave unless under escort and the building is permanently guarded by soldiers from the UK Battle Group based in the City. The visit was to give toys, food and stationary to the children; it was a great success and ended with Maj Sutherland, Capt Simon Bristow, WO1 (RSM) Webb and myself (again) invited to the one and only shop for some food and drink. We could not decline this hospitality especially when red wine produced at the Serbian Monastery of Gracanica was offered!

We had a great time and were hosted so nicely by the Serbians; I was even adopted by a 50 year old Serbian woman, as I looked like her son (lucky man!). This part of the trip highlighted that the shop didn't have a freezer and could therefore not stock much of the foodstuffs that the residents wanted. During the course of our time there and after a few glasses of Monastery wine, we decided that we would purchase a freezer for the shop, using our money raised in the abseil. We later presented this to a very happy shopkeeper! With just three weeks of this tour left to go, we still have a few more projects planned at a few Serbian enclaves and we also have a sponsored 10km fun run to look forward to. Hopefully we can provide a bit of happiness for some of the locals of Kosovo.

HEADQUARTERS TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Simon Bristow
Tp SSgts SSgts Eric Williams and 'Tug' Wilson

Life in Headquarters Troop has been 'interesting' and varied for the last couple of months. In the COMMCEN it has been quiet by usual standards, especially in the last month, because everybody ingeniously decided to take their R & R at the same time. Among those missing 'la action' were LCpls Jase Whitehead, Kelly Garrett and Greg Robinson, who had extended extended leave as his wife had his 15th child. Also gone but not forgotten were Cpl Billy Russell and Sgt 'Scarlet Pimpernel' Clarkson, (though it is unknown whether he is on R & R or an extended gym break). To fill in the gaps, the COMMCEN liberated LCpls 'H' Dickson and 'Love Machine' Wood from Rover Tp and Sig Suzie Perkin all the way from COMMCEN Herford. Welcome to you all. These new additions however couldn't ensure that the COMMCEN personnel could break the laws of physics ie be on guard duty AND shift at the same time. This minor hiccup was more than offset by the major high point of the month: sandwiches in the night rations! Although it's not certain whether this will be enough for Cpl Billy 'Black Hole' Russell or LCpl Glen 'Rabid Dig' Armitage! Next door, however, it is another end of a quiet month in the NCC as the end of the tour approaches. Hand over notes are quickly being scribbled down onto random Post-It notes and Staff Paul Brannon has now finally realised that it is too late to sort out the ever troublesome Helpdesk, (but with the new hands-free kit all we need now are short skirts and nail varnish)!

The CLEO team has been busy with their DAGGER det (not BALOO, Yeoman!!), touring Kosovo and making sure that everyone can call everyone else. They had troubles but with a little hard work, a lot of head-scratching by Sgt Mark Brundle and absolutely no sleep they managed to get everything in and working – well done lads! Cpl 'Ski' McKie would like to pass his thanks on to the Whitehall operators for all the bone calls he has had to deal with including 'Do you have the number for Pte Smith? I think he is in the DWR'

The OATIS computer network team has also been busy ensuring that the staff all have their work to take home with them. Cpl Kev 'Has my hair grown back yet?' Duggan has been keeping the INTRANET up to date (although his wit has not pleased everyone), and Sgt Andy 'chat master' McNeil has been spending more and more time on the internet chatting to dirty women under the name of 'Little Man In The Boat'!

The POLYGON team has been extremely busy sunning themselves. Sig 'Mikey' Whatmough can't get any browner and the staff of the NCC has forgotten what Sgt Lenny 'Lord Lucan' Martin looks like. Some guys get all the easy jobs, but not as easy as Cpl 'Mac – what is his first name?' McMullen who is war-dodging back in the UK following a very poofy wrist injury – how did you get it again?

In the higher echelons, Staff Brannon and Yeoman Wright (but mainly Wrong!) have admitted defeat and have finally let the lads get on with it, as everybody else is looking forward to going home and leaving the Network Control Centre MNB(C) in the capable hands of 7 Brigade. Good luck lads, you're going to need it; you have a hard act to follow! Finally, a temporary 'á bientôt' to SSgt 'Taff' Williams who's headed back to the UK to prepare Catterick for our return, and welcome to SSgt 'Tug' Wilson, recently posted into the unit, who's filling his shoes for just long enough to join us on the medal parade!

LCpls Mark Carlisle (3 Div) and Kelly Garrett (19 Bde) officially celebrate the joining of augmentees to the Force Signal Squadron

RADIO TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Graham Clarke
Tp Sgt Sgt Andy Allen

Spirits are high, the weather is fantastic and sights are firmly set on the imminent arrival of 7 Brigade. Its satisfying to know that we will be well and truly into our leave by the time this issue of The WIRE hits the press, however equally sobering to realize that reading this article in the latest WIRE will signify our return from post operational tour leave. Back to the present. Certain worrying trends have become apparent over the past couple of months; firstly there are an alarming number of 'Slim Shady' wannabes sprouting up around the place, claiming sanctuary under the fact(?) that their jet black hair naturally goes blonde in the sun. Personally, I can see the legitimacy of their claim and pointed out to them how I experienced a similar problem; some confidential reports turn from 'A's to 'B's in the sun .....how uncanny! The Troop has continued its charity work with extraordinary efforts coming from LCpl 'Shaggy' Palmer, who partnered by LCpl Jase Whitehead and assisted by 2Lt Graham Clarke and Capt Alex Clixby, organised a highly successful charity abseil day. Thanks goes out to LBdr 'The Bomb' McKelvie for his outstanding efforts, filling one of our augmented posts in theatre. Good luck with the light gun conversion and enjoy Canada! Also to LCpl 'She'd get it' Lawson, LCpl 'Mono' Ryan, Sig Daveney, Pte 'Orvil' Knight, Spr 'Marty' Martin and Gnr 'Willy' Wilson for an interesting and lively tour. We'd happily have you back anytime.....cheers lads!

The Troop welcomes new arrivals LCpls Si and Sharon Johns from 1 Div, also Cpl Tweddell from 3 Inf Bde. 17 days to go! Watch out Harry's Bar, Jen Galley is amongst those returning.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Maj Dave Sacree

We have been here in Kosovo for just over three months and Support Troop have started to draw up handover plans ready for 7 Bde to come and take over. The Troop has taken on extra commitments with the deployment of a small detachment of troops to the border in a recent skirmish with the (former) baddies, which meant Sgt Mark 'Daddy' Brundle and LCpl Kelbie 'Bertie' Bassett actually having to do some work for once. Goodbyes to our beloved members of the Troop who are leaving, Cpls Tony 'Papa Hair' Raby and Darren 'Benger' Clough and farewell to one of the loudest men ever, Sig Ian 'Ten-men' Garbutt soon to be lance corporal. Congratulations to Ian and the best of luck to Tony and Daz on their Class 1 at Blandford.

NEWS FROM NORTHEN IRELAND

XV

HEADQUARTERS NORTHERN IRELAND AND 15 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col M. P. Llewellyn
RSM WO1 (RSM) McNaught

RHQ has seen even more movement this month, with a big thank you and farewell to the Chief Clerk, WO2 Andrea Dunford, who is off to join her husband in Germany. They will spend their summer in Kosovo - a strange choice for their holiday destination! Our best wishes also go with the Duty Movement Clerk, Mrs Julie Adamson, who is taking a two-year sabbatical for the birth of her second child. Very warm welcomes are extended to Mrs Rosemarie Benson and WO2 Lynn Modrick - both of whom have hit the ground running, with no chance of a warm up! The Commanding Officer celebrated his selection for promotion to Colonel in style, allegedly finishing at 0500hrs the following morning. Congratulations from all of the Regiment, Sir. He has assured us that he will remain in Command for his full tour, and it is doubtful that his working hours will reduce. With various top-level procedural reviews going on the changes look set to continue within the Regt, G6 Branch and HQNI. With the Marching Season almost upon us and having had a week of sunshine in May, the summer holiday is over.

MERCURY CUP ATHLETICS - THURSDAY 19 APRIL 2001

by LCpl Mates

The Mercury Cup Athletics competition was held in conjunction with the CO's Cup Athletics competition on Thursday 19 April 2001 at Lisburn Station. For those who aren't sure what the difference is, the CO's Cup is a Regimental Inter-Squadron Competition and the Mercury Cup is competed for by all the Signal Squadrons within Province. We could not have asked for a nicer day for the weather. As a result not only did we have all the competitors at this competition but many supporters too! Although the event was hard fought with some star performances throughout, the day certainly belonged to 233 Sig Sqn with undisputed victory. Worthy of note is the 233 girls' team who won every event! This included the high jump for Cpl 'High Flyer' Louise Parker, and the long jump, triple jump and 400m for LCpl 'Leaping' Leah Mates. The 100m and 100m hurdles were won by LCpl Lindsey Rakocevic, who also won the shot putt. LCpl Vanessa Brown steamed her way into an easy first place in the 200m. Cpl 'Sonny' Lake triumphed in the 800m and discus, and the javelin was secured by Cpl Billy Beaumon. Finally the 1500m was won by Lt Liz McLellan. As for the men, HQ Sqn put up a strong fight including SSgt Butler keeping up his usual outstanding performance all the way. The Squadron chain-of-command team strode to victory in the final race with Capt Rob Hamilton completing the final 400m with a comfortable lead. With strong athletes in all three Squadrons the male Morrison Cup team promises to be elite. As this article is published in August, we'll know by then if the self-confidence was justified!

If you've lost contact with an old friend, serving or retired, whh not put an advert in the LOST COMMS column of The WIRE?

LCpl Buttita (right) powering home to win
the Mercury Cup 4 x 100m Relay

NI SWIMMING AND WATERPOLO CHAMPIONSHIPS - WEDNESDAY 2 MAY 2001

by Sig Moore

The Northern Ireland Swimming and Waterpolo Championships were held at Thiepval Bks on Wednesday 2 May 2001. There were several major and minor units from around the Province competing for the title - the Regiment fielded a male and female team. The male team won by a clear lead and the females finished in sixth place. As a consequence the Regimental team will now be competing in the Army Swimming Championships - congratulations and best of luck to the team on the 27 June!

The 15 Sig Regt and HQNI Sp Bn Waterpolo team looking very smart in their bonnets!

REGIMENTAL FENCING TEAM

by Lt Liz McLellan

For the second time the Regiment was represented at the Army Fencing Championships held in Aldershot over the period 1-4 May 2001. Although some of the more experienced fencers were unable to attend due to career courses, it was good to see some enthusiastic 'new blood'. A Regimental grant has enabled the formation of the 'Theipval Cavaliers'. The fencing club is run predominately by members of 15 Sig Regt. However, all service personnel are welcome to be club members. The Thiepval Cavaliers already have support from 25 Engr Regt in Antrim and local external unit members include personnel from JCU (NI), Pioneers, 6 Regt RMP and 39 Inf Bde. Members of the club represented their own units with style at the Army Championships and individuals have subsequently been selected to represent the Army in the inter-Services at HMS Temeraire.

Army Fencing Championships - Female Sabre

REGIMENTAL GOLF COMPETITION - THURSDAY 3 MAY

by Capt Tim Grey

Unfortunately it seems as though the Regt's involvement within the Province Golf competitions is almost over before it has begun! In the NI AGA Scratch competition the Regt was represented by Sgt Ross Menzies (team captain), Maj Jamie Deans, Sgt Lyndon Box and LCpl 'Dinger' Bell. Unfortunately we were drawn against a team from 7 R Irish who seem to play rather a lot of golf in NI. We managed to win one of the four matches but are now out of the competition, having fallen at the first. Talking of falling at the first, both the I Tp and 225 Sig Sqn teams entered into the NI Handicap competition and were thrashed in the first round by 4 R IRISH and 7 R IRISH respectively (it's those semi-pro R Irish again!). However, the G6/NCC team managed to win their first round match against JSG (NI) and so the hopes of the Regiment now rest firmly on their shoulders.

NI ATHLETICS CHAMPIONSHIPS - WEDNESDAY 9 MAY

by Sgt Hopkins

The Northern Ireland Athletics Championships were held at Thiepval Bks on Wednesday 9 May 2001. The Championships were open to major, minor and female teams - although attendance from around the Province was poor. The first race started at 1000hrs with the sun beaming down and hardly a cloud in the sky. From the start 15 Sig Regt gained an impressive lead in the major Unit competition, securing First and Second place in the majority of events. The Ulster weather held out remarkably well and by the end of the afternoon most of the team had at least one medal each, the team silver and a healthy sun tan.

Capt McLean and Capt Foulkes battle it out in the Major Unit 800m

CO'S CUP CRICKET COMPETITION - THURSDAY 24 MAY

by Sgt Berry

With 225 Sig Sqn being the current CO's Cup trophy holders and HQ Sqns' cricket veterans, this was the perfect opportunity to stop 233 Sig Sqn's current winning streak in this years CO's Cup Competition. Unfortunately this was not to be! 233 Sig Sqn romped home to a 2-1 win with good batting scores and Capt Grey's 'school of bowling' demonstrations. In second place was 225 Sig Sqn with a memorable batting performance from WO2 (Supvr R) 'Big 6' Gardner coupled with the steady partnership of Sgt 'Golden Duck' Berry and Cpl 'On the chest' Nash. In third place was HQ Sqn with Sgt Drewett directing play and their 'almost' perfect plans! The weather was perfect and all the teams played with great enthusiasm and sportsmanship.

The 225 Sig Sqn cricket team looking just a little too relaxed in the glorious Ulster sunshine

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj D. T. H. Wilson
A/SSM SSgt Gratrick

COMMCEN TROOP - by LCpl Hayden

Tp Comd Capt S. A. Dixon
Tp SSgt SSgt Ripley

April was a big month of change for COMMCEN Tp. The most significant event was the installation of AMSCERPS into the COMMCEN to replace the CMS system. This has meant a steep learning curve and lots of hard work for all involved in the transition period. We have also said farewell to four members of the Tp - Cpl 'Richie' Evans, Sig Dave Green, Sig Pippa Henderson and Sig Nigel Green. Congratulations to Sig Nigel Green who is posted on promotion and good luck to you all in your new jobs in Germany.

MOTOR TRANSPORT TROOP

MT SSgt SSgt O'Brien

Yet again it has been another busy period for 15 Sig Regt MT. In addition to the normal jobs we also had to amalgamate our MT with the other main MT in Lisburn Stn to create 54 Tpt Sqn, RLC. Everyone worked hard to move all the equipment across to the new MT, less SSgt O'Brien who was on leave! There was a fond farewell function for everyone in the MT prior to the move and now everyone has settled in fine at the new Stn MT and are working hard - 'some things never change'. The new OC HQ Sqn, Maj Wilson presented all the departing drivers with their Regimental 'Cats'. We'd like to welcome Sig Porter to the Troop and would like to congratulate Sig Reveley and Karen on their first child Owen. We'd like to bid a fond farewell to Sig Stott, Sig Reveley, Sig Dunham, and Sig Fawcett who are all posted on promotion, and LCpl Lister who is posted to 7 Signal Regiment, we wish them all the best at their new Units.

225 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj M. J. Smith
SSM WO2 (SSM) Thorne

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt F. A. W. Stewart
Tp SSgt SSgt (Supvr R) Piears

A huge turnover of personnel has kept everyone busy over the last period. We wish JT Sid Churm and Cpl Col West all the very best for their future outside the Forces and thank them for all their time and effort over the past ten years. A big thank you to WO2 (Supvr R) Paul Gardner, SSgt (Supvr R) Dunn and SSgt (Suvpr R) Marrs for their combined 12 years service with the Squadron - all the best in your 'easy life' at JSSU Digby. Many thanks and the best for the future to SSgt (Supvr R) Jacklin who has finally escaped the stress of being Troop Staff Sergeant to move to greater things with EOD - you will be missed by all of the Troop. Also farewell to SSgt (Supvr R) Hill who moves across to EOD and congratulations to yourself, SSgt (Supvr R) Ball and SSgt (Supvr R) Marrs on your recent successful completion of the arduous Supvr R Cse. Thank you to the roulement personnel who keep the pressure off our posted operators - LCpl Buttita, CPO Cook, and CPO Bevan - it was an experience and a pleasure to hear your naval lantern-swinging anecdotes! All the best to Sgt Si Gray who has left the Reporters Section and moved to 2 MI Bn, Bulford. Finally thank-you and all the best to Capt Fi Stewart who short-tours to become Adjt, 31 (CofL) Sig Regt (V).

Welcome back to Cpl Evans, Cpl Fox and Cpl Kennedy who have returned having successfully completed their T1 upgrading courses. Also congratulations on the completion of your Supvr R Cse and welcome to SSgt (Supvr R) Ashworth and SSgt (Supvr R) Brooke, and welcome back to SSgt (Supvr R) Ball. Welcome also to Sgt Wright, Cpl Bebbington, Cpl Hauxwell and Cpl Nash who have been posted in. Welcome also to Cpl Dingsdale, Cpl Pilgrim, LCpl Baker, LCpl Walters and JT Kennedy who have arrived for roulement tours over the summer. Congratulations to LCpl Halliday on his well deserved selection for promotion.

