On 18 May, Charlie Watch and a small contingent of the Reporters Section enjoyed a long and hard paintballing (shooting each other mostly in the head!) on a rare sunny day in Ballykinler. The combatants were SSgt (Supvr R) Paul 'Not in the head again' Rowlands, SSgt Tony 'Sniper' Dodds, Sgt Mark 'Gunner' Hopkins, Cpl Dave 'Head Shot' Salter, Cpl Ollie 'Not the goggles again' Hardy, Cpl Mark 'Where is the flag?' Warburton, LCpl Chris 'Can't see a thing' Telling, LCpl 'Can't hit me' Fletcher and JT Davey 'Cannon Fodder' Hyndman. After several hot and gruelling matches the grand finale was a duel at ten paces between SSgt (Supvr R) Rowlands and JT Hyndman (only because they had paintballs left!). They stood back to back in the heat of the sun and SSgt (Supvr R) Rowlands ran his ten paces and shot JT Hyndman in the back of the head - he fell to the ground like a bag of spuds! When JT Hyndman came to his senses they had a re-match which resulted in SSgt (Supvr R) Rowlands being chased by JT Hyndman around the battleground. An excellent day out was had by all and nobody left without bruises or war wounds.

GOLF TROOP

Tech Adjt Capt R. J. Craig
FofS WO2 (FofS) Roberts
Tp SSgt SSgt Wilson

It has been an extremely busy period for G Tp, with all the Troop hierarchy changing. We warmly welcome Capt Craig, WO2 (FofS) Roberts, SSgt (FofS) Leach, Cpl Gray, Cpl Caffrey, Cpl Hayward, Cpl Pearson, Cpl Carrington and Cpl Barmby. We sadly say farewells to Cpl Matt 'Pie Eater' Williams who moves on to sunny Blandford and SSgt Paul 'Who?' Davey who is off to do some gardening in Middlesborough. A big pat on the back goes to the three 'time off boys' Sgts John Hatch, Lyndon Box and Craig Brankin on being selected for the FofS course. We would like to congratulate Cpl Lee Punyer on spending seven weeks on leave with stomach pain - we wish you a fast recovery.

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt P. R. Griffiths
Tp SSgt Sgt Milne

Another busy time for Sp Tp with lots of faces changing. Welcome to Cpl 'Pickles' Hayward, LCpl Blundell and Sig James. A sad good-bye is said to Sgt Dave Milne who leaves us to move to 12 MI Coy on promotion to Staff Sergeant and Cpl 'Richie' Holmes on his promotion to Sergeant. He has moved to Middle Wallop to work with the Diesel Pigeons. Finally and most importantly a 'fond farewell' to our NEW Volkswagen Passat, gone but not forgotten! It has been re-allocated to the Commanding Officer. Congratulations to Mrs Alison Graham who was awarded the Army Families Federation Rose Bowl 2001. It must be the first time our Alison has ever been stuck for words! Well done to Cpl 'General Fred' Deas on his engagement to Belinda and on passing his RSJCC. Tissues were handed out throughout the male population of the Squadron when LCpl 'Barbie Doll' Kendall became engaged, a sad day indeed for mankind! Congratulations to WO2 (SSM) 'Technology' Thorne on passing his CLAIT course. He now uses his computer for work instead of drying his towels on it. Thank you very much to Capt Fi 'I'm a lady' Stewart for redecorating the exterior of one of the Squadron cars on the way to the airport after WO2 (Supvr R) Paul Gardner's leaving party.

233 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. N. Walker
SSM WO2 (SSM) Tasker

First a very warm welcome to our new, permanent SSM fixture, WO2 (SSM) Pete Tasker who has joined us from Blandford. The Squadron also thanks SSgt Rob Allen for all the hard work and effort he has put in as A/SSM over the last period. Yet again, 233 Sig Sqn has been on the move. This has seen a greater consolidation of the Squadron geographically with SHQ, R Tp and TM Tp occupying the now refurbished Bldg 31. NCC remains 'down under' and poor old I Tp have been left behind, but still close at hand, over the road. Adventure Training season has arrived once more and thanks to the efforts of Sgt Mann and SSgt Allen it is well underway despite the restrictions imposed by Foot and Mouth outbreaks. Members of the Squadron have recently enjoyed a week in Enniskillen at the Adventure Training Centre where there was the opportunity for various water activities including canoeing and water skiing. By the time this reaches press Squadron personnel will also have experienced the joys of sailing onboard the 'Moyle Maiden'. Watch this space for stories of sea sickness!

INDIA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt T. Grey
Tp SSgt Sgt Menzies

The last few months have seen nothing out of the ordinary for the Troop. However, many exercises are now planned for the end of the year in far out places such as Florida and Nepal, let's hope they come off! Firstly our hellos - a big welcome goes out to Cpl Turner who will be joining the Troop for a short period of time and also to Cpl Mark Corber. A goodbye goes out to SSgt Mick Knowles who leaves the Army - all the best to him and his family in his new career with NOKIA. Cpl Jeff 'Jeffers' Ford has also left us for bigger (but not better!) things within COMMCEN Tp after only a few months and also farewell to LCpl Mark 'Ogri' Manby who leaves us for the delights of 7 Sig Regt. The biggest goodbye of all goes to the HQNI Small Computer Section (SCS) who join PC Repair within TM Tp. It is with great regret and sadness that we bid farewell to SCS who move into the renovated Building 31 although with them and SHQ leaving our building we may get some peace at last! After a long day at the crease India Tp won the Inter-Troop Cricket for the third year on the trot, so after a less than perfect start we are now back on track for success in the McKelvie Cup Competition.

NETWORK CONTROL CENTRE

Tp Comd Capt A. Haresign
Tp SSgt Sgt Johnson

We have recently welcomed several new arrivals to the Troop - LCpl Lindsay Rakocevic who arrives to us newly promoted and LCpl 'Dinger' Bell who joins us after successful conversion from ED to an Installations Technician. We also say goodbye to LCpl Jo Keith who heads off to 30 Sig Regt, and to WO2 (FofS) Rick Gorman who is off to 'Ssshhh! I'll have to shred you if I tell you'.

ROMEO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt R. A. Hamilton
Tp YofS WO2 (YofS) Yates
Tp FofS SSgt (FofS) Collins

No good stereotypical WIRE article would start without the obligatory welcomes. R Tp welcomes WO2 (YofS) 'Firestarter' Yates from 40 Sig Regt, SSgt (FofS) 'Brewboy' Collins from NIEW and LCpl Hiscock who has arrived straight from Blandford. Farewell to WO2 (YofS) 'Tac' Bartlett – a big thank you for all your time and effort to keep the Troop going when there was an under-manning problem in the Ops Room – some things never change. SSgt Mudway has left us for TM Tp, as has LCpl Lohse who couldn't hack it and had to move back to his 'slippers and pipe' lifestyle! Sgt Woolen has left for civvy street; we wish you, Karen and Keira all the very best and hope the new job goes well. With their departure came the obligatory leaving do. This enabled most of the Troop to get together for the first time since Christmas and it was certainly worth the wait. With plenty of money behind the bar, it wasn't long before everyone was in high spirits, a well-earned rest for the Troop after another busy period. On 4 May 2001 those not on essential duties boarded all available flights to the mainland as part of the NI 'mass exodus' to the Army v Navy rugby match. With summer around the corner the BBQ's should be getting cleaned down and prepared for the mass arrival of the singlies around to the Pads quarters!

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

Tp Comd Lt E. L. McLellan
Tp SSgt SSgt Mudway

The Troop continues to move along at its usual hectic pace, reacting to the multitude of tasks hitting us from all sides as well as re-locating to our newly refurbished Troop lines. We start off by welcoming our new Troop Staff Sergeant - SSgt Dave Mudway from R Tp. We must also welcome into the fold all members of SCS including Sgt Lynn Sergant, Cpl Andy Butterfield and Cpl 'Paddy' Briggs who have merged with PC Repair to reform Small Systems Group. With so many arrivals some room has to be made, and so we say a sad farewell to those that are leaving us to move on to pastures new. Congratulations to Cpl Sonny Lake who has now left for 11 Sig Regt on her T1 upgrading course and Cpl Danni Tutton who (just married) is joining 259 Sig Sqn in sunny Cyprus. SSgt Flo Jarvis has also left the light to join I Tp. Good luck to you all and many thanks for all your efforts during your time with the best Troop in the Regiment!

CORPS SKIING CHAMPIONSHIPS - ZELL-AM-SEE

The Team departed from Mahon Barracks on Thursday 23 November to catch the overnight ferry from Belfast to Liverpool. The Ford Transit was packed to bursting point with most people seemingly bringing all their worldly belongings. From Liverpool the Team made its way towards Dover with a slight diversion via Reading in order to pick up the new team skis and 2Lt Simon Lord, fresh from his Troop Commanders Course. 2Lt Lord looked weary, drained and rather pale; the course had done its job!

On arrival in Dover we checked into our luxury transit accommodation at Connaught Barracks, alarms set for 4am. On route we planned to stop at an American PX to stock up on some essential skiing gear, credit cards at the ready. Once the purchases had been made the Team moved on, wallets considerably lighter. Amazingly we did arrive in Zell at the estimated time with a little direction from LCpl Tony Ramwell who had competed there the year before. Within Zell there was no snow at all and the Glacier at Kaprun had been a test of everyone's resolve as temperatures plunged well below freezing. The decision was made to travel to St Jakob near the Italian border, 11/2 hours away. The trip was worth it as the conditions were good and the slopes were not open to the public, therefore no lift queues!

The first day was an opportunity to find our ski legs. The level of expertise ranged from never having been on skips up to JSSI. Sig 'Ritchie' Squires had the perfect opportunity, as a complete beginner, to tap the expertise of LCpl Tony Ramwell on a one-to-one basis. By the end of the day he was snow-ploughing like a dream. Elsewhere on the piste it seemed as though Cpl Ed Chwieseni had led the Team slightly astray in his skiing ability. On the way down he was talking the talk, in reality he most definitely was not walking the walk! The first race day was Individual GS, conditions were good and the Team was quietly confident. It was soon clear a personal battle was developing between 2Lt Lord and LCpl Ramwell, the latter making a mistake on the second run, 1-0 Lord. Again Sig 'Ritchie (Bandit)' Squires pulled an impressive 23rd place out of the bag in his first ever race after only a week and a half on snow. Unfortunately the result could not be repeated in the Team GS. The best three times were to count out of the four nominated members, finishing was vital. After the first run things were looking good, we were in about fifth. However, LCpl Ramwell had a slight mishap and fell. The message was passed back we all must finish. It seems in the excitement Sig Squires forgot this and also fell. 12th place, the team captain was not happy.

After a couple of social beers at the weekend all was forgiven and the focus was now firmly on the final week and the slalom. By midweek the time had come. LCpl Ramwell professed that slalom was his forte, it needed to be as he was 2-0 down. If the final days racing proved to be a white out this would count as both individual and team slalom, the pressure was on. It was his forte and second in the individual was a medal worthy effort. 2Lt Lord and Cpl Hunter had produced an excellent first run seeing him placed 13th. For the second run he decided it would be unethical to beat his team captain and graciously finished 65th, well done you. We now came to the final day's racing. The culmination of all our hard work, the team slalom. Conditions were perfect, our waxing technique had been carefully honed over the three weeks and if we all stayed upright this could be our moment of glory. After run one LCpl Tony 'Slalom' Ramwell was fastest on the hill with the rest of the team close behind. Then disaster struck. Going out for the second run he looked good then, halfway down, he decided to leave his skis at a gate as he continued for another 100m. An interesting decision and one that looked as though it had cost us a medal. After a quiet chat with his team captain, without cherry brandy, he graciously offered to buy the rest of the team drinks. After driving back to the accommodation thinking only of what could have been, a couple of social beers were decided upon to try and drown our sorrows. The other option of drowning LCpl Tony 'Slalom's my forte' Ramwell in Zell Lake was only just rejected 3-2.

The final seed list was produced, 4-1 Lord. Individual combination, 4-2 Lord. The prizes went according to the form-book with 16 Signal Regiment laying claim to almost everything. Then Sig 'Ritchie (Darkhorse)' Squires picked up 'Best Novice' and 'Most Improved'. Things were looking up. Now came the moment of truth, the Team Slalom. First was 16 Signal Regiment, Second came 7 Armd Bde and Third was 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn! 2Lt Lord's thank you speech had most close to tears or it may have just been rather smoky, but it was a glorious moment all the same. The journey back to Portadown flew by as each time races were recollected the times became quicker and quicker and the jumps bigger and bigger .... but on the horizon Serre Chevalier and the Divisional Championships beckoned.

EXERCISE SPARTAN HIKE
(DIVISIONAL SKIING CHAMPIONSHIPS),
VILLENEUVE -FRANCE

After the Christmas and New Year celebrations it was time to focus on the job in hand, the Divisional Skiing Championships in Villeneuve, Serre Chevalier, France. On Friday 5 January, 2001, 2Lt Simon '4-2' Lord, Cpl Sean '4 pint wonder' Hunter, LCpl Tony 'I stepped out of my binding' Ramwell and Sig 'Ritchie (Master-chef)' Squires once again left Mahon Barracks to represent the Squadron and the Brigade. After a 12-hour journey, in our slightly more luxurious Land Rover Discovery, we hit Villeneuve, France. The signs were good, there was snow in the resort with more forecast. Not so good was on opening our apartment finding a dog and people's clothes lying everywhere. After a quiet chat with the Ski-world rep the problem was resolved and we unloaded the kit. The location was ideal with the first slope a mere 50m from our front door.

The racing didn't start for six days, giving us ideal opportunity for some quality training. Initially we hired extreme carvers to improve our technique and introduce us back into the swing of things in a slightly more light-hearted way. The conditions were perfect, good compact snow and excellent visibility. They seemed to have done the trick as on moving back to standard carvers the difference in the way we skied was clearly evident. Sig Squires soon settled into his role as top chef preparing a veritable feast each evening, generally pasta or rice based, thought the flat did have an annoying tendency to keep tripping the power as soon as more than two electrical appliances were switched on. A definite death trap!

The main differences between the Corps and Div Championships was firstly the standard of skiers and secondly the number of disciplines. Now included were Super G and Downhill. The final seed points achieved in Zell am See carried forward to give initial seedings in France. First race was the seeding Giant Slalom used as a confirmatory check. It was steep and very icy particularly if going anywhere lower than 50th. The following day was the Individual GS, LCpl Ramwell in the top 15 and looking good. However, a tumble in the second run nullified his hard work. The remaining three members' positions didn't change, all finishing near their seedings. Things then went from bad to worse. The Team GS saw LCpl Tony 'My Ski Slipped' Ramwell living up to his name and Sig 'Ritchie (I didn't see the gate)' Squires writing off our chances of glory.

From the lower section of the mountain the races moved up to 1000m for the Super G and the Downhill. This was new territory for everyone except LCpl Ramwell and the emphasis was on completing the race, as this was to be a combined Individual and Team event. One race, all or nothing. At last we all managed to stay on our feet! Again everyone made up places but the competition was too good to make any significant changes to our overall position. From Super G we remained up the mountain and moved onto two days Downhill training. A prerequisite for being able to compete in the main race was being able to complete two runs down the 2km course. The conditions continued to improve all the time, in fact the French maintained it was the best race piste they had for ten years. The big test for most people was the jump positioned after five gates, by which time you had enough speed to get some serious air. There was some impressive wipe outs with varying styles being employed over the lip of the jump. It seemed that the Downhill was about to punish anyone who got it slightly wrong. We were right. On race day reports soon made their way back up to the top that the best racers were struggling to stay upright particularly in the compression at the finish. This was spread round the team and everyone agreed to be careful. 2Lt Simon 'Downhill's my Forte' Lord proved to be correct as he finished 24th from a start position of 58th. Sig 'Ritchie (Banzai)' Squires finished a very creditable 69th from a start position of 110th managing to beat Cpl Sean 'I knew I should have waxed my skis' Hunter. LCpl Tony 'I was going too fast boss' Ramwell yet again found himself having a quiet chat, without cherry brandy, with 2Lt Lord.

The big races now over it was back down the mountain and back to early starts for the remaining two slalom races. Could LCpl Tony 'Slalom's my forte' Ramwell deliver the goods again as at the Corps or was his bad luck set to continue? He redeemed himself slightly by finishing 21st from a start position of 120th and only narrowly missed out on a well deserved snowballing for being most improved on the day by the grace of God. With talk of the Army Championships now on everyone's lips 2Lt Lord looked in a favorable position to possibly qualify. Seeded 44th with a good team slalom result could see a last minute entrance. After a team talk emphasising the importance of finishing the final event with the Northern Ireland trophy within our grasp, it was time for the final event. After ten days racing everyone was feeling rather tired but keen to do well and take the trophy from under the RGBW team's nose. Alas it wasn't to be. After what looked to be a good first run with the majority of the top 20 falling 2Lt Lord was lying 25th. However, at protocol eight names were read out for missing the same gate, you can guess who was included! Despite all involved swearing blind they hadn't missed it, the protocol judges stood by the gate judge's decision and that was the end of that! Again LCpl Tony 'I told you slalom's my forte' Ramwell finished a very credible 21st, but by then it was too late. A sad end to the Divisional Championships with no silverware to show for our valiant efforts save Sig 'Ritchie (Can I come next year?)' Squires who picked up the 2nd best novice award for his Downhill effort.

LCpl Tony Ramwell suddenly realises he still hasn't finished a race and that is why his start position is 108!

CHIEF G6 VISIT

Lt Col Llewellyn, Chief G6, chose to visit 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn on Valentines Day 2001. Was this an indication of the caring attitude he wished to portray towards the Squadron? The programme for his morning visit had managed to include four change parades; a cunning plan devised by Maj Paul Connors the AO. Following coffee and biscuits with the OC Sqn, Maj Duncan 'The Cat' Warne, the 2IC Capt Andy 'Richie Cunningham' Parfitt took the helm and launched into his G3 Ops plan, this was planned to last 30mins. However, after much questioning from Chief G6 and much bluffing from the 2IC, the timings began to slip. Poised next door was LCpl Bruce 'Kevin Costner aka The Bodyguard' Morrison ready to deliver his Peasemore brief. Lt Col Llewellyn seemed impressed, from there he moved across the corridor into the COMMCEN where Sig Greg 'Diesel' Price showed the correct technique for shredding paper, for which he has a hidden talent.

At this point 2Lt Simon 'OIC Sport' Lord and SSgt Lee 'Hoppy' Hopkins intervened and guided the Chief G6 round to TM Section. Sgt Kier 'Gilly' Gilchriest moved straight in thrusting sets of waterproof clothing, harnesses, climbing gear and safety helmets in his direction. After mumbled excuses of the waterproofs being a little too restrictive and the harnesses being a little too supportive in the crotch area, the time had come to scale the mast. The scene was akin to mans' first steps on the moon, the crowd waited with baited breath for the climb to begin, slowly at first, the third platform looming 30m above. Having only stopped a couple of times to catch his breath, or maybe just admire the view, he was greeted by LCpl L. J. 'Ey Sir' Murray. Lt Col Llewellyn seemed to experience a few problems in translating the required drills, in order to return to terra firma, due to LCpl Murray's 'slight' Scottish accent. This was eventually rectified and Chief G6 did his best starfish impression sailing lightly back to the rather relieved OC Sqn, RSM, AO, Tp OC et al gathered below. After peeling himself out of the protective clothing and equipment, he promised to go all the way to the top next time, though no one else seems to remember him making such a statement. However, I'm sure he wouldn't want to disappoint the lads.

Lt Col Llewellyn prays that the harness swaying in the wind behind him does not in fact need to be attached to anything

TOUGH GUY COMPETITION - by Sig Foster

The Tough Guy Competition is an annual challenge as part of the Mercury Cup. It sounds simple on paper, but predictably in reality it is very different. Run over one day it is designed to test the stamina, dexterity and guts of the Royal Signals soldiers who take part. Despite the title, female soldiers are encouraged to enter.

First up was the load carry. A 100lbs stretcher and a 100lbs ammo box to be carried over a 3km course in the fastest possible time. Over all we did well and came in at around 19 minutes, a respectable time. We did not, however, have time to pat ourselves on the back as by the time we had stuffed our lungs back down our throats we had to be on the next event, the exercise machines. Yet again, another event that seemed fairly simple on paper but not in reality. The team had to 'travel' as far as possible on the rowing machines and the exercise bikes in half an hour. This worked out to be five minutes on the rowers and another five on the bikes. Let me tell you, that burning pain in your legs is the best feeling in the world, especially as the next event, with only a couple of minutes rest, was a multi stage fitness test. The ideal being that there would be an average taken from the lowest score and the highest score to work out a total. Last but not least was the swimming event. Fully clothed we had to swim as many lengths as humanly possible in half an hour. Different points were awarded for different strokes with the maximum score being allocated to the lane that had a burden or in this case a large traffic cone. That's right, apparently we had not had enough punishment. Where do they get the jokers that think these things up? This was our best event and that was ironic as it was the one we were all worried about before we started.

At the end of the swimming we were eventually allowed to relax and were given about an hour before we had to congregate for the prize giving in the bar. Despite our best efforts we still managed to come third (albeit by one point) and had to be dragged from the bar screaming and shouting and asking for opposition to be disqualified, (well not really). The rest of you should be warned that I have no doubt in my mind that we will be back next year.

Let's get straight to the point, the seniors were well and truly thrashed. No two ways to say it, beaten by the juniors. However, let's tell the whole story.

It was a windy, cold and wet day in February (the 23rd in fact) when the juniors challenged the seniors to a good old-fashioned football match. They accepted of course with the usual banter, ie: how good do you want your CR this year and all the rest of the intimidation, which did not effect us one bit. So, the kick-off arrived, and the referee (a Sergeant I might add!) blew his whistle. The first twenty minutes were quite uneventful, with the members of each team checking each others skills. Which didn't take long for the Juniors, I can tell you. The deadlock was finally broken, or should that be the floodgates were opened, by the Juniors and from there it never stopped. The OC, Maj Duncan 'The Cat' Warne, (who was the goalkeeper) totally lost the plot, wandering around his area with the ball asking when his six seconds started! To which the whole sideline screamed that they had started five seconds ago and that he should throw the ball as quickly as possible! The pressure had obviously got to him.
The Seniors were let a few consolation goals just to keep them sweet but the referee decided to help them out by sending off four of our players, but due to the skill of the Juniors this did not help.

After the match, all players went to the Whynge Inn to partake in a few orange juices. Overall the event was a total success and everyone involved enjoyed it. Hopefully this will become a regular event with different sports, so everyone in the Squadron can get a chance to be involved.

PARACHUTING - by LCpl Bradshaw

On 24 March eight members of Comms Tp attended a one-day parachuting course held at Ballykelly. Cpl Dave Tweddell organised the event and from the offset the day looked promising as the clouds were clear and the weather was fine, we all hoped that we would be able to get our jump in, which for most of us would be our very first. We started the day with the lessons covering amongst other things landing, steering the parachute, how to leave the plane and the safety aspects. Nobody's confidence was boosted by the number of lessons that covered what to do if the parachute didn't open or if the lines snapped, or what to do if you are going to hit the floor at 40 mph! Tales of landing in the Loch, crashing into hangers and getting caught up in the plane at 3500ft didn't help either, but we were assured by the instructor that these events were rare and it was completely safe if we did what we had been shown! After our final lesson we waited with anticipation as the plane went up for the first time to check the cloud base. Unfortunately we were informed that jumping didn't look lively for today and after a brief wait we gave. up, promising to return as soon as possible. As we all completed the training successfully we can return to complete our jump in the near future and then subsequent jumps for a small fee, with only a brief refresher needed on the skills we learnt. We all look forward to returning to Ballykelly this time with a bit more luck on completing our jump.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

This month TM Tp say goodbye to three of its more memorable members, Sig Jim 'New Man' Wright and LCpl 'G' Pyrah have ventured east to sun themselves in Cyprus for three years. Cpl 'Jase' Craddock returns to the mainland to command a Det in Coventry at 35 Sig Regt (V). All is not lost. We do say a big hello to Cpl Dave Owen. A class one technician posted in from Hereford. Cpl 'Bob' Bowden joins us from Blandford where he has just passed his Class One Technician Course. On the rigging side of life, we are joined by Sig King and LCpl Sankey from Cyprus. To all those who have left us, good luck for the future, and to all those that have just arrived, we hope that you have a good two years.

TOUGH GUY 2001- by Sgt Danny Steele

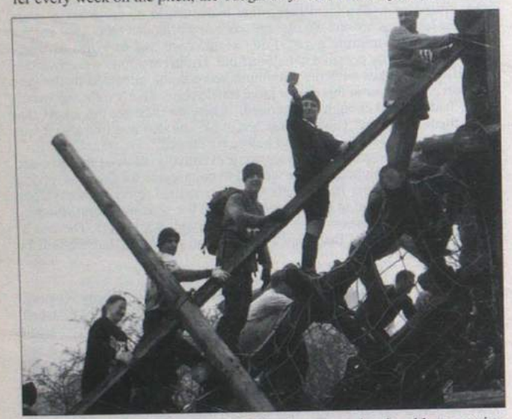
What better way to spend a very cold, frosty January morning than to be at 'Mr Mouse Farm' - a place five miles outside Wolverhampton. Yes, it's Tough Guy 2001 (the year of the moustache). In total there were 4000 of us attempting to complete the course – 16 miles, as the crow files, of the most difficult terrain and obstacles you could hope to meet. Obstacles such as 'Somme Battlefield' (run through fire, leap water trenches). 'Dunkirk' (swim the whole lake) and 'Stalag Escape' (belly crawl full body on the floor) are definitely not for the faint hearted!

The Tough Guy Competition has a long history of fancy dress - from ballerinas to SAS troopers. This year it had its first ever football referee. Yes... ME!! Well, when you think of the amount of abuse and torture I suffer every week on the pitch, the Tough Guy should be very easy.



The course was difficult enough, but it was good to be able to caution people for time wasting, cheating and faking injuries - not to mention sending people off for using abusive language! During the course I caught up with my mate 'Wilkie', a Tough Guy veteran who has not only completed the course 12 times before, but was ALSO carrying a 50lb Bergan! A typical Hereford man! The most difficult part of the course was the 'Dunkirk' obstacle - I was so cold coming out of the lake that 'I felt as though I could sing soprano (yes, it was that cold). The secret to getting through Tough Guy is to keep going and to have a sense of humour. The comradeship is unique to the competition - where else would you find Hell's Angels alongside business executives? I have talked about Tough Guy so much that I have managed to rope in one new recruit (or 'wet neck', to use the official name), for next year - WO2 RQMS Chris Davies (Sniper and senior Brecon trained) - I do hope his life assurance is in order - he'll need it! So if any of you belties, boy scouts and lanyard commandos would like a real challenge then feel free to contact:

MERCURY CUP ATHLETICS - by Sig Kerry O'Connor

On 19 April 2001 'athletes' from 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn took part in The Mercury Cup Athletics competition at Thiepval Bks, Lisburn. On reaching Lisburn there were a few surprises for all the competitors as they found out what events they had been 'volunteered for'. Everyone quickly got into the spirit of things, especially Cpl Wayne Topping, who warmed up his lungs by running around the track with a cigarette in his mouth. Cpl Matt Dawson achieved our only first position, in the 110m hurdles, who excited at winning his event, finished the race with a spectacular forward roll. Sig 'Lanky Legs Crane' Jones and Sig 'Ritchie' Squires attempted the long jump but only managed a total of 3m between them. LCpl 'Big Dave' Terron came a lucky third in the javelin, which was a surprise to us all because three out of his four throws were disqualified. In the male 4 x 400m relay the lads were in a good position until the RQMS, WO2 Davies, tripped over his own feet and dropped back to last place, unfortunately the 2IC, Capt Parfitt, ran an exciting last leg and pulled them back to second place. Everyone enjoyed the day laughing at everyone else's sporting mishaps. Surprisingly the Squadron reached a respectable third place that rounded off an enjoyable day off work.

NISAAM 2001 - by Sig Adam King

23 - 27 April 2001 saw the annual NISAAM (Northern Ireland Skill At Arm Meeting) at Ballykinler ranges contested between 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn, 39 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn, 15 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn, 8 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn, The AGC, RMP, Int Corps and all of the Infantry Units. The competition was made up of a Pistol Shoot, a March and Shoot, a Combat Shoot and several normal Rifle Shoots. 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn put in a five-man team of crack shots (Hmmmm), Sgt Rob McCorkell, Cpl Dave Owen, LCpl Chris Williams, LCpl Daz Owen and Sig Adam King. This was Sig King's second major skill at arms meeting, the first being the CORPSAAM of 1998 where he won the Best Young Soldier category. Overall the team did not do itself justice, in comparison to the individual shoots where there was some very good shooting. LCpl Chris Williams and Sig Adam King were placed in the top 20 of the individual pistol competition, which was good considering the overall standards. Cpl Dave Owen was placed third in the moving target shoot. Sig Adam King was placed in the top ten for the Roupell shoot, which is a competition of 100, 200, 300 meter shooting in different positions. LCpl Chris Williams impressed the team with his overall shooting and the speed in which he flew down the range in the falling plate shoot. Sgt Rob McCorkell and LCpl Daz Owen had a good FIBUA shoot putting themselves in the top half of the score sheet. In the overall standings Sig Adam King, Cpl Dave Owen and Sgt Rob McCorkell finished in the top 15% of Northern Ireland. With some hard work and practice 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn should be able to put in a team which will do well next year and maybe even bring back some silver wear.

THE BRIGADIER'S CUP 6-A-SIDE FOOTBALL COMPETITION
by LCpl Murray

The Brigadier's Cup is a six-event competition being run over a 12 month period, with one event taking place every other month. Each one is being organised by a different JNCO. The six different events are Rugby, held in February, Football, Badminton in June, Golf in August, Clay Pigeon in October and finally Basketball in December. The competition is between Comms Tp, Sp Tp and the Bde HQ. After I had put in a lot of hard work to organise the competition, with the occasional little tip from the RSM, the 6-a-Side football took place on 27 April at Drumadd Barracks, Armagh. The first game was between Comma Tp and Sp Tp; Sp Tp won 2-0. Up next Comma Tp against Bde HQ. The Brigade team won 1-0, leaving Comms Tp down and out with both their games lost. So it was on to the final game, Bde HQ v Sp Tp. After the final 20mins the scores were tied at 1-1. It would have to be decided by a penalty shoot out. After only seven of the scheduled ten penalties Sp Tp came out the victors by 3-1. It was then off to the bar for a couple of drinks and time for the OC Sqn, Maj Warne, to present the medals to the winning Team. Having already won the Rugby, Sp Tp are off to a flying start, however, I am sure Comms Tp and Bde HQ are determined to do well in the Badminton to try and pull some points back.

NORTHERN IRELAND ATHLETICS DAY 9 MAY 2001
by Sig Dave Smart

After a lot of waiting around for the transport, the 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn athletics team set off to conquer all at Thiepval Bks, Lisburn, the location for the NI Athletics Championships 2001. On completion of the registration and the Team Captain's briefing, each of the elite team members waited with anticipation for their chosen event to start. Capt Cowan excelled in the 5000m and W02 (FofS) Ross, despite his age, managed to storm into a first place position in the 800m. Unfortunately LCpl Morrison was late for his first event but went on to be victorious in the shot put in the afternoon. Cpl 'Sport Billy' Dawson competed in almost every event and proved he was a worthy asset to the team by winning nearly all of them. Cpl 'Hatch' Hatcher competed in the javelin and discus events and showed 12 MI Coy what he was made of. Sig 'Marathon Man' Dave Smart can second in the 400m even though there were only two people running. Unfortunately Cpl 'Wayne' Topping who competed in the 400m hurdles and long jump, couldn't stop for the results and prize giving as he had a pressing engagement with FRY. LCpl Sankey exerted himself for the 100m event and managed to gain an excellent position. The finale was the 4 x 400m relay, our team comprised of Capt Parfitt, Sgt Maxwell, Cpl Dawson and LCpl Sankey. As each member of the relay team completed his leg, it became obvious that the team was going to be victorious. To increase morale the Troop OC, 2Lt Lord turned up to give the team his utmost support for the prize giving. All in all an excellent 'day out due to perfect weather and team spirit result in 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn becoming the NI Minor Unit Athletics Champions.

WATER SPORTS DAY - by Sig Dan King

The time of year had arrived again for the speed boat and the jet ski to be dragged out of the store and some pain inflicted on those stupid enough to participate in a bit of 'water sports'. The day got off to a flying start (not) when it was discovered that some bright spark had left fuel in the jet ski from last year, which obviously made it run a treat. LCpl Stevie 'When's the bar open?' Kite and Cpl Marty 'Old Man' Thomas endeavored non-the less and successfully got both the boat and the jet ski up and running by 1430hrs in the afternoon. Finally with all the kit up and running we attempted to brew it again. Everyone was really impressed with the high quality pulling power of the wet suits so in the end it was decided we would go without, even though the water was Baltic. The sun was out and so were the big boys around the barbecue, LCpl Tony 'I'm in charge' Ramwell, LCpl Dave 'Get in my belly' Terron and SSgt Col 'Raw chicken is good for you' Lymburn. After an hour pumping the banana boat up, Cpl John 'Two can van damme' Blowes collapsed in a heap. We then proceeded to venture onto the water for all of ten minutes before it deflated in the middle of Lough Neagh. Towards the end of the day after ten burgers, four hot dogs and some 'healthy' salad, LCpl Dave Terron decided to go out on the jet-ski. After five minutes he had managed to break it, leaving himself stranded in the middle of the Lough. The stranded sailor now had to make some jet-ski buddies to tow him back. Luckily he managed to make it back in one piece. Some of us were not so lucky, while on the banana boat I managed to split LCpl Gillian Williams' lip open. By this time it was time for all the aching sailors to return to camp having had a quality day out.

STARLIGHT CHALLENGE 23 MAY 2001 - by Cpl Neil Hatcher

On 23 May, 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn entered two teams into a 6-a-Side football competition to raise money for the Starlight Childrens' Foundation, a charity for terminally ill children. The money goes towards a trip to Disney World or a computer to give the children something positive to focus on. With this in mind we deployed to Ballykinler on a glorious sunny morning with expectations high. On arrival and looking at the fixtures list, we noticed a team named 'The Professionals'. There was a brief moment of concern as how they had managed to get a team of pros but that thought vanished at the sight of six lads running about in curly wigs and leather jackets, definitely Bodie and Doyle, rather than Brady and Cruyff! The 'A' Team had a few problems in negotiating the group stages, just one defeat against the RMPs, the goals were scored mainly by Cpl 'Robbie' Robson, Pte 'Jim' Ellis and Pte 'Stevie' Wilkinson although they missed more than they scored. In the quarter-finals the Brigade dictated the game and scored through Jim Ellis while there were still missed chances. In the semi-finals we played RTS, who we had already beaten in the group stage. The game was tense with not many chances and was decided by a defensive mistake by 2Lt Simon Lord. His short back pass gifted them the winner, it was a cruel way to finish but everyone enjoyed the day and managed to get a decent tan, making a change from the rain. More importantly a lot of money was raised for this worthwhile charity.

39 INFANTRY BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (213)

Sqn Comd Maj A. R. Knott
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. M. Lockwood

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

A sad farewell is bid to SSgt Stu Smart AGC who left on commissioning. We certainly wish you and your family the very best of luck in the Officer Corps. Into his shoes has stepped SSgt Alan Hatton AGC, the new Chief Clerk. Welcome!

SSgt Hatton demonstrates that he will not be lying down on the job

Welcome also to the new Training Wing SNCO, Sgt Paul Conroy, who has taken over from Mr Stevie Stoker. He has already made his mark on the Squadron, cutting about and making things happen. Best wishes go to Stevie Stoker in his new civilian life. Congratulations to Capt A. J. Smith on his recent engagement to Miss Catrina Porter. We wish you every happiness together and are sure the wedding in St Lucia will be perfect. Does she know what she is signing up to?

EXERCISE MOURNE MINDER

Well done to all those who took part in the Unit ITD exercise. The biggest thank you must go to Sgt Paul Conroy and his team for their authentic First Aid stand, complete with bleeding, breathing, breaks and burns. The team is still trying to remove fake blood from their hands.

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP

Tp Comd Lt S. Y. Richardson
Tp SSgt SSgt R. J. Atherton

OPERATIONS SECTION

Just one welcome this issue, which goes to Sig Ian Walker recently arrived from 7 Sig Regt, we hope you will be very happy here, especially when being barman one month after arriving.

On the farewell front however we have a few. Goodbye to Cpl Kenny Purdie who, after being posted in November 2000, came off the promotions board subsequently losing his new job, then had his next post disestablished, and is now finally leaving Province for sunny Cyprus. Kenny you have been an asset to SYSCON and Rover Group and we wish you well. Farewell also to LCpl Martin Kennie who leaves us on promotion and goes to 7 Sig Regt. We also congratulate you on your recent marriage to Miss Sarah Wynn and hope you will have a long and happy life together. Thank you too for your contribution to SYSCON/Trials and Rover Group.

Last but not least we say so long to Pte Andy Aitchison RLC, also leaving us on promotion to AFNORTH. Thanks you for all your hard work and long hours in driving the Brigade Command. OC Comms thanks you as well for giving her lots of practice writing character references and fighting soldiers' corners. Try to stay out of trouble, enjoy having your stripe back, and don't forget us.

The Crypto Cell have had a trying month with various inspections being the order of the day. It is with, a smile that we can report they passed without a hitch and in fact a glowing report from CDA was received. So well done to Cpls 'Del' Delaney and Brett Grist for burning the midnight oil in preparation.

PUBLIC ORDER TRAINING

The 1st Bn Argyll and Southerland Highlanders organised a Brigade Public Order Training package at Ballykinler Training Centre between 26 March and 6 April 2001. 39 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn were allocated a training opportunity with F Company, 9th Bn Royal Irish. So Rover Group and various nutters deployed with the Royal Irish to have bottles, stones and petrol bombs thrown at them in the pouring rain. Such was certain Troop members poor admin that on visiting, the OC Squadron had to lend his gortex to prevent one Signaller from collapsing with hypothermia. However, it was delightful to see that for once Pte 'Stretch' O'Hare had listened to what he had been instructed and wore his sexy green thermal leggings. He was equally pleased when set alight by a petrol bomb, which burnt his trousers, and his legs were saved by the leggings. However, the end result was that he looked more like a tramp than normal. Well done to Pte Hayley Andrews who managed to put out Pte 'Val' Hardy, whilst allowing 'Stretch' to burn.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE SECTION

No arrivals this month, just the departure of Sgt Alvin 'Billy' Lilburn. He has left the Troop on promotion, so congratulations to you, but he has defected upstairs to join the newly formed Ops Team II as Sites Manager. The Riggers wish you well and invite you to drop in for the occasional coffee. The Technical Maintenance workshops have recently been uncharacteristically busy (sarcasm don't you just love it). Under faultless, yet erratic leadership for Sgt 'Jonah' Jones, teams were dispersed in the countryside and cities, armed as always, but not just with the usual arsenal, but also buckets of disinfectant and brushes. Having completed all the necessary taskings to provide communications around the Brigade area we sat back and waited, only to have all the major events cancelled due to the wretched Foot and Mouth disease. The Rigging Section have been particularly busy preparing for the forthcoming Marches. Most jobs went well apart from Sig Derek Slowey and LCpl Craig 'Beppe' Bate getting their insides cooked whilst up a mast.

EXERCISE CELTIC WARRIOR

Since the last edition of The WIRE, trials have taken place of the illustrious Chancellor equipment in preparation for Marching Season 2001. The exercise, gamely named Celtic Warrior took place in Province and the admin from our end was masterminded by Sgt Paul 'Chancellor know it all' Faizey, with the aid of a select band of merry men. The night sky over Ballykinler Training Centre shone brightly with the sight of burning cars and echoed to the sound of rioters, contrasting greatly with the sound of technicians tinkering in vain to receive down-link pictures. Overall the two weeks proved to be a success, although the team were slightly concerned that the only pictures some Infantry Companies were interested in receiving were Leeds United Vs Deportivo la Coruna. On a final note concerning the Heli-Teli tests, we would like to congratulate Lt Richardson's keen eyesight on pointing out to us where the helicopter had moved to, only to be informed that it was actually a star!

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt G. Maddison RLC
WOIC WO2 (RQMS) Belam

RQMS DEPARTMENT

Goodbye to Cpl John Davies and his wife, Anna, who leave Province for pastures new. Thank you for all your help both in the stores environment and in helping the boys in the Squadron to win the Corps snowboarding Championships.

COMIC RELIEF 2001 - 16 MARCH

Red Nose Day 2001 and 39 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn decided to do some fund raising. It was a typical day in Lisburn, extremely cold and windy, so three girls Cpls 'Jooles' Roberts, 'Chaz' Charnock and Rachel Jacklin came to work in their pyjamas to get into the spirit of things. The idea was to walk around camp collecting money, along with our secret weapon for those who were not feeling too charitable. This came in the form of LCpl John 'More press ups please' Pritchard, who with the aid of an exercise mat was ready to give out press ups to any victim unwilling to pay. After a successful day including LCpl 'Taff' Lewis accosting everyone in the Brigade Headquarters for their money, it was down to the Unit club where bar person LCpl Donna Chivers ensured everyone donated even more money, under the threat of no donation, no drink. In the end a total of £798.24 was raised, so a big thank you to everyone involved.

70's NIGHT

39 Brigade girls strut their stuff

The farewell to the MT culminated in a 70's Night in the Horseshoe Club. Peace signs, flowers and glitter transformed the Club into a disco diva's paradise. The Rover Group maintained usual standards, looking as if they had just stepped out of a porn movie, no change there I hear you cry. The best outfit award must be given to Cpl Nat Kemp, who had a crowd of admirers following her all-in-one white number, wherever she went. The most make-up, yet with the least effort goes to LCpl Steve Ireson, complete with wounded leg, looking as though he had just stepped out of the Vietnam war.

LCpl Ireson holds LCpl Howell in a death grip to prevent her from escaping his clutches

After several drinks our heads were 'in a spin and our feet would not touch the ground'. In fact 'it felt, like, it felt like we're in love'. Well done to Cpl Stroud, ably assisted by Sig Kev Pack, in organising a fantastic evening of food and dance for all Unit members to enjoy. A job well done.

MINI MINDER

The brave and the stupid from 39 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn departed from Ballykinler to undertake some special to theatre training. Since the last edition, they have done this not once, but twice. As always the weather in Ballykinler left much to be desired, however, not this time for the exercising Troops snug in their vehicles, but for the 'enemy' who happened to be the Offrs, WOs and SNCOs of the Unit, no justice at all. The training was a complete success with a few incidents of note. The award for greatest imagination goes to LCpl Tony Morancie, who on being told there were in a location to carry out a technical repair, proceeded to mime exactly what he would do on arriving in location. In his imaginary world he also became bullet proof and as invincible as the rest of the section. Muppet of the exercise goes to Pte Steve Elford and his section, who on hearing a cat fight spilling into the road, got the section to cock their weapons in fear of attack, not the smartest move in the world. The biggest and best award of the exercise is granted to LCpl Donna 'Wonderwoman' Chivers. Who not only pushed a car to the side of the road whilst the boys hid in the back, but when out numbered three to one, continued to point her pistol at the terrified terrorist, Pte Andy Aitchison (not the easiest bloke in the world to frighten). She repelled bullets with her wristbands, killed grown men with a flick of her hair and still managed to run the bar the following night - What a girl.

OPERATION SEALION - by Sgt Paul Faizey

The afternoon of 16 May saw Capt A. J. Smith and myself awaiting the arrival of a Wessex to fly us to Moscow Camp and then on to an RV with HMS Brecon in Calingford Lough. We were to undertake a series of Comms Trials for the Royal Navy and the Royal Marines, whose duties involve boarding v ferries on their passage in and out of Warrenpoint. On arriving at Moscow two SNONI staff greeted us. They were holding what looked like two black gimp suits. These, apparently, were Typhoon suits, requiring us to expel all the air in order that we would not float upside down. It was with a certain amount of trepidation that we listened to instructions on how to inflate the life vests. Try as he may, there was no way he could convince me that it could hold a fully equipped soldier afloat.

Once on the shores of Carlingford Lough, Capt Smith and I had to lug a large box of COUGARNET equipment, rifles and personal kit across a very roughly pebbled beach and 20m out to a Rigid Raider. Much fun was had by the spectators, who were determined not to make things easy for us by transferring us to a RIB five minutes later. The journey to the ferry could only be described as the longest, wettest roller-coaster ride I have ever experienced, not to mention the boarding of the ferry on a rickety rope and rope ladder combination. However once on board the trials began. What we failed to appreciate was the time taken to get around inside the ferry, as the vehicle deck was packed, was intensified by the problem of climbing over and under HGV's with a rebro in a daysack.

After three boardings the water seemed to take its toll on the equipment and our brief insight into how the senior service does business came to an end. After making our farewells, Capt Smith and I suffered one final humiliation by being strapped face to face on a winch cable and were lifted as one up to the Wessex hovering above.

43rd MILITARY PILGRIMAGE TO LOURDES

A contingent of 14 soldiers accompanied by the Rev D. H. Kelly represented the Regiment at the 43rd Military Pilgrimage to Lourdes between 16-22 May 2001. The British Forces Germany contingent travelled as guests on a train chartered by the Bundeswehr. The train carrying approximately 300 British, German, Norwegian and Dutch soldiers travelled from Berlin to Lourdes with a short stop off in Aschen for the first of many Masses.

The chosen few prepare to confess, but where's the Padre?

INTER SQUADRON HOCKEY COMPETITION

In May the Regimental Inter Squadron Hockey Competiton was contested. A day which can only be described as 'Scorchio' saw some good hockey and plenty of team spirit as 201, 211, 212 and HQ Squadron battled for the cup. It was a close run thing in the end with HQ Squadron narrowly taking the honours. 201 Sig Sqn took the Runners Up slot followed by the mighty 211 Sig Sqn and finally 212 Sig Sqn.

LONDON MARATHON

Maj Neil Makepeace and SSgt 'Ollie' Reed took part in the London Marathon this year in order to raise money for Mencap. After several months training they both successfully completed the marathon. Both of them are undecided which was harder running the Marathon or collecting the sponsorship money from the Officers, Warrant Officers and the Senior NCOs.

Maj Makepeace demonstrates that he has already got a bit of a sweat on to SSgt 'Ollie' Reed

Maj Makepeace assures Kate Adie he will get her picture in The WIRE as he knows the Regimental WIRE notes Officer. SSgt Reed knows him also and is not too sure that he will make the deadline (That decision belongs to the Editor of The WIRE!)

REGIMENTAL LEADERSHIP CADRE
EXERCISE KEY LEADER 11–16 MAY 2001

Ex Key Leader was the second week of the leadership development course that had fallen victim to 'foot and mouth' earlier in the year. Garelochhead, Scotland was the location with the aim of taking 23 Signallers into the field, getting them cold, wet and tired then assessing their reactions. Unfortunately as much as Sgt Pete Preece attempted to arrange torrential downpours we were in fact bathed in sunshine, moved into cloud and obtained the morale boosting soaking only just in time for the final attack. The first day of the course concentrated on revision of the orders process and infantry skills. The sections were also introduced to their simulated reserve ammunition burdens that were not to leave their sides for the duration of the week (a fine display of initiative was shown by those who emptied their ammunition boxes of the weight!). The exercise focused on command rotation with each appointment requiring the issuing of orders and the subsequent leading of patrols, producing much amusement for the DS in some cases. Lt (now Capt) Jamie Noble, arriving at a section's location to receive orders was met by a section commander with a multitude of apologies for not producing his orders due to 'not having a clue'. Timings became a matter for discussion during orders with Sig Amritman checking a departure time of 21.00 hours was OK with everyone. No prior engagements? The course culminated with a Troop attack at dawn. Sig Pikendra, in the heat of battle, lost all power of talking at less than four hundred words a minute, requiring the calming touch of acting Sergeant, Sig 'Foghorn' Cleghorn, in order to extract any useful information. In the meantime Sig 'Ollie' Oliver was seen running through the enemy's defensive position dragging a burning trip flare behind him. We also unfortunately lost one fine warrior. Sig 'Red' Herring had to withdraw to the rear echelons when it was discovered that he has an aversion to loud noises! The overall objective of the exercise was met. It proved to be tiring and arduous for all those who took part, giving an excellent opportunity for potential junior NCOs to shine through.

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS

The time has come to say farewell and also to offer our congratulations to departing WO1 (RSM) Keilty who leaves to take up the position as Corps RSM in Blandford. At the same time we also say hello and bid welcome to WO1 (RSM) Frost and wish him a very enjoyable and successful tour here in York. As you can see from the picture, 2 Signal Regiment is keeping up with tradition of only accepting the most dubious of characters into this prestigious post.

HEADQUARTERS MOTOR TRANSPORT
MTO Capt Craig
Tp SSgt SSgt Mills/ SSgt Smith

The Troop has been busy getting people from the Regiment through their Motorcycle courses in Newcastle. Only one problem, Sig 'Flying Angel' Amar managed to wrap himself around a lamp post. Luckily there was no damage to the motor bike, just to his pride. Also Cpl 'Can I do this course?' Findlay and LCpl 'I know which bus it is' Dickinson went to Leconfield with the Master Driver to teach four civilians how to drive cross-country. The training went extremely well. In the evening, both instructors Fin and Dicko had to get a bus back to Beverley, but in the true tradition of linemen they got on a bus that only stopped at Hull. The rest of the Troop have been getting the vehicles ready for Ex Saif Sareea and driver training. Cpl Pete 'Can I have my LS&GC?' Longworth has been busy trying to teach the baby Techs how to drive LGV. He is still alive (just). The servicing bay has been busy preparing the wagons for Ex Saif Sareea and a few changes have taken place, with LCpl Dickinson taking over from Cpl Balaram and newly promoted Cpl Chris 'I am massive aren't I?' Hanks (REME) joining the inspection team.

A turn over in personalities over the last couple of months means we say farewell to Cpl Billy 'Pod Op' Davidson, posted to sunny Brawdy. Sig 'Bungle' Blundell is posted to HQNI 15 Sigs on promotion to Lance Corporal (there is hope for us all). Good luck to Sig Tom Raybould now in civ div and to Capt Rajendra, Cpl Balaram, LCpl Sanjeev, Sigs Amar and Dilip, who have gone to help form the new 246 Gurkha Sig Sqn. We welcome the new MTO, Capt Craig, who has been posted in from 4th Armoured Brigade Headquarters and Signal Squadron (204). He has arrived with his new set of files which have now been added to the MT system, which is a now a lot better, unless you are a technician and the answer is still, 'No you can't have a non availability'. We also welcome LCpl Wayne Musson to the Troop posted in from 14 Signal Regiment (EW) with his Charlie fire team plus reserve. I have also been paid to say hello to SSgt 'Where is he?' Smith posted in from 14 Signal Regiment (EW), allegedly.

QUARTERMASTER'S (TECHNICAL) DEPARTMENT

As ever the QM(T) Dept has been a hive of activity, concentrating on the build up to Cormorant and the preparation for the up and coming Kohima weekend. The Dept wishes to pass on our greetings to WO2 Jim Stillie and family, who has taken up the reins as RQMS(G) from WO2 Terry Hague, who has apparently moved onto bigger and better things as OC ISM Tp. We would also like to welcome Sgt Don Cunningham, who has taken up post as our resident gardener. Fond farewells to Mark Dunnachie on promotion to Cpl. He has headed off to 249 Sig Sqn in sunny Bulford, (drop us a line from Norway, Mark). News from the trenches: - Our wanna-be commando/para Sig Crawford Scott, has recently completed the regimental cadre course, but alas he didn't come top. Better luck next year! Crawford. MIKE TROOP
Tp Comd WO1 (FofS) Pete Hodson
Tp Admin SSgt Steve Swithenbank

Life in Mike Tp has been fairly quiet recently with many Troop members still away in the Falkland Islands. There have been a few changes in personnel with Troop OC, WO1 (FofS) Dodd wangling a posting to CPD in Blandford. Good luck and best wishes from the Troop. His replacement WO1 (FofS) Pete Hodson has taken the helm and we're sure he will enjoy his stay in 'sunny' York. Other departures from the Troop saw Cpl Steve 'Or is it Norman?' Hayward move, on an inter-squadron posting to 214 Sig Sqn and Cpl Chris 'Hair Flick' Nixon return to Civ Div; good luck to both. Welcomes go out to Cpl Dave Shilton and Cpl Lance Hanson who have arrived from 214 Sig Sqn. Congratulations go out to Cpl Graham 'Eddy' Waring on passing his initial selection for helicopter pilot training with the AAC. Good luck with the following stages. Well done, too, to Cpl Jodie 'BOB' Wood for passing her RSJCC without even cheating and to Cpl Joe 'Hide that Vodka' Abbott, Cpl Davey 'Old Before My Times' Holmes and Cpl Craig 'Baby Face' Thomas on their recent, long awaited and well earned promotions. Get those crates in!

REGIMENTAL GENERATOR BAY

During the month of May the Gene Bay said goodbye to Sgt Wyatt on well-deserved promotion to Staff Sergeant and posting to 219 Sig Sqn. Well, it has been a period of change for 219 Sig Sqn. First there was the promotions board for Staff Sergeant to WO2 and then all the SNCOs were posted! We say goodbye to SSgt (YofS) Winstanley, SSgt Curtis and SSgt (SQMS) Tuff on promotion and SSgt (FofS) Leyland bids us farewell with a smug grin as he heads for the beach in Cyprus. In their places we welcome SSgt (FofS) Morrison straight from the Foreman's Course and SSgt (SQMS) Wyatt from the Regimental Gene Bay. Sgt Farley has been given the thankless task of filling in for the Squadron Yeoman, which should stand him in good stead for his Yeoman's Course in June.

Tp Sgt Sgt Farley

Firstly, we say hello to Cpl Jase Lowes and his family who have joined us from 16 Sig Regt. He has already been given the unenviable task of sorting out the Radio Relay detachments. LCpl 'Scotty' Ashmore, who has joined us from 4 Armd Bde, is already finding it hard to dodge all the jiff jobs that are floating around. Goodbye to our illustrious leader SSgt Roy Messenger who has been posted out to Civ Div after 22 years in the Army. We all want to wish him Good Luck in his future career. Sgt Charlie Farley is going down to Blandford on his Yeoman's course - Good Luck on the course and the rest of your tours within the Royal Corps. Cpl 'Slim' Ralley is off to 4 Armd Bde. He will be sorely missed (or will he?) - see you in Oman. LCpl 'Benny' Bennett has been posted to 21 Sig Regt and congratulations on the birth of your little girl, Bridie. Also congratulations to LCpl Dave Hallway who has also had a new arrival, a little girl Anna. He has been posted to JCUNI. And last but not at all least Sig 'Get the bines out' McGarrity has been posted to 1 UK ADSR – good luck, take care and congratulations on your promotion.

FALCON TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Haslewood
Tp SSgt SSgt Cassidy

Within Falcon Tp we say Hello to Cpl Billy King, fresh from 3 Commando Bde, Cpl Mark Eltringham from 21 Sig Regt and Sig Larry Collins from 7 Sig Regt. We are also saying goodbye to long serving Cpl 'Old man Willy' Rushton, who is going to 1 Civ Div! Sig Wendy Cooke who is going to 1 Bn REME, Sig Mark Sorraine, going to 12 Mech Bde and Sig 'Bob' Zimmerman. A plea goes out to anyone who has sighted SSgt Gaz 'The Scarlet Pimpernel' Cassidy. At the moment we believe him to be in the Far East playing rugby for the ARMY!! Lt Dave Haslewood is currently moaning as his troop isn't as cool as he had hoped. Well what do you expect with a troop of ten people?

SUPPORT TROOP

'Where is everyone?' is the normal desperate cry that can now be heard echoing out of the MT Dept. This is due to the Squadron taking a large amount of men from the MT to the Falklands to ensure that civilian contractors 'Turners' can do a reasonable job of looking after a few hillside generators!

Of the few men that were left behind, it seems they have also disappeared. Cpl 'Fitz' Fitzgerald is now on one course after another and is seemingly incapable of managing to fit in a day's work. Cpl 'Resettlement King' Gough is too busy trying to get civilians to take him on work placements for free, unfortunately he's still waiting for a reply from 'KFC'! LCpl 'Muz' Musgrave seems to be going through some sort of nervous breakdown due to him continually going down to Colchester on a 2-week 'beat-up course' only for him to return and tell everyone that he has to go back down and complete it again, sicko! Sig 'Wardy' Ward and Sig 'Old Lady' Grady have devised a plan to stop them from being bored and that is by applying to go to 264 later in the year, (surely with this fantastic ability of theirs to overcome problems of boredom senior management beckons shortly!)

During this period of manic activity we have actually had two new arrivals. Sig 'This is grreaat' Flaherty, straight from Boot Camp and Sig 'Elmo' Keightley from 19 Mech Bde who is posted here temporarily. Both gentlemen are fitting in fairly well and are now coming to terms with the arduous workload that is being constantly thrown at them. Things to look forward to are the last minute runarounds for Ex Saif Sareea which should start shortly and currently there are a few rumours circulating that a group of people require a couple of coaches in Brize Norton sometime in August. Unfortunately I've gone and lost the blasted piece of paper with all the dates and times on. Never mind. As always, it can wait!

214 SIGNAL SQUADRON
'PUB NIGHT' – by Sig Hitchin

On Thursday 24 May 2001, 214 Sqn had a function in the NAAFI that involved an evening of pub games and of course lots of drinking. The evening was organised by Cpl 'Billy' Morrison and Sig Hitchin. The outgoing 2IC, Capt Stu Whittley, donated a trophy, as a leaving present to the Squadron. LCpls 'Jim' Thurston and 'Geordie' Harrison ran the bar very smoothly. The darts and the pool competition got the evening under way. Cpl 'Billy' Morrison overlooked the Darts. The Team from SHQ Tp was victorious. Pool referee LCpl Ashcroft did his very best to keep the pool teams apart, and just about succeeded. The victorious team came from the combination of Tornado and Roman Troops. The pub quiz was the culmination of the evening. Questions ranging from the members of the telly tubbies to Russian Revolutionary Politics kept the teams guessing for the evening. The quiz came down to sudden death between SHQ Tp and Roman Tp, with SHQ Tp emerging as the 'Inter Troop Pub Night Winners 2001'. Sig Vint picked up the trophy on behalf of the Troop. Thanks go out to Cpl 'Billy' Morrison for putting so much effort into making the evening such a great success.

ROMAN TROOP

With memories of the famous victory in the Inter Sqn Athletics fading fast, the time has come to say the traditional hellos and goodbyes to the mighty Roman Troopers. We say a hearty farewell to Cpl 'Ray the Destroyer-apparently' MacLeod who has turned to pastures new and green and hopefully in the form of a career in telecommunications. All of Roman Tp would like to wish Ray all the very best for the future and if you are ever up in the York area do not hesitate to drop in. We are also sad to have to say goodbye to Sig Dave 'E' Sexton who has also decided to embark in a career in civilian street. A big Hello and welcome goes out to Cpl 'I've got my wings too' Loosemore who joins us from the land of helicopters. More welcomes are extended to Sig 'Lofty' Lofthouse and Sig 'Is it cos I is a ginger' Hassan. Sgt 'Woohoo give me a beer' Trench has also just landed after a busy spell trade training at the funny farm AKA 11 Sig Regt.

CELTIC TROOP & VIKING TROOP

Over the past couple of months the outbreak of foot and mouth has had a major impact on our work routine with the majority of exercises having to be cancelled. The influx of new Troop members and the limitations of access to training areas have led to plenty of 'in house' training, including driver training and all aspects of trade training. Senior Corporals and Lance Corporals from the Troop have taken lessons on the Switch, Radio Relay and SHF. Elements of Celtic and Viking Tp deployed down to Bramcote to take part in Ex Cob Ring II. This was to test the interoperability of Ptarmigan with civilian and other MOD communications equipment in preparation for Ex Saif Sareea. During the Exercise we needed to test the Radio Relay UHF link to its maximum capacity of 25kms. Our Exercise IC, Sgt Ford, decided to take it further and deployed the Radio Relay detachment 40kms away and sat there wondering why the shot was not working. The exercise was still a success with all of the tests being carried out in time. Sadly we have to say goodbye to our Tp OC, Lt Dhan who is off to Blandford on promotion to Captain and also to Sgt Debendra who is off to work in Dover. Finally the Troop would like to welcome the following straight from the factory: Sigs Bikal, Bishwa, Gokul, Jeevan, Milan, Rudra, Saindra, Samir, Shambhu, Subodh, Lal and Dipendra

REGIMENTAL RUGBY LEAGUE - by LCpl Lee Turnbull

Over the last few months myself and OC Rugby League, Maj Jamie Compston, have worked together to set up a team and ensure entry into the Yeoman Cup. After this was done, the next task was to teach the game to the Rugby Union players who, although keen, had much to learn of the differences in the codes. For this task we enlisted the help of Lee Crooks, the former Great Britain player and coach of York Wasps.We now had a team and a coach, but what about the game. We drew 47 Air Dispatch Sqn RLC away at RAF Lyneham. Although confident in our ability, we arrived somewhat apprehensively at Lyneham on the morning of Friday 11 May. Upon arrival we were greeted and led to the facilities by our hosts, the team was named and we prepared for the task ahead. We now knew it was time to perform or be persecuted! After a very tight and well fought 20 minutes LCpl Turnbull fell over the line to open the scoring with a fall over the line try with Sig Dean 'Ginger' Condren adding the extras to bring the score to 6-0. The game continued in the same manner for the rest of the half and Cpl Barrington Barnett and Sig Condren scored well-worked tries, both converted by Sig Condren. We held a convincing 18-0 lead at half time and with a few wise words from Maj Compston we went back into battle. After an encouraging start we began to lose some of the more experienced players to injury, amongst them was Cpl Charlie Kama, LCpl '40-20' Beart and Cpl Barnett. We started to come under pressure but Maj Compston managed to score, taking the score to 24-0. Into the final 20 minutes all the subs had been used and our lads were tiring. With a couple of late tries, 47 AD Sqn had their tails up and kept the pressure on, but the Impalas held on for a well worked 24-12 victory. This was an encouraging start to our Rugby League campaign and we look forward to the rest of an enjoyable season.

7 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col J. E. Richardson MBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) Archer

The Regiment would like to take this opportunity to say farewell to our last RSM, WO1 (RSM) Steve Smoothy who has left on commissioning and is moving with his family to Blandford. The new 'Badge' in the Regiment is WO1 (RSM) Archer and he is most welcome in his new home.

WARRANT OFFICERS' DEVELOPMENT PERIOD
EXERCISE BRADBURY CEREBRAL

On taking over the Regiment in September 2000, the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Richardson, had announced his intent to organise development periods for both the Officers and Warrant Officers. The Warrant Officers were to be the guinea pigs, with their development period to be run before the Officers' period. Nightmare scenarios began to haunt the Warrant Officers, encouraged by the CO's reputation for enjoying physical training, coupled with his love of doctrine - the thought of command tasks, log races, assault courses, estimates and planning exercises kept some of the toughest men in the Regiment awake at night.

The level of interest was raised when the CO announced that the development period would take place in the UK, rather than in Germany. The aim was to broaden understanding of the Force Development process and Army Digitisation, as well as using historical study as a means of training. The final programme included visits to Directorate General Development and Doctrine at Upavon, Directorate General Land Digitization at MOD, and a study period at the National Army Museum, Chelsea. The week was to be rounded off with a visit to the Tower of London to watch the Ceremony of the Keys.

Having flown into Stansted on the trooping flight from Brüggen, the CO, Adjt and 13 Warrant Officers were accommodated at the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst. This was the first time that the majority of the group had visited the Academy, which is undoubtedly a most impressive training establishment. With the exception of the CO, few of us knew anything about the 'Future Army Concept' and 'Force Development', but we were enlightened at Upavon. It is comforting to know that people much more intelligent than us are already planning what the British Army will look like in several decades time.

The group received a presentation entitled 'Information Operations during Operation Overlord' from the Senior Lecturer at the National Army Museum. This was thought provoking and stimulated much discussion as to whether offensive and defensive operations using information have fundamentally changed over the last 60 years. The Royal Signals contingent at RMAS hosted us in the Sergeants' Mess on the Wednesday evening, ensuring that the Germany based troops were reminded about British culture. The next day we moved to Wellington Barracks to be briefed on Land Digitization. This subject encompasses the entire Army, not just Royal Signals, and so proved very useful for the two AGC Warrant Officers on the Development Period. The debate that followed centred upon whether or not the vast amounts of information, that Digitization will provide, will actually increase or decrease the tempo of high intensity operations.

The highlight of the week for many of us was a visit to the Tower of London. Ex Royal Signals Yeomen Warders gave us a guided tour, prior to the 'Ceremony of the Keys'. This was a great privilege, which few are fortunate enough to witness. Again we were hosted superbly in the Yeomen Warders' Club, and were able to reflect on a highly educational and enjoyable development period. However, the Regimental Officers would probably benefit more from physical tests and planning exercises!

229 (BERLIN) SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj D. L. Webster RA Signals
SSM WO2 (SSM) 'Taff' Burdge

Another busy period is finally over and all of the Squadrons are now back from Operations overseas with their new medals ... or are they just the same ones as last time? With 231 Sig Sqn back from their brewery tour of the South Atlantic, X Ray Troop has been able to return and 229 Sqn is thankfully returned to its usual size. Many thanks to Lt Liz 'YTS' Williams and SSgt Jock 'Competitive Dad' Reid for organising an excellent couple of skiing trips to Bavaria. In all, almost half the Squadron got away in the end. Ex Woodland Bear was slightly curtailed by the Foot and Mouth epidemic and subsequent training area bans but we still managed to carry out an element of training. The OC Sqn is currently trying to teach us all to play Aussie Rules Football in preparation for ANZAC Day, what a strange game, although Sig 'Trev' Woodward and LCpl 'I want to be a girlie tech' Murray seemed to have picked it up fairly well. To those who have just left, farewell and enjoy your new units or in some cases life in the great big Civ Div and to our recently arrived, welcome to the best Squadron in the Regiment!

229 SIGNAL SQUADRON ALPINE SKIING TRIP

On 28 January, 15 members of 229 travelled down to Bavaria to the Alple Eible Lodge for ten days of basic alpine skiing. Apart from the grown-ups, SSgt 'Jock' Reid, SSgt 'Dutch' Holland, SSgt (SSI) Kev Mason and SSgt (FofS) 'Boycie' Sutton, no one on the trip had ever skied before (or so they said). The lads were all issued with their ski gear on the first night with LCpl 'Benjamin John' Pember and LCpl 'Soloman Abdullah Mohammed Ali' Lafferty who were both given bright pink 'Carbon Ladies' Skis. Sig 'Dangerous Brian' Bell did his hardest to break the sound barrier at every opportunity and Sig 'Axle Rose' Brown just couldn't manage the 100m drag lift and found himself being laughed at by a bunch of 2-year old German kids. Over the ten days the entire group picked up the basic skills in that they were able to get from the top to the bottom of the slope using their skis at some stage of the journey. Jumps of the week have to go to Kev Mason who managed to get so high on one jump that he landed in a tree! All of the group managed to pass the final assessment with awards going to; Best skier Sig 'I haven't done it before honest' Preston, and most improved after the first day to Sig 'Maximus' Dee. The Best Endeavour award went to Sig 'Welcome to the jungle' Brown and the No Fear award going to Sig 'Dangerous Brian' Bell.

231 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Ian Hunter
SSM WO2 (SSM) Weaver

The last ten months have been a turbulent time for the Squadron as elements have been simultaneously deployed to the Falkland Islands, Kosovo and Bosnia. At time of writing, the Squadron has only been reconstituted for a mere eleven days when the JCUFI returnees finished their post tour leave. The efforts of those who remained behind (X-Ray Tp) are recognised as they represented the majority of the Squadron. The X-Troop disbandment party was a night to remember and was superbly organised by LCpl 'Karaoke King' Lovell who proved to be a mean crooner. All those from other squadrons who had to endure the painful screams of our Karaoke attempts had a lot of fun.

The Squadron is currently busying itself with preparing for the ARRC exercise season, assuming that the foot and mouth crisis is over by the time that the next exercise is scheduled. Not everything is all work and no play. There are a number of overseas Adventurous Training expeditions being planned by members of the Squadron. OC Lima Tp, Lt 'JAP' Mayne, is taking 14 others away to Yosemite National Park, California, trekking for two weeks in May. Not to be outdone OC Oscar Tp, Lt 'Troublethwaite' Hebblethwaite, is taking a number of soldiers away to Gibraltar later this year whilst SSgt 'I'll go to Oman as top cover' Thorburn of Radio Tp is taking the majority of his Troop to Belize. Finally, too numerous to mention individually, farewell to all those that have departed the Squadron over the last ten months and welcome to all those who have arrived during that time.

EXERCISE ARRCADE WARRIOR I

In February the Squadron deployed on Exercise Warrior 1 at that familiar training place - Ayrshire Barracks. When Hotel and Papa Troop arrived to set up they found conditions on the car park where they had to set up resembled the Somme. Papa Troop in particular had the worst location and many swamp monsters emerged caked in mud from around the Man site, it was feared at one point by his Troop that 2Lt Endean might sink to his neck in the quagmire.

2Lt Endean in his usual pose or perhaps he's a little tired after reaching question 12 on
'Who wants to be a Millionaire?'

Meanwhile with the temporary absence of the Stonebridge tent (being repaired in America) Hotel Troop set about constructing the HQ build in a series of 12X18 tents. As usual working pretty much non-stop they managed to build STAR HQ in less than favourable conditions. However all was not lost and after a successful CHOC the Stonebridge tent returned and STAR was moved indoors to complete the Exercise, which progressed from conventional war-fighting to Peace Support operations. A series of demonstrations and small-scale riots by enraged locals ensured that ARRC Sp Bn with the help of some of our own Signallers were kept busy protecting the compound.

Hotel Troop and the CO

Meanwhile Delta Troop and Tac Troop deployed to local training areas to exercise the Radio detachments and the San's. The tempo of the Exercise was quite high and with both troops practising moving location at short notice and at night, setting up a San HQ at each location and quite often making use of a Radio Relay Relay in order to ensure the link. By the end of the week everyone's detachment drills where much improved. Tac Troop then moved into its Main Bravo role and Delta Troop conducted SHF, Switch and Inmarsat training.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

SSM WO2 (SSM) Ewing
QUARTERMASTER'S TECHNICAL DEPARTMENT
QM Maj Cory
RQMS WO2 (RQMS) Henry

As ever the department is really busy. However, we have made time to welcome our latest arrivals, Sig Souter and Sig Blackburn both have come straight from Blandford. Good Luck wishes go out to Cpl Clare Boswell who goes back to Blandford to do her Class 1. Last but not least the department would like to say a fond farewell to LCpl 'Girly Shirley' Valentine who is off to 264(SAS) Sig Sqn and will hopefully be issued with gloves on arrival to keep those little digits warm.

QUARTERMASTER'S ADMINISTRATION DEPARTMENT QM Maj Doherty
RQMS WO2 (RQMS) James

What with the move to Bruggen coming up it has been another busy month for our department. Maj Pete Doherty continues to represent the Regiment at orienteering. Sgt Dave Howe has been deployed to the Falklands Islands. A recent survey suggesting that low flying aircraft make penguins fall over has been thrown into chaos when a similar situation occurred during one of Dave's anecdotes. Have a good tour Dave. The department recently bid a sad farewell to the longest serving civilian in the accommodation store. Herr Wolfgang Faust has worked in Bradbury Barracks for 19 years serving both 7 and 16 Signal Regiments. As a gift he was presented with a years supply of toilet rolls and light bulbs.

REGIMENTAL MOTOR TRANSPORT
MTO Capt (MTO) Coatsworth

The MT would like to say goodbye to LCpl and Sig Christian who leave us for the brighter horizons of Herford. A big welcome goes out to Sgt Sean Marriot and his wife 'sticky' Suzy (Who earned that name from 'I'll do anything for Robbie competition by siting in a bath of syrup for 24hrs). We also welcome Cpls Jackson and Barnett to the Troop and congratulations to Sgt 'Dangerous Brian' Sheard on being selected for promotion on the last board. We have to say, 'Get well,' to LCpl McMahon who thought he'd pulled a stomach muscle and ended up having his appendix out. Two days later Karen Williamson was complaining of stomach trouble and to shouts of hypochondriac was rushed into hospital to have her appendix out.

Tp Comd WO1 (RFofS) Jenkins

A big welcome back goes out to all the lads who have come back from the Falkland Islands. Welcome to LCpls Moffat and Edgell and also Sig Howe all arriving from Blandford. Another welcome goes to the arrival of the new Regimental Foreman WO1 'Jenx' Jenkins and wife Annette. We would like to say farewell to Cpl 'Wingnut' Dennant, we are sure 231 Sig Sqn will benefit from your technical expertise. Congratulations to Cpl Austin on his recent promotion to full corporal. More congratulations to LCpl Harvie on his recent engagement and finally best of luck (Not required) to Cpl 'Dusty' Hoffman in the Army Boxing Championships (and his team-mates).

GENERATOR REPAIR SECTION
IC Sgt Green

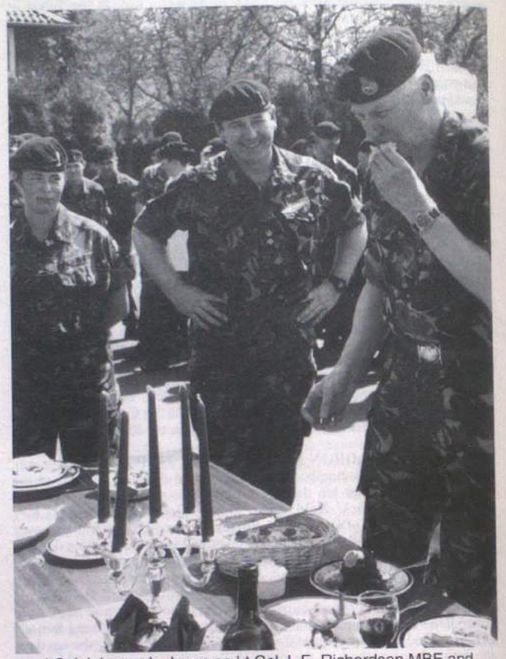
The GRS are very happy to finally appear in The WIRE as their own entity and would like to start by saying welcome back, from another tour of Kosovo, to Cpl Scott Witts and LCpl Glenn Russell. They have been out with 3 Commando Royal Marines, the extra phys has worked wonders for Glenn. Welcomes go out to Cpl Steve Hall and wife Jo also Cpl John Lees and wife Tanja from the Regimental MT. Congratulations to mediocre golfer Cpl Craig Bowman on coming off the shadow board and picking up a nice little posting to Blandford.

VISIT OF MAJOR GENERAL MOORE-BICK CBE - 10 May 2001
by Sgt Brady

The GOC, Maj Gen Moore- Bick CBE visited 7 Sig Regt on 10 May 2001, one of the hottest days of he year so far. One port of call within the Regiment was to HQ Sqn. The format of the visit was such that three departments within the Squadron were set up on the Regimental square delivering a brief outline of certain tasks carried out by the Squadron, whether in barracks or on exercise/deployment.

The three departments involved were the chefs, LAD and Regimental MT. WOII (SSM) Ewing greeted the GOC on to the square. His stop was to the chefs' tent where he was met by the RCWO, WOI Goodspeed. At this stand there were two teams of two chefs who were to prepare a dish in 20 minutes, very reminiscent of the TV programme, Ready Steady Cook. The stipulations laid down to the chefs were that they could spend DM10 and then use compo to prepare their dishes. The chefs taking part were Cpl Walton, Cpl Foulger, Pte Mellay and Pte Taher. The GOC started the competition with a loud whistle blast.



LCpl Johnson looks on as Lt Col J. E. Richardson MBE and Maj Gen Moore-Bick CBE sample one of the entries in the HQ Sqn 'Ready Steady Cook Competition

He then moved on to the LAD and was greeted by Capt Stephenson who explained the operation of the LAD within the Regiment. With Capt Stephenson were SSgt Lucas, Cpl Hall, LCpl Steers and LCpl Russel. He then moved onto the Regt MT and was greeted by Capt Coatsworth and SSgt Hay. Their job was to demonstrate the transfer of fuel from UBRE and also Hazmat equipment and correct procedures when carrying Hazmat.

Maj Gen More-Bick CBE with Sig Patterson (Regt MT)

Due to the nature of the Regt MT attire, a certain degree of sympathy was felt for the girls and boys in the team due to the stifling heat. During the visit the GOC took a lot of time out to speak to the soldiers about previous deployments that they had recently undertaken, most notably Kosovo. After this stand the GOC went to the centre of the makeshift arena to sample the chefs culinary delights, and reach a decision of which team had produced the best meal. After much deliberation with the Commanding Officer, the Officer Commanding HQ Sqn and the Regimental Sergeant Major the decision was made that Cpl Walton along with Pte Taher had won. Many thanks to all those who took part, and ensured that this was an enjoyable visit for the GOC.

HEADQUARTER SQUADRON FUN DAY AND BBQ
SUNDAY 13th MAY 2001

This event was organised by the LAD and was a resounding success. The parade square was miraculously transformed into the perfect venue with a variety of entertainment. To say that we were lucky with the weather was the understatement of the year. With the temperature at a sweltering 30°C everybody enjoyed themselves to the full, basking in the sun and maintaining healthy levels of liquid refreshment. As usual the chefs excelled by putting on a hearty feast to feed an outstanding attendance of over 300 people. The children were kept entertained throughout the day by games and dancing, along with a variety of bouncy castles and inflatables. Cpl Hartill of the LAD kept the older children amused with a 'Beat the Keeper' football competition which was won by 12yr old Scott Finley with an amazing six points. Special thanks have to go to Cpl Bevan and Cpl Glowienko of the RMP who brought with them Dino the sniffer dog, enjoyed by the children who gazed in awe as Dino found hidden objects in a matter of seconds. Children also received wanted posters of themselves as they were photographed sitting on top of a Police motorbike. Later in the evening we were all serenaded by the karaoke skills of Maj 'Neil Diamond' Drain and Sgt Skipper along with many others. The day ended at just after 1900hrs with everybody saying how much they had enjoyed themselves.

FAREWELL TO RQMS JAMES

Those he owes money to will be disappointed to know that Neil James is about to breast the tape of a career that has spanned 22 years. For the best part of the last three years Neil has divided his time between fulfilling the role of RQMS Admin and RSM, as well as a plethora of other tasks within the Regiment. A larger than life character (in more ways than one) he has very much been the backbone in providing in barracks support for the soldiers. Neil (chew-chew to his friends) leaves the service to settle in the Shrewsbury area where he will satisfy a life long fascination with the national rail system and join the Railway Police. The Department saw him off in fine style and made a number of presentations which included: a blue anorak with matching scarf and gloves, a tartan pattern unbreakable flask and a years subscription to the popular monthly periodical the Loco Letchers Combine. We wish him Karen and the rest of the family all the very best for the future.

SSM WO2 Karl Weaver

The Squadron is finally close to being the close knit cohesive sub unit that it was prior to recent deployments. With exercise commitments in the programme for the near future, we hope to be in a position to play hard as well as work hard. It has been hard graft in Radio Tp recently due the Troop not long being reformed after the Bosnia/Falklands deployments, in between preparation for Ex Saif Sareea 2 in Oman. We have also had to contend with mad techs being let loose on our vehicles. However, Cpl 'I love comms' Murphy dazzled us with an excellent STTICS demo its just a shame his wife's driving skills are not as good as his lessons!

On the social side of things LCpl 'I'm not panicking' Roberts organised a Troop function, which was a great success, however, nobody told Cpl 'Big Fish' Fisher that it was not a fancy dress theme as he turned up in full 70's gear, including afro wig. Also that night Sig 'Silky' Wilkie did a fabulous rendition of 'You've lost that lovin' feelin' which made him a big hit with the ladies, as you can well imagine! Overall it has to be said that slowly but surely the troop is close to emulating the high standards that Radio Tp has previously set itself. Quebec Tp is currently being baby sat by Sgt Nick Asquith while SSgt Tony Black, LCpl 'Laney' Lane, LCpl Kerry Roberts and LCpl Sharon McCreaddie have all managed to go on a two week adventurous training expedition in California, you lucky, lucky people.

Well done to all of those who participated in the preparation to achieve an outstanding Board of Officers turnout. So for all those that did well, 'well done' and for all of those who didn't do quite so well, 'well done anyway'. This also goes for the Regimental call-in at 6am on Monday. Good luck to Cpl Timothy Dennant who is participating in the Sennelager Army Athletics Individuals Competition in the 100m and 400m in the near future. Finally best wishes to Sig Adam Tasker who will grace ARRC Sp Bn with his presence, there should be no problems stacking blankets for one who ran his troop MT. To Sig Nicki Brown, who is off to 204 Sig Sqn – 'how does it feel to be a Tanky? Finally to LCpl Marc Ainscough – enjoy Lisburn!

232 SIGNAL SQUADRON - by 2Lt Vanessa Galloway
Sqn Comd Maj Baker
Sqn SSM WO2 Browitt

The last few months have been incredibly busy for 232 Sig Sqn. All four troops were involved in the Board of Officers at the back end of April. Indeed much was found surplus and also deficient and we all now wait for the findings to be accumulated and the kit reallocated around the Regiment. Hot off the tail of the Board of Officers, Hotel Troop deployed in support of Arrcade Sparten, a Staff Officer Study period which gave the Troop plenty of time to enjoy the sunshine while working hard to provide the service that 1 Sig Bde have come to expect. During this week, the GOC and the CDS visited the Squadron meeting many of the troops and were nothing but impressed with what they saw. The Squadron are now preparing for the imminent RSIT examinations which will lead up to Ex Woodland Flight at the end of June. It's not been all work, however, with several Regiment and Squadron functions. An excellent Squadron night in the bar was lead by Papa Tp. This was a Vicars and Tarts Night, a chance for the soldiers to prove that Army men do truly have a thing for dressing up as women. There were some extremely scary sights that night mentioning no names (Sig Mulholland). The day's festivities with the Regiment in Archies was finished off until the small hours in the now much used Squadron Bar.

EXERCISE COMBINED ENDEAVOR 2001

Exercise Combined Endeavor is an exercise to document interoperability of command, control, communications and computer systems between NATO and Partnership for Peace (PfP) countries. Tac Troop's involvement in the exercise was a RATT Detachment deployed on West Park for 14 days, with SSgt Steve Griffiths, LCpl Alex McMurray, Sig Johnson, Sig Baz Mears and detachment technician Cpl Neil Cansfield. Papa Tp provided support in the way of Cpl Minto, LCpl Grant, Sig Laker and Sig Wass who were involved in the trial element of the exercise.

FINAL PLANNING CONFERENCE SWARTZENBURG SWITZERTLAND

This year Combined Endeavor involved over 37 countries from The Republic of Ireland to Kyrgyzstan. SSgt Griffiths and Cpl Cansfield were selected to go to Switzerland to learn how to use the equipment and to learn about the concept of the exercise. It was a valuable week in which they both made friends that helped them out over exercise period. Fortunately it was not all work, and after they had sat in No 2 dress listening to 37 countries introduce themselves, there was also time to sample Swiss culture, with and evening of fondue and various trips to Bern which included a trip to a radio station which runs along the same lines as STICICS or Portishead.

EXERCISE PHASE

The exercise took place over the period 10 – 23 May 2001. The exercise location or test bed was in Lager Aulenbach, Baumholder south west of Frankfurt. We were on a net with six other stations and a NATO detachment with our net controlling station being Lithuania. Each day we had serials to send and receive as well as having a chat with other countries on our net over a HF modem. During the end of the exercise it was a free net in which you could talk to the LAN at Baumholder with the HF modem or chat to other countries. We managed to talk to other countries as diverse as Russia, France US Marine Corps and The Republic of Ireland. Once Endex had been called four members of the detachment went down to Baumholder for the final Biwak or BBQ. This consisted of each of the 37 nations providing local brew to all participants including Kyrgyzstan vodka! The exercise was a resounding success for us and we are all looking forward to next year.

7 SIGNAL REGIMENTAL 'GANTRY DOGS'

by Capt Chris Hymas

It was 0645hrs on a wet Saturday morning on the 2 June when the mighty 7 Signal Regimental Tug of War Team was born. The mighty warriors assembled on the Regimental square ready to do battle in the BA(G) Tug of War competition. One of our gladiators had a slight problem, SSgt 'Jock' Reid had amazingly forgotten his kit claiming it was locked in his store. We, however, knew the real reason for this supposed missing kit. He was attempting to get out of pulling as he is getting on in years. We departed at 0700hrs for 26 Field RA at Mansergh Barracks in Gutersloh arriving without a hitch for the weigh in under the watchful eye of our illustrious coach Capt 'This is hurting me more than it is you' Hymas. We went for the weigh in and a few people held their breath and everything else in, hoping that they would be one of the chosen few who were to be allowed on the scales. It was a tense time not a word was uttered apart from the coach who was moving people on and off the scales to get us nearest to the weight. The Regimental side was eventually entered into all four weights, 560kg, 600kg, 640kg and 680kg. Then it was out to the Gladiatorial Arena. We were up against some formidable competition in the shape of 26 Field RA, 14 Field RA, 2 CS, 3 RSME and our arch rivals 1(UK) ADSR. Throughout the day it was apparent how good the Artillery teams were as we found to our peril but we gave a good account of ourselves in all weight categories.

So it came to the end of the competition and we all lined up in our teams waiting with bated breath wondering how we had fared in our first BA(G) competition in many years. In the 560kg, 600kg and the 680kg we came BA(G) Runners Up 2001 and in the 640kg we were third. All in all it was a very successful day for the 7 Signal Regiment Tug of War Team and as in the song 'The only way is up'. The side now looks forward to the 15 June where we will be competing in the Morrison Cup in Blandford.

231 SIGNAL SQUADRON
EXERCISE MERCURY RISING BACKSTOP

by Lt Jon 'JAP' Mayne

At 0430hrs on 15 May 2001, 15 intrepid souls from 231 Sig Sqn set out from Krefeld to scale the heights of Yosemite National Park in California. A minibus, plane, bus, plane, taxi, coach, train, coach and 43 hour journey later we arrived in what has to be the most spectacular mountainous area on earth. We were there to carry out nine days of arduous unsupported trekking, and climb several of the parks major peaks, risking bears, blisters and worst of all mosquitoes in order to achieve our aim.

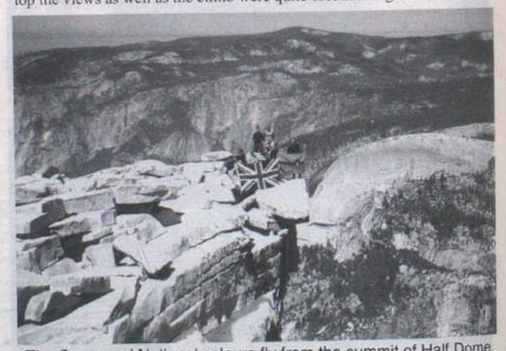
Our first challenge was to actually climb out of the valley past the Vernal and Nevada waterfalls up to the wilderness area that was to be our home for the next nine days. We then made for the top of Half Dome; an ascent that usually involved the use of cables that are used as hand rails for the final 300ft of the climb. These were unfortunately not yet in place as the park had not yet been fully opened for the season. This did not stop nine of the 15 members in our group who hauled themselves up to the summit, leaving those who are a little more scared of heights to appreciate the views from a lower elevation. For those who made it to the top the views as well as the climb were quite breathtaking.



The Corps and National colours fly from the summit of Half Dome

Our route continued over the summit of Clouds Rest and on to Merced Lake before returning to the valley after four days to re-supply on food. After a relatively civilised night in an established camp, a shower and some very large pizzas, we were off again this time heading out to a far less visited area of the park towards Tuolumne Meadows. The day started early in order to try and climb the majority of the trail out of the valley before midday as the temperature promised to rise to 34ºC. 4 hours, and an almost vertical climb of 4000ft later, we reached the north side of Yosemite's main valley, and headed off for Tenaya Lake.

We continued to our next objective, the ascent of Mount Hoffman that was a day's return walk from our 'base camp' at May Lake. The ascent proved to be a challenge as there was no distinct path, and the snow cover was still fairly thick in places. However, the peak was successfully conquered and we had bagged the highest peak in the northern portion of the National Park.

After Mount Hoffman had been successfully conquered, we started our return to the Valley and with several of the group suffering from increasingly large blisters, and rucksacks that didn't seem to get any lighter despite the daily consumption of food, everybody was ready to stop walking. The return journey afforded some of the most spectacular views of the trip so far, but everyone was extremely grateful to get back and eat food that didn't come out of a bag.

The expedition was concluded with a period of two days R & R in Los Angeles with people exploring Hollywood Boulevard, Venice Beach, Universal Studios and the nighttime delights of Sunset Strip, while the girls spent their hard earned cash on a shopping trip to Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills. A good time was had by all, and it didn't take too long for the blisters and Mosquito bites to heal!

EXERCISE CAPITAL DEVELOPMENT - by 2Lt Matt Jones

From 4 – 8 April 2001, 30 Officers from 7 Sig Regt accepted the difficult challenge of a development period in the UK. Headed up by the Commanding Officer, this visit was to be centred on historical study and development, but also to encompass an aspect of cohesion for the officers after a long period of fragmentation within the regiment. The final programme was to include visits to the Imperial War Museum in Lambeth, Australia House and much anticipated guided tour of the Tower of London. Having undergone an immensely long journey to London by land and sea, we were accommodated at RAF Uxbridge and the first stages of the assault were planned. Saturday morning saw an early rise for most, as we headed down to Twickenham for the annual Army v Navy rugby match. The disappointment of an Army defeat was somewhat dampened by the many reunions that took place in the Signals bar afterwards.

Monday morning, and so the real work began! We moved to the Imperial War Museum, with the intention of focusing on Soviet and Polish campaigns, prior to a battlefield tour planned for later in the month. Everyone found the visit a highly engaging experience and particular points of interest included the Holocaust Experience, and the WWI Trench Experience. We were able to glean a great deal with relation to our specialist area as well as some general historical development of the Royal Signals. That evening we moved to the Tower of London for a guided tour by the Yeoman Warder, Mr Alan Fiddes (Royal Signals retd). This was undoubtedly one of the highlights of the visit, which encompassed the Ceremony of the Keys and a superbly hosted dinner in the Yeoman Warders Club, where those present were able to reflect on this highly enjoyable and educational experience.

The final day of the study period saw a trip into central London to Australia House. Organised by Maj Webster (OC 229 Sig Sqn), the aim was two fold. Firstly it was ideal opportunity to foster relations and links with the Australian Army, thanks to an excellent presentation by Col Murray in which he gave an overview of the role of Australian officers posted overseas with the British Army. Secondly, we received a tour of the building, including many presentation boards in the main hall, depicting the various campaigns the Australians had participated in over the years. A small rest-bite ensued and then it was off to the Savoy Hotel for the annual Corps Dinner Night. Always a big occasion, this year was no exception with 7 Sig Regt well represented! It seemed a fitting end to a highly thought provoking and tremendously educational experience. Many thanks go to all those who helped to organise this trip.

SSM WO2 (SSM) R. Buxton

Welcome to the Sp Sqn WIRE notes. Forgive me if it's not up to the usual Royal Signals standard as I am a RAF supplier in the Squadron. I didn't even know the magazine existed until I was tasked by WO2 Rick (13, 14, ONE, TWO) Buxton to produce a worthy addition. For the RAF amongst us, 13, 14 are not lottery numbers but something to do with marching and getting on parade. The Squadron would like to congratulate SSgt 'Scotty (The sandbagger)' Cain for winning the Ay Nik Open Golf Championship and fending off a strong field of 80 from both Cyprus and the UK. As 'Scotty' is posted, in July, to 21 Sig Regt be aware that there's a bandit with a handicap of 17 on his way. Congratulations must go to the MT for winning its own Safe Drive Competition held at Ay Nik. The Team was captained by Sig Richie 'I'm always on keys for PT' Bastow, well done. A detailed report appears later in these notes. The Squadron Football Team has had yet another successful season reaching the Eastern Sovereign Base Area minor unit cup final for the second year in succession. The final to be played after the release of these notes. The biggest surprise was that SSgt Gaz 'I'll always play cos I'm the manager' Steel dropped himself for the semi-final, a big relief to everyone in the team. The Squadron would also like to say a very well done to the OC, Maj 'Machine Gun Pete' Bohanan for arriving with a car (Audi TT) that any boy racer would be proud of. Surely Sir, a Yaris would be more suitable for a man of your seniority. Welcome to the new 2IC, Flt Lt 'Living on the edge' Harris and his wife Michaela and also to Cpl 'Geordie 'Ever used a camera? (Yes) the job's yours' Reid and family. Farewell to WO2 Danny 'Invest your money wisely, don't spend it' Thornton, Sue and the boys bound for their final tour in York. Well that's it from Sp Sqn -suggest maybe a person who actually reads this magazine and is Royal Signals will write the next notes. Per Ardva Ad Astra 'endeavor to the skies' oops wrong magazine.

EXERCISE YOUNG DRIVE 2001 - by SSgt John 'old' Driver

Ex Young Drive 2001 was the Unit Road Safety and Skilled Driving Competition. The event was organised by SSgt John 'aptly named' Driver, the MT SNCO. An early start and a safety briefing set the teams up. The aim of the competition was to highlight areas of advanced driving skills which personnel can focus future training on with the hope of improving individual driving skills and reducing road traffic accidents. The competition involved seven stands and included a ladies' manoeuvring and a tick test.

Stand 1 -	Highway Code Test	-	Flt Sgt Morris, 840 Sqn
Stand 2 -	Cross Country	-	Sgt Dorrian, LCpl Elliott, Sp Sqn
Stand 3 -	RTA First Aid	-	Sgt Hill, Cpl Fraser, Sp Sqn
Stand 4 -	Manoeuvring	-	SSgt Greaves, Sp Sqn
Stand 5 -	FMT 3	-	Sgt Whitty, 234 Sqn
Stand 6 -	Saxon Drive	-	Cpl Wild, Pte Godkin 1 Cheshire
Stand 7 -	Vehicle Marshalling	-	SSgt Dyson, Sp Sqn

Seven teams, each having three servicemen/women, entered a round robin format. The popular stand was the Saxon Drive run by Cpl Jase Wild from 1 Cheshire where the Commanding Officer came particularly unstuck when dismounting from it. The Cross Country stand was a huge success as teams had to follow a route card. Although several teams gave Sgt 'Bri' Dorrian and LCpl 'Richie' Elliott a bit of a headache as their route selection got very close to the boundary of Cyprus and the Turkish Controlled Northern Cyprus. One team got particularly lost, came in from a totally different direction and claimed the route card was wrong. Well done Team 'A' - 840 Sig Sqn. The CO visited all the stands and participated in the Saxon Drive with Maj Bohanan who volunteered to be his commander - for the first and the last time. As Lt Col Sharp jumped off the Saxon he split his trousers from front to back and had to retreat back to his car hiding his modesty. The ladies' driving competition had ten entries, all of a very high standard that just goes to show that ladies are just as good as men. A BBQ followed the prize giving and all the winning team celebrated in the Famagees club.

24 HOUR CHARITY
BASIC PERSONNEL FITNESS ASSESSMENT

On 11 April a 24-hour charity BPFA took place at the gymnasium. The event organized by SSgt (SSI) 'Muscles' Dury and the gyro running a BPFA every hour for a 24-hour period. The aims were to enable as many Army personnel as possible to complete their BPFA l, and to raise money for Imperial Cancer Research in the process. All military and civilian personnel were encouraged to attend and an excellent turn out was seen over the 24-hour period. Three teams of two people in each successfully completed and passed 24 BPFA's between them raising funds in sponsorship by doing so. The teams that comprised of SSgt (SSI) Dury and WO2 Joughin, SSgt Murney and Cpl Chamberlain, SSgt Greaves and LCpl Woods achieved the feat. Despite a certain amount of fatigue at the end, all six were reported to have wanted to continue for another 24 hours. Those a little worse for wear after their exercise had the opportunity of a much needed massage, and for a small donation, Mrs Traci Richardson kindly brought life back to tired legs. A raffle, from which all funds went to charity, was drawn by the CO. The prizes included a cruise, however, the highlight was Capt Andy 'I didn't do the BPFA' Greenfield, (he was too busy), the Adjutant winning a free haircut at the unit's barbers. Congratulations should go to the gym staff for organizing such a successful event and to all who participated during the day. The event brought the total amount of money raised so far this year to well over £C200.

FLORA LONDON MARATHON 2001- by Cpl Paul Chamberlain

22 Apr saw the 21 ' running of the London Marathon. Cpl 'Grandad' Chamberlain from the gymnasium saw this as a fine opportunity to fulfill a lifelong ambition to attempt his first ever marathon and get a free flight back to the UK. The chilly conditions at the mass start point were a vast contrast to the fine, warm weather back in Ay Nik, but nothing a free cup of PG Tips couldn't sort out. A chest number displaying 30,684 meant a start in the company of a pantomime horse and Elvis Presley to name but a few. In reality it resulted in taking six minutes to actually cross the start line. Once underway the field took a while to thin out but the atmosphere created by both runners and spectators meant the first ten miles flew by. Crossing Tower Bridge marked the half-way point and it was only at this stage it actually began to sink in that to complete the 26.2 mile course would require a good deal of grit and determination. Coming into the final stages was an unforgettable experience. Running past sights such as Buckingham Palace, and streets lined with cheering crowds soon made any tiredness disappear and crossing the finish line in a time of 3 hours 25 minutes was extremely satisfying. Thanks go to all who gave support and sponsorship and enabled a substantial sum to be raised for Childline. See you all in London next year!

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

SHQ seems to be busier than ever. LCpl 'Clappedout' Clapson has moved the office around, again! SSM Steve Smith has embarked on a Club Diver but is still desperately trying to find his buoyancy! He can be found floating on the surface of the Station swimming pool waiting for the rest of his family to finish either swimming lessons or life guard training. The OC, Maj Tony Urwin completed a grueling 150mile cycle challenge claiming his new orthotics and not his age were to blame for his Basil Faulty style of walking! Capt 'Lady Tara' Woodbridge has been busy organizing a Charity Football Tournament as well as charging around the mountains again, on the 12 SU Walkabout. Capt Forbes Guthrie took a team of eight to Kenya to climb Mt Kilimanjaro and despite predictions to the contrary they all returned safely! The summer has at last arrived and there is plenty to look forward to including the Coomber Cup athletics and swimming competitions, the All-Island Raft Race and the Station Summer Fete, roll on the winter!

LINE SECTION

Line Section bids goodbye and congratulations to Sig Chris Sankey who is off to 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn on promotion, Sig 'I don't moan' Zukowski who is off to JSSU (Digby) also on promotion. Last but not least we also say goodbye to Sig 'Fat Ginola' Clark and his family (Becky and Adam) who are off to 243 Sig Sqn in sunny Wilton. SYSTEM SUPPORT SECTION

Cable TV has been very busy this year and the benefits at last, are beginning to show. We have refitted the main distribution head end, fixed faults, kept on top on maintenance and even managed to keep some of the wives relatively happy. RESULT! Sgt 'Deano' Leach has been keeping the children on camp entertained with some War Gaming while Cpl 'Leah' Steward has sneaked away on adventurous training to East Africa for three weeks.

ANTENNA SECTION

It's been a busy winter in Antenna Section with plenty to keep us entertained. As spring arrives (do we have a spring?), the QM's Department have been busy refurbishing the LEC's rest-room and we were able to enjoy an afternoon of local cuisine when we presented the riggers with the new keys. Cpl G. Gaber has left us for Blandford where he embarks on his T1 course leaving Cpl Geordie Tonks to assume command of the bar where it is quite possible we may enjoy a few BBQ's over the next few months.

The event itself was noteworthy for the fact that it rained throughout providing conditions that were more Sennybridge than Cyprus. The Ay Nik Strollers claimed the prize for first male team. Mike's Marauders' romped home to a glorious third place but special note should be given to Sgt Jim Reeves, who achieved after stepping in at the last minute to enable the team to compete. Last but not least the Mark Thatcher B Team who came in a satisfying 32 with their honour still intact.

12 SU WALKABOUT - FEMALE TEAM

by Capt 'Lady Tara' Woodbridge

There is a small band of people who are currently based in Cyprus who insist on pushing their bodies to their limits over long distances in soaring temperatures. The Cyprus Walkabout, the 12 SU Walkdown and the 12 SU Walkabout are three taxing and challenging navigation competitions held in the areas between the Troodos Mountains and Episkopi Garrison. On 7 of April, three die hard walkabouters embarked on the latest crazy long distance orienteering event, a 30 mile grueling competition that was the culmination of weeks of training and the last of the big three events of this nature for the intrepid ladies team. The day started bright and early at the epicentre in the most spectacular rainstorm seen for weeks. The sun had disappeared; the thunder and lighting was impressive and the rain hailed down across the valleys. Our team, CARMAGNIC, consisted of SSgt Pearce (APTC), Capt Woodbridge and Mrs 'Maggie' Reeson. We were the fourth team out of sixty teams to leave, the course was unknown and we were given just four minutes to mark the maps and escape the wire of camp and out onto the open road. Checkpoint One was a straightforward six miles. The route went through Happy Valley and down to Paramali, before a sharp left turn and a quick dash to the checkpoint. The route to Checkpoint Two wasn't so flat and not quite so easy. The route continued across the motorway, through the deserted village of Paramali and into the bondu. A painful, steep ascent through the thickets brought us to Checkpoint Two situated on a windy and wet ridgeline. It was here that we bumped into a few men's teams who had, like us, chosen the most direct route and were suffering from the barrage of rain and chill of the wind. Checkpoint Three was a fast nine miles over the Pano Kavides ridge to Souni. Familiar terrain made navigation easy and it was not long before we had arrived at Checkpoint three, still smiling. Checkpoint three to four was a boring and a hard six miles on the road. It was all down hill past the dam at Kandou and over an extremely boggy field to the waiting Land Rover. We arrived a good three inches taller with enough mud and clay to build a small house. Soaked to the skin we took off to complete the most challenging leg from Checkpoints Four and Five. Capt Woodbridge and SSgt Pearce were feeling the effects of the downhill stretch. Mrs Reeson, meanwhile, was on a mission. W e were some three kilometers behind the leading ladies team and were determined to catch them over the final ten miles. Unfortunately poor route selection meant we ended up traversing across some very boggy terrain before arriving at Checkpoint Five in particularly somber moods (cursing and swearing!). At last we had reached the foothills of Episkopi Garrison. The route was a familiar and uphill route that we had completed on previous Walkdowns. We raced to the base of the Episkopi Golf Balls before limping and waddling our way back to the epicentre to the finish. Our total time of 7hrs 10 minutes was well within our target and despite being slightly disappointed to have finished second in our category.

WIVES' CLUB CHARITY EXERCISE 20/21 APRIL 2001

by Sgt Dave Churchwood

The Wives' Club Charity Exercise (Ex Mercury Maiden) took place at Scout Wood and the surrounding area over the 20-21 April 2001. The exercise started with the usual welcome, Health & Safety and Basic First Aid briefs. The instructors then set about the essential items of equipment. The ladies (and one husband) were then 'bugged out' from the Training Wing exercise transport to the exercise location. Before the exercise began there were vicious rumours that the volunteers would have to capture and kill their own lunch. Fortunately the rumours were put to rest when Sgt Steve Hills taught everyone how to prepare the 24hr Ration Packs (as if he know himself). Throughout the day the volunteers were subject to a bombardment of information. They were given insight on the subjects of first aid, observation, map reading, movement and duties of a sentry. This was to prepare them for the night ahead. After the evening meal they were sent on a simple night navigation exercise in which they picked up clues as to the identity of the enemy that were to be in the area that evening. Once they returned, and after some soup the partners were given a briefing on enemy activity that might occur throughout the night. A busy night, and after little sleep, the partners tucked into a hot breakfast and then it was off on the transport to complete the remainder of the competition which included a command task and quiz. The exercise ended with prize giving and a BBQ at the Training Wing. The prize winners were; Miss Julie Gatford (Best Field Soldier), Mrs Sharon Lieb and Mrs Kylie Tate (Best Fire Team) and Mrs Michelle Ward (Best Effort).

CHARITY FOOTBALL COMPITION 15 APRIL 2001 - by Sgt Hills

The Station Charity Football Tournament was held at the Rugby Club Pitches on Sunday 15 April (Easter Sunday). The competition was made up from teams from the Sergeants' Mess, the ESBA Chefs, the Ay Nik Ladies Team, the Rugby Club and the Junior Ranks. The competition was split into two groups, with the top two teams in each group qualifying for the semi-finals. The Sergeants' Mess destroyed the Rugby Club 3-0 in the first semi-final and the Junior Ranks beat the ESBA Chefs 2-0 in the other. That left the final to be played between the Sergeants' Mess and the Junior Ranks. The final was a keenly contested match with the Sergeants' Mess taking a 2-0 lead into half time. The Junior Ranks pulled a goal back in the second half but as the Sergeants' Mess tired, they held on to be the winners of the competition. The CO was on hand to present the prizes and thanked everyone for their support and raising money for charity. All that's left to be said is, 'Where was the Officers' Mess team?'

EXERCISE UHURU PEAK - JSSU(AN)

Ex Uhuru Peak was a three-week high altitude trekking expedition to Mount Kenya and Mount Kilimanjaro from 5 - 26 March 2001 lead by Capt Forbes Guthrie. Mount Kilimanjaro and Mount Kenya are the highest and second highest mountains in Africa respectively. Both mountains can be climbed by walkers, as opposed to climbers, and therefore offered an excellent opportunity for relatively inexperienced walkers to gain experience of high altitude conditions. The expedition was eight strong, all being volunteers from JSSU(AN). The team comprised of the following Army and Royal Air Force personnel:

Capt Forbes Guthrie R SIGNALS
SSgt (FofS) Dave Coffey R SIGNALS
Sgt Kev Cooney R SIGNALS
Sgt Tony Wadington R SIGNALS

Monday afternoon and a group of eight assembled at MT to embark on Ex Uhuru Peak. We arrived at Larnaca Airport in good time and watched carefully to make sure our baggage made it through the weigh-in. Our flight to Dubai was very comfortable, arriving in the small hours. After whiling away seven hours in Dubai Airport we were jetting off again to Nairobi. On arrival, a driver from BATLSK (British Army Training Liaison Staff Kenya) met us. The journey took us straight to BATLSK Camp where we quickly signed over our accommodation and drew out the necessary stores (i.e. Mosquito nets). That afternoon was spent sorting out our equipment and liasing with the BATLSK staff. A driver from MT took us into Nairobi so that we could stock up on all the food we would need for Mount Kenya. After spending a couple of hours filling several shopping trolleys we paid for the food, eventually in Kenyan Shillings, and headed back to camp. SSgt Dave Coffey and Capt Forbes Guthrie lead the group through rudimentary ropework techniques before we all packed our kit ready for an early start the next day. We left BATLSK in the back of a four-tonne truck for the long journey to the start of our ascent of Mount Kenya - Chogoria. We arrived at the Transit Motel where we had arranged to meet our local mountain guide, Mr John Wachira. After waiting over an hour for the guide to show, Capt Forbes Guthrie decided to press on without him. It was now too late to attempt any part of the gentle walk through the jungle track, so the BATLSK driver was directed to take us all the way up to the park gates. At the gates, Capt Forbes Guthrie paid the park and camping fees and SSgt Dave Coffey found a suitable site to pitch the tents. Just before dark, as everyone was preparing to settle down, our guide John turned up. He was disappointed to be told that he would not be paid for that day, but everyone was pleased that he did eventually make it.

The group awoke to discover that what had seemed like a good camp site was in fact a water buffalo track! This was to be an 'acclimatisation day', to help everyone to get used to the higher altitudes. We set off from the Park Gates to Lake Ellis where we all stopped for lunch. After some food and the chance to replenish our drinking water we headed up to the top of Mugi Hill where we could look down onto the Giant's Billiard Table Mountain. We walked back down to the Park Gates where we camped for the night again. Everyone got up early, packed their tents and set off on the track. After a couple of hours we reached the roadhead, where we stopped, and John the guide showed us a beautiful waterfall just a short distance from the track. It was another hour before the group headed off, as the group needed to filter more water from the stream before we left. The next leg was a hard climb up to our campsite at Hall Tarns, which we expected to take about four hours. It eventually took twice the time we had hoped and we reached the campsite just as it was getting dark. Everyone was exhausted, both from the effects of the altitude and from the sheer weight on our backs. Sgt Tony Waddington was feeling it the most but we all made sure that everyone was administered properly before finishing for the night.

Sunday morning was a slow start, as the group was still tired from the day before, and we had to spend several hours making sure we filtered sufficient water supplies for that day. Everyone was feeling much better by lunchtime and we packed up and headed off. It was not a long walk to the next campsite but it became very steep and most people were feeling the effects of the altitude to some extent. On arrival at Simba Tarn, Sgt Tony Waddington was complaining of strong headaches. After closely monitoring him for another two hours to see if the condition eased, it was decided to move him down from the altitude in case it was the early symptoms of AMS (Acute Mountain Sickness - a potentially lethal condition). Capt Forbes Guthrie, SSgt Dave Coffey and Sgt Kev Cooney assist Sgt Tony Waddington down to Shipton's Camp, a descent of about 600m. Once down, a tent was erected and SSgt Dave Coffey assisted Sgt Kev Cooney headed back up to the main group as night fell. Capt Forbes Guthrie stayed with Sgt Tony Waddington in the tent to ensure that his condition did not worsen. At 0200hrs Capt Forbes Guthrie, happy that Sgt Tony Waddington had made a sufficient recovery to be left alone, climbed back up to rejoin the rest of the party for the final accent. The group set off from Simba Tarn at 0400hrs for a hard two-hour scramble to the top. We all made it just before sunrise and sat slumped on the peak taking photographs, happy to have made it. From Point Lenana we dropped down to Austrian Hut and back round to Simba Tarn to take the tents down. We pressed on down the steep scree slope to Shipton's Camp as quickly as possible and stopped for an hour to cook lunch and filter more water. From Shipton's Camp it was decided to make for Old Moses Camp that afternoon as the prospect of a real bed and a porcelain lavatory outweighed the 14km walk. Everyone arrived at Old Moses Camp in good spirits despite being exhausted and having blistered feet. The transport was booked to collect the group, and eventually three Land Rovers picked us up at three o'clock in the afternoon. We made it back to BATLSK at 2000hrs and after getting into our rooms and eating our late tea we all enjoyed a well-deserved 'Tusker' beer.

Wednesday was an admin day for the party. A chance to unpack, clean and repack all of the equipment ready for Mount Kilimanjaro. Our guide from Mount Kenya helped us arrange transport and the mandatory guides for the trek on Mount Kilimanjaro. At 0700hrs a mini-bus collected us and took us to our connecting bus in Nairobi. From there the journey was south to the border and on to Arusha where we meet our chief guide for Mount Kilimanjaro, Mr Hussein Mbua. The transport was late in arriving and unfortunately we were unable to start the trek that afternoon as we had planned. The guide took us to the Iibrou Safari Lodge Hotel for the night and we discussed the revised plan. Hussein and his team collected us on Friday morning and moved round to the Park Gates dropping some of our baggage off in the near-by Capricorn Hotel. Once through the Park Gates we set off for Mandara Hut, which was our camp for the night. The route was a gentle three-hour walk through the rain forest. After arriving at the hut and taking a short break, we walked up to Maundi Crater to help acclimatise, and were fortunate to see several monkeys in their natural habitat on the way back down.

The next stage up to Horombo Hut was an 11km trek up a fairly gradual ascent. Everyone took care to climb as slowly as possible to reduce fatigue and help get use to the altitude. After a two-hour break at the huts we walked further onto 'Zebra' Rock, so called, as it had naturally been striped black and white. From Horombu Hut we all set off for Kibo Hut, which lies at 4,700m, just lower than the height of Mount Kenya. It was a slow pace across the arid saddle and everyone was very aware of the altitude. Eventually everyone made it to Kibo Hut tired but glad to be there. Cpl Leah Steward by this time had begun to suffer from a very strong headache. After only 45 minutes, she could bear it no longer and SSgt Dave Coffey, Sgt Kev Cooney and an assistant guide helped her down a couple of hundred metres. After an hour rest at that height, the symptoms were not easing and she was given one Diamox tablet (a drug used to help alleviate the symptoms of AMS), and with the help of Flo an assistant guide, descended to Horombu Hut.

We were up at midnight with our head-torches ready for the final ascent to the top of Africa's highest mountain. This last stage, although only 2km in distance, was absolutely exhausting. It took the group about five hours before making it onto the crater edge at Gillman's Point. It was still dark and well below freezing, so everyone was keen to carry on around the rim's edge to Uhuru Peak. It was only another 200metres of ascent over a gradual slope, so we set off feeling elated that we had made it up the gruelling scree slope and could now see the top. Working our way round the path we were confronted by the edge of Rebmann Glacier which had crossed over the path. SSgt Dave Coffey stopped the group and as the most qualified mountain leader had to decide on the best course of action. He had little choice but to stop the group and not allow them to go any further. The group was not qualified nor experienced enough to tackle something so hazardous and to turn back. It was an immense disappointment for all concerned to have reached the tip of the world's highest free-standing mountain, only to have to stop metres from the very top. However, everyone understood why the decision was made and agreed that nothing could be done and they all supported SSgt Dave Coffey on a very hard call. Before setting off, we all took the chance to take photographs as the sun was rising, and then made our way back down to Kibo Hut. At Kibo Hut we stopped and rested for a couple of hours before setting off down to Horombo Hut where we ate lunch. After lunch we continued on down to Mandara Hut which was our campsite for the night.

The final morning on Mount Kilimanjaro we set off down the to Park Gates at a leisurely pace. At the gates we all receive certificates for reaching Gillman's Point and then proceeded to buy 'been to the top' T-shirts. The bus came to collect us and dropped in at the Capricorn Hotel for our bags. We waved good-bye to our guides and set-off for Mombassa. Once through the border we get to Voi the vehicle decides to breakdown for a couple of hours. Once some foil from Sgt Kev's cigarette packet is applied to the vehicles failing electrics we were off. We got to Mombassa after dark and discovered why people recommend that you don't drive at night in Kenya. We checked into the 'Sun n' Sand Hotel' for two nights and were briefed as to how the all-inclusive was run. All the members of Expedition took full advantage of the hotel's facilities, relaxing to 'try to get their physically wreaked bodies back to life'. There was an early start on Thursday morning to take off to the Shimba Hills, two hours south of Mombassa for a guided safari of the park. Unfortunately, no one actually saw any elephants, rhinos, giraffe, zebra or hippos. The best we saw we some rather tired looking gazelles. Back at the accommodation that evening, we challenged a group of hotel staff to a football match and taught them how the game is played and won. After leaving the hotel we headed into Mombassa to buy our souvenirs before boarding the overnight train to Nairobi. We spent the next day unpacking everything and scrubbing down all of the stores equipment before we started our journey back home to Cyprus.

The officers and soldiers of the Regiment would like to extend a warm welcome to the new Commanding Officer, Lt Col Nick Borrill and his wife Chris along with their three children. Also, farewell and best wishes to Lt Col David Meyer who leaves the Regiment on promotion to take over as Chief of Staff on Op Monarch in the Former Democratic Republic of Congo.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON – by WO2 (SSM) Newton

Sqn Comd Maj Standen
SSM WO2 (SSM) Newton

The Squadron would like to welcome the new Sqn OC, Maj John Standen, who is slowly getting used to the every day hustle and bustle of SHQ, a far cry from his previous employment down in the sleepy hollow of the QM (G) department. SHQ says congratulations on promotion and goodbye to SSgt SQMS Dougie 'My clothes are louder than yours'

Douglas and welcome to SSgt SQMS Dean Wilson. The Squadron has been busy supporting operations in Sierra Leone and Kosovo as well as exercises in Kenya and Cyprus, whilst still supplying exquisite cuisine and a highly efficient equipment maintenance and repair service in camp (RCWO, OC LAD and TOT all owe me a fiver). Finally due to the recent foot and mouth outbreak we have has also seen members of the Squadron deployed around Mid Wales, carrying out various diverse and demanding tasks in support of MAFF and the farming community.

REGIMENTAL RUGBY
14 SIGNAL REGIMENT (ELECTRONIC WARFARE) RFC (THE STALLIONS) – by WO2 (SSM) Newton

New kit, new pitch, plenty of players and plenty of fixtures. The beginning of the season was looking good and things were looking up. Then came the bad news!

'The pitch is out of bounds for the rest of the season', said the QM.

'But it's only August!', I replied.

'Six of the pack are deployed on Ops', said the coach, Sgt 'Taff' Morgan.

'But that leaves us with two hookers and a prop', I replied.

'SSM it's the MTO, due to the current fuel strike we're unable to supply transport for away fixtures.'

'*!', I replied.

'SSM, have I told you your posted?', said OC HQ Sqn.

'Taff your in charge now', I replied.

Despite all these set backs Sgt 'Taff' Morgan and Cpl Stu 'The Bid' Kelly managed to keep our heads above water which resulted in the Stallions getting through to the first round of the major units cup, having convincingly beaten the Second Battalion, Royal Anglians. The next round was a different story, having drawn 22 Air Defence (The Welsh Gunners) away. After the long trek from Brawdy to Kirton-in-Lindsey (eight hours) SSgt Neil Sorley warmed us up for the big game. The whistle blew for the start of the game and within two minutes WO2 Craig Shrives scored a try between the posts. To put it bluntly, the opposition was gutted. The Stallions put up a brave fight but could not stop a team who had the Army scrum half and some other excellent players. The match ended in a 26 to 7 win for the Welsh Gunners but the Stallions turned in a fine performance. The season has continually been hampered by teams cancelling games after they had realised where Brawdy actually is on the map! If it were not for the few enthusiastic individuals such as 'Taff' and 'Stu' who arranged fixtures against local sides, Regimental Rugby would have been none existent. Next season will start on a high with a tour to Belgium and Holland, HQ Sqn look forward to retaining the Russ Cup Seven-a-Side trophy and the SNCOs and Officers look forward to the big match against the juniors in December (the less said about last year, the better). Finally, thanks to all those fossils who have come out of retirement this year (WO1 Richie Angove), and to the youngsters such as Sig Clive 'I'm not drinking' Clayton who have been coerced into playing at short notice. A special thank you goes to Capt Rob 'Yellow card' Lane for sin binning me as soon as the CO and RSM appeared on the side line in the first round of the cup.

RQMS (Tech) WO2 (RQMS) Gemmell

Another busy six months for the department, firstly the Department would like to say welcome to recent arrivals Sig 'Slug' Owen from 7 Sig Regt and Sig 'Spud' Lockley from Blandford. Secondly to say farewell and good luck to SSgt 'Spike' Hughes who has moved to be SQMS 245 Sig Sqn (EW), Sgt Ian Millham to a recruiters post in Aldershot and finally to Cpl Chris Coward and Sig Caz Baddeley to Civvy Street. Congratulations go to Sgt Si Ferrer and Cpl Laura Bastin and also to Sig Mark Hamblin and Sig Liz Binns on their recent marriages, we hope the future holds all they wish for. Some recent Regimental commitments have seen the Department having to up the tempo including the Regimental Board of Officers, a VVIP Visit, the Logistical Support Inspection and the Ammunition Inspection, all of which we have come through relatively unscathed. Some notable deployments from the Department have included Sig Stratton and Cpl Lewis on Op Agricola and Sig's Owen and Hamblin on Op Peninsular. Having just completed the Squadron ITD Training Camp we are all now ITD'd to death and ready to face the challenges that lie ahead.

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS TROOP – by WO2 (FofS) Amies
Tp Comd WO2 (FofS) Amies
Tp Sgt Sgt Gemmell

Despite being the smallest Troop in the Squadron we now have a command structure to rival Regimental Ops in it's complexity. The Tp OC, WO2 (FofS) Andy Amies passes information down to the Admin Sergeant, Sgt 'Archie' Gemmell, who passes some of it down to the I/C sections, Sgt 'Taff' Morgan and the MT Sergeant, Sgt 'Taff' Kinsey who then pass whatever little information is left to the shop floor. Congratulations go to the Admin Sergeant who has the same name as the RQMS, and isn't afraid to use this fact to personal advantage, and commiserations to 'Taff' Morgan who still hasn't escaped from the Tech Workshop, keep trying! Aside from dealing with irate farmers this has been an enforced period of inactivity for the Troop, apart from servicings, PRE, First/Second Lines etc, etc! The ED Bay has been substantially reinforced with the arrival of Cpl 'Linford' McSherry and LCpl 'Tanker' Thompson. Still the MT Sgt has managed to claw his way onto the LEWT roster to resume his parachuting career so at least there is one happy face on the shop floor. Our thanks go to TM Tp for replacing every Tech who departs, no matter what rank, with a new guy straight from the factory. Welcome to LCpls 'Unlucky' Peters, 'Spike' Trearty and 'Who?' Easom. The Squadron Orderly room has sadly said goodbye to LCpl 'Griff' Hambleton, who has been replaced by Cpl 'H' Clarke (a former member of the Corps who wanted to return to Brawdy). A big hello to the new YofS, WO2 Lee Davis, who joined the unit in July 2000 but has yet to get a mention in The WIRE, and is chuffed to bits to have a FofS as his Tp OC! Finally a plea to MCM Div for more Welsh people to be posted here as there's just not enough 'Taffs' in the unit!

OPERATION PENINSULAR – by Sgt Gemmell

Mid Wales is known to have some of the most green and scenic land around within the United Kingdom. Members of 226 Sig Sqn (EW) were about to find out how green it really was as they deployed on Op Peninsular. Op Peninsular was the support given to the foot and mouth crisis by 14 Sig Regt (EW) at a most crucial and important time in the attack to stop the spread of the disease. On this operation there were no medals to be gained, as we were about to find out. After a short briefing on the dangers of badgers, to this day we still never understood the logic of this as our main task ahead involved cows and sheep, all the SNCO's and Drivers were unofficially signed in as members of MAFF. We deployed to a small village called Montgomery, sorry I meant a town called Montgomery (as it had a bank). The owner of the hotel was well pleased to say the least as he had not seen any outsiders for three months and was about to lay off half his staff. The Ops room was soon set up by Capt Higgs from 245 Sig Sqn and his driver LCpl 'Spud' Taylor. With all the rooms taken in the 5 star hotel (well it seemed like a five star at first) we were issued our rooms with Sgt (Sig) 'Admin' Gemmell and his driver Sig Chris Lloyd (famous for being quiet) gaining the family room. You can guess who kept bumping his head on the beams as he got into his single bed. The first LO teams on the ground, led by SSgt Jeff Murray and LCpl Mick McGhee from Romeo Tp, were soon to meet a very mixed reaction from the farmers they encountered, as fears fuelled by the media and local speculation. This led to some very angry reactions at times with the threat to use force if the Army were to take control of their farms. These fears were soon put to rest as the Team LOs set about reassuring the farmers of our intentions and to keep them updated with the latest news from the MAFF officials. This proved to be a good relationship and we were soon to become very popular in the district with our friendly and caring approach to the farmers needs. At times this included getting in the shopping or delivering the mail, as well as building fires and assisting in the slaughter of their infected animals. Meanwhile back at the Welsh Assembly in Cardiff SSgt Eric Head and Cpl Steve Birchall (OIC Sharking) were big timing it in a top class hotel and having sandwiches with Big Tony (PM).

by LCpl Cranswick

Tp Comd Flt Lt Rayner
Tp SSgt SSgt Head

Since the last edition a lot of the Troop have gone back to nature but not in a way they might have imagined. With the Regiment being already involved in the foot and mouth crisis with Op Peninsular, members of the Troop were finally called into action in the South Wales region and like anything else some were more involved than others. God knows how Cpl Steve Birchall made it through two weeks of the sheer hellish Cardiff nightlife; by the look of it he certainly didn't starve! Once again it has been another busy period of comings and goings. Good luck to Sgt 'Mad dog' Mount and Sgt Andy Nichols who are both on their Yeoman's course. Tearful farewells to Cpl Steve Frost, who is off to Digby's radio room and Sig Adam Welton who is turning to the civilian side. The Troop new boys are Cpl Paddy Briscoe, Cpl Glenn Feeley, Cpl Tommy Scanlan, Cpl Robbo Robson, Cpl Daz Pond, LCpl Adam Chant and Sig Mick Luxford. Special mentions to the boys in RAF blue, JT ' Peanut' Clements and JT Nick Wilkinson who are sampling the delights of Brawdy for three years and a big G'day to Cpl Jason Reid on exchange from the Australian Royal Signals. Strewth! The Troop is looking forward to Ex Whale Search in June and Ex Eagles Strike in July in which the Troop will no doubt shine in their new revamped formation. The 640th ride again.

ROMEO TROOP - by Sgt Dunn

Tp Comd 2Lt Jones
Tp SSgt SSgt Murray

Firstly I want to kick things off by welcoming back the Troop OC after what must surely be the longest Troop Commanders Course on record. We have our suspicions that he did two courses just to keep away from the Regiment….

Romeo Tp has seen a good many comings and goings in the past couple of months. Starting with the tearful goodbyes. Farewell, to Cpl Karl Hickenbotham, leaving us in order to bolster the ranks at the Air Warfare Centre in Waddington. Also farewell to LCpl Sarah Burton (don't call her Shona) who has decided to give up the hard life in the Royal Signals and see what it is like to slum it with the Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers. Also Sgt Chris Gibbins has taken control down in the PRI shop for his last few months in the Regiment before being promoted to civilian life. Finally, Sig 'Chops' Copestake who is on the verge of a move to Germany. He wishes his posting would arrive as quickly as the local fire brigade did at his MQ when a little midnight snack went 'Pete Tong' in the kitchen. Oh well 'Chops', that's what home insurance cover is for.

Now for the emotional welcomes, a whole scramble of new arrivals. Welcome back to the Troop for Sgt Gav Wilson and wife Tracey. Gav served with Romeo Tp so long ago even he doesn't want to remember it. Also welcome to Cpl Richie Canale, don't unpack mate you're off to Sierra Leone and LCpl Claire Ashdown fresh from 20 Armd Bde. Straight from the DISI factory at Chicksands come LCpls Dan Evans and Justin Eldridge, get some webbing from the SQMS lads you're on exercise tomorrow. Last but no means least Sigs Edge, Johnson 232 and Waite. There's just about enough room to mention that recently the Troop have been involved with the MAFF efforts to halt the spread of foot and mouth disease in Wales and a very successful HF exercise involving a number of TA units in the Midlands. Those not getting involved with such little activities have been helping to form the SPEARHEAD commitment for the Regiment.

RIGGER MARSHALLING COURSE – by Sig Rees

Being an airmobile squadron it is essential for 226 Sig Sqn (EW) to train new Rigger Marshall's (RM). On Tuesday 29 July 2001 we were about to find out what being a RM was all about. We entered the camp cinema to find Sgt Chris Dunn, the Sqn Heli Handling Instructor, ready to take us through the theory side of things. Armed with handouts, power point slides and the worlds supply of videos, the course had begun. At first it was a minefield of information with little time to digest it all. The near vertical learning curve levelled out somewhat on Thursday when the course put their theory into practice, using a Gazzelle helicopter to practice rigging of strops and underslung loads. The course did well and was now looking forward to rigging the Chinook that was booked for the next day. On Friday 1 June the course gathered in one of the hangars for a written exam. Having all passed successfully, it was time to fly a number of different loads around the airfield to see if the HUSLE equipment was up to the job. The Chinook helicopter arrived on time. All personnel were given the safety brief and some useful hints to help with the practical side of the course. Out on the airfield the course was split into four teams up and down the runway. Final checks were done on the various combination loads that were about to be lifted. These included:

- Landrover wolf and trailer combination.
- 16/24 KVA generator, trailer mounted.
- Tandom fl tonne trailer combination.

These lifts were ferried between the four teams on the ground who were putting all their new found theory into practice. A number of Landing Point Commanders (LPC) were keeping a watchful eye on the newly qualified RMs. The Chinook did a total of 12 lifts, moving the combination the RMs had rigged. Thankfully nothing fell off and the whole of the practical session went smoothly. Finally the Chinook touched down, all course personnel boarded for a trip down the Welsh coastline and back across the farm land at low level. Once back at camp the RMs were told they had all passed and were presented with their Rigger Marshaller Currency Certificate. A big thank you to Pte 'Willy' Williams who, at short notice pitched up and took some splendid pictures of the practical session in progress.

A view from the ground.

SSM WO2 (SSM) Mitchell

It has been a busy two months for the premier Squadron in the Regiment. The decline of foot and mouth has seen the boys released from Op Peninsular duties within Wales, leaving more available to deploy to Sierra Leone including the Sqn 2IC, Capt Mark Davis, on CASTS as well as replacing the odd member of 14 Sig Tp when on R&R from their on-going tour in Kosovo. Those remaining have been getting their ITDs out of the way and limbering up for the Inter-Squadron athletics in which they came an impressive third. We have had a welcome addition to the Squadron in the form of six JTs from RAF Digby. The girls have thrown themselves into Squadron life, in particular, competing with great gusto on the female team in the recent Russ Cup Athletics Competition. More from them to follow....

Sqn's (EW) SHQ Tp, with a high proportion of our man power being posted in or out. We would like to say goodbye and congratulations to LCpl Jim 'Madman' Bradford, who has deservedly gained promotion just after posting to 30 Signal Regiment. And a belated welcome to Sgt Brett 'The Invisible Man' Newton who has since stepped in as SHQ Tp (MT) SNCO, (we think). We would like to welcome LCpl Glen Russell, posted in from 7 Signal Regiment. We would also like to congratulate LCpl Pete 'Teeth' Russell on promotion last week whilst on tour in Kosovo. 237 Sig Sqn (EW) has recently been involved in 14 Sig Regt (EW) Athletics Competition. The SSM, WO2 Dave Mitchell, competed in a number of events, including the 400m hurdles, in which he was victorious. (Questions still abound on who was holding the stopwatch). Sig Graham (Jnr) Luddit also took part in the 3000m steeple chase for SHQ Tp, with a somewhat adapted technique to his race. SHQ Tp was eagerly cheering on the Squadron, including Sgt Kev (Mac) Macdonald - congratulations on his new arrival, baby Connor; LCpl Paul 'Very' Strange; Cpl Craig 'Seth' Campbell - the biggest, loudest care bear of the Squadron who is in the process of re-trading to the Int Corps; and Cpl 'Paddy' Garvey, who was too busy daydreaming about his future leave to Acapulco.

14 SIGNAL TP (EW) - OP AGRICOLA (KOSOVO)
by Sig Kerry Burrows Tp Comd Lt Waddell
Tp OpsWO WO2 (Supvr R) Osborne

May has been and gone and June is upon us. Slowly but surely the weeks are flying past. Within the Troop we have two distinct environments. Firstly, we have those at the sharp end. These are the men who man the detachments out and about in the countryside and they are the Troop's mountain men. Such heroes include Sig Rob 'I know how to light a Puffin Billy' Fraser, Cpl Dave 'Call the Blackhawk, I've been bitten by an insect' Hall and spearheading the rain dances, Cpl Jinna Garner. The other environment is Ech and here you'll find all the Ech Wallahs, who fondly refer to themselves as mongs. No really! Other than the boss - Lt Phil 'Mmm doughnuts' Waddell, and the troops' OpsWO, WO2 Mike 'What do you mean day off' Osborne - the whole effort in supporting the out-dets is held together by IC Rubb Shelter, Cpl Matt ' Just for the Men' Turner. The work at both ends is constant and most days merge into a sort of groundhog-day, but this doesn't happen without any comic incidences. Shortly after the visit from CO 14 Sig Regt (EW), the real memorable 'classics' occurred.

As May draws to a close, how could we ever forget Sig Jamie 'Pattyman' Pateman's spectacular table clearance in the bar? A steady flow of verbal pokes and slates - in good humour of course - saw to the demise of at least half a dozen bottles of beer and 'Pattyman's' tempestuous exit from the bar. June arrives and once again our beloved 'Pattyman' provides the drama: we convinced him that it was necessary to travel with a shotgun on the roof of the RB44. And so it came to pass that he wedged himself between the canvas and the cab, kitted out in his body armour and helmet, armed with his LSW! The final part of the journey up to the hill top site was particularly rocky and he arrived looking pretty shaken only to be greeted by a committee of Royal Engineers as well as the crew's det. Oh how they laughed.

Since then, there have been just too many incidents to list, but needless to say, the Troop has been kept entertained. Now June has arrived and still, there's much of the same. The Troop has moved up into another gear, working hard on its latest deployment, but also preparations are underway for the troop's recovery to the UK come early July. All in all, the tour has been a good one; lots of laughs and calamities. Yet through all of this, the Troop has managed to work through its technical problems and above all, maintained its professionalism through and through.

THE RAF HAVE LANDED AT BRAWDY (AGAIN)!
by Lt Halpin

We've got the beach, we've got the surf.... and now Brawdy's got the Babes! The official line is that 14 Sig Regt (EW) (currently a tad short of females) needed more Intercept Operators - so was it a coincidence that six out of the eight are women JTs recruited from the dark depths of RAF Digby? How come 237 Sig Sqn (EW) managed to nab all the females? Morale at 14 Sig Regt has certainly improved with the new arrivals - and the girls are welcome too! So were they coerced or did they volunteer? Lt Halpin investigates, grabbing a moment with the busy new arrivals as they take a break in the sun from their Odette Operator's Course:

'What were your expectations of coming to Brawdy?'

'We'd heard that it was all about painting tanks - and were even given paint brushes as a leaving presents!', says JT Fegan (237 Sig Sqn).

'And have you had to use them yet?'

'Well we did paint a generator!'

JT Clements (226 Sig Sqn (EW)) puts it more succinctly:

'I was expecting a lot of bullst,' but added straight away, 'It's been fine though, the lads accept that we've had different training and make allowances for us.'

'Are you getting fed up yet with all the crap RAF jokes?'

'We give as good as we get; we've got lots of crap army jokes!', JT Barnes (237 Sig Sqn (EW)) shoots back. Atta Girls!

'So it's not as bad as you thought then?'

'Oh no, we get to see the sun and enjoy it on days like this,' says JT Cochrane (237 Sig Sqn (EW)) (good attitude), 'and we get the opportunity to deploy; it's going to be a much less passive role than at Digby', adds JT Richards (245 Sig Sqn (EW)). The lads are both off to Oman with 226 Sig Sqn (EW) in September along with JT Wilkinson (226 Sig Sqn (EW)) while the girls are heading off to Chicksands for six months' language training in preparation for deployment to Kosovo next year. Dobra Sreca! Since their arrival last month the JTs have been taken through a comprehensive Regimental Induction under the watchful eye of RAF, Sgt Byrne. As well as doing the two week Odette Operators' Course instructed by Capt Dave Divine (congratulations on commissioning sir!) and the extremely slim line WO1 'Buzz' Burrrows. The girls have certainly been making most of the delights of Pembrokeshire in their free time, 'We went horse-riding along Newgale Beach last weekend, it was fantastic', enthused JT Cochrane. The girls went on to say that the Stables would give them a good discount for a group of ten; here's your chance lads! What are you waiting for?!

AND FINALLY....

We look forward to welcoming 14 Sig Tp (EW) back from Kosovo at the begining of July. We will be returning as a Squadron early next year. Before that, elements of the Squadron will deploy in support of 226 Sig Sqn (EW) on Ex Saif Sareea in Oman in September. In the meantime there is a summer at Brawdy to enjoy! 237 Sig Sqn (EW) will be featuring prominently in the forthcoming Corps Windsurfing Championships at Dale; Lt Laura Halpin, WO2 Tony Watters, Sgt Brett Newton and Sgt 'Taff' Willumsen will be donning the necessary rubber (it's not that hot here) and competing for the Regiment in the Novice Event. The OC Sqn, Maj Dave Drinkall, is keen to get a ladies squad together for the Army Canoe Championships. Finally, good luck to all those competing in the Morrison Cup at Blandford on 16 June.

OPERATION PENINSULAR – by CaptHiggs

Between March 27 and April 13 the Regiment deployed three troops to aid MAFF in the fight against foot and mouth disease in Wales. The Troops, which were a mix from across all four Squadrons, deployed to Anglesey, Montgomeryshire and Monmouthshire, with a Squadron Command element in the MAFF Office in Llandrindod Wells.

The Anglesey Troop deployed with an initial brief to assist with the security of slaughterhouses and disposal sites. It was not long, however, before they found themselves doing the unenviable task of manhandling carcasses, so they could be transported from one disposal site to another. The Monmouthshire Tp, tasked by the MAFF Office in Llanishen, initially deployed on mapping tasks, identifying dangerous contacts and contiguous farms, but they were soon moved on to farms to control slaughter and disposal. They were so diligent in controlling site security that they even took a postman who had strayed on to a suspected farm and stripped him of his clothes and shoes, so that he had to complete his rounds in a set of disposable paper coveralls. The Montgomery Tp worked directly with the local Police, Farmers' Unions and Animal Health Officers on farms around Newtown and Welshpool, deployed in LO teams to farms, where they supervised slaughter men and contractors in the work of culling and disposal, as well as securing the site and licensing movement. There was hostility from the farmers during the first few days of the deployment, as they had been told that the Army would arrive armed and ready to kill animals on sight. Once the teams were in place, and the work had started on the farms they realised that we were sympathetic to their situation, and strong ties were soon developed with many of the farmers and their families. The Troop in Montgomeryshire was relieved in place by the HCR, and before we could return to barracks, in Pembrokeshire, which is in a 'clean' part of the country, we were placed in a three-day quarantine in Sennybridge. The time was not wasted however and once the vehicles had been thoroughly disinfected the Regimental Training Wing provided gripping entertainment in the form of ITD training.

The crisis had been in the Press for several weeks before we deployed, but even after having worked in the farming community it is hard to appreciate how devastating it is for farmers, particularly dairy farmers, to have all of their stock destroyed as a precautionary measure. It was with sadness that the Regiment learned that one of the farmers whose stock we had culled took his own life the week after we returned to barracks. While many areas of the country have now begun to open up, the crisis is not yet over.

EXERCISE POLAR BACKSTOP

On 17 February, 230 Sig Sqn along with members of 255 Sig Sqn set out on Ex Polar Backstop which was to be a memorable and exciting skiing exercise. Co-ordinated by Lt 'Everything is under control' Knightly Brown it was to be a very successful week that let some of the members of the exercise show some real character. We arrived at our lodge with Sig 'I'm the driver' Bedford skilfully driving the coach across the snow and missing most of the other traffic on the roads. The slopes were dominated with skills from Sig 'I can ski really well with out falling' Denham , LCpl 'Mad goggles but I can just about stand' Smith, Sgt 'Don't I look good' MacKenzie and also Cpl 'Snow Plough' Roberts and some of the members can still here Sgt 'Lucky Dice' Wilkinson screaming and it is still debated whether he put his hand in his pocket all week. When it was decided that the members of the exercise would have a night out some of the lads decided to impress the local ladies with tales that they were a boy band Cpl 'I can dance' Finney , Sig 'Ricky Martin' Doherty and LCpl 'I'll stand here and look good' Perry, so a big thanks to Random Answer and we hope to hear more from the band in the future. However, these were not the only stars of the exercise with Sig 'Snake' Wood trying his hardest and a big thank you to our entertainers Sigs 'Let's streak in the snow' Patman and Ansell , what a random thing to do! All in all the exercise was very successful and a good time was had by all, can't wait for Polar Backstop II.

TRUNK NODE 015
Tp Comd Lt Knightly Brown
Tp SSgt SSgt McNeill

Hello and welcome from TN 015. It's been a strange month with lots going on. Unfortunately due to the foot and mouth out break (including in the females accommodation), most of the exercises have been cancelled and the Troop has been concentrated mostly on vehicle maintenance (allegedly). The Troop recently contributed their efforts towards the Leicester Trophy swimming event, the team members; LCpl Billy 'The Fish' Merrick, LCpl 'Boar' Bufton, Sig 'Not so fish' Irwin, Sig 'Canoe' Cameron, Cpl 'Halibut' Hall, Sig 'Billy' Bedford and Sig Lisa Harris. Finally, Trunk Node 015 would like to say a final farewell to the finest ED in the Corps, Sig Hatchard who is leaving us for 1 Div, and Cpl Lowes who has already left for the pastures of 2 Sig Regt.

TRUNK NODE 016 - By Cpl Shackleton
Tp Comd Lt Pittaway
Tp SSgt SSgt Shield

Recently life in the Troop has been nothing less than the usual thrills, spills and adventures we have all come to expect, along with a few noticeable changes of faces within the ranks. Firstly the Troop would like to extend its warmest welcome to the arrival of SSgt Russ 'Haven't I got a loud voice?' Shield into the chair, along with Sgt Bri 'NATO Champion' Clark both of whom have taken well to daily life within the Troop. Also we wish to welcome LCpl 'Paddy' Grills with Sigs 'Jase' Holt and 'Felix' Feline. As always the lads have been out getting involved in anything we can, most recently in the Leicester Trophy Swimming Competition with excellent performances from all who participated, in particularly Sig 'Warrington Champion' Doherty and Cpl 'Which way's the finish?' Tyrrell. But the greatest applause has to be saved for our new Staff Sergeant who wasted no time in teaching the Regiment the spirit of never giving up under any circumstances! Not even when the officials call a false start! Outside of work hours the Troop recently tried its hand on the racing track with an afternoon Go-Karting were a fierce competition of driving skill was had. In the end there can be only one winner and after thirty laps of dog eat dog racing and numerous warnings LCpl 'Dougie' Douglas and Sig 'I was robbed' Wilson failed to get passed Cpl 'Smiler' Shackleton to win the day. A mention also has to be given to, probably the biggest under achiever of the afternoon, LCpl 'Crash Test Dummy' McCrum who managed to hit or drive over everything but the racing line! A very impressive drive for someone employed as the Brigadier's driver! Our congratulations go out to LCpl 'Exercise begin' Heywood on getting married and to Sig 'Flis' Cull who is about to get married very shortly. Finally our biggest thanks would like to go to LCpl 'Tarentino' Walsh who since taking over the bar has provided the single soldiers with a second home to find refuge from the trials of everyday work.

SUPPORT TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Laura Clark
Tp SSgt SSgt Lewis

Support Tp lately has undergone the same sporty pursuits as the rest of the Squadron. The Morrison Cup Athletics in Herford saw some notable performances, Sig Daniel put in a valiant effort in the 100m hurdles against some tough opposition. Sig Delaney did well and came Third in the Pole Vault, and Sigs Ansell and Duffield both put in a massive effort in the 4x400m relay. Sig Jackson did well in the Discus despite an injury. The Leicester Trophy Swimming saw some great and not so great performances. Cpl 'Fish' Finney introduced a new swimming stroke to us all. Everyone who took part put in a fantastic effort, and brought more than a couple of smiles to peoples' faces. New additions to the Troop are Sgt Dix from 252 Sig Sqn and 2Lt Clark from RSTCC. Goodbye to LCpl Dickeson, Sgt Gudge and Sgt Reid , good luck to you all.

255 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Capt Kevin Barker
SSM WO2 (SSM) Al Ironside

The Squadron has bid a hearty and sad goodbye to the OC, Maj Tony Burgin, who leaves us to travel 'up the road' to join G6 UKSC(G). All of us at 255 Sig Sqn wish Maj Burgin, Cathy, Gemma and Daniel all the very best for the future and we expect to see you very soon at your leaving 'do'. It may look like we are a bit tight-fisted and haven't bothered putting our hands in our pockets to send you off in style but we shall certainly ensure you get a suitable send-off prior to the Squadron's departure to Oman. Even though you have now left I am sure you will be glad to know that for the second time running the Yeoman has been censored and no mention of Winnie the Pooh will be made (oops). On behalf of all the members of 255 Sig Sqn we would like to wish you the very best for the future for both you and the Burgin clan and to thank you for steering the Squadron so well.

Also moving is WO2 (FofS) Matt Duff. Again a big thank you and goodbye to Matt, Emma and Sam who are escaping to Cheltenham. Moving across to take his place is SSgt (FofS) Campbell who has transferred over from SCP(R). Thank you to Matt for all you've done for the Squadron and for your influence in the sale of Visio and other assorted software packages. The Foreman has been an invaluable asset to ARRC MAIN deployments not least because he often doubles up as the Tropo Det, on account of his ears. Also departing SHQ is SSgt 'Rocky' Hudson who has swapped with SSgt Jayne Lawrence from 252 Sig Sqn (hello). Again a big goodbye to 'Rocky' and thanks for all your support over the last four years.

The Squadron has gone through some other big changes with our numbers swelling considerably as everyone rushes to be 255 Sig Sqn! We have now taken on all CIS responsibilities for all ARRC sites on deployment as CIS Tp transfers from 252 Sig Sqn. Hot-footing it behind them came Bruggen Tp (formerly H Tp) as they also became part of the gang. For all the new faces a big welcome to 255 Sig Sqn. The Squadron can face a bright and interesting future which see us not only growing but taking on a greater number and more varied roles.

MAN TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Brian Jeffery
Tp SSgt SSgt Fred Fensom

Hello to LCpl Phillips joining the Troop from 7 Sig Regt and Sig Green straight from the factory, a sad farewell goes to Cpl Kev Parkes as he leaves to re-badge to the AGC. Kev will be sadly missed within the Troop and we all wish Kev, Vicky and family all the best for the future. Congratulations to Sig Douglas on his recent marriage to Louise, they are now awaiting the birth of their first child later this year. Congratulations also go to Sig Ashley Beardsley on getting married and to 2Lt Brian Jeffery on his recent engagement.

The Troop is now back to strength after those attached to BRITFOR Troop in Bosnia have returned to sunny Germany. It is an end to an era for MAN Tp as we have now passed the commitment for ARRC main back to 7 Sig Regt, to enjoy the role of Rear Support Command (RSC) instead. The last few weeks have been involved in build up to Ex Saif Sareea later this year in the Oman which many members of the Troop will be deployed on. In the sporting side Sig Julie Steele has recently just returned from boxing in Herford. After a very close match Julie just lost to her opponent but our praise goes out to her for putting in a top effort with the assistance of her coaches, WO2 (QMSI) 'Sideshow Bob' Price, Sgt Rob Kirk and Cpl 'Geordie' Appleby.

Although the thought of exercise isn't always the most appealing a few members of MAN Tp are resorting to some desperate measures. In the duration of one week LCpl Steve Carroll broke his ankle and underwent major surgery, LCpl Evo Boothby broke his arm and Sig Jamie Buyers has also been under the knife after breaking his hand. The sad fact is LCpl Carroll and Sig Buyers were playing football for the recently founded Stella 'well-hard' football team. This has now been re-named the shandy 'Well-soft' football team.

BRUGGEN TROOP
Tp OC Lt Lee Rickman (New boy in the chair)
Tp SSgt SSgt Gaz Tinsley (Old man of the Troop)

Well for the third time in two years H Tp, or Bruggen Tps as we are now known, have been transferred. In a deal worth millions the Crazy Gang are now on the books of 255 Sig Sqn. We are starting to feel like the 'Stan Colymores' of the Regiment. Hopefully this will be our last port of call prior to the Troop demise in March 2003. In addition to our normal work at RAF Bruggen the Troop is also in line for some small tasks in the more exotic countries such as Oman, Sierra Leone, Turkey, Norway and Ascension. There is always the call for more Mechs in the Balkans this is met by the intrepid crews that flit back and forth under the watchful eye of SSgt 'Bing' Crosby.

Hello to Lt Rickman, Sig Smart, Sig Ferris, Sig Hanlon, Sig Hansen and his wife. Goodbye to Capt Stonier (OC leaving for 2 Sig Regt, York - Best wishes from the lads and lasses for the future, Cpl Lewis (Back to the LAD), Cpl Shaw (North bound to Herford), Sig Grebby (Now a Mister).

On a glorious Sunday the 13 May 2001 the whole Troop and their families fell on to the Fear Dry INN estate in Bruggen to have the traditional BBQ. All was set up by 1300hrs, the volleyball net, the goal posts, softball area and of course the bouncy castle for the little ones and the children! They arrived in their droves all suffering from the Final Football club do, with their stories of Ben McFaul and his amazing glass balancing antics. The beer flowed, nice and cold and plenty of it. The first challenge of the day was the singlies versus the wives at volleyball, after some dodgy refereeing from SSgt Gaz Tinsley and Cpl Mick Makin and some serious whinging from the Singlies the blokes won 21 to 19. The quiz was next, Sig 'Taff' Davies had worked all week on this, it was going to be testing and tough he boasted (It might even stump the Tech SSgt). However, unfortunately after one or two light refreshments too many, Sig Davies lost the plot and any recollection of the scoring so we had to abandon the Quiz. This was much to SSgt Mark Sherwood's disgust, as he wanted to show that behind the body and those amazing dancing pecs was a brain (even though he got Pig and Butterfly mixed up), easily done I suppose. Thanks to Ben McFaul, 'Taff' Davies, Mick Makin and the guys for a fantastic day. Well done to all who have participated in the numerous sports events held lately, especially to the Basket ball team who won easily the Regiment Trophy, to the Softball team who won the Station title. However, commiseration's to the volleyball team as they were useless.

THE METAMORPHISIS OF CIS TP

April has been a busy time for the Troop. No sooner than we had transferred to 255 Sig Sqn we were also joined by assorted members of 7 Sig Regt. A big welcome to all those who have made the move. With this amalgamation came the added responsibility of building and manning another headquarters and the Troop is now responsible for undertaking all deployable IS tasks for HQ 1 Sig Bde. It was therefore with some sadness (and with little ceremony) that the former Borneo (CIS) Tp was split into two parts with the IS element transferring into 255 Sig Sqn on 30 April as CIS Tp, whilst COMMCEN BFG and ADA Rheindahlen retain their slippers, reformed under control of SHQ 252 Sig Sqn. There is always the danger that a Troop that is made up of unrelated elements including COMMCEN, Crypto and IS will become fragmented. However, Borneo Tp has maintained a cohesion and unity that has done it proud. There will be a function shortly to mark the occasion.

SAN TROOP
Tp Comd Capt 'Admin Is A Place In China ' Lyons
Tp Sgt Sgt 'Through A Straw' Green

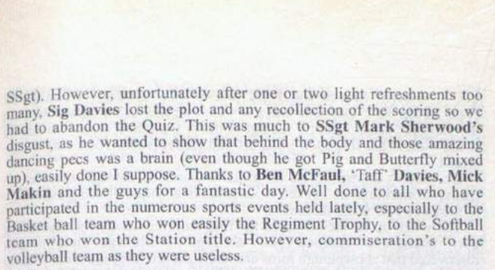
The Troop has been busy with the usual det maintenance, but just to keep us happy our new arrival from 1 ADSR Sig Andy Duncan (welcome to the Squadron) put on a fine display of emergency stitching for the RSM's parade. We must say goodbye to Sig 'Mad' Chris Stewart who has gone to civ div and also LCpl 'Biff' Fisher who has gone to be trained in the dark side of the force at 11 Sig Regt and is retrading to Tech.

EXERCISE BAVARIAN BACKSTOP

Ex Bavarian Backstop was a 255 Sig Sqn adventure training exercise held (surprisingly) in Bavaria. The Exercise allowed 40 members of the Squadron to take part in either trekking, rock climbing or kayaking, with all those who went trekking coming away with their Summer Mountain Proficiency qualification.



LCpls Savage, West and Jefferies overlooking the Alpsee

The area around Kranzegg provided us with some excellent walks, although not everyone agreed that the views from the top of the mountains compensated for the effort put in to get there! LCpl 'Fred' West didn't understand why we couldn't go up in the cable car and then walk down! 2Lt Brian Jeffery certainly found his 1-day visit to the ex very tiring and took every opportunity to stop for a breather!

2Lt Brian Jeffery recovering after an arduous climb

The kayakers enjoyed the calm of the Alpsee before progressing onto moving water, including the weir and rapids at Marienbrucke. LCpl 'Mac' MacDonald particularly enjoyed his experience of the rapids as he emerged from the water (after much pulling on the safety line by Sig Michelle Jelfs!) minus his kayak and paddle!

Sig 'Clutch' McCulloch and Sig Mike Grainger comparing throwline technique

The nearby towns provided excellent venues for sampling the local beer and the Karting Bahn at Fischen gave the budding formula one drivers a chance to shine! The fastest lap of the evening went to WO2 (FofS) Matt Duff, although the competition was tough! The greatest achievement of the evening was not getting thrown off the premises as numerous karts attempted to destroy the circuit and each other! Overall the ex was a great success and a lot of fun was had by all, with the added bonus of some of the soldiers gaining qualifications as a result of the hard work they put in and their enthusiasm.

LIFE IN THE SQUADRON

The Squadron has changed significantly over the last three months, losing all its deployable assets amounting to around half the previous size of the Squadron. These have been shifted in their entirety over to 255 Sig Sqn which should give them something to do for a change. The Squadron now has 115 personnel that should give the OC a bit more time to improve his handicap. There have been plenty of adventurous training activities going on, some of which are described below:

EXERCISE BOSUN BACKSTOP
SAILING AROUND DENMARK

27 May 2001 - After a six-hour journey to Kiel from JHQ, the crew moved into temporary accommodation for a night before we took the boat over on Sunday morning. Once showered, we were all ready for some fast food as we were too late for the cookhouse. Once suitable filled from McDonalds, we discovered that the bar in the yacht club was open and fairly busy with arrivals for the courses beginning on Monday.

28 May 2001 - Whilst Capt Bates was taking over the boat in the morning, we were given the task of buying the fresh rations required for the first part of the journey. This and the loading of all our kit took some time, so we did not really get settled in the boat until about 11 o'clock. We were then shown various parts of the boat including the odd names given to parts of the sails, ropes, navigation equipment etc. After a safety brief and lunch we departed Kiel at around 1300hrs towards our destination, Eckenforde, just up the road from Kiel. A good deal of time was spent getting used to the basics, including steering, changing sails, tacking and gibing, and the rules involved in sailing. During the journey the winds picked up significantly which caused a few worried faces amongst the novice sailors. This was the sign of things to come, and the main sail was reefed in so we could control the boat a little better. We eventually arrived at Eckenforde at 1700 hrs and spent some time preparing the boat whilst mother-watch prepared a sumptuous spaghetti bolognaise.

29 May 2001 - Oh dear, so this is what sailing is all about. With winds gusting up to 40kts and heavy seas rolling the boat from the outset, we had to rig the storm jib and did not even raise the main sail because of the arriving storm. As the wind was behind us, the boat rolled with the high waves in a way which made everybody instantly feel ill. The destination, Marstal in Denmark was some 30 miles away so we were trying to prepare ourselves for a long journey. Unfortunately it was not long before Leon 'Chunks' Crayton was sick, and this made the rest of us feel even worse. It was all we could do to stop ourselves being ill, so we were kept busy by trying to control and maintain the boat in the rough seas. Eventually, we arrived at Marstal at 1900hrs and began to get the colour back in our faces.30 May 2001 - Initially, our destination was to be Faaborg to the North West of Marstal on the mainland. After negotiating some very slender deep water routes we came out into open water and were able to raise both the mainsail and foresail as the weather was calmer than the previous day. However, the wind had shifted considerable and we found ourselves heading straight into wind and therefore had to keep tacking to head for Faaborg. After some hours of this, Capt Bates realised that it would be unrealistic to achieve Faaborg that day, so we altered course for Svenborg to the North East of us. Sailing with the wind made the yacht travel quickly, achieving speeds of up to eight knots. We arrived at Svenborg at 1800hrs and immediately began preparing the curry that was eventually gobbled up by the hungry crew.

31 May 2001 - Svenborg proved to be a beautiful town with many friendly people. As some of the crew were avid fisherman they wanted to try out their fishing skills in the harbour, and were given a few hours to try and catch dinner. It was to our surprise that they returned with four good-sized fish that made their way to the dinner table later that evening. Capt Bates took the crew out for the remainder of the day teaching safety drills like man-overboard and dropping anchor. As the weather was fairly calm we set full sail and practised tacking and gibing, as well as some of the crew being raised in the bosun's chair over the side of the boat. We returned to Svenborg later that evening and cooked our fish (and also plenty of pizza).

1 June 2001 - We set off from Svenborg at around 1030hrs towards Rudkobing, a small fishing town to the South East of Svenborg. As much of the sea around Rudkobing is very shallow, we had to pilot the boat through narrow deep-water channels in order to approach the town. A fine day weather wise that meant that we all finished the day with red sea-dog faces. I was given the chance to go up the mast in the bosun's chair in order to take crew photo. It proved to be higher up than I expected. Saturday night in Rudkobing was an interesting affair. Of the three bars in the town, everybody seemed to congregate in the one place, and we ended up playing an impromptu pool tournament.

2 June 2001 - We began the last and longest leg of the journey back towards Kiel. Unfortunately the wind was directly against us that meant we either had to tack all the way back or motor for much of the way and hope that the wind swung around a little in order to get some power out of the sails. Capt Bates was a little worried about the time factor and decided to motor much of the way. The weather was more forgiving than the outbound journey but we weren't willing to take any risks this time and the whole crew kept popping sea sickness tablets just in case. We were able to make some sail power for part of the journey, and returned to Kiel at around 1930hrs, just when another four boats from other courses were returning. Capt Bates looked a little flustered as everyone was watching him try to reverse the boat into the narrow berthing space. Once the boat was tidied up ready for handover the next day we all went out and had a meal.

All in all, the expedition was great fun, and everyone gained something from it. Although the sea sickness experience will stick in everyone's mind, we enjoyed six day's sailing around the waters of Denmark and discovered that the Danish people were very friendly and welcoming to a boat full of British squaddies.

EXERCISE TEAM EDIFICE 2001

Ex Team Edifice was a Royal Signals System Support Team (Germany) adventurous training exercise which took place in Mayhofen, Austria over the period 14 - 21 April 2001 and was based on alpine skiing. Sgt 'Cozzy' Costello organised the event, his initial brief to all the participants was that all they needed was a passport and some 'non-ribbed' socks. The team invited Capt (Tfc) 'Rollover' Roden, Capt (TOT) 'Sleepy' Steven and WO2 (SSM) 'Port Monkey' Hannah, all from 16 Sig Regt. Day One was a 0600hrs we met in the camp. We then gleefully set off to Austria, via Sgt 'Cozzy' Costellos' house so that he could collect his forgotten passport and ribbed socks (first fine of the week).

On arriving at Mayrhofen, the group was met by the sight of over two metres of snow, on the Penken mountain. An absolute blessing especially in the last week of the ski season.

The warm up on the slopes in the first morning ensured all the skiing participants had regained their 'ski legs', while Sgt 'Demon' Dix discovered that snowplough turns are rarely carved, they are more usually ploughed. After lunch Sgt 'Al' Costello, set Sgt 'Dixie' Dix to work, ploughing the green 'nursery' slope while he led the skiers to the infamous red number seven ski-route. This route was to earn the name 'manic molly's mighty mogul mountain' as the skiers quickly learned that horrible cruddy wet snow on this, un-pisted route, defied all attempts to ski parallel. Confidence shattered we rejoined 'Dixie' on the Nursery slope.

Wednesday saw the team on Snow Blades, these extremely small skis seem very awkward initially but can be mastered within 20 minutes. For the whole day the team, irrespective of skiing standard, skied together and completed all the slopes. Blades are great fun and everyone should try them. You can even chill out on the slopes with the snowboarders!

The exercise participants rapidly discovered that SSgt Steve Holloway likes to tell everyone 'I'm not being funny, right' before his next sentence. However, his comical postures on the slopes and antics during the Après-Ski events, severely disproved this figure of speech. Thus SSgt 'Charlie Chester' Holloway made an outstanding contribution to the week by being nominated, every evening, for thick of the day! WO2 (FofS) 'Sooty' Edge made a notable contribution by ensuring we could always see the other group (day and night) due to his yellow banana skin ski suit. Day Three saw the team trying some jumps. WO1 (FofS) 'my wrist hurts' Briers set the standard by attempting a jump and landing on his head yards away from his skis. After this the group decided to remodel the jumps, to great effect. WO1 (FofS) Briers, WO2 (SSM) 'Port Monkey' Hannah and SSgt 'Norman' Carter started a 'buzz the snowboarder' competition which proved very challenging. FofS Briers being the winner with a total of eight!

The team was sorry to lose Capt (Tfc) 'Rollover' Roden when he decided to ditch his skis and dive off the black slope breaking his collarbone. The fact that Capt Roden was extracted by piste machine caused an element of jealousy as SSgt 'Charlie Chester' Holloway had wanted a ride on it, all week. The week proved a great success with all participants showing considerable improvements in their skiing. Sgt 'Demon' Dix was a complete novice on day one and by Day Six was skiing well - winning the face planting competition. The Snow conditions were excellent and Mayhofen is recommended to all.

SINGAPORE TROOP PAINT BALLING 2001

On 1 April 2001 Singapore Tp 252 Sig Sqn took part in a day's paint balling at D Survivor, Roermond. This was to say farewell to two members of the Troop, LCpl 'Ben' Atkin and LCpl 'Sarah' Dickinson. Then day was arranged by Sig 'Sarah' Howie.

The excitement started before we even boarded the transport, with competitive banter between the Army and the RAF members of the Troop. This continued all the way to the paint balling location. We arrived and were given our equipment and ammunition, and by this time everyone was raring to go. We were split into two equal teams and briefed before deploying onto the area. We had barely started when the boss, Capt (TOT) 'Scotty' Steven, was removed from the first game, as mutiny struck the Troop and we coated him head to toe in orange paint. Also Cpl 'Lance' Bar was eliminated very early, this was the person who was nagging everyone before we started to buy extra ammo, when on the area he only managed a handful of rounds himself. This didn't amuse him much and sent him into a sulk for the rest of the day. One of the funniest memories of the day was when Cpl 'Lee' Kilgour, one of our RAF members of the Troop, normally never to be seen at work, could also be seen in the area. He got so carried away military skills such as dash, down, crawl etc. that he now considering a proper job with the ARMY.

As usual the two mean, green and keen members of the Troop SSgt 'Leigh' Crossing and Cpl 'Mick' Durrant got a bit carried away, and introduced full on section attacks and battle drills to the area. That didn't last long they where both eliminated after a couple of minutes. To top the day off Sgt 'Dale' Armitage and Sig 'Geri' Halliwell were determined to get one another, but were interrupted during their battle as Sgt 'Dale' Armitage received a blow to the rear, much to his discomfort, by a member of the Troop who is yet to come forward. This was an excellent day and no matter what team you where on or who you shot it was all quickly forgotten unlike the day will be. The Troop would like to thank 'Sarah' Howie for her hard work to make the day possible, and to Sgt 'Dale' Armitage and Sig 'Bobby' Glennie for driving the transport.

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS

Recently, there have been many changes in the personalities within the Regimental Headquarters, far too many to write about each one. Suffice to say, congratulations to those who have been promoted or commissioned, a sad farewell to those who have left for pastures new and a hearty welcome to those new arrivals. In short a summary:

Lt Col Bruce Avison – Previous 2IC promoted/posted
Maj John Mullender – 2IC Welcome.
Capt Ian Hargreaves – Adjt Welcome.
Capt Ady Knight – Commissioned due posting.
Capt Tom Crapper – Previous Adjt Posted.
Capt Tim Godden – RAO Leaving the Army to join the TA.
Sgt Lancaster – Finance SNCO Welcome.
Miss Christine Neal – Finance Clerk Welcome.

With all the comings and goings, RHQ has continued to supply the excellent service that all have become accustomed to. We successfully passed the SPS inspection - even with a few bridges to cross. We managed to deploy Sgts Mick Elliott and Callum Black (Ops SNCO) to Cypus on Ex Lion Sun and Sgt Rob Fuller, who managed to secure himself a six-week tour in S. Africa returned and has since secured a posting to BMATT for six-months. An extremely busy period, we are all looking forward to the next fun-packed period of excessive working hours and unrealistic timelines. Still no change really!

EXERCISE LION SUN MAY 2001

Ex Lion Sun was an exercise for elements of 21 Sig Regt (AS) to train in aspects of Peace Support Operations and to take advantage of the Adventure Training facilities on Cyprus. 95 members of the Regiment deployed on the exercise on 9 April, this included attachments from 16 CS Med Regt, 11 Sig Regt and 14 Sig Regt (EW). An initial range package was organized and run at RAF Akrotiri Ranges under the supervision of SSgt Hayes and Sgt Francis. A number of the deployed personnel had to get their APWT's out of the way first and then progress on to the Fire Team Assessment and MMTR. The training that began concurrently with the range work covered all of the basic infantry platoon tactics under the expert tuition of Sgt Langridge, Sgt Kidd and Cpl Hook. The first weeks training allowed the exercising troops to become acclimatized to Cyprus' heat and its terrain after the cold and wet of Britains winter. Easter Weekend ended the first phase of training and commenced the confirmatory platoon battle drills using blank ammunition and pyrotechnics much to the CBFs annoyance. This training developed the lessons learned in the first week and allowed the troops to operate as complete platoons.

The next phase of the training was live firing at the other end of the Island at the Pyla Ranges. WO2 Budding and Sgt Churchward ran this with help on the BATSIM from Sgt Gronn and GPMG Overhead fire from Sgt Francis and SSgt Hayes. This phase was highlighted as one of the most important and we tried to incorporate as many practices as possible including CQBR, ISBR, Fire Team Attack, Section Attack. We also managed to get all the personnel through Ambush and Section in Defense at night, which everybody seemed to enjoy. This phase of training went exceptionally well apart from the regular fires, which halted practices on a regular basis. With the culmination of the training there was the build up to the Final exercise with Rigid Raider training and Orders. The final exercise started with the stock Beach Landing at dawn and then attack up the high ground where the Enemy provided stiff resistance. Cpl Varley's section bearing the brunt of the action on the first morning. Later on in the day both Lt MacDonald's Platoon and 2Lt Wadia's Platoon had to operate together to combat fearsome fighting from one enemy emplacement. Day Two saw 2lt Clemence's Platoon having to deal with the 'Valley of Death', a nightmare thrash through some of Cyprus's hardest terrain. Day three of the FTX saw a heli insertion into another training area and a long hard slog up one of the endless valleys attacking the seemingly invincible Enemy forces. Cpl Hook showed his green side with some amazing moves to keep Sgt Watts' forces at bay. That night was extremely busy for all of the troops with harassment and attacks. The company responded effectively with a number of ambushes established which caught out some of the enemy. Cpl Eason set up an ambush ten yards from where Capt Johnson was hiding which meant a long and uncomfortable night for him.

2 Platoon – Better than Alton Towers

The next day began with two dog sections leading a search into a 'former enemy HQ' to find some hidden information and 'Col (SSgt) Santoro Hayes' who was not so cleverly hidden in a bush. Finally the FTX progressed onto the FIBUA attack on Paramali village. With the exception of the Fire Support who failed to insert in time led ably by Sgt Black, the attack went very well. The pyrotechnics and amount of blank ammunition used meant for an exciting and aggressive attack. Sgt Maj Giles was seen to enjoy physically encouraging the troops. After the endeavors of the previous fortnights training the troops enjoying a well-earned rest with a trip to Egypt encompassing a number of historical sites, the Pyramids and the Museum in Cairo. Then followed a four-day adventure training package conducted by the likes of Sgt Black and Cpl Howe which saw all troops working very hard on activities such as water-skiing, windsurfing, sailing, mountain biking and horse riding. Overall the exercise was a complete success. The support provided by elements on Island greatly helped the exercise mission ensuring that the Peace Support Operation was authentic and had realism. The training was comprehensive but enjoyable and the troops had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

VISIT TO SO19

After being told that we had a visit to SO19 on 15 May many of us thought that it meant a postcode and not 'Special Operations 19'. Having arrived in Epping Forest we were given a presentation of how they provide an armed protection force in London. We then went on to their 50m range and fired a selection of weapons ranging from pump-action shotguns to sniper rifles. After lunch we were shown around the helicopters that spy on us from the sky. This included equipment such as infrared cameras and car-tracking gadgets. It was a very good day out and brilliant for those interested in joining the police force.

REGIMENTAL ATHLETICS COMPETITION

On 1 June 2001 the Regiment held its annual inter-Squadron athletics competition. Bath University Sports Village was used again as the venue. Bravo Tp had an excellent representation in the Sqn team with Cpl Mark Smith, LCpl Neil Hunter, Sigs Carl Jesson, Pete Tucker and Andy Heighton to name but a few. It was an excellent day out and it turned out to be a nail-biting competition. All three Squadrons fought hard but the decider of the whole contest was the final event – the 4 x 400m. 244 Sig Sqn just piped the others to the post and secured their victory by winning the overall trophy and the Commanders Cup. The members of the Troop achieved some good performances. Having recently arrived, SSgt Andy Gill put his favorite maxim to good use – 'To get ahead shout louder and run faster than everyone else' – he won the pole vault. Maybe he should change it to include 'jump higher' as well! On the subject of jumping, LCpl Neil Hunter reached a Div standard in the High Jump – well done to him. Sig Carl Jesson walked away with a pocket full of silverware with a win in the 400m, long jump, triple jump and 4 x 400m. Another star was Sig Pete Tucker who won the 5000m and 1500m.

ARMY FENCING CHAMPIONSHIPS 2001 - by LCpl Smith

The annual Army Fencing Championship, a three-day event, took place at the Army School of Physical Training, Aldershot. The Royal Signals once again put in a strong contingent. After having a taste of Aldershot hospitality the night before I managed to make it to the first day's competition, 'The Foil'. Albeit my weakest discipline I actually managed to improve my ranking by three places from last year. On the second day the competition started well for me. Having performed well in the preliminaries, I reached the last 32. I fenced against a member of the ever-strong RHAC team. In a grueling match I came back to win 15-14, putting me through to the last sixteen. Unfortunately, in the following match I lost to Lt Col Campbell who went on to be runner up in this event and winner of the championship. In the afternoon it was the Inter-Corps 3-man team competition in which the R SIGNALS 'A' Team came Third. On a lighter note, the Officers v Other Ranks competition took place on the final day. The Other Ranks lost by only one point in the final match. Who said fencing is an Officers' sport? After a weeks hard competition I managed to qualify for the Army team. It is now time to train and prepare for the coming Tri-Service championships at Portsmouth at end of June. find out about Royal Signals competitions contact Capt Anderton-Brown 12 Mech Bde Tel: 94222 4432.

MAPPS UPDATE

This Squadron was tasked to carry out the In Service Reliability Demonstration (ISRD) for PROJECT MAPPS for a period of 12 months commencing in Jan of this year. D Tp collected three air portable nodes from the primary contractor, BAe Systems, in Christchurch in mid January. Each node consists of a communications installation and a support installation, both mounted on Steyr Daimler Puch, Pinzgauer 6x6 vehicles. Air mobility trials where conducted at RAF Odiham in the last week of January with one node complete, being successfully airlifted to Barton Stacey Training Area. Weather conditions and mechanical failings of the prime movers prevented all three nodes being lifted. The subsequent plug up and IBDP/IBCP highlighted problems with the supplied draft AESP's. Post Exercise highlighting of the lack of formal recovery procedures and the unreliability of the prime movers have in the main been sorted. The vehicles 1st lines inspections, following the exercise, and the contractors inspection notes has enabled draft IMI's to be produced. The exercise programme has taken a hammering due to the 'Foot and Mouth' crisis closing the countryside. When problems have been highlighted and PXR points have been submitted, highlighting design improvements, (such as right angled coax connectors for the VHF masts to prevent damage) they have been taken on board and made. The result is that the Squadron is having considerable influence in the improvement and development of the equipment. Thus far, the switching equipment has proved to be excellent with the majority of the problems having been on the Government funded equipments.

EXERCISE GAFF DRAGON

Ex Gaff Dragon was a R SIGNALS Yacht Club Sailing Expedition conducted along the South Coast of England. To the six members of the Regiment who took part it proved to be an experience somewhere between extreme exhilaration, total fear and absolute misery depending upon whom you asked and when. The high winds and bad weather over the first three days of the trip pushed everyone to their limits. However, once we reached Dartmouth, the return trip saw the benefit of having the winds behind us for our return leg to the Solent. The race back to Yarmouth and the night sail where highlights with the Regimental boat being the first in, all be it with a bit of an assist. The social side was every bit as adventurous as the sailing. The crews enjoyed a dinner at the Royal Solent Yacht Club hosted by the Corps Yacht Club and a night out in Southampton. The crew's adventures in Southampton will remain the exclusive memories of those involved but most proved to be epic. Those interested in having an adventure on the high seas or the high streets of the Southern Coast should contact the Regimental Sailing Officer.

A big How-de-Doody goes out from Alpha Tp here on Club Silkman. It's been a hectic and exhausting month on the sunny beaches of Sierra Leone, involving sports afternoons and getting well oiled on the 45p bottles of Star beer. When time permits we get some work in, because it's not all play! The social life is helping us to get through this otherwise arduous Op tour. The CSE show was particularly entertaining, and we owe a massive round of applause to Johnny 'Larium' Slap for having the balls to get booed off by so many squaddies. On the physical side of life, Cpl Paul 'Gipper' Richardson, the Troop APTI, has forced us to do a BPFA on the golden beach of Freetown. The results were aided by the fact that locals were chasing us, trying to sell African Culture. Congratulations on their local promotion from Lance Corporal to Corporal to Ben 'I can drink (honest)' Williams and Pete 'Monotone' Stainforth who has had to really work in the ED Dept this tour. This was due to the fact that Sig Brad 'HE-MAN' McCallum keeps breaking all their power distribution boxes. The Techs have been rushed off their feet too (sunbathing) under the watchful eye of Sgt Dave 'Mmmbop' Hansen. Luckily though Cpl 'Scouse' Kismul is keeping tabs on LCpl Rob 'Honestly man I aren't drunk' Wilson in JTFHQ Mechcon. EXERCISE GANNEL RAM

Ex Gannel Ram was Bravo Tp's adventure training for the year. The Exercise was due to take place in Newquay but unfortunately because of the Foot and Mouth epidemic we had to do some swift re-organisation by segregating the week into daily events. Monday we set off on our early morning adventure to the Imperial War Museum in London. We arrived midday in London at Chelsea barracks where we met Londoner LCpl Tom 'Ant head' Beerling, a past member of the Troop, who was our guide for the day. We eventually made our way to the museum which everyone found interesting....really!, sorry I mean really interesting. It was then decided we would make use of our time in London and the group then went their separate ways some went shopping and others went to visit more sights in the capital. The following day was a bit more relaxed, the first activity was bowling at the Lakeside Bowling Centre, though Sgt Keith 'Happy Days' Langan wasn't feeling too 'clever' from the previous day. He was, however, clever enough to suggest a pot for the best score which he ended up winning, nothing suspicious there then. The afternoon's event was ice-skating at the Sky Dome in Coventry where we watched in envy at the ice skating skills of Sig Matt 'Torvell and Dean' Ashley who was later sin binned by one of the fourteen year old stewards for tearing the ice up. Wednesday's events were rock climbing, abseiling and a trapeze jump that again was a fun day. The Troop was split into three groups that then took turns on each of the events. After seeing LCpl 'Ill try anything once' Yoxall scarred for life by the trapeze jump, Sig Lou Allen was the only one not to do it, even after loads of constructive encouragement by the Troop. Thursday was the last day of our Adventure training spent at the Tamworth Snowdome that turned out to be the most enjoyable. It was a first time for everyone in the Troop at snowboarding although you wouldn't have thought so after watching Sig Chris 'Kamikazie' Jeffers speed down the slope at the rate of a thousand gazelles. The best sight of the day was seeing how gracefully Sig Dave Griffiss could plough into everyone going up the slope on the ski lift. The Troop would like to thank Cpl Nichol for organising a great week, Also we would like to welcome LCpl Steve Sharman and Sig Chris Bell into the Troop and say goodbye to Cpl Neil Coils and Sig Dan Shore who have both departed to Civ Div.

EXERCISE HURGHADA CONQUEST (DRAGON)

by Sig Hemming

This Exercise was a Sub Aqua Diving expedition to the Red Sea organised by BUOTC. The aim was to enable all participants to achieve their next diving qualification. 30 Signal Regiment's Cygnet Diving Club were offered three slots on the trip and took full advantage. The expedition got off to a flying start via the bar at Gatwick airport, followed by the mandatory hurry up and 2-hour delay wait. After the 5-hour flight to Egypt, the next stop was Papa's Bar in Hurghada, where we were introduced to the local chemical concoction called 'STELLA' (not Artois) beer. The next day it was off on our live-aboard boat for the first of our two week long trips. Diving started that day with a few groggy and seasick bodies. We started our shake down dives to 15 metres and progressed to 35 metres throughout the expedition. First impressions of the Red Sea, WOW, clear water with the visibility up to 40 metres. Tropical warm waters, and a multitude of colours and life. The wildlife was abundant, notable sightings included: dolphins, several huge moray eels (a monster 4m was seen), turtles, large wrasse and groupers, and a single sighting of a White Tip Shark. Many 'nasty beasties' were also seen - Lionfish and their really nasty cousins the Devil Lionfish (you have 20 seconds to live if they sting you), stonefish, surgeon fish (razor sharp spines on their tails). The diving locations were varied and numerous, sometimes three locations a day, with many huge coral reefs and coral towers, plus several wrecks some quite notable. The highlight of the wreck dives had to be the 'Thistlegorm', a wreck from the Second World War, which was almost halved by a German bomb, inside the wreck were Trucks, Ammunition, Rifles, Motorcycles, bren gun carriers and all manner of artefacts from the era. Sharks had still not been seen yet so, WO2 AI 'I'll bring the Sharks in close' Keen decided it would be a good time to slash his hand to encourage them, fortunately it did not work. Drills, skills and exams ended the expedition on the second week, where I will never forget the 'Walrus' who tried to drown me. Two weeks of unforgettable diving, not to be missed if you ever have the opportunity. The Cygnet Diving Club would like to thank BUOTC, WO1 (RSM) Steve Dickson and Cpl Jim Pike for allowing us to partake.

EXERCISE ARDUOUS CYGNET
30 SIGNAL REGIMENT LEADERSHIP CADRE COURSE

One of the many Command Tasks – 3 Section at Work

This year's cadre course almost didn't happen, mainly because of the nation's problems with Foot and Mouth. We were very limited, and found ourselves doing the exercise phase on our own camp. This, however, didn't make the course any easier. If anything it was harder, because from day to day we never really knew what to expect. The first week was quite relaxed but after that, the tempo picked up. We all stayed in our own rooms and ate in the cook-house. It was a learning week really, with early starts and late nights. The hardest thing I found was giving a speech in front of a crowd, but with time and practice this task became easier as our confidence grew. For the second week we stayed in transit accommodation (so no home comforts), and had PT every morning at 0600hrs. All except one morning where myself and a few others were a little late, and it got changed to 0530hrs. That's no fun when you're not getting to bed until round about one or two every night. By the end of the second week every body was absolutely ! That's when some bright spark decided we were to deploy to Hanger 2 on camp to build a command centre, complete with guard room, ops room and briefing room. We split into three Sections, one Section on guard, another patrolling and a third on QRF. Incidents where set up all over camp and we where all given a chance to be the section commander or section 2IC. We also rotated the duties so that each section was given a different challenge. Guard was probably the hardest of the three, as it was the one where we had the least sleep. On the final day of the exercise phase, everything kicked off (as you would expect it would) we where attacked and had to bug out of location. After a short tab we went into a new location where it was decided we would take our base back. It was then a simple task of taking out three Sangers and storming through Hanger 2. By the end of the exercise phase every one was absolutely hanging. But the course was not over yet. No sooner had we got the cam cream of our faces, when it was a quick CFT followed by twice around the assault course. Before finishing for the day. The next day we went to the Royal Armouries in Leeds. This was so we could all gather information for the tasks we where all given as a final presentation before going out for an end of course do. This comprised of a curry and a lot of beer! All in all I think the course went very well and although hindered by lack of preparation time and areas where we could work, the DS did the best they could for us.

As per usual life continues its hectic pace up at SHQ. Firstly, on behalf of all the Squadron we would like to congratulate YofS Pete Goodliff and his wife Andrea on the birth of Hanna Rose and send all the family our kindest regards. Another addition to the Ops Team is the return of Cpl 'Ronnie' McDonald as Ops Corporal and we wish his predecessor Cpl 'Gaz' McKee all the best for the future in the depths of D Tp. Congratulations also go out from SHQ to Capt Mogs Southern on her promotion - 'get the champers in'. Also congratulations to Sig 'Gink' King (now LCpl) and Sig 'Volunteer' Fielding on a very respectable first and third on the Commanding Officers' Cadre Course – the Squadron has now produced outstanding results on two consecutive cadre courses – no other comment necessary! Whilst all this has been going on the OC, Maj Phil Deans, has managed to fit in a Recce to Oman for Ex Saif Sereea and returned with valuable information and not a bad tan either. Things have been additionally hectic in the admin office as Pte Nicki Mitchell has disappeared on an upgrading course. Meanwhile the Squadron has carried out an Inter-Troop roll change between JTFHQ and Spearhead R1, with all the fun that it involves. Finally, all the officers would like to congratulate 2Lt Jules Tydeman on a most comprehensive set of admin instructions (Wot no FRAGO!) and all members welcome him to 25GREAT Sig Sqn.

DELTA TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Chris Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim Lyons

Finally, Delta Tp enjoyed a well earned leave period over April having our passports handed back to us so we could go and travel the world at will. These countries visited included the United States, Denmark, France and Lanzarote. Midway through leave we were unsurprisingly called back to camp for a possible short notice deployment to the war torn state of Macedonia. The furthest we got on this 'Operation', however, was the weighing scales at the Air Mounting Center South Cerney. On return we were straight back in to a familiar routine preparing for JTFHQ Ex Second Run - a Troop level exercise providing communications with VSC 501, 522 HF, Wotan and other information systems. The Troop is now back where it belongs at R1 readiness awaiting our next task. The Troop would like to say goodbye to LCpl Ian 'Not Long' Marsden and Cpl M. J. 'Muddy Funkster' Holt due posting to N. Ireland and also to LCpl Courtney 'Do it or die' Watts who is leaving to 'police' the streets of London. We would also like to welcome LCpl George 'Ski' Sosinski, LCpl Jo Keith, LCpl 'Dr' Foster and, recently, promoted LCpl Si Mackay. Congratulations go to Sig Craig 'Gym Queen' Fielding achieving a very creditable Third place on his Regimental Cadre Course. The course was affected this year due to the 'foot and mouth epidemic' and, therefore, was held on camp covering all aspects of internal security. Congratulations also go to LCpl Matt 'Potent' Green and his wife who recently had twins. He now has the grand total of four children, which is more than the rest of the Troop put together. And finally congratulations go to Sig 'DNA' Mason for not being a father.

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Jules Tydeman
Tp SSgt SSgt Al Combe

Echo Tp has had a reasonably quiet few months, with no postings in or out. The main event for the Troop has been the take over of the R1 Spearhead role from Delta Tp and a series of pager tests and callouts, as well as quite a few set-up and tear-downs around various barracks. During Ex Second Run, the Troop deployed to Avon Camp, Salisbury plain, to set-up and test the Spearhead detachments in the field in a tactical role. The set-up and operation went smoothly thanks to the relentless 'Lets set it up here, then tear it down, then set it up again' enthusiasm of Sgt 'Big Gay' Al Barker. Everyone involved either got to hone their already well practiced skills or, for those who were absent before, got to learn the kit with a fair amount of hands-on experience. LCpl Sarah 'Catherine-Zeta' James had a 90% learning curve on the WOTAN det and the two CNR dets led by LCpl Matt 'Gink' King and LCpl 'Blinkin' Mick Allan. It wouldn't be fair to not add to the list of names here, the two people who helped sustain the life support of the camp: LCpl 'Trots' Trotman and LCpl 'Sid' Whitelock, who kept morale going with unfaltering power supply and several chippy runs. The Troop has once again supplied a number of bods to the regimental rugby team for the league season, unfortunately the first excursion wasn't the best. As well as losing to 7 RHA and Sig John 'Kebab' Lawrence needed seven stitches to his head, whilst LCpl Chris 'Fluffy' Dunn sustained a knee injury and Sig 'Lamby' Lamb a nice cut to the eye. The Troop now looks forward to handover of the R1 role to F Tp in July with another Ex Tartan Warrior following on its tail followed pleasantly by a two week block leave period and in the far future Ex Saif Sareea with the rest of the British Armed Forces.

FOXTROT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Mogs Southern

The Troop would like to extend best wishes for the future to Cpl Chris 'Chappie' Chapman who has moved on to pastures new in 16 Signal Regiment to work in the cozy confines of a nice office job - 'shiny-ar*e'. Farewell also goes to Capt Mogs Southern, newly promoted and off to sunny 8 Infantry Brigade. A warm welcome is extended to Capt Bill Holbrook who is coming to the troop from 21 Signal Regiment. The Troop has finally passed on the mantle of JTFHQ to D Tp - Lucky people - and we are now able to relax slightly and turn our attention to more mundane matters, like leave! This should relax us just enough before we take on Spearhead and prepare for the mass exodus to Oman for Ex Saif Sareea.

MY FIRST OPERATIONAL TOUR – by Sig Lewis

Spending five and half months in Butmir Camp in Sarajevo has not exactly been what I expected my first operational tour of Bosnia to be like. Being a multinational Camp the first obstacle to overcome is the varied language barriers that are presented daily. However, multitude of nationalities is actually one of the plus points of the camp because of the vast amount of cultural interaction that this makes possible. One example of this is that several times a year the NICs of each nationality open their doors to the rest of the NIC community and allow them to try some of their local or national dishes along with some of their national drinks. Another example of such benefits was laid on by the German contingent at Butmir; this was the annual tradition of the October fest, which was open to the entire Camp. This was held in the gym where they laid on traditional food, drink and entertainment. Although I had little to no experience actually working within the COMMCEN the people I was working for gave me the time and benefit or their patience to allow me the time to acquire the skills of working in an operational environment. Even when nearing the end of the tour, when LCpl Deb and I were the only personnel left the atmosphere remained friendly and relaxed in the COMMCEN. All in all my time at Butmir and Bosnia as a whole was a valuable and enjoyable time and has inspired me to look forward to my next operational tour with 30 Signal Regiment.

BRAMCOTE GOLF SOCIETY DAY – 30 MAY 2001

The Bramcote Golf Society day was held at Brandon Wood on 30 May, with a field of 27 eager participants. All handicaps had been well scrutinised by WO2 J. P. Paterson, unfortunately not well enough as the results below show. Everyone arrived at 0900hrs and having received their driving range tokens, golf balls were soon flying in all directions. The first three-ball teed off at 1030hrs with Lt Col Nick Pope driving off first, the competition was now well under way. Hours later tired but happy we sat down for the 'Brandon Buster' and the exploits of the day were discussed. A great day was had by all and the choice of venue proved to be a fair test of golf.

The results were as follows:

Scratch Winner	-	Sgt Ash Ingham	(17)90 Gross
Scratch Runner-up	-	SSgt Andy Dutton	(16)91 Gross
Handicap Winner	-	Cpl Jase Curley	(22)70 Nett
Handicap Runner-up	-	Cpl Tony Gallagher	(24)75 Nett (on countback)
Stableford Winner	-	Sgt Bredan Plant	(26) 45 Points
Stableford Runner-up	-	WO1 Andy Campbell	(28) 39 Points
Nearest the Pin	-	SSgt Craig Wrath	(24)
Longest Drive	-	Cpl Dean Buckley	(18)
Most Golf	-	SSgt Phil Green	(28)

Apparently the numbers on the right mean something!

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS

Since our last WIRE notes we have said farewell to the Adjutant, Capt Colin Vaudin, who has moved on to R Signals MCM Div at Glasgow, thereby ensuring that everyone there is wearing uniform by now. We have also had a change of Foreman of Signals with WO2 Jamie Harper moving to JSSU Digby and being replaced by WO2 Gaz Pearson, who has been posted in from JCUNI.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. Ferguson
SSM WO2 Wickles

The last three months have been a period of consolidation for the Squadron, where we have aimed at expansion, recruitment and training, whilst also supporting the Regiment on those exercises that did take place despite the foot and mouth restrictions. Recruiting has taken place in the Arndale Shopping Centre at Wandsworth. The Squadron had a prime location outside the Pound Shop, with a reasonable amount of 'passing trade'. However, the venture was not very successful despite the attention of local shoppers. It was surprising how many of those who showed any interest were ineligible to enlist, many of whom were Eastern Europeans. More recently the recruitment has changed tactics to leafletting outside local tube and rail stations. There is clearly a knack to leafletting, which takes about 20 minutes to get to grips with.

London commuters are creatures who do not engage in conversation, eye contact, or pleasantries of any type. Holding out our glossy leaflets saying 'Are you interested in....' received the response of a head down fast walk straight past (usually with hands in pockets - the commuters not us!). It was also rather difficult to persuade those with hands full with shopping bags, briefcases etc to show any interest in taking a leaflet! Then there are the crafty ones, who see us at the main exit and try to divert through the smaller side exit, maybe thinking that we were collecting for charity, selling the Big Issue, or conducting market research. Tough luck! We had all exits covered. There is only one way to leaflet successfully. Don't speak to the public (they don't want to speak to you), and just thrust the paper in front of them. They will then automatically take it by some kind of reflex action. It is clear that years of evolution in the gene pool and social conditioning have resulted in this whole tribe of species having lost the ability to communicate. (I can almost hear the cynics thinking 'They should make perfect recruits for the Corps!').

The success of any Squadron depends upon all the individuals within it. Everyone brings their own experiences and abilities, and together with individual and collective training the sum of these assets is invariably greater than its constituent parts. Within the Squadron there is also reliance upon certain key people, to help to achieve our aims. It has therefore been very disappointing that the SSM has been unable to attend due to his excessive work commitments, and the newly appointed Troop Commander for D Tp has also been unable so far to take up post. The lack of such key personnel inevitably places a greater burden on the remainder. D Tp is particularly important to the Squadron, as it is our only Signals Troop, and forms the natural point of entry for most of our new recruits at Southfields. Capt Mark Windibank (Sqn 2IC) is now tasked with ensuring that D Tp get the support and training they require. Sgt Strickland has a key role to play, and is ably supported by Cpl Hales. In his civilian job Cpl Cox has volunteered to undertake dangerous and demanding operations at the front line - he is training to be a teacher. We all hope that he achieves his goal, as the education system must by crying out for people of his calibre. Our new PSI Sgt Carter is also showing tremendous enthusiasm to develop the team spirit in D Tp, and make good use of his many qualifications. However, as is often the case the unsung and unseen staff behind the scenes continue to play a crucial role. The Quartermaster's Department has been working hard to ensure that all their records are transferred onto Unicom. SSgt Trype has dealt with the usual pay queries (eg 'Where's my bounty?') with extraordinary patience and efficiency. Our own LAD have not only kept us on the road, but SSgt Burke also put together an adventurous training weekend for the whole Squadron - despite the location having to be changed due to Foot & Mouth. We would be lost without the efforts of our support staff.

Capt Guy Bewsher deserves special recognition for the success of the Regimental Small Bore Target Rifle Team. The Regiment did not have such a team until January this year, and at the risk of embarrassing him, he single-handedly raised, trained, and led the team to some astonishing achievements. Here is his own account:

The Regiment entered two teams in the annual smallbore match. Not having any Target Rifles ourselves, those wanting to shoot promptly joined Chobham and District Rifle and Pistol Club. This gave the squads access to a 25metre range, target rifles and associated equipment, plus a coach. As members of the club we could legally borrow the rifles, so that, having qualified for the finals we could use them at the London UOTC Range. A tense evening of shooting resulted in our A Team winning the District Championship and going forward to the Land Command final. The Land Command final was held at Borden, with both Regular and TA Teams from all UK Districts, Northern Ireland and Germany. The six teams rapidly separated into two groups, the top three, followed by a tight group trying to avoid the wooden spoon. Leaving the top shots to there own match, 31 Sig Regt had a close match, changing places with the other two competitors on an hourly basis. In the end we gained a slight, but deserved lead and completed a hard fought day in fourth place. Not bad for a team with no rifles or equipment is it? The team consisted of Maj Krishna Gurung, Capt Guy Bewsher (Team Capt), SSgt King and LCpl Farquarson-Roberts. The Squadron now looks forward to our Annual Training Camp at Salisbury Plain, coming somewhat earlier in the year than normal. Following last years successful 2 Brigade exercise, we now hope to build up our individual skills that will be tested in Regimental exercises.

SSM WO2 Watson

CHANGE OF COMMAND

The Squadron recently had a change of Command. Maj Toby Lankester left the Squadron to become 21C of the Regiment. Capt Steven Ong, formerly the Sqn 2IC took Command of 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn on 1 April 2001. Capt Ong has a long history with 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn, having originally joined the Squadron as a Signaller in 1990. He was commissioned in 1992 whilst serving with 83 Sqn, he served two tours as a Tp Comd with 41 Sqn, and returned to the Squadron last year as the Squadron 2IC. We wish him well in his tour as Sqn Comd. A big welcome back too to 'T', Sgt Tania Camp. Formerly a popular member of the Squadron, Sgt Camp is returning to the TA after a two-year absence. Welcome back to the Squadron 'T'!

VISIT OF BDE COMD

On 24 April, the Bde Comd, Brig Jackson visited the Squadron. After being briefed by the Squadron OC, Capt Ong, he toured the Squadron, observed the Drill Night training, and then met soldiers serving in the Squadron in the bar over a curry meal.

REGIMENTAL EXERCISE 27 – 29 APRIL

Being confined to the boundaries of the TAC does not stop 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn from communicating! The April exercise found us dismounting Lanward equipment into the classrooms, and rotating junior soldiers as operators on a personal tuition basis. Cpl Julia May taught us how to dismount the Lanward equipment, whilst LCpl Chris 'Penelope' Hunter gave an interesting lesson on the Chirp (ably assisted by his beautiful assistant, SSgt (FofS) Maurice Byrne). Now just how does that GPS work?

PLK DINNER

Friday 11 May was the annual PLK Association Dinner in the HQ Mess of the Duke of York Barracks. The turnout, as ever, was good, with many old and new faces from the Squadron in attendance. Col Keith Bruce Smith, President of the PLK Association, welcomed the Association's guests, the CO, Lt Col Paul Wenlock, and the Mayor of Kensington and Chelsea, Mr Tony Holt. Cpl Julia May presented the Association with a cheque for over £500, raised by the JR's bar, which the Association gratefully received. Col Bruce Smith thanked the retiring Secretary, Mr Alan Easton, for serving as Secretary of the Association for over 20 years. His successor, Mr Steve Bland, will be doing well, if he can manage even half as good an innings!

BRIGADE EXERCISE 11-13 MAY

The Squadron blow off a few cobwebs at Kenley airfield the following day, over the weekend of 12 /13 May. This was the first time we have deployed since the outbreak of FMD, and we took some getting back into practice. Cpl Kevin 'I'm bored' Bedwell decided he didn't like the colour of the Lanward computer screen, and thought he might press a few buttons to see if he could change it, crashing the whole system in the process.... The Trg Maj, Maj Tim Cooper saw the funny side of it ...Not! We decided however, to fully take advantage of the fact that we were on an airfield, and managed to fit in a couple of glider flights between shifts. LCpl Pearl 'Smiley' Sethna proved she too can grin like a Cheshire Cat, whilst SSgt Bob 'GI Jane' Stanton established, once again, that he really doesn't have the stomach for flying...

CRETE EXPEDITION - by Sgt Brian Traynor

41 Sqn had a number of members on the recent Regimental mountain-walking expedition to Crete. One of whom was the soon to retire NRPS SSgt John 'Romeo' Mackins. SSgt Mackins acquired this nickname 'Romeo Mackins' whilst away - something to do with a Dutch tourist, but he's being very coy about it. The SSM, WO2 Robin 'Hatless' Watson had a lucky escape when nearly following his hat into the dock at Pyraeus Harbour. One of the teams did go astray, heading into a valley when they should have been on a mountain ridge. This was not due to poor map reading, but more to do with the poor quality of Cretian Maps. Honest! All in all the troops returned in better condition than they departed, having thoroughly enjoyed the expedition, prompting the quote 'It's been emotional'.

56 SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj S. Streete
SSM WO2 Godden

We have welcomed 14 new recruits into the Squadron during the last two months and hope that they enjoy being a member of the TA in Eastbourne. Their training has started but so far, has not been affected by the FMD. We welcomed Brig John Powell OBE who came to open the refurbished LAD workshop, thanks to the SE RFCA. It is now much improved and Sgt Gary Windham and his team are busy trying to get it dirty again. We were also visited by Col Chris Argent from 2 (SE) Bde who enjoyed reminiscing about what the Squadron had been like when he was there as a Tp Comd back in the 70's.

NATIONAL TERRITORIAL ARMY OPEN DAY

Oscars were abundant on 31 March as the Squadron moved out into Eastbourne Town Centre to recruit. Two scenarios were prepared and the sight of blood and guts, accompanied by heart-rending screams following a 'road traffic accident' entertained the public. Sig Trish O'Sullivan had certainly set the scene well by providing lots of simulated injuries and masses of 'red fluid'. Throughout this excitement, Sgt Kevin Young seemed to be suffering from verbal diarrhoea as he kept up a running commentary about the scenario, the Squadron, the TA, the weather, his job and anything else that came to mind. Sgt Tim Odam, who had visited every pub, café, night-club, taxi rank, sports centre and more in the area, delivering posters and flyers about the event, enjoyed spending the day driving around in a cut-down, camouflaged Rover, thanks to the skills of Sig Ring. It all worked though, as we had 17 potential recruits signing on three days later!

RECRUITING

Maintaining this as our main theme, the recruiting team, headed up by 2Lt Rob Wood and Sgt Tim Odam repeated the scenarios from the TA Open Day in Eastbourne at the Eastbourne Youth Weekend and then again in Seaford a few weeks later. The local paper has been bombarded with pictures and stories that have certainly highlighted our cause. Sgt Tim Odam also spent the weekend at Newhaven Fort, along with all the enthusiasts in the South of England, looking at old kit, watching people dress up in the old uniforms and listening to all the reminiscing. Quite a weekend! The camouflaged land rover has been used widely as a recruiting vehicle, complete with all its recruiting banner, much to the embarrassment of the SSM, WO2 Kevin Godden. Whenever he is instructed to take it out, he drives without looking at any of the waving members of the public and refuses to go via any traffic lights in case they turn red and he has to stop!

TRAINING

At last we have been allowed out! Having spent one weekend communicating from our garages and another at Bramley, the Det. Comds were delighted to be able to take their dets out independently with just their crew, at the last Squadron weekend. Despite the fact this meant going back to eating compo rations and spending some time spraying the vehicles, boots and anything/one else who got in the way, it was preferable to training in barracks. Cpl Jo Reader was very amused to talk Capt Anthony Lamb through changing the frequency on the radio, despite being 30 miles away and he was delighted to be able to achieve it. We've heard about nothing else since then!

MAYOR'S WEEKEND

Having been awarded the Freedom of the Town, the OC, Maj Sarah Streete, as Honorary Freeman, joined the Civic Party on Mayor's Sunday whilst the rest of the Squadron showed off their marching skills. Following a church service, everyone marched down to the Town Hall for an inspection by the new Mayor. 56 Sig Sqn (V), lead by Capt Anthony Lamb, looked as smart as ever. This was followed by a families lunch back at the TAC.

Congratulations to Cpl Jay Eastwood-Bell and LCpl Garath Burgess on their recent promotions. Both achieved excellent reports on their promotion courses. Well done.

EXERCISE COCKNEY SNELL 18-20 MAY 2001

Well done to all those who took part in the Squadron Weekend, Ex Cockney Snell. As the name suggests the weekend was organized by Cpl Tia Snell and was her first Exercise in her new role as potential Squadron Yeoman. Ex Cockney Snell involved deploying the Squadron Communication assets to locations around Southern England. Detachments were scattered between Abingdon, Bramley and Stoney Castle and were tasked with communicating and administering themselves in a tactical environment. Well done to LCpl Stuart Farquharson-Roberts who invented his own version of an all arms tactical BBQ evening! This weekend's Squadron driving award was fiercely fought for but finally clinched by SSgt Matt Cahill for his endeavors in trying to avoid foot and mouth contamination. Not only did he leave Abingdon airfield a Squadron plaque but also a new gate! Thank you to SSgt Tony Wringe, the Squadron PSI, who acted as mentor to the exercise offering many words of wisdom.

SQUADRON OPEN NIGHT 5 JUNE 2001

A big thank you is extended to Cpl Sid Ahluwalia and his recruiting team for their efforts in organizing a successful Open night. The event was well publicized in the metro underground paper and an impressive display was set up at the main gates to the TAC. Running concurrently with this event was the hosting of 206 Chiswick ACF Royal Signals who have been invited to join us the first Tuesday in each month. The purpose of their visits is to strengthen links and to provide comms training. Members of the Squadron also conducted Ex Newman Dundee, a 2 (NC) Sig Bde sponsored HF Communications Exercise run by 2 Sig Sqn (V) Dundee. This was a successful evening with a few names taken of potential recruits. Good efforts all round.

EXERCISE COCKNEY LEVKA-ORI - by Capt Henry Taylor

Ex Cockney Levka-Ori was a Regimental Level 3 Adv Trg exercise conducted in the remote Levka-Ori mountainous area of Western Crete over the period 3-12 May 2001. In all 18 Territorial and Regular Army soldiers took part in the expedition deploying as two teams led by SSgt Alf Kirkham and Capt Henry Taylor with a support team led by SSgts Willie Loch and John 'Romeo' Mackins.

Over a five day period, the aim was to complete the high level E4 trail between the villages of Petres on the Askifou plane and Sougia on the coast via the Samaria Gorge whilst bagging a few peaks along the way like the 8000ft Mt Pahenes. The only problem was that fate took an unkindly hand with the weather and the main party ended up being confined to port at Piraes for 36 hours due to a Force 8 gale raging in the Aegean. OK for some who were keen to maximise the extra curricular bar activities, nevertheless we were able to arrive at Souda Bay and meet up with our Greek LO, or as some wag put it, hello LO. Late that afternoon we set off and after a strenuous climb were able to reach our first bivvy site for a good start next day. After an early rise we set off up the Mt Kostos knife ridge into a very cold and weather beaten sky, who said that Crete was a soft touch? After several hours of going up and down slopes we hit the 6000ft E4 trail line, the only problem was the 'trail' was little more than a dotted line of someone's imagination with dangerous scree pitches. Nothing like the beaten trails of the alpines.

It was later on that we hit the first of what the LO called 'glaciers' and it was after several of these winter snow gullies that we were forced to re-evaluate our progress and decide to drop into a valley system for the shelter. When I say drop, I was of course referring to Cpl Trish O'Sullivans technique of taking off her 'Green & Grey' Bergen and then watching it bounce down the next 2000ft. Why is it that when you are looking for a lost Bergen, it is never the bright 'Red or Purple' one? What then happened was that our valley turned into a very complex criss crossed ravine and spur area with our only exit blocked by a series of large limestone sinkholes. Finally after several more hours of feeling our way across very broken ground we were able to break through to the Nialto plateau for a very welcome celebration thanks to the LO who had been carrying bottles of wine and brandy. Who ever said, beware of Greeks bearing gifts must surely forgive us on this occasion.

The logistics in moving both teams and equipment was complicated due to the lack of road infra-structure, rugged terrain and the fact that we only had one minibus to move the two teams over to the Omolos plateau. This resulted in the two teams trekking down the spectacular Samaria Gorge over two days before RV 'ing at sea level on the coast at Agia Romali which was made famous for the WW2 evacuation of over 40,000 allied troops during the 1941 Battle of Crete. Some climbing was carried out in exploring the ancient Turkish fort at the top of a steep 3000ft climb from this isolated village. However, it was all too soon before both teams were forced to recover around to our destination at Sougia via the once a day ferry, which fortunately was not cancelled as it was for the next two days due to heavy seas.

The recovery back over the mountains to Souda Bay was not without some appalling weather over the newly made mountain passes. At one point our minibus driven by SSgt John Atherton had to contend with large rock falls onto the track surface with visibility down to 3-4 feet with 1000ft drops on either side. We eventually arrived and had just sufficient time to visit the British and Commonwealth War Grave site at the head of Souda Bay and pay our respects. A very moving but serene setting and it was all too soon before we were boarding our ship to sail back to Athens and fly home.

The final comment is not mine but sums up everyone's feelings, Wow what a week . . . . . when do we go back and finish the job? As with all exped's this would not be complete without the awards:

a. We're late as we decided to bag our first peak
   - SSgt Alf Kirkham
   (They got lost and ended up climbing the wrong hill)

b. Hello LO, whenever he met the Greek Liaison Officer
   - Sgt Nick 'Matey peeps' Tuck

c. For some nimble footwork in dodging a large flying boulder
   - Cpl Jo 'Wot the * was that?' Reader

d. I wonder what Raki tastes like? Within earshot of our Cretan taverna host
   - Sig Stella Jennings (What a hang over!)

EXERCISE GRAND PRIX 2 2001 – by Captain Steve Milsom BEM

Trg Maj: 'Ops O, how do you fancy going to Kenya?'
Ops O: 'But Sir I've already been'
Trg Maj: 'So, 1 LI need a Jungle Warfare instructor and you've nothing better to do, have you?'
Ops O: 'Er, no Sir'

So it was that I found myself 'volunteered' for Ex Grand Prix, an Infantry Battle Group training exercise held three times a year in Kenya. Still it wasn't all bad, having been several times before I knew what to expect and relished the opportunity as an over 40-year old to still be running around with the Infantry!

Kenya has been a major British Army training location since the Mau Mau uprising in the 1950's. Based in Nanuki in the Central Highlands it offers a wide range of challenging training environments, ranging from desert in the north, rocky Savannah in the Highlands and jungle around the slopes of Mount Kenya, with adventure training opportunities on par with that of Cyprus. Much of the training takes place at altitude (1000ft higher than Ben Nevis in places), this coupled with temperatures of 40 C in the north, make structured acclimatisation training a must. Most battalions follow a similar training cycle with a weeks acclimatisation training under company arrangements, companies then complete a three way round robin of jungle training, life firing and adventure training, usually run by external PRTs (Permanent Range Teams) thus allowing companies to remain at full strength. The exercise culminates with a Battle Group live firing FTX at Archers Post with a battery of 105 Lt. guns in support. Total exercise duration is from 5-6 weeks.

As previously mentioned I had been 'volunteered' to work with the jungle PRT at Kathendini, on the slopes of Mount Kenya. Despite what you may have heard to the contrary this is 'Real' jungle, albeit rather more pleasant than SE Asia. It is generally drier, cleaner and with decidedly fewer creepy-crawleys, it is also pleasantly cool in the evenings. However, it is not without its hazards, elephants and water buffalo pose a real danger, especially if you get between them and their young, and the rivers are prone to flash floods, claiming one soldier's life in 1999. For most soldiers this was their first experience in the jungle and the training was pitched accordingly, with the emphasis on basic skills. After a short settling in period, the company was split into platoons and during a three-day cycle covered jungle navigation, CQB ranges and survival, including the slaughter and consumption of a goat. The last three days were tactical and usually involved a patrolling phase, culminating in a 'West Side Boys' scenario camp attack which was very apt as the LI were deploying straight to Sierra Leone after the exercise.

The adventure training package was well received by everyone, with opportunities to participate in a range of activities, from sub aqua diving in the Indian Ocean to ascending Mount Kenya, which is Africa's second highest peak. There were also Game Safaris and the normal water borne activities, which were located at Lake Naivasha in the Rift Valley. The budgeted Battle Group all up strength is approx. 750 personnel, a figure rarely achieved due to manpower shortages. Therefore, there are nearly always vacancies for individual reinforcement from the TA. The Royal Signals element is small, limited to a rear link det provided by 30 Sig Regt but skilled trades are always in demand, particularly drivers, medics and chefs. Also range-qualified personnel are required for the PRT's, the experience of a live Battle Group attack, following up a creeping artillery barrage is something every soldier should have at least once! Grand Prix's run from November to March each year and the trawl for volunteers starts several months before each deployment, speak to your Training Major and get your name down for the next one!

up the undelivered Arctic Kit, which subsequently we did not need. We had an excellent time in Canada where Sgt Mike Webb introduced the locals to Vodka Snorting from a teaspoon and Sig Ian Hardie sickened us all with Campino Strawberry and Cream sweets. After attempting to snow board, trying our hand at Husky Dog Sledging and emptying the Grabber Machine in the local pub of all its cuddly toys we reluctantly left Canada with twice as much kit as we went out with.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to LCpl Ricky 'I'm on my way now' Melia on two counts. Firstly on achieving top student at the Regimental Trade Training week held at Redford Cavalry Barracks in Edinburgh, and to his long awaited and well deserved promotion. Congratulations also go to ex-SSM, now Squadron Second in Command Capt Ian 'Davie' Crockett on his commissioning. Congratulations to 2Lt Colin 'I'm a rocket scientist' Bruce on passing his commissioning course and for achieving top student from Aberdeen and sixth overall in Scotland in the recent MTQ 2 exams.

On 7 April the Regiment took part in a sponsored road relay run, in order to raise money for the British Heart Foundation (BHF). The reason for choosing the BHF was due to the sudden loss of Maj Mike Brown, OC 80 Sqn, who died so tragically last year of a heart attack, at the age of 42yrs. The relay-run passed through all the Squadrons within the Regiment, starting off at 42 Sqn (Manchester) and finishing at RHQ (Liverpool). After a quick photo shoot at 42 Sqn, Capt Whelan (PSAO 42 Sqn) leading by example volunteered to run the first leg, each leg being no longer than three miles (honest!). Everything was going well until, of course I know the way, SSgt (FofS) Andy Owen set off on his leg. The support vehicle crew being extremely considerate allowed him to run two miles out of his way before passing on the good news, much to the pleasure of Cpl Dave Neal. Upon arrival at 80 Sqn there was just time for another photo call and then on to RHQ. At the same time in Liverpool WO2 (SSM) 'Robbo' Robertson was coordinating the leg from RHQ to 59 Sqn and back. No mishaps or navigational errors this time just the weather to contend with. In order to ensure that both sets of runners were to finish at RHQ together, split second timing was required. Better late than never 80 Sqn! Then it was inside for yet more photos. In conclusion I would like to thank all those who took part, not just the runners but also the support team, not forgetting the BHF for providing T-shirts and banners. At the time of going to press the final figure raised stands at £1772.30.

EXERCISE EBOR MANCUNIAN - 15 -18 FEBRUARY 2001

Ex Ebor Mancunian was a 42 Sig Sqn winter adventurous training weekend which took place in the Cairngorm mountains over the period 15 - 18 February 2001. Thirty members of the Squadron were based at Rothiemurchus Lodge, near Aviemore in Inverness-shire with the object of the exercise being to qualify as many people as possible as basic ski proficiency (alpine) skiers.

Fortunately, the party enjoyed near perfect skiing conditions with deep snow and blue skies throughout the four days. The Squadron was lucky to have the services of SSgt Glenn Martin as the chief instructor, ably assisted by Cpl Jo Neal. Glenn has been skiing for many years and is a qualified Joint Services Ski Instructor, both Nordic and Alpine, as well as being a UK Snowsport Alpine Ski Leader. Jo, who is a regular serving with 264 (SAS) Sig Sqn in Hereford, and also the wife of the Sqn MT NCO, Cpl Dave Neal, had recently qualified as a skiing instructor and was cutting her instructional teeth on 42 Sqn.

The trip proved to be a huge success with every member of the party mastering the basics and being able to negotiate fairly steep slopes without too many 'wipeouts' on the way down. The location could not have been better as Rothiemurchus Lodge enjoys an enviable position, nested in the heart of the Cairngorms just seven miles from the highland village of Aviemore with its excellent 'après ski' facilities. The lodge complex is for the exclusive use of regular and reserve personnel of all three services and their families to enjoy outdoor pursuits in some of the most beautiful scenery in the British Isles.

NATIONAL TA OPEN DAY (31 MARCH 2001)

As part of the TA National Open day, 42 Sqn opened its doors to the public on the 31 March 2001. Various stands displayed the Squadron's communications equipment and there were plenty of military stands and novelty stands to keep the youngsters happy. The most popular, proving to be SSgt Bob Duffield's simulated war games computer stand complete with ear splitting sound effects and booming music. The Squadron was fortunate to have a VIP visitor on the day in the shape of Brig Andrew Durcin, the Deputy Inspector General Territorial Army. He was accompanied by Lt Col Linda Harrison TD who is an ex-commanding officer of 31 (City of London) Sig Regt (V) and who is now on the TA Inspectorate Staff. They were met on arrival by the CO, Lt Col Elton Davis and Sqn Comd Mica Cummings. Although the heavens opened and the rain was lashing down as the Brigadier arrived, he none the less enjoyed his visit and talked to the majority of the Squadron members before departing full of hamburgers and chips served from Sgt Lesley Ward's fast food stall.

ITD WEEKEND (21 0 22 APRIL 2001)

The Squadron organised an ITD training weekend at Stensall Training Camp near York over the weekend 21-22 April 2001. Thanks to the drive and enthusiasm of our SPSI, SSgt Sam Faulds, the weekend was a great success, with even the weather co-operating and blue skies with warm sunshine persisting over the whole period. Due to the restrictions imposed by the foot and mouth crisis, the Squadron were unable to go on the ranges, but instead, utilised the Small Arms Trainer (SAT) to carry out the APWT.

NEW SSM - WO2 MAURICE AARONS

WO2 Maurice Aarons has recently been appointed to the top soldiers post in 42 Sqn. Maurice has been a member of the Squadron for 24 years joining in October 1997 as a Combat Lineman and becoming one of the most reliable and loyal attenders over this long period of time. Maurices's main claim to fame, is to have entertained Her Royal Highness, The Princess Royal, to tea in the back of the line waggon during 33 Sig Regt's Freedom of Knowsley celebrations in Liverpool in August 1988. Maurice also took part in the 1997 Regimental Charity Expedition which drove from Liverpool to Odessa in the Ukraine to deliver badly needed medical supplies to the hospital for children who had survived the Chernobyl disaster. Maurice is a member of the Military Guard Service for our TA Centre here in Rusholme, Manchester and lives in Marple, Stockport with his wife Gill and his four children Damon, Alexis, Anika and Sebastian. Originally from Jamaica, he is a keep fit fanatic and a very keen sportsman. He was awarded the efficiency Medal (TA) in 1989 and has recently qualified for the Volunteer Reserves Service Medal (VRSN).

59 SIGNAL SQUADRON

The last three months have been a time of 'out with the old' and 'in with the new' for 59 Squadron. Firstly the departure of WO2 SSM Bob Paterson to take up the role of Senior Instructor with the Regimental Training Team followed closely by the departure of the Squadron Commander, Maj Chris Heaton who has taken over as Second in Command of the Regiment. All members of the Squadron wish them well in their new roles and thank them for all they have done. The new Squadron Commander Maj John Miller swept in on a strong breeze but no one has yet picked up his potential nickname. The new SSM is WO2 SSM Paul Williams who joins us from 55 Squadron as it is now assumed he is capable of handling a BIG squadron.

'At last a big Squadron,' boasts the new SSM

Welcome to both and we hope their time with the Squadron is a happy and productive one. We also welcome into the Squadron as OC Access Troop, Lt Paul Knight, who rejoins us after a tour in Recruit Training. Finally we must mention the recent promotion of Capt Tony McFarlane who is quoted as saying, 'I can't believe it.' Congratulations Tony.

Lying down on the job again Tony!

Congratulation must also go to Sgt Tommy Hankin who is marrying long time girlfriend Jan, and to Cpl Cliff Doyle and LCpl Shantel McCourt who also marry very soon.

34 (NORTHERN) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col I. D. Westerman
RSM WO1 (RSM) M. Anderson

An extremely busy period had by all! With the Foot and Mouth Crisis in full swing the Regiment has seen a number of its training and communications exercises cancelled due to restricted movement. However, in support of the crisis, TA personnel, including Sgts McCluskey, Readshaw and Silk, have been ably supporting the regular soldiers within the Newcastle area. The unit now looks ahead with bated breath as to the level of support required in the future and more importantly on whether the summer camp is to proceed in its current form. Watch this space! The RHQ team is in full swing with key players, including the Adjutant and RSM now in place, 'ploughing' through ever increasing in trays.

TA DAY 31 MARCH 2001 – FULL EVALUATION

by WO1 (RSM) Anderson

After arriving in the Regiment at the end of November, the Commanding Officer tasked the RSM with the 'small' matter of recruiting. As everyone knows, recruiting is the lifeblood of the TA and much was to be spilled before TA Day scheduled to be held on 31 March 2001. The RSM looked at his assets (too few to mention!) and liabilities. To his advantage though was a wealth of experience especially from the PSAOs and some of the 'old and bold' always willing to put in their 'two penny-worth.' There was also a budget that seemed to expand and contract faster than that of an Olympic athlete after a hard 100m sprint. The biggest asset of all, however, was the Royal Signals TA Band based out of 50 Sqn in Darlington. Liabilities lay in the competition of the area, namely the Infantry, Medics, RLC, RMP, REME and the AGC, all vying to 'fish from the same pond.' Added to this, was a certain amount of apathy left over from several previously 'failed' TA Days. And (as much as it pains me to say it) Royal Signals communications equipment does not quite fire the imagination of a young thrusting 18 year old quite like an 81 mm mortar, a giant digger or even a Scania Recovery Vehicle. A fool proof (why was the RSM chosen – editor note!) plan needed to be devised and if anyone can devise such a plan then the cunning, machiavellian and perhaps a little original RSM can.

The Plan - quite simply, the plan had to accentuate the positives and decentuate the negatives. The RQMS indented for 'anti-apathy' bags, a meeting for delegates from the various surrounding units converged and the plan came into fruition. Teams were to descend on the Town Centres, groups were to hand out freebies and TA memorabilia and assets such as the band would roam and generate interest throughout. The idea of going to the local pubs and dropping 'shillings' into punters mugs was stifled on origination in that it was unlikely that anyone would emerge from the first pub and would probably spend all the 'shillings' in the 'who wants to be a millionaire' machine. The RMP, in their normal apprehensive stance, were worried that they would not be able to muster enough to man every town centre. 'No problem' said the RSM 'you can visit each locale with a blue flashing light and a dog.' SSgt Ollie Hardy RMP then exclaimed that they did not have a dog section. 'Aha, again not a problem, someone in your unit must own a dog, no-one is going to ask for an ID Card, just don't turn up with a Dachshund'. The Tyne Tees Regiment (Infantry) kindly offered to bring some snipers but how would we know they were there? At any rate everyone agreed they would bring something to the proceedings.

Mayor of Middlesbrough points out TA for Open Day
WO1 (RSM) Anderson, Mayor of Middlesbrough Cllr Kat Bevington and Lt Col Westerman at the local launch for TA Day

Another meeting was called to undo the previous meeting that included North of England RFCA and to order more 'Jammy Dodgers'. By now the RSM, WO1 (RSM) Mark Anderson had taken up smoking, golf (trying to gain a handicap qualification) and (when the pressure became too great) biting his nails – this was unfortunate as they were his toe nails. Cometh the hour Cometh the man – the list of requirements was confirmed: Gazebo 'check', recruiting stand 'check', t-shirts 'check', remove burnt out car from the front of RHQ 'check' (Brambles Farm Middlesbrough a select site if ever there was one!).

How did TA Day go? Judging from the statistics, not all that bad. Of course there were a few hiccups but be assured that no plan survives contact with the enemy. We are still not sure if the Tyne Tee snipers showed up. Nor are we sure if his parents ever found the little boy Sig Meacher 'cammed up'. Judging from the empty box; T-shirts were, however, very popular and have been seen down town as a new designer fashion item. The figures were up to 200% but most importantly the RSM has a huge supply of Yorkshire 'Terrier' TA masks available if any has a good use for them. On a more serious note, we did receive a lot of press exposure. LCpl Becky Williamson managed to only speak for 20 minutes without drawing breath on local radio. The CO, Lt Col Westerman, had a whole hour on BBC Cleveland Radio but managed to mention TA Day only once but in the heat of the moment managed to confess to a few 'faux pas' from his past (transcripts of this interview are available on the internet). The RSM also managed to reach TV status by appearing on TV for longer than WO2 (SSM) Pete Griffiths, but then it was only Middlesbrough Football TV and not National News.

49 (WR) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj D. E. Sixsmith
SSM WO2 (SSM) Holdstock

The Squadron would like to welcome the new 2IC Squadron Capt Angie 'the Adjt's new spy' Galli and SSgt Greg 'buzz lightyear' Sharp and his wife Jo and family. Congratulations go to Lt Keith 'I've got my own office now' Williams on passing his JOTES exam and also to Sig Martin 'Wot no respirator' Tranter on completion of Phase Two Recruit training. The Lord Lieutenant Certificates went to Sgts 'Clint' Eastwood, Tommy Simpson and Gary Openshaw with many congratulations on their continued loyal and dedicated service.

A warm welcome is made from all members of 49 Sig Sqn to Cpl Craig, fresh from a sabbatical and to Pte Smith making the long haul from Middlesbrough. Congratulations are extended to SSgt Dawn 'Now I can start running again' Malloy and Sgt Frank 'He looks just like me' Mason on the arrival of their baby boy Ryan. Further congratulations also go on the presentation of medals by the Hon Col, Sir Ron Norman OBE to 49 personnel during a Squadron training weekend held at Hull - SSgt Wilford (Kosovo medal), SSgt Falkinder, Sgts Adcock, Barass, Openshaw, Simpson and Cpl Bedford (TA Service and Efficiency Medal).

TA OPEN DAY – LEEDS

The TA Open Day was a great success with Cpl Andy Meadley and LCpl Noel Wreathall showing potential recruits the way up a vertical wall (answers on a postcard to!), Sig Sahera 'move to the beat' Ramzan testing courage on the wall bars and Sig Andy 'Digimon' Barrett providing a picture keepsake of the experience. After much discussion and relocation, the comms stand was finally set up to the satisfaction of everyone, that is of course except Sgt Ian 'will someone just make up their mind NOW' Stuart.

15 (NORTH EAST) BRIGADE SPORTS DAY -19 MAY 2001

The Brigade Sports Day arrived and teams were hastily formed from those anxious to participate. It was decided that the Squadron would put in three teams. The squash was going to be vigorously contested, volleyball and 5-a-Side Football, male and female, competitions with the tug of war, always an excellent spectator sport, would be the grand finale. The squash competition went quite well with SSgt (SQMS) Dave Carr winning all of his games. Unfortunately Lt Keith 'I thought I had him there' Williams and SSgt Nobby 'Is a wooden bat ok?' Clark were not so successful. The semi-finals were the ends of the road for the worthy trio. In the three other events the Squadron was eliminated in the first round, despite some heroic saves from SSgt Mark 'The Cat' Carrick and some unusual saves from LCpl Melissa 'Why am I wearing gloves?' Bertuzzi in the respective 5-a-side competitions. The only hope for redemption was going to be the tug of war. The opposition were more than a little concerned when they saw the anchorman Sig Gavin '5ft tin and 4 stone wet through' Cranswick's attempt to pick up the rope. All things considered 0-2 was not a bad result!

CHESHIRE HOMES SUMMER FETE - SUNDAY 20 MAY 2001

On Sunday 20 May five intrepid members of the Squadron deployed to Cleckheaton, where that is, to take part in the Cheshire Homes Fete. The weather was superb and the Squadron stand attached a great deal of interest, from old war heroes down to the loveable little darlings who tried to steal every bit of kit that they had. There appeared to be some genuine interest from certain people and they were dispatched with all the relevant 'come and join us' information. The team members were Cpl 'Woody' Wood, Sig Crannie 'Will I get a mention?' Cranswick, Sig Karen 'Feed me now' Ford, Sig Sahera 'Will it be in Vogue magazine?' Ramzan and Sig Andy 'Oh no the kids are back' Barrett. A good day was had by all and it is hoped to be a good recruiting tool for the future.

745 SIG TROOP – HULL DETACHMENT

Sqn Comd Capt R. Middleton-Powell
SPSI SSgt Wilford

The regiment deployed on Ex Spring Eagle in March, sending 745 Sig Tp SAS/MC to Colchester in order to hold the FTBN to York and to provide the interface between Ptarmigan and Euromux to the wannabes down there. The remainder of the Troop, not deterred by foot and mouth spent a rather claustrophobic weekend in Imphal Barracks, York. With the confinement of the barracks the potential for boredom was broken by WO1 (RSM) Anderson's Defence of a Comms Site lecture (honest!) and the release to the Cross Keys bar, courtesy of 2 Sig Regt, for the regulation two beers. Sig Lau brought an ample supply of home-made Sushi, ensuring that 745 Tp dined in style on the exercise (not that there were any complaints of the army catering provided). The TA Open Day was superbly organised in Hull by OCdt 'Wedgie' Wedgewood-Jones. It was a rip roaring, riotous occasion including a nightline with jungle diva tracks; air rifle shooting (with sights only marginally better than a fair ground); the raffle of two, no expense spared mountain bikes (we jest – financed compliments of NERFCA); and last but certainly by no means least a communication display. Congratulations go out to Sig 'Gizmo' Evans and Sig 'Sushi' Lau who have managed to successfully survive their two week Recruits Course at Blandford.

A briefing and familiarisation weekend was organised for the young and not so young Potential Officers of the Regiment by Capt Ruth Middelton-Powell. After initial introduction briefings, the POs gave a number of wide ranging and interesting presentations to a captive audience on such subjects such as the life of an air stewardess, keep fit regimes and computer networks. All taking from the personal experiences, both work and play, of the individuals themselves. Cpl Andy 'I am going to write up the command tasks honest' Meadley and Sgt Ian 'When I' Stuart tested the brains and brawn of the uninitiated with a selection of command tasks. This proved to be a most rewarding exercise as each of the POs learnt a lot about themselves, each other and the staff had an ideal opportunity to see them in testing conditions. It must have worked as they adapted their new found leadership skills to win first place in the maggot race at 90 Squadron's games night later that evening. That weekend, Cpl Meadley was also to face the toughest challenge of the weekend and probably his military career - removing an ink filled security tag from Capt M-P's jeans. It should be noted at this time that she was not wearing them at the time. The Troop held their annual Bounty Bash at Mr Cheus Chinese Restaurant in Hull. Sgt Rob 'This will make your eyes water' Godfrey was to give lessons in the fine use of chopsticks and LCpl Melissa Bertuzzi celebrated her 21st birthday in style by gate-crashing the evening.

Sgt Godfrey taking the PSI role to the extreme 'Hang on I hadn't finished using those!'

50 (N) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj G. Jennings
SSM WO2 (SSM) Middleton

Off to pastures new for the summer months are Sigs Alan Rayner and Freddie O'Brien with the next six months in the Balkans on FTRS. Our sincerest thoughts go with them and hope they come back safely. Congratulations go a number of members from the squadron who have had the honour of the Lord Lieutnants Certificates bestowed upon them. Sgts Ross Blair and Mickey Jemmett from 705 SigTp and LCpl Jenny Jones form 742 Sig Tp the latest recipients of this prestigious award. Lt Jez Bailey, Trunk Node Tp Comd, is also worthy of a mention after successfully completing his JOTES exam ran by 15 (NE) Bde at Strensall Trg Centre.

Sgts Blair and Jemmett receive their Lord Lieutenant's Certificates

The Squadron recently hosted the Dep Comd 11 Sig Bde, Col Roger Davenport, He spent the day with the Regular staff, dining with them and lending a sympathetic ear to their woes and concerns. He stayed on to spend some time with the TA members of the squadron on their drill night, which included shooting on the 25 metre indoor range, where Sig Pat Hutton from Debdon Gardens was challenged to a competition by the Dep Comd. Still clinging to the faint chance of a career in the TA, the overall result is not for print, needless to say the Dep Comd was seen supplying liquid refreshments at the bar later on! A tour around the garages introduced Col Davenport to a good cross section of the squadron, most notably our switch crew, who, when asked by the Dep Comd, 'Don't you think it's sexist that you are all girls in the switch?' it was thought that he said 'Don't you think its SEXY that you are all girls working in the switch?' The crew was to prefer the latter of the comments. The penultimate part of the visit saw a courtesy call on the Band, who as always entertained to the highest standards and the evening concluded with all ranks partaking of a sociable beverage in the JRC. As reported in the last edition, the Squadron has lost one of its stalwarts, now WO2 RQMS(V) Pat Bell, who was dined out last month. An excellent turn out of past and present members of the Squadron attended to bid her a final farewell. A certain officer, who shall remain nameless, could not attend due to work commitments, even sent his wife to check that WO2 Bell had finally left! Apparently the RQMS (V) had promised the said officer 'something' for helping her pass the CFT last year and he was just checking that the coast was clear for him to start attending again. The end of training year has seen the unusual scramble to complete ITDs and qualify for the COs Certificate of Efficiency. Due to the Foot and Mouth crisis permission was given to carry out a CFT around the square at the Darlington TAC. Tasked with a trusty measuring wheel, the job of measuring out an accurate course was given to PTI, Sgt Rob McCluskey. He was noted wheeling around the square twenty one times accurately measuring the course, much to the mirth of the OC and 2IC.

A warm and hearty 50 Squadron welcome goes to the new arrival of Cpl (PSI) Craig Straughan, our new Regular ED, who joins us from 280 (UK) Signal Squadron in Germany. The Squadron would also like to welcome Cpl 'Tommo' and LCpl Anne-Marie Beattie who have joined us from 186 (Tyne Electrical Engineers) Workshop Company as our new fitter and chef respectively. A temporary farewell go to Sigs Freddie O'Brien and Alan Raynor who have decided to spend their summer in the Balkans (a good tour and return back safely). SSgt John Howe who is enjoying his tour that much that he has extended to 12 months (at least his wife is happy!) A pat on the back must go to the three stalwart SNCOs who have returned from Blandford following the successful completion of their Staff Course: Sgts Mick Jemmett, Ross Blair and Cath Sproat. Luckily for the lads Sgt Cath Sproat was there to carry them and keep them on the straight and narrow - well done!

EXERCISE SUMMER EAGLE

A hand picked group of the Squadron's finest Officers and SNCOs embarked to the deepest darkest Donnington for a Brigade CPX. Headed by Capt Dave Edwards, the intrepid team got in the mood for annual camp with a series of testing scenarios and cross training. This was the Squadron's first meeting with the new Brigade Commander and Sgt Pete Robinson will not forget that in a hurry (Top Tip - when red tabs appear throw one up!)

EXERCISE LIVELY LARK

Adventure Training in Keswick has always been one of the most popular weekends of the training year with the Squadron and this weekend was no exception. Although limited by Foot and Mouth, a limited programme was devised based ultimately around the Keswick Climbing Wall. The morning session was dominated by the Officers showing off their canoeing skills on Derwent Water by attempting to do an Eskimo roll in two foot of water in a Canadian. This was much to the mirth of the onlooking Squadron members. Sgt Cath Sproat vowed never to go in a canoe again after being ceremoniously dumped in the lake by Sgts Pete Robinson and Ross Blair. Quote of the morning came from one of the civilian instructors who was heard to shout, 'Officers, you are going the wrong way!' ' No change there then,' was the cry from the shore. The afternoon training took place at the Keswick Climbing Wall. All the troops had a very productive afternoon developing their climbing skills, culminating in a climb off that was won by Sig 'Johnboy' Walton.

ROYAL NATIONAL LIFEBOAT INSTITUTE OPEN DAY

The Squadron were invited to attend the annual RNLI Open Day at Tynemouth, providing power for the outside entertainment, a recruiting stand and the opportunity was taken to show off our communication skills linking Newcastle to Tynemouth and across the river to South Shields. The CO took the opportunity to visit the Squadron and was last seen crossing the river with 2Lt Paul Denning on the Tyne Ferry, luckily this time the Officers were going the right way.

OFFICERS' AND SERGEANTS' MESS INFORMAL DINNER NIGHT

The CO, on review of the various TA Centres under his command, recently decided to allow various pieces of silver and photographs to be returned to 50 Squadron for display on a daily basis. These items once formed part of the Regimental silver of 50 (Northumbrian) Divisional Signals TA. The Gateshead, Darlington and Middlesbrough Company Detachments contested one of the fine pieces, called the Dent Cup, annually in a boxing competition. In, 1938 the competition was held in the Darlington based Drill Hall being a particularly hard fought contest, the winner on that evening being the Middlesbrough Company with 40 points beating Darlington Company who were runners up with 21 points. In honour of this, the Squadron were fortunate to have a guest of honour at a recently held Dinner Night in the guise of (2574619 Cpl) Lew Prosser, a featherweight boxer and avid TA soldier in his day. During his prestigious and dedicated service, Cpl Prosser was Mentioned in Dispatches twice for his service during the final year of the Second World War and presented with the 1939/45 Star, Africa Star & 8th Army Clasp, Italy Star, Defence Medal, War Medal 1939/45 and the Efficiency Medal (T). A framed copy of his Mention in Dispatches can now be seen on display in the Drill Hall. All had a good evening and great opportunity to 'pull up a sandbag' was had whilst listening to stories from the Great War.

AND FINALLY – 'GUESS WHO'S NOT GOING TO HEAVEN'

No it is not the new title from the Hearsay Popstar crusade. It is my sad duty to inform readers of the Wire about an incident at the Bradford Armoury involving one of the squadrons 'young' subalterns and the regimental Padre, Capt Chris Burke. Allegedly witnessed by a number of the members of the Sergeant's Mess, 2Lt Paul 'Punchy' Denning was seen to swing open the doors to the JRC in such a manner as to strike the good man of the cloth, the Padre, firmly across the forehead. Later seen leaving the TAC with a beauty of a cut 'n bruise to the forehead, the Padre in future will think twice when accepting an invitation to instruct the squadron on Moral Understanding. 2Lt Paul 'Punchy' Denning is currently sparring with Prince Nazeem Hammed, in preparation for his latest World title fight and has laid down the challenge to all comers at the next joint mess dinner to – 'Come and 'av a go if you think you're hard enough!'

90 (NR) SIGNAL SQUADRON (V)

Sqn Comd Maj R. Lenton
SSM WO2 (SSM) Ward

The New Year stared with the traditional 90 Squadron programme of a range weekend to blow away the cobwebs from the Christmas break. Newly range qualified Cpl Dave Ross ran the weekend and thanks to the obligatory rain and snow, managed to introduce everyone to the new 'prone in a deep puddle' firing position. SSgt Les Stimson left with a printout of a group size, the best of the weekend, and has since shown it to everyone in the Squadron at every opportunity. There's now a reward for anyone who can remove it from his desk unnoticed! Unfortunately SSgt Stimson has been unable to continue his prowess on the .22 range and proved himself unable to hit the proverbial 'barn door' at 25 metres. Undeterred, the Squadron Team of Capt Simon Smith, SSgt Stimson, Sgt Pete Stevenson, Cpl Ross, LCpl Stu Wilson and LCpl Gareth Martinez took part in the National TA Smallbore Rifle Competition finishing ninth overall. If only SSgt Stimson had been wearing his shooting glasses…

Next on the programme was the Squadron social and quiz. SSgt Alex Durnall proved a mine of useless information yet again, even knowing every track in Capt Smith's dubious music round. It is suspected that it was the prize of beer that drove SSgt Durnall and his team to victory. This year's trade training cycle finished just before the Foot and Mouth forced many changes to the overall training plan. Congratulations go to Cpl Carr, Sigs Baxter, Boyle, Dawson, Hannah, Hoad, Lord, Machin, Makey, Moore and Swan who all have successfully passed their trade tests. This means that for the first time in switch 036 history there has been more than one qualified operator. This now means that det comd LCpl Kareena Knibbs can look forward to shifts of less than 24 hours a day! Ex Spring Eagle gave the newly qualified operators a chance to test their new found skills, even if the switch had been sabotaged by 50 Sqn beforehand and inherited their faults! OC Sqn - Maj Richard Lenton has finally got his long awaited dining in, at an all ranks dinner at the end of March. This was a splendid do organised by PSAO Capt Ray Duffy and SSM, WO2 (SSM) Ian Ward. Capt Jenny Bowes was generous enough to help the evening with drinks as the Squadron celebrated her promotion. Farewells go to Sgt Dave Smith leaving after many years but still guaranteed to attend for a party or two, SSgt Gary Jowers transferred out of the Regiment on a 'secret mission' and Capt Simon Smith who leaves the Trunk Node to take over the Regimental Recruit Training Team. Finally, congratulations go to Capt Jenny Bowes and Cpls Graham Belt and Steven Kitching on their promotions.

EXERCISE SPRING SLIDE EBOR – by (then) Lt Bowes

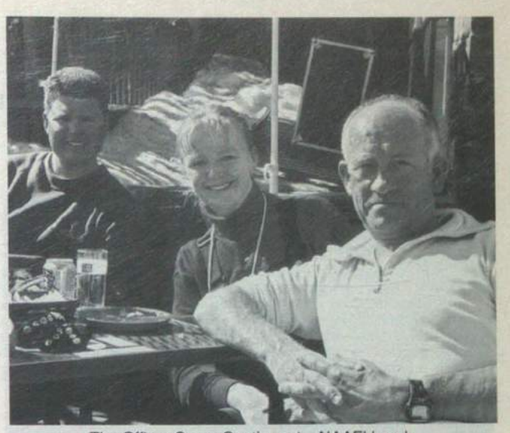
In early March 34 Sig Regt conducted its annual exercise to instruct soldiers in the alpine module of the BSP (Basic Ski Proficiency) course and carry out arctic survival training in Europe. Maj Les Wood led the exercise and our instructors, Capt Mark Brookes and Cpl Si Clayton, joined us from MoD Whitehall and 225 Sig Sqn respectively. One of the Regiment's newest members, Sig Karen Ford, also performed sterling instructional duties with the complete novices. Karen has travelled the world working in Canada, Australia and New Zealand as well as most of Europe, and is a civilian ski instructor. As I write she is in Sonthofen 'converting' her civvy qualifications into Army recognised ones. and hopefully she will be paying the system back next season. SSgt Rob Deakin (REME) proved a more than capable organiser, and can hardly be held responsible for flight delays!

All members of the party completed and passed the course bar one, Cpl Jamie Topping (or should that be Toppling?), who decided he wanted a ride in the blood wagon! Sympathy was noticeably lacking at the daily debrief, with most agreeing that it was an extreme form of attention seeking, and thankfully Corporal T is almost walking normally again!

We also had a few stunt performers amongst the group, led by Capt Ruth Middleton-Powell demonstrating her double-somersaulting abilities. Later, in very poor visibility, Cpl Andy Meadley skied into a drift by a snow cannon. His skis stopped abruptly but he didn't, and it was unanimously agreed that he should get the prize for the best Superman impression! Sig Noel Wreathall showed us that the quickest way down a black run was on his backside - top to bottom. LCpl Becky Williamson and Sig 'Jacko' Jackson found out the hard way that the majority of snowboarders have no control whatsoever when they career down the mountainside.

Other notable occurrences included Sig Richie Torley's Blue Oyster experience, which involved an unknown tree in an unknown hotel lobby! WO2 (SSM) Ian Ward cut a distinctive figure on the slopes in his cowboy hat, particularly when trying to rodeo-ride a button lift. And finally, yours truly Lt Jenny Bowes demonstrated her uncanny ability to wipe out in the most crowded places on the piste. Skiing conditions varied from perfect with blazing sunshine to a white out with horizontal snow showers, and rain, but that's all part of the learning experience, and places on next year's exercise will be highly sought-after.

Sig Karen Ford looks philosphical as the wayward student is strapped into the rescue stretcher



The Officer Corps Contingent – NAAFI break, and Capt Mark Brookes, Capt Ruth Middleton-Powell and Maj Les Wood look knackered already

We welcome with open arms, receive with the warmest of greetings and wipe a brow to say thank God for the newly arrived Squadron Regular personnel in the guise of SSgt (FofS) Walsh, SSgt (SPSI) Gaz Williams and Cpl Johnson. Every success in their new appointments and it is hoped they enjoy their stay with the Regiment in the North East (who knows, they may even support 'Boro by the end of their tour!) A short distance farewell goes to Capt Simon Smith who has now directed all his enthusiasm and wisdom to the Recruit Training Team (don't forget us here in Hartlepool when dishing out the new blood).

Training has largely been dampened by the outbreak of Foot and Mouth across the regions confining the Squadron to Barracks. This has called for some innovative planning which the Squadron has managed with their normal professionalism. After the success of TA Open Day and Sgt Barry Hunter 'shopping for soldiers at ASDA' newspaper article in the local newspaper the Regiment will have to accredit him with the most exposed soldier in all its history! The day was finished with a well-deserved and extremely organised dinner night with the assistance of Capt Ray Duffy and WO2 (SSM) Iain Ward. The evening was a resounding success and enjoyed by all, even Cpl Steven Kitching braving the perils of fishing line and talcum powder. This will now be a regular feature of the Squadron's Annual training programme.

June was to see the first weekend out of barracks for some three months. The Squadron was accommodated at Halton Camp near Lancaster for an adventure-training weekend. Activities organised by the newly promoted Capt Jenny Bowes included mountain biking, hill walking, climbing and potted sports. The latter provided the rivalry between 704 and 741 Troops. Over the same weekend elements of the Squadron were conducting a recce of sunny Cawdor Barracks, South Wales, home of 14 Signal Regiment. This was in anticipation of this year's Summer Camp which will focus largely on ITDs, adventure training and Regimental level comms training. The Squadron also hopes to provide a study day on the military history of Pembroke with visits to Pembroke Castle and the Gun Museum.

QUALITY TRAINING RISES TO THE CHALLENGE

At this time of year I would normally be busy conjuring up notes for our annual camp deployment but this will not take place until near the end of June, which has once again left me scraping around for some heart-warming and uplifting stories. Alas the FMD situation continues to bite into the training programme and I am always a little sceptical of those stories associated with quality training in barracks. Yes we have just come through a series of intensive inspections that have included Health & Safety, and two very important Equipment Care Inspections on our vehicles and comms equipment. All of which resulted in good reports much to the relief of our safety advisors and equipment managers but, unfortunately, they were nothing to write home about! Meanwhile we did have a successful limited deployment to Donnington over the weekend 28/29 April to participate in a Bde CPX.

The 2IC, Maj Chris Edwards, took advantage of the quiet period over the weekend and sensibly called a Mess Meeting and held a recruiting seminar. The recruiting seminar in particular provided a useful forum for sharing & exchanging a number of good ideas amongst squadrons and recruiting teams present.

My mind was clearly on other things over this weekend and I managed to turn up on the exercise in the wrong kit only to be met by the Deputy Comd who I think was convinced by my explanation because he invited me to breakfast! But feeling distinctly out of place amongst the Bde staff only added to my misery. Fortuitously the CO came to my rescue! Then the run up to the election put a cap on our PR activities just when our recruiting initiatives were going into full swing. In despair I scrutinised the training programme for something interesting that had not been cancelled or deferred and noted Ex Silver Bullet, which was a military skills and bounty weekend planned for the weekend 1/3 June, was still programmed.

Further research led me to discover that this weekend was being redesigned and transformed into an initiative weekend crammed full of unusual challenges (sorry command tasks). These were veiled in secrecy but were being put expertly together by the SPSI of 58 Sqn, SSgt Barney Balmforth who was co-ordinating the exercise. At last the cloud of despair was beginning to lift, there was indeed a story out there and happily it is provided by the outright winners of the challenge 58 Sig Sqn (inside job some may argue).

What follows is their account (and some may say their final challenge) of how they snatched victory from the jaws of defeat by one or two (maybe more) imaginative but somewhat devious/dubious methods.

EXERCISE SILVER BULLET

This was the first Silver Bullet exercise of the new training year and a Regimental Exercise with a difference. It was 58 Sqn's turn to organise the weekend and with recent training constraints conventional military activities would be limited. So ingenuity and secrecy were called for and SSgt Barney Balmforth and SSgt Baz Raine began to formulate a plan. The only prior information that they would divulge on the exercise was that it was an inter Squadron competition, involving some leadership/initiative training and that uniforms would not be required – yippee!

So Friday night arrived, soldiers were assembled at their TAC's and under the Starter's orders. The Squadron OCs were given the exercise instructions and briefings commenced. Each Squadron's Mission was to complete 40 weird and wonderful challenges by 1800hrs on Saturday. These ranged from appearing on National TV, to meeting their local Mayor, to stacking shelves at a supermarket to dancing in fancy dress to the song YMCA in a night-club – a great boost for anyone's street cred or should that be crud! So each Squadron planned their tasks, what could be accomplished when, which team would go where and who had the bottle to do what.

The famous five recruited - but are they genuine

For 58 Sqn the obvious choice for the dancing queens had to be Sgt Adger Lewis and LCpl Olly Oliver who talked their way into Valentinos Nightclub dressed as a fireman and construction worker to podium dance the YMCA in front of all their non-TA mates. Other Squadrons also seemed to have enjoyed this task especially Sgt Lunny Lunn from 48 Sqn judging from the photos of him with a pole and a group of new dancing friends – are they the Squadron's five potential recruits? Poles of a different nature were required for the next task sliding down a Fireman's Pole and without exception all the girls wanted to do this. Sgt Eileen Monagan and the team from 48 Sqn seem to have had the best time at their local Fire Station with all those hunky firemen - I do hope you let them go home eventually.

The final event for Friday night was for someone to spend six hours in a Police Cell, this proved to be more difficult than first thought as all the local police stations were already full at 2000 hours (not with members of the Regiment I hasten to add). Obviously breaking the law and having soldiers arrested could not be condoned, although some people looked at home behind bars especially 95 Sqn's SSM, WO2 Pete Mouland. So 58 used their secret weapon, the OC, AKA Solicitor Jane England who used her insider contacts to gain access, Sig 'Moorsy' Moors and Sig Chris Myers would especially like to thank her for that.

Sig Peter Cater - All Locked up with nowhere to go

An early start on Saturday morning was needed by all of the teams for journeys to Leeds and Bradford to meet Barney's Dad, for adventures in the Wirral to find U boats and go swimming. Whilst others travelled to more exotic places for example West Midlands Safari Park to feed elephants and snakes. Congratulations to 89 Sqn and their SSM, WO2 Mick Clarke who valiantly hopped on his moped and journeyed on the ferry to France to have his photo taken and to Capt Ian Cassell also of 89 Sqn for his excellent interview on BBC West Midlands Radio. In comparison Cpl Jean Parr from 58 used 'her little grey cells' and determined that French soil counted as being part of France and therefore the French cemetery just around the corner would take less effort to get to (smart girl – but so was 89 Sqn).

Task 26 Meeting the Mayor – each Squadron had a different approach to this task. Some called in at the Mayor's chambers, others phoned the Mayor at home and then some (HQ Sqn's Cpl 'Cheeky' Hyde) just walk straight up to the Mayor whilst they were taking a parade in Coventry to say hello and get their photo taken with them. 58 Sqn would like to thank the Mayor of Newcastle Under Lyme for receiving a call at 0900hrs on Saturday morning inviting her to come to the Squadron and have her photo taken with the OC and two of her soldiers. Postman Pat (Cpl Simon Guy) and Orinoko Womble (Sgt Wayne Amos). At that moment I wonder what she really thought of the Squadron. Over the weekend all forms of transport were used and photographed from fast sports cars (SSgt J. J. Johnson I'm sorry but they will not swap your Mondeo for a Ferrari no matter how much you beg) to steam trains. From canal boats to U boats and from WW2 Spitfires to hot air balloons, which leads nicely on to…

The Womble Challenge

All hot air balloons were grounded until July so getting a ride in a hot air balloon called for improvisation and poetic licence HQ Sqn made a balloon in their workshops. The 48 Sqn computer generated a balloon ride and OCdt Sally 'Cruella D'Evil' Carroll just pushed some little kids off a hot air balloon merry go round to accomplish her aim. On a more serious note all teams had to raise as much money for charity as possible. The charities that were chosen were for HQ and 48 Birmingham's Childrens Hospital; for 58 Chatterham's children's ward at North Staffs Hospital; for 89 it was Guide Dogs for the Blind and for 95 Sqn the Encology Unit at the Royal Shrewsbury Hospital. In most cases local radio was used as a method to raise awareness of the TA, to make the most impact for raising money for the charities and of course to complete task number 8 of the challenge.

Everyone made it to 58 Sqn for 1800hrs on Saturday and the counting began. From the Squadron progress boards HQ, 58 and 95 Sqns appeared to have accomplished all of the tasks but would they all be allowed the waiting began for the announcement on Sunday. On Sunday a presentation was given by each of the Squadrons on their adventures over the last few days and it illustrated what fun everyone had been having. But there could only be one winner and how appropriate (some may say surprising) that it should be the host Sqn, 58. The DS explained that although other Squadrons had completed all the events some had been disallowed. 58 had clinched the win with the TV appearance from the members box at the Old Trafford 'Cricket' Ground of Sgt Adger Lewis and Sgt 'Scotty' Scott during the England v Pakistan Match. Awards were then presented to the individual from each Squadron that had made the most outstanding contribution to the weekend. From HQ it was Cpl 'Cheeky' Hyde for the Mayor incident from 48 it was Sgt 'Lunny' Lunn for his pole exploits. Then from 58 it was Sig Tracey Stone for her dancing prowess, from 89 it was Capt Ian Cassell for the outstanding fund raising his Squadron accomplished. Finally from 95 it was the transformation of Cpl Tony Blakemore from a mild mannered slightly balding TA Corporal to a Marilyn Monroe Sex Goddess – amazing!

The Blonde Bombshell

Overall the weekend was challenging, rewarding and excellent fun with the added bonus of raising just under £3000 for local charities with pledges for more donations to follow. The CO Lt Col Stephen Potter was delighted at how much morale had improved over the weekend and how each team accomplished its challenges with such vigour and enthusiasm and in many cases a liberal spread of creativity!

RECRUITING NEWS

Continuing the theme of quality training and initiatives the Silver Bullet weekend also coincided with the last phase of recruit training for two concurrent courses as well as a recruit induction weekend. It is no secret that recruiting new blood has taken centre stage over the last few months. It was therefore good to see that at last we were beginning to reap the benefits of an intensive recruiting campaign that embraced the TA Open Day as well as many other Regimental recruiting activities. This has resulted in many vacant establishment slots now being filled. Up until this weekend, we had been observing recruit pass off parades where the recruiting team had outnumbered the recruits on parade but fortunately, our retention efforts at least were providing a counterbalance to this.

The Course Photo

This particular pass off parade was also unique in its location at 58 Sig Sqns TAC based in Newcastle-Under-Lyme but was understandable as the Regimental Challenge weekend was taking place in the same vicinity. The fact that it had moved from its traditional location in Canley did not however deter many proud families and friends who travelled from all over the West Midlands to view the parade, which took place on Saturday 2 June. In the absence of the CO the Training Major, Maj Mick Boxall carried out the duties of Inspecting Officer.

The cap badge presentation

He presented all thirteen recruits (lucky for everyone) with their cap badges and also presented best recruit awards to Sig Phillipa Holt of 89 Sqn and Sig Sara Whetnall of 58 Sig Sqn who needless to say were both jubilant. Following a course photocall, all recruits and their instructors joined families and friends in the comfort of 58 Sqn's Junior Ranks Club. Here they shared stories of their Phase 1 training over a cup of tea or something stronger depending who was celebrating what and no doubt all are now eagerly looking forward to their Phase 2 at Blandford Roundabout.

Two very proud Best Recruits

Proud Mum and Daughter

Cpl Paul Kane emerging from his watery encounter

Crisis what crisis exclaimed Capt Tom Jeffries of 89 Sqn as he led his reluctant Troop of volunteers to his parents farm last Tuesday evening just when they thought they were going to do a spot of detachment maintenance! Fortunately, the farm is standing on arable land, which lent itself perfectly to some useful tactical training for members of his Troop and potential detachment commanders in preparation for their forthcoming course. During the evening a number of command tasks were carried out as well as a range of section battle drills and orders groups that provided excellent training value.

The section battle drills proved memorable in particular as part of the course ran through a dense boggy wood that was full of figure eleven targets that provided a close contact scenario. These were often difficult to see, as Sig Sarah Bell would acknowledge. She choose to make close contact with one or two trees and a couple of bushes. Cpl Paul Kane meanwhile will not forget in a hurry his too close contact with a ditch full of water that came up to his knees while trying to make contact with another target! But it was good of him to warn me about it so I could keep my feet dry while trying to capture on film everyone else that fell into this watery trap. Luckily for them it was so dark my camera failed to capture these magic moments!

Capt Tom Jeffries, who has recently joined the Regiment after serving with the Regular Army, was clearly pleased with his endeavours and has offered the Regiment the use of his land for future exercises as it offers the ideal training facility for both military and comms training.

Elsewhere we were once again ringing those changes throughout the Regiment both in rank and personalities. Firstly we extend our special congratulations to WO1 (SVWO) Billy Henderson on his selection for a TA commission after attending a rigorous selection board. He later exclaimed how proud he was and only wished he could have achieved the same goal while serving as a regular soldier. Further congratulations are also extended to Maj Mark Whittingham and SSgt Steve Crooks on their recent promotions proving once again that everything comes to those who wait patiently. On the personality side we have welcomed back to the Regiment Maj Robert Stone who joins RHQ as Ops Offr and Cpl Dale Denton for his last year of service. While here Cpl Denton will share his considerable ED expertise with HQ and 89 Sqn and we sincerely hope he enjoys his final tour of duty. It is also with some sadness that we have bade farewell to Maj Steve Pell who leaves the Regiment on transfer to the RA All Arms Watchkeepers Pool. Steve joined the Regiment in 1985 and during his sixteen years service with the Regiment served with 95 Sqn, RHQ and latterly 89 Sqn as Sqn Comd. We all wish him well in his new appointment. Finally a belated but very special congratulations are extended to our Regimental EO Finance, Martin Pointon and his wife Lorraine on the birth of their twins – hopefully Martin you may now find yourself to busy to scrutinise those attendance sheets too closely!

EXERCISE SILVER DRAGON

Ex Silver Dragon was an alpine skiing exercise that took place in Zermatt, Switzerland during the period 28 April – 5 May. For the second successive year Zermatt was chosen in view of its reputation for 'all year round skiing'. What follows is an account of the exercise provided by the organiser SSgt Rod Shelton-Smith.

As last year once again we visited Zermatt for the annual skiing exercise. Only this time we decided to switch the 27-hour road journey to a less exhausting 10-hour air/rail journey. We finally arrived at Zermatt early afternoon on 28 April and after settling in and ski issue a relaxing evening was enjoyed by all 19 participants. The following day we were joined by our instructors, Maj Ingrid Holland, Maj Andy Talbot and SSgt Harry Harrison and then made our way to the slopes already divided into groups according to skiing ability. It was a hard day for both instructors and students but at the end of it all, although exhausted, everyone enjoyed every minute. The weather sadly was not good and the rest of the week remained the same, which resulted in limited ski tows being in operation, and the Breuil-Cervinia ski area in Italy was not accessible. Happily, this did not prevent everyone progressing at a tremendous rate. The students who had never been on skis before in the shapes of Sig Craig Poulton, Sgt 'Kev' Hand and WO2 'Richie' Roberts did wonder what they had let themselves in for. I can report though that they coped very well with the conditions, improved on a daily basis and enjoyed the best weather of the week on Friday to complete their tests. A couple of stronger skiers, SSgt Andy Wilkins and LCpl Andy Parry, meanwhile decided to try snow boarding and after some time and many spectacular falls actually became quite proficient.

LCpl Andy Parry and SSgt Andy Wilkins on the piste

Luckily there were no accidents that required medical attention but lots of aching muscles required a bit of therapy. Fortunately, Cpl Avril Forsythe was once again on hand to provide a bit of physio on those muscles that had been long redundant. For most of us the Après Ski proved to be just as good as any massage (well at least the pain was dulled after one or two drinks). While Avril was providing us with our physical needs Cpl Karen Dilley once again provided us with our nutritional needs and served up a variety of excellent meals designed to keep energy levels at their highest. This successful week ended with all beginners being awarded the Basic Ski Proficiency Certificate (BSP) and some achieved even higher levels of competence. More importantly perhaps was that everyone enjoyed themselves in spite of the adverse weather conditions that had to be endured for most of the week. Now all I have to do is recover the £100 shortfall from the Brigade grant – I wonder if the CO is in a good, generous and convivial mood!

EXERCISE GREAT ESCAPE – HAVE MOD 90, WILL TRAVEL!

by Cpl 'Tex' Bennett, 45 Sig Sqn

The weekend of 17/18 March was to have been the date for the final field exercise weekend of the Regimental JNCO/SNCO Cadre on STANTA in Norfolk. Unfortunately, the F & M epidemic meant that the two PSIs running the Cadre, Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins and SSgt Gerry McGachy, had to junk their original carefully crafted plans and come up with an alternate scenario in order to test the students' initiative, planning and confidence. In conditions that closely resembled the secrecy surrounding the planning for the D-Day Landings (or so SSgt Ron Russell said, and he should know as he was there in '44), they came up with Exercise Great Escape.

Sig Marina Szabo enjoying her moment of power whilst issuing a parking ticket in central London

Despite offers of bribery, extreme deviousness and base cunning the plans remained secret until both Cadre Courses assembled at 0330hrs in the bar of Colchester TAC. The course was placed in teams of two and one of three and given a list of items to collect/tasks to perform. Examples of the planned activities were the procurement of a new penny from the Bank of England, collecting a Union Jack, a menu from the Hard Rock Café, working in a fast food restaurant, tea at the Ritz and finding out how many steps there were to the top of the Whispering Gallery in St Paul's. In addition, bonus points were given for things like 'flying a plane' and appearing on national television. Tasks had scoring weights of between 10 and 50 points, and as the pictures would suggest, each team had their own unique way of interpreting the instructions. All the teams were told to 'think laterally' about their tasks and instructed to be back at Colchester by 1800 hrs.

Cpl Rob Price (he's the scruffy one on the left) giving it maximum volume in public the backing group appears to consist of the PSAO's from 44 and HQ Sqns

There's always a catch however, and each team member was only allowed their MOD 90, a mobile phone, four 10p pieces and a Ten Pound note. The tenner was sealed in an envelope which was then laminated – use of the tenner earned a score of minus 200 points! Each team member was then 'processed' by Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins and SSgt Anita Smith for illicit items secreted upon, and inside, their person before departure.

The teams were delivered to their various drop points around London courtesy of LCpl Martin Woollard and LCpl John Hayes and once there they started to head into Central London. This took varying amounts of time; after a three mile walk trying to hitch-hike towards Chingford from Junction 26, Cpl Tex Bennett and Sig Karen Everitt were picked up by a gentleman in his Convertible Saab (with leather seats and air-conditioning) who was heading into work. The gent was Mr Eddie Rowlands, a tailor who was heading to his shop in Westminster. When it was explained what the pair had to do he rose to the challenge and ferried his passengers between their first few tasks – enabling them to chalk up 160 points in about 3/4hr. Eddie even lent the pair a Union Jack that flew outside his shop!

Other teams hitched in or 'blagged' their way in on public transport. Honorable mention must go to Cpl Cook's team who 'negotiated' a one-day tube travel pass out of London Transport – well done lads, that saved a lot of shoe leather.

Sig (now LCpl) Robinson on the left, Cpl Cook on the right, and somebody dead important from the House of Commons in the middle Cfn Steve Nichols, just before being arrested!

The day progressed well (at least 3 teams met up on Oxford Street) with some notable coups. Several teams attempted to get onto national television and radio, with varying degrees of success, and the BBC, Thames Television and Channel 4 did their best to accommodate. Nearly everyone helped flip burgers behind McDonalds in return for lunch. Everyone managed to receive disposable cameras from several generous donors and these were used to record various tasks – Cpl Rob Price won high marks for being photographed singing with a busker (fulfilling the 'sing in public' task) and launching a paper dart (fulfilling the 'fly a plane' task). Nearly everyone was photographed in front of the Landseer Lions in Trafalgar Square, with various bits of blagged food in hand, neatly discharging the 'feed a lion' task. Mention must be made of Cpl Daz Wilson's clever juxtaposition of a sign reading 'I come from Chelsea' with an elderly gentlemen to fulfill the requirement of a photo of a Chelsea Pensioner.

It soon became obvious that the MOD 90 combined with a polite request worked wonders with the public and, as confidence grew, the teams managed to achieve the near impossible. This was confirmed when every team had their films developed for free from various photo-developing shops, and a polite request to a Anglia Railways guard at Liverpool Street enabled three teams to travel back to Colchester for nothing. Everyone made it back to Colchester in the allotted time with no dramas, and at the debriefing it was obvious that teams had managed to complete most of the allotted tasks. Everyone agreed it was a brilliant exercise and great fun too. Both Cadre courses would like to thank 'Tosh' and Gerry for pulling together a fantastic exercise in a very short space of time, and a big thanks must also go out to all the members of the public who bent over backwards to help everyone out.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON - ILFORD

Sqn Comd Maj Pete Minshall TD
SSM WO2 Terry Butler

The Squadron has gone from strength to strength since our last report. WO2 (SSM) Tony Wells has managed to avoid retirement and has departed for a tour with the LONDIST TA Recruiting Team (how, we wonder, will an ageing airborne signaller convince the youngsters that joining the TA is a good move). His successor, WO2 (SSM) Terry Butler (another ageing ex-para) is now employed full-time regaling impressionable young recruits with his war stories, though most believe him to be talking about WW2 rather than modern times. SSgt Bill King, our erstwhile NRPS SQMS since 1984, has finally been put out to pasture although he would not go quietly and insisted on several riotous send-offs, and with the last knees up still to come, we are promised more entertainment. Since his enlistment in May of 1962 (on the island of Barbados – why, Bill, why?!), SSgt King has served in Aden, Singapore, Canada, Germany and Belize, which probably explains his reasons for joining this exotic Regiment as a NRPS SQMS in 1984. After seventeen years committed and loyal service to the TA in Essex, nobody begrudges Bill his retirement and the further opportunity to practice his Golf and Badminton skills – good luck mate. With Bill's successor not yet in post, the gap is being filled very well by SSgt Les Eldridge, yet another ageing airborne signaller, who has now filled two skips with redundant paperwork and keepsakes retained and archived over Bill's long and illustrious career in the Squadron.

The Squadron recruiting effort continues apace, with a large influx of recruits, many resulting from local initiatives with Further Education Colleges and active recruiting in local town centres. The PSAO has continued to play his part in keeping the average age of the Squadron at around 40 by successful dredging old peoples homes and the like, and the Governments 'care in the community' policy has certainly been a boon for him. He has recently secured an Ex-Reg and TA Sgt at the age of 53 who is raring to go - in fact he has made the OC (and himself) feel young again, as Sgt Maurice Perry is older than both. The Squadron recruiting team has been strengthened by the addition of Sig 'Reggie' Cullumbine and Craftswomen Sarah Wilson, whose ability at recruiting willing and able young males is without comparison. In addition a number of individuals have convinced friends or neighbours that they are not involved in illicit activities at weekends, and have enticed them into the fold. The Squadron and LAD are now healthier than for some time with vacancies down to single figures and more in the pipeline.

2Lt Ram Manickavasagan and Cpl John Rodwell busy recruiting in Ilford town centre on the TA Open Day Ram is looking pleased with himself because, for the first time ever, somebody has called him 'Sir' without adding '.....you're making a scene'

There have been numerous training exercises at Regimental and Squadron level, trade training and that hardy perrenial, preparation for the seemingly endless round of inspections, PRE, RSIT, Tels, etc, etc. To date, we have managed to bluff our way through; a cup of tea and a friendly face go a long way with the teams. The TA open day on 31 March 2001 coincided with the Squadron hosting the Deputy Mayor and Mayoress of Redbridge, and two local members of parliament, the Deputy Lieutenant for Tower Hamlets and a number of employers for a briefing ably conducted by Maj 'Ford Motor Cars' Peter Minshall and Capt 'I am a Scot, so exempt from paying' Gordon Shelley, the highlight of the briefing being an animated discussion between the OC and a Guest whom he assumed to be a Visiting VIP, but who turned out to be a passer by, who came in out of sheer curiosity. Still, it's all good for hearts and minds!

Socially, the Squadron has had its normal round of parties, farewells and congratulations on various events, the most recent being a Night at the Dogs at Romford Stadium. The OC - lucky man - hosted the Squadron at his own expense to say goodbye to SSgt Bill King in style. Unfortunately he wasn't the bookies friend on the evening and was unable to recoup his outlay. The Squadron would like to congratulate WO1 (RSM) (yet another Para) Dougie Eaglesham on the very welcome news of his selection for a Commission, and we all look forward to his impending departure to 30 CTT in the North West of England (sorry we should rephrase that to he is looking forward to.....) Well done, and well deserved. The Adjutant, Capt Russell Edwards has just pulled his Majority out of the bag, and he is now looking for a restful posting in an operational theatre to recover from this tour – once again, our hearty congratulations go to the officer with the only quiff officially designated as a V DIFF.

Pte Tracey Harrington RAMC, for some time the sole effective medic working with the RMO, finally got the reward for long and faithfull service to the Regiments medical effectiveness (by not treating anyone) and was restored to her Regular Army rank of Lance Corporal. In addition, her years of undetected crime caught up with her, and she got three years back pay and full bounty for the first time. The drinks are on you Tracey!

Personalities within the Squadron continue to change; farewells go to Cpl Fisher and Cfn John Roddis of the LAD, who have both decided that their families and jobs come before us - sad people!! A sad farewell also goes to WO2 (SQMS) Keith Williams (another ex-airborne signaller), latterly AGC, who decided that age and work meant that he could no longer get up on weekends for an eight-o-clock start. Keith's departure leaves Sgt Linda Cooper AGC as the oldest, oops!!, longest serving member of the Squadron. Permanent Staff departures included WO2 (FofS) Phil Holland all the way to AFNORTH, and soon to depart are SSgt (nearly WO2) (YofS) Tony Martin from Regt Ops, Sgt Kev East from the Tech Wksps and last, but not least, Maj Phil Daisy the erstwhile QM who is to retire after 37 years active service. If you are acqainted with Phil, you will know what I mean. More of this in a future installment. We welcome WO2 (RQMS) Gaz Tuff back to the Regt, and Sgt 'Griff' Griffiths to the Sqn as PSI and Regt MT Sgt. Sig Clare Hill, a Tech Supply Spec by trade, decided that she likes it so much, that she accepted a job as the Senior Civilian Storekeeper with the QM (she has a professional appointment with the RMO Maj John Jenkins at his civilian Psychiatric Practise next week!). Arrivals into the TA are Sgt Graham Carroll RAMC, LCpl Kathy Gauthier RLC, Sig Brad Bradstreet TM Tp, Sig Suzy Scrace MT Tp, Sig Anena Lee, TM Tp, Pte Neil Price RAMC, Pte Niel Davis AGC, Cfn Bon Igwe REME, Cfn Chris LeSage REME, Cfn Leon McLeod REME, Sig Mark Honeywood MT Tp, Sig Andy Brace TM Tp, Pte Chris Hopkins RLC, Sig Lee Plant 817 Tp, Sig Phil Evans MT Tp – a big welcome to the best TA Sqn in the Army.

We now look forward to the Regimental Camp, where the Squadron motto of work hard - play hard will come to the fore.

SQUADRON UPDATE - by Lt Emma Hilyard

It has been another busy few months for 54 Sig Sqn with communication exercises and socials being 'bountiful', topped with, yet again a bumper number of personnel (92% of the Squadron) attaining and receiving their Bounties!! This is testimony both to the commitment of our soldiers and the management team, with the role played by SSgt Gaz Sullivan being particularly noteworthy. The Squadron continues to lead the way in the establishment of communications networks on exercises such as Mars Marathon (where we constituted 40% of the Regimental strength) and we continue to strive in the improvement of our Ptarmigan interfacing skills and knowledge (Ex Spring Eagle). We also continue to demonstrate our effectiveness in housewifery by attaining satisfactory PRE reports.

We recently played host to ten year old Francesca Werwiak from Spinny School, Cherry Hinton, who had won the Look at Life competition held on the National TA Open Day (31 March). As part of her prize Francesca was given a personal tour of the soldiers and equipment of 757 Signals Troop and 2 Cromwell Company Army Cadet Force, where she was introduced to drill, map reading and field craft. At the end of the evening Francesca was presented on parade with a certificate and a 'Be the Best' Army T-shirt.

Recent well deserved promotions in the Squadron include those of SSgt Martin Wright to WO2 (SSM) and Cpls Nigel Sollit (757 Tp) and Allan Beach (757 Tp) to the rank of Sergeant. Other recent achievements of note are LCpl Carl Blackwell (755 Tp) gaining excellent grades on his Corporals Course, Sig John Barker (757 Tp) who came overall fourth on his recruits course and was awareded the coveted top 'Field Soldier' prize and Sgt Jo Outlaw, who successful completed her Staffies course; well done to all concerned. The efforts of 757 Troop were recognised by winning the 'Best Troop Award', which was collected on behalf of the troop by Lt Roz Keegan (757 Tp OC).

The cut and thrust of Squadron activities has over-flowed into recruitment, and a combination of the TA National Open Day (which saw over 300 people through the door across the centres) and active recruiting at sites such as Duxford Air show has resulted in a total of 32 new soldiers being recruited across the Squadron. These recruits have already settled in and are proving to be valuable team members, with many already being booked onto their recruit courses.

Social events, too, have been bountiful, the highlights being the marriages of Pte Pauline Wilson to Sgt Alan Beach (757 Tp) and LCpl Grant Wilson to LCpl Alison Ratcliffe (756 Tp); many congratulations to both couples. In addition, a very civilised evening was enjoyed between the Officers and Seniors in tandem with their partners and special friends at a 'Ladies Dinner Night, and a not so civilised but fun evening celebrating Cpl Mogg's Mossop 21st Birthday. The 755 Troop dinner rounded off a hectic few months.

The coming months promise to be equally as busy, as the Squadron prepares to mobilise for Annual Camp, and with exercise Bounty Breaker just round the corner. With all these happenings a sad farewell must be extended to Fiona McCarthy who has done a fine job standing in for Dianne Taylor (AO) whilst on maternity leave, and a warm welcome back to Dianne.

THE ULTIMATE IN COMMUNICATIONS - by Lt Emma Hilyard

Hearty congratulations go out to Pte Pauline Wilson and Sgt Alan Beach of 757 Troop who tied the knot on 24 February 2001, after five years of courting! Pte Wilson and Sgt Beach met on their TA Recruits Course, where despite no intention to get involved in a long distance TA relationship, Pte Wilson was 'swept off her feet by the charm of Sgt Beach'. The special day started at the registry office where, surprisingly enough, they were wed. From there they moved to All Saints Church, Longstanten, where they were piped down the isle by pipers from the Bury Highland Band (in respect of Pte Beach's origins in Scotland) to receive a formal blessing to the delight of friends, family and 757 Troop! The special day was topped off by a reception and ceilidh attended by 150 friends and family at the Officers Mess, Coldhams Lane TAC. The happy couple described their day as, 'Perfect, with wonderful sunshine, all of our family and friends and a gorgeous meal. There was nothing we would have changed!' 54 Squadron wish the special couple all the happiness in the future and would like to say the TA isn't just all 'Work, Work, Work'!

Farewell to the Officer Commanding 45 Sqn, Maj Bill Shirley who has been posted to Ilford to assume the appointment of Regimental Ops Officer. Also goodbye and good luck to Sgt Bill Scarff, Cpl Nigel Hooker and Sigs Carrick, Crockford and Mills who have had to make the hard decision to leave the TA. Welcome to the new OC who took over on 1 April, Maj Mike White TD comes to us from Ilford where he has been employed as the Regt Ops Officer. Welcome also to the 30 odd recruits who are currently going through the recruit training and selection process. It has (once again) been a busy couple of months for the Squadron with personnel moving around and the number of communications commitments never seeming to decrease! The majority of work is now geared to preparing ourselves for the Annual Camp and that promises to be very rewarding for all the soldiers attending. In addition to a visit by HRH The Princess Royal, troops will be given the opportunity to participate in a large number of 'personal development' courses, which will benefit both individuals and unit alike. The number of soldiers regularly attending training is slowly but surely increasing which is good to see and the increasing number of soldiers going through recruit training is resulting in some right 'characters' appearing on the shop floor.

NATIONAL TERRITORIAL ARMY DAY - by Cpl Adam Witcomb

This year the National TA Open Day was held on Saturday 31 March. The aim of the Open Day was to give the public the opportunity to come inside the wire and see what life is really like in the TA. Part of the grand plan was to release a Bedford load of helium balloons from Colchester Town Centre but, unfortunately, due to the recent foot and mouth outbreak this had to be cancelled. This was a shame as the Officers' Mess had been booked especially for the amount of hot air that it generates. Sgt Bill Scarff and Sig Mel Allen were sent into the town with the recruiting caravan to distribute the tickets to passers by. This on the promise that they would be entered into a regional competition for a magnum of champagne if they handed their ticket in at the TA Centre some time that day. Other forms of advertising included our illustrious PSAO, Capt Rod Allen, who got a spot on local radio and put DJ's Smashie and Nicey to shame! We also had large banners made that were hung up around Colchester advertising the event. One of the banners was put up right outside the main gate of 2 Para (much to the disgust of the PSI, Sgt 'Toshy' Hodgskins, who had to go round and put it up again every morning). The day started quietly which gave us all plenty of time to make the final small adjustments to our stands before the arrival of the Commanding Officer and RSM. Once 'sucked' through the gate, the civilians were confronted with a number of stands depicting everyday life in the TA such as:

NBC: An introduction to Nuclear Biological and Chemical warfare manned by Cpl Tex Bennett. This stand consisted of a display of all the individual protection kit on issue to TA soldiers and a bit of background into the history of unconventional warfare.

Weapons: This was a static display which gave the public the opportunity to get 'hands on' the weapons within the unit. Manned by Cpl Adam Witcomb and LCpl Ian Strain, weapons such as the 5.56mm rifle, the LSW and the 9mm pistol were on show.

Communications: The Squadron set up a comms site on the main square depicting a typical EAN Location. Sgt Rose Prince and Sgt Janet Lindsey provided people with an insight into the MUX and Cpl Nige Hooker, LCpl Martin Woollard and Sig Dave Bleck allowed people to crawl all over their beloved radio relay detachments all in the hope of 'catching' a few new recruits.

As the Squadron Headquarters is located with an RLC detachment in Colchester we were fortunate enough to have a professionally run admin tent. Free Hot Dogs, Burgers and Cups of tea were the order of the day and anyone trying to locate the RSM didn't have far to look! The day was an out and out success with over 150 people actually coming into the TA Centre that day. Once you take away the under 16's, over 60's and mentally insane (who we pointed towards the junior officer stand) we were left with about 50 people who showed an interest in joining the TA. Of these we now have just over 30 going through the recruit training and selection process! As the day came to an end and we closed the gates on the last potential recruit everyone's thoughts were on other things. WO2 Kev Groves had organised a Squadron function to say farewell to the outgoing OC Sqn, Maj Bill Shirley who has been poached by Regt HQ as the new Regt Ops Officer. We loaded ourselves onto coaches and headed down to our other TA Centre in Warley to meet up with the other half of the Squadron. Just over 100 people turned out that night (we're not sure if it's because the OC was so popular or whether people just wanted to make sure he was going). The party continued on until the early hours and with a live band and disco the time just seemed to fly by (for everyone except the SPSI, SSgt Gerry McGachy, who was stuck serving behind the bar all night). That night was also our opportunity to say goodbye to one of the main 'players' within the Squadron over the past few years. Sgt Bill Scarff had finally decided to call it a day and hang up his beret. Bill has been a staunch supporter of the Squadron over the time that he has been with us, organising functions, helping the Permanent Staff and generally doing all the things we didn't have time to do on drill nights. Goodbye Bill and good luck, you will be sorely missed.

Our hearty congratulations go out to Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins, who has recently been lifted off the reserve promotion list and will move to 35 Signal Regiment (V) in early September as a Staff Sergeant SPSI. Our best wishes go with him and his very supportive wife, Nicki.

THE FREEDOM OF THE METROPOLITAN BOROUGH OF DUDLEY 7 APRIL 2001

37 Sig Regt has been awarded the Metropolitan Borough of Dudley's highest honour. On 7 April 2001 the Regiment was given the Freedom of Entry into Dudley. This means that the Regiment is allowed to march through the Borough, with bands playing, swords drawn and bayonets fixed on all ceremonial occasions. The honour was bestowed on the Regiment in recognition of its close links with 871 Signal Troop. The great day was well planned and eagerly anticipated by all. The weather seemed to be holding out but with only a few minutes to go before the Regiment stepped off the weather failed, and the rain started to fall on all those highly polished boots, shoes and well pressed uniforms. This did not dampen spirits and all on parade seemed to grow those few extra inches. The parade lasted about 45 minutes and as well as families and friends the local people of Dudley turned out in mass to see the spectacle. The Lord Mayor reviewed the troops and managed to speak to most of the soldiers on parade. After the review the Regiment marched past the town hall led by the Commanding Officer, 'Eyes left,' to the assembled VIP's of the Lord Mayor of Dudley, SOinC(A) and the Comd 2(NC) Bde, who congratulated the Regiment on a parade well done. The parade was soon over and finished at the town hall were the Regiment was treated to a civic reception and speeches. A further chance to mix and mingle with the Lord Mayor, his dignitaries and other VIP guests and enjoy the excellent food and drink provided by Dudley council office kitchen staff.

EXERCISE RED DRAGON 12 - 20 NOVEMBER 2000

by Capt Tony Giles 53(W) Signal Sqn (V) - 37 Signal Regt (V)

Lt Col Peter Grogan and PO Reid Glennie RN took nine members of 37 and 38 Signal Regiments on an expedition to Shaun EL Sheik, Egypt, to enable those members who were Padi trained, to convert to BSAC Sports divers and an upgrading of Dive leader qualifications. The following members attended the expedition:

Lt Col	Peter	Grogan	CO 37 Sig Regt
PO	ReidGlennie	RN -JSSADC Fort Bovisand
Capt	Tony	Giles	37 Sig Regt
Lt	Chris	Kinvig	38 Sig Regt
SSgt	Mel Giles	37 Sig Regt
SSgt	Graeme	Smith	37 Sig Regt
Sgt	Ross	Thwaits	37 Sig Regt
LCpl	Sarah	Swift	38 Sig Regt
Sig	Christina	Pollard	37 Sig Regt
Sig	Mark	Lewis	37 Sig Regt
OCdt	Simon	Young	38 Sig Regt

After much deliberation whether it was on or off due to the political situation out there at the time, we were given the go ahead. We left Gatwick at 1130hrs 12 November 2000 for Egypt, arriving at 1730hrs. A short bus ride to the Ocean Lodge Hotel, completed the travelling aspect of the trip out. On getting our rooms and dumping of the kit we proceeded to taste the Arab water (Stella/Shakara). Having had an early night (Ha), we attended breakfast (0730) and sorted out the dive gear and the administration with the Dive College and went off to do what we came for (not drinking) but diving. Each day consisted of arriving at the boat (0900), loading of equipment, a short boat ride to the dive location, training + two dives complete with lunch on board. We would arrive back at the college at 1800hrs (a quick taste of the Arab water) and finally instruction for two hours which would culminate in a written test on the fifth day. These activities left us two days to do some deep dives (30 metres), plus a night dive for those who wished to do it. The evenings, after instruction, were spent on sampling the local cuisine and sampling the local water in the different bars and restaurants (especially, the as much as you could eat, Mongolian restaurant). Afterwards we would retire to the roof top lounging area for a good well earned perfumed Arab smoke, sweet breads and a sprawl. Overall it was an excellent expedition, enjoyed by all, with individuals qualifying for BSAC Ocean/Sport Diver and Dive leader upgrades. From all those attending our thanks go to the CO 37 Sig Regt, Lt Col Peter Grogan and PO Reid Glennie RN for arranging this expedition, it was excellent and roll on the next one, ('Liveaboard' I believe in January 2002).

67TH SINAI SQUADRON

This edition begins with congratulations to Sgt Ian Sewell on being awarded his Territorial Efficiency Medal. Also due for congratulations are Cpl Ashley Girdler and LCpl Mike Crisp who have been promoted. This puts Cpl Girdler one step closer to becoming Fire NCO for the entire Regiment. Definitely worthy of a mention is PSI, SSgt Stef Newton on being part of the Army team who were victorious in the volleyball at the inter services games in New Zealand.

Preparations for the Freedom of Dudley Parade had begun before Christmas but they stepped up a notch with the Squadrons involved having rehearsals at Gamecock Barracks earlier this year. The Parade itself went well with drums being courtesy of the Corps band; although Sgt Danny Harford nearly came a cropper whilst marching over a drain cover wearing hobnailed boots. An excellent buffet lunch was laid on in the Mayor's parlour, which was enjoyed by all. Everyone on parade was well turned out for a thoroughly enjoyable day despite the weather, I managed to avoid stabbing myself in the foot with my sword and my 'eyes left' particularly pleased me.

Confirmation came through in February that our numbers will be depleted from 8 October until May next year with some of our Squadron members being selected for mobilisation to Bosnia as part of 97 BRITFOR Sig Sqn (V). Training for that began during the middle of May at Proteus Barracks (I hadn't heard of it either but it is north of Nottingham), with Maj Cooper proving to everyone that Squadron 2ICs can still swing over a bottomless chasm with the best of them when they need to. Sgt Mansell unfortunately became a casualty of the 'Medicine in Vietnam' video and had to leave the room. His complexion went from pale green to bright red as soon as the sun touched him.

A May Ball was organised and held by 871 Troop in our Stourbridge TAC, which by all accounts went well. Judging by the photographs that I have seen, everyone behaved well and no one got drunk and fell over... no, really. On Saturday 19 May, Maj 'Dickie' Hall was dined out of the Officers' Mess, he left the Squadron late last year to return to RHQ as OC RRTT. Maj Hall left as OC of the Squadron that he joined as a Signaller; he was commissioned from its ranks as SSM and was, as ever, the last to leave the bar.

EXERCISE BANFF DRAGON 24 MARCH - 4 APRIL 2001

Ex Banff Dragon was a Skiing Exercise held in the Banff Region in Canada. The aim of the exercise was to train the soldiers in the Basic Ski Proficiency both Alpine and Nordic. A total of 17 volunteers of varying abilities were selected to attend. Three qualified instructors; Capt Joe Cox, SSgt Tim Abbot and SSgt Pete Packham were nominated for the duration of the exercise. The exercise was based at Trails End Camp, which is part of the British Army Training Unit Suffield. The accommodation although basic was warm, clean and well equipped with training facilities.

The Alpine Ski training was carried out at The Fortress Mountain, Kanaski, Sunshine Village and St Louise Ski resorts. Each resort had excellent skiing facilities and was well organised. The longest waiting time in lift queues was only ten minutes, even on bank holiday! The Nordic Ski Training was held at the Canmore Nordic Ski Centre. The treks are well sign posted and cover a distance of 5 to 25km, the centre also has shower facilities. During the training Cpl 'Red' Max Madden managed to crash into his wife, he decided it would be cool to hold hands whilst skiing. Untamed he then pranged into SSgt Heather 'I don't like Nordic skiing' Kenny and injured her as well. Later in the exercise he decided he needed to ski down a black run despite the recommendations from his instructor. That afternoon a bruised, shocked and tamed 'Red' Max returned to the minibus, explaining that it was something he had to do. Sgt George McGregor followed the style and took out the whole class at one stage (except the instructor). Despite these incidents 15 out of 17 thieved the Basic Ski Proficiency. Even the instructors had mishaps. Capt Joe Cox entertained a number of snow boarders with some unplanned 'ski ballet'. SSgt Tim Abbott suffered some hard blows trying to keep up with SSgt Pete Packham. OCdt Brian Northfield and Sig Lauren Thombs found out that cross-country skis can go extremely fast downhill and are harder to control than alpine skis.

After each day's skiing the bodies were recovered in the various Jacuzzis and swimming pools. Evening trips to the towns of Canmore and Banff allowed the exercise participant to enjoy the local social life and country music. On arrival at the ski resorts we were surprised to hear the locals complaining about the lack of snow. After last year's ski exercise in Scotland there appeared to be great quantities of it. Throughout the exercise we were graced with fresh falls of snow over night followed by sun during the day. However, the minibus managed to struggle through the snow during the training, but a heavy fall delayed us meeting the aircraft for the journey home. Luckily it also delayed the pilot. Overall the exercise was a great success. If you can get to Canada cheaply, the cost of skiing and vehicle rental is very reasonable compared to Europe.

EXERCISE MERCURY RAM

Over recent years 38 (City of Sheffield) Sig Regt (V) has had a lot of contact with local Cadet Force units in its catchment area. The Commanding Officer, Lt Col Nigel Harrison MBE, decided that it was time the Regiment organised a signalling course for these local units. The Regiment has in its catchment area Cadet Units representing all three elements of HM Armed Forces. It was for this reason that the Commanding Officer decided that a Tri-Service Cadet Signalling Cadre would be developed. The course was compiled from the Cadet Signalling Handbook and was designed to have Cadets pass out from the course with the Basic Radio User Award. The chosen location for the Cadre was 46th (City of Derby) Sig Sqn (V) TAC. The Cadre had a capacity for forty cadets and was designed to include ten instructors from the participating units. Applications flooded in from three units, Derbyshire ACF, Nottingham ACF and 362 Elm Tree Squadron ATC. The Cadre actually catered for four officers and adult instructors with thirty-nine cadets attending the course.

Due to the Squadron Officer Commanding, Maj Bob Ward, fulfilling Brigade Staff duties as SO2 G6 CIS, Maj David Tomlinson, Officer Commanding 87th (City of Nottingham) Signal Squadron (Volunteers) stepped comfortably in to command the Cadre. The Cadre co-ordinator was 2Lt James Hubbard. The instructors chosen for the Cadre were members of both the Derby and Nottingham Squadrons. The course Sergeant Major was WO2 Martin Steedman who was assisted by Sgt Richard Alton, Sgt Jameson and Cpl 'Ibby' Neville. Of course no one could forget the mysterious attributes of the PSI (T), Sgt Drew Hall, who also made an appearance. Medical cover was provided by SSgt Ward, a self-proclaimed 'Witch Doctor', or so we believe. The course was run with immense professionalism and was well administered by the SQMS, SSgt Alan Landsborough and his team of chefs, Sgt John Simpson and LCpl Ian Hayes. During the course, the cadets were visited by Capt Mike Morton and the Royal Signals Mobile Presentation Team from Blandford. This was a perfect opportunity for the Corps to present to a captive audience.

In all, the Cadre was a great success with all students gaining the Basic Radio Users Award. The top student was SMI Peter David of Derbyshire ACF. This did not come as a surprise as at the end of the parade he announced that he was an ex-regular Signals Platoon instructor. For this reason the top student was amended to LCpl Ben Bembridge of Derbyshire ACF with an excellent 97% on his final exam. The Regiment and the Squadron enjoyed the weekend thoroughly. Both the cadets and the Cadre instructors enjoyed the experience. The hard work paid off and I am sure that the Regiment will have no doubt when it comes to running Ex Mercury Ram 2.

RECRUIT INTAKE 2018

Proving that 87 Squadron really is a 'family' unit are Sgt Craig Toft, and Cpl Helen Toft. Cpl Toft manages to combine her role within the TA as a pay clerk, with being a mother to three small daughters, and also a busy college life training to be an accountant! She said after the birth of her latest daughter Laura – 'It is a busy life, but a very rewarding one. I find that with Craig's help I can still have a very fulfilling part to play within the Squadron. She is pictured here with her daughter Laura. The Squadron's first recruit for 2018!

CHANGING OC'S AT NOTTINGHAM

Maj David (Melchett) Tomlinson moved to RHQ as Operations Officer in June. A farewell barbecue and special awards evening was held in his honour which was well attended by the squadron, their families and friends. A specially commissioned 'farewell' video formed the entertainment for the evening and was one of the parting gifts for the OC. Maj John Ahern has now joined the Squadron as OC. We all welcome him and wish him well in command of the best Squadron!

EXERCISE BLUE DAWN

On the evening of Thursday 17 May, following enough theories to blow the fuses of rumour control, a detachment of seven members of 38 Sig Regt met in the CO's office for a brief on Ex Blue Dawn. Their task was to provide communications from the British Embassy, Washington DC, back to the UK using AMSCERP. Over fish and chips (now luke-warm after the Colonel's brief) an idiot's guide to AMSCERP was found to be pitched at a suitable level - even for Lt Tom 'We've all had it in us' Howes.

Friday morning saw the detachment whisked off to Heathrow for the early morning flight direct to Washington DC, complete with the DPM combat briefcase – Virgin Atlantic's second most suspicious piece of hand-luggage. LCpl Sally 'What a nice cockpit' Fisher and Sig Steve 'Anything With Legs' Weston were given a trip up to the flight deck whilst Sgt Julie 'All the teletubbies rolled into one' Moulson refused to look out of the window and read the safety booklet for the whole flight. On landing in Washington the detachment was met by the advance party; SSgt Penny Burns, Sgt Warren 'Where's my rank slide?' Quinn and LCpl Mick 'ID'd for booze - again' Hepworth who duly asked Lt Tom 'I just can't read American maps' Howes to navigate them to the hotel. Which gave everyone a good opportunity to get their bearings. On arrival at the British Embassy we were made most welcome, exchanging copies of British papers and FHM for information about local takeaways and where they'd hidden those diplomatic bags… Problems with using the military telephone network were encountered, as was expected after an earlier reconnaissance visit but no hardware problems were experienced when using the American civilian telephone network. Unfortunately the latter part of the trial was also hampered by an addressing problem with the AMS at RAF Boddington, a fault that is now being addressed. Whilst all of the technical aspects of the exercise were being addressed, the free troops worked on the Colonel's task of raising each other's morale with predictable gusto. A tour of the American civil war battlefield of Manassas was taken by all of the troops and thoroughly enjoyed. The importance of ground as a factor in the combat estimate was exceptionally well demonstrated and the shear concentration of force in such a small area proved a real eye-opener. The local beers, noticeably Foggy Bottom did a lot to help close them again.

Away from the battlefield, the sights of Washington were all photographed next to the combat briefcase, along with a rather bemused US Marine. Cpl Alex 'I'm all shopped out' Darbyshire led the way through the shopping malls, with Sgt Lee 'But what can I buy the wife and kids?' Swift in hot pursuit. With the exception of LCpl Rob 'It really is a scooter' Bromwich raising some eyebrows with Virgin Atlantic's most suspicious piece of hand luggage and Lt Tom Howes insisting that the 'Virgin' stewardess knew an old school friend, the flight home passed uneventfully. Landing in time for some of the detachment to be back in work in Sheffield by lunchtime (even if they were still seeing stars and stripes from jet-lag) the smiles couldn't be wiped off for days!

REGIMENTAL TRAINING WEEKEND 6
THE SKINNERS VISIT

Every Year The Master of Skinners, his Clerk and Wardens from The Worshipful Company of Skinners, attend the last Regimental weekend of the training year. The primary aim of The Skinners Visit is to present the Skinners Award to the best Female and Male soldier within the Regiment for the previous training year as well as to visit the Regiment as a whole. The Regiment had much pleasure in welcoming Mr Phillip Attenborough as The Master of Skinners to Colerne on Sunday 29 April 2001. The Skinners Awards were presented as follows:

Best Female Soldier 2000/2001 - LCpl Clare Goodwin
5 (QOOH) Sig Sqn (V)
Best Male Solder 2000/2001 - Cpl Mark Joiner
47 (MxYeo) Sig Sqn (V)

The visit also included the opportunity for the Master along with his fellow Skinners to speak to the officers and soldiers of the Regiment, especially the recruits who emerged from the tactical phase of their 'Charlie' weekend to speak to our guests. The afternoon ended with a delicious buffet lunch courtesy of the Officers' Mess 21 Sig Regt (AS) ably assisted by LCpl Buckley.

Congratulations must go to LCpl Clare 'What else can I win' Goodwin for winning the Skinners Award this year. Clare has been an outstanding member of the Squadron but despite her many attributes, catching and holding on to things are not, and we will not be selecting her for the Squadron Cricket team this year. She needs to work on her hand eye co-ordination. Well done.

FAREWELLS, HELLOS AND PROMOTIONS

It is with some regret that we have to say farewell to Sgt Chris Stuart our PSI Tech for the last two years. Chris has been promoted and has joined the British contingent in Sierra Leone. He has been a pivotal person within the Squadron on both technical and military aspects of TA work. Chris has been at the forefront as our Cultural attaché encouraging us to go north of the border whenever possible. He apparently was very successful persuading someone, we had two consecutive annual camps up that way. Following a cultural visit to one of the finest producers of Scottish exports, he demonstrated his fine ability to remain alert at all times especially during his own briefings.

Capt Dai Jones our NCRS Guru has been poached, Dai is off to 31 Signal Regiment and will be sorely missed by the Squadron. As well as being the NCRS Guru, he is renowned for having 'the knowledge' having roamed the streets of London on many occasions. He will be well suited as their 'London' Ops Officer. Dai, where is the Marble Arch again? A warm welcome to Capt Ruth Empson who has rejoined the Squadron after a brief interlude, good to have you back. Welcome also to Capt Michelle McClung, Ex AGC who takes on OIC Recruiting.

Sgt Chris Stewart bid farewell by the OC

Sgt 'Robbie' Hall was promoted by the CO to Staff Sergeant on Tuesday 15 May 2001, but fortunate for 'Robbie' he was called out by NTL just before the bar opened! Pleased to report that he duly rang the bell the following week.

TERRITORIAL ARMY DAY

The Squadron set up a recruitment stand in the Town Hall in Banbury as part of National TA Day. Squadron activities included, Sgt David Jarvis-Cleaver's burger stand set up in the centre of Banbury in front of a well-known international supplier of burgers. It was a close run thing but despite stiff competition the international suppliers retained their pitch.

Sgt Jarvis-Cleaver selling burgers to Rt Hon Tony Baldry

During the day, 2Lt Simon Durtnal demonstrated a certain degree of keenness to recruit anyone who showed the slightest bit of interest. However, it obviously worked, the day turned out to be a great recruiting success. As a direct result, we now have eight new recruits going through training, having already passed their Alpha weekend.

RECRUITING

Congratulations to Sigs Damian Deverson, Nicola Harker, Jonathon Godwin, James Osborn and Peter Bennett for successfully passing their recruit training and Sig James Osborn winning the Regimental Best Recruit.

Since the last notes were published there is very little to report. Training has been hindered by the foot and mouth epidemic, which has meant little opportunity to train other than in TA Centres. It has been a very frustrating time for all. The Squadron itself remains reasonably well recruited and thankfully there are still some high calibre, enthusiastic and well-motivated people coming into the fold. Of greatest worry is the outflow of experienced soldiers whose civilian jobs are now so hectic that it precludes time for TA. This is a very worrying trend. However, we remain optimistic that we can recruit sufficient high quality people to get the Squadron back to full strength or just over, a position it was last in three years ago. The new changes in the Squadron recruiting team have brought with them some excellent ideas, which we will be implementing at the earliest opportunity

The Squadron has recently completed Ex Normandy Yeoman, a battlefield tour to the Normandy battlefields. It was a great success and certainly helped to integrate the newer members of the squadron into the fold. The Squadron is now preparing for Ex Marconi Yeoman, an HF comms exercise utilising the NCRS HF voice capability. This is a follow on exercise to Ex Eastern Venture in February of this year, much enjoyed by those taking part because they really had to work at the comms problems that faced them.

Elsewhere, Sgt Ben Newby is to be congratulated on his achievement of finishing top student on his Royal Signals Staff Sergeants Course at Blandford. Plans are now being made to deploy some detachments to Germany as part of Ex Arrcade Fusion in October. In line with this we are also training operators for service with 97 Signal Squadron in the Balkans later this year.

EXERCISE NORMANDY YEOMAN

Following the success of the Squadron's previous trips to Ypres and the Somme, it was decided that the 2001 trip should focus on the Second World War. Our intent was to visit major sites from the Normandy campaign, and to follow in the footsteps of 4 Squadron Middlesex Yeomanry. Extensive pre exercise planning was conducted and briefing notes prepared by our guide, Normandy expert and PSAO Capt David Gibson.

Eighteen members of the Squadron assembled at Uxbridge on a Thursday night, and once two stragglers had been rounded up set off for 'somewhere in Southern England' where our landing craft awaited. An uneventful night crossing was made (broken only by high level debate with other members of the ship's company on Northern Ireland politics). In the early hours of Friday morning we were reconstituted on the bridgehead, with horses well watered (some troopers more so) and keen to gain a foothold further inland. Unfortunately our stragglers struck again and decided to come ashore on foot rather than in the transport. The first day's itinerary was gentle and included the establishment of camp before visiting our first two sites. At Longues we visited one of the coastal gun batteries that faced the invasion force and recreated scenes from 'The Longest Day' at the observation bunker on the cliffs. The Squadron then moved to Arromanches, the town on Gold Beach where one of the Mulberry harbours was established. Here we visited the museum dedicated to the landings, walked the beach and were refreshed in a café assisted by the incredible language skills of Sgt Bob 'Babelfish' Young. For the evening's entertainment the Squadron dispersed and found that Normandy appeared to be closed until the holiday season began. This could explain why the troops RV'd towards the end of the night in 'The Yellow Submarine'. A bar devoted to the Beatles and charmingly wallpapered in tartan carpet (which pleased Pte Darren 'The Hustler' MacFarlane almost as much as the pool table on which he proceeded to win the shirts from many Squadron members). We also encountered our own difficulty in establishing a bridgehead here as entry involved being examined through a peephole before giving the password, which after much guessing transpired to be 'Vive la France et le Four Fab'. Further delight was had by the Squadron's male choir (star vocalist Sig Jon 'Freddie Mercury' Clarke) when the karaoke machine was set in action, although questions were asked about the post-watershed Channel 5 nature of the backing videos.

The following morning a relatively early start was made and the Squadron headed for Bayeaux. The trip was enlivened by Sig Sean 'M. Creosote' Diton's discovery that he was not good at travelling in the back of a minibus after a night in 'The Yellow Submarine' and Sgt Ben 'Golden Boy' Newby's map reading skills. In fact so expert did our chief navigator show himself to be throughout the weekend he was immediately recommended for a field commission! At Bayeux we visited the excellent Musée de la Bataille de Normandie where Babelfish was able to regale various veterans with his military experiences and Lt Matt 'Melchett' Watts definitely did not fall asleep in the film show, despite rumours to the contrary. We then moved on to the Bayeux cemetery, the largest from the Second World War. Here, in the absence of any Middlesex Yeomanry fallen we laid a wreath on the grave of a member of the Queens Own Oxfordshire Hussars, now our sister Squadron 5 (QOOH) Signal Squadron and observed a minute's silence. A poignant reminder of the 'all arms' nature of the landings and battle was the number of Merchant Navy graves to be seen in the cemetery in addition to those of the RN, Army and RAF. Our next objective after victualling at a local supermarket was Hill 112, the scene of a month-long battle between various British divisions (including 5 DCLI, after whom the site has become known as Cornwall Hill) and II SS Panzer Corps. Here a second wreath was laid at the 43rd (Wessex) Division and silence observed. The site was also interesting for the assembled Officers as a TEWT had been held in the UK during Officer Training (although Lt Melchett's suggestion that the best strategy was to 'form square and hoist the Regimental colour' was not taken as the best option). We then moved to Villers-Bocage, site of an action involving the British 7th Armoured Division including 4 Squadron Middlesex Yeomanry. Here, in true Yeomanry style, a column of armour had stopped for a nice cup of tea when an SS Panzer commander, Michael Wittmann, burst from cover and in a charge into the town destroyed 49 British vehicles (including the entire RHQ element of 4 County of London Yeomanry). All this before escaping on foot after his own vehicle was disabled. This site was of particular interest to LCpl Keith 'Vapour Hazard' Braun, who had studied Wittmann's career in the past. At this point it was decided to return to camp and divide the Squadron so the cultured could visit the Bayeux Tapestry and the remainder take some R&R. Reports from the bus to Bayeux, handed down from Capt Lisa 'AWOL' Taylor, suggested that the speeds reached in order to get to the museum before closing time were every bit as frightening as facing Michael Wittmann. The excursion was judged a great success. The evening continued in 'The Yellow Submarine' where the Squadron were greeted as old friends and the Male Choir performed again. On a foraging mission some members of the Squadron including LCpl Kev 'Tintin' McRae discovered the rare beast that is a restaurant with absolutely no food available. We were also treated to the sight of Lt Dave 'Swamp Thing' Cornick and Lt Melchett in extremely lively matching Hawaiian shirts, which attracted criticism from many including LCpl Cath 'Fashion Police' Corcoran. He could not believe that two supposedly grown-up leaders of men could be seen in public in such items. On the way home it was also rumoured that our PSI Tech, Sgt Baz 'Boatswain' Kightley was pursued by Norwegian and Japanese fishermen during his moonlight dip.

The following morning dawned far too early for some (yes, the stragglers again). However, the camp was struck in a timely manner and we departed for our final two destinations. This element of the trip centred on the airborne assault, partly to please the PSI 'Oops' SSgt Jay 'Stumpy' Saunders. The first location was the Merville Battery, scene of savage fighting after a drop by 9 Para went awry. The museum here was housed in the main bunker used dioramas, photographs and paintings to bring home the scale of the action. The action was ultimately successful for 9 Para even though it transpired that the guns they had been sent to silence were not in fact as formidable as the planners had feared. We then moved to Pegasus Bridge where a fine new museum has been built covering the airborne action.

Here the PSI 'Oops' was teased mercilessly by members of the Squadron pointing out that the objective was taken not by the Paras but the Ox & Bucks Light Infantry. Lunch was enjoyed in the Café Gondrée and our attachment, Maj Toby 'PLK' Lankester was appointed as official photographer for the inevitable group shots on the bridge. Attempts to recreate the painting 'Go to it' by Peter Archer were frustrated by the volume of traffic coming over the bridge. We then performed our exfiltration to Le Havre, following the coast road that allowed us to examine more of the beaches from the transport. 'Golden Boy' again showed his navigational abilities: at one point Sig Stuart 'Homer' Morris was heard to say, 'If we pass that McDonald's again can we please just go in'. The return to the port was accomplished eventually. An attempt to stock up the Squadron's bars was thwarted by (i) the fact that all supermarkets in France appear to be closed on Sundays, (ii) the heavily laden state of the transport and (iii) the enormous queue at the British-owned shops on the quayside. Luckily the Squadron team (featuring Sgt Lois 'Ian' Lane, the resident music expert) won a return crossing for later in the year in the onboard quiz so perhaps we will be able to return for further explorations and replens. A fast crossing was made and good time achieved in the return to Uxbridge, so an earlier than expected dismissal parade was held and the Squadron dispersed with plans already afoot (encouraged by our OC,Maj Carla Lankester) for next year's trip. Suggested destinations on a postcard, please!

There are many people to thank for their efforts to make this trip the success it was (Lois and 'Golden Boy' made fine breakfast chefs, for example: please don't transfer to the Really Large Corps). However, mention must be made of Sgt Young for his translation, which helped things run smoothly, the PSIs for their input during the preparations for the trip and most of all of Capt Gibson, without whom the exercise would not have been the great learning experience it turned out to be.

57th (CITY & COUNTY OF BRISTOL) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)

Sqn Comd Maj Bill Ruthven
SSM WO2 Jane Tuck

The Squadron has had a reasonably quiet time over the last few months due to the Foot & Mouth, however it did give us the opportunity to carry out some much needed maintenance and equipment care, this was closely followed by both a good PRE and RSIT Inspection. We also said farewell to our OC, Maj Mike Webb, and welcomed on promotion Maj Bill Ruthven into the chair. A number of the Squadron are now actively involved in the build up training with 37 Signal Regiment (V), in preparation for 97 (SFOR) Signal Squadron. The remainder have Annual Camp on their minds, as the prospect for a number of going to Germany on Ex Arcade Fusion, sounds appealing.

EXERCISE HORFIELD WAVELENGTH 1-3 JUNE 2001

Like almost all other elements of both the Regular and Territorial Army, members of 57th (City & County of Bristol) Signal Squadron had endured a frustrating lack of training opportunities in recent months. The Foot & Mouth crisis had already forced the cancellation of the annual Regimental Comms Ex, Bronze Lynx in March, then the cancellation of the ever-popular Ten Tors orienteering competition in May, for which the squadron has supplied communications support for several years, provided another severe blow.

Now, with the worst of the crisis apparently behind us, there are two Regimental communication exercises to look forward to, in mid-June and mid-July. The squadron level training provided by Exercise Horfield Wavelength, therefore, provided Squadron personnel with an excellent opportunity to get together and practise the skills required for the two forthcoming exercises. It also provided us with a chance to fire our annual personal weapons test, as the relaxing of the Foot & Mouth restrictions meant that the facilities of Rogiet Moor ranges in Caerwent, were released to us just two weeks previously, following an earlier cancellation.

Under Maj Bill Ruthven our Officer Commanding, we deployed to a field location on Colerne Airfield on Friday 1 June to undertake our weapon handling tests. On Saturday morning, we all departed to Rogiet Moor Ranges where we spent most of the day undertaking grouping and zeroing practises followed by the APWT. Sgt Richard Sharp provided a background activity of radio training for the waiting detail. Fortunately, the weather remained warm and sunny all day, providing us with perfect, and very enjoyable, conditions for firing. I became the source for a moment of humour during one practise, when we had to 'dress into the fire trench' at the 300 metre point. Being only a little over five feet tall, I quickly discovered that this trench was a particularly deep one - my chin was just about level with the top of the trench! To save me the discomfort of having to complete the practise on tiptoe, the range staff team came to my rescue by providing me with a full water canister to stand on! Having all completed the APWT with some very good scores amongst the final results, we then returned to the exercise location for some antenna propagation training under our PSI, SSgt Tony Ward. Following this, we all enjoyed an excellent barbeque, provided by our PSAO, Capt John Cullen and SQMS, SSgt Alan Oakley, who manfully battled on through the billowing clouds of smoke to dish up a first class supper! The following morning, the Squadron were divided into sections to undertake some practical training on antennas, again under the instruction of SSgt Ward and Sgt Sharp. This also provided an introduction to STICCS (the Strike Command Integrated Command & Control System), which provides operators with an important confidence check by confirming the accuracy and range of the antennas being used. One team were able to make contact with Scotland, which was a real confidence boost! Around mid-day, we returned to Horfield TAC for lunch, after which we completed our final weapon cleaning and equipment checks before departing for home.

All in all, an excellent weekend, in perfect conditions for a field exercise, which provided the new members of the squadron with an introduction to radio skills, whilst giving the more established members an opportunity to 'blow away the cobwebs', in preparation for the forthcoming regimental exercises. Special thanks are due to SSgt Ward and Sgt Sharp for organising the programme and delivering the radio instruction. Also to our colleagues from HQ (North Somerset Yeomanry) Squadron WO2 Phil Martin (RRTT), WO2 (SSM) Phil Smith, SSgt (SQMS) Nick Marsh and Sgt Kevin Winfield, who made up the range staff, and also the excellent cook, Pte Jason Anderson.

NATIONAL MENTORING CONSORTIUM AWARDS

Over the past year the TM, Maj Eric Heritage has once again been taking part as a mentor at Greenwich University in the National Mentoring Consortium's national mentoring programme for African, Caribbean and Asian undergraduates. His work in this field involves him acting as a mentor to ethnic minority university students, amongst other things, to help them not only prepare themselves for the professional world beyond university but also with their personal development. This year Maj Heritage mentored two ethnic minority students at Greenwich University. At a recent awards ceremony to mark the end of this year's programme and to recognise the contributions of all the participating mentors, from a wide range of leading organisations and companies, Maj Heritage received his certificate from Dame Jocelyn Barrow. At the ceremony Dame Jocelyn remarked that she felt that it was particularly important for the Armed Forces to participate in such schemes.

COMMANDING OFFICERS DINING OUT

The theme for this occasion was a 'Burns Supper' perhaps a bit strange for a Southern Regiment, but as the RSM is a top bloke from up north it was agreed. The venue was the Mess at 16 Regt RA in Woolwich, again a little strange for a Signals Regiment! The Commanding Officer arrived on time but unfortunately dinner was delayed due to the late arrival of WO2 (RQMS) Steve Slaney, apparently he had difficulty in choosing the correct tie for the event? After dinner we were entertained by a selection of Burns Poetry and songs, these were all read by members of the Mess, apart from the RSM's guest speaker WO2 (RQMS) 'Laird' Kenny Scott on loan from 3 (UK) Div (thanks very much Kenny). Sgt Judith Charter made an excellent attempt at a Scottish accent for the 'Selkirk Grace' and SSgt Ian Lapidge must be congratulated on his very southern attempt at the 'The Soldiers Return'. WO1 (RSM) Dougie Tait had brewed and nurtured the 'Athole Brose' and indeed placed a health warning on the labels, but true to 'Yeomanry' tradition no one took a blind bit of notice and it was reported that indeed there were quite a few 'Sare heads' the next day. From all in the Mess we would like to thank Lt Col Turner for all his support and wish you, Marion and the boys all the very best in you new appointment and hope to see you all again soon.

BT SWIMATHON 2001

For the first time the Regiment entered a team into the BT Swimathon to help raise money for various cancer charities. The unit team comprised Cpl Nick Trethewey (the CO's driver), SSgt Ian Tomlinson (PSI LAD), Lt Bill Handley (OC 207 Royal Signals ACF Detachment) and Maj Eric and Mrs Cathy Heritage (Trg Maj and wife). The team had to swim a total of 5000 metres at the Crook Log swimming pool in Bexleyheath. For their charitable efforts, the team raised over £250.

There is no fact in the rumour that the WO2 (YofS) Jase Budding and WO2 (RQMS) Steve Slaney have been appointed as the official COMPO testers for the Regiment. However, there is some evidence that they have been nibbling at it.

The first and so far only field exercise of the year was Exercise True Millennium. This was another collaborative venture between the Squadron and the cadets of 107 Det Royal Signals ACF. The Squadron deployed to a very cold and frosty Thetford training area minus our vehicles and hid in the woods. The cadets spent the daylight hours attempting to find the Squadron harbour area with little success. The rumour is that they only located the Squadron when darkness fell and they were able to follow the snores coming from a certain Corporal's basher (the name is being withheld to protect the guilty).

The outbreak of Foot and Mouth disease has closed our usual training areas nevertheless Headquarters Squadron has kept busy. Firstly a team entered the Bexleyheath Mayor's Charity Bowling Competition and helped to raise £2,000 for a local charity. The Squadron team consisted of LCpls Martin 'Hot Shot' Gross, Christina 'Better luck next time' Bienek, Tony 'Mad Dog' Williams, Pte Nick Hanlon and Sig Rob 'Sharpshooter' Brazier.

HQ Sqn continues to maintain our high public profile during the TA National Open Day. On the Saturday, a team deployed to Bexleyheath Town Centre where, as part of our meet the public brief, Pte Nick 'The Medic' Hanlon gave a guided tour of the Ambulance. Sig Paul Swaffield made a valiant attempt at convincing the local youth that his arctic gear was the latest fashion in Bexleyheath shopping centre. We were honoured by a visit from the Mayor of Bexleyheath who took a keen interest in our stands and really entered into the spirit of the event, when invited to 'get on yer bike' he did.

The Master of the Drapers Company visited the Squadron for a Medals Presentation. Cpl Cavenagh received the Queen's Volunteer Reserve medal whilst Cpl Amanda Susini and Lcpl Mark Butler each received their Territorial Efficiency Medals.

The Squadron would like to offer a very warm welcome to our newest members, Sig Robert Brazier – the Squadron bowling king, who has just completed his recruits' course. Sgt Judith Charter has transferred from the LAD HQ Sqn on her well-deserved promotion and Maj Dave Swan TD who returns to the Squadron in order to assume the appointment of Regimental NVQ officer. Cpl Cavanagh and Lcpl Butler have already generated work for Maj Swan as they have each just gained a Class 1 qualification and are taking part in the NVQ pilot scheme.

FROM RSM TO VOLUNTEER

Our newest new recruit is Cfn Ben Handley who wishes to become a grease monkey and join the L.A.D. Ben has transferred in from the Cadet Force where he held the rank of WO1 (RSM). Sorry about your reduction in rank Ben but we do not have a vacancy for RSM at the moment.

LAST BUT NOT LEAST

One final mention to Cpl Cavanagh on his well-deserved promotion to Sergeant, the RSM says 'Ring The Bell'.

DEVIL'S OWN REGATTA

On 5 May the Inns of Court and City Yeomanry Yacht Squadron hosted the 'Devil's Own Invitation Regatta' at Seaview Yacht Club on the Isle of Wight. Thirteen teams took part in the event, co-ordinated by Race Officer Vice Commodore, Maj Richard Gentry, including the Essex Yeomanry and the Sharpshooters.

The weather was rough and gusty first thing in the morning as everyone eyed up the opposition and tried to pick the 'Ringers', whilst Capts Ian Wadley and Tom Taylor proved their black powder skills on the guns! For the second year running the Royal Yeomanry went home with the Carden Decanter. Congratulations to Lt Col Miles Wade, Capt Matthew Douglas (Skipper) and the RSM, WO1 McGann. The 'Rusty Shackle' award for last place went to the 1st Bn Gren Gds, Capt Youngman-Sullivan and Capt Hender and 2Lt Collishaw, with the RHQ Gren Gds improving to Fifth place. The trophies were presented by the Commodore ICCY YS, The Earl of Limerick (Hon Col) at the splendid Supper, to whom many thanks are owed to Maj Dick Gentry and his charming wife Angela.

OFFICER'S MESS

The Officer's Mess continues to provide a focal point for the extended Regimental family. Sad farewells go to our Recruiting Officer, Lt Zara Hobley, and best wishes to the outgoing 2IC, Capt Tim Glover. A sad farewell also goes to Squadron stalwart, WO2 (SQMS) David Norris who has retired after some 30 years service. The recent Blues Supper was well attended by mess members with all Officers resplendent in their new 'Swan Neck' spurs. Lt Conor Brindley and Lt Nick Donnithorne found an ingenious method of pressure point natural healing, through the deft application of their 'Swan Necks'. A warm welcome to the new Mess Manager, Mr Reg Jones and the Caretaker, Mrs Rose Jones; Mr Jones has also joined the Squadron as Sgt Jones, in a reincarnation of his role as late Sergeant RAMC with the Parachute Regiment.

EXERCISE HORSESHOE EAGLE

With the continuing problem of Foot and Mouth, the weekend of 11-13 May saw the Squadron deploying to other TAC's as part of the Regimental CPX. The exercise was based upon a Foot and Mouth scenario and the May Day Protest situation with our Squadron Command Post based in Brighton. Ops Officer, Capt Martin Dinan, was joined in the SCP by Sgt Cliff Springer and his Detachment. FFR 2, run by LCpl Adrian Wisdom, deployed from Brighton to Chelmsford, the memorable event of their weekend being the momentary forgetfulness with regard to the radio masts!

The OC, Maj Eddie Marshall, being briefed on Exercise Horseshoe Eagle by the 2IC, Capt Philip Adams

FFR1, run by LCpl Priddle, was co-located to Bexleyheath from there they were deployed to Brentwood. LCpl Crispin was a focal orator when members of this detachment persuaded a member of the general public that Sig Jesus D'Gurzman was a Gurkha soldier! Support Troop, under the watchful eye of SSgt Terry Gardner, win prizes for time management as they found enough time to sit in the sun, the proof being their red suntans! Saturday saw all the Officers and the Yeoman pulled off the exercise to attend a presentation on the Network Management Centre (NMC). The group proved their map reading skills in Chelmsford and tested the patience of Sgt Steve Canderton who had been nominated to drive. The Sergeants were also pulled off the exercise to attend a Sergeants' Mess Meeting, leaving the SCP well manned, or so we hear, as no senior staff were present! An unusual field weekend, but as close as realistic as possible considering the situation. The amazing weather contributed towards beaming faces by the end.

RECRUIT TRAINING

The recruit's have completed their third weekend. The C weekend was held at Hythe ranges with the introduction to live firing and included a CFT, which was held around the perimeter of the range complex due to the continuing problems with foot and mouth. The D weekend, which is the field Exercise weekend will be held over the weekend 15-17 June and will complete preparation for the recruit's courses at Blandford in the autumn, good luck to you all.

The Squadron has been through a busy period over the last few months with, Vehicle Servicing, Trade Training, PRE, TA National Open day and an Officers & SNCOs' dinner night.

VEHICLE SERVICING AND PRE.

With a lot of work from both the permanent staff and the TA the Squadron achieved a very commendable result from the PRE. Well done to all those involved.

TRADE TRAINING

The Trade training cycle is with us again and the majority of the Squadron are involved either Teaching or as students. The Trade courses were over four weekends during January and February 2001 and we are hoping for good results.

TA NATIONAL OPEN DAY

Having produced two displays in the Town centres of Chelmsford and Harlow for the TA National Open Day on 31 March 2001 we had 25 serious enquiries to join the Squadron. This was a superb effort by Capt Michael Wood and SSgt Jim Swain. The displays were swamped with people very interested in what we do and how we train.

BERNE MARCHES 5-7 MAY 2001

The 42 Swiss International March took place in Berne over the weekend 5-6 May 2001, with both Military and civilian participants from all over the world. The event required military teams to march 25 miles per day over undulating terrain wearing uniform and carrying 8kg in weight. The Team spent many evenings and weekends training for the event around Chelmsford's countryside while the SPSI, SSgt Jason Barsley, avoided driving home to Colchester preferring to march instead.

Having mastered the 12 hour drive to Berne with no problems, courtesy of LCpl Ross Nugents diligent route planning it was down to he marching and overcoming the inevitable blisters. Our start time was 0600hrs for both days and with a 30-minute drive to the capital this meant it was an early reveille - 0345hrs to be precise! That's not to say we didn't have time to sample the hospitality and culture of the local town. After a hearty Swiss breakfast museli, bread and cheese it was time to get it on. We decided to dismiss our team PTIs (LCpl 'Wimble' Marsh) warm up routine opting instead for a warm up of our vocal cords by SSgt 'Song Miester' Barsley. Needless to say armed with his pocket book of infantry marching songs, we soon overcame the first 25 miles of up and down hills and it was somewhat of a relief to see the finish line on Day One having achieved a creditable time of seven hours.

Day Two was more of a gritty performance as most of the Team was suffering from some form of foot injury, which often led SSgt 'Kirk' Humphries to crave for a rescue vehicle. WO2 'Pip' Pieper took great delight in informing him there was no such facility and to TAB ON! Despite the fatigue, which was beginning to set in, the Team spirits were at an all time high and the march to the finish line was a non-stop vocal affair taking just over six hours. Local dignitaries, senior Military Officers, bands and civpop were all there to meet us at the finish line with the British Defence Attaché taking the salute as our team marched past. In view of this Cpl 'Jo parlez-vous' Smith decided to invite the Defence Attaché to join us for a team photo in French, not realising he was a British serving Officer! A special mention must go to our team PR girl LCpl 'Jo' Pilcher who provided the team with a constant source of stimulating humour. The team would like to thank the Swiss Army for their hospitality and organisation of what was a truly memorable event and look forward to the next one in Australia! PSI Wasn't it?

We would also like to welcome Capt John Lions in to the Squadron.

'FOOT AND MOUTH' SPORTS TOUR 2001

The 25 strong squad left Sennelager on Sunday 25 March, for a combined football and rugby tour. We were to be based at Imphal Barracks in York, right in the heart of the foot and mouth crisis in the UK, hence the tour's nickname. We arrived early on Monday morning tired, but eager to take in the sights of York. A long hard training session on the first night took its toll on the squad, with only a couple of the lads looking as if they would last the week.

Cpl Reardon – 'I'm getting too old for all this training.'

Despite this, we departed for Preston to play 5 GS Regt at football on the Tuesday. After a fearsome game, played on a pitch suitable for scuba diving, we narrowly lost 5-1. However, impressive performances from Cpl 'Shotty' Shottbolt and Sgt Jim Bean showed we could improve on the disappointment. No rest for the wicked, and the team management decided on another training session that evening in Preston, much to the lads dismay!

On Wednesday morning we travelled back to York, and began to prepare for our next game, rugby versus 2 Sig Regt. This proved to be, as expected, the hardest game on the tour, with the Impalas fielding an extremely strong side. After holding our own for the first ten minutes of the game, the training the night before seemed to have left some of the guys slightly lethargic, and the strength of the regimental side came through. At the final whistle we came second, losing 59-15. The squad felt that this score did not do us justice and were determined to do better on the Saturday against Pocklington R.U.F.C. An intense training regime was implemented by the management for the Friday and all the squad performed well during training that evening, some even continued into the early hours, showing the commitment of some of the team. This seemed to impress the rest of the lads, and we were all in high spirits on the afternoon of the game. Spirit, determination, fitness and skill all shone through during the game, with all the lads impressing the numerous home fans standing on the sideline. A commanding lead at half time was carried on until the final whistle and we ran out convincing winners 43-19. Sig Pete Armour and Cpl 'Mo' Morrison showed the type of tackling that you see in an international whilst Capt Simon Gough could have been mistaken for an England centre with the ball skills used. The third half was also won by the touring side, many hours later, and still suffering from our after match celebrations, we departed for home, happy with our victory. Thanks must go out to 2 Signal Regiment for hosting us all week. To WOl (RSM) Lawes and SSgt Tom Gibbins for the administration, and to the rest of the squad members for an enjoyable and memorable tour.

BATTLEFIELD TOUR - EX MAILED FORTRESS

by 2Lt Nilene Hennessey

On Exercise Mailed Fortress – Battlefield Tour

On the morning of 23 May 25 Officers and SNCOs gathered at the MT of 200 Sig Sqn for the start of the seven-hour coach ride to Verdun in France. Maj Iain Standen, OC 200 Sig Sqn, had planned an exceptional three days for our battlefield tour of Verdun, the study of a battle in 1916 between the French and the Germans, a battle that resulted in an horrendous 700,000 casualties.

When we first arrived at the sleepy little French town we made our way down the 'Vole Sacre', the French supply line. This is marked at 1km intervals with a French helmet on a milestone, and at the height of the battle it was calculated that a vehicle was passing a point every 14 seconds. Visiting the Citadelle next, we found that this particular sight was ideal for placing the battle in perspective - an audio-visual tour of kilometres of freezing, dark, smelly passages, the sickbays, bunks and ablution blocks was not pleasant. Taken round in buggies of seven people, starting in the dank gloom of the entrance passage, Sgt Northeast and RAMS Beech promptly got out their smuggled cylumes and waved them around happily, peering suspiciously into every corner. By 4pm we had finished there and we made our way to what was to be our haunt - a pub on the waterfront of the River Meuse. Obviously, the warm sun, well priced drinks, scenic riverside and good atmosphere were the lures of the haunt and had nothing whatsoever to do with the busty blond waitress who worked there. Having seen the Voie Sacre and Citadelle, Sgt King (RLC) was suitably impressed with the French logistic support - that is, until our supper time at Hotel St. Paul came! Not at all charmed with French cuisine, he wouldn't touch the egg-and-vegetable starter. Sgt Croughton (Master chef) was delighted as this placed his cooking in an extraordinarily good light!

Sgt Croughton – How come this equipment is newer than ours?

The receptionist gave us a couple of copies of the door code so that we'd be able to come back when we pleased. Lt James Acton handed these out to the people who were liable to need them most. It so happened that Sgt Haslam was the first to receive the code. At some ungodly hour he decided to trek back to the hotel from the pub. Of course, he had promptly lost the code, so after punching some random numbers in with no effect at all, he proceeded to yell at the windows above him. I believe he even tried clambering up to some of them, failing miserably thanks to his - uh -tiredness. He had just about given up and was curling up for the night on the doorstep when a couple walked past - they owned the bedsit next door and invited him in for coffee and offered to call the police to let him into the hotel. He hurriedly declined this offer and opted instead for their sofa until 0500hrs when the hotel opened again. The couple kept his sunglasses as a souvenir.

With Sgt Haslam in zombie mode on Thursday we started on our tour of the various forts and battlefields. By mid-afternoon we were all forted out and given the option of a leisurely walk to the bayonet grave. This included walking past a sunny pub courtyard - so many of us were committed to the purpose of the tour that we withstood the temptation until the way back, when it was unanimously agreed that it would be rude to ignore the French hospitality. We made our way back to our riverside cafe at about 4'o'clock and discussed the bizarre French habit of kissing each other four times in greeting (SSgt Gibbins has now bought property in France). After our Tour Dinner we were treated to one and a half hours of back-to-back jokes by Sgt Bean in the Irish Pub. After safely getting Sgt Haslem home, we spent our last night in the hotel. We departed at 0830hrs the next morning for Fort Fermont, a fort in the Maginot Line. Part of this visit consisted of a 1km long dark train journey underground, which Capt Simon Gough insisted was be the 'Goughy-love-train', should any of the 'lovely ladies' want to know. The boredom of the journey back to Paderborn was alleviated by the random comments of Lt James Acton, such as when he blandly stated 'freshly waxed ferrets' simply because the thought crossed his mind. We arrived in Paderborn at 1830hrs after a really great tour of Verdun, complete with good weather and good company. We would like to thank Maj Iain Standen for a well presented and interesting battlefield tour.

THE OPENING OF THE SQUADRON BAR - by Sig Bevan

The Squadron bar was officially opened recently with a 'Stars in your eyes' theme night, fancy dress and karaoke. There was an excellent turn out from the Squadron with some outrageous costumes especially from the village people (Sig Brown as the gay policeman).

Apparently this is now allowed!

The winner of the competition was Cpl Tris Dunbar who had close competition off 2Lt Hennessey both as Geri Halliwell (the old and the new).

A small mention must go to Capt Simon Gough and Capt Phil Muir for their many attempts at singing! Thanks also go out to the bar committee for organising such a fun and enjoyable evening.

ALPHA TROOP - by Sig 'Flash' Gordon

Tp Comd Lt S. Hughes
Tp SSgt SSgt R. D. Burrows

After the last few months, April has given the boys in Alpha Tp the chance to catch up on work and organise a few functions, repair the vehicles and carry out some in house training. The 'panzer' commanders course took place allowing future Rommels to be dragged kicking and screaming through the lessons by Cpl John Reardon and Cpl Tris Dunbar. A fond farewell goes out to Sig Kate Jermany who has left the Corps and transferred as a dental nurse. We wish her all the best and hope that she finds her job as interesting and rewarding as she did here. We would also like to wish Sig Rachel Reeve all the best as she approaches motherhood.

CADRE COURSE - by Sig Armour 'Cadre Course'

The very words send potential JNCOs running into hiding. This was no different at 200 Sig Sqn when volunteers were required for the Div Cadre Course at Haltern Ranges near Osnabruck. However, strangely enough eight willing people were found and shipped off to give the best account possible of both themselves and the unit. Arriving on the Sunday night we were anxious to get any leads on what was expected. Sadly none were forthcoming. We were experiencing the 'mushroom effect' again. Monday came and the pace was easy. We were told this would be the case all week as long as we 'played the game'. The lessons begin in earnest and it was hard to take everything in that was being read out in a rather monotone fashion, but somehow we stayed awake long enough to sit a test before doing kit and going to bed. The next few days followed the same pattern. Lessons on everything from first aid to the law, with tests at the end of each phase to allow a grading procedure to develop. After the BPFA results it was clear that there were four people in the running for the best student, two of whom, Sig Armour and Sig Bogart, were from 200 Sig Sqn. Saturday was a relaxed day with an orienteering exercise, followed by a barbecue and a few beers. Sunday morning was a different kettle of fish as we began with the old favourite... yes, you guessed it, a stretcher race. The rest of the day was exercise prep for the confirmatory exercise over Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning. Unfortunately Sig Smith and Sig Bogart were unable to take part in the exercise due to injury. However, Sig Bogart was able to play enemy on the final platoon assault on Wednesday morning. The exercise went well and all members of 200 Sig Sqn did well, giving a good account of themselves. A special congratulation to Sig Armour who was overall top student on the course. Thanks also go to 204 Sig Sqn for running the ten-day course as well as the instructors from 207 Sig Sqn, not forgetting our very own fountain of military knowledge, SSgt Low.

INTER TROOP HOCKEY AND TUG OF WAR COMPETITION
by Sig Virtue

The Squadron held a hockey and tug of war tournament recently. It was a fun and successful day especially for Alpha Tp who beat all the other teams in the hockey and who were pipped at the post by Maint Troop in the tug of war competition. The hockey team was made up of Lt Hughes, Sgt Giffen, Cpl Morrisson, LCpl Knox (star goalkeeper), LCpl Donaghy, Sig Virtue and out team captain Sig Jermany. The competition was a close one and often the games went in to penalty flicks. We would like to thank Lt Hughes and Cpl Cowley for organising both competitions.

BFG RUGBY SEVENS COMPETITION - by Sig Armour

When the words 'rugby sevens' are normally spoken most people find an excuse not to play however in our Squadron this is different as ten volunteers offered themselves to the slaughter. We avoided the main teams 1RRW and 21 Engr Regt and only had to face 28 Engr Regt, the Irish Guards and the Scots Guards. We had one win and two losses and we made it in to the plate competition. We beat the ARRC and found ourselves competing against the QRH in the semi finals. This was a grudge match as the QRH had beaten us in a full match recently. LCpl Collins and Sig Armour ran in a load of tries and we clinched victory. The final was against 28 Engr Regt who just beat us. It was a great effort by everyone and we bought back some silverware for the cabinet and impressed many people as we had so many strong people from a Squadron.

BRAVO TROOP - by Sig Light

Tp Comd Lt J. Acton
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Gibbins

Bravo Tp would like to welcome Sgt Jay Shuttleworth back in to the Troop as the new Troop Sergeant and say goodbye to Sgt Eddie Corcoran. We would also like to welcome the new faces in the Troop, LCpl Merrick, Sig Ben Day and Sig Matt Mc Ginn. Fond farewells go out to Cpl Al Doyle, LCpl Chris Anderton and Sig H. Harris who will all be missed. The Troop are now completely settled in to their new home and have been taking part in the Squadron gardening competition. The prize is a long weekend. LCpl Tony Lewis and Sig Hayley Armour have taken charge of the task and transformed a piece of grass in to a work of art. In May the Squadron went adventure training in the Harz Mountains giving the majority of Alpha and Brava Troop the opportunity to get away. We were given the option of a week canoeing, climbing or hill walking. We would like to thank Sgt Corcoran for organising such a successful trip and all his instructors for making it such an enjoyable week. What goes on whilst adventure training stays in the Hartz Mountains?

MORRISON CUP - by Lt James Acton

On Tuesday 29 May squadrons of the Royal Corps of Signals made their way to Herford for the 2001 Morrison Cup. A huge athletics event hosted and organised by 1 (UK) ASDR. It was 200 Sig Sqn's chance to shine in the limelight. The standard throughout all events was outstanding, with some incredible throws and quick times. Everyone who entered was guaranteed a point, which were added together to give an overall squadron winner. Unfortunately for us at 200 Sig Sqn we didn't manage to make it to the top three squadrons, but we had our own successes with WO2 Dawson standing in First position on the podium for Long Jump and Triple Jump and Capt Gough making Second place in the Javelin. A lot of us got close but were pipped at the post. I'm sure I can speak for everyone when I say a fantastic day was had by all and thank you to Div for doing such a good job in organising it. Running alongside the Morrison Cup was a Tug-of-War event. A round robin competition so everyone had a lot of pulls. 120 % hard work was put in by all the competitors, with a maximum weight of 640kg we had to lose some of our bigger lads even before they started. A quick shuffle around and we were ready to take on the world. After the first pull the team realised how tough it was going to be. After a few hours the strain was showing but everyone fought to the bitter end. Congratulations to 7 Sig Sqn for winning, and well done to everyone who took part.

The MT would like to say farewell to Cpl 'Barney' Barnett and LCpl Lez Gearing. Barney has now been promoted to Corporal and has been posted to Krefeld. Lez has also been promoted and posted back to the UK. We would like to welcome Sig Dave Smith who has joined us from 7 Sig Regt. We now have a really small MT and out of work we can only achieve so much. We have entered into the gardening competition and we will see how we get on.

BRIGADE SIGNAL SQUADRON JNCO CADRE COURSE
by 2Lt Henderson

As part of its busy year the Squadron hosted a JNCO Cadre Course at Haltern between 20 and 30 May. 22 students from 4, 7 and 20 Brigade all attended the course, which consisted of an intensive programme of revision training for potential JNCOs. With ITD revision and copious amounts of testing, the students also attempted, with varying degrees of success, command tasks, an orienteering competition and a battle run. The culmination of the Cadre was the final exercise; here the students were assessed on their ability to command the remainder of their section, through recce patrols, harbor location moves and a final dawn attack. For those who do not know at that time of year it starts to get light at 0330hrs. The smooth running of the course was very much down to the great experience and expertise of the likes of RSM Ged Robinson, the course Chief Instructor and 3 Sections DS, SSgt Rob 'Master Chief' Lowe, 1 Section's DS who proved to have an inexhaustible appetite for range stew. SSgt 'Ollie' Oliver, 2 Section's DS our tactics expert, Sgt 'Admin' MacGregor, who did an outstanding job running all the administration for the course and finally Cpl Luke assistant 2 Section DS and one of the skill at arms instructors. A big thanks to all, and to those who are not mentioned but whose help was very much appreciated. While the course had a number of highlights a few particular efforts deserve a mention. Sig 'Lego' Ward (4Bde) managed to take six hours to 'complete' a night navigation exercise. A first class effort, considering that he and his team failed to find a single checkpoint, and spent most of the night trying to find his way back onto the training area! Sig 'Butch' Slingsby who found that after a number of attempts at firing on the ranges without his glasses, he is more accurate without them. Sig 'Royston' Castles (7 Bde) proved to be very eloquent when describing the effects of not attending to ones personal hygiene, whilst Sig Ferrn spent more time trying to get his props to comply rather than actually presenting anything; where do you find spare torch bulbs then Sig Ferrn? At the end of the course the top student award was presented to Sig Armour of 20 Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (200) and the award for best effort went to Sig Potts of 4 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (204); well done! Overall the course proved to be a tremendous success, and the Squadron sends its thanks to both 7 and 20 Brigades for their support.

PAPA TROOP - by LCpl Dowson

Tp Comd 2Lt Henderson
Tp SSgt SSgt Davis

After Ex Rhino Charge the Troop concentrated its efforts towards 1st line prep and PRE prep, considering such a busy time recently 1st lines and PRE's went very well. On 10 April we had a Troop Commanders Disposal day organised by Cpl Nigel Stiff (cheers). We went go-carting which was won by LCpl 'Woggle' Moran, followed by an afternoons water skiing, where the only person to make it successfully around the circuit was Sig Dan 'Donald' Tooke (that is on two skis). The Troop main effort then shifted towards Mercury 03/01 the final episode in the Mercury Rat trilogy - we hope. We also hosted the Brigade's Cadre Course that was held at Haltern Lavesum training area for the 3 independent Signal Squadrons based in Germany 7, 20, and 4 Brigade. Well done to the following Troop members Sigs 'Leggo' Ward, Dan 'Donald' Tooke and 'Shep' Sheppard. On Tuesday 29 May the Squadron entered a team in the Morrison Cup Competition thanks to SSgt 'SLOTH' Davis who organised training and sorting the team. I would now like to take this opportunity to welcome the following to the Troop the new boss 2Lt Henderson, straight from her Troop Commanders course. Welcomes go out to the following Sigs Richardson and Degnan good luck lads, we hope you enjoy your time within the unit. Finely a farewell to Cpl Scot Rose and his family who left us for sunny H West in Wales on promotion. What is it like to have a part-time job? Good luck mate. In conclusion a busy time yet again we are looking forward to the promised quiet time that is somewhere around the corner.

OSCAR TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Mike Parke
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Olly' Oliver

It has been another busy month for the brave soldiers of 4 Armd Bde HQ and Sig Sqn (204), with all the preparation for First Lines and for the forthcoming Ex Mercury Rat 3. This being the final instalment of the trilogy, it would be hard to believe that we were able to find time to do some hard-core training for the BFG Morrison Cup. Never before has the squadron seen such a fine body of athletes. The team was not even fully picked until the morning of the event, with people being 'jiffed' as they were about to get on the transport. Cpl 'Polly' Pollitt won the gold in the 400m hurdles, LCpl Shaun Brierley picked up a bronze in the hammer throw and Sig 'Does my bum look big in this?' Corlett also scooped a prize in the ladies shot putt, well done to all three of them. Also how could we not let the Corps know about our fuel specialist Sig 'Camp Dave' Doble, who owes a crate for 'accidentally' filling the duty Astra up with diesel (guess who'll be wearing the helmet in the bar!), nice one Dave.

Last week the senior Siggys were sent out on a potential JNCO's Cadre course. A course feared throughout the Corps for its beastings and its many kit inspections. Much panicking and kit preparation happened on the weekend leading up to their departure. One and a half weeks later, on their return, our very own Sig 'Pottsy' Potts managed to win the 'best effort' award, well done 'Pottsy'! Not bad considering he was only put on at such short notice, something to do with someone wanting to parade at the guardroom with their 1157 for a week meant that there was an opening for the course.

It seems that the Troop has had a fair few new arrivals, so its hello to Sig 'Gonzo' Oldford, Sig 'Gwit' Anderson, LCpl Nicky Brown, Cpl 'Slim' Scott and LCpl Stu Dickeson, get the beers in lads and lassies! We'd also like to say goodbye to Cpl Lee Goodwin who has left us to go into the dark unknown of Civvy Street, good luck and best wishes! Finally we would all like to wish Cpl 'Dan' Taylor all the best on his T1. Don't get too attached to Blandford, we'll always have a broken 353 for you to fix. As for the rest of us, we will just buckle down and keep on grafting on the finest armour in the Corps.

16 AIR ASSAULT BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (216)

Sqn Comd Maj Neil Fraser
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. Drew

Life in the Brigade and Squadron over the past few months has continued to be busy. The exercise programme has begun to kick back in post FMD and prior to the resumption of Brigade level exercises the Squadron has managed to get some valuable communications training through a number of low level Squadron exercises.

All Arms Pre-Parachute Selection has continued despite the restrictions put in place due to FMD and the Squadron has seen excellent results with eleven Squadron personnel and five from outside units off the last course. Congratulations go to Sig Kemp of 11 Sig Regt for coming top student – this is no mean feat. Well done also goes to those recently passed on their Basic Parachute Course. Not only has the Squadron been working on its communication skills but also a heavy priority has been placed on developing air assault skills with the following courses being run; rigging course, DZO NCO Markers course, Landing Point Comds course, Chalk Comd course and a number of motorbike courses.

Postings in and out remain fluid with a number of key personnel due to depart and arrive. Farewells go to WO2 (YofS) Craig Jones, who leaves on promotion to take over as Regimental YofS at 3 Div, and WO2 (FofS) Kev Sturman, who also departs on promotion to undertake Loan Service in Saudi Arabia. Both are thanked for their efforts during particularly busy tours. Farewell also goes to Maj (QM) Steve Clarke QM QGM+Bar who departs for 2 Sig Regt, but more to follow on him! Good luck also goes to Sigs Foster, Garvey, Porter and Jones, who all depart on postings to various units. Postings in are too numerous to mention but a warm welcome goes to all.

DEPARTURE OF BRIGADIER WALL OBE (6 APRIL 2001)

Comd 16 Air Asslt Bde's, Brig Peter Wall OBE, final few weeks in command was a particularly hectic period involving numerous visits, covering the length of the country, to the majority of Brigade units and in the margins signing-off important staff work prior to his hand over. His visit to the Squadron took place on 4 April and saw him opening the Squadron Heritage Room, named The Drummond Room (after Maj Gen A. J. Deane-Drummond CB DSO MC of WW2 fame and in particular Arnhem), and the new Squadron bar, 'The Tab Inn'. Here he was presented with his leaving gift and enjoyed a curry lunch and a couple of beers with the rest of the Squadron before dashing off for his next visit.

On 6 April 2001 the Commander's leaving ceremony from the Mess and barracks, ahead of his official handover to Brig White-Spunner on 12 April 2001, took place. Following a champagne breakfast in the Officers' Mess the Commander was pulled out of Goojerat Barracks in a WMIK by officers in the Brigade. Soldiers lined the route and watched on as the reigns of the WMIK were passed from the officers of Brigade HQ, to 16 CS Med Regt and then finally to the officers of 216 Sig Sqn, who pulled him out of the gate. On reaching the camp gate, the Commander walked past representatives of all the other Brigade units before climbing into a Gazelle helicopter. Despite having been in more helicopter rides than he can probably remember during his period of command it has seldom involved being escorted by two Apache Longbow AH-64D Attack Helicopters following a fly past by two Lynx and a further three more Apache's (well done the AAC and REME for getting so many air frames airborne at any one time).

'Fraser, pull harder or I'll shoot you!'

It was a fitting leaving ceremony for the man who oversaw the birth and initial development of the Army's latest and arguably most potent fighting Brigade. Best wishes to Brig Wall OBE, who assumes the post of CJFO at PJHQ. A warm welcome also goes to Brig White-Spunner the new Comd of 16 Air Asslt Bde.

EXERCISE VALMALENCO WARRIOR 2001
ITALIAN PATROL COMPETITION (24 – 28 MAY 2001)
by Cpl Shaw

It was with a certain sense of trepidation that ten soldiers departed Colchester for Valmalenco, a small and picturesque Italian town just inside the Italian border with Switzerland. The details for the actual competition itself were extremely sketchy, as the joining instructions were minimal to say the least. All each team knew was that the competition would be held on Saturday 26 May 2001, and had been entered by 85 teams from across NATO, with each team consisting of three men. Sgt McAdam, who had been placed in charge of the trip, had carefully put together a week-long training package to cover everything and anything we could anticipate being thrown at the two Squadron teams prior to their departure. The week included assault course work, battle skills, command tasks, FIBUA, first aid, field firing, navigation, obstacle crossing and recognition. Following this well-balanced training package, the two teams were selected. Team One comprised of Cpl Shaw, LCpl Blackmore and Sig Allan, with Team Two consisting of Cpl Benson, LCpl Jones and Sig Ryall. A support team also deployed consisting of Sgt McAdam, LCpl Fawcett, and Sigs Corbett and Watts (it's a hard life).

The first leg of the trip went well, and the Squadron party found itself at the stopover location of Reims by early afternoon on the Thursday. After checking into the hotel, it wasn't long before the teams were sitting in the sun, tasting our first continental lagers, watching the beautiful French mademoiselles go by! The next leg of the trip took a little longer than expected (well, about eight hours longer - top route planning Rob). This resulted in the teams arriving late and missing the competition briefing (in fact this turned out to be something of a blessing as it had been conducted almost entirely in Italian!). As a result information had to be gleaned from the other British teams, before a much needed meal and rest could be enjoyed with a view to an early start the following morning. Being the last teams to register, the Squadron were also the last teams to set off. Team One crossed the start line at 0925hrs, with Team Two only five minutes behind. As with fellow non-Italian speaking teams both Squadron teams knew very little about the event. As it turned out, the competition itself was certainly not the jolly that had half been expected (and hoped for!). Blistering heat combined with a 30km 'insertion march' up and down the Alps was not an ideal start after only a croissant and a hot drink for breakfast. It wasn't long before all involved were taking on liquid to battle the effects of heat exhaustion. Navigation was a particular problem for all teams as the maps were photocopied and not to scale. After losing well over an hour searching the mountainside for a check point, Team One fortunately bumped into a fellow British team (who will remain anonymous to protect the guilty!), at which point a GPS was sneakily deployed.

Team 1 Cpl Shaw, LCpl Blackmore and Sig Watts fail to realise that Team 2 have, in fact, overtaken them!

There were about ten stands in all. None of them took longer than five minutes and generally they could only be described as military activities in the very loosest terms. Some of them were fairly bizarre, some were laughable, the only thing consistent with them were none were exactly what we had anticipated and trained for. Both teams crossed the finishing post only minutes apart at around 2000hrs. It had been a long, hard and hot eleven hours! However, both teams finished with all three members intact. Next the teams hobbled off to the hotel to shower, eat and change into our No. 2 Dress for the evening party (and what a party it was). Again, it didn't turn out to be exactly what had been expected. It seemed to be a civil reception for the Italian officers and local dignitaries, involving much backslapping, hand shaking and double face kissing! Still, the accordion player was good (if you like that sort of thing!). Most teams were too tired anyway, and opted for a much-needed early night.

Sunday morning saw a remembrance parade and prize giving. Unfortunately, neither Squadron team picked up any silverware, but both had done well considering it was the Squadron's first attempt at this event. Congratulations go to Cpl Mark Benson and his team, Team Two, who came twelfth, beating Team One, led by Cpl Shaw into seventieth position. Both respectable positions considering that a total of 85 teams entered the competition. Overall, out of the UK teams the Squadron came second and third respectively, being beaten by the RAF Regiment who won the event for the sixth year running. In summary, it was an enjoyable and successful trip for all involved. Although neither team won, valuable points had been picked up for next year (with a view to making it, where possible, a regular fixture for the Squadron). Next year will be a different story and the Squadron fully expects that some of the flashy silverware will be finding a new home in Colchester. Watch this space!

PROVISION OF CIVPOP FOR 1st BN RWF NI TRAINING (8 – 12 May 2001) – by SSgt Hatton

A composite Troop from the Squadron, the bulk of which was provided by C Tp, deployed to Stamford Training Area in East Anglia, over the period 8 – 12 May, to act as CIVPOP for The 1st Bn Royal Welch Fusiliers during their Pre-Op rural phase training as part of NITAT. The week started with Squadron personnel signing for cars and other equipment needed to act as good upstanding citizens (and potential trouble makers) in Northern Ireland. This included dummy shotguns, banners, flags and balaclavas.

The first serials started in the early hours of 9 May. Initially the CIVPOP was tasked with drive through VCPs and give the poor Fusiliers as hard time as possible – this presented little problem. Then things started to get a bit more serious as weapon and bomb parts were taken through the check points to test the Green Troops in the search techniques they had practised prior to the exercise during their in-house training. Other tasks included 'dicking' (observation of Green Troops) and actual shoots involving a four man ASU. The ASU was led by Cpl Shaw who had the misfortune of being caught after one of the incidents - needless to say he didn't get caught again!

C Troop (plus others) take on 1 RWF.....single handed

Despite playing back to back serials everyone managed to get quality suntans, due to the weather, and plenty of physical training done. Of particular note is OC C Tp, Lt Toby Courage, whose legs appear to be getting shorter from all the running he's been doing, or is just his backside getting bigger! The week ended in the traditional public disorder event (it wouldn't be CIVPOP without one). Sig Dunseith managed to come into his own on this occasion, managing to whip the crowd up into such a frenzy that things started to get very real. Not only where the wooden bricks thrown at the Fusiliers but also the metal bins they came in. The Army line just held but the 'soldiers' had to work hard to maintain its integrity. A number of CIVPOP did manage to penetrate the line but were eventually caught by the now very sweaty Fusiliers after some DS intervention.

EXERCISE SHLOSS ADLER (30 APR – 11 MAY 2001)

With the Foot and Mouth Disease epidemic continuing to frustrate the Brigade exercise programme, the Squadron has sought to conduct its own exercises designed to develop and maintain our key skills. To that end each troop conducted its own HF skills exercise under to title Ex Schloss Adler. With a base station at Colchester, various detachments were pushed out to locations all over the country in order to practice HF skywave skills. The exercise was mainly conducted using the Squadron's manpack equipment; namely PRC 320, PRC 319 and PRC 138 together with both Kipling and KL43C for data use. The exercise worked to a roster designed in such a way that, throughout the course of three days, each of the outstations would achieve results for a full 24hr period. Serials were sent using all radios with a variety of different antennas from horizontal dipoles to improvised antennae. The exercise proved a good opportunity for the Squadron to maintain and further develop its HF expertise. Such expertise is crucial for providing communications support to a Brigade which, by its very nature, tends to be spread out over a large geographical areas. The experience also proved invaluable to the newer members of the Squadron who have had little chance to work challenging HF skywave links.

EXERCISE LITTLE WING (30 APR – 3 MAY 2001)

Ex Little Wing took place in and around Colchester. It was organised and run by B Tp, but included instructors from 35 Sig Sqn, who brought with them a Switch and a Central. The overall objective of the exercise was to consolidate and improve the Ptarmigan expertise within the Squadron. Radio detachments with SCRA(T) access deployed throughout Essex and established back to the Central which was located in Colchester. Meanwhile all other Ptarmigan equipment was tested. The Squadron tends to get only fairly infrequent access to a switch and thus such opportunities to run up equipment are vital. Crews were able to obtain a good deal of hands on experience of the workings of a Switch, something that relatively few operators had previously had the chance to do. A SAS/MC and a Radio Relay were deployed to Woodbridge and Wattisham respectively and they also engineered comms back to the Colchester based switch. All the Squadron equipment was tested and for the crews the exercise was particularly important for maintaining trade skills and knowledge. Thanks go to 35 Sig Regt (V) for their support and we look forward to them hosting us in the future!

THE PARACHUTE REGIMENT ASSOCIATION VISIT (2 MAY 2001)

Representatives of the East Anglian Branch of The Parachute Regiment Association Visited the Squadron on 2 May. The Parachute Regiment Association is an organisation designed to bring together ex-servicemen and contains representatives who served in numerous past conflicts. The visit involved a brief on the nature and capabilities of the Brigade and 216 Sig Sqn in particular, a tour around the Squadron's historical room, a curry lunch in the Squadron bar and a chance to see Brigade TAC HQ.

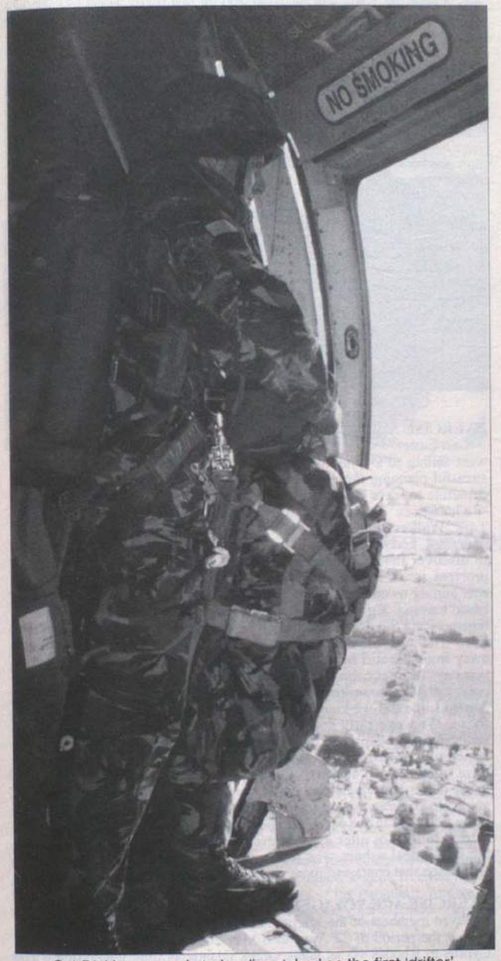
Members of the Parachute Regiment Association accompanied by Lt Toby Courage

The day was a great success and all the association members seemed to enjoy themselves greatly. Amongst those visiting the Squadron was one man who signed up 70 years ago, however, the association also includes Falklands veterans. It was fascinating to hear real life stories about past conflicts and experiences. We look forward to seeing members of the association for the Caythorpe Reunion in September.

FAREWELL TO MAJOR (QM) STEVE CLARKE GM QGM+BAR HIS LAST JUMP WITH 216 SIGNAL SQUADRON

The Squadron parachute trained personnel kitted (minus containers) and ready to emplane, Maj (QM) Steve Clarke GM QGM+Bar is kneeling ninth from the left.....dodge this one!

Maj (QM) Steve Clarke GM QGM+Bar leaves the Squadron for the final time in Jul to take up post as OC HQ Sqn at 2 Sig Regt, York. Steve has played an integral part in both 216 (Para) Sig Sqn of 5 (AB) Bde and the now 216 Sig Sqn of 16 Air Asslt Bde over a period that has spanned some seventeen years and has seen him as a Tp Sgt, RQMS, RSM and QM. More recently he helped managed the transition from 5 (AB) Bde to 16 Air Asslt Bde as the QM in 210 Sig Sqn, which subsequently became 216 Sig Sqn, with certain key assets moving from Aldershot. As the QM he has been heavily involved in maintaining links with the Old Comrades Association and has instigated the opening and, indeed, the contents of the new Squadron heritage room – The Drummond Room.



Sgt Dickinson ready to be dispatched as the first 'drifter'
'Are you sure that this door leads to the Tech Workshops?'

It was with his long service at 216 in mind that his 'departure gift' from the Squadron was decided. Despite having been parachute trained since 1984 he is not known for his love of parachuting and so it seemed rightly so that the original 'jump dodger' should have one last opportunity to jump with the Squadron. With the weather so clear in the build up period prior to the descent few could imagine that on the day the winds would be on the limits and would possibly result in the jump being cancelled. Steve, ever the optimist, had his fingers crossed but would not divulge what he was hoping for! Due to the weather beginning to turn for the worst it was announced that the jump would take place first followed by the two hours low-level in the Brecon Beacons, as opposed to the other way round. Those that have jumped before will realise the implications of this decision (needless to say far fewer sick bags were required).

The Squadron was split between two C-130's and would be dispatched in single sticks of six onto South Cerney DZ. This is certainly more appealing than an Airborne Task Force jump, which would be manifested onto approximately twelve C-130's with forty four man sticks dispatched from each side of the plane – thank god for small mercies! The scope for things to go wrong is massively increased as parachutists are dispatched from each side and the stick size increases. Before the fitting and checking of parachutes individual's containers (bergens packed for parachuting) were loaded onto the plane. The QM vaguely remembers packing a DPM bergen with 45lbs of weight but for some reason was handed a plain green bergen (although it had his name on it) from the back of the baggage truck. The weight had also increased to well over 80lbs… you just can't trust anybody these days… RSM! Once airborne the C-130's navigated straight for the DZ and at P-5 the 'drifters' (lone parachutists dispatched to establish the effect of wind direction on subsequent drops, of which the QM was the drifter for the second plane) were 'checked-off for equipment' and moved to 'action stations', i.e., stood in the door. As the plane approached the DZ the red light went and after a short pause the green light followed and out the drifters went. Forty-five seconds later Sgt Dickinson and the QM had landed and were making their way to the Squadron rally point for a beer and some champagne while the rest of the Squadron waited their turn to be dispatched. Unfortunately the winds were beginning to increase and only after a number of dummy runs could the dispatchers manage to get all accept the last sticks out (those left on the planes had to endure the two hours of low-level – nice).

After a number of particularly poor landings (all due to high winds!) those that had jumped centred on the Squadron rally DZ marker for a few beers and some champagne. At which point the QM gave his leaving speech and presented the Squadron with a framed commemorative linen produced by 3 Para Gp El-Gamil (Suez) Association to commemorate their operational parachute descent into El-Gamil. Maj Steve Clarke will be a tremendous loss to the Squadron; he embodies the very spirit and professionalism that all ranks should aspire to and it is with sorry hearts we see him depart from the Squadron for the last time.

FUTURE EVENTS

The next two months should prove to be as hectic as ever for the Squadron. Ex Green Talon, a Brigade FTX, will take place in June and will involve the parachute insertion of both Lt TAC HQ and Brigade TAC HQ, as well as Medium Stress Platforms and a Heavy Stress Platform. Following this the Squadron is going on an adventure training package to Newquay at the tail end of June. The package will involve numerous activities including hiking, mountain biking, kayaking, orienteering, rock-climbing and, of course, surfing. July will see the Squadron's focus switch to Ex Eagle Strike, the major Brigade FTX of the year, which will practice the full range of air assault skills.

12 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (228)

Since April 2001 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228) have been busy conducting various exercises in preparation for the coming trip to BATUS later in the year. As with all training during the recent months, foot and mouth disease tried its best to curtail the Squadron's activities. However, a little imagination and a lot of hard work by the Ops Team enabled the Squadron to overcome the foot and mouth restrictions and several exercises were run including Ex Ace Deal, Ex Ace High and a Squadron deployment to Blandford to practice Ptarmigan SOPs. Not only this but the Squadron was able to send two lucky people on Ex Ace Americana, a two week battle field tour to the USA to study the American civil war run by the Brigade HQ. Ex Ace Flush, progressed into CAST (S) during May and early June that involved a full Squadron deployment on to SPTA. The Squadron produced an excellent performance on CAST, which was the first time in a long time that a CAST had been conducted with the HQ deployed on to the plain. Our SOPs were verified and the newer members of the Squadron were bought up to speed with procedures. Most of the recent training has been geared for BATUS including NBC and transition to field firing led by the RSM and SSgt 'Dicky' Dyer. After this period we should be more than prepared for the big trip to Canada which, apart from the real thing, is about as exciting as it gets.

EXERCISE ACE VOYAGER I

Last Easter, six members of Bravo Tp and one member of Support Tp went sailing to Cyprus for two and a half weeks. After some incredibly stressful planning the group gathered at 0230hrs on the morning of the departure to leave for Brize Norton. The team consisted of LCpl Gemma 'Rover Queen' Treen, Sig Gareth 'Big' Jones, Sig Gareth 'No Cuff too Tuff' Walker, Sig Andy 'Wookie' Stockdale, Sig Andy 'Mini Me' Marshall, and Pte Martin 'All In Stew' O'Brien. We arrived in Cyprus to discover that our Yacht was not quite ready. This was not a great problem as our skipper was still in the UK. Cpl Darren 'Windy' Gail was joining us once we had prepared the boat and completed some shore based training. Sig Walker's blagging skills were put to the test acquiring transport and Sig Jones and Pte O'Brien conducted some (In)Competent Crew Training. Once we had assembled all the crew together, we sailed away from Akrotiri Mole to explore the Southern Coast of Cyprus. After two days of utter calm, we were beginning to chomp at the bit. You can only sunbathe for so long! (Or not at all if you are Sig Stockdale or Sig Jones) Little did we know what the Mediterranean weather had in store for us. We woke early one morning with the plan to put in a long day's sailing back to Paphos. The first leg of the journey went well, until we turned the corner of the western tip of the island. From that point on, we were fighting head on into a Force 7 wind and a Force 6 sea. Our little yacht didn't know what hit it and when ropes started to snap and sails started to come loose, we realised how challenging sailing could be. Our sailing holiday in the Med had suddenly turned arduous. Finally making it back to Paphos after a good few more hours than originally planned, the crew meal ashore was richly deserved. All in all, it was a good expedition that contained more surprises than we expected.

EXERCISE ACE VOYAGER II

Seven members of the Mighty Alpha Tp deployed on Ex Ace Voyager II over the period of 22 April to 6 May 2001. The aim was to sail from Cyprus to Rhodes via as many Greek Islands as time would allow. The Crew consisted of Sigs 'DF' Fallows, 'Casanova' McGeorge, 'Bad Boy' Hide, 'L2' Cross and 'Jim-Bob' Brant with LCpl 'Ladies' Webster as 2IC and Lt 'Bad Boss' Dickson as OIC Exped. The journey started off rather dubiously at RAF Akrotiri Mole when we found out that our boat had no floor, engine or sails (on the plus side it did have a leaky header tank full of vintage human waste). The crew did not let this get in their way and in true 'A Team' style managed to make a 56ft speedboat with twin cannons and inflatable cabin girls out of an old dustbin and a lawnmower engine. Back in the real world we repaired the 38ft Oyster Ketch under the expert direction of the Skipper Sgt Martin 'What the flip am I doing in Akrotiri' Kendell and Lt 'Filthy-Phil' Drapper. Once all supplies were on board the intrepid adventurers set sail. The first morning went a little like this;

1300hrs – We finally set sail for Rhodes. The sun is out, the harbour is calm and morale is at a premium.

1310hrs – The sun has gone in, the sea is choppy (and straight on the nose), morale is still high - we will not be beaten.

1320hrs – The wind is Force 7 / Gale Force 8, the boat is all over the place, the crew are hanging over the sides orally ditching rations – morale is…what the hell are we doing on this poxy boat?! (Congratulations to 'Jim-bob' Brant who was the first to be sick, closely followed by Chris Webster and Andy Hide.)

2330hrs – Arrive at Paphos half the men we started out as (The other half is down the side of the boat). We all fight in our attempt to get ashore. OIC exped swears he will never set foot in that boat again.

Not put off by this rather rude introduction to sailing we carried on to Rhodes via Paphos and Castelirizou. Once in Paphos we began a two-day R&R package. The Skipper and Navigator stayed on the boat whilst the Alpha Tp boys deployed to Falaraki. Everyone had an exceptional time participating in all the activities normally associated with R&R: Drinking, sleeping, sunbathing and enjoying the company of fellow tourists. The entire group was on best behavior and made the most of the run ashore. Although R&R activities remain highly confidential, special mentions go out to Sigs Chris 'I'll see if I can fit you in my schedule' McGeorge, Dan 'Why was that drink free... eeuuugghhh DONK!' Fallows, Andy 'do you give it large - SLAP' Hide, Jim 'I am watching you' Brant, Paul L2 'ooops my pin has fallen out - sorry' Cross and LCpl Chris 'Fonzey' Webster. The Journey back via Simi, Tilos, and Coral Beach (Cyprus) was outstanding. We had finally gained our sea legs and managed to get some good sailing in. There are several moments that we shall all never forget; Sailing next to a School of Paraplegic Cows, visiting the Titty-Twister and finally, the sensation we all had when we first let the sails down with nothing but the blue sea, warm winds and clear sky around us!

12 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HQ AND SIGNALS SQUADRON FOOTBALL TEAM NEWS

On 1 May 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228) football team turned out for the 4 Div Minor Units Cup Final at the Borden ground against ATR Winchester. They came as highly fancied favourites for lifting the cup after they had beaten 42 Engr Sqn who were the Army Cup Runners up. They incidentally had beaten us 5-1 in the Army Cup so we knew it wasn't going to be easy.

The game kicked off, and for the first 20 minutes we were pinned backed in our own half. We were only saved by some stout defending by LCpl Mac McGonigle and WO1 (RSM) Steve Jackson in his final game in the middle of the back four. Maybe his final game ever, who knows? After we had weathered the storm we eventually started to play some football. After a period of pressure, and a few long-range efforts, we eventually went ahead with Cpl Joey Collins dancing past the keeper to score from close in. Shortly before half time Sgt Mark Watts forced the keeper to make a good save with a long range effort which was too fierce to hold and Cpl Joey Collins was there again to knock the ball into the net from one yard. The second half once again started like the Alamo and we were defending for our lives, but again we survived after commendable defending by Sig Phil Williams and SSgt Sam Parke. We started to get back into the game when a penalty was won. Joey Collins claimed the honour and promptly sent the keeper the wrong way for his hat-trick. ATR Winchester then started to crack and their frustration was showing. As a result they had a player sent off, after a desperate attempt to head the ball out of the keepers hands. They had two or three attempts on goal that were all saved well by an in form Cpl 'Cozy' Powell. But the best was still to come! Sig 'Kav' Kavanagh broke down the right wing and cut the ball back in to the feet of the oncoming LCpl Wayne Leach who slammed the ball into the top of the net, ending the game as a competition.

A good time was had by all and we collected the first piece of silverware for the trophy cabinet from the CO of ATR Winchester. A special note should go to the outstanding performance of Sig Phil Williams at right back who was deemed the Managers Man of the Match.

238 (LONDON) SIGNAL SQUADRON

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Sqn Comd Maj Ian Seraph
SSM WO2 (SSM) Melanie Crowther

This period is always the quiet before the storm of Ceremonial season for the Squadron. We have been developing our trade skills, learning the Lanward HF kit, so we can support 31 Sig Regt (V) on future deployments, their summer camp is in Cyprus! The Squadron also had six intrepid volunteers on the basic free fall parachute course, held at Netheravon JSPC. They were lucky enough to get two days of good jumping weather during the week long course and managed six jumps each, although none actually managed to get a free fall jump. Sigs Toby Green and 'Gibbo' Gibson competed hard for the title of worlds slowest parachute packer. Toby's lack of speed was probably down to his lack of enthusiasm for throwing himself out of a plane (he still did the six jumps though – courage or stupidity?), Gibbo's was just being Gibbo! Capt Andy Wilson resorted to excuses for why he failed to get a free fall jump in; He couldn't possibly be not good enough! – his parachute was very new, therefore stiff, which made grabbing the dumy handle much harder – that was his story anyway.

MIKE TROOP - by Cpl Grills

Tp Comd Capt (TOT) Bob Nicol
Tp SSgt SSgt Andy Cannadine

When I was asked to write the wire notes for the troop, my first reaction was ' Oh dash me and Tut', I said to myself. Being an FTRS Corporal (Oh, Ok a STAB then) that I wouldn't have anything interesting to write. Well, I have been here for three and a half months and I have a number of things I could say but the obscene publication act hasn't been repealed (no names no pack drill). Seriously, everyone has been very helpful even to a TA Corporal. I hope that by the end of my tour I will have been as helpful to them. My job in Mike Troop (Radio Section) has taken me to interesting places (read army-recruiting posters) and also done jobs that the TA wouldn't have a chance to do. I've enjoyed my time here and hope I've made some friends. Big welcomes to Cpls 'Big Baz' Park and Lorraine Dorrien. Sad goodbyes to Sgts Cory Pennicot, and Chris Jacobs who is off to sunny Cyprus, (It's rough at the top).

OSCAR TROOP

Tp Comd Maj (Tfc) Carl Storey
Tp Sgt Sgt Mandie Eardley

Oscar Tp manning is now more or less a section and each time the inter-troop sporting competitions rear their ugly head panic sets in and the head hunting starts so basically anyone with legs and a pulse is borrowed and made a handbag for the day. The softball competition at Battersea Park was cancelled due to the English weather and Plan B was put into operation, this consisted of everyone going to the gym and playing basketball.

Oscar Tp was up first against Radio Tp and we were chomping at the bit to get stuck in. Our enthusiasm lasted all of five minutes as we came to the conclusion that we were pretty bad at basketball and defence, defence, defence was our tactics for the rest of the game. I won't mention the score, it was pretty embarrassing but the game was fast and lively and everyone enjoyed themselves running around like headless chickens. Next up was Mike Troop and we got our game together and even managed to score! With the duck broken, the game was a lot closer and some pretty good shooting from LCpl Cath Young kept us in the game for a bit. Everyone played out of their socks but Mike Tp were just too strong and we lost the game. Never mind we will be back for some serious rewengeee

On a gorgeous summers day 12 lucky people (including Tfc Offr) hurtled down the M25 to Chessington World Of Adventures, a theme park with a zoo (some members of the squadron are still there), various different zones and the occasional scary ride ,oh and not forgetting the log flume (never sit at the front). Most of the time was spent trying to win a miss piggy doll for LCpl Ayesha 'Wee Yin' Mohammad but we all failed miserably. Thankfully the queues were not as bad as usual but we all waited to get onto the Samurai ride. After that blood thumping, headache induced ride and being a typical soldier in HM Forces the majority of us all went to the local hostelry! A good day was had by all. However, I will take this little memory with me, Maj (Tfc) Storey who has spent his entire Army career doing scary things with the lads at Hereford, sitting in a little boat called Typhoon behind a five year old, as the ride was actually a kiddies ride.

RADIO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Andy Wilson
Tp Sgt Sgt Mark Brooksbank

It's that time of year that everyone has been looking forward to (not) Ceremonial season. So break out the boot polish and Brasso to do those boots and kit and if you are lucky you may have some left over for any other parades or rehearsals which may crop up in the next few weeks. The Troop welcomes Sig Main, straight from training. Also congratulations to Cpl Sean Childs and wife on the arrival of the newest member of their family; baby Eleana (those many sleepless nights will come in handy practice for his Cpls course). We've said our good-byes to Sig Lee Lester after a swift attachment to the Glass House, we wish him and Carol all the best at 16 Sig Regt. Sig Mags West has also left us for sunny 3 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn. The MT will not be the same without the white-knuckle rides that Mags always seemed to provide, good luck with the wedding.

The Londist Minor Units football cup finalists this year were 238 Signal Sqadron and No 7 Company Coldstream Guards. There was a good turn out of supporters who came to watch an interesting game. The first half was quite close with only one goal separating the two teams.

The second half was quite different. After conceding another couple of goals 7 Company put us under a great deal of pressure. To make matters worse our keeper came off his line and they took a shot at goal. The ball headed for the bottom right hand corner our 'courageous' captain, Sgt Mark 'It wasn't me' Brooksbank, dived for the ball, this would have been okay if only he hadn't used his hand to steer the ball clear of the goal. Not only that but he didn't even try to hide the fact and stood up with the ball in his hands, which gave the referee no alternative but to send him off. We never recovered from this and an untold amount of errors were made. Sig Wayne 'David James' 'Gibbo' Gibson also made an error, which resulted in another goal being conceded. He picked up the ball after an attack, as the rest of the team turned away and were pushing up the field a loud cheer was heard from the oppositions supporters, we looked round to see the ball in the back of our net. Apparently he dropped the ball and their striker took the opportunity to put the ball past the keeper to score, which was the final humiliation of the day. The final whistle was blown at the end of a very entertaining game and both teams to go up and collect their medals. On collection of our Keepers medal he raised it up in the air only to see it fall out of his hands and drop to the floor to the great delight of the crowd and players.

The next month or so will be quite busy for the Ceremonial contingency of the Squadron what with the Queen's Birthday, State visit, State Opening of Parliament, Garden Parties and Beating Retreat. So there is not much time to do anything else apart from the bulling of boots, polishing of medals and pressing of uniform. Not even time to fit in the watching of football and cricket.

243 SIGNAL SQUADRON

ARMY INTER UNIT VOLLEYBALL COMPETITION

After scraping both a Ladies' and a Men's team together to take part in the 5 Div Competition on 1/2 March 2001 in Blandford, and with some tough opponents both teams went on to qualify for the Army championships held in Aldershot on 26/27 March 2001. We turned up nice and early so we could get some warm up training done. Looking at the opposition certainly on the male side it was apparent we needed it as there was only one other team that didn't have any Ghurkas in it and as we all know it is there national sport and they do have a passion for it. The male team played really well but unfortunately the Ghurka teams got the better of them and not even LCpl 'Legs' Liddell could fend those hits off. The ladies' team was first on the following morning playing Blandford and within the first set SSgt Manktelow got injured diving around for the ball and had to sit the rest of the day out. The girls played excellent with Sgt Jackie Grimes and Sgt Joe Chapman working brilliantly on the net. Cpl Feet Sheeran seemed to be more comfortable kicking the ball (however, it is legal now). Unfortunately we came away with no medals but everyone enjoyed the games and it looks like we will have them on the run next year after some training. Well done!

SUPERGAMES 2001

by SSgt Lindsey Manktelow and Sgt Paul Webster

Some six months ago Sgt Paul Webster was told by the Army Karate Chairman that they were having an overseas trip to New Zealand playing sport against other crown services such as the Navy, Fire service, Prison Service, RAF and the Police. He was asked if he would like to represent the Army in this the first competition of its kind. Of course he said, 'Yes,' and plans were set in motion to pay for the trip. Paul told me of the trip so I had a look on the internet and got some information sent over as it sounded a great opportunity. On looking at the brochure that displayed some 60 sports that were to be played I found the Volleyball package and thought right let's get the Army team over. After speaking to the Volleyball Chairman it was agreed it would be an ideal opportunity for a tour. We managed to convince eight volunteers to join us both male and female three of which were Royal Signals those being myself, SSgt Steph Newton and Sgt Vikki Hawtree. So the trip was going ahead!

The Volleyball team was following the Karate team out a day later and we set off on 28 March 2001 looking forward to a great holiday. It was amazing once we got there it was everything you would expect New Zealand to be like. The Karate Team set to work training immediately and had three training sessions per day much to their distress. The volleyball team however had better plans luckily for them beach Volleyball is excellent training so that's what we did and got a good tan in the process as well as some sightseeing.

The day arrived for the volleyball team to compete we got up nice and early put on our new Army tracksuits and job lot red bags were carried and off we went. The competition was awesome with some excellent standard of Volleyball being played luckily all that training paid off as the British Army walked away with Gold and are now ranked as International Crown Services Champions and the support of the Karate team was superb.

A few days later it was the British Army Karate Team's turn to come up trumps with the volleyball team supporting. It was amazing around 36 Gold medals were won with Sgt Webster kicking the only Russian competitors butt (and he was apparently a world champion at something) along with a few others. He achieved two Gold medals and a Silver. In all it was an extremely successful trip proving that the Army really can BE THE BEST!

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON (ALLIED COMMAND EUROPE MOBILE FORCE (LAND))

Sqn Comd Maj David Hudson
SSM WO2 (SSM) Shean Dewar

Although supposedly a quiet time of year the Squadron has managed to fill its days with all manner of things, ranging from recruiting support, inter-troop competitions and good old training. A job load of lads went over to Ede, Holland to complete an eight-week ISIS System Administrator training course. A few Squadron members took part in a short overnighter called Ex Lame Duck that comprised of a runway, pretend dodgy plane and then getting attacked by 'men in black'. It provided some excitement. Many preparations have started in the planning of the summer deployment out to Turkey in October later this year, starting with the Commanders Recce. This was attended by WO2 (YofS) Kerr, WO2 (FofS) Holyoak and the 2IC, Capt Teri Downes, lots of driving, hard work and eating of bread and olives (by the 2IC and FofS respectively). All three managed to get beasted into the ground by Col Symonds of G6 HQ AMF(L) when running around the Golf club grounds – just a tad undulating! Additionally several individuals in the Troops have taken the opportunity to get home for a few weeks on the Satisfied Soldier scheme and do their bit for Corps recruiting, well done gents.

A social highlight of the period was the Inter-Troop 7-a-side Rugby Competition that was won convincingly by SHQ (the team was strongly lead by the mighty new WO2 (FofS) Coffey). The majority of us, however, lazed in the beautiful sunshine trying hard to top up our suntans then filled our bellies with a wonderfully cooked Bar-B-Que. The whole event was organised in honour of the leaving SSM. WO2 (SSM) Marsh managed a short speech and gratefully received a pressie from the junior ranks – much appreciated gentlemen and women.

It must be a busy time at Glasgow as there have been many movements in and out of the Squadron. A generous welcome goes out to the fresh faced WO2 (SSM) Dewar, SSgt (YofS) 'Penfold' Holden (on promotion) and WO2 (FofS) 'Sexy Rugby Legs' Coffey. About time we got rid of the old and brought in the new! Welcome goes out to Sgt Nuttall, LCpl Archer, LCpl Dransfield, LCpl Perry, LCpl Hewitt, Sig Smith times two, Sig Samson, Sig Sewell, Sig Morgan, Sig Spendlove and Sig Thompson. A big welcome back to LCpl 'Saw the light Scottie' Scott returning from CIVDIV having only just left early last year and arms are open for Cpl 'Cabbie H' Henderson on FTRS from 51 Sig Sqn (V). A serious thanks and goodbye to Cpl Stevie 'Dam good PTI and all round good egg - bagnut' Baigent, LCpl Brodie and Sig Tom Gamgee off to CIVDIV. Others off to pastures new: LCpl Karl Turner 628, Sig James and Sig Vaux. A huge change in the Squadron hierarchy has occurred with three big players leaving us behind. WO2 (SSM) Ken Marsh off to 14 Sig Regt, WO2 (FofS) Holyoak to RSS, Blandford and SSgt (YofS) Hughes to HAC in London. Thanks for all the hard work, hope all goes well in your new jobs.

WHITHER 249? - by Maj D. B. Hudson

The speculation remains. 249 will move to Bruggen. 249 will move to Swanton Morley, to Catterick, to Colerne. Talking with ex-Officers Commanding of the Squadron it is clear that there has always been a plan to move the Squadron. It is also clear that we have remained in Bulford for nearly 25 years, indeed we celebrate our 25th anniversary in November this year. The crystal ball remains clouded and there is no definitive answer. NATO's Immediate Reaction Task Force Land trial comes to a close in December and the NATO Force Structure Review reports early next year. Both of these will shape the future for the Squadron. On the immediate horizon we return to Norway for 3 months in 2002 and there are exercises in Poland and the Ukraine later that year to look forward to.

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON (AMF(L))
SYSTEM ADMINISTRATOR TRAINING IN HOLLAND
by Cpl C. A. Galatin

In July 2000 seven members from the Squadron deployed to Ede, Holland to be trained as system administrators by the Royal Netherlands Army at their School of Signals. On arrival we really didn't know what to expect from the Dutch Army, perhaps people with long hair and beards smoking wacky backy would greet us? Thankfully our worries were laid to rest when we saw a soldier with bright blue hair and an earring stagging on at the main gate! Our initial brief before leaving England by Sgt Frank 'Where's my tash gone' Baker was to work hard throughout the week and to enjoy ourselves at the weekend, so as not to give the Dutch the wrong impression about us Brits! The first day of the course laid the foundations for the rest of time spent in Holland. The classroom was full of seven trainees who were bleary eyed and a little tired from the previous nights activities, as we endeavoured to sample the Dutch way of life, in the none herbal sense of the word.

The weeks passed quickly as we worked hard long hours trying to cram as much knowledge into our heads, knowing that the weekend would bring rest and relaxation! On these weekends we tried to visit as many of the historic areas near to us, these included The Para Museum in Arnhem, a trip to the last day of the Nijmegan Marches and of course the Van Gogh Museum in AMSTERDAM. However, several members of the course were like kiddies in a sweet shop as they strayed to some of the less respectable areas of the city to admire the beautiful glowing red lights. Whilst trying to build Anglo/Dutch relationships Sig Dave 'Flaming Zambuca' Harris managed to burn his entire lower face one night, this put a dampener on his liaison building as he then spent the next three weeks inside and telling us he had fallen over.

The course got more and more intense as the Dutch raised the tempo. By the end of the four weeks we had all become proficient in configuring servers and workstations in preparation for any AMF(L) deployment. A second course has since been to Holland and the squadron now has 15 trained system administrators, and as can be expected there are plenty of candidates for the third course!

EXERCISE HILL TOP TROT 2001 – by LCpl A. G. Huggett

Exercise Hill Top Trot was a seven-day map reading and navigation exercise held in the highlands of Scotland from the 22 – 29 May 2001. After some hectic re-scheduling due to the foot and mouth crisis we set off for sunny Scotland on the morning of the 22nd. The lengthy journey to Kinlochleven was very scenic for LCpl 'Nugget ' Huggett, especially as he did all the driving while Sig Dan 'Route Selection' Crumbley and Sig Kerr slept off a well deserved hangover after a brief overnight stay in Middlesborough. After arriving late evening on the 23rd we got Sig Kerr to talk to the locals and get us some supplies for the following weeks training. Sig 'Scottie' Kerr had no problem speaking the language and did very well with the supplies. The training went very well, the weather was perfect which contributed much to the ease of map reading (no challenge there then!). On the second day after reaching a spot height I asked Sig 'Route Selection' Crumbley what way he would like to take us down the mountain. Two hours later, after climbing down a 800m rock face, he agreed that perhaps that it wasn't quite the best and easiest way to get down! Overall, the exercise went very well and thanks go out to YofS (TD) Hughes for getting us the training clearance at such short notice and Sgt Tony Pinder Royal Marines for looking after everyone at Kinlockleven. I'm afraid there are no gory photos to bless you with, maybe next time!

Sqn Comd Maj John Oakes

Welcome to the squadron to Cpl Russ Craig who is posted from 39 Inf Bde. Unfortunately he has arrived during the wettest spring in years. Farewell to Cpl Roy 'I run with the girls' Hanbidge who is posted to 4 Armd Bde, and LCpl Jules Dolan who is in Blandford retrading. Our congratulations to Sgt Pam Mitchell for coming off the Staff Sergeant Board, and to LCpl Brendan McIlduff for making the grade on his Class 3 PTI course.

CORPS CROSS-COUNTRY CHAMPIONSHIPS
21 SIGNAL REGIMENT COLERNE 31 JANUARY 2001

251 Sig Sqn sent an exceptionally strong team this year, no doubt helped by the arrival of LCpl Davies. All team members had undertaken a rigorous twelve-week training programme and had abstained from pies and alcohol throughout the festive period. The Female Team consisted of Sgt Pam Mitchell, Sgt Fran Poulson, LCpl Jules Dolan and LCpl Ruth 'Crystal Tips' Harkness. The male team consisted of WO2 (SSM) Gary Smith, Cpl Mark Sheath, Cpl Andy 'I feel sick', LCpl Mark 'My feet hurt' Igo and LCpl Steve 'Just one more cigarette' Davies. Both teams acquitted themselves excellently. The Male Team, although competing in the Minor Units category, managed to shame a Major Unit by beating them. Some comment was heard afterwards about the superior standard of other units transport.

EXERCISE WINTER WARRIOR
14-28 FEBRUARY AND 14-28 MARCH - HOCHFILZEN AUSTRIA
by LCpl Davies

The Squadron sent four members on Ex Winter Warrior this year. Sgt Pam 'Skigodess' Mitchell and Cpl Roy Hanbidge attended the first course that was an intermediate standard course. LCpl Mark 'Sleep outside' Igo and LCpl Steve 'Bambi on ice' Davies attended the later basic course. All four passed their respective courses with LCpl Davies surprising everyone, not least myself, by being put forward for his Alpine Silver award. Normal service was resumed however when I finished the course with the Bronze award.

The quality and depth of the snow at Hochfilzen was, not unexpectedly, poor and the situation worsened at the beginning of the second week. Foutunately the course was flexible enough for us to be moved to Stein Platte, 45mins up the road. The conditions there were far better and we even had some blizzards, the first snow we had seen in the ten days we had been there. The skiing at Stein Platte was excellent with plenty of good red runs and a superb black mogul run, which saw off the majority of people on the course. Surprisingly there were no limbs broken during the fortnight and only one hospital visit for a minor leg injury, which I am denying any involvement in. The course was notable for beating the previous record for people in a train on the slide at the local pool with 32 people, seven better than the previous record. The management of the pool failed to understand the importance of this achievement and an understanding was reached that saw the course having an earlier than planned tea.

The journey back was a lively affair with at least two more showings of Ghost, Dirty Dancing twice and we all lost count of how many times Grease was on. Eventually someone wrested control of the video from the girls at the front of the bus.

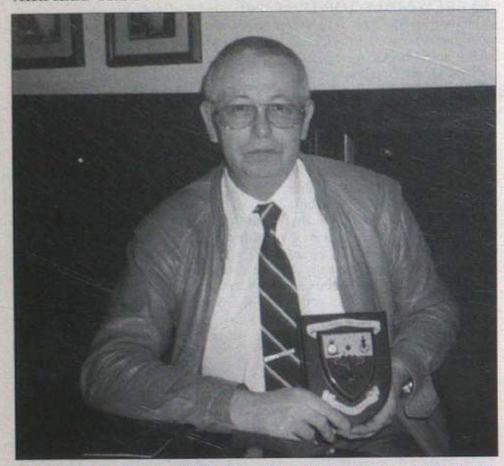
259 SIGNAL SQUADRON

AIRFIELD TROOP



Mr Alan Taylor, an old boy from Airfield Troop, who visited during February. Alan, who now lives in Burnage Manchester and owns a pub called The Sun in September, came to see how things had changed at Akrotiri. Going out on a faults crew he soon found that the fundamentals don't change and he enjoyed his trip around the station that he had not seen since he left in 1974.

HODGESON SHIELD RUGBY – by Sig G. Prigmore-ski

On 2 April 2001, members of 259 Sig Sqn picked up a rather round rugby ball and went head to head against each other in what was promised to be the grudge match of the week. The four teams including SHQ lead by SSM Tredwell, EPI Tp with their leader Sig Witty, Dhekelia Tp with no apparent captain and of course AFD Tp, lead by Sig Gav 'I'm not vain at all but how's my hair' Prigmore-ski.

It was a promising start for all Troops except Dhekelia who didn't win a match and limped of the field after the first game. SHQ's team (which included members from anywhere other than SHQ) put up a valiant effort for a bunch of OAP's which paid off when they won, on a technicality mind you, (they scored more the most). The modest AFD Tp (under Gav Prigmore-ski), who were visciously robbed of the title for a little misdemeanour that upset the referee, even though Gav Prigmore-ski had trained the side so well. All in all it was a good day apart from all the troops parading at the med-centre the next morning. Never mind lads, heads up, only eleven months and three weeks and you'll all be back out there, or have biff chits in hand?.

We would also like to welcome SSgt Danny Cain and family to the Troop from Paderborn, and say cheerio to Sig James Milevski-hoof, who's off to JCUNI, and not forgetting FofS Neil McGregor whose looking forward to some time in sunny Blandford. Congratulations are in order for Cpl (soon to be Sergeant) 'Cow' Paterson for passing the RSJCC. Unfortunately 'Cow' Pat is still missing presumed dead, last seen taking a wrong turn in Pond Bottom on exercise.

DHEKELIA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Colin 'George' Alexander
Tp SSgt SSgt Sean 'Taff' Bryant

DEPARTURES

A fond farewell and good luck to Sig Lynn 'Mrs Bate' Marshall off to Civvy Street in Aldershot, where she shouldn't have any trouble getting work. Also Sig Matthew 'Hoop (basket ball) warrior' Stables on his posting to Ireland, good luck to the both of you. Also soon to go is Sgt Ritchie 'internet geek' Musgrove and Cpl Brent 'skin' Readhead, but there only going as far as Epi Troop but good luck anyway.

ARRIVALS

A warm welcome this month to new boys Sig Jim 'Who you looking at?' Wright from 3Bde NI, Sig Kieren 'Gary Glitter' Johnson from 1Div Germany and Sig Wayne 'Where am I, what am I, who am I?' Davies coming straight from the factory. Hope you all enjoy your tour's and manage to fit a bit of work in. Also a warm Troop welcome to LCpl Colin 'Stress Head' Simpson's wife and daughter, Becky and Kirsty.

PROMOTIONS

Well done to SSgt Sean 'Taff' Bryant on coming off the WO2 board, more worrying is the fact he appears to be going through a midlife crisis and is now sporting a short young person haircut and his first tattoo, very worrying indeed. Speaking of worrying behaviour Sgt Tony 'I'm in love' Cecil has been acting weird lately what with his frequent visits to the welfare officer, who happens to be a lady.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Well done to Sig Gareth 'Welsh Romeo' Davis and Sig Chris 'Your name's not down your not coming in' Hodgson on their bid to improve east west relations and make the world a safer place to live. Another well done to Mr Terry 'Eric Clapton' Brice, Mr Simon Dunn and Mr Graham MacDougall on recently completing an FA coaching course, maybe the Bitsa team might win for a change. A congratulation must also go out to Sig Kye 'Trocadero Margarita' Topping who recently got engaged while on leave and also got the tour extension he was after. Cheers also to Cpl Brent 'Psycho' Readhead and Sig Wayne 'That'll be the floor again' Davies on their attempts to ingratiate the Troop upon the Cheshire's, well done lads. Congratulations must go to LCpl Tom 'Posh Honey Monster' Cockerill for having the largest nork's on the Island. A get well soon to Mr Terry 'El Mariarchi' Brice after your little bit of pugilism in the local club.

Welcome back to LCpl Sid 'Tech' James and Sig Ben 'Mech' Tierney from the ISDX course they have just completed. A special congratulations is due to Sig Ben 'The Cranium' Tierney for coming higher than LCpl Sid 'Demolition Derby' James on a Tech Course. Yet us Mech's are still only on the low pay band. Strange but true? An 'about time' must go out to LCpl Gordon 'Odd Ball' Pyrah and crew for finally finishing the test hut rewire, well nearly finishing, and only two weeks behind schedule, great work fella you've done us proud. Last but by no means least a hello to Cpl Jim 'What no car?' Stocks in the sunny Falkland Islands on his double tour that he bizarrely volunteered for. I mean, what sane person would rather stay there than in sunny Cyprus, mind you at least it meant I didn't have to go so cheers mate. I'll get you a beer in for that when you get back.

In case the rest of the Troop feel left out here's a quick hello to them all, Sgt Ritchie 'I was an AT Sgt Major me' Avery, Sgt Tony 'I'll be walking everywhere for a while' Cecil, Sgt Stu 'I've got to be in by 7pm' Foster, Sgt Si 'nee Hulland' Nicholson, Cpl Graham 'The Wedge' Dorwood, Cpl David 'Mac' Macullam, Cpl Kurt 'Foggarty' Molden, Cpl Hugh 'Hefner' Taylor, LCpl Piers 'I want to be a PTI me' Daw, LCpl Dave King, LCpl Chris Rowland, Sig Steve Baxter, Sig Daniel Bishop, Sig John 'trocadero special' Dent, Sig Ben 'the flash' Mitchell and Sig Andy Pyle. The notes this month were compiled by the ever brilliant, always cool Cpl Gaz 'The big red fat controller' Watson. The wittiest and funniest man ever to walk this Earth and a top geezer to boot.

PS. See you all in the bar.
PPS. I'm wasted in this job me.
PPPS. Oh yeah, Cpl Hogg's gone to Germany.

EPISKOPI TROOP – by LCpl Reade

Epi Tp being the sport-billy troop of the Squadron has had an eventful last month with seven of the Troop entering the 12SU Walkabout Competition. In the worst weather, with ferocious thunderstorms all day, we all completed the arduous long distance orienteering event and Sig Campbell's team nearly won. Another event was the Cyprus all island sevens rugby competition which yet again our Troop represented the Squadron and did better than we thought, but no medals. On a sadder note we would all like to wish all the best to our departing line sergent, Sgt 'ANT' Tranter as he's leaving us to go to civvie street and a normal life, good luck in whatever you do mate.

259 JNCO CADRE COURSE 2001 - by LCpl 'Rock' Hudson

This month has been eventful in 259 Sig Sqn, for the Junior NCOs'

1 Section in action and Signallers, with a gruelling cadre course organised by Lt Covey-Crump. During the one-week course we split into three sections comprising of:

Section 1. Sig 'Welsh Gwa' Le Cras
Sig 'Swat' Tierney
Sig 'Taff' Davis
Sig 'Mint Cake' Kendall

Section 2. Sig 'Kenny' Campbell
Sig 'Gurkin' McGurk
Sig 'Bonus Boy ' Baxter
LCpl 'Richie' Berry
LCpl 'Campy' Varley

This is not a holiday shot!
The island in the background contained an ammo box, which had to be retrieved, good job we had our swimming cozzies

Section 3. Sig "Ship Cat" Wells
LCpl "Rock" Hudson
LCpl "Twitch" Fell
LCpl "Fossie" Foster
LCpl "Taff" James

The action packed course was split down into three parts. First of all was the lessons phase where in the morning we were beasted half to death by Sig Prigmore including log runs and circuits. After that we were put in a classroom and taught about characteristics of a leader and preparing for our own lessons. After all the theory it came round to giving our own lessons on various subjects eg. Sig Le Cras's basic Welsh lesson teaching us chat up lines and how to order a pint.

Sig Kendall tried to remember his newly gained navigational skills and wondered whether the fence meant he had gone too far!

The second phase consisted of a 15 mile yomp around the Airfield in Akrotiri, interspersed with six (very!) welcome breaks at Command Task posts. The day proved to be taxing both physically and, more often than not, mentally!

Enthusiasm and moral was at a high as Sig Wells and Sig Le Cras were convinced the command task was impossible 2Lt Milner's dog Megan/Bob proved to cause more trouble than the command tasks!

The third phase was a more hands on practical 36-hour exercise that had night recces, section attacks and first aid tests included.

Capt Alexander and Sgt Cecil don't quite get the hang of the lessons they taught!

The enemy play an active role!

The course insertion by helicopter provided an initial morale boost that was soon destroyed by a delightful stretcher race…oops CASEVAC. Individuals were assessed throughout on their command and leadership potential with Sig Tierney finishing top overall. The best Section overall was Section 3, winning a crate of beer, nice one!

Sig Tierney – The lean green fighting machine

FURTHER NOTES FROM 259 SIGNAL SQUADRON AIRFIELD TROOP

Tp SSgt SSgt Danny 'I love PT' Cain

Airfield Tp would first like to say good luck to Sig 'Howard' Kendall and his new wife Stacey and hope that they enjoy their new life as pads on RAF Akrotiri. There have been a few new arrivals in the mighty fighting Airfield Tp, including our new SSgt Danny 'I love PT' Cain and FofS Owen 'Where's my T shirt?' Leyland, we hope they all enjoy the sunshine posting. We would also like to say goodbye to Lt Sarah Covey-Crump heading off to Germany as she now leaves the Troop with no women in it what so ever. Also, a goodbye to Cpl Danny Rudd as he leaves for 30 Sig Regt, we are sure he will fit in with the non-stop brew drinking attitude of the Telemechs at 30 Signal Regiment. Tennis was the order of the day on 14 May in the form of a Squadron tennis competition, although almost all of the Squadron were more interested in the strawberries and cream than the sport itself. Ex Young Drive set out to prove the skills of the Airfield drivers with Sig Kendall re-writing the Highway Code and showing all the other drivers that it is possible to go round the roundabouts in any direction. Credit where credit is due, however, he has doubled the Airfield Troop Trophy cabinet by adding a fine wooden spoon. We would now like to wish good luck to the Troop members taking part in the upcoming sporting events, a football cup final and the International Akrotiri rugby tens, because everybody knows that 259 Sig Sqn is nothing without the mighty fighting Airfield Troop!

DHEKELIA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Colin 'George' Alexander
Tp SSgt SSgt Sean 'George Clooney' Bryant

NEWS IN BRIEF

This month has been a quiet one for the troops at the sharp end of the Island. Dhk Tp won the Squadron driving competition with ease, thanks to the driving skills of Mr Terry 'El Tel' Brice, LCpl Martin 'Baggy' Bagshaw and Sig Chris 'C and H' Hodgson. Sig John 'Trocadero Boy' Dent also did well in the individual night drive with some expert parking skills! Courses completed this month include a data comms course, which was attended by Capt Colin 'George' Alexander, good to see him trying to improve his trade skills. LCpl Tom 'Vanessa' Cockerill and Sig Gareth 'Fault Installer' Davis also attended the same course. A special congratulations must also go to LCpl Dave 'Polly PE Pants' King, Sigs Daniel 'Chewbacca' Bishop, Chris 'Podium Dancer' Hodgson, Ben 'Speedy' Mitchell, Ben 'Gwar Lapper' Tierney and Andy 'The Count' Pyle on completion of their confined spaces course. Due to the troops hard work SSgt Sean 'Peak Condition' Bryant decided that some adventure training was needed and promptly got himself on a diving course. The rest of the Troop still thinks that he is too old to apply to join the SBS! Cpl David 'Mac' McCallum also enjoyed himself recently on a Kayak course, putting that much effort in that he bust a rib. The Troop would like to say goodbye to Sig Baxter. Good luck on his new posting in Epi Tp. Also a big congratulations must go to Sig Gareth 'Shotgun' Davis on his upcoming east-west marriage. Good luck to you and Zena. The guys in the Line Section would also like to welcome back Cpl 'Big Red' Watson.

EPISKOPI TROOP

The Summer is on it's way here in Cyprus, and the tourists are arriving in their thousands. A busy month for the Episkopi Tp which began with the arrival of an 8lb 7oz bundle of noise for Sgt Dave Street and Helen. Welcome to the Troop Grace Alice Street. I'm sure you'll be learning basic drill on the same day you learn to walk. Still on new arrivals, welcome to Cyprus Sig Mark Finlay, Cpl Danni Tuton and Cpl Pete Sorrell. None of them wasting any time in their familiarisation drills of the Limmasol Nightlife. Welcome also to Sig Baxter following his transfer to our Troop. A huge farewell goes out o Robert 'Rab' Russell after six years in the Troop. He's off to a sunny place we've heard of called Scotland. We wonder if Carl Tindall and Sgt Pete Szeremeta have been poached to work at MNCP for their technical knowledge or the fact that their sports skills are now in the hands of SHQ troop for the Hodgson Shield, more on that in a moment.

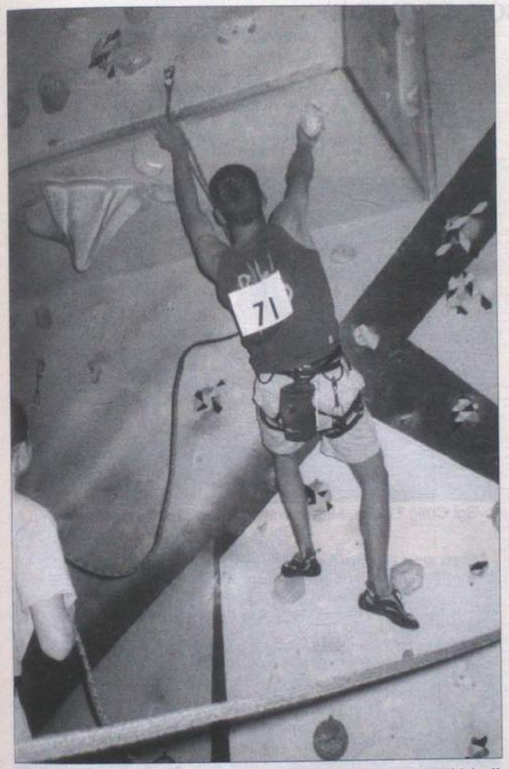
Now it's time for some Medical News. Congratulations to LCpl Phil Parish on his successful operation of a delicate nature, and LCpl Dan O'Connell for finally undergoing the dreaded snip. On a more serious note, we all send our best wishes to Sig Mark Witty who won't be returning to the Troop before being posted to Blandford. He is currently laid up in England, his leg in plaster following a routine rugby tackle, good luck Mark. Speaking of Rugby, good luck to the 259 Vipers who, as I write this, are giving their all in the Akrotiri 10's. Epi Tp failed to win the Winter Compendium so I won't write about that, but the Hodgson Shield Basketball and Volleyball takes place on the 30th so hopefully I'll have better news next month.

Exercise Young Drive 2001 provided a good day fuelled with tension and inter-troop competition. Despite a team from Dhekelia winning, Teams from Episkopi Tp came home in second, third and fifth place to give us overall victory. Following this, the next week we were back in the driving seat in the Island wide Exercise Safe Drive. Cpl John Mercer, LCpl Phil Parish and LCpl Paul Fox drove vehicles from Go-Karts to huge Cranes. They passed more cones than an Ice-cream man at Skegness. Their best event was a 90km night drive across the bondoo collecting letters along a set route. Congratuations to LCpl Phil Parish (Third mention this month – that's a bell ring!) who is officially the fourth best driver on Cyprus! We wish we could say the same for LCpl Scott Varley who defied the laws of gravity and rolled the Radio Section's beloved Izuzu Twin Cab. Well done to LCpl Dan Reade and Sig George Forman who managed 15 jumps on their parachute course. George, now believing he can fly, learnt his lesson on a bungee jump with no bungee into the sea down at Happy Valley - silly boy. A final word goes to Sig Will Le Cras and Sig George Forman who are this month's winners in the block car crashing competition. Who will be next?

1 KORBR AND 259 SIGNAL SQUADRON ARMY CLIMBING CHAMPIONSHIPS – 2001

On 3 May 2001 two teams from 1 KORBR and 259 Sig Sqn left RAF Akrotiri to journey to deepest darkest Wales in order to compete in the Army Climbing Championships 2001. The teams consisted of Capt Peter Kay, Lt Darren Graves, 2Lt Kate Milner, Sgt John Newman, Bdr Joe Cawood, Pte Mark Stevens, Sig Peter Goddard and Sig Phil Harris. The one-day event was held in the Welsh International Climbing Centre in Cardiff and consisted of four categories: VS, HVS, E1 and E2. Each person entered as an individual in his or her respective categories, as well as taking part in the team event.

The day of the competition kicked off with the Very Severe (VS) Category. 2Lt Milner, Sgt Newman, Bdr Cawood, Pte Stevens and Sig Harris all were entered in this event. In total there were 50 competitors and so the decision was made to make the route harder and put the people who made the top of the route into the next category up. Sgt Newman and Sig Harris had obviously underestimated themselves as they flew to the top of the route. The other three pinged just before clipping into the top of the route saving them from the HVS category, but putting them in the top 12 and hence the VS final. All the competitors in the final reached approximately the same height but 2Lt Milner and Bdr Cawood managed a couple of inches further and won the Regular Army VS and the TA VS categories, respectively.



The next event was the Hard Very Severe (HVS) category, in which all other members of the team competed. Once again, the initial round was a very closely fought event, consisting of approximately 40 competitors. Capt Kay and Lt Graves both reached the top section of the route, narrowly missing out on a place in the finals. Sig Goddard and the two who were initially in the VS section, Sgt Newman and Sig Harris, valiantly fought off the competition and found themselves in the final. All three members of the team did incredibly well, coming away with a third place, Sig Goddard, and a fourth place, Sig Harris.

Finally the team from the KORBR entered in the overall team competition. This consisted of a speed climb up two routes, touching as many of the numbered tags as possible. Each competitor had to climb both routes as many times as possible in order to gain the most points. The team made a valiant effort and came a very creditable sixth out of eighteen, in a very hard fought competition. All in all, the two teams had an excellent championships. All the training in Cyprus took place on a wall a third of the size of the one in Wales, and, unlike the other entrants, we had never seen the routes before. Despite these underlying factors we came away with two first place awards, and six out of the eight team members reached the final of their category. Not bad for six weeks training!

EXERCISE YOUNG DRIVE 2001
EXERCISE REVIEW

by LCpl Paul Fox - Team Captain, The Ant Hill Mob
(Overall Runners up)

Any competition within the Squadron will always raise rivalry between the different Troops, but in the case of Ex Young Drive, the competitive spirit was fuelled to a new level by the fact that each Troop put in three teams. Within Epi Tp, tensions were running high prior to, and during the event with each team convinced it was going to win. It was obvious this was going to be a good day. Below, are a few words on each of the stands from the eyes of the 'Ant Hill Mob'.

The Surprise Stand: Being the first team to face the surprise stand, we had no idea what to expect. A driving test was the last thing on our minds and the nerves quickly set in. Everybody considers themselves a good driver, but it's a different story under exam conditions when years of bad habits stand out like a soar thumb. Our team had mixed results from this event but we all agreed how difficult it was to be put under the spotlight once again. It makes you think!

First Parade Inspection: This stand represented another thing that we do every day and once again asks the question, 'Are we good at it?' We were obviously extra careful not to miss anything out on the Land Rover and the 'Ant Hill Mob' did okay here. The lesson to be learnt here is if we can do that good a job of it on the competition, then are we that thorough every day with the vehicles at work? A good stand.

MT Documents: We found this stand to be more of a training session than a test. Not only were we filling in the daily part of the works ticket but completing at the end of a month. I personally came away from this stand having learnt a lot more about works tickets.

Highway Code Test: A little common sense was required here as we sat at the Laptop and answered 35 questions from the Highway Code. Most were straight forward, given some thought, but a few were quite taxing and required debating to reach the correct answer. The 'Ant Hill Mob' wanted to appeal one of our wrong answers, but as Cpl Mercer pointed out, The CD ROM is a DVLA one and he didn't write the questions. Who were we to argue?

RTA Scene: This stand was probably the most feared by all teams. It gave the biggest opportunity to mess up the most. Nobody wanted to do badly here. We decided that I would control traffic and ring for help whilst the over two dealt with the casualty(s). Our plan took a back seat from the start, as we couldn't find the casualty who was walking around with a head injury. This turned out to be our lowest score as we fumbled with the injured man and carried out other procedures in the wrong order. But the important thing was that we learnt the correct way to deal with this situation should we come across it in the real world.

FMT 3 Documents: After completing the RTA stand we then followed it up by filling out the actual forms that we would use had it of been us that crashed the car. Hopefully something that we never would have to do. You'd think that it would be easy filling in boxes like, 'name', 'time of accident'. But given the short space of time we had, it proved to be more challenging than first thought. As the last thing on the form was the sketch, these got quite interesting as our time ran out.

Light Vehicle Manoeuvring: Disappointingly, only one member of the team was allowed to drive on this stand. However, the other two helped by guiding the driver from the outside and he negotiated a trailer through various obstacles. Even under the extra pressure of having a video camera recording our every move, the 'Ant Hill Mob' walked away with full marks.

LGV Manoeuvring: Our final stand, and one that we knew we had to do well on to stand a chance of winning the competition. This required good teamwork as our chosen driver controlled a 4 tonne truck in and out of cones whilst blindfolded. It got quite frustrating as our driver was receiving instruction from all angles. To make matters worse, we were being timed, also without his vision, and all that vibration, the driver couldn't even tell when he was moving. An average score marked the end of the competition as we drove back to the Jimmy club to await the results, but not before we all had a go in that Bedford.

After talking to other teams, it is quite obvious that every one had a good time and learnt something from the exercise. The rivalry between teams within the troop and the squadron makes any competition fun, and to learn about something as important as MT and road safety can only be a good thing. The only negative point that I heard about the day was that there could be more actual driving, but people understand that manpower and resources are limited. However, this point did not spoil a good day. 'The Ant Hill Mob' will return next year and the competition won't see us for dust!

101 LOGISTIC BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS & SIGNAL SQUADRON (261)

Sqn Comd Maj M. Baines
RSM WO1 C. J. Udell

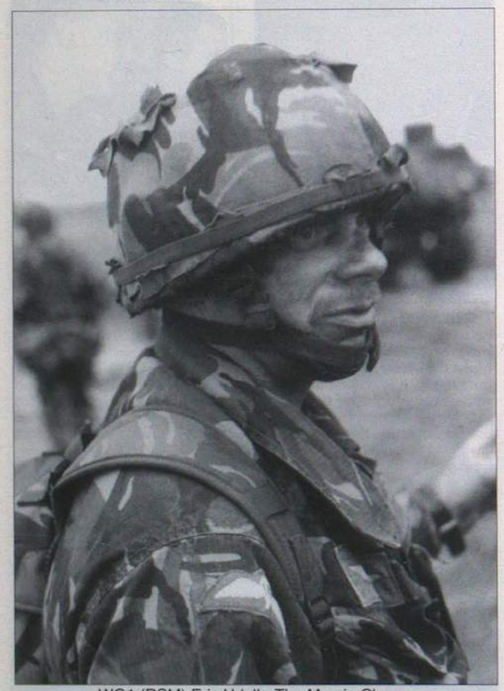
With the second birthday of the Squadron fast approaching, the unit remains at continuous high readiness and is heavily committed supporting the HQs of both 101 and 102 Logistic Brigades. The Squadron paraded together on 18 May for the final time before the start of the deployment to Ex Saif Sareea II with 102 Logistic Brigade HQ. The RSM drilled the troops for the No2 Dress parade that went very well. This was followed by a photograph at the Wellington Memorial where the RSM was allegedly seen earlier, levelling the trees with a chainsaw!



WO1 (RSM) Eric Udell - The Man in Charge

The first sitreps are arriving from Oman sent by Foreman Sue Spencer and the second tranche has deployed on RAF deluxe airlines loaded down with sun-tan lotion and insect repellant. As this goes to press one third of the Squadron is supporting enabling tasks in Salalah and Thumrait and the remainder deploy to Oman in July. Congratulate SSgt Joe Crowe MBE on the award of his MBE for service in Northern Ireland appointed in the recent Operational Honours List. Congratulations also to the OC, Maj Mark Baines and his wife Jo on the birth of their fourth child, Oliver.

261 Sig Sqn IS Team deployed on Ex Lucky Sentinel, a coalition exercise involving the US and Kuwait armed forces in Kuwait in support of 101 Logistic Brigade Headquarters. The team consisted of SSgt 'Mr MS Office' Harris, Sgt Craig 'Where's my Cisco course?' Elsdon and Cpl Andy 'ATacCS solitare support team' Monger, under the leadership of Maj Tommy 'I'm slowly trying to round off all the edges of my car' Baldwin, SO2 G3 CIS.

Sgt Craig Elsdon, Maj Tommy Baldwin, Cpl Andy Manger and SSgt Al Harris

At no great expense the team provided an NT LAN, interfacing with the American CLAN, using commercial IT equipment and carried out a trial of what's left of the ACSAS software package. Although extremely busy the team took the opportunity to get around some of the Gulf war locations including the Tank Boneyard and Kuwait City in an American Blackhawk Helicopter. We quickly learnt that the American Colonels do not understand our sense of humour – not a first for us!

ALPHA TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Cas Wootten
Tp Sgt SSgt Joe Crowe MBE

New arrivals at the Troop of the glorious 261 Sig Sqn are LCpls Jez Skelhorn and 'Scotty too Hotty' Steel from 21 Sig Regt (AS), LCpl 'Robbo' Robertson from 7 Sig Regt and LCpl Tom Beerling from 30 Sig Regt. We also have Sigs Liam Frater, Ben 'Night-Prowler' Lightowler, Colin Corry, Mick Keating, Steve Durose and Rob 'I am not going on holiday' Gilbey.

FOOTBALL – by LCpl Skelhorn

The first season for 261 Sig Sqn started slowly but after some vigorous training we got a good squad together and started winning some matches. The job of SSgt Joe Crowe MBE (Team Manager) and Sgt 'Chico' Towers (Team Captain) was made harder by the fact we were winning with a scratch team and losing with a full selection – the best laid plans ….. We found that 'The Donkey of the Match' was evenly spread but Sig Jamie Bramald was frequently 'Man of the Match'. It was a successful first season for the Squadron as we reached the semi-final of the cup and runners-up in the league.

EXERCISE MOUNTAIN KING TIGER – CLIMBING IN SPAIN
by LCpl Hanks

At the beginning of April the Squadron deployed in the oldest minibuses in the army to Spain for a couple of weeks rock climbing lead by 2Lt Wootten. The programme was climbing every day that actually left little time for drinking! The climbing was increasingly challenging and the routes were all checked in advance, incorporating amazing scenery. We built up from Rock Climbing Proficiency to tackling Grade 8 climbs by some of the group. It was an excellent expedition climbing, sunshine and some cracking nights out; many thanks to the organisers 2Lt Wootten and Cpl 'Fitz' Fitzpatrick and our instructors Mitch and John.

SUPPORT TROOP
Tp Comd/QM Maj Peter Beauchamp RLC
Tp SSgt SSgt Martin Stebbing

The Troop has been beavering away for Ex Saif Sareea II with stores arriving daily by the truckload. The QM was last seen looking like an Andrex puppy buried under the reams of paper accompanying it all! The Troop recently constructed the really, really BFOT on the square – with an equally big name – the Joint Force Logistic Component Headquarters. It was like a giant Mecano set with instructions so as the rain lashed down directions and guidance were given and eventually it all went up. The next job was the ISO containers and thanks to Cpl 'Billy' Baker's comfort box arriving late, a crow bar had to be used; RQMS Jim Alger liked that a lot!

JULIET TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Jim Barber
Tp SSgt SSgt Kev Roberts

Firstly let us start with the new arrivals that have been sentenced to three years of soft labour at Juliet Tp. Lt Jim Barber the new Tp Comd, Cpls 'Richie' Brown, 'Slim' Humphreys and 'Shaky' Wilson, LCpls Brown, Price, Hurdman and LeMay, greetings to you all. Farewells to Sgt Greg 'Val' Valentine who escapes back to civvie freedom and Cpl 'Kez' Brown who moves all the way to 7 Sig Regt (Football Tp) - lets see if they can get any work out of him! Also a temporary departure to Sig Gaz Watson who goes to Bosnia for a few months, minus one eyebrow and head hair compliments from LCpl Rhys Hughes, who's also sporting a very short haircut, the perils of drink and hair clippers in close proximity.

The day-to-day excitement that is life at Juliet troop continues without stop. The members of the Squadron Football Team, (Sgt Valentine, Cpl Dempster Cpl Brown and LCpl Donaldson) return back to work after completion of a successful season. Cpl Gore has become duty driving instructor 'famming' new members of the Troop on driving Landrovers and Merc G.D's. With special mention to LCpl Lee Hurdman's ability to kangaroo a GD with oil-smooth gear changes and manage to nearly maim two cyclists! Other driving skills worth mentioning include LCpl Alex Brown discovering that a Landrover doesn't work very well with no batteries in it!, or even Cpl Jay Dempster, top tip its best not to attempt to drive a 5 ton DAF away when it has no brake pipes attached!

Victorious
280 (UK) Signal Squadron BFG Minor Units Football Champions (Cup and League)

Other members of the Troop have just returned from the NATO exercise Combined Endeavour that consisted of three weeks drinking copious amounts of alcohol, partying, and working, apparently. Highlights of the exercise were unnamed persons displaying great driving skills and overcoming parking problems and Cpl Jez 'The Diplomat' Greenlee and his love for all things American. Other Troop members have recently represented the Squadron in the Morrison Cup athletics.

Divine Intervention?
Sig Parrington demonstrates how to walk over the water-jump in the 3000m Steeple Chase

The Squadron finished up as runners up to 211 Sig Sqn with Sig Angie Fewster claiming four medals, the highest number in the team. Other team members included Sig Kimberley, LCpl Chacksfield, LCpl Donaldson, LCpl Hubble, LCpl Humby, LCpl Moore, and Cpl Jackson. Finally everyone at the Troop would like to send their best wishes to LCpl 'Errol' Flynn in his recovery from his car accident and a speedy return back to work.

Nice Smile!

KILO TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Lindsey Calderhead/Lt Covey-Crump
Tp SSgt SSgt Graham Weavers

Yet another successful and entertaining few months have kept the 'Kilo Troop Possy' awake. Exercise Cobalt Flash 2 took the tough and hardened working members away, namely Cpl Pearce, Sig James, Cpl Baber, LCpl Pearmain, Sig Pollock and LCpl Jones who were located at the 'Stella' det! With sleep taking priority over comms the rare sighting of LCpl 'Keep out the sun' Pearmain was a major attraction for the exercise.

There have been many recent departures from the Troop starting with a farewell to Sgt 'Big Lugs' Porter, Beth and family. With self induced terminal illness a farewell goes to Sig Stevie 'guts' Lloyd. Best of luck in his short life! Other farewells go to keep 'em guessing Sig Dave 'Missing' Machin. If anyone has seen this man could they please report back to the Squadron. He resembles a rat! A big farewell goes to our two year Troop Commander Capt Calderhead who is moving to pastures new at HQ SOinC(A) in Blandford. A big thank you goes to her for the contributions to the smooth running of Kilo Tp.

Hellos go to Cpl Spike 'Long jump' Milliken and LCpl Dennis 'Jakey' Seymour. Other new Troop members include Sig Lee 'Happy Hardcore' Meadowcroft, LCpl 'Richie (National debt of Uganda)' Ingram and Sig Adam 'The Embryo' Sprogiss. Finally to add to our ever-expanding Troop a big hello goes to the new Tp OC, Lt Covey-Crump. Welcome back goes to the even rounder figure of LCpl Jimmy McGrory. Also congratulations go to LCpl Ryan 'Let me go home' Clarke who has just received his golden medal award for air miles. Congratulations go to Sig Donna 'Peter' Beardsley who doesn't luckily carry the handsome features of her namesake. We wish you all the best in your marriage.

SUPPORT TROOP
QM Capt Mark Toms
RQMS WO2 (RQMS) Kev Innes

The Squadron recently had an Inter Troop Athletics day where the Troop did fantastically well coming an overall 4th (admittedly out of four but hey, we did win the Chain of Command and ate the most burgers). It was a glorious day, fun and sun was had by all. Support Troop would like to welcome its new arrivals, the first being the new QM & Troop Comd Capt Mark Schofield and his family. Cpl Brent Grindrod and LCpl Rob Newing also join us, both chefs in the RLC, and finally LCpl Paul Denham, Sig 'Rags' Ragni 'We ARE LINIES', LCpl Tony Mason, Cpl Slim Humphreys, LCpl Neil Hagger and Sig Andy Ravenscroft of the MT. Welcome all. The Troop would like to say farewell and good luck to some personnel who have left for more exciting climes the first being the QM Capt Steve Toms who on getting his Majority up has gone back to the valleys (14 Signal Regiment EW). Cpl Bri Woolley has also departed to god's country! N Ireland (according to LCpl 'Shine on' Mooney). Cpls Dave Pendleton, Craig 'GT' Straughan, Mark 'Sibby' Sibbald and Sig Mike 'Whippet' Roberts leave us and the MT.

1st SIGNAL BRIGADE BATTLEFIELD TOUR TO POLAND
by 2Lt Jim Barber

The tour started in unusual fashion with three highly informative presentations given by the subalterns from the three regiments and battalions. This was a very necessary procedure due to the somewhat obscure nature of the planned battlefields and for those who were slightly more learned than myself a chance to refresh on the characters and personalities involved. This study day (hosted excellently by 16 Signal Regiment) served also to introduce the other members of the tour including the first of the two lecturers, Dr Paul Latawski, who, proved all conceived ideas about academics.

So, feeling a lot wiser about our Polish friends the fifty-eight members of the tour climbed aboard the sleeper (sauna) at Duisburg and headed for Warsaw, the centre of the tour programme. The well-oiled cogs of the programme showed, as little effort was needed to book us into the Hotel Mecure and get the tour into full swing. Tuesday morning came and the tour began in earnest as we moved south and followed two fast paced operations (one Polish and the other the immense Red Army of 1944). Wednesday brought on a day of urban conflict in the city itself and further proved the arduous conditions that face any force that attempts to fight in a built-up area. Thursday was solely dedicated to the Red Army monster as it tactically closed on the Nazi occupied capital and attempted to encircle the city.

The atmosphere was one of adventure on the final night and anticipation for the train journey home. All expectations were surpassed from this my first battlefield tour and hopefully not my last. Many thanks to 16 Signal Regiment for organising a spectacular tour and I will highly recommend the trip to anyone else.

JOINT COMMUNICATIONS UNIT FALKLAND ISLANDS

AN INTRODUCTION FROM UNIT HEADQUARTERS
OC Maj A. B. Stocker
USM WO2 (USM) Renshaw

The time has just flown by since we arrived. Yet strangely, everyone seems to have fitted in well, and we at UHQ have become one happy family. Like any family there are always upsets and fallings out. Happily, these only ever really occur when the OC and USM start battling it out at the bowling alley.

There is a real spirit of jointism within JCUFI and there is a tinge of purple to each and every one of us. Within JCUFI there is a Flight Lieutenant, Paul 'Foggy' Croft, in charge of A Flight, a Naval Warrant Officer, 'Mac' McKie in charge of B Division and our own Lt Jay 'Blunt' Croslegh in charge of C Troop. The changes to the names of the Troops are the concept of Maj 'The Don' Stocker who wishes to preserve the joint nature of the unit and who's blood runs Deep Purple in his veins. Actually, he's more of a U2 man. With this list of personnel, we must mention our new 2IC, Flt Lt Nigel Bevan. He arrived two weeks early in order to take over the role following the early departure of our last 2IC. He has already been instrumental in co-ordinating the refurbishment of the bar, and I'm sure that his presence will be greatly appreciated. At the same time, we cannot omit to mention the departing of WO2 (FofS) Paul 'Southern Hemisphere' Hubble who has been in the islands for 20 months. He will be off to P Wing to be gradually reintroduced into society. His replacement, in May, will be WO2 (FofS) Mark Todd.

It was the Foreman who devised all the cunning and testing injects in our recent exercise, Ex Nimble Ram II. This was JCUFI's chance to test all our systems and fault procedures, as well as information reporting. All this whilst being simultaneously invaded by the enemy! Everyone completed the exercise well and there was a real sense of achievement felt within the unit. We all learned something, and every section now feels comfortable and confident that they would be able to perform their job in time of war. During normal working time, everyone is kept busy, and people's tours are flying past, as there is no time to sit and twiddle your thumbs.

If it's not work that is keeping us busy, there are plenty of other things keeping us out of trouble. As a unit, we have been on lots of outings already. There was serious competition during the Go-Karting and no, neither the OC nor the USM are at all competitive! One of the most memorable visits involved FS Dave 'Dressage' Edwards, Lt Croslegh and 2Lt Stevens coming face to face with a huge, growling sealion on one of the helicopter trips to Sealion Island. They did not stop talking about their terrifying 'brush with death' for ages. We have also been horse riding (sore rears all round) and have had numerous evenings frequenting the JCUFI bar, the newly refurbished, Sharkies. Trips for the future include helicopter trips to Saunders Island, another boat trip round Mere Harbour and anything else that the Ops Officer, 2Lt Alex 'Pasty' Stevens, can get by fluttering her eyelashes! All in all, it is so far so good for the tour. We just all hope that the rest of the tour passes as quickly as the first half. Thanks to all the work everyone has contributed towards the tour until now, and watch out York, we will be back in August.

Sig Rudkin just beats the others to the finishing line

INFANTRY FAMILIARISATION DAY – 28 FEBRUARY 2001
by LCpl Monk

On 28 February members of JCUFI were invited to take part in an infantry familiarisation day to be hosted by the Falkland Islands Resident Infantry Company, B Company of 1st Battalion Cheshire Regiment. The object of the day was to give us an insight into how an infantry unit operates in a theatre like the Falklands, with demonstrations and hands-on experience of some weaponry and equipment that the Signals would rarely, if ever, come into contact with.

The day kicked off with a slight delay due to an unhealthy fluid leak coming from somewhere important on the Chinook. But soon we were off to Onion Range on the other side of Mount Pleasant Peak about five minutes flying time away. Upon arrival, the formalities were taken care of, where to stand, where not to stand, what to touch, and the days events began. The Cheshires began with a demonstration of a section level attack on two positions. While this was going on the Platoon Commander gave a commentary of what we were watching. Giving explanations of what each member of the section's role was and how he or she fitted into the picture of the attack. As the attack drew to a close the Grenadier advanced to unleash what was possibly the quietest grenade in NATO. Nonetheless it was interesting to see such an attack from a stand off perspective.

LCpl Monk, Bravo Division, and his new favourite toy

The second part of the afternoon was what we had really come for. On offer to us were such weapons as the SA80, LSW, GPMG, 9mm pistol, sniper rifle, and the 50cal machine gun, which had almost everyone feeling strangely horny. Once split into groups we each got the opportunity to have a play with the weapons, including firing the GPMG from the hip and shoulder positions. Mock targets were set up so we could hear that satisfying 'tink' as the 9mm rounds of the Browning hit the target plates. The chance to fire the SA80 on automatic at figure 11 targets less than fifty metres away was also given to us on one of the stands, but next to firing the 50 cal and GPMG it was relegated to the back seat. All the guys from the Cheshires were really helpful in answering questions and showing us the ropes, and all were enthusiastic and keen to help, despite them having to get the weapons cleaned again at the end of the day, not an enviable task by any means.

LCpl Monk – Such concentration

All in all it was a very enjoyable day. The weather managed to stay warm and dry and they even managed to tape up the leak on the Chinook for us to do some low level tactical flying through the hills on the way back to MPA. Many thank to all the members of the Cheshire Regiment for a great day.

FITTEST TEAM

The spine chilling seriousness of the situation hit us the moment 7 Sig Regt left for home…the Falklands valuable comms were now left entirely in our hands. Oh dear… Headed up by Sgt 'Nepalese Warrior' Shyam the team had little choice but to finds its feet…and fast! All the pressure in the world seemed to be resting on our few, but broad shoulders.

Individual characters and skills were quickly identified within the workshop. LCpl Helen 'Lil' C' Caplin soon established herself as the resident digital exchange Doctor. While Cpl Stef 'I'm not a Gurkha' Sabuda immediately started his personal mission to spend every given second at work ridding the world of faults. Unfortunately the remainder of the magnificent six seem only to excel at things that don't actually relate to work. Cpl Si 'Troy Bagley' Brewington is currently working hard at his quest to become the undefeated JCUFI bowling champion. LCpl Scott 'Ron Jeremy' Wilson is single handily keeping up morale within the Section with his uncanny natural abilities of not only being able to do absolutely everything wrong, but also taking ages to do it. We must confess, for someone who seems to show such limited intelligence when it comes to his job, his capacity to answer general knowledge questions correctly is nothing short of phenomenal. Meanwhile Cpl Gil 'Dirk Diggler' Gittins still looks to be lost now he's back in the workshop after his extended 'holiday' working in the gym. He also seems to be showing signs of post traumatic stress disorder having had to replace his cherished tight white vest and tracksuit top with the more familiar uniform worn by today's Army.

Oh, and remember…if you've got a problem, and no one else can help, and you can find them, then maybe you can hire the FITTEST team.

LINE SECTION
SNCO IC Sgt Cascarino

Farewell to 231 Sig Sqn – back to sunny 7 Sig Regt in Krefeld, and a hearty welcome to 219 Sig Sqn from 2 Sig Regt based at wet and windy York! With the changeover of the roulement Signal Sqns, life at the sharp end (the world of the Telemechs) has been turned upside down. In the space of one week, the whole of the section's manpower, with the exception of Sgt 'Fatboy' Cascarino and Cpl Jim 'Fatboy2' Stocks have departed and have been replaced by Mechs from the far-flung corners of the Telemechs' World. We have truly encompassed the ethos of inter-regiment co-operation within the section, from 16 Sig Regt we say hello to Cpl Declan 'Death from above' Maher along with Sig Steve 'Gwaa 1' Kite and Sig Jules 'Gwaa 2' Grieves. From 14 Sig Regt, we say hello to LCpl Nige 'Road-kill' Gerrish, Sigs Chris Turnbull, Chris 'Van Damm' Rutter, Andy Poole and Andy Davis. From 259 Sig Sqn we say hello to LCpl Chris Palmer. From 30 Sig Regt we welcome LCpl Darren 'Fatboy 3 – Gwaa 3' Richardson and last and not least our friendly Sys Op Storeman, Sig Si 'USM's mole' Fry from 2 Sig Regt.

As ever the workload has not changed and the Line Dogs are busy as ever, the ongoing project in the accommodation is drawing to a painful close, and the new guys are earning their spurs gashing in a variety of jobs, from faults to SWS and back again! To the Line Sergeant's dismay, nobody wants to go out with him during the week as the whole Section has embarked on a fitness craze, better late than never lads!

I'm sure that in the months to come these pages will be filled with tales of wonder and delight, especially when 'Rainbow Section' has had time to start performing! Adios!

CHARLIE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Croslegh
Tp 2IC SSgt Eden

After all the months waiting for this to happen, 219 Sig Sqn finally took over from 231 Sig Sqn, 7 Sig Regt at Charlie Tp. Help! Once the handover/takeover was complete, the lads and ladies got straight into the routine of daily, mind numbing work. Such work was feeding the cat and deciding whose turn it was to make the brews. Anyway, 219 Sig Sqn's first test was Ex Nimble Ram, with all of JCUFI being put through their paces in different scenarios. However, when the exercise was finally over, all of Charlie Tp had learnt very valuable lessons – I think! In the coming months, Charlie Tp has a few more exercises coming up and with all the fast and furious daily work coming our way, it looks like Charlie Tp will be busy until the end of the tour.

BRAVO DIVISION
Division OC WO McKie

It has been a busy two months since taking over Bravo Div JCUFI from 7 Sig Regt. In early February as the handover/takeover drew to a close the new Bravo Div, under the watchful eye of the 7 Sig Regt members due to finish their tour, began exercise Nimble Ram. Nimble Ram was used to give the 2 Sig Regt personnel the chance to go through the work they would be doing over the following six months and to be able to air any queries or problems with the experience of the departing unit. A lot of experience was gained on the three-day exercise and faults were injected to simulate most scenarios, from power failures to full circuit outages. With Nimble Ram finished and 7 Sig Regt well on their way back to Krefeld we were able to get settled into some sort of routine and get on with the job in hand. To say there is a bit of a learning curve would be an understatement, it was near vertical. But with a bit of swearing and some precision use of a hammer we can safely say the all new Bravo Div is now in control.

There has been plenty to keep us occupied while not on shift. A couple of us were given the opportunity to go flying with 1312 flight in the C130 to do some air drops over the MPA and to see the Islands from a different perspective. After a fair amount of arm twisting the pilot finally broke and let us have a go at playing Top Gun. Mind you he did wait until we were well over the South at Atlantic so there was less danger of us crashing his plane. Needless to say we all got back without a scratch and tall stories of us dog fighting our way across the sea soon filled the bar. On 28 February the RIC took us up to Onion range to give us some hands on experience on some weaponry we don't see in the Signals too often. The opportunity was laid on for us to fire weapons such as the GPMG and .50cal machine gun followed by some low level flying with the Chinook through the valleys around the Mount Pleasant Complex.

Sunday 18 March saw the Bravo Division world Go-Karting championship. Despite the rain throughout most of the day, a great time was had by all who attended. The day was split into six heats to determine who would go onto the semi-finals and who would find themselves in the `Driving Miss Daisy' cup. Everyone managed to get plenty of time on the track although I don't think David Coulthard has got much to worry about just yet. Congratulations to LCpl 'Stav' Constdanti on an impressive victory, even more impressive was his ability to keep a big daft grin on his face for every one of his laps. Looking ahead at what is to come. Nimble Ram II is at the end of the month so with the added bonus of an OpFor to come after us as well as the FofS. Sharkies bar reopens after refurbishment on 30 March which should have a good size Bravo Div turnout.

IT CELL

Signals element being headed by Sgt Mick 'Nigel Mansell' Stoneman, closely supported by Cpl Paul 'Can I go back to Campito' Brown, Cpl Ian 'I will get massive' Waterworth, LCpl Penny Edwards and LCpl Matt 'I really am a DJ' Lutkin. Working alongside crabs, er RAF personnel and being employed to provide IT support for over 2000 PCs on the island; the cell runs like a well oiled thing that should be well oiled!

The cell has been extremely busy, aided by the changeover of seven personnel in just four weeks. The cell has a total compliment of ten. However, morale is at an all time high, aided by stimulation banter and conversation like, 'Did you put service pack on that PC?' which always provokes reactions from the opposite sex in which they generally walk away! However, getting into this 'geeks club' ain't as easy as it may seem as FNGs are required to go through a rigorous initiation. The initiation being that of getting extremely lagered and being presented in Sharkys bar wearing very modern looking outfits made of computer hardware and logos. However, the crab, er RAF element do get a late start the morning after. Well, they do need their beauty sleep!

RADCON

We arrived here at last, after the long 18-hour flight from the UK that, for some, was quite an experience. After the weeklong handover/takeover from 7 Sig Regt it was time to put our feet up and have an easy tour. Or so we thought. With Exercises Nimble Ram and Purple Strike within our first three weeks in theatre, life has been anything but easy. Nimble Ram was purely a JCUFI exercise, which tested us on our crash-out procedures and our general all-round ability. It was only for a weekend, but luckily, the Foreman managed to cram in enough serials to last us a week!

Ex Purple Strike came one week later. This is a large Infantry exercise that takes place three times a year, and we were tasked to provide comms for Excon and the exercise controller. On his second day in theatre Cpl 'Dave' Hallway deployed straight to Excon to immediately suffer the delights of the islands. Along with LCpl 'Cal' Calam and Sig 'Al' Allardyce, they managed to keep Excon going. Well most of the time, anyway. With the exercise controller, went LCpl 'John' Kama and Sig 'Chris' Woods, who got plenty of exercise tabbing round the island with the man-packs. After the post-exercise shake out, work began on getting our new FFRs up to scratch. This kept us all busy for a few weeks, along with learning our crash-out procedures, which the Foreman and SSgt Peters were very keen for us to learn. We learnt the reason why at 6am one Friday when we were all kicked out of bed for a crash-out exercise. So, we deployed with our crash-out kit for however long it took. Luckily Sig 'Becky' Greenhalgh had all her supplies for 72 hours in the field. A sleeping bag! She claimed she would cuddle up to LCpl 'Jay' Jones if she got cold. Unfortunately, everything did not go to plan and a week later, the same thing happened again, this time at lunchtime instead of the unsociable early hours. This went a lot better, yet we are still on our toes, waiting for the next time.

Socially, Radcon has been very strong, supporting Sharkies every week, as well as anywhere else that will take us. On top of that, we've had an afternoon of go-karting followed by a BBQ, which was enjoyed by all. Looking forward, we have another four exercises over the next four months so, if nothing else, we will be kept busy. Lastly, we must say hello to the six guys manning the hilltop sites at Campito, Sig 'Al' Allardyce, LCpl 'Chris' Storey and Cpl 'Jib' Ablott. Then up at Mount Adam we have Sig 'Bob' Zimmerman, LCpl 'Dave' McHugh and LCpl 'Phil – how many fags can I smoke in a week' Hensal.

THE HILLTOP SITES

Adam: Mount Adam has been manned by 2 Sig Regt lads for nearly two months now, and we've seen a lot of faces come and go, so Mount Adam would like to say goodbye to the following people. LCpl 'Wanna be TG' Storey, as he will now be a crewman at the other hilltop site of Mount Campito. Unluckily for Campito, this change in crew will have no affect on the nightly quiz, which Mount Adam is dominating at the moment! Also we would like to give LCpl 'Press the prestle' McHugh a warm welcome to Mt Adam as he might be a help on the quiz side. We would also like to say goodbye to Sig 'The best TG in the Corps – NOT, no taste buds' Zimmerman as he will be truly not missed. After endless attempts of Murder-by-Curry, we would like to wish him all the best with his new posting. Last, but not least, another warm welcome goes to Sig Greenhalgh. She's just very recently joined us, and has not yet been nicknamed. We are sure, however, that she will be a great asset to the Adam Quiz Team.

Campito: We have been up here for seven weeks now and are just starting to get into a routine. Cpl 'Jib' Ablott has started training in the gym we have up here with LCpl 'Chris (I wannabe a P.T.I., I've got the blue shirt and everything)' Storey, while Sig 'Al (fry all food including Cornflakes)' Allardyce is still convalescing from his recent operation. We would like to thank all our overnight guests for bringing refreshments with them so they didn't have to drink the water we haven't got.

CRYPTOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION AGENCY (CDA)

As with all departments in JCUFI the past few months have been extremely busy for CDA including several arrivals and departures. Capt Steve Holt took over from Capt Lee Keiley in January with all conversations changing from marathon running to the latest tactics used by Bobby Robson. February and March have been taken-up by preparing and deploying on exercises, ships and hilltop sites and the Annual Crypto Inspection. As a completely tri-service organisation the difference in terminology has brought its own rewards with the navy LOM(C) (Cpl equivalent) completely at sea when trying to understand what a RAF borrower is doing with BATCO. The Department continues to be represented in all sports and activities from LOM(C) 'Elkie' Brookes completing in the march and shoot to Capt 'Shearer' Holt in anything that gets him out of the office.

ROCK CLIMBING IN STANLEY - LCpl Kumar Limbu

To refresh mind and body, to take a break from daily hectic work and to add a new height on adventurous skill, seven interested personnel from JCUFI Sqn drove down to Stanley on 13 April. We left MPA around 1600hrs. Ops Officer, 2Lt Stevens, organized the rock climbing session. An hour later we arrived at Hillside Camp in Stanley. QMSI C. Hamilton and his assistant, Cpl Karen Martin, welcomed and gave us a brief about next day's programme right after tea. The brief was impressive and friendly, although we had choice on other adventure activities such as mountain biking, hill walking, kayaking etc. However, we stuck to our title plan. When accommodation was sorted we decided to have a night out in Stanley, which happened to be an unforgettable night for me.

We had an early start next morning. We had loaded essential kit and equipment into the Land Rover. Roughly 15 minutes drive from Stanley, we parked the vehicle and walked up to the huge Rock. Needless to say there is no shortage of rocks in the Falkland Islands. Instructor, Karen, gave us a safety brief before setting up. The weather was teasing us the moment we got out of the Rover. It's been drizzling, windy and cold day. Regardless of the adverse weather for such training we were single-minded and determined to climb the Rock. I think the desire that the team produced to make a fun of the session in such bad weather was something rarely achievable. 2Lt Stevens showed real courage to climb the hardest course of three although once, she was hanging like an astronaut working outside the space craft, and following the instructions given from below. Believe me, sometimes following the given instructions may not be that easy. We called a halt to the rock climbing for lunch at 1230hrs.

While having tasty food cooked by St. Helenians at Hillside Camp, we decided to do kayaking instead of the initially planned abseiling. In summary it was a good fun, we have plenty to laugh at and remember. I feel sorry for the guys who have missed this opportunity through being lazy, still you've got some time before winter really commences

1 (ROYAL BUCKINGHAMSHIRE YEOMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON (SPECIAL COMMUNICATIONS)

Sqn Comd Maj S. Gregory
SSM WO2 (SSM) D. Scott

Another hectic month of exercise and operational commitments has been interspersed with a greater than normal series of welcomes and farewells. The Squadron welcomes the several members to its fold: Cpl John Fawcett and LCpl Paul Clarke are congratulated for successfully completing SC Course 2/00. In addition, the Squadron welcomes Sigs Yates, Dunmore, Holden and Orton. Extended congratulations go to Cpl 'Scouse' Hardy and Cheryl for the birth of Christopher and Thomas, similarly Cpl Jay Fawcett on the arrival of a baby boy in recent weeks. A sad farewell goes with SSgt 'Deano' Poole after 8-9 years in Special Communications. He is now attached to 39 Sig Regt for 12 months. Our best wishes go to him and his family. Sgt Kev Heaton leaves the Squadron for his Yeoman of Signals Course and Cpls Ian Grant and Luke Stanley head for Hill Enterprises to try their luck outside of The WIRE. Special congratulations go to Cpl Stu Penman on notification in April of his award of the Joint Commander's Commendation for Distinguished Service on operations overseas. A well deserved recognition.

NEW HONORARY COLONEL - by Sgt Jase Broome

Sir Lawrence Verney TD DL recently retired as Honorary Colonel of the Squadron. Sir Lawrence worked hard on behalf of the unit and is warmly thanked for all of his support. Sir Nigel Mobbs KStJ JP has been appointed as the new Honorary Colonel and is warmly welcomed by all ranks. Sir Nigel visited the Squadron on 1 May where he was briefed on the unit's peace and war roles and given a full tour of the unit. The tour started and finished in the Squadron bar where most ranks were to be found. The Squadron looks forward to seeing Sir Nigel again on exercise later in the year and wish to formally welcome him to the unit.

SPECIAL COMMUNICATION COURSE 2/00 - by Cpl John Fawcett

The start of November saw myself and five others form up at Bletchley for the 16 weeks of SC Course 2/00. The course was split up into three phases under the watchful control of SSgt 'Deano' Poole, Sgt Si Marvel and LCpl Mark 'Test' Gower. The content of the course remained unknown to the students apart from one common theme - the dreaded skills.

Phase 1 of the course concentrated mainly on basic communications skills, electrical safety, basic test equipment and antenna-making. This gave LCpl Paul 'Fantastic' Clarke the opportunity to demonstrate his 'Scissor-hands' skills in ably destroying a perfectly good TFD - an astonishingly good effort rewarded by the donation of a slab. Phase 1 ended with Christmas leave but not before being given a series of complex presentation titles and progress tests.

Phase 2 of the Course saw us straight into further skills and a broader range of teaching and testing. The Unit new equipment trial gave us a chance to get out on the ground around the UK and put new levels of skills to the test. The opportunity to 'trial' some local food and drink establishment was not missed and thanks must go to Maj Charlie Miller for the regular provision of Cornish Pasty NAAFI breaks. On return from the trial, a great deal of time and effort went into learning some of the unit's specialist equipment before going into presentations and cut-off skills tests. At this point, I would like to thank all agencies throughout the Corps and in industry who helped the students with information for their projects.

Phase 3 comprised further skills, detailed training on classified equipment, methods and concepts. This was interspersed with a healthy dose of shooting and short courses outside of the unit. The final test exercise was across Canada after which final tests were carried out before being notified of our results. Before finishing, I would like to thank the Training Wing and all instructors for their guidance, fines and assistance in the course.

EXTRACTS FROM EXERCISE GLOBAL LYNX 3 CANADA GENERAL

March saw most elements of the Unit on exercise in Canada on Global Lynx 3. This served as a Headquarters Special Communications staff exercise and dual served as the end of course text exercise for Special Communications Course 2/00. The Exercise was coloured not only by, at times, harsh winter conditions, but also by the welcome news of promotion notification for SSgt (FofS) Ted Heath to Warrant Officer Class 2 and Sgts Simon Wesseldine, Darren Podmore and Simon Marvel to Staff Sergeant. Congratulations to them all.

MAIN BASE STATION (GOOSE BAY) – by Sgt Simon Marvel

On 2 March, 12 personnel from the Squadron landed in the Barren Wastes of Goose Bay, Canada not to be welcomed by the RAF but by the Compulsory Drug Testing Team. Once this formality was complete, all personnel moved up to the accommodation and settled in ready for the hard work ahead. The next day everyone on the operator and technical side of the detachment chipped in to get the location up and running ready for the communications phase of the exercise to begin. Once set up and running, communications went particularly well over some unfeasibly long links. The only major challenge of each day was the continually clearing of the ever increasing amounts of snow on the resistors. This task had to be carried out at intervals of between 15 – 30 minutes. Not everyone was disappointed at this as it enabled LCpl Dave Carrington and Cpl Al Shrewsbury the chance to wear their GIMP masks and the other amazing kit issued by Sgt Dave Thomas of the RQMS Department. Following an ever-increasing flow of visitors from the Squadron hierarchy and Staff Officers from HQSC, the welcome order to close comms was received ten days later. After a successful communications exercise all personnel went on some well-earned continuation training, taking part in activities such as Skiing and Skidooing. A special mention must go to the talents of LCpl Bri Jones for his forever-impressive performances on the slopes. His efforts were much appreciated as the slope groomer machine was very often not in use and him going down the slopes on his back with his skis at the top much improved the standard of the slopes. Another impressive sight of the exercise was that of the RQMS trying desperately to unravel the power cable from around the blades of the snow-clearing machine without anyone noticing what he had done. Unfortunately everything is on both video and camera.

FIELD DETATCHMENT 3 – by LCpl Paul Clarke

The det deployed to Canadian Forces Base Kingston on the shores of lake Ontario for the first phase of the exercise. Weather was better than expected, with a bit of chilly breeze making life slightly uncomfortable (-15). Antenna set up was more of a challenge than usual, as the permafrost proved slightly too much like concrete, taking a couple of stakes as the first casualties of the exercise. Comms were 'booming' into Goose Bay almost as soon as we had set up, and the deployment of a new antenna for field trials confirmed our fears that it was working fine. Now we had to get some work done, kicking off the second element of the exercise - communicating from Kingston to Goose Bay, this was very successful. The third element of the exercise involved a move to the capital city Ottawa and a set up on the roof of a major building of interest in the centre of the capital. Accommodation was in the plush Lord Elgin Hotel nearby. Somebody had to do it! The run up to the Canadian St Patrick's Day celebrations was well underway, making for an extremely warm and hospitable environment for us to look forward to after work was over. After endex was called, the Det set out to the mountainous region of Quebec for a few day's Skiing and Snowboarding, resulting in more bruises and bashes between the three of the Det than the six nations final. This was Cpl Mick Peace's excuse to retire to the massage and aromatherapy suite, but it is generally accepted that this decision had something to do with the masseur!

FIELD DETATCHMENT 2 – by LCpl Mark Gower

Camp Shilo was the chosen initial site for Field Det 2 which featured SSgt Deano Poole, myself, Cpl Jay Fawcett and LCpl Brown. The decision to abandon pole crossings for snow trenches proved welcome and comms across the country were soon in and working for the HQSC scenario phase to begin. The off-shift activities saw Det members trying to strike a workable balance between recycling a vast amount of quality Canadian food and making use of the excellent physical training facilities. A 1000km drive later in a dubious Dodge caravan saw the Det setting up in Wainwright for the next phase of the exercise. Local concern about the potential introduction of Foot and Mouth Disease turned quite real and quickly saw the Det members disinfecting all clothing and equipment. Nonetheless, comms came in a dream and an experimental 6600km shot direct to UK proved successful. This proved to be a most valuable exercise for the team, HQSC and the course students. It is only hoped that somewhere a little closer to the equator will be the chosen location for the next Global Lynx.

1 SQUADRON

With the sheer amount of arrivals and departures within the Squadron of late, you would expect the normal working environment to be severely affected. Not so! It is a true testament to the Squadron that life goes on as it always has, with the minimum of fuss and bother. The Squadron has been involved in various charity events of late, including the obligatory Red Nose Day and the McMillan Nurses Charity Night. Both of these events were well attended and raised some much needed revenue for these particular charities. SSgt 'Daz' Winfteld made his own personal contribution to the charity effort, by completing the London Marathon in a very respectable sub 4 hours. A big well done goes to all those involved in the charity effort. Other notable achievements over the last two months have been in the Commanding Officers Cup Competition. Despite the ever present problem of trying to find enough competitors for each particular discipline, the Squadron has produced some excellent performances. Particular praise must go to those Squadron members who completed in the Superstars and Log Race competitions, finishing second and first respectively. The Squadron was also victorious in the recent March and Shoot competition. We are now looking forward to the next competition, the Inter Squadron Swimming competition. We are sure that under the expert guidance of Sgt Merritt and Cpl Lisa Gibbons, we can repeat the success of late.

A v C WATCH PAINTBALL 16 MAY 2001

The Squadron had the ideal preparation for the March and Shoot competition as A and C watches went to war! On the outskirts of Ancaster, the cries of battle could be heard as the paint-ball day began. After a less than confident drive to the area by Cpl 'Waft' Ashton, we were presented with our coveralls (not meant to be worn by anybody over the height of 6ft 2', as Sgt 'Lanky' Stevenson will testify). Suitably dressed in our 'protective' equipment, battle commenced. The old saying that 'no plan ever survives first contact' certainly applied as some of the scenarios turned into all out and indiscriminate slaughter. Various people were rapidly noted for their own personal qualities. JT 'Sniper' Bell proved to be an excellent asset to her team, inflicting some heavy casualties in her somewhat unconventional style. SSgt 'Bernie' Topham initially took the easy and less painful option by honing his 'section in defense' skills. This tactic, whilst effective at the start, proved to be a most painful experience judging by the cuts and bruising to his head and jaw! As the games progressed, others began to develop their own skills. Sgt 'Stealth' Donnachie perfecting the quiet, flanking maneuver, as opposed to Cpl 'Gav' Brown who preferred the full frontal assault, often ending in his own painful demise. Meanwhile, JT Carla 'Sit and wait' Casement preferred the waiting game, producing some noticeable casualties.

There were the inevitable comedy moments. Of particular note was the individual battle between SSgt 'REMF' Topham and Cpl 'Waft' Ashton conducted at a distance of approximately two paces around a tyre! No kills were reported due to the poor weapon skills of both individuals, the battle only ending when Cpl Ashton was shot in the back by JT Paul 'Maverick' McCormick. The day ended exchanging bruises and war stories over a couple of shandies, after another less than confident drive home by Cpl 'Waft' Ashton. Many thanks go to Cpl Ashton for organising such an excellent day out.

The arrivals and departures are too numerous for all to be mentioned, but we say a fond fairwell to the following; Cpl Jim Ford (14 Sig Regt), Cpl Martin Goulden (civvy street), Cpl 'Gav' Brown (Naples), LCpl Sommerville, and JTs Copley, Fegan and Cochran (all 14 Sig Regt). A huge hello goes to the following; SSgt 'Paddy' Brown, Cpl Ali Phillips, LCpls Phil McKenna, Che Aylward, 'Fitzy' Fitzgerald, 'Berty' Lancaster, Pete Walsh, Natalie Young, Buxton, Barber and Baxter. Last, but by no means least, special congratulations go to the Sqn OC, Maj 'Monty' Mountford, who has become a proud father (again). We all wish him well in his new 'venture'.

2 SQUADRON

Since the last edition, the Squadron's Royal Signal's personnel have been boosted to nine with the arrival of Cpl 'Mally' Mallinson after a long course at Exeter University, so the goaty beard has had to go! We also welcome Cpl Gaz Leadbitter and Cpl Jon Seaton back after their detachment in the sunny Falklands.

3 SQUADRON

HELLO'S AND GOODBYES

We'll start at the very top and welcome Sqn Ldr Andy Gudgeon who has taken the helm here at 3 Sqn. His mission is to demolish the existing establishment and to build a smooth-running and well-oiled machine — good luck to him! There has been a change in the Co-ord's chair with the detachment to the Falkland Islands of WO2 (Supvr R) Frank Dalton, he took up the post of OPSWO at JSSU(FI). His chair has been filled by WO2 (Supvr R) Dave Fuller, so the Squadron's email intray has now been reduced by half. WO2 Russ Dalton has moved on to be replaced by WO2 Smudge Smith as the new RQMS, so the boys in Log Support Group have now got a chance to put some of their PT kit away! WO2 (Supvr R) Andy Marchant has arrived fresh from his tour in the Falklands, he has moved into the 'caring and sharing' department of OOD and is waiting on his promotion to WOI — congratulations on that. Training Flight has continued to provide the Squadrons with capable operators, turning the fresh-faced youngsters from DSSS, Chicksands into jaded and (somewhat) educated old sweats. WO1 (Supvr R) Paul Skeith is currently away on resettlement (how long!) and is due to be replaced by WO1 (Supvr R) Troy Phillips from EOD, so the Flight would like to welcome him.

4 SQUADRON

It has been a quite period for the Squadron as Foot and Mouth put paid to most of the training plans. However, this has allowed us the time to recover from a myriad of leaving functions. Most recently, we bid a fond farewell to SSgt Mark Finch, who leaves the Corps after 24 years (including boy service). All the members of the Squadron wish him the best of luck in the IT industry.

651 SIGNAL TROOP

It would be fair to say that the Troop has seen its fair share of arrivals and departures over the last three months, each member of the Troop adding their own unique 'boo-boo' to the Troop archives of 'I wish I hadn't done that'. How can we forget the arrival of Sgt 'I knew I had some hand luggage', who halfway up the mountain realised he had unwittingly left his rifle at the Theatre Arrival Centre (DOH!). Or the OC who drove 30km to check an ISO container having unwittingly forgotten the keys (DOH!), the names have been omitted to protect the innocent (or was that to protect the author?). Going quickly onto departures, the Troop said it sad farewells to Capt 'H' Hutton who was well known for wearing dodgy hats and sailors uniforms….but that's another story and we the Troop still have the photographs of that most excellent leaving do. Another sad farewell to JT Mel 'I guess that would be unleaded' Wirth, who's design of the now infamous 651 Signal Troop tee shirt has become an instant hit and a 'must have' fashion accessory.

Like politics, the weather in Kosovo has been unpredictable, with Easter Sunday seeing the detachment under a foot of snow and with Brigade declaring 'Spring' and recalling all snow chains! Saying that the summer has finally arrived and those extra camp beds, courtesy of the QM are now put to good use. The Troop has also had it fair share of VIPs, including a recent visit from Brig Tadier (COMBRITFOR). The Brigadier was particularly impressed with the initiative shown by the members of the Troop in the building of the new BBQ area and troop bar, much credit must go to Sgt Martin 'DIY' Clewlow and Cpl Stevie 'Sun-God' Read for their sterling efforts in this department. Apart from the usual Troop operations, 651 played host and provided logistical support to a Rebroadcast (VHF) element of 1-508 Airborne Battalion during Ex Dynamic Response (29April-9 May), an annual multinational exercise. During the exercise the Troop loaned a Wolf Defender to provide 'battery charging' facility to the 1-508 detachment, an unusual sight! The Colonel of the Battalion visited the site and presented 651 with a ceremonial coin to express his thanks and appreciation during the exercise.

The departure of Capt 'H' has seen the arrival of WO2 (Supvr Radio) Eddie Fisher who's first task was to shift the 'dreaded' portaloos inherited from two previous OCs, the phrase the shtv end of the stick comes to mind. The new OC is coming to grips with the operation, however, he has yet to be convinced to impose the suntan order as recommended by Cpl Stevie Read, combat shorts and flip-flops! Other new arrivals include arrival LCpl April 'I'm having a blonde day' Holthain, first tour for her, and doing well with it, although we hope Winnie the Pooh gets better soon. The Troop is enjoying a 'fitness fad' at the moment; it's not unusual to see members of the Troop challenging the Goles Hill — definitely not for the faint hearted! Finally Cpl Gareth 'I'll be in the Gym —really!' Davies, supposed to meet his replacement off the Aircraft today, ooh not today sir, you'll have to do a few more days on your tour, he might turn up later in the week! Not at all funny for him, mildly amusing for the rest of us. Still Gareth the bar will miss you for sure!

Soon the start of June, and the unofficial Goles half marathon, which involves running all the way down the mountain to the main road, turning round, running all the way back up to the top…..then doing it all again! Definitely only hard nuts to apply for this one, which is why only two of the Troop have risen to the challenge, good luck

NOTES FROM THE AO'S DESK

Branch News: Maj Steve Clarke has been posted and has handed over secretarial duties of the Airborne Signals Assn to Capt Mark Rouse. Mark is the MTO at 16 Air Asslt Bde Sig Sqn (216) at Colchester. John Smart has succeeded Tom Davies as Hon Secretary of the Swindon Branch. John can be contacted at; 52 Malvern Rd, Swindon SN2 1AT, Tel: 01893-335430. We wish Tom all the best on his move to live in Cornwall.

Corps Carol Service: It has been necessary to change the date of this year's Corps Carol Service. It will now be held on Monday 17 December, starting as usual at 1800hrs, in St Stephen with St John, Rochester Row, Westminster. This will be followed by sherry and mince pies in the nearby Church Hall. All serving and former members of the Corps, plus their families, are cordially invited to attend. Apologies are offered to those who have already made accommodation arrangements using the old date.

Cenotaph Parade – Remembrance Sunday 11 November 2001: A limited supply of tickets for the Cenotaph Parade is available from this office. All who have served under command of British Forces, plus War Widows/Widowers are eligible. Michael Aimable has, once again, kindly agreed to act as the Corps co-ordinator and members attending the Parade should fall in under the 'R SIGS' board, which Michael will be holding. March off is at 1010hrs. First Aid, lavatories and refreshments are available at Horse Guards Parade.

Field of Remembrance: The opening ceremony for this year's Field at Westminster Abbey will take place at approximately 1120hrs on Thursday 8 November and all those attending should be in place by 1100hrs. Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother and other members of the Royal Household have indicated their intention of attending. The Field will then remain open until 1600hrs 15 November. During the time the Field is open, crosses may be laid on the Corps plot in memory of loved ones. The Corps plot is number 57, which is just inside the West Gate (as per last year). Crosses will be laid by Association HQ on behalf of all Branches of the RSA. Immediately following the ceremony, all those attending are cordially invited to join Maj Gen Tony Boyle, Chairman of the RSA, for refreshments in Chelsea Barracks, courtesy of 238 Sig Sqn. It is hoped to provide transport from Westminster Abbey to Chelsea Barracks.

Annual Reunion: Over 600 members, plus 350 guests, attended the Association's annual reunion, which was held at Blandford Camp over the weekend 23/24 June. During scorching weather, members enjoyed the now traditional Princess Royal Day Parade by the serving soldiers of 11 Sig Regt. The standard of drill amongst the soldiers was such that several members openly shed a tear of pride. One old comrade commented, 'There's nowt wrong with the Corps these days when they can perform like that.' We were pleased to see several proud parents of soldiers in the audience. Following the Parade, Association members met and enjoyed a pint with the soldiers in the Semaphore Arms. The afternoon arena display started with a bang when the 'Museum Living History Society' put on a re-enactment of target spotting, using a 25pound field gun and an Auster. The Corps Band, the Corps Pipes and Drums and the TA Band put on their usual polished performance and the White Helmets thrilled us with a show of their skills. Those of you who saw LCpl Hildreth take a fall from his machine (indeed it ran him over) will be pleased to know that he suffered only bruising and was released from hospital after overnight observation. The six finalists for the annual standard bearers' competition were: John Mumford (Reading), Barry Moody (Scarborough), Bill McNamara (Glasgow), Peter Howells (Swindon), Harry Duncan (Newcastle) and Michael Hawkins (Bristol). Such was the closeness of the scores at the end that the judges had to 'count back' through the preliminary heats to determine the winner. Barry Moody pipped John Mumford by the slimmest of margins to hold the champion's cup for the next year. Both were presented with an engraved silver salver by the Master of Signals. Thanks go to the Corps RSM (WO1 Sean Keilty) plus his judges: WO1 George Coffin and RSA Member Mrs Jillian Hurst, for running the competition. The Master also presented the Aldershot Branch (Fred Bridges) and West London Branch (Harry Ruff) with the '75 Year Pennant' for their standard. This was to mark 75 years in existence for both Branches. Following the Playing of Retreat Ceremony, members enjoyed entertainment, buffet and a renewal of old friendships in the Sergeants' Mess until the wee hours of Sunday morning. Our thanks go to WO1 (RSM) Harry Kemp for opening the Mess doors to the old comrades. The Sunday began with a church service, with the Chaplain General, The Venerable John Blackburn, attending as our VIP guest. Many will remember him from his days at Catterick Garrison and the Apprentices College at Harrogate. The Corps RSM took great delight in 'beasting' members whilst they were forming up for the traditional March Past. His threats of jail for less than 100% effort worked wonders –even our In-Pensioner guests, Buck Taylor and Doug Woollford kept in step with the beat of the Corps Band. The Association's recently built Memorial Rock Garden was then dedicated by the Association Chaplain and good friend Peter Clemmett. Families will now be able to scatter the ashes of their loved ones over the garden. The Memorial Garden was built with donations from Branches and affiliated associations and our thanks go to them for their contributions. All in all, the Reunion was an outstanding success and our thanks go to everyone who worked so hard to ensure things went smoothly. Our thanks also go those members who travelled from afar to attend and for making their own accommodation arrangements. For Ivana from Glasgow Branch - next year, could you leave the Guinness perfume at home. Make a dairy note for next year's Reunion at Blandford

29/30 JUNE 2002. IT'S NEVER TOO EARLY TO BOOK YOUR ACCOMMODATION

'Register of postings': It was pleasing to see that the Assn HQ's 'Register of members' postings' was instrumental in reuniting several former pals over the Reunion weekend. If you haven't yet recorded details of your postings whilst with the Corps – why?

New Life Members: A warm welcome is extended to the undermentioned Life Members, enrolled since the last WIRE. We wish every success with their 'second career' to those who have recently left the Corps. It is hoped that all in the 'RHQ Branch' will consider joining their local branch of the Association.

ROYAL CORPS OF SIGNALS; NORTH CHINA SIGNALS SECTION IN THE 1930s

Peter W. Curtis - June 2001

'Wotcher me old China', that much hackneyed slice of rhyming Cockney slang could well describe the interesting, varied and quite unexpected replies Peter Curtis received from his enquiry regarding the North China Signals Section in the 1930s. Peter, readers may recall wrote to The WIRE (April edition) hopefully seeking news and views about the North China Signals Section in which his father Sgt 'Bill' Curtis had served in Tientsin (1934) and where Peter was born. Four replies were received including two from former soldiers who saw service in the NCSS in the 1930s.

The Curtis children and others

First to respond was Edgar Harrison OBE MC BEM(Mil), who now lives in Bath, and who saw service in Tientsin, Shanghai, Shanhaikuan and briefly in the Hong Kong Signals Section. Edgar told Peter that the responsibility of the North China Signals Section was threefold:

1) To maintain WIT communication with Hong Kong.
2) To maintain part of the landline to Peking,
3) To maintain W/T communication with Shanhaikuan between the months of May and October.

From his memory Edgar believed that the Sections complement was, in addition to the OC, a Sergeant Foreman of Signals, a Corporal, a Lance Corporal and fourteen other ranks. Edgar was intrigued by Peter's father's regimental number and suggests that he may have been originally in the RE Signals.

The next letter was from Ron Larby of Neasdon N. W. London who informed Peter that his own father served in Tientsin, Shanghai and then Hong Kong as a farrier with the 2nd Battalion Scotts Guards. Ron is of the firm belief that British troops of Brigade strength were in China because of the throes of the Civil War between the forces of General Chiang Kia Shek and the forces of Sun Yet Sin and various war lords. It was feared that the fighting would spill over into the international trading concessions and settlements, therefore the British Army was called upon to ensure the safety of lives and property. Ron Larby told Peter of a very interesting anecdote, in that whilst in Shanghai, in the 1930s, guardsmen were approached by the Shanghai Prison Service with a view to enlisting into the SPS when their army engagements came to an end.

Peter also received a timely postcard from a Lee Edinger of Harrogate, who believe it or not, was on a cruise (possibly on a 'slow boat to China'!) passing through the Suez Canal when The WIRE article caught his eye. Lee informed Peter that along with his sister he was a 'Tientsin child'. His father was paymaster in the RAPC. Both Lee and his sister went to the multi national Grammar School.

The final letter came from Capt Frank Lawson of Manchester, who, like Edgar Harrison saw service in the Tientsin Signals Section in 1937. Frank joined the RCS in 1934 (the year of Peter Curtis birth in Tientsin). Now 83 years old Frank informed Peter that he was on duty at the recreational unit at Shanhaikuan when he received the message that Great Britain was at war with Germany. The original message form is now in the Signals Museum at Blandford Camp. Frank also confirmed that the Tientsin Signal Section was to maintain communications with Tientsin (HX8)Peking-Shanghai-bong Kong (GHN4) on a No 6 Transmitter and a Post Office Transmitter from the British Embassy in Peking.

Alas there was no response from any other person who, like Peter, was born in Tientsin. Looking through some old back numbers of The WIRE magazines there is a report in the February 1934 edition from the North China Signals Section correspondent, which congratulates the Commanding Officer, Lt WhitewayWilkinson and his wife, on the birth of a baby girl. So there is at least one other birth besides Peter's in Tientsin in 1934. Nevertheless the letters were very helpful in colouring in a picture of what life was like, in an army garrison, in China, in the 1930s. Finally three troopships were mentioned in the letters, 'HT Dilwarra', 'HT Georgie' and the' City of Marseilles,' most, Peter suggests in this article, stopping off in Hong Kong, Colombo and Port Said, before passing through the Suez Canal bound for 'Blighty'.

ERROR CORRECTION

In June's Issue page 249, article 'Lest We Forget'. Two errors were printed. Albert Thurling was a Lance Corporal and not a Signalman. Also it was the MoD that provided the stone not the War Graves Commission.

DARLINGTON BRANCH

Members of the Association were invited to attend a joint Officers' and Sergeants' Mess Dinner at the Bradford Armouries, Darlington TAC on Saturday 9 June 2001. Along with serving members of the respective messes of the Parachute Association, the RSA had a very enjoyable evening hosted by Maj Graham Jennings and his staff. Lt Col Ian Westerman, CO 34 Sig Regt (V), took the opportunity to present former SSgt Tommy Williamson with his Volunteer and Reserve Services Medal (VRSM) during the evening. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Dent Cup by former Cpl Lew Prosser of Middlesbrough Company 50 (Northumbrian) Divisional Signal Regiment TA to Maj Graham Jennings of 50 (N) Signal Squadron (V). Lew had helped to win this trophy as part of a boxing competition back in 1938 whilst serving with the Regiment. Our warmest thanks go to Maj Jennings and the members of the Officers and Sergeants Messes for a marvellous night and look forward to future functions with them.

DERBY BRANCH

It's now sometime since we last appeared in The WIRE. It has taken us a while to sort things out after the old Chairman's, death, but I'm now glad to say we are getting there. Amongst other things we have selected a new Chairman, SSgt Alan Landsborough, who many will recognise as the current NRPS SQMS at 46 Signal Squadron and the new President is the old PSAO, Capt Cliff Royston-Webb. Who said we at 46 don't keep things in the family?

At the recent AGM we took the trouble to streamline the Committee with the retirement of our stalwart Treasurer, Capt Ernest Williams who decided to call it a day at 78 years young. However, he continues to attend our monthly meetings, replaced by Sgt Jeff Almond. Our long-suffering Secretary still remains as always Joy Elliott. March 2001 saw our annual RSA Dinner, which for the first time was held outside the TA Centre at a local hotel where the CO of 38 Signal Regiment, Lt Col N. P. Harrison MBE R Signals was our guest of honour. Some 44 members and friends sat down to dinner and a good time was had by all, judging by the noise! The meal being excellent and much catching up with the happenings and whereabouts of old friends took place.

Finally I would like to remind the readers both serving and retired that we meet at the Sergeants' Mess Kingsway TA Centre Derby on the third Wednesday of every month at 1930hrs. I know there are many of you who live in the area but perhaps you don't know of our meetings? Why don't you come along and join us, you'll be sure of a warm welcome, and you never know you might even get to like it?

EAST KENT BRANCH

SOCIAL

A record 18 Members of the Branch attended the Association AGM at Chelsea Barracks where many old acquaintances were revived and where the catering in the form of a tasty and plentiful buffet brought a most successful Meeting to an end and the Branch returned to the wilds of Kent. Our Chairman, John Ballantyne, together with his Committee continued to entertain us by leading a detachment from the Branch (dressed appropriately) in enlivening the proceedings at the Sing-Along-a-Sound-of-Music at the Marlowe Theatre in Canterbury. John was enchanting in his lederhosen and his wife, Marion, was suitably irreverent as a nun. As was Marie, the wife of a previous Chairman - she preferring to pretend to be a local -vicar. There were Buddhist priests, Officers from the Kriegsmarin together with assorted extras from the Branch making up a jolly crowd. Our Hon Sec was most distinguished as an escapee from a Tyrolean Hunting Lodge whose deafening vocal accompaniment must have brought a tear to the eye of Miss Julie Andrews (and many others). In May, 44 Members took to the River at Gravesend and made their way up the Thames to the site of the London Eye where some, with a head for heights, enjoyed the magnificent view from on high. Others remained on terra firma and wandered about until the aeronauts came down from their pods. The motor vessel Pocohontas was then reboarded and she then transported our party back down river to the accompaniment of a delicious buffet served by the Skipper and his crew, a most successful day.

NEW MEMBERS

John Ridler was a National Serviceman from July 1949 to July 1951, serving with 16 R. Signals Troop. attached to C Sqn. 5 Dragoon Guards in BAOR. Brian Roalf served as a National Serviceman with the Radio Relay Troop in 4 Div Sig Regt in 1959/60. Co-incidentally, he was serving in the Troop at the time that Don Crisp, the previous Chairman, was the Troop Staff Sergeant.

AND YET MORE SOCIAL

John Ballantyne and his Committee have come up with yet another innovative medium of entertainment and a goodly mob of hairy and muscular Barndancing Members converged on an unsuspecting Village Hall to give vent to their native toe tapping and thigh slapping. They were accompanied by their husbands who also threw themselves about a bit. Our next ventures are (a) the Association Reunion at Blandford and (b) the Annual Cricket Match in July, both being looked forward to with eager anticipation and which will be reported upon in the next issue.

EAST DEVON BRANCH

The Branch took part in the celebrations in Phear Park, Exmouth, over the weekend 9-10 June with a stall run by members selling bric a brac and generally promoting the Corps. On the Sunday a parade of more than 400 marched through the streets of Exmouth led by the band of the Royal marines - Lympstone. Followed by a lone piper, who headed a group of veterans to Phear Park where a new Wall of Remembrance was unveiled. The Branch, amongst others, laid a wreath to pay tribute to the service of the unforgettable part played by British and American servicemen in Northern France on 6 June, 1944 - D Day.

The Branch would like to welcome any ex-serving and serving members of the Corps who live in the East Devon area, and invites them to meet with them at the RAFA Club, Exmouth on the third Tuesday of each month, 7.30 for 8.00, wives and partners are welcome. We also have several events coming up. See our website for more details.

GLASGOW BRANCH

The AGM of the Branch was held on 17 April 2001. The Branch President, Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB, presiding. In his opening remarks the President congratulated the Branch on achieving it's tenth anniversary, and the tremendous effort that has been put into this by the committee and members alike. He particularly mentioned, Bill Taylor the former Chairman, Eric and Ivana the Treasurer and Secrectary. He praised the turnout of members and associate members and said, 'There are many others of you who have made a major contribution besides, and the continuing support of the active membership and their wives has been a major factor in your success. You have maintained an excellent record for participation in the reunion at Catterick and Blandford, in the Remembrance Day in Glasgow and for the many and varied social events you organise'. He continued, 'We are now looking forward to the blessing of the standard on 28 April, and this perhaps, is a suitable point at which to remind ourselves, what tremendous support we get from 32 Scottish Signal Regiment throughout the year. In particular, for the use of their premises and facilities, and the warm welcome extended to us.'

Prior to the AGM business, the president thanked WO1 (RSM) A. Hilborn of 32 Sig Regt for her co-operation and support of the Branch. The members congratulated her on her commission to the rank of Captain. A 'Jimmy' set in a crystal was presented to her with a base inscibed, 'Presented to RSM A. Hilborn by the Royal Signals Association Glasgow Branch'. She leaves with best wishes, being roundly applauded by the members. Angie thanked the Members and said she had enjoyed her stay with 32 Sig Regt and the ssociation with the Branch Members. She then introduced her successor, WO1 (RSM) Steve Russel who was applauded by the members. He intimated that he would hope to carry on the co-operation between the Branch and the Regiment, as had his predecessors. The Branch Members gave a very warm welcome to Steve his wife Tracey and their family to Glasgow.

Ivana Muir, Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB, Joe Keegan and Eric McWaters at the Branch AGM

At the AGM there were 76 Members and Associate Members in attendance with apologies received from several members. The minutes from the AGM 2000 were passed. The Branch Chairman, Joe Keegan, thanked Committee Members Eric and Ivana, for their support and hard work. He also thanked the ladies of the Branch for their excellent catering arrangements, a big thank you to Bill Taylor for his help and guidance throughout the year, and the Branch Members for their support over the last year. He reported that during the past year he had been privileged to work closely with 32 Sig Regt. The Regiment and the Association had bonded well, and he would like to take this opportunity of thanking all members of 32 Sig Regt for their help and assistance. As Joe had indicated at the AGM in May 2000 that he would not be seeking re-election as Chairman at the 2001 AGM, it came as a surprise that he had allowed his name to be put forward for the post, against the nomination of Eric McWaters as a candidate for Chairman. In the voting Joe was successful, and will remain as Chairman for a further two years. The Branch Secretary, Ivana Muir gave a report on Membership. She will determine by May of this year, the number of members who are fully paid up, then she will put on a separate list those members who will be regarded as lapsed members until they paid their fees. Ivana wished to record her thanks to Peter Cuckow at Blandford, for his assistance during the year, especially when the Branch Members had their visit to the Annual Reunion last year. Her report states we have been busy socialising, mentioning the various functions arranged over the year by the committee.

This year is the Tenth Anniversary of the founding of the Branch, to celebrate the event, there will be a drumhead service, beating retreat, a supper and disco, this with an arrangement by the CO of 32 Sig Regt, Lt Col J. K. McKee MBE. Ivana thanked all the members for their support, asking them to remember we have had ten good years, let's have another ten good ones. The Treasurer, Eric McWaters, reported that he was happy to say that the Branch funds were healthy. Each member was given a copy of the balance sheet before the start of the meeting. He thanked all members and friends for their continued financial support over the year, enabling him to pay the bills on time, and to continue to maintain a sound status with our suppliers. The balance sheet shows that the main financial base of the Branch is dependent upon Branch Members' fees, therefore all Members should support the Branch and wherever possible encourage new members to join up. He willingly accepted Members' fees after the meeting.

Under AOCB there was a discussion and explanation of the items brought up in the AGM 2000, regarding a couple of changes in the Branch Rules, these were now accepted. It was also agreed that when a member reaches the age of 80 he/she should not be required to pay Branch Membership fees. This scribe having reached that age was in full agreement. There being no further business, the president thanked the members for their attendance, and wishing the Branch every success in the future, closed the meeting. The members then retired to a grand buffet spread, which had been prepared by Betty Taylor and Annice McWaters the Members appreciate their efforts very much. It takes a lot of hard work and many hours of preparation, to produce trays of a variety of sandwiches and rolls, with fresh coffee and tea available.

NORTHERN IRELAND BRANCH

To anyone who looked in vain in the June issue for my usual notes, unfortunately although I faxed them across ten days early, on 5 April (as I was going on holiday), for some unknown reason they were mislaid between the fax and the Editorial office, which is downstairs, hence no Northern Ireland notes. That being so I must repeat two of the unprinted items. Firstly the passing of Peter Youll's wife for which we extend our deepest sympathy to Pete. Secondly our thanks to Bill Craig for his excellent work in reducing our Branch bye-laws to pocket size. If any Member (or indeed any other Branch) requires a copy please contact our Hon Sec, Ian Wolfe. The Branch annual formal dinner was held in Clonaver TAVR Centre on Good Friday, 13 April 2001 (ie: just after I had submitted my last article to The WIRE). The writer, unfortunately, was unable to attend but it would appear to have been a most successful evening. During the dinner the prize winning Ravenhill Flute Band once again provided some very suitable music. After the usual toasts the Chairman, John Brown, introduced the guest of honour, Lt Col M. P. Llewellyn, Commander Comms NI and CO 15 Sig Regt who suitably replied. We wish Lt Col A. P. R. Roberts MBE, ex-CO 40 (U) Sig Regt (V) well on his recent posting and welcome Lt Col Robert Kelly, as the new CO 40 (U) Sig Regt (V). Branch office bearers Lt Col (Retd) Terry Lightfoot (Branch Rep to the Central Committee), Maj (Retd) Bill Douglas (Branch President) and Maj (Retd) Noel Johnston (Branch Vice-President) were pleased to have attended his dining in recently. We would also like to welcome WO1 (RSM) G. C. N. Keane to 40 (U) Sig Regt (V) and were glad he was able to attend our recent Branch meeting.

Our TAVR Members have left for Annual Camp including the Branch Hon Sec and Branch Treasurer leaving our next meeting rather depleted. The day after the meeting our contingent left for the Blandford Reunion in two cars (via the cross channel ferry of course), and were joined by the serving members on the last day of Camp. More in the next WIRE article when we have the usual report on the Reunion from our Reunion Organiser, Edgar McCall. Once again if you are reading The WIRE and are in Northern Ireland, then if you are not already a Branch member or indeed are still serving, you are welcome to join us any third Wednesday of the month in Clonaver TAVR Centre, Belfast.

SHROPSHIRE BRANCH

It's been quite some time since the Shropshire Branch featured in The WIRE. However, the decision by the Central Committee of the RSA to award three Branch stalwarts with the 50 Years Badge is, we believe, a cause for celebration. Especially when our Chairman, John Wall managed to persuade the Mayor of Shrewsbury, Cllr Peter Jones, to make the presentations in the lovely setting of Shrewsbury Castle, now an excellent military museum. Originally scheduled to receive this prestigious honour were our Chairman, Maj (Retd) John Wall MBE TD JP, our Treasurer, WOI (Retd) Phil Johnson and our 'General Factotum', Sgt (Retd) Colin MacMillan.

Preparations had all been made, fine weather ordered, the Press informed, then poor old Phil's migraine started playing up and much to everyone's disappointment, he was forced to pull out of the ceremony at the last minute. This was a great pity because the Mayor had done his homework, and both he and the Mayoress made excellent hosts, personally serving refreshments to all their guests. Accompanying the recipients were their wives Philomena and Jane, Vice Chairman Reg Clark and his wife Eve, Emyr Edwards, Derek Evans, and Maj (Retd) Brian Ivison Area 2 Representative. When making the presentations the Mayor said how delighted he was to present the Awards on behalf of the Central Committee. For the benefit of his other guests, he then read out the personal letter signed by the Chairman, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB, and a brief summary of John's and Colin's backgrounds and careers. The Branch was delighted that both our local papers the Shropshire Star and the Shrewsbury Chronicle had sent along photographers to cover the proceedings. We need all the publicity we can get if we are to attract new members. Although Phil Johnson missed the civic ceremony, he was well enough later to bring his wife Thea along to the Abbey Hotel in Shrewsbury, to join John and Philomena Wall and Colin and Jane MacMillan for an informal celebratory dinner at which John Wall presented Phil with his 50 Badge.

Reference has been made in these notes to the military museum in Shrewsbury Castle. Shropshire is full of interesting places to visit, and anyone touring in the locality is strongly recommended to add the Castle to their itinerary. Included in the wealth of memorabilia accumulated by all the County regiments, is the exhibits appertaining to the Shropshire Yeomanry, who's family history is perpetuated by 95 (Shropshire Yeomanry) Signal Squadron (V). Having made the effort to assure our friends that the Shropshire Branch is alive and kicking, despite the advancing years of our active members. Now it's time for the commercial. If having read these notes, any members living in Shropshire or adjacent counties feel motivated enough to come along to our meetings, they will be made most welcome. We meet in the WOs' and Sgts' Mess 5 Div HQ Copthorne Barracks, Shrewsbury, on the third Friday of each month at 1930hrs, with the exception of June, July, and August. SOUTHAMPTON BRANCH

The Branch Annual Lunch went ahead as planned on Sunday 29 April 2001. It took place at Kings Court Masonic Centre at Chandlers Ford. This was the first time that we had used this venue and all the members were suitably impressed. The consensus of opinion was, that it be kept in mind for future functions. Our Guests of Honour were Maj Gen Tony Boyle CB, the Chairman of the Royal Signals Association and his charming wife Ann.

Top Table

A total of 69 members and guests, including members from Salisbury, Reading , Aldershot and Winchester Branches sat down and tucked into and excellent lunch. The raffle, organised and carried out with style by Ruth Dear, Vera Packer and Janet Mitchell, raised the magnificent sum of £132 to swell the coffers. Several prizes for the raffle had been kindly donated by the family of the late Len Hill. After the toasts, the response was given by Tony Boyle, who gave a short amusing speech in which he expressed his delight in being at the function. Since taking over as Chairman he has attended other Branch meetings around the country getting to know and understand the strengths and weaknesses of the RSA. He stated that he would like to see greater membership and closer links between the RSA and the Corps. In particular he intended to address the problem of accomodation for RSA members at Blandford during the annual get-together.

All in all the function was a success, all credit and thanks to Chris, Sid, Tony and the rest, who worked so hard to bring it all together.

KOREA REMEMBERED - by ex-WO2 Norman D. Davies

On 16 April 2001, I returned to Korea as a member of the British Korean Veterans Association, Wessex Branch. It was the first time I had returned to Korea since I left in May 1952. This year's reunion was to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the involvement of the British and Commonwealth Troops in the war. In particular the commemoration of the Battle of the Imjin River. A battle in which I took part as a member of the 29th Independent Infantry Brigade, Signal Squadron, serving at the Brigade's Tactical Headquarters. Over the eight days I attended ceremonies and services from Pusan to the 38th Parallel including several battle sites involving 29 Brigade. At the Gloucester Memorial at Solma-ri in the presence of the Duke of York, Gen Sir Farrar-Hockley, Ambassadors and many dignitaries, we veterans lined up and marched over 'Gloucester Bridge' and up to the memorial to be greeted by the UN Honour Guard and the ROK 25th Division Band. After the speeches and addresses, the Duke of York spoke, ending with a message from the Queen. There followed the Service of Remembrance, the Last Post played by a Royal Marine Bugler and wreath laying while a UK Piper played a lament. The ceremony ended with the veterans presenting Scholarships to High School children, on a one to one basis. It was a most moving and emotional event and I am not ashamed to admit that I was moved to tears as my memories mingled with the event in which I was taking part.

After the ceremony we proceeded to 'Castle Hill' where the Glosters made their famous last stand. Here, among the trenches, dugouts and gun pits from 50 years ago, we were given a briefing on the battle by Gen Sir Farrar-Hockley, who at the time, was Captain, Adjutant of the Glosters and who was taken prisoner by the Chinese. Standing there looking down at the Imjin River as it snaked its way along the valley, I also remembered the four members of the Signals Squadron who formed the Rear Link Radio Crew attached to the Glosters and who were also taken prisoner. They were LCpl Jennings, UCpl Ward, Sig Cairns and Driver Miles.

Two days later we were in the area covered by the Northumberland Fusiliers, Royal Ulster Rifles and the 8 Hussars during April 1951, the west flank of 29 Brigade. Also in this area the Brigade Tactical HQ was sited, with the heights of Kamak-san between and the Gloster's positions in the east. In these hills and valleys the Brigade fought the rearguard action that bought time for UN forces to fall back, regroup and stop the Chinese from retaking Seoul again. From the briefing given by the 8 Hussars, RNF and RUR veterans and my own memories, we were able to reconstruct some of the actions at that time although, after 50 years, the change in terrain and the advent of civilisation made it a bit difficult. The terrible experience that the infantry and tank crews went through caused several of them to break down as they remembered, and who could blame them. During the first big retreat from Pyongyang in December/January 1951, and in early January, the Royal Ulster Rifles and 'Cromwell' tanks of the 8th Hussars, fought against overwhelming odds in the area known as 'Happy Valley' at Chaegunghyon. 240 Officers and Riflemen were killed or missing and about 20 tanks were knocked out and abandoned.

With us on the coach, apart from the veterans from the RUR and Hussars, was a serving RUR Major. He had come out on behalf of the Regiment and was attempting to locate areas of action involving the RUR's during the war. In particularly he wanted to locate, as near as possible, the area of 'Happy Valley' and where a Memorial had been raised to the men who had died there. Long ago The Memorial itself had been taken back to Ireland to the RUR Depot at Ballymena. The veterans who had fought and survived the action reconnoitred and finally agreed on a spot, which seemed central to the area of the battle. It was there that we held a service, laid wreaths and with the Last Post being played by a Royal Marine Bugler, paid our respects to the lads that had died.

A day at Panmunjom and the Demilitarised Zone brought home the fact that we were still only in a truce situation. This seemed to be emphasised by the constant attention paid to us by the North Korean guards and military personnel. We did the grand tour around the Advance Camp manned by the UN Command Security Battalion; the Conference Room; the Joint Security Area and the Bridge of No Return. Most poignant part of the visit was seeing the Freedom Bridge across which 12,773 prisoners of war walked after the war including several members of the Glosters who were in our party. One can only imagine how they felt.

In Pusan, veterans from UK, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the Philippines attended the Korean National Cemetery for one of the more memorable and moving occasions. In the cemetery lie the bodies of 2,300 men including 885 from the UK. I had seen the cemetery in the media, read about it, been told about it by those who had visited before, but nothing prepared me for the feeling when I actually stepped through the Main Gate. It was a feeling of overwhelming sadness. The United Nations Command Ceremony was conducted in the morning. The Duke of York made a speech ending with a message from the Queen. Gen Thomas A. Schwartz, Commander in Chief, UN Command, ROK/US Command and US Forces Korea, and Gen Sir Anthony Farrar-Hockley along with other dignitaries also addressed the veterans and guests. After lunch the UK and Commonwealth Veterans marched on for the Commonwealth Ceremony and Service, again in the presence of Prince Andrew. After the ceremony he walked among the graves speaking to the veterans. Most moving was the personal tributes being paid by family members and regimental comrades by the laying of wreaths and the planting of wooden crosses. As a personal duty, I located the graves and paid my respects to the Royal Signals lads who had died.

In lighter moments we attended a Garden Party at the British Ambassador's Residence in the presence of the Duke of York and Roger Moore. Veterans, grey haired or balding and bemedalled, circulated; swapping war stories, while the ladies (bless them) vied to be noticed by the celebrities. It was an excellent affair with a buffet and drinks befitting the occasion. Highlight of the visit was a Cocktail Party and Banquet hosted by Gen Lee, Sang-Hoon, ROK Army, Retd Chairman The Korean Veterans Association and in the presence of the Duke of York, Gen Sir Farrar-Hockley and Ambassadors from countries involved in the war. It was a glittering evening at the 'Hotel Shilla', Seoul's premier hotel. This was a great success at which 81 UK Veterans were presented with the Korean Veteran's Medal for service during the war.

Over the 50 years many words have been written about that 'Forgotten War'. However, I have always felt that the role of the Royal Signals in that conflict was somewhat overshadowed. Talking to journalists and TV interviewers while in Korea made that pretty obvious. They seemed to have no conception or interest in the communications aspect of the conflict. Ex-Sig Ron Larby in his book, 'Signals to the Right - Armoured Corps to the Left' and in my own book 'Red Winds from the North', sought to give some insight into the Royal Signals actions and involvement. Perhaps this article will also serve as a reminder of the vital role that the Corp played in Korea and other conflicts.

REUNIONS

BEVERLEY EX-BOYS ASSOCIATION

Our Reunion this year will be held at the Lensbury at Teddington Lock on Saturday, 6 October. Tickets and full details can be obtained from Tony Hull on 01202-770261.

We have received the following report from our member, Jim Batt:
I visited Beverley again for the third time this year, exactly fifty-one years after I first went there as a boy soldier. This time it was a very auspicious occasion, the date was 10 May 2001, and it was to witness the ceremony for the end of term of office of the Mayor of Beverley, Neville Holgate, who has served the town for the period 2000-2001. It was also to celebrate the accession to this high office of Councillor Birt for the period 2001-2002. The ceremony took the form of a speech by the outgoing Mayor, followed by the nomination of the new Mayor and the voting in of the new candidate by the full Council. As there had only been one nomination, there then followed a speech by the new Mayor in acceptance of the office. In his speech the new Mayor spoke of all the sterling work done by Neville for the town and its residents. I met both the new Mayor and his wife, the Mayoress, who I am sure will do a very good job, but Neville will be a hard act to follow. After the speeches there followed the handing over of the robes and chains of office by the outgoing Mayor to his successor, who donned the same, having divested himself of the robes and chains of office of Deputy Mayor. Immediately before the robing ceremony Neville's last words as Mayor were, 'We will now disrobe,' which caused laughter from the crowded assembly, consisting of Council members, church dignitaries, ACF, scouts, press and members of the public. On completion of all ceremonies and Council business, I, along with a number of other people, was invited to the Mayor's Parlour for a buffet and wine. I was there as an invited member of the Beverley Ex-Boys Association and was introduced to quite a number of people. I made sure that our Association was well promoted. Neville has been a good friend to the Beverley Ex-Boys and he was telling people of our presence in the town between 1950-1955, and the fact that we have now formed an association. The new Mayor appears to be a decent chap and I feel there is no reason for us not to have a good ongoing relationship with him. It was explained that our Secretary, Tony Hull, could not attend due to his wife (our Assistant Secretary) Beryl's incapacity following a knee operation. Neville and his wife both sent their best wishes to Beryl for a speedy recovery. Neville reiterated his wish to continue his association with BEBA, although he is no longer Mayor he remains a Councillor and still wants a permanent reminder of our presence in the town all those years ago. Ken Loft, the Mace Bearer, will continue in this office. He oversaw the ceremonies of the handover/takeover of Mayor and his responsibilities include seeing the Mayor is properly robed and is where he should be at the right time.

Last but not least, the meeting took place in the Beverley Guildhall, the first time since its refurbishment, and what an impressive building it is. I had an enjoyable time meeting old friends and new, amongst the civilian population and they look forward to meeting us all, hopefully for next year's Reunion.

12th/15th/18th AIR FORMATION SIGNAL REGIMENTS ASSOCIATION

34 members of the Association, their wives and guests, assembled at the North Stafford Hotel, Stoke-on-Trent, for their annual reunion and dinner on Saturday, 12 May. The first to arrive were Ron Thompson, who had left Fort William at 3.30am, and Ray Foulds who he had picked up as he sped through Glasgow on his way south. Arthur and Betty Thomas arrived somewhat later from Wolverhampton, Arthur bearing the South Staffordshire Branch Standard that presided proudly over the celebrations. Particularly welcome were Andrew and Sylvia McKowen. Andrew's father, Maj George McKowen MBE, commanded 1 Coy, 15th Air Formation Signals, from its formation until it disbanded after VE Day.

Chairman, Gerald Evans, in welcoming all to the reunion, remarked on the good heart of the association with more members attending the reunion each year and a growing membership rapidly approaching 200. He called for a minute's silence in memory of Ron Pritchard, John Warke, John Farrier, Daniel Clements and John Johnson, news of whose passing had been received since the last reunion. Colin Morgan then made a moving tribute to all those who had contributed to the success of the association. He brought blushes to the cheeks to those present and doubtless red ears to Paul Quinn, the energetic organiser of the South East Area lunches who had recently taken on the additional task of editing the association newsletter. After dinner Alan Johnson, one of the founder members of Air Formation Signals in the Middle East (3 GHQ & 3 AFS) and later a member of 18 AFS in Europe, treated us to a slide show charting the development of the trade of Dispatch Rider. From the early days when they wore Service Dress Caps and greatcoats with only a blue and white armband to indicate who they were. He showed a number of photographs of members of the Bar-None Motor Cycle Club, of which he was also a founder member, and described how the club came to be formed in the Middle East and named thus because 'None shall be barred from membership'. In his audience were a number of past members of the club, RAF and Military Police as well as Royal Signals. His presentation was followed by a barrage of questions. Alan, who is now in his 80's, still rides a vintage motorcycle, a big port AJS, almost as old as himself!

As the staff at the North Stafford have always made us very welcome and as the venue and timing suit so many of our members, next year's reunion has already been booked and will take place over the weekend 11/12th May, 2002, at Stoke-on-Trent. All past members of the 12th, 15th and 18th Air Formation Signals, their sister Air Formation Signal Units and CAFSO Staff who served in the UK, Europe or Middle East will be welcome. Contact Colin Morgan (01554-774638) for membership details.

CALLING ALL EX ROYAL SIGNALS SERVICEMEN FROM 7TH AND 11TH ARMOURED DIVISIONS WHO SERVED IN THE BERGEN-HOHNE/HAMBURG AREA IN 1945

7th Armoured Brigade Headquarters and Signal Squadron (207), based in Hohne Garrison, Bergen Belsen are looking for any Ex Royal Signals Servicemen who served in this area during the latter stages of World War 2. We would like to contact them concerning the history of Royal Signals participation during the fighting through this area and on to Hamburg. This Unit is duc to return to Hohne from Kosovo in November this year and is planning to take part in a Remembrance Service and Commemoration as part of 7th Armoured Brigade. It is likely to be a memorable event. Should anyone who served as part of the 7th and 11th Armoured Division, both of whom liberated this area, be interested in taking part then they should contact WOI (RSM) Mark Tivey on 0049 5051 962555 or 962267, fax 962422. The history of this Formation and of the action that took place in this area is deep seated and memorable. Many people died during the latter stages of the war, even after having survived for so long. We will remember them. Florcat Jerboa.

8TH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING & REUNION LANGELEBEN REUNION BRANCH 25TH-28TH MAY 2001 50TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS

The 8th AGM and reunion was held in Konigslutter Germany over the weekend 25-28 May to coincide with the local 'Shutzenfest'. This reunion was also to mark the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Langeleben Camp in 1951. The Avalon Konigshof Hotel was the venue for our dinner and dance on the evening of Friday 25 May enjoyed by 112 members and guests, many of them had not met since the 1950s-60s and many old friendships where renewed. On the Saturday after the AGM we all met at the Kaiserdom where local bands where playing prior to joining in the march through the streets to the town hall in the market square. Our contingent led by two standard bearers and our President, Maj Gen Peter Baldwin CBE, were considered the smartest on parade even though our average age approached 60 (old soldiers and all that). After civic speeches by the Shutzenmeister and the Burgermeister, Herr Arnulf Baumann, the march continued on to the marquees in the festival site where an afternoon and evening of drinking, eating and dancing with the locals cemented the unique relationship that we have with the people of Konigslutter. Sunday, for most of us, was a day of rest and recuperation after the excesses of Saturday, many of our members went to Langeleben to take a last look at the old camp before the redevelopment due in the coming months, takes place. The weather over the whole weekend was glorious and quite a few of our members and guests stayed on for a few days to visit Berlin and to travel into the old East German zone or into the Harz Mountains. A report of our 50th Anniversary Reunion appeared with photographs in the local press, also praising the comfort given to the local population by the British army during the uncertain times of the 'cold war'.

LOST COMMS

Miss Lucille Cross would like to hear from anyone who served with her father, the former Cpl (Teleprinter Operator) Peter Cross (nicknamed Jimmy) in the following stations; Beverley 1951/53, Woolwich 1953/55, Malaya 1956/59, Gloucester 1960/61, Hounslow 1962/64, Singapore 1964/67 and Germany 1967/69. In particular, she would like to hear from Alan Savage and Alan Swinbank, both good friends of Peter. Anyone who can help is asked to contact Lucille at, 29 Hunters Road, Clayton-le-Woods, Leyland, Lancs, PR25 2TT.

Mr J. Fryett of 24 Garrick Way, IPSWICH, IP1 6NG, is trying to trace an old friend, David Shorter. He knew David in Tokyo, Japan 1946 and he was a regular soldier. Anyone who can help please contact Mr Fryett at the above address.

Ex-'F' Company Boy 2327716 Ken Selmes (June '38 - March '41) would like to meet his apprentice friend 23277?? George Stokes again. We last served together in the War Office Signals Army Chain Station at Kidderminster in 1942. Our service was due to end when we were 26 in 1949/50 (when I left). If any reader can recall George please contact Ken at 35 Cornwall Road, Salisbury, Wiltshire, SP1 3NH or Tel: 01722 335503.

The photo is of 'Able Troop', 6 Armoured Division & Signal Regiment, Bunde, BAOR 22. It was taken in August 1953, on the occasion of LCpl 'Geordie' Nairn, departing for demob. The wood carving is a giveaway, it was liberated by 'Able' Troop whilst on exercise in Schleswig Holstein, but put under close arrest in the guardroom on our return to camp. It inevitably ended up in the Sergeants' Mess, but it was kindly loaned back to us for the above photo. Some of the faces in the photo belong to R. Dunkerly, A. Buck, 'Scouse' Edwardson, M. Forshaw, J. Fish. As most of them and myself are in our seventies I fear this may be the last chance for me to contact them. If any of you should see this please write to me, Mr F. Nairn at 12 Lanercost Drive, Newcastle/Tyne, NE5 2DE

Dear Sir,

Having been given your name by the Museum Archivist, I write in the hope that you and your Readers may be able to help. One of my interests is research into Military History and individuals of particular interest.

To this end I am endeavoring to research the late Sgt Arthur H. Gray, who served with the Royal Signals during World War 2. He was serving at Catterick when he won the Area Senior Billiards Tournament with the Warrant Officers' and Sergeants' Mess, School of Signals, in 1940/41 and 1942. A World War 2 War Medal was awarded to Sgt Gray but a certificate states that he did not live long enough to receive it in person. There is no record of his death at the Commonwealth War Graves Commission and as I am not a relative I will be unable to get information from Hayes. It has been suggested that a note in The WIRE magazine asking that anyone who knew Sgt Gray or can give me any information about him to kindly contact me.

I hope that you don't think me impertinent but I have no other avenues left. As a matter of interest, if my thoughts are correct, Sgt Gray may well have served in The Boer War, World War 1 and World War 2, which is some achievement indeed.

I am fully prepared to cooperate with any request you may have with regards to my research.

With very best wishes.....

Dear Sir,

The Photo below was taken in Korea, 1951-53. My husband was Dvr Jesse Liddiard, 22250646. He is on the right of the photo. Does anyone know who the other three men are.

Yours Sincerely.....

Dear Sir,

Royal Corps of Signals
North China Signals Section - Tientsin 1934

I refer to your article in The WIRE regarding Tienstin and would like to inform you that I was posted to Hong Kong Signal Section in 1936. I travelled out on the maiden voyage of HT Dilwara and I returned to the UK in 1940 via HT Georgic that was the last troopship out of Hong Kong before the Japanese invaded. I joined the Royal Corps of Signals on 6 June 1934 - your Birthday Year - and now 83, and joined Tientsin Signal Section in 1937. The HQ was 10 Downing Street in the British Concession, each country having its own concession. I remained in Tientsin and Peking (Beijing) during 1937-40 operating the British Embassy with the UK and other worldwide nets. I was on duty at a recreational Unit at Shanhaikwan (the Eastern end of The Great Wall) when I received the message that Great Britain was at war with Germany. The original Message form is in the Signals Museum at Blandford Forum.

I am an active President of the Royal Signals Association Sale Branch Manchester that meets the second Tuesday each month. I regret that I am not familiar with any of the names which were referred to but would appreciate being in touch with any members who may read The WIRE.

The function of the Hong Kong and Tientsin Signal Section was to maintain communications with Tientsin (HX8)-Peking-Shanghai-HongKong (GHN4) on a No 6 Transmitter and a Post Office Transmitter from the British Embassy in Peking. I am unable to answer the query as to the reasons for the British being in China in the 1930s, no doubt it requires a political answer. I am sure that there are many stories that could be exchanged but space dictates the issue. I look forward to your reply.

Yours Sincerely and fraternally.....

Collins - Maj (TOT Retired) David 'Rastus' COLLINS, late R Signals. David was born in Blaina, Monmouthshire in 1933. He enlisted as a Boy Soldier at Maidstone in 1948 and then joined 1 TR in Catterick. From these early days, friends and comrades called him 'Rastus'. In 1951, trained as a Line Mechanic, he was posted to Germany. He subsequently served in the Far East, the Middle East, and in Europe. He was promoted Sergeant in 1953, and became a Foreman of Signals in 1964 (Foremans' Course number 20). He was promoted Warrant Officer Class 2 (FofS) in 1969, and Warrant Officer Class 1 (FofS) in 1972. David was commissioned and promoted Captain (Technical Officer) in 1976. He met June, who was a teacher with the British Forces Education Service in Herford, Germany in 1976. They were married in 1979. Posted to Shetland in 1983, David was promoted to Major (TOT) to command the NATO Forward Scatter Sites at Mossy Hill, Collarfirth Hill and Saxa Vord. Both he and June fell in love with the Northern Isles. Among his duties as OC Shetland, David was frequently called upon to host VIP visits from NATO Bigwigs. There was also a Royal Visit by The Princess Anne. In 1985, as his tour of duty neared it's end, rather than move away from his beloved Shetland, David took early retirement. He and June bought a cottage in Virkie, not far from the 'Maybury' Admin Base. His Regular Army Service totalled 37 years, 195 days.

In retirement David turned his hand to woodturning and metalwork. The results of his labours were successfully displayed and sold at local Craft Fairs. Like so many ex technical types, he also pottered with his tape/disc/cassette-recorders, radios, computers and latterly the Internet ... and there was always PROPER MUSIC in his house. A small but productive kitchen garden held a team of egg-laying ducks. June set a fine table and any visitors to 'Firs' were assured of superb food, excellent wines and splendid company. 'Rastus', when on form, was a raconteur par excellence! Upon raising a Shetland Branch of the Royal Signals Association in 1994, prospective members voted that David become President. He thoroughly enjoyed the monthly sessions with his Branch members at the Legion in Lerwick. One of his duties was to conduct Maj Gen Alan Yeoman, the then Association President, on his visit to Shetland in 1998.

In the early 1990s David fought Prostate Cancer. He suffered a heart attack in 1995 and overcame the heart-bypass-surgery that followed. Becoming an OAP in 1998 was no problem, for it meant he could enjoy a Pensioner's Pint at the Legion. Life in the Shetlands for David and June was 'Just Wonderful!' Then, in the winter of 2000 David became increasingly unwell. In February 2001 he attended the Royal Infirmary in Aberdeen, where it was confirmed that his cancer had returned. He came home to the Shetlands. With June constantly by his side, he was visited by family members and friends, from far and near. He was touched by the many messages of sympathy and support that were sent him. After a brief respite David passed away peacefully on 1 June 2001. His comrades in the Shetlands and elsewhere, send their sincere commiserations to June and the family. RIP 'Rastus'.

Lees - Maj (TOT) A. J. 'Leo' Lees who died aged 77 served in the Corps, in various capacities, for over 50 years. He was a big man in every way - noted for bringing the highest standards to everything he did. By nature he was a modest person with a great sense of humour.

Albert John Lees was born on 8 September 1923. In 1938, at the age of 16, he entered Boys Service. During World War 2 he served with the Special Forces. He was captured by the Germans in Greece and made three separate attempts to escape captivity but was recaptured on every occasion leading to long spells of solitary confinement. He was eventually released by the Russians and made his own way home to the UK. After the war he continued to serve in a variety of postings where his technical ability became increasingly recognised. In 1961, after nearly 23 years in the ranks, he was commissioned as TOT. He spent his first two years as an officer with 7 Signal Regiment in Herford returning to the UK in 1963 where he joined 8 Signal Regiment. In 1964 he joined HQ COMCAN in the UK before a happy tour in Malta. In 1974 he spent a short time as the TOT of the School of Signals prior to joining Trials Squadron. There followed a posting to Hong Kong where he spent three and a half years with 27 Signal Regiment. In 1976 he began his last tour as a serving officer with 4 Signal Group in Rheindahlen. Although he hung up his uniform in late 1978, he was to continue his service to the Corps as an RO in Germany, eventually retiring at the age of 67.

In his younger days he was a very fine sportsman - he represented both the Corps and the Army at Rugby. He was the most committed of soldiers; the Army was his life to which he always displayed the most positive of attitudes. He was a great family man and it is to his wife, June, and to his family that the Corps extends its condolences and good wishes at this sad time.

Henry - Catherine beloved wife of Maj (Retd) Paddy Henry MBE, died 11 May 2001 at St John's Hospital, Livingston, after a short illness.

McKenzie - John 'Mac' McKenzie, died in Peterborough Hospital on 4 May 2001 after a year long struggle, borne stoically and with great dignity, at the age of 56 against leukaemia. John joined the Junior Leaders at Denbury, Newton Abbot in 1960 and served in the Royal Signals in the U.K, Germany (especially Bruggen where he had fond memories) and Singapore. An active and competitive sportsman participated in most sports however, excelled in rugby where he represented the Army and the Royal Signals. He left the Corps in 1978 to start anew in Peterborough but he never lost touch with the corps and his true friends, who stayed with him to the end. John, to all who knew him, was a true gentleman, a very loyal friend, a wonderful husband to Linda and a doting father to his daughters Louise and Gail. In the last several years he took great delight in spending time with his three granddaughters Kelly, Kayleigh and Aimee. He will always hold a special place in our hearts and memories.

Nevin - Mr A. E. 'Ted' Nevin. It is with deep regret that the Liverpool Branch of the Royal Signals Association announces the death of A. E. Nevin. Ted passed away on 1 May 2001 at Arrow Park hospital on the Wirral. Ted enlisted at the age of 17 years in the 55th Division Signals in 1939. He trained as a Lineman and then he went on to acheive his boyhood ambition as a DR (no doubt the IOMTT had greatly entertained him). In 1942 he sailed from Liverpool on the P&O liner Mooltan for the middle east, via the Cape. Where he took part in the Sicily landings. He was hospitalised on the Elder Dempster liner Aba after receiving a shrapnel wound at Catania. He returned to the Italian mainland to serve with the 11th Corps of the US 5th Army. Following his army service Ted, being the caring person he was, gave a great amount of his time to the local British Legion. A very large attendance at his last farewell confirmed this. We at the Liverpool Branch offer our sincere condolences to his widow Isla, son Keith and daughter Kim.

Ambrose - William 'Bill' Ambrose passed away on 20 June 2001, after a long illness caused by a brain tumour. Bill was a Harrogate apprentice between January 1961and December 1963 and went on to serve in the Corps until December 1971 as a Radio Relay Technician reaching the rank of Sergeant. On leaving the service Bill spent 2fi years with the Trans Arabian Pipeline Co. in Saudi Arabia, before joining Racal Communications Ltd in 1974, with whom he was employed until his death. Initially employed as an Overseas Installations Engineer, Bill rose to become a Technical Manager, before moving, in 1991, into Project Management.

EXERCISE PRAIRIE EAGLE 2001 - by LCpl Mick Gee

Yes, it's that time of the year again, when we go to sunny Poland, but someone or something was trying to stop us from going. Five days to deployment, 'Sorry Boss no Gucci command vehicle, it's getting back-loaded tomorrow.' Then on the morning of the said deployment the FFR decided that it had seen enough of Poland and didn't want to start. It was 0300hrs and things were a bit frantic. Nevertheless we left Sennelager on time, albeit less two vehicles and a trailer! During the long journey we had a chance to grab a quick shower, Mick 'Greengrass' Gee, dropped a large adjustable spanner on his big toe! He is the only person I know that carries a Part 3A in his wash-bag, I dread to think what he uses the breakdown flag for! When we arrived at DPTA, Poland we were issued with the most important bit of kit 'our meal ticket'. We went to our new found site which was recced by Yeoman Steve 'Capt Darling' Hillier and set-up the complex. Things were quite noisy that night due to the armour cutting about the area, but it all became clear in the morning as we were informed that we had pitched up in a tank range, thank you Darling. Then there was the field promotion of Stu 'Blowfly' Mackie who was the victim of an ongoing troop windup helped along by Dave 'Penknife Surgery' Moorhead. The days of scheming came to an end as the OC, Jerry 'General Melchet' Hughes bahhhhh, presented Stu with his tape, congratulations LCpl Mackie. A mention must go to Nick 'Thrush' Robson, I am glad that you brought that Blandford dipole along with you and enough paper to supply a regiment!

CMSC ADVENTURE TRAINING – BAVARIA - by LCpl Stu Mackie

As summer approaches the lads from COMSECTAT joined the CMSC contingent for a very enjoyable week's adventure training in Bavaria. Before it started Dave 'Meathead' Moorhead dropped a clanger by announcing he couldn't actually do any adventure training because of his in growing toenail! The first night was a 'quiet night in' at the lodge bar, (mmmm!). The first days activity was a gruelling days hill walking and LCpl Stu 'JD and Coke' Mackie and Cpl Dave 'Stabilisers' Storey joined Cpl Martin Reed bringing up the rear of the team, 'Aren't you supposed to be on your Summer Mountain Leaders course in a fortnight Martin?' On Wednesday morning we set off early for a day's mountain biking, a quality day enjoyed by everyone, except Dave 'Kamikaze' Green. He managed to launch himself from his bike and end up a mixture of cogs, limbs and a chain all tied together, but miraculously he was able to get up dust himself off and carry on, despite the blood gushing from his wounds! We got back to the lodge in one piece though and then rounded the week off nicely with a day white water rafting which everyone agreed was awesome, apart from Sig Dave Moorhead who nearly drowned. A big thanks goes to SSgt (YofS) Del Goodenough for arranging the week.

EXERCISE LONELY SKI II - by LCpl Al Smale-Saunders

The Exercise consisted of six days of alpine skiing in and around the French boarder town of Chatel. The team included Maj Mark Winston-Davies (CMSC), Capt Windy Millar (CMSC), SSgt (YofS) Steve Hillier (COMSECTAT), Cpl Dave Storey (CMSC) and LCpl Al Smale-Saunders (COMSECTAT). The journey down was uneventful (except for the mad driving and nightmare parking in Chatel town centre) and by 7 o'clock in the evening we had got our accommodation, skis and lift passes. The first day on the slope was free ski where old skiing legs where re-discovered and dusted off. It was soon clear that the slopes in the resort were certainly not for beginners, even the junior slopes were either steep, narrow or both. Our instructor was a Frenchman named Alain who farmed cattle on the slopes in the summer and pulled some of the craziest stunts on the slope in the winter. We were also with a number of French skiers, most of who were in the twilight of their years, but generally were very good, and a dodgy Dutch couple. The first morning of lessons were spent showing Alain what we could do, which, compared to him, was very little and by the end of the day everyone was worn out. The next day it appeared that Dave Storey had not been totally correct about his ability and he was moved down a group, which amused us greatly. For the top group, Alain took us off piste for some more madness and had us doing jumps off cliffs and skiing over mogul fields. As the week progressed, we all improved noticeably in most aspects of our skiing, but by the end of the trip everyone was tired due to the hard skiing we had been doing, and most were glad when we headed back. A lot was learnt from the lessons by all and we became better skiers for it. Many thanks go to Maj Mark Winston-Davies for organising the trip, and we look forward to the next trip in the future.

INTERESTED IN EARNING £250 BEFORE TAX
NO CATCHES?!!

The Royal Signals are included in the Satisfied Soldier Bounty Scheme (SSBS) that is designed to improve recruiting and all Regular Corporals and below are eligible. It is a very simple scheme; you obtain SSBS cards, which are called Recruit Preference Cards from your unit. Each card has a serial number; you write your details in the card and give it to a potential Royal Signals Recruit.

Once the individual completes Phase 1 Training, you receive £250 before tax.

RECRUIT PREFERENCE CARD

Keep this Card Safe

Take it with you to all interviews with the Army Careers Staff and Recruit Selection Staff

There is no upper limit to the number of cards you can issue, so if you know a lot of people that want to join the Royal Signals, you could earn yourself 'LOADS OF MONEY'.

You can use the card anytime, however, why not go as a Satisfied

UNIT NOTES

Unit Notes are increasing in size. Although the Editorial Staff approve of this trend there is, however, a limit! The compilers of WIRE notes are reminded of the guidelines regarding notes as follows: Major Units three pages of text, font size 8pt
Minor Units two pages of text, font size 8pt

We accept that there are exceptions for special events. We are always happy to receive good quality photographs but large numbers of these should be reflected in a reduction in the quantity of text.

Particular gripes are - a series of Troop level descriptions of the same function - boring - pick the best and don't send the rest. Photographs that only show the backs of peoples heads or photographs of a large number of people who lose their identity when we shrink the photo.

BOWMAN

by Maj A. R. Blackwell

Most readers will have an opinion on BOWMAN – probably several. This article aims to spread some facts about BOWMAN … the first being that many soldiers will see it in their current unit within their current tour. On 19 July, the Secretary of State for Defence announced that Computing Devices Canada (CDC) had won the recent BOWMAN competition. This is not the first time that a company has been selected to supply BOWMAN; there are, however, some key differences this time.

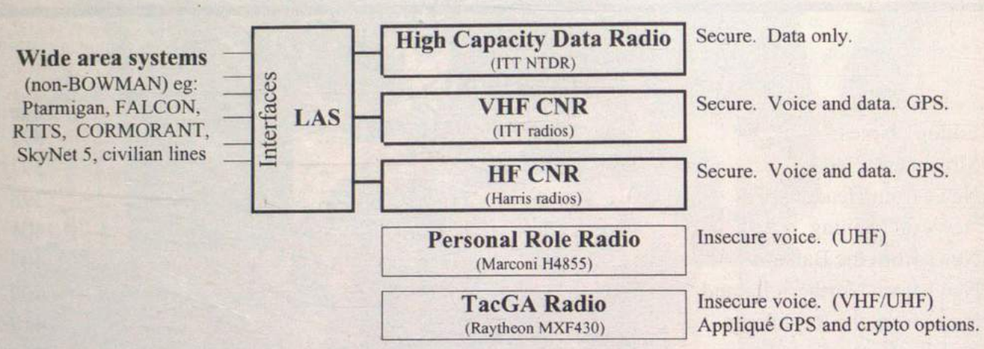
First, the selection followed an intense competition between three major defence companies.

Second, the contract will be to supply BOWMAN (that is, provide equipment, install it on vehicles, ships and aircraft across all three Services, provide initial training and support the system), not merely conduct further research and development.

Finally, and perhaps most importantly, the initial costs and timescale are fixed. In other words, BOWMAN is real. So what will it be? In broad terms, BOWMAN is:

- A secure voice and data service down to half section level.
- The basis for the subsequent Digitisation of the land battlespace.

BOWMAN will comprise: voice and data HF and VHF combat net radio (CNR); an UHF High Capacity Data Radio (HCDR) and a Local Area Sub-system (LAS). The BOWMAN family also includes the Tactical Ground to Air radio (PRC 346), accepted into service in November 1998 and used operationally in the Balkans and Sierra Leone and the Personal Role Radio (PRC 343) accepted into service in August 2001 and currently being fielded. BOWMAN can be viewed in system terms:



The heart of the system is the LAS. This will replace the current Clansman harness, Ptarmigan cabling within and between HQ vehicles, intercom cabling and the wide range of ad-hoc cabling required for currently fielded computer networks. One information bearer between vehicles will replace the miles of cabling that currently form tangled and fault-prone webs around deployed HQs. The LAS will provide connectivity within vehicles for all voice and data services, and connectivity between vehicles and with non-BOWMAN systems. Thus, for example, a Satcom detachment may connect directly into a brigade HQ via the BOWMAN LAS, or a staff officer may make a call over Ptarmigan via the LAS. Indeed, only one radio per net even needs to be switched on in order to serve an entire cabled-up HQ … fewer masts, antennae, generators (and duty operators 'sitting on set'?).

The High Capacity Data Radio is a new capability, designed to meet the communications needs of the vastly increased amount of data that will be passed in future. Whilst future trunk systems are ideally suited to transport data at formation HQ and above, a more mobile and fluid network is required at lower tactical levels. The HCDR network will be a self-managing (from the user's perspective), secure network which will automatically route data around the battlefield in the most efficient manner.

The secure voice and data service, based on combat net radio, will replace the current Clansman system. The way in which we organize our radio nets will probably not change much – they are, after all, linked more to the operational chain of command than the technology involved – but all HF and VHF radios will be combined voice and data capable, and all will be secure. BATCO will only need to be issued to the Corps Museum and we will be able to exchange data all the way down to half section level, as opposed to regimental/battalion HQ. All manpack combat net radios will have a GPS chip embedded, which will provide conventional GPS functionality (own location, navigation, etc) as well as providing data for automatic transmission of locations in order to provide an accurate 'friendly picture' of where our own troops are – situation awareness. Vehicles equipped with BOWMAN will have one GPS per vehicle.

The Personal Role Radio … The PRR is a short range (~500m), insecure voice radio for use within sections and other small teams. It is a new capability and will enhance low level command and control – what we currently do by shouting, hand signals, whistles, flares and the like. Some 45,000 are being purchased and issued at the rate of 2,000 per month during 2002 and 2003. Royal Signals units will receive PRR to enhance the local defence of HQs and some isolated detachments.

Introduction … The first two years of introduction (2003-2004) will see an incremental programme of conversion, starting with a mechanized battalion being converted and undergoing trials, and building up to a full brigade by the end of two years, with trialing being an almost continuous activity alongside conversion and training. If all goes well, the next three years will see the remainder of Defence converted. Units in the Formation Readiness Cycle (FRC) will be converted in their Training Year and non-FRC units overlaid in the same three year period. The high level fielding plan as it currently affects the Corps is:

	2002	2003	2004	2005	2006	2007
Summary		First brigade & trials		Main Fielding
Development	Design lines and field proving
Trials		TFTs / Bn OFT	TFT / Bde OFT	Bde OFT
12 Mech Bde		First Bn	Remainder
Div HQ and Sig Regts			3	1
Armd Bdes				7×	20×	4×
Mech Bdes				19×	1×
Cdo and AA Bdes				3 Cdo Bde	16 AA Bde
Sig Bdes				1×, 2× and 11×
Personal Role Radio	PRR Fielding

So what?… Many readers will see BOWMAN in their unit in their current tour. It is real, and it is happening now. So what effect will it have on us? Apart from the obvious ones –HQs will be set up and taken down faster, the Yeoman won't need to account for BATCO, the Foreman won't need to spend hours cannibalising Clansman radios, and GPS and situation awareness will make it obvious when the new Troop Commander has got hopelessly lost – there is likely to be a significant shift from operating individual sets and intrusive maintenance to network management, supervisory duties and accurate asset tracking. The enormous leap in capability that BOWMAN will bring requires expert management if the services are to be easy for users to operate. The emphasis of our work will move away from 'working the radio' to 'managing the system'. BOWMAN has been designed to be flexible to meet many different scenarios – the different configurations are virtually limitless and future operators and supervisors will need to understand what the underlying technology is capable of in order to get the best out of the system. Many parts of the system, notably the HCDR network, are completely new concepts. No-one in their right mind would currently claim to offer the definitive guide to getting the best out of such a system and we will clearly have a lot to learn. The success of BOWMAN will be more about understanding it and exploiting it than it will be about familiarity with the buttons.

OPENING SHOW

On returning to Blandford, our training was hampered further by the Foot & Mouth outbreaks and more injuries, namely Sig Marcus Kershaw (fractured wrist) and Sig Carl Potter (fractured elbow), both of whom had accidents dismounting from the '3 Bike Fan'. With the knock-on-effect caused by the problems so far, it was only logical for the team management to decide on a postponement of the Opening Show. Invitations were changed and arrangements were made for the show to now proceed on 18 May. The weather began to improve and the training moved along nicely. There were quite a few changes to the show this year with an increase of riders to the Opening Ride, the Irish Whip and the Charlie's Diamond and with the addition of the Honda sponsored 400cc race quads. Rehearsals came and went, albeit with a few hiccups (no change there then!) and before we knew it, it was Friday morning and the Lads were getting ready to perform. The atmosphere in the garages prior to the show was excellent, with the Army Press Team on-site, there were cameras clicking, camcorders rolling, interviews being conducted and people in various poses strutting their stuff and giving their cheekiest grins in the name of 'publicity'. Time came for the show to commence, the Band was playing, the SOinC arrived and at 1130, twenty Triumph Tiger 750's thundered onto Hawke Square for the Opening Ride. The show went very well indeed and the crowd was very appreciative (probably of the unusually nice weather as well as the performance). Before you could say 'Cor look at that fire!!', the show was over and another three people joined the prestigious ranks of the wearers of the much coveted White Helmet. Congratulations to: Capt Kyra 'Betty Boop' McAnulty, Cpl Steve 'The Hat' Girling and LCpl James Brown 'aaaoooww'.

THE ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM

HERO'S SISTER VISITS THE ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM

Mrs Florrie Egan, the sister of Cpl Thomas Waters, Royal Signals hero of the D-Day landings, paid an unexpected visit with her family to the Royal Signals Museum at Blandford on 13 August 2001. Cpl Thomas Waters was awarded the Military Medal after rescueing a colleague and repeatedly repairing communication lines under sniper fire on the Benouville Bridge (later renamed Pegasus Bridge) over the Caen Canal. His gallantry is remembered in the famous Corps painting 'Go To It' by Peter Archer. Mrs Egan, who is 83, was one of ten children, she was very close to her brother, Tom, four years her senior, who died in 1956. She is seen here with Sgt Brewin and Cpl MacDonald of Radio Systems Group who were keen to meet Florrie having re-enacted the Normandy Assault and Tom Walter's heroic effort on 6 June this year (see the front cover). The family had many anecdotes told to them by Tom to add to the well-known story. A new display on 216 Sig Sqn is being prepared and will soon be on view in the museum.

THE PRESENTATION OF THE PENGELLY MEDALS TO THE MUSEUM

His sons Raymond and Christopher recently presented the medals of Sgt Leslie Ralph Pengelly MVO to the Museum. Leslie Pengelly was called up in 1941 for wartime service and after training at Catterick was drafted to Singapore where he served until 1944 before transferring to India and Burma where he was, amongst other things, an air courier. In 1945 he was in Singapore at the time of the surrender. In 1948, after discharge from the Corps, he took up employment at the Buckingham Palace Post Office where he remained until 1956. He then worked with the General Post Office as a Personnel Manager but returned in the mid-1970s to Royal duty and became the Court Post Master. He retired in 1981 and was appointed Member of the Royal Victorian Order for his services. He was also awarded the order of the Legion of Merit for his services during the state visit of Monsieur Mitterand. Leslie Pengelly died in Novemeber 2000 aged 79 and Col (Retd) Cliff Walters accepted his medals on behalf of the Corps.

PRESENTATION OF THE MAUGHAN MEDALS TO THE MUSEUM

Lt Col Charles Maughan MBE TD was a wartime member of the Royal Signals. He was born in 1911 and when World War II call up was inevitable he joined the TA and was commissioned into 50th (N) Motor Division Signals in Darlington. He was desperate to serve in an active theatre but hearing difficulties became a barrier and his first three years of war service were mainly in the training organisation. Never daunted, he 'kicked up a great fuss' and eventually boarded the Queen Mary liner on a passage to Egypt. Here he served in Cairo and went on to join the invasion of Sicily with 13 Corps in August 1943. The outcome was a fascinating wartime career with the 8th Army. He fought the whole of the Italian campaign through Sicily, Cassino, Rome, Florence and Trieste. Charles was no ordinary officer and he maintained a very detailed diary, of many volumes, relating his exploits and experiences of the wartime campaign. He was appointed MBE for his services in Europe. He became CO of 13 Corps Signals in 1945 and was demobbed after the war. He emigrated to New Zealand in 1958 where he died and was laid to rest in Wellington in 1978. His son Bill and daughter-in-law Maggie recently presented his father's diaries, medals and other items of interest to the Museum. The diaries are packed with Charles' personal thoughts as the war progressed. We are very grateful for these donations which are an important addition to our historical records.

KEEPING IT IN THE FAMILY – IN THE CORPS

Back in 1955 Sig John Edward Godwin joined the Royal Signals for his three years National Service. On completion of his basic training he was posted to Cyprus for a two-year tour and thereafter he returned to Richmond in North Yorkshire before being discharged in 1958. Mr Godwin celebrates his 65th birthday on 30 October this year, he now lives in Rotherham, South Yorkshire with his wife Ethel.

Sig J. E. Godwin (Right)

In 1978 Sig M. Godwin joined the Corps (following his fathers footsteps) and since completing his basic training in Catterick North Yorkshire, he has served with units in Germany, Belize, Cyprus and the UK. Capt 'Blod' Godwin is currently the Quartermaster Technical 1st (UK) Armoured Division HQ & Signal Regiment, based in Herford.

Capt M. Godwin — Busy at work

In January 1999 Sig J. L. Godwin joined the Corps (following his grandfather and fathers footsteps) and after completing his basic training in Bassingbourn, he moved on to Blandford to carry out his trade training as a Sytems Operator. He is now serving with 232 Signal Squadron, 7 Signal Regiment, currently based in Krefeld.

Sig J. L. Godwin — Suited Up (NBC Style).

Finally in April 2001 Sig L. F. Godwin became the latest member of the Godwin Clan to enlist into the Corps (following his grandfather, father and big brothers footsteps), Liam passed out of Bassingbourn on 20 July and is currently undergoing trade training at Blandford.

NEWS FROM HEADQUARTERS

HEADQUARTERS UNITED KINGDOM SUPPORT COMMAND (GERMANY)

DRIVING RAIN GREETS MARCHING TEAMS AT NIJMEGEN
by Nigel Sargeant

Driving rain greeted some 40,000 marchers - among them over 1,300 British Servicemen and women - during the 85th Nijmegen Marches in Holland last week. Blazing heat and dazzling sunshine are the usual order of the day at the 'Vierdaagse', the annual 4-Day marching epic that takes place every July. However, this extraordinary mix of fun and foot-slogging - which attracts people from all over the world to take on four 40km circuits around the beautiful Dutch town of Nijmegen - this year sunstroke and heat exhaustion were replaced by exposure and frequent drenchings. Still, nothing could dampen everyone's traditional high spirits.

The weather might not have been over-welcoming but the hospitality from the Dutch townsfolk at the biggest event in their annual calendar was as superb as ever. Many of the onlookers live along the route and declare a four-day holiday as normal life cheerfully gives way to a non-stop festival. Bars work flat out and children hand out sweets and cakes to the walkers! The Marches kicked off in fine style with the Flag Parade, a traditional show of pomp and pageantry at Nijmegen's sports stadium, where enthusiastic crowds watched teams from each participating nation march past bearing their national flag. A few hours sleep and then the marching kicked off for real on Day 1, with the first teams setting off at 4am to crack half the course in the cool. Crowds of well wishers lined every step of the route ensuring a fun atmosphere, however hard the going got.

The Vierdaagse is all about extremes - whether excessive heat, rain, staggering numbers, or one-off surprises and this year was no different. The oldest marcher by far was Dutch lady and local celebrity Annie Berkhout, who this year was taking part in her 65th march, having clocked up nine even before WW2! Out of the total marchers, some 5,500 military personnel from 23 countries took part. For the second year running, UK fielded the biggest Military Contingent, several hundred up on last year. Almost 100 teams of Regular, Reserve and Cadet marchers from all three Services took to the tarmac. Such a large turn-out inevitably calls for huge admin back-up and, as in previous years, both Army and RAF Support Staff were out in force to give the marchers food, welfare and medical support every painful step of the way. Operating out of Heumensord Dutch military camp, which rapidly turned into a mud-bath after the torrential rain, a 130 strong team coordinated by Rheindahlen based HQ UKSC(G) included medics, chefs, RMP staff and Army dog handlers.

Maj Mal Biggs, Officer Commanding the British Military Contingent commented, 'With a heavy workload, not helped by the weather, it was all about team effort by both the Army and RAF staff. Particular thanks should go to colleagues Maj Pete Williams and Sqn Ldr Phil Tyler. An added complication to this year's operation was that our attendance at the Marches was not confirmed until 1 June, owing to the Foot and Mouth crisis.'

A key task for the back up team is to run Rest Areas around the circuits, offering much needed refreshments and first aid - above all blister treatment - to the thousands of Service marchers who stream past each day. The British military reception teams always welcome Canadian and Australian military marchers, as well as British Bobbies, and this year was no different! The British medics treated some 1,100 injuries great or small, chiefly blisters but with a fair smattering of knee injuries, pressure sores and 'immersion foot', with the Foot and Mouth situation in UK having reduced people's opportunity to train. LCpl Stephen Torley, working with a team from Hohne based A Sqn 1 CSMR said, 'It's vital to start training at least three months before to harden the feet, and above all select the right footwear, especially when marching through pouring rain for hours on end.' Good preparation was very much on the minds of a threesome from 3 Battalion REME. Sgts Bob Cowan and Liam Cates and Cpl Steve Bowron regarded Nijmegen as excellent training for the 'IDATA Sport Extreme 350', a tough trek through the deep snow of Alaska next February. Bob said, 'With Nijmegen and then spending a harsh winter on operational tour in the Balkans, we feel we'll be well prepared.' The team is looking for backers - phone Paderborn mil 3726!

Other BFG teams this year included 7 Sig Regt, 2 CS Regt Wksps REME, 37 Sqn RAF Regt and 1 (UK) ADSR. Not to be outdone was SSgt Tony Knott from G3 HQ UKSC(G), marching for his ninth year and attending as an individual, 'The marches get me out of the office! I want to crack a decade of marches next year before retiring.'

Nijmegen is always marked by music and the British contribution was as ample as ever. Besides the numerous bagpipers from the many Scottish military contingents, the Minden Band of the Queen's Division were on hand for both lighthearted and more poignant occasions. They provided accompaniment to a formal wreath laying ceremony at Nijmegen's Allied War Cemetery, where both the British and Canadian contingents - who traditionally work together at the Marches - laid wreaths to remember those who died in the War. That evening the Band laid on a show of marching and music when GOC UKSC(G) and his HQ staff hosted VIP visitors to a Reception at Heumensord. Back at the marching route, the finishing line for the military teams each day is always at Heumensford's huge Beer Hall. Cheered in by those already across the finish line, every team is welcomed with some free liquid refreshment. For many of the walkers, however, their top priority is a long sleep before hitting the road again. As the 85th Nijmegen Marches came to a close the usual defiant vow was to be heard echoing around, 'We'll be back next year.' So will the Rheindahlen back up team!

HEADQUARTERS SIGNAL OFFICER IN CHIEF (ARMY)

TRAILWALKER (UK-) 2001
21 JULY - A FUN DAY OUT BY THE CORPS RSM

My yearly jaunt down to the Trailwalker (UK) 100km race started not in the usual manner in that viewing a Pass Off Parade at ATR Pirbright preceded it. Junior soldiers of the Corps and 28 other cap badges put on a fine display. Many of the 19 Signallers on parade reported to Blandford after a couple of days respite, we welcome them into the fold with open arms.

After a fitful night's sleep at Thorney Island the team consisting of myself and three members of 2nd Signal Regiment; SSgt Paul Jude, SSgt Angus Macpherson MBE and SSgt Chris Symonds made our way to the start line. After many hello how are you's to our fellow runners and Nepalese race organisers the race began in perfect running conditions at 0700hrs. The aim was to finish better than our previous year's time of 13hrs 34mins, little did we know what lay ahead.

After cruising through the first two check points at Harting Down and Hilltop Farm we pushed on to Littleton Farm, this was the telling point in ours and other teams race. Unbeknown to the race organisers a local mountain biking race was taking place with very similar signs to ours, adrenaline got the better of common sense, one and a half hours late we arrived at Checkpoint 3, dehydrated and furious with ourselves. As much as we tried to put our mistake behind us, the extra 10km had taken its toll. It soon became apparent that our goal for the day would be to finish, regardless of time, as a team of four. We persevered, one checkpoint blending into another, up the killer hill to Checkpoint 7 at Truleigh the 63km marker passed and a warm meal inside us we were back to our old selves. The team is probably the most experienced Trailwalker (UK) contenders with 11 races between us. This began to show dividends as the final five checkpoints were consumed with a tight team performance and outstanding support from Sgt Pete Preece and Cpl 'Mac' McDougall from 2nd Signal Regiment Training Wing.

100kms completed, we know we were better than our 16 hour finish time but at the end of the day we finished as a team, battered and bruised but content in our joint efforts and mutual support. Trailwalker (UK) is are exceptional event for those who either want to test themselves or just enjoy the fantastic scenery of the South Downs. I know where I will be on 6-7 July 2002, hope to see you there.

PRESENTATION OF LEEMAN ROAD PRINT FROM 2 SIGNAL REGIMENT

HAIL & FAREWELL

The Headquarters is going through its annual clear-out and bringing in new blood ready to meet the challenges of the coming year. Sadly, we bid farewell to Lt Col Steve Hunt who is moving to the intriguing world of JACIG. He must, however, pass the 'recognition' course to be accepted as a true spotter and wearer of the coveted anorak. Capt John Hiorns was also dined out prior to taking up his new appointment at 21 Sig Regt (AS). Having spent the past two years travelling between the Balkans and Christchurch he is looking to a well earned rest at Colerne! Good luck to you both and of course to Mary and Kath. We also welcome Maj George Burrows who replaces Maj Rab Young (now DCOS) as the SO2 Log Sp and Capt Mark Edwards as the SO3 CEC. Enjoy your stay in Donnington.

LATE NEWS

Lt Col Steve Hunt passed the course but his posting to JACIG has been delayed for a few months. His idea of going on gardening leave has been thwarted and he is now the SO1 Project Officer in 11 Sig Bde – unlucky.

EXERCISE SAIF SAREEA II – THE STORY SO FAR!

Meetings, meetings and more meetings and for good luck we will have a video-conference every week…. The exercise is certainly gathering pace. Brig Charles has been on a fact finding mission to Oman and confirmed his accommodation arrangements for the exercise. He has informed us that Arabic for tent is spelt m-e-s-s! Capt Mick 'Its sorted' Purves has now handed over all responsibility for deployment to Maj George 'No its' not' Burrows who is quickly finding out the reality of being a Staff Officer. Spectrum Management is in the hands of Maj Dick Gamble who was dispatched to Oman with the unenviable task of sorting out the business of frequency management for all exercising components and BFBS. His last words of 'I won't be back until its fixed' are worrying! Our first man on the ground is SSgt Ray King who deployed this week. He has the task of controlling the Theatre Distribution Agency. He has taken lots of books with him.

CONGRATULATIONS

We welcome back Cpl Steve Piper who has just passed both his Junior Command Course at Blandford and his EFP. He is now taking a well-earned rest back in the Crypto Room, or is he hiding from the SO3 COMSEC? Congratulations are also extended to Cpl Simon Emmett who has just had the good news that his wife, Sharon, is with child. Those who know Cpl Emmett will know how much this means to them both.

STOP PRESS

We have just been informed that WO1 FofS Pete 'Ratty' Stowell has been awarded the MBE for his work in this Headquarters. Excellent news and well deserved.

HEADQUARTERS 2 (NATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS) SIGNAL BRIGADE & LAND INFORMATION ASSURANCE GROUP (VOLUNTEERS)

Who? You may have noticed a new formation flash appearing – the EW flash superimposed on the Land sword. That means you have come into contact with the LIAG – Land Information Assurance Group – a new TA specialist unit formed to provide independent advice on information assurance matters. The group, commanded by Lt Col John Kirby OBE, is an All Arms unit currently consisting of 23 TA Officers who work in a range of fields covering IT, security and related consultancy. It is a R SIGNALS sponsored specialist unit and is under command of 2 (NC) Sig Bde, but is directly tasked by G6 HQ LAND. LIAG was formed in July 1999 as a result of the Strategic Defence Review and spent the rest of the training year recruiting and writing procedures. In its first operational year (Training Year 2000/01) the Group carried out a number of IA tasks, including an IA Review of the ISIS and Land CSS(R) information systems with site visits to Brecon, Sennybridge, Shrewsbury and Wilton; another IA Review on the ARRC systems during Ex Arrcade Fusion in Germany and drafting a paper for SOinC (A) on Land Component IA. The current training year has seen the first operational deployment of a team to Kosovo to carry out a review of the Op Agricola Theatre Information System (OATIS) and a review of APC Glasgow's AFOS system.

ANNUAL CAMP IN PRISTINA?

The Kosovo task is an excellent example of how the Army can capitalise on skills and experience not readily available within the Regular Army. A team of 6 (Majs Alan Evans and John Tydeman, and Capts Brian McMillan, Ed Moses, John Pringle and Ian Sneyd) went through a fast-track mobilisation procedure and deployed to Pristina for 12 days. The task involved looking at the way that information was processed, protected and managed, and the team left a list of action points for implementation. The team also looked at the security implications of the increasing use of the Internet. Whilst there, the team visited all the main UK sites throughout MNB(C), and will carry out a follow up visit later in the year. Kosovo has been the first operational theatre to have the benefit of such a review, and the group will be carrying out a similar task in Bosnia at the end of the year when 97(SFOR) Sig Sqn (V) take on responsibility for CIS in that theatre.

PROBLEMS WITH YOUR PAY?

With a cry of, 'Go North young man,' (well probably not too much young in the equation any more) LIAG carried out a review of the Army Personnel Centre (APC) Glasgow. The team (Majs John Burnage, John Bosley, Chris Barrington Brown, John Hogan and Capt Brian McMillan [local liaison officer, restaurant guide and networks guru]) spent a week in Glasgow looking at the myriad of critical personnel, pay and management systems in use there. APC is an excellent example of how business is supported by well managed and integrated IS platforms. The review went extremely well and the numerous Pay and MCM divisions were welcoming and helpful to the extreme (hold the enemy close and deny him manoeuvre?). One of the highlights of the review was the visit to the Document Handling Centre (DHC), its air of tranquillity and quiet efficiency probably belies the amount of hard work and frantic activity that actually goes on there! After supporting both the 'recce' and the full review our thanks must go to Willie Graham and his team from APC IS support. They were excellent 'hosts' and given their imminent outsourcing to EDS, together with the plethora of checks/audits that have gone on during the past few months, are still remarkably cheerful!

THE FUTURE

Information Assurance is not a black art, but the days of being able to depend on information being protected by placing computers in a locked room are over. The group's skills – covering security strategy, compliance, consultancy, penetration testing, security architecture, network management and forensic investigation – are exactly those used by industry to contribute to a holistic approach to protecting information systems. The point of contact for any queries on LIAG's role, capabilities and advice on tasking is Maj Alan Evans, SO2 Co-ord, on Cosham Mil (94382) 4322, Civil 01225 814322. The Group's E-mail address is liagoffice@tinyonline.co.uk

LIAG Team in Kosovo

ROYAL SIGNALS INSPECTION TEAM HEADQUARTERS LAND COMMAND

OC Maj (TOT) Plumb
FofS WO2 (FofS) Marston-Weston

HELLO NEW BOYS

The Team warmly welcomes its new arrivals SSgt Rod Main and his family and Cpl Marcus Bartrip. Both bring new qualities to the Team and the more astute reader will notice that both bring firsts for RSIT. This is a WIRE exclusive. Cpl Marcus Bartrip is the first JNCO on the team and SSgt Rod Main is the first FTRS on the Team (Disclaimer - this is the truth to the best of my knowledge having done 4tall research). We wish them well as they progress under the watchful eye of Sgt John 'The Daddy' Payne.

SUB AQUA GOLF AND BBQ

The most noticeable thing that happened between RSIT setting a date for a Golf & BBQ day was a heat wave. The most noticeable thing that happened on RSITs Golf & BBQ days was torrential rain. However, when did rain ever stop RSIT, speed us up a bit maybe but never stop us. Maj Gig 'The Teacher' Plumb and his partner Sgt Suren 'The Pupil' Rai set the early pace but were soon hampered by the unrelenting downpour, allowing WO2 Andy 'Gore-Tex' Marston-Weston and SSgt Rod 'Never Again' Main to lead the way. Sgt Tim Mayner and Sgt Paul Hughes made up the numbers and kept the water features stocked up on golf balls. Confident that the rain could not get any heavier the team waded on through the course in their waterproof cotton trousers and polo shirts, but to our amazement the Gods kept the rain coming heavier and heavier.

BRAVING BRAWDY

July saw RSITs jet set lifestyle take them to the end of the world as we know it, or Brawdy as it is commonly called throughout the Corps. The week's activities were slightly undermined by having to do some sort of inspection at some point and very good it was too, wasn't it Sgt Paul 'No Faults Found' Hughes. When employed in a high pressure, all action, demanding unit such as RSIT the need for a new buzz is a constant search. In this case our search ended at the Brawdy indoor Go-Karting centre. The first heat saw Andy Marston-Weston, Paul Hughes, Tim Mayner and Rod Main at the grid. The only thing faster than this bunch of speed demons was the track owner trying to find his insurance policy (and a passing snail) as he watched the carnage unfold. The eventual winner was WO2 Andy Marston-Weston, closely followed by Sgt Tim-Mayner whilst SSgt Rod 'Racing Snake' Main and Sgt Paul 'Demolition Derby' Hughes acted out scenes from Mad Max.

The second heat saw two generations of the Plumb family go head to head with Maj Gig 'Coming Through' Plumb and son Roddy Plumb. Also racing was Harry 'Two Foots' Roberts and Sgt Suren 'Sunday Driver' Rai. Maj Gig Plumb wasted no time overtaking all on his way to the starting grid. It was a fiercely fought contest between the two Plumbs as they regularly passed Sgt Suren Rai on his merry way and Harry put everyone to shame in the Mad Max stakes. Maj Gig Plumb took the chequered flag with son Roddy coming second. So onto the final, WO2 Andy 'Faster Than The Speed Of Light' Marston-Weston took the lead early followed by Maj Gig 'Not Quite Faster Than The Speed Of Light' Plumb followed by Roddy 'Nearly as fast as light, but faster than Tim Mayner' Plumb followed by Sgt Tim 'Man On A Mission' Mayner. As the race progressed Sgt Tim 'Ram Raider' Mayner saw his opportunity and sent Roddy Plumb crashing into the sidings to over take for third spot. Suddenly winning didn't seem important to Roddy Plumb any more as his face told the story that taking Tim Mayner out of the game would be much more rewarding. There was to be no more over taking though and WO2 Andy Marston-Weston was crowned RSIT Go-Karting Champion. Sgt Tim Mayners mis-spent youth came into good use as he clocked up the fastest lap of the day.

So as another block of inspections draw to an end for RSIT and the weary team members look forward to a little breather, you can sleep safely knowing that come September we will be back on the road coming to a Unit near you.

NEWS OF TRAINING

THE ROYAL SCHOOL OF SIGNALS AND 11 SIGNAL REGIMENT

HEADQUARTERS

The Public Private Partnership (PPP) remains the key focus for the HQ and more recently how the PPP interacts with the Defence Training Review (DTR). Both of these projects will substantially change the face of the Royal School of Signals over the coming years. On the sporting front the Staff Assistant WO1 Roberts (AGC), has had a busy swimming season competing in various Masters Swimming Championships and has now been selected for the Welsh Masters Team. The School's own Triathlon Master in the shape of the Garrison Security Warrant Officer, WO1 Pat Weir (MPGS), has had a very busy period building up for the Championships in September, in addition he be very active with the School's Sport for all Triathlon programme.

RADIO SYSTEMS GROUP - SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

Sqn Comd Maj I. G. Favager

The last few months have been quite busy with a large turnover of courses within the Group. Due to the Foot and Mouth disease we had to cancel our annual Battle Camp at Oakhampton, we will just have to make next years Camp a little bit longer and more adventurous! Congratulations are in order for WO1 (FofS) Rich Conway on taking on the task of the Corps Foreman, to get over the shock he took a holiday some where in the Indian Ocean. A big hello goes to SSgt (SQMS) Bill Butler, who has just come from 4 Mil Trg Sqn. Congratulations and farewell to WO2 (RQMS) B. J. Forbes-Wilson on being selected for promotion, he apparently is now an official blanket stacker.

COMMAND SECTION

Although June/July has seen no major Command Courses come through Command Section it has still been a relatively busy time. The Section have been kept busy with the plethora of Cadet Courses which descend upon the School at this time each year and keeps Sgt 'Steve' Burrows and CSgt 'John' Miller RM occupied. In addition, instructors have been involved in several minor courses such as 'The Civil Designers Course', which not only sees military instructors teaching civilians, but also generates much needed income for the School. This period has also seen many presentations/exercises being updated to ensure we are in line with the ever changing doctrine of the British Army. In closing, the Section would like to bid a warm welcome to WO2 (YofS) Paul White, who has recently taken over as the RSG YofS. A fond farewell to Capt Neil Sutherland RM who moves down the corridor to start a CLAIT course or is that a CISM Course!

OPERATIONS SECTION - by Sgt Morgan

HIO Mr Tony Luckman
Dept YofS SSgt (YofS) Dave Thomas

It has been a busy period for Operator Section! Major changes to the Basic Radio Operators syllabus involve all instructors in some serious 'tweaking'. The changes are taking affect as I write, and should result in a more rounded course that better prepares the students for their final exercise. The syllabus is not the only thing that Sgt Charlie Henson has been getting to grips with, and the section would like to congratulate him and Debbie on the birth of Sophie Mai. Obviously a Henson, Sophie Mai has Debbie's eyes, nose and feet and Charlie's hairstyle! Bob McLaren has made his long awaited return from convalescence and resumes his place in the Radio Procedures room. He now has two titanium hip joints that enable him to resume his infamous 'greased ferret' party trick, but has the unfortunate side effect of erasing any secure equipment within 100 meters of his location. In closing, the section would like to bid a fond farewell to Sgt Shaun Gibson on his departure to (Snigger) Bosnia. All the best mate, and thanks for all the hard work on the LAN.

EQUIPMENT SECTION

HIO Mr Peter Braithwaite

The last six months has seen a big turnover in personnel from the section. First of all the farewells, Sgt Mark Ashmeade who left the Army to work as a technical trainer, Cpl Den Sutherland who also left the Army to work for Cisco, and finally most recent of all, the section tic SSgt Pete Sanderson was posted to Germany. We wish all of the above the best of luck for the future. As for new arrivals, we would like to welcome Sgt 'Flash' Gordon who joins us from Cyprus, Sgt Gaz Dunstone from Germany and also Sgt Smith who is posted to the section in September for a 2-year stint. At the moment of writing we have no replacement for the Section 2IC. The next six months looks to be just as hectic with almost half the Section leaving/posted and no replacements due until next Easter. Sgt Gaz Dunstone is only paying us a flying visit as he starts his Foremans course in September, Sgt Gareth Dearden is posted in November and in January Sgt Dan Coles leaves the Army. Because it takes an average of three months to train an instructor, it will be interesting to see what happens in the following months with the increase in the number of courses passing through the section

THE OLDEST GALLANTRY AWARD MENTIONED IN DESPATCHES

Until the introduction of the first gallantry medal, the Victoria Cross in 1856, the only formal means by which a British military commander could recognise gallant or distinguished service in operations was the Mention in Despatches. To this day it remains a mark of distinction, reserved since 1993 solely for those who display particular gallantry in action. It is an award that is marked by an oak leaf badge worn on the campaign medal ribbon. Cpl John Wozniak, Royal Corps of Signals, was Mentioned in Despatches. Whilst serving at 7 Armd Bde, Cpl Wozniak was deployed on Operations, in Kosovo. When he arrived in Theatre, he was assigned as radio operator for Brig Richard Shirreff,

Commander Multinational Brigade (Centre) in Kosovo. In Gracanica on 6 June when a hostile crowd endangered the lives of his commander, their interpreter and driver, he acted with great courage and presence of mind. As the incident unfolded, he first maintained his position at his radio and called for assistance. Then when the position became unstable he took action. When the Commander's driver was attacked by the crowd's ringleader, and shots were fired, Cpl Wozniak took careful aim, fired and wounded the attacker thereby enabling those it was his duty to protect to withdraw safely.

RADEX TROOP - COMD/SOLDIER TRAINING

So what have we been up to, where have we been and what's new in the world of the elite ATRA training team? Well as per the norm still working hard to get through the mountain of students that the school send our way, whether they be phase 2/3 students, potential YofS, FofS, or Troop Commanders. We've also had a cricket match (JNCO's v SNCO's and Officers) and from that we have to believe that Capt Sutherland RM and FofS Conway have been on some kind of grenade throwing course, nice bowling gents. Hats off to Cpl 'Parky' Parkinson 29 for 1, Cpl 'Scouse' Lloyd hitting 84 not-out, 16 of which were off ONE of Capt Sutherland's grenade throwing overs. Unfortunately the match wasn't decided due to rain stopping play, a rematch is organised. So where have we been? Soldier Training have managed to get no further than our favourite nissan huts down at Piddlehinton, apart from one or two who have been helping out Comd Trg down at the annual Cadet Camp in Newquay, now that's got to be the same as three weeks on holiday. Recently was the promotion board to Sergeant, of which RSG took four, and a huge WELL DONE to Cpls Foster, Lockwood, Shaw and Smith, also congratulations to Sgt Bell for his promotion to Staff Sergeant. Now let's not forget those blessed people posted into our outfit, Sig Barrow from JCUNI and LCpl Dodd from the White Helmets. Onto those leaving us for pastures new, Sig Groves - N Ireland here I come, Cpls Cozens and Wharrier, who's the unlucky one off to Southampton. Good luck fellas in your new careers. Finally congratulations to those who have dropped the bun from the oven, Kim and Jase Kent with baby Molly and Angela and Paul Cooper with baby Ben.

OPERATIONS SECTION

These notes were written by Sig Douglas from RSBR 00/020 who attended training form 29 January -29 June 2001. This soldier was nominated for the Outstanding Student Award.

I arrived here at Blandford not knowing what to expect for my trade training as it was going to be a new experience. The first part of the RS Op course was a five-week module in FMVT, which consisted of military organisation, message preparation, message handling and keyboard skills. These subjects were taught by computer so you went at your own speed but had target dates to meet. This worked quiet well, as instructors were on hand to help if needed.

The radio module started with an initial brief from the course co-ordinater who explained very briefly what the course entailed and where to go if we had any problems. We got straight into doing, voice procedure and CLANSMAN HF/VHF radio's, as it was obviously the main part of our trade. We went over the basics in voice procedure and learning BATCO before putting it all into practice this also included making calls to another station and replying to them. Learning it in a classroom and then doing it practically worked really well as everything was fresh in the mind and you understood why you were using that procedure. There were five students to one instructor on a net. This method was used for RATT, which came at the end of the course after Radex, the same instructors that taught us voice procedure also taught us RATT and this helped as we already knew them.

I found the theory behind antennas and propagation very intense and hard to get to grips with at first, as it seemed to be thrown at us in the first few periods. Once we actually got our hands on die equipment everything fell into place. I really enjoyed doing the practical side of the antennas as I feel you learn more that way. There was a lot to the theory side, which I feel could have been spread out more. The course did go to Area Systems Group and learn Ptarmigan. We never really got hands on the equipment until later when we went on exercise. During the build up to the exercise we were taught a lot about secure VHF and crypto ??? was interesting. I think the fact that you had to be so aware about what you were doing made it all the more interesting to learn. We also learned a little bit about rebro's but like everything else we had learned it made things easier once you got hands on.

Our two-week exercise out in the field had to be the best part of the course, as everything we learned in the classroom was put into practice. We were tested on our antennas, rebro's, det routine in the first week as well as setting up and tearing down a det. The second week was more scenario based and this was enjoyable, the instructors were able to stand back and prompt us when we needed it. Overall, I would say that the course was very interesting although a lot more practical experience would help us for going to out working units. I feel I know the basics of my trade and I can't wait to get to my working unit.

LIFE IN BLANDFORD

by Cpl Lloyd who is a permanent staff instructor

To many of us within the Corps, Blandford is seen as the Mecca for courses such as RSJCC, Crypto, and obviously the start of a new career for many Phase 2 trainees. Apart form hard work what does 11 Signal Regiment/Royal School of Signals/and Blandford have to offer?

Starting my career at 30 Sig Regt back in November 1992 amenities throughout the Regiment and Blandford, 'An Interesting Georgian Town', were at least somewhat lacking. Needless to say with continual operational tours and exercises, time to yourself for extra curricular activities was somewhat limited. I averaged of my four year tour, approximately only two years at Blandford/Bramcote. Six months home, six months away etc. Not much now I know, compared with some Regiments commitments. However, through time Blandford and the current Regiment have changed considerably. Not only have the forbidding Anson and Benbow blocks been demolished but also activities outside of work have become numerous.

The Garrison itself boasts not only a bowling alley, cinema, sub aqua dive club, hobbies club, stables, shooting club, astro pitch, Corps cricket ground but also an extensive range of facilities come to think of it, if you play it - the amenity is there. You just need the self-motivation. The Blandford area boasts a superb 18-hole golf course, rugby club, hockey teams at four levels including a mixed team. Socially there are in excess of six restaurants from Turkish to Italian within the town. If by chance this extensive range of extra curricular activity or social life is not to your liking, then within driving distance you have Bournemouth, Poole, Weymouth .... need I say anymore? On the whole as I look back over the last nine years and compare it to today's current situation, I find my spare time out taken up with numerous activities, be it with civilian clubs or military. What does Blandford have to offer you? Find out next time your down here by going past the first and last watering hole.

KUKRI TROOP VISIT TO AFV CIS SCHOOL BOVINGTON

by Cpl MacDonald

Kukri Tp would like to welcome Cpl Des Hill and Cpl Treena Hewson to the Troop as they managed to escape from SYSEX Tp. Also a farewell goes to Cpl Eric Cassee who has gone over to SYSEX Tp on his promotion to Sergeant. It is not often Kukri Tp manage to get away from work and visit 'the outside world' but that changed on 23 April when we bomb-bursted onto the AFV CIS School at Bovington (all ten of us). A good day was had by all which consisted of us flying around the training area in a Challenger II and a Scimitar which had the same effect as trying to stop grit getting in your mouth whilst on a bucking bronco. We were also shown just how little room there is to move around when the tank is on the battlefield and getting rounds off (glad I'm not a tankie, give me an air-conditioned Switch any day, I might even do pan-bash). We also learnt not to stand too close the Challenger II when it is firing, (this we learnt whilst trying to get a Troop photo) as the pure fire power is overwhelming as SSgt Openshaw found out to his distress. After the display of 'big boys toys' it was down to the simulators to see what it was like to try aiming and firing for ourselves. To be honest after a bit of practice, we found it remarkably easy to aim, laser target and get a round off in a very short space of time. In fact it was that easy, even Cpl Hewson managed to blow things up (although she did spend a lot of time trying to shoot a helicopter out of the sky). At the end of the day, everybody had a great time and it was educational for all. I would highly recommend people to try this sort of visit to find out more about the Army in which we work and the units that we provide communications for.

SYSEX TROOP

Tp Comd WO1 (FofS) Joe Docherty
Tp YofS SSgt (YofS) Gaz Lane

The Troop continues to endure the hardships of Blandford, and the prevailing wind up on the airfield continues to blow as strong as ever (So I am reliably informed by the troops.) But it isn't all hard work, Recently the Troop went on a little trip to France called 'Ex Fleeting Dragon'. The aim of the exercise was to take Phase 2 soldiers and the over-worked instructors away for some well earned R &R. The full range of activities included, Windsurfing, Body Boarding, Trekking, Sea Surfing, Dingy Sailing and Kayaking. In the evening other activities were arranged to keep us amused these were Beach Volleyball, Command Tasks and the best one of all was Stargazing. The weather was great and most of the instructors managed to get either the sailing or windsurfing off to a fine art. LCpl 'Lucky' Leanne Derrick deserves a special mention as she managed to rip all her ligaments in one foot on the second day. However, the up-side was she didn't miss out on any of the evening activities as we carried her on a bed down to the beach giving the boss a chance to fit some PT into the programme as the slow plod to the beach turned into a timed stretcher race. We would like to take this opportunity to welcome Cpl Chris Glenard, Cpl Prem Premkumar, LCpl Nat Whitmore, SSgt (YofS) Gaz 'When I..' Lane to the Troop, Sgt Gordon 'Smudge' Smith and last but certainly not least Sig Kev Reeves. Unfortunately we have to say goodbye so some more main players: WO2 (YofS) Paul 'I am off to Disney again this year' White, unfortunately we couldn't jack up his post to (UK) Div, as we know he really wanted to go there. Maybe next time Paul. Cpl 'Has my tan faded from France yet?' Steve McBride, LCpl Jim Bonney who is promoted on posting, his antics with the guitar will be sadly missed and LCpl 'Special Forces McNab Griff' Griffiths. We wish them good luck and all the best in their new jobs.

RED BULL MOUNTAIN MAYHEM 2001

The Red Bull Mountain Mayhem is a 24-hour Mountain Bike Team Endurance Race held at Sandwell Park near Birmingham and is raced over a 10-mile cross-country circuit. The race is run as a relay of four riders riding round the clock and competing against a field of 360 professional and amateur teams. This year's event was held over the weekend of 23/24 June and saw the first appearance of an Army team as well as the second appearance of an RSS/11 Signal Regiment team. Training for the event was badly hampered due to the Foot and Mouth crisis so all riders had to endure road training for the two months (never again) leading up to the race. The Army team was captained by Cpl M. 'Tomo' Thompson (11 Sig Regt MT) with Cpl San-Segundo (SEME Borden previously 11 Sig Regt), Cpl Smith (22 Eng Regt) and LCpl Caville (59 Cdo RE). The Team completed 34 laps, some 340 miles and came 12th overall, second in the Sports class and first in the Services team. The RSS/11 Sig Regt team consisted of Maj 'Kenny' Brown QLR, Capt 'A-G' Allison-Green KORBR, WO2 (YofS) 'Jon' Evans (HQ SOinC (A), and LCpl 'Lee' Cote (11 Sig Regt MT). The team completed 28 laps, some 280 miles and came 96th in the Sports Class.

Both teams were given excellent around the clock administrative and mechanical support by Mr John Lewis who instructs Mountain Biking in the 'Sport for All' programme and LCpl 'Stu' Gould (RADEX Tp). Both of whom had to work extremely hard to keep the bikes going for the 24 hours of the race. Special thanks from Lee Cote who's bike was practically rebuilt prior to the start of the race.

Night riding was an interesting experience for all riders particularly for Jon Evans and Lee Cote who had never ridden with lights before the event (good preparation). Surprisingly the night lap times were virtually the same as those achieved during the daylight. All the riders felt a sense of achievement on completing the race and the camaraderie and encouragement from all teams was exceptional. There are few opportunities for amateurs to race alongside world champions and factory teams, this is certainly one of them. Gary Fisher who rode in a celebrity team sponsored the race: other professional teams included the Giant World Team (winners), Dianond Back, Helly Hansen and the Kona (Ford Focus) team.

EXERCISE DROP ZONE VICTOR

Ex Drop Zone Victor was the recreation of a wartime parachute drop onto the site of the Merville Battery in Normandy, France. Sgt Brewin and Cpl MacDonald of Radio Systems Group were invited to participate. The drop was conducted in the uniform of the WW2 British airborne soldier and the aircraft were WW2 vintage DC3 Dakota's. The drop was in the presence of veterans of 9th Parachute Bn who attacked the Battery on 6 June 1944. 47 (Air Dispatch) Squadron Royal Logistic Corps dispatched the jumpers onto the Drop Zone. All the canopies used were military round canopies but modified to be steerable. Nearly fifty men dropped from two aircraft, sadly with one injury. The airdrop completed Sgt Brewin and Cpl MacDonald had the use of the original Pegasus Bridge for a photo shoot arranged in conjunction with the Royal Signals Museum and the Pegasus Bridge Museum.

NORMANDY ASSAULT

The briefing was simple:

'I want this quick, no mucking about in the doorway, just go and keep on going till you've left the aircraft!'

The engines throbbed loudly, the aircraft lifted off smoothly and we were away. The Dakota banked steeply and we headed eastwards towards the Caen Canal. The aircraft was filled with 24 parachutists, all wearing full WW2 British airborne uniform and equipment, about to recreate a jump from 6 June 1944. A further 24 stood and watched us take off, their turn would come later.

Cpl MacDonald 'Mac' was sat next to Sgt Brewin, just behind the jump door, we watched as we manoeuvred into line with the Caen Canal, shortly after that we observed Pegasus Bridge passing beneath us, 2500ft below. We carried on, following the glistening Canal up to the coast. The tide was out, we passed well over the sludgy coastline and were soon over open sea, the aircraft turned and slowly dropped to our drop height as we approached the French coast, then it began:

'Port Stick, Stand up....Hook up.' hearts racing now as we cumbersomely stood up, the weight of our canopies and reserves making it difficult to do anything quickly. The starboard stick watching us and wishing blue skies and safe landings

'Number off.' We numbered off, twelve down to one 'Two minutes.'

'Action Stations.....First Man in the door....Red on.' pulses raised, 'Mac' moved into the doorway, adopting his position, Sgt Brewin's feet were beside his, intending to follow him hot on his tails, the wind blowing the hessian in Mac's helmet wildly as he gazed out over the horizon. Sgt Brewin pushed his static line closer to the dispatcher; everyone bunching closer together, 'Fifteen seconds.'

From the doorway the gun casements of the battery and the smoke from the Drop Zone could clearly be seen, then it began, 'Green on...Go!' 'Mac' left the aircraft, no hesitation, Sgt Brewin followed instantly, not aware of whether he had been told to go or slapped on the back or not, a blur of colour and noise as the slipstream caught us, the rush of air drowning out the noise of the Pratt and Whitney engines of the Dakota. We shouted out our drills, sensing the canopies deploying we looked up, beautiful round green canopies above filling with air, no twists, perfect deployments. Sgt Brewin looked around, 'Mac' was close, Sgt Brewin could see a collision was about to happen and shouted to 'Mac' 'Steer Left!'

'Mac' tried steering left but it was it too late, Sgt Brewin, with little time, opened his legs as wide as he could to prevent himself going deep inside 'Mac's' lines, his left foot went in and was momentarily trapped. 'Mac's' canopy half collapsed, Sgt Brewin's canopy was failing, he extracted his foot just as his canopy completely collapsed and he started to fall rapidly. 'Mac', completely composed, did not need to deploy his reserve as his canopy started filling with air again, he watched in silence as Sgt Brewin plummeted below, his canopy streaming, then, as suddenly as it began, it was over, the canopy inflated and both came down normally. Now clear from each other, their canopies functioning correctly, they looked around, picking where they wanted to land, this was an unprepared Drop Zone with a host of obstacles.

Boarding the aircraft prior to jumping, authentically dressed in WW2 uniform

'Mac' landed in a field of crops while Sgt Brewin landed in a dry, ploughed field, rolling on their fronts and pulling in their lines they collapsed their canopies as the rest of their stick landed around them. They field packed their canopies, throwing them onto a Villies jeep waiting to collect canopies and leg bags and marched off to the RV point as the second stick were coming down. A parachute landed in a horse paddock, startling the horses into a dusty stampede, then, the first two sticks down, the aircraft circled and then headed back to pick up the next two sticks, the next drop would be in another 20 minutes. From the RV 'Mac' and Sgt Brewin were taken to the original Pegasus Bridge where they recreated the scene of the Corps painting 'Go to it' and the story of Cpl Thomas Waters MM. After this had been filmed by the museum Sgt Brewin and Cpl MacDonald laid a wreath on the bridge, completely unrehearsed the drill was perfect.

The mission over it was time to recover back to the airfield to recover the deployment bags and repack parachutes. The next jump, should it come off will be onto Ginkle Heath in September. Sgt Brewin and Cpl MacDonald would not have been able to participate in the Normandy airdrop without the support of their SSM and OC and without funding from the 11 Sig Regt PRI and would like to offer their gratitude for all the assistance they received.

CO Lt Col R. G. Nicholson
RSM WO1 L. D. Kemp

Squadrons around the Regiment are now breathing a sigh of relief following the completion of another 'silly season' comprising the Royal Signals Association weekend, Morrison Cup, SOinC's Conference, Garrison Cocktail Party, Collingwood Memorial Service and a host of other events that we administer. These commitments merely add spice to life in 11 Sig Regt while our core business remains:

'To Prepare soldiers at the Royal School of Signals for their operational role'

The following articles will show that even with 'a full diary' there is the opportunity to participate in a wide variety of activities while serving in Blandford. With squadron strengths topping the 500 strong mark we need the best JNCOs to fill the posts of Troop Cadre. So, if you think that you have the necessary high qualities required and want a challenging job with the bonus of adding wider experience to your career profile then get your posting preference letter to MCM Div now!

ATHLETICS – by Cpl. Rutter

In recent years the Royal School of Signals/11 Signal Regiment has built up a reputation as being a force to be reckoned with on the Army athletics circuit, and this season has been no different. It all began with an inter-squadron competition to reveal any hidden talent within the regiment. Sig McSween, the young good looking one, or so he tells us, of units attending. The 5000m was perhaps the most gripping race of the day. FofS Docherty battled it out with Sig Tucker from 21 Sig Regt, and won a very narrow victory (0.6 seconds). Meanwhile, Cpl. Nikki Dean destroyed the field in her 5000m race despite the 2 Sig Regt hype. Sig McSween won both 100 and 200m. In the 3000m-steeple chase, an amazing run from SSgt Mick Openshaw saw him overhaul most of the other competitors, to finally take third place. WO1 Coffin was a surprise contender in the triple jump. By taking second place, he reminded the Army athletics world that contrary to popular opinion, he was any thing but finished! Sig 'I must stretch off in front of the bandstand' Edwards, definitely cut the mustard in the 100m hurdles, while Cpl 'Sunny' Lake discovered she was a natural, when she was 'jiffed' for the 400m hurdles at the last minute. Winning the relay events confirmed RSS/11 Sig Regt's male and female teams as the Morrison Cup Champions for 2001. There was an extended 'competition break' between the Morrison Cup and the Semi Finals. Routine of training was broken up with a weekend training camp. There were lectures on sports psychology/physiology in Princess Mary Hall (PMH), beach volleyball and frolics on Sandbank's Beach.

The Army Semi-finals were held at Colchester and despite a slight mishap with the baton change in both the ladies and the men's relay events, both teams qualified for the army finals in Aldershot. All the top class athletes crawled out of the woodwork for the army finals, and it was undoubtedly our most challenging competition of the season. The men's 4x100m team came third with an amazing time of 44.6 seconds, which demonstrates the quality of athletes competing. The ladies team took fifth place overall, which was very creditable given the number of females competing. Cpl Dean won the 5000m race comfortably. Sig Tagilala won both the discus and shot achieving a 'personal best' in the latter. The men's team, Captained by SSgt Dan Burdus, took a well-deserved third position overall and came away with yet another trophy. This is an outstanding achievement when you consider that the RSS/11 Sig Regt athletics team is developed from scratch each year. All that remains is to celebrate our success in a way the army knows best?

The Morrison Cup 2001 Male and Female Team winners

convincingly dominated all the sprinting events, while Sig Tagilala, our superwoman in bermuda shorts, transformed the throwing events into something quite special. Similarly, Sig Emosi who's previous occupation as a spear fisherman explains his extraordinary ability with a javelin. It was a good day for everyone, with plenty of sunshine and bags-full of good atmosphere. A special mention to Cpl 'Beef' Heath who didn't quite make the sandpit on the triple jump, but definite thumbs up for wearing his chicken chasing suit! By the end of the competition, everyone was showing distinct sign of sunburn, with many red faces at the prize giving ceremony. Cpl 'Compo' Crompton demonstrated a few interesting drill moves as he collected his medal from the CO and just as Cpl Heath thought his day couldn't get any worse, he went to collect his medal for being the fifth member of the 4x400m team!

In the aftermath of the competition Capt Black, Master at Arms, took the athletics team firmly under his wing. There weren't many volunteers for the pole vault, but thanks to some expert coaching and much sunbathing on the crash mat, Sig Dale Smith is now quite handy with his pole! There was also a lack of hammer throwers in the Regiment, but we eventually persuaded Cpl 'Plod' Wardle to leave the war Hammer club and compete in the 5 Div Championships where he achieved a very commendable second. This competition was held in Blandford again, and brought with it yet more sunshine and a gold medal for the men's team. The ladies team secured a very well deserved silver medal, despite everyone doubling up on events.

Training stepped up a gear as the Morrison Cup loomed ahead, and specialist coaches from Wimbourne Athletics Club were drafted in. The sessions were often relentless and Sig Griffiths liked to show us what he had eaten for dinner that day! Despite the cold and wet weather, the Morrision Cup was once again a massive success, with a record number

INTERNATIONAL BIATHALON COMPETITION

by Sig Clamp, Ulster Troop 3 Sqn 11 Sig Regt

Sig Andrew Clamp was recently selected to represent Great Britain in the National Junior team for the up and coming sport of Biathlon. His first competition for the squad was held earlier this year in South Africa. An amazing achievement for a young soldier currently undergoing training here at Blandford. This multi-discipline event consists of a 1500metre run followed by a 200metre swim and finishes with another 1500metre run.

I arrived at the airport five hours early. Either I was nervous of missing the plane or I had driven too quickly with excitement! As soon as the other members of the squad arrived I introduced myself and together we went through to the Departure Lounge ready to start the adventure of a lifetime. The plane was spacious and comfortable while the food sadly fell into the 'cardboard cuisine' category. When we arrived in Port Elizabeth the weather was fantastic, a complete contrast to the grey skies of Britain we had left behind. Over the next four days we got to grips with the surf (acclimatisation and getting over jetlag). An excellent surf beach was only five minutes slow walk from the room so we had plenty of opportunity to practice turning around the buoys and beating the waves in and out. We also trained by running along the route and considered our race tactics.

Saturday and the competition arrived almost too soon and at 6.30a.m. I tried to have some breakfast but I was too nervous. I felt sick and couldn't even finish my coffee. I checked that I had everything and made my way to the beach. Everything had already started and the temperature had risen enough to be comfortable for wearing swimming trunks in the shade. At 8.20 a.m. I was on the start line. I had checked over my transition box, second yellow on the left, and I knew what I had to do.

The gun went and all the nervousness was forgotten. I was focused on catching the guy in front. The 1500metre run was very fast and in the heat I had trouble breathing, I had a good transition and hit the surf hard. The swim went well and I caught a wave to bring me right back to the shore, the final run was tough but I finished strong in eleventh place. The night that followed was simply the best booze up ever as a pint only cost 50 pence! Sunday was a rest day but Monday was an Aquathon consisting of a 2500metre run, 1000metre swim and a 2500metre run to finish. This race went even smoother as I had acclimatised and I came home in sixth place, a much happier man.

The presentation was amazing. It was held in a top casino with waiters and a painted ceiling. Now I look forward to the world championships, which are in September in Bonn, Germany, for which I have also been selected. The whole trip was fantastic and an amazing chance for me to get to grips with my sport. The people were great, the beer was cheap and the competition fierce! It was really worth the training and who knows where the next challenge could take me!

ARMY GOLF CHAMPONSHIP 2001 - by Sig David Lewis

A group of nine soldiers from 1 (Ouston) Sqn volunteered to help work and marshal at Saunton Golf Club to assist with the 2001 Army Championships. It kept us busy for a week and we got to miss out on all of the block inspections back at camp (what a shame). Our SSM, WO2 Andy Harriott took part in the competition and we all really hoped that he would do well; because you know what they say, '## runs downhill.' I was very interested in Golf before attending (sad) and found myself clutching an Army Golf Association application form in the hope that I would get to play in future championships. We stayed in Fremington Barracks and lived in the 'sheds' whilst coping with the early mornings that were worse than average. The village outside of camp was not too bad as long as you could appreciate a good game of 'shove half-penny' to pub league standard. Overall we enjoyed the week despite the SSM being present…….. with Golf Clubs instead of a pace stick.

EXERCISE OUSTON WARRIOR – JUNE 2001

*by Cpl Bob Lovell

Anyone who is reading this article is all too aware of the impact that the Foot and Mouth crisis has had on our ability to conduct normal field training in order to meet annual training directives. 1 (Ouston) Squadron in Blandford was not exempt from this crisis and squadron members have not been able to carry out their standard military training exercises. Therefore, in order to achieve one of the aims of these exercises, which is to demonstrate the values and standards expected of a soldier, the Squadron deployed on Ex Ouston Warrior to Holton Lee. Holton Lee is a 650-acre retreat estate specifically dedicated for disabled persons where they can go to relax and receive appropriate health care. It is also an ideal location for organisations to conduct team-building activities. The exercise, controlled by WO1 Bob Clubb, took the form of civil aid and we were tasked to clear and construct a path through the forest, some 400m plus, to an Iron-age hut. In addition the exercise objectives included the construction of a parking lot.

Due to the heat and conditions this was not going to be an easy task but the Squadron, Cadre and Phase 2's alike (total strength of 76 all ranks), dug in and took to the task overlooked by Maj Jeff Howes and WO2 (SSM) Andy Harriott. With some onsite expertise provided by the Holton Lee staff, a quick lesson on how to construct a level path through thick bush was provided on the eve of the deployment. Early the next morning all hands literally dug in to try and achieve all the exercise objectives within 36 hours. This entailed moving approximately 120 tonnes (yes tonnes) of crushed M3 as foundation for the path. It wasn't long before the heavy machinery was brought out; these included rollers, and mini front-end diggers/loaders. The SSM, a DIY expert (in his own mind), ensured that he had first crack at all the big Tonka toys. It was a struggle to get 'Bob the Builder' (SSM) off this kit and we were only successful once he had managed to break each item!

That evening, after a good day of grafting, potted sports were in order and the Squadron staff took on any challengers on the volleyball court. It is with regret we report that the Team made up of expert volley-ballers from St Vincent made their mark and eliminated the staff but not without a struggle. The cadre were entertained by sketches and karaoke affair by the Phase 2s and congratulations must go to Sigs Kirby, Price, Reveley and Ross on a well thought out re-enactment of the RSA weekend. The next morning started with a field church service by the Regimental padre Capt David Moss, who attempted to prayer away our aches and pains from the day before. The remainder of the day was spent completing the path and parking lot and putting the finishing touches on a job well done. SSgt Dave McCulloch's absence was noted and his arrival on the final day was received with a good bout of Cadre banter. Sgt 'Twiggie' Twigg and Cpl Bob Lovell took on a managerial role and could be spotted driving around in a dune buggy for most of the weekend occasionally stopping for water breaks but rarely seen working. Cpls Barney Rumble and Glen Lyon worked tirelessly for the two days and appeared to be enjoying themselves a little too much; maybe finding their true vocation in life?

Finally, a hearty well done must go out to all members of the exercise whose efforts have made it possible for future guests to enjoy the natural beauty of Holton Lee.

The OC, Major Jeff Howes asks And how do you use this?

2 (CATTERICK) SQUADRON CHARITY FUND RAISING

Over the last year 2 (Catterick) Sqn 11 Sig Regt have been striving to raise money for the RNLI. The final effort was held on 2 August 2001, a fund-raising event in the form of a Go-Kart Grand Prix. This proved to be a great success raising £3000 on the day and taking the total to over £11000 in the year. To take part in the Go-Kart Grand Prix, each Course within the Squadron had to raise the entrance fee and then take part in the heats to qualify for the final. The order of events for the Finals Day was somewhat hampered by the weather, but the more rain meant more fun on the track. The art of driving the karts instead of crashing them was definitely required! The position after the semi finals left Sigs Treagust, Tipping and Edwards fighting for the top spot. The crowd first had to watch the celebrity race, between the OC 2 Squadron, Maj 'I drive a BMW' Tomkins and Cpl 'Yogi' Welch. The race was very close, so close that the OC pushed Cpl Welch off the track…cheating? OC 2 Sqn? Surely not? I'm sure that the best driver on the day won……

The Winner—Sig Turbo Tipping,
Runner Up — Sig Smile Treagust, Third Place — Sig Edwards

The final race was over 30 laps; the leading position changed hands many times as all three drivers fought against each other and the conditions (well it was July!). The weather got progressively worse, but with the safety car just about to make an appearance, Sig Tipping took first place. Closely followed in by Sig Treagust in second and finally in third place, Sig Edwards. Then it really started to rain!

The 2 I/C Squadron, Capt Dave Kenyon provided refreshments at 'McJimmys'. The BBQ and Bar were a welcome sight even though we were soaked. The RNLI stand with a Class D Lifeboat got lots of attention, mainly due to it being dry under a marquee! Thanks must go to Cpl Welch for organizing the day's activities that culminated in the hand over of a cheque for £11,000 to Mr Eric Freeman, Vice President of the RNLI.

Maj Louise Tomkins handing over the cheque for £11,000 to Mr Eric Freeman — Vice-President of the RNLI

SIGNALLER WORTHINGTON W1038915

Sig Worthington from Inverness, was awarded a 2:1 Honours Degree in Business Studies in 1998. She joined the Royal Corps of Signals on 12 January 2000, starting Phase One Training on 7 February. After completing Phase One Training, she arrived at The Royal School of Signals on 2 May, to commence Phase Two Training. Because of her educational record, she was fast tracked through the Common Technician Phase (CTP) A (Maths), joining CTPB 008 and SEPE 012 to complete the Theory phase of her course. On 8 January 2001, Sig Worthington started the Equipment Phase as a member of Systems Engineering Technician (Radio) Course SRBR 012, successfully finishing on 11 June. Throughout her time in Blandford she has impressed all her instructors by her maturity, intelligence and hard work, achieving an outstanding set of results in both theory and practical assessments. She is also a keen sportswoman, taking part in various events at all levels, up to and including the Army. This award of the Lightning Trophy is in recognition of her qualities as an outstanding student.

POTENTIAL OFFICER WORK EXPERIENCE WEEK ATR WINCHESTER – 18 – 22 JUNE 2001

During the week of 18 to 22 June 2001, Sigs Worthington and Finnie joined the Army Youth Team (AYT) in ATR Winchester to act as chaperones for 34 potential officers aged between 14 and 18. These young people had shown an interest in joining the Army and were to be provided with an opportunity to spend a week being gently introduced to the life. This gentle introduction started with a BPFA, donning of coveralls, coloured tags and 0530hrs start, culminating at the end of the week with a full locker/block inspection with clothes even being folded A4 size! The AYT is made up of volunteers from the 1st Battalion RGBW based in Chepstow and are responsible for recruiting youngsters from the south into the Army. They produce a programme of military and adventure training activities including, Navigation, Escape and Evasion, Rock-Climbing, Swimming, Assault Course and Command Tasks. These together with classroom based lessons such as current affair group discussions and Time and Space problems made up the week's timetable. The week was rounded off with a dinner at the Officers Mess providing an enjoyable insight into the social life of a young Officer.

4 (MILITARY TRAINING) SQUADRON SHQ

At long last the OC, Maj Alan Owen, has found 'A Real Job' (his quote) in Kosovo for three months. The Squadron will sadly miss him, well for a day or two at least. As he has only been married to Hannah for about a month, she may miss him a little more! The 2IC, Capt Rod Cowan has started to eat properly and now weighs eight stone. The SSM, WO2 Kev Read, has organised a reunion in Majorca for Mid-August, so by the time you read this edition of The WIRE you would have missed the party. Some Congratulations are in order on the promotion front. Well done to Sgts Nick Ulley and Richie Ayling on promotion to Staff Sergeant, may they enjoy their new post in 16 Sig Regt and 14 Sig Regt respectively. Cpl Russ Heynes and Cpl Steve Riley have been selected for promotion to Sgt Gabby, Cpl Heynes', wife is really pleased. We say farewell to Sgt Lee Tinsell who leaves the Corps for a new life in the Netherlands; we wish both him and his family all the best. Congratulations to SSgt Mark Emmerson for passing his education course; now when it comes to counting he no longer requires his fingers and toes!

EXERCISE CANTABRIA DRAGON
2 – 13 JULY 2001 - Bdr Lloyd

Due to foot and mouth putting a halt to most of the adventure training in the UK it was decided that a change of location to carry out some level 3 to 4 training was the way forward. A cave proficiency course would be run in the Cantabrian Mountains in Northern Spain, aimed at novice cavers from the Phase 2 trainees. Cpl Tony Brown set the wheels in motion, and after much preparation and paperwork , the expedition started to take shape and The Cantabrian Dragon was born.

Bdr Mick Lloyd and Sgt Dave Ottley entering the Calaca System

After a morale boosting over night ferry crossing everyone arrived at the base location, only miles from one of the worlds biggest concentration of caves. The next day saw us carrying out recces, checking safety gear and issuing all the paraphernalia that goes along with caving. The course started in style by entering the cathedral sized entrance of the Canuela system.

Some 'hairy' moments followed as traverses and abseils were negotiated. Snippets of conversation… 'Here is a map and compass, now see if you can get us to this place.' A few hours later…'Ok let's try here instead.' [it takes a while to understand the scale of things underground].

SSgt 'Chippy' Pomfret became a little concerned as Sig 'Florence Nightingale' Hennis singed abseil ropes with her naked flame caving lamp; the smell of burning rope can send your adrenal gland into overtime! Several days of 'big trips' made sure everyone had the best underground experience they could ever have with their clothes on.
The course ended in fine style by descending 'Torca de Tonio'. This was led by, Bdr Mick Lloyd and assisted by Cpl 'JR' Whitmey. The abseil alone was the height of two Blackpool Towers and it took nine hours to complete the whole trip. All students passed the course and several have shown an interest in improving their skills by joining the Garrison Caving club. Overall an exciting and challenging experience was enjoyed by all, successfully achieving the aims of Adventurous Training.

INSTR EXTERNAL DEVELOPMENT TROOP
ROYAL SIGNAL STAFF SERGEANTS COURSE (TA) NO.1/01
by Sgt Ben Newby,
47 (Middlesex Yeomanry) Sig Sqn, 39 (Skinners) Sig Regt (V)

On the twenty first of April this year, 27 Sergeants from the TA Corps booked into Blandford for the Royal Signals Staff Sergeants Course (TA) No.1/01. Each of us was to embark on the final compulsory military course of our TA careers, qualifying us to serve in the most senior NCO appointments within our squadrons. The relatively high turnout was probably due to the fact the course hadn't been run for nearly a year. In this time the staff of 4 Military Training Squadron have aligned the TA course with the current regular course, within the constraints of the existing TA Training Objectives. This review of the course is intended to illustrate the content and emphasis of the current course, and perhaps dispel some of the myths and horror stories of the past which may have discouraged some people from attending.

RSSSC(TA) No.1/01 was particularly impacted upon by the Foot and Mouth outbreak and the resulting limitations on training area availability. In common with the recruits and corporals course, we assembled at Blandford for a Saturday afternoon start. The remainder of the first day was taken up with briefings and kit issue. It was immediately apparent that the course would not be a rerun of the two junior courses, in terms of the level of 'top down' discipline imposed by the instructors. As mature, well-disciplined SNCOs with high personal standards, but the clear intention was to treat us as senior soldiers… unless we fell short of the behavior expected! The first day was rounded off by a chance to meet the instructors informally in the Mess for drinks in the evening, and certain students were even given a guided tour of Blandford's nightspots later on.

The first week was a mixture of practical and classroom work, covering a very wide range of subjects. The emphasis was always on using the limited time available giving the TA students what they would need most in their units. For instance the Internal Security exercise was based around a scenario of being duty SNCO during a major Incident, the Defence Writing package was based around the paperwork needed to support a weekend's training, and the Drill lessons were focused on running a squadron parade correctly. A new element to the course, which is carried over from the Regular Army course, is a whole day allocated to leadership training. This day started with some basic leadership theory and lessons in rope management and then moved into a series of command tasks, culminating in an inter-section command task competition over the old assault course. This was held early in the week and contributed well to getting the students working in teams, and also allowed some an early opportunity to have a go at leading. Another new experience to most was using defence stores. Half a day was spent on a Defence TEWT, filling sandbags, learning to build Sangers and constructing several types of barbed wire obstacles. Most agreed it was a lot harder work than it looked, and 'wiring' was an excellent way to shred a combat suit! Other first week subjects included Map Reading, NBC, Military Law, Sergeants' Mess Organisation, and Administration in the field. Probably the most important subject was Tactics. The main aim was to familiarise everyone with commanders battle procedure, the quick estimate and the orders process. These skills would be tested on an individual basis during the field phase in the second week, so in the first week they were built up by demonstrations, walk through talk through and group based tasks. In addition to the Defence TEWT and command tasks the other physical activities of the first week were the inevitable mid week Assault Course and the finale to the week 'Exercise Burden Retrieval'.

Following this final physical event on Friday a more enjoyable time was had during a practical lesson on 'Mess Life' held in the Corps Sergeants' Mess during 'Happy Hour'. In fact, I think we were happy for several more hours after that! The next time we reported for duty was Sunday morning, with Saturday used for personal admin and homework, as well as a little more socialising. On Sunday there was more Defence writing and an Orienteering exercise. The second week kicked off on Monday with written exams on the academic subjects and practice delivering patrol orders. Early on Tuesday we deployed to Piddle-Hinton for Exercise Shakeout, a 12hour work up exercise to revise anti ambush drills, defence, preliminary and confirmatory orders, and minor tactics. Ex Sharp Shock commenced immediately following that on Tuesday evening with a move back to the airfield training area at Blandford. Although the exercise was short (no longer than a typical TA weekend), it was very intensive. The tempo maintained can be judged from the fact that in 36 hours, 27 people went through command appointments. Not many people went to sleep during the exercise, and some didn't even get time for a meal. By the time we were cleaning our weapons on Thursday afternoon a few were dozing off in mid pull-through (painful!). There was just time for a couple of hours sleep before the end of course dinner in the Mess, a full formal dinner in Mess Kit (no cam cream behind the ears). The speeches were mercifully brief, and Red Bull was almost as popular as Port, but a good time was had by all. The two weeks ended with the issue of photos and results.

In summary, the well-kept secret is that the TA Staff Sergeant's Course is actually enjoyable. The homework is manageable, you don't have to have superhuman fitness, and with a little forward planning and effort most evenings can end with a few beers in the Mess. More importantly, no matter what your current level of experience or ability the course will develop you into a better SNCO. The course should not be seen as a hoop to jump through in order to get promotion. It is more of a stepping stone to help you improve your knowledge and professionalism. I would particularly recommend it to recently promoted Sergeants. There is a common attitude that you do the RSSSC when you are an experienced Sergeant and you consider yourself ready for promotion to Staff Sergeant. I think that this misses the point. Although it does qualify you for promotion, the main value of the course is to make you a better Sergeant. As a new Sergeant the course will boost your confidence and knowledge early, and allow you to make a better contribution to your unit.

HARROGATE DRILL COMPETITION 2001
by WO2 (SSM) Bousfield

After months of training for the Princess Royal Day Parade it was time to try and fit in just a little more drill and hold the Drill competition on Saturday 9 July 2001. The order for the competition had already been drawn and 3 Sqn were to be first on with an early start and breakfast at 0630hrs. Traditional lubrication was administered just before the competition with the hope of raising fighting sprit and instilling the will to win. Having done many competitions before, I must say that this was by far the highest standard of competition that I have had the pleasure of being involved in? During the inspection phase the squad reduced somewhat in size. Permission to march past in slow and quick time would not have been required if not for those individuals who regained themselves and allowed the squad to complete a very close fought competition. The result of the competition was that 3 Sqn were overall winners with 1 Sqn a close second and 2 Sqn in third place. The competition involved months of hard work and preparation. All over and above the trade training requirements of the participating soldiers and everyone who took part should be extremely proud of themselves and the standards that were achieved.

PRE DEPLOYMENT TRAINING AND ACTIVITIES
by 2Lt Karen Moore

Arriving fresh from my Troop Commanders course and designated as OC Wire Notes (Can't wait till you come back Johnny Kid!) I thought it only fair that I write the opening paragraph to this edition's insert. The Squadron is TOA with 19 Mech Bde as at 27 June on Op Agricola 6 and the run up to the deployment has been far from slow. Our first challenge was Ex Rats Revelry, a two day OC's disposal which included an interest day about the local area Bergen - Hohne and an inter-squadron sports competition, the final competition of the day was the Gun Run, a great opportunity to get very muddy and carry heavy things.

Alpha Troop complete the big push at the end of the Gun Run

Our next fast ball was the visit of Commander in Chief Land, Gen Sir Mike Jackson, for which we were given a week to prepare. Gen Jackson visited the Squadron and received briefings from the Chief of Staff - Maj Richard Williams, SO3 O&D - Capt Bertie Williams and SO3 Trg - Capt Jase Etherington. Alpha Tp worked hard to prepare the Headquarters the previous day and subsequently, each soldier had the chance to talk to Gen Jackson.

Congratulations go to WO1 (Ex RSM) Mark Stanley Tivey who enjoyed his commissioning 'breakfast' on 28 May, he is now to be known as Capt Markus St Jean Tivine.

Finally, the Squadron must be congratulated on their hard efforts during the Assault Course competition of 31 May, it proved to be a little cheeky, so thanks to Cpl 'Jean Luke' Pickard and Cpl 'Pot YofS' Olver for their efforts in its organisation. Everyone enjoyed the opportunity to get very muddy and carry heavy things, again. As if by chance, the competition coincided with the visit of Brig McDowell. Having watched the competition and congratulated the guys' hard efforts, he took the time to speak freely to the Squadron on any issues of concern. The main topics included Pay 2000 and the new Royal Signals Trade Structure. Without further adieu, I will pass you on to the Troops for their news and views. See you next edition with some hot off the press Kosovo action!

Honestly Brigadier, it was this big!

DEPLOYMENT ON AGRICOLA 6 - Lt Karen Moore

Having tied up all the loose ends in Hohne and having left the Rear Party a massive list of jobs to do in our absence, the deployment to Pristina began. For ease, the troops were re-formed and are now as follows: Rover Troop (mainly operators), HQ Troop (Comms/IS gurus and techs) and Echelon/Support Troop (MT, LAD etc). The majority of the Squadron deployed on the Advance Party on 20 June and the Main Body flew to Thessaloniki in Greece the day after. As I write this, we've been in Theatre almost a month. The initial rush appears to have passed and already we've deployed the HQ in support of Task Force Viking. Currently there is a huge range of communications that we are responsible for in Theatre and plenty of cross training of operators. The R&R plot has now started - much to everyone's delight, but they tell me that Kosovo hasn't changed much since last year!

THE CLEO BIT

Some things never change, it's July, we're in Kosovo and it's hot. Saying that, this year many of the techs who were in the rub shelter from hell last year, now get the pleasure of air con in the NCC on the Cleo Helpdesk. Its certainly been a baptism of fire for the Cleo team, with the FRT guys seeing more of Kosovo in four weeks than most Kosovars will ever see. The team of eight was soon down to seven when LCpl Laura '3 baps' Ward went sick with a stomach ache and was rushed to Camp Bondsteel to have her appendix out. Get well soon Laura. The rest of the shift are battling on with Cpl Si 'Jnr' Hogg and Cpl Rob 'Doughboy' Pilsbury up at all hours fixing faults on FRT. The joys of Helpdesk work are being embraced by Cpl 'Tommo' Thomasson, LCpl 'Finbar' Saunders and LCpl 'Son of FofSlMassive HEED' Hamilton and Sgt 'Sungod' Clark getting the best of both worlds, (he always seems to be on FRT when the sun is out).

In the light of our current manning issues 7ABSS are proud to present LCpl Sonof Foreman Hamilton, our first successful clone!

Sig Burrell (1ADSR) stocks up the guard-post water supplies

A big hello to the guys at the Corsham Hub doing a sterling job of explaining how to fix the kit, even though most of the faults have been at your end! It's amazing the types of calls you get at the Helpdesk.eg:

CLEO desk: 'Good afternoon, Cleo Helpdesk how can I help you?'
Intelligent Female: 'Thank you, I was wondering if you could put me in touch with someone.'
CLEO desk: 'Okay, do you have a contact number?'
Intelligent Female: 'I'm afraid not, he's a soldier based in Kosovo, do you know him, his name is Martin Hoyle?'
CLEO desk: 'No, I'm afraid I don't, do you have any more information?'
Intelligent Female: 'Sorry no, is that a problem?'
CLEO desk: 'Well, it's like asking if you know of Dave Smith, he works in London.'
Intelligent Female: 'Okay, so it was a bit of a silly question then.'
CLEO desk: 'Just a little bit, yes.'
Intelligent Female: 'Thank you for your help, goodbye.'
CLEO desk: 'Goodbye.'

Fingers crossed we'll have a few more 'weakest links' calling over the course of the tour, if not, we've got a few here to be getting on with.

BRAVO TROOP

Welcome to SSgt 'Ade' Sims, Hilary and Briana, Sig 'Stevie' Barton and Sig 'Prof' O'Connor to the Troop. Congratulations and goodbye to SSgt 'Dave' Sloane, Loma, Martin and Robyn who go to 1 (UK) Armd Div on promotion, good luck for the future. Congratulations to LCpl 'Jonno' Johnston and Claire on their recent marriage and welcome back to the Troop Cpl 'Pants' Underwood, Cpl 'Sam' Margie and LCpl 'Tommo' Thompson after having various holidays in Blandford. Having had our role on Ex Rhino Charge vastly reduced, the OC directed that a two-day period would be dedicated to an interest day and an inter-troop sports competition. The interest day consisted of an historical briefing of the Bergen-Hohne area and a visit to Belsen Gedenkstatte conducted by the then RSM, WO1 Mark Tivey.

Following this, the Squadron was briefed on Op Agricola 6. The inter-troop sports competition took place on April 26 and included rugby, hockey, shooting and a gun-run. Winning Troops for each event were: Rugby - Support Troop, Hockey - Bravo Troop, Shooting - Bravo Troop, Gun Run - Operations/Equipment Support Troop. Special mention should be made to Cpl 'Daz' Margie of Alpha Tp who broke his collar bone during the rugby after 106kg of Cpl 'My tea's a salad' O'Mahony landed on top of him. Despite Cpl Margie's valiant efforts the troop still failed to win a game.

ROVER TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Karen Moore
Tp SSgt SSgt Andy Buckle

Firstly 'Welcome' to all our augmentees from 1 ADSR who have helped greatly with our manning of Theatre assets, they are: Cpl 'Smudger' Smith, LCpl 'Spec Task' Roberts, LCpl 'Bernie' Burns and Sigs 'Buzz' Burrell, 'Wes' Doyle, 'Sticky' Vickers, 'SOP' Rigg, 'Booty' Booth, 'Dodgy' Hodgeson, Towell, Wilson, Handley, Wilkes, Sims and Cooper. Also who could forget our Saturday and Sunday boys LCpl Lawson and LCpl Ryan. That'll be a crate each please! Talk about hit the ground running. No sooner had we sorted out the Tank Park, offices and stores into a neat and soldierly like fashion then it was time to deploy on Exercise. All the usual preparation was completed and we were given Orders for the Exercise the evening before deployment. Our nominated location was only about 10km's away and I'm pleased to say it was an Engr vehicle that failed to start on the move out. Armed with our porn star like issue sunglasses we rolled out the gates of Slim Lines, contributing heavily to the massive pollution around the town. Finding the location was no great drama but positioning the vehicles was a minor (ok, major) difficulty. Each small bush was hiding a fair size tree stump that usually took a few goings over with 14 tonnes of armour before it was finally beaten. Once in position the set up began. They say only mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the mid-day sun, make that: mad dogs, Englishmen and 7 Armd Bde HQ and Sig Sqn. After five hours we were finally finished. The heat had taken its toll and our extra responsibilities, (an extra tent here, few more tables there, 30 SIGS Det here, few air conditioners there) had increased our set up time by about four hours. The next day was a demonstration day. Many visitors visited the HQ's including the local Scandinavian Battalions and the Battle Group RSV's.

The final day consisted of the HQ in its 'Emergency Response Role'. Around 45 members of the Kosovo Protection Corps visited the HQ. The main effort was to demonstrate how Command and Control is achieved in a deployed environment. The EOD, RMP and Medical Corps joined us and the demonstration went well.

Tp Comd Maj Jon Duckworth
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim 'BFBS' Pritchard

No 'hellos' or 'goodbyes'. On Monday 28 May, WO1 (RSM) Mark Tivey was Commissioned. The Squadron paraded at 0600hrs in the QM's compound for an OR's breakfast, the RSM joined in around 0630hrs.

He was given some un-ironed uniform and a 2Lt rank slide, not great for him but sheer joy for 2Lt 'Duty Subby' Moore. The next phase of his commissioning, came in the form of an etiquette test which he failed miserably, not being able to identify the correct cutlery set in front of him or the drinks given to him either.

2Lt Tivey attempts to eat peas in an officer like fashion

He was given the chance to redeem himself by answering a few intellectual questions, again he failed miserably but thankfully Sig 'Bright Spark' Ardley was able to assist. At around 0730hrs his embarrassment came to an end and he was promoted to Captain but first had to open a bottle of champers with a sword, apparently it can be done but Capt Markus St Jean Tivine simply smashed the neck off the bottle.

He was promptly given the appointments of OC Rear Party/Families Officer and Welfare Officer and waved the Squadronn off to OPTAG, Congratulations and Good Luck from all the Squadron.

Having arrived at Pristina APOD on a dull wet Wednesday afternoon, the Support Tp Advance Party boarded the coach bound for Slim Lines TFA. The next morning heralded the start of a busy week and eventually the HOTO of MNB (C) Sig Sqn accounts was complete.

The official RSM s Handover/Takeover

Several interior design projects ensued and by the end of the second week we were all expecting Carol Smiley and the rest of the Changing Rooms Crew to make a guest appearance. The Department soon settled into some early starts and late finishes and before we knew it the Pre-LSI was upon us, cheers BOWO.

It's not all work, we have managed a visit to the American PX at Camp Bondsteel for a couple of hour's relaxation and the customary Burger King. At the time of writing we have yet to start the R&R plot although Sig 'Lloyd' Holmes has managed to get himself away on Adventure Training in Brac, no doubt he will enjoy his time away and will hopefully get chance to try his hand at 'life laff up -hill skiing!'.

To boost the local economy here in Pristina, Sig Cheryl Smyth has made it her task to purchase as many Paradigm phone cards as is feasibly possible and Sig 'Tug' Wilson has purchased as many CD's as the 'local store' can possibly supply him with.

We have had a new addition to the Department recently, Sig Wilson came into the office with a tortoise he had found on the path outside, how disappointed he was when he discovered it was not a mince pie. To cheer 'Tug' up we had a naming session for the tortoise. We finally settled on 'Ross' in honour of Sig Ardley, the Stores Accountant we left behind in Germany. No need to worry Sig Ardley, we won't expect you to keep up the work rate of 'Ross' when we get back! Finally, Vets who need practice, Sig 'Lloyd' Holmes who thought a tortoise couldn't survive if it didn't have enough water to swim in! Also there was Sig Cheryl Smyth who asked, 'Do they ever come out of their shell?' What would Rolf Harris say?

NEWS FROM NORTHERN IRELAND

XV HEADQUARTERS NORTHERN IRELAND AND 15 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col M. P. Llewellyn OBE
RSM WO1 (RSM) McNaught

By the time you read this the Regt 2IC, Maj Nick Caleb will be with JACIG. We wish him every success with moving house and his new job, and owe him a big debt of thanks for the copious amounts of paperwork he managed to get through. The Adjt, Capt Annabel Taylor, will be unchained from the telephones and CASH terminal and starting a new life with the Civil Affairs Group, on her way to Sierra Leone to find out how the locals celebrate the rainy season. After a two year rainy season in NI only the temperature is expected to change. (To all those who have supported me during the last 12 months you have my eternal gratitude – you have kept me sane and managed to keep the gremlins at bay!). Welcome to the new 2IC, Maj Alan Stringer, back to his home county at last, but this time with Ulrika – good luck with the acclimatisation and congratulations on your marriage. Welcome also to the new Adjt, Capt Katie Caie and husband Stuart – I'm not sure how you will juggle horses, dogs and the in tray but best of luck! You'll need it! Not content with being congratulated for selection for promotion to Colonel in the last entry, the CO has been awarded an OBE for his previous appointment in UKSC(G). What's the next excuse for champagne? (More Sgt Techs would definitely be a good start for a celebration!). The marching season furore was louder than the riots, but the new challenge will be faced when the various parties respond to the recent proposals for the implementation of the Good Friday Agreement, which will have far reaching consequences whichever way the decision falls. Who will be at Stormont by the time this goes to print? As the GOC told the juniors during his recent visit to the Regiment – the only thing we can be sure of is that the military will cope with whatever is thrown at us. And 15 Sig Regt will also cope with anything– even the HQNI staff coming back on strength!

MORRISON CUP – FRIDAY 15 JUNE 2001

This year the Regiment sent a team of what was predominately a 'jack of all trades, masters of none' to compete in the Morrison Cup. With an early morning start, we set off to sunny Blandford (a unique Georgian town by all accounts) from Lisburn. The crossing over the Irish Sea was not too kind to us, but the bar staff were accommodating, making the long drive in the back of the minibus more bearable. In preparation for the following day's events, 15 Sig Regt forbade the resting of bodies and instead opted for frequenting with the locals from Bournemouth, with the added luxury of not having to clear pubs and remain in surreptitious little groups. The day of the Competition started with the pole vault where Cpl Dave 'Burnt Hands Sambuccas' Salter and Cpl Ian 'Fan' Welsh found the going tough and did not manage to get anywhere near the bar to jump it, but had a laugh trying. Whilst the Team were warming up for the track events, the field events were ongoing with some members doing well in their chosen events including Sgt Mark 'FYEO' Hopkins and Cpl 'Boz' Litster in the long jump and triple jump. The ladies did very well keeping the points coming in for the team. The team scored valuable points in the track events, with good runs by Jay Lowe, Capt Rich Craig and Capt Fiona Stewart. With the day passing quickly we watched as the other teams scores went creeping past ours, but our hopes didn't fade as Sgt Karl Hannah retained his title in the discus. When the competition came to a close it was not a surprise to find that 11 Sig Regt had won the Cup (again). We were happy with our day's work, coming sixth out of nine teams in the major units competition. After a few celebratory beers the team set off the following morning on the long journey back to Northern Ireland, vowing to have more success in next year's competition.

EXERCISE MAIDEN FINN 15–28 JUNE 2001

Ex Maiden Finn was a 233 Sig Sqn Adventurous Training exercise held around the Coastal waters of Northern Ireland. The aim of the exercise was to introduce Novices to sailing and to reach a level capable of achieving their competent crew.

The Crew:	Skipper	LCpl 'Mac' McFarland	RYA Day skipper
	Mate	Capt Lucy Thirsk	RYA Day skipper
	Crew	Sgt 'Nige' Cathrew	Novice
	Crew	Cpl 'Mini' Smith	Novice
	Crew	LCpl 'Stan' Stanham	Novice

The crew all assembled in SHQ with bags packed ready to go. We eventually managed to drag the 2IC away from her in tray and headed for HMS Caroline in Belfast harbour, where we boarded the 'Gerona', a 35ft Trade winds yacht which was to be our home for the next five days. After checking over the yacht's inventory and stowing away our rations and personal belongings, the skipper and first-mate gave the novice crew a guided tour of the yacht. We were taught safety procedures: how to send a MAYDAY message (a great confidence booster!), a few nautical terms; pointy bit at the front – 'Bow', left and right - 'Port and Starboard' and handy hints to help us on our Voyage – 'Don't throw up into wind'. Sailing into Belfast Lough we carried out Man over board drills. The next five days produced various weather and sea conditions which the novice crew was taught to deal with. Each crewmember took it in turns to carry out different jobs on board to maximise their experience. Each day we made our way to a different port to berth for the night, making it to Bangor, Carrickfergus, Portaferry and finally into Strangford Lough. The novice members of the crew all reached a suitable standard of knowledge to achieve their competent crew and everyone agreed that they were keen to pursue this sport. Overall it was a very challenging week but enjoyed by all.

MCKELVIE CUP SHOOTING COMPETITION - by Sgt Wood

On 29 June 2001 the 233 Sig Sqn Inter Troop Shooting Competition was held at Ballykinler Training Centre. The competition was divided into four shoots run on two ranges. Each Troop provided four 'expert shots' each of which had to include a JNCO for the Fire Team Assessment. The Teams were drawn off to the two ranges with TM Tp and NCC Tp going onto the Pistol range first. The shoots here comprised the Pistol APWA (CI) followed by Pistol Competition shoot No.2. The second shoot was a high scoring event, which in the end made all the difference to the results. Meanwhile India Tp and Romeo Tp went across to the Rifle range where a Rifle APWT (TS) was followed up by a Fire Team Assessment (with a reduced run). Due to the fact that only Romeo Tp had SUSAT they were penalised by 15% on their rifle scores. The weather could not have been better as the morning was warm and sunny with a quick shower just before the Fire Team Assessment run. The run was only a mile long and Cpl Mick Partridge ran the teams just hard enough to get a sweat up prior to donning their helmets and INIBA vests for the shoot. 25lbs of webbing was carried throughout. Surprisingly enough Romeo Tp made a clean sweep of the event even with their penalty only being beaten on the Pistol APWA by India Tp. This minor defeat may be attributed to too many computer games or the influence of a defected Romeo Trooper, Sgt 'Tug' Wilson. The winning score was 1106 points with the other Troops gaining between 833 and 911 points.

OFFICERS V SENIORS CRICKET MATCH

The annual Officers v Seniors cricket match was scheduled to coincide with Op Caste 2, a restricted leave period so that the maximum amount of Regimental personnel could be on hand to witness what was billed to be a gargantuan battle of pride and honour between the two Messes. The pre-match build up was tense, culminating in the Commanding Officer pulling out at the eleventh hour to personally attend to some pressing G6 issue (yeah!) what foresight the CO proved to have! The Seniors won the toss and elected to bat. The RSM demonstrated from the off exactly why Scotland are not leading lights in the gentleman's game, by scoring an impressive two before being bowled by Capt 'Quack' Grey. A few weekends as Orderly Officer should wipe that grin off his face Sir! The Seniors then went on to build a respectable 159 all out in their allotted 20 overs, despite the attraction of the officers secret weapon Capt 'Scrap-yard Challenge' Strawbridge and his slobbering Doberman Pincher, now affectionately known to all who played as 'Git'. Notable performances with the bat were put in by WO2 (RQMS) 'Look at the size of my willow' Hartley, Sgt 'Drew' Drewitt and Sgt 'I don't want to bat' Harris. The pick of the officers bowling were Capt 'Quack' Grey and Capt 'I can't bowl' Griffiths, the latter taking two wickets in one over. After a short break for Pimms and sarnies it was then the turn of the Officers to bat. Let's not labour the point, but after a brief spell of outstanding bowling by the Seniors the Officers found themselves in that typically English cricket situation of wobbling on the brink of total humiliation, 21 all out after 11 overs! The only notable performance was the CO's ability to foresee the outcome, whose absence no doubt saved him weeks of ribbing from the RSM. The beautiful sound of leather on willow is something the Regimental Officers can only dream about, ah well there's always next year!

OPENING OF 233 SIGNAL SQUADRON REFURBISHED LINES BY THE GOC NORTHERN IRELAND - by Capt R. A. Hamilton

Over the past twelve months, Building 31 has been refurbished to re-accommodate 233 Sig Sqn SHQ and TM Tp and to allow Romeo Tp to move from the secure compound into the HQNI compound. The new facility includes flood wiring to allow maximum access to IT services, an IT systems repair area, car bays for installing vehicle fits and an abundance of room for Romeo Tp to carry out their work. The building was handed across to 233 Sig Sqn in June 2001 and officially opened by the General Officer Commanding Northern Ireland, Lt Gen A. S. H. Irwin CBE on 2 August 2001. The GOC was welcomed by the CO and the RSM and received an update on 15 Sig Regt. The GOC was then escorted across to 233 Sig Sqn where he was met by personnel from SHQ before officially opening the building. A tour was conducted of the new facility with TM Tp first. There the GOC was shown a display of the new rigging equipment, visited the car fits bay and was given a demonstration by the installation techs of phone line maintenance. The GOC then went on to visit Romeo Tp where he saw some of the specialist equipment used by the Troop before being taken to the Peake Inn where he had sandwiches with junior members of all three Squadrons of 15 Sig Regt.

ECHO TROOP

Tp Comd Post Gapped

The Troop said goodbye to Capt Fiona 'Does my bum look big in this' Stewart as OC which leaves her spot vacant (no change there then) until her replacement arrives in September. On the sporting front congratulations go out to the troop members who aided in the winning of the CO's Cup Hockey. On the athletics track Sgt Hopkins came in second for the 100 and 200m at the Mercury Cup Competition. On a more sombre note, the Troop sends its best wishes to Cpl Lisa Shaw and wish her a speedy recovery. Our thoughts also go out to LCpl Lee Buttita who was injured in a car accident in early July.

A Watch would like to welcome SSgt (Supervisor Radio) Andy Ball fresh from his Promotion course, and back to NI for a second round. We also welcome Sgt Berry, Cpl Bebbington, Cpl Flatman, Cpl Hauxwell, LCpl Howard, LCpl Stephenson and LCpl Walters. Fond farewells to SSgt (Supvr R) Dunn to JSSU Digby, SSgt (Supvr R) Hill to 11 EOD Regiment, Cpl Heather Carter, Cpl Jim Hobson, Cpl Scanlan and LCpl Scott. Adios to Cpl Cartwright who has gone onto the QRF.

B Watch has had a substantial turn-around of personnel with the arrival of SSgt (Supvr R) 'Ash' Ashworth, Cpl Patton, LCpl Fenton, LCpl Miller, LCpls Baker and JT Casement. B Watch says goodbye to Cpl 'Dinger' Bell and Cpl West who have headed to pastures new in Civ Div.

C Watch welcomes Cpl Kennedy back from his upgrading course. Congratulations are in order for Cpl Potton who has been selected for promotion to Sergeant.

D Watch says goodbye to Cpl Fleming who goes back to the mainland and hello to SSgt (Supvr R) Brooke, Cpl 'Sniffy' Booth and the return of Cpl 'Foxy' Fox from his difficult upgrading course at Chicksands.

GOLF TROOP

Tech Adjt Capt R. J. Craig

Last month the Troop went to the Lake District to do some adventurous activities, including hill walking (which felt like mountains) climbing, abseiling and dodging wind and rain. During one of the breaks from the arduous training one of our Troop members came out of the dwarf-loving closet. Sgt Jon 'Snatch' Hatch has shown us all, with style and panache, his ability to charm and excite the smaller members of society. The Troop would like to say a sorry farewell to Sgt 'Snatch' Hatch, Sgt 'Linda' Box and Sgt 'It's your wife on the phone again' Brankin, who are all leaving us for the easy ride Foreman's course in Blandford. Additionally, goodbyes are extended to Sgt 'Big Boy' Spike Milligan who is off to his bonnie homeland of Scotland on posting and Sgt 'Philthy' McLeish, who is 'off home' to his mother squadron of 264. The Troop is pleased to welcome a few new members, Cpl Paul 'Caffers' Caffrey, Cpl Ollie Gray and fresh from the shady beaches of Cyprus, Cpl 'Pickles' Hayward. Last but not least a belated welcome to our two new bosses, Foreman of Signals 'Taff but not Welsh' Roberts and Foreman of Signals 'I didn't know that!' Leach, we all look forward to working for you both……

SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Capt P. R. Griffiths

As normal Support Tp have managed to bluff through another few months by looking busy and getting as many brownie points as physically possible. The MT is still managing to keep its fingers firmly on the Squadron's vehicle fleet although this has proved to be a hard task with Troop members like Cpl 'Rammer' Deas, using civilian cars to slow down, rather than using the brakes supplied! There have been a few arrivals and departures within the Troop. A big warm welcome goes to LCpl Kris Blundell who has joined us from JCU(NI) and Sig 'Jamesy' James who comes from 249 Sig Sqn and has gone straight on his Tailoresses course. Farewell to LCpl 'Angry' (JY 747) Fisher who is once again on leave, maybe sometime before you finally depart you could hand in your arrival proforma. Finally, congratulations to Sgt Vicky 'I don't feel pregnant' Dumbell and Simon, on their unexpected but very welcome news of the patter of tiny feet. May all your problems be little ones.

233 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj A. N. Walker

The sporting events this year for 233 Sig Sqn have definitely been something to rave about! The Squadron has outshone itself in the CO's Cup competitions. It has managed to win every event so far in the 2001 competition. Keep it up we are about half way to winning the Cup! The Squadron would like to say a fond farewell to SSgt Rob Allen who has moved to JCU(NI) to enable him to stay in Province to end his career. Thanks for standing in as SSM whilst SSM Dunseith was taken ill, and welcome to WO2 (SSM) Tasker and family who have arrived from Blandford. Hope you enjoy your time in the Province.

ROMEO TROOP - by LCpl A. Jones

Tp Comd Capt R. A. Hamilton

The trophy cabinet is bulging again with successes in the McKelvie Cup swimming, shooting & hockey competitions. Keep this up and we could be keeping the cup!

The Troop would like to congratulate Cpl 'Tony' Davies, for coming off the recent Sergeants' Board, and LCpls 'Bede' Gladish and 'Buster Gonad' Brown for finding their second tech stripes in a corn flakes box. We would also like to say hello to LCpl Jones from 216 Sig Sqn, and LCpls Feldman and Roberts who have arrived straight from the factory. We wish all the best to Sgt 'Tug' Wilson who couldn't hack the pace of Romeo and selected for the easy life of India Tp. Also Cpl 'Lestor' Richardson moving onward and upwards to another unit, Cpl 'Bede' Gladish taking on the challenge of JCU(NI), and Cpls 'Si' Wellstead and 'Marty' Rudland posted to 249 Sqn and Blandford respectively, good luck lads. A final congratulations to LCpl Bostock with a new addition to his ever growing family. With the fast turnover in personnel, the chance has arisen to have a couple of excellent parties including the troop summer bash organised by Cpl Davies. The fancy dress do lasted all night long, with all scores being settled on an inflatable gladiator duel. The boss did not seem so happy, however, with the fancy dress idea when in a subsequent inspection of the lines by CO 15 Sig Regt all the Ghostbuster packs descended on him on opening a rigging locker. June was a very busy month, with the Troop move into the HQNI compound. With only four days given between access to the new building and handing over the old building, the Troop worked particularly hard and had the equipment up and running in the minimal amount of time. Once everything was installed, attention was turned to decorating the 'rest and recuperation' room which now looks quite the part and would be ideal for having a couple of beers in (shame about the lack of a license).

The biggest drama in Romeo Tp choosing the right weapon to suit the occasion and your mood

INDIA TROOP - by Cpl J. Medcraft

Tp Comd Capt T. Grey

Tp SSgt SSgt K. D. 'Icky' Gratrick

The past few months have been relatively quiet for India Tp but there have been the usual hellos and goodbyes within the Troop. Firstly we must say our goodbyes. Data Entry would like to say goodbye to LCpl Mark 'Ogri' Manby who has gone to 7 Sig Regt. Let's just hope that the mighty 7 Sig Regt has enough food for you Mark! Cpl 'Jeffers' Ford and Sgt Ross 'Jack of all Trades' Menzies are moving to COMMCEN Tp. Let's just hope that you don't get sacked from there too Ross (apparently Cpl Jason 'Halitosis' Nicholls is following you)! Don't forget to remind them that you have a problem typing in PA55WORDS Ross! Sgt Ian 'Bandito' Clark is shortly to be posted to 14 Sig Regt, what's 14 Sigs' BFPO number Ian? There have been five arrivals in the Troop. Sgt Mick 'Software King' Stoneman returns to us again after an apparently lovely six months in the Falkland Islands and SSgt John Lester joins us from JSSU Digby – both as System Administrators. We have had two defections from the other Troops in the Squadron, namely SSgt 'Flo' Jarvis from TM Troop and Sgt 'Tug' Wilson from Romeo Tp – at least you boys know which side your bread is buttered! Last but by no means least, SSgt 'Icky' Gratrick has arrived in the Troop and is making an instant impression. The Troop has been doing a lot of socialising of late. This is primarily due to the three promotions within the Troop. Congratulations go to Capt Tim Grey and Cpl 'Toff' Lucas. Cpl Justin Medcraft (author) was also successfully selected for promotion to Sergeant upon posting. Well done to you all. Sgts Ross 'Super COMMCEN boy' Menzies and Ian 'Chest Poker' Clark have also completed and passed their Sergeants course at Blandford. Congratulations go to you as well. Sig Phil 'Preston' Brocken is about to take the big leap and defect from the block into becoming a 'Pad'. Good luck fella! Finally, well done to Sgt Ian '28, yeah right!' Clark for winning the 18-hole Stableford competition in the Troop Golf Day. He's the only person who's been able to play golf consistently in province for two years and still be playing off a handicap of 28. Sgt 'Tug' Wilson achieved the longest drive, this was only because he was the only person playing who actually hit the fairway (and it was the only one he hit all day!). WO2 (Supvr IS) Kev McHugh got 'nearest to the pin' and Sgt Jeff Thomas managed to somehow snap a club. Congratulations must also go to SSgt 'Flo' Jarvis for winning the reddest head competition. He and Cpl 'Billy' Beaumont got the worst score ever recorded in the history of the course – and that was using a tee on every shot! The competition was organised by Sgt 'Schteve' Simpson, was a resounding success and an excellent send off for Sgt's Ian Clark and Ross Menzies who will both be missed.

Tp Comd Lt E. L. McLellan

In time honoured tradition let's start off with the arrivals and departures. First off the arrivals and it's hello to SSgt Dave Mudway who has handed his spurs in to the SQMS and joined us from Romeo Tp to fill the post of Troop Staff Sergeant. Also it's hello to LCpl Steve Adamson and LCpl Scott Deas who have recently joined us from RSS Blandford after completing their Class 3 Courses. Goodbye to Cpl Chris 'D-O-double G' Holt and Sgt Phil 'Dolly' Parton who will shortly be leaving us for 'Civ Div' after they complete their resettlement courses, (good luck!). Congratulations to SSgt Nick Goodwin, Cpl Danny Shovelton and Cpl Lee 'Rocky' Khair on their recent promotions. Welcome back to all the people who are rejoining us after completing courses. Sgt 'Fred' Farnfield who has returned after successfully completing his Sergeants Course, (though you wouldn't think so from the amount of time he's spent in work!) and will soon be off again on his Foreman's Course. Cpl Pherris Baldwin came and went having received a quick posting. Also welcome back to LCpl Steve 'Stretch' Hicklin who has recently completed his class 1 Telemech course, (so doesn't that now make him an Installations technician?!). Cpl Andy Butterfield who has returned from his 'Detties' course and last but not least Cpl Lee 'Rocky' Khair, who has rejoined us after completing 'P Company'. Last but not least is the Troop's annual barbecue, which this year was held at the Peak Inn on Lisburn station's notorious 'strip'. Arguably the best feature of this year's barbecue was the 'Bouncy Castle' that was arranged by Cpl Danny Shovelton. This seemed to provide hours of endless fun for the 'kids' and the married personnel's children as well! There was no shortage of food this year either, there was enough to feed three Troops! Overall though a good time was had by all and we look forward to next year's barbecue, which will hopefully be even better still.

NETWORK CONTROL CENTRE TROOP
Tp Comd Capt A. Haresign

The Troop says farewell to LCpl 'Willy' Wilson, off to sunny Caterrick with 19 Mech. Cpl 'Taff' Edwards posted to 1 UK Civ Div after the best three years of his life in the NCC. We also welcome Sig 'Gaz' Hitchings from 16 Sig Regt and LCpl 'Murk' Aincough from 7 Sig Regt. They are both looking forward to the next two years. The Troop is currently looking forward to their Adventurous Training in Newquay. Originally planned as water-sports, it is now five-a-side football and BBQs on the beach if Cpl Steve Lowery can organise that in two months.

TRAILWALKER 2001- by 2Lt Simon Lord

Quite why I had decided to volunteer for Trailwalker again, I am not really sure. Having arrived in NI last year to be told by the 2IC I was expected, and not wishing to be out done, I graciously accepted the challenge. It all went well and Cpl Si 'I've done this three times already' Hurst and I completed the 100km ahead of our other three teams. It was actually quite enjoyable and very sociable. I could do that again, or so I thought. This year proved to be somewhat more of a challenge. Eighteen personnel made the journey from sunny Portadown to Petersfield. Twelve runners and a six-man admin party. Comms Troop 'A' consisted of Capt Andy 'Ritchie Cunningham' Parfitt, 2Lt Simon 'OIC Sport' Lord, SSgt Lee 'Floppy' Hopkins and LCpl Chris 'Mountain-Goat Boy' Sankey. The Support Troop Team consisted of Cpl John 'There She' Blowes, Cpl Gaz 'I could have finished' Harris, Cpl Ritchie 'Knackered Knees' Birch and Sig Dave 'Marathon Man' Smart. The Wombles Team consisted of Brig 'More Brufen' Graham, Capt Scott 'Do I talk a lot?' Richardson, WO2 Mark 'BOWO' Lavers and SSgt Mark 'Mustn't Grumble (much!) Corner. The day before the run was spent in Guilford soaking up the sun. I had arranged for our three teams to reside at SEME Borden and, after convincing the QM that Brig Graham was in fact one of the team members and it wasn't a spelling error on my part, we settled down for an early night in preparation for the 0700hrs start.

The 150 teams or so taking part came from all walks of life, both civilian and military. After registration there is an air of anticipation as the teams eye up the opposition and aim to pour as much High Five down their necks as possible. Being the only member of my team to have completed the event I advised a steady start, looking for a finishing time in the region of 14 hours. The mile circuit around Mahon Barracks is not the ideal training ground for such an event as the undulating South Downs Way soon take its toll on the knees, particularly the down hill sections. Soon we were up with the leaders at a steady 10km/hour pace; things were not going quite according to plan. By Checkpoint 4 (36 km) we were still at 10km/hour pace and I had seen Cpl Si 'I'm never doing this again' Hurst, doing it again! The other two teams were approximately 30mins behind us, taking things at a slightly more leisurely pace. The route to Checkpoint 5 is the longest leg at 12.8km with a long steady climb from Amberley to Washington. This proved to be my undoing as on the downhill section my knee seized forcing me to retire at 50km. Not happy! On arrival, I was informed by Sgt Rob 'Large Belt Buckle' McCorkell that the entire Sp Tp team had retired due to injury at Checkpoint 4, Trailwalker 2001 was taking no prisoners! As the walking wounded were ferried to SEME thinking what only could have been, the Wombles and three quarters of Comms Tp 'A' soldiered on.

The bad luck didn't end there. Surely the most unlucky person to enter Trailwalker 2001 was SSgt Lee 'Unlucky Hoppy' Hopkins. He twisted his ankle and had to retire at Checkpoint 10, with only 8.5km to go! He has also managed to catch a rather smart tan by running most of the event in a vest; he still has the sunburn to prove it. So it was left to SSgt Mark 'Do you fancy coming to Blackpool? Corner and his Womblers to show us how it should be done, finishing in a very respectable 14hrs 46mins. They even managed to overtake Capt Andy 'Hot Pants' Parfitt and LCpl Chris 'Sir, please don't make me do this again' Sankey who finished in 15hrs 7mins. As the dates for next year are 6-7 July 2002, it looks as though Drumcree will have to take precedence, though if anything changes I have a feeling we may be back for some more punishment. OK, its just me then …… lads?

PS could I say a big thank you on behalf of all members of 3Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn to Lt Yam and his team for organising the event, and my apologies for being weak and unmilitary like.

ROVER GROUP - by LCpl Sluman

After what seemed to be a short year, Drumcree silly season was upon us again, meaning it was time for the Rover Group to swing into action. Formed to provide 3 Inf Bde's Commander with protection both on foot and vehicle borne, whilst out and about on the streets of Portadown.

Everyone, bar LCpl Bruce 'The one that got away' Morrison was new to the group this year, meaning training started early in March to ensure our drills were slick. However, due to the dreaded foot and mouth outbreak, we were unable to deploy to Ballykinler as planned. Instead we were reduced to bombing around camp with weary dog walkers looking on in dismay! With Drumcree rapidly approaching we managed to grab one last training day in Ballykinler, graced by the presence of the bodyguards in order to polish off our well rehearsed drills.

Our first deployment was for the march on Saturday 26 May that proved to be quite disappointing, returning to camp after less than an hour on the ground. However, it was probably for the best as our veteran radio operator (LCpl Morrison) had already asked Syscon to 'contact us on landing' -over a live CNR net! The lock-in camp arrived and Rover Group was raring to go. Why then did it come as no surprise for the hurry up and wait syndrome to take affect for the first four days! How many times can you first works a snatch without moving it? Day Five saw us leap to the command of the Brigadier with deployments coming in thick and fast, averaging twice a day from an hour up to eight hours on the ground. After the first few deployments it became apparent that the Brigadier preferred to walk rather than ride which meant we would find ourselves tabbing through the streets of Portadown, keeping our patrolling skills up to scratch, and if we could, our heads down!

During our deployments we met no resistance or violence from the locals, indeed anything of interest happening always seemed to occur ten minutes after getting back to camp, much to the disappointment of Cpl 'Setch' Setchfield who was becoming very attached to his baton gun. Luckily Drumcree passed without any major incidents and life has returned to normality. Well done to all those who formed Rover Group, it was a worthwhile experience for all concerned.

ADVENTURE TRAINING PENHALE CAMP 2001 - by LCpl Sank

After a long and dreary ride from Portadown to Newquay by ferry and slow moving minibus, the boys of 3IBSS were all feeling rather tired and out of it. Recuperated after a few hour's kip the week's events started with rock climbing and abseiling around the cliffs of Penhale Camp. Through the week various members of the group picked up nicknames. 'Catalogue Man' (Sig King) picked his up in the car park before leaving Ireland through his many different poses! While rock climbing LCpl Sankey picked up the name 'Mountain-Goat Boy' for his rapid ascent of the rock face. Then came 'Free-fall Man' (Pte Wilkinson) named after his rapid descent and hitting the deck and para rolling in the sand! The day had gone well and the sun was shining brightly and did so all week. The following day the group participated in what was supposed to be a stroll round the cliff faces for about 15 miles but 'Two Tone Man' Cpl Howard had invented a new distance called the 'Howie mile', which resulted in the group doing close on thirty miles instead! Morale was high though because 'Random Man' LCpl Good was being his usual madly funny self, and the sun was beaming and everyone had good tans, except of course 'Two Tone Man' who looked rather daft with a very tanned head and legs but nothing else! After the days walking it was decided that this was to be selection week, with Sig Squires 'Jap Sniper, Luke the gook' giving a 'Big Brother' commentary!

Day Three saw the group participate in a spot of mountain biking! To make things more interesting on route, 'Mountain-Goat Boy' Sankey and 'Free-Fall Man' Wilkinson decided to play chicken with the oncoming fences that were only big enough to get one bike through. It led to Sankey clipping Wilke's back tyre and flying off into the fence and the whole group nearly falling off laughing! More was to come but to top the day off 'Luke the gook' lost his pedal and continued on Postman Pat style side mounted, by the end everyone had sore butts from the hardened seats! Day Four of selection had the boys in a 'You've been framed' style canoeing session, if only there had been a camcorder present! 'Catalogue Man' spent the day in circles, 'Random Man' spent most of the day in the water instead of the canoe as did Steve the chef, and 'Luke the gook' whilst rafted decided to break dance in his canoe whipping out three other people as he fell! At one point we thought the Merlin helicopter was coming in to help because we were all in the water!

Day Five was probably the best day as the group went horse riding with very little knowledge of the sport in the group! Comments such as, 'Where're the breaks?' and, 'Where's reverse?' were coming from the mouth of 'Taff Man' (SSgt Drew) and for such a big guy you've never seen him so scared! The best bit of the day though was when one of the horses got spooked and sent all the other horses into a sprinting frenzy with the lads holding on for dear life screaming profanities, then they all stopped suddenly and had a communal toilet session!

In the afternoon the group participated in a clay pigeon shoot with a small pot for the winner. 'Luke the gook' was looking odds on but 'Mountain Goat Boy' came out with a great shoot to take the winnings. However, young Squires still had the last laugh when he shouts to the boys for a catalogue pose and disappears when the mound he stands on slides down the hill! Like all good Adventure Training there has to be a do to finish the week and the boys went to Newquay to a new place called Springboks where we indulged in some good food and plenty of drink! Saturday was a free day and the lads had planned a spot of body boarding as the sea had been right for it all week except of course Saturday morning when it was flat as a pancake, but you can't win them all! All in all it was a great week with good weather, top bunch of lads and quality activities. The lads would like to say thanks to the DS for their efforts and a big thanks and goodbye to 'Taff Man' SSgt Drew for whom has served his time and completed his final adventure training exercise.

Well done to all those members of the Squadron who took part in the preparation and the seeing to fruition of the Brigade Commander's Cockail Party at Hilsborough Castle. In particular, thank you to WO2 (RQMS) Belam for his hard work in the weeks and days leading up to the event. Your contribution ensured all concerned had a super evening. Congratulations to WO1 (RSM) Lockwood and his wife Dawn on the recent birth of their son Oliver. Congratulations also to Cpl Paul Ryan on his recent selection for promotion to Sergeant, we would like to wish your receiving Unit the very best of luck! Well done to the 39 Brigade Female Rounders Team who retained the trophy in the Northern Ireland Inter-Unit Rounders competition, once again defeating 15 Sig Regt in the final.

OPERATIONS SECTION - ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

Firstly a big welcome back to Cpl Mandie Smith who returns from her Class 1 course in time for the Marching Season, before being posted. Welcomes must also go to LCpl Stu Welton and Sig Al Allardyce, who unfortunately have been thrown in at the deep end arriving in the middle of POIP. We hope you will enjoy your time with us. Only one farewell this month, which goes to Cpl Andy Nolan, who leaves us for civvie street and the grand ole US of A. Some people have all the luck! Thank you for your endeavours in SYSCON and good luck to you.

SECTION NEWS

The beginning of July saw the start of the Marching Season, a busy time for the Mushrooms in SYSCON, along with the rest of the Squadron. This year proved no different and although it seems to have passed off fairly quietly, this does not mean that the reconfiguration of talk-throughs and constant telephone ringing has been any less stressful. A sense of humour has definitely been a requirement recently, especially with the apparent increase in Bergen runs. The NAAFI is rapidly running out of Radox, all thanks to Cpl 'Paddy' Bevan – don't forget, we know where you live 'Paddy'.

ROVER GROUP

The last two months have been excellent for Rover Gp with several deployments. Many involved the usual Green Move, escorting the Chancellor Downlink vehicle to its final destination, and then picking it up again. This, however, has not been without its dramas, mainly due to the lack of drivers, but also due to having two of the top cover sentries posted out of the Unit and the replacement being kept in Germany. So a belated welcome to Pte 'Ken' Barlow who arrives to us from ARRC Sp Bn. For once we must thank the Technicians for lending us spare manpower in the forms of LCpl Rob Dilger and LCpl 'Ted' Tedby who came out with us. But we bid a sad farewell to Pte 'Val' Hardy who leave us for a new career as a Driver Rad Op. Your, 'Why Aye Mans,' shall be missed in the Crew Room and we wish you the very best for the future. The highlight this period has been the usage of Rover Gp by the GOC (NI) during the troubles in the Ardoyne. We had a delightful cargo of a plethora of high-ranking Officers, so we were all on our best behaviour, well done to Pte 'Stretch' O'Hare for managing to keep his comments to himself for over four hours!

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE SECTION
ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

We must say goodbye to two of the more prominent members of the FRT section, Sgt Lee Rotherforth, who spent more time in a boat than he ever did at work, and Cpl 'Chaz' Charnock. The former is moving to SHAPE, where hopefully he will not relapse to his old ways with tongue piercing and dyed hair. The latter is off to terrorise recruits, look out those at ATR Bassingbourne. The whole department wishes you both well and thank you for your Fixed System endeavours. A big Tech style welcome to LCpl Kate Anderson, arriving on her first posting from basic training.

As per the rest of the Troop, our time has either been spent on ACFT training, (15 technicians looking as though they were part of the demonstration of the early, late and dangerous symptoms of nerve agent poisoning) or going out on any task available. The Section also has managed to go on a multitude of Adventure Training, between them either throwing themselves out of a plane, racing around in the Solent or even worse, falling into Stanford Loch. The less fortunate members have been heavily involved with the protection of the Chancellor Downlink vehicle on the Ardoyne, shielding it from paint, stones, bricks and petrol bombs, praying that the vehicle will start again to go out on just one more task. With one more month to go before the end of this year's marches, we are fighting hard, to ensure we come out the other end in one peace.

RIGGING SECTION

Welcome back to LCpl Scott 'Shergar' Tomblin from his Class 1 Installation Technician course in Blandford and a further welcome to his wife Zoe who now accompanies him. Congratulations to Sig Derek Slowey and his wife Gillian on the birth of their tiny 4lb baby Kieran. We hope he gets bigger very quickly! On the work front this month the usual jobs for marching season has been undertaken, with the Section being deployed on a regular basis. Aside from this, the Section has undertaken the biggest job in recent times in the shape of a new mast and building fit at RAF Aldergrove. This job consisted of 25 Antennae and feeders over a two-week period, involving numerous early starts and late finishes to meet the deadline set by the RAF. We would like to thank in this instance LCpl Lyndsey 'I'm allergic to vodka' Byrne who managed to fracture her skull on a rare day off, ensuring she was unable to do any of the work. Now that this job is complete we have entered a quieter period so can now look forward to Sig Dean Roberts, leaving us for a cosy number in Cyprus. Don't forget 'Robbo' that on duty you are required to stand – it should hold you in good stead for years to come. We wish you well for the future.

EXERCISE CELTIC AVENGER 2

The week commencing 25-29 June 2001, saw the third public order training (POT) package to be conducted in Ballykiler training village. Before the exercising troops arrived, Cpl 'Paddy' Bevan and LCpl Chris Lord deployed to establish reliable and robust communications. This entailed having two Ops Rooms, the first being a Bn TAC Ops and the second Bde Fwd Ops. Both were to have VH and UHF Cougarnet capabilities, facsimile and the Chancellor portable ground station, all simulating live operations. The set up was going well until LCpl 'Arc Welder' Lord mistook his cricket bat soldering iron for a precision tool. Don't worry 'Lordy', you won't be a baby Tech forever. Many thanks to Sgt Paul Faizey who ensured the job was completed. For the duration of the exercise, an operator was required to assist in Bde Fwd Ops, which just happened to be the best viewpoint on the training area. As comms were good Sig Ian Walker found time to relax and enjoy the spectacular view. The night sky over Ballykinler village shone brightly with the sight of burning cars, petrol bomb fireworks and the added volume of the rioters chants, added a realistic touch. In all a very successful week for all involved.

RQMS DEPARTMENT - ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

As the Marching Season gets into full swing, the Department breaths a sigh of relief as reinforcements arrive to bolster our recently depleted staff. We welcome Cpl Jase Hawksworth who has just arrived from 4 Bde. Congratulations on your recent selection for promotion to Sergeant, you will be staying. Welcome also to LCpl 'Deaks' Deakin, newly promoted from 16 Sig Regt. Unfortunately arrivals mean departures, as we bid a sad farewell to Cpl Rick Sherriff (www.ricksherriff.co.uk) who leaves us for a plum posting to AFNORTH. The loss of Ricks' unique approach to customer service will be noticeable. God help AFNORTH. WO2 (RQMS) Belam has just returned from the Queen's Royal Garden Party at Buckingham Palace. He informed the Squadron that Her Majesty's marquees are much larger and more difficult to erect than the Bde Comd's. He also commented that we should count ourselves lucky that we only cater for 200 at the Cocktail party as opposed to 2000+ at the Royal Garden Parties.

ROYAL SIGNALS SEAVIEW REGATTA (ISLE OF WIGHT)

SSgt Terry McIntyre, Sgt Lee Rotherforth, and Cpl Ian Burgon were the 39 Bde representatives for the Corps Regatta in June, managing to take time off during a very busy period. On arriving quayside, after the initial brief from the race officials, it was discovered that one of the crews was a man short. So in stepped our very own OC, Maj Andy Knott, who took some time out from his own leave to come down and give the team some much needed support on the first day. After a shaky start we finished the first day with a well-deserved third place. We undertook a hard nights training in some of Rydes public establishments, before carrying on the following day where we left off the previous night, with another third place. The actual day of the Regatta found the team with everything to prove. After a very close finish to the regatta, we narrowly defeated 63 Sig Sqn to lift the cup. The helm of the crew SSgt Terry McIntyre also won a Silver Salver for the highest scoring helmsman.

Due to the tremendous effort put in by the crew, we were asked to return the following week to compete in the Glover Cup, a two-day regatta in which teams from the Royal Signals, Royal Artillery, and the Royal Engineers take part. After a 500-mile journey from Stranraer we were greeted with the worst accommodation in Ryde. So after a couple of hours in the local pub we decided to move to a new hotel, but not before Sgt Lee Rotherforth handed out a few points on hotel cleanliness. On our return to Seaview Yacht Club we found ourselves teamed with Maj Fred Calvert, a salty Seaview veteran having sailed in these events for the last 30 years. As a crew we were quite strong, winning two of the four races in which we competed, but due to some absences the team didn't have the strength in depth needed to win the regatta. After the two days we had a nights rest before the long journey back to Northern Ireland. The crew would like to extend their thanks to The Royal Signals Yacht Club and Seaview Yacht Club for organising such an enjoyable event.

39 INFANTRY BRIGADE DINGHY CHALLENGE

Several representatives from both Brigade and Signal Squadron undertook a long sailing course led by SSgt Terry 'Sea Dog' McIntyre. A Royal Yacht Association (RYA) Level 2 dinghy sailing qualification would allow them to helm a dinghy under no supervision, providing they completed the course. It was designed to test their hand eye co ordination to the very maximum, for some it would be too much, but all boldly embarked on the course with a joyful sea shanty in their throats and fear in their minds. The first day brought much theory work and all involved were anxious to get on the water. When the moment finally came LCpl 'Musto' Ireson showed us his skill by falling in before he was even off the jetty.

Three intrepid sailors took to the water, as three more watched on from the relative safety of the powerboat; time to unfurl the sail; in goes Cpl 'Half a job' Beedon. The look on his face was one to be remembered. That water must have been cold. The first day ended, after another plunge by Cpl Neil Beedon, to the delight of the rest of us who managed to stay dry. Day Two was a relatively dry day for all as we were introduced to racing and the fine nuances of the upwind beat. All was to be won or lost there, some got the hang of it quickly, others did not as LCpl 'Monty' Montieth slowly faded into the distance. Day Three incorporated a great lesson on sailing in light winds, as we all struggled to undertake even the shortest of racecourses. The highlight of the day was the dry capsize practice, although why you would want to purposefully capsize only the gods will know. Day Four, the day we had all been waiting for, the forecast was gale force winds; the enthusiasm was high. Under the advice of the instructor we headed out of the marina with our sails reefed but as soon as we reached open water they were unfurled in a flash. With our sails tight in and the boat leaning right over, to the point where the sail was skimming the water, we leaned out in an attempt to overtake the boats in front of us. There were a few minor altercations one in particular when LCpl Tony Morancie and LCpl 'Tedders' Tedby, where the former almost out tacked the latter, resulting in one person in the water and the majority of a sail covering the cockpit of the other boat.

Nothing could have really topped that day, apart from discovering that LCpl 'Monty' Montieth had knocked himself out during a gybe turn. We finished the day in Daft Eddy's and stories of SSgt Terry McIntyre's greatness were abounding. Friday was a washout as the winds were too strong for our level of experience, so the assessment was carried out in the classroom. All in all though it was a good course and I can encourage anybody to have a go.

EXERCISE FALLING FINN

As the name suggests this exercise was an introduction to Parachuting at the Services Parachuting Centre in Ballykelly. The initial training was essential, form filling in (to relieve the centre of any responsibility should you die), videos and slide shows of what to do when all goes well and when it does not. The girls in the group, who are apparently immortal, decided to fall asleep during the apparently irrelevant life saving malfunction drills lesson. After the lessons, it was off to the simulation room to jump out of a wooden box, apparently a full size copy of a Cesna plane. Amazingly for a bunch of supposedly intelligent people, it was incredible to see how many struggled to count to four before checking their canopy. Then followed the harness and landing drills. WO2 (YofS) Nick Wood gave the landings demonstration en route to gaining the 'Teachers Pet' award. Unfortunately due to bad weather we were unable to jump that day.

On Day Two, spirits were high with people looking forward to their first jump. However, once kitted up a few nerves were starting to show. The first four up were Cpl Bruce 'Once is enough' Noble, LCpl Tony Murphy, Sig Gordon Wallace and WO2 (YofS) Nick Wood. Once they managed to prize Bruce's hand away from the handle they all exited at 3,500 ft.

The one and only time the group smiled before throwing themselves out of a plane

The second run consisted of LCpl Donna 'Lara Croft' Chivers, Cpl Paul Ryan (exped organiser), LCpl Tony Lewis and LCpl Alexander 'Sick Note' Gardner. Once again all exited and landed safely despite a couple of twists in their line. The second jump separated the men from the boys with LCpl Sarah Howell, Cpl Bruce Noble and LCpl Zander Gardner all feigning excuses to not leave the plane. The rest of the group managed three or four jumps that day, progressing to Dummy Pulls, in preparation for free fall. The final day was again a wash out with only LCpl Donna Chivers managing to exit the plane into a grey abyss and then priding herself on being the only one brave (stupid) enough for this act of heroism. Many thanks from the group to Cpl Paul Ryan who was the mastermind behind this project, for his endeavours, we are now waiting for the centre to reopen, so we can progress to free fall and jump from even greater heights – the skies are not safe.

EXERCISE LADY WARRIOR 21 - 22 JULY 01

It was a glorious morning and the sun was shining for a change, it was 0830hrs and Ballykelly was woken to the sound of marching feet. The sound was being generated by the ladies of 8 Inf Bde HQ & Sig Sqn, 1 Coldstream Guards and a Fijian contingent of 1 Royal Scots. Under the watchful eye of Sgt Paul Walledge the ladies exacted a myriad of movements.

This was by all accounts more professional than the Guards could have performed. Then it was off on a round robin of stands starting with the SAT, then onto live firing under the supervision of Lt Ian Lowther and SSgt Bob Watson, the girls had the opportunity to fire SA80, Pistol 9mm, LSW, MP5 and HK53. Stand 3 awaited them with LCpl Mark Lund and Sig 'Bissy' Bishop testing there skills at Driving and Commanding Armoured Saxon Fighting Vehicles. Stand 4 and time for the ladies Driving Skills to be put to the test in the Skid Car. Now that their lunch had been brought back up, off to the Assault Course they went, with signed indemnity forms in hand and a safety brief, Sgt 'Dunk' Windsor put them through their paces.

Now time was getting on and it was time to head off to Fort Bragg at Magilligan Training Centre. This was to be home for the night, here the ladies carried out Section Battle Drills with a Left Flanking Attack on the enemy position with devastating effect. After a well earned shower it was time to relax and have some refreshments and some self provided entertainment, such as Pte 'Elvis' Quarry, Sgt 'Rugby Songs' Walledge and the contingent of Fijians entertained us with traditional songs and dances. Sunday was on us and time for the ladies to be shown the Art of Self Defence by Sgt 'Watch my pecks' Windsor. To round the morning off it was time for them to try their hand at Clay Pigeon shooting with the RSM. After lots of cartridges and lots of Clays, it was time to head for the Beeches club and meet with the families for a well-earned drink and buffet. The ladies and staff had a fantastic weekend.

OFFICERS/SNCO V JUNIORS RUGBY

On 1 August 2001 a clash of titanic proportions took place upon a rugby pitch in Londonderry. The Officers and SNCOs' had laid down the gauntlet for a 10's rugby match. Who would win? The old, bold and overweight or the youthful, eager and inexperienced. The day turned out to be warm and muggy, ideal for running rugby, if someone could be found willing to run. With zimmer frames firmly in place the senior's team kicked off. The juniors exerted early pressure as they strove to put the fossils in their place. The old stretch-marked defence held and two breakaway tries by the Brigade Chief of Staff, Maj Kemp and Capt Chris Chudley rocked the confidence of the junior team. They rallied well with tries either side of half time by Cpl Dunc Gourley and Sig Idris Davies. The game was now finely balanced at 12-12. This, however, was the final score for the juniors and tries by WO2 (FofS) Bob Vowles, Sgt Dunc Windsor and a second for Capt Chudley, sealed their fate. The final score was 34-12, a convincing win for the Officers and Seniors. The day was well finished with a good third half, which was enjoyed by all. Thanks go to the newly promoted Sgt Paul Hounsell who finally worked out where his bread was buttered. This match said farewell from the Squadron Rugby Team, to a number of players. They will all be sadly missed as the new season rears its head.

SENIOR RANKS V JUNIOR RANKS CRICKET

Thursday 28 June 2001, a date etched in the minds of many a cricket fan. Not since the bodyline tour was such devastation realised. The juniors took to the field with a look of trepidation led by Cpl Steve Binks after Sig 'SJ' Sherrin-Jones had lost the appetite for a battle. The Seniors, fielding an all-star team led by WO2 (YofS) Bill Barnes soon ripped in to the juniors' top order and eventually reduced the team to tears finishing on 35 all out (yes, thirty five!). The seniors started well and within five overs had overtaken the opposing score. At the end of the afternoon, after letting the juniors bat for a second innings, humiliation was complete. Many fine performances were evident from the Seniors, including Sgt Dave Forrest (RLC) and WO2 (FofS) Bob Vowles, batting out their allotted overs. The juniors had neglected the training sessions on offer from Cpl Lee Goldsmith and that eventually told, however, they did all achieve a decent suntan as they were fielding for so long! The rematch is programmed, so watch this space.

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP - by S Sgt Steve Mayell

Tp Comd 2Lt 'Whippet' Wilson
Tp SSgt SSgt Steve Mayell

The Troop has once again come through another marching season unscathed (probably more by luck than anything else!). Now the work is over, the shift workers can once again lay back and enjoy MTV as normal - some people have no consideration. We've even found time for a party or two in between thunderstorms! Firstly a few sad farewells. Our outgoing Tp OC (and Squadron Recruiting Officer!), Lt Ian 'Loopy' Lowther, is leaving us and the Corps to join the Royal Anglians, oops, I mean the Coldstream Guards, or anyone else who will offer him something better before he has signed the line! Best of luck and enjoy the Brecon Beacons! Sgt Karl 'Cadburys' Overton is also on his way with family and kitchen sink to Herford as Provo Sergeant to paint rocks or clamp cars or something! This is a temporary appointment though as his Crown is in the bag - very well done for that. Sgt Tony Caulfield has also 'done one', again with promotion, to Blandford with wife and a new baby. Enjoy the new job and the 'challenges' it may/will bring! Welcome to 2Lt Wilson who, before he leaves in 2003, has vowed to beat the OC Sqn on a BPFA - keep taking the pills boss! Also welcome to Sgt Paul Walledge and family including the new addition, to Sgt 'Flanders' Flanighan from Romeo Tp and to Sgt Adi Duplock on their arrival to the Troop.

ENGINEERING SECTION

The date was set (again!), the venue was booked, and finally on 20 July 2001, the dreaded Engineering Section Training Day happened. All were given a 20min lecture to prepare and present - some lucky enough to have the Brigade Commander and OC Sqn present. The announcement was greeted with cries of, 'What, stand up, talk, what in front of people, you're joking right' - wrong! Some took it in their stride, some were quietly apprehensive, other more so! The day was a real success, organised to introduce the new members of the Troop to different areas of the job that they might encounter day to day - like erecting a zip mast with your trousers round your ankles!

OPERATOR SECTION

On 25 July 2001, Operator Section organised the Squadron Pub Games Night between the Seniors and Juniors held in the Waterside Inn. This will now be an annual event as Cpl Mick 'Fix it' Breydin from Syscon produced a stunning Gun Carriage Trophy that the Seniors thought would look great sat in the Foyle View Club. Unfortunately they had not anticipated the levels of skill, accuracy and just good old fashion cheating that the Juniors team would produce on the night. Sig Rob 'Shaky' Vaughan had some very worrying moments on the Giant Jenga and Pte 'Quazi' Quarry produced some great wins for his team on the table football by definitely not spinning! Eventually, the challenge from the Seniors crumbled and waned as the excess levels of alcohol took hold and normal bodily movement became impaired. This was so graphically demonstrated by Capt Southern's dismal performance on the crazy golf! 'We romped home to a landslide victory, tough luck oldies - you've had your day!' as LCpl Ian Tranter so nicely put it! We were gracious in defeat though and never once was the threat of extras or dirty jobs ever mentioned to the victorious Juniors - wait till the next duties conference!

COMMCEN - by Cpl Kenny Irwin

Another exciting stint in the COMMCEN that is slowly being taken over by Tele Op Radio's - what's the world coming too! The new AMSCERP message system has lessened the workload considerably, mainly due to it not working - at least the office has had a new coat of paint! Sig Stu 'Bad Boy' Plant is keeping us all amused with his off duty antics, Sig Angie Graham has found a new training partner who gives her a good work out in the gym! Cpl Craig Law is moving next door to the murky world of Crypto and anoraks so it's all change at the moment. LCpl Chris Howell's off to civ div and Sig Lee Davison will be leaving us for the drier weather of Catterick. Hello to LCpls Andy Morgan, Tel Bacon and Chris Anderton who, by the way, after three months is still waiting far his MVO and a clean supply of underpants to arrive! Welcome to LCpl 'The Colonel' Calvert on his long move from Syscon (if he ever shows up in the office - we're beginning to think that he may be with LCpl Anderton's MFO!).

3 (UNITED KINGDOM) HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col Phil Davies
RSM WO1 Chris Kidd

REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS AND OPERATIONS TEAM

The Regiment is proud to announce to the Corps that we are the new holders of the Birtwistle Sporting Pennant. Of course angling is a sport! With leave now upon us the Regiment is deserted apart from essential personnel and the Quartermaster (Technical) Capt Dave Stachini working his normal extended August hours in those famous tracksuit bottoms. With the Troops all sunning it up and going large (Adjt please explain this expression to the CO and 2IC) in Ibiza, Mansfield and Coventry it is left to this lonely author to give a round up of an enormously busy Regimental Summer.

EXERCISE SPRING FORAY

Apart from the safe return of the Palatine and Agricola personnel the most significant event of the summer was Ex Spring Foray. Significant in that it was the first time that many of the younger soldiers had deployed for a two-week period and secondly that it is the only time that anyone can remember the Ops Officer, Capt Lloyd Golley, putting two working days back to back. The exercise was successful in spite of every effort of sabotage by 202 Sqn under the guidance of Stand in Sqn Comd, Capt 'Shaky by name and Shaky by nature' Shakespeare. This is a good time to say farewell to the real Sqn Comd of 202 Sqn, Maj Al 'Mine's a Cheeseburger' Long, who leaves us to start Staff College. He will be sadly missed ……especially by Tam and Sandes! The success of the exercise was largely due to the hard work of the Ops pairing of Capt Al Patterson and Capt Pete Lowe. Both disappear from the Regiment soon, Al to Wilton, and Pete to seek his fortune out of combat 95. The good news is that they will leave behind their prize possessions for the good of those remaining. ……Pete gives us his Equipment Care Policy, and Al's wife Sue will continue to do discipline(nice thought!) in RHQ . Now who's got the better deal ? …..

Ex Spring Foray ends with 202 Sqn making an Armoured Assault on the Unit Training Warrant Officer WO2 Paddy Happy Days Morrow ..And who can blame them!

SPORTS ROUND UP

3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt has yet another international athlete in its midst. SSgt Paula 'Queen of the OSC' Matheson already Runner Up in the Army Triathlon and the team captain of the victorious 3 Div Ladies Divisional Biathlon (swim/run) team recently qualified to represent her age group in the World Duathlon (run/bike/run) Champs in Rimini in September 2001. ……..Just reward for spending the whole of this years sports grant on Gucci tops and shorts…..Congratulations!

What all those cups for little old me
2Lt Alisa Labram (Ladies Athletics Captain) collects the Army Ladies Inter Unit Runners Up Cup with the cheesiest of girlie grins

SSgt Matheson also helped our female athletics team to Runners Up spot in the Army Finals where special mention must also go to Cpl Sophie 'I can beat the 2IC' Morris for outstanding displays over 400 and 800m.Cpl Morris was also the Ladies Combined Services Individual Champion at 800 and 1500m. The men were never going to win in the face of some quality opposition that had not spent the previous two weeks on an armoured package deal on Salisbury Plain. They did well to make the final and were just 15 points short of RSME in seventh place (There were only seven!) Pride of place must go to our established distance runners with LCpl 'Even the RSM doesn't know me' Smith coming second in the A String Steeplechase.

Cpl Morris might be able to run but she hasn t got tatts like these LCpl Real Men don t train with girls Smith Runner Up in the Steeplechase in the Army Inter Unit Finals

The younger and the older generation combined forces to enter a team (The first in Regimental Corporate memory) in the Trailwalker 100km race along the Southdowns. No mean feat by anyone's standards. The old were WO2 Strudwick 'Congrats on the promotion' and SSgt Turner, and the young were two Signallers from the now out of use OOU section in HQ Squadron. A total of 19 hours later who fared the best ?…..Now that would be telling!

REGIMENTAL HELLOS AND FAREWELLS

Just when we thought we knew what we were supposed to be doing! Starting from the top, or so he would have you believe! Capt 'Taff' Watts scored a double whammy on the promotion and staff college lottery and cashes in his bonus ball with a posting to HQ LAND for a year. Still it could have been worse he could have been going to 202 Sqn. Congratulations also to WO2 'Paddy' Morrow who joins SSM HQ Sqn on the reserve promotion list and is posted to the TA sometime in the Autumn. According to the understated UTWO, never has a promotion been more deserved. 202 Sqn welcomes WO2 (SSM) Wakeling and eagerly awaits the arrival of Maj Roy Freeman. Inkerman Tp has now completed the move from 206 Sqn and in a slight reshuffle of Troop Comds 2Lt Becky Jacques has left for her Troop Commanders Course leaving Lt Sean Lumley as the lone subaltern. In the meantime Capt Shakespeare continues to wear a thousand hats but still found time to become engaged earlier in the year. She must be mad! Congratulations. 206 Sqn also find a boy in a man's job as Maj Bill Adsett leaves for another month in the Falklands. Maj James Langley takes over in theatre leaving Capt Gareth Kemp holding the baby. Gareth is, however, a man who hides his light under a bushel and has recently been found to excel at both cricket and the pole vault (much to the 2IC's delight!). Other Officers in 206 Sqn used to be a rarity but are now actually extinct with the loss of 2Lt Emms Metcalfe temporarily to Blandford. 222 Sqn are managing to hold on to their OC Sqn Maj Bert Appleton until November when he swaps his full time military employment and his part time work as a National Triathlon Coach ……..or is it the other way around! He is a man of many talents not least as a second hand car salesman. He will be sorely missed by the Squadron, the Regiment and indeed the Army. 2IC Capt Nicky James has also moved on to the Royal School of Signals, and continuity in the Squadron is provided by 2Lts Simon Smith and Alisa Labram with of course a little help from WO2 (SSM) Matt 'The Fosbury Flop' Nuttall. 2Lt Steve 'Closet Athlete' Knight has also temporarily departed for his sailing ….opps sorry Troop Commanders course. See you in six months.

202 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Al Long
SSM WO2 (SSM) Comyns

202 Sqn faced a busy month largely developing their soldiering skills. It all began with a three day Regimental patrol competition, involving many camouflaged Signallers tabbing around camp, being led to war by the illustrious leaders of the likes of Lt Lumley and Lt Irwin. Foot and Mouth restrictions meant the competition was held within the wire but despite this an excellent package was put together, ranging from NBC and RTA scenarios to bayonet fighting. The latter proved a 'beasting' and SSgt McGrail reached new thresholds of physical endurance. Despite the obligatory gripes, Sig Hydes affirmed this was one of his best weeks here.

Shortly after, the Squadron deployed to Hythe and Lydd for their annual battle camp consisting of a weeklong range package, under the direction of RA commando Sgt Blanchette. Again pre- deployment training had been curtailed due to foot and mouth, thus unfortunately the APWT was conducted on the first day. The ability of Sig Duffy and LCpl Cloughton to single-handedly expend the Unit's ammunition quota for the year on their nth attempt at the APWT went unsurpassed. Six fortunate individuals were chosen to be the GPMG gunners although Sgt Garner quickly realised a photo opportunity. The increased confidence in weapon handling and the opportunity to undertake more advanced shoots proved of significant value to all. An Inter-Section competition stormed by Cpl Newcombe's Section finished off the military training, followed by a well-deserved Squadron barbeque.

Finally congratulations to Capt Shakespeare on his promotion and hello and goodbye to SSM Comyns.

206 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Bill Adsett
SSM WO2 (SSM) Paul Buckley

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

The Squadron said farewell to WO2 (SSM) Tom Smith and his family and welcomed the new SSM, WO2 (SSM) Paul Buckley from 4 Armd Bde in Osnabruck. Tom and his family have moved to 1 (UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt in Herford and we wish Tom well in his new appointment as the Regimental Sergeant Major.

INKERMAN TROOP

Tp Comd SSgt Mick Angove
Tp Sgt Sgt 'Smudge' Smith

It has been another busy month for the 'fighting Elite' but we must start by saying congratulations to SSgt Mick (Angry) Angove on his selection to WO2, and not forgetting Cpl Kev 'Old Man Rivers' Conlon on receiving his LS&GC (15 years without getting caught). We welcome the return of LCpl Julie 'The Welsh Dragon' Cornfield on passing her Class 1 at Blandford. The month started with 1st lines and everyone stuck outside in the arctic spring weather due to the contractors that were refitting the garages with a heating system just in time for the summer. Everything was geared towards HRH's visit at the end of March. All was going to plan until Sig Mick 'One on One with the great one' Davis was tasked to guard it for a full 60 minutes. During this time disaster struck. An SOS call was sent and when rescue team arrived Sig Davis was found with the cam net around his ears and roaring with laughter. The day of the visit arrived and a full blown active net was up and running with colourful voice procedure and everyone in pristine kit, courtesy of SSgt Angove's inspection (Name tags and Tricorns all present Staff). Finally Inkerman Tp would like to welcome WO2 (SSM) Buckley to the Squadron and although sideburns are an on going issue, we hope he enjoys his stay with the Squadron.

MONS TROOP - by Sig Mawer

Tp Comd 2Lt Emmalean Metcalfe
Tp Sgt Sgt John Batts

The Troop would like to welcome 2Lt Metcalfe from Sandhurst, Sig Hanratty and Sig Morgan both posted in from the School. The tears were flowing when we said farewell to Sig Harris on his way to Civ Div. We missed him when he wasn't AWOL.

EXERCISE IRON DANCE – ITD WEEK

The new arrival a Sig Morgan really impressed Cpl Fraser on drill, Sig Morgan showed everyone how to slow-march by moving his arms shoulder high at the same time, this surely deserves a crate? Ex Iron Dance was a chance for the Squadron to Complete 11 subjects of ITD's in one week. On the last evening their was a BBQ and a quiz washed down with a couple of drinks. Inkerman Tp won the Quiz, and we are informed that within their team was a ringer however it was nice to see that Cpl Shaun Thomas was in the same dress as the rest of the squadron for once.

ITD week started on the Monday with the advance party leaving to take over Rollerstone Camp some nine miles from Bulford. Lunch out of the way and training started. Sgt Smith carried out weapon handling test and we were blessed with a medic from the medical centre to carry out Health training. The second day started, as did the third and fourth day, that is Cpl Gaz Lane and his round of PT. SSgt Mick Angove started the second day with drugs and alcohol abuse and Cpl Fraser used the spare time and early evenings to prepare a team for the Drill Competition, only to find that this will now take place in September. Wednesday and Thursday were the days that everyone had been looking forward to, NBC and First aid with SSgt Mick Angove and Sgt John Batts, the most notable bit was when Sig Oliver's mobile phone rang prior to entering the Gas chamber.

INTER SQUADRON SWIMMING GALA - Cpl Sophie Morris

A morning away from the garages you would think that everyone would jump at the chance, well not here. Volunteers were slow to come forward and we had to resort to pressure from the new SSM. A great morning was had by all and everyone put in outstanding performances. It just happened that the other Squadrons had the better swimmers in their teams. Of course you always have the ones that stand out and 206 Sqn certainly did. Sig Bungle Morgan kept everyone in his race on their toes with his hairy chest and false started on every occasion. One of the Squadrons had to come last, and we are not ashamed that it was us. Please remember it's not the winning but the taking part that counts.

The faces continue to change in SHQ Tp with the arrival of SSgt (FofS) Allen from Blandford, LCpls Clancy from 216 Sig Sqn, Brownsword, Graham, Robson and Southall straight from the factory at Blandford. Leaving SHQ Tp are SSgt (Yof S) Rouse to Northern Ireland, LCpl Vasey who is working in the gym prior to his PTI Class 3 course and finally goodbye to Sig Yates who is now a civilian. Congratulations to LCpls French, Perrin, Taylor, Whitehead and Young on their recent promotion to Corporal. Congratulations are also in order for LCpl Graham on selection to goalkeeper for the Corps Football Team and SSgt Matheson who has been selected to represent Great Britain at Duathlon. The Troop performed very well in Inter Squadron Athletics and swimming competitions. Special congratulations to the SSM, WO2 Nuttall who revisited his youthful prowess on the high jump by coming second.

ADEN TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Steve Knight
Tp SSgt SSgt Shaun Littlefield

With Foot and Mouth sweeping the country over the last few months we have been fairly restricted in our activities. However the Troop are extremely grateful to Sgt Pickering for organising the aptly named Ex Naval Taste, a trip to HMS Collingwood in Portsmouth.

EXERCISE NAVAL TASTE

On day one we arrived in Portsmouth and the first port of call was HMS Victory. Upon entering the Flagship the all too familiar sound of a mobile phone in Sig Washer's pocket was heard. It was his better half finding out how many females were on the trip with him! During the tour we were shown where Admiral Lord Nelson was injured and later died. Some of the methods of punishment used were fairly harsh – we shall definitely be adopting the cat'o'nine tails as a standard tool within the Troop. The afternoon was spent at HMS Collingwood learning about Naval communications. Day two was spent being shown around HMS Invincible and HMS Grafton. The day was most enjoyable, especially when we realised that Sigs Sharp, McKelvie and Greener had been left behind on HMS Invincible. As with the previous evening we reflected on the events of the day over a few drinks in a selection of the local pubs and bars. The final morning was spent on the submarine HMS Alliance with a Captain Birdseye look-alike giving an interesting tour. A cracking visit and a relieving break from work in the garages. Congratulations to LCpls Martin and Melia on gaining their first stripes and to Sig Copland for gaining his first child. A warm welcome to the new arrivals in the Troop, namely 2Lt Knight who is shortly departing to Blandford for his Troop Commander's course, Sig Littlewood, Sig Husband and LCpl Fairbairn. Also we say farewell to Sgt Cook and Cpl Fearns who are now gainfully employed as civilians and SSgt Littlefield who is posted – watch out 7 Sig Regt!

SHARJAH TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Simon Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Bru Baker

The recent out break of foot and mouth may have put a stop to the usual round of exercise and training but Sharjah Tp have been as busy as ever. April saw the Troop beavering away for the visit by the Colonel in Chief HRH Princess Anne. This was followed by the first of the years big exercises, however, instead of being the usual comms exercise, the emphasis was on military skills with various stands including first aid, MT and a march and shoot in which members of the Troop threw themselves into with excellent results. The Troop's strong sports persons were in full effect too with LCpl 'Ginge' Davis, Sigs Taylor, Hinson and Wildes all doing outstanding in the Regimental Boxing helping bring the trophy to 222 SQN. LCpl Davis was in action again this time with Cpl Mace as they took part in the Corps sailing doing very well. The past few months the Troop has said goodbye to Cpl Jack Hawkins and Sig Matt Salmon who are off to seek their fortune as civilians and LCpl Steve Vose on his posting to Blandford Sys/Ex. While welcoming Sig Pheasy into the Troop.

OMAN TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Alisa Labram
Tp SSgt SSgt Daph Clash

Things have been very hectic for the Troop over the last few months, mainly with a radical shuffling of characters leaving for pastures new and the arrivals of new people from various places. So firstly a warm welcome to Sig's Brown, 'Elvis' Costello and how could we ever forget our illustrious leader 2Lt Labram who is now fully in the hot seat after completing her Troop Commanders' Course at sunny Blandford. A fond farewell was given to four main men of the Troop all together. Cpl Necrews kindly arranged his own leaving do at the local legion, which greatly benefited, LCpls Brady and Webster who were also moving on. The two major events were the CAST Exercise in Warminster with 12 Mech Bde and the Princess Royal visit on the 30 March 2001. This included HRH Princess Anne having a guided tour around the Regiment, where she was fortunate enough to meet members from the best Troop in the Army - Oman. Those members of the Troop whose photographs were published in the local newspapers have paid 'Royally' for their sins! The Troop also welcome back SSgt Daph Clash - (still in one piece), who has been away training with the British Winter Olympic Team in Innsbruck, at her chosen event, the single skeleton. Finally, the Troop did itself proud by showing off some excellent personal performances in the inter-Squadron Athletics Competition. Sig Steed was discreetly told that if he won the 800 metres his extras might be wavered (which he has had constantly for the last six months). He promptly destroyed the field, which was a credible performance, not to mention his 400 metres in the 4 x 400m relay. Also to 2Lt Labram who proved to everyone that she certainly is the good all rounder. Not only a hurdler but also winning the sprint too! We all move on now to RSIT, after saying goodbye to Cpl Stu Manaton, who leaves us to be a civilian, and Sig Steve Leach, who moves to 1 Div HQ and Sig Regt.

MASAIRAH TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Ben Norton
Tp Sgt Sgt Smith

The SCRA (C) Troop is soon to be officially formed (to be Masirah Tp) on the 26 June 2001 (Masirah Day). May the Troop be successful in everything it does! The departures from Masirah Troop include Cpl Jack Hawkins leaving the army for good, best of luck to Jack and his wife Natalie for the future. Also LCpl Cornfield on his way to 7 Sig Regt as we speak, all the best to him and his wife Julie. Arrivals to the Troop include Sig Mullet from 7 Sig Regt, Germany.

RED TRICORN I - by LCpl Connell

On 2 May 2001 the senior members of 3 (UK) DSR set out to put each of their teams through a rigorous competition. The aim of this competition was to test teamwork, leadership skills, mental and physical agility, and some basic soldiering skills. Each of the four squadrons (202, 206, 222 and HQ) split their 'volunteers' into three teams. Each team had to pull together to score as many points as they could to out-do the opposition teams from the other squadrons. As the participating teams were soon to find out, pain and suffering were to become the shadow lurking behind every team member. Here follows the list of activities undertaken:

Basic Survival Skills - This consisted of plucking, preparing and cooking dead chickens and erecting a shelter.

Driving - Most of the participants did not seem able to drive a remote control car, let alone negotiate a landrover around the large orange cones in the middle of the road! But I must admit the ladies did quite well, discounting the four cones hit while adjusting their hair of course!

Command Tasks - Do I need to say any more?

NBC - Every soldier's nightmare, '9 seconds?'

Bayonet Training - The PTI's that thought that they got everyone aggressive before the performance. They actually completely wore us out so that a 12 year old could beat you up and steal your beer money!

Trailer Run - This consisted of a 600m track over which to run a fl trailer, 600 m's you say? Ha, a trifle. Well try adding cam net tunnels, ammo boxes, barrels and the world's largest mutant molehills into the equation, and if you are not aching by the end, then Metropolis is missing a superhero!

First Aid - The teams had to attend to a very realistic and nasty car accident that. Needless to say the families of the fake victims would have sued for every penny!

Kit Inspection - This was to ensure the participants weren't tabbing around with polystyrene in their bergans.

Mental Agility - A mixture of general knowledge, history, geography, English, math, memory, and computer games.

On the final day there was a 6-mile tab followed by a 25m clay plate shoot. It was a very hot day but amongst the sweat and the energetic screams of the young officers, each soldier had an impressive urge to win. Ex Red Tricorn I was a good platform to exercise those long forgotten skills and give the newer soldiers a chance to take command of a team. It was a thoroughly enjoyable, but hard working exercise and all the teams were delighted to collapse in the bar for a few beers after the presentation and CO's speech.

NEWS FROM THE BALKANS

BRITISH FORCES SIGNAL TROOP

OPERATION PALATINE

Tp Comd Capt B. H. Bryan
TSM WO2 (TSM) K. P. Greenwood

The British Forces Signal Troop (Britfor Sig Tp) was handed over from 16 Sig Regt to a composite Troop from 3 (UK) DSR at the beginning of March. The advance party left RAF Lyneham on a dark Sunday morning in sub-zero temperatures, and clambered onto the Hercules clad in fleeces, down jackets and gloves and braced ourselves for the Balkan winter that we would no doubt find 3000 miles South. Wrong! As the tailgate was lowered in Banja Luka we were greeted by a blue sky and a hot sun, and temperatures in the 20's. After a quick change into shirtsleeve order, we made our way to Banja Luka Metal Factory, home of HQ BRITFOR and the Signal Troop.

Since the hand over of the signals assets to the Dutch Signal Battalion last year, the number of Royal Signals Personnel in theatre has been reduced to around 60, with an decrepit fleet of GS Rovers, (which were all overdue servicing when we took over, and VORd the day that 16 Sig Regt left theatre – Thanks). LCpl Tara Kenny was too embarrassed to be the MT rep for them and so we are happy to announce that our justification for white fleet has been approved (probably due to being the only Signals unit in theatre not to have totalled a wagon yet). So we are looking forward, with the anticipation of parents to be, to the delivery of our shiny new Land Cruisers. (No, CIPIT you are not borrowing them, not even once, apparently they are not amphibious). All the departments are now well and truly into their work routines, with some steep learning curves involved.

The warm weather has spurred some of the troop into frantic activity, and the patch of grass and mud that we inherited at the rear of the troop lines is slowly being turned into something that Alan Titchmarsh would be proud of. In true 'I'll scratch your back' style, we ensured the Engineers had cable TV installed in their new Co-Ri-Mecs as a priority, and they have reciprocated the favour by building us some decking, between the barbecue area and the water feature. It's not all work here though. The Troop have entered every sporting competition that has been run and the 5-a-side team enjoyed thrashing the Staff Officers from HQ Britfor in a game resembling a playground scrap. Bruised shins and fat lips now recovering.

RED NOSE DAY - by LCpl Stevie Lawrence

Friday 16 March was Red Nose Day for Comic Relief and very few people out here in this multi-national camp knew that, as it is only well known back in the UK. So I went on a one-man mission with my red nose and 'special' beret, with a Corps blazer badge the size of the Eiffel Tower, to collect as much money as I could during the day. At first there were a lot of strange looks (and salutes) from passing foreign troops, but news soon got around about what I was doing, and all nationalities gave what they could. Within one hour, I collected over DM350 (£120) and by the end of the day had managed to collect DM1,088 (£350) which was phoned into Comic Relief to help the total raised reach over £10 Million. (I even managed to sell my red nose to an Australian for DM20). I would like to thank everyone in HQ BRITFOR for their support and all those in Banja Luka Metal Factory who kindly donated to this worthwhile cause.

7 SIGNAL REGIMENT

ROYAL SIGNALS INTER CORPS TUG OF WAR

Lt Col Richardson and Capt Hymas at the official forming of the Regimental Tug-of-War Team

At 0800hrs 2 July 2001 several members of 7 Sig Regt Male and Female Tug O War Teams and two members of 1 (UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt, departed for Blandford to meet up with the rest of the Corps Tug O War Squad for a two-week intensive training camp led by Capt Chris Hymas and SSgt 'Jock' Reid, who this time actually remembered his boots!

We arrived in Blandford and our first training session started on the Monday morning with a jog around the famous sites and landmarks of Blandford Garrison. This was not, however, a sight seeing tour organised by the coach, but a fat burning run which was to be completed most mornings. After the run it was our own time until the first rope session of the day, which started at 1200hrs daily. This was a two-hour session, which usually left Cpl 'Hitch' Aitchison crying on the rope! The Female Team was heard to say that there was no way they were going to get the concrete barrel up the gantry but by the time they left, they managed it no problem. Our next session on the rope started at 1700hrs where our squad was greatly increased by the lads and lass's of 11 Sig Regt. Another two-hour beasting on the rope and as usual Cpl Aitchison was left in tatters after Capt Hymas took it easy on us. Training was hard all week but it was necessary as we were told that on Sunday we would be going to St Mayben in Cornwall for a competition. However, we did manage to have a few beers on a night time just to wind down after some hard rope work. Sunday came and we set off for St Mayben not knowing what to expect, as some of us had never experienced civilian competition.

We gave a good account of ourselves in the male competitions notably winning the 600kg event and the girls did well coming third in the female competition. The coach was happy but did inform us that training started at 1200hrs the next day as we were preparing for the Inter Corps tournament, taking place in Chatham on the Wednesday. The day of the Inter Corps came and we arrived at Chatham early to weigh in, we made all the weights even putting in B Teams for the 600kg and 640kg. We were competing against the Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers and the RLC. The girl's team did exceptionally well coming second in the Inter Corps, but the Artillery proved too strong in the male competitions and won the 2001 Inter Corps Championship. All in all, everyone enjoyed taking part in the Corps Training Camp and many new friends were made, it was hard work but worthwhile. Hopefully next year will be our year to take the Inter Corps title if we keep training hard.

REGIMENTAL SWIMMING AND WATERPOLO

by WOI (FofS) Jenkins

Once again the Swimming and Waterpolo season was fast approaching. We had attempted to train in the local facilities but without much success and were reduced to early morning sessions in the open-air swimming pool on camp. The teams were a good mixture of youth and experience, and we were hoping to achieve encouraging results. Unfortunately due to a lack of entrants the Zone Championships did not take place and all of those teams that entered met in Hohne on 12-13 June for the BA(G) Swimming and Waterpolo Championships. Again the entry list was disappointing with only three male swimming teams entered and two water-polo teams. However, the competition for the female swimming was much stronger with eight teams entered.

2Lt Vanessa Galloway (Female Team Captain) being presented with the Championship Cup

Due to the numbers involved it was decided to hold all of the competitions on the first day. After the completion of the individual events of both team swimming competitions the men's and women's teams were both in first place with notable male performances from, Sig Reddy 100mtrs Backstroke, Sig Musgrave 50mtrs Butterfly, WOI (FofS) Jenkins 100mtrs Freestyle and Cpl Simons 200mtrs Individual Medley. Notable female performances came from Sig Hardy 50mtrs Backstroke and 2Lt Galloway 200mtrs Individual Medley. Strength in depth proved to be the deciding factor, the Women's team continued in the vein in which they had started and ran out worthy winners, whilst the male team was narrowly defeated by 16 Sig Regt who had superior, and younger, strength in the relays.

The Waterpolo Final was contested between 7 Sig Regt and 16 Sig Regt being the only two teams to enter. A hard fought and competitive game saw 7 Sig Regt run out victors with a 4-2 score line. 16 Sig Regt will claim we had an unfair advantage, but they chose to have a female goalkeeper and leave half of their starting seven in Rheindahlen. Better luck next year lads! This meant that all of our teams had qualified for the Army Championships in Aldershot, but due to exercise commitments we were unable to take our places. However, the above results and in particular the women's team victory ensured an enjoyable and rewarding season.

NIJMEGAN MARCHES 17 - 21 JULY 2001

Nijmegen Marches has arrived yet again. An event in which 40,000 civilians, 16 different Armed Forces including 1,270 members of the British Forces and 13 members of 7 Sig Regt took part. Each competitor was required to carry 25lbs around 100 miles of Nijmegen's finest cobbled roads over four days. We all arrived early Sunday morning ready for a week of hard graft. After finally removing Sig 'Muzzy' Musgrave's feet from the beer tent, Sgt 'Dangerous Brian' Sheard gave the Team a 'Do's and Don'ts' brief. Having woken up from that, WO2 (SSM) 'Taff' Burdge insisted we have no less than 50lbs in our bergans as he was going back to the UK next week and needed some spending money! Monday was a recovery and admin day. We had our feet strapped and taped, the medics doing a great job and the feet-strapping wasn't bad either. Scoff was fantastic too, apparently, so our team must have been going to the wrong cookhouse. Oh and the weather! A sore point for Cpl 'Taff' Simons (PTI) who turned up with a large bag of cosmetics and suntan cream, only to find July is Monsoon season in Holland. Once settled in, the mighty 7 Sig Regt were ready for action.

7 Signal Regiment's Nijmegan Marching Team

Day One, 100 miles to go. 'Don't worry lads, it'll just be a bimble,' we were told. Yeah cheers! The game plan was simple, a slow start and if we were still feeling good on Day Three we'd speed it up slightly. WO2 (SSM) Burdge had different ideas though. No way was 3 Para going to beat the mighty '7'. The first day was a shock, twenty-five miles couldn't be this long, could it? We beat the Paras after upping our pace. Marching twenty-five miles in seven hours is an excellent time. The civilians were loving the fantastic atmosphere around Nijmegen on the first day of the marches, not to mention the amount of stickers and autographs we were handing out.

Day Two, 75 miles to go. Now were raring to go, bring it on. LCpl 'Beedie, Beedie' Beedie and Sig Jim Alderman shuffled to the start point like two little old ladies. Aches and pains were already starting to show. The team pushed around Day Two in style though a little slower than the previous day, nine hours was our eventual completion time. The cobbled streets of Holland just don't have the same appeal any more.

Day Three, 50 miles to go. More little old ladies hobbled to the start point. Day Three was the hardest for a lot of the lads, and a day too far for two of our team. Cfn Steve Asquith and LCpl 'Robbo' Robinson volunteered for the admin job but have vowed that Nijmegen 2002 is the year for them.

Day Four, 25 miles to go. Friday was the last day of the marches, a day of mental robustness and physical endurance. LCpl Jim Brown and LCpl Jimmy Edgell (two potential driver lineman in the making) leading the way. The crowds came out in full force to cheer us in. Spirits were lifted and morale was high. We were all informed by Sgt Brian Sheard, the Finish is only 1.5km from the railway line, (although did I forget to mention the railway line was 5km away!). The march itself is still a blur to a lot of us but we got a medal and a few blisters for our efforts.

Although a massive success, never again will the same team compete in the Nijmegen Marches so special mentions go to: Sig Musgrave for finishing, despite being in severe pain on Day Two with shin splints, he completed the remaining 75 miles. LCpl 'Laney' Lane for running in circles around the Team taking photos and Sig Howe for flying the flag in style.

EXERCISE MURCURIAL MARITIME DIAMOND

Ex Murcurial Maritime Diamond was the Royal Corps of Signals' Annual Sailing Regatta, racing from Keil in Germany around the Danish coast. The Regatta was held over 15 -26 July 2001. The winning 7 Sig Regt Team consisted of

Cpl Shillito	229 Signal Squadron
LCpl Rodmell	229 Signal Squadron
LCpl Stevens	229 Signal Squadron
LCpl Turner	229 Signal Squadron
Sig Walters	229 Signal Squadron .
Cfn Pyott	LAD

The majority of the crew had been sailing once or twice before and saw this as a good opportunity to delve deeper into the sport and to come away with recognised qualifications. The ten-day course began from the moment they took over the yacht, for the 7 Sig Regt team a 35ft yacht called Petrel. There were seven yachts altogether with crews from 1 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn, 7 Amd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn, 30 Sig Regt, 11 Sig Regt, 2 Sig Regt and 1(UK)ADSR. The first few days were spent getting some hands-on experience of what was required. The racing started soon after and 7 Sig Regt's boat Petrel, under skipper Mick Pattern performed well in perfect conditions, too perfect on some occasions as the wind was replaced by warm Baltic sunshine (yes it does exist). The crews weren't complaining as it provided a chance for them to practice their knots and sail craft as well as top up on their tans! The first race was around the cans at Arhus which 7 Sig Regt won convincingly although two other yachts, Gannet and Pintail, throughout the week provided them with some close calls. The combined expertise gave the crew a resounding victory at the end of the course with everyone gaining their Competent Crew qualification, even Cfn 'Smarty' Pyott who showed great enthusiasm and determination to succeed. Cpl 'Nelly' Shillito was the entertainment's officer as he was familiar with the course contents and route. LCpl 'loony 'ten marks' Rodmell, the ship's cook, did a great job of making the ship's cat last the whole ten days, rustling up a variety of tasty dishes. The Regatta not only gave the crew the opportunity to compete in a sporting event but also the opportunity to experience the culture of Denmark and the joys of offshore sailing. They all look forward to defending the title next year!

ARMY FOOTBALL ASOCIATION TOUR OF BRAZIL 2001
by LCpl Moffat

The Squad assembled at Clayton Barracks before heading off for Heathrow Airport. From there the team flew to Rio de Janeiro stopping off at San Paolo on the way. On arriving in Rio we checked into our accommodation where we would be staying in for the duration of the tour, and received a security brief about the problems that are in and around Rio today. The first training consisted of the Team going down to Copacabana Beach to have an acclimatisation training session. Our first game was against the Ex-Pats, and the weather was something the Team would certainly have to get used to. The game was played in a very sporting manner with the Army winning 11-1. The Team then got to experience the real Brazilian style of football by going to the Brazilian equivalent of the FA Cup with Flamengo facing Vasco de Gama. These two teams are the greatest of rivals, with each team's fans singing and dancing for the whole 90mins. Flamengo were the winners at the end of the 90mins making them winners for the third time in a row. After the game the streets were full of people singing and dancing about Flamengo's triumphant win.

LCpl Allan Moffat sitting in the Maracana Stadium, Rio de Janeiro

Our first major game came against the Brazilian Navy. The Team was all really up for this game. Both teams battled it out throughout, but the Army found it hard to adapt to their style of football, as we seemed to play a more physical type of game. In the end the Navy came out on top with a late winner although the Army put up a good fight. The final score, 2-1. We had another game the following day against the Viva Rio Champions. This was a team from around Rio that came out winners in a recent tournament. They were all people that lived in the slums of Rio so were not well equipped for the game at all, so we presented them with a strip before the game. The match proceeded well with plenty of skill and teamwork coming from both sides, but the Army was to be victorious this time, winning 4-1. After the game we were invited up to the shanty town areas for a BBQ. When we arrived there was plenty of food laid out on the table and plenty of their supporters there to enjoy it also. After we had some food and said our farewells, the team took a walk down through the area that they lived in. It was hard to imagine how these people could live in such conditions day in day out.

The Team earned on with regular training at Fortaleza de Sao Joao Army Barracks, which is the PT training school in Rio. The Team then came up against the Botafogo junior team. These were the players that were hoping to make it to the top of Brazilian football so our team was aware that they would be quick and skilful. The game didn't seem to go the way we had wished for as the junior team played exceptionally well with the Army doing a lot of chasing. Although the Army didn't give up and got very close to winning the game, the Botafogo lads came out lucky and got the winning goal on the last kick of the game making the final score 2-1.

The Team still had two games to go so there wasn't much time for relaxing with the biggest game of the tour coming up. First though was the match against the Air Force that we were expecting to be a bit harder than the Navy game. We were right, the Force seemed to be more organised but the Army was just as good if not better. The game was quick and exciting with both teams scoring and coming close on many occasions but the game was to finish 2-2, which seemed a fair result but the Army were still slightly down as we felt we should have won. It was then time for some relaxation before our next match, so we got together and travelled up to see one of the seven wonders of the world, the Jesus statue on the mountain top. It was an amazing sight, as it was so high you could see the whole of Rio. After that everyone was free to go shopping for gifts for family and friends back home. Then it was back to training the next morning for our last but most important game, the Brazilian Army.

There was a big build up to the game with many spectators including a two star General, from the Brazilian Army. The teams lined up before the game to shake hands before kick-off, exchanging gifts as they passed. The game kicked off and both teams got straight into it. It wasn't long before the first goal, which came from the Brazilians but the Army weren't that long to follow with the equaliser. Both teams kept battling it out but the Brazilian Army had too much pace and skill and ran away with the match, winning 5-1. The British Army played very well throughout the whole game but it just wasn't our day. Afterwards both teams exchanged shirts as a momento and gathered as a whole for a final BBQ. There was plenty of fun and laughter with both sides trying to out play each other with their own style of music, which I think the Brits won! The tour was a thoroughly enjoyable time for all involved and they gained valuable experience in a different environment. The British Army played exceptionally well throughout, putting a good name around Brazil for ourselves.

BRADBURY FAYRE - by Capt R. Francis

7 Sig Regt held its last annual Bradbury Fayre in Krefeld on 14 July. The event had been organised and run by 229 (Berlin) Sig Sqn, with a lot of help from the other departments within the Regiment. The day was a huge success despite the best efforts of the weather - it is unlikely that we will see heavier rain all year. Planning had begun in earnest months before with Maj Dan Webster, OC of 229 Sig Sqn at the helm. His remit was clear, make it the biggest and best ever - a task that he took to heart, immediately planning an open day of RASS proportions, except on West Park. The final product saw no fewer than four bouncy castles, dozens of exhibitors, vehicle displays, beat the goalie type stands, electric cars for the kids and enough food to feed an Army.

There was more tentage than even the biggest scout jamboree and enough beer to sink a battleship, all that we needed was a nice sunny day. Well, it rained . . . and rained yet despite the weather, in the region of 2000 people came through the gates determined to make a go of it. The kids couldn't have been happier bouncing on the four 'bouncy swimming pools' that had been created and the battery operated cars on the MT stand were particularly popular.

SPLAT! Sumo Wrestling at The Bradbury Fayre

BFBS brought their Roadshow along with a couple of DJs who entertained the crowd, and in the centre ring the three of the squadrons fought it out in the Tug of War and two Radio Relay crews from 229 Sig Sqn competed in the radio relay race. HQ Sqn won the Tug of War, looking by far the most professional team in their matching outfits.

231 Signal Squadron Tug-of-War Team

231 Sqn came second having given HQ Sqn a run for their money in the final with by far the best looking team, 229 (Berlin) Sig Sqn coming a very credible third (out of three).

229 Signal Squadron Tug-of-War Team

232 Sig Sqn chose not to compete. The Radio Relay Race was won by Cpl 'Eyeball Paul' Nuttley and his crew but both teams put in tremendous effort in difficult conditions. Overall, despite the weather, the day could be described as a major success. Not only did the members of the Regiment and their families have an interesting if damp day out but so too did many members of the local German community who ventured into the camp to join in the fun. It was the last time that the open day will be held in Krefeld with the move to Bruggen early next year and as such was an important landmark in the Regiment's history.

The last two months have been a particularly busy period in 229 Sig Sqn (available for functions, fetes, weddings ....) We finally managed to get the Squadron on exercise to practice our primary role, and even had the bonus of getting comets in ... eventually. The Squadron has been involved in a multitude of regimental taskings over the last few months, most recently the organization of the regimental open day 'The Bradbury Fayre' which despite the best efforts of the weather, was an amazing success. The Sqn Comd is now seriously considering a career in function management when he returns to Australia at Christmas. The Squadron has also had a number of notable sporting successes; The SQMS, SSgt 'Competitive Dad' Reid took the Regimental Tug of War Team back to the Morrison Cup UK with great results before managing the Corps training camp at Blandford. Cpl Neil 'Nelly' Shilito took a team to the Corps Regatta up at Kiel that came back with all the trophies available both team and individual - congratulations chaps but no you can't take anymore time off to go sailing. Congratulations also go to the SSM for trudging around the Nijmegen Marches with the Regimental Marching Team, an excellent effort at his age.

CHARLIE TROOP DAY OUT

After a hard couple of months in the garages, on exercise and preparing for Bradbury Fayre, the OC, Lt 'Chris' Dixon decided that a reward for all the effort was needed and a trip was arranged by Cpl Tony 'It's true' Booth. Kern Wasserland, a converted nuclear Power Station close to the border that has funfairs, restaurants and theme bars all-inclusive for a small fee seemed the ides location and the idea was quickly sold to the Troop. The day of the trip arrived and was made all the more exciting by the arrival of the CDT team. After a mad dash for the gates, which ended in us returning to the gym, we were eventually all processed even Sig 'But I just can't go!' Dunn. On arrival at Kern Wasserland it was time to check in and then explore. The restaurant was soon found and after being refreshed by the food and drink it was time for the real fun to begin. The quad bikes were an instant hit with SSgt Littlefield and Sgt Cumberland, who raced until the latter's superior riding skills saw him lose by falling off Elsewhere on the course Sig Cox was having trouble finding the accelerator. The fun fair also provided entertainment until rain stopped play. It was then time to retire inside to enjoy the free arcades and bowling with impressive scores by Sig 'Ming' Leeming and Sig 'I'll have a coke' Rees. After a quick shower and change it was to the western theme bar where the events of the day were retold over a few beers. A night spent in the inclusive three star accommodation allowed us all to return to Krefeld much refreshed!

WHISKEY TROOP DAY OUT - by Cpl Nat Turney

Early on in June I was tasked with organising a Troop day out with the aim of rallying the Troops morale after a particularly busy period of RSIT and exercise. So with that in mind I decided to take the Troop away skiing and snowboarding in the middle of summer! Early on the morning of the 5 July the troops were up and eager to get going. We left camp in a long convoy of civvi cars and went up to Bottrop-boy. On arrival we had the rigmarole of paying and getting everyone kitted out with their respective equipment. Thanks to Sig Duckworth for speaking his best German and getting every one the right size kit. Once the rules had been laid down for the day, everyone went and got into their respective outfits and promptly started to sweat buckets! Once on the slopes the snowboarders came with me and the skiers went off and did their best at trying to kill themselves and any one else daft enough to take to the slopes when 20 squaddies are on it. We then spent the first half an hour laughing at Sgt Jase Wood's impression of a really bad snow boarder who managed to take out a good thirty meters of the slalom course, well done Jase! After everyone had been warned about the unique system at the Alpine Centre for getting you back to the top of the slope, I took great pleasure in watching the lads trying to get on a conveyer belt lift system. At the top of the slopes it was time for a bit of entertainment, as we took ten, or was it thirty minutes to sit and watch Sig 'Earth Worm Jim' Spotswood and LCpl John Matthews getting up and falling straight back down, bruising various parts of their bodies. After several runs, all of the lads were getting down to business and were hurtling dawn the slopes at a decent pace with the usual soldier mentality! After a rather long lunch it was back to business and out on to the jumps. A special mention goes to Sig Richies for his amazing impression of a pro-boarder with years of experience of jumping. He sat at the top of the jump with all the civilian boarders, watched one go over the jump and thought he would give it a go. Needless to say he didn't appear quite so professional, careering into the path of a German, who promptly poked him with a ski pole and told him to get out of the way. After lots of runs and time spent watching potential 'Franz Clammers' the lads decided to call it a day and head back to Krefeld. Every one agreed that it had been a worthwhile experience for the middle of summer and would definitely be up for it again, minus the bruises of course! So will all of Whiskey Tp be in the Army Skiing and Snow Boarding Teams this coming winter season? Perhaps not! But well done to the lads for making it a day to, remember.

Tp SSgt Position vacant applicants welcome!

The Troop are now leaderless with both SSgt Tams Davies and SSgt 'Bacon butties on the nightshift' Evans abandoning ship to return to the UK. Congratulations go to Sgt Adam Wright McCarthy on the birth of his twins. The tech workshop has now successfully re-ruled as PA specialists - providers of sound systems and projection for any and all Regimental events and are still recovering from actually having to do physical labour setting up the Bradbury Fair although their 'wiggly wire' stand was surprisingly successful.

EXERCISE NEMESIS BACKSTOP
232 SIGNAL SQUADRON ADVENTURE TRAINING

During July, members of 232 Sig Sqn deployed on the annual summer adventure training programme. The first week saw half of the Squadron setting up tents on the American campsite in Garmisch Partenkirchen in order to carry out a number of activities including trekking, kayaking and climbing. It became evident during the week that the weather was, to put it mildly a complete wash out! With the campsite soon resembling the Somme battlefield, the Squadron continued to train in the rain and many personnel gained qualifications in various activities. One of the highlights of the week was undoubtedly Pte Burnett's (from ARRC Support Battalion) cooking who was released from The Savoy in order to provide the Squadron with sumptuous feasts every night. As soon as the transport left for camp on the changeover day the sun came out and continued to shine down for the whole of the second week. We had now relocated to Drei Muhlen Lodge in Bavaria due to one or two of the instructors having developed trench-foot and water-logging of the brain. Having dried them out, the second week proved to be just as fruitful as the first. Many thanks to the instructors especially Cpl 'Vince' Carling from ITC at Catterick for his kyaking instruction, which came in especially useful around the campsite, and 2Lt Graeme Endean's inspirational trekking instruction!

THE 232 SIGNAL SQUADRON SUMMER BALL

13 June came around, as usual, a lot more quickly than those organising the event had given credit for. Final numbers were still being settled that morning (nothing changes there then!), decorations had been bought and now there was just the task of jazzing the place up (and making it soldier proof). A team made up of the SNCOs and Officers from the Squadron spent the best part of a day filling helium balloons and trying to make the venue resemble the theme of James Bond. By about three o'clock it was done and to be honest it was a job well done. The troops began arriving at six thirty - keen to take advantage of the free pre-dinner drinks. It's quite amazing how well everyone scrubs up, some people were hardly recognisable out of uniform. Following a Squadron photograph on the grandstand, everyone filtered into the restaurant for the night's entertainment. Throughout dinner there was entertainment by table magicians, a sorcerer complete with snakes and the main attraction was 'Girl Talk' an all girl band who wore very little and sang loudly. Needless to say they went down a treat with the lads, even blagging a plush meal at McDonalds from some lucky fellow! The night went extremely well with dancing until five. A big thank you is necessary to the Squadron 2IC, Capt Michele Hanlon, who organised most of the event and Sgt Geoff Overend who spent the best part of a week running round like a man possessed to get money out of all of the troops.

EXERCISE WOODLAND FLIGHT

Ex Woodland Flight went well despite the injuries sustained by the willing volunteers for the Red Devils who couldn't help training from the roofs of the squadron vehicles; and Sig 'It was contaminated fuel'

Jackson needing a bit of a refresher on the 1500w gene! A little advice from the master driver to LCpl Paul Hayes, when you carry out a first works parade on the vehicle don't forget that you must check the trailer aswell. To Sgt 'Sleepy' Asquith, too bad on missing out on the prize of The Golden Blanket and one last bit of advice goes out to LCpl 'Where's my cam net gone?' Lane. Need I say more...? Congratulations on a good exercise with a few laughs.

RADIO TROOP'S DAY OUT

Radio Tp has had a busy couple of months with inspections, exercise, Bradbury Fayre, preparing for Ex Saif Sarreea II and so decided that Kernwasser wonderland would be the setting for the 'team building' exercise. The day and night included bowling, wine tasting (don't worry lads you'll get the hang of the cheese board soon!) and other cultural activities. Sigs 'Smudge' Smith and 'Shacks' Shackleton decided racing the plastic sphinx was a good idea, to which Sgt Nesbitt replied, 'Behave yourselves,' before zig zagging off to the wrong hotel! We would like to wish LCpl 'Watch I can bend my leg in fifty different directions' Marlbourgh a speedy recovery.

OSCAR TROOP'S PAINTBALL DAY

by Sig Proudman

Following an enormously heavy workload, it was starting to become apparent that Oscar Tp was in dire need of a morale day. The Troop therefore decided to go paintballing at Dike Farm in Maasbree Netherlands. LCpl Andy Cornfield, a new member of the Troop, arranged the day. So we headed off to the sunny Netherlands. Arriving there we waited for the SSM and a few others who were leaving it a bit late but once they had finally arrived we headed inside where everyone began talking tactics. We had our brief then everyone got kitted up ready for action! The teams were (cheating) reds versus blues, the SSM (WO2 Karl 'Trapper' Weaver) and Lt Harriet Hebblethwaite picked the teams. However, it turned out the SSM wanted all the radio operators, so it was Oscar Tp (blue) v Radio Tp (red) again. We had decided to have a laugh and just attack Radio Tp but the SSM had other plans. The first game was elimination, one hit and you're out. The second was getting the other team's flag and putting it in your base. Once again we decided to attack, but the SSM had further plans, deciding to do a full on section attack, which was completely unexpected. Blue men after blue men were constantly shouting 'hit' as the reds came from everywhere. As the game progressed it became clear the SSM was clearly shooting people when they were walking out, and not going out when he was supposed to, as were a few others. However the SSM was hit cleanly right on the head by Mrs (LCpl) Jenkinson, but wiped of the paint and earned on until the umpire sent him away in disgrace as was Sig Bibby who was following the SSM's ways. At the end of a great day out everyone compared hideous bruises, and we can't forget the two ND's in the 'safe area' by Lt Hebblethwaite and female LCpl 'Competitive' Cornfield.

ARMY FLY FISHING CHAMPIONSHIPS

by WO2 (SSM) Karl Weaver

Over a three-day period in June, three members of 231 Sig Sqn took part in the Army Fly Fishing Championships held at Rutland Water in the UK. The Team consisted of WO2 (SSM) Karl Weaver, Sgt Nick Asquith and Sig Steve Barber. With only the SSM having fished at competitive level before, it was a big learning curve for the other two team members, and a lot of information to take on board. With a field of over seventy individuals and 16 three-man teams, this was a bit of a tall order, but with team tactics and the right flies, all went well over the three days. At the presentations on the final day, Jack Charlton the famous footballer, himself a keen angler was there to present the prizes. The team from 7 Sig Regt won the Army Team Championships and WO2 (SSM) Weaver was placed third individually.

Tp Comd WO1(FofS) Jenkins

As with all departments within the Regiment, the past three months has been an extremely busy period for TM Tp. We have conducted a Troop reorganisation to streamline maintenance activities and ensure continuity of work and training for all Troop personnel deployed on Ex Woodland Flight; and simultaneously hosted RSIT, ECI and EST(A) inspections. On the social front it has also been hectic, with HQ Sqn BBQ, and Troop leaving functions as well as providing the PA and power facilities for the Bradbury Fair. On the sports field various Troop members have been involved in Regimental Swimming and Waterpolo, Tug of War, and LCpl Moffat and Sig Rizza took part in the Army Football Tour to Brazil! We have had a couple of new arrivals, LCpl Sheehan and Nicola, and LCpl Shirley posted in from 232 Sig Sqn, welcome. Departures include Cpl Steve Turner and Cpl Dan Hire who depart for their T 1 course, and finally Cpl 'Dusty' Hoffman who has seen the greener grass and is leaving the service. We wish all of them the best of luck for the future.

QUARTERMASTER(A) DEPARTMENT - by Cpl Jo Quinn

QM(T) Capt Neil Coatsworth

The Department has been through a major change over the last few weeks, with various key personnel leaving and arriving. Firstly a fond farewell from all the department to QM(A), Maj Pete Doherty, who has left us to take up his new job as 2 IC 16 Sig Regt in JHQ. Also, RQMS(A) WO2 Neil James has left after completing 22 years service to join the transport police back in the U.K. The occasion was marked with a leaving lunch and drinks in the chefs' bar, which continued into the squadron bar. It was noted that Sig Mark '2 pints' Bradbury couldn't stand the pace and retired to his bed, even before one of our civilians! A big friendly QM(A) welcome to Maj (QM) Bob 'Call me dynamic' Taylor who has joined us from 16 Sig Regt, and WO2 (RQMS) 'Ginge' Morgan who has joined us from the hectic world of SHAPE. Let's hope that they can handle their new appointments, as the Regiment begins to prepare for the move to Bruggen. No pressure! Welcome back to Cpl Des 'Queen Mum' Lang, who came back to work voluntarily even though he was still on sick leave. Rumour has it he's after his MBE. Congratulations to Sgt 'Dusty' Miller and family, after the arrival of their baby daughter Larissa Sarah. Another new arrival to mention has travelled all the way from SQMS 232 Sig Sqn to join our happy little family. Sig Danny Carter - the unstoppable has landed, and has spent his first few weeks trying to impress us by constantly using his initiative. This has been worrying the Department, which was so used to Sig Bradbury, who has left us to join SQMS HQ. Only joking Brads, you and your stories from the weekends will be missed.

COMMAND GROUP

As the summer temperatures reached boiling point the Unit prepared for a flying visit from the Secretary of State for Defence, Mr Geoff Hoon. Accompanied by the Commander British Forces Cyprus, Air Vice Marshall T. W. Rimmer OBE MA, the Secretary of State received an update on Unit procedures and current issues. Fortunately it was also the hottest day of the year so the air-conditioning issue carried a lot of credibility. Overseeing this visit, and for the last of numerous previous VIP visits was the Provost Corporal, Cpl Pete Woods. He has been selected for promotion and due to return to the Pioneer Corps, RLC Training Depot. Cpl Woods was also kept busy right up to his last working day as the Unit Detention Centre also had a visitor. As he said, 'it was the perfect way to finish his tour'.

All ranks would like to welcome the following to the Squadron, the new Second in Command Flt Lt John Harris, (RAF Regt) the new Families officer Capt Roy Zaman (QLR) (Retd), WO2 (RQMS) Andy Dick, SSgt Gair Sorley, Sgt Paul Grundy, LCpl Connaire and finally SAC (Baldrick) Dougherty. We wish them and their families an enjoyable tour. There are still a number of posts waiting to be filled to replace past members but the QM's Department have assured us that cardboard replacements will be available once the part number is received. We bid a fond farewell to the following, WO2 (UAOWO) Rick 'Mr Bean' Mills (Can't wait to see the photo in the Kilt), SSgt Gaz Steel and Sgt Dave Churchward who both leave on promotion. SSgt Scott Cain, Sgt Tony Waddington, Cpl Tiny Adams and finally to LCpl's Willie Williams and Dave Collins who also leave on promotion. We wish you and your families the best for the future. Congratulations go to Cpl's Tiny Adams, John Freeman and Pete Woods on their recent selection for Promotion to Sergeant, and to Sgt Tony Caprio and wife Jackie on the birth of their daughter India Grace, and to LCpl Andy Kinnaird and wife Emma on the birth of their son Ethan.

INTER SQUADRON ATHLETICS

Sgt Ian Williams (AGC-SPS) led the squadron to victory by a clear majority in the Inter Squadron Competition. The male 4 x 100 and 4 x 400 teams finished the race and were back having tea and biscuits before the others were in sight. The female team won the majority of the events with individual efforts coming from SSgt Tracy Staddon winning the Shot Putt and Long Jump, and LCpl Julie Wright, for winning the 100m hurdles, high jump, 3000m and 4x400 relay. Thanks must go to the attached arms and wives for their participation on the day.

SUMMER CRUISE

The Squadron Summer function this year was a buffet meal followed by a cruise from Ayia Napa harbour to Cape Greco then onto Famagusta point. The day was a roaring success and thanks should go to Cpls John Freeman, Neil Fraser, Steve Seaby and SAC Spence Spencer for all their hard work.

CHARITY FOOTBALL MATCH

Mr Steve Gibson Chairman of Middlesborough FC brought a select XI to play a charity football match against JSSU(AN). The event was in support of the charity Wireless for the Blind. The first half team consisted of Support Sqn FC players. The Team Manager SSgt Gaz Steel (now SSM at 15 Sig Regt) utilised the event as build-up training prior to a cup final match, later that month. Excellent team play and goals scored by Sgt Steve Hills (RAF Regt) and Cpl Tony Cover (RLC), gave the first half side a 2-1 lead. The second half side made up from 234 and 840 Sqn players continued to be as exciting with two goals from LCpl Paul Ridgeway (234) in the last ten minutes, making the final score 4 – 1 to the home side. The event itself was a complete success, which managed to raise over £500 for the charity.

ADVENTURE TRAINING

The Squadron are now into their second month of one-day adventure training packages. The day consists of Sea Kayaking, Dingy Sailing, Water Skiing and the Powerboat inflatable called ' The Screamer'. The water sports are held in the morning at the Tunnel Beach Water Sports Club, Episkopi. The OC, Maj Bohanan, is leading the way on the water skiing, showing that there's nothing to it however, some individuals just don't seem to realise that when you fall you must let go of the rope. (Pte Chadwick). Sgt Sean Paddison (RLC) now realises how the 'Screamer' got its name, as he joined Cpl Andrea Shaw (RAF) for a go. Ear defenders are recommended. Lcpl Julie Wright (AGC) took things a little bit far when cries from the shore shouted, 'Get them off'; they actually meant the passengers from the 'screamer'. The afternoon's Adventure is a 6-mile walk in the Troodos Mountains following the trails, which cut into the mountains. Whilst the route is all down hill it brings in some excellent viewpoints and gives those taking part a chance to chat with the OC on a casual note. The route is planned so that it finishes at a Taverna where all can have a well-earned drink and something to eat, whilst discussing the day's activities.

BULGARIA RUGBY TRIP 2001 - by Cpl 'Boris' Wade

After nine months of planning the JSSU(AN) rugby team 'The Stags' kicked off their 2001 Bulgarian Rugby Tour. The team of 21 comprised players from all three Services although the Royal Signals representation of 33% was due to them being the better players! The flight to Bulgaria had a slight hitch as we had to go via the Czech Republic with an added 18-hour wait for a connection flight. This meant however that the team was able to take in the picturesque city of Prague and it was here in Prague Castle that Sgt Kev 'Pee Pot Pete' Cooney actually found a house for which even he was too big to get in. We then passed over the Charles Bridge, the backdrop to many films including 'Mission Impossible'. After an excellent meal of traditional Goulash and Dumplings (and of-course a quick sing-song) we passed through Wenceslas Square to catch our transport. A flight to Sophia saw some outstanding displays of power kipping , particularly by Cpl Paul 'Pickles' Hayward which meant though that when we arrived we could all dump our bags in our hotel rooms and retire for a nightcap. Our warm-up game was against the National Sports Academy Student XVs. This proved to be a harder match than was initially thought and there were slight! differences in the understanding of the rules. Infringements were common and constant offside play at the ruck area prevented the game flowing. A trend followed on tour were there were obvious differences between the refereeing standards of UK and Bulgaria referees. Notable performances though came from our center's, Sig 'Wacko' Jackson and Cpl Al 'I never sleep' Gaw for some superb running. After the match it was into the third half with tour hats on and songbooks out. We succeeded in winning this half convincingly. Presentations were made to the local side and to who we thought was Man of the match; this went to the man with the black eye. (He won't want to mix it so quickly next time)!

Onto our last match which was against the current Premiership Champions. Preparations for this had not gone to plan with many players suffering from the change of diet. Our game suffered from a lack of energy, our opponents, the NSA were by far a faster side and their quick moves saw our downfall. A hard fought period of pressure though applied by the Stags just before half time saw little reward. Similar pressure in the second half also failed to trouble the score-keeper although Cpl 'Boris' Wade was transformed into a crash ball specialist and on several times ran headfirst through numerous Bulgarians. He came out battered and bruised, but then after recent goings-on that was nothing new. Cpl Andy 'Angry' Johnson also showed some of his recent excellent form, which got him into the Cyprus Army team but took out one of our own players by accident. A defeat by 48 – 0 and it was off to make the presentations. Thanks to all the lads from the NSA who were perfect hosts and demonstrated that although we spoke different languages, we began to understand each other better as the night went on.

Thursday 26 April and the real reason we had gone to Bulgaria. We were off to the Orphan Home for Children with Learning Disabilities in the Mihaltsi village. Here we gave them the clothes, toys and other items for which charity work over the past nine months had provided. The Unit sportathlon had raised a considerable amount, but money had also been raised by a charity auction organized by the 840 Sqn Charities Committee. Support was also received from as far away as the USA and England. Our visit gained a lot of publicity within the capital Sophia and the Orphan Care group who sponsor the orphanage. As a result of this we had a few extra Bulgarian celebrities travelling with us to record and document the event for both national TV and radio. It was an emotional day for all the team and no-one left without a lump in his throat.

Saturday 28 April was the day of the Bulgarian 7's tournament. A group of ten teams from Bulgaria attended the event which was run within the grounds of the NSA. From the start it was clear Lady Luck was not to look upon us that day as our first match was drawn against the NSA and after a 'not too humiliating' defeat we played games against teams more our level. This included our first win thanks to Sgt Phil 'I'm the new Tiny' Ellwood. His huge height prevented a wild ball from passing over his head and enabling the Bulgarians to score in the dying seconds. This final game which resulted in a win, was the culmination of an excellent tour to Bulgaria. Thanks must go out to all the people at JSSU(AN) who helped raise money for the tour and the orphan charity. Finally a big thank you to CPO 'Taff 'drop the shoulder' Thomas (Royal Navy Club Chairman) and to Flt Sgt Ben 'I drop to the floor' Court (RAF and Tour Manager) for their efforts in making it all happen.

EXERCISE UHURU PEAK

Ex Uhuru Peak was a three-week high altitude trekking expedition to Mount Kenya and Mount Kilimanjaro from 5-26 March 2001 lead by Capt Forbes Guthrie. Mount Kilimanjaro and Mount Kenya are the highest and second highest mountains in Africa respectively. Both mountains can be climbed by walkers, as opposed to climbers, and therefore offered an excellent opportunity for relatively inexperienced walkers to gain experience of high altitude conditions. The expedition was eight strong, all being volunteers from JSSU(AN). The team comprised of the following Army and Royal Air Force personnel:

Capt Forbes Guthrie R SIGNALS
SSgt (FofS) Dave Coffey R SIGNALS
Sgt Kev Cooney R SIGNALS
Sgt Tony Wadington R SIGNALS
Sgt Tony Hubbold RAF
Cpl Jon Olphert RAF

Monday afternoon and a group of eight assembled at MT to embark on Ex Uhuru Peak. We arrived at Larnaca Airport in good time and watched carefully to make sure our baggage made it through the weigh-in. Our flight to Dubai was very comfortable, arriving in the small hours. After whiling away seven hours in Dubai Airport we were jetting off again to Nairobi. On arrival, a driver from BATLSK (British Army Training Liaison Staff Kenya) met us. The journey took us straight to BATLSK Camp where we quickly signed over our accommodation and drew out the necessary stores (i.e. Mosquito nets). That afternoon was spent sorting out our equipment and liaising with the BATLSK staff. A driver from the MT took us into Nairobi so that we could stock up on all the food we would need for Mount Kenya. After spending a couple of hours filling several shopping trolleys we paid for the food, eventually in Kenyan Shillings, and headed back to camp. SSgt Dave Coffey and Capt Forbes Guthrie lead the group through the rudimentaries of some basic rope-work techniques before we all packed our kit ready for an early start the next day. We left BATLSK in the back of a four-tonne truck for the long journey to the start of our ascent of Mount Kenya - Chogoria. We arrived at the Transit Motel where we had arranged to meet our local mountain guide, Mr John Wachira. After waiting over an hour for the guide to show, Capt Forbes Guthrie decided to press on without him. It was now too late to attempt any part of the gentle walk through the jungle track, so the BATLSK driver was directed to take us all the way up to the park gates. At the gates, Capt Forbes Guthrie paid the park and camping fees and SSgt Dave Coffey found a suitable site to pitch the tents. Just before dark, as everyone was preparing to settle down, our guide John turned up. He was disappointed to be told that he would not be paid for that day, but everyone was pleased that he did eventually make it.

The group awoke to discover that what had seemed like a good camp site was in fact a water buffalo track! This was to be an 'acclimatisation day', to help everyone to get used to the higher altitudes. We set off from the Park Gates to Lake Ellis where we all stopped for lunch. After some food and the chance to replenish our drinking water we headed up to the top of Mugi Hill where we could look down onto the Giant's Billiard Table Mountain. We walked back down to the Park Gates where we camped for the night again. Everyone got up early, packed their tents and set off on the track. After a couple of hours we reached the Roadhead, where we stopped and John, the guide, showed us a beautiful waterfall just a short distance from the track. It was another hour before the group headed off, as the group needed to filter more water from the stream before we left. The next leg was a hard climb up to our campsite at Hall Tarns, which we expected to take about four hours. It eventually took twice the, time we had hoped and we reached the campsite just as it was getting dark. Everyone was exhausted, both from the effects of the altitude and from the sheer weight on our backs. Sgt Tony Waddington was feeling it the most but we all made sure that everyone was administered properly before finishing for the night.

Sunday morning was a slow start, as the group was still tired from the day before, and we had to spend several hours making sure we filtered sufficient water supplies for that day. Everyone was feeling much better by lunchtime and we packed up and headed off. It was not a long walk to the next campsite but it became very steep and most people were feeling the effects of the altitude to some extent. On arrival at Simba Tam, Sgt Tony Waddington was complaining of strong headaches. After closely monitoring him for another two hours to see if the condition eased, it was decided to move him down from the altitude in case it was the early symptoms of AMS (Acute Mountain Sickness - a potentially lethal condition). Capt Forbes Guthrie, SSgt Dave Coffey and Sgt Kev Cooney assisted Sgt Tony Waddington down to Shipton's Camp, a descent of about 600mtrs. Once down, a tent was erected and SSgt Dave Coffey and Sgt Kev Cooney headed back up to rejoin the main group as night fell. Capt Forbes Guthrie stayed with Sgt Tony Waddington in the tent to ensure that his condition did not worsen.

At 0200hrs Capt Forbes Guthrie, happy that Sgt Tony Waddington had made a sufficient recovery to be left alone, climbed back up to rejoin the rest of the party for the final ascent. The group set off from Simba Tam at 0400hrs for a hard two-hour scramble to the top. We all made it just before sunrise and sat slumped on the peak taking photographs, happy to have made it. From Point Lenana we dropped down to Austrian Hut and back round to Simba Tarn to take the tents down. We pressed on down the steep scree slope to Shipton's Camp as quickly as possible and stoppedfor an hour to cook lunch and filter more water. From Shipton's Camp it was decided to make for Old Moses Camp that afternoon as the prospect of a real bed and a porcelain lavatory outweighed the 14km walk. Everyone arrived at Old Moses Camp in good spirits despite being exhausted and having blistered feet.

The transport was booked to collect the group, and eventually three Land Rovers picked us up three o'clock in the afternoon. We made it back to BATLSK at 2000hrs and after getting into our rooms and eating our late tea we all enjoyed a well-deserved 'Tusker' beer. Wednesday was an admin day for the party. A chance to unpack, clean and repack all of the equipment ready for Mount Kilimanjaro. Our guide from Mount Kenya helped us arrange transport and the mandatory guides for the trek on Mount Kilimanjaro. At 0700hrs a mini-bus collected us and took us to our connecting bus in Nairobi. From there the journey was south to the border and on to Arusha where we meet our chief guide for Mount Kilimanjaro, Mr Hussein Mbua. The transport was late in arriving and unfortunately we were unable to start the trek that afternoon as we had planned. The Guide took us to the Iibrou Safari Lodge Hotel for the night and we discussed the revised plan. Hussein and his team collected us on Friday morning and moved round to the Park Gates dropping some of our baggage off in the near-by Capricorn Hotel. Once through the Park Gates we set off for Mandara Hut, which was our camp for the night. The route was a gentle three-hour walk through the rain forest. After arriving at the hut and taking a short break, we walked up to Maundi Crater to help acclimatise, and were fortunate to see several monkeys in their natural habitat on the way back down.

The next stage up to Horombo Hut was an 11km trek up a fairly gradual ascent. Everyone took care to climb as slowly as possible to reduce fatigue and help get use to the altitude. After a two -hour break at the Huts we walked further on to 'Zebra' Rock, so called, as it had naturally been striped black and white. From Horombu Hut we all set off for Kibo Hut, which lies at 4,700m, just lower than the height of Mount Kenya. It was a slow pace across the arid saddle and everyone was very aware of the altitude. Eventually everyone made it to Kibo Hut tired but glad to be there. Cpl Leah Steward by this time had begun to suffer from a very strong headache. After only 45 minutes, she could bear it no longer and SSgt Dave Coffey, Sgt Kev Cooney and an assistant guide helped her down a couple of hundred metres. After an hour rest at that height, the symptoms were not easing and she was given one Diamox tablet (a drug used to help alleviate the symptoms of AMS), and with the help of Flo an assistant guide, descended to Horombu Hut. We were up at midnight with our head-torches ready for the final ascent to the top of Africa's highest mountain. This last stage, although only 2km in distance, was absolutely exhausting. It took the group about five hours before making it onto the crater edge at Gillman's Point. It was still dark and well below freezing, so everyone was keen to carry on around the rim's edge to Uhuru Peak. It was only another 200 metres of ascend over a gradual slope, so we set off feeling elated that we had made it up the gruelling scree slope and could now see the top. Working our way round the path we were confronted by the edge of Rebmann Glacier which had crossed over the path. SSgt Dave Coffey stopped the group and as the most qualified mountain leader had to decide on the best course of action. He had little choice but to stop the group and not allow them to go any further. The group was not qualified nor experienced enough to tackle something so hazardous and so we had to turn back. It was an immense disappointment for all concerned to have reached the tip of the world's highest free standing mountain, only to have to stop metres from the very top. However, everyone understood why the decision was made, agreed that nothing could be done, and supported SSgt Dave Coffey on a very hard call. Before setting off, we all took the chance to take photographs as the sun was rising, and then made our way back down to Kibo Hut. At Kibo Hut we stopped and rested for a couple of hours before setting off down to Horombo Hut where we ate lunch. After lunch we continued on down to Mandara Hut which was our campsite for the night.

The final morning on Mount Kilimanjaro and we set off down to the Park Gates at a leisurely pace. At the gates we all receive certificates for reaching Gillman's Point and then proceed to buy 'been to the top' T-shirts. A bus came to collect us and dropped in at the Capricorn Hotel for our bags. We wave good-bye to our guides and set-off for Mombassa. Once through the border we get to Voi where the vehicle decides to breakdown for a couple of hours. Once some foil from Sgt Kev Cooney's cigarette packet is applied to the vehicles failing electrics we were off We got to Mombassa after dark and discovered why people recommend that you don't drive at night in Kenya. We checked into the 'Sun n' Sand Hotel' for two nights and were briefed as to how the all-inclusive resort was run. All the members of Expedition take full advantage of the hotel's facilities, relaxing and try to get their physically wreked bodies back to life. There was an early start on Thursday morning to take off to Shimba Hills, two-hours South of Mombassa for a guided Safari of the park. Unfortunately, no one actually saw any Elephants, Rhinos, Giraffe, Zebra or Hippos. The best we saw we some rather tired looking Gazelle. Back at the accommodation that evening, we challenged a group of hotel staff to a football match and taught them how the game is played and won. After leaving the hotel we headed into Mombassa to buy our souvenirs before boarding the overnight train to Nairobi. We spent the next day unpacking everything and stubbing down all of the stores equipment before we started our journey back home to Cyprus.

OFFSHORE SAILING (EXERCISE MERCURY SAIL) -by Sig Keen

Skipper Sgt 'Stop breaking my boat' Kendall
Mate Maj 'Best breakfast in NATO ever' Bradshaw
Crew LCpl 'Ouch my b head' Strange
Sig 'Is there such a thing as a MacDonalds Sail Through?' Keen
Sig 'I don't get sea sick honest mum' Hall
Sig 'I can do a handbrake turn in a boat without even trying' Morrison

It started off as two skippers, two lads who have sailed a few times before and two lads two who have never sailed before and one Corps yacht named Skywave. We arrived at Gosport at lunchtime quickly moved into the boat, prepared, went shopping, had a brew and then left port. The first leg was a night sail to Brixham, so we split into two shifts and cracked on.

The crew of Skywave on arrival at Dale after a hard sail!

This was an interesting part of the exercise as the majority of us hadn't had much night sailing experience. The next day we went from Brixham to Plymouth Yacht Haven. This was far more interesting as we had the first bouts of sea-sickness. There were a few different shades of green faces in the cockpit that day!! Funnily enough, the only ones who suffered were those who had gone out the night before. Could that be down to coincidence? Nah! I don't think so. The next leg was from Plymouth to St Mary's on the Scilly Isles. During this leg, Skywave made its fastest passage of the entire trip. Something to do with the wind! (And the crew of course!). We stayed off the Scilly Isles for two days, enjoying the area and seeing the sights. (Bars, beaches, sea etc. - lovely). LCpl Strange won't forget the place in a while. He managed to make contact with the same low beam 4 times! It was good entertainment for all those watching. The last leg of the trip was from St Mary's to Dale, in time to meet up with everybody else taking part in Ex Mercury Sail. It was a thirty-hour trip so we split back into our shift (watch) routine. We were accompanied during this part of the trip by a school of dolphins. They unfortunately left as we got close to Pembrokeshire.

During the trip we covered 448 nautical miles over eight days of sailing. Everyone on the crew enjoyed the trip, and will all sail again. Apart from the fact that the skipper will not let us go with him because we kept breaking his boat (well I suppose it belongs to the Royal Signals)!

EXERCISE MERCURY SAIL 2001

Sun, sea, wind and enthusiasm - all that were required for the Royal Corps of Signals Annual Sailing Event, Ex Mercury Sail 2001, hosted by 14 Sig Regt (EW) at Dale near Haverfordwest in Pembrokeshire. Sea, we had plenty of it, Dale is a perfect location in the Pembrokeshire National Park at which to conduct sail training and for the more advanced to put their skills to the test. Sun we certainly had (for the first three days). Wind, well we had enough to train for the first three days, and more than enough for the final two days on which the regatta was held. As for enthusiasm, all those personnel who entered had a fantastic time, not only during the sail training, but also on the full social programme.

The idea for the event was hatched last year when the Royal Signals Yacht Club held a meeting at Blandford to discuss the scope of a sail training event for Corps members, and where it was to be held. The aim stated by the Admiral of the RSYC (The SOinC(A)) was that where possible, personnel who attended the sail training week would leave with some sort of sailing qualification. The event was to consist of all three sailing disciplines of Dinghy Sailing, Windsurfing and Offshore Sailing. To that end, Skywave, the Corps Dehler 35 foot yacht was made available for the duration of the event and a Level 3 adventurous training exercise (Ex Maritime Dragon) was arranged for personnel from 14 Sig Regt (EW) to travel from Gosport to Dale and then return on conclusion of the sail training during Ex Mercury Sail. The Windsurfing element would consist of Novice sail training followed by the Royal Signals Windsurfing Championships. Finally, the Dinghy sailing element would be split into two parts, Novice Sail Training followed by a Novice Regatta and the advanced sail training (racing, asymmetric sailing and advanced techniques) followed by the Royal Signals Dinghy Regatta.

Dates were finally arranged for the 11-15 June 2001 and units informed of the event. Equipment was begged, borrowed and acquired, new equipment was collected, telephone calls were made and much preparation followed. Personnel assembled in Brawdy Lanes Bowling Alley from as far afield as SHAPE, Krefeld, Bulford, Hereford, NI and Blandford on 10 June 2001 and the event was officially declared open by the 14 Sig Regt (EW) Sailing Officer, Maj Jonathan Gillespie. The Monday Morning dawned with glorious sunshine and after a brief introductory tour of Dale, Sail Training started. Below are some of the personal accounts of the event from the perspective of those taking part.

NOVICE SAILING COURSE - by SSgt Ted Whichelo

Ahoy there me hearties! Listen in to these tales of daring-do, of the eleven students who gathered for a sailing extravaganza at Dale, Pembrokeshire for Ex Mercury Sail 2001. Personnel from all over the globe (well a little bit of Europe) and of all colours (including RAF) gathered. JTs Ruth Copley, Jolene Cochrane and Mary Fegan steeled themselves for what they thought would be a week sunning themselves on a large yacht, surrounded by eunuchs(!) and drinking Spice Rum somewhere in the Bermuda Triangle. But, no, all we had to sail in were bath tubs equipped with metal poles and handkerchiefs, most of which have now been destroyed as unseaworthy... Yes, you've guessed it - Toppers were our floating chariots. Meanwhile, the PICO's remained on display pristine and sparkling in their packaging. However, this was not to put off our intrepid sailors, even though we had a flat calm for two days. The instructors: WO1 (YofS) 'Taff' Owens - instructing in a racing position from his 470, Cpl Andy Anderton and Mr Jerry 'Quiet Man' Roberts took great pleasure in introducing us all to the pleasures of capsize drills and self and crew rescues in both the Toppers and later the Bosuns.

By Day Two all of us had gained our sea legs, apart from Sig James Bain, who managed to be sea sick on the bus ride to Dale. Wednesday morning dawned with a gentle breeze, and by lunch time we had to reef the sails to prevent the JT's being swept off to the Bermuda of their dreams. Meanwhile, Lt Elizabeth McLellan vied (or was it vowed) to run down as many windsurfers as possible. Cpl Andy Andertons' game of man overboard proved to be the highlight of the day. The objective being to pick up as many buoys as possible. As honourable cavaliers and with equal opportunities in mind the rest of the course members managed to run down JT Jo Cochrane after she had capsized. Needless to say, the buoys Jo had originally picked up were soon re-distributed amongst the fleet. Thursday developed into a windy day (top end of a Force 2?), where the more hardy students managed to make use of the weather to hone their skills for rage day, although Sig Dave Thompson tried to re-arrange the shape of a boom with his head. This meant that he had to assist on the committee boat for the final days racing.

Friday arrived, and Dale had never seen anything like it before, as Toppers, Bosuns and even the windsurfers readied themselves for a whole day of racing. Miraculously, no collision occurred. The novices were looking forward to testing their new skills and eagerly watched the intermediate/advanced course busying themselves with their triangle and sausages (courses that is). The races themselves were a mixture of excitement and panic at the start line, as racers found themselves heading into wind, capsizing and even one sinking. Manoeuvring through the maelstrom and mayhem was SSgt Ted 'How did I get here?' Whichelo who managed to win the first three races outright. However, the competition soon hotted up, with Sigs Richard Clayton, David 'Tommo' Thompson, Gary Polhill and Rob Beddows all putting up fine performances on a day when the novices completed six races in all. The final results were:

1st place SSgt Ted Whichelo
2nd place Sig James Bain
3rd place Sig Richard Clayton

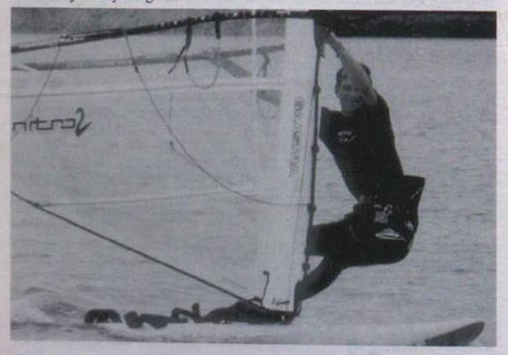
On behalf of all those on the novice course, we had an excellent week, both on and off the water, and the sport of sailing cannot be too highly recommended. See you all on the water!

ROYAL SIGNALS WINDSURFING CHAMPIONSHIPS
by Cpl 'H' Clarke AGC

For the first time the Royal Signals aimed to bring all three sailing disciplines together offshore, dinghy and windsurfing - to one single location at Dale, a beautiful sheltered bay in Pembrokeshire. So 9 o'clock Monday morning saw a gathering of windsurfers. But the hard-core 'professional' element were to be disappointed - there was virtually no wind. While these busied themselves putting their rigs together, tearing them apart, discussing them (all of which took three days until the wind picked up) the amateurs of the party were introduced to SSgt Norm Finnegan, our instructor for the Level 1/2 course. The course was held over the first two days and while in theory it all seems straightforward, the reality is anything but.



Maj Peter Bowles
Look I've invented a new way to sail!

Once we had become accustomed to the physical agony associated with learning to windsurf we were ready to race and the team event was held on Wednesday. This was the lull before the storm, before this point the winds had been very light (Force 1 - 2). So the novices were ill prepared for Thursday/Friday when the winds picked up on shore to add insult to injury causing extremely rough water, making it nigh on impossible to even stand on the board, let alone sail it!

...Em...HELP!

Of course, sheer brute determination won out and we all managed to race the course, some keeping more closely to the Race Officers instructions than others. All in all a fantastic week - tiring but satisfying. Now we're all ready to hit the Army Championships in July.

237 SIGNAL SQUADRON (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)
Sqn Comd Maj Drinkall
SSM WO2 (SSM) Mitchell

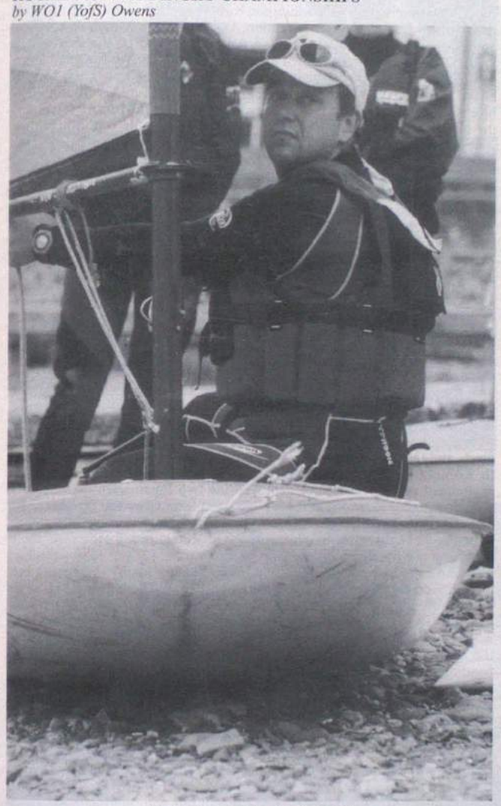
With the completion of the Squadron's first deployment to Kosovo (no doubt the first of many!!) and of course Op Peninsular deployments this has been a particularly busy period. Squadron commitments for the remainder of the year involve exercises on Salisbury Plain, Catterick, Germany, Cyprus and also providing manpower in support of 245 Sig Sqn (EW) for Ex Saif Sareea II in Oman.

It s all in a day s work!

Fond farewells go to the many who are heading for pastures new: Capt 'Tigger' Coleman to civvy street (a lawyer no doubt!), Capt 'Cuff man' Waddell to 21 Sig Regt (also best wishes on your forthcoming marriage), WO2 (YofS) Thomas finally off to Oman for two years (few strings pulled there then!) SSgt Sue Jackson to Northern Ireland, Sgt 'Taff' Willumsen to JSSU, LCpl Hancock to 16 Air Asslt Bde, and finally Sig 'Junior' Ludditt (after only three years decided this was not the life for him, all the best junior!). Warmest of welcomes to all the RAF who have recently been posted in, all I am sure will be a great boost to our linguistic capability. LCpl's Rice, Burgoyne, Stedman and Sig Churcher to Tango Tp, Cpl Narey to Victor Tp and last but not least LCpls Russell and Williams to SHQ. Best wishes go to Cpl 'Tommy' Tucker and Sig 'Pea size' Parry on their forthcoming marriage in August. Adventure training this year was organised by Cpl 'Tommy' Tucker in Anglesey. Apparently a super two days was had by all. A special thank you has to go to LCpl 'Disco' Driscoll for his entertaining display of acrobatics into the river.

With the formation of the Regimental Recruiting Team, the Squadron has been 'persuaded' to part with some of its manpower. The OC Sqn has taken on the appointment of Regimental Recruiting Officer with the Team itself being headed up by WO2 (Supvr R) Tony Watters. Things are progressing on schedule and the Team will be open for business in the very near future!! The length and breadth of the UK is at the Team's mercy so it won't be long before the miles start to pile up.

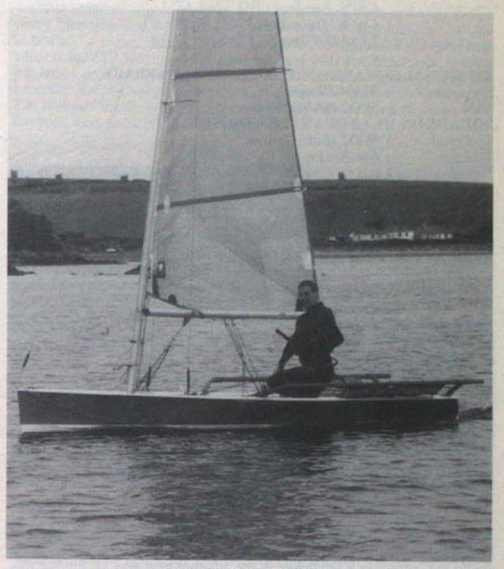
ROYAL SIGNALS DINGHY CHAMPIONSHIPS
by WO1 (YofS) Owens



Er, isn t something missing?

For the intermediate/advanced dinghy course, this was the culmination of Ex Mercury Sail. The previous three days had been a mixture of advanced and racing skills, including spinnaker work, asymmetric sailing skills in Laser 2000 and Laser Stratos, starts, racing courses and rounding the windward mark (or chaos corner according to Maj Les Plumb).

Five crews were available on a day where the wind was gusting at 29 knots (or the 'top end of a 2' according to Cpl 'Windy' Gale) and the Race Officer, Maj (TOT) Dave Ellis ably assisted by Sgt Martin Kendall, prepared himself on Skywave (the committee boat) to start the first race. Just before the start, Cpl 'Windy' Gale had a bit of a nightmare as his Jib gave way, and some pretty quick repairs were necessary. Meanwhile the start sequence was underway with 'starboard' being yelled across the water (who said W02 (FofS) Alex Groves couldn't shout?), although I think Majs Alf Thomas and Jonathan Gillespie chose to ignore him! All of a sudden the race was underway, with the usual melee at the start, the first boat around the windward mark was helmed by WO1 (YofS) Owens and crewed by Pte 'Willy' Williams (who should have been in the navy the way he repeated all instructions!!) and closely followed by Cpl 'Windy' Gale. Maj Les Plumb and Sig Russ Mowatt gave quite an impressive, if somewhat unusual demonstration of how to round the gybe mark, and their faces were a picture! Three laps of this followed, and unfortunately Cpl 'Windy' Gale had a further breakage which put the end to his race for the day. The winners of the first race were 'Taff' Owens and 'Willy' Williams, however due to the increasing wind conditions, further racing was cancelled until the following day. Friday dawned with perfect sailing conditions, not only were the advanced course on the starting line, but a further eight Toppers from the novice course. Starting all of a sudden took on a whole new perspective as the Bosun fleet weaved in and out of the Topper fleet trying not to run them down.



Maj Jonathon Gillespie
Look at me , I haven t fallen out of my boat...yet!

Notable crews on the Friday morning were Sig Russ Mowatt/Maj Les Plumb and Cpl Windy Gale/Sig Katy Allen. All the prowess that the first boat of the previous day must have blown away with the wind, and the competition was wide open, with 'Windy' and Katy winning both of the morning races. Lunch time came and crews were busy rectifying problems and trying to sort out skills etc. Things were now neck and neck between 'Windy'/Katy and 'Taff'/'Willy' and competition was tight. However, as 'Windy' approached the finish line on the 4th and final race of the day, 'Taff' managed to force him up to windward, thereby stalling him. This resulted in Windy getting a third place behind Sig Russ Mowatt and Maj Les Plumb in 2nd and 'Taff'/'Willy' in first. This final result meant that WO1 (YofS) 'Taff' Owens and Pte 'Willy' Williams won the event by one point! Final placings were:

1st WO 1 (YofS) 'Taff' Owens/Pte 'Willy' Williams
2nd Cpl 'Windy' Gale/Sig Katy Allen
3rd Sig Russ Mowatt/Maj Les Plumb
4th Maj Alf Thomas/Jonathan Gillespie and W02 (FofS) Groves/SSgt Stu Taylor.

The entire week proved to be a great success, not only on the water, but also off it during the social events. Everybody who took part, whether novice, advanced, wind-surfer or offshore said that they had enjoyed it and all are looking forward to participating in more events. It is expected that a further Royal Corps of Signals Sailing Event will be held in 2002 and all members of the Royal Signals are welcome, watch out for further details. Details of further training courses available can be found in the relevant DCI/JSP. Sailing is a worthwhile exhilarating sport (you try hanging off a trapeze wire of a 470 in a Force 5, or tying to keep an asymmetric Laser 2000 from capsizing, or lining up with 30 other boats on the start line) and what is more, the Army provides many opportunities for sailing. Further details can be found in Unit Training Wings. Go on try it out, you never know you may enjoy it!

ARMY INTER UNIT GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS RESULTS

After qualifying as regional champions of Wales, the 14 Sig Regt (EW) Army Golf Association (AGA) Golf Team competed in the Army Inter Unit Finals over the period 3-6 July 2001. This competition is played off scratch and attracts the top golfers from the Army. The first day was a pre-qualifier, 14 Sig Regt (EW) won through as one of the top eight teams in the Army with, 11 Sig Regt, AGA Centre, 8 Tpt Regt RLC, 3 (UK) ADSR, 1LI, 7 R Irish and 12 Regt RA last years Army Champions. 14 Sig Regt (EW) drew 12 Regt RA in the quarter finals, the match ended in a draw at 2-2. LCpl Gibson (TM Tp) had been pre-selected for the sudden death play off. After three nail biting holes 14 Sig Regt (EW) was beaten by one putt. LCpl Gibson played outstanding golf under intense pressure and was beaten by a ruling that went against him rather than his opponent. 7 R Irish beat 12 RA in the final. Congratulations to all the team members who competed as part of the Regiment's AGA Golf Team in the qualifiers and in the finals. Outstanding performances warrant individual congratulations to Cpl

Sanders who won all his matches in the qualifiers and the finals and to LCpl Gibson who had the best individual score on the first day and the second best individual score on the last day. The team consisted of:

WOI (FofS) A. H. Phillips - HQ Sqn Regt Ops
Sgt D. Evenden - HQ Sqn URS(T)
Cpl S. Sanders - HQ Sqn LAD
Cpl K. Dacosta -237 Sig Sqn (EW)
LCpl D. Gibson - HQ Sqn TM Tp

June was an exciting time for SHQ Tp as we embarked to Lancashire for our yearly Adventure Training. The Troop's planned adventure training trip to Bavaria was cancelled, however we were allowed to travel to the Lake District. This was the first time that the Troop was able to get together for several months due to other commitments and a good time was had by one and all. The Troop is poised ready to accept gratuitous thanks from the two EW Troops for preparing their vehicles and equipment for trips to sunnier climes (which we haven't even been invited on!). Hello to LCpl Chris Cook who arrived from 1 (UK) ADSR and was immediately drafted into the Regimental Football Team as a substantial reinforcement to the defence. Farewell to our erstwhile Sqn Clerk, Pte 'Jimmy' Williams, who is of to have fun with 9 Para Sqn RE. Finally a big welcome back to LCpl Drew Connor after his six month tour of Headley Court.

ACF CAMP – by Sgt Archie Gemmell

A team of five personnel from the Sqn led by Sgt Archie Gemmell with Cpls Gaz Moore, Scott Rose, Dave Briscoe and Sig Owen Jones descended upon Leak Training Camp to support 160 Bde for the annual Combined Cadet Force (CCF) Summer Camp. We were to make a great impact on the camp by setting up a Brigade style HQ and establishing our claim to half the camp area for our mast erecting and cam and concealment areas. With Cpl Rose teaching rebroadcasting and VHF communications in the blistering heat of 32 degrees the cadets soon found that sitting in a landrover in the summer heat was no fun but this was soon resolved when they got to the next stand dealing in 12 Meter mast erecting with Cpl Gaz Moore. During this lesson cadets found out how the safety measures they have to take when erecting 12 metre masts. Also what a long stand stood for when they were sent to visit Cpl Dave Briscoe and Sig Owen Jones at the Cam and concealment stand. Apologies go to 640 Troop for all the scratches on the landrover that we borrowed, but over 300 cadets cammed it up during the two weeks. I'm sure that all the CCF Cadets and Instructors in 160 Bde area are now competent in the use of the PRC 320 and the use of STICICS, as taught by Sgt Archie Gemmell, it's amazing what a 320 will tune to (lend me your glasses young man!). A big thanks goes to all the team from Sgt Gemmell for being highly professional in their approach to the Cadets and Staff during the two weeks of the camp.

ROMEO TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Jones
Tp SSgt SSgt Murray

Another frantically busy couple of months for the Troop (I know we always say its busy, but we really mean it this time!!), more about that later though. Firstly lets get the arrivals done, after a glut of newcomers last time we only have two new bods to introduce. A big welcome to Sgt Steve Bottomley, coming to us from JSSU Oakley. Steve's wife (the other Sgt Bottomley) has also come to 226 Sig Sqn (EW) but is working on the dark side (640 Sig Tp). Returning to the Romeo Tp fold is SSgt (Supvr R) Steve Moffet. Steve comes to us from Digby and will be filling the role of Tp IntWO, a big welcome to him and his wife Pauline.

We must, however, bid a fond farewell to a number of Troop stalwarts. Taken from us in his prime was SSgt (now WO2) Mark Wilson. Mark has taken a quick trip over the water to work with 225 Sig Sqn. Cpl Stu Latham is doing crab impressions and has moved sideways to a position of immense power, that is to say he is now working in the SQMS dept. For the last few days he has been heard wandering around the garage practising the phrase, 'Sorry mate, but stores are for storing ain't they?' Adios also to Sig 'Johnno' Johnson, posted out to JCUNI with a nice new shiny tape waiting for him on arrival in the province. Best wishes 'Johnno', from all in Romeo Tp. The man at Kellogs cereals must have been in particularly good spirits this month. Not only did Sig Johnson come up trumps but Sig Clive Clayton was also on the receiving end of a promotion. Each year 14 Sig Regt (EW) hold a cadre course, the reward for top student being a much coveted first stripe. A big well done to Sig (now LCpl) Clayton for coming top. Now what is it that we have been so busy with for the last couple of months. Traditionally, Romeo Tp visit the Air Warfare Centre at Waddington each year. This visit coincides with the Airshow held at the same location. Due to Foot & Mouth restrictions around the country, the Waddington Airshow was to be the first of the year and as such was guaranteed to attract big crowds. We travelled up in slow time on Tuesday, no major incidents ensured that we all managed to arrive in one piece. Wednesday morning saw the DISI trades embroiled in briefs on the role of the AWC. Meanwhile SSgt Geoff Murray organised the non DISI's and convinced them to go for a six mile run. Sometimes it's good to be DISI....

Now for the main event of the day, the annual AWC vs Romeo Tp football match. Normally the result of this match is a foregone conclusion with the AWC coming out on top. First impressions for this year would seem to confirm this, the AWC team were parading about during the warm up in their matching tops all looking very professional. Meanwhile Romeo Tp looked like they were sponsored by Steptoe & Son. Once the whistle blew however, things started to go very wrong for the AWC. Romeo Tp stunned everyone (ourselves included) by knocking in two top class goals before halftime. These were courtesy of Sig Dave Ward and SSgt Geoff Murray (there's life in the old dog yet!). AWC had a bit of a team talk at halftime and came out fighting. The score line see-sawed like a see-saw thing. From 2-0 to 2-1, then 3-1 (the golden boot of Sig Dave Ward again) until AWC struck a couple of killer blows and levelled the score at 3-3. With only a minute or so of play left the honours were equal and AWC seemed happy to escape at that. However, Sig Dave Ward (you know what's coming don't you) had other ideas. A blistering run down route one saw him cutting through the AWC defence like they weren't there and burying the ball in the back of the net. AWC hung their heads and the crowd went wild (both of them). A resounding 4-3 victory to Romeo Tp, lets see if we can do it again next year. After the excitement of Wednesday we deployed the two Pinemarten detachments to their exercise locations at RAF Digby and RAF Cranwell on Thursday. The Pinemarten crews were able to conduct some very useful training over the next three days while the NCC detachment practised their analytical and command roles.

We seem to be blowing the Troop trumpet rather loudly this month but to be honest there has been a great deal going on. The letters RSIT have often caused brave men to blanch and many a knee to tremble. Such was the case when it was announced that the Royal Signals Inspection Team was to pay their annual visit to 14 Sig Regt (EW). The weeks preceding the inspection saw all members of the Troop pitching in and lending a hand to get the chosen detachments up to scratch. Everyone's hard work seems to have been rewarded by the results of the RSIT which made very pleasing reading. Another event fast approaching is Ex Saif Sareea II. This very large scale exercise is being held in Oman starting around the beginning of September and going on for about two months. It has mainly been 245 Sig Sqn (EW) heading up the deployment, however a request was made for Non Comms ELINT support and a Jamming capability which only 226 Sig Sqn (EW) are able to provide. As anyone who is involved with Ex Saif Sareea II will tell you, getting ready for a desert trip is a long process. This coupled with the RSIT inspection and Waddington trip has made for an interesting (if frantic) time.

16 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col A. Morphet
RSM WO1 (RSM) N. Fisher

The last couple of months have seen a great deal of activity around Krefeld Lines as the Regiment took the opportunity to exploit a gap in the exercise programme to catch up on more domestic items.

Ex Green Gambit, the Regimental Battle Camp, took place in June at Volgelsang Training Area and proved to be a popular and rewarding experience for all. The Belgium run range complex in the Ardennes region of Germany offered plenty of scope to both sharpen existing skills and develop new ones.

The FIBUA range in particular gave a number of the younger personnel a first glimpse into operating in this type of environment and a busy and persistent enemy provided plenty of realism. Other activities in the programme included firing the GPMG, the Tank Roll Over and the Tank Killing Range, which gave the students an opportunity to throw some petrol bombs, an activity that appealed to the more destructive. Of course no battle camp would be complete without the traditional assault course competition and this one was no different. The sections were put through their paces through the notorious Volgelsang obstacle course which proved challenging to say the least.

The final address was given at this stand just after the students witnessed the DS team launch their effort around the course, to the encouragement of all, of course. July also saw a number of high profile visits that included the CinC Land, the Bishop to the Armed Forces and the Mayor of Leicester.

Members of the successful Regimental Swimming Squad display some of the silverware

There was the usual bout of activity on the sports and worth particular comment was the achievements of the Regimental Swimming Squad who, for the second year running, enjoyed a great deal of success. In the BA(G) Finals at Hohne the men won the Major Unit Swimming competition with notable performances by Sigs Ayres and Peart, they were also runners-up in the water polo final. In the ladies swimming competition strong performances by Lcpl Thornton and Sigs Gros and Parsons saw the team finish as runners-up. Both teams then returned to Aldershot for the Army Championships.

The competition in UK was particularly strong this year with the RMAS the dominant factor in both the male and female swimming competitions. Stirling performances from all the girls and, in particular LCpl Beveridge and Sig Parsons, saw them finish a creditable fourth of the eight teams competing. The men's water polo team made the final and was a close second to the strong SEAE Team from Bordon. The icing on the cake was the selection of Cpl Barr, LCpl Thornton and Sigs Peart and Parsons for the army squad. An excellent season and richly deserved for all the hard work and effort put in during training.

Other external successes have included a respectable showing at this year's Morrison Cup, semi-finalists in the BA(G) Rugby League Cup and in boxing, a recent win against the Support Battalion ARRC (see next edition for full story). On the domestic front, the Leicester Trophy Athletics produced some excellent results as did final event in the Leicester Trophy sports competition the obstacle course/ forced march. The honours for the overall Leicester Trophy Competition that runs over the year, went to SCPR Troop 252 Squadron.

The Regiment goes into suspended animation for several weeks(with the exception of course of 252 Sqn as they correctly point out in their WIRE notes) in August and re-charges its batteries for what will be a testing time to come. The bulk of 230 Squadron plus other elements disappear off to the Oman on Ex Saif Seria until November whilst the remainder channel their energies towards the ARRC exercises this coming September and of course the imminent move to Bruggen in early 2002.

HQ Squadron the Supporting element within the Regiment have been working hard and buzzing as the summer comes to an end, whether fixing vehicles in the LAD with Capt Reynolds and WO1 (ASM) 'Stu' Simpson leading, or bending back all the bust Communication kit in TM Troop under the guidance of WO1 (FofS) Lewendon, then we have the always Strapped QM's Department with Maj Scotty Handibode and Capt Paul Horton ably assisted by WO2 (RQMS(A)) Mark Giles and WO2 (RQMS(T)) Coleman, having to find and issue the new equipment when they can't be fixed. How do we get anywhere? The MT run by 'I live for rugby' WO2 (MTWO) 'The Mayor Of Leicester gave me my Warrant' Stewart, of course they are worked off their feet as Sgt Andy Hayler is in The Trg Wing. All these Support Elements have been working to max and I'm sure all the Field Squadrons appreciate them.

GOODBYES AND HELLO'S

Firstly we say a fond farewell to Maj Bob Taylor posted to QM's in 7 Sig Regt, thank you for all the work you did as OC Sqn, and bye to WO2 (RQMS(A)) Giles off to train some Cadets somewhere. Hello to WO2 (SSM) 'Angry' Mick Angrove posted in as Training Wing SSM, and hi to our new SSM soon to be WO2 (SSM) 'I love SCPR' Leigh Crossing, for a note our present SSM is going to be RQMS(A).

Farewells go out to LCpl Gav Denham who is going to be the brigadier's driver (slave) and congratulations on his promotion. Welcomes to Sigs Wood and Scott, we hope it isn't too much of an ordeal coming straight from Blandford.

EXERCISE WHITE JAVLIN – by Sig Irwin

Congratulations on a successful exercise that wasn't without its hiccups. However, every thing went well, and valuable training was gained in preparation for Ex Saif Sareea 2 when the Squadron will deploy to Oman. Special thanks will go out to Cpl 'Jump Out Of Any Moving Vehicle' Hall for not injuring himself and lasting the full exercise. It is hoped that it provided a small taste of what it is like to work in the heat ready for Oman, however not nearly as hot! I would like to add that Lt Knightly Brown would have loved to have been there, however she was torn away to do much needed training in the sun, no not military but that of the water variety and plenty of sunning.

LEICESTER TROPHY ATHLETICS

The Troop also did very well in this year's athletics, despite the lack of personnel in the Troop who was able to compete in the competition, so a big thank-you to all involved. Especially Sig 'Massive' Baron and his huge throw from the javelin of two meters, which was certainly enough to launch the troop in to sixth place in the competition. The heroic effort from LCpl Merrick, who gained three stone from the water jump to take him up to seven stone good effort. The speed merchants who came third in the 100m relay were Sigs Baron, Irwin, Doherty and also LCpl Willie Filson so congratulations to all those involved. Finally a big thank-you goes to Lord Bedford for yet another well organised Squadron function, which was highly successful and enjoyed by every one. Especially some of the women who experienced the mechanical bull for the first time in their lives, I'm sure it won't be their last.

EXERCISE COMBINED ENDEAVOUR

Exercise Combined Endeavour is a joint interoperability exercise run in the spirit of Partnership for Peace. 1 Sig Bde took representatives from 7 and 16 Sig Regts to enjoy the hospitality of the Americans. This was an opportunity for us to test our civilian switches, Promina and HiCom with other nations. The evenings were spent improving the Human Interoperability side of things with barbeques, trips down the Rhine and theme nights. Cpl Birkbeck was awarded the 'coin' for most valued member of the delegation. Other valuable members of the tea, included WO2 (F of S) 'American Liason' Edge, Sgt 'BBQ King' Spruce and Cpl 'Admin' Tait. The exercise was a success communications wise and also socially, definitely recommended to anyone who is available next year. The highlight could be running with the US marines at 0500….and beating them!

TRUNK NODE 016

Tp Comd Lt Sarah Pittaway
Tp SSgt SSgt Russ Shield

This has been a busy couple of months for the Troop as we have been involved all sorts of exciting things such as Regimental Battle Camp (Ex Green Gambit) the Morrison Cup athletics and a plethora of other inordinately pleasurable events. Since we have been able to deploy on exercise now that it has been confirmed that none of us have foot and mouth disease we have been out and about. Ex Green Gambit and Ex White Javelin were separated by only one week, which was just long enough our kit and vehicles turned around. Ex White Javelin saw us preparing for Ex SSII, as temperatures soared. Despite the heat, ticks and SSgt 'Boss Hog' Shield's rancid cigar smoke we managed to communicate and hold the Squadron's comms together. Congratulations go to SSgt and Mrs Shield for the birth of their third child. Welcome too to Sig Matthews who joins us from the factory at Blandford, we have sent him off to SCRA Troop to deploy on SSII. Looking forward we have a boxing night, assault course competition and families day before taking leave prior to our deployment to Oman in September. We will clearly continue to be busy which is how we like it!

TRUNK NODE 017 - by LCpl Kneale

Tp Comd 2Lt L. Clark
Tp SSgt SSgt A. Lewis

The past two months has seen a whole host of changes for the newly formed Trunk Node 017. Previously Support Tp, we were set the unenviable task of forming an effective Trunk Node in limited time with limited resources for Ex Saif Sareea II. Whether this has been achieved remains to be seen, but at the moment we are quietly confident (?). The first two weeks of June saw The Regiment deploying to Vogelsang for our Regimental battlecamp. After a couple of weeks in camp, we were back out again for Ex White Javelin to face a week in the blistering heat, trying to get comms. Not a great distance to travel, for the newly formed TN 017, in fact just a ten-minute drive to Ayrshire Barracks. For the next couple of days much to our delight and to that of the local takeaways courtesy of Sig 'Clutch' McCulloch we stayed put, while the rest of the trunk nodes moved locations. We knew it had to come eventually and on Thursday, with a slight detour around Germany we arrived at the disused Bracht Fire station, thanks to SSgt 'DAD' Lewis's excellent map reading skills. Quite what the holiday-makers in the adjoining campsite made of us we don't know but at least the roller bladers gave the guard something to look at. Finally, Endex arrived on the Friday and the Wall and Willow was opened for the Squadron's entertainment. Next stop the place that all of the 'Gingers' (Sig Harris, Cpl Callander) have been fearing, Oman. The list of hello's for Trunk Node 017 is quite lengthy due to most of the Troop coming from 255 Sqn. The only goodbye is for Sig Maskell who leaves on promotion to 7 Bde after a whopping three weeks with the Troop.

RADIO TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Brian Jeffery
Tp Sgt Sgt Dean Royle

Radio Tp has just been formed from members of 255 Sig Sqn, 16 Sig Regt and 231 Sig Sqn, 7 Sig Regt for the deployment to Ex Saif Sareea 2 in September under 230 Sig Sqn (+). The Troop will be supplying HF communications initially on the MSR for the move of assets for the exercise. During June the Troop began the first part of its training in the revision and practise of the use of Kipling, a two-day package took place was put together and taught by LCpl Jock Mee. The following week was a training week prior to Ex White Javelin, the first (and last) chance to work on exercise as a troop prior to deployment. The week included a PACEX around the JHQ area and testing of the equipment to FMS Bampton in the UK. The Troop also had the delights of trying to learn some basic Arabic from Sgt Rob Kirk, who also had the far more difficult task of trying to teach it. Fortunately Sig Lightly has just completed his Arabic course so at least there will be somebody in the Troop who can speak the language by the time we deploy! On Sunday 1 July the Troop deployed on Ex White Javelin; the exercise was based around the local area and kind permission was given to use real estate in Sennelager, Hohne and Herford. RADEX Troop provided assistance in testing our communications to an exercise that they were running in Cornwall. The exercise was a great chance to let the new troop prove that HF communications are far better than trunk! But it was tiring being the only troop to maintain communications all week. Problems did arise though when Sig Wilkie realised that the view of a couple in the woods behind his detachment was far more interesting than the exercise. Cpl Osmond and Sig Jamie Buyers decided to test the LAD when a trailer tyre blew up on the route 61, making their trip to Hohne last even longer. All in all the exercise was a good chance to practise the skills and drills of the Troop and respective detachments - Next stop Oman.

EXERCISE GREEN GAMBIT 2001 - by Cpl Ruckledge

Ex Green Gambit this year was at the Vogelsang training camp on the Belgian border and was a run through of the defence of a comms site. 252 Sqn were tasked with playing the role of bad guys (enemy), and were commanded by 2Lt 'Baby Face' Swift and the infantry hero SSM Baird.

The first two days were taken up with revision of basic infantry skills, which included occupying a harbour area, observation positions and patrolling. The next four days were used to put the skills into practice by disrupting the friendly forces in their task of setting up and maintaining a communications site. Even though confronted by a vastly numerically superior force the 'bad guys' caused significant disruption to the 'good guys' and successfully evaded capture (with a few notable exceptions) until the final day, when in a brilliant tactical move the CO ordered them to surrender. Then followed the usual humiliation handed out to captured personnel. The tactics of sandbags and zip ties, along with mental abuse handed out during the interrogation procedure (ever heard of the Geneva convention?) proved unsuccessful, as even Sgt Nick Campbell remained closed mouthed and the 'good guys' gained no useful information through their 'torture tactics'.

Who needs MILAN?
A member of one of the Sections on the tank killing range with his trusty cocktail

The exercise was rounded up with a chance to shoot things, set fire to things and blow things up, where they took part in a GPMG range and even got run over by a tank, this was an enjoyable way of rounding up a successful exercise. The evening of the last day was enjoyed by all as many senior ranks were made fun of in performances carried out by the four troops. These included a 'Blind Date' sketch and a 'Jim'll Fix It' sketch where the RSM was presented with a Jim'll Fix It' badge, which was well received as he was rejected three times as a child (by Jimmy Saville that is). Some of the baddest members of the enemy included Sig Dave 'I'm injured' Dean, Sig Sarah 'God I'm indispensable' Howie, LCpl Al 'Unflappable' Berry, LCpl Wayne 'No Pain' Addison and Sig Danni 'Having A Blonde Day' Foster. As a footnote it should be noted that the most notable attack from the 'bad guys' was a suicidal attack on a FIBUA village where a number of casualties were sustained, mainly due to the 'inspired' leadership of 2Lt 'Friendly Fire' Swift. A tip for the future, remember where those persons giving covering fire are located, it is useful in any given combat situation.

255 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Capt Kevin Barker
SSM WO2 (SSM) Al Ironside

The Squadron has bid a hearty and sad goodbye to the OC, Maj Tony Burgin, who leaves us to travel 'up the road' to join G6 UKSC(G) having handed over to the new OC, Capt Kevin Barker. All of us at 255 wish Maj Burgin, Cathy, Gemma and Daniel all the very best for the future. As you have now left I am sure you will be glad to know that the Yeoman has now ceased to be censored however you can be reassured that no mention of 'Winnie the Pooh' or 'Anton'will be made (oops). On behalf of all the members of 255 Sqn we would like to wish you the very best for the future for both you and the Burgin clan and to thank you for steering the Squadron so well. Also moving is WO2 (FofS) Matt 'My Diagrams g In The Tait' Duff. Again a big thank you and goodbye to Matt, Emma and Sam who are escaping to Cheltenham. Moving across to take his place is SSgt (FofS) Campbell who has transferred over from SCP(R). Thank you to Matt for all you've done for the Sqn and for your influence in the sale of Visio and other assorted software packages. The Foreman has been an invaluable asset to ARRC MAIN deployments not least because he often doubles up as the Tropo det on account of his ears. Also departing SHQ is SSgt Rocky Hudson who has swapped with SSgt Jayne Lawrence from 252 Sig Sqn (hello). Again, a big goodbye to Rocky and thanks for all your support over the last four years. The Squadron has gone through some other big changes with our numbers swelling considerably as everyone rushes to be 255 Sig Sqn! We have now taken on all CIS responsibilities for all ARRC sites on deployment as CIS Tp transfers from 252 Sig Sqn. Hot-footing it behind them came Bruggen Tp (formerly H Tp) as they also became part of the ever-increasing gang which now stands at a little short of 200 members. For all the new faces a big welcome to 255 Sig Sqn. The Squadron can face a bright and interesting future which see us not only growing but taking on a greater number and more varied roles.

MAN TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Brian Jeffery
Tp SSgt SSgt Fred Fensom

Hello to LCpl Phillips joining the Troop from 7 Sig Regt and Sig Green straight from the factory, a sad farewell goes to Cpl Kev Parkes as he leaves to re-badge to the AGC. Kev will be sadly missed within the Troop and we all wish Kev, Vicky and family all the best for the future. Congratulations to Sig Douglas on his recent marriage to Louise, they are now awaiting the birth a child later this year. Congratulations also go to Sig Ashley Beardsley on getting married and to 2Lt Brian Jeffery on his recent engagement. It is an end to an era for MAN Tp as we have now passed the commitment for ARRC main back to 7 Sig Regt, to enjoy the role of Rear Support Command (RSC) instead. The last few weeks have been involved in the build up to Ex Saif Sareea in the Oman that many members of the Troop will be deployed on. In the sporting side Sig Julie Steele has recently just returned from boxing in Herford. After a very close match Julie just lost to her opponent but our praise goes out to her for putting in a top effort with the assistance of her coaches WO2 (QMSI) 'Sideshow Bob' Price, Sgt Rob Kirk and Cpl 'Goerdie' Appleby. Although the thought of exercise isn't always the most appealing a few members of MAN troop are resorting to some desperate measures. In the duration of one week LCpl Steve Carroll broke his ankle and underwent major surgery, LCpl Evo Boothby broke his arm and Sig Jamie Buyers has also been under the knife after breaking his hand. The sad fact is LCpl Carroll and Sig Buyers were playing football for the recently founded Stella 'well-hard' football team. This has now been re-named the shandy 'Well-soft' football team.

BRUGGEN TROOP

Tp OC Lt Lee Rickman (New boy in the chair)
Tp SSgt SSgt Gaz Tinsley (Old man of the Troop)

LIFE AT BRUGGEN

Well for the third time in two years H Troop or Bruggen Troops as we are now known have been transferred, in a deal worth millions the Crazy Gang are now on the books of 255 Sig Sqn. We are starting to feel like the 'Stan Colymores' of the Regt. Hopefully this will be our last port of call prior to the Troop demise in March 2003. In addition to our normal work at RAF Bruggen the Troop is also in line for some small tasks in the more exotic countries such as Oman, Sierra Leone, Turkey, Norway and Ascension. There is always the call for more Mechs in the Balkans this is met by the intrepid crews that flit back and forth under the watchful eye of SSgt Bing Crosby.

HELLO'S

Lt Rickman, Sig Smart, Sig Ferris, Sig Hanlon, Sig Hansen and Wife

GOODBYES

Capt Stonier (OC leaving for 2 Sig Regt, York - Best wishes from the lads and lasses for the future.
Cpl Lewis (Back to the LAD), Cpl Shaw (North bound to Herford), Sig Grebby (Now a Mister).

CIS TROOP

THE METAMORPHISIS OF CIS TROOP

It has been a busy time for the Troop. No sooner than we had transferred to 255 Sig Sqn were also joined by assorted members of 7 Sig Regt. A big welcome to all those who have made the move. With this amalgamation came the added responsibility of building and manning another headquarters and the Tp is now responsible for undertaking all deployable IS tasks for HQ 1 Sig Bde. It was therefore with some sadness (and with little ceremony) that the former Borneo (CIS) Tp was split into two parts with the IS element transferring into 255 Sig Sqn on 30 Apr as CIS Tp, whilst Commcen BFG and ADA Rheindahlen retain their slippers, reformed under control of SHQ 252 Sig Sqn. There is always the danger that a Troop that is made up of unrelated elements including Commcen, Crypto and IS will become fragmented, however Borneo Tp has maintained a cohesion and unity that has done it proud. There will be a function shortly to mark the occasion.

SAN TROOP

Tp Comd Capt 'Admin Is A Place In China ' Lyons
Tp Sgt Sgt 'Through A Straw' Green

The Troop has been busy with the usual det maintainance, but just to keep us happy our new arrival from 1 ADSR Sig Andy Duncan (welcome to the Squadron) put on a fine display of emergency stiching for the RSM's parade. We must say goodbye to Sig 'Mad' Chris Stewart who has gone to civ div and also LCpl 'Biff' Fisher who has gone to be trained in the dark side of the force at 11 Sig Regt and is retrading to tech.

EXERCISE BAVARIAN BACKSTOP

Ex Bavarian Backstop was a 255 Sig Sqn adventure training exercise held (surprisingly) in Bavaria. The Exercise allowed 40 members of the Squadron to take part in either trekking, rock climbing or kayaking, with all those who went trekking coming away with their Summer Mountain Proficiency qualification. The area around Kranzegg provided us with some excellent walks, although not everyone agreed that the views from the top of the mountains compensated for the effort put in to get there! LCpl 'Fred' West didn't understand why we couldn't go up in the cable car and then walk down! 2Lt Brian Jeffery certainly found his 1-Day visit to the ex very tiring and took every opportunity to stop for a breather! The kayakers enjoyed the calm of the Alpsee before progressing onto moving water, including the weir and rapids at Marienbrucke. LCpl 'Mac' MacDonald particularly enjoyed his experience of the rapids as he emerged from the water (after much pulling on the safety line by Sig Michelle Jelfs!) minus his kayak and paddle! The nearby towns provided excellent venues for sampling the local beer and the Karting Bahn at Fischen gave the budding formula one drivers a chance to shine! The fastest lap of the evening went to WO2 (FofS) Matt Duff, although the competition was tough! The greatest achievement of the evening was not getting thrown off the premises as numerous karts attempted to destroy the circuit and each other! Overall the ex was a great success and a lot of fun was had by all, with the added bonus of some of the soldiers gaining qualifications as a result of the hard work they put in and their enthusiasm.

252 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj G. Pickersgill
SSM WO2 (SSM) Hannah

The Squadron has changed significantly over the last three months, losing all its deployable assets amounting to around half the Squadrons previous size. These have been shifted in their entirety over to 255 Sig Sqn which should give them something to do for a change. The Squadron now has 150 personnel, which should give the OC even more time to improve his golf handicap. We are still without a shadow of a doubt the hardest working Squadron in the Regiment – 24hr manning in the COMMCENS and SCP(R), as an example whilst the field Squadrons disappear on block leave! That said we have still managed to release people on a regular basis to go away for sport, adventurous training activities and even more 'fun' military training. For a squadron, which is so far flung, these activities are a vital part of our lives, which keep the spirits high and the will to win at the front of our minds. This ethos cannot be better demonstrated by SCP(R), winners, for the third year, of the Leicester Trophy. SCP(R) once again showed a determination and pride in the face of public opinion, 'They are only shift workers', to take a highly deserved victory by 16 points. Congratulations to all in the Troop and especially to SSgt Leigh Crossing who leaves us as a Leicester Trophy Champion on promotion to become SSM HQ Coy

SAILING AROUND DENMARK

After a six-hour journey from JHQ to Kiel, the crew moved into temporary accommodation for the night before the boat was taken over the following morning. Whilst Capt Bates was taking over the boat , we were given the task of buying the fresh rations required for the first part of the journey. This and the loading of all our kit took some time, so we did not really get settled in the boat until about 11 o'clock. We were then shown various parts of the vessel including the odd names given to parts of the sails, ropes, navigation equipment etc. After a safety brief and lunch we departed Kiel at around 1300hrs towards our destination, Eckenforde, just up the road from Kiel. A good deal of time was spent getting used to the basics, including steering, changing sails, tacking and gibing, and the rules involved in sailing. During the journey the winds picked up significantly which caused a few worried faces. Oh dear, so this is what sailing is all about. With winds gusting up to 40 knots and heavy seas rolling the boat from the outset, we had to rig the storm jib and did not even raise the main sail because of the arriving storm. As the wind was behind us, the boat rolled with the high waves in a way that made everybody instantly feel ill. This was the sign of things to come, and the main sail was reefed in so we could control the boat a little better. We eventually arrived at Eckenforde at 1700hrs and spent some time preparing the boat whilst mother-watch prepared sumptuous spaghetti bolognaise. The second day's destination, Marstal in Denmark, was some 30 miles away so we were trying to prepare ourselves for a long journey. Unfortunately it was not long before Leon 'Chunks' Crayton was sick, and this made the rest of us feel even worse. It was all we could do to stop ourselves being ill, so we were kept busy by trying to control and maintain the boat in the rough seas. Eventually, we arrived at Marstal at 1900hrs and began to get the colour back in our faces.

Initially, our next destination was to be Faaborg to the North West of Marstal on the mainland. After negotiating some very slender deep-water routes we came out into open water and were able to raise both the mainsail and foresail as the weather was calmer than the previous day. However, the wind had shifted considerable and we found ourselves heading straight into wind and therefore had to keep tacking to head for Faaborg. After some hours of this, Capt Bates realised that it would be unrealistic to achieve Faaborg that day, so we altered course for Svenborg to the Northeast. Sailing with the wind made the yacht travel quickly, achieving speeds of up to 8 knots. We arrived at Svenborg at 1800hrs and immediately began preparing the curry that was eventually gobbled up by the hungry crew. Svenborg proved to be a beautiful town with many friendly people. As some of the crew were avid fisherman they wanted to try out their fishing skills in the harbour, and were given a few hours to try and catch dinner. It was to our surprise that they returned with four good sized fish that made their way to the diner table later that evening. Capt Bates took the crew out for the remainder of the day teaching safety drills like man-overboard and dropping anchor. As the weather was fairly calm we set full sail and practised tacking and gibing, as well as some of the crew being raised in the bosun's chair over the side of the boat. We returned to Svenborg later that evening and cooked our fish (and also plenty of pizza).

We set off from Svenborg at around 1030hrs the next day, towards Rudkobing, a small fishing town to the South East of Svenborg. As much of the sea around Rudkobing is very shallow, we had to pilot the boat through narrow deep-water channels in order to approach the town. A fine day weather wise meant that we all finished the day with red sea-dog faces. I was given the chance to go up the mast in the boson's chair in order to take crew photo. It proved to be higher up than I expected. Saturday night in Rudkobing was an interesting affair. Of the three bars in the town, everybody seemed to congregate in the one place, and we ended up playing an impromptu pool tournament.

We began the last and longest leg of the journey back towards Kiel. Unfortunately the wind was directly against us that meant we either had to tack all the way back or motor for much of the way and hope that the wind swung around a little in order to get some power out of the sails. Capt Bates was a little worried about the time factor and decided to motor much of the way. The weather was more forgiving than the outbound journey but we weren't willing to take any risks this time and the whole crew kept popping sea sickness tablets just in case. We were able to make some sail power for part of the journey, and returned to Kiel at around 1930 hrs, just when another four boats from other courses were returning. Capt Bates looked a little flustered as everyone was watching him try to reverse the boat into the narrow berthing space. Once the boat was tidied up ready for handover the next day we all went out and had a meal. All in all, the expedition was great fun, and everyone gained something from it. Although the seasickness experience will stick in everyone's mind, we enjoyed six day's sailing around the waters of Denmark and discovered that the Danish people were very friendly and welcoming to a boat full of British squaddies.

EXERCISE TEAM EDIFICE

Ex Team Edifice was a Royal Signals System Support Team (Germany) adventurous training exercise that took place in Mayhofen, Austria over the period 14-21 April 2001 and was based on alpine skiing. Sgt 'Cozzy' Costello organised the event, his initial brief to all the participants was that all they needed was a passport and some 'non-ribbed' socks. The team invited Capt (Tfc) 'Rollover' Roden, Capt (TOT) 'Sleepy' Steven and WO2 (SSM) 'Port Monkey' Hannah. Day one was a 0600hrs meet in camp. We then gleefully set off to Austria, via Sgt 'Cozzy' Costellos' house so that he could collect his forgotten passport and ribbed socks (first fine of the week). On arriving at Mayrhofen, the group was met by the sight of over two metres of snow, on the Penken mountain. An absolute blessing especially in the last week of the ski season. The warm up on the slopes in the first morning ensured all the skiing participants had regained their 'ski legs', while Sgt 'Demon' Dix discovered that snowplough turns are rarely carved, they are more usually ploughed. After lunch Sgt 'Al' Costello, set Sgt 'Dixie' Dix to work, ploughing the green 'nursery' slope while he led the skiers to the infamous red number 7 ski-route. This route was to earn the name 'manic molly's mighty mogul mountain' as the skiers quickly learned that horrible cruddy wet snow on this, off- piste route, defied all attempts to ski parallel. Confidence shattered we rejoined 'Dixie' on the Nursery slope.

Wednesday saw the team on Snow Blades, these extremely small skis seem very awkward initially but can be mastered within 20 minutes. For the whole day the team, irrespective of skiing standard, skied together and completed all the slopes. Blades are great fun and everyone should try them. You can even chill out on the slopes with the snowboarders! The exercise participants rapidly discovered that SSgt Steve Holloway likes to tell everyone 'I'm not being funny, right' before his next sentence. However, his comical postures on the slopes and antics during the Après-Ski events, severely disproved this figure of speech. Thus SSgt 'Charlie Chester' Holloway made an outstanding contribution to the week by being nominated, every evening, for dick of the day! WO2 (FofS) 'Sooty' Edge made a notable contribution by ensuring we could always see the other group (day and night) due to his yellow banana skin ski suit.

Day Three saw the Team trying some jumps. WO1 (FofS) 'My Wrist Hurts' Briers set the standard by attempting a jump and landing on his head yards away from his skis. After this the group decided to remodel the jumps, to great effect. WO1 (FofS) Briers, WO2 (SSM) 'Port Monkey' Hannah and SSgt 'Norman' Carter started a 'buzz the snowboarder' competition, which proved very challenging. FofS Briers being the winner with a total of eight! The Team was sorry to lose Capt (Tfc) 'Rollover' Roden when he decided to ditch his skis and dive off the black slope breaking his collarbone. The fact that Capt Roden was extracted by piste machine caused an element of jealousy as SSgt 'Charlie Chester' Holloway had wanted a ride on it, all week. The week proved a great success with all participants showing considerable improvements in their skiing. Sgt 'Demon' Dix was a complete novice on day one and by day 6 was skiing well - winning the face planting competition. The Snow conditions were excellent and Mayhofen is recommended to all.

SINGAPORE BACKSTOP – by Sig Mel Gros

Bavaria 'the hills of death' is where we started, a lone band of adventures set on a journey of discovery. Led by the enigmatic SSM 'Rick' Hannah and the amateur bodybuilder SSgt 'Leigh' Crossing, also known as 'Foggy'. The party was made up of two sections. In the first section, led by SSgt Crossing was, Sgt'Steve'Colbeck who has a similar resemblance to Mr Burns of the Simpsons, Cpl Gav 'Random' Ruckledge, Cpl Dan 'Mad Welsh Man' Peake, Cpl 'V' Gough, Sig 'Geri' Halliwell and myself. The second section was led by SSM Hannah, this included Cpl 'Adam' Dixon, Cpl Mick 'Leather Head' Durrant, Sig 'BM' Dean, Sig 'Jay' Jennings and Sig 'Eminem' McKella.

We arrived at the Drei Muhlen Lodge in Wertach at approximately 15:15 after an 8-hour long drive, it was like a ghost town, the accommodation was excellent but we had to run round the showers to get wet! The first three days consisted of hill walking, (why walk up a mountain when you just come back down the other side). The hills were steep and the mosquitoes were mad for our blood but we didn't give up. And kept a smile on our faces for the duration. We all took turns map reading, how could we ever forget to orientate our maps to the ground? SSgt Crossing kept reminding us! But even he got confused with a bit of map theory, he went fifty-fifty and got the wrong answer all he had to say was 'listen to me I am a map reading instructor I should know'. Throughout our stay there were a lot of memorable moments such as the raging rapids that everyone hated as we capsized, everyone was gasping for air, as it was so cold.

The one thing we will all remember is, 'the slide of pain'. We set off on a two-day hill walk, and stopped at a nearby car park for a break near a Toboggan ride, which a number of us decided to have a go at. Sgt Collbeck, Cpl Durrant and Cpl Peake, went up the slide first closely followed by Sig Halliwell and myself who got in a Toboggan together. We knew we would pick up speed so we allowed a distance to open up before we set off. As we descended we approached a blind corner, where unknown to us a build up had occurred due to slower people on the course. Among this build up were Sgt Colbeck and Cpl Peake. We came around the corner and went straight into the back of Cpl Peake's Toboggan, who's toboggan then went up Sgt Colbeck's back leaving him with a nasty case of friction burns all up his rear (ouch!) This is going to hurt he thought, he wasn't wrong. But these weren't the only people up to no good, Cpl Ruckledge bought a hat and walking stick (of pain) he called them, after purchasing them later that day went back, and exchanged his hat for a dry one as his feather got wet. This exercise was very much enjoyable and we took away from it what we put into it, even though we had a few near death experiences. At the end of the day everyone learned a great deal and received their mountain proficiency certificate. To this end we owe a lot of thanks to the organiser SSgt Crossing, and to SSM Hannah. Without these the exercise would not have been possible.

21 SIGNAL REGIMENT (AIR SUPPORT)

CO Lt Col I. Hooper
RSM WO1 (RSM) D. Rook

Over the last few months RHQ has virtually had a complete changeover of its team. In particular a welcome to the new CO, Lt Col Hooper and WO1 (RSM) Rook and farewell to Lt Col Gillespie and WO1 Jenkins. On the Regimental Admin Office front new arrivals Capt Barker RAO, Sgt Stainton, Sgt Lancaster and LCpl Cross. Farewells go to Capt Godden, Sgt Fuller and Cpl Bailey on his promotion to Sergeant.

A SAD FARWELL TO THE CO AND RSM

On Friday 13 July 2001 it was time to bid farewell to the CO, Lt Col Gillespie and WO1 (RSM) Jenkins from the Regiment. The send off was in the form of a TAB as opposed to a formal parade. The Regiment set off at the double complete with rucksacks, arriving after a short arduous distance to where a table had been laid out with a few bottles of champagne. The CO joined by the most junior in each rank made a toast to the Regiment and from this point we set off again back into the run. After completing a further two circuits of the 4x4 driver training area the welcome sound of a Chinook was heard over head. This was the next phase of the send off. The Regiment lined the Tarmac and waved goodbye to the CO and RSM as the Chinook took to the sky with the CO and RSM both sat hanging on for grim death on the tailgate. On return the CO and RSM both remarked that that was the Heli ride of their lives At this stage they thought it was all over, but what they didn't know was that the Regiment had now formed up again and were waiting for them both to drive past in a go-kart and helicopter that had been made by our REME boys. The RSM sat in the go-kart with the CO at the controls of the Helicopter. They set off with the RSM towing the CO along the road, both of them looking a little bewildered in the direction of the Officers' Mess followed by a huge cheer from the Regiment. The CO and RSM will both be sadly missed by all in the Regiment. Lt Col Gillespie will shortly be leaving the Army and during his spare time he is intending to try his hand a landscape gardening. We wish him and his wife Fiona and baby Cameron the very best for the future. The Regiment would also like to wish the same for WO1 Jenkins and his wife Annette, when they move to Northern Ireland and 15 Sig Regt where the now Capt Jenkins takes up his new post as RCMO.

RECRUITING EFFORT
COLERNE ACTIVITES WEEK AND BOVINGTON FAIR

During the week 3-7 July 2001 the Regiment hosted and assisted with the Colerne activities week. This is a week dedicated to the recruitment of potential soldiers. The week saw approximately 350 school children each day visiting stands from a variety of Corps and Regiments. The Corps was well represented by members of the RSMPT boosted by members from A Tp 244 Sig Sqn, 14 Sig Regt (EW) and 3 ADSR. The activity week finished with an excellent Regimental Open Day. The following week saw our recruiting efforts pushed even further when we sent a team of ten to the Bovington Army Careers Fair for a week. Under the guidance of Lt Clements, 244 Sig Sqn, the team ran a number of stands for up to 350 school children each day. This proved a great success with a number of School children showing a particular interest in the possibility of joining Royal Signals. Both weeks culminated in a total of 700 man-hours towards the recruiting effort.

220 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Jim Forrest
SSM WO2 (SSM) Nige Roberts

The Squadron has been as busy as ever with commitments, including the MAPPS trials and deploying on Ex Saif Sereea. Numerous extra activities have taken place in the last couple of months for the Squadron, including: recruiting for the Corps, on show at the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst, sailing in the Solent, a battlefield tour to Crete, running stands at the Open Day, and representing the Regiment in athletics and swimming. The Squadron has seen lots of faces come and go recently, especially amongst the hierarchy. Capt John 'Get in your box!' Fraser has completed his sentence as Sqn 2IC moving on to the Joint Command Staff Course at Schrivenham. The boss himself, Maj Jim Forrest, is also off having been posted as Chief of Staff at JSU Corsham. To take control we welcome Maj Mannings as OC and Capt Waddell as the new Sqn 2IC. Unfortunately as so many people have been leaving, the Squadron has been forced to hold quite a few leaving drinks – never mind!

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Jez Wadia
Tp SSgt SSgt Mark Gilbert

First of all, a huge 'Big Up' to Sgt Lee Francis on his recent promotion. A big, big, welcome to the new characters in the Troop: LCpl 'Swanny' Swan, LCpl Matt 'I like driving over bikes' Burton, LCpl Carl 'Benny' Bennett, LCpl Nikki 'Alright La' Donnelly, Sig Chris 'Rude Boy' Fielding, Cpl John 'Strange' McCone, Sig Danny Parker, Sig Dan Jones, Sig Gemma Coel and Sig Adam Ryan. A fond farewell to LCpl Steve 'The Chin' Smith, who is giving into the dark side and rejoining the civilian community. Another farewell to Sgt Adi Watts who left the Troop on promotion to Staff Sergeant to start his YofS course at Blandford. Delta Tp has been exceptionally busy over the last couple of months, but we managed to sort out at least one Troop Day Out. Off the Troop went for a bimble along the Bradford-upon-Avon canal. Coincidentally the walk ended up at a pub, as usual, with certain members of the Troop cooling off in the river, allegedly. The 'dunk tank' stand run by Delta Tp, as part of the Regimental Open Day was a great success. Willing volunteers (?), including the CO, RSM, Adjt, Provost Sergeant and all the Troop HQs to name a few, spent roughly half an hour each getting wet for a good cause. Thank you to all of those who were dunked, for taking part and being good sports!

GOLF TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Catherine Jardine
Tp SSgt SSgt Wayne Hayes

The Troop bids a fond farewell to Cpl Paul Howe on posting and Cpl 'Denz' James as he leaves the army for pastures new in 'civvie street' (Who's gonna sort out troop admin now?). Additionally a temporary farewell to Sgt 'Daz' Kidd as he joins our detachment on Op Agricola. The Troop warmly welcomes Cpl 'Hector' Heathcoate and Sig 'Paul' White. Congratulations go to LCpl 'Stu' Tucker on his recent promotion to Corporal. The Troop has been involved in several activities including Ex Eagle (why don't the RAF wear cam cream?) Lift, a Joint Helicopter Command Exercise located at Keevil airfield and South Cerney, and continued pre-deployment training for Ex Saif Sareea for a total of one third of the troop. So overall a fairly busy time! The Regimental open day saw Golf and Charlie troops join forces to build and run a tented .22 air rifle range. To say it was popular is an understatement. After deducting out initial outlay (including hiring 20 hay bales from a local farmer) the stand made a healthy profit of £79 to go to a selection of charities.

SUPPORT TROOP - by Cpl Thisby
Tp Comd Capt John Fraser
Tp SSgt SSgt Steve Pattenden

This has been a very hectic period for Support Tp with Ex Saif Sereea looming and 16 Air Asslt Bde's Exercises Eagles Strike and Eagles Lift. Due to all the latter, there has been chaos in the Ops room, and the spillage of many brews in the Tech workshops. However, the Troop has managed at least one day out of the hangar, deploying to the hills for a day. Yeoman Bentley led from the front, dragging the Troop around a 14-mile circuit and a couple of well needed refreshment stops on the way. After the Squadron football competition we have discovered that we own some of the stars, namely the top header SSgt Pattenden, SSgt Sala who uses pure brute force and LCpl 'Budgie' Burgess a master of skill and speed. The MT is still going strong, so strong they can never make any of the PT sessions. They also have a new addition into their clan, Sig 'Maestro' Shirley – nice name! The MT is at present being led by Cpl 'Grandad' Clement and Cpl 'Bruce' Lee, standing in for Sgt 'Mackum' Jobson away on the Royal Signals Sergeants course. Farewell to the SQMS, SSgt 'Bruiser' Sala, who is off back to the fatherland to 280(v) Sig Sqn and good luck to SSgt 'Monkey' Ezard who takes over the SQMS post. We also welcome Yeoman Parr, formerly known as 'Gripper', and the operators will find out why later. Settling in to the Troop well are LCpl Helen 'Hatchback' Coupe, now in charge of the Radio section of the tech workshops, and also the Tech brew boy Cpl Jim Thisby – aka Iraqi tank Commander. Looking ahead life is only going to get busier for Support Tp!

The Squadron is now preparing for its deployment to Oman on Ex Saif Sareea in early September. With Alpha Tp deploying to Turkey over the same period and our continued presence in Kosovo, the Squadron will indeed be spread to the high winds. The summer has also seen our participation in various recruiting fairs, with the Troops showing themselves off at the Colerne and Bovington Activities Weeks as well as at our Regimental Open Day. The Squadron would like to bid a big farewell to Capt Andy Arthurton who leaves the Regiment to enjoy JCSC and welcomes Capt Andy Hill from 7 Armd Bde as our new 2IC. The Squadron also welcomes 2Lt Zoe White who will take command of the newly formed Hotel Tp later this year.

ALPHA TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Pete Brunton
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Render

Goodbye to Capt 'Wild Bill' Holbrook who is off to 30 Sig Regt and also farewell to Cpl 'Stu' Hunt who leaves us for Civ Div: good luck to you and your family. Welcome to Sig 'Mark' Hankey, Sig 'Abs' Absolom and Sig Scott who've all arrived from Blandford and to the new boss Capt Pete Brunton who joins us from 1 Mech Bde. The Foot and Mouth epidemic caused a gap in our exercise programme that we filled with training, courses and personal development. This included a day of paint-balling organised by Sig 'Sid'Reynolds resulting in more than a few bruises amongst the Troop.

LANCE CORPORAL VALLANCE IN CANADA

When asked if I would like to go to Canada for two weeks I jumped at the chance. A week later I found myself attached to 624 TACP (FAC) to provide Forward Air Control support and target acquisition for 2 Sqn RAF. The team consisted of Maj Nick Sparks, LCpl Andy 'I collect helmets' Fairington, LCpl Paul Sirett and myself. After a flight from Brize Norton we eventually arrived in Goose Bay, Labrador, where we immediately unpacked and recce'd our location. The next day we got a ride in a helicopter out to the training area and dropped off with sufficient food and liquid refreshment to last the week in a cabin in the middle of nowhere. Later that day we set out to climb the adjacent hill to set up the Laser/Range Finder (LTM). The Tornadoes came in fast and furious and nearly always hit their targets of dummy tanks and command bunkers on a mock airstrip, dropping 1000lb concrete bombs. The second week was practically the same as the first, but this time 2 Sqn were dropping laser guided bombs over our heads, which miraculously flew over us and on to the target. Despite the horrendous mosquitoes and horse flies that ate us alive, I learnt a great deal and would gladly go back tomorrow.

LANCE CORPORAL MURPHY IN AUSTRALIA

Having being selected to play in the Corps Basketball Tour to Australia I started my 23-hour flight to Melbourne, followed by an hours drive to our camp at Pukkapanyol. Expecting an early night after such an epic journey we instead had a night out with the Rugby Club! Following a week's worth of training in the gym with our slave driver of a coach, WO1 FofS 'Kev' Moir, our first game was disappointing, receiving the thrashing of our lives from the local school team. We gradually improved until both male and female teams were able to give a good showing in the Victoria State Competition at the end of the tour. I spent the weekend off in Melbourne and decided that I couldn't come all the way to Australia and not see the home of my favourite soap opera. We promptly found the one and only Ramsey Street complete with the cast of Neighbours – I even managed to get my picture taken in the Robinson Family kitchen!

BRAVO TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Neil Clements
Tp SSgt SSgt Andy Gill

The Troop has recently been enhanced by the addition of Cpl Dave Halbert, LCpl Tracy Walker and Sigs Gareth Elsby and Phil Butler. Our thanks also go to those who have departed recently, Cpl 'Speedy' Speed, who on promotion to Sergeant managed to get posted all the way to the hanger next door. Also Sig Ben 'Scotty' Scott, who is leaving us to go to 30 Sig Regt, and Sig Tammy Yates who leaves us for civvy street. Special mention must go to Cpl Mark 'Smudge' Smith who managed to convince the RAF that he was Officer material and now goes to RAF Cranwell where they will teach him how to use a knife and fork properly. Finally, after a gruelling course at RAF Benson Cpl Dave Halbert became a Landing Point Commander and Sigs 'Oxo' Oxley and Mickey Young qualified as Rigger Marshallers. With this much activity it was surprising that we managed time for anything else but some of the troops managed to get away sailing in the Solent for a few days.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
21 SIGNAL REGIMENT (AS) OPEN DAY - 7 JULY 2001
Report by WO2 (SSM) Chapman
Chairman Maj T. A. Dean
Event 2IC Capt A. Masson
Events/Catering WO2 (RCWO) M. B. Jessel
Event Site WO2 (SSM) A. A. Chapman

The Regimental Open Day for 2001 was planned for 7 July and after the first major co-ordinating conference at the beginning of the year, the preparations began in earnest. As usual HQ Sqn took the brunt of the organising, but we were quite happy as it made a change from counting blankets and loading rations. Many of the faces from the previous year had changed so it was down to the new team to start from scratch and make it the best open day so far. Most of the major military acts were already booked, but after Foot and Mouth cancellations, some funny hand shakes and a little nudge nudge, wink wink from WO2 'M' Jessel and Capt Masson, the line up for the main arena started to take shape. This was to comprise of the Red Arrows, the RAF Falcons Parachute Display Team, the Band of the Hussars and Light Dragoons and the Royal Signals White Helmets. Not a bad line up for a Regimental Open Day. The week before the event, the Regiment was also hosting the Services Activities Week, with stands and displays from most of the different arms of the forces. The week comprised of visits from youth groups throughout the UK, allowing kids to get an insight into the British Army.

The preparation did not go that smoothly, as the tents that had been requested went off on exercise to Oman. However, with the reassuring words 'It's sorted,' from SSgt 'Scouse, Ducking and Diving' Deegan the tents started to appear. A new light also shone in the Regiment as SSgt 'Spence' Ord showed off skills in advertising normally only seen before in Fleet Street. The planning conferences came and went, the ulcers grew and grew but the week finally arrived, as did the Activities Displays. On the Monday confusion reigned, as displays and the Regiment attempted to find out what was going on, waiting until eventually the external organisers finally turned up and pointed us all in the right direction. The build of the site went amazingly well with the weather hot and sunny all week. However, on Friday the first Monsoon arrived. The weather started to clear late in the afternoon in time for the Chinook to arrive at low level, which blew all the neatly stacked bales of hay from one of the displays, all over the site and clear over the top of one of the hangers. Its arrival as one of the main displays did bring a smile to our faces since the Red Arrows were fog bound in Ireland, and the RAF Falcons were stuck in Belgium. Then the White Helmets arrived, 'Hurraaah!'

7 July arrived and what a glorious morning it was. The organisers were on site at 0430hrs as some of the fair rides were late in arriving. By 0700hrs the ground and tents were nice and dry as were the stall holders from around Wiltshire, who were arriving to set up get ready for the opening at 1000hrs. The call went out on the radio to open the gates at ten and the long awaited Open Day began. The first good news of the day arrived with the Red Arrows and RAF Falcons confirming that they could now make the event and then the White Helmets giving the thumbs up to the ground conditions. Things were looking up! By 1230hrs, when the Band of the Hussars and Light Dragoons took to the arena, the crowds were getting bigger and the ticket vendors at both entrances were working flat out. The best sign of success was WO2 'Dusty' Miller and WO2 'Glen' Hollas, both in charge of the finance, rubbing their hands; always a good sign of raising lots of money.

LCpl Smith and Sig Elsby
I know that Sgt Maj Chapman said to wear waterproofs
but this is ridiculous

The White Helmets rode on at 1400hrs just as a light shower hit the show. The team captain said it was planned by the organisers to see a few spills but our hopes were dashed, not one. The long awaited Red Arrows flew in at 1515hrs and due to increasing low cloud performed one of the lowest and most breath taking display anyone had ever seen before. We were concerned that the ferris wheel with the fun fair would get in their way but not a chance. As the Red Arrows display finished the biggest, darkest cloud ever to be seen at Colerne arrived and so did Monsoon number two, with thunder and lightning to match. Everyone ran for cover, some to their cars, most into the tents, but the kids thought it would be fun to slide down the roads, in the rivers of water that were flooding the site. The organisers ran out to check the stall-holders, who were quite happy chatting to those who had taken shelter in their tents. Needless to say the beer tent was full (mainly by the Regiment). The storm eased off, and to our amazement a C130 appeared overhead, bang on time, as the RAF Falcons parachuted into the arena. To jump in such a storm was very impressive and they received the biggest cheer of the day as our departing Commanding Officer, Lt Col P Gillespie, took the salute.

The Open Day finished at 1700hrs and as the wet and weary visitors made they way back to their cars, the fatigue party took a well-earned break in the beer tent. It didn't seem to matter what the weather threw at us during the last hour of the event. It didn't dampen anyone's spirit, as it was still hot, sunny and humid the vast majority of the time, making the day a huge success. A huge thank you is owed to all the members of the fatigue party who worked hard all week through rain and shine. Also many thanks to all the military and civilian stall holders for their contribution and support to such a successful event. The sums are still being done, but the money raised for charity looks likely to be the biggest total so far. We have already started planning next years Regimental Open Day and watch this space as it promises to be even bigger!

MIKE TROOP - by Cpl Rob Murray & LCpl Pat Eason
Tp Comd WO1 FofS 'Paul' Lewis
Tp SSgt SSgt 'Spence' Ord

With the recent influx of Class 3 Techs and Mechs, TM Tp has swelled to such an extent that we are considering becoming an independent squadron. On the work side of life the Troop has been kept extremely busy, the Mechs have, under the watchful eye of Cpl Pete 'That costs this much' Richards, been busy rewiring the Officers' and Sergeants' Messes. Back in the workshops the shelves are being cleared of faulty equipment for the fast approaching Ex Saif Sereea.

Congratulations are sent out to the swimmers within the troop including LCpl Andy Barnard, LCpl Paul 'Stavros' Angelidi and LCpl Cora Field who were among the Regiment's successful swimming team in the Army Swimming Championships. Taking third place in the male event and second place in the female event. Personal congratulations go to LCpl Paul 'Stavros' Angelidi for becoming the fastest male swimmer in the Army on open water gaining third overall in the Inter Service Long Distance Championships. Congratulations also to LCpl Steve Hadley and his wife on the birth of their baby boy. The final congratulations to LCpl Chris Yapp on taking the plunge and tying the knot with his new wife Amy. Now on to the welcomes, a big hello hug to the new Regimental Foreman, WO1 (FofS) Paul Lewis who has joined the Troop from Cyprus, LCpl Kev Moss, LCpl Neil Eyre and Sig Tasker new TeleMech/ Installation Techs and LCpl Cora Field Sys Eng Tech. On to the sad business of farewells and it is a teary eyed farewell to Capt Ady Knight who has headed for pastures new. Goodbye to Cpl Rob Murray returning to Blandford for his Class 1. The last two goodbyes are to Cpl Keith Gilbert and Cpl Mark Taylor both are off to the big wide world of Civ Div. To end, promotions just in congratulations to LCpl Eddie Waring, and also Cpl Ron Evans, Cpl Matt Jennings, Cpl Alli Smith for gaining their second stripes, the Regiment can sleep easy at night when these three are guard commanders!

REGIMENTAL ATHLETICS - by Sig Cooze
OICs Maj Jim Forrest & Capt Alec Masson

The athletics season started for 21 Sig Regt (AS) at the 5 Div athletics competition. For most of the team it was either the first day back after leave or a day off exercise. Nevertheless, team spirit was high and we soon managed to fill the events. It was a great success. The male and female teams finished second and fourth respectively. This gave the team, as a whole, a place in the Army Semi-finals and also something to aim for. The next hurdle was the Morrison Cup.

Sgt Daz Kidd flying through the air on his way to victory

Meanwhile training was hard and the Inter Squadron Athletics Competition gave the team captain, Capt Masson, a chance to search for any hidden talents within the squadrons. With the support of the rest of the Regiment we headed down to Blandford Camp for a rainy day on the track. Even though the weather was awful 21 Sig Regt yet again proved to have a winning side. With both teams finishing second and 13 members of the team being selected for the Army Inter-Corps Athletics, including some of the old and bald, Sgt 'Taff' Mctavish, Cpl 'Fred the head' Hazard and SSgt 'Wayne, competitive dad' Hayes. Several junior members of the team competed at the Army Individual Athletics. They achieved three first places from Sigs Rowland, Heighton and Jesson and third and fourth from Sigs Cartwright and Tucker. Not only individually but also as a team, the Regiment has achieved amazing results during this years athletics season. The latest update is that we were very successful in the Army Semi-Finals held at Colchester and made it through to the Army inter Unit Finals. The final result was that the women gained fifth place and the men, despite being down a few key players, came fourth overall. An excellent performance by all who competed at every stage. Here's to next year and even better results!

REGIMENTAL SWIMMING

The transformation of the Unit's Swimming and Water Polo success has been a complete turn-around from previous years. From being just a competing team falling during the early rounds, we are now strong contenders for the Army Inter-Unit Champion title in both male and female competitions and the water polo.

The Regiment made a clean sweep at the 5 Div Championships in female, male and the polo competitions. LCpl 'horse lover' Angelidi and 2Lt Catherine Jardine aka 'Jardine the Sardine' also become the 5 Div 50m Open Sprint Champions. The next stage was the Army Semi-Finals, where the competition was tougher, but the results were excellent, the females finishing second and the men in third place. The Polo team did exceptionally well, making the final but unfortunately loosing to SEAE – who were the eventual Army Champions. The Army Finals, held at the new Aldershot Complex, resulted in brilliant performances for both teams. The females finished second and the men finishing in third place – an outstanding result for the Regiment. Well done to all those who competed!

The Annual Inter-Services Long Distance Swimming Championships 2001, which took place in Lake Bala, Wales, was another success for the Regiment. Four members from 21 Sig Regt (AS) ventured to do the 1.5-mile swim in the lake (crazy fools!). In a field of around 60 competitors, and after a few apprehensive words prior to the race, the end results were a credit to all competitors. 2Lt Jardine came in third, winning the women's Combined Services and Army Freestyle title, LCpl 'Can't believe I was beaten by a girl' Angelidi came in fourth winning the Men's Freestyle Army title and Cpl 'Who made me do this anyway?' Lee came Army Runner-up in the Breast-stroke discipline. Sig Albury also did very well to finish in the top half of the field.

After the success of the Regiment's season, congratulations goes to Capt 'Angry player' Griffiths, Cpl Lee and Sig Smith for Army selection in Polo. Further congratulation goes to 2Lt Jardine, LCpl Angelidi, Sig Fayers and Sig Parker, who made the Army and Combined Service Swimming team.

A big thank you and well done to all those who swam this year, and we can now look forward to equal success in the Inter-Corps in November.

OPERATION AGRICOLA DETACHMENT
MARCH – JULY 2001

Det Comd SSgt Russ Ezard

The Detachment has seen some of the busiest times in recent periods, which proved to be challenging due to the deployment of the Spec Task vehicle and the inevitable changeover of Regimental personnel. The Spec Task vehicle has been used in a multitude of roles over the period.

Firstly in its everyday role of providing comms coverage in the event of an IRT callout, which sadly happened when one of the two Pumas crashed in bad weather in mountainous terrain in the south of the country. Comms trials have been carried out from various HLS sites, leading to the eventual deployment on Op Salisbury and immediate redeployment onto Op Eagle.

Unfortunately due to the strain of every day life the detachment broke two personnel and subsequently they became two more statistics for the aero med team. One of the two, a Sig 'Clear if you're quick' Lake, will be by now reading up on safety distances. Coping with the RAF can be a constant strain in the way they live compared to the Army, but every effort is made to remind them of the way ahead.

Especially when it comes to physical training, as the detachment hosts PT sessions of which we are normally the only personnel attending. The emphasis on personal fitness was shown on the inaugural APOD half marathon in which Sig Bailey romped home in a time of 1hr 19mins.

The Squadron said farewell to Maj Rod Gladwin on retirement to take up the position of RAO ATR Lithefield. On 19 June, Maj Ray Cory assumed command of the Squadron, relieving the stand-in OC (Capt Gary Johnson) of his time in command, allowing him to finalise the Regimental Open Day.

The Regimental Open Day was placed in jeopardy due to the Foot & Mouth crisis. However in true style, a management team of WO2 (SSM) Russ Dalton and SSgt Craig Wrath were put together, under the 'skilful guidance' of Capt Gary Johnson. They started the process of confirming possible attendees, organising publicity and amassing the stores required to hold an Open Day with up to 10,000 people attending. All went well and the event finally had the go-ahead on Monday 4 June, leaving exactly four weeks to put the final plans into place.

WO2 (SSM) Russ Dalton and SSgt Craig Wrath then set about the intricate plans of getting some 85 stalls and displays into the windbreaks, no small feat when the size of real estate would change on a daily basis. Finally the day dawned and all was in place, by this time the SSM lost a few more hairs from his head, and SSgt Craig Wrath had gained a HND in diplomacy. The tents were up, the car parking areas sorted out and all main attractions confirmed; we awaited the first stalls to arrive. From 0600 – 1030 on the Sunday streams of cars arrived to set up, followed by the opening to the public at 1030. The weather was kind to us, and the day passed off without any visible catastrophe. The Corps Band entertained us well, and the finale of the Royal Artillery Parachute Display team was extremely well received. Throughout the day in the region of 10,000 people visited the event, raising nearly £10,000 for various charities. The event was declared a success and all that remained was to return the windbreaks to their original condition. We are all looking forward to planning next years event!

OPERATION SILKMAN

Life continues as normal on this arduous operational tour, now renamed Club Silkman. Unfortunately for us, after taking each opportunity to squeeze a few 'sun-hours' in amongst the hectic workload, the tans are gradually fading as we now find ourselves subjected to one million feet of rain per day. There is still time though for Sig 'Brad' MacCallum to catch and torture the famous 'Press-Up' Lizards.

This hasn't interrupted the extra-curricular activities however, with guys getting out and about up-country as often as possible. Cpl Paul 'Gipper' Richardson escorted the boss on an EOD picnic to Port Loko, watching the destruction of a 500lb Guinean bomb whilst enjoying a warm spam sandwich on the bonnet of a G/S. LCpl Dan 'Nobby' Clarke spent a night in the jungle at Benguema learning how to build an 'A'-Frame bivi and slaughter innocent chickens. Meanwhile Sig Stu '22 B&Q' Hemming put his finely tuned close-combat skills to good use when he single-handedly pulled the J2 Field Human Int team to safety during a nearby 'contact' with rebels. We later learnt that the contact was actually taking place about three countries away, but we let Stu have his moment of glory temporarily. The closest thing to armed combat so far was when Flt Lt Paul 'Penguin' Pearce was engaged by an angry night-fighter with two loaded beer bottles, which she proceeded to pour over his head. This annoyed SSgt Paul 'Maggot' Storey, mainly because they were his beers.

Socially, things are picking up. Sigs John 'Jar-Jar Binks' Roberts, Al 'What do you Mean I'm Not Going Home Now?' Neesam, Adam 'Swampy' Flatman and Colin 'Larium Kid' Robertson have already recently celebrated their birthdays. Just time left now to say farewell to 'Maggot', 'Matt', 'Neese', Kate, 'PJ' Stainers, Adam, Dave, 'Geezer', 'Scouse' and Hemming and welcome into theatre 'Gaz Shuck', 'Robbo', Craig, Nicky, LCpl Haddrell, Sig George, LCpl Hogg and Holly. EXERCISE JMC, CAPE WRATH, SCOTLAND: 17 – 29 JUNE 2001

We began our mammoth drive to the north of Scotland in the early hours of Sunday morning with an overnight stop planned in Edinburgh; eleven hours later we arrived, minus one vehicle (due to technical problems). We finally reached Cape Wrath on the Monday afternoon having driven all the way from Edinburgh wearing cam cream. The next two weeks were spent fully tactical (not our usual cushy number) providing a VSC 501 with ICC supporting 9 AAC on a JMC exercise involving the USS Enterprise carrier group. Whilst the rest of the lads were living in tents eating ration packs, LCpl 'Gray' Wootton managed to get himself flown onto HMS Chatham for a shower and some decent food. Even though we were looked after quite well by the RSO of 9 AAC after two weeks in the field we couldn't wait to get back to civilisation.

EXERCISE CYGNET CHANNEL, ALDERNEY: 16 – 27 JULY 2001

You could tell from the way it began that this was going to be a relaxed exercise, soaking up the rays during an 8-hour trip across the English Channel onboard a landing craft. The Troop was going to Alderney for a comms exercise to be followed by a spot of liaison work with the islanders. The first week was a non-tactical CNR exercise with three detachments moving locations around the island. This involved spending some time with the local militia explaining our job, and doing a spot of sun-bathing as we were never far from the beach when off-shift! The second week was more laid back, designated as a community relations week - we played cricket, football and golf against the local teams and even though we weren't very successful we put up a good fight. To help out the locals we spent a day weeding – they were trying to clear an area, and we provided the perfect manpower for the job! We also spent a day mountain biking and caving around the islands WW2 defences - we are now fairly sure that Sig 'Banksy' Banks is scared of the dark. The lads would also like to thank Sig 'Chiggers' Chignell for the lengths he went to in ensuring free food and beer for us all! By the time it came to leave we had made such an impression that we had hoards of women waving us off as we boarded the landing craft. In all we had a great time and we have the suntans to prove it!

The Squadron has spent the last few months holding two Comms Troops, plus Support Troop soldiers, at R1 manning the Joint Task Force Headquarters (JTFHQ) Sig Sqn and Spearhead Lead Element (SLE). There has also been time to compete in Trailwalker (UK) 2001 with six Squadron members dispersed amongst the three Regimental teams; Nijmegan 2001 (commendable second place!) and the Corps Regatta. There have also been adventurous training exercises and attachments with the Royal Navy! We are now on countdown to Ex Saif Sareea II where the 'globe trotters' will meet up with the rest of the Royal Corps of Signals in Oman…

DELTA TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Chris Smith
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim Lyons

Despite our usual commitments, the Troop has managed to squeeze in a week's adventurous training in Fort William enjoying the Scottish Summer – yes, it rained every day except the departure day! The Troop discovered it is not just officers with maps who get lost, as several members found themselves 'navigational challenged'. Other than hill walking, they tested their aquatic skills with some canoeing and scaled some rocks which LCpl 'Elvis legs' Pennock excelled at. SSgt Lyons organized some abseiling off a bridge into a river, this was until LCpl 'Fearless' Foster tried to take the bridge with her by hanging on to it for dear life. Our new Troop Corporal, Cpl 'Gaz' Mckee, skived the rock climbing with a kidney stone and has also managed to squeeze in a bit of post-adventurous training leave at Wrexham General Hospital. The Troop welcomes back LCpl Maybank from his short notice ORLT deployment to Macedonia after singly handedly trying to sort the Balkans problem out! Sig Fielding returns form his trip to the Baltic after his short attachment to HMS Illustrious where he 'worked alongside the Navy'. The Troop has also provided a commitment to the Corps Regatta in Kiel with Sig McKinnell earning his sea legs. A big WELL DONE goes to those members of the Troop involved in Trailwaker UK with the Lt Smith entering as part of the 'Taxi for 4' team and LCpl Foster and Sig Phillips as representatives of the female teams – 'Too Hot…' and '…To Handle'. Congratulations to Sig Phillips in completing the 100km injury free, plus the additional 20km – just for the hell of it!

ECHO TROOP

Tp SSgt SSgt Al Combe

Echo Tp have had two new arrivals in the troop in the form of 2Lt Smith (fresh from RSS) and Sig 'Mally' Mallinson (who has come to us from over the water). We've said farewell to LCpl 'Blinkin' Mick Allan who's been sent off to JCU on an early posting. Leaving us shortly are LCpl Michelle 'Cilla' Black who is going to Blandford, and we also loose LCpl Arron Donnelly, Sig John 'Kebab' Lawrence and Sig Adam 'Flashdance' Toner – they are about to join the great unwashed and probably sign on! Only joking and good luck in Civvy Street. LCpls Matt 'Gink' King and Lee 'Black Economy' Simmons had a cushy three weeks, courtesy of the Royal Navy aboard HMS Illustrious travelling around the Baltic. Sgt 'Big Gay' Al Barker has finally returned to us after six weeks away doing every course under the sun and re-instilled his ruthless cleanliness regime into the Troop. Whilst Cpl Tony 'Bones' Gallagher has been sent away on his detties in Blandford, he has managed to stay on the course, whether this is a good or bad thing for him, we have yet to see!

ATTACHMENT TO HMS ILLUSTRIOUS - by LCpl Lee Simmons

An opportunity arose for two members of Echo Tp to go on an exchange visit to HMS Illustrious. On finding out that the fleet flagship will be running ashore in Oslo and Stockholm LCpls Matt 'Cider Visor' King and Lee 'I've got a problem with go-go bars' Simmons hastily put their names down and were lucky enough to be accepted. So with words of warning ringing in our ears and useful advice about surviving at sea like 'remember to sleep on your back with your mouth closed!' off we went on our three weeks booze cruise communications exchange. Our first port of call was Plymouth here we were continuously stared at as the Navy looked on in awe of DPM uniform and we laughed at their bellbottoms and greeted everyone with a friendly, 'Hello sailor!' and so the banter continued on for three weeks. Chief Yeoman Harris had drawn up an interesting itinerary which was to show us all about how the Navy works at sea and included such activities as working in their equivalent to our Commcens, checking out the goalkeeper Gattling guns and we even went through various war scenarios. A week into the trip and the lack of land had taken its toll so we were glad to arrive in Oslo. Before we left for our jaunt we heard there would be some sort of royal visit; we were expecting the King of Norway to come aboard, only to be shocked to find out it was HM Queen Elizabeth II to meet the troops. As we never had any No 2 dress with us we missed out on the visit, instead we were conveniently hidden away like asylum seekers so as not to stand out. After the state visit we were allowed shore leave for five days. So with LCpl Matt King in pursuit for the only woman in his life 'Stella' we ran ashore. The time in Oslo passed all too quickly and it wouldn't be long till our next shore leave in Stockholm. The three weeks had passed us by in a haze and we had to return back to Blighty, slightly more cultured, slightly wiser and well and truly skint! Thanks to the entire Navy and everyone concerned with the exchange for their hospitality, kindness and above all a good laugh.

Tp Comd Capt 'Des' Holbrook
Tp SSgt SSgt Anita Smith

New arrivals to the Troop are Capt Holbrook from 21 Sig Regt and SSgt Smith from the Regimental training wing. The Troop has recently said goodbye to Lt Southern who has gone to 8 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Squadron on promotion as the 2IC and SSgt Fidler who has left us for the green theme of the training wing. Soon to be leaving us are Cpl Neil Harrison and Sig Adam Langton who are going to Northern Ireland on promotion; Cpl Jim Stewart who is going to 249 Sig Sqn (AMFL) to become an arctic warrior; and Sig 'Soon to be Mister' Moore who is going back to civvy street. At the beginning of May most of the JNCOs from the Troop were on their Class 2 to 1 crammer so a big congratulations go out to LCpls 'Franky' Langford, Kelly Maclean, Del Jackson, Andy Armitage and myself (Danny Thwaites) who all passed. Straight after the 2 to 1 crammer most of the Troop were involved in the Regimental shooting camp Ex Swan Connection in Lydd and Hythe where we were able to go on some exciting ranges such as urban shoots, FIBUA, and section defence plus many more. The exercise lasted for two weeks and a lot of ammo was fired! Most of the Troop is now on the Spearhead Lead Element (SLE) roster, now until Ex Saif Sareea in September. Lastly, a big congratulations goes out to Sig Craig Wilkinson and his fiancée, Maxin, who have just had a baby boy called Oscar.

FOXTROT TROOP SAILING - by Sig Adam Langton

SSgt Smith arranged for seven of us to spend a couple of days away from the hanger to sample the delights of offshore sailing. So the lucky few of us departed Bramcote on a hot, sunny afternoon and headed for Gosport. On arrival we were met by Cpl 'Windy' Gale who introduced us to yacht Petasus, which was to be our home for the couple of days. Once he had taken us through the many safety points we were able to move our baggage on board and fight for our bunks. Next morning was an early start although most had had little sleep due to Sig Jim 'Susat' King's sewer-like snoring. Whilst we got the boat ready for sea, Cpl Paul Roberts and LCpl Andy 'Fridge' Armitage went and carried out a local supermarket sweep for our rations. By nine o'clock we had left harbour and were hoping for fair winds to carry us to Brighton. Once under way, the real sailing started with everybody keen to have a go at the helm and to learn which rope had to be pulled and when. The winds, unfortunately, were not in our favour for our proposed port of Brighton, so our passage plans were changed for Lymington. This enabled us to learn anchor drills when we stopped off for lunch in a small bay off the Isle of Wight. Some of the hardier members of the crew decided to brave the British summer and go swimming. We also attempted halyard swinging which involves standing high on the front of the yacht and swinging out on the halyard before returning to the yacht. This also involved Sigs Mark Lawrence and Jim King indulging in some 'gurning' before letting go! After lunch we upped anchor and headed for Lymington, which was a long passage up a narrow, shallow river where Sig Steph McGinn enjoyed playing 'chicken' with the ferries. The next morning LCpl Andy Armitage, finalist of last year's master chef, cooked us baked beans and hard boiled egg, unbeknown to him others sloped off for a bacon butty in a local shop! All too soon we set sail for our home port of Gosport. On berthing at JSASTC the bad bit came - scrubbing the decks!! The yacht was soon in 'ship shape', so that only left us to thank Cpl 'Windy' Gale for his time and catch the transport home.

The Troop would like to wish SSgt Andy Dutton all the best at 21 Sig Regt and farewell to Cpl Andy Moffat, LCpl 'Bart' Homer, LCpl 'Sly' Moine and Sig Chris Bradstreet who are on their way to Civ Div. Congratulations go to LCpl Aaron Nessling on getting married to Sharna and LCpl 'The Legend' Slade on his upcoming marriage to Donna. Best of luck to you both! A big hello to SSgt 'Yorkie' Lawton on his posting from 3 (UK) DSR. The Troop is very busy at the moment trying to get everything ready for Ex Saif Sareea II (Sun tan lotion, Baby Oil, etc.). The Troop is still filling all the usual commitments and everyone thoroughly enjoys being on R1 readiness for 12 months+.

EXERCISE MERCURIAL MARITIME DRAGON

Ex Mercurial Maritime Dragon was the name given for the Royal Signal Sail Training Week, which is conducted every year at the Army Sail Training Centre at Kiel in Germany. Royal Signal units compete in various races around the area of the Baltic Sea from the period 16-25 July. 30 Sig Regt, headed up by 258 Sig Sqn, entered a crew of seven personnel. All the crew bar one were novice sailors and our skipper Maj Bob 'Cocktails 'R' Us' Appleton did an excellent job of moulding us into efficient competent crew. The first few days were spent getting to grips with how to handle the boat, tie the correct knots in the various ropes and learning general seamanship. This came more naturally to some than others as Cpl 'Pass The Seasickness Pills' Mason found out. On the third day we had our first go at racing. Everything went well at first until, under the expertise of Sig 'Scouse –it' ripping' McGloughoin and Sig 'Brummie –pull it harder then' Hurl, we managed to rip our Spinnaker sail nearly in half. Needless to say we came last but made up for it at the post –race drinks where Sig 'I'm never drinking again' Malia was definitely first past the line. The first race seemed to set the scene for all the other races and we only managed to achieve an overall fifth position out of seven. All on the boat would agree that the fun aboard yacht Widgeon counteracted our poor racing achievements; it was a great experience and particular thanks go to Maj Bob Appleton for putting up with us for the duration of the exercise.

The Team departed Bramcote at 0500hrs on the Saturday morning for Harwich, we had a slight delay due LCpl Gaz 'The Blister' Prydie and Sig Stu 'Axe Murderer' Mason's administration. Once on the way it was a clear run down to Harwich arriving there three hours early. As soon as we were on the ferry we started acclimatisation training. This was invaluable, as the Team had three days close target recce's on Nijmegan town centre, before the marches began. This was probably the most training we had done as we were constantly on our feet, sampling the local delights, with LCpl Richie 'Surfer' Maybank getting the best view of the countryside. With the marches starting on Tuesday, the Monday was spent sorting out admin and de-toxing. This gave Sig Stu Mason time to buy a towel, due to his amazing admin he left his in Bramcote that will teach him to panic pack prior to deploying anywhere.

The first day of the marches had us starting at 0630hrs, one of the last team's led out by the team captain WO2 (SSM) 'Fozzy' Forrester. Due to the late start time the team got caught up with many of the civvy marches and the going was very, very slow, even Cpl Lee 'Gunner' Glaves got told to slow down - which isn't heard very often! The only saving grace was that the weather had at least cleared up. By the time we had got to the ten-mile point, certain quotes could be heard, 'I'm never doing this again'. By the end of the first day the whole Team was feeling the worst for wear, on completion of the first 25 miles, the Team sorted out there admin and blisters, and replened on pizzas and kebabs.

The second day's marches started at 0600hrs and again we got caught up with the mass of civvy walkers, unfortunately the weather was not with us and we got soaked. Due to injury we lost one of the team at a checkpoint, which meant that Cpl Lee 'I've put on half a stone whilst marching' Glaves had to catch up with the Team. We got to checkpoint two thinking that we would have at least an hour wait for him, so we settled down to wait. Five minutes into the break, the dreams are shattered as he turns up. The rest of the day went well with the team making good time even over the cobbled streets. The highlight of the day was stopping to have our picture taken with a big pink bunny rabbit and Sig 'Song Bird' Fielding coaxing the Team to sing all the way around. The day was rounded off again by another glorious pizza.

The start of the third day saw three more team members retire due to injury. The remainder cracked on setting a good pace with moral quite high. The route found the only hills in Holland and to help the team get up them Cpl Peter 'Did I tell you I've been on ops but I don't like talking about them?' Sykes starting the chant 'We eat hills, push harder'. It helps you stop thinking about your feet and get up the hills with all the civvies parting in front of the team to let you through. The day was yet again finished with a pizza and sleep. The last day was a 'do and die' effort for the whole team starting at 0400hrs. The Team made good time even with the different walking styles: Sig Paul 'Shockwaves' Howells and Sig Ian 'Stig' Atkins tied first place for the stupid-walking award and Sig Andy 'The Bladder' Jordan-White spending most of the day running to the nearest tree. With the last final push, the team was the second Regular team to finish. It was then time for medals and a trip to the beer tent for a couple of well deserved sociable drinks. Being the last night the whole team (except Sig Ian 'Stig' Atkins who lost his Bergen and decides to wear his Regimental T-shirt as underwear and was put to bed) went to Nijmegan to say there farewells before the 0500hrs start for the journey home. TRAILWALKER 2001

As people are no doubt aware Trailwalker is a QG SIGNALS organised 100km endurance run that had it's origins in Hong Kong. First run in 1981 it raised more than £7 million for the Gurkha Welfare trust before the colony was handed back in 1997. The first Trailwalker (UK) was run in 1997 along the South Downs Way from Petersfield to Brighton. It has grown in stature since then and has raised £130,000 to date for the GWT. This year's event took place on 21-22 July 2001. The start date had been delayed due to the foot and mouth crisis and the entailing difficulties in getting permission to cross the appropriate farmer's land. Some 220 Officers and Men from across QG Signals deployed in support of the event and 119 teams participated. The event was won by a team from 250 Gurkha Signal Squadron in an impressive time of 11hrs and 6mins. Teams from the QOGLR and QGE came second and third respectively.

250 GURKHA SIGNAL SQUADRON ARE CROWNED CHAMPIONS OF THE NEPAL CUP 2001

by Sgt Surje Gurung

20 years of hurt ended in tearful triumph at 1625hrs on Saturday 7 July 2001 at Gamecock Barracks, home of the Queen's Gurkha Signals/30 Signal Regiment when 250 Gurkha Signal Squadron were crowned champions of the Nepal Cup Football Tournament 2001, after defeating 69 Gurkha Field Squadron QGE in a nerve-racking final. The Nepal Cup was first introduced in 1948 following the formation of the Brigade of Gurkhas in the British Army as an annual inter-unit football competition. Since its inception, it has been contested for annually except in 1971 and 1995 when the Brigade moved to Hong Kong and UK respectively. In the United Kingdom the cup was resurrected as a knockout competition between all UK based Gurkha Units/Sub-Units. The first competition took place on 1 September 1998.

The QGS Team, competing in their first final since 1988, silenced the QGE crowd by netting two early goals within 15mins of play. With a 2-0 lead at almost half-time – courtesy of goals apiece from Sigs Kishan Gurung and Neeraj Rai – the whole Regiment looked as though the memories of two successive defeats to QGE and B Coy 1 RGR in penalty shoot-outs in the 1999 and 2000 first rounds were about to be laid to rest and the Regiment's increasingly long wait to lift the trophy was about to be ended. However, spurred on by a late revival by their crowd during the early play of second half, QGE (nine times winners and pre-tournament favourite managed to equalise).

In terms of Nepal Cup finals, it was undoubtedly proving to be the most nerve-racking showdowns for everyone. Watching it all in a state of anxiety was a crowd the like of which I have never seen before. We were very certain that QGE will always be a hard nut to crack as they kept attacking us from all directions. Once again, an upset looked to be on the cards but gallantly led by Cpl Anjankumar Gurung, the Team Captain and a veteran of this tournament, we fought back. We not only stemmed the onslaught but cheekily started a series of counter-attacks with long sniping runs down each flank. Hard work finally paid off as Sig Neeraj Rai scored again to give us a 3-2 lead. In addition to these, heroics between the posts by LCpl Haribahadur Limbu prevented the QGE Team from snatching another late equaliser and thereby forcing the game into extra-time. The moment finally came when the predatory boot of Sig Rabin Gurung scored on a 84-minute mark to drive the home crowd all bonkers again. Although QGE scored to make the score 4-3 with two minutes of play remaining, but it was all too late.

The Nepal Cup Trophy was presented to Sgt Surje Gurung, Team Manager/Coach, by the Guest of Honour, Col Brigade of Gurkhas. Sig Dipendra Gurung was declared as 'Man-of-the-Match' for his outstanding all round performance and sportsmanship. This magic day will always be remembered as one of the greatest days of all in the history of the Queen's Gurkha Signals. The losing streak against QGE in this competition since the '90s finally came to a halt on this very day. Understandably, there are three sporting arenas within the Brigade of Gurkhas where every Gurkha soldier would dream of becoming a star – Trailwalker, Bisley Shooting and Nepal Cup. The Regiment itself has been a dominant force on Trailwalker and Bisley Shooting. The one and only sporting achievement that has eluded us for such a long period was the Nepal Cup. Therefore, everyone's main effort was to win the Nepal Cup this year. To achieve this, we produced the best team we could and, on the day, the better team won.

Last but not the least, this unforgettable achievement would not have been possible without the incredible support provided by the supporters. It goes without saying that it was the outstanding contribution from Capt(QGO) Santa Pun, OIC Nepal Cup 2001, that inspired us to glory and therefore, dedicate this victory to him and wish him good luck in the future as he is retiring from the army in mid-September this year.

There have been only two topics of conversation in HQ Sqn over the last couple of months - Recruiting and Annual Camp. The effort to fully recruit D Tp and the other elements of HQ Sqn carried on at a fast pace. Our recruiting team strategically placed themselves at local tube and rail stations on Tuesday nights to catch those happy commuters on their way home from work, offering them a more fulfilling existence within the TA. Having already used this tactic before, our recruiters quickly distributed all available leaflets to likely looking candidates. This tactic seems to bear fruit in that for half an hours work we now expect to get two or three recruits turning in through the gates of Southfields TAC each week (now it's just a question of keeping hold of them!).

While the recruiting staff was left to carry on their commendable work, the rest of HQ Sqn turned their attention to Annual Camp. HQ Sqn had to ensure that there were enough serviceable vehicles available as well as all the usual matters to attend to such as rations, ammunition, pay, spare kit and equipment. Once this was squared away, (in double quick time), by our ever-effective staff, we relaxed in the knowledge that all we need do was turn up.

Whilst waiting for the rigours of Annual Camp to start, the LAD organised an adventure training weekend in central London (the countryside still being out of bounds due to the continued presence of F&M). 'Not many mountains, rapids or ski slopes around there!' I hear you cry...how wrong could you be! The LAD organised an excellent package, with a climbing wall and abseil facilities in Mile End, canoeing in Kingston, orienteering on Wimbledon Common and a dry ski slope at Aldershot. This was rounded off with BBQ & beer at Southfields TAC. Everyone who attended thoroughly enjoyed themselves and our thanks and congratulations go to the LAD staff for organising the weekend.

REGIMENTAL ANNUAL CAMP – SALISBURY PLAIN

Before we knew it (not even time for eight more O Gps), Annual Camp was upon us. This year we were at sunny (believe it or not!) Salisbury Plain and more specifically the palatial surroundings of Knook Camp. This Annual Camp was memorable for a number of reasons. Firstly that all the HQ staff, whatever their rank, took a full and active role in the training and exercise phases. Secondly, there were some star performances put in by specific individuals and thirdly, HQ Sqn won the Duchess of Gloucester Cup (DoG Cup).

on the Advance to Contact phase of the camp

The training phase of camp was used to ensure that all personnel were re-acquainted with their infantry skills and that they could take part in the field-firing phase. This was more than a slight shock to some members of HQ Sqn, however all seemed to enjoy it.

into the Exercise phase of Summer Camp

The main Exercise phase combined both infantry and trade skills. The exercising Troops enjoyed live firing, helicopter moves and a very realistic CivEx prepared by 3 MI Bn. In the meantime those members of HQ Sqn tasked with enemy/DS roles were kept permanently busy thanks to the very demanding Exercise plan orchestrated by the TM.

The star performer during this phase was Capt Bewsher who no matter how many times he was shot, never seemed to die! Also renowned for his unwillingness to do anything other than CTR's on the exercising Tps. Immediately following the Exercise phase the Regt held the annual DoG Cup. This was a hotly contested competition with HQ Sqn producing the victorious team. The Trophy was presented by Col Power, TA Col LONDIST (N).

At the presentation of the DoG Cup, there were also presentations made to a number of HQ Sqn personnel. The QM (V) Capt Fred Southey TEM was awarded the TD as was Maj Mahoney (ex-OC HQ Sqn). These were received for 32 years exemplary Service to the Territorial Army and it is quite a rarity to be presented both the TEM and TD – congratulations and many thanks to you both for such determined and loyal Service. SSgt Alleyne received his Volunteer Reserve Service Medal, and Sgt Carter was awarded the Accumulated Campaign Service Medal for his previous operational Service in Northern Ireland. Congratulations to you all.

On returning to Southfields TAC, HQ Sqn had a post camp dinner at which a cup was presented to Cpl Hales for 'Best soldier in HQ Sqn'. Since Camp there have been a few personnel changes with the RQMS (V) WO2 Clarke taking over as HQ Sqn SSM and SQMS SSgt Browning moving across to be SQMS of the QM's Dept. Unfortunately we have also said farewell to the TM, Maj Tim Cooper, who has moved to MoD. We would like to thank him for all his efforts and wish him every success in the future. We also welcome to the Regiment our new Adjt, Capt Fiona Stewart, and new Tech PSIs SSgt Gorman and Sgt Kempton. We hope you enjoy your time with the Regiment. The main effort now for the Regiment is to build on the experiences of Camp and keep training fun, while still working flat out to fully recruit in HQ Sqn.

FREEDOM OF CROYDON PARADE

On Saturday 23 June 2001, all TA Units in the Croydon area marched through the town centre having been granted the Freedom of the Borough of Croydon. The parade involved over 100 marching troops and ten military vehicles. 151 Regt RLC led the procession, followed by 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn, vehicles from C Sqn RY and a Troop from 10 Para. The salute was taken by His Worshipful the Mayor of Croydon, Mr Peter Hopsun on the steps of the Town Hall. The Mayor then hosted a reception in the Fairfield Halls for all those involved in the parade, before soldiers, friends and families of 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn enjoyed a curry buffet back at the TAC.

ANNUAL CAMP 2001 – CYPRUS DETACHMENT

Whilst most of the Regt worked hard on Salisbury Plain, a few were lucky enough to deploy to Cyprus in order to test our LANWARD equipment from the WSBA. Lt Debs 'Sightseeing' Speakman, SSgt Willie 'Undercover' Loch, Sgt Del 'Casper' Trotter, Cpl Julia 'Eric's Girl' May, Cpl Maria 'Slim Shady' Traynor, Cpl 'Ollie' North, Cpl Jo 'Shopaholic' Butler, LCpl Chris 'Penelope' Hunter, Sig Jo 'Jolly Juggler' Gaskill, Sig Kris 'T Shirt' Todd and Sig Arianne 'General' Fournier all bravely volunteered to spend their Annual Camp acclimatising in Cyprus, instead of deploying with their respective Squadrons to Salisbury Plain! Contrary to what most of the Regiment think, this was no holiday, but an arduous test of stamina and survival.

The Cyprus detachment on their arduous test of stamina and survival !

After a few initial problems of kit not arriving, broken fixtures, foot-pumps not working, power failures and wiring problems, we eventually managed to communicate! We nearly encountered a further problem on day 3 when a young RA guard asked Cpl Traynor to move the 17metre mast. A rare display of patience and control was shown by her, as she calmly uttered the words, 'You'll have to see my Tp OC about that!' We successfully maintained our link between Cyprus and the UK for the duration of the Ex, but unfortunately were unable to complete the second part of our aim due to the failure of a keyboard on our second LANWARD system. We should have been testing the LANWARD equipment between Episkopi and Dhekalia, but with one set of kit not working, this proved impossible. Instead, we decided to fully take advantage of the extra manpower this generated, and see as much of the WSBA as possible. We visited various places of interest inside the WSBA, and tried our hand at knee boarding, water skiing, wake boarding, and parascending.

Sgt Del 'Casper' Trotter was seen to buy two rounds of drinks in the fortnight we were there (yes, two!). Maybe it's because he's leaving that this remarkable incident occurred! Our thanks go to 259 Sig Sqn, who kindly let LCpl Chris 'Penelope' Hunter play in their Tech Workshop, and to 12 SU (RAF) who invited our operators to spend a couple of shifts in their COMMCEN. A very interesting visit and hopefully a useful experience was had by all.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations to Sgt Simon May on his promotion into the Sergeants' Mess (Watch out – they can take your Mess Bill by Direct Debit now!), Cpl Maria 'Slim Shady' Traynor on her second stripe, and to LCpl Scott Fisher on his promotion from Signaller. All are well deserved, and well earned. Huge congratulations are also due to Sig Kris 'T Shirt' Todd who was named Regimental Soldier of the Year at this year's Annual Camp. Sig Todd was awarded a cheque for £125 from the Worshipful Company of Innholders, and will be invited to the Innholders Dinner early next year.

We have welcomed several new recruits into the Sqn and they are now undergoing their recruit training with 2 (SE) Bde. With the F&M restrictions eased, they are now able to complete all five weekends before going to their Recruits Course at Blandford. This has come as a welcome relief to Sig Mason, who has waited since Feb to complete her pre-Blandford training. Breaks seem to be in fashion and having had two broken legs, we are all now wondering who is going to be next! Sgt Dickie Bonner was very unlucky to break his femur when completing his march and shoot at the beginning of June, but after a stay at Frimley Park Hospital, is now home again. His leg has been pinned internally and he is ever hopeful that he will not have to use his crutches when he goes up the aisle next month to get married, congratultions in advance, for this event. Maddie Loch, the wife of our PSI, SSgt Willie Loch was the second one to break a leg. She waited until he was on Annual Camp in Cyprus but naturally, he chose to fulfil his commitment to the TA and remain where he was rather than cut short his stay on the island! She was grateful for the support of the PSAO, Capt Ian Murray, who ensured she had a wheelchair and cups of tea.

COLLECTION FOR THE ABF
AND HELP GIVEN TO THE SUMMER FETE, MAIS HOUSE, ROYAL BRITISH LEGION NURSING HOME BEXHILL.

On 1 July 2001, three members of 56 Sig Sqn held a street collection for the Army Benevolent Fund, in Bexhill-on-Sea raising over £100. The collection also provided an ideal opportunity to raise the public image of the TA in Bexhill, which is a good recruiting area for the Squadron. Later on in the day, Lt Keiron Francis, Sgt Tim Odam and Sig Gavin Dalton then provided their services to the Royal British Legion's Mais House nursing home for their summer fete. An 18 x 24 army tent provided the ideal shelter for the Little Common British Legion Band and Standard party. The guest of honour at the fete was Mr David Dimbleby. Many 'old soldier' stories kept the three younger soldiers amused and nearly all the veterans were surprised that the rank slides were worn on the chest with CS95 not as on the shoulders as during their military days! Next on the list of public appearances for Squadron personnel is Airshow 2001 to be held in Eastbourne in mid August.

ANNUAL CAMP

This was hailed as one of the best ever camps, despite the threat of it being 'infantry-based'. Indeed, it was enjoyed so much that many felt they would prefer to carry on rather than re-form as a Troop to 'communicate'. Lt Kieron Francis enjoyed the opportunity to get cammed up and LCpl Gardyne and LCpl Dalton thought it was great to shoot at the OC and take her prisoner, until they realised that she did not smoke! Capt Anthony Lamb was in his element as part of the CTR, spying on the platoon and LCpl Hewitt and LCpl Hawes relished the opportunity to return to their roots and dig trenches again! Morale was high as they entered the final attack, knowing that they were going to win, particularly as the enemy only had blank rounds!

DUCHESS OF GLOUCESRER CUP

The loss of the DOG Cup crown at the end of a comical day did not dampen the spirits of either of the 56 Sig Sqn teams. This was generally inspired by 2Lt Rob Wood's horrendous knowledge of military armour and added to by a spectacular 'crash and burn' by Sig Prescott on the motor cycle stand. Such behaviour caused morale to hit an all time high and as the Sea King came in to transport the teams to the next stand, the pilot felt secure in the knowledge that they were completely safe from any Javelin fire! Despite such failings, LCpl Paul 'Citroen' Renaud kept hold of his teddy bear – and his rank (for now!).

ANNUAL CAMP 2001 THROUGH THE EYES OF A RECRUIT
by Sig Prescott

High Spots - Riding in a Mk 5 Sea King, Riding in a Chinook, taking part in a live firing exercise, OBUA Training, Motor Cycle Riding, Driving a 432 ADC, Infantry phase during Ex Mercury Wand, Regimental Smoker, getting paid to do something I really enjoy!

Low Spots - Accommodation at Knook Camp (better in the field!), Guard Duty – but someone has to do it!

Summary - At the start, I felt a bit out of place as I did not know many people, having joined only a few weeks earlier. As the days went on, I found that you just start chatting to people and that a lot of people are on the same wavelength. Camp gave me a great opportunity to bond with and really become part of my Squadron. It turned me from being 'Sig Prescott who had just finished recruit training' to being nicknamed 'SUSAT' and becoming one of the lads.

EXERCISE COSSACK EXPRESS - by SSgt Mat Cahill

Ex Cossack Express was the first out of area deployment of the Regiment's Lanward HF equipment in support of The Rifle Volunteers in the Ukraine. Operators from all three Squadrons were brought together for the Exercise. The Team flew at 1000hrs on Saturday 9 June 2001 after a hairy journey to the AMCS with LCpl Paul 'I got my drivers licence in a cornflake packet' Starbrook. The flight into Ukraine was uneventful unless you have a fear of flying! The RAF had installed the latest model of 'strange noise generators' which had a few people convinced that the wings were about to fall off!

Once we touched down in Lviv the coach ride to Central City Camp which was about an hour long quickly gave you an insight into the condition of this former Soviet state. There are clear social divisions between town and countryside and the aging infrastructure is struggling to cope with the demands of a newly independent country. Most of the population is involved in subsistence farming and almost all of the land that we saw on the drive had been converted into small family sized plots. On arrival at the Camp we found that our advance party, LCpl Rich 'Arthur Daley' Baldwin, had already off-loaded all the equipment and set up the COMMCEN, including the 17m masts! He had had some help from a collection of Private soldiers who had been foolish enough to be caught looking like they had nothing better to do. He had also made some useful contacts with the ATO, RMP det and the local mafia! We had a series of briefings from the Embassy staff to keep us up-dated on security issues and were made to feel extremely welcome by our hosts. During our off shift time there was plenty to keep busy with, most notably a project to help renovate an orphanage and Cpl Gary 'Look lads, I've found a snake' Carey was involved in relaying flooring for them! LCpls Starbrook and Hornibrook went to a firepower demo and also had a crack at handling a selection of foreign weapons, some were handled more competently than others! (How bad is the wound on your thumb H?) LCpl Baldwin helped the ATO in laying charges for the above. Meanwhile there was a strange outbreak of 'stickering' - Royal Signals stickers were appearing with monotonous regularity on innocent victims backs and on various pieces of equipment!

Cpl Steve 'The Slug Balancer' Taylor, our PSI Tech, won the 'tache-growing contest' hands down with a quite disgusting display of top lip hair. Before we knew it the Exercise was over and the kit packed away for transport home, all that was left was some R&R in Lviv. The town itself is steeped in history but suffered from the Soviet style of industrial development encroaching on the old city center. After the sightseeing it was time to buy cheap gifts and even cheaper booze! With the help of some pre-arranged instructions in Ukraine for cab drivers and our 'please do not arrest this squaddie' cards for the Police, everybody made it back to the hotel in one piece after an excellent night out. Back in camp the local wildlife seemed more than interested in us – huge flying things and Cpl Gary Carey's dramatic entrance with his new 'friend', a seriously unhappy snake, which prompted a dramatic exit by everyone else! After two weeks of continual rain it was time to say goodbye to 'sunny' Ukraine. The RAF police had turned up to check hand luggage and I was relieved that I had talked LCpl Hornibrook out of buying the Ukrainian special forces 'bayonet that turns into a pistol thing'! The flight home was uneventful broken only by the lads trying to spot their homes when we over flew London.

KFOR STAFF MAKE FRIENDS IN PRISTINA

YU Project Community Centre, Pristina 22 May 2001

Maj 'Roddy' Sutherland is currently detached from Headquarter Squadron and is serving as a Staff Officer in the Headquarters of the Multinational Brigade (Centre) based in Kosovo. Before he went out to Kosovo with KFOR, 'Roddy' had heard a BBC Radio programme that featured a small Serbian community living in Pristina. There are only 160 Serbs still in Pristina and they are all housed in a single apartment block called the YU Project. When he arrived in Kosovo, he decided to arrange a meeting with some of the community leaders of the YU Project to offer assistance to the young children who live there. There are still tensions between the Serb community and the local Albanians, but KFOR are working hard to unite all ethnic groups living in Kosovo. When 'Roddy' and fellow members of his Brigade arrived at the YU Project, some of the Serb children were playing basketball with the Albanian children. They challenged the KFOR team to a game; something 'Roddy' and his colleagues thought would be a walkover. After they were well and truly trounced, everyone made their way to the local community centre, where the Brigade staff distributed goodies that they had brought to all the children. These included fresh fruit and orange juice, as well as drawing books, coloured pens and pencils. Capt Alex Clixby, the Adjutant of 209 Sig Sqn, even produced a bag of teddy bears, which were an instant hit with the younger children; so much so that 3-year-old Anastasija Stosiae refused to let go of her bear even when it was time to go to bed! After a very pleasant evening of Serbian hospitality in the YU Project shop, 'Roddy' and the rest of the team left for their camp, promising to return again before the end of their tour.

EXERCISE TARTAN TERRAIN

Seven members of the Squadron took part in this Adventure Training exercise and walked part of the Speyside Way from Buckie to Aviemore, a distance of 85 miles. Around 7,000 people attended the Gordon Barracks Families' day in Aberdeen, which featured stands from the Regular Army, including 14 (EW) Sig Regt, 249 Sig Sqn, the recruiting team from Blandford and stands from the TA and Cadets. The Squadron provided a display stand and a dozen members of the Squadron to meet the public and explain about their trades and role. Sig Bakewell looked particularly war-like and was an instant attraction with some of the day's younger visitors. As Maj Gen Robert Gordon, GOC Second Division visited this event, it was also an excellent opportunity to hold a medal presentation ceremony and several members of the Squadron were among the recipients. Cpl Ian Briggs, SSgt Denny McLaren and Cpl Craig Edwards received the VRSM, while Sgt Trevor King was presented with his long overdue Efficiency Medal and the Lord Lieutenant's Certificate.

The Weir brothers are also handing over command of NCRS Troop with the outgoing Lt Milne Weir heading off to pastures new in Aberdeen and Lt Ewan Weir moving to the Squadron from his previous posting as OC RRTT – welcome to one and all. The Squadron completed the run up to the Summer stand-down with a burst of activity as Foot and Mouth restrictions were gradually lifted and long standing events were rescheduled. One of the highlights among these events was the Squadron Adventure Training and Physical Training weekend at the end of May, where we carried out a walk along the route of the Crinan Canal on the Saturday and were dragged around the RMR endurance course in Largs. This arduous weekend was closely followed by the Regimental SAAM and Inter-Squadron weekend in June, which has already worked its way into Squadron lore. Here we won the Roupel Cup, the Graham Trophy and the Whittaker Cup, the pistol titles and the falling plates competition. The Skill at Arms proved the warm-up to the real event with the Squadron winning the Volleyball, the Tug o' War and most importantly, the Football titles.

EXERCISE WHEATSHEAF ROSE 2
ANNUAL CAMP - 24 JUNE – 7 JULY
CO'S CADRE (OFFICER/WO/SNCO TRAINING PACKAGE)
by O/Cdt Claire Southworth

After Spending ten months in the South of France, and only having one week to re-adjust to England, going on exercise to RAF Machrihanish on the Mull of Kintyre for two weeks was quite a shock to the system! It was definitely a strange feeling putting on the green kit again, and having to make the effort to look presentable. The worst part was trying to get up at 6am every morning for much needed PT.

Not really knowing what I would be doing, due to my late return, I was informed I would be following the CO's Cadre. The Course was mainly run for Senior NCOs and Officers, so as an Officer Cadet, it was all new to me, and sometimes quite mind-boggling! There were of course the few who couldn't make it in on time – permanent Duty Student SSM P. Williams, and others who just couldn't stay awake through the CO's lectures – Capt K. Sirr. My solution was to team up with Lt S. Evans and poke each other in the ribs every so often. Definitely recommended if you can keep a straight face! The lectures covered everything from the roll of the present day TA unit and what the future holds for us, to Media Ops and Summary Dealings. The experience gained from the Media Ops exercise, where everyone had to give a press conference, was very interesting, and I'm sure that SSM Robertson has learnt valuable lessons in restraint, after being provoked so much he nearly started beating up the acting press representatives.

The final 48 hours of the course was spent on Ex Commanders Gallop. We were split into pairs, each given a 24-hour ration pack, a disposable camera, £20 emergency money and a list of 40 tasks with varying point's scores, the highest 4000 points for having a photo taken with Sean Connary. Despite much blagging, no one actually managed to complete this one with the real Sean. However, Lt P. Knight and 2Lt D. Fenwick achieved the second highest scorer, the First Minister of Scotland. The First Minister was not all too amused though when told he was second to Sean Connary, and after that he, would not allow any other teams to see him. (There was, however, a mention in the Sunday Times of the incident the following weekend).

When as many tasks as possible were completed, everyone had to ensure they were back in barracks and ready to give a presentation by 11am Friday. The most spectacular return made by Maj Miller and SSgt Duffield managing to somehow get a flight back from Glasgow, although the circumstances are a little suspect, (How was the flight paid for)?

After all presentations were complete, with much heckling from other teams, there followed a short adjudication and the announcement was made. The Top Blaggers who managed to amass around 240 000 points, and only just managed to get back in time, were Maj David Titheridge and SSM Paul Williams. The losers, much to my dismay, were Lt S. Evans and myself. As a forfeit, Lt Evans had to ensure the first test rugby match between the British and Irish Lions and Australia was recorded and presented to the CO by 1300 on the Saturday afternoon. My forfeit was to ensure that the CO did not find out the result of the match before he watched it. Both tasks were completed, God only knows how I managed mine, but I'm now dubbed the CO's shadow! However, some people were not impressed when the final few minutes of the match had not been recorded. By this time, Lt Evans was already past Glasgow, so no one could skin him for the mishap!

MILITARY TRAINING - by Sig A.. Dowling

The course was run by Capt Hopkins from 80 Sig Sqn (V) for those from the Regiment who didn't need to complete trade training. The students consisted of Signalmen to Corporals with varying abilities. On the exercise, the infamous bog monsters of Machrihanish took out two people by swallowing their feet and hurting knees. Some were also taken out by the amazing quality of Scottish water. All on the adventurous training, which followed in the second week, had fun. The most enjoyed being the 16-mile walk over the beautiful hills, seeing all the forestry commissions' hard work and the breath taking view of the fog and mist. We followed a single track, and completed the Mull of Kintyre Coast to Coast. I still can't quite understand why a GPS was produced. It didn't work, but we weren't by any means lost! Then on the other side glorious sunshine and plenty of flies met us, while waiting for the transport.

Trade Training - by Cpl R.. Haddock

Summer camp for 33 Sig Regt (V) was, due to the Foot and Mouth crisis used as a good opportunity to train new operators for the Regiment. The course was controlled by SSgt Ken Smith in Scotland at the old US Navy Seal compound at RAF Macrahanish, with his chief instructors SSgt Paul Langley (Radio Relay), Sgt Phil Price (Sys Op) etc. and their various instructors. The fortnight was a success with a grand total of eight new Radio Relay Ops, including Sig. Dave 'Dangerous' Dougherty, his brother Sig. Paul 'Plug' Dougherty, and Sig, Ian 'Isaiah' Parsons. There were also four Sys Ops trained, these included Sig Nancy 'Never Sleep' Dunbavin, and also a loose collection of EDs, including Sig Jimmy 'Glass Back' Walker. The course consisted of six days continuous training followed by a days R&R, followed by 3fi days training and a 36hr confirmatory comms ex. Which, although there was considerable type three interference, enabled the new operators to strengthen and confirm their new found skills, which are to be further worked upon on exercise in August. During the R&R phase, both students and instructors alike, made ample use of the local hostelries after taking part in various activities, including a round of golf organised by Sgt Paul 'Mad Dog' Bermingham and a trip to Glasgow by minibus.

The epidemic of Foot and Mouth caused the cancellation of the 11 Sig Bde COMMEX Flying Eagle. Not to be thwarted, the Ops Team led by the much missed Training Major, Maj George Whyman and his team Capt Mike Bryden, WO2 (FofS) Young and WO2 (A YofS) McKinnon put together the alternative, Ex Grounded Eagle due to the fact that this exercise was flying nowhere fast. Due to the hard work and dedication of the support team a number of thank you comments should be made. Thanks go to the key personnel that ensured the camp went as well as it did. There was WO2 (RCWO) Berry and his team of chefs for consistently providing excellent catering. Then there was the administration and organisation of the large tented area provided by the RQMS team of WO2 (RQMS) Bell and WO2 (RQMS (V)) Bell..(Yes this does cause endless problems and no they are not related), with the co-ordination of the QM Maj Les 'has anyone seen my 7 iron' Wood. There were also the pay parades that sent glum faces away smiling to the credit of Capt Keith Sherburn, Capt Carl Freeland and the RAO staff working hard behind the scenes. Of course not forgetting to mention WO1 Dave 'I've got my 7 iron' McGurk and the MT and LAD team for ensuring everyone got to and from Camp safely. Often undervalued as a whole the Annual Camp this year was the greatest of successes by the hard work and dedication put in by all – meals, mail, money, medical, motor transport and many more.

A warm felt welcome go to a plethora of new recruits that joined the Regiment during the latest fast track course run during Annual Camp; Sigs Ambler, Bryant, Frose, Hook, Hopper, Jaboro, Murphy, Parker, Serasinghe and Shippin. Well done to all and good luck for your future TA career! Congratulations also go to the well deserved and newly promoted LCpls Andy Barrett, Ross Pemble, Rich Torley, Lodge and Courtney. For being the 'best Siggies' on Annual Camp Sig Sahera Ramzan and Sig Ben 'Gizmo' Evans and all those that passed their driving tests during camp the Squadron congratulate them.

EXERCISE GROUNDED EAGLE
ANNUAL CAMP A 49 SQN PERSPECTIVE

Once again the Foot and Mouth Crisis affects the training programme with Annual Camp being held at Cawdor Barracks in Brawdy, courtesy of 14 Sig Regt (EW). The Camp was in the form of three phases; Exercise, ITDs and Adventure Training. 49 Sqn were fortunate enough to have the phases in the order as listed here and therefore began with the comms exercise. The Exercise was used as a teaching and learning phase and to try and establish a form of Sqn SOPs. Memorable moments included Sig Maj 'I can't let go' Jaboro on being told to throw the smoke grenade. This was in the short period there was to utilise the pyro that had been taken on camp – what Coast Guard? What local farmers? What police? What Welsh Boys Choir?

On the ITDs a new side to Sig Sahera 'Anne Robinson' Ramzan who was found dispatching the weakest links in double quick time during the CFT. Brig Nigel Wood, Secretary of the Yorkshire and Humber RFCA, was regaled with Sgt John 'It's a funny thing' Barrass' life history during the coastal walk, thereby saving the rest of the walkers. The Squadron potted sports event included such wide-ranging activities as hopscotch, javelin throwing and an alternative pitch and putt golf. The team consisting of OCdt Karen 'I must win' Ford, Cpl Neil Malloy and Sig Bing Serasinghe won the event. Wooden Spoons went to LCpl James 'Bad at everything' Lutkin, Sig Mark 'So am I' Clarkson and Sig Maj 'And me too' Jaboro.

This was to be the last camp with the Sqn for the OC, Maj David Sixsmith, as he move across to sunnier climes in HQ Sqn as the Training Major. He was presented with a picture commemorating his 13-year service and best wishes go with him from all at 49 Sqn. He did, however, take a well-deserved bath in the nearby water tank which proved to be quite chilly!

A worthwhile and encouraging turnout from the Troop members on camp meant that all had a good time. The Troop rounded up a number of prizes over the two-week period. First prize in the 'Who can ask the stupidest question' competition went to LCpl James 'Pass the ball' Lutkin for his question posed to Comd 11 Sig Bde, 'Who are you and what do you do?' Was it his own attempt to get his own back for the numerous occasions he has been asked, 'How long have you been in the TA and what do you do in civvy street?' First prize in the 'how to attack a trunk node' competition went to Cpl Neil 'talk a good battle' Malloy. Great plan, just a pity the practical element to the attack did not quite go to plan. Oh well, at least the fire support team enjoyed using up what seemed to be an eternity of pyro although they were a lot less enthusiastic about the weapon cleaning. Unfortunately, Sgt Rob 'Albert Gidfrey' Godfrey could only manage second place in the 'Who's the messiest' competition. He was well and truly beaten to the post by SSgt Ian 'Fair Weather Biker' Middlemiss who constantly gained points for maintaining the most untidy bed space in Wales. Never mind Sgt Godfrey, there is always next year! Whilst on the subject try and picture the scene as the Regiment sleep oblivious to everything except the sound of an early morning lark singing a dawn chorus. Suddenly, the morning quiet is shattered by the sound of the reveille reverberating around the old aircraft hangar that is the accommodation tented area. This was courtesy of Sig Dan 'The Man' Stead and his trumpet for tunes – that is once he got the correct tune for reveille. More volume will be needed next time to drown out the dulcet tones of Sgt Tommy 'BFAT' Simpson's snoring. Thanks go to LCpl Wilkinson and Sig Bibby who were attached from HQ Sqn to the Troop for the duration of camp – hope you enjoyed it!

EXERCISE GROUNDED EAGLE
ANNUAL CAMP A 49 SQUADRON PERSPECTIVE

As previously mentioned, the Annual Camp was split into three main areas – ITD Trg, Sqn Trg, and Adv Trg. The ITD training was planned and co-ordinated by the SSM with the only encouragement needed by the troops was the thought of that bounty at the end of the training year. Apart from the normal ITDs a number of other items of interest were slipped into the programme in an attempt to make it more interesting and varied. For the lucky ones this included a Helicopter familiarisation training (jolly!) in a Puma thanks to our friends at RAF Benson.

The CO glad to be back on Terra Firma from a Puma Heli ride

During the ITD phase the Sqn hosted the Comd 11 Sig Bde, Brig Le Gallais. He toured a number of stands, meeting instructors and soldiers alike, being most impressed by the well prepared BFAT stand and the almost theatrical skills seen by the Regimental FofS, WO2 (FofS (V)) Land who is thought to be applying for RADA after this latest performance. Squadron training followed the ITD phase with an organised military interest day. This included a visit to the Household Cavalry Regiment at Castlemartin Training Ranges in the morning. The troops were given the opportunity to clamber all over a variety of vehicles including Spartans, Sultans and Scimitars. The hardest task of the day was removing ex-tankie Sgt Gary Fletcher from the area – 'once a tankie always a tankie!' During the afternoon the Squadron had the pleasure of a visit around 14 Sig Regt (EW). Here WO2 Alistair Scott briefed all on the delights of Odette EW followed by a look around the kit and then SSgt John Winn and his staff for their presentation of the Barracuda EW kit. Adventure Training saw the Squadron embarking on a three-day Adv Trg phase. Some had better weather conditions than others and enjoyed a marvelous walk around the Pembrokeshire coast from Solva to Whitesands – Capt Steve Wayman is still recovering with Sgt Steph 'Ravanelli' Gibson at the half way point on day one. Other activities included surfing, a boat trip around Ramsey Island and a trip to Heatherton Country Park.

The Squadron Social was held at Brawdy Lanes following the last day of adv trg. Ten-pin bowling was the order of the day and the CO and SVWO were the main guests of the evening. The Lanes staff prepared a fine buffet and more than enough was scoffed by the Sqn gannets. The grudge games match including table football, bowling and pool between the Officers (messrs Wayman, Edwards and Bailey) and the SNCOs (messrs Robinson, Blair and Jemmett) resulted in a close victory for the Officers, going down to the very last frame of pool. Highlight of the night was when the CO promoted four of our finest stalwarts with congratulations going to newly promoted Capt Jez Bailey, Lt Paul Denning, SSgt Cath Sproat and Sgt Karen Jemmett. Well done to all!

Finally the two-week period was completed with the Comms Exercise. The Squadron deployed the Trunk and Access assets on Ex Kids Caper in and around the Pembrokeshire area. Access had the short move from Brawdy out to Templeton Airfield and the TN travelled a little further a field to Trenorgan Farm, Castlemartin. Once comms were in and working, the exercise introduced a 'role reversal' for a number of key appointments. Sgt Karen 'Capt' Jemmett took the Tp Comd's job and Capt Jez 'Sig' Bailey became a Central Crewman, taking this role very seriously as he saw it as an opportunity to actually learn something. 'Sig' Bailey promptly turned off his mobile, went to bed and got up 10fi hours later, just like a normal Central operator! At Access, LCpl John 'Sig' Wightman took command and Lt Paul 'Sig' Denning got stuck into cam and comms as a trainee Radio Relay operator. All in all a very valuable portion of the Exercise which all participants found both educational and beneficial. Leaving their initial locations, both assets moved back to Brawdy airfield, the TN going via Templeton Airfield where they were promptly subjected to an attack by 'Free French Resistance Fighters' in the guise of Capt Dave 'Pierre' Edwards and WO2 (SSM) 'Jean-Paul' Middleton. Unfortunately for the terrorists they had not anticipated the ferociousness of Sgt Dave 'Mad-Dog' Brown wielding his wooden club with cries of infringements against the Geneva Convention. Sgt Mickey 'Hannibal Lector' Jemmett took the opportunity to practice stress positions and something unmentionable with a thistle on them – don't even go there! The exercise finished with a comprehensive turn around on Brawdy Airfield where all were visited by the Hon Col, Sir Norman, the Regimental TOT and FofS (V).

The CO in his wisdom requested a Regimental Dinner out of the norm by having a joint Officers' Mess and Warrant Officers' and Sergeants' Mess Dinner. An excellent yet rather unorthodox evening saw Maj 'Taff' Watts taking the role of Mr Vice and leaving us enthralled by his rendition of Men of Harlech. Not to be outdone the CO and RSM did an impressive 'Not the 34 News' which set the standard for some very entertaining skits, the majority involving members of 50 Sqn, forthwith to be known as Comms and Comedy Sqn. 'Star of the Night' has to go to Sgt Peter 'Absolutley Loopy' Robinson for his role in the 'Alternative White Helmets.' The CO, however, was heard to say to Lt Paul 'No theatrical ability whatsoever' Denning that he should not bother giving up the day job just yet. Editorial sensitivity prevents the production of photos taken of the march back from the mess in the morning except to say that a good night and morning was had by all!

PSAO 90 Sqn, Capt Duffy appointed as a Queen s Yeoman of the Guard

From Flying Eagle to Grounded Eagle the Squadron found itself in deepest, darkest Wales on Brawdy Airfield for this year's Annual Camp. A varied and interesting programme was provided and the opportunity of hitching a ride on a visiting Puma helicopter was gladly taken by all – this included LCpl Becky Williamson and Sig Helen Keen who were so enthusiastic they insisted on a second ride. Following on from the success at Christmas, 90 Sqn once again proved they are the best beat 49 Sqn into submission on the sports field. Credit should be given to the Shinty, Football and Orienteering teams, who all performed extremely well under stiff competition. A day's Go-Karting revealed some demon drivers, particularly those frustrated one who do not hold full driving licences yet! Cpl Jerry Carr received the dubious privilege of being the only person to be black-flagged and therefore found himself being beaten by all including the females! The final battle of the cars was between the OC, Maj Richard Lenton and Cpl Kev Pountain. Under-hand and unfair tactics were employed as the OC was taken out on a particularly sharp bend. Cpl Pountain was his usual modest self when accepting the winner's trophy. The outcome of the Adv Trg now means the Squadron have five certified (or is that certifiable!) 'surfing dudes'. SSgt John (FofS) Walsh, Cpl 'Granny' Groundsell, Cpl 'Johno' Johnson, Cpl 'Ed' Law and Sig 'Who's pinched my carpets?' Farrington were all bitten by the 'surf's up' bug. They now have the wetsuits and training boards and it will only be a matter of time before their cars grow roof racks and sprout full size boards.

PLAIN SAILING

Doubts that annual camp would ever take place were quickly dispelled when reporting instructions were issued some weeks before deployment to all members of the Regiment announcing a long overdue Mobilisation Exercise. The exercise, which was designed to represent a Regimental mobilisation through a TMC, would launch our move to Salisbury Plain to participate in Ex Flying Eagle. Here we would engage in some useful joint comms training with our regular counterparts from 3 (UK) Div Sig Regt. This was to be a unique annual camp and a first for the Regiment as it was to be split into two distinct but separate phases. The first phase on Salisbury Plain in July was devoted to mobilisation and comms training and this is to be followed by a second phase in September/October at Wathgill. While Phase 1 was comms orientated Phase 2 will concentrate on trade, military and leadership training – something to look forward to some would argue provided another FMD crisis does not get in the way!

The CO in a rare moment of relaxation

The first phase, which took place during the period 30 June–7 July went extremely well. The mobilisation exercise made everyone aware of how the new Reserve Forces Act affected the TA and how important it was to practice crucial administrative procedures. The SPS team in particular led by Maj Mark Whittingham and Capt John Middler ably assisted by the RAOWO, WO2 John Watson, and his team of Admin Officers learnt some valuable lessons. These included the true definition of a Sibling and some team building lessons in relation to the number of additional staff they think they need to expand their organisation! Although one or two still think COLI is a stomach complaint – well in a sense it is if you don't receive it, and most were disappointed to learn that the Call Out Gratuity is just not paid for an exercise! Following this useful but vital interlude Det Comds and their crews concentrated on the task of carrying out final checks on their installations. After which movement briefings took place in preparation for the long drive to Salisbury Plain via Hullavington transit camp. Here all elements of the Regiment benefited from a plug up ex and other useful training before deploying to SPTA.

I'd walk a million miles for one of your smiles
Sig Phillipa Holt and Hilary Baxter relaxing between shifts

I would like to say that this move went without a hitch but unfortunately a traffic accident occurred on the M5 southbound involving a 95 Sqn vehicle driven by WO2 Ritchie Roberts and his co driver Sig Steven Smith from 58 Sqn. They were driving the last vehicle in a packet when a civilian vehicle collided with the back of the trailer they were towing causing it to collide with the central reservation. The trailer ended up on its side ejecting its contents over the motorway. The Land Rover itself spun round facing the oncoming traffic and completely blocked the outside lane. Fortunately WO2 Roberts who, under the most difficult and harrowing circumstances, remained calm and maintained control over his vehicle and brought it safely to a halt. He then took control of the incident ensuring the injured civilian driver was treated immediately and traffic controlled safely until the police, ambulance and recovery services arrived. The police in particular have heaped great praise on them both on the way they handled the incident that ensured the safety of many others at the scene. The remainder of the week passed by without any other mishap and each Squadron settled down comfortably to their operational roles and routines and by all accounts communicated well, as well as enjoying the heat wave. Our illustrious technicians, who have a reputation to maintain, meanwhile spent most of the exercise with little to do as equipment failures and problems were remarkably low and retreated from the tropical heat in the comfort of an air conditioned ERV. The joint comms venture with 3 (UK) Div Sig Regt also went well and, despite one or two hitches, the relief in place of TN 078 with TN 037 was deemed a huge success and highlighted how well the TA and Regular Army can work together. Everyone agrees that joint efforts of this nature can only strengthen this vital partnership. Even SSgt Andy Lloyd, 48 Sqn's SPSI was pleasantly surprised at how well it went, but whatever you do don't raise the issue of time and motion with him, you may not like the response!

A happy threesome from 48 Squadron

Elsewhere the ex went like clockwork and everything clicked into place, which impressed our most notable visitor Comd 143 Bde, Brig Andrew Meek. He spent a whole day with the Regiment on Tuesday 3 July and visited as many locations that he could cram in accompanied by the CO, Lt Col Stephen Potter. This enjoyable and productive week ended all too quickly with endex being declared late on Thursday. After various de-briefs and turnaround we all made our way back to our respective TAC's, via Hullavington once more, in the early hours of Friday morning. To sustain us on our journey an excellent haverbag packed with goodies was provided by the QM Dept - although the veggies were not too pleased by the high meat content, cest la vie! At the end of this phase of annual camp the traditional rest and recuperation period was replaced by a relaxing post exercise party in each TAC and after a long hard Saturday we returned home to our families and our now beginning to look forward towards September and something completely different.

TERRITORIAL ARMY FOUNDATION COURSE

It does pay to be politically correct especially as Phase One Recruit Training is now correctly called the TA Foundation Course which takes place at Regimental level.

Normally this course would take place over four or five weekends but annual camp presented another unique opportunity to invite our newly attested recruits to attend a crammer course to coincide with annual training on the SPTA. The RRTT headed by Lt Skip Whalley deployed directly to Westdown Camp accompanied by eleven aspiring recruits drawn from all Squadrons. The week offered huge benefits as it allowed the recruits to carry out seven days continuation training thus removing the usual monthly breaks between weekends. This naturally resulted in far better trained recruits than normal even though they still took a lifetime to put the Corps badge into their berets – win some lose some! The Recruit Pass-Off Parade also coincided with the Regimental return from annual camp and took place at Canley TA Centre at dusk on a warm summer evening on Friday 6 July. The inspecting officer, Lt Col Stephen Potter, presented the award of Best Recruit to a proud and jubilant Sig Carl Moore of 95 Sqn. The CO then sprang a well planned surprise on the parade commander WO2 Terry Douglas by announcing and promulgating his promotion to WO1 (SVWO). Terry for once in his life was speechless. Fortunately for him though he choose this particular parade to wear his new Combat 95 having being forced to abandon his beloved desert combats.

ROUNDABOUT

While Terry Douglas is still reeling from his well earned elevation to SVWO, congratulations are also extended to WO2 Martin Thacker on his recent promotion and appointment as SSM of HQ Sqn. Also a belated congratulations to WO2 Nav Muhammad who has taken over the reins as SSM of 48 Sqn replacing WO2 Carol Eden who moved in with the ever expanding Ops Team in RHQ. Elsewhere Maj Chris Edwards our newly appointed 2IC has finally handed over the reins of power as Ops Offr to Maj Robert Stone and we have welcomed Capt Jo Evans as Adjutant replacing Capt Bob Lovett who is posted to HQ LAND – he would argue for a rest. Jo unfortunately is only with us for six months as she has chosen to join another gigantic Corps the AGC. Finally a special congratulations is extended to 2Lt Sally Carroll of 58 Sqn having successfully graduated from RMAS and being appointed to a TA Group A commission.

REACHING THEIR PEAK

By the time this edition of The WIRE goes to press, the Haupsberg Dragon team headed by Capt Alec Rodgers and SSgt (FofS) Steve Brown will be well into their expedition to Kenya. Here the expedition will trek the Chogoria route that will culminate with a physically demanding and daunting ascent of Mount Kenya obtaining an altitude of 4800m. It has to be said their efforts to get there have gone through many trials and tribulations - not least the selection and training phases, which have led to a few disappointments. Many volunteered to participate in this expedition and all have gone through tough selection, assessment and training to secure their places. Preparatory training has been exhausting and has consisted of many rigorous weekends in Wales and elsewhere with the final selection weekend taking place in Snowdonia during the weekend 20/22 July. Here aspiring expedition members negotiated three peaks in torrential rain that included an overnight wilderness camp having to descend an almost vertical 200m to the campsite. Everyone who attended this physically exhausting weekend gave it their best shot in their final efforts to be selected and can all be extremely proud of their achievements. After many deliberations, the final team of twenty-three members has now been chosen and they will commence their journey to Kenya on 18 September.

NEWS FROM THE PUZZLE PALACE REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS

Annual Camp is always a busy period for any TA Regiment, but a combination of the FMD epidemic and a Royal visit made this years event particularly challenging, especially in RHQ. Overseeing everything from about 50,000 feet was the TM, Maj 'Jimee' Sykes, who proved to be his normal, unflappable self. Our Adjutant, Capt Rousell Edwardes, had been nominated as the RPO (Rotund Project Officer) for the visit of the Princess Royal, and all the hard work that he had put in during the previous three months came to fruition on the day. The Regimental 2IC, Maj Dove Witson VD, was under intense scrutiny during the first week as several people, The Princess Royal included, tried desperately to find out what he actually does for a living (apart from playing golf). The RQMS, WO2 Gaz Tuff, made his huge presence felt, and the vital kit necessary for the visit miraculously appeared well beforehand, though the RQMS (V), WO2 Eddie Kickars, soon started to tear his hair out. During all this time the QM, Maj Phil Daisey, and RSM, WO1 Dougie Eaglesham, quietly got on with tasks commensurate with their experience, rank and appointments – and then after they had cut the grass and erected the tents, they started on the weeds in the driveway! After a huge amount of hard work and meticulous planning, Ilford TAC was finally prepared for the arrival of the TA personnel for the start of their camp, followed closely by The Princess Royal. After much wailing and gnashing of teeth (mainly by the Ops Officer, Maj Willy Shurley), all the component parts of Annual Camp went reasonably smoothly, as they normally do.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON - ILFORD

Sqn Comd Maj Pete Minshall
SSM WO2 Terry Lambert-Butler BBC

Well, that's Annual Camp over for another year, and what a Camp it was! Due to the Foot and Mouth Epidemic, the Regiment was obliged to rearrange its plans for Ex Flying Falcon, the 11 Sig Bde FTX that was to have been based initially around STANTA before relocating to points North. The enforced changes led to week one of camp being relocated to Ilford TA Centre, where we were to be honoured by a visit from our Colonel in Chief, though other locations such as Colchester, Woolwich and West Tofts Camp were also utilised for disparate training needs. As a direct consequence of these changes the PSAO, Capt Ernie Feasey, nearly had a nervous breakdown when his plan for a restful camp went straight out of the window. However, after his pleas for the relocation of the Royal visit to any other TAC fell on deaf ears (The Adjt is booked in for a hearing test) he had to settle down and get stuck in, along with the rest of the Squadron. The Sqn Comd, Maj Peter 'Mad Major' Minshall decided that this was just the time to take his annual holiday and departed for the USA for four weeks. (I'll be back when it's all ready, he was heard to mutter as he disappeared over the horizon). The 2IC and QM(V) Capt Gordon 'Not another crumb' Shelley adopted the tortoise attitude i.e go into your shell, and it will be alright on the day - the Messing Plan he left lying around was found and proved to be workable, if a little frayed at the edges. The SSM, WO2 Terry 'Blue Wings of Glory' Butler, rose to the occasion. He coaxed, organised, planned and (ably assisted by the SPSI SSgt Jim Pollitt and PSI Sgt 'Griff' Griffiths) ensured that all of the Squadron would be in the right place, at the right time, with the right kit.

Much wheeling and dealing with various agencies produced a plan (on a rather large 'fag packet') and many taskings and rehearsals to make sure that it would all work. We were never sure whether we were on Plan A, B, C or Z, so many versions existed, depending on who was delegating to who! In the end, it all seemed to work, as the visit was a glorious success which made all the hard work, weeding and bandinage worth while. Much of the work prior to the visit, in particular the grounds maintenance and social life in the bar, was due to the sterling efforts of Miss (Pte) Caroline Evans, our gorgeous resident caretaker. After spending several weeks not knowing whether she was 'dyed, bored or countersunk', she was still able to switch between stroppy civilian to dutiful soldier like a chameleon. She deserves the prize for the best split personality of the camp. The Royal Luncheon was ably orchestrated by the Master Chef, SSgt Norma Miller-Kight, and her team of chefs, and the service was co-ordinated by Sgt Linda 'Mum' Cooper whose skill and diplomacy in briefing eight disparate individuals (on Royal Service) had to be admired. Linda never raises her voice, she just suggests LOUDLY. Once the Royal Visit was over, the Lemmings flew the nest to Woolwich and a hard earned R&R before deploying onto a Regimental FTX over private land in East Anglia. This left the PSAO, the RAO, Maj John Nixon with his Pay Team of SSgt Trevor Franklin, Sgt Sue Vicary and Pte Caroline Evans (her again) to sort out the money and to hold the fort at Ilford. During this quiet(?) period, they organised and delivered RAO and Administrative training to the Regimental Civilian and Military Clerical Staff - this was a trial run for the future development of such training within the Regiment, and it was adjudged to be a success. The QM, Maj Phil Daisey, organised a Regimental Stocktaking at the drop of a hat to mark his handover to his successor (arriving any day now, or so we are led to believe by MCM Div) Capt Geoff Woodcock. This was complicated by the transition of the accounts to UNICOCKUP!!, oops UNICOM. All the boots, socks, nuts and bolts have been counted to the last minutia, and some poor soul has now got to key the whole lot in. Good luck to you, Clare!

Camp was rounded with a Regimental Smoker and entertainment at Woolwich, followed by the Regimental Sports Day for the Commanding Officers Cup (covered elsewhere) - suffice it to say, the Squadron put up a sterling performance, but just lost out in every event to youth and inexperience. Some of the sterner warriors of the Squadron got slightly bent in the process. WO2 Keith Smith forgot that Ballet Practise takes place on a dance floor and not a slippery football pitch and somehow managed to fracture some bones in his foot. The OC, Maj 'Storming Bull' Peter Minshall strained a ligament just thinking about playing a game, and the Ops Officer, Maj Bill 'I'm a former trucky' Shirley was taken out by a hidden sniper during a very physical game of softball – it's normally cars that he bends, rather than hamstrings. Sig (now LCpl) Reggie Cullumbine, Sig Charley Meredew and Pte Johnny Walker attended the Regimental JNCO Cadre and participated in the Regimental Guard of Honour for the Colonel in Chief. Reggie finished as top student and was promoted to Lance Corporal at the end of Camp as just reward for her efforts – a big well done to a soldier with a big future ahead of her. Pte Johnny Walker appreciated the support of his younger contemporaries who encouraged him throughout, especially as his initial contact drills consisted of forming a square – good on yer, Grandad! Cpl Michael Egunjobi managed to complete the NBC Instructors Course and can now shout GAS, GAS, GAS louder than any one else. Sgt Roberts, LCpl Cullumbine and Sigs Painter, Pemberton, Hill, Meredew and Mann completed the Driver training module to attain full trade status. Around all of this, the normal life of the squadron has continued. Our recruiting continues to bear fruit, with little or no wastage. The Sqn and LAD have now gained some 15 new members in the last three months, with the loss of only one - albeit on transfer to another unit as a parachutist. We have another eight in the system, with 4 more positive enquires from the latest weekends recruiting.

All good things come to an end, and regardless of the new blood there will always be some sad departures. We have just said a sad and tearful farewell (of joy in some cases) to Maj Phil Daisey, who is to retire from the Army after 37 years outstanding service. Phil is well known throughout the Army, never mind the Corps, and he was seen off in some style. An Officers Mess Dinner started the ball rolling (though unfortunately there was no quiz to entertain the assembled brain cell(s)) and a Permanent Staff Dining Out which brought back various characters from his criminal past. The roll of honour/dishonour included, amongst others, Col (soon to be Brigadier) Tim Inshaw, Capt Gary Mason and Ex-WO1 Steve Buxton. The event was slickly organised by WO2 (RQMS) Gaz Tuff, who is proving to be a 'massive' presence within the Regiment, and was an enormous success. We wish Phil and his wife Gerry good fortune for the future, especially in his reincarnation as the SO2 (RO) Camp Commandant at STANTA, where we will meet him often on Regimental Training.

The good, the bad and the departing QM,

Other departures include the Regimental YofS, SSgt Tony Martin, off on promotion to 2 Div Sig Regt with his family - he needs the rest. Tony has had an exceptionally difficult tour, which has meant he has had to be extremely flexible and has organised Regimental Comms and Training in an exemplary manner. His post is to be gapped, and Sgt Karen Ellams has had to step onto the soapbox and assume the mantle of YofS pro-tem. Still, POHR is some compensation for making more cups of tea. The RAOWO, WO2 Gordon Cameron has decided that working in uniform no longer suits his manly figure and has decided to retire to a Civilian appointment in a school, where they all wear uniform and he does not have to. We await his successor with interest. Sgt Tim Gamble has finally worked his ticket and is to be medically discharged a month ahead of his normal discharge having signed off last year. Tim is a larger than life character, having been taken from the same mould as Billy Bunter, and has suffered a large degree of ill health in recent times - we wish him and his family well back home in the dark North. Another Regular soldier off on his travels is Sgt Kevin East, who moves down to Blandford and the Royal Signal Display Team – lock up your daughters! Kev has been an extremely popular member of the Regiment (and that's saying something, given that he is a Technician) who has always tried his naked best to fit into the local community, even when somnambulating (get your dictionary out, Kev) – all the best, matey. SSgt Terry McIntyre arrives in TM Tp to cover the vacant FofS post - he has been put straight into the deep end with Euromux 'Out of Use', RSIT, ECI etc all ongoing. Other arrivals are SSgt Les Eldridge from TA to NRPS as the permanent SQMS, leaving room for Sgt Babs Babester to move over from MT to become SQMS(V) - now Babs, you don't actually have to take off your socks to count them.

COMMANDING OFFICERS CUP 2001

by Cpl Dave Worsfold (CO's driver and resident beast master)

The end of Annual Camp was looming, and that could mean only one thing - the CO's Cup was back on the agenda! The weather had been non-stop sunshine from the first day of camp, and this constant heat was starting to take its toll on the officers and soldiers (even the Adjutant had lost half a pound in weight). I decided, therefore, to ask the padre, Maj Eaton, to put in a demand for some rain up to the Great QM in the sky (I knew that Quarter Master is an RD appointment, which is as close to God as you can get). Maj Eaton really came up trumps on the big day, and the heavens opened for about one hour, which was just enough time to bring the temperature down to a reasonable level.

The Regiment paraded at 08.00hrs in Woolwich Station Gymnasium (God's Temple) for the initial brief on the days events. I immediately noticed that the boys and girls did not look at their best, and then realised that it had been the Regimental smoker the night before. A couple of whistle blasts soon got the attention of the assembled throng, and after a quick pep talk they soon realised the day had actually begun.

The morning's events started at 08.15hrs and consisted of Volleyball, Softball and 6-a-side association football, all very physical events which produce copious amounts of sweat (Angels Nectar), helping clear the body of beer (Devil's Urine) which had been consumed the night before. HQ Sqn was undoubtedly the superior Softball Team, winning all three of their matches. The Team was very professional, studying the opposition's tactics and changing their own accordingly – SSgt Jim Pollitt's bowling technique also proved to be extremely effective. The only thing missing was the chewing tobacco (though Pte Caroline Evans was seen with a big wad in her hand at one stage during the day) and the teams' spit bin.

Brig D. R. Wilson visited the Regiment whilst the afternoon's events were in full swing. That non-contact sport known as basketball was played in the Gymnasium and the spectators had a chance to talk to Brig Wilson in between the fearlessly fought battles on court. The day's events were starting to take its toll on the participating officers and soldiers, as many of them were playing in every match, but the high sprits of the TA came to the forefront when the Tug-o-War, which was the final event, began. After the penultimate event had been completed, all four Squadrons were in with a chance of lifting the Commanding Officers Cup, which was all that I could have hoped for. The tension built as the first two teams dressed off on the rope. There was a deathly silence as the teams took the strain, and then I gave the command PULL and all hell broke loose, (or at least it sounded like it). From that one word the entire Regiment found the energy to shout and encourage their squadrons – I have no idea where this fresh impetus came from, perhaps the padre's mate had something to do with it, but it was a commendable effort from everyone. A combination of good technique, true grit, determination and pride saw 45 Sig Sqn, who were previously lying in third position before the Tug-O-War began, pulling themselves into first position overall. Well done to everyone from Colchester and Warley for giving us an excellent finale to what was an enjoyable day.

SOUTHEND & GREYS

After a considerable period of absence, a big 'Hello' From 44 Sig Sqn. The Squadron of late has been gearing its main effort towards Annual Camp, which due to the current F&M crisis, was split between various locations around Essex and Suffolk. Prior to Summer Camp, on 2/3 June the Squadron underwent familiarisation training on the Gazelle helicopter. Our hosts for the weekend were 666 Sqn Army Air Corps, based at Netheravon. The weekends training consisted of heli-loading drills with underslung loads and all of the associated safety points this entailed. After conducting dry and live drills, each member of the Squadron was given the chance to experience a flight in a Gazelle, which was something many of the soldiers had never had the opportunity to do. On completion of the days training, 666 Sqn kindly organised a horse racing evening, which was enjoyed by all, with the exception of those who lost money! (All of us…) A great time was had by all, and our thanks go to 666 Sqn for the excellent training and hospitality they provided. On 27 June, the Squadron took part in the visit to the Regiment of our Colonel-in-Chief, The Princess Royal. The Squadron stand was a great success, with many members of the Squadron taking part. The stand traced the history of 44 (CP) Sig Sqn, with soldiers dressed and equipped as their predecessors would have been throughout the centuries. Some of the older members of the Squadron carried their roles off better than others, with certain individuals (Sgt Bathurst, Cpl Jones, Sig Dunham etc…) looking like extras from Dads' Army!

Members of the Squadron showing their big guns off to the Colonel in Chief

Equipment to furnish the stand was kindly provided by the Corps Museum and Coalhouse Fort, Tilbury. The day was enjoyed by all, particularly those soldiers and families who were fortunate to meet HRH The Princess Royal in person. Finally, our congratulations go out to Sgt Trev Franklin and Sgt Jeff Suckling on being selected for promotion to Staff Sergeant. More from 44 in the next issue……

ANNUAL CAMP 2001 – A PERSONAL REFLECTION

by Sig Mann (HQ Squadron)

Saturday 23 June - the first day of Camp 2001. Camp with a difference - our Colonel in Chief, HRH The Princess Royal is due to arrive at 36 (E) Sig Regt (V) TAC Ilford on Wednesday 26 June.

Last year the Regiment had centralised training in Castle Martin, Wales, but due to Foot and Mouth the Regiment is to be split up between the different centres - namely Colchester, Ilford, STANTA and Woolwich over the next fortnight. I'm on two weeks Driver training in Colchester under the command of WO2 (MTWO) Stevo Kentish, who used to be a driver in the Royal Corps of Transport; successful completion of this course will see me qualified as a B2 Driver, Licence Category C. Following parade and debrief, the Driver course and Cadre course candidates were taken to their locations on the back of a 4-tonner, heads buried in books or resting, with eager anticipation as to what lay ahead. The Driver course arrived at Colchester and said their good byes and good lucks to the Cadre Course, who all had a CFT to look forward to on arrival at STANTA with lots of Drill practice thrown in for good measure. They have a tough few days ahead and will be the Guard of Honour for the arrival of The Princess Royal on Wednesday.

Wednesday's fast approaching with personnel busily finalising the weeks of preparation for the royal visit. Sig Szabo - Colchester's sewing machinist, has also been busy, sewing nametags and regimental flashes onto shirts and jackets. Wednesday morning parade - all are looking smart. There's an air of excitement and nervousness as we are taken to Ilford. On arrival we are greeted with the newly transformed Ilford TAC - fit for a Princess! An impressive array of stands have been laid out, showing the different troops - past, present, young and old side by side. Beautiful bouquets and plants are on display, and security is tight, with the police and Special Forces in attendance. All eyes went skywards as The Princess Royal was flown in by Helicopter to South Park, then driven to the TAC. Cheers from the crowd of family and friends invited to attend HRH The Princess Royal's first visit to Headquarters.

The Guard of Honour provides an outstanding royal salute under the command of 2Lt Sturt, prior to The Princess Royal's tour of the TAC and stands, after which she has her picture taken with the Regiment. Then it's lunch with a handful of soldiers from each squadron., and I'm lucky enough to be one of those individuals picked to meet The Princess Royal. She is pleasant and easy going and soon puts everyone at their ease as she finds out a bit more about the people behind the Regiment – when they joined; why; what jobs they do, both civvi and TA.

Sig Mann, with other members of HQ Squadron, meet the Princess Royal

With lunch over, The Princess Royal's visit is complete, she waves good-bye to the crowds and is whisked away, leaving everyone with fond memories. The rest of camp proceeds with almost every candidate gaining their B2 or B3 Driver qualification and/or their Category B, C, C+E or D licence. Special thanks to the instructors, especially Sgt Outlaw and Sgt Butler who's dedicated instruction ensured my second camp with the Regiment has proved to be successful, once again.

REGIMENTAL GOLF SOCIETY - by SSgt (SQMS) Ron 'Tex' Russell

There is only one thing to do after a very busy week at Annual Camp – play golf! Logistics, hangovers and further preperation for week two saw the field whittled down to only nine enthusiasts. Maj Pete Minshall and Capt Len Carr led the way in their 'buggy', with Capt Gordon Shelbey and Maj Davie Witsom bringing up the rear. Superb weather combined with a new course, the South Essex Golf and Country Club, made for a really good day. The honours on this occasion, however, went to the middle pairings with SSgt Gerry McGachy winning the nearest the pin competition, on a 190 yard par 3, and WO2 Martin Wright continuing his steady improvement (some of our older readers may perhaps remember Martin from the Falkland Island campaign, the Iranian Embassy in 1980 or El Alamein). The overall winner was SSgt Ron Russell who, at long last and to the relief of most other Regimental players, has been caught and cut. Our sincere thanks go to Maj Pete Minshall who organised the event – we should do it more often!

JNCO CADRE COURSE - CAMP 2001

by Sig (Now LCpl) Reggie Cullumbine – Top Student

The JNCO Cadre Course Camp 2001 proved to be one of the highlights of my TA career. Fourteen Siggies from various squadrons of 36 Sig Regt.(V), all willing and eager to learn the leadership skills needed to become a JNCO, volunteered for the course. And the rewards for their endeavour – a tick in the box for promotion to Lance Corporal and the prizes for Top Field Soldier and Top Student, which would lead to instant promotion. The course was kicked off with our PTI, Cpl Worsfold, putting us through our paces with the TACFT. Sig Burton took this as a personal challenge, and all her training paid off as she led from the front. Cpl Worsfold then punished us daily with PT and Command Tasks. At the end of each lesson we were exhausted and he was smiling (PTIs have a strange sense of humour).

We were tasked to prepare a five-minute lesson on our chosen topic. There proved to be an array of subjects, from Pte Walker's talk on lens caps to Sig Bleck's hilarious paper plan lesson. We learnt all about bird watching from Sig Fraser (when he is not watching birds, he is thinking about them), and Sig Bathurst entertained us with her theories on personal cam. Not unreasonably, SSgt Marlowe decided we needed a bit of help. After teaching us some basic instructing techniques and how to chair a discussion, we set to work on a ten-minute lesson, and choosing topics for the class to talk about. After applying all of SSgt Marlowe's theory, our lessons improved immeasurably. Sig Impey's 'All You Ever Wanted To Know About Challenger 2 But Were Afraid To Ask' lesson, showed he has the makings of a recognition instructor. We learnt basic Dutch from Sig Bland, and can now confidently go to any pub in Holland and order a beer ('Waar is de bar'). The discussion group was great; Sig Meredew chaired a passionate debate on animal testing and Sig Pemberton dazzled us with his knowledge of the law (you would never guess he works for the courts in Civvy Street). The conversations carried on after the lessons were finished, which really helped us get to know each other better.

STILL WORKING

The Squadrons main effort over the past few months has, of course, been Annual Camp based in Ilford and on the STANTA training grounds. The Squadron mounted impressive displays of our equipment and history in conjunction with Regimental stand, helping to make the Royal visit by The Princess Royal, an outstanding success. In addition to the hard work in planning and constructing the stands, our soldiers managed to complete driver training (all categories), MT skills, NBC, BITS and Junior Cadre courses. Sig Collins 754 Tp (Bedford) successfully passing his Cat B first time! Rumour has it that not only are Sgt Beach and Sig Brocklebank now expert Cat C drivers but also have first class toe dipping skills as they found time to paddle whilst practising their driving skills around the coastal areas. It's not all work, work, work… hey boys! Sig Malloy of 757 Tp (Cambridge) conducted himself in exemplary fashion on his Junior Cadre Course by finishing in second place and attaining the Best Field Soldier award. On the NBC Cadre 54 continued its tradition of leading the way with Cpl Blackwell, 755 Tp (Norwich), coming top of his course, and on the recruits course Sig O'Brien (755 Tp) was award Best Academic Soldier. LCpl Crawford and LCpl Barnes also doing the Squadron proud by successfully completing their Corporals courses.

As always 54 have put much effort into recruiting over recent months with 757 and 755 Tps mounting displays at Duxford and Mildenhall respectively. During which time 755 Tp raised £50 for the Army Benevolent Fund through running quasar and face painting for the public, in conjunction with their recruiting. Charity events have also been in the mind of 757 Tp, 18 of which managing to successfully complete the London to Cambridge bike ride with supporters of the Marie Curie Trust. The weather held out well, as did the legs and bottoms of the Troop, although some were definitely limping on the Thursday after! July has also seen 54 host their annual Summer Ball at Coldhams Lane, Cambridge. The evening was a resounding success with guests and soldiers alike partying to the resounding tunes of Rickie Martin to well into the early hours of Sunday morning. If the level of hangovers on the Sunday was anything to go by, it was a good night.

Final words before we close for this quarter are heart felt Congratulations to Sgt Beach and Pte Beach (757 Tp) on the birth of their first baby girl, Ammie. Mother, daughter and dad all doing extremely well. It is good to see wee Ammie has the lungs to make it to Sergeant (just like her dad)! Further congratulations to the now SSgt Durso (754), Cpl Blackwell (755) and LCpl Everitt (757) on their recent promotions and a warm welcome to the Officers mess for the now OCdt Spurling (754). A sad goodbye to Sig Impey (757) who leaves us in order to join the REME in the Regs. Finally best of luck to Sig Fraser (757) who is due to run in the Three Peaks Challenge. You're mad!

Students and Instructors from the Regimental Junior NCO Cadre Course surround two passing REMFS in the form of the CO and RSM

Sgt Parkinson certainly had his work cut as he was our drill instructor for the week. Not only that, he had to prepare us to act as the Honour Guard for a Royal Visit by HRH The Princess Royal. None of us had performed any sort of rifle drill before but Sgt Parkinson persevered with us, and when the time came to fix bayonets the first aid kit was never far away (no major injuries). On the day all went well, as our friends and families cheered and clapped as we marched away - I do believe it brought a tear to my eye! We were all very proud to have the opportunity to perform a royal salute as TA soldiers, and the hours of hard work on the Drill Square, the bruises and sore arms were definitely worth it. We were split into patrols for the final exercise; our mission was to set up an OP observing a rebel force in an air control tower. In the late hours we received a radio message – our rations had been dropped outside the wood we were in - so the rummage search patrol went out to hunt for our supper (I have never looked forward to eating compo rations so much in my life). Sig Brocklebank led the CTR armed with a neatly rolled ball of string to make his measurements of gates and fences. As dawn approached we planned our attack on the control tower. Sig Impey, Sig Brocklebank and Sig Malloy (Best Field Soldier) and myself went in first. When the signal came we seized control of the tower and just as we thought the job was done, Cpl Worsfold sprang the last surprise (PTIs always have the last laugh) - a gruelling stretcher run. This gave Sig Smoker and his team the opportunity to demonstrate some of the best qualities of a TA soldier; teamwork, encouragement and true stubborn determination. I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of the JNCO Cadre Course Camp 2001 to thank SSgt Marlowe, Sgt Parkinson, Cpl Worsfold and Cpl Price for all their hard work and patience. A student is only as good as his instructor, and these guys were 'Spot On'. By the way, Top Student went to me, LCpl 'Reggie' Cullumbine.

IS YOUR FITNESS READY FOR THE CHALLENGE?

by Lt Hilyard

I have kept it quiet for many years but, alas, the secret must come out. I am one of those spotters that starts to dribble with excitement when names like Soloman and Blue Eskimo are banded in my presence. I often spend hours poring over outdoor magazines dreaming of the new kit I would buy and places I would go if only the TA would pay me more! So when I finally convinced a friend to attempt an Introductory weekend Adventure Racing Camp, no sooner had he agreed in principle then we were off! If I had seen their slogan (this title) I would have thought twice!

After a long drive to the Forest of Dean we arrived at the centre for Trail Plus, the organisation running the camp, and wow what a welcome! Food and beer waiting for us with hospitality beyond what is necessary.

The weekends programme was explained and we were invited to join the group for the 'optional' 7am run. So Saturday started and we opted in for the run. Urggh! A few minutes in and I was breathing through my ears, I wondered what I had let myself in for. I was with a bunch of seriously fit people. I was going to die! At breakfast we met the folks who'd opted out of the run, and boy what a crowd. The backgrounds were varied ranging from serious runners and tri-athletes to folks who'd not ridden bikes since being 18 (now aged 35). My fitness was probably mid to low end of the group. So the day began. We were given lessons in map reading (no officer and map jokes please), abseiling, Canadian canoeing, mountain bike handling and running techniques. We were given tuition and practice time in all disciplines. The hills that we were running down were, to me, unbelievably steep. To the extent that before the camp I would have tentatively baby stepped my way down, but here I was not just running down them but jumping like a maniac down them. The bike handling was great, again the hills being steep enough to cause the bikes to tip if you did not distribute your weight properly. Through the tuition I finally learnt how to bunny hop my bike over obstacles, albeit haphazardly! More practice needed I think! So a much enjoyed day came to a close, and we returned to the centre for a well-earned shower and food. As we sat down (in varying degrees of discomfort from aching muscles) to a fantastic meal and wine I felt pretty good, give or take a stiff quad (thigh). Soon the conversation flowed as freely as the wine, offering the opportunity to get to know our fellow competitors and nutters. Maps and equipment ready, my race group were chomping at the bit for the next days race… (massive exaggeration). The concept of adventure racing revolves around glorified orienteering in tandem with biking as well as running with compulsory stands with physical and mental challenges. For my group the first challenge for one member was being able to walk due to her aching body! We started with anxiety as the whole of the other teams went a different way to us! I breathed a sigh of relief as we cut them up having taken a short cut!

The race was off, and we dedicated ourselves to obtaining the checkpoints and 'boy' did it involve some fun cross-country! Through the day we scaled slagheaps, crawled through (and under) fencing, ran gullies, balanced over fallen logs, ran rivers and climbed through culverts and pipelines and if like me you take a more direct route to islands… swimming! We were slow but methodical and finally finished in third place beating much fitter individuals. The reason we did so well was not our physical but mental strength. We were slow but did not get lost. We were three strangers but were united in a love of being outdoors and having a good time through adventure training. For some they enjoyed the experience but would not wish to repeat it, for most…. Bring on the next race! The weekend was fantastic well organised and friendly offering the opportunity to combine sport with socialising with like minded, slightly mad individuals. I would strongly recommend it.

ON TOUR DOWN UNDER WITH THE FUSILIERS

by Sgt Kev East

It was the start of another working week at 36 Sig Regt when I received a phone call from the Training Major, Maj Jim Sykes, to come straight up to his office. So up to his office I marched, armed with a dozen excuses to get out of the impending task I was sure I was about to receive. On walking into his office he asked 'what would you think if you were offered a trip to Australia to play rugby for the Royal Regiment of Fusiliers, as well as watching the British Lions play the Aussies.

Sgt Kev East enjoys a bit of culture

I was given the day to think about it, as an immediate answer and the money was required by the end of the week. After a long deliberation (ten minutes) the cheque was on the TM's desk and I was soon to be on my way to the land down under. After meeting up with the team, I discovered that the squad consisted of 28 personnel, four of whom were guests from other Regiments and Corps, myself included. We had a briefing that night on tour rules, and at that point I realised that I had forgotten my ladies underwear, and apparently Rugby tours are not the same without said ladies underwear (and who am I to argue with rugby protocol?). I was gutted; as a good Technician I normally always travel with a least two complete sets of matching lingerie. The next morning we all awoke at 0530hrs and set off for Heathrow airport, After a gruelling 27hrs flight we arrived in Sydney, Australia. We were taken to our four star hotel in down town Sydney, situated in a suburb called Kings Cross, an area known for its late nights and red lights (not of the Traffic variety, Griff and Jason).

The first eight days of the tour were extremely hectic. In that time we had three games, all against top class civilian teams. Unfortunately we only managed to win one game, however, they were all closely fought and physical and we managed to keep our heads held high. Then the highlight of the tour came - the third and final test of the Lions tour. With the series tied at one game each, we couldn't have had it any better. The stadium was awesome, and the atmosphere was like nothing that I had experienced before.

We all know the result, so in the after match entertainment we showed the Aussies how to drink and sing songs which included 'We cam here with a backpack, you came here with a ball and chain' and many other great classics. The final game of the tour was the first against an Australian Army team (3 Royal Australian Regiment). This was by far the most physical game, with numerous players leaving the pitch through injury, mostly due to the tremendous tackling. The three weeks soon ended, and on reflection they have to be rated as some of the best memories of my army career thus far - a trip of a lifetime was had by all. I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone in the Regiment for covering for me while I was away - cheers guys.

38 (CITY OF SHEFFIELD) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

'BRAVO, ECHO, ALPHA, ROMEO –OVER'

Derby Territorials on operation 'Carpathian Express' will be packing the bare necessities - while their hosts keep the local bears at ease. Rob Bromwich and his friends are stuffing every spare corner in their kit bags with teddy bears as presents for deprived children in Romania. After their visit to one of the orphanages, near Soveja, the part-time soldiers will be heading into the highlands for ground breaking military maneuvers. Their Romanian army hosts' biggest worry is that a grumpy black mountain bear might try to eat one of them. LCpl Bromwich (25), from Oakwood, said, 'We've got a huge supply of cuddly toys to hand out to the children, but not enough cargo space to carry them. We've all been trying to figure out which bits of kit to leave at home so we can make more room in our rucksacks for toys. We're all really looking forward to meeting the youngsters after we fly out, on Friday (June 29). We simply can wait to get stuck into the military manoeuvres.'

LCpl Bromwich, a technician in civilian life, has been in the Territorial Army for 12 years. He is among 12 members of Derby-based 46 Sig Sqn taking part in the exercises in Romania. They will be deploying overseas for the first time a unique new computer controlled communications network. The Kingsway-based Signallers are the world leaders in the developing the system that can speed up battlefield communications ten-fold. Their adaptation of ordinary personal computers to drive the military's latest signals equipment has also reduced by 70 per cent the time it takes to train new Signallers.

The part-time soldiers' two-week stint in Romania, in searing 38 degrees of heat, will culminate in the cool of the mountains, around Molena. There they will be operating under armed guard in a ten-square-mile fenced compound. Both wire and rifles are necessary precautions against ferocious bears.

MISSION TO OMAN

Nottingham Territorial Stephen Shaw can hardly wait for his American Adventure to turn into a mission to Oman. The 21-year-old city-based Royal Signaller is spending his summer sharing people's excitement at the region's famous theme park. However, when his temporary job ends at the attraction, near Ilkeston, he will be swapping fun and make believe for the real adventure of a lifetime in the Middle East. Sig Shaw's Triumph Road-based part-time military unit is the world leader in military computer-operated data transmission systems. The British Army has utilised the expertise of civilian specialists serving with the unit to create a network that can speed up battlefield communications by 900 per cent. When Sig Shaw heads off for Oman an entire armoured division will be depending on his skills to keep them on track. He said, 'I'll be working with a Signals team taking part in a huge army exercise. Our job will be to keep a radio watch along a main supply route running right across the country. If any tanks or supply vehicles get in to difficulties they will be relying on us to call in heavy recovery support to help them.' Sig Shaw, from Ilkeston, said that with desert temperatures soaring into the forties, access to immediate assistance was vital for the soldiers and their machinery. He added that he was aiming for a full-time career in the regular army. Serving with the Territorials had been the perfect way to find out what military life was like first.

RHQ is undergoing significant turmoil as two key characters move on and are replaced. Firstly to Maj 'Butch' Maycock, the Training Major, a sad farewell, and secondly to the Adjutant, Capt Nick Feet who not only moves onto warmer pastures in HQ Cyprus, but takes with him his new wife Rachel (many congratulations from all in the Regiment). Good luck to you all! Linked of course are greetings to the incoming Training Major, Maj Mackay and Adjutant, Capt Jason Nichols. Mention must be made of two individuals of 47 Sig Sqn; Sgt Bob Young who recently spent two weeks on an exciting exchange with the US National Guard (in the US, of course!) and of LCpl Spittle who has just returned from four months in Mongolia with Raleigh International (full articles below). In addition, there has been a very colourful Medal Award Ceremony for 5 Sig Sqn, Squadron exercise deployments and a Squadron Battlefield tour by 47 Sig Sqn. Looking forward to the winter? Despite the promises of potentially inclement weather, the Regiment looks forward to the mobilisation and deployment of 16 individuals to the Balkans as part of the composite 97 Sig Sqn - the first of its kind for a long time! Also in October is Annual Camp, this year to Bodney Camp (STANTA), in Thetford, Kent - the program is shaping up well and it looks to be a busy camp indeed!

47 (MIDDLESEX YEOMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON (UXBRIDGE)

Sqn Comd Maj C. M. Lankester

Despite the hindrance of Foot and Mouth, the Squadron remains reasonably well recruited, we continue to recruit high calibre, enthusiastic and well-motivated people. The battle to retain soldiers whose civilian jobs become more hectic and demanding continues and we are optimistic that we can regain full strength this year. Elsewhere, Sgt Ben Newby is to be congratulated on his achievement of finishing top student on his Royal Signals Staff Sergeants Course at Blandford The Squadron has had several exciting things occurring these past few months, with a highly successful Squadron battlefield tour to Normandy (see below); a deployment to Salisbury Plain and Sheffield on Ex Mercury Skirmish, and NCRS(+) exercise. A real chance to practice comms skills in a tactical environment, special mention must be made of our affiliated cadet detachment who provided a strong force to simulate the guard force that would inevitably be deployed to such a communication site. They performed splendidly under Lt Mark Hinks their new detachment commander and many are the war stories going the rounds at Uxbridge. Looking forward, the squadron is now preparing for Ex Marconi Yeoman, an HF comms exercise utilising the NCRS HF voice capability. This is a follow on exercise to Exercise Eastern Venture in February of this year, much enjoyed by those taking part because they really had to work at the comms problems that faced them.

SQUADRON BATTLE FIELD TOUR EXERCISE NORMANDY YEOMAN

Following the success of the Squadron's previous trips to Ypres and the Somme, it was decided that the next trip should focus on the Second World War. Our intent was to visit major sites from the Normandy campaign, and to follow in the footsteps of 4 Squadron Middlesex Yeomanry. Extensive pre-exercise planning was conducted and briefing notes prepared by our guide, Normandy expert and PSAO, Capt David 'Don't call me Dave' Gibson. Eighteen members of the Squadron assembled at Uxbridge on a Thursday night, and once two stragglers had been rounded up set off for 'somewhere in Southern England' where our landing craft awaited. An uneventful night crossing was made (broken only by high level debate with other members of the ship's company on Northern Ireland politics). In the early hours of Friday morning we were reconstituted on the bridgehead, with horses well watered (some troopers more so) and keen to gain a foothold further inland. Unfortunately our stragglers struck again and decided to come ashore on foot rather than in the transport laid on.

The first day's itinerary was gentle and included the establishment of camp before visiting our first two sites. At Longues we visited one of the coastal gun batteries that faced the invasion force and recreated scenes from 'The Longest Day' at the observation bunker on the cliffs. The Squadron then moved to Arromanches, the town on Gold Beach where one of the Mulberry harbours was established. Here we visited the museum dedicated to the landings, walked on the beach and were refreshed in a cafes assisted by the incredible language skills of Sgt Bob 'Babelfish' Young. For the evening's entertainment the Squadron dispersed and found that Normandy appeared to be closed until the holiday season began. This could explain why the troops RV'd towards the end of the night in 'The Yellow Submarine'. A bar devoted to the Beatles and charmingly wallpapered in tartan carpet (which pleased Pte Darren 'The Hustler' MacFarlane almost as much as the pool table on which he proceeded to win the shirts from many Squadron members). We also encountered our own difficulty in establishing a bridgehead here as entry involved being examined through a peephole before giving the password, which after much guessing transpired to be, 'Vive la France et le Four Fab'. Further delight was had by the Squadron's male choir (star vocalist Sig Jon 'Freddie Mercury' Clarke) when the karaoke machine was set in action, although questions were asked about the post-watershed Channel 5 nature of the backing videos.

The following morning a relatively early start was made and the Squadron headed for Bayeaux. The trip was enlivened by Sig Sean 'M. Creosote' Diton's discovery that he was not good at travelling in the back of a minibus after a night in The Yellow Submarine and Sgt Ben 'Golden Boy' Newby's map reading skills. In fact so expert did our chief navigator show himself throughout the weekend he was immediately recommended for a field commission! At Bayeux we visited the excellent Musee de la Bataille de Normandie where Babelfish was able to regale various veterans with his military experiences and Lt Matt 'Melchett' Watts definitely did not fall asleep in the film show, despite rumours to the contrary. We then moved on to the Bayeux cemetery, the largest from the Second World War. Here, in the absence of any Middlesex Yeomanry fallen we laid a wreath on the grave of a member of the Queens Own Oxfordshire Hussars, now our sister Squadron 5 (QOOH) Signal Squadron and observed a minute's silence. A poignant reminder of the 'all arms' nature of the landings and battle was the number of Merchant Navy graves to be seen in the cemetery in addition to those of the RN, Army and RAF. Our next objective after victualling at a local supermarket was Hill 112, the scene of a month-long battle between various British divisions (including 5 DCLI, after whom the site has become known as Cornwall Hill) and 11 SS Panzer Corps. Here a second wreath was laid at the 43rd (Wessex) Division and silence observed. The site was also interesting for the assembled Officers as a TEWT had been held in the UK during Officer Training (although Lt Melchett's suggestion that the best strategy was to 'form square and hoist the Regimental colours' was not taken as the best option). We then moved to Villers-Bocage, site of an action involving the British 7 Armd Div including 4 Sqn Middlesex Yeomanry. Here, in true Yeomanry style, a column of armour had stopped for a nice cup of tea when an SS Panzer commander, Michael Wittmann, burst from cover. He charged into the town destroyed 49 British vehicles (including the entire RHQ element of 4 County of London Yeomanry) before escaping on foot after his own vehicle was disabled. This site was of particular interest to LCpl Keith 'Vapour Hazard' Braun, who had studied Wittmann's career in the past.

At this point it was decided to return to camp and divide the Squadron so the cultured could visit the Bayeux Tapestry and the remainder take some R&R. Reports from the bus to Bayeux handed down from Capt Lisa 'AWOL' Taylor suggested that the speeds reached in order to get to the museum before closing time were every bit as frightening as facing Michael Wittmann. The excursion was judged a great success. The evening continued in 'The Yellow Submarine' where the, Squadron were greeted as old friends and the Male Choir performed again. On a foraging mission some members of the Squadron including LCpl Kev 'Tintin' McRae discovered the rare beast that is a restaurant with absolutely no food available. We were also treated to the sight of Lt Dave 'Swamp Thing' Cornick and Lt Melchett in extremely lively matching Hawaiian shirts, which attracted criticism from many including LCpl Cath 'Fashion Police' Corcoran, who could not believe that two supposedly grown-up leaders of men could be seen in public in such items. On the way home it was also rumoured that our PSI Tech, Sgt Baz 'Boatswain' Kightley was pursued by Norwegian and Japanese fishermen during his moonlight dip.

The following morning dawned far too early for some (yes, the stragglers again) but camp was struck in a timely manner and we departed for our final two destinations. This element of the trip centred on the Airborne assault, partly to please the PSI 'Oops' SSgt Jay 'Stumpy' Saunders. The first location was the Merville Battery, scene of savage fighting after a drop by 9 Para went awry. The museum here was housed in the main bunker used dioramas, photographs and paintings to bring home the scale of the action, which was ultimately successful for 9 Para even though it transpired that the guns they had been sent to silence were not in fact as formidable as the planners had feared. We then moved to Pegasus Bridge where a fine new museum has been built covering the airborne action. Here the PSI 'Oops' was teased mercilessly by members of the Squadron pointing out that the objective was taken not by the Paras but the Ox & Bucks Light Infantry. Lunch was enjoyed in the Café Gondrée and our attachment, Maj Toby 'PLK' Lankester was appointed as official photographer for the inevitable group shots on the bridge. Attempts to recreate the painting 'Go to it' by Peter Archer were frustrated by the volume of traffic coming over the bridge. We then performed our exfiltration to Le Havre, following the coast road that allowed us to examine more of the beaches from the transport. 'Golden Boy' again showed his navigational abilities: at one point Sig Stuart 'Homer' Morris was heard to say, 'If we pass that McDonald's again can we please just go in?' The return to the port was accomplished eventually, although an attempt to stock up the Squadron's bars was thwarted by (i) the fact that all supermarkets in France appear to be closed on Sundays (ii) the heavily laden state of the transport and (iii) the enormous queue at the British-owned shop on the quayside. Luckily the Squadron team (featuring Sgt Lois 'Ian' Lane, the resident music expert) won a return crossing for later in the year in the onboard quiz so perhaps we will be able to return for further explorations and replens. A fast crossing was made and good time achieved in the return to Uxbridge, so an earlier than expected dismissal parade was held and the Squadron dispersed with plans already afoot (encouraged by our OC, Maj Carla Lankester) for next year's trip. Suggested destinations on a postcard, please! There are many people to thank for their efforts to make this trip the success it was (Lois and 'Golden Boy' made fine breakfast chefs, for example: please don't transfer to the Really Large Corps). However, overall mention must be made of Sgt Young for his translation, which helped things run smoothly, the PSIs for their input during the preparations for the trip and most of all of Capt Gibson, without whom the exercise would not have been the great learning experience it turned out to be.

OTA/US NATIONAL GUARD EXCHANGE JULY 2001

by Sgt Bob Young - 47 (Mx Yeo) Sig Sqn

Get all my stuff in the car ready to go to the TA Centre ... ... .do I really need all this stuff? I go via RAF Uxbridge to meet my host Sgt Ray Reynolds USNG and we set off via Heathrow, bound for Washington DC. I meet up with Warrant Officer Terry Werley the US National Guard representative, who helps to organise the exchange programme, and acts as the point of contact for all the British personnel whilst they are in the States. With my host, we were then airborne to Des Moines, the state capital of Iowa, via St Louis, arriving late evening. We had been told during the briefing in March, that the first thing most servicemen notice in America was the heat, and believe me they weren't wrong! Even arriving at Des Moines at 10pm at night it is still over 80 degrees and the humidity is really sapping! The overnight accommodation in an air-conditioned room was a welcome relief. On Saturday my host took me to Iowa City (Indian country), and then a drive up to the Amana Colonies (an old 19th century Germanic colony). After meeting my host's family, we check in at a baseball game where I am honoured with the 'first pitch', having been introduced to a crowd of 10,000 as 'Sgt Bob Young of the Queens Territorial Army from Oxbridge'. I manage to pitch the ball without disgracing myself, although I don't think that they'll be looking to sign me up just yet! I literally 'melt' back into the crowd to watch the rest of the game.

Sunday morning sees the start of the trip to the exercise area, only about 1000 miles to go. We head for South Dakota via Sioux City and Sioux Falls, missing a tornado on route. The plains are very dusty, very dry, full of cattle and very little else especially people! Following an overnight stop, we head for Elsworth Air Force Base, where there are an awful lot (25) of B1 Bombers (and at $200 Million per aircraft, that's an awful lot of aircraft). After looking around the aircraft, it is off to Mount Rushmore, eventually arriving at Camp Guernsey in Wyoming in the early evening where we meet the rest of the battalion. I switch from tourist mode to military mode.

On Tuesday, my host and I visit some radio dets. Quite interesting, how they use their masts. They are all hand cranked with directional ropes attached, which are used to focus in their SHF antennae. This procedure sometimes seems to take them forever. The other thing that was really noticeable was the sheer weight of the masts, probably about twice or three times the weight of our own. The weather becomes a highlight on the Wednesday night; 22 people were struck by lightning out on the training area, it was a miracle that no one was killed. We got flooded out (memories of England). I have been volunteered to act as enemy during one of their combat training tests, the test being how they react to effective enemy fire. One thing that was really noticeable was their whole ethos to training, because it appears that much of their training revolves around their trade, with less emphasis on other parts of the military syllabus, especially the infantry side of soldiering. The heat did finally take it toll and I had to retire for the afternoon.

During the weekend, I decided to look up a couple of British soldiers, who were also participating in the Echange Programme and were out on the same training area. We found their parent unit fairly easily, and came across an MLRS unit (grid square removal company) that was co-located with them. Their hospitality was outstanding and I had a wonderful few hours being allowed to drive the power unit and be shown how the system worked. Sadly we had to leave but found our compatriots nearby, demonstrating the advantages of combat 95 webbing. Their parent unit offered us all the chance to fire the 155MM field howitzer, and again it was a fantastic experience and highlighted the great hospitality and warmth that the US soldiers showed me throughout my stay. Monday was my other 'must do' day, namely the watching of the 'Million Dollar Minute'. This was where the employers of the National Guard got to meet the military Top-Brass, with the million dollar minute being a salvo of rockets from a battery of MLRS's ... This was absolutely amazing and afterwards I presented a regimental plaque to the head of the Army National Guard - Lt Gen Schulz! Monday was also endex and how quickly a week passed!

Tuesday morning, my host and I acted as an advance party for the battalion recovery back to Cheyenne, the state capital of Wyoming. Following a fast turn-round, it was time for the presentations, tea and medals. After all the presentations, it is my turn to be wheeled out in front of the battalion, where I receive a 'Certificate of Appreciation' from the Lt Col Feldman, the CO, which was in 'recognition of my vivid and thoughtful debriefings during the combat training tests'. Wednesday was recovery day (in more senses than one!) It was reveille at 0530hrs, so that I can fly back to Washington at 0630hrs, via Denver and Chicago. Thursday is a chance to see Washington, particularly Fort Mayer and Arlington National Cemetery, and the tourist sites and statues of the city. It is also a chance to catch up with the rest of the British contingent and swap stories (as one does). With my body and suitcases weighing almost the same, I am sad to leave the USA. I have so many great memories and have met so many nice people. Of course I will be going back to the US next year! If only life was that simple. All I can say is that these two weeks have been the best of my life.

FROM UXBRIDGE TO ULAANBAATAAR - FOUR MONTHS IN MONGOLIA

by LCpl Spittle 47 Sig (Mx Yeo) Sqn, 39 Sig Regt

Mongolia - one of the most desolate and wild countries in the world, perceived by most to be the back of beyond. When I received the phone call from Raleigh International asking me if I would accept the position of Assistant Logistics Manager for the April to June expedition this year, I had no hesitation in saying yes.

'Raleigh International is a youth development charity which inspires people from all backgrounds and nationalities to discover their full potential by working together on challenging environmental and community projects around the world.'

The young people who take part in the expeditions are 17- 25 year olds from a variety of backgrounds, they all participate in three phases - a community, an environmental and an adventure phase. The staff team consisted of the following - Expedition Leader (lives in country and is employed by Raleigh), Logistics Manager (is contracted to Raleigh for two expeditions), Deputy Expedition Leader, seven x Project Managers, six x Assistant Project Managers, two x Builders, eight x Medics, three x Assistant Logistic Managers, Accountant, Administrator, Public Relations Officer and Photographer who are all volunteer staff. As part of my ALM role I was also to be the Communications Officer for the expedition.

Pre Expedition - The logistics team arrives in country early in order to allow them to prepare the equipment, food etc before the main complement of staff arrive and staff training begins. One of the first tasks was to empty the container from England which had all of the food from London for both expeditions running in Mongolia in 2001, all the new tools for the building sites as well as various other bits and pieces. It took a day (in the snow!) to unload and then we had to sort everything. In the first few days I also visited the Black Market (so called due to colour) - the main source of everything in Mongolia from Apples to Yurts (Mongolian felts tents aka Gers). Due to Foot and Mouth in North Eastern Mongolia it was decided to move both the environmental projects down to the Gobi desert and to have a secondary field base down there as well. This was to host Venturer Induction and Changeovers and would have staff based there throughout each phase. This decision meant that the Logistics team would have a slightly different role than first anticipated. Instead of spending most of our time in UB and travelling out to the sites and organising re-supply from UB we would be operating from Southern Field Base (SFB). This meant that re-supplies were much harder to obtain and transport as it was a fifteen-hour drive from UB along roads that wouldn't even warrant being called a track back in England. There was a local town - Dalanzadgad (DZ) where we could buy most things but not in the bulk we required. We therefore had to buy all of the local food (pasta, rice, milk and other staples) and sort it and the food from London into project groups for transportation down to the Gobi. This isn't normally done until it is required. All equipment and kit that might have been needed i.e: spares also needed to be sorted and made ready to be moved down to the Gobi. We also had to buy all the stock to ensure that Tuck Shop was adequately stocked and run during Induction and changeovers. Trying to work out how many bars of chocolate, cans, bottles of moisturiser, tubes of toothpaste, films and cigarettes amongst other things the expedition are going to require is a headache of the largest order. Everything needed to be bought in UB and transported down as we wouldn't be able to find it in DZ.

Staff Induction - I had to teach the staff about HF communications and the radios we were going to be using. The radios also needed to be programmed and checked and the kits made out for each group. The radios we used were made by an Australian company called SMC and were called HF90s. My brief was to teach the rest of the staff basic voice procedure, basic antennas and propagation, how to use the radios and how to deal with any problems. In Mongolia the only way to communicate is by radio, therefore every staff member had to be competent and confident in using them because in an emergency that would be the only way of communication between the group and field base. Once the project staff had deployed the listening watch was then activated in Field Base. This was my next job - to ensure all staff remaining at Field Base knew how the system worked there. On arrival at SFB (about 60mins after leaving DZ) we discovered that the trucks that had transported everything from food to meths from UB had arrived - there was no rest! We unloaded the trucks then put the food away in the food ger, and put most other things in the storage ger. One of the first things I discovered was that a dipole had been set up using two poles usually used for tying horses to! However, as masts they were proving remarkably effective. This dipole worked and all groups could be picked up as could FB. Excellent - one less job for me! Over the next couple of days we sorted food, moved food, sorted and moved food and then moved it again! Normally back to where it had come from! The staff returned from their recces with kit requests left, right and centre so we dealt with those, placated and cajoled staff as they realised that this and that wasn't possible and then the one word appeared that sends shivers down my spine even now - TENTS. Quite an innocuous word really. I was trying to allocate tents as fairly as possible as we hadn't enough. I managed it only after one staff group came back and assured me you could fit four people in a three magi Hyperspace.

Venturer Induction - Now came the bit I was dreading - I was to teach 100 17 - 25 year olds how to use a radio. I had cunningly forgotten all my notes so had to rely on memory and luckily it didn't let me down. I didn't teach them as much detail as the staff- just basic VP, how the radios worked and what the dipole did and safety issues.

Phase 1 - During phase one I was based at SFB with Paul, Albert one of the other ALMS and Jane - a medic. We had to ensure that the trek groups were supported adequately as well as trying to source food and possible spare equipment in case anything got broken. Supporting the trekking groups involved doing three food drops as they couldn't carry 21 days food with them. We agreed food drop locations with the groups over the radio then headed out and located these places and endeavored to leave the food there. At SFB we had a generator which allowed us to have an eight-way battery charger charging them batteries constantly. This allowed us to collect the trekking groups batteries and replace them with charged ones during the food drops. During this phase we also had a great deal of difficulty with one of the channels we were operating with and I had to try to work out a better system for the next phase. It was decided not to use this channel for the rest of the expedition and as a result comms were much better. The radios were also proving to be somewhat troublesome during this phase, however it was all stuff that the groups could fix. Sadly the groups didn't realise this, so during this phase I put together a 'Troubleshooting Guide' for the project - there were significantly less problems next phase. The weather at SFB proved to be the toughest thing to overcome - the wind was constant at about 40mph and on some days we had gusts of 100mph with 80mph constant. Walking around proves to be somewhat challenging in these conditions. We also had temperatures below freezing, snow and blizzards, but we also days of bright sun and nice weather, however it was still windy. At the changeover between Phases 1 and 2 I ran through everything with the project staff individually and covered any issues they might have. I also checked all equipment and issued charged batteries where necessary. Changeover also means that the Logistics team also have sort out the food for the next phase and deal with any kit / equipment issues that arise.

Phase 2 - My 'phase out', (i.e: away from my role) I found myself in one of three folgons heading to Togrog -home of A1. Togrog is a small town in the north of the Gobi where we were building a Straw Bale Medical Clinic for them so they had a purpose built medical facility. Raleigh has a contract with the UNDP to build four of these clinics a year until 2003 - 16 in total. It was the hardest phase I did as the work was very physical and we did long hours on the site. Despite problems with the straw bales not arriving on time and rain (in the desert?) we managed and left at the end of the phase having finished the inside walls which you have to stuff with straw and the outside walls which uses straw bales as very big bricks. During this phase the venturers also get to interact with the community and we spent evenings in local workers (we had six local workers on site with us) gers, playing with the local children in the after school club, playing sport against the townspeople and generally getting to know them.

Phase 3 - I was to spend this phase at FB in UB. We were packing up SFB this phase and all the spare food and equipment was coming back up to UB. In order to save costs it had been decided that the next expedition's food for the trekkers was to go down to DZ in the vehicles that were to bring our remaining food and equipment back up. I as the only member of the Logs team in UB was responsible for arranging the buying of local food and the sorting of the food into groups and phases. In the absence of the DEL I also had to arrange the drivers for the run and negotiate their contracts with them which is always an experience. During the rest of the phase I had to generally prepare kit and food for the next expedition. I had to equate spending on Tuck Shop to what we made, write reports and clear up. I arranged the provisions for the end of the expedition. This involved buying the food for endex, being held at Terelj - an hour outside UB. We could provide fresh food for everyone as it could be transported. Menus had to be arranged and quantities calculated although we could always buy more if necessary.

Endex - The last few days of the expedition are Endex - the venturers all come together for debriefing, a day in UB, the endex party and slide show. However, we as Logs have to ensure all the kit is returned and is serviceable for the next expedition, any spare food is returned and added to the next expedition's allocations. I also had to ensure all radio equipment was still usable although there was some new equipment coming out with the new staff Endex was remarkably smooth and the fresh food went very well after all the dehydrated food they had been eating! In the back of beyond (Outer Mongolia) I experienced things that very few people will and I am one of a privileged few hundred to visit there this year. Temperatures ranging from -20 to +40, scenery ranging from desert to forest, extreme material poverty, a complete contrast from winter to summer and I shared it with some great people. Raleigh in Mongolia was everything I expected and more, everything I dreaded and more.

To replace him as Training Major, the Regiment welcomes Maj Stu Boyne and his wife Helen and hope you have a successful tour with the Yeomanry Signal Regiment.

REGIMENTAL AWARDS

At the end of the recent Regimental OBUA exercise, Ex Phoenix Kestrel, at Longmoor Camp, the CO took the opportunity to present a number of major awards. The first was the trophy for the soldier who had achieved the best placing on the Blandford (or equivalent Arm/Service School) 2-week Recruits Course during the previous training year (TY00). This year the trophy was awarded jointly to Sig Hutchings of 68 (ICCY) Sig Sqn and Sig Mackay of 70 (EY) Sig Sqn, who both achieved a second place on their Recruits Course at Blandford.

The CO's Trophy (initially presented by Lt Col Brown in 1981) for the Warrant Officer or SNCO who has given extra Service to the Regiment during the previous training year. This year was awarded to Sgt Lakin of 68 (ICCY) Sig Sqn. Amongst his key achievements during the year was Top Student award on his Class 2 Trade Training Course.

Finally, the Drapers Cup, which is awarded annually to the Squadron achieving the highest percentage of Fit for Role results at the end of the last training year. This year it was won by 265 (KCLY) Sig Sqn. Excellent FFR results were achieved by all Squadrons, but 265 (KCLY) Sig Sqn managed to achieve 78% of their soldiers qualified as FFR during the last training year (TY00).

ANNUAL CAMP 2001 - EXERCISE MARBLE TOR

Well the day had finally arrived when Maj Kieth 'DP' Duffy-Penny got the chance to lead the Regimental deployment to Gibraltar, it's a hard life! All and sundry paraded at Bexleyheath TAC on the evening of Friday 14 July with expectation high on the agenda. There were some pale faces on show from Cpl Paul 'First time abroad' York and Sig Cassie 'Do we really have to fly' Murray, who were both really looking forward to the flight in the Herc. After chewing the cud, following the mandatory docs check and obligatory on the bus off the bus, we departed for South Cerney Mounting Centre at 2200hrs. (The troops spirits were high as there was no 13-hour drive up the M1 for deployment to Camp).

This was all pretty much new ground to all of us, as the majority had never flown with RAF airways before, although the feeling was that South Cerney didn't really compare that favourably with Gatwick departures, particularly as there was a 4-hour wait. This was soon put behind us after a hearty breakfast followed by a hasty departure to RAF Lyneham. Excitement was continuing to build for the virgin flyers among the party, especially LCpl Jack 'Oooh my back' Stabler who was concerned whether his feet would be able to touch the floor or not.

Then our fate was put in the hands of the Loadies, with LCpl Chrissie 'Do I really sound like Madonna?' Bienek doing a sterling medics job in calming everyone down. Ear defenders were at the ready and it was time to go, with many a grimace and Cpl Amanda 'Vice Grip' Susini holding on to everyone around for dear life. Suddenly in the distance the Rock loomed and we were on the ground. The stresses of work were immediately forgotten as we deplaned into the 32 degree heat and it was down to work unloading all of the kit ably lead by Sgt Micky 'I'm too old for this' Conn. The remainder of the afternoon was a casual intro to Gibraltar and all that it could offer us for both training and social purposes.

DOWN TO BUSINESS

The next morning it was green kit on and down to business. The first two days had been programmed to refresh the troops in the basic skills that would be required for the forthcoming exercise. This consisted of Tunnel Clearance drills, lead by the Gibraltar Regiment, OBUA drills, Platoon basic tactics and the infamous Rock Run. This gave everyone a chance to sample the climate we were to be exposed to for the following 12 days. The Rock Run was a torturous affair, three miles straight up with no respite, which was a well fought battle between Cpl Adrian 'Oh no you don't' Keeble, the eventual winner, and Pte Nick 'Can't believe I got pipped' Hanlon. Once the training was complete it was time to commence the Ex phase, the troops were split into three platoons for the 9-day round robin package, which comprised three 3-day phases.

Phase 1	Admin assistance to 642 Signal Troop, R&R and sports day.
Phase 2	Beach assault, Tunnel patrol, defensive position, OP and OBUA assault
Phase 3	Defensive position, Ops, Occupy & Fortify village, Defend village, beach extraction.

642 Sig Tp couldn't believe their luck, three groups of 30 willing volunteers to use as dog's bodies for a day, for decorating, office clearance and even painting the OC's carpet! The sports day was interspersed with jollies organised by PSAO Capt Mike 'Ned' Kelly, using contacts from his former 2 Para days to get us thrown about in Chinooks and Hercules. Much to Cpl Jo 'Can't believe my luck' Smith who landed on the laps of a group of parachutists, waiting to deploy from a C130, after a negative G turn. We're still trying to get the smile off her face!

The beach assaults brought many varied responses from all concerned, especially when it became apparent that the Royal Navy's idea of waist high water was most people's idea of shoulder high. Giving a memorable lesson in ensuring all of your webbing contents are weatherproof SSgt 'Stinkey' Lynch will soon need to purchase a new Mobile phone as the one he was given for the Exercise was not a waterproof type! Cpl Amanda 'Water Wings' Susini gave a stunning underwater performance after departing the boat, when just the top of her Kevlar was in view. Once in location patrol orders were disseminated only for Cpl Barry Morse to inform WOI Keith 'Snoozy' Wrate that he couldn't possibly patrol as requested as the relevant part of his map had disintegrated after the beach assault. After days of planning from the platoons it was time for the end of stand OBUA assault/defence, with two platoons battling it out against each other. There were many fine war stories accompanying the three battles, most of which were totally unbelievable. Then came Cpl Pete 'Oops' Young's finest hour, on approaching a local agent the challenge of Echo Sierra was raised to which he replied, 'Hold on I'll just get my notebook!' much to the dismay of the DS, who gave him a few structured points on where he had gone wrong!

It was hats off to all DS who spent nine continuous days in the field, namely SSgt John 'Stinkey' Lynch, WO2 Yof S Jason 'I'm not a cadet' Budding, SSgt Fred 'Did you know I'm ex infantry?' Simkins and Sgt Dave 'Wavey' Pryke. At the end of this extremely demanding 9-day Exercise all involved agreed it had been, a successful and rewarding experience as everyone's skill levels have vastly improved. Given the choice for future camps it was agreed that they should all be held in sunnier climes! Many tales will follow in the next issue directly from the performing platoons.

70 (ESSEX YEOMANRY) SIGNAL SQUADRON - CHELMSFORD

Sqn Comd Maj Craig Tallents
SSM WO2 (SSM) Paul Humphreys

The Squadron has been through a busy period over the last few months with Recruit Induction weekends, Ranges and ITD's, Regimental Visitors day, Caribbean Exercise and our main Annual Camp in Gibraltar.

Recruit Induction Weekends: The Squadron have nine new recruits who attended the Regimental Induction weekends in May and June 2001.

Range and ITD Weekend: Fifty members of the Squadron went to Pirbright ranges and completed a series of ITD's. During the weekend the Squadron decided to go out to the local hostelry for some well earned R&R. The OC (Maj Craig Tallents) could not join his men as he had forgotten to bring civilian clothes with him. He had to stay in and catch up with his paper work. (Ahhh).

Regimental Visitors Day: The Regiment hosted a visitor's day at Longmoor in June 2001 with guests from all locations where the Regiment is deployed. The guests were shown round a number of stands which included military training and communication skills. A superb lunch was laid on for all by the QM and the guests left with a good impression of the Squadron and its capabilities.

Exercise Phoenix Echo: SSgts Jason Barlsey (SPSI) and Kirk Humphries (YofS) found themselves attached to our sister Squadron (68 (IC&CY) Signal Squadron) for a two week Exercise in the Caribbean during the month of July. The rum punch stories are still being told.

Exercise Marble Tor: Twenty-four all ranks joined a composite Squadron from the Regiment to attend Ex Marble Tor in Gibraltar during July 2001. The exercise consisting of military training coupled with water sports and R&R in Spain. A full report will be in the next edition with photographs that do not lie.

Finally: The Squadron had its annual Pay and Docs inspection and thanks to a lot of hard work by Sgt David Gaul and Mrs Marget Nutbeam the Squadron AO, passed it with flying colours.

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

The Squadron Headquarters would like to send out a special thank you to Capt Ben Fitch for the wonderful leaving present that he bought and left for one of the soldiers to assemble. His £10 Ikea shelf will be treasured in SHQ forever alongside all the other presentations that have been made to the Squadron!

ATTACHMENT WITH 20 ARMOURED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (200)

by OCdt Ewan K Watson

It was from 1-14 June 2001 that I attended my first Potential Officer (PO) attachment with the army, and fortunately it was with the Royal Corps of Signals and 200 Sig Sqn. It was to become a very educational, interesting and enjoyable two weeks. I was lucky enough to meet in Stanstead airport departure lounge, Lee Chamberlain who was also on a PO's attachment with 200 Sig Sqn. We immediately got on well together and he was to become a good friend during my time in Germany.

Any nerves I was feeling prior to my first attachment were extinguished upon arrival in Paderborn by two warm smiles, followed by a barbecue and a couple of sociable drinks. The couple of sociable drinks were strangely reminiscent of the familiarisation visit I had with the signals except minus the beams. The next day, instead of an assault course, we spent in the centre of Paderborn, the large majority of it in C&A's in preparation for the superbly organised Rubik's cube party. It was a brilliant night full of food, drink, clothes swapping and German culture. The following morning we were introduced to some more German culture with a visit to Wewelsburg and the old SS castle. On the first Tuesday I was kitted out ready for the FIBUA exercise which was to be the highlight of our attachment. It was a superb experience, learning how to clear rooms, buildings and villages from an enemy but also how to defend buildings through sniper positions, booby traps and other equally ingenious methods.

It was during this week that I had my first insight into the lifestyle and professionalism of the soldiers. A great bunch of lads who provided me with a good education into the skills of soldiering in the short time available. I must thank them for their patience due to my inexperience, although I did seem to prove useful when it came to carrying the heavier pieces of weaponry. When things get tough at Sandhurst it will be these two weeks that I look back on to keep me going, thanks to Lt Sofia Hughes, Lt James Acton and 2Lt Nilene Hennessey.

THE PADERBORN PAIR - by 2Lt Lee Chamberlain

After having spent only 48 hours on German soil, I found myself at the Officers' Mess Rubik Cube party dressed in the style of the legendary Sir Jimmy Saville! This was an 80's party with a difference and involved wearing any item of clothing as long as its colour was represented on a Rubik Cube. The resulting combination of attire was therefore extremely interesting to say the least. Following a delightful meal, myself and fellow Officer Cadet, Ewan Watson, witnessed some of the strangest dancing we have ever seen or taken part in. We jigged along to a variety of 1980's classics whilst at the same time consuming a remarkable blend of suspect alcoholic beverage. What better start could anyone wish for on an attachment with 200 Sig Sqn? Hosted by Lts Sofia Hughes, James Acton and 2Lt Nilene Hennessey, we were given the opportunity to spend the first few days of our visit experiencing local life in Paderborn and to absorb the historic culture in the surrounding areas. Personally, the most impressive highlight was the castle at nearby Wewelsburg. Hitler and Himmler intended it to be used by the SS as the Centre for instruction on 'Cult and Terror'. In preparation for the next week of activity, we were issued with kit and then embarked on a Squadron tour conducted by 2Lt Nilene Hennessey who introduced us to the OC, RSM, all of the SNCOs and JNCOs and many of the Signallers. We also took part in Squadron PT and were able to call in at the MT, LAD and then subsequently receive a thorough brief on the Squadrons fleet of 43s.

The next day, we set off on Exercise Urban Dragon, which was a 7-day FIBUA exercise set in the area of Hammelburg. We stepped aboard our designated Land Rover driven by LCpl Collins and went on our way to join an impressive array of military vehicles. From Barker Barracks, the Green fleet convoy then drove the 280km down to the training area. On arrival at the camp, we were allocated a room in the Soldiers accommodation, which provided an excellent opportunity to know them in more depth. We shared living space with Cpls Dave Nix, LCpl Keith Knox, LCpl John Merrick and LCpl Walker and Sigs Matt McGinn, Ben Day and Mills. It certainly opened our eyes to the fun and games of Soldier life! During this time, I also observed the professionalism, competence and high level of intelligence of tradesmen in the Royal Signals. It made me appreciate how much of a privilege it would be to command such high-calibre troops.

The Exercise itself was highly organised and the level of instruction offered by 1RRW was second to none. The SNCOs provided expert tuition taught with the priceless combination of experience, knowledge and an endless sense of humour. The package covered Offensive Ops, Defensive Ops, and practical exercise training. As a TA Infantry Officer, I felt fortunate to be included in such a large-scale event. The village, around which the scenario was set, was extremely realistic due to its history as an inhabited area prior to 1939. During the war, it was taken over by the Wermacht to enable them to hone their own FIBUA skills. The roles played by the QRH in their Challenger 2s and the Royal Engineers in their 43s and Diggers added an extra lifelike dimension by providing an insight into the 'All Arms Battle' that would ensue in a real FIBUA environment.

On completion of our weeklong adventure, we arrived back in Paderborn and, yet again, were extremely well hosted by the Subalterns of 200 Signal Squadron. Despite a tiring week, they continued to make us feel welcome and made sure also that we ended our stay as well as it began. Our last night in Paderborn was spent in a local Vietnamese restaurant and a jolly nice meal we had too! I would like to thank all those who made my stay a memorable one and I hope that I will be offered the chance to meet and work with some of them in the future!

ALPHA TROOP - by Sig Nicholls

Tp Comd Lt S. Hughes
Tp SSgt SSgt R. D. Burrows

Now where does this one go? LCpl Donaghy

Firstly the Troop would like to congratulate Cpl Ian Wilson on being selected for promotion to Sergeant. They would also like to welcome LCpl Lane and Sig Nicholls and say goodbye to LCpl Gaz Collins who is moving to 7 Sig Regt, all the best for the future. We would also like to welcome back LCpl Stu Dodge, LCpl 'Taff' Barritt and Sig Garry Harrison who have returned from their exploits in Batus, Canada. The recent months have once again been hectic in Alpha Tp. Early June we deployed on Ex Urban Dragon with 1 RRW. This was an infantry FIBUA exercise in Hammelburg that involved us learning both the assault and defence of built up areas (AKA FISH – Fighting In Somebodys House!). After a successful seven days in FIBUA training we returned and then deployed on a Brigade CAST Exercise.

Once again the Troop performance was outstanding as the main complex and received thanks from the Commander down. After a long weekend the Troop was then involved in the Commander's Challenge. After the fun came the work once more and now the Troop are preparing for RSIT and looking forward to summer leave.

COMMANDER'S CHALLENGE
by Sig Karl Hepworth, Cpl ChrisCowley & Sig Pete Armour

The Commander's Challenge was a series of both military and sporting competitions involving all the Units in the Brigade. For Alpha Tp this meant that once again the fit people in the Troop carry the load. The first event was the March and Shoot, the same old faces came to the forefront as Cpl 'Mo' Morrison along side Cpl Ross Thubron put together a team. The event consisted of a 15km march, then the obstacle course where all was going well until we left LCpl Gaz Collins (a massive 5ft 4inches tall) as the last man to go over the 12ft wall! Needless to say he didn't make it which meant more penalty points. From there we sauntered to the shoot as the squad began to break up due to fatigue, blisters and general weakness. At the shoot we were down four men, but it wouldn't have made much difference as we may as well have thrown our rounds at the targets. All that said we did complete the 15km march and manage to score a fifty- percent average on the shoot. Well done all of those who took part.

Day Two saw the sporting events take place. The Squadron entered a volleyball team and came third. Also rugby, football and hockey teams.

Volleyball Team
Check us out, are we cool in these shades or what?

Sadly due to the previous day's exploits the performance at all levels was not what it should have been. The rugby team managed fourth, thanks mainly to Sig Pete Armour (Alpha) who scored two tries against the mighty 1RRW and also in the plate final against the REME.

Rugby Team - Do you think that we look like male models?

Unfortunately the hockey did not include the star of last year's tournament Sig Weller, who with his tremendous girth made an excellent ball stopper. Nevertheless as each team descended upon us and beat us each time, we did by the end of the matches get the hang of the sign language that I'm sure the referee was making up! Despite our poor results we tried our best and did enjoy the day, and one lesson that was learnt was that although new ball stopper Sig Nathan Fearn looked like the Michelin man, pads are a must in hockey!

Day Three was the battle run which surprisingly enough saw the majority of the people who did the March and Shoot once again donning combats and water bottles for another run around the woods. A straight race against another team beginning with a 100m Bedford push followed by 3km with a stretcher, 3km with a log, 3km with ammo boxes before a short sprint to the finish. Again Alpha Tp took the lead as the squad was ably led by the scary and at times sadistic Lt Sofia Hughes. A good effort by all involved saw us finish with the squad intact (minus a genuine injury) only nine minutes behind the winners 1RRW.

The final day was more of a family fun day and it included a chain of command race and the biathlon where Lt James Acton, Sig Steph Bogart and Sig Kev Beavis put in an excellent effort. The Tug Of War competition was next and bearing in mind that the Squadron has roughly 100 personnel to select from. Half of them are sick, lame and lazy, while the other half now resembled a scene from 'the living dead' after having competed in all the major physical events, the squad was obviously of the highest calibre. The event was an open weight event, which the other five teams all took full advantage of. As the day progressed, however, it proved that our greater strength and technique was the winning formula. After pulling against four teams and only losing one end out of twelve, we progressed to the deciding pull against the heaviest and most powerful looking team, pre tournament favourites the RRW. We beat them with ease in the end winning two to one, thus clinching the Squadrons only win throughout the whole week. Thank you and well done to all those involved

THE SQUADRON SUMMER FUNCTION - by Sig Al Smith

The Squadron summer ball took place on Friday 13 July. The theme for the evening was a Hawaiian Beach party. There were the usual no nonsense white chinos and blue shirts from some of the less daring members of the Unit. However, there was a good effort from most people, a special mentions must go to Sig 'Flash' Gordon who despite requiring a little work on applying fake tan and a serious full body wax, turned up as a convincing beach babe. One that in the right light and after a few beers would set any blind squaddie's pulse racing; LCpl Gaz Collins donned a wet suit and SSgt Russ Burrows wore a set of fins equal in size to his own height. The function committee clubbed together and managed to all come as lifeguards with personalized T-shirts ranging from 'Big Al' (Sgt Lee) to somebody who thought they resembled 'George Clooney' (SSgt Low) but we think he looked more like Grandpa Smurf! The function was well decorated with a beachfront on the entrance, a BBQ out the back and the entertainment was excellent. All in all it was a fantastic party.

EXERCISE URBAN DRAGON - by 2Lt Nilene Hennessey

Our FIBUA exercise with the RRW and QRH in Hammelburg, South Germany, began on 6 June with a five hour long journey from Paderborn. We arrived at General Heusinger Kaserne and had the evening to sort our rooms and kit out. The first day dawned fine and we set off with webbing, daysacks and rifles in a 4-tonner for the village. What a village! One expected children to dash across the road after a football or people to start making their way to work, it was that big. We were split down into our platoons and taken through the different lessons of section and platoon offensives of a building – how to place mousehole charges, throw grenades, climb up rope ladders etc.

The real fun began the next day, with some section attacks. 2 Section 1 Platoon, led by Cpl Dave Nix was the first to run through the river (yes, the river one inevitably runs through at least three times a day, even if it's not in the close vicinity). Thus began Cpl John Merrick's trend of being slotted in the first five minutes of every attack. Smart move though, as he lay sunning himself while the rest of us were hurling ourselves down trapdoors. We broke for lunch and then resumed attacks, that afternoon culminating in a platoon assault. One morning began with a 4:30 am, 12km tab into the village. We were very pleased with this news. On arrival at the village we were changing shirts and boots when someone noticed Lt Sofia Hughes and 2Lt Nilene Hennessey had toenail polish on. The RRW and QRH were thoroughly delighted with this example of women in the infantry, and the girls didn't get off lightly. It was after the tab that we experienced a true example of an entrepreneur, when an RRW CSgt produced frozen juices that he had tabbed with, to sell to dehydrated soldiers!

The next day was really hard work, building defences against the enemy. Although we all worked fantastically together as a team, there were the inevitable assassinations by our own men when their leaders lost the plot. Warriors were used to casevac us to the RV where DS were waiting with the TES kit 'god guns'. The final assault of the exercise began at 2am, with a brief tab into the village, and a dawn attack. That was a long day. It was just our luck that the Chief of Staff and the Brigadier strolled past as the enemy surprised us and popped a grenade into the river we were sitting in, thereby killing just about everyone. Cpl Merrick, of course, hadn't been in the equation from the start.

After endex was called, the purely onerous task of sweeping and scrubbing the village began. That evening was a barbeque for all and the next morning began the long drive back to Paderborn. It was a fantastic exercise, enjoyed by all, and the Signals, in their efforts, enthusiasm and spirit, proved themselves equal to any of the infanteers.

THE GAP YEAR COMMISSION - by 2Lt Nilene Hennessey

Although I have seven weeks left with the squadron (including the month long summer leave) I have been asked to write about my experiences during my Gap Year. Having been labelled the Squadron (or even Garrison) adventure training officer with good reason, I realise that relating my experiences will be both a time-consuming and daunting task. So here goes.

2Lt Hennessey Proof for the RSM that 2Lt Nilene Hennessey did wear her unifrom at least once!

After my four days in Germany before Christmas leave I was horrified at what I'd let myself in for. This seemingly absurd reaction was solely due to the Sergeants to Officers function held in the Nato Mess, the function that was my introduction to Sergeants. However, when, on my return to Germany in January, I was told I was going skiing in Chamonix, I swiftly changed my mind. There I met Lt Sofia Hughes and Lt James Acton, the two troop commanders I would be shadowing this year. They have been great to shadow, albeit not always doing the conventional troop commander things. When I returned from the Alps Maj Iain Standen, our OC, said he would not give me a Troop (as it would tie me down) and, if I wanted to go on any courses, I need only say. He very quickly regretted saying that, as his desk groaned under the weight of my sheaf of adventure training applications. A parachuting course at Bad Lippspringe and a paragliding course in Bavaria swiftly ensued. I felt that learning a bit of German would help and after the Germar. course Easter leave came and went. Weekends to Prague, Berlin and Amsterdam were imperative in improving my education, as were all the dinner nights and squadron functions during the year. The Army Vs Navy rugby match and Corps Dinner Night, followed by the Battlefield Tour were real tests of bar stamina, and after this year university will be tame.

The FIBUA exercise in Hammelburg in June was definitely something to write home about, it was good to have included that in my Gap year. Capt Phil Muir, our 2IC, organised two attachments for me in the UK, following my scuba diving course in Kiel. These attachments were with a Gurkha Squadron at 30 Signal Regiment, and 238 Signal Squadron in London. Both were really good attachments, each for a week, and, among other things, I enjoyed numerous barbeques with the Gurkhas and a Garden Party in London. Through careful planning I managed to get back in time for our squadron summer function – it was well worth the effort! Although I had to do an assault course for charity at 9:30 the next morning…The Summer Ball the following evening may be a defining factor in the decision to join the army after university.

To end the Gap year is a competent crew course a few days before I leave for St Andrews. I suppose it's little wonder that my biggest wind up was when Capt Phil Muir called me in one day and said that he'd had a phone call from the Budget Officer at Div. He had called to say that our Squadron's entire adventure training budget had been used up thanks to, it seemed, one person, and no one else could go on any more courses…

Probably one of the best things of my Gap Year has been meeting people all the time. I was really lucky to get posted to where I did, as things are always happening and the people are such fun, making my year the success it was. If I could do my Gap Year all over again, I would do it the same way.

BRAVO TROOP - by LCpl Jones
Tp Comd Lt J. Acton
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Gibbins

Yet again another busy few months for Bravo Tp, ranging from CAST exercises to Squadron athletics, and now, just squeezed in to the programme before summer leave – RSIT! With people tasked for JOTES and a Combined Cadet Force visit manpower in the garages has been at an all time low. However, this was not a problem with the usual Bravo Tp enthusiasm, and work was completed in double quick time (the Pads couldn't bear to miss Emmerdale). The promise of four weeks' summer leave fast approaching means morale is also at a record high.

Welcomes go to Sigs Aaron Young, Andy Mills, Ben Day and Matt McGinn, all straight from the factory. Also new to the troop is LCpl Brett Merrick who is ready for some hard work having left the COMMCEN at 251 Sig Sqn for a real unit. Huge congratulations also go to Cpls Ross Thubron and Ray Till (who is no longer the oldest full screw in the world) on their selection for promotion to Sergeant. Well done to both of you. Finally, congratulations to LCpl Simon Jones and his wife on the birth of their first son Dylan.

EXERCISE URBAN DRAGON - by Sig Riley

This joint exercise comprised elements of 1RRW, the QRH, 35 Engr and of course 20 Armd Bde HQ and Sig Sqn (200). The eight day package was designed to teach and train soldiers in the art of FIBUA warfare: building defence, assaulting a building and all the training required to jump through windows, lay booby traps and fill sandbags. The exercise culminated in a final assault involving a battlegroup attack.on the village of Hammelburg, once a real village which was taken over by the German army during the Second World War and has been used for training ever since. The exercise honed and brought out those skills which most may have thought lost forever. From platoon commanders down to the individuals within the sections, everyone who took part in the exercise gained valuable experience, not least of the high attrition rate in urban warfare. The exercise even featured on the BFBS television program 'Scene Here'. However, fame was only attained by one squadron member: LCpl Levi. The RRW were surprised to see grit and determination that they had never expected to find in the Royal Signals. The Squadron may never by the same again…

Who are those scary looking soldiers?
....It s 2 Platoon 200 Signal Squadron...

COMMANDERS CHALLENGE - by Sig Bogart

Fortunately I was already training for the Nijmegen marches which helped when I volunteered for the March and Shoot competition. The march itself flew by with only one of our soldiers going down with heat stroke. The only advice I can offer is not to wear lycra shorts in high temperatures. Blisters are every soldier's worst nightmare and having learnt from a previous bad experience my feet were taped up and looked like a mummy's.

Wednesday saw the Squadron take part in all the team sports and you could only get out of this one if you had a broken leg. Due to being such a small unit every man and his dog had to take part. Some of us had not played hockey and the other games since being at school and I am sure those sticks were a lot longer back then. The day after the sports competition was a nightmare having been burnt by the hot sun: RSM and tomato are two words that come to mind. I was looking forward to a really good beasting and the Battle Run on Thursday was a great way to get one. Those ammo boxes were a little on the light side though. The few fit people left to compete that were not dying from one form of injury or another were pushing themselves 'to the max'. The team stragglers need to cut down on the pies for next year as the team is only as fast as its slowest member. How nice it would have been to win the battle run. Watch out next year RRW!

Tired and aching I got to Friday and had a biathlon race to look forward to. I wish I had known that racing bikes were allowed on the smooth roads as peddling like a mad woman for forty minutes in top gear at the back was not my idea of fun on knobbly mountain bike tyres. I certainly think when the more experienced people gave me the advice to slow down at the start of the run I should have paid more attention. As when I jumped off my bike my legs felt like they belonged to someone from Pluto and I was certainly pleased to get to the finish alive. We had reached the end and it was great to have a beer at the family's barbecue. All in all given the opportunity to do it all over again along with the other dedicated soldiers in the squadron I would have no hesitation in saying yes.

MAINTENANCE TROOP - by LCpl 'Tangle' Evans
Tp Comd Capt John Lyons
Tp SSgt SSgt Bob Low

There has been a lot happening in the Troop recently, with various arrivals and leaving functions keeping us busy on most weekends, but only when we're not out toasting to our sporting prowess. Of the various inter troop competitions that have taken place in the last few months we've done pretty well, winning the athletics and tug of war, losing the hockey on goal difference, and even though it has nothing to do with sport we were most definitely robbed in the gardening. When added together all these results mean that we have been crowned 'CHAMPION' Troop.

The Brigade recently held a commander's challenge, where, despite being the smallest unit, we still managed to field teams in all events. Our Troop made up the bulk of the tug of war and volleyball teams, with the squadron coming first and second respectively. It should have been two firsts but I think the 'Topgun' volleyball team spent too much of the day trying and failing to look cool!

Farewell to our old Troop Commander, Capt Gough, who has left for the sunnier climes of Sierra Leone and welcome to Capt Lyons who we haven't seen yet but have been assured that he has been here for a month now. We also say goodbye to Sgt Brown and Sig Richardson - who now outrank us all as civvies - Cpl Plant, Cpl Watmuff, LCpl 'TJ' Ward, Sig Currie and Sig Keen who have all been posted out (although Sig Currie is coming back as a newly qualified medic). Congratulations to Sgt McFaul and LCpl Maxwell who have been promoted and posted.

Welcome to Sgt Pagett and Sgt King who've been trying to make us all more efficient. Well done to LCpl Sullivan and Sig Pearson for getting posted half an hour from their old posting in Herford, although with Cpl Daley also becoming a PTI we have two too many in the Troop now. Welcome to LCpl Austin, Sig Wills and Sig Malcolm all from Blandford. Also congratulations to Cpl Reid on promotion and LCpl Boydell for nearly getting his second but ending up on a three-month bender instead. Finally good luck to Cpl Trott on his intensive retraining after a three-month tour in the Squadron bar, if you need any help don't hesitate to ask, we ran the bar for you anyway.

EXERCISE CANTER TRAIL 21- 25 MAY – by Sig Berry

The week began with an introduction to the horses that we would be looking after all week. We were then shown what was expected of us each morning mucking out, grooming and as Sig Cole called it First Works The Horse! Ready and waiting, nervously because most of use hadn't ridden before, we lead the horses into the arena we were shown the basic of how to mount up, stop and then began with laps of the school. The afternoon was again another lesson, but the horses were a little livelier this time, with my horse, Denny, doing his own thing and going for a canter around the school, which soon woke up the rest of the horses and riders. Tuesday began the same but Sig Jack was given a lazy horse, and despite legs and arms flapping he could not get it going, Houston was not moving. Horses were then swapped which resulted in a more energetic horse and Sig Jack doing the wall of death around the indoor riding school and a red bum from his bouncing up and down and a sore throat from shouting stop, much like Rab C Nesbit. This resulted in him dismounting and going for a sulk in the corner, and numerous requests for the return of his Blackpool beach donkey. This didn't stop him from riding for the rest of the week. However, later on in the week while riding Denny the same happened again, this time jumping off into the side of the school. Moving a step on, we then did confidence exercises, which included rolly polys to dismount, and birthday games for Sig Emma Lawton, an apple bobbing race with Sig Lisa Lawton and her cheeky little horse called Rabbit proving to be stars. The final test of confidence and skill was our attempt to try jumping, with Sig Cole proving that his balance and skill wasn't that good in the end. All had an enjoyable week, with even Sig Jack saying that he will attempt to ride again despite his fast experiences with different horses.

EXERCISE TIDAL WAVE 24-30/ MAY 2001 - by LCpl Clarke

Newquay and Cornwall were the setting for the Run to the Sun festival, the Newquay Surf Festival and 215 Sig Sqn's Adventure Training Exercise. On arrival at Newquay, our new home for the week, we decided it was time for some well earned R&R, so we set out to familiarise ourselves with the local area and the local haunts. On Sunday we attended a Normandy Veterans Association parade at Bodmin, to which we had been invited by LCpl 'Swampy' Libby's grandfather. A parade that was thought to be a small church parade with a kneeler being dedicated to the Royal Corps of Signals. How wrong could we be? It wasn't until our arrival that the minor details that had been conveniently left out came to light. Being the senior service attending the parade (senior to the RAF and the US Navy) we were told we were to lead it. Our brave IC Exercise Sgt 'Phil' Shawcross was also told he was to take the parade, so with his drill head firmly in place we began a march through the town centre of Bodmin towards the church where the kneeler was being dedicated. After the parade we were all invited back to the reception to chat to the veterans, many of which were former members of the Corps, and also to exchange 'war stories'. Also in true tradition the members of the corps, veterans included, were first in and last to leave the bar. After charming the catering staff we managed to convince them that the substantial leftovers of the buffet would be better off in our hands. So heavily laden with our new evening meal we set off back to Newquay for the rest of the trip. The following two days included intensive surfing tuition, firstly on the beach practicing our techniques, then let loose on the Atlantic Ocean. After braving the 'tropical' conditions of the water, we picked it up quite quick with a few of us progressing further than the others with instructor pushing us along with more advanced lessons. The prestigious award for the most impressive wipe-out went to Sig Bobby 'Washout' Wisely for succeeding in making a complete fool of himself in front of everyone, not only the rest of the party and the instructors but also everyone on the beach. LCpl 'Ally' Johnston volunteered to be the duty chef for the trip (a much appreciated BBQ every night - Thanks 'Ally').

EXERCISE ROAMING LINK

Ex Roaming Link, was a medium range HF Exercise designed to teach and refresh a number of skills including Voice Procedure, Kipling and Antenna erection and siting. Each Det was to deploy with a complete VRC 321 fit, and a PRC 320, so that the newer members of the Squadron would be able to augment their theory knowledge, with practical experience. On the morning of 30th April 4 FFR detachments (one running as excon, in ops), ran a dubiously successful PACER. After completion of this Phase, 3 of the Dets deployed to various locations around the country. The West Det originally deployed North to Colerne under the capable command of Cpl Sean 'I've got comms' Kelly, with a very long journey (all of one hour). The Northern Det under the command of Cpl Al 'I've also got comms' Taylor, deployed to Catterick. The Southern Det deployed to Colchester, under the command of Cpl 'Yep, comms are still in' Dunbavand. Excon was ably commanded by LCpl Ali 'What, no comms' Johnston! The first road move took two of the Dets a substantial amount of time to reach, so comms were not to be established until 0800hrs on Tuesday morning. Bright and early on Tuesday morning began the second phase of the Exercise, which was to start with an antenna exercise on the 321 and a VP exercise on the 320. After the out dets had speedily established comms with each other, they were able to sit back and wait for excon to come up on the net. So we waited, and waited and waited. What the out dets did not know was that excon had moved location from the Ops Room to the Training Wing. Due to this huge road move (all of 150m), certain faults had been put into the system (namely the antenna), which when found and rectified enabled excon to start directing the serials. The exercises ran fairly smoothly with all members of the dets, including attached Technicians and ED's either trying their hand on the net or helping change the antennas, as directed by excon. The junior Signallers on the dets were able to gain first hand experience of the antennas they had been told so much about in training, and for the more experienced members, some valuable refresher training was taking place. The Antenna exercise involved almost all of the commonly used antennas, but by orientating them in what according to the textbook would be the completely wrong direction and connecting/disconnecting the counterpoise, the Signallers were able to truly experience what works and what doesn't and more importantly, why. The next day involved using the Kipling DED, the equipment that the Signallers had only been introduced to on the previous Friday! Although the serials were not completed, the exercise flowed fairly well. By the end of the exercise, the previously inexperienced Signallers were now almost Kipling experts. Once the serials were completed the dets increased the range involved by moving to their secondary locations. Once in place the serials were repeated and flowed as well as they had done in the previous locations. The Exercise had been a success on all accounts, and all involved from the most senior members to the newest, were able to show each other a trick or two. Valuable lessons were learned that will come into practice once the normal exercise cycle gets back on track after Foot And Mouth.

BATTLE CAMP/CADRE COURSE
EXERCISE BOLD PROTECTOR

This year's battle camp was two weeks on the south coast and combined with the Squadron Cadre Course, as due to foot and mouth we had to cancel the one planned for earlier in the year. It was also the first time that the new OC, Maj John Botterill got to see the Squadron in action. The first week was spent doing preparatory training, with the Cadre Course 'Racal Platoon' learning the basics of CTR's and patrolling, under the watchful eye of the RSM. 'Caen Platoon' re-learnt the basic of defending a comms site and turned their hand to weapon handling- with both platoons most unskilfully avoiding the eager drill lessons of the new RQMS, WO2 Douglas. The field exercise was the culmination of the week, despite Sig 'Where is that CWS and Radio thingy?' Jack, trying his best to have endex called early by losing all the kit he was issued. Congratulations to Sig Podesta for Top Student, to whit Sig Tinsley being Best Field Soldier and Sig 'Battlefield Tour' Haddock being awarded Best Endeavour.

The second week was then onto the Northern Ireland Ranges and Lydd and Hythe. This package proved to be the excellent, despite the initial set back of zeroing, and Sgt Manleys inability to stay standing within the Urban Range due to one or two loud bangs! The week gave the opportunity to practice live firing within close confines.

EXERCISE KIWI LANDING – BATTLEFIELD TOUR ARNHEM
by Lt Damon Taylor, New Zealand Army

On 14 July twenty of us set sail from the United Kingdom, the destination was the sleepy Dutch town of Arnhem. Ex Kiwi Landing (I did not choose the name, contrary to popular belief!), a battlefield tour of the 1944 airborne campaign Op Market Garden was to provide an insight into the mechanisms of war, through the examination of the British Army's last recorded major defeat. The contingent consisted mainly of Signallers and Junior NCO's, with different soldiers giving presentations at each site we visited as to what had occurred there. The standard of these presentations was excellent, and clearly a lot of work had been put into them. After a somewhat touch and go journey to make the ferry sailing out of Harwich (last vehicle on, and the ship cast off before we had managed to get off the vehicle deck) we arrived at Hook of Holland around 1600hrs local time. After some risque driving by Cpl 'They drive on the right in Europe!' Anderson , and some dodgy navigation by yours truly (never trust an officer with a map I've been told) we finally arrived at our destination, a camping ground on the outskirts of Arnhem. This would have been ideal, had it not been for the weather, which was absolutely atrocious, and saw the contingent putting up their tents in a torrential down pour, and then cowering in the back of the mini vans. Some quick reconnaissance uncovered a restaurant and bar in the camping ground, and it was unilaterally agreed that a nice warm bar was more inviting than a cold tent.

The next morning saw the contingent start the tour proper, visiting landing and drop zones at Ginkel Heath and Wolthieze, before moving onto the Airborne Museum, housed in the Hartienstien Hotel, location of the British Divisional HQ during the battle. It was here that one got a feel for what the campaign involved, the sheer desperateness of it all towards the end, and the amazing courage of the men who fought against overwhelming odds. The afternoon was rounded off with a visit to the Allied Cemetery at Oosterbeek, which is the final resting-place of over 1700 of those who died in the battle. The first thing that struck me on entering the cemetery was the noise, there was none, not even the birds seemed to sing. Walking amongst the headstones proved a moving experience, looking at the age of those who died, many of them not twenty years of age, and some whose inscriptions read simply 'A soldier of the War, known unto god'. All cap badges are represented within the Cemetery, from infantry to PTI's, Signals to legal corp. Also buried here are a large number of allied airman, who showed incredible bravery on the second and third days of the invasion, by flying into drop zones whose locations were by now known to the Germans. Amongst these aircrew are buried the remains of four New Zealand aircrew, the only Kiwis killed in the action. Other nations were also involved in the campaign, the dead from the Polish Parachute Brigade, who were dropped on the wrong side of the Rhine, the Canadians whose engineers courageously evacuated men across the Rhine under heavy enemy fire, and also members of the Australian forces are all represented in the cemetery. The following morning the contingent made its way into Arnhem to visit the bridge itself. The bridge was courageously defended by the only unit to make it that far from the drop zone, Lt Col John Frosts 2nd Battalion, and whose men were either killed during the battle or captured by the Germans when the allied forces decided to call it a day. Today the bridge is called the John Frost Bridge, and is just one of the many memorials scattered around Arnhem and the outlying, demonstrating the gratitude of the people of Arnhem to those who fought for their freedom and unselfishly gave there lives as heroes during Op Market Garden.

I arrived in the United Kingdom on 27 May, on attachment to 1 Mech Bde HQ and Sig Sqn (215) from the New Zealand Army as part of Ex Long Look, a reciprocal exchange exercise which sees members of the Armed forces of New Zealand and Australia swapping jobs for a period of three and a half months with their British counterparts. Due to the amount of questions I have received over the past two months from soldiers and officers of my host unit, I have decided to focus this article on the similarities and the differences between our two nations Defence Forces. The first similarity struck me before we had even arrived in the UK, and I must say it is good to see that the RAF, like the RNZAF, has a tendency to break down mysteriously in exotic locations for undetermined periods of time. However, five days in Sydney staying in a barrack room in the suburbs probably doesn't hold the same novelty for a Kiwi as the five days the RAF flight crew spent in an inner city hotel. Funnily enough when it looked like the Tristar was about to break down in Oman, all the stops were pulled to get us out of there as fast as humanely possible. Anyway, the RAF flight crew were very friendly, and understanding of the frustration that many of us were feeling (compounded by being stuck on a plane outnumbered 2-1 by Australians), and we arrived at RAF Brize Norton in the very early hours of Sunday morning. Upon arriving in Tidworth, I was taken back by the size of the Garrison. With approx 5,000 troops in the area this exceeded the size of the NZ Army within the one Garrison. Also having armed soldiers manning the gates on the camp struck home the very real threat of a terrorist attack, something that does not rate quite as high back home on the threat-o-meter. After a quick introduction with the key personalities of the unit, I was taken up to the garages by the units other Troop OC, Lt Adam Cloves, and introduced to my Troop SSgt, Chris Coates. The first thing that grabbed my attention was SSgt Coates' name plaque on his desk, which simply reads' SSgt C. Coates AIRBORNE', 'Good god, what have a got myself into?' I thought to myself. I was to be for the duration of my stay, the Troop Commander of Sabre Troop, 1 Mech Bde's Main HQ complex. This was to be something completely new for me.

The New Zealand Army numbers around 4,800 regular force, on paper, and is organised around two 'Land Force Groups'. These comprise of a RF Inf Bn, several Territorial Bn's, and all the CS and CSS that goes with a Bn Group (minus tanks and Army Air Aviation, which we do not have). Therefore a Land Force Group is by no means a Brigade. Also since August of 1999 the, NZ Army has been committed to providing a Battalion Group of around 700 troops to peace enforcement operations within East Timor. This, combined with other UN duties, sees the majority of our Army either on operations, preparing for operations, or on leave following operations, at any one time. Therefore since I have been commissioned (June 1999), our Army has not deployed a Land Force Group into the field on Exercise, hence I have never seen a Formation Headquarters, and now I was to be responsible for a Mechanised ones. As daunting as it seemed for me at the time, an Army is an Army, and it is reassuring to see that some of the problems we have back home in regards to an old and failing vehicle fleet, and old and sometimes unreliable radio equipment are mirrored in the British Army. Also a Troop is still a Troop, with the same amount of soldiers to command, it is just getting to know the job, which proved to be the hard part. My Troop back in NZ is primarily concerned with providing Comms, not with the establishment of a Field HQ, as this task is carried out by our Army's Logistic Units. However, over here I have found that the job is concerned primarily with moving; the setting up, and the running of the Main HQ. Never in my life did I think that as a Signals Officer I would have to site a Field Kitchen!
Two weeks after arriving I deployed on Ex Black Triangle, the Squadron's first deployment since returning from Sierra Leone. This proved to be an interesting two weeks and a real eye opener for yours truly. Thankfully Staff Coates was there to point me in the right direction (that is in the opposite direction from paths of the RSM and Ops Team) until I had a grip on what I was doing. Ex Black Triangle proved to be invaluable in preparing the Squadron for what proves to be a very busy exercising period over the month of September, when the Brigade Staff deploy with us for the first time under the new Brigade Commander, Brig Mayall.

I have to say that my time in the UK has been an invaluable experience for myself, and has opened my eyes to a lot of different ways of doing things, and different ways of thinking, some good, some not so good. I have also been very impressed with the standard of the soldiers within 1 Mech Bde and Sig Sqn (215), and have not met a more professional and focused group of people anywhere. I believe that as Signallers there is a lot of things that we can learn from each other, and I will return to Aotearoa with fond memories of my time with the British Army.

16 AIR ASSAULT BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (216)

Sqn Comd Maj Neil Fraser
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. Drew

Whilst many would have believed it near impossible, the pace of life in the Squadron has increased still further in recent weeks as we have been preparing for our first full Squadron operational deployment. The potential tasking has seen the resources of the Squadron stretched to the limit and has proved quite a challenge for our already pushed Ops Team. However, the possibility of such a deployment represents a tremendous opportunity for the Squadron and Brigade to prove its ability in an operational environment. Along side all this planning and preparatory work the past two months have also seen the Squadron deploy on two Brigade exercises a troop level training exercise and also conduct a Squadron adventurous training package.

EXERCISE GREEN TALON - by Sgt Bruce Thornton

Ex Green Talon took place in and around SPTA over the period 11-15 June. It was primarily a 3 Para Bde exercise, however, Brigade HQ used it as an opportunity to exercise the Brigade TAC elements. Such a shakeout had not been undertaken since the Foot and Mouth Disease outbreak. It was also the first opportunity for the new Bde Comd, Brig White-Spunner, to jump with Light TAC HQ, and hence get a feel for what the TAC elements of the Squadron have to offer him.

First there was an airborne insertion of the Brigade Light TAC HQ on to Everliegh DZ. Following this Light TAC HQ went through their set up and established communications to a rear link team working with 3 PARA (lead by LCpl Thorpe) and via TAC SAT to the exercise FMB. Whilst the Brigade staff, Squadron hierarchy and Light TAC HQ operators from C Tp were involved in this shake-out exercise, the Brigade TAC Medium Stress Platform (MSP) rigging team was working hard preparing for the heavy drop which was to be undertaken on the next phase of the exercise.

After a great deal of spanner bashing the MSP riggers managed to get the platform ready for the insertion, although they did have problems fitting all the kit on to it. I was amazed that it came in well under the weight limit. It certainly was quite an achievement considering that it took LCpl Blackmore, Sig Sherrington and myself most of the first morning, just to load all of Cpl Finn's rations on to the side stores.

The next phase of the exercise was the Parachute Insertion of Light TAC HQ and Brigade TAC HQ. The weather conditions were excellent and all went well. On arriving at the MSP we saw that our vehicles had made the descent without any major damage.

Following the heavy drop Brigade TAC is de-rigged for deployment

However, the same could not be said for the HCR Scimitar that landed upside down close to our MSP. This was a sight that did not seem to please the Bde Comd! After a quick de-rig we moved off to establish Brigade TAC HQ, then took control, after which the Bde Comd visited to see at first hand how his TAC HQ operated in the field. From there Light TAC HQ completed their tour of Salisbury Plain and were recovered to the FMB. The exercise proved to be an excellent run out during a period when there had been so few real exercise opportunities, following the outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease.

EXERCISE PUIN TIGER - by Capt John Griffiths

The aim of adventure training is to develop character and teamwork by putting people in challenging and arduous situations and environments. This was obviously at the forefront of everyone's mind as approximately half of the Squadron deployed to Penhale Camp, near Newquay, in gorgeous June sunshine. Traditional activities such as trekking, climbing and kayaking were mixed with surfing, mountain biking and orienteering to provide a busy but not too frantic ten days.

Sgt Nash Wainwright and Cpl Al MacKay from JSSU Digby kindly accompanied us to provide a high level of instruction for the canoeing and climbing activities, whilst other members of the Squadron middle management dusted off their various qualifications to ensure they secured a good week and a half in Cornwall. Any preconceptions that the expedition was going to turn into nothing more than a holiday were cruelly dashed at 0630hrs on the Monday morning when everyone paraded for a jog down to the beach and a quick enforced dip in the sea. Luckily no one had ventured into Newquay the night before and so everyone turned up feeling ready for whatever the day could throw at them. This early morning swim proved to be such a popular idea that the DS were forced to continue the tradition for the remainder of the exercise. Sgt Eglington and LCpl Hodgetts provided further evidence that the week wasn't going to be the rest period that some were expecting. Sgt Eglington, limping into the cookhouse, expressed an interestingly original vocabulary when it was suggested that the trekking wasn't too arduous. Meanwhile, LCpl Hodgetts managed to find a holidaying pensioner to ride his bike up the hill whilst he tried to chat up the hapless gentleman's wife. Further entertainment was to be had at the climbing site where some people displayed a curious lack of enthusiasm for attempting the Tyrolean traverse set up across a yawning chasm. Sgt Smith showed that not all paratroopers, especially those from Hereford, are fearless when it comes to heights. However, to his credit he did get across with only a few whimpers.

Preparing to go over the top
The abseiling stance on Exercise Puin Tiger

The orienteering proved to be an excellent opportunity for Cpl Stojanovic to top up his suntan as he completed his arduous task of setting groups off orienteering and then meeting them at the pub when they finished. His role did take on a slightly more serious aspect however, when it appeared that Sgts Greenwood and Makings needed a paramedic crash team to resuscitate them when they finally completed the course. Fortunately, Cpl Stojanovic was on hand to administer two pints of fluid each that seemed to revive them sufficiently before being bedded down for a few hours rest. Incredibly, they had both made a complete recovery in time for that evening. The surfing day kept everyone amused, especially when local lad SSgt Goldsworthy pulled out his 1980s wetsuit and took on the mantle of translator for communications between 216 Sqn and the surfing instructors. These blonde haired and blue-eyed radical guys and gals, all of whom seemed to have been employed as extras in 'Point Break', did their best to instruct Colchester's finest in the art of 'riding waves', 'catching tubes' etc. Predictably, most of the Squadron decided to concentrate on perfecting 'wiping out' instead. Sgt Dimmock proved to be particularly proficient at this manoeuvre.

EXERCISE CHARLIE'S ANGELS

Ex Charlie's Angels was a Troop level exercise undertaken by C Tp, whose primary role is to provide the Brigade HQ for the ABTF. It took place mainly on Crowborough Trg Area, though outstations were located at Colerne and Colchester in order to anchor HF nets. The exercise was designed to give Brigade TAC HQ elements a challenging shake out and also to practise specific skills such as air skills, contact drills and the use of the manpack rebroadcast station. On 3 July the Troop set off for Crowborough Trg Area and, following a full recce, established Brigade Tac HQ. The HQ was probed during the night to test extraction drills before embarking on an air movement phase using a Chinook the following day. Following this, the vehicle borne Tac HQ practised the establishment of a hide whilst Light Tac HQ, which is based on man-packed sets, maintained communications to the outstations. This then led into an HQ movement phase with the vehicle borne Brigade TAC HQ and Light TAC HQ being alternately bounced around the training area. An enemy force ambushed both elements in order to practise contact drills. The Troop then moved into a man-pack rebroadcast station shake out phase designed to test the use of this vital ABTF asset. The exercise finished with a 10mile tab before the Troop returned to Colchester feeling much better prepared for whatever it is to be faced with in the future.

AIRBORNE OFFICERS' DINNER 2001

This year's Airborne Officers' Dinner coincided with the 60th Anniversary of Airborne Forces. The occasion was appropriately marked by an impressive gathering of personalities from the past and present at Caythorpe; the home of the 1st Airborne Div Sigs during the latter stages of World War II and the location of the annual reunion pilgrimage, which is sponsored by 216 Sig Sqn. The evening began with an update by the OC 216 Sig Sqn, Maj Neil Fraser, on the Squadron's activities and an overview of the many significant issues with which it is faced following the formation of 16 Air Assault Bde. This was followed by a group photograph in front of Caythorpe Court. With the light fading fast everyone then moved to the bar to catch up on old times and to enjoy some well needed throat lubrication prior to the start of the dinner itself. The evening was a magnificent occasion, superbly organised by Maj Steve Clarke and Capt Mark Rouse (who wasted no opportunity in selling the wares of the Squadron PRI). The role of head-waiter was admirably performed by SSgt J. J. Walker whose call of 'dinner is served' could be heard across the county. He steadfastly carried out his duties until 0430hrs when the last of the guests left the bar. It is hoped that this event will continue to be so well supported in the future. The Squadron looks forward to meeting a good number of the guests at the annual Caythorpe weekend in September.

12 MECHANIZED BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (228)

Once again the newest Brigade HQ & Sig Sqn in the Corps lived up to its reputation of exercising hard, working hard and playing hard. Ex Ace Flush and the ensuing CAST saw the full Brigade HQ deployed onto SPTA making sure that the Foot & Mouth restrictions hadn't affected our skills of communicating moving cross country and living in the field. No sooner were we back than the mammoth task of cleaning all our vehicles for quarantine in Ludgershall began. This is to ensure that we don't take Foot & Mouth with us over to Canada, the last present the farmers on the Canadian Prairie would want from us! At the same time, a large part of the Sqn was back on Salisbury Plain supporting the Welsh Guards on Ex Wessex Warrior.

Once the cleaning was over and all our vehicles were sat in quarantine in Ludgershall the weapons and the low level tactics refresher training began. This was led and controlled by WO1 (RSM) Ian Carter and the Training wing team, Sgt Barker, Cpl Berry and LCpl Chorlton. The aim of this was to get every soldier in the Squadron qualified up to stage 4 field firing in preparation for the Special to Arm training in BATUS. This will include a live fire defence of the Brigade HQ, a fire team obstacle course and live pintol mounted GPMG firing whilst on the move.

Many of the Squadron used their advance weapons and tactics training to good effect at the 'Wild Wild West' Summer Ball. After a healthy campfire supper of sausages and beans, the cowboys and cowgirls settled in for a long night of drinking, Rodeo riding, line dancing, all interspersed with showdowns, gunfights and fast-draws. The whole Squadron made an immense effort, from SSgt 'Dicky' Dyer and his A Tp Gang who organised the whole thing, to all those who turned up in costume. A special mention should be made of Sig 'Call me Susan at weekends' McGeorge who was undoubtedly the Belle of the Ball.

EXERCISE ACE FLUSH/CAST

Ex Ace Flush was a 4-day Squadron beat up on SPTA. It was a challenging exercise in which we rehearsed the more adventurous aspects of armoured life. The highlights have to be driving Battened Down, using periscopes as our only form of vision, and tearing down in 3Romeo – a very sweaty experience. All squadron members gained a lot from it, especially Cpl Chris 'PTI' Bonham and Sig 'Weener' Grochowina, who got geographically embarrassed and threw a track about 20kms from where they should have been.]

A special mention must also go to Sgt Ray Pendrich who liked driving Battened Down so much that he carried on for 30 minutes after the order had been given to lift hatches. The exercise then led into the Brigade CAST which ventured away from the normal building at Warminster onto SPTA (something that hadn't been done in a long time). The aim, to give the Brigade Staff and the HQ support elements the chance to conduct a CAST whilst injecting the realism of movement and logistics.

The Squadron was tested on their military skills, receiving further NBC attacks and an infiltration of the HQ by the Royal Navy on a map exercise. No one noticed the dummy they had deposited within our complex until the following morning when SSgt 'Dicky' Dyer asked why Sig 'Ricky' Martin was leaning against a wall instead of getting his head down. Only their mothers could tell them apart! We were then joined by an elite squad from 249 Sig Sqn, many thanks to Cpl Wilcoxon and Sigs Woodward, Whitelaw, Moorley, Polhill and Thompson who were a credit to their unit. We also had support from Sigs Best and Gallagher, representing the COMSEC monitoring team and 3 Div who provided Radcon and Ptarmigan – Thank you for your hard work. After the Brigade Endex was called, the Squadron embarked on a cross-country trek to the washdowns where we entered stage one of the vehicle prep for BATUS (and fitted in a few beers around a bonfire).

The exercise provided to be a total success and was made even more memorable by a visit from the CDS who flew in to see how the Army's newest Brigade was getting on.

EXERCISE WESSEX WARRIOR

Never tiring of Exercises, a mixed group consisting of members of all three troops deployed on Ex Wessex Warrior exactly five days after returning from Ex Ace Flush. Thursday 14 June saw the group gather and deploy to Westdown Camp. Everyone was happy to be non-tac, apart from LCpl Jess Limbert, Sig 'Bof' Walker and Sig 'Drunken' Dunkin, on HQ BSG who deployed fully armed and cammed up. Once the Radio Room was set up and tested the exercise settled down into routine. The Staff came and went as only Staff can do and dramas such as, 'Where are the brews?' and, 'Can you get my HF radio to stop making this hissing noise?' were dealt with easily enough. Thanks to Cpl 'What's the problem?' Bonham for running Comms Ops without breaking sweat. Out on the plain, LCpl Al Booker, Sig 'Burny' Burfield, LCpl Gemma 'Rover-Queen' Treen and Sig Dan 'The Man' Tasker, all on the rebros, spent their time avoiding the battle groups and the re-supply rover. At least someone was working hard! The battles progressed, the Battlegroups fought, the Staff planned and we stagged on. Another task completed!

CANADA WASHDOWN

In preparation for BATUS and in the current climate of Foot and Mouth Disease, it was decreed that all of the Panzers must be cleaned. Not just cleaned but cleaned. To that end, on Tuesday 12 June, bright and early, the squadron paraded in coveralls and goretex, well armed with cleaning materials to begin the wash down. Capt Joe Cox was in overall control and launched everyone off to begin the mammoth task. Although we all thought that we were fully prepared for the enormity of cleaning every single bit of dust from every vehicle, we were not. Canada's stringent entry standards required the vehicles to be completely free from dirt. As the fortnight progressed and as the working weekend passed, Groundhog Day really set in. Teddies were thrown and senses of humour lost. However, the task was accomplished, all the standards were met and the Squadron lent back and surveyed its handiwork. Every armoured vehicle, DAF, FFR and trailer stood lined up and gleaming. A hard job achieved with humour and determination. Well done everyone!

TRAINING FOR WAR

by LCpl Andy Middle, Cpl Gaz Little and Sig Frankie Collins

After a long hard two weeks of solid washing down vehicles all day every day, we started our pre BATUS range package. The first part of the training involved the Squadron deploying to the local training area and practising pairs fire and manoeuvre techniques as well as fire control orders. The first lesson of the day was given by Cpl Jim Berrey and Cpl 'Trig' Hunter on Fire Control Orders. After a lot of umming and arrring and short bursts of enthusiasm it all came flooding back. The award for the best fire control order in our view would have too go to Sig 'Skip Rat' Lynch after deafening us all with a very loud but not so precise order. The rest of the day was spent sweating running up and down the area practising Pairs Fire and Manoeuvre.

The next two weeks involved us all doing lessons on LAW 94 and Grenade. The practise of the grenade throwing was the highlight of the lessons, which involved us setting up a mini range on the grass just outside Montgomery Lines. After a textbook display of accuracy from Sig Phil Williams everyone then had a go. Sig 'Dead Eye' Collins was by far the worst, on his first attempt almost taking out the civilian population on the road outside camp. When asked to post a second grenade, he crawled up to a tyre and managed to get the grenade to bounce back out next to him. The LAW 94 lessons went well and the newest arrival in the squadron LCpl 'Huckleberry' Minza showed just how well people coming from training can adapt to ever changing and varied training in the busiest and newest squadron in the U.K.

Then followed the Fire Team Assessment. After a nice little guided tour of the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst which including local facilities and attractions by Capt 'and on your left…' Rodger we set of up the range. It soon became clear that we needed to employ more of The Marksmanship Principles after a blinding display from LCpl 'Couldn't hit a barn door' Bailey. Further training was provided for those who needed it. The rest of the training saw us going back onto the ranges to complete GPMG live firing. This was new to us all, as most of us have never fired one before and we are all looking forward to the real thing in BATUS.

ARMY FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION TOUR OF BRAZIL

by Cpl Collins

On Wednesday 23 of May, players and staff of the Army FA embarked on a journey of a lifetime to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Out of the 30 tour members there were seven representatives from the Royal Signals. These were Capt Alan Higgins 2 Sig Regt, Sgt Paul Alford 6 BN Reme, Sgt Dean Boughen 642 Sig Tp, Cpl Joe Collins 12 Mech Bde HQ and Sig Sqn (228), LCpl Wes O'Connor 238 Sig Sqn, LCpl Brian Moffat and Sig Barry Rizza both of 7 Sig Regt.

The tour comprised of six football matches against various levels of opposition in which we won three and lost three, Scoring 23 goals for and conceding ten. When the team wasn't playing or on familiarisation training on Copacabana Beach we managed to fit in some valuable sightseeing. The main ones being a trip by cable car up the Sugar Loaf mountain approximately 300m in height to watch the sugar loaf sundown, a sight never to be forgotten. A day out at the Maracana Football Stadium to watch the Rio Cup Final in front of an amazing 90,000 + crowd between Flamengo and Vasco De Gama in which Flamengo won the game with a last minute free kick. We then visited the world famous Cocovado (Jesus Christ) statue, which was an ideal chance for photos not only of the statue but also the excellent views of Rio.

Personally for me, the most interesting day out was after we had played a match against a local team called Viva Rio. This was a team made up of 16-21 year olds from the local Favela (slum area) with which the local government would pay the families of these youngsters to place them back into school. After this match we were escorted up the Favela, which they called 'Little Vietnam', by the police to see where and how these people lived. A BBQ was put on and we had a chance to meet around 100-150 youngsters on this scheme. All in all this was a trip never to be forgotten especially the 3 tour members who where held up at knife point, Sig Rizza being one of them, and not only for the different style of football but also for the different style of culture.

ASCENSION ISLANDS - by Sig Brewster

As a member of 12 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn (228) I was happy to accept a project in the Ascension islands. The task we were given was to replace a 500-meter length of fibre optic cable that was kinked with a new cable and also to terminate the ends and four other joints along its lay. This would have been easily achieved if not for a few major problem that occurred firstly the late flight.

The trip started at Brize Norton where I met up with SSgt Laverie and five other Telemechs and Installation Techs from 252 Sig Sqn Bruggan Tp. On arrival to Brize I was told that the flight was delayed by 26 hours due to technical problems, and I was sent back to Montgomery lines. 26 hours later and back at Brize I discovered that there was another delay by 14 hours and a stay at the Gateway house awaiting me. Finally we left the UK after a 40-hour delay and landed at the Ascension islands at midnight almost two days late.

Work started at 0800 hours on Wednesday with the stripping out of the old cable that was kinked and we started to replace it with another cable of a different make. While this was going on a team was sent up to the antenna site to terminate the cable there. That night after a thirteen-hour workday and lack of sunlight we stopped to visit the local bar. On Thursday we finished installing the cable into the COMCEN and started to terminate it to the equipment. With the far end at the antenna site terminated the team doing the splicing moved down to the next joint and started to terminate it. We finished off that day also with a visit to the local for a few jars. Friday started out badly with the information that that the splicers were set at the wrong setting for the temperature and the constant wind was blowing sand into the joints. This meant that the joints done out side had to be redone. However, Friday night is a night to relax so at about seven we headed off to the capital of the island, Georgetown, a small American base that housed the majority of the Americans posted there. Being the capital it consisted of a police station, a few shops and a bar called the VC. With about one thousand people staying there the pub was full and lively, and as ambassadors of the Corps we soon all joined in. Saturday morning was set aside for fishing but it was soon discovered that the idea of fishing in rough seas while hung over was a bad idea. This is probably why nothing was caught but plenty of half digested breakfasts went overboard. By Saturday afternoon and feeling only slightly better we started again with the splicers. This soon stopped when it was discovered that one of the splicers had stopped working due to a battery problem. This meant that the last splicer had to be used in shifts all though the night and beyond, until Sunday afternoon when we had to stop and pack up for the trip back to the UK.

I found the project thoroughly enjoyable and a change from the usual task of laying cable on exercise or repairing faults with radio systems. Even with the project unfinished it was still an achievement to have done as much as we did in the little time made available to us and after the problems that occurred.

The Squadron never really got chance to breath in June with a blur of Ceremonial parades and rehearsals, ending with a major recruiting event. All in, we were involved in four parades for the Queens Birthday Parade, two parades for the Official visit of the President of South Africa and Mrs Mbeki and two parades for State Opening of Parliament; all within a three week period! June ended with the high profile Redbridge Town/County show, with over 25000 visitors per day over the weekend. Amongst the many exhibitors there, the Army was represented by the RA, RGJ, Infantry recruiting team, RLC and our own 238 (London) Sig Sqn recruiting team. We did a good job of impressing the stand judges with our variety of kit, from Ceremonial Visor Radios, CNR and Mould to the Green Harley's and Service Despatch Bikes; Good enough to win first prize for best Exhibitor, which came with a couple of well received bottles of bubbly!

Breakfast time!

July is the time of Royal Garden Parties at Buckingham Palace, we also fitted a Squadron social day into the calendar. Starting with a very informal cricket match won by the Ops Officer's, Maj (Tfc) Carl Storey, team. Following that we had a BBQ, video horse racing and a disco to round the evening off! The end of July saw 238 (London) Sig Sqn deploying on the first of two Adventure training exercise's, this one to Scotland. 12 intrepid volunteers set off on Ex Tartan Cockney to Blair Atholl, Perthshire. The whole week was excellently supported by the 2-man Admin Team, Cpls Chris Bain and Baz Park who cooked, served, shopped and drove us around.

There were nine trekkers from Chelsea; Capt Andy Wilson, WO2 Mel Crowther, SSgt Tommy Burns and Ian Tait, Sgt Mandie Eardley, LCpls Jay Dine, Dave Stevenson and JP Thomas and Sig Matt Pegg. The tenth trekker came in the form of Sgt Marie McChesney, from 2 Sig Regt. With LCpl JP 'About 1km to go - honest' Thomas due on his Mountain Leader course immediately after the exercise, he was given responsibility of group leader, with SSgt Tommy 'WJSMEL, done it all before, twice' Burns and Capt Andy Wilson watching from the rear. After the long drive up to Scotland on Friday, we had two 'warm up' 1-day routes over the weekend, returning each night to the very comfortable Blair Castle Caravan Park. Early Monday morning we set out on a 3-day hike, covering over 60km of isolated terrain. It had become apparent during the 1-day routes that LCpl JP 'head down and TAB' Thomas was incapable of setting a 'scenic' pace that all could enjoy, so he'd been banned from physically leading the group. Unfortunately Day One still proved very gruelling, as we had to negotiate a large section of valley that had become a boulder field after some previous landslide activity. Next time SSgt Tommy 'This wasn't here eight years ago!' Burns will insist on a more recent recce. The group walked back into Blair Castle Caravan Park very tired on Wednesday evening, but soon found energy when thoughts turned to the evening ahead in the local watering holes!

MIKE TROOP

Tp Comd	Capt (TOT) Kevin Wilson
Tp SSgt	SSgt Andy Cannadine

Mike Tp would like to say good luck and farewell to Capt (TOT) Bob Nicol, who's off to civvy street, Sgt Cory Pennicott to Corsham and LCpl Aeysha Muhammad who is off to sunny Cyprus. The Troop would like to welcome Capt (TOT) Kevin Wilson who has come to us on commissioning as the new Troop Commander from 3 (UK) Div, Sgt Christine Giles who has joined the ACISG workshops from Corsham, Cpl Lorraine Dorrian who has also joined the ACISG workshops from 243 Sig Sqn and also Cpl Angela Thicket who will be arriving soon fresh off her T1.

The PA Team enjoyed the Queen's Birthday Parade slightly more than the rest of us, as they watched the event from the comfort of the SO2 G6's office sipping champagne while the rest of the military representatives got a little wet in the extreme weather conditions. As the ceremonial season has almost finished it has been a period of chilling out, with many of the Troop going on leave, courses and adventure training. Cpl JP Thomas, LCpl Jay Dine, LCpl Aeysha Muhammad, Sig Tim Peacock and Sig Sam Robinson have all completed their Riggers course. Who said there were no masts in London? Sgt Andy Carnegie and Sig Andy Milne have been seconded to the RLI project team and will be on the road until November.

Unfortunately Radio Troop have failed to organise any sports in the last couple of months, have they finally realised they cannot beat us at anything? So no prizes to mention here.

Tp Comd	Maj (Tfc) Carl Storey
Tp Sgt	Sgt Mandie Eardley

A warm welcome from the troop is given to Cpl. Richard 'Richie' Applegarth who comes here via 7 Sig Regt and first action will be to prise the Bergen off his back and to issue him a set of green army slippers. A sad farewell also goes to Cpl Annette 'Ches' McChesney one of the 'quieter' members of the Troop, who is going off to sunny JHQ with 16 Sig Regt. She would like to mention all the guys and gals who attended her leaving drinks and who did not try to resuscitate her after she was carried back from the local hostelry at 2000hrs and put to bed, she knows who you are! She missed a very good night by all accounts. As there are only six military personnel within the Troop not much has been happening. Sgt Mandie Eardley has been in the YofS chair for the past few weeks and already the hair loss is kicking in with all the pressure of the job, but she is cutting down to 60 fags a day! 238 Sig Sqn are mounting expeditions to (Blair Atholl) Scotland and (Halifax) Canada. The very very lucky sole representative from the handbag contingent within the squadron is Sgt 'Can I go sir please please please sir can I go please, and can my whippet come as well she is airplane trained' Eardley. She will be using the hills of 'Scotia' and 'Nova Scotia' to train for her up and coming Sergeants course (cue scary music).

243 SIGNAL SQUADRON

ROYAL SIGNALS BASKETBALL TOUR
AUSTRALIA 15 JUNE – 2 JULY 2001

In November 2000 at the Intercorps Basketball Championships the question was put to all players whether they wanted to go on tour in 2001. After some discussion on individual responsibilities it was agreed by all that a tour would go ahead with the location TBC. The location for me had already been set as Australia and all that would be required was support from my in theatre Australian Army contacts. My first port of call was to Lt Col Tony Cotton, whom I had coached along side at the State and National championships in Australia. During the intervening period Tony, to my surprise, was now the president of the Australian Defence Force Basketball Association (ADFBA), hopefully life would be easier. Next, the tough decision of which level of competition would be appropriate for the Corps Team. I requested an invitation to a State Inter-Service Tournament and it was suggested that Victoria State would provide the necessary challenge, being one of the stronger state competitions. The Victorian State Committee sent the invitation and we duly accepted, rude not to. Now to sort out, who would be available for the tour? Even after all the discussions that had taken place during the last Inter-Corps Championships, some players still failed to reply in a timely manner or not at all, some individuals would definitely not be going.

At this point, I would like to thank all units for the support they gave to the players, both acknowledging that this was a chance in a lifetime for them and the funding without which I have no doubt that some would not have been able to attend. It was finally agreed and the numbers settled out at ten men, nine women, flights paid for and everything set in stone. Well, this so called stone suddenly became molten as one male and female player withdrew at the ninth hour. LCpl Chloè Cowan, decided that her Class 1 course was more important, Sig Sam Hayward was the second to withdraw. The final numbers were now definitely set, nine men and eight women were already for the tour.

RADIO TROOP

Tp Comd	Capt Andy Wilson
Tp Sgt	Sgt Mark Brooksbank

All is fine in the Troop and we must welcome Sig Chris Reeve from 21 Sig Regt, and congratulations to LCpl Grant Mockett for his recent promotion. Now that the Ceremonial season is coming to a close, we can take a few paragraphs to reflect on the success of the events. Firstly the Queen's Birthday Parade, was the event that gave birth to the Radio Tp synchronised Swimming Team. With the rain falling in sheets, it gave the Troop the opportunity to get the No1 Dress washed for free, However, all went well and the Troop carried out the task as efficiently as always.

Ceremonial Splendour!
LCpl Shaun Dinsdale, getting wet on the Mall, during the Queen s Birthday Parade

The Second event was the visit by the President of South Africa and his wife, this was held in Windsor, with again no problems and weather that was a lot more pleasing. Another event we did was the State opening of Parliament, this took the normal form, that happens every October, but as this was a General Election, it happened in June. The weather again was quite nice, especially grateful were Sgt Bob Garlick and Cpl Shaun as they were 200ft up Victoria tower in the Palace of Westminster, it could have been quite cold. With three Palace garden parties done, the Troop has been really busy, but still we managed to fit in the usual banter, with the Troop rest room designed and painted by Lawrence Lewelyn Parker!

We were flying out of London Heathrow at 0630hrs with a check in time of 0430hrs so accommodation was booked at the London transit centre, RAF Uxbridge. All players, except for Cpl 'Jonah or should we say Warren' Jones who arranged train passage direct to LHR, arrived at RAF Uxbridge early evening and we used the few hours prior to departure to reunite old ties. It has been at least ten years since the Matless twins, WO2 (FofS) 'AJ' and SSgt 'RC' Matless had been on tour together. This meant that only three out of the party of 17 had seen them together. This would be a lesson in recognition for the remainder. 0400hrs transport departs for LHR. As we arrived at Terminal 2 the waving arms of Jonah were clearly seen. 'It's OK Coach I know where we have to check in, I confirmed it with that guy at the desk, check in starts at 0525hrs.' We queued for the next hour, thing is there was no indication that our flight company was at these check in desks. It was no surprise that when check in started we were told, 'Sorry sir but you have to check in at the desks further up,' good start Jonah. Flying with Lauda Air, the route consisted of a short hop to Vienna, a change of aircraft onto Melbourne with a splash and dash at Kuala Lumpa.

We arrived in Melbourne at 1530hrs Saturday 16 June, local time, to be met by Capt Kurt Rezek. Kurt caught the ball when the committee dropped it during the organisation of the tour, it has to be said, that without Kurt's intervention we would not have been going on tour. He handed out arrival packs to all players and we were escorted to the coach that would transport us to Puckapunyal, a military garrison approximately 1fi hrs from Melbourne.

The journey saw a number of players taking this opportunity to catch a little shut eye. That was until we arrived at Pucka when everyone got his or her first glimpse of the Kangaroos. As expected a comment on how cute they looked as they bounced across the ground and settled down to graze. One thing about roos is you must not let their appearance lead you to think that they are cute and cuddly, because these vermin can do some serious damage if you get too close, which the Team would be briefed on shortly. An admin brief on Pucka by Lt Pete Moore who made everyone aware that Pucka was a safe haven for roos where normally they would be hunted as vermin. Pete also informed all that because of this they were braver than normal. This meant they had a habit of residing close to the buildings for better grazing. One thing to note if these animals square up to you, you take an alternative route because they will lean back on their tails for balance, pull you in close with their upper arms and kick out with their hind quarters. The result being the individual loosing their stomach on the nails on their feet.

Sunday, the first day of training in preparation for the inter-services tournament commenced at 0900hrs. A number of drills were run to place everyone into the right frame of mind for the tour ahead and to get rid of the cobwebs, especially for those players that have not picked up a ball since last November. The training session was warming down in preparation for lunch, when, Snap, pop, Arrrrgh and we picked up our first injury of the tour. Capt (TOT) Nev Smikle was on the ground writhing around doing his impression of Sally from when Harry met Sally. The Team displayed true concern when it happened as his Team shouted, 'Don't just lie there pass the ball!' Seriously though, Nev snapped his Achilles, which meant surgery and hospital food for his period in Australia, 'Sorry Nev.'

Tuesday saw the players turn up for training in a positive mood if not slightly jaded, the sky was blue but the gym Baltic, never in my years of entering a gym have I been in a gym as cold as this one. Winter in Victoria has temperatures below zero at night with temperatures in the high teens during the day. We also bade farewell to Nev as he was carted off to a hospital in Melbourne for his surgery to reattach his Achilles. Tuesday's training was constructive, analysing the mistakes made the night before and questioning why are we not as quick to the ball. A new incentive was introduced to encourage more concentration on the shots taken during training. A total of sixty shots were taken by all players, batches of ten from six different positions, if a player failed to hit any of his/her ten shots, 0 from 10, it would cost them a pizza slab. That evening saw the male and female teams compete against pick up teams from around the Pucka area. The ladies made up for their previous loss with a resounding win. The guys on the other hand were playing against a team that gave them space to control the rotation of the ball and therefore make the correct shot selection. However, they snatched their shots and the ball rotation was slow and uninventive. The guys lost the game but lessons were learnt. The Wagoners failed to open that evening so the Team settled for a block party. Wednesday saw training intensify, with only a morning session all players committed themselves 100% preparing for that evening's games. After lunch the Squad visited the quaint Australian

Some of the team relaxing in KL lounge on route

The afternoon training session was a bit low key as the impact of Nev's injury hit home. The session passed by with no further injuries. That evening saw the team contemplating the loss of Nev over a few wets.

Nev relaxing after a traumatic morning

Monday saw the teams preparing themselves for the evening games. Two training session were held, one morning, one afternoon, things looked good..... How wrong we were, that evening saw the Seymour Blasters take to the court as our opposition. These are what are classed as a Country Town Team. However, their Team had the majority of players from the state Under 18's Squad. A shell-shocked performance by both teams as the Blasters displayed some serious youth and speed. After two very hard fought games both the men and women lost. After the game our opposition were invited to attend the post game refreshments at the 'Wagoners' which is a local bar on camp. However, the numbers were limited due to the age of our opposition and the fact that the player's parents were there to take them home. We arrived at the 'Wagoners' in a down beat mood after our defeat, but Kurt and Pete were there lighting the log fires awaiting our arrival and after a few 'Coldies' the evenings games commenced. The children's play area became a source of fun for all present. The Squad bonded well that night as the games progressed but according to AJ & RC we did not bond as well as they would have liked?

country town of 'Seymour'. Now Seymour is like a town from the Wild West except they have tarmac roads and paths not sand/dirt and wooden boardwalks as in the Wild West. This town had a few shops, which interested all especially the sports and clothes shops. That evenings games were against the Military area base teams, the ladies competed hard and ran out winners again, the guys on the other hand carried on from where they left off the night before. Thursday saw the squad with a day of relaxation, no training, no games, well no basketball anyway. With a kind donation from an ex-corps member, Mr. Ed Massey we ventured on a tour of the local winery or two. On behalf of the team I would like to thank Ed for his donation. The tour would consist of visiting four vineyards, whose history varies from a few decades to over a century. Australian wines are making an impact here in the UK at the moment so this was an ideal opportunity to taste some of Australia's top exports.

Hopefully now we are able to tell our Semillon (a light to full-bodied wine with a crisp aroma of subtle grassy overtones) from our Sauvignon Blanc (an aromatic dry pungent aroma with a crisp asparagus like scent, slightly tarty), white wine for the uneducated. Or the Grenache (a fruity full-bodied wine with a peppery rounded flavoured) from the Merlot (aromas and flavours of plum and black cherry with a lingering finish). The other members of the tour were more interested in consuming as many different wines as possible. At the end of the afternoon everyone had enjoyed the delights of the Australian Red and White, and for some of us it flowed across a more informed pallet. The final vineyard of the day was the 'Tahbilk'. Established in 1860 it is Victoria's oldest winery and vineyard. Now the wines on offer had little or no difference to the others, maybe our nose and pallet had numbed. However, it did have three ports of outstanding quality, those who tasted these ports were actually taken back by their quality and some of us now own a bottle or two. The afternoon went well and all this was a warmer in the bank for the evening's activities ahead. We returned to the barracks with enough time to eat, shower and shave (including the ladies) prior to jumping back onto the transport and heading for the bright lights of Seymour. Now remember what I likened Seymour to earlier, the Wild West but with a tarmac surface. The recommended night-spot was the 'Prince'. The evening ended with a few individuals in fine song and required a nudge to keep the noise down once we had entered the barracks. Capt Angela Aylward has a fine voice and felt she should share her vocal talents with all nationalities regardless of time or location.

Friday morning saw a number of player's rise with bleary eyes and not looking forward to the coach journey to Maygar Bks, Broadmeadows, North Melbourne. We arrived at the barracks and immediately off loaded our kit and headed for the city. The Team divided up and carried out the tourist thing, taking in some of the spectacular sights and shops on offer. After an afternoon of sight seeing and shopping we had arranged to meet Kurt at the start of the walk way into 'Colonial Stadium' to see an Australian Rules football game. Colonial stadium is one of Melbourne's many sporting stadiums, in-fact it was the same stadium in which the Lions were beaten by the Wallabies recently. The game was watched by all with little or no comprehension of the rules but the 'Collingwood Magpies' resoundingly beat 'The West Coast Eagles'. Onto post game entertainment, some of the team who had over indulged the night before were now feeling the effects of lack of sleep and slipped away to catch some shut eye, the others headed for the bright lights and spinning wheels of Australia's biggest casino, the 'Crown'. Mixed fortunes for all that visited the casino.

Sunday 1200hrs we climbed a bus and headed off to RAAF Williams in Laverton, a SW suburb of Melbourne. This was to be one of the turning points in the tour. The RAAF along with the Army in Victoria has historically been strong and we were visiting one of the major stations in the state. We arrived two hours prior to the game and the guys were up first. 1fi hrs prior to jump ball and the guys started to warm up, now traditionally the Corps Team's warm up has been short and sweet but on this occasion our warm up started 1fi hrs prior to the tip off. This early start had a positive effect on the mental approach to this game. The team was quietly pleased when an invalid hopped through the front door to watch the games. We all were happy to see Nev having not had his company since he had his operation. From the tip off the guys ran the floor with a belief not seen within the team for a number of years, all players rotated through and all had a positive influence on the game. The RAAF Team ran hard against us but our strength on the boards and speed on fast break was consistent and we completed the game with our first win. The ladies on the other hand were up against a team that consisted of players who all could dribble and shoot. Within the first few minutes of the game Vicki rolled her ankle and was ruled out for the remainder of the game, luckily this was just a twinge but this had a positive impact on forcing the players whom had less belief in their skills to utilise untapped resources. The ladies fought hard but unfortunately lost. Sunday night saw everyone in a subdued mood, primarily because of the night time activities over the previous week was catching up with them, so a night at the pictures was in order. Monday 0730hrs we were collected by ABSIG 'Fletch' Fletcher a naval guy for our visit to HMAS Cerberus. On route we visited the construction yards of Tennix the contractors ship-yard, where we looked at the communications that were to be installed into their new stealth ships and that was utilised on their current fleet. We then continued our tour of Naval establishments by visiting different elements of HMAS Cerberus.

The Squad at HMAS Cerberus

The afternoon games against HMAS Cerberus had mixed results. The guys again were up first and within 12 minutes the referees had seriously upset the coach (who was getting some game time and oxygen from the medics at each end just in case.) by handing out four fouls in quick succession. This resulted in the teddy's head being thrown in one corner, dummy in another and his own body to the floor behind the mats, not a pretty sight. The guys lost this one handsomely, but this brought home the requirement for them to maintain discipline, keep their heads in the game and not let the referee's pysch them out of their game. The ladies enjoyed the game and continue to show their killer instinct by hammering the Naval Ladies Team. These mixed results required some light refreshment post game to analyse what went wrong.

The ladies team after their thrashing of the Naval ladies

Tuesday was a day of total rest prior to the tournament. Day One of the tournament, two games for both the male and female teams, the ladies were up first against the Army. A hard fought game by the ladies during which the forwards defended well and capitalised on strong rebounding. Credit has to go for this to Capts Terri 'I own the boards' Downes, Angela 'If you come inside I'll bounce you out' Aylward, Cpls 'Burty - I like lycra' Burtenshaw and Ross 'Don't double dog dare me' Beattie, Sig Steph 'My wisdom teeth are the reason I look like a chipmunk' Jackson. Once the boards were secured the speed and agility of the guards ensured that the game stayed in their favour as they ran out winners. Credit for speed and agility must go to, Cpl Vicki 'I will chase you down like a terrier' Moran and Emily 'My legs naturally do that when I run' Letchford, LCpl Fiona 'I'll see my rellies') Murphy.

The guys were up next against the Squad who beat them on Monday – the Navy. The Navy team had lost a couple of their players but this did not take away from the resounding win the guys had over them. The Army and RAAF were watching the game with interest as they got an indication of what the weeks previous training and games had achieved – a team that is committed to each other with belief in themselves as a team. The second game for the ladies against the RAAF was a copy of Sunday's game where although the ladies competed hard the RAAF had a more complete team that meant they lost. The guys' last game of the day was against the Army. Earlier in the day the Army and the RAAF competed in a closely fought game in which the Army were winners by a big margin, after witnessing our destruction of the Navy. The Army came out aggressively and physically hard trying to intimidate within the paint. In the pre-tournament games we played the majority of the Army players, on two occasions and we were convincingly beaten on both occasions, so the Army were rightly confident of their ability to beat us. However, this did not concern the team, this was a new game with new tactics, the game was hard fought. There was a feeling that our opposition did not want us to reach the final, with a possibility of becoming the Inter-Service Champions. All players were outstanding and played a hard physical game finally overturning the Army by nine points, another good win. Both the ladies and men's teams were through to the finals regardless of the games scheduled for the following day. That evening all the squad headed to the bar in high spirits after a successful days play. At this point in the diary, I would like to thank all members of the Squad for the heart felt gift you presented, it is a gift that will remain with me for many days to come and the ball has already found itself a place on the sideboard. Due to Ms Paltrows entry thanks could not be expressed, MANY THANKS TO YOU ALL. Our hosts/opposition on the other hand had something to reflect on and quite a few of them did not join us in the bar for the evening's festivities but took themselves to bed in preparation for another day's competition.

It was just before the first game that we had to say farewell to Fiona as she had to return to the UK for a wedding, Fiona, you don't know what you missed out on over the next two days. Another absentee was Nev, by all account he and the padre were out visiting some local churches to take in a brass rubbing or two and discuss some of the stain glass windows on display in the locality. The men were up first on the last day of the tournament against the RAAF.

The RAAF had already lost to us once and were obviously looking to over turn our last encounter. They had also been told about our game against the Army and were taken back when they were told that we had beaten them. Psychologically we had the upper hand but they had brought in a few fresh faces, or were they supposed to be ringers.

All the players relished the physical challenge that this game presented and once we had a lead did not look back running out winners by a few baskets. Onto the finals and the ladies were up first against a supplemented RAAF team. The ladies started off extremely well competing hard for the boards and restricting the RAAF to outside shots, the only thing that the ladies lacked was there shots dropping for them. They fought hard throughout the final but the RAAF broke our ladies back as fatigue set in and their fast break and full court press became very successful. UNLUCKY LADIES but you did us proud and you will never meet a team like that at the Inter-Corps. The guys were up next against the Army. As the players took to the floor the atmosphere could have been cut with a knife and the ladies along with Nev, were outstanding in their vocal support for the guys. The Army as with the ladies RAAF team had additional players turn up for the final. From the tip off the guys ran the floor hard displaying our prowess as a fast break team, complemented in and around the boards with hard physical blocking out. The lads were actually instinctively looking for a man to block out before hunting for the ball off the rebound or collecting it from beneath the basket as it falls through. In the first half the guys put a 12 point margin up very quickly then after 4 very quick fouls Jonah was sitting on the bench for all but the last five minutes of the game. The Army over the remaining minutes of the first half clawed their way back into the game and at half time we were 34 points apiece. The second half was a classic and historically the Corps Team would have started slow, gone down by a number of points and then would have failed to recover from a poor start. However, this was a different team from the tip off in the second half the team competed and even when they went down by nine points stayed calm and controlled as they came back to beat them 65–59. The players celebrated a most notable win and in the excitement the girls' disappointment was forgotten as all squad members sang 'Championee, championee'. The evening saw all tournament players celebrating a very hard fought competition, but the comment that will stay with me for many years to come was, 'Your Team turned up and after the first few warm up games we actually questioned whether you had the ability to compete with us in this tournament, Your players played hard and deserved the win and this now gives us something to think about prior to the Combined Services Championships in September.' The evening lasted long into the night.

The final day in Pucka saw both the male and female teams competing against the selected Combined Service teams. All players turned up, but after the win the day before this game did not have the same appeal and this showed in the performance both teams went down to heavy losses. After the games and the closing speeches we retired to our rooms to clear things away and mount the coach for our journey into Melbourne for the teams last night in Australia. All said their farewells and expressed sincere gratitude to Kurt for all his efforts in the organisation of the tour. We left Pucka for the last time on route to Melbourne the accommodation arrangements had been hidden from the players and when we arrived at the front foyer of the Holiday Inn, a 4 star hotel at the centre of the city, there were a few wide mouthed gold fish around.

The following day was our last look around Melbourne prior to departure. The flight seemed longer and more uncomfortable this time round probably because we were on our way back to reality. On return and absolutely jet lagged the confirmation came through that Nev and Steve would follow in a couple of days. As it turned out their return was with Quantas and first class all the way. At least you got one perk from your trip down under Nev. As a parting note I would like to thank the players for fronting all costs when requested, which enabled the timely booking of flights, all before the promised funding materialised. Support to individuals came from individual units and the Army Sports Control Board, to them many thanks. With the excellent results from the tournament we have already been invited back to defend our title next year. Is this a viable venture and will the Corps support us this time round? Questions to be answered. Watch this space.

249 SIGNAL SQUADRON
(ALLIED COMMAND EUROPE MOBILE FORCE (LAND))

Sqn Comd Maj David Hudson
SSM WO2 (SSM) Shean Dewar

It has been a hectic summer and everyone is thoroughly looking forward to block leave. The comings and goings of personnel has slowed to a trickle, a welcome to the Squadron goes out to LCpl Drabwell, LCpl Maybank, LCpl Steward and Cfn Yorke. Welcome back LCpl Lovell – you must have really liked it here to get posted back! Goodbye and thanks to Sgt Brown, Cpl Wilcockson and Sig Bailey - all off to Germany and cheerio to Sig Nicholl. Big congratulations to Cpl 'Baz' Botwright, Cpl 'Robbo' Robinson, Cpl Cleworth, Cpl Walsh, Cpl Meek, Cpl 'Steph' Stephenson and Cpl Kenny for their recent selection for promotion. We must also say a sad farewell to our illustrious leader Maj David Hudson, he's done us proud, good luck in your next appointment – you are welcome back anytime!!

NVQ ACHIEVEMENTS - by SSgt (YofS) M Holden

The Squadron is committed to providing educational training for our soldiers and has had some success in the NVQ field. The NVQ assessment for operators takes approximately a year and consists of interviews, written tasks and a practical assessment. It is now a common sight to see soldiers wandering around the Squadron lines clutching NVQ questionnaires, hoping to badger their Troop Commander into signing certificates of competency. Recent success includes Sig 'Got out' Gamgee, Sig 'Willie' Whitelaw and Sig 'Tommo' Thompson, who have all passed their NVQ level 3 in communications, gaining them a trendy 'Modern apprenticeship in communications'. Well done.

CROSS TRAINING VISIT TO RAF KINLOSS
by Cpl 'What rank am I today' Robinson

After some 13 hours drive through the bleakest parts of Scotland we arrived tired but happy at RAF Kinloss. Several well deserved beers later we retired to our beds in preparation for the next three days cross training.

Tuesday started with a brief on 201 Squadron RAF, their role and a familiarisation to the base. Then it was on to the pan to look around a Nimrod, where we had a walk through/talk through of the various pieces of equipment and the jobs of the members of the crew. After lunch we visited Simulator Squadron and were given a demonstration of the Nimrod simulator 'The best video game north of Newcastle'. All of us had a go at flying and landing - testing the patience of the Senior Engineer, John Allan. Particular mention must go to Sig 'What's this button do?' Rockett, who managed to fly through a thunder storm and LCpl Rich Hewitt, who not only landed with two engines on fire, but also lost all hydraulic systems. However, the best landing of the day has to go to Sgt Nev 'You Brits are killing me' Donohue, our resident Aussie on Exercise Long Look.

Wednesday saw us visit Air Traffic Control and 81 Signals Unit, to check out and work all the comms kit. Needless to say all the operators now want to transfer as there are no frequency changes, antennas are fixed and require minimal maintenance, and on top of all that they only work a four-day shift and then get four days off! After dinner the lads took off to Elgin to sample the delights of Joanna's Bar, the local night spot, frequented by some of the local delicacies, needless to say grab a growler was the order of the day.

On Thursday we took to the skies, or at least 200 feet of it, to fly with 201 Squadron, tracking subs and merchant vessels, dropping sonar buoys, taking lots of sneaky photos and watching Sig Nick Hanraty fill lots of sick bags. Some eight hours later we all landed safely and hit the bar in order to say thank you and our goodbyes. Special thanks must go to TSU for getting us the slowest mini bus in the world, the Squadron MT for the agency card that didn't work, and especially Sgt Si Holden at 201 Squadron, for organising the visit and hosting us all so well.

FREEFALL PARACHUTE COURSE – by LCpl 'Pez' Perry

On Sunday 1 July seven members of the Squadron and 2Lt Mander RLC, left Bulford to participate in a two week Basic Freefall Course at Bad Lippspringe, Sennelager, Germany. Pre-course expectations were high, we all thought that we would be budding freefall experts by the end of week two. How little did we know?

The first couple of days involved ground training, how to enter and exit the aircraft safely, how to steer and land, and relentless calls of look, locate, peel, punch, pull, arch . Our nerves were to get worse as on the first lift Rifleman Barton missed the drop zone and landed on a factory roof, sustaining minor injuries to himself and minimal damage to the roof. Eventually it was our turn, on one lift myself, Cpl 'Blind as a bat' Robertson and Sig 'Peppy le Peau' Wildman all sat anxiously. 'Peppy' was first out of the door with his face full of fear, but out he went, as did the rest of us with just gravity and landings to master. After a few jumps we still all thought we would graduate from static line to free-fall, but the weather turned for the worse at the weekend. While Sig 'Grey man' Heritage, Cpl Robertson and Cpl 'Admin' O'Donnell sampled the seedy tourist attractions of Hannover, the rest of the course made do with Paderborne.

Following the weekend the weather was still bad, so we spent the day playing sports. The footballers were staying clear of Lt 'Chopper' Fayers whose enthusiasm and lack of skill had left several of the opposite side with some serious bruises. After a number of days lost we eventually resumed normal parachuting. By the end of the course we had all managed to get in nine jumps (of the parachute variety), with Sig 'Grey man' Heritage the only one to progress on to freefall. We also managed to master parachute packing, with those lovely bungees (or elastic bands to the rest of the world) which was a major problem at the beginning of week one. All in all it was a very rewarding two weeks, which was only made possible by the enthusiasm and patience of the parachute instructors and assistants, our thanks to them all.

ARMY EXPEDITION FOR SCHOOLS AND KAPE TOUR
by Cpl P. Robertson, Oscar Troop

On Thursday 7 June 2001, 249 Sig Sqn (AMF(L) deployed their elite recruiting team to Scotland on a ten-day AES (Army Expedition For Schools). The team included Cpl 'Colgate' Robertson, LCpl 'Diesel' Perry, Sig 'Funky Chicken' Lawson and not to forget Sig 'Talk A Lot' Crumbley. The drive to Scotland was in two phases, first was a stop over in Catterick and then drive up to Aberdeen on the Friday morning. The convoy to Catterick was interesting with Sig 'Talk A Lot' Crumbley's dodgey driving, nearly taking out car after car (licence check please). Not to mention the potential PTI gag he pulled on the OC. Friday morning we had to drive up to Aberdeen along with the MRT (Main Recruiting Team) from Blandford.

The elite Recruiting Team
(L-R): Sig Talk a lot Crumbley, LCpl Diesel Perry, Cpl Colgate Robertson and Sig Funky Chicken Lawson
(Hard work or what lads)

The accomodation was first class in Aberdeen, we were sharing student lines, on suite single rooms (superb). We took it easy on Friday night (honestly) as Saturday was our first set up for the hungry civies. Saturday was very successful for the Squadron, managing to get a lot of interest from potential recruits.

The next stop was to be the capital city of Edinburgh, were we had a three day expedition for the schools, we didn't do too bad as far as recruiting went in Edinburgh either, but it wasn't easy having young 16 year olds all over us. The night life in Edinburgh was to prove an eye opener to the lads from south of the border, as they couldn't believe just how good a Wednesday night could be, just watching Sig 'Funky Chicken' Lawson dance was entertaining enough for me. With Sig 'Talk A Lot' Crumbley gasing non-stop, I couldn't wait to cut my ties with him, only one problem, were in the same Troop (nightmare). Once the Edinburgh recruiting phase was complete, it was off to the East End of Glasgow. On the Saturday we had an Open Day at Glasgow Green. The public didn't seem as keen as they had been in Edinburgh, therefore I decided to take the lads to see the mighty Celtic Park, mostly because LCpl 'Diesel' Perry said that Derby County's ground was bigger. I soon had him gasping in disbelief at the sheer size of the stadium. All in all the recruiting went very well from a Squadron point of view, with a work hard play hard mentality all the team had a quality time, surely we had done enough to retain the recruiting pennant for the second year in a row?

HAIL AND FAREWELL

A warm welcome goes out to the new OC Sqn, Maj 'Wally' Drain and his family who join us from 7 Sig Regt and farewell to Maj (TOT) John Oakes who leaves us to join HQ Land Command Wilton. Also a farewell to Capt (Retd) Katie Munnoch who leaves the Squadron after nine years service. Best wishes also to Sgt Stu Sanderson who has left us for 242 Sig Sqn and LCpl Ruth Harkness who leaves us for sunny civvy street.

EXERCISE CHATURANGA, 23 -30 JUNE 2001

Once again this year 251 Sig Sqn took part in the International Assault Course Challenge at Tournai, Belgium. This year we entered a mixed and an individual male team. Visiting Belgium were, WO2 (YofS) Billy 'You're not getting me up there' Cardwell, WO2 (SSM) Gary 'Popeye' Smith, SSgt Rick 'Sexy Body' Owen, Sgt Pam 'I'm not drunk' Mitchell, Sgt Loz 'Balance Monkey' Moore, Sgt Stu 'Far too excitable'

Exercise Chaturanga

Sanderson, Cpl Russ 'I'm not knackered' Craig, LCpl Mark 'Where am I?' Igo, LCpl Steve 'Omelette again' Davies and, LCpl Brendan 'Loser' McIlduff.

The exercise got off to an eventful start on the first night when LCpl Mark 'TheWanderer' Igo spent all night trying to get back to the barracks after inadvertently getting a taxi to another town 15 miles away. The teams then got straight into an arduous training schedule that consisted of seven hours a day on the assault course. That punishing regime was mirrored in the evening's activities in the town centre. After completing a confidence course on the Wednesday morning we visited Ypres Battlefield sites and the Commonwealth War Graves as part of an excursion organised by WO2 (YofS) Billy Cardwell and SSgt Rick Owen who also acted as our guide for the day. Our male and mixed teams were both entered in the competition on the Thursday. Our mixed team went off first at 0930hrs. They completed the course in 22 minutes and came a very respectable second in their competition. Our male team kicked off at 1130hrs and finished with a highly commendable time of 27 minutes, this put them in the top half of an extremely competitive international line up of Police SWAT and Special Forces entrants.

A special mention must be made of LCpl Bret 'I AM A PTI' McIlduff, for unnerving accuracy with his shooting ability and winning the best sniper trophy. We left Tournai, and a few broken hearts on the Saturday, stopping off on the way for one bottle of wine and twenty cigarettes each, them home to sunny Aldershot.

OC's DINING OUT AND THE 2IC's LEAVING LUNCHEON

The Squadron dined out Maj (TOT) John Oakes at the WO's and Sgt's Mess on 13 July. This was an all ranks and civilian personnel occasion. The evening was a highly enjoyable one in which the Squadron showed its appreciation and wished Maj Oakes all the best at Wilton. The Squadron and friends had a very entertaining afternoon on the occasion of the leaving of the 2IC, Capt (Retd) Katie 'Loadsamoney' Munnoch. The meal took place at St Omer Barracks, Aldershot on 21 June.

HEADQUARTERS 4 DIVISION - FUN DAY

The Division held its annual 'Fun Day' on Thursday 19 July. The day's events included an 'Assault Course' suitable for non-military personnel, various fun activities and finished off with a tug-of-war competition. A pleasant and enjoyable day was had by all.

259 SIGNAL SQUADRON

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS - by The Chief

Sqn Comd Maj J. H. Fraser
SSM WO2 D. Tredwell

First a welcome to the new YofS Chris 'Who loves you baby' Green, (who said Kojak was dead), and his wife Sarah and daughter Bethany, fresh from sunny Blandford. The old Yeoman, Clint Barker has just completed his HOTO and now ONLY has two months to sort his personal admin out before heading off with wife Jan and daughters Emily and Kaliah to 2 Sig Bde, all the best for the future. The new 2IC, Capt Angela Aylward has felt the pressure of work from the OC and is presently on a sabbatical in Australia with the Corps' team; the SSM Dick 'The Ref' Tredwell is also feeling the stress and is presently in Jordan, refereeing at King Abdullah II's rugby tournament. It's a hard life! The Squadron's athletic team has just returned form our first trip to the Morrison Cup in Blandford. Led by the coach Sgt Kev Joyce, the team can feel justly proud of their efforts and enthusiasm. The Squadron now looks forward to a busy forecast of events, leading up to battlecamp in November.

AIRFIELD TROOP - by Sig Adam Holley

Tp SSgt SSgt D. Cain

Airfield Tp would first like to say a big welcome back to LCpl 'Mogsey' Morris from his six-month Class 1 course in Blandford. A well deserved slap on the back for Sgt Kev Waring on passing the FofS entrance and completing his RSSC all in one go. We would also like to congratulate Cpl 'Roll a twincab' Atherton on his new found twincab display skills. Also Sig Pete Goddard on his recently acquired rock-climbing qualifications. Now he may be able to scale his own head with a climbing party. The mighty fighting Airfield Mechs would like to let the world know how our Tech Dept are getting on. The fault response time is now down to just two weeks, not bad lads. So a big round of applause for the following, Sgt Kev 'Big Boy' Waring, Cpl Steve 'Little Boy' Bilby, Cpl Paul 'Rock'n'roll' Creeley and finally LCpl Tim 'You've not seen me' Berry. Finally a big shout out to our lads who represented the Squadron in the Morrison Cup in Blandford, well done lads, nice one.

DHEKELIA TROOP

Tp Comd Capt C. Alexander
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Bryant

The last month or so has seen Dhekelia Tp excelling in various activities. At the beginning of the month, the inter-squadron basketball/volleyball competition was held at Episkopi. The Olympic standard team consisted of LCpl Piers 'Grandad' Daw, Sig Jim 'Julian Clarey' Wirght, LCpl David 'Polly P Pant' King, Cpl Graham 'The Wedge' Dorward, Sgt Tony 'Cessac' Cecil and LCpl Martin 'Loser' Bagshaw. We proceeded to thrash our opponents into submission with little effort and claimed the trophy. Next was the basketball where the team consisted of the above players with rolling subs of Sig Ben 'Speedy Gonzales' Mitchell, Sig John ' My dads airborne, I think?' Dent and Sig Kieran 'Youth Worker' Johnson. Despite LCpl Dave 'Cat weasle' King sustaining a lethal thumb injury and being stretchered off the court, the team slam-dunked their way to victory. On the social side of things, the beginning of the month saw Sig Gareth 'Shotgun blues' Davis getting married to Xenia, breaking down the barriers in Soviet/Welsh diplomacy. Congratulations to the pair of them. Good luck to Cpl Kurt 'David Essex' Molden, who is currently loving life in sunny Blandford, on his Det Commanders course. Other news includes Cpl Gaz Watson who has recently taken up a new hobby...namely 'naked shopping'! Also, a big hello to new boy, Sig Derek 'War Stories' Burness, posted in from 30 Sig Regt and to 81 'Dads Army' Sig Sqn who arrived recently for their yearly holiday in uniform!

EPISKOPI TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt K. L. Milner
Tp SSgt SSgt G. Mathieson

First of all we would all like to say a big Cyprus hello to Sgt Steve Lewis who first experienced Epi Tp on a call out at daft 'o clock in the morning. Also to Cpl Kenny Purdie who has already experienced the brilliant nightlife in Limasol by going with the lads on one of their mid-week drinking sessions.... Did you leave your alarm clock back in N. Ireland though Kenny?! For some reason while Sig Steve Baxter was at his mates wedding in Dhekelia he decided to try and apply for stunt masters when a articulated wagon drove over the front end of his car and totally deformed his shoulder. He is out of hospital now so get well soon Steve and get some work done!

Sgt Joyce and Family

A 259 Sig Sqn family has experienced their second brush with danger in just over a month when they came close to losing their home in the Episkopi fire last Thursday. It was only last month whilst enjoying a family day out at Mount Olympus that they were attacked and their pet dog Sammi savaged by wild dogs. During the Episkopi fire, Kevin and Andrea Joyce and their two children Steven (9) and Sarah (8) could only flee to leave their possessions in the hands of station fire-fighters battling to stop the raging fire from engulfing homes on the new Lionheart estate. Flames licked within metres of their married quarter at 41 Sherwood Lane as they were evacuated to safety.

After finishing work as usual at lunchtime, Kevin had driven home to join the family preparing for daughter, Sarah's eighth birthday celebrations the following day. Kevin says 'Whilst indoors we heard what sounded like gunfire outside, Sarah went into the garden to investigate and moments later raced back in terror screaming fire, fire! Going into our garden I could see enormous flames advancing in a crimson wall across the Bondu toward us, trees and shrubs crackling and exploding in the intense heat, the children were terrified. Firefighters were already at work behind 1 KORBR accommodation building and some of them had to avoid the fire circling them as the wind changed direction and drove the flames across areas where men had stood seconds before. Realising we had little time, Andrea and I quickly closed all the shutters and doors and were preparing to leave when the police arrived and told everyone to evacuate to the area of the NAAFI, we gathered up the children and Sammi and ran to safety.

As he left the house, Kevin, who has recently served in Northern Ireland maintained the presence of mind to quickly collect a bag containing all the family's important documents. Kevin explains that it is common for service families in the Province to keep a 'grab bag' handy, containing the essentials in case of a bomb scare. It is just something he decided to continue here in Cyprus having heard reports of how quickly the Paramali estate was engulfed in 1998. It was six o'clock in the evening before the family was able to return to their home and Kevin was called in to his unit for fire fighting duties. After all the excitement, Sarah's eighth birthday celebrations passed without a hitch. She got an inflatable dingy from mum, dad and Steven and spent Sunday a welcome day at Watermania in Limassol.

MORRISON CUP 2001 - by Sgt Kev Joyce
WHEN SUNSHINE CAME TO BLANDFORD

With cries of, 'You ain't a man if you ain't got a tan,' and, 'What's all this grey cloud stuff?' the Squadron Athletics Team made its Morrison Cup debut. The team consisted of:

WO2 (SSM) Dickie Tredwell	-	3000m Steeplechase
SSgt Danny Cain	-	440m hurdles/ 400m relay
Sgt George Henry	-	Discus
Cpl Steve Bilby	-	400m/400m relay
LCpl Rich Berry	-	Long/Triple jump
LCpl Steve Hudson	-	100/200m
LCpl Phil Parish	-	400m relay
Sig Kenny Campbell	-	800m/400m relay
Sig Mark Findlay	-	Shot/javelin
Sig Keith Forman	-	110m hurdles/5000m
Sig Adam Huber	-	High jump/pole vault
Sig Gav Prigmore	-	Hammer/1500m
Sgt Kev Joyce	-	Team Captain/coach/driver

Team selection was based on the 'pulse and pound' principle; if you've got a pulse you're in, and the heads and tails on a pound coin determined who did the pole vault and 5000m. Special mentions to Gav Prigmore's efforts in the 1500m, which he led for the majority of the race before falling foul to a last minute spurt from another and came in a highly creditable second place. Also to Adam Huber for his have-a-go attitude towards being coined for the pole vault, a completely new event to him. Overall, of the four minor units competing, we finished a resounding last place. However, we returned to Cyprus with a number of things in tact, our tans, the knowledge that we have the basis of a good team for the future, and the moral victory over the minor units closer to Blandford, who hadn't the courage to enter. We now look forward to the All Island competition in Cyprus, in September, with a view to returning next year, better prepared and ready to win. No longer will we hear the cries of 'losers from the WSBA' – WE WILL BE BACK!

WINS A RAFT OF TROPHIES AT CESSAC BEACH

Dhekelia Tp of 259 Sig Sqn took major honours at this year's Annual 62 Cyprus Support Squadron Royal Engineers All Island Raft Race by rowing off with three of the six coveted trophies including best overall raft, at CESSAC Beach, Dhekelia on Saturday 23 June. With five rafts, 259 Sig Sqn fielded the largest single unit entry in the competition with vessel designs ranging through Titanic (which was appropriate), human anatomy, a catamaran and Jimmy's floating bed to a pink Barbie car. Based on the design of last year's entry, the Dhekelia Tp winning 'best male' 'A Team' raft was crewed by Cpl Graham Dorward, Cpl Hugh Taylor, LCpl Martin Bagshaw and LCpl Piers Daw, who were dressed as Hannibal, BA, Face and Murdoch. According to the crew, the raft, which was made from cardboard tri wall MFO boxes, was a very last minute affair, but they did have the benefit of Cpl Taylor's dad Guy being a boat builder by trade. During the race, the raft did suffer some structural damage and was taking on water by the end but water proofing gaffer tape and gloss paint helped keep it together. The Dhekelia Tp lads say they are amazed and proud to have taken the Holy Grail of rafting accolades, 'The Shipwreck Trophy'

Dhekelia Troop wives; Amanda Bryant, Nicola Foster, Emma Readhead and Carol Purvis dressed as very fetching Barbie dolls picked up the best raft design trophy. They decided to enter the raft race and throw down a challenge to their old archrivals; the Episkopi wives. Dhekelia wives' pink Barbie car design was finally decided upon after two meetings and several bottles of wine and was subsequently put together from bits and pieces found in and around the married quarters. The Barbie raft came in fourth beating the Episkopi wives 'Jimmy's Babes' into fifth place. The challenge is still on for next year so look out Cyprus, 259 Signal Squadron have got their sails set on a course to sink the rest and take every trophy in 2002!

101 LOGISTIC BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS & SIGNAL SQUADRON (261)

Sqn Comd Maj Mark Baines
OC (des) Maj Matt Fensom
RSM WO1 (RSM) C. J. Udell

A LONG HOT SUMMER!

The Squadron is now fully up and running and has been exceedingly busy throughout this summer, providing support to both 101 and 102 Logistic Brigades. 2Lt 'Caz' Wootten led an advance party to start setting up theatre communications in Oman for Ex Saif Sareea II in May.

The winning raft builders
Cfn Dixon, LCpl Wright, Sig Chowdhry, LCpl Marshall, Sig Shields and LCpl McGuckin

The OC, Maj Mark Baines in a break between sandstorms

Meanwhile LCpl 'Ironfists' McGuckin and Sig Jordan 'When do we get to use the GPMG?' Gray escorted the vehicles on the Sea Centurion via various bars in Sicily. Foreman Sue Spencer moved so fast her boots famously melted on the dockside at Salalah – this was a sign of things to come! The JFLogC Forward HQ then moved up the Jebel to Thumrait where SSgt Al Dummer supervised many a nocturnal tent building party. The sandstorms then came in to blow away many of the 18x24 tents, not great for morale. Exasperated, Capt Sarah Pedder then escaped from theatre to get married, returning later as Capt Morshead – much to the confusion of the Staff of 102 Log Bde, who were still melting in Thumrait. Meanwhile, the guys still waiting to deploy kept each other amused doing leadership training. LCpl 'Bendy' Skeggs proved it was easy to fall off logs and LCpl Cole proved he could swim like a fish after doing well in the raft building competion.

Cpl 'Simmo' Simpson, Sig 'junior' Simpson, Sig 'I'm the boss' Fielding, and Sig 'Don't you throw those spears at me' Bromhead all did an excellent job of helping the local Cub pack and ensuring the OC remained totally surprised by his dining out in the WOs and Sgts Mess.

In July the 'A' Team deployed into the middle of the Omani desert for a spot of cross country driving. On offer were the normal Landrover, DAF and DROPS vehicles. Cpl Jo 'I would rather be behind my desk' Hammick particularly disliked the hill starts – typical clerk.

Cpl 'Stinking Tech' Rhodes saw his dull life flash before his eyes when he almost toppled a DAF. He did this under the 'careful' supervision of Cpl 'Taff' Lean. LCpl Tom 'The Whinging Welshman' Hanks won the concurrent activity – a left-handed throwing competition. He obviously played it for a geek, a good day out of tentsville.

Sig Watson modelling Shemagh and issue goggles

As this goes to press WO2 (YofS) Pat Smith and WO2 (RQMS) 'No more heat casualties' Alger continued with the thankless task of building the huge JFLogC MAIN HQ at Camp South. 'South Park' will by now have seen most of 4 Armd Bde and 1 (UK) Div pass through it – what a lovely place. Cpl Ronnie Cuthbert and Sig Chowdry were late contenders in the sandbag filling championships, but came nowhere near beating Cpl 'who turned the lights out' Lean!

LCpl 'Rommel' Beerling won the shaped hat competition and Sig 'Santa's Helper' Shepley was voted man most in need of wearing a Shemagh.

ALPHA TROOP

June was a busy month for Alpha Troop with the remaining equipment being out-loaded to OMAN on the new RAF C17, plus more members of the Troop were dispatched to help the troop OC 2Lt 'Caz' Wootten. That completed we thought we would get on with some military training and chill out, however, this was not to be the case. The Brigade Commander was so impressed with the Squadron effort on JOTES last year he decided to pass the task once again to the OC, Maj Mark Baines, who in turn passed it to Alpha Tp, which was now down to 15 of a possible 43, with no equipment. Easy task, get some: tents, portable toilets, a DC generator, C+E drivers, three mini-busses with drivers, four site escorts, four guards and don't forget to disinfect everything.

Ring, Ring, Alpha Troop Sir! 'Chico' it's 'Pat' (WO2 (YofS) Pat Smith) JOTES! Yeah! I need seven operators and some radios. What like the radios that we don't have? Yeah! Okay, no problem, leave it to me. A task for Cpl Andy Carr me thinks. Here comes the Top Hat and Magic Wand trick.

Ring, Ring, Alpha Troop Sir! Do you run the Squadron Football Team? Yes sir. Good the Brigade Commander wants to put a Brigade 6-a-side Competition together and the Squadron is to enter two male and one female team, can you sort it out? No problem, what day? Monday 25th! The day before we deploy for JOTES? Yeah! Great!

Ring, Ring, Alpha Troop Sir! Fancy getting involved in painting a Special Needs School in Portsmouth, bit of KAPE? Sure Chief, when? Next week before JOTES! (Can't say no to that can we), Okay. It doesn't rain but it pours springs to mind! Off to Futcher School we go to tackle the KAPE task first. Simple job, 'anything outside that don't move, paint it'. The work was carried out with enthusiasm and vigour, only interrupted by 5-a-side football with the children at their break times. Sig Liam Frater impressed that he could weave his way through the wheelchairs to score, sad. After two days we had painted the play area, bins and 600 meters of metalled safety railings in school colours. Task complete, we were invited to attend the school assembly where army baseball caps and pencil cases were handed over to the head teacher. Secondly, the football competition, to be held in Colchester. Kick off at 1000hrs best leave here at about 6am then. Team arrives at the coach less Sgt Shaun Fardy. Oh! no here he comes with his 'jim-jams' still on rubbing his eye's chuntering something about breakfast. The Teams faired okay considering we were up against regiments. The Squadron first team came runners up in the plate, with the second team happy to come fifth, and no not out of five. The female team also faired well gaining a lot of support, especially when they had to change their shirts on the pitch to stop a clash of colours. Our thanks go out to Pte Cathy Ferguson on a fine display of control.

Then on to JOTES, kit assembled from around the Brigade, transport ready to go, Alpha Troop in the starting blocks with Cpl 'Tommo' Thomas at the helm. Mission, set everything up, conduct the training, tear it down, move location, set it up again, conduct the exam, tear it down and go home, and don't cock it up as the Brigade Commander, COS, OC Sqn and Bde RSM will be there, no pressure then, what's a career anyway.

Finally, hatching, matching and dispatching. Congratulations go to Sgt 'Chico' Towers and wife Maria on the birth of their third son. Good bye to LCpl Ross Sutherland who has seen the light, all the best mate. Welcome's to Sigs Colin Corry, Mick Keating and 'Simmo' Simpson, all from the factory, enjoy your time here.

A LONG HOT AUTUMN?

Sgt 'Chico' Towers has been left holding the baby and the fort with a small rear party. Sgt 'time for a run' Thwaite has taken over the Training role, so there's lots of good stuff to look forward to when the unit eventually returns to Aldershot. Several other new faces are eagerly awaited over the Autumn and most can look forward to a spell in the sun.

The Squadron will see most of the Corps passing through Oman this year – we'll be the guys with the suntans who have gone totally native! Meanwhile WO1 (RSM) Udell has got the boxing training in hand and the cross-country and football teams have plenty of sand hills to train on. This year is a high readiness year, so is next year, and the year after……..so come and join the fun

280(UNITED KINGDOM) SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Jim Harris
RSM WO1 (RSM) Craig Kearney

Life in sunny St Tönis has continued at a blistering pace as the move to RAF Brüggen draws closer and the commitments to NATO firm up. Despite this the Squadron has found time to enjoy a very successful athletics and football season, conduct adventure training and foster our strong Anglo-German ties.

CSS

IC Sect SSgt (FofS) Paul 'Skippy' Stevens

Life has been as hectic as ever in Comms Support since the last time of writing we have all been having so much fun! Time has been spent getting used to the fast moving pace of NATO and getting new feet under old tables. A lot of experience has sadly moved on to pastures new, yet with the introduction of Cpl Sarah 'Swimmer' Finney and Cpl John 'Doc' Savage the section hopes to carry on the good work. Busy times are ahead for the section with various exercises to support and courses to attend. Although we are extremely busy, for a small section there is always time for sport; with athletics, swimming, golf and basketball to mention a few. All members are now looking forward to the proposed move to Brüggen, none more so than the golfer in the Section.

JULIET TROOP

Tp Comd 2Lt Jim Barber

As always, the introduction should begin with the voluntary contributions of the new members to the Troop. A warm welcome to LCpl Trevor Carter, LCpl Louise Hallsworth and Sig Vikki Seymour. Also it is good to see that LCpl McAlpine has enjoyed the taxing endeavours that Kosovo threw at him. It has once again been a relatively busy time within the Troop and the Squadron, mainly on the national side though. In early July the Squadron conducted an excellent ITD camp at Bockenberge Camp utilising some of the instructors from within the troop. Cpl Nikki 'Should be RD' Roberts and LCpl Esther 'More DKP 1, RSM' Humby ran (literally) the much dreaded NBC stand very well. The Troop OC eventually managed to visit the 5-man O&M team in Banja Luka to find the usual suspects enjoying their time there. We would all like to pass on our best wishes on to LCpl Martyn 'Errol' Flynn who is up and walking again and also to his wife, Michelle, as they are expecting their first child at the start of August.

KILO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Sarah Covey-Crump

Kilo Tp is going strong with more new additions than departures, which is always a bonus. Firstly our two new technicians LCpl 'Fingers' Egerton and LCpl Hutchinson who has taken up position as the resident Golf Pro. Also welcome to Sgt 'Andy' Butterfield and his wife Cherrie and Cpl 'Blondie' Shepherd who recently arrived from nearby 16 Sig Regt. Sad goodbyes to two of our Corporals Cpl 'no leave passes' Cunningham and his wife Liz and Cpl ' Sniffer' Grant both departing for the UK. Congratulations go to LCpl 'Richie' Ingram who recently married Carolyn, best of luck to both of you and to Sgt 'Paraglider extraordinaire' Cattle on your promotion. Finally good luck to Sgt 'look at me' Walsh, Cpl 'dangerous driver' Harrison, LCpl 'Wire brush' Booth, Sig 'not all there' Rolf and Sig 'I never get drunk' Pollock who are off to Bosnia, hope you have a good tour, don't worry if you get bored you've got our visit to look forward to.

SUPPORT TROOP

QM Capt Mark Schofield

Comd 1st Sig Bde and Rhone Garrison — Brig David McDonald presents WO2 (RQMS) Innes with his Warrant

A warm welcome to Capt 'Mark' Schofield replacing Capt 'Steve' Toms, things will never be the same again. WO2 'Dutch' Holland has arrived all the way from 7 Sig Regt to replace WO2 'Kev' Innes who is off to warmer climates in Kuwait. Prior to his departure WO2 Innes was presented with his Warrant from Comd 1st Sig Bde (SOinC(A) Des), Brig David McDowall. Congratulations (to both of you!). SSgt Mark Sala has arrived from 21 Sig Regt who has taken over the vacant job of Sp Tp Staff Sergeant. The brothers in arms LCpls Paul Denham and 'Mase' Mason have arrived from 12 Mech Bde and John McMahon and Sig 'Dav' Evans from 7 Sig Regt. We say goodbye to Cpl Mark Sibbald, Cpl Craig Straughan and Sig 'Whippet' Roberts. Finally congratulations go to LCpl Gavin Beatty on his marriage to Brigida.

ANGLO-GERMAN RELATIONS

Presentation to the HPZ Special Needs School, Forstwald

The Squadron has always enjoyed close links with the local community and played a full part in fostering good Anglo-German relations. This period has been no exception and has seen members of the Squadron present money raised during the Berner-Distantz March to the HPZ special needs school and take part in the annual Schutzenfest. Fortunately for Capt Sarah '12 bore' Covey-Crump she didn't shoot down the commemorative bird and win the dubious honour of becoming the 'Schutzenkonig' (Shooting King) and the associated costs - £2000 for two years! The Schutzenball turned out to be an unforgettable experience, especially for Capt Fraser 'Waltzing Matilda' Reid who demonstrated his prowess on the dance floor.

ADVENTURE TRAINING

After an eight-hour drive in a minibus we arrived at our lodge in Bavaria all geared up to get cracking with a week's Adventure Training. After our arrivals brief that covered every rule known to man we gathered in the bar. We were all dull and depressed until we started playing nails, having a few drinks and staggering the short distance to our bunk beds.

Day 1: Bright and early in the morning we were up in the store to be met by Camp Dave our climbing instructor, after collecting our equipment it was a short drive to the rock we were climbing. Camp Dave set a very difficult climb that we all completed apart from LCpl 'Cliffhanger' Hurdman who showed us his moves as he proceeded to do some disco dancing on an underhang. That wasn't as funny as seeing the faces of LCpl 'Dj' Seymour and Sig 'Gaz' James before they did an abseil, but we all came home with a smile on our face.

Day 2: Not too happy this morning 'cos we had a day Hill walking which everyone loves, NOT! The highlight of the day was walking down a track and hearing bells ringing in the distance. Slowly the ringing was getting louder and faster when all of a sudden about 30 enormous cows came stampeding at us down a field, we were chased for about 500metres until the end of their field, very amusing.

Day 3: The boys were off River Kayaking with SI 'Mandy' Mason who thought she had a group of competent Kayakers! We set off down the river and it was obvious LCpl Seymour and Hurdman had exaggerated about their previous experience. After being briefed up on our capsize drills Dj got it a bit wrong when shouting capsize himself whilst tipping over and running out of breath underwater, we had never seen anyone get out of a Kayak as quick in our lives.

Final Day: We went white water rafting in Austria and on the down the river we had wars between boats which spiced it up a bit. Apart from Sig 'Sandancer' Rolf nearly drowning the SI, but apart from that it was very good fun, a special congratulations to LCpl Seymour for getting the prize scalp of Cpl 'Ears' Roberts out of her raft and making everyone's day. Then it was the return journey to camp after one last night on the town, all in all a good week.

PARAGLIDING - by LCpl Denham and Sig Sinclair

On 2 July a group of crazy maniacs embarked on a ten-day course to the Bavarian Alps where they would undergo their most terrifying experience ever known to mankind Paragliding! The head honcho, Sgt Daz 'The Awesome Sky God' Cattle lead this group of warriors down to the Alps to experience something that he has been doing for the last 18 months. The first three days many of the students spent more time chewing grass then achieving anything else, this was because of the almighty strength of the Glider pulling them through many acres of fields face down, with only there two front teeth to stop them. The student who perfected the two teeth stop to a tee was Cpl Yan 'knows everything about nothing' Nicholas who later redeemed himself to be worthy of the name 'Sky God'. Days 4, 5 and 6 were the most tiring of days, because of constantly walking up and falling down the steepest hill God created. After many attempts we started getting higher, (higher than the fence in the next field) and before long, personal skills started to take over. Cpl Ben 'Runs like my gran' Permain was probably the overall best student at the launch (NOT) and Sig Adam 'Ostrich Legs' Sprogis did very well too after his Para glider collapsed on one side at a very high altitude (About 20 feet). Days 7 and 8 we were rained in, and consequently grounded for one evening. All of us felt like our wings had been clipped, with not much to do except theory, except for one evening when Sig Donna 'Trash the bathroom' Beardsley found alternative entertainment. Days 9 and 10 were make or break days for the pilots, as the top 5% went to the mountain and the remainder went to God's hill for more re-medial flying. Out of the first group there was only LCpl Neil 'The Fan Man' Haggar who although ready to go was unable to launch due to bad weather. Every one who attended the course had a fantastic time and managed to pass as elementary pilots, but the question on everyone's mind was would LCpl T 'Terrified' Turner launch himself off the mountain?

ATHLETICS SEASON 2001

280 (UK) Sig Sqn's recent success in the Minor units Athletics enabled both the male and female teams to compete in the Army Athletics Championships held in Aldershot on 25 July 2001. The season really all started with the Inter Troop Athletics Competition that took place at Krefeld on 25 April 2001. We were able to select a squad to represent the Squadron in the BFG Morrison Cup that was run by 1 UK ADSR in Herford on 29 May 2001. This was our first taste of success with the male team finishing runners up in the competition out of a field of 15 Squadrons from various Signals units across Germany. The female team proved their worth with some excellent results and a bag full of medals in the ladies individual competition. The achievements were well deserved especially because they had to compete against regimental opposition.

It was here we had our first experience of the new Sqn YofS, SSgt Tim 'Hurdling' Tomkinson. He arrived in the unit on the Monday and was representing the Squadron at the event on the Wednesday and all because he mentioned that he had hurdled a few times before. Being the modest sort of chap that he is, he failed to let on that he had hurdled at combined services level. Subsequently Tim was our lethal weapon in both the 110m and 400m hurdles and high jump, guaranteeing a win every time. Our distance runners consisted of Cpl Matty 'lapped again' Baber in the 5000m and WO1 (RSM) Craig 'This Is The Last Time' Kearney in the 3000m steeplechase, proving we could hold our own at this level. Capt Lindsey 'Can Only Do Long Distance' Calderhead, proved to be our secret weapon in the ladies 3000m, winning in convincing style. The 4 x 400m relay dream team came to fruition consisting of SSgt Tim 'Hurdling' Tomkinson, LCpl Dai 'PT Corps to be' Jones, LCpl Chax 'The Tamworth Smooth Boy' Chacksfield, and Sig Glen 'I'm better than you' James. Due to course commitments Cpl Daz 'Legionnaire' Rickard stepped into the role of LCpl Jones and ensured the dream team maintained their status as a force to be reckoned with. The ladies 4x100m relay team also proved to be no slouches as the team consisting of Sgt Mandy 'Bite your bum' Mason, LCpl Marie 'Smile please bobby' Moore, Sig Sarah 'Brickhouse' Kimberley and Sig Angie 'Social Hand Grenade' Fewster.

The Squadron Athletics Team
Looking fresh before their night out in Bournemouth

Our next port of call was to take part in the UK Morrison cup. Crammed into two minibuses we made the formidable journey from Krefeld over to Blandford. Everyone was full of optimism and raring to go after our recent triumph in Germany, or was it due to the promise of a night out in Bournemouth that was raising the enthusiasm. Whatever the incentive the results spoke for themselves as the male team again finished runners up and the female team finished in fourth place after seeing off various major unit teams. It was here that LCpl Moore was all smiles, as she jumped at the opportunity to run the 5000m for the girls and relinquish her 1500m and 800m roles. Sig Kimberley found her new vocation in athletics as she stormed around the track in both the 400m and the 400m hurdles. Sgt Mandy Mason donned her Nike lycras to attempt an unwelcome sprint in the 800m and Capt Calderhead finally managed to sneak away from lessons to pick up valuable points in the 1500m. Sig Fewster managed to drag herself away from her cigarettes and put in good performances in the 200m and the high jump. Sig Sharon 'I can't do the 1500m' Young made her own way from leave to meet up with the team and provide us with some speed in the 100m. Sig Gareth 'Can't Get A Word In Edge Ways' James provided consistency in the 200m whilst his namesake (no relation) Sig Glen 'Limp Wrist' James showed he could cut the mustard in the 400m. Sig Bri 'Woolly Back' Parrington held his own in the 800m and Sig Dave 'Pencil Neck' Kruczek' kept up the good work in the 100m. LCpl Neil 'Orange Peel' Gritt leapt at the chance to represent us in the long jump.

On returning to Germany we were again gearing ourselves up for the forthcoming BA (G) Major and Minor Inter Unit Team Athletics Championships in Sennelager. Exercise and operational commitments forced many units to pull out at the last minute. The lack of competition did not diminish the enthusiasm or the team spirit in any way and it was quite apparent as we took both the male and the female winners trophies back to Krefeld with us. More importantly this was our qualifying ticket to the Army Championships in Aldershot. It was a close run competition with the outcome resting on the 4x400m relay. The 'Dream team' again provided the goods with a convincing win on the day. Both team's performances in the field was fairly consistent with Sgt Barney 'Velcro back' Barnett hurling his hammer, Cpl Andy 'Jacko' Jackson throwing his shot and LCpl Rees Hughes letting off steam by throwing the javelin and the discus. Cpl Ritchie 'Silver fox' Brown used his speed power and easily won the triple jump and came within tenths of a second to finish second in the 100m. LCpl 'Chax' Chacksfield regained his bottle and composure to give us points on the board in the pole vault; a discipline where for some reason everyone appeared to shy away!

The ladies field performers included LCpl Ester 'Quiet As A Mouse' Humby throwing the discus and the javelin and Sig Jo 'I can fit my fist in my mouth' Gill throwing the shot. Sig Julie 'Where's My Car?' Kavanagh leapt for joy in the long jump and Sgt Mandy Mason showed off her APTC talents by triumphing in the triple jump. Sig Vicky 'aka Colin Jackson' Seymour showed her hidden talents in the ladies 100m hurdles, a bit of coaching from the Yeoman will have her well sorted for next season. With both teams qualifying we were whisked back to UK to take part in the Army Championships in Aldershot. A no expenses spared air- conditioned coach made the journey a little more bearable, although the video packing in as we pulled out of camp didn't help – time to sleep!

The competition in Aldershot was of an extremely high standard. The male team finished third in the minor units and the girls finished sixth in the combined major and minor units ladies competition. Although we were competing against incredible opposition the teams again put in 100% effort. SSgt Tim Tomkinson again provided us with three wins in the hurdles and high jump. LCpl Jones managed to get a day off from his PTI course and jump to success in the long jump and slot back into the 4x400m relay team to help the 'dream team' run another superb race. Sgt Steve 'book me a late scoff' Templeman was by now our 1500m candidate and ran a hard slog in very warm conditions. LCpl Louise 'New Girl In Town' Hallsworth put points on the board in the long jump and triple jump for the girls. LCpl Sally 'Biker' Hubble bravely volunteered to run the 5000m due to our previous runners being unavailable. This was the first occasion during the season where at the prize giving we did not receive any awards. It was a valiant effort in a competition where as a minor unit we can safely say we held our heads high. The season certainly proved we have the capability to compete at all levels. For a small Squadron who has varying commitments to NATO we managed to enter a male and female team in all competitions both in Germany and UK.

FOOTBALL SEASON 2000-2001 - by Maj (Retd) Bob Lockwood MBE

The Squadron football team had an outstanding season that culminated in a 1– 0 win over 7 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn in the League Play Off Final. The Cup final versus 24 Regt RLC was played at Rheindahlen Stadium, after the first attempt at Sennelager was snowed off, and resulted in a 1– 0 win after a thrilling match which went into extra time. In between the Cup and League Finals the Squadron travelled to the UK to play 42 Independent Survey Sqn RE in the Semi-final of the Army Cup (UK Section). After an excellent game, which included extra time, the Squadron were beaten 4–3 on penalties. The lads took the defeat in a sporting manner and wished 42 Sqn the best in the Final at Aldershot. The Football Officer and Team Manager, Maj (Retd) Bob Lockwood MBE, would like to thank all the players, staff and the Squadron support for making the season one to remember.

JCUFI CHARITIES FEBRUARY-AUGUST 2001
by Sgt (UQMS) Dave Howe

The two nominated Charities for 219 Signal Squadron's roulement were MIND and the Galactosaemia Support Group. JCUFI and myself, as OIC Charities, set out to outdo all that have come and gone before us. On 5 May, Cpl 'Si' Brewington, LCpl 'Mark' Beal, JT 'Touchy' Feely and myself organised a Fancy Dress function with a Raffle, Rank Slide Auction and to round it all off, a sortie in a F3 Tornado. LCpl 'Butch' Richardson, Line Section won the sortie and the rest of the lads from the Section were amused by the thought of an underslung load going supersonic. Cpl 'Cazza' Johnstone and SAC 'Mickey' Brogan paid for the privilege of taking charge of Charlie Tp. LCpls 'Mat the Boy' Lutkin and 'Stav' Consdanti out bid all to become USM and OC JCUFI for the day. 2Lt 'Pasty' Stevens entertained the party when she had her head shaved (No 3 after a little goading from the crowd). A good night was had by all with over £1000 being raised by those who took part and attended.

On 15 June, the JCUFI 'St Trinians ably escorted by Sgt 'Tony' Hartley, visited all and sundry in Mount Pleasant Complex with their collection boxes. No door was left unopened or avenue or alleyway visited. The girls were kept under strict control by Headmaster, PO (RS) 'Thomo' Thompson, who had them pose for pictures and the like. The girls conducted themselves in true lady-like fashion despite the cruel weather conditions and had a great time in the process. The girls raised £1100 between them. My thanks goes out to the 'Staff' and in particular to Cpl 'Cazza' Johnstone, LCpl's 'Helen' Caplin and 'Penny' Edwards, WOM (C)'s 'Carrie' Smith, 'Beccy' Manning and 'Karen' Pratley and Sigs 'Beccy' Greenhalgh and 'Mel' Rudkin. Well done the girls. Friday 13 July came and went with all the usual superstition; SSgt 'Eve' Eden was left nursing a dislocated shoulder. For a select group of Officers and SNCOs, it meant the count up of the votes for a public 'Gunging' organised by Sig 'Beccy' Greenhalgh. Sharkies Bar was full of last minute voters and those eagerly awaiting the result. The USM, WO2 (SSM) 'Rennie' Renshaw was well in front, on a personal note, I had no votes but Lt 'Jay' Croslegh insulted his Line Section, by mentioning it was now 'a girly trade' and with that, went any chance of avoiding the slime. Cpl 'Cazza' Johnstone and LCpl 'Stav' Consdanti emptied the first two buckets over the OC Charlie Troop and it was left to Sig 'Jules' Grieves (Line section) to finish the job, which he did with style. A big well done to Sig 'Beccy' Greenhalgh for organising the event, raising £250 and thanks to those who volunteered to take part.

Throughout the last few months I ran a £1 'Lucky Number' Draw, which was drawn on Fridays in Sharkies. I managed to raise nearly £400 for the Charities and made the lucky winner over £30 better off for the weekend. My thanks goes out to all those, past and present who supported the venture. During 219 Signal Squadron's tenure as the Army Element of JCUFI, we managed to raise the 'Princely' sum of £6500 for our Charities, the gauntlet has well and truly been laid down, that's if any future Unit, dares to take up the challenge of matching our efforts?

LIFE AT THE SHARP END - by Cpl 'Carol Smilie' Johnstone

2 February 2001, 219 Sig Sqn eventually landed in MPA. JCUFI UHQ was quiet, like a Wild West ghost town, then. Maj 'David Beckham' Stocker took the kick off and things have not stopped happening since. The USM, WO2 'Rennie or STAND UP' Renshaw took control of Sharkies and PT ('I want them bleeding from their eyes'). The admin cell (Cell being the correct word) was then given a face-lift by Sgt 'Shaney Boy/Hand Grenade or Chiefy-Keeky' Carnell and was professionally run by Cpl 'Carol Smilie' Johnstone. Due to the fact that 'Shany' boy could only handle three months working with 'Carol Smile', his replacement was sent all the way from Sunny Shape, Sgt 'It's a Muppet or Chieftain' Moy. Not forgetting UHQ was a combined service environment, the 2IC's post was gapped for a few weeks and then the arrival of Flt Lt 'Straight Jacket' Bevan arrived and was a ray of sunshine to UHQ. The 2IC A Flt was another valuable asset to UHQ, Flt Sgt 'How we laughed or GPMG' Edwards, filling our days with stories about how he was attacked by Sealion's and survived to tell the tale. Not forgetting 2Lt 'Pasty' Stevens who worked as the Ops Officer/IC Day trips, three times a week, for four months. The crowd is on the pitch, they think it's all over, 'IT IS NOW'.

UQMS DEPARTMENT - by Sgt (UQMS) 'Dave' Howe

After only a few days in theatre, it became apparent to LCpl 'Gaz' Warner and myself that the routine, uneventful tour we both had expected was not about to materialise. What followed was 6 months of hard but rewarding work, with plenty of time for laughs along the way. 'Gaz' Warner had the day off to go flying around in a C130 Hercules and ended up examining the inside of an in-flight sick bag, he was supposed to be hanging out the back of the plane but felt more secure sat down!

The highlight of the tour for the both of us came during Exercise Nimble Ram II. As a department, we were given the job of the enemy force for the exercise with LCpl 'S10' Kumar and Sig 'Si-Frenchman' Fry from Charlie Troop. I don't think four people could have been as less welcome during a week's exercise as we were. At 'our' End-Ex, we had a good laugh at the thought that everybody else would be 'Stood to' when we were getting our admin squared away or our heads down. Sorry folks, it's a rotten job but someone's got to do it.

RADCON - by Cpl 'Cal' Calam

It has been a time of change during 2 Sig Regt's tour of the Falklands, and on 16 May the Theatre Command net was shut down leading to the closure of the two hilltop Rebro sites, Adam and Campito. This in turn led to the closure of Radcon and the opportunity for some of the guys to go home early. Before this could happen Radcon had to fit in three exercises along with clearing kit from the Radcon inventory, a task carried out with no little effort by LCpl 'Di Don't be so rude' Turner.

The first exercise Nimble Ram 2 was a JCUFI exercise practising comms and defence training. Lessons learnt from this exercise were:

1. If you've got 28 maps out of 29 then the one your missing is the one you need,
2. Red lights fixed to masts on the horizon don't usually count as a threat to your location.

Ex Cape Petrel is a BFFI wide exercise held regularly to practice the defence of MPA, fortunately Radcon weren't playing this time, as we were busy closing down the Rebro sites. We did, however, have to provide comms and sent a three-man det to exercise control with Cpl Jono 'Easy Son' Hanes leading the way. Given that he was working at Excon you'd think Cpl Hanes would be aware of any intelligence but no, not our 'Jono' his lack of password knowledge led to him being lifted by the RMP. Still he was better off than Sig Mickey 'Sar Bals' Thomson who just happened to be passing the guardroom, when the enemy attacked. He was pulled over and, despite his pleas of not playing was slotted without compassion. Endex was called prematurely although contrary to popular belief this was not because SSgt 'Shaky' Peters had failed to pack his comb in his bergen. After the exercise it was time to say farewell to another of our number who had managed to escape the Falklands and the regiment. After postings to 14 and 2 Sig Regt LCpl Jay 'The one we didn't mind getting away' Jones was posted to 11 Sig Regt and with postings like that Jay must feel truly popular.

By now days to do were getting very few. For some of the guys at least. The last major mark on the calendar was Ex Purple Strike, an exercise of confirmatory training for the resident infantry company. Once again we deployed a detachment to exercise control, this time headed up by SSgt 'Scouse Pleased to meet you' Peters. A man who's inimitable telephone-style ensured that the exercise was administered smoothly. Also deployed was Sig Chris 'What I don't know about anything you can write on the back of a stamp' Woods who was lucky enough to go for a bimble with the ACOS. Although after endex 'Woodsy' did get to rest his feet as he and I borrowed some quads to ride up the mountain. Unfortunately we managed to find some terrain too tricky for the quads and spent a good 45 minutes digging them out. During the exercise the secure HF was provided by Sig Thomson, whilst steadying the ship during Radcon's last stand were LCpl Chris 'Taxi Driver' Storey and LCpl Al 'Can you send the last 10 minutes of the battle again?' Allardyce. With that exercise over and everything squared away the coast was cleared for people to go home and the remainder to move over to Syscon. Just time for a quick goodbye to Al Allardyce who's posted to Northern Ireland as his sidies were too long for him to go anywhere else. So to all at Radcon, leaving or staying WELL DONE. We can all move on now be it to Syscon or home happy in the knowledge that Radcon's been left in the capable paws of Stumpy the cat.

RADCON locks it's doors

BRAVO DIVISION
OC B DIV WO (RS) 'Mac' Mckie

The handover of the Army element in B Div takes place in August after a successful tour by a mix of three separate Royal Signals units, headed up by 219 Sig Sqn. The contingent included personnel from 14 Sig Regt and C list celebrity LCpl Monk from 30 Sig Regt tagging along. The entire Army element benefited from working Tri-Service, although some people took more time adjusting to it than others did. We are all in for a big culture shock when we get back to our Regiments as it means the end of our 2-hour standard RAF NAAFI break. Throughout the tour B Div personnel managed to get involved in wide range of interesting events. These included Hercules flights with the RAF, which entailed hanging off the back tailgate dropping sandbags at targets and a bit of flying practice over the South Atlantic. There were also several range days organised by the infantry where several appalling Rambo impressions were carried out firing a GPMG from the hip. The 2 Sig Regt lads would like to especially thank the ginger werewolf LCpl Lavin and kebab salesman (I ate all the profits) LCpl Condstanti for attending, as that is about all they managed. LCpl Condstantis' main contribution was the raising of Troop morale when he deprived Sgt 'Always second' Davidson of victory in the B Div Go-Cart grand prix. We would also like to congratulate LCpl 'The whole worlds out to get me' Russell on his promotion to full Corporal. A special mention goes out to Cpl Gaz Edmondson who joined us late from RADCON. We'll enjoy that slab. From a COMMCEN point of view thanks must go to Sgt Tony Hartley for the magnificent day when St Trinians invaded MPA, he managed to encourage most of the JCUFI females to dress up and parade around the messes and bars as St Trinian schoolgirls, ably assisted by the Headmaster PO(RS) Greg Thomson RN, all for charity of course.

CHARLIE TROOP
OC CTp Lt Jay Croslegh
Tp SSgt SSgt Eve Eden

By 1 February 2001 the training was complete and the waiting was over, the time had arrived to take the long haul flight to the South Atlantic, in order to relieve 7 Sig Regt after a job well done, for a well deserved rest. After a week of handover/takeover we found ourselves on our first exercise of the tour – Ex Nimble Ram. This was a confirmatory exercise which involved a number of injects from WO2 (FofS) Hubble (Who had been here so long the locals had issued him is own wooly hat) to assess whether we had picked up the knowledge that would be required in the next six months. The exercise went well, 7 Sig Regt handed over the keys and returned to BFG. The 188 days away from our loved ones had begun. After the initial 2-week period everyone had managed to adjust their body clocks to the South Atlantic, all but SSgt 'Wide awake at 0430hrs' Eden. So six weeks later when we entered into our second exercise – Nimble Ram II SSgt 'Wot no sleep' Eden was used to having little sleep. The same cannot be said for Sgt 'Is that a mattress attached to my back?' Stoneman, who was seen at startex and then again at endex. By which time he was suffering from withdrawal symptoms having not touched a PC for five days. Yet again JCUFI adapted themselves exceptionally well to the comms injects and to defending their AORs against WO2 (USM) Renshaw and his enemy task force. Ex Cape Petrel was our next milestone to cross. In comparison to the build up training in Nimble Ram I and II, this proved no problem for either Charlie Tp or JCUFI as a whole. As all our reporting chains had been tried and tested as well as all other procedures and contingency plans. JCUFI once again came up trumps when put up against it. All in all it has been a successful tour for the current members of JCUFI, lets just hope that when 3 Div arrive next week, that we can guide them in the right direction so that the highest of standards that we have set are maintained throughout their tour. Enjoy Christmas 259 Sig Sqn.

LINE SECTION - by Sgt D. A. Cascarino
THE END OF AN ERA

As August approaches at a rapid rate of knots, all thoughts seem to be on the impending departure of 219 Sig Sqn back to 2 Sig Regt at York. Not so at Line Section! During the tenure of the fighting 219th, Line Section has comprised of personnel from no less than six different Royal Signals Units. This has to be a first in the history of Charlie Troop JCUFI. In all, 18 Line Section personnel have, at different times, been welcomed with open arms by 219 Sig Sqn, all in the last six months. It has been a busy six months (12 months for the author!) and a lot has been achieved. We have totally rewired the accommodation blocks, and spent a lot of time sorting out records for the impending Project Lambeth. All of this achieved in addition to assisting in two major fibre optic projects. It must be said that all of this could not have been achieved without the guidance and help of OC C Tp - Lt Jay Croslegh and his 2IC - SSgt Carl Eden. - There is no truth in the rumour that commanding Telemechs is the kiss of death! Thanks must also go to the 219 Sig Sqn Admin team comprising of, Sgts Shane Carnell and Duncan Moy, and of course our 'Pay Chick', Cpl Caroline Johnstone. WO2 (USM) 'Rennie' Renshaw has also been allocated a special place in Line Section member's hearts, due to his limitless patience and advice! Certainly an occasion to celebrate, never before have so many individual Units contributed to JCUFI Line Section manning. Once again, heartfelt thanks to all members of 219 Sig Sqn for ensuring that we all felt like 'one of the family'.

FITTEST TEAM - by LCpl Wilson
Section IC Sgt Shyam

After a highly successful period of providing comms, fixing phones, maintaining vehicles and making brews it was time for JCUFI's finest - Charlie Tp to let off some steam at the go-karting track. Pride and ego's were at stake here none more than WO2 (USM) Renshaw's, who decided to add a touch of 'war of the monster trucks' to the occasion, by completely driving over the kart of Cpl Gil 'Robbie X' Gittins. This shunt seemed to inspire Cpl Gittins into getting his own back, unfortunately his chosen victim was LCpl Scott 'Dog' Wilson, who was viciously rammed into the crowd of quickly scattering spectators. This event seemed to effect LCpl 'There's something up with this car' Wilson's confidence as he slipped away to last position to be crowned 'driving Miss Daisy'. The final was a highly tense affair with Cpl Si 'Coulthard' Brewington leading all the way only to be pipped at the post by LCpl Gaz 'The Storeman' Warner. Who needs Monaco when you've got the Falklands? Next in line was the fancy dress night in Sharkies, each team nominated someone to draw the their respective theme. The FITTEST Team got Romans. Much to the appreciation of everyone, UHQ got St. Trinnians, which meant the USM and all of the Squadron Officers and SNCO's had to make themselves look like school girls, not as difficult as you would imagine. The night went well and everyone who took part enjoyed themselves, especially the Sergeant Major who played his part a bit too well complete with a hockey stick and pony tails.

Ever since JCUFI was taken over back in February, a lot of money has been raised for different charities, this is due mainly to the work done by the charity committee headed up by Sgt Dave 'Do I really have to give all this money away?' Howe. One night in particular springs to mind. The idea was a simple one, but as far as having a good time while raising money goes, is still to be beaten. Sig Becky 'Well I am blonde!' Greenhalgh put in a lot of hard work and thankfully it paid off, literally. The night that would culminate in the utter humiliation of a prominent squadron figure started off with people paying a pound to cast a vote. The person with the most votes got gunged. All was going as it should, with the USM getting the most votes, until Lt 'Did I say that out loud?' Croslegh said that Line Section were a bunch of girls. Line section put their plan into action and basically bought the gunge buckets by casting an overwhelming amount of votes for OC C Tp. He got gunged.

NEW YEARS EVE (FALKLANDS STYLE)

Like everything in the Falkland Islands things are done differently to the way they are in the UK. Firstly you have to get used to Tri-Service slang then you have to get used to the weather and the southern-hemisphere. Being that June is the middle of winter in the Falklands it seemed only right that we should bring in the New Year again with another party which was to raise money for charity. It was decided that the party should be fancy dress and that every section should have a different theme. After a lot of deliberation and thought eight themes were thought of varying from the village people to clowns. Unaware to the seniors LCpl 'I'm arctic trained, the best paid Lance Corporal in the Corps, private job, etc, etc' Lutkin had been attending a Paul Daniel's master class and rigged the themes so that UHQ pulled out St. Trinians. USM Renshaw looked very fetching in a skirt (photos available). The night went swimmingly with plenty of things to talk about and look at the next day. A big thank you goes out to all the people who helped organise the event, and congratulations to the IT Cell for best dressed section (which wasn't a fix honest) as the boys from YMCA. All the boys camped up for the role, some more convincingly than others, notably Cpl 'Don't call me Ginger' Waterworth and Cpl 'I'm smoking a fag' Brown were more than accurate as the YMCA workmen. Sgt 'Mick, but that's a story for another day' Stoneman (our illustrious leader from 15 Sig Regt) dressed as the YMCA cowboy, the only flaw in an otherwise damn fine plan would be that most people couldn't remember there being a cowboy in YMCA. The only person missing on the night was LCpl 'I'm from Birkenhead' Edwards who was far too busy sunning herself on her R and R (finally) in the Ascension Island. With just over a month to go all the IT geeks are eagerly awaiting a return to York and a well deserved computer free break.

POWER SECTION - by Sig Hilton IC Power/ MT Sgt Davies

Power Section consisted of LCpl Kumar Limbu, Sig 'Butch' Hilton, Sig Del White and headed up by the all-important Sgt Dylan 'Shadwell' Davies. Power section has also gained an extra member, LCpl Gaz Warner, who was attached to the section from the UQMS department on an everyday release basis. The Section entered the Falklands on a mission, in true ED style. The going got so tough that half way through one man had to be replaced, exit LCpl Kumar enter LCpl Morris. From that point onwards, standards began to slip, as well as LCpl Morris's clothes, say no more. Sig 'Victor Meldrew' White has become well renowned throughout the Falklands for having an excellent relationship with his chair, we think he has actually taken root. The MT in all its many busy moments has a saying, 'Can't move for wagons, what colour do you want?' The MT has been on a few good jollies. One of these was a day with the Resident Infantry Company, this involved firing every weapon that they had available, these included the Browning 9mm, SA 80, GPMG, Sniper rifle and the massive 50.cal (nice). We also had a demonstration of how they would perform a section attack on several enemy positions. We ended the session with a tactical flight back on a Chinook. Another involved hanging out of the back of a Hercules while it was flown far to close to the ground for anybody who happens to enjoy his or her life. In addition, we have had many a visit to Port Stanley.

EXERCISE TYROLEAN TROT
19 MAY—04 JUNE 2001

Army and RAF personnel from JSSU Digby recently participated on ExTyrolean Trot 2001, a major expedition conducted in the Hochfilzen area of the Tyrol in Austria. The exercise took place in two phases, each comprising of 12 participants. Those personnel taking part were as follows:

OC Expedition — Capt B. J. Spiers

Week One	Week Two
WO2 (FofS) Mick Murphy	WO2 (RQMS) 'Smudge' Smith
CT Al 'Two Scoops' Thorpe	Sgt Steve 'Tommo?' Marshall
Sgt Roy Ellis	Cpl Kyah 'Was that my Suitcase?' Dick
Sgt Bob Gillis	Cpl Martin 'Shaven Monkey' Sweeney
Sgt Rick 'King Cobra' Sugden	Cpl Daz 'Innuendo' Thorpe
Cpl Daz Bartleet	Cpl John Roberts
Cpl Craig 'Spiderman' Ednient	Cpl Kelly 'Heidi' Fitzgibbon
Cpl Mark 'JB' Hutchings	LCpl 'Arfur' Daley
Cpl Graham Rowell	LCpl Charlie McNally
LCpl Mark Cinnamond	LCpl Ben MackIm
JT Ian 'Village' Bentley	LCpl Tommo 'Let go Naked' Thomson
JT Andy Crowther	LCpl Becky 'Cheesey Grin' Wyatt

Both weeks undertook training as a virtual mirror image of each other. Here is a short diary of the events:

Saturday & Sunday — The Journey Out: On completion of a somewhat marathon journey, taking us to Dover, through France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and finally Austria, we arrive as a rumpled, travel weary 12 person team to be welcomed by the expedition organiser, Capt Spiers, and the staff at our accommodation. A rest and a quick sleep was the order of the day, to ready ourselves for the week's activities.

Monday — Mountain Biking: This involved a mammoth cycle ride amongst the beautiful scenery of the Tyrol, up mountains and down the other side at breathtaking speed, covering a distance of 40km, which included lunch at a mountain lake retreat. The evening consisted of local hospitality at Adelweiss, a nearby Austrian watering hole!

Tuesday — Climbing & Body Experience: Tuesday saw us about to start on the real confidence testers! We split into two evenly matched teams. Indoor climbing walls, a must for those novices amongst us who needed to learn the knots and safety aspects required. Then out to the body experience, which included a death slide, confidence swing, command tasks and a purpose built 40m tall concrete tower. On a high, we headed to 'Bunnys', home to the local Australian expats this time, for an extremely rowdy night of games and singing.

CT Al Thorpe shows how it s done while Capt Barry Spiers looks on Wednesday - Paragliding & Advanced Climbing: There were some sore heads and delicate stomachs around as we took on some extra curricular activity - namely paragliding. Our tandem pilots' took us up the mountain in the ski lift where they strapped us into harnesses. Time to jump off a perfectly good mountain!! An incredible feeling - floating 300ft up in air so still and quiet you could easily hold a conversation. On nearing the ground the pilots treated us to some spins and spirals — lovely! The afternoon saw us take on some difficult climbing routes, a traverse involving safety lines and an abseil, an excellent progressive learning curve. In the evening some managed another night out, this time in 'Cheers', however, the majority were glad of an early night.

Thursday – Canyoning: This day saw us donning very unflattering wetsuits and helmets for a day of canyoning - basically following the course of a mountain river downstream. This involved a lot of scrambling on and off wet rocks, jumping and sliding into pools and abseiling down waterfalls. This took a few of us well out of our 'comfort zones' with people bravely overcoming their fears of heights and water, as well as some accidental mishaps - for example running Out of rope while still ten feet off the ground! Also, the instructors took great pleasure in making us linger under freezing waterfalls for photo opportunities. At the end of the day a hungry, cold and tired but happy group headed back for dinner and another early night.

Friday — Mountain Trekking: Another worrisome day for some - the mountain walk. Of course the weather decided to turn at this point and we manage to have rain at the lower altitudes and as we reach 2000m this turned to driving snow. Despite this some of the crazier individuals decided to have a dip in the lake, in waters so cold that claims of polar bear sightings in the water seemed quite plausible! Then we had a choice - an easy walk to one of the summits, or a harder one encompassing two. Evenly divided, we set off. On the harder walk we spent a lot of time on all fours scrambling along spurs with precipitous drops on either side - again a test of personal fears for some. Jokes and banter stopped as our Austrian instructor warned us to concentrate on what we were doing. However, our reward was to reach the summit on which stood a crucifix. We reached the second Summit in a blizzard, which we were all keen to get out of, then hurriedly headed back to the cafe, where we found the other group getting friendly with a bottle of red wine! Later we made the most of our last night out by going to Bunny's where a very good live band was playing, and having a very rowdy night out.

Saturday - White-Water Rafting: Another set of sore heads got into the bus for the long drive to the white water rafting area. The long drive got even longer as due to some dodgy directions we ended up in Italy! Some were happy to jump outjust to set foot on Italian soil, whilst the rest of us contemplated pizza and wine. Finally we arrived and dressed in wetsuits, life jackets and helmets, looking uncannily like we were about to be fired out of a cannon, we got in to our boats. Four people opted for the smaller boat, which promised a scarier ride - which they certainly got. Not long after starting, the boat capsized, trapping an intrepid adventurer underwater, but skilled boatmanship was the order of the day and all found themselves safely on board eventually. The bigger boat, to our relief, was much safer - still we were all ready for a calming beer afterwards. The evening saw us packing and saying goodbye to our excellent instructors Marcus and Riccie, and our kindly hostess Christa, before a BBQ and another round of games. We challenged each other to table and blow football as well as some messy games involving flour and water. We were aware though, that a long journey was to follow, so we retired early.

Sunday - The Journey Home:Most of the team slept a lot on the way back, but the stop off at the PX was a welcome break, with the opportunity to make a few purchases. In a way we were all pleased to be back after the long drive, but we still had our memories of a fantastic week. Many thanks go to the QM, Capt Barry Spiers for organising what was probably the most activities packed adventure training any of us have seen or will see for some time to come.

Sqn Comd Maj T. M. P. Mountford, Royal Signals
SSM WO2 (Supvr R) Phil Sandford

Well, the one thing that appears to remain constant within 1 Sqn is quite simply that nothing ever remains constant. We've seen a lot of comings and goings within the Squadron and will take this opportunity to say a fond farewell to our outgoing OC, Maj 'Monty' Mountford, who departs at the end of August for a stint at Shrivenham. 'Mont'y brought a unique and forward thinking aspect of management to 1 Sqn, (he went through four 2IC's in the space of a year) which has certainly left us in a better position to cope with the changes currently being experienced within the Unit. His replacement, Maj Andy Barrow, will be joining the Squadron towards the end of October and will have the distinct misfortune, and uphill task of sorting out the chaos created by Monty during his reign. Both the Flt Cmdrs and the OpsWO are currently completing an MOD sponsored holiday in the Balkans. Their posts are being ably covered by SSgt Paul Dunn recently arrived from Ireland, SSgt Daz Winfield, and SSgt Rob Hare, that's when they can find the time to actually do some work in between the Corps and Station Cricket, rugby and golf that they all play.COMMISSIONING OF WO1 KELLY

On the 6 July, WO1 Andy 'Bear' Kelly made his last trip to the Sgt's Mess at Digby, for a final breakfasting out. At high noon, he was delivered via Bear cage to the front of Officers' mess and signed over by Sgt's mess CMC, WO Neil Smith RN to LtCol Sharman. There was a slight deliberation whilst we looked for the key to the cage, and Bear was momentarily faced with the prospect of lunch-in-cage. Fortunately for Bear, Maj Bob Hodges 'found' the key, allowing him into the bar to maintain his alcohol level. The Officer's mess subsequently dinned him in during the Officer's summer lunch that afternoon, where we also said goodbye to Capt Charlie Roberts, who is off to take over Corps sailing at Blandford, and show up occasionally at C2W wing. By an incredible feat of endurance, Bear was last seen in the Cross Bar Club at 2300hrs, although he claims not to remember anything after 1600, not so much of a surprise when you consider what he had been drinking. We all wish Bear the best for his new job at 660 Sig Tp (EOD).

Lt Col Sharman and Gp Capt Kiralfy congratulate Capt Andy 'Bear' Kelly on receiving his commission.

Sqn Comd Maj S. Gregory

IN BRIEF .....

The early summer months has seen the usual array of training, trials, travelling interspersed with the relentless but welcome line-up of operations and exercises. The end of July marked the completion of SC Course 1/01 and as such the following five `survivors' are both congratulated and welcomed into the Squadron: Sgt Sid Cleworth from 249 (AMF(L)) Sig Sqn, Cpl Al MacMillan from 264 (SAS) Sig Sqn, LCpl Timmy 'Medallion' Samuel from 7 Sig Regt, LCpl Tony Burton and Sig Ceri Taylor from 21 (AS) Sig Regt. July also marked the latest round of equipment user trial for the unit war role capability project. The overall results prompted a reaction of cautious optimism from WO2 (FotS) Chris 'Ted' Carl Heath. The trials were preceded by a working visit from GOC 4 Division for a series of briefings followed by a tour of the Special Projects Unit and meeting some of the team.

The Squadron bids a warm farewell to the following members who have recently headed far pastures new. They are Sgt Darren Podosere on promotion to DISC Chicksands, Sgt Simon Marvel on promotion to 3 Div Sig Regt, LCpl 'Mush' Neal on promotion to AFNOR7N and LCpl Lee Kemp to try his hand outside the wire. All are wished well. In addition to the Last Special Communications Course, SSgt Dave Churchward and his family are welcomed in from JSSU(AN) in addition to SSgt Jo Morton and Jannette.

August represented a reasonably healthy month for promotions for which credit and congratulations to several of the Unit. Promoted to Sergeant were Cpl Mick 'The Bomber' Peace and Cpl Sid Cleworth. Cpl Sean 'Saga' Avis was also selected for promotion. Mr Chris Hicken took promotion to CAO. Promoted to Corporal were LCpls Sonja and Al MacMillan (in which order?) in addition to LCpl Craig Neal. Sig Burton is congratulated on his promotion to Lance Corporal.

EXERCISE GLOBAL LYNX JANUARY 2001 – by Cpl Gaz Woolley

The end of course exercise for SC Course 1/01 was a comms test exercise based in the UK, ESBA Cyprus and the Northern regions of South Africa.

Sig Taylor briefs SANDF Generals on BCC39

The base station was quickly erected with a co-located comms Ops and Excon in Dhekelia which supported all communications systems used on the exercise. The field detachments soon followed and after they had set-up and enjoyed their first of many cold South African mornings the Communications phase of the exercise began with Sgt Marvel, Cpl Avis and Cpl Woolley generating traffic and maintaining a constant pace for the field detachments. This initially proved difficult with localised problems with one of the field detachments in Pretoria. The problem was soon resolved and it wasn't long before a comprehensive synopsis was generated detailing the best frequencies for each field detachment through a 24hr period. This proved to be beneficial later in the exercise when the field detachments were moving and comms needed to be established quickly. The Base crew then enjoyed a few days R+R which mostly involved sunbathing and enlightened Sgt Simon Marvel on the dangers of sun bathing with a bandanna on (nice tan line across the forehead). No plan survives contact with a 250 Watt Amp and following some necessary head scratching, the two field detachments executed a thoroughly unconfusing and seamless move of locations. The teams were tested in communications specific serials that culminated in a series of technical briefing and presentations to the SANDF Staff to whom thanks must go for their support throughout the whole exercise.

EXERCISE MOUNTAIN LYNX

Somewhat closer to home this time, 21 members of the Squadron dashed up to North Wales led by Lt Anne Williams for a welcome weekend of hiking, rock-climbing and white-water rafting. The plan featuring 'we'll walk different ways and swap keys in the middle' actually worked and the walkers enjoyed a hearty trek across the Welsh 1000 Peaks Race route headed up by OC 633 and LCpl Evans. The slabs of Tryfan set the venue for some top-roping and leading under the keen eye of SSgt Dave 'Pro' Churchward. After a couple of hours, the Welsh weather couldn't resist an appearance and so the climbers headed into the Plas-Y-Brenin indoor wall to tackle the archway challenge. An astonishingly good chili from the AO left the team with an uncanny thirst that could only be quenched by a number of tonics in the Capel Curig metropolis. A last down the river marked the end of a successful and most enjoyable weekend.

81 SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)

Sqn Comd Maj Craig Tillotson TD
SSM WO2 Innes Penman

For those uninitiated 81 Sig Sqn (V) is formed from 12 Officers and 170 OR 'Specialist' volunteers with an annual commitment of 19-days. We recruit UK-wide from the telecommunications industry i.e., BT, Vodafone, one2one, Nokia, Cellnet and others. Four days military training are completed at a UK Camp and the remaining 15 days on deployment working on live cable and exchange projects in theatres such as Cyprus, Falklands, Ascension, Gibraltar and possibly next year Brunei. TeleMechs/Installation Techs or SETS leaving the service? Feel you may have something to offer? Then why not contact the PSAO, Capt Ian Dudding on 01225-81-4799. The Squadron welcomes our new Honorary Colonel, Brig Martin Roberts OBE (late R SIGNALS), the PSAO - Capt Ian Dudding and WO2 Eddie Kingston.

SOCCER GLORY FOR THE SQUADRON

Belated News - In December last year the Squadron played its first competitive football match. The team beat Exeter UOTC in the final of the South West District TA Football Competition. Goals from Sig John Vincent and Sig Dave Flynn (2) were enough to lift the cup. The Team went on to represent the District in the semi-final of the TA National Championships. Unfortunately 203 Field Ambulance beat us by 1- 0, a creditable result that gives hope for next year.

OUT OF CAMP TRAINING (OOCT) - ALTCAR 2001

The four-day camp at ALTCAR forms the mandatory training skills requirements for Squadron personnel. ITD's, vaccinations, medicals, documentation, planning and social functions are put to the test. God bless our clerks, Medical Officer and Chefs! Members of the Squadron appear from all corners of the country including Northern Ireland by 'Hire Car', 'Plane', 'Taxi' and 'Train' and in one instance, from Scarborough, by HM Taxi service driven by our new PSAO! The Squadron settled down into, what is now, a well-practised and rigorous routine of military skills training. The pre-planned and robust schedule of events prepared by our illustrious 21C, Capt Ian Calvert, was executed with much aplomb and proved to be highly successful with a 100% pass rate. Our OOCT visitors this year were Col Laurence the Deputy Commander 2 (NC) Sig Bde and our new CO ACISG, Lt Col Simon Leigh R SIGNALS who also attended our Officers Mess Dinner Night. During the dinner we dinned out a number of long serving members of the Squadron, our Hon Col, Col Richard Marriott OBE, the past PSAOs, Capt John Harris, Capt Matthew Yates, WO1 'I have been here for ever' (FofS) George Johnson MBE, SSgt Ian Johnson and Sgt Geoff Mann. We wish them all well and hope to see them return with the Old and Bold.

854 TROOP

Like the rest of the Squadron the soldiers of 854 Tp come from all over the country. However, 854 do have a strong Liverpool contingent so ALTCAR is right on the doorstep for many. Last years winners of the internal 'Selectors Trophy' could only manage 5th this year. Not disheartened at seeing the trophy awarded to 786 Tp and the prize of 'a chance to win a signed championships darts board' they consoled themselves by organising a pool championship during the Squadron party, ensuring their win by only allowing 854 Tp members to enter!

Being a specialist Troop it sometimes takes time to make an impact with such a short training period. Full marks to LCpl Kang who wasted no time in being first to be late on parade! OCdt Mike Reynolds has to be mentioned for his shout for help from the fire trench. It was clear that his plea to search his burgeon for his ear defenders would prove fruitless to any onlooker! They were on his head! Lt Kennedy will live to regret his impatient call to the operator of the target in lane one. 'How hard can it be?' was his cry when the target was raised at last. He then took his turn in the butts and managed to be the last to raise his target on each occasion!

The range staff added a colour blind test and mosaic training to the ITD's as many of the soldiers where clearly confused by the three colours used on the targetry. One soldier seemed to have written his name on the target. However, it is unclear which one as he even got that wrong. The training worked and the targetry was restored to its former glory.

856 TROOP

It was great to have the Troop back together for the first time since our successful deployment to Gibraltar during 2000. The new training year also brought with it some key personnel changes and in particular OCdt Tom Bond ('shaken but not stirred!'). Whilst the Troop passed their zeroing shoot (with plenty of room for improvement) we once again excelled in the singing during the CFT, fast becoming 856's strongest event (I mean ITD). Whilst the rendition of 'Who let the dogs out' every time we passed another Troop did get a little repetitive. Despite not collecting any silverware this year, the Troop excelled with the premier showing of the Troop video. The film was shot at this winter's 856 social gathering in the hospitable town of Newcastle.

EXERCISE APHRODITE - CYPRUS - 7 MAY /9 JULY 2001
854 TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Steve Clout
Tp SSgt SSgt Marty Allen

Once again 854 Tp deployed to Cyprus over a three-week period to provide expert telecommunications support to 259 Sig Sqn at Episkopi. Under command of Capt Steve Clout and OCdt Mark McKnight the 32-strong team of volunteers were based at either Episkopi or Dhekelia Garrisons. Arriving by VC10 from a cool Brize Norton to the blistering heat at Akrotiri. The Troop got down to the task of upgrading the 'Bucks' and 'Pine Trees' test huts. The 'Pine Trees' upgrade was a fairly straightforward task however; the 'Bucks' upgrade was not and tested the expertise of the team to the full. The Troop started work at the break of dawn each day in order to at least beat some of the blistering heat. Most days we averaged a solid ten-hours non-stop. For one, Matt Bevan, working all the hours he could (UK mode) was sadly under the misconception he was going to be paid 'overtime'! The old adage -'you're in the Army now' comes to mind. The support received from all departments within 259 Sig Sqn was once again excellent. Many a strong friendship amongst fellow tradesmen was rekindled and the effort shown by both Regular and TA IT and SET in completing all tasks was outstanding. During the late afternoon there was time for play. The Troop made best use of the facilities offered by 259 Sig Sqn and the Island itself. Together with the Telemechs of 259 Sig Sqn, the lads got together for a 'Telemechs convention'. This involved a 'Crane Bungee Jump', Jetskiing, Windsurfing, Banana Boating and, would you believe it, a Giant Donut' ride at the rear of a powerboat! All this for the costly sum of £10, Blackpool eat your heart out.

856 TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Andy Kennedy 'Fantastic'
SSgt SSgt Richie Forster

Following on from 856 Tp's successful deployment to Gibraltar last year, the Troop was once again to be deployed under the care of FofS Phil Murnane and Sgt Al Rosser. Lt Andy Kennedy, supported, or rather hindered by OCdt Tom '007' Bond, led the 26 strong team of telecommunications specialist TA soldiers to Sunny Cyprus to complete a major cabling project. The main tasking for 856 Tp was the provision of a 100pr cable over a pole route across Happy Valley to Paramali, which was severely damaged during a huge Garrison fire in the summer of 1998, and had been repaired with a temporary cable. The route comprised of the most treacherous terrain and the tunnels and cliffs encountered on route provided a spectacular backdrop for the work under the direction of Sgt Eamon 'Superwoman' Reid and Sgt Tony 'Shaft' Blatcher. Despite the hostile conditions such as soaring temperatures in excess of 32°C, and the SBA Security Exercise, the job was successfully completed to the usual high standard associated with 81 Sig Sqn. Due to the professionalism of all the soldiers in 856 Tp we were constantly ahead of schedule with the projects, and so the lads willingly took on extra work. Our deployment fortunately coincided with the visit of Lt Col Simon Leigh to Cyprus. After walking the route and meeting members of the troop he was delighted with the quantity and standard of work being produced. 856 Tp are renowned for the 'work hard, play hard' policy. Following their outstanding work efforts, the lads let their hair down in a night to be remembered. Following the success of the 856 Troop Bad Taste Night in Gibralter last year, a mission to go one better was undertaken. Month of covert email, phone calls and recce's on fancy dress shops would determine the success of Super Heroes Night. As the date came closer tension began to turn to panic buying at women's and hardware shops all over Cyprus. Work for the day was complete; stores and work tickets closed down. Finally, the big night was here. Costumes began to be released from their hiding places, makeup/body paint was applied and the five minute photo call bellowed through the block. Three, sorry two Supermen and one Superwoman (Sgt Reid played the part of a woman with uncanny enthusiasm!), two Zorro's, Braveheart, Indiana Jones, a Musketeer, Rambo II, Rocky III, Fred Flintstone, Shaft, Bob the Builder, Dennis the Menace, Bruce Lee, Super Scouse, Kevin and Perry, plus two blokes in wigs and the Invisible man who nobody saw came out of their rooms for a ten minute photo session. Then beer in one hand and beer in the other, on the bus and off to our destination. Looks of shock and horror on the drivers going in the opposite direction only added to the atmosphere on the bus. More by luck than anything else, no crashes were reported! Parking space found, we de-bussed, and the charge for the bar only caused chaos amongst the crowded streets as everybody stopped to stare and laugh. Both Supermen battled for Superwoman's affections, Bob the Builder entertained/scared the kids, Zorro 1 and 2 duelled in the street joined by Braveheart and anyone else with a suitable prop. Rocky III and Rambo II discussed which was Sly's best film, a debate that no one could win. After that things get a bit cloudy and I can't comment any more for fear of recriminations. A fantastic time was had by all - bettering this one will be hard!

FUTURE 2001/2002

In September this year 854 Troop deploy to Gibraltar, October 786 Troop deploy to Germany (possibly for the last time), in January 2002 and 857 Troop deploy to the Falklands and in May/June 2002 two to three troops may deploy to Brunei for a project currently in the planning stages.

600 SIGNAL TROOP

HAIL AND FAREWELL

The Troop is bidding a fond farewell to several key members, with Cpl Jase Wells and Sig Sadie Kennedy off to Civ Div. We wish them well and thank them for their hard work within the Troop, and also for the support they gave to Troop social functions. Sgt Paul Green has defected to UKNDA along with Mrs Sandra Sheppard, who had until recently been the RSIT clerk. We hope all goes well for them in their new high tech building, a mere half a mile from the Troop! We wish good luck and congratulations to WO1 Mark Harris, who has been selected for a commission and is shortly to take up his position in Blandford. Amongst other things, Mark managed the JSU Corsham football team, inspiring them to win the league and reach the cup final this season. Not bad considering that he is a Coventry fan. Finally we wish good luck and congratulations to WO2 (FofS) 'Sensei' Bob Wymer, who appears to have won the lottery, since he has been selected for promotion to WO1, achieved a black belt in karate, secured a posting to Cyprus, and prior to turning up for duty, is getting married. He says of his new MQ in Cyprus, '…its got loads of room so if you are ever in the area…' See you late August then, Bob! New arrivals in the Troop are SSgt 'JC' Cordery, who has taken over the reins as the Troop Staffy, and WO2 (FofS) Ian Walling who replaces karate kid Bob Wymer as RSSST Foreman. We also have another druid in the Troop, Mr 'Taff' Rowles, who is the new ES Team PTO. Welcome to the Troop, and we hope you all enjoy your time in Corsham.

A hearty hello to SSgt Dave 'Leave Pass' Doody who has arrived in the Troop from leave. We wish you and your family a successful tour in Corsham. RSSST(UK) have recently been allocated two 'technicians' straight from the factory. On hearing this from the OC, a bar brawl broke out in the RSSST Team office, and after the dust had settled, SSgt Dave 'Leave Pass' Doody and SSgt Ian 'Arkela' Munford emerged victorious. They now look forward with glee to the joys of having their boots cleaned and uniform pressed daily instead of monthly! Congratulations are in order to Cpl 'Trigger' Smith on his marriage to Martina, he has also been selected for promotion to Sergeant, and the jammy geezer is posted to Cyprus! All the best for the future and see you in seven years time in Blandford as the new Corps RSM! Stay off the cockernelli wine! We bid farewell to SSgt Dave Doody who is off on leave again - probably.

DOWN UNDER (AGAIN)

The OC, Maj Ron Kirkwood, seized the opportunity to escape down south, for a second time, under the auspices of yet another ABCA (American, British, Canadian and Australian) Planning Conference. The destination this time was New Zealand (the hosts being an associate member) and SSgt (FofS) Gaz 'I can do that' Walton drew the short straw, and accompanied the boss as technical adviser and chief bag carrier. This was much to the annoyance of WO2 (FofS) Bob 'You're posted to Cyprus, what do you want to go to New Zealand for?' Wymer, who had previously been earmarked for this task and subsequently, had to return his unused flight tickets. Good planning with the travel arrangements provided the UK IET (AKA 600 Sig Tp) with two free days (jet-lag recovery period) prior to the conference. This free time was put to good use and enabled some sightseeing to take place. The arrival of the remaining UK delegates provided us with the opportunity to complete the 600 Sig Tp v HQ Land G6 golf challenge match (which had previously been cancelled due to Foot and Mouth restrictions). Gaz 'The Bandit' Walton completed a stunning first nine holes and Maj 'Pancho (he was also a bandit)' Kirkwood put together an equally impressive all-round performance to complete 7 – 6 victory (for non-golfers that equates to seven holes won with six holes to play) against Lt Col Silk and Maj Mark Cornell.

The conference began on a cold grey morning, with the delegates being treated to a Maori welcoming party, which included the 'HAKA', singing and the typical Moari greeting of 'touching noses'. The two main conferences (CID BOREALIS PC3 & 9th QWIG CIS) progressed well, with the five nations IET's running a background conference to resolve the technical issues. All five nations cooperated well, and taskings for each nation during the exercise (which is taking place in Ontario, Canada in 2002) along with general exercise format were agreed.

The two conferences were intertwined with social events to help foster good working relations, two rest days and ANZAC Day. The social events included a 'meet and greet' icebreaker, a visit to a winery and an evening of traditional Maori entertainment, whilst the rest days afforded more sightseeing opportunities and a boating trip to partake in some whale watching. ANZAC Day, on which the Soldiers of Australia and New Zealand are remembered, falls on the 25 April (the day of the Gallipoli Landings). Whilst ANZAC Day is very similar in many respects to our own Remembrance Day it's format is slightly different. The day begins at 0530hrs with coffee and rum followed by a dawn parade at 0600hrs. Upon completion of the parade breakfast is served and the Bar is opened. Many of the delegates took this opportunity to visit the local RSA (Returned Serviceman's Association) NZ's equivalent of the British Legion. The conferences drew to a close and many thanks were passed to our hosts for the excellent hospitality, facilities and administration. Roll on October 2001 when ABCA PC4 takes place in Des Moins, Iowa, USA

OPERATION SILKMAN - PROJECT IZAR
26 MARCH - 27 APRIL 2001 - by SSgt Kev Wosika

Project IZAR is the commercialisation of the communication infrastructure in support of JTFHQ, based within the Sierra Leone Army HQ in Freetown and Benguema Training Centre (BTC), replacing 30 Sig Regt's communication equipment. The project utilised Cable & Wireless satellite bearers and Promina equipment, which is used on Project MYRA/CLEO in the Balkans, providing DFTS/PATRON and data circuits including Internet via the Corsham Hub.

The project began way back in January 01. The three comms containers were fitted and tested by BAE Systems Christchurch and then handed over to the Military, where prior to deployment an operational readiness test was carried out by CPD and 600 Sig Tp. Once that was completed an installation team was assembled from 30 Sig Regt, CPD, ALPO, HQ Land and two lucky guys from 600 Sig Tp. On 29 March we packed our sun tan lotion and the strongest insect repellent and departed UK from Brize Norton with an overnight stop in Dakar, and then finally landing at Lunghi Airport. While waiting for the briefing plenty of water was issued and this was to be our companion throughout the month. It was then onto the vehicles on our intrepid journey to the docks via a mexi-float and a 1hour crossing. Our accommodation was first the RFA Sir Percival then the RFS Sir Tristram where the air conditioning was a 'god send'.

Travelling each day to JTFHQ was an experience in that the base was on the other side of Freetown, which was about 5 miles away, and taking one to two hours on a good day to get there. What with small streets, open sewers and overcrowding driving was very nerve racking. Cpl Steve 'Drive that minibus' Mottram did his best, and I am sure a few grey hairs started to appear. SSgt Kev 'Yorkie Bar' Wosika did have the use of a DAF and it was amazing to see how people and vehicles got out of the way. Anyway work was intensive and involved installing ducting and a huge amount of wiring around the complex. The conditions were very hot and tiring but it was a credit to the amalgamation of Telemechs and Techs that work was completed on schedule. Maj 'Laid Back' Pritchard overlooked the work whilst Capt 'It's my train set' Hazelwood and Capt 'I'm off to Gibraltar' Woolaston worked on the hand-over documents and many other 'interesting things'. Days off were given and so it was off to the beach to get some rays. Once we found our base on the beach the local traders swamped us with all the trinkets and the only way to get rid of them was to buy. Mr Chris 'Claims Direct' Ashcroft suffered from sunburn and so spent most of his time in the shade. The Telemechs were on their, '…must get a really good tan so let's use the chip pan oil.' The sea was warm and the beach was great, not a bad way to spend our days off.

Comms containers arrived and Mr Chris 'Powerman' Ashcroft checked them for task-worthiness. Circuits were installed and tested by Sgt Paul Landregan and SSgt Kev Wosika, apparently both known as the 'Chuckle Brothers'. After initial little problems the system was commissioned and all Staff were pleased with the quality of comms. BTC was the next task, once again infrastructure was in place by the time the comms container arrived and a welfare internet cafe was set up, lucky 1 LI. However, we did have a problem with finding the satellite, the question raised was - Is the satellite on that bearing because our backs are killing us and it's damn hot? Banging heads we found the wave-guide on the wrong orientation (Who did that?), once that was sorted the path was established. The comms container did have a hiccup in that a power fault had occurred but that was only temporary and soon overcome. Mr Chris 'I'm not going near it' Ashcroft, was to find out that he was tasked to travel back to Sierra Leone to repair the fault. Whilst at BTC we were lucky to see the Sierra Leone Army pass off parade, some 760 soldiers on the square with temperatures touching the 40's. It was an honour to see how professional they were, well done to the Ghurkas (2 RGR). With both sites in and working it was soon time to go home. When we arrived back in UK on 27 April there was a cold spell and that spelt disaster and colds soon developed. Well at least we had tans to show off. All in all it was a job well done.

LIFE AT THE HUB - by LCpl Gaz Morris

When I volunteered to go to Bosnia, I only had three things on my mind. Firstly, I was getting out of 'sunny' Bulford for four months. Secondly, I'd be getting paid more. Finally, I could work on my tan, so I wouldn't look like your typical British tourist when I go on holiday during summer leave. Little did I know, that after working on my base tan for ten weeks I'd get sent back to the UK to man the Operational Systems Control (OSC), here in Corsham, to actually do some work proper. However, once I had arrived in 600 Tp I was quietly surprised at what I found. Not only was I working alongside Myra and Cleo Technicians, I was also working with the technical knowledge of the RSSST team. Who, according to the Op Agricola manpower are inferior to themselves! The shift 'Network Controller', SSgt Sean 'Did I tell you I was going to SHAPE' Fairfield was most helpful from the moment I arrived here. His in-depth knowledge of the Myra and Cleo systems was second to none! My shift IC, Cpl Tom 'Little man, big voice' Millard, however, has taught me a lot, for which I would like to thank him.

Life here, in the hub, keeps your technical skills up to date and also improves them no end. People, who haven't worked here have a common misconception that all we do all is monitor the pretty colours on the screen, and don't have a clue what we are on about. Let me tell you. I've been out to theatre and what I learned out there in ten weeks, is nowhere near the amount that I've learned in ten days of getting here. Also, the OSC in Corsham is the Network Control Centre (NCC), for Op's Silkman, Agricola, Palatine and is the anchor point for the Ptarmigan Hub too. The bottom line is that the OSC is here to give technical expertise and assistance to all the previously mentioned operational theatres. Every single circuit, be it, Myra, Cleo, Izar, the internet, MMARS, G2 data is monitored from here. We work with faults in-theatre and out of theatre. Any fault that occurs to any of the systems out in theatre is dealt with in a swift professional manner. We are supported all the way up the hierarchy due to the importance of this post. Along the way we've been able to pick up valuable knowledge from the advice we've had from the RSSST team. In addition to this, we work with outside agencies such as, Cable and Wireless, BT Inca, Whitehall, Boddington and GOSCC . Everyday that I work here is a pleasure. I'm working with the most hi-tech equipment the Army has, which surely must hold whoever works here in the near future in good stead, as this post is the 'place to be' if you want to work with the most up-to-date comms equipment.

I'm reluctant to leave when my time comes to an end here because I'll be going back to 'sunny' 3 UK Div and Sig Regt, to yet again, play about on the back of a twenty year old Radio Relay wagon and sweep garage floors!

NCC BALKANS MOVES TO CORSHAM - by SSgt SMD Fairfield

Having volounteered to be deployed to Bosnia with 3 (UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt, it was with a little anticipation that I found myself in a technician Staff Sergeant role as the IC NCC situated at Banja Luka metal factory (BLMF). Before I knew it, I was on a Hercules (with a fellow passenger being sick next to me), on route to Banja Luka airfield. The Myra technicians arrived some two weeks later and it was a major shock to the system to find that three of the tech's were immediately stood by to go back to the UK, to man the proposed NCC Balkans from the Corsham Sattellite Hub. When the time came and Cpl Tom Millard, Cpl Mark Turner and LCpl Gaz Morris were returned to England, I was kept busy, with a tasking of doing the UNTAT presentations. This little ploy, did not work, as I soon realised that as the IC of the NCC, I would ultimately be on my way to Corsham myself.

True to my prediction I found myself on a flight back to the UK, having only just arrived back in Bosnia, from my week off, doing the UNTAT briefings. I bade a fond farewell to all at BLMF and having completed just enough days for a gong, got onto a trooper flight. On arrival at Corsham I was introduced to 'the baby shift', LCpl Andy 'Muscles' Kay and Cpl Gareth Howell from 19 Mech Bde HQ & Sig Sqn. Nicknamed the baby shift because both became fathers whilst serving at Corsham, congratulations to them and their partners from all at 600 Troop. I was then introduced to the final member of the team Cpl Pete Mayhead, another member of 3 (UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt. He had volounteered for a tour of Kosovo with 19 Mech Bde, only to find himself working with 3 (UK) Div personnel, just down the road at Corsham.

Work started in earnest with establishing the procedures to be employed at the Hub, now that the decision to man it had been directed by HQ LAND. Once the Theatres accepted that the networks were controlled by Corsham, a good work routine was established. LCpl Gaz 'I'm outa here' England was soon to be sacked and replaced by LCpl 'Ginger Deva' Morris. Life hasn't been all work and no play though. A tunnel tour of the Corsham bunker was suggested by Cpl Tom 'The Tunnel Rat' Millard. This proved to be very interesting and lead us all to believe that 'Area 51' does exist and that Elvis and a group of aliens are underneath the site. Cpl Pete 'Safe Hands' Mayhead, has found some spare time to assist with the station football team as the goal keeper, but it was not his fault that the team lost 7 - 0 in the league final. Nor was it LCpl Andy 'The Body' Kay's fault has he only came on at half time (as the Orange carrier). Further congratulations go to LCpl Kay on passing his Class 1 entrance. Good luck to members of 1 ADSR and 7 Armd Bde when they takeover the roulement.

EXPEDITION 'PADDLE CRAZY' - by SSgt 'Taff' Evans

As part of a Team Building event 600 Sig Tp were about to depart to the summer climates of Wales on Exped 'Paddle Crazy'. It was a one nighter sleeping in tents close to the River Wye in Symonds Yat. The Troop paraded eager to set off and start the adventure, however, the start was delayed due to missing sleeping bags (apparently PCGC had worn them out). SSgt Ian Munford was unable to fire up the well-tuned minibus, hence the Troop decided to do a bit of Rugby training and push start the vehicle. Things would have been a lot better had the Troop's REME representative been on hand, but unfortunately WO2 AQMS Chris Rawlins broke down on the way into camp and had to be recovered by the RAC.

The slightly depleted Troop finally departed along the M4 and into Wales. Luckily for us we were led in by the OC, Maj Ron Kirkwood, and the Troop Staffy J. C. Cordery. (We only got lost once). At the campsite the two PTIs, Sgt Steve Moore and Cpl Tara Dancey met us and briefed us on the day's and night's events. The first IA was to get kitted out in what was going to be our lifesaving jackets, at least it came in very handy for Mr 'Taff' Rowles one of our PTO's who enjoyed bathing in the Wye more than anyone else. We arrived at our launch pad where we got some expert instruction on the dos and don'ts of Kayaking. Unfortunately WO1 (YofS) Mark Harris (now Captain) and Sgt Paul Green turned a blind eye to what was being said.

The first stretch of River was calm and easy apart from SSgt Ian Munford upsetting one of the locals and steering into the poor man's fishing line. We eventually got to our first stop point which happened to be near a pub, surely this was the start of Team Building. We eventually got back on to the River where the two PTI's had some games set up ready for us such as taking away half our canoe's, after most people had a drenching we eventually got back in our correct kayak's and off we went again. From this point on I sat in the same kayak as the Padre surely if he can't walk on water maybe the kayak can. After several attempts by SSgt (FofS) Gaz Walton to tip up all the kayak's on the river he only failed on two, one of those included Cpl 'Radar' Noott who invented a bad back from nowhere and SSgt 'Taff' Evans and the Padre, God was definitely on their side.

Back at the campsite it was time for erecting our sleeping accommodation, getting showered and changed ready for the night's entertainments which were Barbecue, Pub and Staff J. C. Cordery's nighttime swimming. Apparently looking for a bracelet he'd lost, others thought he'd found a secret way into the local pub, via the river. The following day was spent clearing up the egg banjo's, drying off the tents and push starting the minibus for our journey back to Corsham. Overall the day was a complete success and role on the next Team Builder will apparently be sheep shearing in the Valleys.

NO. 1 COMPANY
CAMBRIDGESHIRE ARMY CADET FORCE
GRANTING OF THE FREEDOM OF MARCH TOWN
By Maj Mark Knight, Company Commander

Sunday 29 April 2001 saw the March Detachment of No. 1 Company, Cambridgeshire Army Cadet Force proudly accept the Freedom of the Town in what I believe to be a first for a Royal Signals Badged Detachment (Is this true?). The Detachment, under the command of Capt Trevor Longmuir, was granted this Civic Honor for its support to the Town in its community events over a period of some 40 years. Cadets from the Detachment supported by representatives from each of the nine Detachments, lead of the No.1 Company Corps of Drums marched through the streets of the Town with bayonets fixed, swords drawn and drums beating. The Scroll presentation was made by Cllr Barry Wales, Mayor of March who then carried out an inspection of the Cadets joined by the Lord Lieutenant of Cambridgeshire and Hon. Colonel of Cambridgeshire ACF, Col James Crowden K St J, JP. Maj Knight, Officer Commanding, No. 1 Company presented an inscribed bronzed statute to the Town to mark the occasion. March Detachment was re-badged Royal Signals in 1996 and provides the signals support to Cambridgeshire Army Cadet Force. It's pride is a County based UHF Repeater System enabling communications across Cambridgeshire. Special mention was also made of a former Adult Instructor and now Civilian Instructor, Robin Minnet who has seen some 47 years with the March Detachment. He joined the parade to a round of applause.

CELEBRITY AMATEUR GOLF EVENT (CAGE) 2001
10 JULY 2001
A report by Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, Chairman, CAGE 2001.

The ninth CAGE was held on 10 July 2001 at Ashley Wood Golf Club, Blandford. Its aim has always been to raise funds for charity and on this occasion the beneficiaries were the Museum Education Project and three local schools for children with special needs. During the course of the day we were able to host the head teachers of all three schools and show them how the funds are raised for this extremely good cause. The Save The Children charity had been supported for the previous three years. In recognition of this support Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, the CAGE Chairman, was invited to a reception on 23 January 2001 held by Save The Children where he had been presented to their President, Her Royal Highness The Princess Royal. This recognised that CAGE had been one of their major contributors in Dorset and the South. The event started on Monday evening with a cocktail party sponsored by Integris (a name change from the previous year's Bull Information Systems). The cricketers were present in great numbers aided and abetted by Col Tom Richardson who is about to take up the post of Chief Executive of Gloucester CCC. They included Don Shepherd, Brian Taylor, Merv Kitchen, Tony Brown, Roy Palmer, Alan Castell, Brian Close and Reg Simpson. We also welcomed Fred Titmus for the first time, in all about 80 golfers met in preparation for the following day. Alenia Marconi generously offered main sponsorship again this year. The competition had extra bight as ICL had sponsored a car for a hole-in-one at the 18th hole.

Unfortunately the car was not won but the first person off the tee, Adrian Markham (21) of VEGA, was closest at 30 inches, for which he won nearest the pin. Although the weatherman had forecast poor conditions we were glad he was once again wrong and we were able to complete the day in comparative dryness. This did not help the TREND 2 team who managed to lose two balls on the chipping competition! The event's prize giving was followed by a quick dash to change for the Dinner Night at which the Corps Band played. Entertainment was 'Cage Traditional' with everyone in fine tune for the four 'anthems' and a fully attentive audience to listen to Alan Hancock who told us the one about... We are also grateful to Sodexho for sponsoring the Dinner Night and BAE Defence Systems who donated CAGE handkerchiefs which everyone had to wear in DJ. Our thanks also go to Joan Robson, President of the Ashley Wood Golf Club, and all members for their support for the event: the course was in excellent condition. Sponsors this year were:

NOTES FROM THE AO'S DESK

Branch News: It came as a great shock to us all to hear that John Knott had died whilst in office as Hon Secretary of the Newark Branch. John had dedicated a large part of his life to the Association, the RBL and the local community and had only a week before his death attended a reception at Buckingham Palace to acknowledge his dedication and hard work. Did you serve at Herford in 7 Sig Regt, 4 Div Sig Regt or 7 Sig Regt? Jim Sloan is trying to start an association for those who served at Herford. He has forged links with the Stadt and would like to hear from anyone interested in joining his venture. Call Jim on 01324-626173. Last month I told you of that John Smart had succeeded Tom Davies as Hon Sec of the Swindon Branch . The right address was printed for John but the phone number was incorrect. The correct number is 01793-335430.

Corps Carol Service: No apologies for again reminding everyone about the Corps Carol Service, which is to be held at St Stephen with St John, Rochester Row, Westminster on Monday 17 December 2001. All serving and retired members of the Corps, plus their families, are most welcome to join in the service, which starts at 1800 hours. Not only is this an extremely enjoyable event, but it is a good opportunity to meet new friends and old.

AGM: The next AGM will be held in London on Saturday 7th April 2002. Branches should note that any proposal that affects Association rules, must be received by the General Secretary in plenty of time in order that all other branches may have the benefit of advance notification.

Full details of the AGM will appear in the December issue of The WIRE. In the meantime, Branches might like to start thinking about sending a representative to the meeting.

Reunion Weekend:

The Master presents the trophy to Barry Moody, for winning the Standard Bearers Competition, the Corps RSM looks on

Harry Ruff receives the 75 Year Pennant on behalf of the West London Branch, Fred Bridges (Aldershot) waits for the Master to present a similar pennant to him

GENERALS AT PLAY

Col P. Randall MBE,TD

As a junior Lieutenant attached to 8th Army HQ in the desert, I have a vivid recollection nearly 60 years after the event, of seeing the 8th Army, United States and Home Forces Generals at work and play. We were stationed five miles out of Tripoli in February 1943, at the express decision of Gen Bernard Montgomery, as he did not wish his troops to 'Go soft'. We could have done with a little comfort, but of all the officers in the 8th Army Signals, I was destined to wallow in luxury for two days in the most exalted company.

It came about this way. My Colonel sent for me and informed me that 'Monty' was holding a 2-day seminar in Tripoli to demonstrate 'How I won the Battle of Alamein'. One of his biographers wrote a chapter headed 'A most conceited week-end'. The Allied and American Generals were to rub shoulders at the Del Mehari Hotel and a Medical Officer and a Signal Officer were to be billeted there to attend to health, security and communications; in my case, two telephones. One thing is certain, the notoriously cantankerous Gen George Patton didn't think much of the seminar and after it was over said, 'I may be old, I may be stoopid, but it didn't mean a darn thing to me!'

On the first day, 'Monty' delivered a wonderful lecture on his plan and its results. This was followed by a talk by his Corps Commanders and selected Divisional Generals. There were questions, but any criticism distinctly muted. We have had plenty since. It was certainly a glorious example of self-advertisement. After this exciting day, I found myself in a luxurious bedroom marked 'Signals Officer' and spent the first ten minutes in seeing water flow from taps for the first time for some 18 months. Electricity and a bed seemed to me the height of hedonism. The Generals dined in the splendid restaurant and although there was bully beef on the menu, Algerian and Tripolitanian wine flowed like water.. The Medical Officer and I sat at a separate table in a dark corner and observed the Generals 'at play'. 'Monty' was not there but the rest were. Their names now figure in Military History. The only one to speak to me was a slightly exhilarated Gen George Patton, who must have thought I was a British senior officer. He referred to the successful demolition of the French Battleship 'Jean Bart' off the cost of North Africa, in these unforgettable words, 'Say siree, we blew the arse out of the Jean Bart at Casablanca.' I was struck dumb and gracefully retired. Wine flowed until past midnight and, as the Medical Officer and I left our seniors, I was pleased to note Gen Horrocks doing his party trick of standing on his head drinking a pint of beer! That night, the Luftwaffe bombed Tripoli Harbour. The alarm sounded and a bevy of Generals arrived in the Hotel foyer, in dressing gowns and pyjamas. These articles of clothing were unknown in the 8th Army and I cowered in my underpants, a poor advertisement for my Regiment.

I had to distribute the agenda for the conference and, prudently taking receipts, collected some valuable autographs which one day I will hand over to the Imperial War Museum. I don't know if this visit to the 'fleshpots' of Tripoli assisted the war effort but, for me, it was an unforgettable and amusing experience. This year, I attended a prestigious dinner at Shriveaham, dedicated to the Battle of Alamein. For the second time in my life, I sat down with the Army Commander and I amused my next door neighbours by recounting the Alamein Dinner held by 'Monty' in Tripoli so many years ago.

ALDERSHOT BRANCH

In May we had an attendance of nearly a hundred at our annual Quiz Night ably organised by Neville Lyons, assisted by Carole Thomas, Edelgard Moss, Jean Hicks and the Committee. The gathering included teams from serving units and from the Reading and West London Branches, the honours going to a team from the Garrison Mess.

In June a number of our Members attended the Reunion weekend at Blandford, Fred Bridges carrying our Standard very creditably and receiving the 75 Year Pennant on behalf of the Branch. After the Morning Service our Chairman, Noel Moss and Fred and Jean Bridges attended the Dedication of the Association Rockery by Gen Tony Boyle.

In July we enjoyed a delightful evening on the Basingstoke Canal in the form of a cruise and a buffet supper aboard the cabin cruiser 'MERLIN'. The strawberries and cream and the wine all added to the idyllic setting. We wonder if we have created Association history by having two events with two picnics in one day, for that is how it turned out one month this summer. While we could not wish it to appear that there is any lack of co-ordination in the Committee, our August event became fused with that which should have followed had it not been dictated by the Corps Band programme, as it was, all went very happily. We had an exceptionally large attendance at the Final Rehearsal of the Sovereign's Parade at Sandhurst. There were parties from Reading, East Kent, Southampton, West London and this year for the first time a large party from the West Kent Korean Veterans Association. After the parade, all credit being given to the cadets for an excellent turnout, we adjourned to the Cricket Pavilion to picnic. The hailstorm that followed did nothing to dampen our spirits. Fortunately, fine weather followed in the evening, when a large party gathered in the grounds of Kneller Hall to enjoy our evening repast prior to the Concert. There were three visiting bands, one was our own Corps Band, who gave their usual superb performance.

We appreciate 'Paddy' Verdon giving us his support for the Sovereign's Parade, although he now has retired from Sandhurst and moved from our area. However, they are not too far away and we shall always be pleased to see him and Barbara on as many occasions as they are able to join us.

EAST KENT BRANCH

The Branch has been busily involved in a number of functions since the last edition. Due to the imagination and hard work of the Committee and in particular the Hon Sec whose efforts are in large a part the reason for the success of the social scene and the enjoyment of the Members.

To celebrate the Tenth Anniversary of the birth of the Branch the Chairman and his Committee organised a Barn Dance in a local village hall which was attended by 48 Members together with none other than the Regimental Secretary, Col Andrew Carter and Mrs Carter. The hall was decorated with balloons in Corps colours, straw bales, assorted farm implements and the participants were dressed appropriately in the sort of things that thigh-slapping barn dancers wear, including ten gallon hats to match the 20 gallon thirsts whipped up by the frenetic dancing. To mark the Anniversary a special cake was in evidence and cut by the Founder Chairmen, Lt Col Bert Sawyer with a sword provided by the Hon Sec, Maj Gen John Badcock, who no doubt unearthed it from his G1098 cupboard or perhaps from his workshop! Col Carter was also kind enough to present Roy Andrews with the Honorary Life Membership Badge of the RSA for his services both to the Branch and as South Fast Representative of the Central Committee. A toast was drunk in champagne procured at a considerable discount by Vincent and Marion de Rose during one of their forays across the Channel, after which merriment then recommenced until the midnight hour was struck.

34 Members attended the Blandford Reunion this year. They enjoyed a most memorable day of glorious weather and a superb parade, followed by many more attractions more numerous to mention. Many of those attending made a weekend of it and stayed in B&Bs, lapping up the delights of Dorset.

The Annual Branch Cricket Match, originally intended some two years ago to be a challenge match with any other Branch willing to take us on - but nobody was, was held at the Duke of York's Royal Military School in Dover on Sunday 8 July. The weather was indifferent but the cricket was anything but: Two teams, one headed up by the Chairman, John Ballantyne, and the other captained by Donald Crisp in the absence of the Vice Chairman, Mrs Jo Barrett who was too busy selling strawberry and cream teas, took to the field. It must be said that there were a large number of sons, daughters, grandsons and granddaughters in both teams. This was responsible in no small measure for the unusually athletic performance of both teams. The result? I like to think that the 126 scored by the Vice Chairman's team was enough to win but there was the usual skullduggery by John Bqllantyne which mystified everyone and it was generally agreed that it didn't mutter - it had been a great day. To add to the pleasure, the sun came out just as stumps were drawn!

It is with great sadness that I must report the sudden death of Mike Paveley on 10 July. Mike was a dedicated Radio Ham and was due to take part in a demonstration of World War 2 SOE communications work later in the month. He will be sadly missed.

Regular readers of the adventures of the East Kent Branch may recall that at about this time last year the Committee donned Roman military garb and demonstrated their version of foot drill, guard mounting, the Section in Defence, the Section in Defence, the Section in Attack, the Section in Disarray and much else, to the delight of the multitude enjoying a BBQ in the grounds of the Hon Sec's home. Clearly this has greated a precedent which demaned something even more adventurous and ambitious this year and so, on 12 August, 82 Members and guests once again gathered in John and Gill Badcock's garden to enjoy a delicious BBQ and also to witness the latest brainchild of the Hon Sec which proved to be a gripping re-enactment of and action during World War 2 by Members of the gallant Stodmarsh-on-Sea Platoon of the Home Guard! Nail biting stuff, which had the audience on the edge of their seats. All this was planned and rehearsed in great secrecy by the Committee who performed like the old troupers that they are. Our Hon Treas, Ted Drake, was the pinnacle of pomposity as Capt Mainwaruing, John Badcock was his usual urbane self as Sgt Wilson, Mike Barrett provided a commentary and was holier than thou as the Vicar, Norman Davidsonpredicted that all 'were doomed' as Sig Fraser. Doreen Alison was Principle Boy as Sig Pike whilst Pike's mother was played equally delightfully by Marion Ballantyne. Vincent de Rosesurpassed himself as the immently incontinent Sig Godfrey. Our Chairman, John Ballantyne, enjoyed himself a LCpl Jonesand was just as daft. It was John who manufactured replica .303 Lee-Enfield rifles of the period to add a little realism to go with the hairy khaki battledresses. Trevor Allison made a dastardly U-Boat Captain and George Cooper gallantly stood in at the last moment as the ARP Warden. Maureen Davidson prompted discreetly fromthe wings and David Geery, bless him, staged managed and produced to perfection as only and ex-BBC man could. Towards the end of the programme, which ended to great applause and curtain calls, a police patrol car slid ominously to a halt on the drive. The Committee searched in vain for their Equity Cardswhilst John Ballantyne promised faithfully that he would decomission his rifles immediately. However, it transpired that it was only Peter Haskins, Branch Member and policeman of this parish, who had been newly promoted to Sergeant, flashing his stripes, Poser!

News of Members: Lt Col Mike Barrett ostensibly visiting his daughter in Wiltshire to celebrate his 70th birthday, was shocked and amazed to discover that his wife, Jo, together with his daughter had secretly arranged for the occasion to be a Curry Lunch Party with old and Gurkha friends - together with a Gurkha Piper, Many Happy returns Mike.

Vale: Sadly we have to report the death of two stalwarts of the Branch. Mike Pavely passed away suddenly on 10 July and Dennis Murphy died a week later. Both will be sadly missed, not only by their respective families but also by their many friends within the Branch.

GLASGOW BRANCH

The Branch celebrated the Tenth Anniversary of it's founding with a blessing of the Standard, a parade, beating retreat, and the Last Post. Held on 28 April 2001 at Jardine Street, Glasgow, Headquarters of 32 (Scottish) Signal Regiment (V), by kind permission of the commanding officer, Lt Col J. K. McKee MBE. Lt Col McKee arranged this to be a training day, in order to have his troops on parade, to attend to all the various functions in support of the Branch ceremony.

The drumhead service took place in the drill hall, using the drums of 32 Sig Regt. Maj Rev S. A. Blakey RA, Ch D, conducted the service. The Branch committee produced a booklet showing the order of service, with explanations of the Drumhead Service and Beating Retreat, also a short history of the Royal Corps of Signals, from it's origin as part of the Signal Company of The Royal Engineers. The booklet had a printed acknowledgement on behalf of the Branch Members, from The Branch President, Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB, of the support of Maj Rev S. A. Blakey, Lt Col J. K. McKee MBE - CO and all ranks of 32 Scottish Signal Regiment. (V), for their logistical help and support. The Royal Corps of Signals Pipes and Drums, by kind permission of the Royal Corps of Signals, the loan from the Royal British Legion Scotland, (Garnock Valley Branch), of their Queens Colour, and the Bugler, Mr P. Craig. The opening hymn 'Praise My Soul The King Of Heaven', followed by saying confession and then absolution. The branch president, Maj Gen Anderson CB read the lesson. The 23rd Psalm was then sung followed by the act of Remembrance with the Last Post and Reveille played by the bugler. The piper then played a lament, 'The Flowers Of The Forest'. The Chaplain gave the address and the Branch Secretary, Ivana Muir, presented the roll of honour of deceased Branch Members. The hymn 'Guide Me', was followed by the saying of the Apostles Creed. The Chaplain then blessed the standard. The saying of The Lord's Prayer by the congregation, with The Collect Of The Corps Of Royal Signals, said by past and present members of the Corps, before the final hymn, 'Onward Christian Soldiers'. The dipping of both Standards during the National Anthem, followed by the blessing, which ended the service. The branch standard was paraded by Bill McNamara with the Queens Colour paraded by Bill Taylor the escorts were branch Members Ian Woods and Michael Moulder. The collection taken up during the service amounted to £217. At the subsequent Branch meeting it was agreed by the Members, to round this figure up to £250 to be sent to Royal Signals Headquarters for The Corps Benevolent Fund.

After the service the congregation went on to the parade ground. The Pipes and Drums of the Corps were assembled, and the Branch Members marched to the top end of the parade ground to watch the Ceremony of Beating The Retreat. The Pipes and Drums marched on to the tunes of Steam Boat, Bugle Horn, and The Glendarluel Highlanders. The bugler played The Last Post at the lowering of the flag. This was followed by a selection of pipe tunes. Before the march off, Maj Gen Anderson CB, President of the Branch, presented a silver tankard with the Corps badge motif, with an inscription, as a memento of the occasion, from the RSA Glasgow Branch, to the Rev Maj Blakey. He also presented a claymore, a gift from the Royal Corps of Signals Pipes and Drums, to Gurkha Sgt Piper Tamanay Singh, who was leaving the Corps after serving for 21 years. The Members then marched off preceded by the Corps Pipes and Drums and the Colour Party. The pipes were playing 'Scotland The Brave' and 'The Rowan Tree'. Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB, took the salute of the Pipes and Drums and Branch Members as they passed the saluting base.

After being dismissed the members, families and guests went to the field kitchen, manned by members of the Regiment to enjoy a choice of curries, BBQ sausages, chicken or chops, with a variety of sweet courses. The members thank WO2 Master Chef John Wren and his chefs, for providing all these choices. The day was rounded off with a disco. The bar function being in the capable hands of Sgt Danny Beattie. A raffle was held the proceeds of which amounted to £200, which was passed to Capt Keith Anderson of 32 Sig Regt to help swell the monies for the Erskine Hospital Millennium Fund, the Branch Committee express many thanks to donors of prizes for the raffle.

Lt Col J K McKee MBE, the CO of 32 Scottish Signal Regiment (V), with WO1 (SVWO) Terry McVey in attendance, presented to the Branch Chairman, Joe Keegan, a statuette of a Royal Signals soldier, with his SA80, as a memento of the 10th Anniversary Celebration of the founding of the Branch. Joe accepted the gift with thanks on behalf of the Branch Members. The statuette will be kept in a glass fronted cabinet in the WOs' and Sgts' mess of 32 Sig Regt with their own silverware, available for Branch Members to see and appreciate. It was an excellent and thoughtful gesture by the Colonel and members of 32 Sig Regt, it shows the rapport between the members of the Regiment and Branch Members as mentioned by the Branch President. Thanks must also go to the Committee for producing a first class booklet, much appreciated by the members, families and guests, as a souvenir of the tenth anniversary celebration. On behalf of the Branch, Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB, President of the Glasgow Branch, extended a warm hearted 'Well done' and 'Thanks' to all Branch Members their families, guests and the congregation, for their generosity to the collection during the service.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT BRANCH

On 1 July the Branch held its annual Mid Summer Church Service in New Carlton Barracks. This event is held to commemorate the losses incurred by members of the Corps since 3 September 1939, and was conducted in an admirable fashion by the Rev Ken Pillar, senior chaplain at 15th North Eastern Brigade; now resident at York. (One does not need a very long memory to recall it being the home of Northern Command, but that is another story, for another time and place). Around 60 members and friends attended the service and lunch, which thanks to our superb committee, was once again a great success. Again, our Treasurer, Mrs Margaret Egan, read one of the (difficult) lessons, whilst managing to keep the collection and lunch money in two separate piles. Ken Naylor, our new Branch Standard Bearer, made a successful debut. Following Eric Dawson is no easy job, but after over 20 years in the post he had received his marching orders from Mrs Sally Dawson. After all, 60 years married, and 60 years a member of Royal Signals, in one guise or another, is a record of which any family can be proud. They received an appropriate gift from the Branch. The Branch continues to hold regular lunches, monies collected going to help subsidise other functions, as well as assisting the Corps Benevolent Fund. Two recent visits have been to the Yorkshire Air Museum at Elvington and Eden Camp near Milton, both being a great credit to their organisations. The Branch President attended the inaugural parade at the Army Foundation College at Pennypot Lane, Harrogate, having done his best to try and save the church buildings, but greater political forces prevailed. We are very pleased to record that our friend John Blackburn is Chaplain General, obviously Leeds Branch RSA has some influence in the scheme of things. In keeping with the present trend, although an extremely active Branch, we do not recruit many new members. Unlike politicians we live in a world of reality. However, we will keep trying our best and the Branch thanks its members for their loyal support. We send greeting to all other Branches and members of the Corps Association.

MANCHESTER BRANCH

A full allocation of members travelled to Blandford in June to the hottest RSA weekend since the Princess Royal visited in 1995. On Saturday we enjoyed our first treat, a spectacular Princess Royal Day Parade from 11 Sig Regt. 0ur congratulations to them and RSM Kemp. We were very proud of you.(there is no truth in the rumour that our Chairman and Secretary bribed their way into the VIP seats that morning). The afternoon arena display was, as usual, varied and interesting. After that we spent a convivial evening in the WOs & Sgts Mess. This year they had the air conditioning on. We were joined by Majs Chris Reynolds Jones and Jim Lawson who both visited the bar on our behalf. The Master and Maj General Tony Boyle visited our comer. Later on the Branch practice of moderation was well demonstrated this year when Joe Jennings made the weekend complete by turning out for the Sunday Church Parade and March Past. We all agreed that it was well worth the long drive down and sincere thanks to the car owners and drivers who got us there and back safely. Life President, Maj Jack Holmes, has exclusively told this scribe that, owing to the government's generous heating allowances he will not be flying south this winter.

NORFOLK BRANCH

The Blandford Reunion is now over for another year and those of us from the Norfolk Branch who attended would like to record our appreciation and thanks to everyone at RHQ who laid it all on for us. The display on Hawke Square by the Corps Band and the Pipes and Drums, also the marching, was magnificent. The White Helmets gave their usual daring display, it was all so good and we was so proud to be part of it all that one tends to run out of superlatives. There was one happening worth recording our Vice Chairman, Mike Snowling, along with Brian Ireland were on their way to Blandford when the camper they were using broke down at Duxford, which is about 160 miles from the Reunion. The fault couldn't be repaired so Mike with true Royal Signals resolve captured a taxicab which happened to be passing and arrived at Blandford fairly late in the evening. Mike was a bit coy regarding the cost but it must have been quite a bit. To end the tale, when Mike and Brian went to what they thought was their allocated barracks they burst in on our Secretary's wife, Mrs Tina Nobbs and her friend just getting ready for the social evening in the Sergeants' Mess. It was the wrong room so blushes all round. Not a good start for Mike and Brian. We still get very good attendance at meetings and the 'Esprit de Corps' is very much alive. Our needy and sick are visited and looked after by our Welfare Officer, Reg Hannant, who does a excellent job. We look foreward to our next visit that is the 'Shuttleworth Collection' of WW1 planes etc in September. I enclose a photo taken in the Sergeants' Mess at Blandford, it shows from left to right: Mrs Tina Nobbs, Treasurer - Richard Green, Hon Sec - Steve Nobbs, past Chairman - Frank Mortlock and Master of Signals - Maj Gen I. O. J. Sprackling OBE, all enjoying themselves.

NORTHERN IRELAND BRANCH

As 40 Signal Regiment (V) had their summer recess, and we use the TAVR camp for our monthly meetings, it was decided to have no meeting in July and so there is very little to report this month.

The Branch was , again, well represented at the Blandford Reunion with a total of thirteen Members attending. Not all travelled together, our Chairman - John Brown and Bill Craig travelling by air while Bill Ogden came up from Lancashire and Mark Barass travelled a few yards within Blandford. Our serving TAVR Members, Jim Reilly (Vice Chair), Ian Wolfe (Hon Sec) and Chris Montgomery attended straight from TAVR Annual Camp. The remaining six, Edgar McCall, Harry Stanley, Glen Greer and Jim Weir travelled in two cars supplied and driven by Andy Leishman and John Loveday. They crossed over on the Liverpool boat, night sailing, on Thursday 21 June and returned home on Monday 25 June. Jim Reilly very ably stood in for the Branch Standard Bearer both at the church service and the main parade. All appear to have enjoyed the weekend, particularly when meeting with old friends again. The thanks of the Branch go, once more to our Branch Reunion Organiser - Edgar McCall, for all his hard work over the past year. He has already started to look at next year. Our thanks also goes to Peter Cuckow at RHQ and to all who put so much into the organisation of the event each year.

Once again if you are reading The WIRE and visit Northern Ireland, if you are not a Branch Member or indeed are still serving, you are welcome to join us any third Wednesday of the month in Clonaver TAVR Centre in Belfast.

SCARBOROUGH BRANCH

In June we enjoyed an informal dinner with 46 members and guests in attendance. It was a particularly memorable occasion for Mike Stanger as the Branch President, George Rushby, presented him with the 50 Year Badge and Certificate, and his wife Pam Stanger, was presented with a bouquet of flowers. Also, at this occasion, two members' wives, Teresa Jewell and Linda Pennock, were presented with certificates and flowers in sincere appreciation of valuable service to the Branch.

SOUTHAMPTON & DISTRICT BRANCH

Regretfully and with sadness we have to report the death of another of our Members. William Charles Hill, who passed away on 12 July 2001, after a long illness that he endured with great fortitude. Bill was the elder brother of Sig Len Hill, who died in February of this year. The funeral attended by his wife Jean, his family and Members of the Branch was held at Southampton Crematorium on Teusday 24 July 2001 at 1140hrs. The Branch Standard was displayed together with the Standard of the 'Market Garden' Association. The lesson and eulogy were read by Branch Member and fellow freemason, Arthur Pratt. Bill is survived by his wife , Jean, two sons - Peter and Tony, four grandchildren and one great grandaughter. He will be missed by many people. He was always a 'Perfect Gentleman'.

At the Branch Committee Meeting and Social, held on 7 August 2001, there was a good turnout to welcome our President, Brig Johnny Clinch and to prematurely wish him a very happy 80th Bithday on 15 August. The occasion was marked by the presentation of a birthday cake and the inharmonious rendering of 'Happy Birthday'. Johnny was most appreciative and 'insisted?' that all Members should have a slice. The cake, which was truly delicious, was baked by Tony Packer, son of George and Vera Packer. The icing and decoration were in the colours of the Royal Corps of Signals and were surmounted by an iced 'Jimmy' and the words 'Happy 80th Birthday'.

President Johnny Clinch with Chairman Sid Smith

The Branch is thriving and over the past months several social events have taken place. In particular I mention the Lunch and River cruise on the Solent and up the River Hamble. Lunch was partaken at Harry Ramsden's Restaurant, arguably the best fish and chips around. The cruise was excellent, in warm and sunny weather and was made more enjoyable by the expert running commentary from one of the crew. At a Skittle evening held on 27 July 2001, a grand total of £50 was raised for the Corps Benevolent Fund.

WEST LONDON BRANCH

We still enjoy a very creditable attendance at our meetings that are held on the last Friday of the month at the Richmond British Legion on the A316 and usually are followed by a bingo session or a quiz. Outside events are sometimes thin on the ground in the summer months but we are the pioneers of the Association in organising an annual visit to the Tower of London and a morning Church Parade with the Pensioners at the Royal Hospital Chelsea. This is a Branch occasion but one at which friends from other Branches are always welcomed. A number of our Members attended the annual Reunion at Blandford, although being within commuting distance most found their visit limited to one of the two days. In any event, those of us who attended all enjoyed their visit and we thank our host Regiment for organising the weekend.

31 SIGNAL REGIMENT ASSOCIATION

Our European trip this year was to Ypres and the surrounding area. We stayed in Lille because there appeared to be more bars available. We attended the 'Last Post' ceremony at the Menin Gate, where we met up with several serving members of the Regiment, who had participated in an earlier parade. A great weekend was had by all.

On 19 July the Association was hosted by Lt Col Paul Wenlock at the Regiment's 'Visitors Day'. The day started with an update of the Regiment's activities, followed by coffee and a trip into the backwoods. There we watched the serving soldiers land by helicopter and rescue a VIP, who was being held prisoner. There was lots of smoke and bangs which made an impressive scene. Afterwards we enjoyed a very nice lunch accompanied by the Adjutant, Capt Fiona Stewart, our new Liaison Officer. Our thanks also go to the RSM, WO1 Andy Young, who kept us out of trouble.

Col Donald Crawford, who has not been too well recently, sends his best wishes to all Association Members and thanks everyone who has phoned, written or E-mailed him.

THE MIDDLESEX YEOMANRY ASSOCIATION

A quiet summer saw everyone off on holiday leaving our Secretary, Andrew Bridges, to catch up on the paperwork. Graham Kneafsey is putting the final touches to the Association Newsletter, he is always looking for good stories from Association Members. The Band is still going strong, but could be stronger. Their first public engagement this year was the Hampton Carnival on 9 June. We said farewell to two very loyal Band Members, BQMS Bob Lowe and SSgt Charlie Hill. Both will be missed and we wish them a happy retirement. Maj Chris Reynolds-Jones will be organising this year's annual dinner, which will be on Friday 19 October.

12TH/15TH/18TH AIR FORMATION SIGNAL REGIMENTS ASSOCIATION

The morning of Saturday 7 July dawned misty and the outline of the Chinook helicopter, that had landed only a few hundred yards away the evening before, could barely be distinguished. By 0730hrs the site was a bustle of activity as the stall-holders started to arrive and set up their stalls. After a hurried breakfast Dennis Egan and Hasso Eesanann arrived to assemble the special event radio station, GB4AFS. 21st Signal Regiment Open Day 2001 was getting under way.

We, Pat and Maureen Soward, had arrived during a rainstorm of tropical dimensions the evening before and had watched young soldiers, soaked to the skin, erecting the aerial masts for the station and putting finishing touches to the stalls and tents. By opening time Colin Morgan had set up the display of photographs of the Bar-None Motor Cycle Club from Canal Zone days, the RSARS display was in place and the association regalia was on display. Dennis Isaacs of 19 Signal Regiment Association, arrived soon after opening time and Maj Tom Dean, OC HQ Squadron, wore a beaming smile of relief as the sun shone and the visitors started to pour in.

Roy Clark and Gethyn Jennings, who found themselves doing most of the operating whilst Dennis and Hasso entertained our visitors, were joined by Jobn with his mobile station. In all they operated for nearly seven hours making some 85 contacts on 2, 20 and 40metres in the USA, Canada, UK and nearly half of these contacts were made on CW: who said that Morse is dead.

The Bar-None Club photographs attracted much attention and Colin had a constant stream of visitors, many of whose parents or other relatives had served in the Canal Zone or in Air Formation Signals. In the meantime Pam Morgan had setup shop making tea, coffee, sandwiches and sticky buns for the workforce using the facilities in her motor caravan. Association Chairman, Gerald Vans moved between the displays assisting where the pressure was greatest whilst Maureen Soward was hard at work selling copies of Swing That Lamp and other items to boost association funds. The 12th/15th/18th Air Formation Signal Regiments Association and the 19th Signal Regiment Association showed the flag and may have even recruited one or two new members!

Arena displays included military bands followed by the White Helmets who were slowed dawn a little by the wet grass but never-the-less rendering their usual sparkling performance on quad bikes as well as motor cycles. Although it must be said, the quad bikes spent much of their time with only two wheels in contact with the ground! The Red Arrows gave a slightly faster performance in three dimensions although low cloud somewhat cramped their style. As they disappeared into the sunset, the heavens opened once more, the radio stations were rapidly dismantled as thunder and lightning strode the skies and our display tents assumed the role of refugee camps as soaked spectators sought to escape the deluge. As the rain eased the RAF free-fall parachute team dropped in, hitting the arena with unerring accuracy. In all a great day with sideshows too numerous to mention. It was Tan Dean's day and he will be hard pressed to better his own act next year! To show our appreciation to him for conjuring radio masts out of thin air and for going out of his way to help us, he was presented with an association tie that we hope he will wear with pride on many occasions. To conclude, this is now well established as a Regimental Open Day not to be missed.

DO YOU KNOW THESE EX CORPS MEMBERS?

The Royal Signals Museum has recently acquired medals that have been awarded to the following ex Royal Signals personnel

It is the Museum's policy to put all medals on display in the Medal Gallery and to include a short history of the soldier's service in the Medal Memoir Book. Can you help us trace them? All correspondence should be addressed to the Museum. Contacts are:

Marcus Chown would like to find some friends of his late father, who served in the Royal Signals. Can any of you help?

National Service friends of Bob Chown

My dad, Bob Chown (actually, Ronald) did his National Service in the Royal Signals in Cyprus and Egypt (Ismalia), 1951-53 (I could be out by a year on those dates). I just wondered if there is anyone out there who knew him in his youth? My only reason is curiosity. My dad died in 1999 and I just have this desire, which I'm sure is quite common after a death, to know about the things that made him who he was. Thanks. I can be contacted on E-mail: MChown@compuserve.com

Dear Sir,

Thank you for putting details regarding my late father Cpl Richard Wallace 6084502 - 2nd Army Signals in your WIRE. Although I have not heard from anyone who knew or could give any information regarding his time in Stalag XXA or XXB, I did hear from someone who had been to Poland and taken photos of Royal Corps of Signals graves. They would have sent one to me, but for the fact that I had just been to visit and had my own. However, I did the same and have a photo of the headstones of Sig Cecil McCormack, 2339053 Royal Corps of Signals, 25 December 1940. Age 32, son of Joseph and Georgina McCormack of Belfast, Northern Ireland and Sig James Samuel Laing Redpath 2580531 51st Division 27 September 1940 Age: 22. If there are any of the relatives of these two Signalmen who would like copies of the photos I will willingly send them. Many thanks, Yours Sincerely……..

Dear Sir,

The reference in the last Newsletter to an enquiry from the Channel Islqnds Occupation Society about a German Signals Bunker in Guernsey certainly brought back memories for me, although I was not involved with the bunker itself. I was a member of 4P High Speed Wireless Section (always known as 'Four Pipe - the 'P' standing for Permanent) and we had been selected by the War Office for the first-ever operational use of radio teleprinters. Our job was to be sending war correspondents' copy although, in the event, we also handled a great deal of Army traffic and many hundreds of civilian telegrams. We landed from an LST at Lancresse Bay on the north coast of the island. It was during the early hours of the morning, after the Royal Engineers had blown a hole in the huge concrete wall the Germans had built. We made our way to our allocated site - a field in St. Martin's parish from which our rhombic aerials could be beamed towards Salisbury. By 0600hrs, early-rising local residents were amazed to find a full-scale wireless station up and operating in the village - a good two hours before the highly publicised official liberation took place in St. Peter Port.
Yours Faithfully……

Dear Sir,

Please find enclosed a photograph of my Silver Wedding celebrations, held at the ex-servicemen's club in Nuneaton, on 3 April 2001. In the photograph can be seen Ex Sgt J. H. Mason 23878554, with his twin sons Paul and Stephen. They were born at BMH Rinteln whilst I was stationed at RAF Gutersloh. My last posting was with 21 Sig Regt. My son Anthony - between myself and Margaret was born in Fiji. I was one of the many Fijians who signed up in Fiji in 1961.

The reason for the letter, apart from saying, 'Hi!' to all who might remember us, is to get our photograph in The WIRE. A lovely way to complete the celebrations of our Silver Wedding in April. Also I have now completed the London Marathon four times 1989, '91, '99 and 2000, not bad going for an old 'Hairy'.
Yours faithfully.....

Dear Sir,

During a recent holiday in Norway, I had the opportunity to visit the War Grave Cemetery at Narvik. It was here that a large naval battle was fought in the Second World War. Amongst the graves of British Servicemen I found a lone Signalman, No.2588496 Signalman A. E. Sykes aged 39, who died on 24 May 1940. I forward photographs of the grave and the cemetery that may be of use in passing to surviving relatives or for Corps Records. The cemetery was immaculately kept, and overlooked the large fjord where the battle was fought. The British Cemetery was surrounded by cemeteries of other nations including German casualties.
Yours……

Dear Editor,

Thought I would drop you a line to see if you are interested in what the Royal Signals in this part of the world are doing. In November last year after a visit to the UK to attend a couple of reunions, the first was the British Korean Veterans Association at a weekend in Blackpool on 15 October and then the Ex-boys reunion on the last weekend in October at Derby. During my visit I also visited the Royal Signals Museum at Blandford, and while I was there spotted the new Bronze Jimmy, so I purchased two to present to the two Royal Australian Signals Squadron station in Perth WA.

The reason for the presentation was the 75 birthday of the Royal Australian Signals and to thank the Squadrons for all the help they have give the Australian Signals Association over the many years I have been a member of the Association. I have enclosed three photos the first, taken after the presentation with the OC, Maj Steve Sinclair of 109 Signals Squadron, and SSM Mark Salmon of 152 Signals Squadron (the OC being unavailable at the time of the presentation) and myself. The second, myself with the bearer of the Princess Ann's banner, this was the first time the banner had been in WA.

The third photo is the Princess Ann's banner with its guard of honour. I hope that you will be able to use all or some of the photos in The WIRE.

For your information I am an ex Royal Signals retired in 1971 after 26 years with the Corps with the rank of WO2. I emigrated to Australia six days after discharged, been in Perth all the time, spent 20 years working in the oil fields in the North West of WA, as a Radio Officer on Oil rigs, Shore base and Platforms. I retired eight years ago and now train dogs for obedience work. Many evening are spent on the Internet keeping in contact with the many ex-boys via E-mail and surfing the net. There are four ex-boys living in Perth area, George Punnett, Charlie Leggett, Terry Beare, myself and Betty Angell, the wife of John Angell who died four years ago and we still keep in touch with her. We get together three or four times a year, depending on what we are doing, or when an ex-boy visits us here in WA, then we meet for a lunch, and invite the visitor. We had one in 2000 when Don Marsh from New Zealand visited. He came here in the April, the same week as Anzac Day and marched with the Royal Australian Signals, which is a big event here. This year we had Ken Woods and Bill Leech visit us in January and Tony Bermingham (ex-Beverley Boy) visit us in April, he also marched on Anzac Day. We have one more visitor this year Don Herring who will be with us in December but only for a couple of days, but we will arrange a lunch so he can meet us all, I am sure there will be plenty to talk about over this lunch.
Yours truly……

Hill -Cpl William Charles Hill was born in 1917. He was the elder brother of Sig Len Hill who died in February of this year. Bill joined the Territorial Army before the war and was embodied into the Regular Army on 1 September 1939. He served as an Operator Wireless and Line (OWL) in the 43rd Wessex Divisional Signals until 1942 when the 128th Infantry Brigade to which he was attached, left the 43rd Division to become an Independent Brigade. The Brigade eventually joined the 46th Division and took part in the Invasion of North Africa. Bill subsequently joined the 8th Armoured Brigade and served in the desert. During the Invasion of Italy, Bill was a member of the Beach Party at the landings at Salerno. His unit returned to England in preparation for the landings on the French mainland on D-Day + 6. Bill served throughout many battles in Normandy: many times being attached to his old Division the 43rd. His unit, the 8th Armoured brigade took part in the push up through 'Hell's highway' towards Arnhem in 'Operation Market Garden'. The 8th Armoured Brigade also took part in the actions to clear the West Bank of the Rhine prior to crossing and eventually the many actions into Germany and the final surrender.

Bill was demobilised in 1946 and returned to his pre-war career with a Gentleman's Outfitters in Southampton. He joined this firm as a shop boy in 1932 on leaving school and stayed with them until his retirement in 1982, by which time he had been the manager for a number of years. Bill was a Life Member of the Royal Signals Association and a loyal member of the Southampton and District Branch. He was also a member of the 'Market Garden' Association, and a freemason.

Knott – LCpl John Knott was born on 15 February 1923 in Williams Street, Newark where his fatter had a baker's shop. They moved to Balderton in 1930 when they opened the bakery in Smith Street. John went to Magnus Grammer School until he was 16. He then worked with his dad and also spent many happy hours playing cricket for Balderton and Newark. When war broke out, John was in the Home Guard until he was old enough to join the army when he joined the Royal Corps of Signals. He trained at Huddersfield where he met Audrey who, at the time, was waiting for a call up date for the WAAFs, where she would train as a photographer. He went to India in 1942, serving at the Headquarters in Delhi. John returned to England in 1945 and married Audrey on 13 October. They have been married for 56 years. He took up work with his father again and played rugby for Newark and cricket - which was his passion. John and Audrey both joined the British Legion and John joined the Newark Branch of the Royal Signals Association. He has served as Treasurer for the Balderton Branch of the British Legion and in variety of other offices ever since his retirement. John loved brass bands and marching in parades. Only a few weeks ago he marched at the annual service for Nottinghamshire British Legion at Southwell Minster. Audrey took photos, she was very proud. John was a diabetic for 41 years but he was a very positive thinking person and did not consider himself disabled in any way. In July this year he had the honour of being invited, with Audrey, to a Buckingham Palace Garden Party, in recognition of the many years he had served the British Legion. He was so thrilled to have the honour and they had a wonderful day. He was awarded the Gold Badge last year. John was a loyal and staunch member of the Newark Branch for many years. For the last three and a half years he has been a most efficient secretary of the Branch and he carried out his duties with great enthusiasm. He will be sorely missed.

Collier - Norman Charles 'Taff' Collier - It is with regret that we report the death of WO Norman Charles Collier, affectionately known as 'Taff'. Norman died on 12 July 2001, in the Royal Hampshire County Hospital after being ill for some months.
Born in Cardiff in August 1933, Norman joined the Boys Training Regiment at Beverley in 1950. On posting to GCHQ he met and subsequently married Alice. They later had two daughters Ann and Shan. Other postings took Norman to Egypt, Gloucester, Aden, Harrogate and Winchester. By the end of his 23 years of service he held the appointment of Foreman of Signals. On retirement from the Corps Norman worked in many exotic places. He spent time in Tehran and Bahrain working for Cable and Wireless.
Norman retired from paid employment aged 55 but was not the type to sit around. His hobbies included DIY, gardening, computers and radios but most recently, CCTV and charting the weather on a satellite link. Being a Welshman Norman gave a good rendition of quite a few songs with the best of them at social events and family gatherings.
The funeral service took place at Southampton Crematorium on 19 July with the Branch Standard on parade. Members of the Winchester Branch of the RSA, friends, neighbours and family were all present. Norman and Alice's daughter Ann, her husband Kevin and the grandchildren Amirah, Jack, David and Ben travelled from Bahrain to attend and their other daughter Shan came home from Australia. After the service all were inviteed back to the family home for home-made fare. We sat in their beautiful garden and admired some of Norman's work and his well kept fish-pond and pondered a while some fond memories. Norman was a well loved and respected family man who will be sorely missed. We offer sincere condolences to Alice and the family.

Finlayson - Sgt Stanley Finlayson joined the Corps in 1943 was demobbed in 1947 and rejoined, starting from Signalman, in 1950. He retired in 1972 as WO2 (RQMS). During his time in the Corps he took part in the D-Day landings and served in India. After his retirement he joined the Carnoustie Branch of the Royal British Legion.

Malcolm – Capt William Fraser Malcolm, who rendered distinguished service throughout the Second World War, served with the Corps from 1939 to 1946, died on 24 July 2001. Bill served with the British Expeditionary Force and was evacuated from Calais during the retreat to Dunkirk. Shortly afterwards he was commissioned and served with 11 L of C Signals under those great Commanding Officers Lt Col Gilbert Metson MC, Lt Col Harry Kirkaldy OBE and Lt Col 'Inky' Udell MBE during the invasions of North Africa and Italy. Bill commanded a Line Section and maintained the Line Communications for both the 5th and the 8th Armies up the spine of Italy. He was a big man in every sense of the word and a natural leader. After the war he took up teaching in Edinburgh and had a book on Metallurgy published. He kept up with his golf to within a year of his death, at the age of ninety, having been predeceased by his wife, Louise, a year previously. To his daughter, Carole in Australia, and his son William and their families we extend our condolences.

VACANCY FOR THE POST OF HEAD OF PUBLICATIONS RHQ ROYAL SIGNALS

The above post is to become vacant early in 2002 and is located at Blandford Camp, Dorset. The Managing Editor is employed by the Corps with pay similar to an RO2. The principle responsibility of the post is to help edit and produce the Corps' magazine, The WIRE, every other month. Additionally his office produces the other Corps publication, the Institution Journal, twice a year, but this has its own Editor. To assist the Head of Publications there is an Administrative Officer who undertakes most of the compilation work of The WIRE. Preferably the post will be filled by someone with a R. SIGNALS background but this is not essential, although some knowledge of the military system will be required. The Managing Editor needs to be IT literate and be prepared to undertake some training in Desktop Publishing. This training will be provided once in post. If you would like further information please contact the Regimental Secretary on 01258 482081 or the Regimental Colonel on Ext: 2076 or SO2 Staff Support on Ext: 2077.

THE MASTER'S CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

I had every hope that after the turmoil of the Millennial period, our watchword for 2001 would be 'stability', some hope!

But, until the horrors of 11 September, things were moving forward very much according to plan. Operational deployments had been reduced to something like a manageable level, with the TA taking on even more of the burden with the ground breaking decision to send 97 Squadron to Bosnia. De-motivating delays in training were being reduced and there was light at the end of the equipment tunnel with real progress on the Bowman Project.

Post 11 September, the mood has become more sombre and new uncertainties prevail. But, with recent operational successes in the Balkans, East Timor and Sierra Leone under our belts, I have every confidence that these challenges that come to us by way of the fight against terrorism, will be met with equal professionalism and style.

Whatever happens on the operational front however, we are keen to make 2002 a year of celebrations. The Queen's Golden Jubilee will be one in which we shall all share and in June we shall mark the Silver Jubilee of The Princess Royal's appointment as our Colonel in Chief with a major event.

This Christmas Regular Soldiers, Territorial and Old Comrades will be as one in thinking of their comrades deployed abroad and of their families at home. Annie and I will be thinking of them too.

FROM US BOTH, HAVE A VERY HAPPY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

SOINC(A)'s CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

2001 has proved a dramatic, and for many a traumatic, year. As well as the recent well publicised events, the Foot and Mouth epidemic swept the country causing widespread distress; floods devastated extensive areas of the North, South, East and West, and an extensive bombing campaign was mounted by so called 'dissident republicans', not to mention disorder in some northern towns and, of course, in Ulster.

It is easy in the wake of the US tragedy and its aftermath of operations in Afghanistan to forget that by far the larger part of the Army has been deployed on operations to alleviate the impact of some of these domestic events.

In all of these, as well as in the coalition operation against bin Laden, the Corps is well to the fore and our efforts are well recognised. 2nd Signal Regiment was awarded the Freedom of the City of York in recognition of their efforts during the floods, and elements of 2nd (National Communications) Signal Brigade were crucial to control of the fight against Foot and Mouth. Northern Ireland units have continued to support operations against domestic terrorism, as have many other elements of the Corps such as our soldiers working with 11 Explosive Ordnance Disposal Battalion ('the Army bomb squad').

On behalf' of all of the soldiers of the Corps wherever they may be serving, I would like to express our sincere thanks to all of our families for their support which has sustained us during the difficult year. Christmas is a time for families and I hope that all of you who are able to be together this Christmas can share a very good time. To those who have to be parted, I hope that it will not be for too long and that you will be fortified by good wishes of family and friends (and no doubt the odd touch of Christmas cheer!).

FROM LAURETTE AND ME, A VERY HAPPY CHRISTMAS WHEREVER YOU ARE AND BEST WISHES AND GOOD FORTUNE IN THE JUBILEE YEAR OF 2002.

ROYAL SIGNALS MUSEUM

PRESENTATION TO THE MUSEUM
By Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, Museum Director

Author Louis Meulstee, who works in telecommunications in the Netherlands, is well known to the Royal Signals Museum and to military radio enthusiasts. Over a number of years he has carried out a considerable amount of research into military communications equipment. This has resulted in many erudite articles in specialist journals and magazines. He has also had a number of books published much of which were researched in the Museum.

His latest tome is Volume 3 of Wireless for the Warrior – RECEPTION SETS. It gives considerable detail on 65 different sets dating back to the Second World War. Many of them will be very familiar to members of the Corps and whilst not all of them can be covered here a trip down memory lane may excite some old soldiers. There is a photograph of a Sergeant (in BD of course) operating an R107 and Wireless Sender No12 from a 3-ton lorry. It is also shown with a WS 33 and a 53 Set. Those who operated the Army Wireless Chain or COMCAN will also know the R212/E10 combination. LARKSPUR is also fully represented with the D11/R230 illustrated in both an Airtech container (which I personally recollect from up-country Aden) and that famous K9. The C11/R210 and C41/R222 get the full treatment and lead on to the C50/R236 (in a fish frier) which as we all know was part of an interim system which lasted more than an 'interim time'!

This is an exceptionally well researched book which follows on from Volume 1 – Wireless Sets No1 to 88, and Volume 2 – Standard Sets of WWII. We are very grateful to Louis for this research that is excellent reference material for the Corps. All volumes are on sale in the Museum and much of the equipment is also on display. Louis also has a web site.

THE MAN FROM MANNING AND CAREER MANAGEMENT DIVISION

Maj S. G. Hutchinson MBE - rsignalsintcorpsmcmdiv@dial.pipex.com

With the Divisional Reorganisation complete we welcome some new staff to the Division. Maj Bob O'Hara has moved from HQ ARRC to replace yours truly (his golf swing already seems to be improving) and three Executive Officers (EOs), Niall Montgomery, Tommy Taylor and Chris Wallis have arrived to bolster Soldier Wing. Allan Morgan has been appointed as the new HEO and Patrica Lang joins us as the AA Support Trade Section. All in all these changes represent a major step forward in the way in which we carry out our business, the principle benefactors hopefully being the Officers and Soldiers of the Corps today. As a Division we have always been very grateful for the opportunity for our civilian staff to participate in unit visits; the last few months have been no exception. With visits to Cyprus, 34 Signal Regiment and 521 EOD our staff have given a valuable insight into the workings of R SIGNALS units. Not only is it good for us to get out and experience first hand what is happening in the Field Army but also it gives soldiers on the ground the opportunity to meet at first hand the Desk Officers intrinsically involved in the management of their careers. Breaking with tradition and following on from an extremely successful visit to Cyprus this submission will focus on the Staff visit to 259 Signal Squadron and JSSU(AN).

MCM DIV VISIT TO JSSU (AYIOS NIKOLAOS) AND 259 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Chris Wallis - EO Support Trade Wing

The MCM Team departed from Glasgow Airport at 1700hrs on Sunday 2 September. After a long wait and a slight delay at Heathrow we arrived in Larnaca some 12 hours later. We were picked up by the Adjutant JSSU(AN), Capt Andy Greenfield and WO1 (RSM) Richardson. On arrival at JSSU(AN) we had an hour and a half to freshen up and unpack prior to meeting the CO at 0800hrs - I didn't think that things were meant to happen this quickly in Cyprus. After a warm welcome from Lt Col Sharp we were taken on a brief visit of the QM's Department and Support Squadron. Maj Mick Bohanan was eager to explain what punishments he had planned for Elaine Easton who was apparently responsible for some 'horrendous' postings in his pre-commissioned days. All retribution was planned for the following Thursday and thinly disguised as 'Adventurous Training'. By lunchtime a combination of jetlag and a general inability to stay awake any longer led to four members of the party, Bill Steel, Elaine Easton, Elaine Strachan and Michelle McLean all retiring to the pool side for a Cypriot style 'siesta'. I, on the other hand, spent the afternoon with the Adjt and RSM organising the following mornings business.

Monday evening was spent firstly at 2nd George's restaurant and latterly at the Orange Grove Bar. Dinner was quite simply superb although I suspect the ridiculously cheap Kir and brandy was as much the reason for SSgt 'Ginge' Dyson booking this particular establishment. After moving onto the Orange Grove and enjoying some more local hospitality Bill, Elaine Easton and myself decided that a reasonably early night was the sensible option. Michelle and Elaine Strachan decided otherwise and headed off to a 'top' Cypriot nightclub in Protares with Sig Chris Bunn. I think the consensus was that the term 'nightclub' was being used rather loosely - Glasgow was fast becoming a distant memory.

PT began at 0615hrs on Tuesday morning. Many promises from other party members that they would attend failed to materialise and alas I was the only visitor to attend - perhaps Glasgow wasn't that bad - ready for the rush to the coffee point chaps! The rest of the day was used meeting soldiers from the relevant trade groups, one of the highlights of our visit. We arrived back at Ayios Nikolaos just in time for dinner. An evening's socialising with the SNCO's ensued, with the cabaret provided by A/SSgt 'Super Sonic' Sorley, Mr Ayios Nikolaos in waiting, and we all had an enjoyable evening.

An 0600hrs departure time meant a few, shall we say 'overly tired' travellers, headed for a day hosted by 259 Sig Sqn. An early morning briefing with Maj Fraser was followed by a trip up to the summit of Troodos Mountain to visit both Troodos and Olympus stations and our thanks go to 2Lt Milner and Cpl Mercer for accompanying us. Yet again we were given a valuable insight into the rigours of life in Cyprus, a sunshine posting it is - easy it certainly is not. Dinner was arranged in Chris' Kebab shop on the Akrotiri strip, where we were accompanied by Cpl Mercer and some of the JNCO's from both Airfield and Episkopi Troops. While some of the JNCO's headed off to Limassol the others took the chance to get to know the desk officers primarily responsible for the organisation of their postings. After much hilarity (not necessarily associated with their postings) we embarked on an eventful hike back to RAF Akrotiri, promised all the way that we would find a taxi!

On the Thursday they took pity on us and a much-needed late start meant we arrived at the Akrotiri Water Ski Club after 0900hrs and linked up again with the Adventurous Training group from JSSU(AN). Elaine Strachan and Michelle were railroaded onto the 'banana boat' and 'donut' before the rest of us had managed to get our beach towels out! I had just sat down for a quiet moment of relaxation when WO2 RQMS Andy Dick kindly volunteered me for the beach volleyball team. A thoroughly action packed morning was followed by the promise of a gentle meander down a small section of the Troodos Mountain. How wrong we were! WO2 Rick Buxton had assured us that the walk would take us approximately 30-35 minutes. 80 odd minutes and one quite drastic wrong turning later we arrived at the Trout Farm and the pleasure of an air conditioned car.

A quiet final night, due to complete exhaustion more than anything else, was enjoyed by all. However, I had received a message that Maj Bohanan, OC Sp Sqn, required to see myself and Elaine Easton at 0730hrs on Friday morning and we were a bit apprehensive as to the reason for his request. We arrived on time after breakfast to be greeted by the Maj Bohanan as well as Capt Andy Greenfield. Throughout the previous day Rick Buxton had taken numerous photographs and produced a PowerPoint presentation of our Adventurous Training which proved very entertaining for all concerned.

We eventually returned to Glasgow on the Friday night completely exhausted. The visit had been great fun and given us a unique insight into a 'soldiers lot in Cyprus'. It also put faces to CR Books and hopefully gave the soldiers an opportunity to see that we are not the ogres that we are made out to be - well, not all of us! Overall a fantastic time was had by all and special thanks must go Capt Greenfield, WO1 RSM Richardson and all who looked after us so well at JSSU and 259 Sig Sqn.

THE GURKHA DISSERTATION 'THE CALL OF ENGLAND'

SCHOOL'S PHOTOGRAPHER GAINS INTERNATIONAL RECOGNITION

Introduction by Lt Col (Retd) MacDonald

Stephen Olding is a photographer at the Royal School of Signals, an Operating Division of the Army Training and Recruiting Agency. For long acknowledged by school staff as an excellent photographer willing to give his time and advice to create the best image, it was only recently that the full extent of his talents came to light. Stephen is in fact a highly qualified, internationally recognized photographer and lecturer who has been exhibited worldwide by a number of institutions. An Associate of the British Institute of Professional Photography and the Royal Photographic Society, he recently crowned his academic achievements by gaining a BA (Hons) Degree 1st in Photographic Media Studies. In recognition of gaining a degree in a work related subject he was awarded £700 under the MOD sponsored special bonus scheme. Having gained a Certificate of Education in 1994, he has also been a part time lecturer in photography at the Arts Institute of Bournemouth. His Dissertation subject was the Professional and Cultural Assimilation of the Gurkha Soldier in the British Army, which was researched and photographed in Nepal, providing an interesting and exciting visual record of a people who have become an integral part of our military culture. The Photo Imaging Education Association of North America and the Association of Photographers have exhibited his work worldwide and his portraiture of actor Richard Wilson appears in the July issue of the British Journal of Photography. His opportunity to realize the Warhol theory that almost everyone has 15 minutes of fame in their life came when Gyles Brandreth, the broadcaster included him in his radio program. Whereas the front cover of Vogue might be enticing we can only hope that we benefit from his expertise and professionalism for a long time to come.

Buddhiman Gurung with J. P. Cross in the background

In addition to course work my Honours Degree studies included a self-originated project referred to as the 'MCP' or (Major Communication Project), which would be a research subject negotiated with the course supervisor, for this, my subject of research was to explore the social and professional integration of the Gurkha soldier into the British Army. The project examines cultural assimilation contextualised by a brief look at Anglo/Nepalese history since the treaty of Segouli in 1816 through to contemporary welfare, professional and cultural issues. In a bid to formalise a coherent and balanced body of research I felt the need to visit the Gurkha homeland and take note and compare the social and professional differences that exist between Nepalese and Western cultures. My visit to Nepal was also to include an interview with the much respected Englishman Lt Col J. P. Cross now retired and living in Pokhara. (pictured with me in Pokhara).

It was 26 December 2000 when I set off from Kathmandu airport heading for Pokhara in Western Nepal on a journey to meet the famous J. P. Cross, and to interview the man on matters 'Gurkha'. After the short 50 minutes flight, in no time at all I found myself in the Pardy district of Pokhara and arrived at the very presentable 'Tibet Resort Guest House'. As soon as I introduced myself the receptionist cried out 'Sahib, Sahib Colonel Cross want you to phone him straightaway.' It was at this point I realised that I wasn't on his trail, but he onto mine. Within minutes I was talking to the man on the phone to arrange an interview time with him, and sure enough it was to be the following morning at 10.30am. The next day my taxi drove me across the other side of town which took about 25 minutes weaving through the cows, chickens, cats and dogs on the road, and with my hands tightly gripping the door handles of the car for stability, we would swerve and alternate between driving on the left and right side of the road, a concept of good road sense having completely eluded the taxi driver. Finally, at the side of the road I recognised the figure of a man whose picture I had seen in books in England, the modern day 'Dr Livingstone' I presumed. Suddenly his outstretched arm wielding a walking stick summoned the taxi to an abrupt halt, from that point on my perception of J. P. Cross was to be changed and every minute that followed made me look upon him as most would, a paragon.

This formidable literary figure, linguist and authority on Gurkhas and the Nepalese way of life, was I feared, about to eat me alive with his perceptive mind and expertise, and me, with so little knowledge on the subject to defend myself. However, as each minute went on he put me at ease with his charm and hospitality. I was quickly introduced to his adopted son, Buddhiman Gurung and his wife Bhim Kumari and their children. All three men sat on the balcony and were served mid morning tea on a warm Pokhara morning. J. P. Cross for most of his military life has been linked to the Gurkhas through his tours of duty in India and throughout Asia, and with his flair for languages he was an obvious choice for the position of DRO in charge of recruiting Gurkhas. The late King Birendra of Nepal graciously bestowed a unique honour upon Colonel Cross by permitting him to settle permanently in the mountain kingdom, with his adopted family in Pokhara, situated approximately one hundred and sixty kilometres west of Kathmandu. In November 1976 after being in the army thirty-three years Colonel J. P. Cross started his last army post as District Officer in charge of Recruiting (DOR) He took up his post based at Paklihawa Camp in charge of British interests in Nepal. J. P. Cross was responsible for recruiting half of the requirement for the Brigade of Gurkhas and dealing with pay and pensions for over ten thousand ex-servicemen throughout western Nepal. Within his role as DOR he was also the main link between serving soldiers and their homes in Nepal. Under his control were twelve Area Welfare Centres staffed by ex-servicemen with whom he had regular contact in order to carry out these welfare tasks. See below two photos showing first the Commissioning Ceremony and then the Attestation Ceremony.

As previously mentioned, my 'MCP' was aimed at illustrating aspects of the professional, social and cultural life of the Gurkhas, making comparisons between England and Nepal and how the young Gurkha soldiers adapt to a new environment. For these Nepalese recruits the learning curve is steep and they will be making the transition from a third world country to one of the West's leading commercial and industrial countries in a relatively short time. I have avoided political issues and have looked into the background from which these genteel warriors have emerged, and how their reputation as fighters without fear has stood the test of time. Their reputation of being professional and tenacious fighters precedes them wherever they go in the world, be it in times of conflict or in a 'Peace Keeping' role. The unflinching Gurkha characteristics of wanting to achieve perfection in every pursuit is evident even down to time spent in leisure for each Thursday evening at the 'Hobbies Club' I lead the camera club on Blandford Camp for Phase 2 soldiers, here at the camera club one can see the incredible motivation the Gurkhas have. I'm sure most of these Gurkhas see time out of traditional education as a sheer waste. His hunger for knowledge is insatiable and he will try and try again until he succeeds. For the young Gurkha soldier life in the West will be difficult and he will have to quickly learn the ways of the West and start to study scientific subjects that are not presented in his native tongue. In the relatively short time between hill selection in Nepal and his first term of training he would have laid down his scythe and picked up a scientific calculator.

Pastoral care will be provided by a Pundit (Regimental Priest) who will look after the religious matters concerning marriages, bereavement, ceremonial and spiritual diuties. Due to the small number of Gurkhas on the various camps, it is not possible to allocate a Pundit to each camp, instead, there is one Pundit to cover the south of England and he is based at 1RGR Shorncliffe in Kent where there is an established temple. There is also a Pundit who covers the north and he is based at Catterick. Pastoral care is also given with regular visits by the Gurkha Major to discuss welfare issues with the young Gurkhas.

Welfare Issues being addressed by a Gurkha Major

From the moment the Gurkhas first get through basic training they are encouraged to pursue sporting activities, and Taekwondo is a particular favourite. This sport has a large following on Blandford Camp and its Sensei is Gurkha Sgt Bijendra Gurung, who holds several awards, in Taekwondo, including Winner of the British Army Taekwondo Championships held in Hong Kong. Sporting activities include cycling, football and many others.

Taekwondo Training on Blandford Camp

During my stay in Nepal while out and about photographing in the Pokhara area I came across, by complete surprise Corporal Vishal Pun and his fiancé, Vishal, was then a Lance Corporal and on leave to visit his family and fiancé.

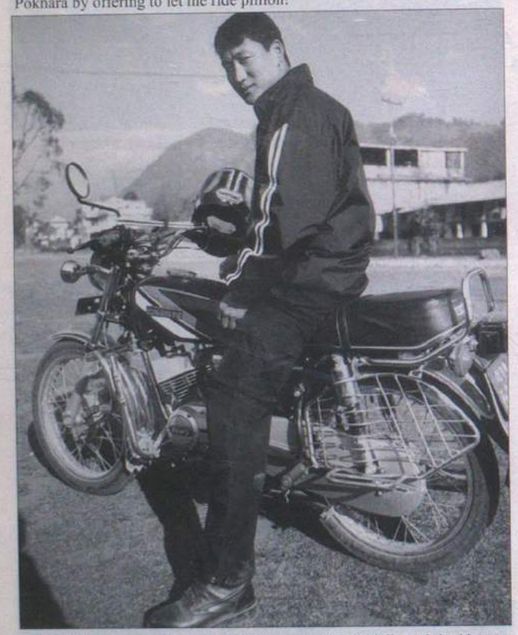
Although he was on leave he insisted upon helping me to get around Pokhara by offering to let me ride pillion!



His help was most generous and appreciated especially as it had been a long time since he had last seen his fiancé and family. It is to this affect that I must express my heartfelt and special thanks to Vishal, I understand that Vishal is now serving at 30 Signal Regiment, Bramcote, as a technician. The following people have also given me great support and help in my Gurkha studies and they too have my sincere thanks; from 30 Signal Regiment, Bramcote - Brig Lee (pictured with Gurkha Major at Attestation) and Maj Navindra Bikram Gurung; from Pokhara Nepal Lt Col (Retd) J. P. Cross OBE and Buddhiman Gurung; also Brig (Retd) J. H. Griffin BSc C EN FEI, Col K. Hadfield - former Commander Royal School of Signals Col (Retd) A.Carter Regimental Secretary the Royal Corps of Signals, Blandford Camp. Capt Yam Bahadur Rana, Capt Krishna Bahadur Gurung, WO2 Tol Bahadur Khamcha and his family, SSgt Gyan Bahadur Tamang, Sgt Bijendra Gurung, Sgt Arkumar, Cpl Vishal Pun, Mrs Gillian Gutteridge - Winchester Museum, Mr Sunhil Gurung - Buddha Airlines Kathmandu, Mr Sunhil Sakya - Kathmandu Guest house, Kathmandu, Mr Bill Norman, Mr Hemant Thapa - Pokhara Nepal.

The Gurkha Dissertation entitled 'The Call of England' is in excess of 15,000 words and this brief draft doesn't touch the surface of my dissertation but it is hoped will enable me to outline the fact that there were of course many people who I am grateful to for their help in enabling me to gather research material for a subject I find fascinating, I would also like to thank Lt Col MacDonald for putting my name forward for this citation and subsequently Commander Ewbank and his Officers for sanctioning the citation and last but by no means least Mr Richard Rogers (Civil Admin Officer) Blandford Camp.

WORD ON THE GROUND - MASTERING A MOUNTAIN

by AT Jones, 3 Section, 15 Pl, C Coy, 263 (Harrogate) Signal Squadron, Army Apprentices College

Army Adventurous Training? Sounds like fun, however, it is designed to push your personal fears to the limit. This is a story of tears, fears and teamwork. It takes place on the north face of Mt Trafan. Mr 'Hughy' Richards is the team leader, the team consists of, AT 'Adam' Doherty. AT 'Rachel' Harper, AT 'Michael' Dixon, AT 'Alan' Doorbar and myself AT 'Claire' Jones, we are the team, the soldiers in training, 'the lambs to the slaughter'. The 'Task' sounds easy enough, scramble up Mt. Trafan. Stood at the bottom looking up it didn't seem too difficult, a gentle slope at the bottom and a little steeper towards the top, so the team set off with high hopes. Forty-five minutes later we reached what looked like the top. That wasn't too hard? Then we realised it is a small ridge near the bottom and no-where the top at all! OK, not a drama, the team shrugs its' shoulders and trudge on. An hour and a half later with legs aching, we are suddenly looking up at 15 ft rocks, then it hit us we have to climb? No decent handgrips and no safety rope, you can't make us do this? They could make us do this and they did! Fifteen minutes later I find myself frozen, clinging to a rock for dear life and I think what am I doing here?' How will I possibly do this? Well the answer is teamwork; the rest of my team is there for my support. One mans fear is another mans strength, as they say. AT 'Ben' Doherty was there for me all the way, he helped me conquer the mountain as I was dragged from my 'comfort zone'. Four hours later and it was all over. The climbing of Mt Trafan is definitely an experience I will never forget, I learnt a valuable lesson, no matter who you are or what your fears are, with a bit of extra effort and a lot of teamwork you can achieve anything.

SIGNALS MEN JOIN THE SAFETY ELITE

WO2 (RQMS) Dave Inman, RQMS with 8 Inf Bde and Sig Sqn (218) is to receive the prestigious British Safety Council Diploma in Safety Management. WO2 Inman will receive his award later this year at a ceremony in London.

In a message of congratulations to successful delegates, the Council's Director General, David Ballard said, 'Good safety is good business and can save firms hundreds of thousands of pounds. In achieving the Diploma in Safety Management, Mr Inman has shown a big commitment to improving health and safety in the workplace. Proper training is vital for people at all levels of a company, as accidents and illnesses at work cost this country up to £18 billion every year.'

Many company directors and managers are unaware of how big the savings from good safety management can be. The Baker Group in Northamptonshire has seen its insurance premiums drop from £400,000 to £150,000 in just three years and Norwich City Council's City Works department is saving £60,000 a year because of their good safety records. The Diploma is an internationally recognised qualification, which provides domain knowledge for the National Vocational Qualification in Occupational Health and Safety Practice. Delegates study safety law, communications, advanced safety management, occupational health and hygiene and total loss control (risk management). They must pass an exam in order to gain a Diploma.

James Smiley, Motor Transport Officer at 37 Signal Regiment (V) in Redditch, has received the prestigious British Safety Council Diploma in Safety Management at an awards ceremony at Trinity House, London. Mr Smiley was among 42 safety professionals who were presented with their awards. They passed an exam in order to gain their Diploma.

INFOSEC COMMAND NACOSA SHAPE

Comd Col Peter Parfitt
Contributor WO2(FofS) Alex Groves

BACKGROUND

INFOSEC Command came into being in September 1999, replacing its predecessor ACE COMMSEC and taking on a number of new roles, most of which have NATO wide responsibilities. It is situated at SHAPE headquarters in Belgium. The Command is a Tri-Service and multinational organisation, with serving personnel coming from most of the NATO nations. The first Colonel to command the new organisation, Peter Parfitt, arrived after a brief spell as the Chief Instructor at the Royal School of Signals. The Commander of ACE COMMSEC, Lt Col (TOT) Andrew Robertson, subsequently became Deputy Commander and Chief Technical Officer.

ROLE

INFOSEC Command is the operational Information Security Command for NATO and it is the only organisation with NATO wide INFOSEC responsibility. The Command supports all of the NATO Civil and military bodies, including Allied Command Europe (ACE) and Allied Command Atlantic (ACLANT). If you are after Computer Security, Crypto, TEMPEST or COMSEC technical support, then look no further. We haven't gone public/private yet, but don't be surprised if your credit card details are required in the not too distant future!

ORGANISATION

After small refinements since its inception, INFOSEC Command is currently organised into Computer Security (COMPUSEC), Crypto, Implementation and Vulnerability Branches. Vulnerability Branch itself encompasses both Transmission Security (TRANSEC) and Emission Security (EMSEC). Above the Branches reside the Operations Cell and the Plans and Support Cell. The current establishment of 86 personnel includes seven serving Royal Signals personnel and four ex-Corps members working in NATO civilian posts within the Command. The Corps therefore has a very significant part to play in the conduct of INFOSEC within NATO.

ARRIVALS/DEPARTURES

The Command welcomed two newcomers this year, Sgt Chris O'Neill and SSgt Angus MacPherson, in the process saying farewell to Sgt Stephen 'Chalkie' White, taking an inimitable brand of humour and an endless supply of bawdy jokes with him, and SSgt Stuart Taylor, who's prowess at obtaining the unobtainable was well noted. 'No Sir, your not allowed to have that desk, however, give me a little bit of time and let me see what I can do…..' We wish them all the best in their new posts.

ACTIVITY

This year has been extremely busy for all the Branches. Since INFOSEC Command's creation, the changes in policy and requirements have meant new manpower, equipment and especially new skill sets to be pulled in. This has created a very dynamic environment. COMPUSEC have been steadily increasing their resources to manage intrusion detection, virus response and other COMPUSEC issues. This has prompted a move to put as much useful data as possible into a NATO Computer Emergency Response Team (CERT) website, to try and give the wider NATO customers as much information as possible. The NATO CERT itself, with recent World events and the continuing real threat to NATO's Network infrastructures, has taken on a much added significance. When it finally arrives, it will in no small part be due to the efforts of Lt Col (TOT) Drew Robertson.

The other branches haven't exactly been asleep either. Crypto Management Branch, headed by Mr Alan Huey (ex R Sigs FofS) are currently gearing up their Systems Management Centre (SMC) in preparation for the new Nato Nuclear Command and Control Reporting System (NNCCRS), which is due to start operating in the first quarter 2002. The SMC will be the hub of a host of a new generation of Internet Protocol (IP) based Crypto distribution systems. Standing with his screw driver in hand, should any of this breakdown, will be Sgt Derek 'Pilsbury'.

Implementation Branch, headed by Mr John Tatman (ex R Sigs Tech) has a hug workload carrying out the site surveys of all the NATO nations, configuring of equipment and eventual installation for a variety of different projects. A mammoth task! However, they do have two highly experienced engineers in Mr Vince Thomas (ex R Sigs FofS) and Mr Tim Terry (ex R Sigs Tech) to ensure that everything runs smoothly. So smoothly, in fact that John and Tim both squeezed in a bit of time to do some sightseeing in Skopje, FYROM in June, after KFOR put in an urgent request for a Transportable Secure Communications Box, or the 'Tatman Box' as it more fondly came to be named.

Vulnerability Branch is a fairly new amalgamation of the two disciplines of Emission and Transmission vulnerability within the Command. Emission Security has gone about its important task of carrying out TEMPEST site and equipment surveys with it's new zoning equipment, well looked after by SSgt Glen Shipman, who has just received a refresher course to INFOSEC Command after undertaking back to back tours to Turkey, Greece, Italy… It's a hard life for some! The last section TRANSEC, is by no means the least though. This year has seen the arrival of a completely new modern Digital Monitoring System (DMS) that has the ability to monitor virtually every modern Digital Exchange. The new lightweight system will occupy the very experienced and capable hands and ears of Sgt Judith Chapple and Sgt Chris O'Neil. The DMS promises to bring a much sharper perspective to transmission vulnerabilities within NATO. Something that enlightened Commanders have been crying out for, for some time.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

A NATO posting is no longer the 'cushy' number that we used to dream of getting at some stage in our careers. The overseas allowances can be barely be described as adequate. Travel to and from the UK is a rip-off and the opportunities for duty travel have almost disappeared. Fortunately we in INFOSEC Command have managed to find ways of enjoying life and none more so than SSgt Stuart Taylor. Whilst here, he entered the Nijmegan marches, went on three sailing expeditions and for the last two years entered a SHAPE cross-country team into the UKSC(G) cross country league. This year along with WO2 (FofS) Alex Groves, the committee member for the SHAPE Sailing Club, he also entered the Royal Signals Corps Sailing event at Dale. In some of the wildest weather ever seen at this event and with survival as much a factor as the race itself, the team managed to take a creditable Fourth place. Not bad for a scratch crew. At least we could say that our capsize drills were pretty slick. They need to be, after a giant gust of wind took the boat and dumped it on its side, just as the whole fleet was making an enforced dash for home!

There is nothing like a little bit of international competition to create a bit of fun, especially that most multi-national of sporting events - football, (or soccer for our American friends). We run an annual tournament and even manage to get the girls to participate. With a strong contingent of Dutch and German as well as UK personnel, this is usually a hotly contested tournament. The UK Team shown below is drawn from all three services, with one RN and two RAF lads combining with the four R Signals men. This was of course followed by the obligatory barbeque with hotdogs and cold beer. So now everyone knows that for us Brits football is a game of two halves, four pints and a wobbly bike ride home.

NEWS OF TRAINING

ARMY TRAINING REGIMENT BASSINGBOURN

CORPS REPRESENTATION

The Corps is currently very well represented within Wray Coy with no less than eight: Maj Rick Licence – OC, Capt Emma Bruce – 2IC, WO2 'Taff' Jolly – CSM, Sgt Jacky Collins – Pl Sgt Aisne Pl, Cpl Scott West – Sect Comdr Somme Pl, Cpl Paul Slater – Sect Comdr Aisne Pl and Cpls Andy Doyle and Alan Hyland – Sect Comdr's Mons Pl.

OUR CURRENT ROLE

Many of the Corps are unaware of the role Wray Coy plays in ATR Bassingbourn and, if the truth be known, so are many of those within the environment. That is until they join us on detachment from the other training sub-units, after that it's difficult to get rid of them. Presently, Wray Coy consists of a platoon responsible for the Personal Development (PD) aspect for all recruits entering Bassingbourn who are not quite up to the mark physically or psychologically. A further platoon is responsible for the rehabilitation of recruits suffering long term injuries and there is also a platoon dedicated to delivering the Common Military Syllabus (CMS (R)) to recruits who are Junior Entrants.

THE FUTURE

Wray Coy is to become the second School Leavers' Scheme training company in Bassingbourn from the Autumn of this year and will hand all its current responsibilities over to HQ Coy on the 12 November. The scheme is designed for recruits aged between 16 years and 1 month to 17 years and 6 months. It lasts for 29 weeks with three weeks leave included and is based on CMS(R), but with an education package and an enhanced adventurous training package included. Wray Coy will remain a diverse organisation with a staff made up from 12 different cap badges and recruits destined for RAC, RA, Foot Gds, Scots Div, Kings Div, Queens Div, POW Div and Lt Div split into four platoons: Marne, Somme, Vimy and Ypres. If nothing else we will provide a more colourful ambience to the barracks.

SPORTING ACHIEVEMENTS

Despite having less than half the manpower of the other sub-units, Wray Coy manages to do remarkably well in the annual inter Coy/Sqn sports competition. After five events, of a 12-event slog, Wray Coy lies second just one point adrift of HQ Coy. Against his better judgement, Maj Rick Licence was talked out of retirement to iron the cricket whites and replace the cork studs in the football boots and, as a result, was forced to service and polish the zimmer frame. First in duathlon and second in athletics and cricket has provided the foundation for us, however, the magnificent effort by our two teams in the prestigious March and Shoot Competition - which secured an overall first place has been the most noteworthy. The OC has developed an almost manic grin ever since, not least because it has, understandably, been the given right of C (Queens Div) Coy of Infantry to win it every year for the past five years. Manpower constraints meant that Sergeant Major 'Taff' Jolly had to receive instructions from the CQMS - Colour Sergeant Paul Wilkins – on how to put his webbing together. Whilst it was all down to a team effort, special mention must go to Cpl Paul Slater who beat the infanteers hands down (at their bread and butter event) on finding the target and winning the Best Overall Shot.

263 (HARROGATE) SIGNAL SQUADRON
ARMY APPRENTICES COLLEGE

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj Mel Rayner
SSM WO2 John Hogan

With one week to go before a well deserved leave, it is all stations go, go, go! Along with the usual end of term madness the College is also undergoing a restructuring. The four Squadrons/Companies are being amalgamated into three training Companies and one HQ Company. This means a lot of office changing and the reorganising of Companies, all of which will have to be completed before the start of next term.

The Squadron enjoyed its summer bash recently, ably organised by Cpl Tregunna. It can be said that all the parents got a good night's sleep after the kids had tired themselves out on the Bouncy Castle and the Sumo Wrestling. In fact Cpl Wornham gets a gold star for admin, as his three little girls were seen at the end of the night, rolling their sleeping bags out and getting some shut eye on the grass while the party continued.

The Squadron says a fond farewell to Penney Troop Training Team who are moving lock, stock and barrel to the REME's, Carlise Company (A Coy next term), confused yet? Farewell also, to Capt Liz Warhurst, who moves with them. Farewell to Sgt Mandy Korchel, who moves on promotion to 15 Sig Regt. Also we say goodbye to Cpl (now Sergeant) Wheeler, who moves back to his Battalion. Farewell finally to Capt 'Post It Pierre' Farrimond who leaves the Army next month.

THE BATTLEFIELD TOUR - by AT Perehinec

The idea of getting out of bed at 0345hrs scared me - and it still does when I think back. How to manage it? I think it was the excitement of going to Belgium that got me up. All my kit was packed and my clothes were immaculately pressed. 0430hrs I was ready to go. The bus was waiting on the Drill Square and it looked very 'Gucci', and proved to be so when we got on it. It was my first time in the Eurotunnel and I found that it was hot and boring. However, 30 minutes later we were in France. The first place we visited was called 'Toc H', a place where soldiers could get back to reality during the Great War. A gentleman briefed us on the history of the building. He told us of the many people that visited 'Toc H'. I could tell he was proud to be part of it. He spoke very highly of a man who used to work there called 'Tubby'. 'Tubby' was a Padre, a person who would confront your problems. The man claimed that 'Tubby' was like 'Robin Hood', he stole from the officers to pay for the soldiers. The next place was a Museum. It was full of objects and peoples personal belongings, which I found very interesting. We then visited a WW2 British cemetery I couldn't believe how sad I felt, I had mixed emotions, at first I was gutted, but then proud. We visited a lot more of these cemeteries. I had the same feelings throughout. Each cemetery had a different story. The one that sticks in my head was a story about a boy who was 14 years old and in the front line. We stayed in a hotel that night. I was glad to have a duvet, even if it was for one night. We travelled to the Somme and were told what happened there. I had pictures in my head of what happened there, I would have been so scared. We visited the Menin Gate, and at 2000hrs the Remembrance Parade took place. I felt really proud during the minute of silence. I'm glad that we remember those that died for us. After this we started for home. We stopped at the Duty Free, to get sweets, cigarettes and hot food.

BATTLEFIELDS OF THE SOMME - by AT Jenner

I can't say that I have ever seen anything that has devastated me more than the Battlefields and graveyards of the First World War. Before the trip, WW1 was just a book and a way to bore me in history but when I saw the row upon row of graves and the thousands of names engraved into the many memorials it hit me how much death and carnage the war caused. I can not even begin to imagine how it affected the families of the dead soldiers that gave their lives in the defence of this country and the welfare of the many generations to follow.

BRADLEY TROOP - SENIOR TROOP
Tp Comd Capt David Farrimond
Tp Sgt Sgt Mark McMullan

Once again the busy term comes to an end. However, as this term closes so does a chapter in the history of the Royal Corps of Signals. 263 (Harrogate) Signal Squadron will be disbanded and the training teams within it will be merged into A, B and C Company's along with training teams from the RE, REME, RLC. It is a merger that most of us are apprehensive about, however keen we are to under take it. It also means the end of Bradley Troop named after Bradley Squadron at Harrogate and of course Maj Gen P. E. M. Bradley CB CBE DSO. Life in Bradley Troop, (AKA, Baby Troop), has been fast and furious. As the name suggests babies have played a major roll in the lives of the permanent staff and luckily not the apprentices. Sgt McMullan had already led the way with his and Rosie's baby Jack. Time off work for scans, ante-natal classes, scans, more scans and other baby type things have been commonplace amongst the three expectant fathers in the Troop. The first to arrive was baby Sophie, who belonged to Cpl Mick Clubb. Next to arrive was baby Izabelle daughter of Cpl Jackie White and inbound within the next couple of weeks is baby number three in the Troop belonging to LSgt Kev McDowall SG. As well as the babies, their has also been two members of the Troop, Cpl Jackie White and Cpl Dave Sawyers, selected for promotion to Sergeant. Both will be moving on at Christmas. As well as the apprentices, also moving on to pastures new is Capt David Farrimond who has certainly been put off babies.

EXERCISE JANNERS JOY - by AT Hole

For us, Ex Janners Joy was a bit of a daunting prospect. We were going to be commanding a section of men into attacks, OP's and patrols. We left camp on Wednesday evening and after an hour and a half's bus ride we arrived at the drop off point. We unloaded our bergans from the pantecs, cammed ourselves up and got on our way. As soon as we set off our trouble began. We left the drop off point and took a wrong turning! Capt Farrimond realised the mistake straight away and ran to the front of the patrol to put us on the right track. We patrolled about 2kms and reached our ERV. The Sect Comds and the Troop OC left the snap ambush to recce the harbour area. Once the rest of the Troop had moved into the harbour area it was so dark you couldn't see you're hand in front of you're face. The next morning we 'stood to' at 0430hrs and then had half an hour to admin ourselves. Next up on the agenda was digging in. We soon found out that digging into chalk with huge tree roots in it was not a fun job! We dug all morning. Then we received orders to set up an Op to observe enemy movement in the northern part of the training area. The Op went well and we got back to the harbour at 1900hrs, disappointed we did not see any enemy activity. Our excitement rose again when we found out that we had to go and carry on digging shell-scrapes. What a prospect! We eventually finished digging and got some food down us. Then it was down to the nightly routine of stag and sleep.

The next day promised to be enjoyable. We were to patrol around a route visiting different stands such as section attacks, NBC and first aid. We patrolled to the first stand, which was a section attack. We patrolled along a track and came under fire. No one could see the enemy, which made the attack more difficult then it already was. The second stand, was a rest stand, we got some food down us, had a cigarette and were ready to go again. We patrolled to another section attack stand, which went a lot better as we could see the enemy from the start and knew what options we had open. Our fourth stand was a NBC stand. We stopped about 100m short of the stand to get our IPE on. When we arrived at the stand the sergeant there told us that all training had been suspended due to the heat. It was unfortunate and we went back to the harbour area and were told we were going to get orders and do some map reading revision. After the revision we received orders for a big company attack that was to happen at first light the next day. We then had to write and deliver our orders. After rehearsals for the night activities we set off for the attack at about 2230hrs. We patrolled around the area to our hasty harbour and at about 0100hrs we were told we had an hour and a half to get some sleep. We left the hasty harbour at 0230hrs to head for a bergen cache, we arrived at the cache at about 0345hrs. We were then to get in position ready to give covering fire to other platoons that were attacking before us. At around 0425hrs all hell broke loose and there was smoke, bangs and people running around everywhere. From our position it looked very impressive. Next it was our turn. We ran forward, got into position and we were itching to get some of the action. We moved off 1 Section on the left, 2 Section on the right and 3 Section behind. We moved along a tree line, dry firing and moving in Sections, we wheeled round and saw our objectives. Once the position had been taken we regrouped and bugged out. We patrolled back to the bergen cache and set off towards the pick up point, what a feeling.

We were on our way back to camp to have a shower and hopefully grab some sleep! Everyone else was at the pick up point when we got there, so we cleared our weapons and sat down and cleaned our rifles. Soon enough the coaches arrived and we were on our way back to Arborfield. Finally we could get some sleep.

OUR TIME AT THE ATFC IS DRAWING TO A CLOSE
by AT Gordon

Only a couple of weeks, now, before passing off. I don't really know whether I should be feeling relieved that we have nearly passed out and we have finished all of that hard training, or feel nervous in case we all muck up on the day. We have come this far and it would be a shame if we made fools of ourselves now. We are the last ever Bradley Troop that there is going to be in the College and we all want to be remembered. Not for falling over each other on the parade square, but for looking smart and putting on a good performance. Most of the training has been okay and it does not seem to have done too much damage. Apart from the fact that we have the smallest Troop now. About 15 people have left, not bad. We have had our good days and our bad days. The fear of pass off goes through us all every day. The dreaded sound of the drill instructors voice goes through us even before we set foot on the Drill Square. It is one of those things that gives you nightmares. It has been quite hard to choose what trade we want to do. We visited 3(UK) ADSR last week and it really opened our eyes to the future. It wasn't what we expected because it looked boring and not much was going on. However, we did get to sit on a tank and get our photographs taken. All of our parents are really proud of us getting this far (we hope). Half of them did not expect us to. Since being in the college we have all changed so much it is unbelievable and all for the better.

COMPETENT CREW AT HALF TERM
by ATs Summerfield & Heydon

We arrived at the Joint Service Adventurous Sail Training Centre (JSASTC) on the 25 June 2001 not really sure what to expect. That morning we learned the basics of sailing and safety at sea and also collected our 'Gucci' gear and our rations. We then went to look at our home for the week and to AT 'Ethel' Peak's dismay there was not enough room for her last make-up bag. We got settled in and met our Skipper Sgt 'Boggy' Marsh from the REME and we were soon on our way. We sailed most of the afternoon learning the basics. Eventually we moored up at Cowes on the Isle of Wight and enjoyed a wonderful meal cooked by AT Heydon and AT Summerfield. The JSASTC clerk had already chatted up AT 'Sweetie' Summerfield. That night we went ashore for a well-deserved coke before returning to the boat exhausted.

The Day 2 started bright and early and we all awoke to a nice brew made by Capt 'Doc' Farrimond. The days' sailing was quite hard but the weather compensated for that and we managed to get a quick sly bit of sun bathing in. That night we stopped in Yarmouth after coming through what we thought was a bad storm which we later found out was nothing compared to what was in store for us. This took us by surprise, as we had been sunbathing all day.

Day 3 started off well until we went to park up along the Hamble river and Capt 'Doc' Farrimond realised that he needed a bit of remedial parking. After a few choice words with the harbour master we were soon on our way to our next destination Lymington. Lymington was a beautiful place and the sunshine made it all the better especially our tans. After a quick walk round the town quay we put the sails back up and headed for the channel on our way to Poole harbour. Suddenly we were in a Force 6. This was a very amusing part of the sailing trip because some people realised that they couldn't keep their food down. AT Holding was the first to start blowing chunks. Capt 'Doc' Farrimond living up to the name was looking after him, but he soon realised that he was not immune to it either and started hurling himself. The next to chuck was AT 'Hang on for Dear Life' McLaughin but the rest of us went to lunch. After several attempts we managed to attach a line to the buoy. It was then while we were taking the sail down we realised the halyard was still at the top of the mast and the sail was at the bottom. This meant someone was going to have to climb the mast and AT Summerfield was the man for the job. After a spot of lunch we pulled up in the marina at Cowes to start the long haul to the top of the mast. This was really hard work for everyone and we were all glad when it was over. We were then allowed 30 minutes ashore but some of us were gone for a little bit longer due to navigational problems in finding the boat. We then left Cowes and made our way to meet our hardest challenge yet, the Beaulieu River. This was basically a zig-zag river where we had to constantly change direction. This is known in sailing terms as tacking. After a few minor hitches we were soon at the end of the river and getting ready to moor up for the night. We spent the evening relaxing and AT Holding kept us amused by showing us his fishing techniques or lack of as the case may be.

The last day was quite a quiet day and we started the day with a gentle sail back down the Beaulieu River. It was not as difficult this time as the wind was on our side. We sailed out into the channel and decided to anchor up for lunch. Once we had finished lunch we had a quick lesson on the art on navigation and bearings. We then sailed back to Gosport and stopped in Portsmouth on the way for a quick drink ashore to say thank you to the 'skipper'. Once into port we had the dreaded job of cleaning the boat. After a number of hours working on the boat we caught the ferry into Portsmouth and went for a nice Chinese meal. This was after a lot of red faces and burning tongues. We slept our final night on the boat before heading back to camp the next day with the British Lions on the radio keeping us awake. All of us who attended the course received our competent crew certificates and all of would definitely sail again. It was a successful week and not a wasted half term.

EXTERNAL LEADERSHIP WEEK - by AT O'Neil

I really enjoyed EL because it was great to have a chilled out week and to get the chance to take part in different activities. The first part of the week we spent in North Wales. During our time there we camped out and did hill walking. I thought climbing Mount Snowdon was a fantastic experience. I found the climb all right, although it was quite challenging at some points, but it was worth it when we made it to the top. The view from the top was amazing. The last part of the week was spent at Sennybridge. During our stay in South Wales we did kayaking and rock climbing. The best activity was the skit night were we got a chance to take the mick out of our troop staff, which was very amusing and I was pleased when Section 4 has finally won something. On the last day we went to a theme part called Oakwood Park, which was good too. Overall I thought the week was very good.

HELP OUT DAY AT RAVENSWOOD - by AT Heardly

My first thoughts about visiting Ravenswood were not much, I thought it was going to be one big building full of seriously ill people, but when we arrived I was surprised to see such a big, open place. I enjoyed working on the garden and painting the fences with other AT's but I enjoyed talking to the handicapped people and taking care of them most. It gave me some self-satisfaction knowing that I was helping someone less fortunate than me. The whole day was a success in my eyes and I think everybody else felt the same. I'm glad I went, because the whole day let me experience different things both physically and mentally. It changed my views on a lot of things and made me realise that I'm fortunate being able to do just the everyday things as well as being fortunate enough to be able to join the British Army. I wouldn't say 'No' if the opportunity arose again to help that centre or any other and I hope Scott Troop can help again in the near future.

RAVENSWOOD HOME - by AT McEwan

When we got there everyone was in good spirit and keen to get started. Our Troop was split into a number of groups and my group were taken to this small bungalow to do some work in the garden. The helpers who worked at this particular house were really helpful and easy to talk to. They were very reassuring as they told us a little about everyone who lived in the house so this made me feel more at ease. My job was to paint a fence whilst the others were digging flowerbeds around the perimeter of the garden. I really enjoyed myself throughout the whole day because the staff was having a laugh with us and everyone was putting in so much effort to get the jobs finished. It felt great when we saw our finished result at the end of the day and the staff thanked us. They seemed really pleased with what we had done. The residents were really cheerful and excited to see us all and this made me feel important. It was great to see all their faces at the very end of the day when the water fountain had been completed. They had faces of delight and it made the whole day worthwhile.

C COMPANY - ALL CHANGE

Modernisation has occurred, the College has updated and streamlined itself - we have been reformatted. What was 263 (Harrogate) Signal Squadron is now C Company. Although the name has changed and some personalities have swapped companys, the Corps presence remains as strong as ever headed up by Maj Mel Raynor with the assistance of WO2 (CSM) John Hogan. Life within the College remains busy with the doors opening wider and numbers of ATs entering the College increasing steadily. The new format for the College enables the ATs to receive training from a variety of cap badges within the one training team, allowing the ATs the experience of different arms of the service. It also has the positive side of enabling the instructors to work closely with other arms, improving their own instructing skills and knowledge base. The changes took place formally on 10 September 2001 and already the signs are showing it to be a success with the R Signals instructors proving themselves to be of the highest calibre and good ambassadors for the Corps. Within the Corps family at the College we say farewell and best wishes to Capt David Farrimand who escapes to 'CIVDIV' and Sgt Mandy Korcheal who departs on promotion to 15 Signal Regiment. On the hello side of the coin, welcome to Capt John Mayne and Cpl Davis who have quickly established themselves in the training teams enjoying the pleasures of Arborfield and Reading. It has been requested that I inform you that Capt Liz Warhurst is still at Arborfield flying the flag for the Royal Corps of Signals.

EXERCISE DRAGON LONG HAUL - 30 JULY - 3 AUGUST 2001
by Sgt M. Wright

Ex Dragon Long Haul was an Area Systems Group adventure training/walking exercise for four days along the South West Coast path in Devon and Dorset, staying at Wyke Regis tented camp, Weymouth.

Day One the group, that comprised of four instructors from Battleaxe troop, eight soldiers awaiting trade training and our driver LCpl Chubbs (Elvis) Clarridge departed Blandford camp nice and early to the five star luxury tented camp just outside Weymouth. That proved to be a good location in the middle of the holiday season where much socialising with the locals and many tourists was attempted. Once we had acquired our camp beds for the four man tents it was on with the walking boots for our first walk from Weymouth to West Bay. The weather for the four days was hot, damn hot, which was ideal for a good squaddie suntan but not so good for tabbing up and down hills all day every day.

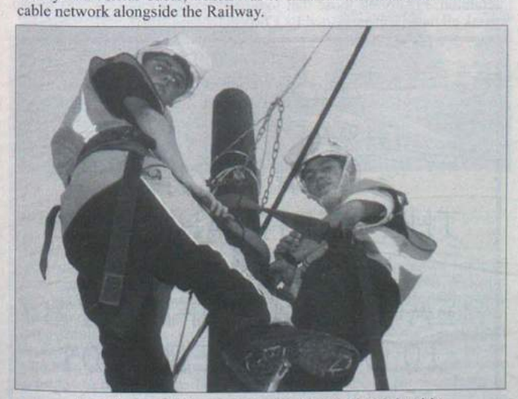
Day Two and a few of the walkers were looking tired (was it the previous day's walk or the previous nights activities?) but we were soon in the mini bus and off to the start point at Kimmeridge bay. It wasn't long into the walk before we could see the undulations of the coastal path that lay ahead of us. It was at this point that a couple of the walkers fronted by SSgt Mark 'Doughnut' Barrass started giving the organiser Sgt Max 'Mountain Goat' Wright a bit of a hard time about the brisk pace of the walk. All was resolved over a swig of water and a sausage roll over looking the stunning south coast scenery and it was soon packs on again, Phew. The route today would take us through Lulworth ranges (that were closed at the time) and stopping for lunch at the picturesque Lulworth cove. Whilst taking a well deserved lunch break a couple of the walkers supervised by Sgt Mark 'It would look better from a mini bus' Yuill decided it was a little too much to walk in one day and threw the towel in. A further four hours west and the walkers met back up with the mini bus crew at a stunning pub in Osmington Mills where a couple of well deserved 'shandies' were sunk.

Day Three was going to be another day of undulations from Budliegh Salterton to Beer but first we had to wait for our visitors to accompany us. As soon as the OC - Maj Grant Hume, the SSM - WO2 Neil Roome and the Troop Foreman - WO2 Steve Davis had found their way to our camp it was all in the mini busses again for the short 2-hour cabbie to the start point. That didn't seem to impress the OC much and it wasn't until later that I realised he had already been travelling for two hours already, oops. Soon into the walk it was easy to see who had the fresh legs as the OC, SSM and Foreman were up front trying to set the pace. Lunch was taken on the breezy sea front at Charmouth where yet again a couple of the lads were finding the going a little too arduous and took the easy option of the mini bus for the remainder of the journey. Then it was off again up hill for another hilly and scenic route to Beer. There were some doubts if the old stolwort SSgt Jim 'Are we nearly there yet' Barr would complete the rest of the week, or in fact the day, but he impressed with a steady, if a little slow at times pace to the end. Another days walk completed and a very well deserved beer in Beer was quaffed.

Day Four and all legs were now quite tired, but it was the last walking day and most of the undulations had been ironed out for the ridge-way walk from West Bextington to Osmington. Lunch was taken at the Hardy Monument and all walkers were more than pleased when we arrived at our final destination, a total of approximately 60 up and down miles over the four days. In summary an excellent week was had by all and has been good practice for next years walk along the great wall of China.

EXERCISE TOPHAM HATT 01.06
by Sgt Lougher Combat Support Troop

This Year's Ex Topham Hatt saw nine Class 3 Installation Technicians from Ulster Tp, 3 Sqn being deployed to Swanage Railway on one of the more challenging tasks seen in recent years. The Exercise, led by Sgt Lougher, included the installation of a telegraph pole route along with a twenty Pair Aerial Cable, which was to enhance the Telecommunications cable network alongside the Railway.



Sigs Kerr and Stephenson tension the aerial cable

The Exercise party travelled daily from Blandford Camp to the Norden Park and Ride Station, Sgt 'Lex' Lougher taking Driving advice from Sig 'Stevo' Stephenson who having recently passed his driving test and seemed to have become an expert over-night! We began with the unenviable task of digging the Telegraph pole holes, however, the group being constantly assured by Sig Dave 'Your alright mate' Kerr and Sig Mike 'Local Boy - I know a great place for lunch' Goddard seemed to keep every ones spirits high.

As the week progressed, some of our number started to get familiar with the locals, to mention one Sig Stu Neilands having a close encounter with the local bee population - one trip to the medical centre coming up. Through old fashioned hard graft, Sig Jeremy Ackrill's competent pole skills and Sig 'Welshboy' Long's cable stripping expertise, the task slowly neared completion. We were filmed and photographed in nearly every position and the exercise party now feel as if they are qualified to undertake in a modelling career; Sig Andy Cook being the best qualified for this role! With telegraph poles vertical and the cable suspended and tested, the exercise drew to a close. With Sig Thomas Veale and Sig 'Phil' Collins being welcomed to the local train-spotting fraternity; all that remained was to say a special thanks to WO1 (RSM) Frank Roberts and all at Swanage Railway for looking after us during our short time working on the 'Chain Gang'

SQUADRON CADRE SOUTH COAST WALK

The majority of the Sqn Cadre managed to escape the pressures of work for the afternoon of Wednesday 3 October and complete a short section of the Southern Coastal Path. The day was thankfully dry and the going easy, if a little windy. The short path we walked included the highest point along the entire route; Gold Cap at a massive 190m high. Cpl Bob Lovell struggled with the wind rushing through his hair but triumphantly reached the top (perhaps a high point in his career). After a challenging walk such as this the only true method of British Army team building was adopted: we went to the pub. Whilst consuming a pre ordered meal of excellent value (Capt Phil Connor had a whole duck!) and quenching our thirst without water, we agreed that morale sessions such as these were essential to maintain sanity within a hectic training environment. The day was improved considerably by Mr Norman Harrison of driver training who kept all amused throughout the evening with his own brand of flowing humour.

EXERCISE HARROGATE FOLLEY 5–7 OCTOBER 2001

Ex Harrogate Folly took place over the weekend 5–7 October. Under the watchful eyes of the Squadron Cadre and assistance from the Tech Upgraders the Squadron burst onto that well-known training area of Blandford Camp. Following a period of weapons and harbour drills instruction the sections were deployed to the Sergeants Mess woods to begin the exercise in earnest and to put into practice what had been revised earlier in the evening. Saturday morning brought changeable weather as the sections patrolled out and up to the range to begin the round robin phase of the exercise. This consisted of a Pistol stand, unarmed combat with LCpl 'Kung Fu' Reynolds (the man who claims to be a Chelsea fan but can't eat a kebab), a section attack stand with Cpl 'Gunnie' Smith and Combat Survival with Cpl 'Flanders chicken murderer' McBride. The Pistol Stand entailed teaching the students to fire the 9mm pistol in preparation for firing in the afternoon. Amazingly all managed to pass their WHT first time! Concurrently LCpl 'Hong Kong Fuey' Reynolds demonstrated and practiced on various students just how easy it is to disarm, maim, injure, and generally beat people up. The Combat survival stand proved to be a great favourite with the obligatory sacrificial chickens and rabbits. The sections then set about producing fresh meat, with only a few green faces (the students that is). Cpl McBride also let out of the bag that the nettle tea everyone was enjoying so much was, in fact, PG Tips! Cpl 'Gunnie' Smith's (Of the Green Howards) stand deserves a special mention. Following an Infantry style brief and under his expert eye, the troops took it in turns to 'bunker bust' up the hill, giving the students the opportunity to practice their war cries, some proving to be more effective than others. The afternoon brought a different tack even though the majority was firing the pistol for the first time of their military career. Groupings were varied, some were 'James Bond' like whilst others were more akin to a blunderbuss grouping! That night, encouraged by a very relieved score for England, the Troops moved back to occupy the harbour areas and get set for the night exercise. This involved a Close Target Recce and basic patrolling out to an enemy location; all skills practiced through the day were used to good effect and proved to be quite successful. However, thanks to careful siting of trip wires and booby traps nearly every section was rumbled on the objective.... resulting in a lot of startled bunnies and rapid exits!

Following a busy and wet night the sections regrouped at the Go-Kart track for a well planned March and Shoot competition (Actually due to the range availability this was a 'Shoot and March event!'). Controlled by WO1 Chris Naylor, the assembled throng learnt their fate and set off section by section. The ranges were followed by various other technical stands finishing up with that well-known military activity of combat Go-Karting. Fortunately the weather held off long enough for five of the six sections to compete on the track but by lunch-time the heavens opened producing a downpour of torrential rain bringing a halt to the activities. This concluded a most successful and clearly enjoyable weekend exercise.

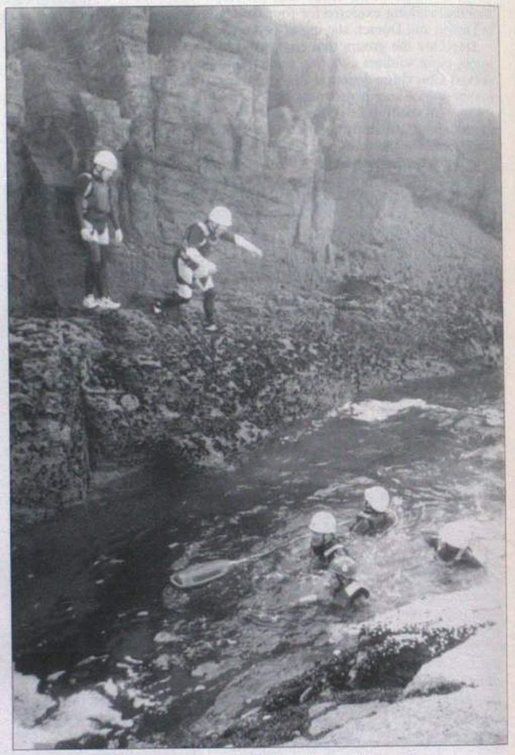
EXERCISE CORNISH DRAGON 2001

by WO2 (QMSI) R. C. Whitaker

Way back near the beginning of the year I was tasked to organise a Regimental Adventure Training exercise for 11 Sig Regt permanent staff. Having recently been on a climbing weekend to Penhale in Cornwall I decided that this was probably the best option for an exercise of this type due to it only being a 3 hour drive away and also the fact that the UK equivalent of IBIZA is located five miles away – namely Newquay. After the normal planning and clearance being granted we were due to conduct the exercise in early May, however due to the foot and mouth disease outbreak we had to cancel as we would not even be allowed to conduct a recce to the area. After this bombshell I quickly got in contact with Adv Trg Group (Germany) and booked a 10-day package at one of the lodges located in Wertach, Bavaria. Again the Regt gave full support and quite a lot of funding to the exercise and funnily enough all 40 places were filled. Approximately a month before departure foot and mouth disease forced us to cancel this exercise also. At this stage it was looking grim as to whether or not we would actually get any adventure training at all, fortunately enough we received a signal informing us that Cornwall had reopened for adventure training, so yet again the wheels were put in motion and bookings made for the middle two weeks of September at Penhale Training Camp.

Ex Cornish Dragon 2001 was designed primarily to give members of 11 Sig Regt cadre a break from the normal camp routine and exposure to adventurous activities. The activities included Coastal Path Walking, Rock Climbing, Mountain Biking and Coasteering. The activities followed a round robin format with all participants joining together to take part in the coasteering on the Thursday. The first package consisted of a mix of individuals from Bd Sp Sqn and 2 Sqn, it seemed at the time that 2 Sqn had closed down as most of their command element were in Penhale. After being split down into the various groups the local hostelries were sampled and much talk about the activities to come ensued. After a reasonably early wakeup and breakfast the groups headed for their various locations, with the climbers heading for Sennen Cove with Sgt 'Si' Mcallister, the bikers heading for the camel trail in Wadebridge and the walkers heading off for a 12 mile section of the coastal path with the QMSI and Cpl Douglas. The walking group set out at a steady pace taking in the fantastic views across the Atlantic. At the first refreshment break it was mentioned that we would be meeting the climbers in a Pub in Sennen for our pick up, subsequently the pace was increased substantially to a pace that would make pre para look slow (well slower than normal Spike – in joke), this was fine for the members of the group that were carrying very little in way of equipment, however the duty sherpa, Cpl Carty, 2 Sqn was carrying at least three flasks and various other items hence he did struggle a little, or was it the fact that he got stuck behind the group of old age pensioners and couldn't overtake for fear of knocking one of them into the sea. As the week went on the weather held out until the final day that was the coasteering day, as booked the sea was rough and the wind was high which made for a good days activities. When booking this activity the company was told that due to the nature of the individuals taking part it needed to be exciting especially as it was the last event of the week, they did not let us down.

Coasteering is a relatively new activity which consists of individuals donning wet suits, buoyancy aids and climbing helmets and navigating their way around a chosen part of the Cornish coast both in and out of the sea, once individuals have managed to extract themselves out of the sea and up cliff edges to a suitable height, the norm is them to plunge back into the freezing depths and then swim on to the next part. This activity was outstanding and addressed all the aims of adventure training, primarily fear management, the sight of 13 soldiers bobbing up and down in a 6ft swell 10ft away from where waves are crashing in is certainly fearsome, combined with this the amount of swimming both with and against the tide certainly tested participants determination, fitness and swimming ability. Coasteering certainly put those taking part in situations that they were not comfortable with particularly when jumping from a 30ft cliff into a 6ft swell; it was just what was required and all individuals taking part should be congratulated on the effort and determination shown. Fortunately no injuries were sustained and everyone made it back in one piece still on a high from the adrenaline that had been rushing through their system – it was a good way to finish the week.



Sgt Tapcey (aged 48!) 4 Sqn – Deep Water Entry

The second week followed the same template as the first but with slightly less participants taking part, again finishing the week on a high after the coasteering that was done in glorious sunshine but was equally exciting. As the organiser of the exercise I was glad to finish without any serious injuries to those taking part, the only two injuries being sustained were by instructors being caught slightly off balance whilst mountain biking.

All in all the two packages achieved the aims that were set out to be achieved, which were to get people away from the normal routine and provide reasonably challenging activities. Even though this was a relatively low-key exercise those that took part overcame the various challenges set. It is a true fact that individuals can be seen in a different light when taken out of their comfort zone, for these reasons adventure training is an invaluable tool as well as having a positive effect on retention. Finally all those that took part in the exercise would like to thank all those that supported Ex Cornish Dragon 2001.

AGRICOLA 6 - THE TOUR CONTINUES - by Lt Karen Moore

The pace of life out here is fast as you can expect but everyone seems to be happy that they're kept busy. The RnR plot seemed to end as soon as it had begun but many a smiling face can be seen in civilian clothes on the morning of their flight, conversely, many a dour face can be seen on return.

RSM Dean Ewing practices his disguise for Op Mutley

We've had a few personality changes and VIP visits a plenty to prepare for, including GOC 1 UK Armd Div and the Master of Signals (more about these later). We've also had a commitment to train the Kosovo Protection Corps, a two-week package where they were taught by Squadron personalities about basic communications skills. So, we've been far from quiet, with just over a month to push till our end of tour you might think we're on wind down, no such luck. There's still time to fit in a couple of HQ deployments and a Board of Officers. Roll on Christmas!

The OC gets some driver training

ROVER TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Karen Moore
Tp SSgt SSgt Eddie Corcoran

Firstly, welcomes to SSgt 'Eddie' Corcoran who joins us from 20 Bde, unlike his namesake, no-one has heard him singing yet! Welcome also to LCpl 'Jay' Preston from 7 Sig Regt and Sig 'Whilf' Miller from the factory. Goodbyes go to SSgt 'Andy' Buckle, Julie and the kids who have finally gone to 1 (UK) ADSR after a long wait. The HQ has deployed a number of times, mainly on Troop level deployments, anyone who hasn't seen it yet can book through Lt Moore (although numbers are expected to be minimal). The most recent set-up being for the Master of Signals who visited the Squadron between 17-19 September. The first night he joined us for a Squadron BBQ and took time to speak with most of the Squadron. The following day he visited the various departments and received a brief on their 'in Theatre' role. Having been introduced to Rover Troop we went for tea and biscuits. Unfortunately, there were none of the Master's favourite chocolate bourbons left due to Cpl 'Jim Bourbon' O'Mahony being stood too close to the biscuit table. The Troop hot-footed it out onto the area to set up the HQ, soon after he left,. The Master visited us again the next morning to see us in action and following a fantastic lunch in the field he departed. We hope he enjoyed his visit as much as we did.

We've also done a fair amount of Civil Military Ops work giving out aid to the needy. Before we deployed, a collection of clothes and toys was held. Families from the Squadron emptied their attics and cellars and together managed to collect 500+kg of paraphernalia and transported it all to Pristina - Kosovo. On Saturday 14 July, members the Troop assisted in the sorting of all the clothes etc. to be distributed.

The CMO Sorting Team at work

Organisations that have benefited from the donations by the families include: Health Education TB Project, Minority Families, a de-institutionalisation facility for children in the nearby village of Laplje Selo, Shtime Hospital and the Abandoned Infants and Babies Charity.

Lt Moore shares some food with a child from the deinstitutionalisation facility

In addition, the Squadron has also assisted the YU Community Project in Pristina and a local school in Donje Branica.

Sig Roy Castles with an appreciative pupil from Livragone School

Although the collection has now been distributed, the work hasn't stopped. Ongoing projects include assistance to a Primary School in Livragone village that our predecessors, 19 Mech Bde and other Signals units, will be pleased to hear is now fully refurbished. The beneficiary organisations have been very grateful indeed for the assistance they have received and the troops have enjoyed doing something different.

The OC, Maj Mark Roberts, at the opening of Livragone School

As if that wasn't enough we were also tasked with training the Kosovo Protection Corps, well, the YofS 'Jase' Phillips was tasked, who in turn tasked Sgt 'Gaz' Dixon, who in turn tasked Cpls 'Daz' Margle and 'Ollie' Olver. Eventually a two-week training package was devised and through an interpreter the Team finally got their message across, although something was definitely lost in the translation of frequency, velocity and wavelength! Practical mast erecting and antennas went down a treat as did the end of course photo, which we still haven't seen due to the lost in cyber space computer wizardry of Ollie!

THE SYSCON/RATS/NCC BIT

This bit of HQ Troop is understandably a little confused. The name has changed three times but the job has stayed the same. First we were NCC (Network Control Centre), next we were Regional Application Theatre Systems (conveniently RATS) and finally we've settled on Syscon (Systems Control and the same as our last tour!) The job itself is large for a team of 20 and is essentially the provision of IT for MNB (C). This comes in several forms including the OATIS (Op Agricola Theatre Information System) WAN, the internet system both business and welfare, standalone Networks and PC's and of course the beloved General IT enquiries. Syscon IC, SSgt 'crossed water pistols' McKenzie is currently drowning his sorrows on discovering that LCpl 'Rosco' Ross is soon to be posted. Postings seem to be a virus at the moment and we will say our goodbyes to LCpl 'L.A. looks' Jardine who is off to 19 Mech Bde, the Webmaster Cpl 'Stalker' Mortimer posted to JCUNI, LCpl 'Jesse' Jessop who is off home to Spain, never to return from Civ Div, and last but not least, Sig 'Jase' Knight who will generally harass 21 Sig Regt. Good luck to you all for the future.

ECHELON/SUPPORT TROOP

Tp Comd Maj Jon Duckworth
Tp SSgt SSgt Jim 'BFBS' Pritchard

Things in Support Troop have certainly been hotting up. The MT has been Mting the 206 B Vehicles that we hold in Theatre. The LAD have been inspecting and repairing the aforementioned 206 B Vehicles plus the Armour. The chefs have been kept hugely busy with their successful 'Theme Nights' organised by the Master Chef, SSgt 'Taff' Rowlands, they've raised money which will be used to buy books, pens and pencils for the school in Livragone. One of their most successful events was the 'Celebrity Chefs Day'. The normal chefs were given a day off (ok, I exaggerate, 3/4 of a day) and disappeared to Camp Bond Steel and in walked Celebrity Chefs. Apparently, the bacon cooked by the Quartermaster was the best yet and the RSM's porridge was unsurpassable. Thanks to all who assisted in the chefing for giving up their own time to allow the chefs some down time. Last week the Unit was subject to an LSI and this week has been Board of Officers in preparation for our return. There has, however, been some time for members of the Troop to participate in a number of sporting activities: SSgt 'Jim' Pritchard won the 'pole smoking' with no competition from anyone else, Sgt 'Poodle' Lister is his nearest contender and is in training at the moment doing plenty Egyptian PT. LCpl 'Kate' Hopkinson's volleyball team 'Kate's Kittens' are also doing well in the inter-troop competition.

Since the last edition of The WIRE the Regimental programme has been packed with visits, sporting competitions, the CO's Cup Competition and various exercises, including one for the wives. CO'S CUP SHOOTING COMPETITION
30 AUGUST 2001

The CO's Cup shooting competition took place at Ballykinler Training Centre on 30 August 2001. The first team away was HQ Sqn followed by 225 Sig Sqn, and bringing up the rear was 233 Sig Sqn. 225 Sig Sqn began the morning with a fire team assessment, a 500m run in three minutes with all males carrying 25lbs and females carrying 20lbs, helmet and Combat Body Armour. A two-minute interval was given to the teams prior to firing to organise the two fire teams in an advance to contact formation from the 350m point. 233 Sig Sqn won this part of the competition followed closely by 225 Sig Sqn and then HQ Sqn. Next was the Advanced Pistol shoot and Anti Body Armour Shoot, 225 Sig Sqn proved themselves the more accurate shots with the 9mm Browning winning this event comfortably. Cpl Mark Warburton went some way to save face by shooting a figure 11 target in half as it turned, Clint Eastwood eat your heart out. The shotgun event was very close with HQ Sqn gaining top marks on 80- hits, 225 Sig Sqn with 79 and 233 Sig Sqn with 78. Team Leader SSgt Tony Dodds got himself into a big fluster, forgetting to release his safety catch 4 times, which made us all laugh…not. Cpl Rod 'Eagle Eye' Rouchy, not being put off by the rain in the slightest put in a very credible shoot matched only by team member Capt Paul 'Swift Arm, Dirty Harry' Griffiths. Then came a moving target shoot, again scoring quite close, with 233 Sig Sqn winning and the other two Squadrons coming joint second. The Commanding Officer presented medals to all of the members of the competing teams (The Regimental PRI must be bursting at the seams). The gold medals were presented to 225 Sig Sqn, with Silver and Bronze going to 233 Sig Sqn and HQ Sqn respectively. The trophy was presented to and gratefully received by the youngest team member, Cpl 'Olly' Gray. It was promptly buffed up and replaced for the third year running back in 225 Sig Sqn's bulging trophy cabinet. Better luck next year 233! The winning team consisted of Capt Griffiths, SSgt Dodds, Cpl Gray, Cpl Haywood, Cpl Rouchy, Cpl Senior, Cpl Warburton and LCpl McPhee.

CO'S REGIMENTAL FOOTBALL COMPETITION
13 SEPTEMBER 2001 - by Sgt Simpson

On a bright sunny afternoon the members of 15 Sig Regt gathered in Thiepval Barracks to contest the annual CO's cup football competition. The opening event saw 233 pitched against 225 Signal Sqn and a hard fought battle saw 225 take their one and only chance and scored from a corner straight into the squadron goal. Despite a late rally by 233, they could not break down the opposition's 11-man defence that was marshalled by a determined SSgt Dave Wilson.

The second match saw HQ Sqn play 225 Sig Sqn. In a one sided affair, a confident 225 dominated the match, scoring two goals in each half. Sgt Steve Anderson's elderly HQ Sqn team began to suffer in the second half and only a vintage display by WO1 (RSM) McNaught in the heart of the HQ Sqn defence kept the scores respectable, the final result being a 4-0 victory to 225 Sig Sqn. The final match of the competition was the wooden spoon match between 233 and HQ Sqn. Well refereed by SSgt Lee Carsley and Sgt 'Buck' Rogers (AKA The teletubbies), 233 started to produce some excellent football, with SSgt 'Icky' Gratrick ruling the midfield and producing some excellent through balls for the squadrons striker SSgt 'Alex' Alexander High. Although he had plenty of chances to score, he chose the more difficult option of missing. Once the RSM had been substituted (after five minutes), 233 stepped up a gear, much to the delight of a large travelling support from the squadron. At half time the 0-0 scoreline flattered HQ Sqn, a few choice words from Sgt 'Harry' Harris and 233 came out all guns blazing, and scored an excellent goal mid way through the second half. This inspired WO2 (SSM) Steele to begin HQ's fight back, and the midfield tussle between him and SSgt 'Icky' Gratrick proved to be one of the best of the competition.

A further goal for 233 put them 2-0 up and they began to sit back on their laurels. HQ Sqn quickly punished with a counter-attack that produced an excellent goal and inspired a period of sustained pressure that they hoped would produce the equaliser. However, the fight back was too late and with HQ Sqn now playing like the competition winners the final whistle was blown and once again had to settle for third place. The Regiment then retired to the hospitality of Sgt Mann's Peake Inn for the competition prize giving. The trophy was presented to 225 Sig Sqn as the competition winners. This victory for 225 Sig Sqn has stopped 233 from the predicted sporting white wash that the CO's cup competition was in danger of becoming. A special mention must go to Sgt 'Drew' Drewitt from HQ Sqn who spent the two matches running around and failed to touch the ball once.

THE BIG BREW UP - 20 SEPTEMBER 2001

On 20 September 2001, 225 Sig Sqn opened its doors to SSAFA for the annual 'Big Brew Up,' the order of the day 'to raise money for SSAFA by drinking tea.' The attending personnel were asked to pay £1 which would buy them a hot cup of tea or coffee, and a sticky bun. Our guests included SSAFA (NI) key personnel who were happy to escape from Belfast for the morning. At 1030hrs a photo call was held and all those attending were gathered together along with the Regt UWO Capt Dickson and WO1 (RSM) McNaught. This gathering was for a photograph for 'Soldier Magazine' (look out for that one); the RSM waits with baited breath for his inclusion in Soldier Magazine pouring tea. Although the money raised was not in the millions, the £150 that we did generate from the sale of tea and buns was greatly received by SSAFA, a fun-filled morning was had by most but the others had to go back to work… Thanks must go to WO2 (SSM) 'Buy a bun now' Thorne and Sgt 'It worked out in the end' Bolton who brought the whole thing together. WO2 (SSM) Thorne even put up some tents! (Oh yes he did…).

SOINC(A) VISIT 3-5 OCTOBER 2001

The SOinC (A) and Mrs L. Burton visited Northern Ireland for three days, this kept the RSM out of trouble in the weeks prior to the event as he wrote and re-wrote the visit programme numerous times. Fortunately the action packed visit programme went as smoothly as any programme does, with only minor alterations to timings on the day. This started with the arrival flight that landed ten minutes late. Met by the Adjt, Capt Katy Caie, and the RSM WO1 (RSM) McNaught, the programme started in earnest with the SOinC(A) receiving briefings from G6, and then visiting HQ Sqn and 233 Sig Sqn, the first day was then rounded off with a dinner at the CO's house.

Day Two brought a visit to both 218 and 203 Sig Sqns, thankfully the weather held off and with no leaves on the track or rain spots on the windshield, the Puma for the day, successfully 'taxied' the visitors from A to B. One part of this day included presenting the prizes at the 'Mercury Cup' March and Shoot organised by 203 Sig Sqn. It is therefore not surprising that they eventually won the day. It was however a very close call, both 208 and 203 Sig Sqn were tied prior to the March, but instead of the March acting as the decisive contest, it only complicated matters when both teams tied exactly on time – impossible I hear you say, but true. Therefore the result was decided in the Shoot and this is where 203 Sig Sqn clinched the prize, with 208 and 233 Sig Sqn taking second and third place respectively. More detail will not be covered, as I am sure 203 Sig Sqn can and will blow their own trumpet better than I can. To remain in theme, this day finished in the Lisburn Officers Mess with a Ladies Dinner Night; with pipers kindly provided by CO 40 Sig Regt (V).

With many a sore head, (though the SOinC(A) and the CO did not seem to suffer), the final day of the visit had the SOinC(A) visit 203 Sig Sqn, JCU (NI),321 EOD Sqn (RLC) and our own very special 225 Sig Sqn, and this time, not finished by a boozy evening but split by a lunch in the WO and Sgts Mess, hosted by the RSM. However, just so that the day did not end in an anticlimax, it ended very rapidly when it was realised that the SOinC(A)'s return flight was 45minutes earlier than expected. This time instead of helicopters the SOinC(A) with the Corps RSM in hot pursuit, 'flew' (without breaking any speed limits) to the airport with 20 minutes to spare. Well done to the drivers!

It was 3 October 2001 a Wednesday afternoon and I was sat at the Tx desk in the COMMCEN with LCpl 'Daz' Barrett. This was no ordinary afternoon the COMMCEN was spotless (not a paper shred in site). The time was 1430hrs and we were waiting for the SOinC(A), Brig Burton, to arrive. True to form he arrived on time at 1510hrs! Due to the size of his entourage it was doubtful that we would all be able to fit into our small COMMCEN, but somehow we all did with room to spare. SSgt Karen Ripley, Sgt Steve Anderson and Cpl 'Jeffers' Ford delivered well-rehearsed speeches. Then Cpl Ford skilfully showed the SOinC(A) around the COMMCEN given him a full brief on AMSCERPs and each of the positions. The SOinC(A) spoke to all the soldiers who had been chosen from a cast of thousands (well 20 anyway) on shift that day. The SOinC(A) showed a genuine interest in each soldier's thoughts and careers. Sig 'Chris' Newbold was given extra special attention due to him being a Radio Relay employed within a busy COMMCEN. Once it was time for the SOinC(A) to depart farewells were exchanged and he thanked all concerned for their time. Some of the newer soldiers were left with a better understanding that the hierarchy really does show a genuine interest in the careers, even at his level. Overall the visit went without mishap or crisis and we let out a sigh of relief. Can't wait until the next one. Honest!

Thanks must go to all those who had a part to play in the successful

SOinC(A) and Cpl 'Baz' Hopgood.'
…..and that Sir, is how you win at Solitaire.'

visit for both the SOinC (A) and Mrs Burton who both seemed to enjoy their stay. Mrs Carol Llewellyn must be given a Gold Star for not only hosting and catering for the visit in her home but for her intrepid deployment onto Ex Dragon's Recon the day after the SOinC(A) and Mrs Burton left.

EXERCISE DRAGON'S RECON 6-7 OCTOBER 2001
by Sgt Drewett

Around one of the many meeting tables that adorn 15 Sig Regt, a decision was made to allow the wives the chance of taking part in a weekend of activities to give them an idea of what their spouses got up to. The date was set and all that was needed was some willing volunteers to take up the challenge. After much shoulder sloping and dodging Capt Steve 'Big Cuffs' Dickson, WO2 (SSM) 'Huge Cuffs' Steel, SSgt 'Icky' Gratrick, Cpl Danny 'Lambchop' Pearson and myself were the chosen men. So, on one fine October morning around 9 o'clock we all gathered in anticipation for wives/spouses/partners and anyone else that looked lost. Nine ladies arrived for the weekend, and after the initial brief they loaded their clanking bergans onto the chariot that had been provided. A gentle and carefree journey to Ballykinler, which can only be understood properly if you sit in a cupboard and turn the light off while someone bangs on the door for an hour! Once they had changed into their husbands worst fitting combats the wives, whom we shall name and shame at the end, were taken to the 25m range to indulge in the art of turning live rounds into empty cases. At the same time as this activity was running, they also had a go on the shotguns courtesy of The Trappers Shotgun Club and an introduction to rations by Capt Steve 'Big Cuffs' Dickson himself. After they had completed the morning's periods they moved to the Troop shelter to engage in the long lost art of 'basha building', led superbly by WO2 (SSM) 'Huge Cuffs' Steel. Once they had learned how to make a hotel in the woods, we moved them to the Demolitions area for what can only be described as a teeth rattling presentation by 321 EOD RLC.

The time had come for the ladies to eat and drink and make their home, so off to the woods they went. After a short time and many profanities, they emerged all the better for getting some hot food and a brew. Just in time to go off and play hide and seek with 'big and huge cuffs'. Oh how we laughed, at the various states of cam and concealment that would have made most of the instructors' turn into jellies! The only thing left to do before it got too dark was to light some cylumes to show the now tired and hungry ladies how to find their bashas when night came. All too soon the dawn had arrived and it was a slightly less cheerful crowd that welcomed the instructors to begin the final day's fun and games. A morning of command tasks, search and observation lessons was greeted with the same enthusiasm as the ladies had shown the previous day. To round things off we let them move back to Lisburn in the minibus so they could see where they had been for the last 36 hours, (how nice we are).

So the ladies arrived back safely in The Peake Inn for a feast laid on by the Sandhurst Restaurant. All that remained was for the CO to present the certificates to those that had taken part, and of course for the husbands to be bored stiff with all the war stories that their wives had brought back with them. To all those that helped in the set-up and running of this weekend and the list is very long, but the beer call is coming so here goes, SSgt 'Pedro' O'Brien, Sgts Rog Bradley, 'Smudge' Smith, Micky Mann and Debbie (Pedros's Sidekick) McKinley, Cpl Danny 'Lambchop' Pearson, and of course the ladies: Tina Peel, Jackie Walsh, Jo Storm, Christy Robinson, Cindy Cathrew, Paula Carrington, Dawn Davies, Carol Llewellyn and last but not least Angela Rouchy. When the idea first came up, I thought it might be a 'jiff job' however, thanks to the support that we had setting up and running this adventure it was with out doubt one of the best laughs I have had in a long time. To all those that escaped being named, well done! To all those that helped many thanks, without your help and understanding weekends like this would go the way of the DoDo.

PORT TRAINING 5-7 SEPTEMBER 2001
by LCpl Jones

It was an early start on Wednesday, with everybody meeting at the armoury to collect the weapons. There was an air of uncertainty about what to expect from the PORT package with lots of different rumours flying around as what we would actually be doing. As we got to Magilligan Training Area we saw that the DS had already pre-booked the rain clouds. We had plenty of time to look around, get changed into CS95, and square our admin away. The block was adequate, apart from the showers that were obviously there just for show. Next we were briefed on the programme for the rest of the day and what was expected of us (mainly to hit the targets), before being split down into three sections. I was placed into 3 Section, with Cpl 'Stef' Crouchman as section commander. Looking around at the section I was quietly confident that we were in a strong position to do well. The rest of the day consisted of revision on WHT's and section battle drills. The day's programme finished with an interesting brief from the RUC's Regional Support Unit, who talked to us about their role and passed around some of the weaponry and equipment they use. This put some smiles on the tired faces of the lads as they got their hands on HK-G3 7.62, plus shot guns etc. After a long day the lads had just enough energy to make it to the NAAFI for a couple of quiet beers, while watching England beat Albania 2–0. WO1 (RSM) McNaught was not so happy with his team's performance (Scotland), and we hope it would not affect us on Day Two of the exercise.

Another early start on Thursday, with the day's events comprising of a 'round robin' on different ranges using a variety of weapon systems. All were points based with prizes for best shot, best section and of course worst shot. My section started with the moving target sanger shoot, an interesting shoot with not much being hit but we had a lot more success on the next range. On the N.I. Advanced Pistol Shoot, we scored well, despite our magazines being tampered with, (10 rounds instead of 12). The DS were harsh and did not award any extra points and feeling rather bitter we moved to the next range. On the MP5/Pistol shoot, two magazines were issued for each weapon and fired at speed from 25 metres. The whole section did well with Cpl Crouchman getting the highest score for the day with 65 out of 71. With the section feeling confident with themselves we moved to the Training village. As the stand was centred on my day-to-day job, I let the other lads get hands on with the kit and helped talk them through their skills and drills, this was a good chance for the lads to see some of the ECM equipment that the infantry carry. The final points shoot of the day was down at the IBSR, which was personally my favourite range. Different obstacles to tactically fire from, unfortunately due to a lack of time only half the section made it onto the range, but those of us who did scored well. That night we went back onto the IBSR in Platoon strength for a defensive night shoot. When the action started, there was lots of smoke, flash bangs and gunfire going on. It gave a small insight into the sheer chaos of a frontline battle, with section commanders finding it hard to keep control of their trigger-happy men.

Day 3, all that was left was the fire team assessment, falling plate competition and then clear all of the ranges. We were last to go on the two mile march and kept a good healthy pace for the first three quarters of the course, then brought it right down to a walk for the last quarter to lower our heart rates for the range section. Another good effort by the lads and we were more than happy with our scores. After cleaning all the training area, we jumped on our transport and headed back to camp. Just the exercise smoker and weapon cleaning to do then the weekend was ours. All the weapons were thick with carbon and took some heavy cleaning. At 1400hrs everybody met at the Peake Inn, for the prize giving. Cpl Crouchman just missed out on best shot, with one sections Cpl 'Deano' Rudd pipping him to the prize. But our section was clear winners in the best section competition and after collecting our medals we made a 'b-line' for the BBQ. I think most would agree that it was a worthwhile package and a lot was gained from it.

ECHO TROOP
Tp Comd WO2 (SSM) Nettleship
Tp SSgt SSgt (Supvr R) I R Piears

Welcome to LCpls Holden, Fenton, Hyder, Mountford, Murray and Thomas who are joining us straight from the factory. Congratulations to LCpl Holden who interpreted the no military kit in his hand luggage as don't bring any military kit at all! Welcomes are also extended to Cpl Patton, LCpl Stephenson and LCpl Hildreth. Sgt Steve Ayres is off to the Antarctic expedition with the Army for the next four months, surely there are easier ways to get out of work? Sgt Hopkins and Sgt Chambers have both successfully completed their Sergeants course. After a busy period over the marching season its time to say goodbye to our surge manpower, LCpl Millar and 4 RAF bods Cpl Anderson, Cpl Fleming, JT Casement and JT Gill. Thanks for all the work they put in during the brief time they were attached to the Squadron. We also say goodbye to JT Kennedy and LCpl Baker, Howard, Boyden and Walters. However, in a strange twist of fate the four happy Lance Corporals are all posted back onto permanent strength for two years after a few weeks off. Mind you it has to be asked how LCpl Baker got on a sailing expedition whilst on detachment. We also say goodbye and good luck to Cpls Bell, West and Price who have all gone to try their hand in civvy -street. Finally, a big goodbye to LCpl Drummond on posting and JT Bradley on promotion to Cpl - enjoy your time at JSSU (Oakley), and promotion also for Sgt Potton who is returning once more to his spiritual home of 14 Sig Regt (EW) to enjoy the sun and warmth of Haverfordwest.

Tp SSgt SSgt D. P. Wilson

The workshops have gone through such a change in the last few months that it is easier to name just the bodies here. SSgt Dave Wilson, SSgt (FofS) Phil Leach, Sgts Dave Kilgallon, Ryan Lang, Dave Street (newly arrived), and the real workers… Cpls 'Bony' Bond, Lee Punyer, Marc Beckett, Matt Barmby, Ollie Gray, Paul Caffrey, Joe Senior (newly arrived), Ian Welsh and Debs Whatmough. The IT section have been working hard with two people away on their IS Op Foundation course leaving SSgt Iain Frame, Cpls 'Caz' Carrington and 'Robbo' Roberts to fill the gaps. Good Luck to Sgt 'Spike' Milligan at his new post in Balado Bridge and Cpl 'Boz' Litster who departs on his Class One. Troop members have been representing the Squadron in various events and have helped us to win the recent CO's Cup Shooting comp and football tournament. Golf Troop also provided a lot of manpower for the recent PORT package run by the Regiment. Hello to everyone here and farewell to the people who have just left us…the work carries on.

Welcomes are extended this month to the new WO2 (RQMS) 'Boss' Hogg from 1 (UK) ADSR and Cpl Sally Brown from HQ BFFI. Goodbye to WO2 (RQMS) Andy Hartley who has gone to take control of the Training Wing at 14 Sig Regt (EW) and Sgt Vicky Dumbell who is off to civvy street to get married and have a baby! The Troop outing this month to Ballykinler for paint-balling was a chance for everyone to 'Get their own back' on the senior ranks within the Squadron, with the 2IC, Capt Griffiths and WO2 (RQMS) Andy Hartley firmly in everyone's sights. However, that morning everybody got some with many daring charges, always resulting in a vicious volley of fire, the best/most outrageous charges coming from Cpl Sally 'Target' Brown, Sig 'Gunga' Din James and SSgt Martin 'Don't hit me it hurts' Morris. Even those who believe they are proficient paintballs such as Cpl 'Sniper' Deas, LCpls 'Cannon Fodder' Blundell and 'Trigger Happy' McCrone all getting as good as they gave. Mentions this month go to Capt 'Chaos' Kennedy for his forgetful nature when returning to the mainland, SSgt 'Sideswipe' Morris for all the work he gave the vehicle body shop recently and congratulations to LCpl Karina Kendall for coming off the Corporals Promotion Board.

MCKELVIE CUP FOOTBALL COMPETITION

The McKelvie Cup football was held on 7 September 2001 with TM Tp looking to retain the trophy after winning it the previous year. The first game was between TM Tp and India Tp. After quite a tight game, TM Tp came out on top 2-0, with a goal from Cpl 'Jay' Lowe sealing the victory. The second match was NCC and Romeo Tp. This game was a thoroughly entertaining affair. The game ended with the spoils sharing in a 2-2 draw. Romeo Tp were straight back on to play against India Tp. They won this game hands down by 3 goals to 0, Romeo deserved to win and picked up all three points to add to their earlier draw. NCC then came up against TM Tp but lost 2-0. In the showdown between the two non-scoring teams, NCC beat India Tp 4-2 in a high scoring game. In the final game, it was winner take all. With Romeo on four points, and TM on six, the winner of this match won the competition. It was TM Troop's nerve that held out, and with a penalty scored by Cpl 'Chris' Renshaw, TM won the game by 2-0.

MCKELVIE CUP RUGBY COMPETITION

The McKelvie Cup Rugby was held on 21 September 2001 with NCC organising the event. It was a Rugby 7s Competition run by LCpl 'Who kicked me?' Latham. For once NCC had enough players to field a squad of ten but that soon diminished to nine when the event organiser was injured in the first match resulting in a broken ankle. The highlight of the game was WO2 'You can't sub me' Carley ran the full length of the pitch to pull off a match saving tackle. His grandkids will hear about that one! Romeo Tp beat NCC Tp convincingly but was beaten by TM Tp. Throughout the TM Tp against NCC Tp, WO2 'WWF' Hubble decided that one of the players didn't really require his head anymore and tried to remove it from his shoulders. He was punished with ten of his best press-ups! Another injury followed, this time to a Romeo Tp member Cpl Crouchman. He limped off the pitch having torn the ligaments in his ankle. We all had a very entertaining day it's a shame about the injuries and the disqualification. The end result was 1st TM Tp, 2nd NCC, 3rd India Tp and 4th Romeo Tp. Our thanks go to our illustrious organiser and may he recover quickly.

The last few months have seen the arrival of just one member to the Troop, LCpl 'Pete' Tonge, straight out of the factory and the departure of LCpl Alford who has moved across to RHQ. We welcome back Cpl 'Nick' Jenkins on successfully completing his class one upgrading course at Blandford and Sgts 'Taff' Hamblin and 'Loggy' Wright after finishing their Sergeants course. A number of the Troop attended the recent Squadron PORT Package and the majority of the Troop will be attending the Cross Training exercise due to take place shortly. Cpl 'Dean' Rudd did his bit for charity by completing the MAXTREX challenge, an endurance mountain walk which required him to ascend and descend Slieve Donard, Co. Down, 10.5 times in 36 hours which is equivalent to scaling Mount Everest from sea level and back down. He managed to raise £600 for the charities, Cystic Fibrosis Trust and RETTs Syndrome. Well done. SSgt 'Steve' Bartleet organised yet another Troop social event, this time for the families, a good time was had by all, especially the children like Cpl Brown and LCpls Boyd and Feldman who couldn't be kept off the bouncy castle.

his IS Foundation course and then on to 3 Div as a Staff Sergeant - 3 Div be aware he hasn't bought his promotion drinks yet! Cpl Justin Medcraft leaves on promotion to Blandford; we wish him and his wife Sarah all the best. Data Entry would like to say goodbye to Sig Steve Lawrie who has gone to 280 Sig Sqn. Events of late were the Troop Barbecue that after a few postponements finally went ahead and was a huge success. Everybody took advantage of the 'Bouncy Boxing'. The OC, Capt Tim Grey decided to take on his entire Troop…and lost (funny old thing)!

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

Tp Comd Lt E. L. McLellan
Tp SSgt SSgt P. Mitchell

Hello's go out to all our recent arrivals; Sig Adam Holly from Cyprus, SSgt Pam Mitchell from Aldershot and LCpls Steve Adamson and Scott Deas who have both arrived fresh from the factory. We bid our farewells to SSgt Sean Alexander-High, who has volunteered his services in the Squadron Training Wing and Cpl Lee 'Ladyboy' Khair, who has been posted to 264(SAS) Sig Sqn Tech Workshops. SSgt Dave Mudway has moved about 150 yards away to the G6 corridor of power. Sgt Fred Farnfield has been posted to Blandford on his Foreman's course and last and by every means least, Cpl Chris 'Dogboy' Holt and Sgt Phil 'Dolly' Parton, who both left us for Civvy Street. Good luck to one and all. Congratulations go to SSgt's Nick Goodwin and Pam Mitchell on their recent promotions and to Cpl Al Walsh for finally becoming the technician that he always wanted to be (albeit an Installations Technician). Congratulations also go out to Cpl Richie Hill on the arrival of his daughter Sophie. Finally, Cpls Mick Lake, Mick Partridge and LCpl Hayden 'Farmer' Lawer represented the Regiment at the recent Corps Football 7's in Blandford and were unlucky to lose to 264(SAS) Sig Sqn in the semi-final. The thought of Cpl Lee 'Ladyboy' Khair in his cheerleader's outfit was obviously an unfair advantage for the 264 boys. Lt Liz McLellan (V) has successfully planned and organised the Troop's adventure training for Cpls Paul Harris and Danny Shovelton, LCpls George 'Posh' Lohse, Dave Rice, Dinger Bell, Stevie Hicklin, Shaun Stanham, Jamie Disley and Sig Kerry Stewart. They are away for three weeks canoeing in Ontario Canada and reports have it that they are having the time of their lives.

NETWORK CONTROL CENTRE TROOP

Tp Comd Capt A. Haresign
Tp SSgt Sgt S. Johnson

It started with 13 (the unlucky 13th member being Sig Gaz Hitchings). It went down to 12, then 11, and then 10. Anyway, we ended up with eight brave souls who decided money was no object and that jumping out of a perfectly good aeroplane from 3500ft was nothing to be afraid of. The eventful day arrived and we all jumped into the mini-bus, all that is apart from Cpl Danny 'I don't care about losing my deposit, I'm not going' Pearson, he didn't score the night before so sulked and stayed in bed. This, as it turned out, was a wise move on his part as the journey up to the Parachute Centre was scarier than the jump itself. The eight became seven. Upon arrival at The Services Parachute Centre (Northern Ireland), the intrepid adventurers started the lessons that would enable them not to kill themselves. These lessons did however put the fear of God into Sig Gaz 'Schumacher' Hitchings, who decided that the ground training was enough for him. The seven became six. It is worth mentioning at this point the effort Cpl Shaun 'I'm a Gymnast' Barton put into his para rolls leading to the parachute centre ordering new mats. Apparently the new method of doing this is to roll yourself into a ball and throw yourself onto the floor in the most painful way possible. The time came to do the deed. In the first lift was Capt Al 'Airborne' Haresign, WO2 (FofS) Paul 'Hulk' Hubble and Sgt Dave 'Who's bright idea was this?' Rimmer. Capt Al Haresign was the first to jump and there were no problems for the Airborne Warrior. WO2 (FofS) Paul Hubble was next. The last time he'd jumped was back in 1984, so to say he looked extremely nervous was a bit of an understatement, but he too earned his certificate. Last up was Sgt Dave Rimmer who fortunately had no-one left to see the look of horror on his face as he made his way to the door. The next three climbed on board and took the 5-minute trip to 3500 ft. First out was LCpl Merc 'free fall parachutist' Ainscough who encountered no problems as he had 17 jumps already behind him. Cpl Shaun Barton was next. Next! Next! Unfortunately he refused and he never heard the last of it all the way back to Lisburn. That only left LCpl Dave 'I only turned 21 yesterday' Phillips, who gained his wings but lost his feet on landing. So the final score was Jumpers 5 - Non Jumpers 3.

Footnote: Rumour has it the Cpl Barton made the journey back up to the Centre and jumped two days later but the evidence is yet to be seen.

THE LONGEST DAY - by SSgt Jon Heaton

In January this year whilst surfing the net I came across an article entitled 'Ironman for mere mortals'. The article explained that 'The Longest Day' competition was the only 'Ironman distance' triathlon run in the UK and consisted of a 2.4-mile lake swim, a 112-mile bike ride and then a full marathon. I'd done a few triathlons in my time and was always up for a challenge so once a doctor had confirmed my sanity as being reasonably stable I threw caution to the wind and posted the entry form. As many will know NI is not blessed with a favourable climate so many a bike and run session were conducted literally soaking up the local meteorological conditions. I was fortunate to have an excellent swimming pool within walking distance and being stationed on one of NI's larger camps meant I could get in a 2fi mile running loop before I had to retrace my tracks. I had raised money for Guide Dogs for the Blind in the past and thought this venture had to be exploited to raise some more funds. Members of Lisburn Garrison were very generous and as the pledges increased, so did my commitment to complete the event.

At 4 am on Sunday 19th August I was stirred from a deep sleep by the dulcet tones of my psion organiser; race day had at last dawned. After the heartiest breakfast I could stomach at that time in the morning we set off for the lake. On arrival there was time for a final bike check, a walkthrough of the route from the lake to the transition area and for breakfast to have the necessary effect on my bowels (if fear of the event was not sufficient). At exactly 6 o'clock the air horn went and we were off - three laps of a lake, a bike ride around most of Shropshire, and a 26-mile jaunt to finish - before returning for tea and medals before the cut-off time of 9:30 PM! The swim went well with good conditions prevailing and not too much rough stuff between competitors racing for the first buoy. On exiting the lake and entering transition the racing snakes ahead of me were already stripping straight out of their wet suits to mount their bikes in soaking wet one-piece 'tri-suits'. Not for me, I was sticking to my race plan – wet suit off, complete dry off, on with the comfortable bike gear, eat, drink and then worry about getting started on the bike leg.

Forty miles into the bike leg and things were going well, I was averaging a good rate of knots but then disaster – it was puncture time. I had gashed my rear tyre on some glass, but ten minutes later I was back on the road. Whilst changing the 'tube I had been amazed by the esprit-de-corps of the passing riders; all had slowed down to check I had the necessary gear to get my bike back on the road. Sadly, bad luck was to strike me again and about 25 miles later in a downpour of rain I picked up my second puncture. I had used my spare tube, so it was now down to my puncture repair kit to get me back on the road. It must have been quite a surreal scene to the bystander – it's Sunday morning and a fully grown man wearing strange lycra gear is standing in pouring rain on the edge of a major A road patching an inner-tube housed within his shirt to stop the rain getting to it. I didn't care, I managed to repair it and get back on the road without losing too much time.

After about another 2-hrs rain, the sun came out and I continued pedalling away watching the miles gradually click towards the magic figure of 112 on my speedo. From about 80 miles into the bike leg I was beginning to get sore and was desperate to get off the bike and start the run. As soon as I did get off the though, the last thing my legs wanted to do was to start running and a battle of wills ensued with my brain eventually winning after about two or three miles. Helped on by huge support from the crowds who had come to watch with football rattles and air horns I reached the halfway point in sub two hours and felt good. At about the16 mile point, however, I seemed to age to the geriatric era within about 100 metres and the next five miles were tough to say the least. However, the pain reduced and at almost 6:30 PM (12 hrs and 26 mins into the race) I crossed the finish line. I had managed to complete the event and managed to beat my target time by some margin. It was true, it had been a very long day, but the icing on the cake was to get back to where we were camping by 9:30 PM for the tea and medals we'd promised ourselves earlier in the day! Thanks to the generosity of the members of Lisburn Garrison over £650 has been raised for 'Guide Dogs'.

40th (ULSTER) SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

CO Lt Col R. J. Kelly
RSM WO1 (RSM) Keane

The Regiment welcomes WO1 (FofS) Bately from GCHQ Oakley and WO2 (YofS) Rouse from 222 Sig Sqn, 3 (UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt. At last Regimental Operations has the full compliment of regular personnel and can now begin to function as planned all along, although for how long remains to be seen. Welcome also to SSgt 'Tiffy' Stables who arrives to a comprehensive 'action' column from the recent ECI inspection. Enough to keep you busy 'Tiff'? Farewell to Maj Graham Leyland who leaves to reside in Blandford Forum once again, and to enjoy all that is CISM. Good luck Graham and thank you for all your efforts in the last two years. We should say welcome to Maj Mike Fraser-Brenchley (To be known as FB) who takes on the FTRS Trg Maj slot, once 'Glasgow' are back from leave and can catch up with their in-trays and process his application. Ex Coastal Eagle did not succumb to the restrictions of FMD and proved to be a highly rewarding Annual Camp. The Officer's Mess conducted two Regimental Dinner Nights and hosted a number of both military and local dignitaries. It has to be said that by far the best was the attendance of a pair of Dorset Constabulary Officers, who will remain nameless to protect the guilty.

85(ULSTER & ANTRIM ARTILLERY) SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS) AUGUST 2001

The Squadron recommenced training at the start of August after the summer stand down period with the now annual Foam Party. As usual it was a very successful evening. We had the obligatory Hawaiian shirts and skirts and the cross dressing hard core. Thankfully this year WO2(SSM) Eddie Hedley could tell the genders apart without resorting to physical checks. A big thank you to all members of the organising committee for the hard work and effort involved in organising the event. The focus is now on final preparations for the adventure training, which will take place in the Lake District. Scrambling and mountaineering are two activities already programmed.

2Lt Nicole Lamb and 2Lt Martin Mayo successfully completed TACC over the summer months. Having spent a year at Queen's University OTC preparing for their commissioning course, the two freshly faced subalterns have now taken up their troop commander posts. Congratulations and welcome to the Squadron. The real work begins! Welcome also to Lt Jeanette Wilson who joins us as the Sqn Ops Offr. Farewell to Lt Sam Burgess, who departs to become the Regimental Training Officer. Thanks for all your hard work as a Troop Commander (the only one the Squadron had for a long time). Keep Smiling Sam!

ANNUAL CAMP

Annual Camp, this year, was conducted at Chickerell Camp in Weymouth with the Squadron boasting a good turn out. Various trade and driver qualifications were carried out with most personnel managing to qualify for their next trade class or C+E driving licence. The Squadron is now well placed with qualified trades and drivers. Despite the rigorous camp routine, two members of the Squadron decided that annual camp was not demanding enough for them and headed off to Blandford instead. LCpl Alan Smith and LCpl Joanne Sanlon, attended and 'mercifully' passed RSCC. Congratulations to both of them. Of course annual camp was not all work and no play. Here are some of the daily news flashes from our camp hack.

Tug of 'tache: OC 85 hosts the first ever 'Weymouth moustache tugging contest' in Harry's Bar. Two girls at the bar refused to believe that his hairy upper lip was for real. However, after several tugs on the bush, its refusal to budge convinced the two drunken females that it wasn't an eyebrow down for a drink!

French Connection: Lt Sam Burgess impressed several French visitors in Harry's Bar with his knowledge of their native language. After repeating the lines, 'Where is the toilet?' 'Have you a room for the night?' and 'We are on holiday?' a few hundred times they were suitably convinced that he did indeed know the language – you can now turn to page two of the French phase book Sam! Regrettably English still creates insurmountable problems for him.

Weymouth Tiger: LCpl Fred Amos had a run-in with a Weymouth tigress and survived to tell the tale! Looking more than a touch dishevelled, he reported that he had eaten a Lion Bar and had no idea how he had got all those scratches as he struggled to get ready in time for parade. What was her name again?

It's raining men: Geri Halliwell called into Chickerell Camp to do her bit for the Regiment. The gorgeous Geri (aka LCpl Neil Telford) accompanied by two fabulous dancers (aka LCpl Dave Gibney and LCpl Chris Montgomery) performed her hit single 'It's raining men' for the troops.

Novel Excuse Award: Given jointly to those members of the Squadron who had to carry out large withdrawals of cash from the bank in order to convince their nearest and dearest at home that their entire two weeks pay hadn't been spent on drinking and partying. For their own safety these individuals remain anonymous.

Squadron T-Shirt: For future designers of the Squadron T-Shirts: The design is supposed to be visible!

SUPPORT SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj M. Heaney
SSM WO2 (SSM) Johnston

The Squadron has recently undergone a change of command and welcomes Maj M. Heaney who replaces Maj T. Dick, who now languishes in Bangor. Maj Heaney, who recently arrived as QM found himself double hatted on this occasion. The Squadron deployed to Magilligan Camp in order to carry out various military skills training including APWT, NBC, CFT. The padre did his very best to upgrade the moral understanding of his flock but the blank faces and random bleating confirmed the worst. Members of the Squadron competed in the Individual Battle Shoot as part of the XL Trophy but could only manage a close second. The Squadron would like to extend a warm welcome to the newly arrived PSI Tech, SSgt K. Bremmner who takes over from the now Mr B. J. Finnister. Welcome also to LCpl Potts who takes on the role as COs driver. Farewell to Maj A. Hoensch who leaves for the vortex that is Blandford. Good luck.

66 (CITY OF BELFAST) SIGNAL SQUADRON SUMMER ADVENTURE TRAINING

The Squadron Summer Adventure training was held in Colreine over the period 17–19 August 2001. The activities consisted of canoeing, run by SSgt 'Fat Boy Slim' McClean, body boarding by Sgt 'Tommy' McArdle, mountain biking by Sgt 'Bald Eagle' Collins and finally climbing and abseiling by the SSM, WO2 'Action Man' Fettus.

The mountain biking got off to a good start in that they all made it to the first location, well done Sgt 'Bald Eagle' Collins, a substantial improvement in your map reading! But reading seemed to be quite a problem for young Sig 'What's 2.2' DONK' Blair? It means you can't stand up while trying to cycle under it, Donut! Young Sig 'Willy' Kennedy must have been in secret training for the Tour de Portrush, as most of the day he had the yellow jersey and was seen waiting for the others to catch up. All the new members of the 'walk like John Wayne' club are to be in their saddles ready to mossy around the JRC with the PMC and his saddles sores! Sig 'QCP's' Hawe was also in practice with his wet suit at the body boarding, in that he changed dress four times before it was eventually put on inside out and back to front. Sgt 'Tommy' McArdle was unable to show everyone how to body board as there was not even a ripple at the beach. Better luck next time 'Tommy'.

Canoeing took more of a Naturalist approach, as they tried to Free Willy, that is Sig 'Willy' Kennedy and LCpl 'Willy' Morrison, who were quite content to be held captive by their canoes. The abseiling had its fair share of 'ups and downs' some faster than others. Poor Cpl 'Suzanne' Small looked like she had had lunch with Hannibal Lecter, with the amount of skin she lost on the climb up. LCpl 'Travolta' Hanna has taken to the world of marketing with her woolly T-shirts from 'FCUK' well it sounded something like that. The Squadron has a new 'Arnie' in the figure of Sig 'Muscles' McDonald, who was quite proud of her new gained muscle mass after one climb! Sig 'Run Forest run' Tate was seen being pulled over by traffic branch for speeding on the promenade after being selected to go on a day trip to Portrush. However, Sig 'Muscles' McDonald was unable to put her new found strength to any great us after winning the 'Unable to run away' prize of the day trip in Portrush (another marketing ploy for 'FCUK'). LCpl 'Bud' Morrison and Sig 'Six Shooter' Blair saw the social side off with a bang, (Targets will fall when blocked). The Yoga classes are paying dividends as LCpl 'social hand grenade' Morrison didn't have any 'ND's' all night – well done Willy.

39 INFANTRY BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (213)

Maj Andy Knott smiles, knowing the pager will soon be on someone else's belt

Sqn Comd Maj D. Craft
RSM WO1 (RSM) S. M. Lockwood

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS

It is with a heavy heart this issue that we bid farewell to Maj Andy Knott who is leaving us after only a year in command to go to Staff College. We wish you well and thank you for your early finishes and extended bar hours. However, with farewells come hellos, and the Unit would like to welcome Maj David Craft in his capacity as OC Sqn, along with his wife Fran and his children Connor and Ellie. We hope your two years here will be very successful and enjoyable.

Congratulations to WO1 (RSM) Steve Lockwood who has been selected for commissioning. Well done for achieving this goal at such a young age. The port was absolutely delicious and has set the standard for other promotion news. Congratulations also to WO2 (YofS) Nick Wood and his wife Stephanie on their recent marriage. We hope you will have a prosperous future together and wish you every happiness. The SHQ element would like to say farewell to LCpl Zander Gardener, who has moved to a somewhat colder position in Norway. We hope you and your flat will be very happy. Do not fear though, looks as though Cpl Paul Ryan shall be following in your footsteps in a year or so.

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP
Tp Comd Lt S. Y. Richardson
Tp SSgt SSgt R. Atherton

Welcome to 2Lt Steve Bennett, who arrives on a three month attachment, before attending his Troop Commanders Course in Blandford. He is earmarked to take over as OC Comms Troop in April 2002.

OPERATIONS SECTION

A big Ops Section welcome to Cpl 'James and the Giant' Peach, LCpl Kelly Tweedie, Sig Kevin Groves and Sig Jon Perks who have arrived in the last two months to join the brethren in Syscon. Hope you will enjoy your two years with us. Goodbye to Cpl Mandie Smith, who after three months back in Province is moving to the less rainy climes of Belgium. She leaves with a spring in her step and a smile on her face, delighted at leaving the confines of SYSCON behind her. Not one, but two weddings to report this month. Congratulations to Cpl Matt Gibbons (2IC Rover Group) and his new wife Mrs Donna Gibbons, on their recent wedding. Those who attended the ceremony said it was a party to remember and they wish you every happiness in the future. Congratulations also to Cpl Mandy Aitchison (nee Smith) and LCpl Andy Aitchison (Late Rover Group) on their marriage at the end of September. We hope you will be very happy together and enjoy your postings to Belgium. By the way Pte O'Hare said it was only a bet, he did not think you would actually do it Aitch!

ROVER GROUP

All the boys in the Group have had fun attending weddings and in between times have been ensuring the snatch vehicles are ready for their inspection and return to Kinnegar before the end of September. Then one after the other they are to be posted, so a farewell to Pte Ken Barlow, who only arrived in the last edition of The WIRE, now moving across the way to join the Pioneers on the gate, and a slightly bigger goodbye to Cpl Matt Gibbons who has joined the RP Staff – traitor. Well done to LCpl Joe Rushrook who has successfully completed his MLT in time to miss out on two expeds, good timing there Joe, and is currently being the bane of Sgt Paul Conroy's life, deleting items from the training wing computer by accident.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE SECTION

Welcome to LCpl Matt Grounds, our new baby technician recently arrived from Phase II. He has instantly thrown himself into unit life, being an integral part of the 'It's a Knock out Team' and going Adventurous Training, all within his first month of arriving. Congratulations to Cpls 'G' Uppal and Chris Lord on their recent promotions. To celebrate they immediately tried to throw their weight around, only to be quashed by the might of Sgt Jonah Jones. They are now trying to set the correct example to others, despite the fact that 'Lordy' has not even started to shave yet, even though others shaved his left eyebrow! Congratulations also to Cpls Donna Chivers and Graham Forrest who have also just picked up their second tape. Well done, keep up the good work all of you.

RIGGING SECTION

Very little has happened in the Rigging World over the last two months ,save for three members of the section supporting Galloway Cream, the RHF exercise in Scotland. On the pre-deployment Sig Dean Roberts and Cpl Al Temple spent twice as long rigging the mast as normal due to the slightly inclement weather. The West Coast of Scotland in the rain and gale force winds, nice work if you can get it.

TROOP EVENTS
OPERATION CASTE III – LCpl Dilger

When the Chancellor wagon broke down on the Ardoyne, it was all hands on deck

This year saw the inevitable unrest in the capital, and the Chancellor vehicle and its crews were in regular attendance accompanying the resident battalions on the streets of Belfast. At lot of action was witnessed in the Ardoyne area in the north of Belfast, and also in the Short Strand area to the east, seeing the rare deployment of water cannons. More recently, and the most controversial, has been the highly televised and scrutinised Loyalist demonstrations against the Catholic parents and children, who walk through the Glenbryn estate to reach the Holy Cross Girls School. The Chancellor crew, led once again by Sgt Paul 'Chancellor' Faizey found themselves at the top of the Ardoyne or rather at Hotel Girdwood. This requires the ability to sleep in the back of a wagon not renowned for its comfort. Three in a wagon is just not cricket, particularly when you have Sgt Norrie Crook snoring in the Northern Ireland Snoring Competition on National Snoring Day. The Chancellor taskings unfortunately still continue at this time, as the latest bone of contention for the minority, seems to have no resolve.

IT'S A KNOCK OUT COMPETITION - LCpl Grounds

The rain was pouring but our spirits were not drowned as 12 MI Coy took on the 39 Bde Cheerleaders at the ancient and noble art of 'It's a knockout'. The event was successfully organised by Sgt 'Fram' Framalicco, who has certainly been reading the Marquis de Sade's autobiography, as most of the games were twisted and painful – whatever happened to Stuart Hall and dressing up as giants? As the weather brightened a fraction, the game commenced with the Space-Hopper obstacle course challenge. LCpl Donna Chivers adopted a new tactic, dazzling the opposition with her nimbleness and also her distracting technique of revealing her assets as she went along. Game 2 - the Matt Le Tissier Challenge confounded all that attempted it, as the goal area, would have made even Michael Owen nervous. However, from the ranks of the 39 Bde Cheerleaders stepped LCpl 'Foxy' Fox who with a swift right foot made the 12 MI boys lose a second game. The following two games, a caber toss and a bungie run, produced much the same results with 39 Bde entering the last game with a 4-0 lead. Game 5 was the one we had all been waiting for, the S-tank. LCpl 'Boadacea' Chivers and her Amazonian like tactics of 'hit 'em hard and fast' worked wonders and her opponent entered the freezing waters, breaking the ice on her way in. Two losses and two disgruntled cheerleaders came next, LCpl 'Ted' Tedby dragging himself out of the water with goose pimples on his goose pimples, and 2Lt Steve Bennett newly arrived from the factory, lost his wig but managed to keep his dignity, as all he had learnt in the last 44 weeks was wiped out with a colossal thump from the opposition and replaced by water. In order to redeem the team, up came the heavyweights in the form of LCpl Brad Fox and LCpl Matt Grounds, both defeating the opposition, with LCpl Fox being the overall victor.

TRY A DAY FINN 3 - LCpl Donna Chivers

On arriving at Coleraine for some down time from Teching and Rigging we jumped on our bikes and rode all around Portrush and Portstewart. It was not until later that evening, sampling the delights of the bars in Coleraine that the complaints about sore backsides started, along with the John Wayne impressions. Day two consisted of fishing, the most eagerly awaited part of the expedition. Our smiles turned to frowns when LCpl Craig Bate stepped on to the boat and was promptly hit on the head by a loose bolt. Cpl Al Temple was the star of the day, not content with being the only person to catch anything, he even managed to hook two at the same time. Go-Karting followed in the afternoon with LCpl Donna Chivers putting the boys to shame with her kamikaze skills of either racing around the track, forcing them to move over, or by cutting them up causing them to crash. As the last group had returned from Water Sports with broken ribs and bruises galore, we decided to have a gentle game of golf before returning to Lisburn. LCpl Joe Rushbrook had absolutely no style or technique, but still managed to win, which speaks volumes about the remainder of the group. Many thanks from all those involved to Cpl Al Temple who took time away from the Rigging Shack to organise an enjoyable and very successful three days away.

SUPPORT TROOP
Tp Comd Maj J. O'Shea R IRISH
WOIC WO2 (RQMS) Belam

Welcome to Maj Jim O'Shea who has come to fill the role of Admin Officer. We hope that the time you spend with us will be memorable.

REGIMENTAL QUARTERMASTER DEPARTMENT

Not content with two welcomes in the last edition, the RQ's Dept would like to have another entry for Sig Kirsty Galbraith who has joined the merry men in the stores world. But sadly we must say goodbye to Sgt Al Kier and his wife Helen who are leaving us for pastures new. We hope 12 Mech Bde HQ and Sig Sqn look after you both and wish you well. The most exciting news for the month is the promotion of one of the personalities of the section, LCpl Kev Pack, who picked up his tape in September. So overjoyed was he that he rang home to tell his wife, only to learn she had just pranged the car. Bad luck Kev, too much good news is bad for the soul!

EXERCISE NORTHERN FINN - LCpl Kate Anderson

Ex Northern Finn was a week's sailing from Ireland to Scotland, undertaken by five Squadron members. After an early start on day one we headed northeast from Bangor, heading to bonnie Scotland. The three junior members Sig 'Krusty' Weller, Sig 'Gromitt' Wallace and LCpl Kate Anderson, had yet to find their sea legs and were feeling very nauseous, in fact Sig Wallace made a marvellous attempt at modern art on the ocean waves. It was suggested that we turn back to Bangor but the thought of being weather bound in Ireland was too much to bear, so we soldiered on, to coin a phrase. Portpatrick awoke on our second day to the worst storms it had seen in a long time. Having sent Maj Andy Knott and Cpl Keane Steele to get gas, unfortunately in the wrong direction, the three junior members sought refuge in a drinking establishment, where we waved at the skipper, Maj John Davis, on board as he bobbed ferociously in and out of view over the harbour wall. It was only after his distress call that we rushed in to move our exposed yacht to a more sheltered area, braving 4ft swells and gusts exceeding gale force. The two senior members were still merrily heading towards Stranraer looking for fuel. Once the storm abated we continued towards Girvan, somewhat later than planned due to Sig 'Krusty' Weller's incessant snoring. A fine day's sailing was had, the reward being Maj Knott's culinary skills and a quick trip to the pub in preparation for our early start towards Largs. Sig Gordon Wallace tried to convince us all that he had seen a dolphin on this leg of the journey, although that could just have been the remnants of his breakfast. The weather continued to be kind over the coming three days as we journeyed to Troon and back to Girvan, in time to sample some nightlife, heading back to Bangor to join in with the 'Party on the Pier' before dropping anchor in Belfast in the shadows of HMS Caroline.

LONG SERVICE & GOOD CONDUCT PRESENTATION

SSgt Al Hatton AGC (SPS) has been awarded the Long Service and Good Conduct medal after 15 years in the Adjutant General's Corps and Welsh Guards. The Bde Comd, Brig W. E. B. Loudon OBE presented him his medal, along with the Accumulated Campaign Service Medal for Cpl R Hardy AGC (RMP), at a presentation in the Unit Club.

SSgt Hatton's boys
look less than impressed at their father's achievement

ARMY INTER UNIT ROUNDERS COMPETITION

The Female Rounders Team, after becoming the Northern Ireland Inter Unit Rounders Champions, went back to the mainland to compete in the Army Inter Unit Rounders Competition. The demon bowling and backstop combination of Capt Sally McLellan RLC and WO2 (QMSI) Matten ensured that most of the opposition were bowled or stumped out, while the likes of Cpl Jo McVeigh and LCpl Donna Chivers made sure that rounders were scored to keep the Unit at the top of their group. Once in the final, a tough game was played against Winchester Garrison, but the 39 Inf Bde HQ and Sig Sqn team were victorious and came back to Province as the Army Inter Unit Rounders Champions. Well done to all the females who took part.

BRIGADE COMMANDER'S THIRD FRIDAY CLUB

The members of the Squadron may have been working and playing hard, but they have also had time to be an integral part of the Bde Comd's Third Friday Club Competition. Run by WO1 (RSM) Steve Lockwood and Cpl 'Paddy' Bevan, they found ways to test and try the minds and physical fitness of members of the Unit. This resulted in a 'Mil Skills' competition comprising of four events; a military knowledge paper, a pistol shoot, a Snatch pull and three Command tasks. Watching the Brigade Officers' team and the SHQ team gave new meanings to the expressions 'Too many cooks' and 'Not enough Indians' as can be seen below. The winners by a healthy margin were Comms Troop – hurrah!

A medley of Officers resulted in much standing around and little action

September's competition was Orienteering in a local park, praying that no one would get lost! Many members of the Unit came back with nettle stings, bramble scratches and only a few points. Still it gave many people the afternoon out of the office who would otherwise have been sitting behind their desk. Well done to WO2 (FofS) Dave Cook who, despite having such little legs, managed to keep up with the remainder of his team as they beasted him round.

8 INFANTRY BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (218)

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj F. E. R. Wichelo
RSM WO1 (RSM) P. Fleming

Farewell to LCpl Karen Bateman on posting to 'civvie street,' we wish her and her husband all the best. Congratulations to WO1 (RSM) P. Fleming on his selection for commission. As ever it has been a busy time in the Squadron headquarters with the clerks moving furniture and offices around to try and confuse people as to where they are located - it did not work! Pte Stef Hart has been away winning medals for judo and confirming her selection for the Commonwealth Games as well as managing to scuba dive in Cyprus on adventure training for two weeks. And finally last, but certainly not least, a sad farewell to the Foreman, WO2 Bob Vowles who has been slightly short toured (wimp!) and is departing for sunnier (?) climes back on the mainland. We wish him all the best: the Ops/Plans Team are fervently hoping that his successor, WO2 (FofS) Si Metcalfe – a warm welcome to you and your family - is not intending to take up the mantle of office karaoke queen. Thanks for all the tunes, but please stick with the day job!

REGIMENTAL QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT
RQMS WO2 Dave Inman
Dept SNCO Sgt Eddie Porter RLC

It is a very busy period for the RQMS Dept. The forthcoming Logistical Support Inspection is just over the horizon and the marching season and Squadron Adventure Training are just behind us. As the saying goes, 'a new brush sweeps clean', and all the accountants are rapidly finding this to be true. The new RQMS, WO2 Dave Inman, has recently been posted in from slipper city, (otherwise known as Lisburn), and has had everyone clearing out the stores, doing numerous hand over take overs and stock checks. This has not stopped the Admin Sergeant, Eddie Porter getting as much golf in as he can, as well as two weeks Adventure Training in Wales. Needless to say he has been welcomed back with open arms by the RQMS and Cpl 'Badger' OReilly RLC and immediately tied to his desk to prevent him escaping again! Congratulations go to LCpl Kev 'Old Man' Rattray RLC and LCpl 'Shilli' Shillito RLC who are both posted on promotion. Thanks for all the hard work gents. Sadly we also say farewell to WO2 (RQMS) Kev Tunstall after 22 years service: goodbye and good luck in civvy street. Hello and goodbye to LCpl Winder RLC who was with us for 37 days before being posted again! Welcome to LCpl Andy Smith RLC, his replacement - we hope he stays a little bit longer! Finally, for any one who is reading this and wondering, if we have many Corps personnel here – yes we do, and they come under the guise of Sgt 'Robbo' Robson, Cpl Mick 'sick chit' May and Sig 'Youth' Fowler! Any Corporals wanting a posting to sunny Londonderry please contact the RQMS!

COMMUNICATIONS TROOP – by LCpl 'Bucky' Buckingham Tp Comd 2Lt Rip Wilson
Tp SSgt SSgt Steve Mayell

Here we are! Believe it or not, some large terrorist device has not wiped 8 Brigade off the face of the planet. We, as a well-organised unit, have been run off our feet! What with the marching seasons, the sporting events and the Squadron social activities, there is a lot to be caught up on. We have had a fair few people come and gone from the nominal role, so here are some of the leavers of the fight against terrorism:

Cpl Marcus 'hairy nips' Bartrip has been posted to RSIT, may your lungs never fill with evil oxygen, rather that of the rich taste of Royals. All the lads wish you and Leanne the best of luck for the forth-coming wedding. To Cpl Johnson, who is posted to 21 Sig Regt: your incredible strength, and ability to not feel pain, is an inspiration to us all, (you weirdo). Congratulations on the wedding. LCpl Alan Oliver - posted to Cyprus. May boy bands live on and allow you to chase your dream to join them. Also good luck to Cpl Gourlay who is off to conquer 216 Sig Sqn. You should do well: there's no trade week to complete. Last but not least there's Carl Brown and Phil Bloxham who felt the ranks of civ div beckoning. Good luck on the dark side. The arrivals to the unit have been a steady stream of new and used soldiers, each with a story to tell. So, welcome to LCpl Jackson from Cyprus, with your distinctly 'not from this grotty province' tan. LCpl Tel Frank from Blandford. Cpl Phil Marchent who has aided and abetted Sgt Flanighan in changing the 8-BDE-SRT workshop into a 15 SIGs SRT work shop, almost over night. Good work boys. But where the hell is everything? Sig Alf Garnet from Cyprus, who since arriving has been put on mail collecting duty, because he revealed that he is a qualified post orderly. Sorry to anyone that didn't get a mention, but if we did mention everyone, The WIRE would be the size of an Argos catalogue.

We move on to the events that the Squadron and Brigade have been taking part in. The most recent sports success' achieved was that of the NI Inter BDE sports day. Our volleyball team tipped up with the minimum of practice, i.e. none, and still came second even though Cpl Andy Ward failed to attend. And the rounders team really pulled one out of the bag and came first, with the aid of two of our Brigade clerks. Thank you. Our mostly male Brigade is really excelling in 'girlie sports' this year and we like it! And the crowning achievement of this year is the victory gained at NISAAM, where our team of sharp shooters, and all round great guys came first in the minor units and fifth over all.

As the province has so many out of bounds areas, it is essential that we organise our own parties and gatherings, both for entertainment, and the sanity of the Squadron. So on that note, we have held some fantastically successful functions within the closed doors of the world famous 'Waterside Bar'. Sgt Paul Hounsell wrote to over 300 companies, asking for donations to the Charity Auction that was held in May. It was in aid of the family's crèche. His plight was heard, and the auction went off with many bargains to be had, in the form of short get-away breaks, cameras, an inflatable Johnny Bravo, car washes by senior ranks and much more. Other functions that were held recently, range from the Vietnam night, which spurred more lines from the film 'Full Metal Jacket' than any body cares to admit, to the karaoke night. It is believed that the karaoke night was not planned as a night of fun. Originally the main aim by senior ranks was to find the 'instant idiots' who would come out of the woodwork when presented with a microphone and an audience. It seems the plan worked a treat, with many a person being told the next day of their awful renditions of an otherwise fantastic song. Had he been present, Robbie Williams would have initiated court proceedings that evening. On a serious note, the Squadron functions are always well attended and appreciated by all, and long may they continue.

VIETNAM NIGHT – SQUADRON SUMMER BALL
by Cpl Andy Ward

After a few months of failed attempts to get certain members of the Squadron to wear uniform, the Squadron hierarchy came up with the ingenious idea of a Vietnam theme to the Squadron Summer ball! The bar was expertly decorated by the committee, in cam-nets and tents, all the things you come to Northern Ireland to avoid! Stunningly turning the waterside into something out of 'Platoon'! There were a couple of original ideas to the fancy dress, but helmets body amour and dog tags were in abundance! The entertainment was provided in the form of a band and later on the stunning mixes of Sig 'DJ Disciple' Longbone. The cookhouse out did themselves with a fine selection of curry. Strangely, Bde staff won all the raffle prizes: such as Flt Lt Dixon taking the TV, and Sgt 'Dinger' Bell taking possession of the DVD Player. Not even the Squadron techs could fix something that well! All in all an enjoyable night where plenty of alcohol was consumed!

EXERCISE BETWS FINN (WEEK ONE)
by LCpl Bacon

Ex Betws Finn was adventurous training, which took place in North Wales, around Betws-y-Coed area near Snowdon. Approximately half the Brigade and Signal Squadron took part in each week and were based at Capel Curig Camp. The weather conditions were quite good for most of the week, apart from the usual downpour of rain, for which Wales is well known. Activities were well organised by the Foreman of Signals, WO2 Bob Vowles, including: rock climbing, done both outdoors and indoors dependant on the weather; canoeing which included lessons on a lake and some on a river; AC Adventures which was a day out consisting of abseiling and rock climbing inside an underground slate quarry. It also included a bit of abseiling and traversing in an open quarry and, a lot of peoples favourite, the 'Zip line' into a small lake, where Cpl Andy Ward unfortunately lifted his knees too high and hit the water with a very painful splash! The most energetic part of the week came in the form of two days hill walking, in which Sig Sid 'I don't know how anyone gets enjoyment out of this' Sidorowicz spent a lot of time leaning on his walking sticks admiring the view even when there were only clouds to see!! All in all, the week was enjoyed by all and a welcome break from life in the Brigade.

WEEK 2 – by LCpl Calvert

This was the Squadron main effort for unit adventurous training for the year and it was based in Capel Curig Training Camp in North Wales. I was employed at the climbing instructor for the duration. The package was a split into two, one-week phases. During the first week the weather was not kind to those climbing and although abseiling was possible, the climbing took place on the Beacon Climbing Wall just South of Llanberis. There was some notable death-defying feats achieved, especially Sig 'Stuntman' Vaughan who, for reasons only known to him, decided to launch himself off the wet abseil as though he were jumping over a wall and not walking backwards off of it. Another rock guru was LCpl 'No Fear' Nelson. Putting total faith in the instructor, he allowed himself to be lowered upside down an 80ft rock face shouting up 'just go faster'. Unfortunately his Buffalo jacket just couldn't stand the pace and resulting in new ventilation holes. The new Troop boss 2Lt Rip Wilson proved his metal on the climbing wall, climbing everything that the instructor set him. I see a budding rock god in the making!
The second week of weather was better, allowing us to get out on the crags and spend less time in the cafes! Superstars included Sig 'Vertical' Newitt who was 150ft up a crag when the instructor pointed out the low flying jet below. He then informed the group that he couldn't see anything because he had his eyes closed! Another potential rock recruit was Capt Mogs Southern who succeeded in driving the exercise co-ordinator WO2 FofS Bob 'laid back' Vowles and the climbing instructor to near insanity by adopting a shop till you drop policy, because 'I can't go on the hill until I get a new Gore-Tex jacket'. In all a very good time was had by all, and the local pubs will probably go into recession now we have all departed!

SUMMER YOUTH CAMP 18 - 25 JULY 2001
By LCpl Calvert

This took place at MTC Magilligan and was split into two age groups, 6–12yrs and 12–17yrs. For the duration I was employed as a rock-climbing instructor, taking the groups abseiling and climbing from Ramore Head in the sunny seaside town of Portrush. This was an obvious hardship!! It quickly became apparent that small children have no fear of height or authority; countless times I was reminded to bear in mind the following: 'Do you know who my dad is?' and 'When I tell my dad you will be in trouble?' That aside, both groups managed to complete the climbing without mishap. I did, however, have one young individual who was desperate to impress the instructors and young girls in his group. However, once tied in and with me belaying him, his climbing prowess deserted him and after climbing 6ft he called down, 'Can you let me down?' On enquiring why, he proceeded to tell me that the rock was not the same as he had climbed before and that he didn't know if he could trust me! All in all it was a good and very worthwhile exercise, if somewhat trying on my mental state!

EXERCISE BALTIC FINN 21 -29 JUN 2001
by LCpl Calvert

This was a squadron exercise organised and run by myself. The aim was to take five JNCOs to Germany and Denmark and then to use the Corps boat 'Quicksilver' to navigate around various ports of call, enabling us to sample the local hospitality. In essence this was completed, but not without problems! Firstly, the charter flights were cancelled and a uncomfortable night in Heathrow airport was endured. Once underway we had a close run in with the port police in Kiel due to Cpl 'Popeye' Gourley playing chicken with a passenger ferry. Sig 'naturist' Davies spent most of his time below decks bonding with his sleeping bag and doing a good impression of a ships cat. Sig 'Right Hand Man' Garnett during the trip became a dab hand at hoisting and reefing sails and must have worn the rubber of his deck shoes with the amount of running about he did. LCpl 'Handy Man' Rattery excelled himself in the gallery and along with myself cooked up some spicy meals to the unsuspecting crew. Throughout the weather was very good until the final day when it rained and blew and the 'salty sea dogs' finally realised what real sailing was about - not just lounging about on the deck sunbathing!

MERCURY CUP MARCH AND SHOOT 04 OCTOBER 2001
by Sig Preece

Once again 8 Inf Bde and Sig Sqn took part in the annual Mercury Cup march and shoot competition which consisted of an eight mile march, assault course and a falling plate shoot. The teams were eight strong, one of which had to be female. The day of the event did not get off to the best start with one of the vehicles being used for the two and a half hour journey refusing to start. However, we eventually arrived but had unfortunately missed the team captain's brief, leaving us without a clue about where and when anything was happening - oh well! Luckily WO2 'BOWO' Kenyon RLC, managed to bully some inside information from some of the other teams which was just enough for us to compete.

Firstly the march: 8 Inf Bde came joint first equalling the outstanding time set by 3 Bde of 1hr 16mins 26secs - not even a second between the teams!! I didn't even get any dizzy spells this time unlike during training where on many occasions I brought up the fact that I couldn't see and the world was spinning! The assault course came next and 8 Inf Bde gained the fastest time in this event and another six points, although that is not to say there were no problems! LCpl Craig Buckingham had trouble fitting his huge body through the scramble wires and Sig Rob Vaughan had to stop and get his breath from laughing at LCpl Al Paisley's extraordinary acts when his leg cramped up. The event finished with the shoot: each man had seven rounds and there were fifteen plates to be knocked down from 200m. The team managed to knock down twelve, mainly thanks to LCpl Craig 'dead eyed dick' Buckingham who knocked down most of them. It must be stated that there was little help from Sig Rob Vaughan who had previously boasted 'I'm an alright shot' then blamed his poor shooting on his helmet and cramp…or something. The result of the shoot was that the team came second, gaining five points and giving the team a total of seventeen points and joint first position with 3 Bde. It was decided that someone had to win the competition so, after a decision by the organisers, the competition was given to 3 Bde due to their performance on the shoot, which matters most, apparently. All in all it was a good competition and an excuse to break from the normal working routine. The result was disappointing but there's always next year and justice will be done! Other team members included Maj Rachel Leighton RLC, 2Lt Rip Wilson and Pte 'Taff' Cawbridge RLC. Well done to all who contributed to what was so very nearly victory!

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj Steve Clarke
SSM WO2 Pete Griffiths

The last few months have been a fairly quiet period which has involved preparing for deployment on Ex Saif Sarrea, build up to RSIT and the continued battle to convert the Radio Relay Ops and the Systems Ops to Area System Ops. We are just about to enter the maximum leave period and straight after we will deploy onto the annual Battle Camp. We would like to wish a fond farewell and extend our thanks for all of the hard work carried out over the last couple of years to the Sqn Comd, Maj Mike Bailes, goodbye and good luck in your future post. As is always the case, one out and one in. So a very warm welcome is extended to the new Sqn Comd, Maj Steve Clarke, from all ranks in HQ Sqn. Maj Clarke is posted in from 216 Sig Sqn and so will be treated with great care until he adapts back to life in the real world.

QUARTERMASTER'S (TECHNICAL) DEPARTMENT

As ever, the QM (T) Dept has been a hive of activity, concentrating on the build up to Cormorant and the preparation for the up and coming Kohima weekend. WO2 Jim Stille (RQMS G) has just finished his RQMS course, so now he can bluff to people that he knows what he is doing (but not to the ones who do know it). Well done to SSgt Macpherson for completing Trail Walker, Cpl Oldfield in between getting either his name or photograph in the local press for Cricket, has just finished his EFP 1. Also congratulations (I think) to LCpl Jim Carlin who has just signed up for another five years. The Regimental Open Day is here soon with the department doing their best to outdo Las Vegas with our Casino.

MIKE TROOP
Tp Comd WO1 (FofS) Hodson
Tp SSgt SSgt Swithenbank

With the hectic summer line up already underway, the Mike Tp crew had to keep the Regiment's smooth running image up to its high standards. To promote this ethos, WO1 (FofS) 'Pete' Hodson and his sidekick SSgt 'Pete' Swithenbank carefully selected six of the best from a wide range to do the task. The fortunate members orders were to take the two ERV's down to 600 Tp to be repaired. In the ERV's were Cpl 'Dave' Dodds, Cpl 'Dangerous Dave' Shilton, Cpl 'Wait for me' Abbot and Cpl Thomas. Driving the Land Rover was Cpl 'Geordie' Davies and LCpl Clarke.

The encounter began with the packet of three travelling down towards Corsham, making good headway until the first Service station. Here Shilton and Abbot found the hand brake had failed; the state of the art motorised vehicles that are the ERV's were not up to the rough handling of actually being driven. Otherwise all went well until ten miles from the destination, where, not to be outdone, the duo Thomas and Dodds had both the clutch and hand brake fail. Moments later the back of the Land Rover became an emergency brake buffer.

Mike Tp's Sgt Om was a wreath bearer and Cpl Holmes an usher for the Kohima weekend, which was a success allowing the Veterans to meet up with there former colleagues. Going on from the weekend, the Regimental Open Day was similarly successful with the White Helmets being star attraction. Mike Tp sacrificed every member to the day, with the artistic skills of Cpl 'Van Gogh' Holmes and the hard working efforts of the Gun Run Team which was lead by Sgt 'Airborne Warrior' Harris. Well done to the team who were the first losers by finishing second out of three (one team being disqualified). Mike Tp's main attraction of the day was the Mission Impossible curly wire game that squirted water on all unsuccessful competitors. It was constructed by Cpl 'Slim Boy Fat' Glynn Clarke, who sadly leaves the Army for pastures new in his real civilian life. His leaving function was well attended by all troop members as well as other hangers on and he was seen off in good style, a great character who will be missed. We all wish him well.

Congratulations go to Cpl 'Salty Dog' Salter and wife Vicky on the arrival of their new born baby boy Ethan, who weighed in at 8lb 1oz. We would like to welcome Sgt 'Steve' Dade, Sig 'Mitch' Mitchell, who have actually yet to arrive and me LCpl 'Ryan' Clarke. Cheers everyone.

With the Troop continuing to resemble the 'Mary Celeste' it was with great joy and relief that we welcomed back the JCUFI lot. To ease them back into normal life (expensive beer in glasses, even dearer fags, roads, ladies and the such like) we decided that, after an eighteen hour flight followed by a six hour drive, we would give them half an hour to get their dancing shoes on and dragged them down town. All of the lads Onward to the race, a beautiful day in Blyth, the ride was along the coast with a cooling sea breeze, bonus. I did a personal best in the swim and was second out of the water (big mistake). I'd been pushing too hard to start. I got going on the bike and caught up to others from previous waves. Then the energy level started to drop and with it the speed. I got off the bike and with the cheer of the crowd it helped to get me moving on the run. 7.7km became a half marathon. At the finish my body had been taken close to its limits. This only said to me that I need more training (strange how we think when we are knackered). We had finished the race not with times that we had hoped for but still holding our heads high, we are now tri-athletes. We couldn't just stop there so more races were planned and we had the bug. We had to get more people involved so it was decided to start a club in the regiment. The team has had a few changes with the loss of WO2 Paul McGarry to Blandford and the arrival of a Capt Pete Lockitt (Ironman and years of experience in Triathlon). The Team is now looking to compete in an Ironman in 2002 (2-mile swim, 112-mile cycle and a marathon). This is serious and some hard training is expected over winter.

ISM DEPARTMENT

The little known department consisting of six computer geeks has had a busy couple of weeks. The rumour is WO2 (Supvr IS) Hague has nearly exhausted the Army's supply of computer courses and should be putting in an appearance just in time to knock off for Christmas. Sgt 'Where's my calipers?' Geordie McKnight, has had an even busier time, what with all that sick leave and then time off to see the plumber/carpet fitter and gas man to mention but a few. SSgts Brown and Evans have had a busy time on the Regimental Battle Camp letting the troops know that we can actually soldier. Cpl Froggett after signing off has swiftly signed back on, just in time to deploy to Kosovo. Congratulations to SSgt Steve Brown on winning the Regimental Golf Championship. Finally the Department says farewell to Sgt Dean Nichols after completing his 22 years service, we actually see more of him now he's left the Army, then when he was still in.

HQ SQUADRON REGIMENTAL GENERATOR BAY
IC Sgt Stanley-Jones

Over the last few months the Regimental generator bay has been very active due to the Kohima festivities and various other Regimental functions. After a well-deserved summer leave Sig 'Ski' Sworowski finally returned from his civilian deathbed after his nine weeks off. Newly promoted LCpl Lee 'Cleggy' Cleghorn and Sig Lee 'Maverick' Britton represented the department on the Regimental Battlecamp. The Department also participated in an LAD shakeout exercise conducted at 30 Signal Regiment, which turned out to be a very worthwhile 3-day venture. Finally congratulations go to Sig 'Ski' Sworowski on his re-trade to clerk.

INTER-SQUADRON FOOTBALL COMPETITION
by Sig 'Shed' Sheddon

The Inter-Squadron 11-a-side football competition was held over 4-5 September. The first game was between HQ Sqn and 214 Sig Sqn, unfortunately HQ Sqn got off to a very bad start and somehow managed to lose 4-1. The following game was between 214 Sig Sqn and 219, with 219 edging out 214 in a close fought victory. The following day started off with a match that contained lots of action. The match was between HQ Sqn and 219 to see who would play 214 in the final. For HQ Sqn to qualify they would have to beat 219 by at least three goals. The game had barely started when OC HQ Sqn Maj 'Benito Carbone' Clarke took a dive in the opposing penalty area and was duly awarded a penalty for his trouble, 'Oh and by the way broke his ankle in two places'. As Maj 'Carbone' Clarke was carried from the field of play a roar went up, contrary to popular belief, the roar had nothing to do with Maj 'Benito' Clarke being carried off, it was because the penalty had just been converted. The remainder of the match proved to be very exciting with lots of goal mouth action. Fortunately from an HQ point of view three more goals hit the back of 219's net, thus qualifying the HQ Sqn for the final (its never over until the fat lady sings 219). The final proved to be another good game with HQ Sqn reversing the previous days result and beating 214 by two goals to nil (you know it makes sense). Congratulations go out to all of the Squadron personnel who took part, and a special mention to Sig 'Gilly' Gilbert (even though he is 214 Sig Sqn) for being voted player of the Tournament. This is no doubt the first in a long line of expected successes by HQ Sqn in Inter Sqn competitions.

CHATURANGA BELGIAN ASSUALT COURSE COMPETITION - JUNE 2001

Monday started early, parading at the cookhouse at 0500hrs. So that meant most people got out of bed at 4.59am. We loaded the minibuses and started on our way to Tournai with our aim being to compete in a Belgian Assault course competition, in Chaturanga. The three teams were:
Team 1: 2Lt 'Is it going to hurt' Boag, Cpl ' Dirk Diggler' Hayward, Sigs 'I can't stop talking' Stopforth, 'Talk to me monkey' Gowdy.
Team 2: WO2 'I've been here before' Smith, Sgt 'Strawberry blonde with attitude' Perry, Sigs 'Schumacher' Rees, 'Floppy' Heron.
Team 3, Cpl 'I hate heights' Jinks, Sigs ' SHAPU' Gilmore, 'Nice sun tan' Cassidy, 'I been round once already' Rees.

managed to stay together until Cpl 'I don't care what my wife says I'm going clubbing' Rumford was seen sneaking off for the last bus at 2310hrs. Since then the Troop has returned to its normal desolate state with the post tour boys touring the world with their copious amounts of unspent LSSA. We look forward to seeing them all back at work with no money and rapidly fading tans. Definitely worth a mention is Cpl 'Come on lads she's not bad for 52' Davies, Cpl 'Where shall I move this week?' Salter and Cpl 'Oh God it might be twins' Shilton for seeing the light and signing back on. Well done lads we're sure you won't regret it. By the way exactly how much was in those brown envelopes the FofS gave to you?

The Troop closed down for the duration of 'Battle Camp' that was a no fuss, hard working range package. Unfortunately Cpl Geordie ' fi a soldier' Davies couldn't make it but the few NCO's who did, not only thoroughly enjoyed it but would actually volunteer for the next one. The one exception was Cpl Dave 'Don't shoot the builder, oh s…t' Shilton, who swears the builder was armed with a 5.56 scaffold pole though. If only they knew the next Battle Camp is an Infantry based Fieldcraft and Tactics camp. We look forward to more useful and progressive training in other areas. Now we have met all three of them we can officially welcome Sgt 'When I was…' Dade, LCpl 'Picked from a cast of thousands' Clarke and Sig 'So what's a steering wheel for then?' Mitchell.

CIT TROOP - by SSgt Andy Beel

The Cormorant Introduction Team (CIT) has had a very busy and successful period over the past months. The conversion courses from Radio Relay and Systems operators to Area systems operators have started and to date have completed three courses and near finishing the fourth. At present there are 13 Troop members comprising, the nominated Cormorant instructors SSgt Terry Sheils(OC Troop), SSgt Andy Beel, SSgt Tom Brand and SSgt Neil Cooper, administration Sgt Col Brotherston, Trade conversion instructors, Cpl 'Biff' Bithell, Cpl Andy Carter, Cpl Clark Fatchett, Cpl Tony Orange, Cpl John McDonnell, Cpl Lee Rickard, Cpl Andy Rutter and Cpl Rob White.

A vast improvement on IT skills has been developed by all troop members, especially, Cpl Tony 'The Fingers' Orange having completed conversion training at RSS Blandford prior to instructing in the Troop. Maintaining the Troop fitness levels SSgt Terry 'Medals' Sheils and SSgt Neil ' Loose-minute' Cooper have been busy getting the Regimental Triathlon Club up and running. A fond farewell to WO2 Paul McGarry (Ex OIC CIT troop) posted to RSS Blandford having had the task and pleasure to get the Troop up and running initially with no budget and no manpower, nothing new there then! Big hello to SSgt Tom 'The Biker' Brand and Family posted in from the planning cell at ASG, RSS Blandford and Cpl Andy 'fruit machine' Carter posted in from 219 Sqn.

Congratulations to Cpl 'Fatch' Fatchett and Cpl 'Rob' White on their selection for promotion to Sergeant, also to Cpl Andy Rutter on successful completion of his RSJCC. The Troop is now fully established as the UK based field conversion centre for Radio Relay and Systems operator trades to Area systems operator, vacancies to fill an instructor post may be available to suitable candidates in the near future due to postings and promotions from the Troop. Any interested parties should enquire through their normal chain of command.

'CROSS KEYS TRI' TRIATHLON CLUB
WO2 Paul McGarry
SSgt Neil Cooper (writer)
SSgt Terry Shiels

A few good men from the 'Cormorant Introduction Team' decided that age was catching up with them and they fancied having a go at Triathlon. In January they all made a concerted effort to get themselves fit enough to not only compete but do well. The date had been set, we were all geared to compete in the Blyth Sprint Triathlon. 400 meters, 17km cycle and to top it off a 7.7km cross-country run. (Hardly a sprint!) We carried on training, but we were not getting any faster. It didn't help that one of the team still couldn't swim front crawl. We all started getting more involved (not with each other I hasten to add). We started reading relevant magazines. This changed our training pattern drastically and we then started getting faster. Illness started taking its toll on our fitness as well.

It was decided that we should practice all of the disciplines together to see how we would get on. We made arrangements with the local swimming pool and got started. The swim first. This was not training. This was war. We had looked at each other and decided that we were going for this. I was in luck as my swimming was stronger than WO2 Paul McGarry and SSgt Terry 'The Fish' Shiels. I climbed out of the water and was changed, heading for the exit, passing the fish as I went. As luck would have it, only 100 meters on my bike and I took a wrong turn. This gave Terry the advantage he needed. By the time I had corrected my mistake he could now see me racing in the distance. He put his head down and gave the bike everything he could muster. The head down bit was the mistake. Bang he was up the curb and into the hedge of some poor lady's garden. This was the end of his pre-race training. Paul was in his own race against time pushing himself on. I got to the Gymnasium, dismounted and got cracking on the run. Cramp was setting in both calves. I had gone too fast on the bike. Who cares I'm almost a tri-athlete. All the way round the run all I could think about was, 'Why am I doing this?' At the end we all met up, totally drained. This sport was fun, it hurt like hell, but we have achieved something special. Proved to our minds and bodies that we could get through it.

On arriving in Belgium 2Lt Boag dazzled us with his French by asking the guard at the gate to the barracks 'Ou est la COOKHOUSE?' The next day began with yet another early breakfast after which we headed to the competition for a morning training session. This was not the most pleasant experience as it gave a new meaning to the expression 'hanging out'; making most of us regret the one or two beers we had the night before. Team 3 was not running until Thursday so after the training beasting, they decided to experience some of the local delights and develop some new nicknames! (Sig 'Happy' Gilmore, '2 pint-Tyson' Cassidy, Cpl 'Dirk Diggler' Heywood and Sig 'One-Pint' Gowdy).

Wednesday morning, surprise surprise, up early again. Once arriving at the competition grounds we found that we were competing at around 4pm. This meant plenty of time to plan and prep for the race, which involved trying to find the fastest possible way over each obstacle. Before the race, each team member must pass an entrance test, which involved some pretty dodgy tasks, not enjoyable to say the least; especially if you have a fear of heights like Cpl Jinks. The first of the entrance test was a rope crossing that was elevated about 40ft between two hills.

The second entrance test was a 90ft rope ladder climb that had a disturbing habit of swaying in the wind, then throwing yourself off onto the death-slide which is not a very pleasant experience. Teams 1 and 2 raced and produced the goods with two outstanding displays, Team Two producing the second fastest time overall with 20.07 minutes but loosing points on the shooting stands. The night to come was obviously going to be celebration time for those who had now finished. Most of the teams visited a friendly nightspot called 'Mi-Noi', where most locals greeted us openly. One of the highlights of the night was some great entertainment from Sig 'Floppy' Heron!

The final day was the turn of Team Three to race leaving Teams One and Two to sit back and nurse their hangovers. First on the agenda was the confidence tests. The highlight of the morning was the face on Cpl 'Shaky legs' Jinks when descending the Aerial slide. Following in the footsteps of Teams One and Two, Team Three gave 100% producing yet another good performance for 2 Signal Regt. The last night a few of the team went out under the command of Cpl ' Dirk Diggler' Hayward and made a night of it. Overall an excellent competition that is never supported by British teams. All I can say is 'your loss our gain'. Roll on next year!

MÖNCHENGLADBACH MARCHES
'THE FEMALE PERSPECTIVE'

The Teams show off their trophies from the Mönchengladbach Marches Competition (and yes Cpl Donovan we can see your Para wings!)

The International Mönchengladbach Marches (IMM) is a competition run by the German Army Reservists for teams from all over NATO and this year it ran on 22 September. This was its 18th year and, despite not being very well known, was attended by a good number of British Forces personnel, Regular and Reserve/TA. WO2 (SSM) Smith who has attended this event on many previous occasions put this year's team from 2 Signal Regiment together. There were four teams of four and included two male teams, a female team and a mixed team. The female team was lead by 2Lt Melanie 'fancy another bimble girls' Crawford, and also included Sgt Marie 'Do we have to Ma'am?' McChesney, LCpl Emma 'Did you know…?' Atkinson REME and Sig Tam 'Ginger gene' Ingledew. The mixed team featured Sig Sonia 'Has anyone got any change?' Jameson.

We set off at early o'clock Thursday 20 September and headed for Germany. After a few comical situations, including one where two thirds of the team believed they could watch the fish swim in a glass section of the Channel, we eventually arrived at JHQ just in time for tea. The rest of Thursday was spent reminding us of how much fun and cheap Germany can be, sampling the local drinking and eating establishments. Friday was admin day, and was spent ensuring we had the correct kit for the competition, mixed with some essential retail therapy. Sig Jameson insisted that she needed to relive her childhood and get hold of some proper German paprika crisps, so she dragged (in true PTI Style!), the rest of the girls (and one poor Sig 'Scotty' Scott) around the whole of JHQ into every single NAAFI shop to buy some. Not a good move if you have to walk everywhere! Taking this into consideration Sgt McChesney made sure she wouldn't run out too quickly and insisted that she bought every single one they had in stock! Friday night all the Team including one hanger on, Sgt McChesney's twin sister Cpl Annette 'it wasn't me it was my sister' McChesney from 16 Signal Regiment, ate an excellent meal in the local Chinese restaurant, then it was an early(ish) night for all.

Saturday was another early start, as we had to book in quite early to ensure the teams didn't get caught up in any unnecessary hassles or delays, when the rest of the teams turned up. The two male teams the Regiment had entered set off early and in quick succession, with the female team around an hour later and the mixed team an hour after them. The course was very long (approximately twenty-five kilometers) and with copied aerial photographs and German maps; you had to ensure that your map reading was up to scratch. Short cuts tended to lead to your team stumbling through the undergrowth (much to our amusement) and losing time between stands. The military skills stands encompassed a variety of subjects from physical ability and stamina to NATO vehicle and uniform recognition. The most enjoyable included a Burma bridge and aerial slide and a fire fighting stand which all the female teams entered seemed to excel at. The competition itself was sometimes demanding due to language barriers and the CQB stand didn't go down too well with any of the teams. 2 Sig Regt did extremely well and managed to win the following:

1st International Female Team
1st British Team
2nd Best Mixed Team.
3rd International Regular Team

Sunday Morning came around far too quickly with another very early start. After a very fast breakfast we were on our way back to dear old Blighty laden down with a considerable cache of the competitions cups and purchases, looking forward to competing again next year.

KOWLOON TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Ratna Pun
Tp SSgt SSgt Dharmaraj Gurung
FORMATION OF KOWLOON TROOP - by Cpl Om Gurung

'By your badge men shall know you. Your loyalty, by your behaviour and by your technical skill, they will judge you as men and measure your efficiency as soldiers.' by Maj Gen LECM Perowne CBE. These words are as true today as they were then.

The formation of Kowloon Troop has mirrored history and added a new chapter in Queens Gurkha Signals forever. Here I believe that it would be appropriate to reflect a little on the history of Queens Gurkha Signals. Kowloon is not a new name for those members of Queen's Gurkha Signals who served in Hong Kong before 1997. The Queen's Gurkha Signals Regiment used to have 4 Squadrons; 246, 247, 248 and HQ, with each Squadron having several Troops. Kowloon Troop was one of the well-remembered Troops in the Regiment. The handing over of Hong Kong to China saw the disbanding of all but one of the Queen's Gurkha Signals Squadrons. In 1997 this Squadron (250 Squadron) moved to UK and has been stationed in Gamecock Barracks, Bramcote since. Now in 2001 a second Squadron (246 Squadron) is to be formed up by 1 November 2001 in York as part of 2 Signal Regiment. 246 does not exist at the moment, however on 4 January 2000 Celtic Troop formed in York as the first Gurkha Ptarmigan Trunk node Troop. On 16 July 2001, under command of SSM WO2 Nirmal Gurung, all the members of Celtic Troop paraded outside the Troop garages, very smartly and proudly to witness this very special day, the day when Celtic Troop became Kowloon Troop. After the SSM handed the parade to the Tp Comd Lt(QGO) Ratna Pun, the Commanding Officer, Lt Col I. Cameron-Mowat, accompanied by Sqn OC, Maj J. A. Compston MBE, 2IC, Capt(QGO) Rajendraman Gurung, and Ops Officer, Capt O. E. R. Gardner, all arrived. The CO then gave a small speech about what the Troop has done so far and finally he officially announced the formation of Kowloon Troop.

ROMAN TROOP

Tp SSgt SSgt C Symonds
EXERCISE KOHIMA WARRIOR - by Sig Davis

A week on the coast we were promised, maybe a few pot shots at the odd holidaymaker, maybe even a few targets. No problem. Hopes were slightly dashed when, on the morning of deployment, I was told to ditch the sun cream and pick up the cam cream. Welcome to battle camp York style. Reveille 0600hrs, that wasn't in the brochure! Then off to the ranges under our illustrious leader Cpl 'Don't mention me in The WIRE or it'll cost me a crate' Kama. When we remembered that the rifles fire from the thin end we were alright!

Back to the hotel at 1700hrs to prepare for our first football, softball and volleyball bloodbaths, I mean fixtures. Having drawn the softball and lost the volleyball it was time for the serious stuff, the football. Under the Keegan-esque management of Cpl 'Pele' Haywood we battled, jinked, scuffled and lost heavily, 4-0 in fact. We found consolation in the fact that it's the taking part that counts. APWT on Tuesday and it was discovered that our section was in fact a team of crackshots with Sig 'Sniper' Haynes and Sig 'Barndoor at five paces' Cassidy leading the line. After this show of marksmanship it was off to do the fire team assessment competition, Joy!

Wednesday will never be forgotten by the civilian dummies on the CQB Monorail range as a dark day, a day when a bloodthirsty 3 Section took out many innocent dummies. Everything was fine until gunshots were heard in the distance, a terrorist was spotted, and the red mist came down. Sig 'Danang veteran' Prithi had to be dragged from the range laughing hysterically, 'Nam gets to the best of us!' After more live firing and a few more character building competitions, there was only one battle left – the defence of a house which was unsurprisingly easy to defend against dummies and figure 11 targets!

War over and it was off to do a lake challenge and series of command tasks. LCpl 'Seadog' Thurstan mustn't have got a wink of sleep planning and designing our raft for the river crossing. We humiliated the opposition and collected (drank) our first prize. The week was wrapped up with a good old BBQ and then back to York to watch the England vs Germany football match. I think I will have a bet on the score. What odds do you think I'll get for 5-1 to England?

VIKING TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Mel Crawford
Tp SSgt Sgt Jim Mason

Since returning from summer leave it has been all go in Viking Tp. It all started with the Regimental shooting camp where the Regiment deployed to Shorncliffe at a reasonable 0630hrs on 26 August. This was then followed by two weeks of glorious sunshine and plenty of ranges to contend with. The range package was enjoyed by both the Troops on the ground and the permanent range teams. The 'tastiest' range had to be the RSM's range, where the troops were treated to the culinary delights of the range team's barbecue, deliciously served up by Sig Emma Lloyd.

After the Regimental shooting camp the Troop geared themselves up for Ex Chimera Blitz. This took place from the 3-7 September and was the Squadron's big build up to RSIT. Although the Troop had just got back from shooting camp the morale seemed to be quite high. With early morning starts and late evening finishes the progress that was made was significant and the improvement was there to be seen. This was thanks to the hard work of all the members of the Troop. The 'attacks' on the vehicles were as normal spearheaded by the troop Corporals and in particular Cpl Charlie Kama and Cpl Om Gurung. Before we knew where we were the RSIT team were breathing down our necks and it was now do or die for the Troop. That said there was a quiet air of confidence within the Troop and this was justified when the reports came back. The Troop achieved good results overall, in particular LCpl Nabinkumar Rai who did particularly well considering he had never worked on a Radio Relay before. Since RSIT the majority of the Troop have deployed on the Regimental Leadership Course and we are confident that the results will be just as inspiring as the recent RSIT reports.

The Troop in recent months have had a lot of people coming and going so we would like to say welcome to the following: SSgt Nanda and his family, Sgt Kedar, Cpls Man, Sanjeev and Un, LCpl's Bishnu, Ishwor and Nabin and Sigs Bhai, Jagdish, Manoj, Padam, Ramesh, Raju and Tikaram. If we missed anyone then welcome to them as well. As well as those arriving we would like to say farewell to the following: Mr Kev 'Scouse' Curlett who has left the Army after 22 Years service, good luck to him and his family, Sgt Steve McIntyre who has moved next door, Cpl Andy Ireland, who has gone to 30 Sigs, Sigs Padam, Bhim and Dipendra who after a short time in the Troop have found themselves posted to Brunei. We would like to say congratulations to Sgt Jim Mason who has been selected for promotion to Staff Sergeant and will be leaving soon to go to 15 Sig Regt and also to Cpl Charlie Kama who again has been selected for promotion and is off to 261 Sig Sqn.

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS
Sqn Comd Maj A. B. Stocker
SSM WO2 (SSM) Renshaw

219 Signal Squadron has now returned from a fun packed and hectic tour in the Falkland Islands. The first week back saw the reconstitution of the Squadron and the formation of Phoenix Troop, made up of the Radio assets. Having completed this the Squadron partook in a bit of team building in the form of a potted sports afternoon, organised by SSgt Cassidy. This was followed by a BBQ where the winning team (funnily enough containing SSgt Cassidy AND the SSM) was announced. A good night was had by all and there were certainly a few suffering on the Assault Course competition the next day.

Several members of the Squadron took part in a Charity Car Wash on the main square in aid of Mind, the Mental Health Charity (or in aid of the 2IC cycling a long way in Vietnam, however you want to look at it!). The event raised over £200. The Squadron also managed a Golf Day, where the budding Tiger Woods strutted their stuff on the local golf course (don't give up your day jobs yet). Congratulations go to Cpl Billy King for being selected for promotion (and for the birth of his son, Samuel), LCpl Ward on his promotion and move to HQ Sqn and LCpl Waters on his promotion. We say farewell to Cpl Gough, LCpl Blackett, LCpl Thompson and Sig Blight, who are now employed within the civilian market. Farewell to LCpl Bennett, Sig Harper and Sig McGarrity, who have been posted to pastures new. We also welcome Sig Jones and Sig Garside (once he returns from playing rugby in South Africa) straight from Blandford.

EAGLE TROOP
Tp Comd Lt A. Parkinson
Tp SSgt SSgt T. Brand

The Troop has recently been re-formed under a new role as Radio Relay Tp. As with any reconfiguration, this will involve a vast amount of work. Additionally, we are preparing for what will be a very heavy exercise period as the Squadron reconstitutes after the JCUFI deployment. The Troop bids farewell to SSgt Eden, having spent just four days in the Troop he has now handed over the swivel chair to SSgt Brand from CIT. Welcome back to Sgt Hartley from the Training Wing who has swapped chairs with the short term SSgt Eden. We would also like to welcome LCpl Vickers, who arrived just in time for RSIT preparation!

FALCON TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Keith
Tp SSgt SSgt Cassidy

Life in Falcon Tp has moved up a gear now that the JCUFI contingent has returned from their South Atlantic holiday. Perfect timing as always, getting back the week after RSIT means that some sort of normal service can resume and we can fulfill our share of naff jobs. Things can never be the same again however, as it is with a tear in the eye we say goodbye to our illustrious leader Lt Dave Haslewood. After a busy posting at York where he saw some of the world's hotspots (Bosnia, Falkland Islands and Toffs Nightclub) he deserves his 3-year break as a student at Shrivenham. He is sure to save a lot of money whilst he's there - beer is much cheaper on student night. His fresh faced replacement 2Lt Frazer Keith is now in the still warm chair and surveying the damage. We also say 'has he gone yet?' to Cpl Bob Littlewood who after 22 years with the colours is to be released into the community. The Troop wishes him all the best in whatever he does. The Troop's buckets and spades have all been signed out to Sig Rachel 'When I grow up I want to be good enough to play for Accrington Stanley' Allen. She has promised to buy ice creams for Sig Gareth Mitchinson, Sig Andy Naylor and Sig Paul 'Levs' Levin out on Ex Saif Sareea. The remainder of the Troop are happy to see the Sergeant Major back and the quality of haircuts has improved considerably. Finally, regular readers will remember that a plea went out if anyone knew the location of SSgt 'Gaz' Cassidy. You will be pleased to hear he has been found fit and well and returned to the Troop only mildly soiled, just in time for the start of the new rugby season.

EXERCISE MERCURIAL MARITIME DIAMOND

Ex Mercurial Maritime Diamond was the annual Royal Signals Sail Training Week in Germany, based from Kiel. 2 Sig Regt entered a boat, which was skippered by Maj Butler from Blandford, who was still keen to join us even after last year's experience!

Sig Welburn keeps a close eye on Sig Bradley as he takes the helm

The crew was made up of Capt Henderson, Sig 'Bimbo' Bradley, Sig Elliott, Sig 'Gardener' Welburn and Cfn Hardwick. The trip started at a particularly calm pace, as the first few days were used as training for the Competent Crew qualification. However, things heated up for the first day of racing, which took place just outside the marina at Horsens and as the crew were relatively inexperienced it was an education to us all! The skipper was keen for the crew to gain maximum benefit from the trip so left us to helm the boat. Some of us had longer concentration spans than others and it was a credit to the skippers patience that Sig Bradley survived the trip, as he continually wandered off course. The crew also used the time to blend in with the locals and, thanks to Sig Elliott's sun-in, went blond. Unfortunately the crew was unsuccessful in triumphing in any races, however, we put up a particularly good fight and a lot of experience was gained.

REGIMENTAL OPEN DAY – 25 JULY 2001

The Regimental Open Day proved a huge success. An impressive display by the White Helmets ensured that the day began as it meant to carry on. Stands and games were organised by the Squadrons and there was also an Inter-Squadron Gun Run. The event also raised money for local charities.

3 (UNITED KINGDOM) HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL REGIMENT

MEDALS CEREMONY – 6 SEPTEMBER 2001

Thirty-seven members of 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt completed a four-month tour of the Former Republic of Yugoslavia as part of The British Forces Signal Troop (BRITFOR Sig Tp). The Troop was based in Banja Luka, co-located with HQ BRITFOR in the Metal Factory. In a little under two years the Royal Signals commitment in Bosnia has decreased from a Regiment to a large Troop, due to the recently completed extensive commercialization programme. The soldiers deployed with the Troop maintained, repaired and monitored the many communication systems in use ensuring that telephone and computer network facilities were available to all the BRITFOR locations in Bosnia 24 hours a day. The Troop worked closely with the Dutch Signal Company, forming excellent professional and social relationships and became involved in various other communications related projects throughout the tour.

The Troop participated in many sports and entered teams in the football, hockey, volleyball, cross country and mountain biking competitions. Cpl Smith (703) was the driving force behind a highly successful Troop fund-raising event for charity, which greatly benefited a local Childrens Home in Banja Luka.

REGIMENTAL OPERATIONS - by Sig Blake

A warm welcome goes to all readers from the Regimental Ops Cell at 3(UK) Div HQ & Sig Regt. As a new member of the Ops Team, it has become clear to me that this is an extremely busy place to work! Sgt Fieldhouse has kept me on my toes not least with organising the outgoing Traffic Officers leaving do. Welcome Capt Rose, the new Traffic Officer and sad farewell to Capt Patterson who has recently left to go to work in HQ LAND. On top of this Capt Golley has continued to keep morale high with the Regt rugby team by introducing Wednesday night beer training sessions. The team now seems to be on a winning streak since Capt Golley was sidelined with a damaged hand – we're sure it's just a coincidence! Welcome back to the Regimental Yeoman from his holiday in Batus and welcome to the new Training Officer Capt Warren who is still getting nowhere with his anti tobacco reign of terror. Finally, a big get well soon goes to the TOT Capt Schmeikel, who is limping around after snapping his Achilles tendon on a basketball tour in Australia.

HEADQUARTERS SQUADRON
TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

Firstly, welcome to the new Regimental Foreman, WO1 (FofS) Lance Marshall. Life within TM Troop remains a flurry of activity. The Troop recently returned from two weeks 'Adventure Training' in Weymouth. The only dangerous training attempted during these two weeks was the socialising with the locals. Everyone had a great time and returned to the normal working routine suitably financially embarrassed. The three new ERV's have arrived and Sgt Pete Messenger has been ordered to stop stroking the new wagons as the paint was wearing thin. TM Tp has also seen a revitalised rest room, many thanks go mainly to SSgt Ian 'Lawrence Llewelyn-Bowen' Stallard and Cpl Marie Parkinson - but also to all their little helpers. A lick of paint, a pioneer stack stereo and a 38inch TV have turned it into a home from home. Recent promotions include Cpl Morris, Cpl Vowles and Cpl Martin Cornish. A big welcome to LCpl Wallace and LCpl Adam Phillips who have come into the workshop under the loving wings of Cpl Needham. This month sees the fall from grace of LCpl England who leaves for a harder life in civvy street. Also a fond farewell to WO2 Dave James, and good luck to SSgt Burns who has taken over the chair - Keep checking that in tray, the promotions in the regiment! Hello to all the lads and lasses from the Troop that are now in the Falklands. Finally a very sad note, we said farewell to a good friend of ours recently. He'd been with the unit for sometime and was a familiar sight around TM Tp. Yes I'm afraid to report that Sgt 'Mac' McNamara has shaved off his 'tash'. He still believes that it makes him look younger but no one has had the bottle to tell him the sad truth.... YET!

JNCO LEADERSHIP COURSE - by LCpl Tipper

Ex Iron Endeavour was a regimental JNCO leadership-training course, conducted under the direction of the Unit Training Wing over the period of 10-14 September. The aim of the course is to develop leadership and improve practical skills to enable those on the course to carry out their command, management and leadership responsibilities in barracks, in a detachment or in a section. The timings on the course were very strict; this was due to all the lessons we had to do in the short space of time. The course of 24 personnel was broken down into three sections of eight. Each section had a Sergeant in charge, who took the section through all the lessons and controlled daily administration. My section (2 section) was Sgt Wilson. On the course we were taught how to operate as a clearing or standing patrol 2IC, take a small parade, give a 10min presentation, give quick battle orders, make a military estimate, supervise a section activity, map read on foot at night (and in vehicles) and how to issue fire control orders. As we progressed through the course the learning curve got steeper and finished with a 2-day exercise in which we put to use the skills we had been taught in the classroom in the three previous days. We arrived back on camp at approx 10am and handed in our rifles hoping to disappear home for the weekend, only to be told to get down to the gym for a final PT lesson. LCpls Finister and Richardson took the lesson, which involved running up and down hills with webbing for fl of an hour, only to pick up a stretcher and race back to camp taking 25mins! The course was very demanding and a lot was learnt during the week we were there. On completion, everyone felt that they had all achieved something, however no one on the course has yet volunteered for the next one!

206 SIGNAL SQUADRON
CAMBRAI TROOP

Firstly, helloes to LCpl Maxwell from Deutschland and LCpl Lower from 30 Sigs. GOODBYES to Sig Malait and Sig Ball to 20 Armd Bde. Also, the formation of MT Docs office Under Command of Sgt Smith took Cpls Andy Wilkinson and 'Scouse' Makin to pastures greener. Cpls Jenkinson, Wilkinson, Doherty and Sig Oliver were unable to attend Adventure training because of the Freedom of Blandford Parade which was subsequently cancelled however they will be pleased to know that everybody else had a fine time. Surprisingly, those who remained back in Bulford achieved a lot (or so they tell me) without everybody telling them what they should be doing. Also, Cpl Jenkinson and Sgt Cooper were both relegated from their respective roles of Troop Sergeant and Troop Commander thanks to the timely arrival of SSgt Crowton from the SQMS Department. Welcome also to the SQMS whose boots have now been filled by SSgt 'Ollie' Magrail who has just become the proud owner of a three-wheeled Mini!

MONS TROOP

Since returning from a much-needed spell of summer leave, the Troop has taken part in numerous events including a medals parade for those returning from a four-month tour in Bosnia. The parade was followed by a presentation in the Sergeants' and WOs' mess by our Dutch counterparts who worked alongside us in theatre. After that was a homecoming party with entertainment provided by 'Hot pants a-go-go' (nuff said) that went down a storm. We also saw a deployment to Westdown Camp in support of the engineers for three weeks with the remainder of the Troop in support of 12 Mech Bde's CAST in barracks. The Troop also took part in squadron adventure training in Capel Curig that tested everybody's stamina both on and off the hills! The Troop would also like to welcome its newest member, Sig Goatley and also welcome back to Sig Harley and Sig Smith from Bosnia. Well done to 'Stu' Goatley for signing for a 20ltr jerry can x 70 to make a brew (1400ltrs). Sig Evans has been busy on his PTI's course while Cpl Morris has just returned from hers. A final farewell goes to LCpl Sutton – good luck in your new posting.

NORMANDY TROOP

Normandy Tp was formed in June. It took three existing SAN groups from Mons Tp and three more from the brigades. We were deployed almost immediately on Spring Foray, a Divisional Exercise with a Troop hierarchy consisting entirely of Corporals! After exercise most of our time was spent preparing for the arrival of the annual RSIT and normal day to day work. In late August, the Troop welcomed their new Troop Commander, 2Lt Ford bright-eyed and bushy-tailed from the factory and SSgt Greenwood, who had recently returned from Bosnia where he was Sergeant Major for the Signals Troop out there. Their arrival was a welcome release for Cpl Lane who had been previously been at the reins. Mid September saw a welcome break for the troops when we left sunny Bulford for the even sunnier delights of North Wales for some well earned climbing and mountain biking (and even a little sea fishing) and of course some serious socialising. Other welcomes go out to Sig Morgan and Sig Morgans (AKA Bungle and sister of Bungle) as well as Sig George, oops sorry Sig Brownsword (CONGRATULATIONS) from Blandford, as well as Sig Bradley from 222 Sig Sqn. A fond farewell to Cpl Lane who is off to 1(UK) Div and Cpl Whenman who is posted to 7 Sig Regt. Congratulations too for his recent marriage to his partner Sharon. It has also been a good few months for sport in the Troop with Cpl Binnie recently returning from a Corps Basketball tour in Australia and LCpl Longbottom who has been on a football tour in Germany. A special well done to Cpl Richards who has just become the Army Novice Triathlon Champion and is now also the Reigning AGC Tri Champ (overall winner and open category winner) too……and general Media Superstar!

222 SIGNAL SQUADRON
SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Toby Courage
Tp SSgt SSgt Paula Matheson

Summer leave behind us now, and it's a fairly quite run up to Christmas. After a week of 1st line inspections it was off to the Lake District for a week of Adventurous Training, then back for a number of small scale exercises, and preparation for the arrival of the new MAPPS vehicles. Once again there was a steady change of personnel in the Troop, with many new faces, and departures of some of the old salts. New to the Troop are Sgt Mark Whitaker, coming from 264 Sig Sqn. Cpl Phil Farrar from the Royal Military Academy Sandhurst, Cpls Lisa Fraser and Stu Reid transferred from HQ Sqn, LCpl Roy Palmer from a TA unit somewhere and Sig Marshall from 11 Sig Regt. SHQ Troop (especially SSgt Matheson) would like to extend a warm welcome to Capt Toby Courage, our new Squadron 2IC. Welcome back also to Cpls Davies-Morris, Kev Limbert, Carl Peters Turner, all back from a tour of the Balkans. Due to a reshuffle of personnel, the Troop now includes all the Squadrons Lineman, so welcome to LCpl Wilkinson and Sigs Alcock, Brown, Sharp and Stevens. Leaving us for pastures new are SSgt Si Norris, who joins 14 Sig Regt, Sig Vasey who is posted to Blandford, Cpl Varney who joins the Regimental Gene Bay and Cpl Marshall who has rejoined the civvy Corps. Congratulations this month to Sgts Lythe and Matthews on their recent promotions. SHQ Tp have had many sporting achievements including LCpl Graham who is currently in Germany representing the Corps at football. Cpl Varney (I'm never too old for this!) has competed in Windsurfing competitions at Corps and Army level and a special mention for SSgt Matheson who recently competed in the World Duathlon, finishing ninth overall. SHQ Troops Adventurous Training in the Lakes consisted of trekking around Helvellyn, ably led by Sgt Lythe and Cpl Beck and mountain biking, made more memorable by Cpl Warner's cry of 'follow me', just before tumbling over his handlebars and being taken to hospital to have stitches in his leg. Very heroic! Looking to the future, the Troop's time will be dominated by the ongoing preparation for the arrival of the new MAPPS installations, involving a number of courses being run in Christchurch with 21 Sig Regt.

OMAN TROOP

Tp Comd 2 Lt Alisa Labram
Tp SSgt SSgt Daph Clash

The whole week of RSIT prep went without a hitch with everybody mucking in, the Troop seniors included - due to the severe undermanning and lack of experience within the Troop. This help was gratefully appreciated from the people on the garage floor, along with the help received from the SAT's (Soldiers Awaiting Trade) sent from Blandford. With this great team work and high moral the Troop had a very successful inspection. The Squadron had a 'Pace Ex', a regimental communications Exercise before 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt deployed on 'Ex Red Tricorn II' a tactical communications exercise, which was closely followed by 'Ex Spring Foray', again a success for the Squadron. This month we have to say goodbye to Sig Leach who has departed for 1 Div – Germany and Sgt Chris Ogg who is posted to 34 Sig Regt on promotion. Unfortunately there have been no new arrivals to the Troop.

ADEN TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Steve Knight
Tp SSgt SSgt Roy Turner

Goodbye to Cpl Stan Knowles who is off to 7 Sig Regt and LCpl Dave Whitehurst who is off to 16 Sig Regt. Hello to Sig Corr from Blandford.

EXERCISE ADEN UPTURN

On 27 October the Troop deployed to Royal Navel Station Yeovilton to use the Heli-Dunking simulator – this was a moral boosting exercise let by Sgt Steve Pickering. The Troop was subjected to a series of drowning! Half marks were awarded to Sig Craig Washer for his one attempt and full marks awarded to LCpl Nick Graham on his refusal at the first hurdle. All in all a good day was had by all – but is much safer working on Radio Relay Dets – thank you!

ADVENTURE TRAINING - by LCpl Connell

Adventure Training started for the advance party at 0800hrs on Friday 31 August. After packing the essential items, (Stella and dancing rig….oh yeah, and food) they departed for the surfing capital of the UK. Once done, the advance party (later known as the 'original fun boys' but for fear of crating shall remain anonymous) undertook the preparation for the week. For the majority of people the next week was a blur of Adventure Training, socialising with the locals, the glorious win of England over Germany and more Adventure Training. During the day, the Squadron could amuse themselves with canoeing, rock climbing, clay pigeon shooting, trekking and cycling. Since the return of the Squadron from Adventure Training, routine maintenance on the vehicles has resumed, but there have been quite a few 'extra curricular' activities arranged, such as the successful day out to the Corps museum and Salisbury racecourse. We would like to welcome our new Troop Commander, 2Lt Zelaya into the fold. May she have a long and glorious reign over Sharjah Troop upon return from her Troop Commanders Course.

TRIATHLON/DUATHLON ROUND UP

Supervising Officer Maj Bert Appleton
Triathlon Officer SSgt Paula Matheson

It has been a busy, yet fun and rewarding season for the Triathlon/Duathlon team. There are now 21 personnel at 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt who are involved in the sports. Over the season there have been many achievements – some have come as quite a shock! Most of the team has never tried either of the sports before but the grueling training, commitment and dedication put none of them off. The season started off with SSgt Paula Matheson qualifying to represent Great Britain at Duathlon in Rimini in September 2001 and achieving second place at the Army Olympic Triathlon Championships at Bournemouth in July 2001. Cpl Jim Richards has also had a good season – despite coming off his bike and fracturing his nose! He achieved Army Novice Triathlon Champion at the 5 Div Sprint Triathlon on 5 September 2001. Cpl Richards also won the guest category at the AGC Triathlon on 12 September 2001. Well done to Cpl Richards who is looking to make the Army Squad next year, Sgt Pete Farmer has returned to the sport after many years of respite from it! He has done extremely well representing the regiment both individually and as a team member. The female team had a storming Biathlon race at the 5 Div Biathlon Championships (swim/run) gaining a credible first place and a large trophy! This seemed to impress the Regt 2IC – Maj Bateson, (Something had to be shown for the sports grant that was spent on Triathlon kit). 3 (UK) Div HQ and Sig Regt male team also did well and won the relay category at the 5 Div Sprint Triathlon Championships (I must add that they were the only entry for relay teams). All team members have had a busy season – many have entered local and national civilian races and achieved good results. The team is now looking forward to a winter of good base training in preparation for season 2002. The team will be sorry to say farewell to Maj Bert Appleton who is leaving the Army in November onto pastures new. Good luck!

SSGT MATHESON - WORLD DUATHLON COMPETITOR
16 SEPTEMBER 2001

On a cold wet Welsh Sunday (29 April 2001) I stood in transition wondering what to wear for the forthcoming race…. warm kit/cool race kit… the dilemma was echoed throughout transition to the changeable weather. On the start line there was a mixture – I opted for the warm stuff! Swansea was one of two races on the calendar where you could qualify to represent Great Britain at the World Duathlon Championships. It was a hard race – 10km of a grueling cross-country followed immediately by a 40km bike race. The bike course was flat but extremely windy! A 5km cross-country run decided the final positions. To my amazement I was the National Age Group Champion and had qualified to represent Great Britain in Rimini in September.

Preparations were immediately underway. Flights, accommodation, acceptance to the race, race kit and most importantly training!! The season was excellent with lots of races in preparation and lots of structured training with the Army Triathlon Association on numerous training camps – including Cyprus. All was going well until a severe ankle injury just 4 weeks before the race. With lots of advice and physio the injury healed slowly but surely. Despite no run training prior to the race I was able to keep my fitness up with swimming, cycling and weights. I arrived in Rimini on Tuesday 11 September ready for the administration and parade of the nations phase – it was inspiring and motivational. I was there five days before the race – to watch other age group races and the elites race.

My turn had come. Standing on the start line produced a mixed feeling of pride and determination – despite the healing injury – I wanted to do well. The weather was good, although a little warm – the course was flat and fast. It was a hard race – I was competing against the best athletes from all over the world. The weather held out for the race and competition was fierce. I was glad to finish an overall ninth place in my age group, a position that has secured me an automatic qualification to represent Great Britain again next year – this time in Atlanta. With a good off-season of base training I hope to secure a higher position next year. Some other achievements this year have been:

Second at the Army Olympic Distance Triathlon
First at Cambridge Olympic Distance Triathlon
Third at Waterlooville Triathlon
National Age Group Duathlon Champion
Part of Army female team that came second in the National Triathlon Relay Championships

I would recommend Duathlon/Triathlon to anyone who likes to swim, run or bike. It is an extremely exhilarating sport and the benefits are just too long to list, an excellent end to a fun but hard season of Triathlon and Duathlon.

CORPORAL JACKIE DAVIES
GB 1 BRAKEMAN WINTER OLMYPICS 2002……..WHO!

Those new to the Regiment will not even recognise the name, and it has been so long that I'm not sure that even I (Regt 2IC) would recognise the face. She does at least always answer her mobile, but I couldn't vouch for her ITDs being in date! After almost a year of full time training Cpl Jackie Davies has been selected to be the brakeman of GB1 (2- man bobsleigh) on this winter's World Cup circuit. This obviously puts her in an excellent position for selection for the British Olympic Squad for 2002. Congratulations.

The Officers and SNCOs of 229 (Berlin) Signal Squadron

The few months have been a particularly busy time for Squadron HQ as the galactic battle for information in the communications world rose to new heights with the squadron re-rolling to form RSC Headquarters in support of the ARRC. The change from the normal Trunk role was initiated to take over from 16 Signal Regiment as they warped at light speed to Oman. Much of the exercise planning had been done by the Ops Team who were intrepidly commanded on their quest by their illustrious leader Capt 'Radio Rob' Francis with his loyal Jedi Yof S 'Yoda' Boase and FofS 'Fraggle Rock' Frangleton whose juggling of many hats on exercise was impressive. The OC has been going around as happy as a wombat in a waterhole as he counts the days until his departure down under. Apparently the European weather is a trifle chilly! The preparation for the mammoth Christmas move to Bruggen is well underway with the cobwebs being shaken out of some very dark corners with some stores rivalling the Corps museum at Blandford for content! We look forward to the busy months ahead and wait earnestly for the tasks to follow (and the trip to Berlin).

CHARLIE TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Dixon
Tp SSgt SSgt Littlefield

EXERCISE ARRCADE WARRIOR

Ex Arrcade Warrior was the start of the ARRC training exercise season for 229 Sig Sqn. Usually operating as a trunk squadron the two trunk nodes hastily re-rolled to form a MAN and provide a headquarters support to RSC. We deployed early morning and arrived at a disused military fire station close to the Dutch Border. ARRC Support Battalion had already finished off their sweeping and gardening duties and had reclaimed the site from nature once more. Within three days we had set up the Headquarters and solved the majority of our teething problems allowing the staff to exercise in preparation for the forthcoming Ex Arrcade Fusion. The evenings were livened up by quizzes to rival the best Saturday TV game shows and lessons were prepared and given by most Troop members, in the sumptuous luxury of the admin area designed and co-ordinated by SSgt Littlefield. The days provided ample opportunity for every high-ranking officer in the area to come on a visit and provided the ideal environment for all manner of creative briefs as to what exactly we were up too. The final days allowed us to welcome Sgt Yuill who joined us on exercise from sunny Blandford. Special mention to LCpl 'Ten Marks' Rodmell for enduring his final exercise with 229 Sig Sqn prior to departing to 16 Sig Regt and thanks again from the Troop, for the gift he left under cab C and the grapes, also the departure of Sig 'Patch' Adams who recently left the Troop and the Army, all the best in Civi Street. The Troop looks forward to the forthcoming exercise to watch with mild curiosity to see if anyone manages to pull out their hair again!

232 SIGNAL SQUADRON ADVENTUROUS TRAINING
SSM WO2 (SSM) M. Browitt
EXERCISE CANADIAN BACKSTOP

During August, six members of 232 Sig Sqn were deployed on a two-week adventurous training expedition to the Canadian Rockies. We flew into Calgary and then headed south for the Rockies with the aim of trekking unsupported in the remote Yoho National Park. The trek started with the ascent of the 4000ft Burgess Pass, which was an experience in itself as we were all carrying equipment for five days. After several hours climbing we reached the top and stopped to catch our breath. We then continued along the Highline Trail, which gave us amazing views of glacial lakes and distant end moraines of glaciers towards our first nights camping at Yoho Lake. The only incident of the day was when Sig 'Blondie' Thorburn announced he'd lost the map and compass somewhere along the trail. Fortunately for him a spare was at hand. The campsites along the trail were all backcountry camps and their only facilities were a bear pole and a portaloo. The more hardy members of the expedition then dived into the lake to cool off which at 3 degrees didn't take long!!

After our first nights wild camping we set off along the Yoho Trail towards Twin Falls campsite. Some of the downhill sections proved to be difficult for all of us as we each took it in turns to fall over. We then visited some of the highest and coldest waterfalls in Canada as they all originate from glaciers thousands of feet above. Along the trail we were always on the lookout for bears, which we never saw (much to Sig McColm's disappointment), I think that was due to the amount of noise we were making which meant every bear within a large radius had left. Later that day the Boss had promised cakes and muffins at a chalet she had visited some years before, one and a half kilometres uphill above the campsite. Some of the team actually ran to the chalet only to be disappointed as the only thing being offered was lemon tea (Cpl Neil Cansfield's face was particularly worth mentioning especially as he kept repeating 'no food, no food').

The next day started with a tough climb to the top of Twin Falls that left us all gasping for breath and quite hungry so we stopped for a few more photos before we set off along the Whaleback Trail. Our destination was Little Yoho campground, which was high, and therefore cold at night, another early night beckoned. Sig 'Stainsy' McColm is worth a special mention here as he single-handedly grabbed the golden blanket award along the trail by being in his tent snoring before 1700hrs every night!.

The next day saw us climbing Kiwetinok Pass, which was only a half-day walk to allow the two blister kids 'Stainsy' and 'Blondie' to rest their feet. We then returned back to Little Yoho and settled in for the night.

The Team move along the Iceline Trail, behind is one of the glacier fields

The next day's walking was definitely the best of the trail, as we walked along the Iceline Trail with views of some spectacular glaciers. It was like walking on the moon at times, as there was nothing growing at all at such a high altitude. We were headed back to Yoho Lake for the night again on our arrival nothing stopped some of the team sampling the glacial waters of the lake which were apparently colder than before. This was to be our last night on the Trail so the talk shifted to what we would eat and drink on our return to civilisation. In the morning everyone was keen to set off early but we had time for just one more photo before we left.

The Team before we set off for Emerald Lake in the rare sunshine

We were headed to Emerald Lake the colour of which definitely lived up to its name. On our arrival the tourists must have taken one look at us to think we'd been in the backcountry for weeks! After a well deserved rest we headed towards a campsite with showers for a well earned BBQ. We then drove to Vancouver for a day of R & R, which included a baseball game, which was excellent and the team now has six new fans. We then headed back to the trail and Lake O'Hara that was a 24mile day hike to one of the most secluded lakes in Canada. It was well worth the walk in, we then tried to find a campsite for the night but several had been closed due to a grizzly bear being seen in the area. We eventually found a spot and set up in the dark. We then managed or should I say Sig Jack Hawkins then managed to get lost. This did cause us a bit of concern as we all were in our sleeping bags, but not for long as Sig 'I'll find him!' McColm set off on a rescue mission. As he wasn't within two feet of the tent he then came back and said 'Is he back yet?'. Fortunately Jack found his own way back and hadn't been eaten alive. It was all over so soon but there was still time for Sig 'Blondie' Thorburn to buy yet more fridge magnets, and it was time to board the plane after a fantastic expedition to the Rockies and one we won't forget.

PARACHUTE JUMP 29 AUGUST 2001 - By LCpl Cave

On 29 August 2001 ten UFOs where spotted above Bad Lippspringe airfield. Was it a bird? Was it a plane? No, just a group of nutters from HQ Sqn, attending the RAPA one jump parachute course. The day went off to a flying start when, following a 5am wake up call, organizer Sgt 'Kick Him Out First' Middleton asked LCpl 'What Map?' Cave for the directions when he realised that the driver Sig 'Dusty' Binns didn't know exactly where the centre was. However, with the aid of one of those friendly German policemen that you find lurking about, we finally arrived at our destination, fingernails bitten and nerves well and truly on edge. A day of intensive training lay ahead under the instruction of Gunner 'Buz' Busby. Following a morning which involved laying about on our stomachs and exiting imaginary planes, midday saw us all strapped into suspended harnesses practicing drills, whilst Sig Binns painfully came to the realisation that maybe his leg straps where not fitted correctly!

A few more hours of running about in Ompa Lompa style orange jump suits and we were all (sort of) ready to take the plunge. Surprisingly, no one bottled it and we all managed to leave the plane before landing, although LCpl 'Scare Story' Griffin took a little more convincing than most. Jump of the day award went to LCpl 'White as a Ghost' Roberts, who managed to leave the airfield in a plane and arrive back in a Range Rover. After achieving an almost perfect exit, she decided half way through her descent back down to earth that she had probably reached the top of this particular sport and should focus her efforts on the game of golf. Last seen disappearing behind the tree line, she was discovered in the middle of the putting green surrounded by a group of bewildered golfers. Other participants in the course included Sgt Ashman, Cpl 'Trigger' Routledge, LCpl Depport, LCpl Hart, LCpl Darwin and LCpl Cave. At the end of the day we all piled into the minibus, along with a few extra grey hairs, all ready to plan our next visit, oh and pick up the application form for our Para selection of course!

Since the last edition of The WIRE the Squadron has undergone a fairly busy period. It deployed on its first ARRC exercise since its reformation in March this year after a period of summer leave. The exercise whilst hard work was a success and has made the Squadron ready for the major exercise of the year – Ex Arrcade Fusion in October. The Squadron will be in the Sennelager area for the entirety of the exercise. There are elements of the Squadron that are still on deployment elsewhere, in the main this is the majority of Radio Tp who are deployed to Oman on Ex Saif Sareer. Unfortunately they have been struck by the dreaded 'Dheli-Belly' and they have to cope with the extremes of temperatures out there. The rest of the Squadron wish you fellas all the best and look forward to welcoming you all back in November. We would like to say congratulations to Cpl 'Cass' Caswell whose wife Jo gave birth to a baby boy last month. Well done and best wishes.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP - By Cpl Damian Gunn

Well, its time to catch up with the goings on within TM Tp, and it's not been without its share of ups and downs. First of all may we wish a warm welcome to Cpl Matthew Grant and LCpls Dean Gibson, Derry Evans, Rob Lawton, Vinnie Smith and Adrian Nichols, and best wishes to Cpl Daz Owen and Cpl Mat Turner who are off pursuing their careers in the form of their T1. Not forgetting Cpl Pete Byrne and LCpl 'Gonzo' Reid, who are off to relish the delights of Germany! Those within the Troop who almost departed, but didn't quite get out of the Troop's clutches are Cpl 'Taff' John, whom despite getting his posting order didn't manage to make it out of the door, and LCpl 'Dougie' Douglas who remained for reasons we won't go into at this stage! It seems it's going to be a busy month for TM Tp, processing the return of the guy's from there six month holiday in the Falkland Islands which included LCpls 'Stav' Constanti, Steve Lavin, 'Nige' Gerrish, and Sigs Chris Turnbull, Rutter, Andy Davis and Andy Poole. Sig Andy Poole managed to dismiss the theory about Scots and their money while in Montevedio with Sig Davis, when he was quite willing to spend considerable amounts of money on local 'entertainment'! Also, returning from 'the wars' is Cpl Mat Turner who still retained the unofficial 'boxing' title between TM Tp and MT Tp while out in Kosovo, and of course, not forgetting our own ops, doing our bit for the Welsh countryside during Op Penninsula. During our eventful few months, while most were away on ops, the rest of the Troop managed to get away adventure training to Weymouth, courtesy of the LAD. Cheers lads! The week started as it meant to go on. First with the hill walking, which was about 14 miles long and seemed to include every hill in Dorset. Also, SSgt Dave Evans seemed to be stripped of his sarcastic powers until at least the early afternoon. Perhaps it was left in the car park toilet! Then onto the sailing, in which, despite warning Sig Roy Theobald about the dangers of losing his glasses, he assured everyone that it would be okay because he had sailed before. Needless to say Sig Theobald's glasses remained on his head for about 20 seconds before plunging to the depths of the ocean! Other events that filled the already eventful week included climbing, drinking, abseiling, drinking, pot holing, and, yes, drinking! Last, but not least, the HQ Squadron Summer function went well, and a good time was had by all, thanks to the planning and preparation of Sgt Dave Greenstreet and Cpl Tony Livsey, as well as other departments personnel

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS TROOP – by SSgt Norris
Tp Comd SSgt Norris
Tp Sgt Sgt Kinsey

Having just arrived in the Squadron and taken over from FofS Andy Amies, who has moved down stairs to 237 Sig Sqn (EW), it has been hard to talk to anyone within the Troop due to them all being away on either Op tours or running pre-para courses. Having said that the Squadron has been running smoothly and there have been numerous changes to both the garages and the SHQ corridor, which now boasts a new conference room designed by WO2 (SSM) Watson, supplied by SSgt (SQMS) Sorley and painted by SSgt Norris. The Squadron is due to get the majority of soldiers back from Macedonia including the OC Sqn and half the Ops team. In their absence the Squadron organised a golf tournament at the local golf course and all had a brilliant day. The best shot was a close call between Sgt Morgan, SSgt Norris and Capt Jones. Sgt Morgan hit the ball off the tee with that much power it was last seen on the way to Swansea. SSgt Norris hit the ball off the tee, on a par three, and the ball was way off target then it hit a small mound, shot across the fairway and landed six inches from the hole. But the shot of the day must go to Capt Jones who hit the ball with his wood and looked as though it was going to go 200 metres straight down the fairway. Unfortunately the ball hit the main power lines, which were directly in front of him travelled down the line for about 20 meters before going out of play. On the equipment front the Regiment is preparing for its first Regimental Exercise in a long time, planned for the summer of 2002 and this has left everyone running around trying to find vehicles that belong to them but they have never seen! I am sure that by the time it comes round to the exercise everything will have been sorted out.

EXERCISE AGGRESSIVE IRON

Ex Aggressive Iron was an MND (C) military skills competition held over the period 25-27 June 2001. The long journey to Vogelsang in Germany began on 23 June. 226 Sig Sqn (EW) sent over a team of 11 to compete with teams from Germany and Belgium. Unfortunately the Foot and Mouth restrictions and troop exercises severely hampered the training programme. On arriving at Vogelsang the team Captain, WO2 (Supvr Rad) Crawley, booked the team in and drew the team number for the competition. There were 14 teams entered into the competition, and every team had to participate in eight events over two days and the final march and shoot held on the third day. The eight events were pistol and rifle shooting, sniper stalk, night navigation, orienteering, recce, tactical shoot, machine gun and logistics. The team consisted of eight members with three reserves, but we rotated the reserves in and out of the team so every one had a chance to participate. The various stands were spread over the Vogelsang Training Area, so the teams were allowed to use their vehicles to move between the stands. The stands were well thought out by event organisers and tested many aspects of military skills.

'Was this taken before or after the march and shoot?

Every member of the team enjoyed all the events they took part in, even when they did not do particularly well in the event. There were some exceptional performances from certain team members during the competition, especially the various shooting stands. We were let down by our pistol shooting but it was a different story on the rifle and GPMG. Every member of the team shot well but special mention should go to SSgt Andy Davies and Sig Steve Langhorne who dropped 5 figure 12 targets from 400 metres. A feat not matched by many teams in the competition. The march and shoot on the last day was over 10km and involved going over the assault course after the first 1.5km and watermanship skill (crossing a lake in a RIB, a distance of about 700m) after approx 5km.

The team did very well at this finishing seventh out of 14 teams in a time of two hours. On the whole the team did very well, especially as there was very little training done before the event. We finished fifth out of the ten Combat Support Arms Teams and we are looking forward to next year's event where we intend to improve on our final position. The whole event was finished off with a BBQ and beer drinking in which we participated fully; obviously!

With the early cancellation of many exercises due to the foot and mouth outbreak, the last few months have been a relatively quiet period with the Troop deploying on only one major exercise. 16 Air Assault Brigade's Ex Eagles Strike saw the Troop deploy a CP element and two patrols with 2 Para Patrols Platoon in support of the Battlegroup. Three days of exercise prep, followed by four days deployed in the field was finished off with the customary six-hour drive back to Brawdy. The following couple of months were the usual mix of demos to various organisations, and saw the departure of Cpl (Sgt-to-be) Dave Janvier and Sgt Bren Matthews to Macedonia, Sgt Simon Green doing his PTI thing on 216 Sig Sqn's pre-para and the arrival of WO2 Russ Foster as the new Troop boss. Finally good luck goes out to Sigs Mooney and Luxford who are off on P-Company in October and to the others who are going on the November course.

226 SIGNAL TROOP (ELECTRONIC WARFARE)
OPERATION BESSEMER

Well it was 15 August 2001, slap in the middle of the summer leave period and it finally happened; the call for Task Force Harvest. Members of 226 Sig Tp (EW) were dotted around the world happily on holiday and had only a matter of days to arrive back to deepest and darkest Wales from where they would deploy. The furthest away was OC 226 Sig Sqn (EW) Maj Jonathan 'Its all my EW assets' Gillespie, who at the time was enjoying a sailing holiday in the middle of the Greek Islands. Unlucky Maj G!

After the usual on and off the bus, courtesy of the RAF, the Troop led by 2Lt Eddie 'Tripod' Maskell-Pedersen managed to get out to the FYROM in dribs and drabs ready to deploy into action, only to find that when we arrived, we could not get permission to deploy our dets onto high ground. So this meant that we had to stay at Camp Able Sentry (CAS), an American camp whose 24hr cookhouse kept Sgt Bren 'Just one more pancake' Matthews happy for the extra mornings spent there. We finally got permission to deploy the Troop and the EW team got working straight away. While the Weapon Collection Sites were open we also deployed mobile teams to each of them to provide direct force protection to the BG. We supported all three of the BGs; the French who would never deploy without their beer and wine (much to the team's joy, as they had to do the political thing and help the French drink their supplies), the UK Weapon Collection was led by 2 PARA and finally the IT BG whose Pizzeria is the best in theatre.

The first collection with the FR BG was nearly cancelled, as there was a small contact ahead of the convoy. This situation was quickly resolved as the French Foreign Legion stop for nothing and decided to carry on regardless. 2Lt 'take cover' M-P was left a bit twitchy after this incident, much to SSgt Andy Barber's amusement he nearly took cover on the next operation at the mere sound of the weapons being put in the ISO container (Well that's the story he is telling everyone, but of cause 2LT M-P will tell it differently). Sgt Matthews and Cpl Dave 'give me a bigger bergen' Janvier managed to get out on many of the LEWT tasks and received the pleasure of tabbing up large hills to set up the OPs for the Weapon Collection Operations. While all this was going on, the running of the Troop CP in 2Lt M-Ps absence was left in the capable hands of Q Paul 'I am the Troop OpsWO' Crawley, insuring that the deployed teams needs were catered for and that they were ready for fixture tasking.

While all of this was going on we still managed to enter a team in the 5-man relay run competition, which was hosted by the Americans at CAS. Even though the team consisted of those not on shift, we still did the Regt proud and in a tight fought competition and came third overall out of 20 teams. WO2 Mel Richards was one of the team members and for once was not the oldest member taking part in the competition, but once again his experience paid off in him beating a large majority of the younger competitors in the race. Also during the fast pace of the deployment there was still time for the sprogs to complete their class two exam. So a well done to Sigs Chris Rees, 'Lofty' Hannam and LCpl 'Clive' Clayton for all successfully passing their class two and also the YofS Lee 'I'm far too busy' Davis for finding time in his busy schedule to fit in these important tests.

We have managed to get off quite lightly with only one casualty of war in the form of newly promoted Sgt Lance 'just one more can of coke' Beaton, who managed to get an early flight home as he had a bit of a stomach ache from downing two cans of coke. The remainder of the Troop is in good spirits and looking forward to the end of the deployment. Cpl 'must be massive' Carnall has not felt satisfied unless he has spent at least an hour a day looking at himself straining in the mirror in preparation for returning to his lady friend IT Lynch. LCpl Trearty is keeping himself busy with the odd run when be can fit it in and Cpl Brumfield has kept himself very busy reading all the mail he received and topping up his tan (it's a very demanding life in the Balkans). Now in the final stage of weapon collection we are all working around the clock for the final push. Just as morale started to drop we received two massive boxes of goodies from Woolworths, which meant for the final few weeks of the tour the whole Troop had to fight off the 'chocoholic' Sgt Jane Bottomley to get any themselves. We are definitely ready and looking forward to returning home to the UK for some well-deserved leave.

What a motley crew!

XVI 16 SIGNAL REGIMENT

CO Lt Col A. Morphet
RSM WO1 (RSM) N. Fisher

These last few months have been very hectic for the Regiment where a great deal of attention has been directed towards preparation for and deployment to Oman in support of Ex Saif Sareea. The subsequent mass exodus of troops has resulted in a degree of quietude back home, but we are not complaining.

REGIMENTAL FAMILIES DAY

This year's Regimental Families Day was a major undertaking that fell squarely on the shoulders of WO2 RQMS Mark Giles and his very small team of helpers from the Quartermaster Admin Dept. The day itself took place just prior to block leave and coincided with the visit of the Lord Mayor of Leicester. In what turned out to be an exceptionally busy week manpower was very much at a premium and the RQ and his team slaved long and hard to ensure all was right on the day. Indeed as RQ Giles was soon taking up a post with a youth training team in London he was determined to make the event his September song, as indeed it turned out to be. The weather gods smiled very favourably and the RQ's prayers were rewarded by excellent weather.

The main thrust of the day was very much geared towards the children and there were plenty of activities to keep them amused. Most popular was the TOYS R US Road show that provided a large number of battery operated cars, bikes and trikes complete with circuit and stewards. This attraction proved to be a magnet for the youngsters and allowed parents to observe from and take advantage of the many watering holes that abounded. The bigger children (ie: the troops) kept themselves, and a large audience amused, with a tailored down version of 'It's a Knockout'. The event was spread across the afternoon and involved plenty of water and bouncing about on inflated things. The tug of war became a little disjointed and was eventually won by Sig Snooks and two hundred others. The eventual winners of the overall event were a composite team from Headquarter Squadron.

Another attraction was the exotic pets' stand run by LCpl Driver and Cpl Blears. There was a time when soldiers sought permission to keep gerbils, hamsters, budgies and the like with the odd request for exotic pets such as tropical fish. On parade this day were several pythons, a boa constrictor, rat snakes, a tarantula, lizards and a strange looking South American Toad, all property of serving soldiers. The stand nonetheless proved very popular, perhaps as a type of therapy allowing people to confront their fears! Although it was noticeable of the wide berth a number of people elected to adopt when passing.

REGIMENTAL BOXING

On Wednesday 24 July the Regiment took on the Support Battalion HQ ARRC in a charity boxing match. The event was held outside No. 2 Gymnasium JHQ, fortunately the weather held to allow for an excellent night's entertainment for all. The event was put together by the QMSI Bob Price ably supported by a number of people but in particular Capt Kev Stainburn and Sgt Rob Kirk who are singled out for special mention. The preparation of the Regimental team was meticulous and consisted of trips back to Aldershot for technical sessions in addition to the physical prep around the local area. A great emphasis was placed into developing a comraderie amongst the team and this was particularly evident on the night when skill, fitness and spirit were key factors in the Regiment's excellent victory of seven bouts to one. There were many notable performances on the night but the best boxer prize went to LCpl Sonny Faid for his performance at Welter weight. A special mention goes out to Sig Nikki Horton who competed in a ladies exhibition bout narrowly losing on points.

In addition to the competition two framed autographed soccer shirts donated by Newcastle and Man United were auctioned. This raised the grand sum of 1700DM which will be donated to the JHQ community primarily to be used to enhance the limited youth sports programme. The event was sponsored by BMW and Mr Robert Day flew in from UK to be present at the contest and present some of the prizes.

BATTLEFIELD TOUR - YPRES

On Tuesday 28 August some 38 Officers, Warrant Officers and SNCOs of 16 Signal Regiment conducted a Battlefield Tour of the Ypres Salient. The event was organised by Lts Pittaway and Knightly-Brown and concentrated primarily on 'Third Ypres', perhaps better known as the Battle of Passchendaele. The day started with a visit to the Flanders Field Museum, in the town of Ypres. This is an excellent facility, well laid out and very informative. After lunch the party embarked on a guided tour of the Salient finishing at Tyne Cot Cemetery on Passchendaele Ridge. The cemetery is the largest of those owned by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission. It is very impressive and leaves a lasting impression of the great sacrifices made by the 12000 soldiers that are buried there. At sunset the group attended the very moving Last Post ceremony at the Menin Gate. The ceremony was conducted by the Commanding Officer, Lt Col A. N. Morphet, who read a verse from the poem 'The Fallen' before laying a wreath on behalf of all ranks of the Regiment.

LEICESTER TROPHY

The Leicester Trophy Sports competition is an event that extends over a 12-month period and is competed for at troop level. The event encompasses all the conventional sports disciplines with the exception of the final one, which is the indoor obstacle and endurance event, a total of 12 events in all. Those who have served with the Regiment will know the importance and emphasis placed on the competition and it is a splendid way of engendering sport within the unit as well as establishing contacts between personnel within a unit that is relatively so geographically fragmented. This year's endurance event coincided with the Lord Mayor of Leicester's visit and he was a keen spectator. It was an extremely hot day and fortune favoured the teams that got off early. The event was eventually won by Support Troop of 255 Squadron. However, the overall trophy went to SCPR of 252 Signal Squadron. Unfortunately with this years large overseas exercise and next year's two major operational deployments, coupled with the Regimental move to Bruggen the forthcoming Leicester Trophy Competition will be a sawn off version and will be contained to a five day period in January.

QM (A) Maj 'Scotty' Handibode
RQMS (A) WO2 Andy Baird

The Department would like to welcome to the new Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant Admin, WO2 Andy 'Commando' Baird, who has taken the leap across from being the Headquarters Squadron Sergeant Major. No more waving that stick at us 'Sir' all in the department would like to wish him well in his new post (he will need it on the big move to Bruggen) at the beginning of 2002. A farewell to the Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant Admin, WO2 Mark Giles, after serving a year at Wegberg DCSA (G) as RQMS, followed by I am sure two long hard years at 16 Signal Regiment as RQMS (A), it is time to say goodbye and so long. WO2 Mark Giles has moved on to a somewhat cushier job at a Cadet Training Team in Middlesex. He will be missed by all, but I am quite sure after a couple of weeks in London he will not be missing us. 'Good luck for the future' and keep those eyes focused on the job.

A fond farewell to LCpl 'Jobbo' Jobson on posting leaving LCpl 'Smiley' Hawkes to run the Regimental Servicing Bay (on his own) keep up the good work Andy! After having his legs fixed its good to see Sgt 'More metal than a T2000' Tanner getting back to his fitness regime again with a little help from the lads and Sgt 'Just a quick 60 miles on the bike' Morley.

TECHNICAL MAINTENANCE TROOP

The month of August has been a very busy one for the lads and lassies of TM Troop. We have been inundated with kit for the forthcoming exercise in Oman and have also had to say goodbye to three major personalities from the Troop. First of all I would like to say cheers to 230 Sqn for the prompt way they handed in all their faulty kit just before block leave, it was really appreciated. Whilst on the subject of Saif Serea we would like to wish Sgt 'Get your knee down' Spruce, Cpls 'Posh Lad' Cadogan and 'Horse Face' Meardon all the best in the sand. We can't wait until you get back to JHQ so you can visit Pike's garden again.

The Troop, as aforementioned, has lost three major personalities this month due to postings, but I'm glad to say that every one of the lads has gone out with a 'BANG'. The first to leave was Cpl 'I'm loved up' Shepherd to 280 Sig Sqn. For Shep's leaving-do we all went on a excursion to Six Flags in Amsterdam and as usual it was a barrel of laughs from the word go. The day started with us all leaving JHQ in convoy at eight in the morning. What followed was like something out of wacky races, with people overtaking all over the place and the world's fastest McDonalds pit stop. Once we arrived at the park we all split into our little groups and embarked on our mission to try every ride in the park. Cpl Andy Carter, Cpl Jowett, LCpl Andy O'Neill and myself managed to get sideways under the power on the log rides. Well after that the day went brilliantly and it wasn't long before we were back on our way to sunny JHQ and the 'BAR'.

I'd also like to say hello to the new guys in the Troop, LCpls Hart, Jarvis, Sheehan, Bray, Simpkins, Briggs, Ellison, Young, Heydon and Robson. None of them have got a clue about anything yet - apart from LCpl Robson, but he looks about 40 anyway. On a sadder note we have to say farewell to Cpl Andy Conner and Cpl Andy Carter. They will be missed a great deal by the Troop and we wish them well.

RAO DEPARTMENT

RAO Capt Stainburn
Det Comd WO1 Williams

For some years we relied upon the Rheindahlen Army Support Unit (RASU) for our pay and administration. With a move to Bruggen planned for early 2002, it was decided that 16 should have its own AGC Detachment. I was delighted to be offered the post of AGC Detachment Commander and working in conjunction with the Regimental Administrative Officer, Capt (Major WEF 30 September 2001) Kev Stainburn we set about the task in hand. After almost six months of slogging it out, getting such necessities as desks, chairs, office furniture, phone lines, computers, UNICOM and, most important of all, staff we were up and running. With the majority of the staff in situ by the end of October 2000 we opened our doors to the 'public' in November 2000, providing a full service less BFG documentation, which was retained by RASU. With the implementation of Pay 2000 in April 2001 and the annual Pay/Documentation inspection in July 2001 we have had a very busy year. It is to the whole Detachment's credit that we managed to transfer across to Pay 2000 with very few anomalies and pass the inspection in both disciplines. Remarkable achievements considering the diverse roles and locations of 16 Signal Regiment personnel and the limited time we physically had with the documents themselves. On our move to Bruggen we will employ additional staff in order to perform our secondary role of Central Services Support for Javelin Barracks. This will make us one of the largest AGC Detachments in any major unit. We look forward immensely to the Bruggen move and the challenges which no doubt lie ahead.

From the happy campers in the corner of Krefeld Lines, JHQ. Everything is coming up roses with the Board of Officers. LOG SP Inspection and Battle Camp completed to a high degree of satisfaction. Has anyone seen our 'GULF'(or do I mean GOLF) heroes? Last seen on the nineteenth hole with beer in their hands, well done to Capt (hole in one Horton) BEM! Where are the drinks lads? The department says farewell to WO2 (RQMS) 'Clarence' Giles on posting to the Army Cadet Team. Sgt Ian 'Where's my posting?' Taylor cracks on with our ET with little help from the steam driven computer system that we have. Sgt John 'Where are those twenty televisions?' Hoskins, Cpl Mark 'Nearly a real Corporal' Ellis as he is on his Corporals Course. Cpl Paul Munslow on his forthcoming posting back to no LOA in the Iron Division in UK. All the lads and lasses look forward to our little camping trip with AARC on Ex Arrcade Fusion.

REGIMENTAL GENERATOR SECTION

Since the deployment of 230 Signal Squadron on Ex Saif Sareea II, the GRS hasn't been too over loaded with work. LT OOU has kept us busy with the MEI'S and some work has come from them. One thing to happen is the very much overdue and well-deserved promotion of Cpl Bruce Findlay. At least he will get plenty of skiing at 249 Signal Squadron when he arrives there in January.

EXERCISE FIRST RIDE 2001

On the evening of Tuesday 26 June 2001, a team of three riders (said very loosely), Sgt Gaz Paterson, Cpl Ged Quinn and Cfn Ian Saint and chief mechanic Cfn Matt Squires, set off to Achme Training Area Osnabruck, to compete in the BAG and REME Motorcycle Championships. On our arrival at the training area we immediately set up the BBQ and discussed our tactics for the forth-coming event. After a very uncomfortable mosquito and horse fly bitten night it was time to forget about the nerves and get down to some serious motorcycling. Well sort of. The morning trial sections were as ever difficult, even for the experienced riders let alone the complete novice. After a few minor mechanical faults we all managed to return to the parc ferme. The next stage of the day was a timed lap of the motocross circuit with a bogey time of 2 minutes 20 seconds set by Mr Bill Buckley, with a point per second over the bogey time added to your final score. Ged and Ian unfortunately were over the time; Sgt Paterson completed his lap with a storming 2 minutes and 12 seconds. Sgt Paterson was asked to ride the main jumps section so the photographer could take some action shots, however on his last jump he snapped his foot peg off, it was a mad dash to the parc ferme, to renew the foot peg ready for the final stage. Last were the enduro stage 4 laps of a 23-kilometre circuit in a time of 2 hours 30 minutes maximum. On the start gate riders number 1 (Sgt Gaz Paterson) and number 2 were waiting for the signal to start the engine. The signal was given, however, his bike failed to start and he had to push it over the start line and round to the pits, with some help from the master technician Cfn Matt Squires, he was mobile again but set off behind rider number 12. 1 hour and 45 minutes later he crossed the finish line second. The results of the competition were:

REME Motorcycle Team Runners up -
16 Signal Regiment LAD REME Sgt Paterson, Cpl Quinn, Cfn Saint REME Motorcycle Champion Runner up - Sgt Paterson
British Army Germany Runner up - Sgt Paterson
Fastest Special stage (motocross Circuit) - Sgt Paterson

A special thank you to 2 Close Support Regiment RLC for the loan of the motorcycles and the OC and ASM of the LAD for allowing us the time off to compete. Last but definitely not least to 1 BN REME for hosting as ever a fantastic and well-organised event.

252 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj G. Pickersgill

Life goes on in the busiest (and truly operational) Squadron in the Regiment. As usual there have been the plethora of comings and goings. For those who have left, we wish you all good fortune for the future, and for those arriving we hope you will enjoy the challenges, trials and tribulations of working in an Infrastructure CIS Squadron. We continue to support HQ ARRC exercises (Arrcade Warrior, Arrcade Fusion) with 'operational hubbing' and are heavily involved in a number of new equipment trials (ATICS) as a part of the overall CIS capability that is being offered in support of their deployable headquarters.
Furthermore, as a result of being 'targeted' by the Non-Deployable Establishment Review (NDER) we expect a number of major changes to the way we will be doing business in the near future. We will be aligning more closely with HQ DCSA (Germany), the Agency tasked with providing infrastructure communications and information services across the Germany Theatre. We await the outcome with baited breath! Finally, we have been lucky to have enjoyed the company of Sgt Jena Lea of the Royal Australian Corps of Signals on an Ex Long Look attachment, her report follows. We wish you all the best for the future, Jena, and if you are ever in our neck of the woods again - pop in for a cuppa tea.

EXERCISE LONG LOOK 2001

Sgt Jena Lea - Royal Australian Corps of Signals, G'day!

In April this year I was quietly minding my own business at 7 Signal Regiment (EW) in sunny Queensland, when the boss rang and asked if I wanted to go on Ex Long Look. Silly question really! I arrived here in Germany, five days later than planned, on 27 May (apparently the RAF took a while to master the art of tyre changing). I was met at Hanover airport by Sgt Andy Humphris who, quite rightly, recognised that I was delirious with fatigue from the 24 hour flight and so promptly asked me to do a little map reading because 'I think I know how to get back to JHQ from here!' When we finally arrived at JHQ, I met my host SSgt Jayne Lawrence and immediately found myself in the middle of a leaving do, where the amber fluid was flowing freely. It would seem that this set the tone for the rest of my time here. Before I give the wrong impression, I'd like to make it clear that I did do some work while I was here. I was here to replace SSgt Paul Youd at EST (A), 252 Sig Sqn and did, in fact, accompany the team on tasks in Guttersloh, Wulfen and Krefeld. (A quick note to those of you at 7 Signal Regiment… not everyone who wears an Australian uniform is a male officer…it was somewhat disconcerting to notice that the cries of 'Good morning, Sir!' accompanied by a smart salute were being directed at me!) I also spent four weeks with the EST(A) UK team, during which time I was fortunate enough to be able to get away and witness the Edinburgh Tattoo. I also had the opportunity to accompany the team on a task in Cyprus. It was truly unfortunate that I was unable to gain clearance to enter the area where the team was working and so was forced to find something else to do. The beach had a certain appeal…It would seem that Lady Luck was with me during August. It became apparent that there was a position available on an Australian Army adventurous training exercise…two weeks sea kayaking around the Gallipoli Peninsula, Turkey. After partaking of the battlefield tours and seeing the truly horrendous nature of the ground at ANZAC Cove, I will commemorate ANZAC Day with greater understanding and respect for the fallen. It was truly, a once in a lifetime experience. The Long Look experience is unique. In addition to the opportunity to see how another country's defence force does business, one can travel to the other side of the world and experience a different culture. For anyone who ever thought about applying for Long Look and never quite got around to it…. What the hell are you waiting for? I would like to extend grateful thanks to the CO and members of 16 Signal Regiment who went out of their way to make me feel welcome, particularly the members of EST(A), WO2 (FofS) Jim Vincent, Sgt Andy Humphris (that's two crates, mate!) and Sgt Paul Henderson. I would also like to take this opportunity to publicly thank SSgt Jayne Lawrence for her unstinting efforts to ensure that I saw as much of Germany as possible (and a couple for you too, girl!).

255 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Ashley Hayden
SSM WO2 (SSM) Al Ironside

Well its back to the cheap seats for Capt Kevin Barker who returns from his momentary bit of fame and fortune as acting OC to being 2IC as we welcome in Maj Ashley 'Arthur Daley' Hayden as the new OC. Just arrived from Cyprus, it was '255 Dodgy Motors' as the new OC embarked upon his latest wheeler dealing in his endeavours to establish a used car lot. Currently in possession of five cars (including his monster truck), jet ski and assorted other toys we are awaiting the latest enterprise. Rumours that we are about to buy a Squadron yacht appear to be unfounded at this stage but we will let you know if anything happens. The Sqn Ops Team welcomes Lord Lucan, otherwise know as WO2 (IS SUPVR) Patrick Hurge Mogg. If anyone has seen the whereabouts of H-M please do write to us. In fact we do know what he has been doing in his spare time as we say congratulations to both him and Judith on the birth of baby Jonathan. With around a third of the Squadron being in temporary exile with the Saif Sareea grouping it still leaves us with more than 100 pers at JHQ and Bruggen. We still have the Brigade's complete CIS support in the field to maintain whilst Bruggen Tps are still entertaining us. The remainder are temporarily reformed into a Maint Tp whilst we await the re-uniting of the 255 family upon return from the Oman. A big thank you to 229 over at 7 Sig Regt for taking on our RSC commitments for ARRC exercises whilst Saif Sareea rumbles on – unlucky!

CIS TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Herbert
Tp SSgt SSgt Kielty

CIS Troop has been extremely busy over the last month what with Ex Warrior Falcon which was your usual ARRC affair say no more and Arrcade Fusion coming around the corner very shortly we don't know whether we're coming or going. A few good bye's Sgt Robson and his wife Sharon who are both of to the emerald isle - good luck to the both of you, and of course not to forget SSgt Harry Harrison who has gone back to 7 Signal Regiment after a particularly long six month attachment.

BRUGGEN LIFE

No change in the intensive life and work role of Bruggen Troops in the past four months we've been to Ascension Islands, Falkland Islands, Kosovo, Bosnia, Nepal, Oman, Sierra Leone and all over Germany. The Troop is about 64 soldiers strong with around 20 being deployed at any one time in support of any of the above mentioned locations. Bruggen is, however, changing. The past few months have seen all the flying Squadrons leave and now the Rock Apes are due to leave and that just leaves the engineering and ops squadrons to go. Plans are in full swing for the imminent arrival of both 7 and 16 Sig Regts, with Bruggen Troops being heavily involved in the restructuring of communications systems within the new Javelin Barracks set up. On Friday 21 September 2001 the Troop decided to have its final big bash before the rest of the British Army move in. After much hard work and some excellent planning the final function was held at the D oranje Hotel in Roermond. Starting with a champagne reception and moving onto a huge international buffet and copious amounts of Beer the Troop danced the night away till the early hours of the morning. Special thanks to the man who made it all possible Cpl Dec 'Airborne' Maher and his selected posse for laying on a truly great night. On Tuesday 26 September 2001 it was decided to invite our fellow members of 255 Sig Sqn down to the bar for a games night. Games included darts, pool, golf bowls, table soccer and nails. Food from the local Chinese was brought in and, once again, lots of beverages were consumed. The eventual winners were the guests but the lads and our token lass won the boat race. Thanks to SSgt Gaz Tinsley and Cpl Mick Makin for setting it all up and may be next time we will kick rump.

PROTEUS CAMP 8 – 22 SEPTEMBER 2001
OC Proteus Camp Capt Masson
Camp SSM WO2 (SSM) Glanville

Proteus is a CCF training camp situated two miles outside of Ollerton, near Newark, Nottinghamshire. The OCs aim for the Squadron training camp was to provide a challenging, diverse environment combining the Regular and Territorial Army elements of Headquarters Squadron, 43 (Wx) Sig Sqn (V) and HQ Tp (V). The training covered was ITDs, progressing to advanced military skills and arduous events. To set the scene the main party paraded at 0800hrs on Saturday 8 September, ready to deploy, when the rain started over Colerne. 'If it ain't raining it ain't training' was the overwhelming response. On arrival WO2 'Gunny' Giles shouted, 'Collect your monkeys and parrots and let's move,' the training had begun. The first week comprised of revision with shake out drills to bring the three units together. Everyone began to jell immediately, with the training groups being made up from all ranks. Ex Red Jade, which was to confirm lessons taught was conducted on the local training area. It began to rain as we deployed to the first location, a farmhouse in Beckingham Training Area, where a defensive location was set up using the supplied defence stores. The heavy rain continued until 2100hrs, which gave the standing patrols enough time to get soaked.

Advance One and Be Recognised

Sig Porter and LCpl Turnball 'A force to be reckoned with'

The enemy attacked at 0207hrs for long enough to encourage WO2 Giles to tell the Platoon OC to move at 0500hrs as their position was compromised. The move by Bedford to Proteus Training Area B, with 2Lt 'Columbus' Fish in command ensured the drivers saw most of the North of England. The exercise continued with the platoon being split down into the three sections, in separate locations carrying out Reece's, wooded defence locations and ambushes against the other sections. The exercise finished on Friday 14 September 2001 at 1045hrs with all exercise personnel and those left in Proteus camp parading at 1100hrs, in the field, to observe the three minutes silence for those affected in the atrocities, in America, on Tuesday 11 September 2001. The mid-way point in the exercise involved NBC on Saturday morning, followed by a BCFT, in preparation for the cultural visits and a few beers on Sunday. Week 2 began with a 3-day range package on Beckingham Ranges. This finished with an LSW competition shoot and a difficult Rifle 5.56, 400m standing position competition shoot put together by SSgt Ken Snell. At the end of the package the standard of shooting by everyone had greatly improved and was enjoyed by everyone. The training camp culminated on Friday 21 September with a patrol competition over a 10mile course, devised by OC HQ Sqn, Maj 'Not long enough' Dean, with 4 x 8-man teams completing the 10miles and six stands, including an assault course and 25meter range. The CO, Lt Col I. Hooper, and WO1 (RSM) D. Rook escorted each section during various legs of the course. 2Lt 'Columbus' Fish, in charge of 1 Section, was true to form by taking her section straight past Stand 1, 300m from the start, whilst escorted by the CO and RSM.

March and Shoot Section 3 'Happy Days'

The event proved to be very competitive with Section 1 and 2 being headed by two young officers, Sections 3 and 4 led by WO2 (SSM) Chapman and WO2 (TWO) Giles. The result was decided by the overall course time and penalty points picked up on each stand. The final winners were Section 2 Led by 2Lt Hannaford, ably assisted by SSgt 'Spence' Ord. The winners were presented Tankards by the Commanding Officer, as were the shooting competition winners, Best Rifle 5.56 shot Sig Hamblin and Best LSW shot Sgt Scott. The camp clean up had been mainly completed by SSgt (SQMS) 'Trev' John who had done an outstanding job with his team. Saturday morning 22 September 2001 the buses arrived to transport us back to Colerne and Bath. The camp had been a great success, with the TA and Regular elements meeting new colleges and achieving a wider understanding of each other.

244 SIGNAL SQUADRON
Sqn Comd Maj David Bizley
SSM WO2 (SSM) Paul Williams

The Squadron has finally arrived in the scorching desert in Oman for Ex Saif Sareea II. The previous couple of weeks have been frantic as each department has completed their pre-departure admin. With a flood of second lines, a Squadron audit and a rush of BPFAs, not to mention over 120 personnel getting inoculations for Oman, the Squadron finally left Colerne in early September, in a slight drizzle- who would have thought that we would now be missing our typical British rain! We have been fortunate to be located at the APOD in RAFO Thumrait, where the RAF facilities are second to none. With swimming pools, daily trips to Salalah, internet terminals and a gymnasium, the troops are well catered for- especially compared to other Signals units who have been located in Camp South, now aptly re-named 'South Park'. The Squadron has been making full use of these facilities prior to our move North, where such luxuries are unheard of!

ALPHA TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Pete Brunton
Tp SSgt SSgt Phil Render

Firstly, a quick welcome to Sig 'Bram' Bramfitt, who has arrived straight from the factory and has quickly got settled in to showing off his footy skills in the inter-squadron football competition. This month we say goodbye to Cpl Stu Hunt and family who have moved onto the greener pastures of civvie street along with LCpl Chris 'someone please employ me' Kirkman. Lastly we say farewell to Sig 'Tash' Coope who has been posted to sunny Northern Ireland to join 15 Sig Regt- Good luck to you all! Alpha Tp is currently preparing for the summer deployment to Turkey on exercise Adventure Exchange. With the PACEX and boat load complete and two weeks still to go until our flights, the Troop has been fulfilling the guard commitment prior to us disappearing until April next year. Time has also been found for sports and PT with Cpl Kemp and Sig Weekes, Grisdale and Hall representing the Regiment at athletics and Cpl Woodall and Sig Albury competing in the 5 Div swimming finals. Lastly we would like to congratulate Cpl's Murphy and Brookwell on their recent promotion.

BRAVO TROOP
Tp Comd 2Lt Neil Clements
Tp SSgt SSgt Andy Gill
EXERCISE RED HAND HIKE

On 20 August, Bravo Tp deployed to Willsworthy Camp on the edge of Dartmoor for a Troop level exercise involving numerous activities. The main aim of the week was to get the Troop together, welcome new members and develop an identity prior to deploying on Ex Saif Sareea in Oman. When we arrived, we were told by SSgt Andy Gill that we were going to try out our walking boots and trousers on the moor. We all thought we were in for an afternoon of walking but when we arrived on the moor after a very short minibus journey, we were confronted by a playing pitch with boxes as goals and a ball in a sock. We had to throw around SSgt Gill's sweaty sock and roll around on the ground, which we all delighted in and got right amongst it! Following this were some team building exercises, which we all completed in true Bravo Tp fashion. On Day Two, the group was split in two, with half cycling and the others enjoying a trip to Exeter. Well, I think we all earned the Tour de France yellow jersey that day. After a few wrong turns and Sig 'It's just up this hill' Doveton taking us on a tour of the local area, we all made it back in one piece, after completing about 30 miles. That evening was a quiz night, which was enjoyed by all, especially Sig Frank 'Don't argue, I'm always right' Reeves. Following that was our trip to Exeter to spend some of our hard earned cash. A local leisure centre provided a relaxing swim for some and for others a trip to McDonalds and relaxing by the Quay was the order of the day. That night was a skits evening. All the groups, including DS, did one. A great night was had by all and Sig Mike 'I've got ginger hair and wild dogs chasing me' Lake did a fantastic impression of the boss, 2Lt Neil 'I love the outdoors' Clements. Day Four found us all tearing round a go-cart track. Sgt Gaz 'I will win' Chapman didn't quite make the grade, but had a good go. The final victory went to Sig Frank 'Ed Winchester' Reeves who we are sure cheated. On to our final night, which found us all in Exeter. Needless to say, we all had a great night. Friday morning was the usual end of exercise clear up and then the trip back to sunny Colerne, all refreshed and ready to deploy on Ex Saif Sareea.

EXERCISE SAIF SAREEA

The 2 July saw the eight members of the pre-advance party deploy as a maintenance team headed by Sgt Craig Brooksbank. Our role was to maintain the Regiment's first vehicles arriving at the SPOD on 5 July. First impressions count for so much, so after a quick evaluation of the APOD we moved quickly down to the port of Salalah. Greeting us there was air-conditioning and a relaxing couple of days waiting for the vehicles to arrive. However, nothing ever runs to plan and sure enough the ship arrived earlier than expected. We soon got to grips with checking the vehicles and comms equipment. Sadly, we then had to leave our new home of Salalah to move North to Thumrait, the APOD. This move involved transporting 28 vehicles with just the eight of us- not surprising then that it took five days! From air-conditioning to 18x24 (The Savoy to the Travelodge) was quite a shock, but 261 Squadron put us to task immediately. The Radio Relay was tasked to assist in a comms trial between Thumrait and Camp South. The Radio Relay moved around constantly- much to the crew's surprise. Nevertheless, the crew performed well and the task was undertaken with enthusiasm. Thanks go to all the eight pre-advance party- especially LCpl Craig Chilvers who managed to maintain power with very limited resources and LCpl Chevvy 'Magpie' Stanway who worked constantly repairing cables, coaxes and headsets with no spares. We also thank 261 Signal Squadron's ERV and SQMS whom, without their assistance we would have had serious kit problems. We wait now for the remainder of the Squadron, enjoy your acclimatisation- you'll need it!

Life in the Desert

TERRITORIAL ARMY
FORWARD AIR CONTROL TROOP

Despite the restriction placed upon training for the first half of the year, the last ten months has been one of the busiest periods the Troop has seen for some time. A total of 22 taskings have been completed during this period. The first major 10-day tasking led by Maj David Bird, along with Maj John Morgan and Maj Nick Sparks, and supported by LCpl Andy Fairington, was spent on the bombing ranges at Cape Wrath, Scotland. The trip was a total success, with the team controlling A/C on both day and night Close Air Support (CAS) missions. This was followed by the annual deployment to Canada on Ex Western Vortex.

Two teams spent five weeks working with jets from a number of NATO countries. Due to the amount of mini tasking running concurrently, manpower was stretched, giving the opportunity for Cpl 'Val' Valance a Regular soldier on loan from Alfa Tp, to work with one of the TACP's. It also gave LCpl Paul Sirett the chance to break the mould of exercising in Germany. Because of the shortage of helicopters to lift the teams in and out of the Operation, both teams spent a considerable amount of time living in the wilderness 1500 miles form the nearest civilisation. Resup was by air and the list of requirements became more varied and fanciful as time went by. Whilst this was going on, the Tp supported Ex Flying Rhino in Germany, and Capt Alan White embarked on a series of exercises in Wales. Also during this period the majority of FAC's within the Troop were also deployed on CAS taskings. All CAS in Wales was dry, with inflatable tanks being used as targets for the A/C to lock onto.

Despite problems with the electric blower, all targets where eventually inflated, however, Sig Harry Harris decided to make life more difficult for the jets by letting one of the targets down as the jet was making its attack run from Initial Point (IP) to target. In addition, support has been provided on a number of other major exercises, the latest being the Fire Power Demo held on Salisbury Plain Training Area, which saw Maj Nick Sparks and his team bring in six A/C firing a mix of cannon and CRB 7 rockets. Quit an impressive sight if you haven't seen it before. Maj John Morgan and Capt Alan White aided by Cpl Andy Wheeler, LCpl Martin Salter and LCpl Damien Black covered six Squadron Jaguars, two Squadron Tornadoes plus one Squadron Harriers for a multi-location exercise in Wales. The Exercise ran well, but occasionally jets were called off their approach, as civilian light aircraft circled the target area waiting to view the action.

JNCO'S CADRE COURSE 2-19 SEPTEMBER 2001
by LCpl Ian 'Nasty' Atkins

It was a pleasant Sunday morning when the Cadre-mates from 30 Signal Regt set out to Crowborough Training Area on 2 September. Morale was high and nobody seemed too worried about what might be in store for them when they arrived. Everything seemed fine until we moved into our accommodation and discovered one light and one plug socket between eight people! After taking most of the night to iron our kit, we settled down for a few hours sleep, only to be woken by SSgt Stu 'Airborne Beret' Fidler for a five am PT session. What a way to start a course! Training soon got under way under the direction of Capt Mal 'Combat Estimate' McGeoch, Sgt Mitch 'Johnny Bravo' Mitchell and Cpl Dave 'Evil' Knowler. Lessons covered everything from drill, NBC, Map-Reading to Tactics, Orders and Mission Analysis. We were kept busy from morning until night and if we ever got bored with the classroom work then there was always the option of a quick PT session with LCpl Danny 'Knees to Chest' Thwaites! The classroom phase lasted for a week and a half after which we took our end phase exams. Particular mention has to go to Sig Paul 'Scouse' McLoughlin who managed to mistake every single conventional sign on his map reading exam, and also to Sig Stu 'Mr Burns' Hemming for his 100% exam results proving that he does know what he's on about! The final phase was a five-day exercise in Ashdown Forest, which got off with a bang after Sig Ritchie ' Is that a ditch?' Hancox managed to roll a Bedford with the whole of Two section in the back! Once we rescued Sig Andrew 'my arm' Risley from under the Bedford and got it back on the road we carried on in 30 Sigs fashion, arriving in the nick of time for standto! The exercise carried on from then with everyone taking their turn at command appointments from recces to casevacs with the exercise culminating in a final attack through the coldest river in southern England and up the longest slope in the training area!

Special mention has to go to Sig Chris 'BDF' Charnock for his heroic carry of the CO on the Casevac and also to Capt Steve 'Still Smiling?' Holt for his inspired leadership of the enemy forces. The exercise finished back in sunny Bramcote where I was pleased to be awarded top student and promoted but then less pleased at having to buy a round for 20 people! In conclusion I can say that I definitely got a lot out of the course, including my promotion, and I would definitely recommend anyone to go on the next one.

OPERATION SILKMAN

One of the few pleasures that members of Alpha Tp, 256 Sig Sqn, had in Sierra Leone was organising beach BBQs. After piling too many people into one of the local's fishing boats, the lads, led by SSgt Gaz 'Pikey' Shuck, much to the locals disappointment, sank the boat. He did however soon make them empty the water and managed to get it floating again. We always managed to get down to the beach and have a few beers and a game of football/volleyball with the locals and on rare occasions we were allowed down town to the local club sampling the different drinks.

Beach Football, the stresses of an operational tour

The last full day in the resort started off with a couple of games of table tennis, followed down with a few last 'Stars'. The Hill Top Club had been our local bar for most of the tour. As this was the main focus point of the tour it was only right that we took home a few trophies from the bar.

The journey home was a long slow unending one. It was a bumpy hour and a half to the port, until at last some 'not so bad' food for the first time in four months. When we eventually managed to unload all our kit, we were all able to have a few drinks to help us sleep on the ship.

The following morning everyone was pleased that we were finally going home. As always we were supposed to leave at around 1300hrs but the plane was delayed and we eventually took off at 1600hrs. We were all over the moon when we landed at RAF Brize Norton, although our smiles were quickly dropped when we realised the transport was going to take three hours to get to us and another three hours getting back to Bramcote. At last we arrived at camp, unloaded our kit and met our partners ready to start our two weeks leave. It only hit us when we got back to the rooms; the smell of Sierra Leone was with us, and here to stay at least for a few days. Most of us dumped off our kit, repacked another bag and left for 'leave and home'. We reached our homes to see family and friends that had just been photographs for the last four and a half months. Although they were glad to see us they did smell us first and hesitated before coming too close - within the day all civilian clothes had gone into the bin. The only place that most of our clothes had been washed was in the local rivers, so as you can guess, they were not very clean. We all soaked for hours before getting ready for one of the biggest drinking sessions of our lives. Unfortunately there was still a 'small smell', as people were being noticed backing away on the dance floor. This did come in handy for your queue jumping as people cleared a path for the smell.

After leave was up it was back to work for all of Alpha Tp, straight onto 'Spearhead' exercise and 'on the bus, off the bus' that we all know and love. I would just like to thank a few people, Flt Lt Paul 'Shakin Stevens' Pearce, SSgt Paul 'Ginger Stink' Storey and SSgt Gaz 'Pikey' Shuck for a lovely tour and pray that we never have to visit that place again. Goodbye to LCpl Dan 'Nobby' Clarke who's gone to 249 Sig Sqn, we hope he has a good time with them. Also to SSgt Paul 'Ginger Stink' Storey and LCpl Alan 'Hand Grenade' Smith 631, who have left us to form a relationship in the 256 Sig Sqn stores and to LCpl Smith, congratulations and good luck with the wedding. Hello and welcome to Alpha Tp SSgt Chaz 'Bald Eagle' Chambers, we hope that he enjoys himself and gets the beers in for the lads!

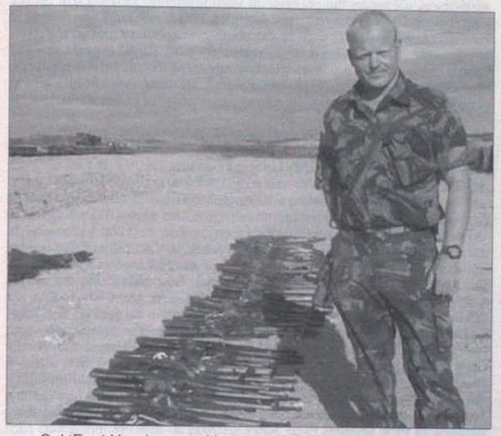
OPERATION BESSEMER, MACEDONIA
by LCpl Si Powell and Sig Richie Harrison

Readers should note that 30 Sig Regt was deployed on this Operation, despite the reports in many papers and Soldier magazine. (2IC 216 is thanked for recognising this when speaking on the 5 o'clock news).



Cpl 'Egg' Henderson with some of the harvested weapons

The Troop was put on standby in July for Taskforce Harvest (TFH), the NATO deployment to Macedonia to collect weapons. Though we were chuffed to be prepping to go on another op, it meant that half the Troop was unable to go to Alderney for a two-week comms exercise and jolly. But no matter, we soldiered on, and by the beginning of August we were ready and raring to go. We went off on leave, having been told that we almost certainly wouldn't be going anywhere until September … how wrong they were!

Sig Shaun 'whaaaa' Marsden was given the task of phoning us all on 16 August to pull us off our leave, and to let us know that we were due to deploy to Macedonia on Saturday afternoon. After a long day's work on Friday, several of us began our journey from Brize Norton on the first operational C-17 'Globemaster' flight, which was delayed two hours due to the media's interest - with Cpl Nath 'I know it all' Hadley becoming a TV star! We arrived at Camp Able Sentry (CAS), the American base in Skopje late that night followed, a few hours later by the rest of the Troop, under the guidance of Sgt 'Waggy' Wagstaff. After three days at CAS we eventually set off on the short journey to the future TFH Bde Main HQ. On our travels to our new location Sig Marsden and Cpl Billy 'Burners' Hotchkiss came across a lorry driver who let them know exactly what the locals actually thought of us being there!

We got to the new location and were shown where they wanted us to set up the det - straight away we got to work. After the initial set up we began to break into a routine and got our heads down on the factory floor with minimal amenities - no showers, no laundry, and those scrumptious rations! We spent the first two weeks roughing it on the floor. Week three kicked in and loads of tents were thrown up to house the majority of the 500 brigade force. Once we were settled into these, things got better and at last the camp was starting to take shape. Then came the Germany - England game, and we were fortunate to have the game shown on German TV! Nerves were there before the game but not for long as we out-classed ze Germans - this gave a hint of morale to the lads…(but not too much)! It wasn't long before Capt 'Jovial' Crapper and Cpl Hadley were due to depart theatre (just a few days before they qualified for a medal!). Cpl Nath Hadley was leaving us to go on his Class 1, and Cpl 'The Egg' Henderson was sent out to relieve him as 501 Det Comd. Lt 'short tour' Pim, our Tp OC, was flown out to relieve the Ops Officer, Capt Crapper, after her three week jaunt in China! Cpl Henderson soon settled in, and it wasn't long before he got talking to all his mates from 216.

As the Op progressed more welfare and 'things to do' were introduced, including a 5-a-side 'football' pitch that was set up in the corner of the camp. Sig 'Nige' Mansell soon got a team together consisting of himself, The Egg, Cpl Billy Hotchkiss and Sigs Richie Harrison and Andy Dawson. The team proved to be quite successful as 216 and the Czechs found out to their cost! As the Op continues, dates for our return to UK are here, there, and everywhere (for a change)! But Sigs Richie Harrison and 'Wyatt' Earp aren't bothered if the Troop's out here till Christmas - they've got tickets home by 14 October for a course in York (Ding Ding - cheers lads)! For now things are running smoothly and we reckon there's a couple of weeks left of the sun yet to enjoy, but who knows what the future holds for us…!

In August, the Troop handed over the R1 readiness role as JTFHQ to 256 Sqn. Following that we departed Bramcote for a well deserved 3-week's summer leave. Whilst the remainder of the Troop were on their leave, Sig Ian 'I have no Kit' Atkins was showing his stuff on the CO's Cadre course. Congratulations goes out to the now LCpl Ian 'I've lost everyone else's Kit' Atkins on promotion after being placed first on the course. Due to the large commitment from our Squadron in Oman on Ex Saif Sareea, on arrival back to camp after our 3-week break we were tasked with being the Rear Details Troop and picking up the next task when it comes along. The Troop would like to say farewell to, LCpl Richie Maybank, who has left us for 249 Sig Sqn, and LCpl John Peach who leaves us for 39 Inf Bde.

We deployed to Oman on 4 September 2001 and were welcomed into the midday sun. We soon found out that we had arrived in theatre about two weeks early for the HQs, which gave us plenty of time for acclimatisation with WO2 (QMSI) 'Terminator' Blade. With two PT sessions a day (0545hrs and 1700hrs) for the first week we soon all became very acclimatised. One of the Troop, however, did not make it to the 'acclimatisation phase' in Camp Sha'afa; Cpl Tony 'Sandy' Seville managed to dislocate his shoulder while waiting for the transport at the beloved Camp South with the help of LCpl Dion Fotheringham. While waiting for the CJFHQ staff to arrive, the lads have been working hard: improving their knowledge of the kit; starting work on a tan and moving screens with the assistance of an Omani Brigadier or two. The rest of the Troop is due to join us on 24 September, when LCpl Sarah 'Right mate' James arrives with the stragglers. Before I nip off to the next PT session, a few mentions to: Cpl 'Ronnie' Barker and Cpl 'Lucy' Mason who have the opportunity to serve with an elite unit, namely Echo Troop, and Cpl Darren 'Camp Crypto Custodian' Mcdonald – 'HIYA'. Finally, SSgt Al 'QB' Barker who has managed to escape another BPFA – but why break a tradition, you've been dodging them for the last three years, why stop now? I would love to stay and finish the whole exercise with the lads, however, sunny Blandford is calling me back for my Class 1, so I'll see you all in the New Year for T and T (touch wood)!

FOXTROT TROOP - by Sig Brennan and Sig Lawrence

After years of planning, Ex Saif Sareea II has begun. The Troop is currently deployed in support of 1 (UK) Armd Div and 101 Log Bde providing strategic communications through VSC 501s (Maroon & Quince) back to the UK. Since our last exciting instalment in The WIRE there have been a few changes within the Troop, so to bring you up to date here they are: Capt Bill Holbrook leaves the relative safety of troop command to accept the challenges trials and tribulations of Sqn 2IC. 2Lt Julian 'paperboy' Tydeman arrives full of gusto straight from his troop commander's course shortly. Sgt Brendan 'girls love me' Plant has at last been successful in his initial step towards his ambition to become a YofS and this copy of The WIRE will find him well engrossed in his books on A&P (culture shock coming handbag!) Sgt Brian Wilson steps up to take his place from the Regimental Crypto Cell, welcome to him and good luck Sgt Plant.

Another potential 'comms god' has been successful on his YofS selection, Cpl Harrison has been promoted to Sergeant and will begin the YofS course after a short tour in NI. Congratulations also go to Sig Wilkinson who not only has got married and had a baby in the last two months, but has been promoted and posted. Our new arrival, Sig Caulfield, is welcomed into the 258 Squadron fold from 1 ADSR and due to the air conditioning is truly thankful. Presently half way through the Oman exercise, spirits are high and the routine well practiced. The exercise began with the deployment from UK on a C17 – Globe Master, the aircraft recently rented from the USAF. Apparently the army, let alone the Regiment are not used to such luxury – but I think I coped well with the new experience. Being fresh from RSS Blandford this was my first deployment and as a Radio Sys Op crewing a VSC 501, I have an extremely steep learning curve. Forget VRC 353, Batco and EVHFs I have been communicating half way around the world using a 11/2 tonne Skynet 4 satellite in a geo-synchronous orbit above the equator, ATM switches and new Cogent digital telephone exchanges. Nothing could have prepared me for the colossal amount of new information I would have to absorb.... and I thought I was fully trained.

It has been interesting working with Staff Officers for the first time, and with the help of 1 ADSR personnel the det has provided the staff with services they would normally never deploy with, such as plentiful access to the ATN, VTC facilities and secure voice and data with Patron and Brent. The arduous nature of the exercise has ensured that we learnt lessons quickly, dealing with the potential health hazards and equipment problems associated with the extreme heat, the exercise has been a brilliant welcome into my first working unit. The heat does do strange things to people and his troop has been no exception. Cpl Paul Roberts exclaimed 'exercises were good as you got to make things' and the phase 'star gazing' was borne from the requirement of using the deep trench field latrines at night to avoid the flies and obvious discomfort. I'm looking forward to the rest of my tour.

SUPPORT TROOP
Tp Comd Capt Emma Rae
Tp SSgt SSgt (SQMS) Lawton

The Troop has been extremely busy preparing to deploy out to Oman. The SQMS department has had a greater work load than usual, not only down to the forthcoming exercise, but also due to two members of their staff Cpl Andy Moffat and LCpl 'Bart' Homer leaving them for civvy street – we wish them well. The majority of Support Tp has deployed to Oman with just a handful staying back to hold the fort. The Troop would like to welcome LCpl 'Dinger' Bell to the MT Section, coming from 1 (UK) Div, and Sig 'Ant' Caswell straight from his Class 3 Ins Tech course.

Oman – The story so far: Upon landing in Oman we were swiped into theatre and then driven to Camp South, or 'South Park', for our arrival briefings. At first the heat seemed to affect everyone, apart from WO2 (QMSI) Martin Blade APTC. This was due to him only recently returning from his fourth holiday of the year in Greece. The QMSI had considerably more baggage than everyone else. The main reason for this being the amount of hair gel he goes through in a week to hide that ever-increasing greyness. The stop over at Camp South was only for one night with a few people staying behind to collect vehicles and transport the freight. It was then a nine-hour drive to the North of the country. Following this initial phase we are now firmly ensconced in Shafa Camp, our home for the rest of the Exercise.

The Pioneer Tp deployed with the JTFHQ who cannot wire or sandbag, so there was plenty to do. O Groups were a problem, they provided a test, but it was always interesting to hear about the DAPBX. Patron and Indigo, routes red and black, It's extremely difficult to hold my yawns back. But the Bleeps and the Chunks make a fearsome combination, and we all cannot wait to leave this hot, dusty nation. Having deployed to Oman on 5 June (NOT September!) the weather-weary Pioneers had been eagerly anticipating joining the 'slipper city' party with the Signals up in Shafa. We were not disappointed and the wind and sandstorms of South Park soon drifted to the back of the memory as we sat by the poolside in Butlins sipping ice-cold soft drinks. The real eye-opener for the Tp Comd, Lt Tim Crossland was sitting in on the O Groups. Being used to the number of abbreviations in the RLC, it was somewhat of a surprise to realise that the Royal Signals actually have a thing or two to teach us in that respect. Life out here is similar to Groundhog Day, and we look forward to Endex and (hopefully!) getting home for Christmas.

SQUADRON WIVES DAY – 10 AUGUST 2001

The Wives' Day was held on 10 August 2001, with all wives from the Squadron and QG SIGNALS wives from the rest of the Regiment invited. The aim was to provide an enjoyable, relaxed event and to entertain the wives who support the Squadron so faithfully. There were a number of humorous, challenging and not-so-challenging activities. On the day 30 ladies turned up dressed in their husbands uniforms, which you can imagine fitted like gloves! They were then briefed by Lt Davenport and given some basic instruction in drill by SSgt Lalbahadur 'hune walla Guards RSM' Gurung. The ladies were split into five sections of six and spent 30 minutes at five different stands. The days activities were Command Tasks, camouflage and concealment, an indoor firing range, first aid, potted sports and, just to add insult to injury, the ladies then had to cook their own lunch on hexi-cookers. At the end of the day the ladies met at the Regimental sports pitches and were paraded in their sections. The Sqn OC, Maj J. J. Cole, presented each lady with a Certificate of Participation. Needless to say the day was a great success and was enjoyed themselves throughly – the party after was not too bad either! The date was followed by farewell celebrations for Sqn 2IC, Capt (QGO) Santa Pun, who was retiring from the Army after 27 years of loyal service.

PERMANENT STAFF ADVENTURE TRAINING

After months of change due to FMD SSgt Mick Burke finally informed us that he had found a location for the annual Permanent Staff adventure training. Tulloch (near Fort William), a small blip on the map was to be our home for a week of what promised to be a well-needed break for all of us.

The advance party left early to take over the accommodation, with an ulterior motive. WO2 Andy Lothian had managed to rope in SSgt 'Straight Up' Burke into competing in an Adventure Race around Argyll. It was a very tired pair who turned up at Tulloch to sign for the hut and wait for the rest to turn up. At 0600hrs on Monday morning the remainder turned up, after having driven all night. The only absentees where Maj 'Competitive Dad' Cooper, SSgt 'Non-Smoker' Fardy and Cpl 'Anything but' Light who had ran out of fuel and had to wait four hours for a local garage to open!

The group split itself down into three groups for the day's activities. WO2 'True Handicap' Smith took the lead in arduous golfing activities. Fort William Golf Course was treated to the rare sight of LCpl 'Aren't Officers Great' Lafferty being shown how to play by Capt 'Tommy Hilfiger' Pope. SSgt 'Show my picture in the WIRE please' Wringe and Sgt 'Bacardi Breezer' Carter opted for the mountain-bike option and set off to explore the surrounding undulating countryside. The remainder took to the local hills, with 'four seasons in one-day' weather waiting to greet them.

Tuesday was to be the day all of us decided to tackle to most extreme downhill course in Britain – on mountain bikes. The bikes were hired and the first four volunteers sent up the hill. The course involved a descent of over 1800m on a 3km course. Needless to say no one made it down without kissing dirt. Sgt 'Wilf' Kempton mistook the idea of the course and decided to come down by cable car. After much derision and a cigarette he bravely boarded the cable car and flew down the mountain, nearly passing WO2 'Shabba 2' Pearson who was busy waving at the lovely ladies in the cable car.

The weather really closed in on Wednesday that meant only golf and the indoor wall were available. The golfers set off for one of the wettest days golfing they can remember. The indoor wall at Fort William proved to be the ideal location for SSgt 'Russian fisherman' Wringe to show off his mountain goat like skills. On Wednesday night Capt Fiona Stewart the new Adjutant arrived and immediately got into the swing of the week joining in with the evenings book-reading club. Thursday saw the greatly anticipated Golf competition with WO2 'Shabba 1' Smith and Capt 'Nice Shirt' Pope placing more than pride on the outcome of the event. The clever money went on the dark horse SSgt 'I could have represented GB' Fardy. Mountain biking and fun-yaking were the day's activities for the rest of us. WO2 'Not far now' Lothian along with SSgt 'This is a great bike' Wringe and Sgt 'Nice orange jacket' Carter decided to bike to the start location, a small matter of 15 miles. SSgt 'Nice calves' Burke killed it in no time unlike Sgt 'Wilf' Kempton who was riding the Titanic. The mountain biking passed in no time at all due to the slightly moist weather.

SSgt Mick Burke and WO2 (RQMS) Andy Lothian enjoying the fine Scottish weather

Funyaking 'What's that?' we asked. Well it's a cross between rafting and kayaking. We split ourselves down into three two-man teams, with Capt 'Competitive Dad's Daughter' Stewart pulling the short straw and being in Maj 'Don't worry, I'm good at this' Coopers' boat. WO2 Andy Lothian and Sgt Justin Carter seemed to spend most of the trip in the water, not on it. It took a double pronged attack from SSgt Mick Burke and SSgt Tony Wringe to force the competitive family into the water. To add insult to injury Capt Fiona Stewart found out the hard way that chivalry is dead as she was made to carry the deflated boat all the way back to the support vehicle. All members of the permanent staff took advantage of the local facilities on Thursday night and gave Sgt 'HGV' Howell the chef some time off. Everyone enjoyed the week and thanks must go to SSgt Mick Burke for the entire organisation.

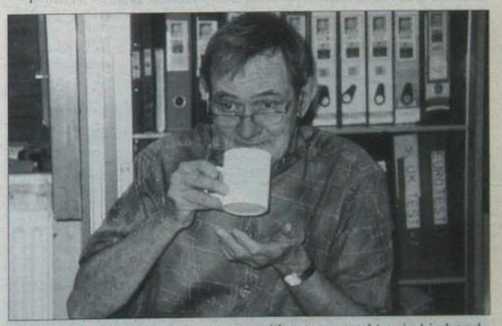
The Regiment hosts the Mayors, Mayoresses and Deputy Lieutenants of the five Mayoral Boroughs within London with which the Regiment is affiliated (Hammersmith & Fulham, Kensington & Chelsea, Eastbourne, Wandsworth and Croydon). Congratulations to Cpl Alan Bryan, and to LCpl Kris 'SOTY' Todd, both of who gained a stripe in September. Both are very well deserved. Congratulations also to Sig Michelle Critcher who passed her Recruits Course in September. The Squadron would like to extend a huge welcome to our two new PSIs, SSgt Shaun Fardy and our PSI Tech, Sgt Will Kempton. Both were thrown in at the deep end when they joined the Squadron on Annual Camp but they seem to be surviving well. We hope you enjoy your time with the Squadron. A temporary goodbye and good luck goes to LCpl Kris 'SOTY' Todd, who has deployed to Bosnia with 97 (BRITFOR) Sig Sqn. We wish him all the best, and hope he enjoys his time there.

GOODBYE TO SSGT JOHN MACKINS

It was with much sadness that the Squadron said goodbye to SSgt John Mackins, who has served in the TA for over 40 years. SSgt Mackins joined the TA in 1958, after his National Service. He served with 41 Regiment as it was in those days, and has been with 41 (PLK) Sig Sqn since it was formed in 1967. Once a highly organised and efficient Det Comd, SSgt Mackins quickly worked his way up to become SSM. SSgt Mackins became the first Sqn NRPS in late 1983, when the posts were created and has held that position ever since. He will be a very tough act to follow, and will be sorely missed. SSgt Mackins will be remembered for phrases like, 'Cup o' tea Cocker?' and 'Slack handful'. He seemed to exist on tea and cigarettes, and was always on hand to offer help and advice when needed.



SSgt John Mackins – never seen without a cup of tea in his hand

On Saturday 8 September 2001, the Squadron officially said goodbye to SSgt Mackins. Sally Bentley, SSgt (FofS) Maurice Byrne, Sgt Simon May, Cpl Julia May and Cpl Maria Traynor all worked very hard to organise a surprise dinner at the TA centre for him. The number of people who attended, including many past colleagues, was testimony to his popularity. Col Keith Bruce-Smith, the President of the PLK Association spoke fondly of his memories of SSgt Mackins, as did Capt John Robson, who had initially joined the TA with SSgt Mackins in 1958. The Squadron presented SSgt Mackins with an engraved silver platter, a holiday voucher, and a stereo system. John, we hope you enjoy your retirement.

THE MACKINS CUP COMPETITION

The month of August saw Offrs and SNCOs in the Squadron competing against the ORs for the 'Mackins Cup', in a fun military skills competition. The competition was devised and run by SSgt Bob 'Beaker' Stanton with a bit of help from his friends. The stands consisted of a stretcher assault course (run by SSgt Bob 'Beaker' Stanton), navigating landrovers around a course whilst blindfolded (run by the LAD), an archery shoot (organised by LCpl Pearl Sethna) and a PT evening (run by two of our Sqn PTIs Cpl Alan Bryan and Sgt Tanya Camp). Special thanks go to LCpl Sethna for arranging the archery shoot for us. Obviously the outcome of the competition was in no doubt, and it was with much pride that Lt Speakman collected the 'Mackins Cup' from SSgt John Mackins on behalf of the victorious Offrs and SNCOs.

With a continued emphasis on recruiting, LCpl Dave King and LCpl Paul Renaud have been seen walking the town wearing their sandwich boards in order to attract recurits. The RRT has even found time to go and stand in the pouring rain at the recent Freshers' Fair to try and press gang those recruits into joining. Congratulations go to Sig Paul Pettitt who returned from his Recruits Course at RSS Blandford, having finished up in first place. We also welcomed an old face back as Sgt Mick Dowds has finally returned to the fold having threatened to do so for several weeks but never actually materialising! We said 'goodbye' to three of our soldiers, Cpl Richard Baldwin, Cpl Jo Reader and Sig Stuart Jenkins who are off to join 97 (BRITFOR) Sig Sqn in Bosnia and wish them luck for their tour. We also congratulated Cpl Richard Baldwin on his promotion. As far as retention goes, we are pleased that our PSI, SSgt Willie 'I'm still here' Loch has now been with us for five years and he threatens to stay until Scotland qualify for the World Cup. He could be with us a while!

EASTBOURNE AIRSHOW - 16–19 AUGUST 2001

This event is the largest of its kind in the South of England and among the highlights are the Red Arrows and displays by various other aircraft such as F16, Harrier, Hercules, a Spitfire and Hurricane - and for the first time, 56 Sig Sqn (V). This year, numbers attending were up 68,000 from last year's figures, to 571,000 people over the four days! It was an ideal chance to do some recruiting on our own doorstep and to put the Royal Signals very much in the public's view. A stand on the promenade manned by Squadron members for the four days gave out thousands of Army and TA stickers (much to the annoyance of our RAF colleagues). Face painting with cam cream kept many of the children amused and an FFR and recruiting trailer allowed the public to see the military side to Squadron life. TA brochures were also given out to potential recruits. However, the highlight for the Squadron was actually taking part in the Airshow as a joint RAF Army exercise. Lt Keiron Francis, in liaison with 27 Sqn RAF and the JHSU based at RAF Odiham arranged a beach landing by Chinook, which then developed into a mock battle on the shingle beach! Every day, twenty members of the Squadron were picked up by Chinook in Eastbourne and then flown around in true 'roller coaster' style before being dropped on the beach to destroy an enemy position, (often up to its knees in seaweed and water). Some, like Sig Steven Jukes became so attached to their lifejackets that they ran up the beach with it hanging off their webbing! Others, like Cpl Jo Butler decided to trip in a rock pool and go swimming (cunningly pretending they were diving for cover in the sea). The smoke and the firing was something not seen in Eastbourne for many years, if at all.

Troops from 56 Sig Sqn (V) dismounting for a section attack at the Eastbourne Airshow

After winning the battle convincingly, the Chinook returned to sling-load a Landrover and fly off back home for tea and medals. 56 Sig Sqn (V) meanwhile, remained on the beach to take the applause and were cheered off the beach everyday, rather like England winning the World Cup! The whole event went down very well with the public and we have our place for next year already. Even the RAF Regiment was impressed with our infantry skills!

BATTLEFIELD TOUR OF NORMANDY 28-30 SEPTEMBER 2001

Twenty-two members of 31 Sig Regt (V) took part in a battlefield tour organised by Capt Fred Southey QM (V). The overnight ferry from Portsmouth to Ouistreham (Caen) was quite calm and a couple of beers in the bar ensured a quiet night for us all! The first of our visits was to the American cemetery at Omaha Beach. The scale of the cemetery and graves was quite overwhelming. Next was the artillery battery at Point du Hoc, where the US Rangers climbed up sheer cliffs to take the position. Here Lt Keiron 'Pyromaniac' Francis kept digging up cordite from the artillery magazine that blew up in 1944 and set fire to it, to the amusement of other visitors. The sarcasm and humour from our driver SSgt Graham 'Blackbeard' Browning kept morale high as we then headed back to Arromanches where the Mulbery harbour and a D-Day museum kept us occupied for several hours. Then back to our 'chateau' for a formal dinner and a taste of some of the local alcoholic beverages. As the evening progressed some of the party felt a desire to sample French nightlife with some of our waitresses! However, after a ten kilometre drive, the local nightclub 'Le Cosmos' ended up being a barn in the middle of the countryside surrounded by cows and dodgy looking French men!! Good job we didn't plan tabbing back alone either, otherwise we might have missed our boat home. Day Two of the tour commenced with a visit to the famous 'Pegasus Bridge' and the Airborne Forces Museum. The museum was one of the best to be seen anywhere and a lecture on what happened at Pegasus Bridge was given by Maj Alec Ferguson. A visit to the nearby British cemetery let by chance to the discovery of a grave from a PLK soldier. Finally a visit to Caen ended a superb and very educational weekend.

ADVENTURE TRAINING - by Sig Martin

After he had just fallen off a 30 foot telegraph pole, one Signaller was heard to say that he couldn't believe he was getting paid for being on the weekend. I have to agree. Adventure training with 56 Sig Sqn (V) definitely lived up to expectations, providing opportunities to get to know other members of the Squadron, whilst doing many new and challenging activities. Much of Saturday was spent trying to get as far above the ground as possible at an activities centre near East Grinstead, whilst on Sunday most hugged the ground trying to survive paintball. Through the course of Saturday there were four activities: Abseiling, Jacob's Ladder, The All Aboard and The Perch. The day started off with the fitting of harnesses and helmets, obviously essential for safety. The first task was billed as a confidence booster and was certainly aimed at those trained soldiers and recruits who had little experience at working at height and helped them to develop a sense of trust in their equipment. Of course, more experienced soldiers treated this first session of abseiling as a warm up and soon WO2 (SSM) Kevin Godden, Cpl Jo Reader and 2Lt RobWood (to name a few) were seen zipping down the 35' wall with great ease and skill.

As the Squadron was split into three groups, there was more than enough time for everyone to try out each challenge as much as they wanted to. Jacob's Ladder involved climbing up a series of horizontal poles that were increasingly further apart. Three people attempted the obstacle at a time and used each other for balance and to help each other up! Sigs Harding and McLaughlin topped off this obstacle by performing a can-can on the top rung!

To successfully complete The Perch, it was necessary to climb a thirty-foot telegraph pole and then stand on top of it. This sounds simple enough; however just making that final step up onto the top of the pole was one of the hardest challenges. Thirty foot up in the air balancing with one foot on the pole all you had to do was step up and stand. Convincing your brain that you wanted to do this was the beginning of the battle; telling your brain to the ignore the swaying of the telegraph pole, the wind whistling through your hair and the drop that stretched out beneath you made things worse. The second stage to The Perch was a leap out onto a trapeze; a straight forward dive forward was all that was required and then, once you were hanging from the trapeze, letting go and trusting the safety rope and belay to bring you back to earth. Sig Jukes deserves special mention for successfully and spectacularly missing the trapeze. In many ways, The All Aboard was very similar to The Perch except that four people needed to stand on top of the telegraph pole. Once all four had reached the top, they had to lean out and support each other by linking arms. A number of the recruits seemed to enjoy the close proximity of the all aboard! Formations that were achieved consisted of hand stands, supporting people on each other's shoulders and backs, not to mention the quite impressive three man stand which combined one man sitting on another man's shoulders who was also supported on another's back. With this as a finale, the Squadron left the activity centre and returned to the TA centre in Eastbourne to an excellent barbecue meal and ten pin bowling.

The paintballing was a great laugh and saw the Sqn split into Blue and Red teams. The Blue team pulled together time and time again, beating the Red four games to one. Each game was closely fought over as members were shot and removed from combat; each game then culminated in a thrilling dash for the objective. By the end of the day, a number of the Squadron had especially impressive collections of paint marks and bruises. Sgt Kevin Young's back was spattered repeatedly and WO2 (SSM) Kevin Godden's coveralls were heavily covered in paint. During the course of the day, LCpl Rich Baldwin had also caught a paintball dead centre on his face-mask! The adventure training weekend was an excellent combination of challenging activities that fostered team spirit, problem solving skills and helped some to overcome personal fears. Writing as a recruit, the weekend was also an excellent opportunity to get to know other soldiers within the Squadron both as part of a team and also in the relaxed, competitive environment of a bowling alley!

83 SIGNAL SQUADRON

Sqn Comd Maj Alec Ferguson
SSM WO2 Bob Steven

A fond farewell is extended to Maj Julian Carmichael from the Offrs, SNCOs and soldiers of the Squadron as he takes up his new appointment on FTRS, in Sierra Leone. We wish him luck and say thank you for all his enthusiasm and dedication to the Squadron over the past two years. In his place, we welcome Maj Alec Ferguson as the new Sqn OC and hope that he enjoys his command. Yet again the Squadron finds itself saying good luck to SSgt Dave Alleyne who is on his way back to Bosnia as part of 97 (BRITFOR) Sig Sqn (V). We wish him all the best and look forward to his return in the New Year. Congratulations to Sgt Mark Eastwood-Bell and LCpl Gareth Burgess on their recent promotions. We wish them both luck in their new appointments.

SQUADRON RANGE WEEKEND 8-9 SEPTEMBER 2001

It was time for the Squadron to have a range weekend and not one that just contained the usual APWT. The task was given to 2Lt Mike Zazzi to organise a range package to improve the 83 Sig Sqn shooting and to provide something interesting and challenging. The Squadron deployed to Henley Park ranges and spent Saturday morning with the traditional grouping and zeroing, assisted by Capt Liz FitzPatrick, SSgt Dave Alleyne, SSgt Matt Cahill and Cpl Mark Eastwood-Bell in coaching techniques. To hone shooting skills and introduce them to the pistol the Squadron broke down into syndicates with some firing 'Application of Fire' practices on the ETR whilst the other half under SSgt Matt Cahill fired the pistol. To end the day on a competitive edge members were put through the Rifle LF Practice 8. The competition was won by 2Lt Lee McEvoy. Saturday evening was spent with a Squadron dining out for Maj Julian Carmichael. The evening's activities started in one of the local drinking houses followed by half the Squadron including the OC partaking in Laser Quest (as if we hadn't done enough shooting for one day!) Guess who won again? 2Lt Lee McEvoy (the lowest score was the OC!) It was time for food and in the finest Army tradition we headed straight for the nearest curry house and tucked in. Sunday was Competition Day. Broken down into three parts: an assault course, followed by a march around Pirbright Camp and finally the Whitehead Cup. LCpl Cheryl Duncan pushed the teams of four around the assault course then dragged them around camp for the speed march. The shooting was enjoyed by all and was new to most of the Squadron members. The winning team was made up of Capt Liz FitzPatrick, SSgt Dave Alleyne, SSgt Matt Cahill and 2Lt Lee McEvoy despite tripping them up at every stage.

REGIMENTAL WEEKEND 15-16 SEPTEMBER 2001

With an unexpectedly high turn-out for a comms training weekend, and most unseasonal weather the troops had a welcome chance to catch the last of the summer's rays on the Regimental Exercise weekend. Cpl Gary Carey and LCpl Stuart Farquharson-Roberts decided that their comms skills were sufficiently up to scratch that it was time to improve their map reading skills on the route between Longmoor Training Area and Southfield's TAC on a mission of mercy to collect spare parts for the LANWARD vehicles. 41 Sig Sqn had the unenviable task of running the Longhaul link and talking to the distraught Americans in the immediate aftermath of the attack on New York. The Squadron is now looking forward to proving that it is still the best in the Regiment.

EXERCISE COCKNEY MACKENZIE

by WO2 (FofS) Jamie 'Danny Boy' Harper (31 Signal Regiment (V))

Ex Cockney Mackenzie was an arduous adventurous training exercise in Canada sponsored by this unit, canoeing approx 180km down the Mackenzie trail to where the Mackenzie River meets the Black River in British Columbia. To tell you everything that happened on Ex Cockney Mackenzie would take ages and probably take up half a rain forest in paper to do so, so I thought I'd give my report in a diary format from extracts from my personal journal, detailing main events. Here goes!

16 JUNE - At Gatwick, got lost! Can you believe it, we went down the wrong corridor to the wrong gate. What did we do wrong……. We followed the officers! ..... Bad move. Flew out about 1800hrs, landed Edminton 0340hrs, then onto Vancouver.... got into hotel 0620hrs (all times GMT). A long day! SSM Ewan 'Do you accept plastic' Hall had his wallet stolen on the flight.

17 JUNE - Everyone stuffed themselves at breakfast (continental! not a fry-up in sight... sigh!).... Then off to the airport for an internal flight to Prince George (PG). Took off…. God what a beautiful view..... it was like being on the teeth of the world. Huge snow capped peaks, massive white molars growing up from lush fir woodlands. Words do fail me (which is unusual!) ... it's so amazing. Almost lost my camera at the x-ray machine, what a spadufa! Best thing was Capt Guy 'These rapids weren't here eight years ago?' Bewsher taking the Mickey out of me whilst getting off the plane at PG, only to have someone ask who had left his or her sunglasses behind on the plane. Poetic justice I'd say. Got met by the WO1 (RSM) John 'Grizzly Adams' Gibson, Maj Tim 'Tigger' Cooper and the RSM's side kick LCpl 'PJ' Johns on loan from 19 Mech Bde. Went for a 'Last Supper' (lunch) before setting off down a dirt track for 168 km to a drop off point. It was forest ALL the way. You just can't comprehend the vastness of the place. We then had to tab in about 8km from the drop off point to the river. It was hard going but enjoyable.

18 JUNE - Got up at 0530hrs (local).... Morning routine was sorted..... 35 years experience of playing 'Outdoors' between myself and Ewan Hall..... the others were somewhat more relaxed.... but hey that's the TA. Going for a wash there was bear stools everywhere. Bears do 'do it' in the woods.... 'Alles ober die platz' ..... huge steaming piles of it. Good day canoeing, some scary rapids, but we got through unscathed, well almost! LCpl Warren 'Odie' O' Driscoll and Sgt Dickie 'Kayak' Bonner now realise that you can't do an Eskimo roll in a Canadian Canoe! (First blood to the river). Had to portage canoes twice down some rabbit runs, hard work carrying them overland through the bush. Got told we would have to do it again in the morning.... deep joy..... its bloody hard work. Hid the food with LCpl Stu 'Works on one cylinder' Farquharson-Roberts tonight. Found an excellent spot ... open clearing.... and hid the food (from the bears, health and safety and all that!) Only after we had finished the task did FR bring to my attention the piles of bear pooh around and huge paw prints and what looked like a bear run into the clearing..... Needless to say we didn't hang about, I've got this thing about living…… I want to do it for as long as possible!

19 JUNE - Almost too tired to write, went down some small rapids then had to portage the canoes again, about a km, however, by the time you shuttle the canoes then the kit you end up doing sometimes triple the distance. Normally between six and eight persons to portage a canoe, hence about four journeys is what you end up with…. We were all slightly fatigued to say the least. It was hot and sunny and there were lots of mosquitoes to stop you from daydreaming. Finally got into some slow water but the hard work started again on the lake..... 16km across to a point just prior to Chine waterfall. Rafted up three boats to a raft and made a sail as well. Rafted up with the girlies (the terrible twins) LCpl Pearl 'Melts Pans' Sethna, LCpl Cheryl 'Massage' Duncan.... and LCpl Paul 'Marsbar' Starbuck and Sig Chris 'Disco' Todd. We got going at a fair rate of knots, Pearl held the mast up, the wind took the sails and we shot forward. WO1 John 'Where's my bags' Gardner (London Training Team) our team medic even had a kite out to help him! Capt Tony 'The Trout' Potter and WO2 (SSM) Kev 'Rolly' Goden from 56 Sqn even managed to catch a couple of fish while their raft was sailing across the lake but they were too small to eat unfortunately.

20 JUNE - Another sunny start to the day.... Ewan Hall was still in a bit of pain from last night, he fell into the water at the shoreline and because he was wearing sandals his toes got badly mauled by the shingles there. Got this cooking lark down to a tee, have been experimenting with the dehydrated stuff they call food! It was a good laugh on the raft today as we finished off the last leg of the lake, singing and telling jokes. Moral was high. Had to portage again (isn't this meant to be a canoeing Exped!)..... then Ewan Hall, Maj Toby 'Tiny' Lankaster (OC 41 Sqn) and John Gardner with myself ferried the canoes down a bad 1km stretch (that's after carrying our kit down first) I had to go back four times! It was hard going but worth it. Ewan Hall and myself went down one of the water shutes backwards! Way hay (if you've got it, flaunt it)! Got totally soaked and it was raining. Things went 'Pete Tong' today and a canoe overturned; the kit inside went floating down the river! Yes John Gardner was NOT impressed (an unhappy teddy bear doesn't even come close, and he didn't have the teddy to throw in the corner because his mascot teddy from his daughter was with the kit that got lost). Everyone soaked and moral has taken a battering and it's on a downward slope. Left my flask of hot chicken soup with the guys and girlies, they are all huddled under a canoe trying to keep the rain off and keep warm, hopefully it will return a semblance of a smile to their faces. Just call me the morale man. Decide to cut our losses and camp down for the night at this location, just as well because 'Marsbar' slipped and damaged his back on some of the rocks. Got the tents up a fire going and they broke out the Drambuie..... Aaaaah amber nectar! We will not now make the resup RV with the RSM and back up crew (JP). Food (such that it is) will have to be rationed as we do not know if we will manage to get to them tomorrow either. Cooking with the girlies now, had to, they put a massive hole in one of our Trangia pans (typical), burned a hole all the way through! Tony Potter caught some fish and we cooked and ate them.

21 JUNE - It was absolutely freezing through the night. I thought the 'Softy 6' was meant to go down to Zero degrees! I may have to have a word with the manufacturers over this! I had my bivvy bag and ground matt, fully clothed and I was still cold!

Had to portage twice today, each one was over 500m, took three boats per team, then Bergen's and equipment. To say my body aches is an understatement. My whole body is battered. The whole group is suffering. We even had to abseil the canoes and equipment down a 70ft moss covered scree slope, and when I say slope I'm not talking of a gentle incline either! Went down more rapids towards the second lake, got swamped a couple of times but not as bad as SSgt Graham 'Dive! Dive! Dive!' Browning and John 'Up Periscope' Gardner whose canoe always seems to turn into a submarine whenever they went over rough water. Graham, to his defence, mentioned that they were carrying a lot of spare equipment though (I noticed, mostly around the waist! Ahem! Second portage and the falls! Ewan Hall (my rudder man) had the good sense to save us at the last minute just before Chine falls (good 5m drop), we broke out in the very last eddy, about 40m from the falls, speak about leaving it to the last minute! Got to the lake but no food and we've eaten our emergency rations! It's getting late, almost 2200hrs! Went with Tim Cooper to find food. Found the food a few kms later and sent a boat team to collect it ... bit dangerous really as it was dark.... had to use lots lumi sticks. Fuel ran out tonight for the Trangia cookers as well and no fuel with the resup! Means we have to start cooking on the open fires from now on! Everyone is shattered. It's midnight and we are still cooking and trying to get sorted out. The girls have cooked some food and we decided, due to lack of pans (as mentioned previously!), to eat out of a communal bowl. It's not so bad, the girls are quite small in stature and they don't need a lot of food, myself and Ewan Hall on the other hand are growing lads, result!

22 JUNE - Freezing through the night, woke up at 0600hrs, couldn't get the zip of the tent open for ice! Fully clothed and still freezing. 0800hrs, roasting, suns out! Had mellow morning, the group needs to recharge their batteries. Tim Cooper and Tony Potter have gone to meet the back up crew for some more rations and Guy Bewsher has been med-Ex out due to a fight with a tree, which he lost. Set sail across the lake..... made a brammer of a sail, shot forward for about a 100m and then had to paddle the rest of the way (wind was in the wrong direction!). Stopped down river on the far side of the lake (which incidentally was 8-9 km across). Its been a fairly easy day .... Morale is high..... we were at it again going across the lake... singing and telling jokes. Currently sat around the fire telling stories. It's been a good day, long may it continue.

23 JUNE - Rafting again but wind in our face all the way, it's been hard work. Scorcher of a morning, I've burned my nose and am using my lip salve with its UV protection. Managed to get the raft team to sing all three verses to the 'Flower of Scotland' and the 'Yogi Bear' song! Met a couple of Yank fisherman, up for the day from San Francisco by seaplane. Trying to find out what the waters like further on (they gave us a couple of cans of beer (FR almost died racing to get to them!)). Decided to medic off FR when the back up crew comes in tomorrow morning. He's having problems breathing properly. It's been raining heavy for a few hours now and everyone is drenched. Hope weather is nice for tomorrow. I burned my socks at the fire trying to dry them sat under a poncho in the drizzling rain, also burned my walking boots as well! Will I never learn..... to make matters worse I burned Pearl 'Black belt' Sethna's as well!.... Maybe she'll only break a few of my ribs and leave me my teeth!

24 JUNE - This has been by far the best day of the Exped so far. It was bloody freezing again when we got up. For some reason the tent flap was open, was it me!? RSM, PJ and a couple of Indians came in to take out the spare canoes and FR. Didn't know what was down river after the lake so Ewan Hall and myself, Graham Browning and John Gardner went for a recce, tried to stay about a km in front of the main party. It was good water for about 10-12 km, rapids interspaced with normal flow, some good Grade Two technical (lots of fast water, boulders and trees). Three boats got swamped and overturned on the way down. We arrived at Kluskoil Lake where we are camping tonight. There are two sets of falls that we had to portage past to go on (only 600m this time!) at least the track wasn't too bad. After carrying them we went for a swim (gave the girlies a hand, they tried to say the water was cold, don't make soldiers like they used too!). Arms and face are all burned, it was such a scorcher of a day I stripped to the waist, and I have run out of sun cream. Having to use the lip salve again for my noise, any more sun on it and I think it will drop off! Going across the lake was like sailing across a mirror, it was so still and calm, and it reflected everything. Clouds, sky, everything. It was magnificent, hard to ascertain where the water picture finished and the reality began. Lots of Eagles today, you can hear them screaming as they catch the thermals and sail upwards. I feel so much euphoria at being here; you just can't put it into words. The sounds, the smells, the scenery, the sound of the canoes cutting through the water, the sounds of the forest seemed to boom through as though it was on loudspeakers. We are all sat around the camp fire now, everyone has finished cooking on it. John Gardner past around the last of the Drambuie and we all sat around watching him do his card tricks, he is good, remind me NEVER to play this man at poker! Started singing songs now! Fires burning low, there's not a cloud in the sky, stars are out and all you can hear is the wolves baying in the distance. You just can't describe the feeling.

PS - Still no sign of any Bears yet, lots of Eagles, Beavers and even a Pine Martine but no Bears. Apparently the back up party has seen loads. The RSM can now do the 100m sprint in just under 10secs (amazing as he's over forty!) but he did have a bear chasing him at the time. When a Bear stands up and growls at you he, doesn't like it when you to growl back at him..... Take note John!

25 JUNE - 182km later, yes, we have finally reached our primary objective, the 'Bridge'. Had another good days paddling (30kms) and would have had to portage over a real bad stretch if we (Ewan, John, Toby, myself and Tim on the last run) hadn't ferried them down for the main group. Lots of rapids on the way down. It was meant to be mellow water for the last stretch, what a shock! Toby went first in the C1 and disappeared! He was meant to recce ahead and give a whistle blast when he wanted the main party to come through, he never did. Ewan and I went next, as we hadn't heard anything from him? We went around the bend straight into a massive shute. No way out, no way round, no way back, and definitely no sign of Toby! we both said in unison, 'Let's go for it' says Ewan..... '*@#?!' says Jamie. 'Paddle, paddle, paddle' screams Ewan as we take a bow wave full on followed by some manic high braces by me to stop us going over. Got through and bow cut out into some slacker water. 'Jump out and pull us in' say Ewan; not being rudder-man, I dully do so and go waist deep in water! Ewan went to warn the other group while I ran down the river with a Throw Line trying to find Toby 'Missing presumed dead' Lankaster! Couldn't see him anywhere, went down about a km, but came to the conclusion he must have broke out above us somewhere on the opposite bank. Yep, I was right. Ended up ferrying the canoes down a few chutes that day, good fun (high-grade two technical). Rest of journey good, grade 1-2 (some more grade two technical). Absolutely soaked all day because of the shutes! However, the weather has been scorching so it's not that bad. These past few days have become a blur, I've forgot where one day starts and another ends. Everyone has made it to the bridge (minus casivacs obviously) and are camped down. Back-up crew have come in with lots of rations including eggs and bacon ..... Hoooooray (and some acohol Frei beer! Cheers lads)

26 JUNE - The day has been a scorcher, another 20km's ride but its gone fast. We are now at the Indian Reservation, totally knackered. Thankfully the ordeal is now over. Tried playing with the Frisbee but no one has the energy to chase it! Tim Cooper and LCpl Richie 'Smiles lots' Leyland went over at a 'strainer' (very nasty) but through the quick actions of the group the situation was contained and controlled. The RSM, PJ and the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Linda Harrison (TD) along with Guy Bewsher have arrived. RSM had burgers with him and garlic bread..... wayhey! Not to mention beers (3 cans only though). Going to Quisnel tomorrow morning, can't wait. Went looking for bears tonight in RSM's 4x4 pickup but didn't see anything..... oh well.

27 JUNE – QUISNEL - Got picked up 8am from reservation. Loaded truck, had to do two loads as there's not enough room in RSM's 4x4 for everyone. Guy will come along later in the mini bus. Journey took about two and half hours. Stopped half way for a pit stop. AAaaaaaah..... PORCELIN! Arrived at hotel (Tower Inn), went and got rooms and cleaned up. Did laundry with Ewan and the girls then went to visit FR in hospital. Got told by the hospital staff not to make him laugh as it will cause him some discomfort (one of his lungs had collapsed), red rag to a bull really, still don't think FR has forgiven me! Got him a personal stereo and some tapes for the hospital. Had a meal in the hotel with everyone on the Exped and the CO, and then headed out on the town with the RSM and the rest of the party. Cemented Anglo-Canuk relations over a bottle of Canadian 'Crown Royal' whiskey, an interesting story for another day!

28 JUNE - NOT feeling too great this morning ... in fact neither are the rest of the die-hards, LCpl Warren 'Odie' O'Driscoll and Chris Todd to name but a few. Ended up cradling my Bergen in the hotel lift to maintain my balance because the lift kept swaying, it must have been a technical defect, ahem! Arrived in Vancouver in much the same state. Had quick look around. Real nice place but went to bed for a few hours to restore my constitution. A group of us went to pictures at night to see Gladiator then onto to 'Mahooneys' sports grill bar afterwards for a couple of drinks. I stayed on cola... yes I was still bad and suffering.

29 JUNE - Up early for breakfast, feeling really good. Did a bit of tourist shopping. Went to 'Stanley Park' and the aquarium with some of the guys, then for a walk along the waterfront to watch the seaplanes land and take off. Ended up in the games arcades! Went for supper with everyone, an aperitif at 'Hooters' first then onto 'TGI Fridays' for the food. The 'Die-Hard's' then went onto a few discos. A good night was had by all. Sang all the way back to the hotel, whilst avoiding a water fight outside a restaurant (yet another story for another day!)

30 JUNE - Did last minute shopping before going to the airport and getting on the plane for another long haul flight. Although this has been an experience of a lifetime everyone is now looking forward to getting home.

EPILOGUE - These are a somewhat shortened version of accounts from my personal diary during the period of the Exped. For all the fun and jesting that took place, there was a serious side to the exercise; this was a very arduous and demanding Exped. Once you started there was no way of going back, the team had but themselves to rely on. There were lows and highs during our time together, during the lows the team rallied round and boosted moral, during the highs they generated that greater bonding which only ever occurs in situations like these. People's characters were brought to the fore and new found respect generated between all individuals. Adventurous Training is meant to be arduous, challenging and fun. Ex Cockney Mackenzie was all of these. It built team spirit, tested endurance, challenged the individuals, threw spanners into the planning works and tested everyone's sense of humour to the limits. 'I've been Bewshered' is now a Regimental term, however I would actually like to thank Capt Guy Bewsher, on behalf of the team, whose brainchild the expedition was and for all his enthusiasm and drive, creating an experience of a lifetime for us all.

Foot Note: LCpl Farquarharson-Roberts fully recovered from his injury and returned to the UK a month after the end of the expedition.

GLASGOW HALF MARATHON

Members of the Squadron, young and old, participated in the Glasgow Half Marathon on Sunday 19 August. The event was used to raise funds for the Erskine Hospital Appeal Fund. The chief fundraiser, Capt Keith Anderson, ran the race with his magic bucket collecting funds along the course. At the ripe old age of 61, Sgt Jackie Dollen, should gain special praise for his time; well under two hours – well done to him and to all those that took part in the race.

LORD LIEUTENANT'S PRESENTATION

On Tuesday 14 August four members of the Squadron were presented with the Lord Lieutenants Certificate for Meritorious Service. The Ceremony was held in the city chambers by the Lord Provost of the City of Glasgow, Her Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant and The Right Honourable Alex Mosson Esq. The awards were presented to Capt Alex McLaughlin, WO1 Terry McVey, Sgt Jackie Dollen and Sgt Danny Beattie. The event was attended by the CO and RSM and a number of city officials in Glasgow.

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

The Regiment would like to say a belated farewell to the Training Major, Maj Gordon Anderson, who will now be firmly entrenched behind a huge in-tray at DCSA. We wish you the best of luck in your new job and hope you enjoy Corsham as much as you enjoyed Glasgow. We would like to welcome his replacement, Maj Andy 'Honestly I play of 15' Roberts and his wife Beverley, we hope you will enjoy your time in the Regiment.

ANNUAL CAMP 2001 FORT TREGANTLE (PLYMOUTH)

Annual Camp this year took place at Fort Tregantle on the South Coast of England. The camp was split into two main parts; week one was adventure training and week two military training. Due to the Squadron covering two other exercises, 51 and 61 Squadrons merged to form an infantry Platoon for the final exercise. Week One consisted of a variety of adventure training activities including hill walking, mountain biking, rock climbing and water-sports. There was also a sports competition on the first day. 51 Squadron put in a sterling performance and were rewarded with second place. After a well-needed day off in the Plymouth area where the Squadron explored one of the largest greenhouses in Britain, and some of the more exotic pubs and clubs, it was back to Tregantle to start the gruelling military phase. At this point the Squadron was reinforced with personnel who were to attend Ex Saltire Falcon the following week. The first three days consisted of a number of stands. The survival stand was met with much enthusiasm by all involved. The Honourable Artillery Company agreed to lend the Regiment some very experienced personnel for this phase. Lessons included fire lighting, improvised shelter, medicinal and tasty plants and food prep in a survival situation. The Squadron spent a very comfortable night under the stars and returned none the worse for the ordeal. The final Exercise was lead initially by 2Lt Colin Bruce and SSgt Shand during the recce phase which successfully gathered the information required for the final attack which was lead by 2Lt Chris 'Who ate all the pies?' Buckley assisted by Maj 'Rifle Man No. 6' Shankland as Platoon Sergeant. 51's phase of the assault on a derelict Fort started well with LCpl Gray being vomited on by a battle shock casualty! Due to some members of the Regiment namely HQ Squadron getting slightly lost upon entering the objective 51 Squadron were able to push hard along the left flank and give the enemy a taste of house clearance Highland style!

EXERCISE SALTIRE FALCON

This Exercise proved the value of the wide ranging skills brought into the Corps from civilian life. Sig Sarah 'Mini-me' Johnstone spent a week in EXCON teaching SSgt 'The Great Shandini' Shand how to use the range of Microsoft products being tested on the upgraded NCRS+ system, proving you can teach an old dog new tricks. The Det led by Sgt 'Bud' Burnett operated successfully for the week carrying out a skilled and very rapid move on the Wednesday. At ENDEX on Friday 51 were declared the victors of the tabletop exercise which had been used to trial the new kit.

ANNUAL CAMP FINAL EXERCISE

With the biggest turnout on Camp, yet again, 52 Squadron had the upper hand in the final attack. As the fog cleared in the Fort the troops went in and as usual the fog of war descended. Commanded by 2Lt Ian Davidson the attack went extremely well. The final attack was supported by music from the Regimental Pipes supplied by 61 Sqn's Cpl Alex Cook. All the training and hard work from the August OBUA weekend paid dividends as room by room and tunnel by tunnel the fort was captured and secured. During the entire final attack the Regimental Yeoman, WO2 (YofS) H. 'Captain Furious' Lloyd, in his capacity as DS could be seen 'cutting around the area' venting his frustration by letting off steam. Not even the last stand by 2IC 51 Sqn, Capt Davey Crockett, was enough to stop the East Kilbride Sqn from final victory.

EXERCISE SALTIRE FALCON

With Squadron personnel deployed on a number of Exercises this year, personnel were scattered across the length and breadth of Britain. The main focus (Main Effort for the Doctrinally Pure) for the Sqn was Ex Saltire Falcon. Due to the Foot and Mouth outbreak the Regiment were unable to exercise in Germany with HQ ARRC on Ex Arrcade Falcon as previously planned. The fall back was Ex Saltire Falcon that was based in Scotland and the North of England. The aim of the exercise was to test and prove the NCRS+ system using basic Microsoft E-Mail facilities over long haul HF. The introduction of a Microsoft based system ensured that the Squadron newsletter the 'Chocolate Starfish' could be distributed using the new network. It should be noted that the HQ Sqn personnel deployed as the technical expertise in the form of Capt Jack 'Lonely Heart' Dempsey and WO2 (FofS) Bob 'Head Job' Pullan were not exactly stretched. Such was their advanced preparation for the exercise, they had time to debate which TV channel to watch. However, the exercise was a great success, the equipment worked well and the exercise gave the Squadron a chance to work with colleagues from the other Squadrons.

VISIT TO RAF DIGBY

On the last weekend in September, members of the Squadron headed south to Lincolnshire to visit the Aerial Erector School at RAF Digby. The school is responsible for conducting courses in climbing aptitude, scaffolding and climbing and working at height. The school is also the home for the Royal Signals Short Riggers Course which our PSI, SSgt Bob '365ft' Harvey, attended as a youngster and thought the Squadron would enjoy working at height. After a number of safety lessons and basic climbs on 70 and 100ft towers during the first day the Squadron then awoke on the Sunday morning ready to tackle the 365ft Stenigot tower, which is a Grade 2 listed steel lattice tower and is one of the few remaining original 1930s Chain Home Defence systems. Standing 365ft high and overlooking the Lincolnshire wolds it is possible to see the North Sea, Lincoln Cathedral and the Humber Bridge from the top on a good day. Led by the fearless Lt Graham 'Bottled it at 100ft' Gaw the climbing began, however, the storm force winds and torrential rain made it difficult and most of the team performed admirably by reaching the 200ft platform. Looking down from the top you could see bomb craters from the war and it this point you started to wish that they had hit the tower. Well done to LCpl Susan Traynor. Other members of the Squadron to make it passed the 200ft platform were LCpl Wes ' King of the road' Florence, Cpl Ewan 'Love God' Leslie, Sig Dave 'Interesting' Andrew, Cpl Dave 'Older than he looks' Crampton, Cpl Graeme 'Stunt Driver' Harvey, LCpl Rob 'High' Lowe, SSgt Bob 'Where's my rubber wellies?' Harvey and Sgt John '230ft is enough for me' Faichney. Those that were unable to make it that far still surpassed themselves, especially Cpl Scott 'This RAF food is fantastic' Fair, Sig Vicky 'Where's my shirt?' Cornwall and Cpl Alex 'Born to pipe not climb' Cook. Many of the team made major personal achievements over the weekend and surprised themselves with how far they could go. Thanks to Sgt Clayton and his team at RAF Digby for a fantastic and challenging weekend.

Col P. Toyne DL, Honorary Colonel of 33 Signal Regiment (V) invited the Regiment to provide an Honour Guard for the Investiture of the High Sheriff of Liverpool at the Law Courts in Derby Square Liverpool.

The Honour Guard was provided from all squadrons within the Regiment and the Guard Commander was SSgt Coburn of 42 (City of Manchester) Signal Squadron. The High Sheriff spoke to all members during his inspection and thanked the Regiment for its assistance.

Summer is over and at the Manchester outpost of 33 Sig Regt (V) the weather has returned to the norm. The infamous Mancunian rain is lashing down as I sit before my blank computer screen hoping for inspiration and in response to the Adjutant's prompting memos. Surely we must have something worth writing about? And then I remembered a VIP visit that had occurred, always worth a few lines, and I do believe we even remembered to take a picture! So here goes.

VISIT OF THE DEPUTY COMMANDER (V)
11 SIGNAL BRIGADE - COLONEL R. DAVENPORT TD

The Squadron was delighted to receive a visit from Col Davenport on the 24 July 2001. After one of our famous curry lunches in the Officers Mess, he spent the afternoon meeting the regular and civilian staff. As it was a Tuesday and our drill night, he was also able to meet the Sqn Comd and the rest of the officers that evening as well as talk to most of our TA soldiers while they carried out a number of military and trade activities. The visit was a great success and was rounded off in the usual manner with a few beers in the JRC.

ARMED FORCES DAY OLDHAM

A series of Armed Forces Days representative of all units in the northwest have been organised by HQ 42(NW) Bde in Preston to keep the services in the public eye. These take place at various large towns in the northwest. The last one was held in Oldham and 42 Sqn, by virtue of its geographical position, was selected to represent the Regiment. Members of the Squadron set up a number of Ptarmigan vehicles and static display stands outside the main shopping centre and did their best to pull the punters in. They had a visit from the Comd 42 (NW) Bde, Brig Wharmby OBE, who had his ear bent by LCpl Christine Jackson. She must have impressed him, as the Squadron have now been tasked to attend the next Armed Forces Day taking place in Crewe at the end of October. Needless to say, she will not be part of the team this time!

EXERCISE MANCUNIAN PURPLE
(31 AUGUST - 2 SEPTEMBER 2001)

The Squadron deployed on Ex Mancunian Purple in August to practice establishing trunk communications and to shake out after the summer holiday period. Although the attendance was somewhat sparse, enough bodies turned up to make the exercise worthwhile and valuable lessons were learnt by the newer members of the Squadron, while the old hands revised detachment procedures. The exercise remained in the local area with sites at Winter Hill and Billinge Hill being established. This enabled the Squadron to enjoy an end of exercise barbecue in good time back at the TAC, courtesy of the SQMS (V) SSgt Rooster Coburn.

TA PREPARATORY COMMISSIONING COURSE (TAPC)
by OCdt Trump

Described as a ' busy' course, the TA Preparatory Course is a fast paced week long revision of the military knowledge required to pass the two week TA Commissioning Course. The vast majority of students on my course were completing the three weeks in a single block. Skills revised, included first aid, the estimate, orders, drill, fitness tests (BPFA and MST), two and a half days of section and platoon attacks and there was even time for a guided tour of the Academy. The instructors at Sandhurst have already passed an extremely gruelling selection to be there and are absolutely first class; it is not only their knowledge but also the unique way in which it is imparted to the Officer Cadets, which makes the course so enjoyable - except when you screw up! The other Officer Cadets on the course came from all of the TA and University Officer Training Corps and teamwork develops rapidly during the first week, because everyone wants to pass and everyone is competing against a standard, not a quota. The break that I have before the Commissioning Course itself will give me time to practise my orders and improve my fitness. The fitness is most important and, in my case, I have a lot of work to do in this department before tackling the Commissioning Course. However, I have had a taste of life as an officer and am really looking forward to getting back to Sandhurst as soon as possible'

SSgt Mick Raper

Officer recruiting continues to go well and on the February Sandhurst Commissioning Course OCdt Mathew Trump will be joined by OCdt Charles Vincent who passed RCB but who has now opted for a career with the TA. This coming weekend OCdt John Schofield is at Chilwell on his TA Commissioning Board (TCB) and we wish him luck on that. In the pipeline is Sig Daniel Valentine who will be attending his MTPQ 2 course in the near future. The picture below features two of our latest recruits, Sig Emma Warburton (left) and Sig Bethan Sleigh (right) with LCpl Georgina Evans, one of our more senior girls, in centre position. Both Emma and Bethan, aspire to a Regular Commission in the Army if they do well with the TA. Emma is from Timperly in Cheshire and has a BA Honours degree in French and Italian from the University of Kent at Canterbury while Bethan is from Wilmslow in Cheshire and is currently studying for a combined honours degree in Business Maths and Business Economics at Manchester Metropolitan University. And to prove that she is not just a pretty face, Georgina Evans, a Systems Operator SCRA (CENTRAL) no less, is a Staff Nurse in cardiology and coronary care at Manchester Royal Infirmary and has a Batchelor of Nursing (Hons) degree.

EXERCISE EXECUTIVE STRETCH 2001

The Regiment is running this year's Executive Stretch Exercise at Halton Training Camp in Lancaster on 5-7 October 2001(report in next WIRE edition). Last weekend (21-23 September 2001) a complete rehearsal was carried out to ensure that there are no hiccups on the day. Stand in executives in the form of UOTC cadets, ACF cadets and Ghurkhas from Bland ford (SNUTS) were put through there paces and had to negotiate a series of stands including such delights as 'basha' building, the assault course, water crossing, night navigation and many others dreamed up by the Regt Trg Maj, Garry Hailstone. The highlight of the weekend was the visit by the SOinC (A), Brig C. J. Burton OBE. Escorted by the CO and Trg Maj, he visited all the stands including the admin and reception areas, which were the particular responsibility of 42 Sqn. In the evening he was hosted by the Officers and Warrant Officers at a dinner in Lancaster.

EXERCISE TEMPESTUOUS JOURNEY – BATTLEFIELD TOUR 2001

The majority of the Officers and WOs from the Regt have just returned from the Battlefield Tour 2001 that primarily focussed on the Battle of the Somme in Northern France. Ably driven by three of 50 Sqn's finest JNCOs, LCpls Tony Standing, Ruth 'Danger' Grainger and Matt 'Ouch that door hurt' Graham, complemented well by HQ Sqn's LCpl Julie Wilkinson, a packed tour had been arranged by Majs Graham Jennings and 'Taff' Watts. We were joined by a gaggle of officers from 2 Sig Regt, led by their Adjt, Capt Sue Barnard who proved excellent companions. Travelling overnight from Hull to Zeebrugge, the participants enjoyed an excellent evening meal on the P&O North Sea Ferry, entertainment being provided by Capt Dave Edwards on the piano and the free fall gymnastic skills of Lt Paul 'Top Bunk' Denning.

Arriving on the continent fresh and rejuvenated the next morning, our first stop was to visit the Hermies Cemetery, where the grave of Brig Gen 'Boy' Bradford VC rests and a wreath was laid on behalf of all the Regiment. There is a very special relationship between 50 Sig Sqn and the Bradfords, a local Darlington family, which led to our TAC being named the 'Bradford Armoury.' We then met up with our tour guide, Mr Robin Scott from Midas Tours, at Butte de Warlencourt. Due to the surprisingly good weather our pre-arranged itinerary went out of the window and we made the short journey down to Pozieres to visit the memorials to the Australians and Tank Corps and the site of the famous windmill. Refreshments were taken at 'Tommies Bar' in Pozieres before moving to Gommecourt where we walked the area of the diversionary attack north of the main area of the battle and compared the success and failure of the attacking divisions. We were then taken to Arras and our hotel for the two nights stay, where summary justice was dealt to Maj 'Taff' Watts for the standard of all the accommodation. A free evening in down town Arras followed where frogs legs and l'escargot washed down with a little vin rouge were the order of the day.

Saturday began with a visit to Serre, the site of the 'Pals Battalions' attack and visit to the Sheffield Memorial Park and its surrounding area. We followed the Redan ridge towards Beaumont-Hamel, taking in the sunken road and Hawthorn Redoubt, stopping only to grab coffee at Auchonvillers. We then visited the Newfoundland Memorial Park, the site of the Newfoundland Regiment heroic but futile assault. Escorted by a Newfoundland exchange student, we found ourselves walking the trenches and crossing No Man's Land to the 'Danger Tree', halfway point between the two front lines. The torrential rain suffered at 'Caribou Memorial' not dampening the spirit or the enthusiasm of the visitors. We then travelled through the valley of Ancre to the site of the Schwaben Redoubt and the Ulster Tower Memorial of 36 Ulster Division, then on to the memorial for the missing at Thiepval. This portion of the visit had significant meaning to Capt Steve Wayman and LCpl Andy Barrett who both found their great grandfathers names on this memorial. The day concluded with a visit to the South African Memorial at Delville Wood.

La Potiniere was the venue for the Regimental Dinner in Arras on Saturday Night, where a very enjoyable evening was had by all. Sunday dawned and we thankfully booked out of the hotel and drove to Vimy Ridge. Although not part of the Battle of the Somme, this assault carried out by four divisions of the Canadian Corps, which begun in 1917, against the ridge which possessed an almost impregnable reputation, was the site of a heroic and bloody victory, rounding off the Battlefield Tour 2001. The by now fatigued travellers made the journey back to Zeebrugge and onward passage home. Once again the Regimental Battlefield Tour has proved to be an outstanding success. Our personal development has been enhanced by this trip and along the way we have made some new friends with our 2 Sig Regt Colleagues, once more building a closer tie between TA and the Regulars.

NIJMEGEN MARCHES

The Regiment took part in the Nijmegen Marches in July for the third year in a row and it just doesn't get any easier. It is very easy to say '25 miles a day for four days' and yet much more difficult to actually walk it. Any admin problems were compounded by the fact that the team were to leave for Nijmegen two days before annual camp finished. Guess where the annual camp was; yes that's it, Brawdy in west, west, west Wales.
The team arrived at Nijmegen in good spirits on the Saturday and promptly lost four team members who disappeared somewhere in the den that is Amsterdam! The three young TA lads were apparently led astray by our Regular counterpart, a certain Cpl Law (more about him later), and did not return to Nijmegen until the briefing on Monday afternoon. The pre-taping began.

Tuesday morning loomed and we were off. Due to FMD restrictions the team had not trained very often and for some members the prospect of singing was a little off putting. Their fears were soon eased when they realised how bade the Team Leader was, nobody could believe that he was in fact Welsh. SSgt Heather 'I've got to go!' Fraser completed eight toilet breaks. Day Two is probably the worst day as the aches and pains are new and you cannot imagine how you will manage the next 75 miles. The weather was awful. Capt Jez Bailey just could not decide if the Union Flag was the correct way up and Sig 'Milly 'Oh that's better' Millington wrote the first of many thank you letters to the makers of Vaseline – don't even go there. SSgt Heather 'I've got to!!' Fraser completed ten toilet breaks on this day aiming to improve on a daily basis. Our only drop out, and yes it was our Regular Cpl 'ED 'the doctor made me stop' Law. Day Three and there was more rain. The rest areas are a mixed blessing, the rest is good, but the starting again is not. In fact they are starting to resemble the retreat from Moscow. SSgt Heather 'I've got to go!' Fraser completed 11 toilet breaks. The final day of marching and we needed to be at the temporary bridge at Cujih by 1500hrs or else we had to swim the river or march a 5km detour. Thankfully we made it and all that was left was the 10km march to the end. SSgt Heather 'I've got to go!' Fraser completed 15 toilet breaks.

Nijmegen Marches: Painful, comradeship, arguments, boring, exhilarating, revealing, funny, testing and the list goes on – if you have not done it before it comes highly recommended. After a 0430hrs reveille on the Saturday, oh my head, we were driven to pick up our minibuses. It was then that we discovered we had a flat tire, well actually the Dutch gate guard pointed it out to us. The trip was completed with a visit to the War Cemetery and Airborne Museum at Oosterbeck and the Bridge at Arnhem. The pain of people's feet was forgotten for a while amongst the self reflection at these sights.

Team Leader Lt Keith Williams cannot believe that a member of the AGC actually finished – well done Cpl 'Kitch' Kitching

ADVENTURE TRAINING – KESWICK

Coming straight after camp a large percentage of the Squadron descended on our old stomping ground of Braithwaite, near Keswick for a weekend of walking, climbing and water sports. Having shown that they had no water skills whatsoever during the Squadron's last visit to the Lake District, the officers decided to stick to terra firma and tackle the tricky grade three scramble of Pinnacle Ridge up onto St Sunday's Crag. Led by the dynamic duo of Lt Paul 'Punchy' Denning and Capt Dave 'Chopper' Edwards, the intrepid group of Officers braved the elements encountering torrential rain, hail and sunshine, before conquering the peak. Capt Steve 'Rock Hugger' Wayman deserves a special mention for his impression of a mountain goat and has dined out his exploits ever since. Next stop the Dolomites!

Ably guided and encouraged by the Squadron Foreman, (he asked me to put this in because it is CR time!), SSgt (FofS) Colin Raynor, the Squadron again performed admirably and even surpassed the very high standards set last year. Special mention must go to those Det Comds who were commended by the visiting RSIT Team: from Debdon Gdns the Radio Relay duo of LCpl Tony 'I didn't trip, I slipped' Standing and Sig John 'JQ' Quinn and from Darlington LCpl Jenny Randall – well done to you all.

SQUADRON WEEKEND – BALDERSDALE

Always on the lookout to support a good cause, the Squadron were approached and asked to help out at a local riding stables, used by the Riding for the Disabled, who's patron is our Colonel in Chief The Princess Royal. The task was readily accepted by the Squadron members, who were unaware of what they were letting themselves in for. The jobs explained were to re-build a wall, demolish an old wooden hut and level off some uneven ground ready to hardcore and gravel. The aim of this was to provide a solid base where the disabled riders could safely help the riding staff with the horses, however, on arrival the Sqn Comd showed his SNCOs the real tasks: the wall was a dry stone wall, the old wooden hut was a rather large 'building' and the levelling of ground was to include the movement of approx ten tonnes of old stone walling, followed by ten tonne of coarse and fine road stone for the level surface. Congratulations must go out to all members who attended, especially Capt Steve Wayman who offered his hospitality and front lawn to the Squadron for the duration of their stay and special thanks go to his neighbour Frank for the loan of his JCB. The end result far exceeded the original plan and the Riding for the Disabled staff was more than happy with the outcome. All were to agree that it had been a hard but most enjoyable weekend.

DINING OUT

The Squadron held a joint Officers/Sergeants Mess Dinner to honour the dining out of two of our SPSIs, WO2 (RQMS) Tom Lappin who is now at 19 Mech Bde and SSgt Rob Eden who has moved to 2 Sig Regt. We were also honoured with the attendance of the Hon Col , Sir Ron Norman OBE and his wife Lady Joyce, who made the first of what is hoped to be many visits to 50 (N) Sig Sqn (V) mess functions. Both SPSIs made a considerable contribution to the Squadron whilst with us and all wish them well for their future careers in the Corps and hope our paths may cross again in the not too distant future.

SQUADRON FOOTBALL

The Squadron have just entertained 95 (SY) Signal Squadron (V), who's OC is a former Sqn Comd here at Darlington, Maj John Lambton. Whilst attending their Annual Camp at Wathgill the lads from 35 Sig Regt (V) played the Squadron's geriatric football team and a good, clean, close fought match resulted in a fine win of 5-3 to the Darlington boys. Sgt Gary Fletcher scoring a hat trick to rank alongside Michael Owen's against Germany, if you were to believe him and a couple of goals from Sgt Ross Blair, including a cheeky little back heel which totally bamboozled the visiting goalkeeper. Après match activities were conducted back at the TA centre, where the teams enjoyed a few scoops and a fine buffet prepared by SSgt (SQMS) Colin Ridley.

EXERCISE EXECUTIVE STRETCH

As the mist began to lift and I surveyed the glorious countryside surrounding the Upper Holme training area near Leek on Saturday 26 September I could not help but reflect on the last time I was here early in the year when the weather was miserable and so was I. Poor weather and photography do not mix well and my fear was that I would experience the miserable conditions that the Executive Stretch contestants suffered the evening before. Fortunately for them and me, although it was windy, the sun began to breakdown the mist and spirits began to lift at the same time. Now I could see clearly what they were doing/suffering and unfortunately for them they could see me and quickly began to realise their worst experiences and embarrassing moments were going to be captured on film.

Emma Pyrah undergoing some map reading training

For those in the dark Executive Stretch is an exercise sponsored by the Reserve Forces Association and the National Employers Liaison Committee. It is designed to offer business leaders, prominent members of the community and other local organisations the opportunity to send key staff (or volunteers) to experience a weekend of challenging events and tasks. Events and tasks that reflect the diversity of skills needed and put into practice by our Reserve Forces – basically, to make them aware of how important the Reserve Forces are to their country and local community. The Regiment was privileged and delighted to be tasked by 143Bde to run this important exercise which was superbly organised by the Trg Maj, Maj Mick Boxall and his planning team who run the event with unbridled enthusiasm & energy. Reassuringly eighteen organisations accepted the challenge some of who had some idea of what to expect; after all most had been avid followers of survival! So far so good but would they enjoy some of the indignities heaped upon them such as traversing their way through a complex maze that just happened to be in total darkness to the other extreme tackling a gruelling and exhausting combat trail full of devious obstacles after a few hours of sleep, and would they be able to make head and tail of the contents list of a 24hour rat pack!

More importantly would they understand that the purpose was not to eliminate team members but to work together and finish as a team. However, by contrast they also had to develop an aggressive and competitive spirit to outdo or outsmart all the other teams participating. It was rewarding to observe that most teams quickly understood the need to work and pull together especially those that comprised varying levels of skills, energy and fitness. Understanding and gentle motivation became symptomatic to cope with this problem and this method while not ideal worked well because even weaker members improved dramatically over the weekend. Other tasks and challenges that had to be faced included casualty simulation which gave some of most aspiring drama students in the shapes of Sig Zoe Trimm of 58 Sqn and Cpl Andy Parry of 95 Sqn to strut their stuff, but the Oscar winning performance must go to Sig Terry Forbes of 58 Sqn who made such a convincing casualty even the real medics had to be called in.

Where's John? Sig Terry Forbes supported by two young executives while Cpl Andy Parry tries to make a quick exit Heaven only knows though where his lost mate John got to - perhaps he forgot his name was actually Andy! More gentle offerings included the map reading stand where some participants were clearly seen plotting the way home having just trekked an arduous few miles with a loaded rucksack and the camouflage stand where participants were greeted to a humorous display by LCpl Craig Jones of 58 Sqn on how not to put your make up\cam cream on. Not so humorous perhaps was the recovery of a casualty from a minefield. Negotiating through the minefield was fine but not for the poor casualty (who shall remain nameless) who they kept tipping out of the stretcher. Retribution was swift though because the next stand involved recovering and replacing a tyre on a Land Rover - except the replacement tyre as most teams discovered after a lot of hard work, was flat! This excellent weekend culminated in raft race after which all teams, even though exhausted and saturated, visibly relaxed knowing all the hard work was over and all they now had to look forward to was the prize giving followed by lunch and the journey home. No doubt to recount on the way fond stories of a glorious weekend with the TA. Notable visitors to the exercise included Comd143 Bde, Brig Andrew Meek who also presented awards to the winning team and to the best male and female, the Chairman of the RFCA, Brig John Patrick and the SO1 NELC 143 Bde, Lt Col Harris Andrew Trelawny. Valuable lessons learnt over the weekend - never express your innermost thoughts until you know who you are talking too and a flag pole as I discovered to my cost is nothing like a VHF antenna especially after you have arrived at what you thought was the Comms Stand and never go trekking over Upper Holme unless you have got tread on your boots. Finally special thanks are extended to all those supporting units which included, RMLY, 225 Plant Sqn RE, West Midland Regiment, and 202 Gen Hospital, without them the exercise would not have been as successful as it was. A special thanks is also reserved for the help given by Birmingham UOTC who provided an Officer Cadet for each team. Without their help, good humour, gentle persuasion and specialist skills some teams may not have made it through to the final event.

BACK TO GOD'S COUNTRY

After a remarkable weekend looking after young and not so young executives just a few days later the Regiment headed towards Wathgill Camp near Catterick for its second phase of annual training on Saturday 30 September. Here the West Midlander's were treated to the outstanding beauty of Gods Country namely the Yorkshire Dales and it was here that an intensive week of Military, Recruit, Trade and Leadership training was programmed to take place. The RSM, WO1 Yogi Cauldwell, was also in second heaven as it probably gave him his one and only opportunity of having a Regimental parade every morning. It was a pleasure to observe his unrestrained joy as his Sergeant Majors began to renew their acquaintance with the drill square and complex drill movements like marching in step – but by Friday they had it tuned to a fine art! I was keen to capture the hustle and bustle of the settling in phase on film when it dawned on me that after a pleasant journey of 170 miles on a luxury coach my beloved camera was not in its usual place. Mild panic quickly set in and in my agitated state I realised I had left it on the coach that had returned to Birmingham five minutes earlier. The Race was on, I just could not carry out my Media duties without the camera and I had no wheels to chase the coach. Fortunately the QM, Maj Jim Coffey, came to my rescue he threw me the keys to his estate car and I sped towards Catterick Garrison in pursuit of the coach. To my horror on reaching the outskirts of the Garrison I realised that the coach had taken a different route – but which one! I had to make some quick deductions did it take the back route into Catterick village and onto the A1 or was the driver so impressed by the landscape surrounding Gods Country that he decided to take the scenic route through Leyburn and Masham. I opted for the latter and by nothing short of a miracle found the coach and driver parked in a picturesque lay-by on the outskirts of Leyburn. I was right he was enjoying the countryside and I very fortunately recovered my camera and headed for the Fibua at Whinny Hill.

BAND OF BROTHERS & SISTERS

The last time I experienced the Fibua at Whinny Hill was in June 1991 and how things have changed – superb and dramatic sound effects, old armoured vehicles that represent a battle group, tunnels, mazes, devious traps, obstacles, barbed wire, molotov cocktail range – you name it it is there to be practiced. I was convinced that part of Band of Brothers had been filmed here as some of the training carried out reflected some of the more realistic house clearing scenes in the TV series. Under the expert tuition and guidance of SSgts Barnie Balmforth, Tosh Hodgskins and 'Geordie' Ord, sections composing of eight members spent the week at Whinny Hill and by Friday became extremely proficient at the many skills possessed by our best infanteers. The sheer guts and determination displayed by team members was inspiring as some of the conditions they had to endure can only be described as extremely unpleasant.

Sgt Wendy Geddis in particular overcame her fear of enclosed spaces by taking her Section, which included Sgt Alan Lunn and Sig Katy Mulligan, through the Fibua sewerage/tunnel system in total darkness and all this having just completed an obstacle course, followed by a systematic clearance of three houses using blank ammo, SBN's and Chorley Grendades. All of this completed in just over 17 minutes of adrenaline pumping physical exertion – their reward a hot cup of tea minus sugar! Earlier they had also engaged in a forceful flat clearance occupied by an SPSI fundamentalist in the shape of SSgt Andy Lloyd. He unwisely refused them entry and came to grief when he tumbled down the external stairs of the flat with all eight members of the attacking section on top of him. Some other sections believe they heard the muffled cries of 'Medic' carried on the light wind as SSgt Lloyd was seen to hobble off in the distance.

Sgt Wendy Geddis adjusting the kit of Sig Katy Mulligan before the house clearance ex

Meanwhile over at the Molotov Cocktail range riotous behaviour was the order of the day with even the CO Lt Col Stephen Potter having a go at striking a derelict tank. After singeing the hairs on his wrist the Molotov he threw appeared to have a life of its own and fortunately for the CO's reputation was almost on target. Sig Doc Watson was not so lucky and is now rueing the day that he lobbed a dud – his mates in 48 Sqn will just not let him forget it! The accolade of Best Section was granted to the Section led by LCpl Rob Prun & Cfn Rob Griffiths their fine and effective command & control led to a performance by their section that at the end of the week proved unbeatable. Following an unpleasant experience with a Chorley Grendade that exploded between my legs and left me deaf and numb (yes numb) I choose this undignified moment to make a sharp exit and visit the more mundane but essential trade training back at Wathgill.

A Section from 48 Squadron joined by the Honorary Colonel

DEVELOPING SKILLS WITHOUT THE THRILLS

Most of the trade training activities were concentrated at Wathgill Camp with a full range of training for Area Systems Ops, Radio Systems Ops and Electricians as well as essential driver training. The acquisition of skills without the military thrills is a necessity of a Royal Signals TA unit and all trainees fully understood their priority over the week was to gain valuable trade qualifications even though they missed out on some tremendous fun. As Sigs Zoe Trimm, Patrick Bryant and Andrew Ingram would testify they, as well as many others, at least qualified in their chosen trade and will soon see the benefits in their TA pay. Others saw more immediate benefits especially LCpl Tim Duff whose promotion depended on him completing his driver training which as you can gather was completed successfully. This only added to Tim's string of good news, as shortly before camp he also became a father – many congratulations Tim!

While most of the training was confined to Wathgill the Regimental YofS WO2 Phil Tonks assisted by SSgt Dave Owen did arrange some useful field training near the airstrip at Marne Barracks formerly RAF Catterick. Here all the classroom skills were put into practice and trade skills confirmed. Here those undergoing C+E training, utilising the full benefits of a large airfield to develop their driving skills, also joined them. By happy coincidence at the time of the training 19 Bde HQ & Sig Sqn were also conducting a field ex in the area with a variety of AFV's. Following a swift liaison visit with some old friends SSgt Dave Owen managed to lay on both a familiarisation visit as well as some useful cross training. All trade trainees were then entertained by members of the Squadron and treated to a grand tour of the Brigade complex, as it would be deployed operationally – but unfortunately not treated to a crash out that was firmly but politely refused. They were also given an insight into the day to day problems and difficulties experienced by a regular R Signals unit that proved most enlightening.

A trade trainee attempting to establish contact!

This rewarding visit showed how well the TA and Regular Army could work together by a mutual understanding of each other's needs and problems. Special thanks are extended to both WO2 (YofS) John Wright and Lt Dan Clarke for allowing the visit and the excellent briefings during the visit. Now it was time to move on and catch up with what the recruits were doing who just happened to be training somewhere in the vicinity!

It should have gone there Sergeant Major – FofS Chris Wilson directing SSM Martin Thacker while SSgt Dave Dewfall looks on mildly amused

I FOUND MY DRILL ON CASTLE HILL

Following the successful TA Foundation Course held at Salisbury Plain during Phase 1 of annual camp it proved to be a formula worth repeating and one that attracted eight recruit trainees to attend the rigours of recruit training in Catterick. The training was evenly split between Wathgill and a useful copse located in the Castle Hills area of Marne Barracks. Here the recruits engaged in the full range of initial skills training in an energetic programme arranged by WO1 Terry Douglas and his specialist team of recruit instructors. Five weekends of training were crammed into seven days so skill fade never became a problem and by all accounts this method of training produces a trained recruit that is much better prepared for the subsequent CMS (TA) course at Blandford. Sig Lyn Hartshorn and Sig Ed Flint in particular could barely contain their excitement during the section attack phase when they ignited their first signal flare while Sig Carl Jones was a little bemused at the intricacies of the paralume and was convinced it was a dud!

Hope I'm holding the right end!

Sig Ashley Hinton looks faintly bemused in the background

Fortunately, their drills during the section attacks proved much more effective as was their foot drill. All participants, although they found it both mentally and physically demanding, enjoyed the week and are now eager to attempt Phase 2. This busy, worthwhile and constructive week culminated in the traditional recruit pass off parade on Friday 5 October at Wathgill Camp. Both the Recruits and Recruit Team were proud to receive the Honorary Colonel, Col Brian Foxon, as the reviewing officer and following the parade he paid tribute to their hard work, spirit and dedication.

He also presented the award of Best Recruit to Sig David Harris of 89 Sqn. David is keen to become a potential officer and judging by his overall performance, he is well on his way. Well there is little more to report on camp except a few round up points/pints.

CAMP ROUND UP

Notable visitors to this phase of annual training included GOC 5 Div, Maj Gen A. G. Denaro CBE, Comd 143 Bde Brig Andrew Meek, the Honorary Colonel, Col B. N. T. Foxon OBE, ADC, TD and the Honorary Colonel REME TA 5 Div, Col Derek Forrest.

GOC 5 Div chatting to WO1 Terry Douglas

On the final camp parade on Thursday 4 October the CO spra ng a very special surprise on Cpl Avril Forsyth. Because of her outstanding commitment to the Regiment over the past year Avril, against some very tough competition, was selected for the award of the Stockdale Trophy – to say she was speechless is perhaps an understatement.

The CO presenting the award of the Stockdale Trophy to Cpl Avril Forysth

Later that day a further surprise was sprung on WO2 Peter Mouland when he was called into the Officers Mess and his commissioning to Captain announced – many congratulations Peter and once again welcome to the Officers Mess.

Maj John Lambton congratulating Capt Pete Mouland on his commissioning

Camp also had the usual sprinkling of social occasions including an all ranks quiz, disco and smoker and a very lively joint officers and sergeants mess function where the Regimental Officers, Warrant Officers and Senior NCO's were joined by the Honorary Colonel who kindly picked up the port bill for those who were fined! Following an entertaining and uplifting speech the CO then sprung one or two surprises and promoted SSgt Andy Wilkins to WO2, and Sgts Colin Richards, Bromfield and John Scott to Staff Sergeant, but the biggest surprise was reserved for Cpl Kay Yeubrey who was acting as a Mess Steward during the evening, when the CO announced her promotion to Sergeant to tremendous applause from all present – all are to be congratulated on their well deserved promotions. Congratulations are also extended to SSgt Kevin Bannigan and Sgts Tiny Hogan and Spot Anslow of the LAD on their respective promotions, which were promulgated soon after camp. The handover arrangements for Wathgill Camp went extremely well and there seemed to be an urgency and determination to both clean up and pack up and disappear through the camp gates well before lunch. The fact that wide screen TVs in all TA Centre were warming up for the England v Greece game I am assured had nothing to do with it.

DON'T BE DISAPPOINTED.

CAMBRAI CHALLENGE

While most of the Regiment were looking forward to going home or watching the big match another group of courageous stalwarts were busy making their final preparations for a concerted assault on the Cambrai Challenge Competition held at Altcar over the weekend 6/7 Oct. No home comforts for them to look forward to they had been busy practising, developing and testing their military skills all week. Although on the verge of exhaustion, they were still eager to prove they were the best Other Arms team in 143 Bde. They were also quietly confident that they could also compete on level terms with any of the infantry teams entered in the competition and were clearly mentally as well as physically prepared to do battle and attempt eight difficult military skills stands. After the team leader, Capt Tom Jeffries, gave them a final pep talk the intrepid but slightly apprehensive team set off for Altcar Training Area with nervous but confident expectation of making the Regiment proud of them. After a fairly shaky start with the AFV recognition, their endeavours and selfconfidence began to pay dividends as the team began to accumulate valuable points on the NBC & Casualty extraction stands. By the time they reached the dreaded Assault Course the team was running on pure adrenaline and a remarkable 6 minutes and 16 seconds later it was all over beating all other competitors including the best infantry team! By the end of the first day we had the Cambrai Challenge Trophy in the bag and all that was left to do was to snatch some kip, conserve our energy and hopefully continue our winning streak for the March and Shoot competition the following morning. Here after much laboured puffing, blowing, and buckets of sweat (and some exceptional shooting) the Regimental team fell in for the prize giving and discovered we had won both stages of the competition. Tired, weary but exuberant the team loaded the minibus with medals and trophies and started the long haul home with Cpl Paul Kane recounting the glories all the way. All team members are now looking forward to next year's competition. This magnificent, impressive and outstanding team composing of Capt Tom Jeffiries, Cpl Paul Kane, Capt Chris Mosely, SSgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins, LCpl Ian Townsend, LCpl Andy Price and Sig Tim Wallace have earned the congratulations and admiration of all members of the Regiment for their fine achievement. Very well done!

36 SIGNAL REGIMENT (VOLUNTEERS)

RSM WO1 'Paddy' Morrow

A period of quiet consolidation for the Regiment has followed the Royal visit in July, with Squadron Commanders taking the opportunity to prepare their troops for the dual rigours of the Autumnal exercise season and technical inspections. The first Regimental Training Weekend of the cycle was held at West Tofts, and the trade and military training process will continue in earnest throughout the coming months.

WO2 (RQMS(V)) Eddie Kikas presents new dog tags to his (very) distant cousin, the RSM

WO1 (RSM) Dougie Eaglesham took the opportunity to cut and run, on commissioning, to 30 CTT in Wrexham, and was dined out in fine fashion at West Tofts training camp in STANTA – we wish him and his family the best of luck. Both 45 Sqn and the Regiment were sad to see Sgt 'Tosh' Hodgskins posted to 35 Sig Regt (V) on promotion, and our best wishes go out to him and his young family. We also say goodbye to Miss Lorraine Mooney, who has been a stalwart member of the Regimental clerical team for the last 22 years – we wish you good fortune at the ILC in Woolwich. A warm welcome is extended to the new RSM, WO1 'Paddy' Morrow, who joins us from 3 (UK) Armd Div – enjoy!

WO1 (SVWO) Les Scott gets all choked up after presenting RSM Dougie Eaglesham with a solid silver quaich

The Regiment would like to pay tribute to Mr Peter Phillips, Chairman of the East London branch of the RSA, who passed away recently. A popular, larger than life character respected by all those he came into contact with, Pete will be sorely missed. Whether on association business, out on the golf course, or with his friends on the nineteenth green, he was always good company and our sincere condolences go out to his family.

EXERCISE COCKNEY WALK - Maj Pete Minshall

I am not sure why but lately all HQ Sqn's Adventure Training seems to involve water, lots of water. The plan was to use the facilities at 14 (EW) Signal Regiment at Brawdy South Wales; the activities planned were to be Coastal Path Walking, Coastal Steering and White Water Rib Rafting. The Squadron was due to leave Ilford TAC at 1930 by coach, to arrive at Brawdy by midnight, however due to the failure of transport bookings we had to then make arrangements to take our own clapped out mini bus for use in Wales on the Saturday, which meant a slow journey for the two drivers. After a long drive to Wales we eventually arrived at 14 Sig Regt's location at about 1.30am Saturday morning, by the time everyone was briefed and bedded down it was nearer 3.00am.

With a early rise and good breakfast under our belts we arranged to split the Squadron into two sections one for the Coastal Steering and one for the White Water Rib Rafting. First group set of for St David's where the Coastal Steering was to take place, in the mean time the second group set of for another part of St David's where the Rib Rafting was organised. Oh by the way I have not mentioned the weather yet, when we left Ilford by coach it was a glorious evening warm and sunny, we drove all night West into a fabulous setting sun, but when we arrived in Wales it was misty with rain. Now Saturday morning with no sun just low cloud, mist and driving rain, oh well we were going to get wet later anyway. On arrival at the location for the Coastal steering we were fully briefed and then issued wetsuits helmet and buoyancy jackets all provided by the centre plus you need an old pair of your own trainers to protect your feet when on the rocks. After changing into these, which I might add were all soaking wet and freezing cold especially the wetsuits, we then had a small wait and then all piled into our mini bus which took us to the cliffs just South of St David's were we were then to see just what we were in for. Coastal steering is a fairly new sport, the best way to describe it is as someone said, 'We are about to do everything that you tell the kids not to do, that is play on the rocks and cliff faces in the high surf where strong currents abound.' Again we were briefed by one of the two instructors that was going to take us into the water, his instructions were clear on what to do and what he was looking for, as he explained, 'This was team work, confidence building, working in pairs looking out for each other.' He paired us up into a good swimmer with a poor swimmer, this was essential as it was part of the team building training for the morning as not all could swim or there were week swimmers and some who were afraid of heights.

To start this all off we had to jump into the water from a high cliff, well about 15 to 20ft with a large swell running. After some hesitation we were all in the water one way or another. We then swam across a small bay with large swell and waves breaking on the rocks and cliff face. During the next two hours, which went too quickly we traversed cliff faces just above the waves, which were always trying to pluck you off, some fell off or were knocked off by the waves but most made it, there was one point where the tide and waves was coming in between two large rocks the gap was called the SLUICE and each time a large wave hit a surge of water came through, again team work came into play. The instructor wanted to see how many of the team we could get stood in the gap before a big wave would knock us all over. We nearly achieved a maximum before we were all knocked over and swept through the gap. As the tide was coming in eventually it became a swell rather than a wave and so some peoples were waiting for the crest of the swell and then body surfing into the bay behind the rocks. WO2 (SSM) T. Butler in particular seem to like this bit as shown in the photo.

WO2 (SSM) Terry Butler trying to body surf on the front of a surge through the 'Sluice' as it was called

We also jumped from progressively higher cliffs into ever deeper water. At the end of our two hours everyone was totally tired but very happy, everyone enjoyed it and wanted more. It was good to see that the more older experienced soldiers looked after some of the newer and younger recruits that we had with us that day. A special mention goes to Sig Sanger who is not a good swimmer and is wary of heights, we got him in the water and also at the end jumping from the high rocks into the deep water and Pte Evan's who we had to coax into the water, but was enjoying herself by the end of the two hours. Well done to them and everyone who helped them. There were a few scrapes and bruises incurred on the rocks and barnacles but nothing serious. I believe that the team spirit was very high by the time we came back onto dry land, I know I was well pleased with what I had seen achieved. Meanwhile the cloud had come down lower and there was a heavy mist with light rain, thus when we finished and went back to the Centre for lunch (usual haverbag), we found that the other half of the Squadron had not been White Water Rib Rafting as they were unable to go out to sea due to the low cloud and heavy mist. The Rib Rafting takes place in the open see in between Ramsey Island and the mainland St David's Head in an area called Ramsey Sound, so Sgt (PSI) (Taff) Griffiths took them Coastal Walking instead. After lunch we changed over and the first group went Coastal Path Walking and the second group went Coastal Steering. At the end of the day everyone was thoroughly tired and wet either from the walking or from being in the sea. We all returned to 14 Signal Regt for a hot shower and dry clothes and a well earned dinner, which was laid on in the main dining room by our own SSGT (Master Chef) Norma Miller-Kight, who had arrived on the Friday afternoon with the advance party we had sent down to organise everything by taking over the accommodation and preparing for the main party's arrival late Friday night. The evening was spent in the Bowling Alley at 14 Signal Regiment with a competition for the highest team score (never did find who won that). A few beers were also sunk so we were wet again although this time it was inside. Later some of the Squadron decided to go and see the sights in Haverfordwest. Sunday we had a lay in, well 8.00am Breakfast then clear accommodation and wait for the coach to turn up to return to our TAC in Ilford East London. We arrived back in late afternoon without trouble in fact the noise from the rear of the coach was a bit alarming at times as we were not sure if it was the back axle of the snoring. In all a very good weekend adventure training, with some very good team work and bonding especially between the older and newer members of the Squadron. My congratulations for a well organised and enjoyable weekends training goes to our (SPSI) SSGT Jim Pollitt and Sgt (PSI) 'Taff' Griffiths, as well as everyone who took part.

A YEAR IN THE LIFE OF 36 (E) SIGNAL REGIMENT LAD REME (V)
by Cpl Izzy (or Eddy to his cross dressing chums) Izzard

The story so far…..

January: New Year, new PSI, the arrival of SSgt Brett Richardson was not so much a new broom, more like the arrival of the entire street cleaning department of the local council. Things were about to change in the LAD. A few deals and plenty of generosity in the 36 Club and the new PSI has won the 'hearts and minds' of the LAD.

February: Processes and systems, the Workshop Office disappears, new floor and a lick of a paint and by a miracle its….PP&C! Forms, flow charts, files, lists and more forms. Cpl Izzard is PP&C with L plates but he's learning fast. Meanwhile Cpl Hourihan and the rest of the crew are on Exercise Sparkling Workshop. There's paint everywhere, some of it where it is supposed to be.

March & April: Servicing is due and the PRE is in sight. The LAD is in production. AQMS Drew Johnston leads the way as spanners fly and the LAD fleet gets its 6 monthly pampering. The black biro is red hot in PP&C as spares demands fly and nothing can be heard but numbers 890s, 8800s, 1045s, 1043s, 1084s, 932s. Is this code?

May: Operation Sparkling Workshop is in overdrive. The workshop floor is now a shiny battleship grey and the welder's bay becomes…well err…a real welder's bay. MT co-habits PP&C, more numbers, more forms. The PRE team descends as does the big boys from 49 Brigade for the Techeval. The LAD is effective…and that's official! But its not all work, the LAD joins its more mature comrades of the local REME Association for a splendid evening at the Tower of London to experience the Ceremony of the Keys. Whose keys? The Queen's keys.

June & July: Annual Camp arrives but the usual two weeks field exercise with the Regiment is a casualty to foot and mouth. The LAD is packed off to learn from the professionals at the PSI's previous posting 16 Regiment RA Workshops at Woolwich. Some quality training is in store for everyone. The AQMS is locked in PP&C, VMs on inspections and all the other TA tradesmen getting some top tips from the extremely helpful team at Workshops. The stay at Woolwich is topped by an invitation, gratefully accepted, to have a guided tour of the RA Woolwich Barracks Officer's Mess. A memorable tour for which the LAD was truly grateful. However, if such an honour was not enough, the next phase of Annual Camp was even more memorable. A Royal Visit by HRH the Princess Royal, Colonel in Chief of the Royal Signals at the TA Centre in Ilford, home to 36 Sig Regt, Regimental HQ, Squadron HQ and the LAD. The LAD led by its OC, Capt Robin Needham, was greatly honoured to present a stand to Her Royal Highness that included a display of the Machinery Trailer and other kit, a BDR demonstration and, the icing on the cake, righting an upturned Land Rover using the Foden Recovery Vehicle. All went very well and Her Royal Highness showed a keen interest in the LAD team, its role and equipment.

August: After the arrival of the PSI and the experience with 16 Sig Regt, the LAD was in danger of information overload. Nothing better then, than some Adventure Training with HQ Squadron to take their minds off things. The location was Brawdy in Wales. The main activity was coasteering. It was an experience especially for the courageous Craftsmen Igwe and Boatey who were soon flinging themselves off the rocks into the sea when they can't swim.

September: The LAD teams up with its friends and neighbours, the fitters of 240 Squadron of 151 RLC at Romford for some military skills training. The guys rise to the challenge of sniffing out Cpl Ford's cunningly booby-trapped Land Rover and move on to Ex Windmill Walk a night navigation exercise in the wilds of Essex run by SSgt Mick 'Spud' Murphy. A few blisters and sore ankles but everyone makes the 15km route without getting lost….much!

October: The sights are now on Ex Southern Craftsman. The silverware is there for the taking, but will 36 Sig Regt LAD steal the glory? We'll have to wait and see.

45TH (ESSEX) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS) WO'S & SGT'S MESS SUMMER BALL 15 SEPTEMBER 2001

The peace in ye olde village of Bungay, Norfolk, was broken on the 15th day of the month of September when ye olde people of 45 (Essex) Signal Squadron WO's & Sgt's Mess and their guests turned up for a Medieval Banquet at ye Three Tuns. (All except Sgt John Pickett who true to form arrived at Colchester after the transport had left!)

Everyone changed from their modern dress to something more becoming for the evening. Sir (Sgt Kevin) Elliott, Sir (SSgt Gerry) McGachy and Sir (Q) Russell became ye roundheads (Apparently Ron didn't have to hire a costume, he still had his old kit issued by the New Model Army). Sir (Mick) Joiner, Sir (SSgt Dacre) Barwick dressed as ye gay (hey, but that's okay now) cavaliers and Mr Fryer (Sgt John) Mitchell and Mr Fryer (Sgt Andy) Gladman also joined the fun in costumes befitting their girth. Finally the SSM (Louise) Walker and Sgt Rose Prince found the most fitting outfits true to their own nature - JESTERS!

Goblets of mead accompanied a fine 4-course meal, whilst some people found themselves almost at home by using just their fingers. Musicians thrummed, jugglers juggled and challenges were thrown by all and sundry – just another day within the Squadron really. A modern day disco was held in the cellar afterwards, with Sir (Ron Q) Russell showing us how they did it in ye olde days. All in all a great night out for all and many thanks to the SSM on all the hard work organising the function.

EXERCISE SSM'S ENDEAVOUR - 27-29 July 2001

by LCpl Matt Joyce

Ex SSM Endeavour was the SSM's answer to The Mountvoy Trophy weekend. Run with a big emphasis on NBC, the Squadron was split into four groups at the end of first parade and it was all go from there. There were five stands to get around and we were determined to score maximum points. My team started off on the driving, with LCpl Putnam turning the wheel and LCpl Joyce guiding her whilst reversing with a trailer - things went reasonably smoothly at this stage. However, the tables were turned when it was LCpl Joyce's turn to drive, and things started to heat up with LCpl Putnam guiding operations. With Joycie throwing his teddies all over the cab, and LCpl Putnam giving him looks that can kill a man at 100m, it certainly made for an entertaining 20mins. Next up was Leopard Crawling with a weapon strip thrown in for good measure. Glad to report that there were no major problems there. The Leopard Crawl was succeeded by a Trailer Run in which the teams had to push the trailer around the TA centre in Full IPE. What fun - Sig Crouch (the ex-infantryman who has seen more action than Gen Sir Peter De La Billiere, so I am told anyway) was seen to be examining the contents of his large intestine afterwards. Fifth on the agenda was the Chinese Whispers in which the instructor would give one person a message, and it would then pass down the group until it got to the last man and then it would be voiced back to the instructor and if the two matched you got a point. We had an amazement of final answers! Orienteering was the next stand in which we had to run around looking for little markers with a key on. That went pretty smoothly. Drill followed with the slow march looking more like something you might see on the Starship Enterprise. With the squad desperately trying not to laugh we attempted to do the best we could out of the situation and I believe that we may have come top on that stand.

Members of the Squadron squeeze through a tight gap during the NBC obstacle course

Knock off, shower and change for a few beers and a Bar-B-Q was just what everyone wanted to hear. Though best not to hit it too hard as the CFT was to follow in the morning. Needless to say one or two of the troopers hung on a major session. CFT, after a hearty breakfast, was just like having a delightful stroll in the country, well for some of us anyway. With that out of the way time to pack up and disappear. Yet another fun but educating weekend put on by the seniors. Although the weather was hot I do not think that anyone minded being in full IPE for the day. With the activities that were set up for us there was not a lot of time to get bored hanging around. So from the guys on the ground, thanks for a blinding weekend.

EXERCISE ACTIVITY TIGER - 18–19 AUGUST 2001

by LCpl Matt Joyce

18 August 2001 saw the Adventure Training kick off for 45 Sig Sqn at Cambridge TA centre. On arrival the troopers were met by the ever cheerful Sgt Del Parkinson. Straight after a good old TA breakfast of tea and toast we were split into two groups - one for rock climbing and canoeing, and the other for some mountain biking through STANTA with Lt Sturt. Just before we left we were all issued with a happy meal (Supplied by SSgt McGachy) that the lads affectionately nicked-named the 'McUnhappy' meal as the Cornish pasties were so tiny. The canoeing contingent headed for Bassingbourne Camp where we met up with Cpl John King and Cpl Paul Miles. First up we had rock climbing on the indoor wall after being shown the ropes (excuse the pun) we were then let loose. With Cpl Farrow in a different league, looking the part with his shiny new 'stickys', he was on top form closely followed by LCpl Putnam. The OC Sqn was determined to climb above 1m, though without a great deal of luck. Better luck next time Sir!

Straight after the climbing followed the canoeing. Once the safety brief was out of the way we launched our canoes and had a paddle around the lake with Sig Stewart bringing up the rear and Sig Andrews steaming off in front, convinced that he was on some kind of special ops with the SBS. We regrouped and the instructors showed us how to steer, stay up right and what to do should we capsize (which was pretty inevitable). After a few games such as running over the canoes when they were pulled together in one big line, and tag with a tennis ball we packed up and headed back to the TA Centre. Once the kit was squared away everyone showered to shouts of 'come on, you're in your own time now' (that old chestnut) we headed to the Mecca of all adventure training weekends - the holy bar.

SSgt (SPSI) Gerry McGachy (back right) prepares to dispatch further search parties in the hope of finding that damned ball Sgt Kev Elliot acts as loose ballast in the centre

The next morning we headed down to the lake for a raft building competition between Warley and Colchester. After being given some barrels, planks of wood and some string we split up and start to build the rafts. Once they were built the Warley Warriors, armed with a sense of humour and paddles, followed the Colchester classics into the lake. The first task was a race around a buoy about 100m out and then back again. With honour at stake, the Warley Warriors retaliated with a stream of invective and things got pretty ugly after. All in all a good time was had by all. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the PSI's, Cpl King and Cpl Paul Miles for all the work that they put into to making the Adventure Training weekend such a success.

EXERCISE AUTUMN ENDEAVOUR 28-30 SEPTEMBER 2001

by Lt Andy Sturt (Sqn Ops Offr)

Organising training weekends is like baking a cake, the ingredients are not appetising on their own but put them together in the correct way and a gateau will be the end product. So the challenge was set to combine ranges and RSIT prep into one weekend and come out with a Black Forest. Some might say that this is like making a cake from mud and soil. The weekend started on Friday with a session on the local SAT. After practising on the 'normal' practices the SPSI, SSgt Gerry McGachy, mentioned something about a video shoot. Almost instantly, after 15 minutes the computer was working and all involved slipped into banzai mode. This session was greatly appreciated as moving targets are somewhat different to the figure elevens that we have all met before. Saturday started exactly as every range day should; with a dark grey sky that appeared to have a severe leaking problem. Thankfully, once the cattle had been moved off the range, we were able to start firing. Capt Mike Evans and SSgt Stewart along with the SPSI had spent a lot of time organising everything so that everybody was able to get through the APWT in record time. What was even more incredible was that we achieved an 80% pass rate. Of course no weekend would be complete without its surprises, so that TA CFT was sprung on us. One sweaty hour later it was into the RSIT prep with the exception of Lt Andy Sturt who found himself directed towards the kitchen. Thankfully Cpl Molineaux had already prepared the food and so it was simply a matter of turning on the cooker, although it must have been difficult as breakfast and lunch had also been cooked by the time the Ops Officer emerged from the kitchen. The RSIT prep went well and an enormous amount of work was completed. A big thank you must be sent out to Lt Emma Hillyard and OCdt Sturt who took it on themselves to sort out the troop stores. I doubt that they really knew what they had let themselves in for. A very successful weekend was had by all involved, plenty of valuable training was completed and the RSIT prep continued well. When asked what the best thing was about the weekend the consensus seemed to be that another three bounty qualifications were complete and that RSIT would soon be over!

REGIMENTAL GOLF SOCIETY

by SSgt (SQMS) Ron Tex Russell

The inter Squadron golf competition took place on 26 September at Stapleford Abbots Golf Club. After the traditional pre-match coffee and bacon rolls, 16 players were ready and raring to go on the first tee. The weather was good, and rumours were rife across the course that previously unheard of golfers were playing out of their skins. The atmosphere was tense as the 18th hole approached, and it looked as if it was going to be a tight finish. Steve 'Motorman' Kentish got a hole in one at the 185 par three (although Steve is used to dealing with big holes, being ex-Pioneer Corps), and we all enjoyed the free beer afterwards, a big well done to a good guy. Len Carr scored 36 points (never heard of before), and Ray Whall finished with 39 points that was enough to win him the top individual prize. Rod Allen cleaned up with the longest drive of the day, whilst Ron Russell couldn't resist scooping the nearest the pin medal. The top prize was lifted by Sig Dave Bleck on behalf of 45 Sqn who won by one point from 54 Squadron. One again, this was a superb day out, with some good golfers on display, improving all the time. A final word of caution - remember, they put fertiliser on the greens so don't lick your balls!

PUBLIC APOLOGY

The Corps Press Complaints Committee recently found in favour of Maj (AKA Captain) Edwards, and against the editor of 36 Sig Regt WIRE notes (now retired). Maj Edwards objected to the word 'rotund' being used in a recent edition of The WIRE in relation to his body shape and overall condition. The Regiment now accepts that it was wrong to describe one of the up and coming stars of the Royal Corps in this fashion, and recognises (after due medical consultation) that 'portly' would have been a more sympathetic and definitive description. Maj Edwards, Adjutant amongst Adjutants, we apologise unreservedly for any offence caused.

ANNUAL CAMP 2001 - PENHALE TRAINING CAMP NEWQUAY (SEPTEMBER 20– OCTOBER 6)

This year saw 37 Sig Regt travel to Cornwall for its Annual Camp. A two-week training package with one week on the ranges and one week adventure training. The range package included familiarisation with the GPMG, target indication and live-firing section attacks as well as weapon handling and shooting assessments. The Regiment welcomed GOC Maj Gen A. G. Denaro to the ranges on Thursday of the first week. The General gave an informative Battlefield Leadership presentation before being the honoured guest at the Officers Mess Dinner that evening. Congratulations to the Adjutant, Maj Elizabeth 'Air Guitar' Dallyn on her promotion. Also a welcome goes to Maj Tim Wood who joins the Regiment as the new Training Major. The Regiment boasts a wide variety of qualified adventure training instructors enabling the soldiers to practice sailing, climbing, canoeing and clay pigeon shooting as well as mountain biking and hill walking. The 'tourist friendly' environment of the region also gave the opportunity to try more specialised activities such as carting, paint balling, pony trekking, quad biking, surfing and even gliding. The sailing was thoroughly enjoyed by all under the guidance of Cpl Paul White of 93 Sqn ably assisted by Cpl Cath 'Look at me in my PTI Vest!' Smith (67 Sqn). All except for maybe WO2 Lucy Sewell (SSM 67 Sqn) who was lucky enough to see her breakfast for the second time that day and at one point Sgt John 'Please let me down!' Elsworth (PSI(T) HQ Sqn) who realised he was more scared of heights than he thought… half way up the mast!

PTI, Cpl John 'Twice round my beautiful body… GO!' McCarthy and SSgt Tim Abbott showed the regiment there was more to canoeing then just paddling down a river taking the group 'Surf Canoeing' on the breaking waves of Newquay beach. The day begun on a calm stretch of river with a capsize test and a few hints 'n' tips on canoe control. The group continued down the river until SSgt Abbott suddenly stopped and dragged his canoe to the top of bank at least two metres sheer drop to the water. Quickly understanding what was required, the braver (or more stupid) members of the group followed him. One by one the group was shoved off the bank by SSgt Abbott hitting the water nose first, submerging briefly then bobbing back up for the first adrenaline rush of the day. Not to be out done by his students Cpl McCarthy decided he was going to complete the same manoeuvre… only backwards! Much to his embarrassment the canoe came to rest with an unnerving thud lodged facing straight upwards in the thick mud at the bottom of the bank! We didn't laugh that much… honestly Mac! Cpl McCarthy eventually paddled away with only his pride bruised. The crowd for Pte 'Dolph' Lewis's later mishap was much larger. Powerfully built Pte Lewis was caught off guard by the turbulent water caused by the propellers of a stationary, crowded passenger ferry. In full sight of dozens of concerned spectators Cpl McCarthy performed yet another 'lightning quick' rescue as he hauled a capsized, floundering, very relieved Pte Lewis to safety.

The difference between you and me?… I make this look good! Cpl John McCarthy shows how it should be done

The sand dunes of Penhale Training Camp were the backdrop for the Section Attacks, the culmination of a week on the ranges. Six sections overcame the rough terrain and hot conditions to defeat the enemy with enthusiasm and aggression. Newly promoted Sgt 'Pez' Thomas (53 Sqn) drew on his experience with the Welsh Guards to ensure the Signallers infantry skills were up to scratch.

Cpl Andy Clarke (top Centre) is just one of the Regiment present at the Annual Camp deploying to Bosnia in November as Part of The 97 Signal Squadron (V). Others include: LCpl Reeves and LCpl Rignall from 53 Sqn, Cpl Smith and LCpl Sheard from 67 Sqn, WO2 (SSM) Krikorian from 96 Sqn and SSgt Alleyne, Cpl Steve Walsh (REME), Cpl Kevin Hall, LCpl Bakewell and LCpl Bayer all with HQ Sqn.

Thanks to the weather (well-done Padre!) and the organisational and refereeing skills of the Regiments PTI's a very competitive, extremely successful inter squadron sports day was held on the middle weekend. Special thanks must go to LCpl Rignal and Capt. Rance of 53 Signal Squadron for their efforts. Teams from all five squadrons keenly contested basketball, baseball, football, volleyball and tug of war. The basketball tournament under the watchful eye of the QM, Maj Don Holmes, went without a hitch. However, convincing some of the squadron members that the game is indeed a non-contact sport was at times difficult, as a bruised Maj Richard Bowden (OC 96 Sqn) would undoubtedly contest to! The basketball was dominated by HQ Sqn, as were all the events of the day especially the tug of war thanks to a convincing performance by a very aggressive somewhat large team!

The Final event saw Mess pride at stake in The Officers Mess vs. The Sergeants Mess Cricket Match. It was a closely contested game swayed by some notable individual performances. Despite a respectable Captains innings by the boundary-hitting RSM, the Officers were the final victors. Maj. Tim 'Sport Billy' Wood helped HQ Squadron to victory in several events, his batting prowess in the cricket almost turning the match into The Sergeants Mess vs. The Training Major! He was eventually dismissed by a questionable LBW, leaving the CO to procure the winning runs. The prize of a decanter of port now resides in The Officers Mess, no doubt empty by now!

BRITISH LEGION RUN

Following a presentation by the Royal British Legion where the Squadron was informed of the aims and activities of this organisation, a glut of application forms for the British Legion Run Around the Park. Five members of the Squadron were persuaded to complete the 10km run and another two ran a recruiting stand at the event. Congratulations to Sig Knight (46 mins) and 2Lt Longcake for their times and to SSgt Tuck, Sgt Hayley and Cpl Dunn for actually completing the event before everyone else went home! It was claimed that the picnic on the way round was just too good to miss – honest! The runners raised £82.00 for the Royal British Legion, while LCpl Tuck and LCpl Mullins (currently in Kosovo) provided the recruiting stand and tentage for the spectators to keep out of the cold and wet.

COMMANDING OFFICERS CHALLENGE

The objective behind this exercise was to task the PSI, SSgt 'Jez' Bromley, to organise an activity completely different to the normal activities carried out by the Squadron. As SSgt Bromley had previously been involved with the Swanage Steam Railway, Exercise 'Topham Hatt' was his first choice. This was agreed by RHQ, so planning commenced. In the nick of time clearance was obtained, the delay being the Foot and Mouth Crisis. Then we were off down to Swanage by coach. We arrived after midnight to be accommodated in the Railway Workshop, sharing the accommodation with two, part stripped, steam engines. Bright and breezy we all arose to be given a safety brief, as we would be working on a working railway line. The Squadron was given twelve tasks to complete with a bonus if time allowed. These tasks included drainage troughing to be cleared, rake and clear ash paths, removal of a tree, clearance of an area in preparation for a new access ramp, burn debris and paint fences. This was all on a stretch of line that has been adopted by the Royal Corps of Signals. Following a hard days work (and a suntan) we all boarded a coach to DM Kineton for a Regimental smoker, which included skits from each Squadron on what they had done.

EXERCISE TOPHAM HATT

Ex 'Topham Hatt' is an ongoing MACC Exercise with the Swanage Steam Railway. The Swanage Railway has been associated with the Royal Signals since 1984. Following the successful introduction of the Squadron earlier in the month, this full weekend of support had been planned. It is the first of a regular visit to Swanage (we hope, training and commitments permitting) and the start of a fruitful relationship with 96 Sig Sqn (V) and 37 Sig Regt (V). The Swanage Railway is a purely voluntary organisation and therefore any labour that can be offered is very much appreciated. Soldiers provide an organised and thorough source of manpower and a broad spectrum of skills, which are invaluable when available. 96 Sig Sqn deployed to Swanage, where we were accommodated and fed and undertook a variety of tasks which were expected to test individuals both physically and mentally. The main thrust of this exercise was to repair damage done by vandals and prepare an area for storage of spare parts for the Railway. The second group were directed to begin preparations for the organisation of the storage area, about 700m in length. This involved the weeding and cutting back of dense vegetation, a task that was just too much for the soldiers involved. They were occasionally seen with machete in one hand and a chimp in the other! The rest of the group were involved with the clearing away of a mountain of debris. Some was burnt, whilst scrap metal and recyclable waste was transported to the furthest end of the area to be sorted ready for collection. Overall, this was an extremely beneficial weekend for both parties. The Squadron exercised skills in:

Carpentry	Decorating
Teamwork	Manual Handling
Problem Solving	Bonfire Construction
Health and Safety	Public Relations

If anyone is interested in assisting the Swanage Railway, they should contact WO1 (RSM) Frank Roberts currently serving with 39 Sig Regt (V) in Bristol.

EXERCISE REYNARDS CHALLENGE

Ex Reynards Challenge was the Regimental annual military skills competition, which was held at Swynnerton Training Area. It involved:

March and Shoot	Patrol Competition
Assault Course	Tug of War

Saturday started with the March and Shoot. What a glorious day for it! We roasted. The OC, Maj Richard Bowden made his own mark on the range. With the LSW complete with SUSAT sights he managed to score a magnificent score of two from a possible 400. Needless to say, 96 Sqn allowed someone else the honour of winning this trophy. We did a little better on the Patrol Competition, which consisted of a number of stands designed to test physical and mental ability. These included NBC, First Aid, vehicle repair, and assorted command tasks. The team commander, 2Lt Matthew Longcake, led us round the course in flying style and knew all of the 'way out' questions on the questionnaire stand. Despite Sig. Knight trying to rope the floating bottle in the final command task as if he were trying to decapitate it, we came in first, winning this trophy by a single point from 93 Sqn.

Finally came the Tug of War Competition. Having probably the lightest team, we were at a slight disadvantage. But we went out to win and eventually won one pull. This lack of success was not down to the competitors' efforts that were superhuman – as the bruises showed, but on the skill and strength of the other teams.

Sunday brought with it the excitement of the Assault Course Competition, for which we were all looking forward to, if with a little worry of injury and letting the team down in the background. The worry was for nought as the Squadron team almost flew across the obstacles, including the OC who kept claiming that he was too old for that sort of thing – rubbish! The team worked extremely well together despite all of the plans falling apart by the second obstacle. Well done everybody. Following the Assault Course, the Regimental 2IC, Maj John Duggan, who was standing in for the Commanding Officer, presented the prizes. 96 Sig Sqn (V), the youngest Squadron being eight years old, have at last made their impression on the Regiment, winning two of the four events.

SSM WO2 Krikorian

On 8 October 2001 history was made in both the Corps and the Services. For the first time since World War II a composite TA Signal Squadron was formed to deploy to Bosnia in support of Commander BRITFOR. After months of hard work 37 Sig Regt (V), as lead Regiment, can sleep at night whilst the new Squadron Commander Maj Andrew 'Normally a barrister' Smith takes up the reins. The regular army welcome back WO2 (SSM) Krikorian, who after 22 years regular service in the Corps and a new career in the police coupled with the TA, has put his boots back on, and re-joined the Army as a full time occupation for six months. The Squadron consists of four officers, 55 TA soldiers and ten regulars (including RAF) to make up any skill shortages. The occupations of the Squadron prior to being sworn into the regular army ranged from policeman, to pizza maker, to archaeologist. The Squadron, who are at RTMC at the time of writing, have come from various units within 2 (NC) Sig Bde. Following mobilisation training they will complete three weeks Special to Arms training in a number of different locations, before flying to Bosnia on 17 November 2001 for a 6-month tour. Many have already completed Balkan tours as individuals with other Corps units. The formation of the Squadron is very much in line with the TA post SDR, having under taken a commitment normally done by a regular unit. The title of 97 Sig Sqn was purposefully created by HQ SoinC(A) for the task. Over the past nine months the Squadron has undergone a number of training weekends to both develop relevant skills and to 'bond' as a Squadron. Whilst only a brief introduction to 97 Sig Sqn the next input will be from the Squadron itself deployed on operations. For any one interested in following their progress the Squadron also has its own web site which can be found under the Corps web site: www.army.mod.uk/royalsignals/97sigsqn.

TOP OF THE CLASS

City student, Scott Bumby, was in for a shock when he signed up for the Territorial Army (TA). The 22-year-old beat 61 hand-picked hopefuls from around the country to win the 'Top Recruit' award on his basic training course. His success so impressed his superiors, at 87 Signal Squadron, they said he should try for a command of his own. So this week Scott starts the toughest three weeks of his life as he battles to become an officer at the world famous Sandhurst military academy. Officer Cadet Bumby, from Lenton said, 'I was staggered when I took top honours on my first course. I thought I might get through it okay, but I never expected anything like that. Sandhurst is going to be a much tougher test. But I'm hoping to do well.' Scott, who is on a double honours degree course in chemistry and management, tried to get into his university's Officer Training Corps. When he found the membership was full up he went for a place at the TA's Triumph Road-based signals unit. He said his part-time military earnings had been a real boost in staving off student loans. However, he reckoned the real pay-off would come later. He said the management and leadership experience the army would give him would be a valuable addition to his curriculum vitae. As a newly qualified officer he will be expected to take charge of 20 soldiers and millions of pounds worth of the latest high-tech communications equipment. Captain Ken Scott said, 'We've any number of openings in our squadron for young men and women like Scott. Our aim is to give them skills and experience that will provide a real boost to their civilian and part-time military careers.'

GATER'S SNAPPING UP THE CHANCES

Derbyshire communications expert Kevin Gater is putting his dual summer celebrations down to leading a double life. The 42-year-old was delighted when his two employers promoted him on the very same day. His full-time bosses at BT put him in charge of a 20-strong planning team based in Nottingham. At the same time his part-time military chiefs gave him command of a 20-strong team of signals specialists at Derby's Kingsway-based 46 Signal Squadron. The telecom company wants him to control service development in an area of England the size of Wales. The Territorial Army wants him to be able to create a radio network the size of Wales, anywhere in the world. Capt Gater, from Belper said, 'It's all been a bit spooky. I can tell when I'm due a promotion at work because I always go another rung up the army ladder at the same time.At 17 years old I became an apprentice toolmaker - at the same time I joined the Royal Signals as a linesman. What the TA taught me about communications networks got me into BT. My responsibilities with both employers have grown at exactly the same rate ever since.' But he said he would have achieved nothing without help from BT. He said that his civilian bosses had always supported his TA service. They had benefited in return from the skills the military taught him. The company also had his total commitment. Britain's military are now demanding total commitment from Capt Gater's new command. His signal regiment is now the world leader in computer driven battlefield communications. Their work has enabled the military to achieve a ten-fold acceleration in its data transfer systems.

CO Lt Col P. R. Towers MA MSC
RSM WOl (RSM) F Roberts

Greetings to the new Artificer Vehicles, SSgt Darren Ward and his wife Maria who comes to us from 1 QDG. Other recent additions are the new Regimental FofS, SSgt (FofS) Rick Dickinson who has just joined the Regiment from 3 (UK) Div Sig Regt. Welcome to the team! The major activities currently going on the Regiment are the preparations for Annual camp, which started on October 13 this year. This will be a great opportunity to see the TA at its finest, especially for those new members of RHQ and recruits who have yet to be indoctrinated in the ways of the TA by the 'TA Junior Jedi Knight Skills' course. Hopefully, given the packed program for camp, The WIRE entry from the Regiment will be significantly larger in the next issue!

Having only welcomed Sgt Drew Hall as the PSI (Tech) in last months WIRE Notes, we bid him farewell and wish him an excellent tour of duty with 97 (BRITFOR) Signal Squadron in Bosnia. Thanks for all you have done and we will see you when you return. August saw the end of an era with the departure of SSgt 'Scouse' Simcock the outgoing SPSI who has moved on to serve with 14 Sig Regt. We wish him good luck and hope that working in the Quartermasters Department isn't as demanding as looking after the TA - Thanks 'Scouse', hope you will find time to read the history of the Squadron and that you will one day return and see us in Banbury.

He also had a guided tour of Banbury by the OC, Maj Rich Belbin, and meeting the Regular, NRPS and Civilian Staff. He also had the opportunity to meet Sgt Drew Hall and LCpl Mike Bayer both of whom are deploying to Bosnia and Kosovo in November 2001.

As these notes are being written, Annual Camp is fast approaching. Camp is later than normal this year as elements of the Regiment were due to take part in Ex Arrcade Fusion in Germany. Unfortunately, the Foot and Mouth epidemic caused the cancellation of our involvement in the exercise. It has been replaced by a Regimental Comms exercise called Bon Accord and will take elements of the Squadron to the Channel Islands to communicate using NCRS +. This does not alter the fact that the rest of the Squadron will be at Bodney Camp, Thetford, in October! Recruiting continues to thrive and there are currently approximately 18-20 recruits being processed. The Squadron has a group of ten recruits attending the recruit course being run at Camp. This is an excellent achievement and, assuming all pass the course, means a large infusion of new soldiers into the Squadron. Particular thanks must go to Cpls Loftus and Gross for their efforts as members of the Squadron RTT, in getting this large group of recruits prepared in time for camp.

Members of the Squadron have taken part in an adventurous weekend organised by the PSI Tech, Sgt Baz Kightley, as well as some members undergoing a freefall parachute course organised by Lt Watts. On the exercise front it has been fairly low key, due in part to FMD restrictions, but several members of the Squadron spent time in Sheffield coming up to speed with the NCRS+ HUB. Many thanks are duly recorded to 38 Signal Regiment for looking after them so well for the weekend. Ex Dummy Run, which took place at Longmoor in September, enabled members of the Squadron involved in Ex Bon Accord, to further hone their skills with NCRS+. Three members of the Squadron are carrying out final preparations prior to being mobilised as members'-: of 97 Squadron in Bosnia for a six months tour starting in November. We wish Cpl Paula Hunter, and Sigs Jimmy Chung and Phil Monk a successful and rewarding tour and hope they can answer the question why the TA have to do a winter tour in the Balkans?

The annual Lafone Day parade takes place on the middle Sunday of camp. This will not allow the Squadron to parade, as a squadron on this very important day as, most will be deployed on Ex Bon Accord. A plan has been hatched that will allow as many squadron members as possible to attend St Paul's Cathedral on this most hallowed day in the Squadron's calendar. One further item of good news is the selection of the PSI, SSgt Jay Saunders, for the Army Shooting Team. Sadly, the competition this year is against the Australian armed forces and he unfortunately has to go to Aus for about three weeks. Needless to say the PSI is cut up about the need to travel so far to display his shooting skills but he is gradually coming to terms with it! Sacrifices have to be made!

ADVENTURE TRAINING 28-29 JULY

As the sun began to rise on the morning of 28 July, and the Squadron started to emerge from their accommodation in RAF Uxbridge, there was an air of expectancy of what the weekend held in store. Adventurous Training was about to begin! And it had been planned by a Tech! The Squadron duly set forth on the Saturday morning for the Gladiatorial Arena, a paintball site in Surrey. The plan was to wage war on 150 unsuspecting Christians cunningly disguised as mere members of the British public! As the score-boards were being put up, and the weapons and ammo were distributed, a feeling of dread seemed to grip the civilian teams when they realised that the Lions they had to face were the Army! Cries of, 'We can't possibly win against the professionals,' (I was told to put that word in).

Once on the field of battle however, reality set in and the Squadron duly proceeded to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory. These people were good and had clearly been practicing for years to overwhelm and defeat any and all opposition. You get the picture! However, after a few scenarios, the tactics were changed and we started winning. This was mainly due to some excellent covering fire laid down whilst Sigs Monk and Pain risked life and limb to capture the enemy flag using Kamikaze style tactics. They swear they had learned them at Annual camp last year! Overall a variety of scenarios were thrown at us that the Squadron adapted to, ending up second overall.

The second day saw the Squadron indulge in some driver training at the Go Kart centre in Aldershot. Teams of four were arranged for the endurance races which were every bit as testing and strenuous as a Grand Prix. Schumacher, eat your heart out and make way for professionals! No one was quite prepared for the amount of cheating that was to happen as the event progressed. The amount and scope of the cheating that took place had to be seen to believed as normally mild mannered individuals resorted to the kind of stunts normally seen at stock car races. Scores were fairly evenly matched but eventually the best team (at staging accidents!) won. Lt Dave 'Nigel Mansell' Cornick, Sgt Ben 'Rocket Science' Newby, Sgt 'All claims through me' Young and Sgt Ian 'I am smiling' Lane were all members of the cheating (winning) team. But the entertainment was not yet over. The comedy act had yet to come. Dry Ski Slope. This gave everyone the opportunity to do their Eddie the Eagle impression. This much fun would cost a fortune if it had to be paid for, but everyone managed, somehow, to make a least one downhill run. Overall an excellent weekend was had by all, and a lot of people are now looking at what adventures next year's training is to hold!

EXERCISE DUMMY RUN

This exercise took place at Longmoor Training area in Hampshire and was designed to practice, those members of the Regiment who were taking part in Ex Bon Accord, with the new equipment and antennae that would be used on the exercise. All those Squadron members who were to be part of the Det deploying to the Channel Islands, as well as those manning the Hub Control Station deployed on the Friday night. Saturday morning was spent familiarising everyone with the NCRS+ kit, in particular the new Fan Dipole antennae. Once this had been satisfactorily completed, the kit was fully deployed in order that further practice could be had under more testing conditions. One further benefit of the weekend was that everyone had the chance to meet those from 5 and 57 Squadrons, also deploying on the exercise. This did much to cement a firm relationship amongst those Dets who would be co located once on the exercise. Overall this was a very good teaching exercise, well attended and much enjoyed by those taking part. Thanks must go to Capt Cullen and SQMS Oakley of 57 Squadron for their excellent administration whilst at Longmoor.

57 (CITY AND COUNTY OF BRISTOL) SIGNAL SQUADRON (VOLUNTEERS)

Sqn Comd Maj W. Ruthven
SSM WO2 J. Tuck

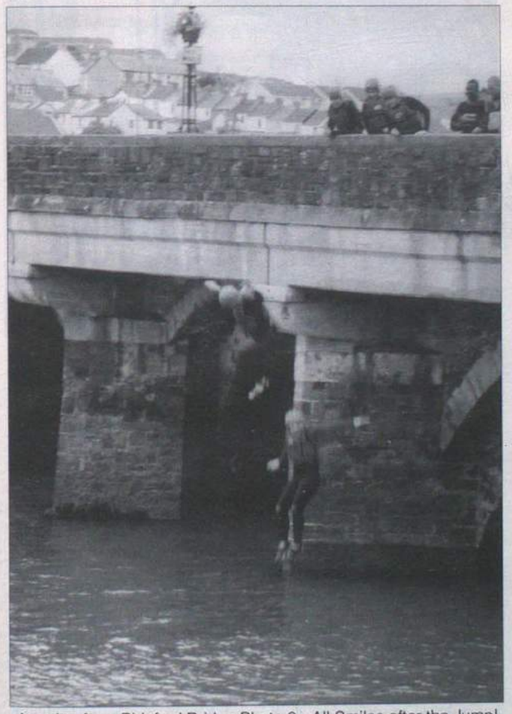
The last few months have been somewhat quiet due to the now infamous F&M, however, there have been some interesting courses attended by members of the squadron. WO2 (SSM) Jayne Tuck completed the TA All Arms Drill Course and SSgt Filamena Zamparelli attended the Regular All Arms Drill Course at Pirbright, although a bit of a culture shock both returned still smiling with a somewhat gruff voice! Sig Phil Trewin attended a Gliding Course with WO2 (SSM) Phil Smith of HQ Squadron, both returned with stories, (emphasis on stories) the rumour is that the next course had to be cancelled due to lack of serviceable gliders! The Squadron has a number of its people undergoing medical repairs at present our OC, Maj Bill Ruthven, Sgt Kerri Hill and LCpl Paul Wylde. We wish them all a speedy recovery and return to the fold.

SQUADRON ADVENTURE TRAINING

During the weekend 11-12 August the Squadron deployed to Fremington for an Adventure Training Weekend. The weather forecast was terrible, however, thankfully wrong again and it turned out well fox us. The activities consisted of a combination of walking, biking, rafting, bridge jumping, surf skiing and something not many had heard of before Coasteering (more about that later). Those where the Saturday choices, Sunday consisted of the OC's surprise, after handing over the camp everyone deployed to a local Paint Ball Organisation. Their equipment and facilities were excellent and a great time was had by all, certain personalities however didn't stand a chance, as old scores where settled and they were 'Taken Out' from behind as well as the front! According to Sgt Richard Sharp the SNCOs won due to superior firepower and of course cheating!



Jumping from Bideford Bridge Photo 9 - All Smiles after the Jump!

A group of eight set off from Skern Lodge for an afternoon of coasteering. (For the uneducated (as I was): coasteering is low level rock climbing and traversing, (surprisingly enough) along the coast). After getting off the bus on the cliff tops a short distance from Appledore we were greeted by the North Devon summer gale force sea breeze. We headed of to climb down the gully to take us on to the beach. On reaching the bottom and after a bit of tuition from the instructor, a few members of the group took it in turns to lead the party. Sig 'Let's see if we can walk on water' Farman took us quite close to the waters edge, so close in fact we had a group hug on a rock to wait for the tide to go out a bit further. However, the highlight of the afternoon was the rock-pool traverse, one by one we negotiated the rock and avoided the lure of the drink and the mythical conger eel which was in hiding. That's until it came to Cpl 'My legs don't spread that far' Robbins! After several minutes of cries about here legs not being long enough, asking where to put her hands and other unmentionables she finally lost the will to cling to the rock. To much amusement and with grace she plummeted to the awaiting pool and scored 11 out of 14 for entertainment value. A quick change followed and we headed back to the cliff top for a power nap in prep for the evening activities. All in all a good weekend, enjoyed by everyone except the OC maybe, who had a horrendous game of golf.

EXERCISE LONG LOOK 2001 - by G. P. Wills

On arrival at 1 Mech Bde HQ and Sig Sqn (215) a year and half ago the 2IC informed me that within hours of my arrival I was go out on exercise for a week. In keeping with this tradition, on arrival at Ohakea air force base in New Zealand I was met by Lt Kate Benjamin and informed that I would be taking command of 31 Operator Troop the next day and immediately begin a three week exercise. Ex Rapid Lightening is an NZ Army wide CIS exercise used to assess the current capability of the RNZ Signals. It was to take place in Taranaki, and area on the west of the North Island. All of the field capable signals troops are deployed in support of a mock formation and conduct a series of moves and other tasks. It sounded to me like a good ex for me to stay out of the way while I learned all the different NZ practices. Little did I know that there were only two field deployable Troops and I was to command one of them. Thankfully the exercise went very well, more thanks to Sgt Leslie Horne, my Troop Sergeant, than any thing else. By the end of the exercise my troops and I were getting along well and I was looking forward to the rest of my time in NZ with renewed vigour.

On completion of Ex Rapid Lightening 21 Op Tp stayed in the North Island at Linton Camp, their base, as part of 2 Sig Sqn. 31 Op Tp, however, drove south and across the Cook Straight and further south still to Burnham. 3 Sig Sqn of which 31 Op Tp is a part is based there; it is just outside the city of Christchurch, on the east coast of the South Island. I moved into the mess in Burnham and quickly made some new friends, I also discovered that Lt Jules Wheddon, with whom I had gone to Sandhurst, was on Ex Long Look there as well. My next major task was to help run a week on the ranges. My input was as a safety supervisor and occasionally as an RCO. It afforded me the opportunity to fire the Steyr, the Kiwi's personal weapon. In addition I fired the C9 light support weapon and the M209 40mm grenade launcher. We concluded the week with a full days pistol shooting using the 9mm Sig Sauer.

After that the Squadron gave me a few weeks to plan my own activities. I wanted to tour as much of the country as possible, but soon realised that there was simply not enough time to do it all, so mostly constrained myself to the south island.

Although having said that, I did manage to spend a few days adventure training around Lake Taupau. It was as part of an existing training package and it included some experience on the high ropes. These were a series of steel wires arranged some 25 feet from the ground designed deliberately to stretch your physical limits. It was an enlightening experience for all concerned, especially Maj Karen Te Moana, OC 2 Sig Sqn, whose confidence was built no end. For the remainder of those weeks I toured the South Island and saw some of the most remarkable scenery. Of particular mention is the town of Kikora, which lays at the northern most end of the Canterbury Plain.

From the end of the headland looking back to the town it appears that the mountains rise straight out of the sea and in to some misty nether world above the sky, truly breathtaking. I also managed to find my way to Queenstown, billed as the adventure capital of the world and they're not wrong. You can do anything adventurous there, including an attraction canal the Shotover Jet. Shotover is a river that alternates between wide open and very shallow or narrow closed in by sheer cliffs and running very rapid. The Jet is a boat the runs on this river sometimes at speeds of up to 70kmph'. The whole experience is thrilling and involves running very close to the cliff's and some 360° turns. Also at Queenstown is the Skyline Cafe which is situated on the mountain above the town and affords the opportunity to Bungee Jump if you're feeling suicidal enough, I wasn't. I did try the Luge at the Skyline though, which is exactly that, but on a wheeled cart as opposed to and ice run.

On return from my couple of weeks away I was once again deployed on exercise to an area called the West Coast because it is. The West Coast is one of the areas of New Zealand where there is still that pioneering feel; a large town consists of four houses, a church and a pub. The exercise name was Cross Keys, and it was a main training ex for the fifth battalion deployment to East Timor. I had been asked to help run Excon and Hicon. I had been expecting this to be a large grouping as the whole Battalion was on ex, but this was the second time that the comparatively small nature of the NZ Army hit home. In fact it was only 12 strong (including myself and all the RNZ Signals). The usual signals mission of command support crept somewhat and only just fell short of actual command. The exercise ran smoothly, but unfortunately lasted for one month. During this time each of the companies took part in some live firing practice, in jungle lanes custom constructed for that exercise, and some patrolling practice in close country provided by the New Zealand primary jungle. Finally the companies came together under the Battalion HQ and conducted cordon and search, clearance and blocking operations similar to those in East Timor. All during this time the CSS Coy was out in support of the ex, and much to the annoyance of my friend, Lt Jules Wheddon, came under repeated ambush, unsporting not only from the enemy though! Apart from living in a barn, building my bar-b-que and learning a new card game, there were only two other excitements of the exercise. The first came from the discovery that there were not enough vehicles to conduct RRB resup, so this meant that resup had to be conducted by Iroquois (Huey's as used in Vietnam (no really!)) and some one had to go with them. I enjoyed my flights in the Iroquois, it seems to me to be a very versatile helicopter and the pilots were fearless when it came to landing on a sixpence. The other excitement was from one of the Kiwi soldiers shot another one during the live firing. Made all the more exciting because the Land Comd was visiting at the time. It turned out that it was only a superficial wound that was bleeding a lot more than the damage it had done.

During the Last week in country I was asked to prepare some leadership training for the soldiers and NCO's of the Squadron. I was given two days and had planned for a day's classroom activity including some presentations from officers who had served in East Timor and in Bosnia. The second day was due to be a 20km Bergen tab complete with command tasks along the way. Unfortunately the NZ government decided that in the light of recent international events it was more important that my soldiers stag on at the airports; yet another measure that will stretch an already strained defence force.

EXERCISE FIRST TRY

This was the first chance the Squadron had had to show off, since the plain was closed due to foot and mouth. An extra incentive was added, as this was the first time the Brigade staff had seen, let alone worked with the Sig Sqn for 12 months. With the new Brigadier on hand it was a time to shine? Apart from a few cobwebs in the works, which were quickly dealt with, the Exercise went well due to hard work from all.

BRIGADE CAST

The Squadron deployed to Warminster, with a mad rush to find space as Brigade main, Brigade step up and Squadron Ech were all located in the same compound. Brigade step up had a disadvantage due to LCpl Francis and Sig Foster breaking down on route. The stags on the gate were going great with a hint of profesionalism, until Cpl Fraser, was told by an unknown source (Sig Lindley and Sig Lomas), that the NBC state had risen to 3 romeo. Hence, to say Cpl Fraser was the only person in the entire Exercise area to be in full kit. With the England vs Albania game came a brief escape for some, thanks to Sgt Shawcross producing the largest telly seen outside of a cinema. With Lt Clowes aka the last Boy Scout showing the ropes to Lt Taylor aka Skippy (on loan from New Zealand) the Squadron pulled off a good exercise with all looking forward to the weekend and a bit of morale boosting especially Sig Jack.

DEGEX

The exercise kicked off with a great start for LCpl Matthews and his RRB breaking down and not for the last time! A short time into the exercise the Squadron Ech was reunited with its crew Sigs Lindley and Haddock after a brief spell in hospital due to food poisoning (the chefs had no comment). Cpl Smith and his SAS/MC baggage, who were disgruntled after not getting their daily 12 hours kip (probably next time guys). Sig Foster cheered up as his luck was in on the louvers with Sig MacIfntyre. Sig Brands was the first casualty of the exercise with his disastrous trick of juggling 321's that failed to impress the lads. LCpl Mathews soon joined Sig Brands on the sidelines with a sick note from his mother (believed to be in his own handwriting). This paved the way for Lcpl Giroux to take over the RRB (Sig Hockley then had to put up with the constant winging of how it wasn't as warm as the training wing). Sig Berry fled from the scene of a burning 436 without informing her driver Sig Lomas, then returning when safety was insured. A BBQ was then laid on for the Sqn at endex with free beer and food. Sig Lomas' exercise was topped as he and Sig Lindley missed out on this one off occasion due to the fact that their endex wasn't called till Monday morning, unlucky lads!

16 AIR ASSAULT BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS AND SIGNAL SQUADRON (216)

Sqn Comd Maj Neil Fraser
RSM WO1 Chris Drew

As far back as 17 July members of the Squadron were involved with deployment on Op Essential Harvest, into the Former Yugoslavian Republic of Macedonia (FYROM). With the initial recce accompanying the Comd, COS, DCOS, Polad and CO Logs were Maj Neil Fraser and WO2 (YofS) Danny Wilson. This party flew by Royal Flight HS 125, despite the Yeoman worrying how a 125 would arrive at Skopje Train Station in time, the 3-day recce, which was frenetic, went without a hitch. The following weeks saw other recces take shape, before the Brigade left a small advance team in theatre to help planning, and the Squadron left SSgt (YofS) Ben Redstone to do in country liaison to help prepare for our deployment. This team, which rotated operators steadily, enabled a secure link to Colchester to be provided (INMARSAT and STU2). Much was frustrating, with problems of real estate, frequency clearance and access to hilltops a concern. The Squadron carried out much pre-deployment work to re-role vehicles, restructure Troops and design a new HQ, (including a plug up with the Troop from 30 Sig Regt) and also took part in a major multinational conference at AMC South Cerney, with representatives from the 15 nations that would make up the force. The SO2 J6 Maj Andy Fallows began a furious bout of staff work to gather together equipment vital to what promised to be a fast and demanding deployment. With the political situation being fluid, the likelihood of deployment to collect weapons from the NLA and help bring peace to the troubled region went up and down. With projections of October and November being made, the Squadron went on a well earned leave. Just as people touched ground in various holiday destinations the political climate again became positive, the two sides saw a chance of agreement and with a limited 'Balkan ceasefire' in place the wheels of PJHQ turned again and Op Bessemer (the UK name for the deployment) was activated.

Having been recalled back from leave on Wednesday 15 August at 1800 we had the whole Squadron ready to deploy in 36 hours – a major feat getting people back from holidays as far afield as Canada and a testament to Squadron ethos. The OC, Yeoman 1 and a four man team flew as part of the first 41 that Friday with Sig Michael Slater the darling of the media: 'Michael look this way, smile, pout.....' This team set up a forward HQ in a room of the Shoe Factory (now the home of KFOR (Rear)) and General Langer – the two star lead. This HQ was based on INMARSAT, BRENT and data transfer facility to improve the link to Colchester and also link into the teams despatched to Paris, Sardinia, Athens and the less exotic barracks of 2 Para. These teams provided a framework for the Brigade HQ to begin deployment planning with those nations providing the Infantry Battle-groups. The majority of the Squadron deployed by air that weekend and despite the best efforts of the movers arrived in relatively good order compared to less fortunate units. Initially people and equipment were held in Camp Able Sentry (CAS) courtesy of the US. After a few days of tricky negotiation with interpreters, financiers and the involvement of the Macedonian and Taiwanese Governments (joint owners of the 'Free Trade Centre') we secured agreement to get in to this semi completed factory. After stand off negotiations and many phone calls, the OC left the RSM, WO1 Drew, with three guards from the ARM (Macedonian Army) and a platoon from the Czech Defence Company (allocated to the Squadron for security) for the night. Nervously the RSM spent the night waiting for the first packets to arrive! The next day was a blur of activity as the NATO Strategic Comms Tp (providing NATO circuits upwards such as CRONOS), the Troop from 30 Sig Regt, the enlarged MAIN HQ Troop and forward echelon from the Squadron established. After hard work and some delicate engineering the HQ was ready to receive staff. A major failing was the logistic support, all that was promised to be here on arrival was simply not available and the limited support we had wanted to deploy with had not been authorised (including sufficient ammo, food and fuel to survive in the field for a few days). With a few hexamine stoves and some compo the Squadron made do until the increasingly frustrated QM, Capt John Williams, could gather together equipments. His team sorted out gas, extra chefs, fresh rations and so on with each day life getting better inside a sweaty hangar with 300 plus people on the floor, sleeping on whatever they had brought with them, and a busy HQ on the other side of a screen of hessian. Perfectly okay for 16 Bde and 216 Sqn but a bit of shock to some of the attached NATO staff and other augmentees whose suitcases seemed out of place with our bergans and webbing! Still, everyone began to muck in and settle into a primitive but workable system.

For the first two weeks we were still the only fully formed British unit in theatre, with both equipment and manpower, and supported a number of other units on their tasks pending arrival of the sea tail assets. The physical effort of feeding, accommodating and providing power for over 450 people (including the 120 strong Czech Defence Company) from a Squadron's resources, for much of the time without water and electricity was substantial; never mind managing the communications task. The Squadron, making best use of time and resources and using initiative, did much of the development of the site. Engineers were quite a way down the DOAST and arrived without much equipment, electricity took over two weeks to connect with the tented camp that was to become our home, about the same time. The communications task saw operators working right in the middle of it all sometimes at Company level and on occasion at platoon level to provide communications up to the HQ. Within 24 hours of establishing the 4 man rear links at each battle-group location the Brigade was running consecutive weapons collection missions with the Foreign Legion and 2 Para. It was as these started that Sapper Collins was killed, a tragic victim of the stoning that became a regular part of life transiting Skopje. With Tacsat as the main Brigade command means (speed of deployment, terrain, the lack of access to much of the high ground and the concerns over force protection with many high spots mined and in NLA hands prevented the use of RRBs, other than for the concentration area) the guys were quickly deployed. With the French Foreign Legion, Sig Triss Ancell was thrown into the back of an armoured vehicle with the British LO and with a fire-fight overhead between ARM and NLA deployed into the inner cordon to allow a secure link to be set up back to Bde. Cpls Daz Barnes and 'Scotty' Finn went forward with 2 Para's recce platoon and snipers to secure the subsequent weapons collection site.

Lt Dean Atkinson liaising with a soldier from the Czech Def Coy over the defence of TFH Brigade HQ

Other key tasks involved escorting multinational convoys to provide C2, a team at the Task Force 2 star HQ to provide better communications down, Crash Comms Teams with Tacsat to support any QRF or incident response team and a number of spec tasks. This spread the standard communications task of one down considerably and required flexible plans, professional operators and a 'go to it' attitude. Isolated and small teams have been fundamental to the success of the mission, as has the ability to run a much-expanded HQ of Divisional size and with a wider remit. Much of the work has been due to the specialist nature of the communications task and to compensate for the problems of a force from fifteen nations fielding four large battalions, recce forces, a major liaison force and engineers, numbering over 4,500. All this being done by a Squadron and a Squadron Command Team augmented by a NATO Troop and a Troop from 30 Sig Regt, totalling some 170 personnel.

SQUADRON HEADQUARTERS AND OPERATIONS

The OpsO, Capt Jim Lambeth (aka 'Nasty Jim' by the Bde Staff) sits currently at the helm, having planned the outload and set up of the Sqn, but with AJD drawing nearer, he is about to wind down ready for his handover. The Air Adjt, Capt John Griffiths, apart from organising the odd heli training is planning the recovery and cutting about as usual trying to avoid being jiffed by the OC to look at future establishments. WO2 (YofS) Danny Wilson and SSgt (YofS) Ben Redstone (aka 'Raymondo' due to his haircut business) are now into routine dealing with every crisis that units can throw at the Sqn – a few reroles have seen the old grey matter and patience tested a few times as has writing or simply co-ordinating every other unit's comms plans! With 15 nations, many with FH radios this is no easy task. The Brigade Foreman, W02 Jamie Chambers, has now settled into his new post and trying to keep track of kit as the Troops throw it about with abandon as well as getting his head round the myriad of systems from UK and NATO. The techs have been pretty busy with Cpl Lee Ebdon pulling his hair out with the dodgy Bde LAN and the rest doing some serious bodging to make things work as well as making use of the ERV 'media entertainment suite' since it turned up on the sea tail. Cpl Stu Park was grateful to be augmented in the crypto cell by SSgt 'Taff' Davies and SSgt Andy Egan (both 35 Sig Regt), who between them managed a large and complex account and even covered Cpl Stu Park so he could go and pass his Yeoman's selection and get a hot shower in Blandford.

The RSM, in the meantime, has been kept busy between organising various works parties, liaising with the Czech Defence Coy, driving the OC about to see deployed 216 personnel and just the annoying routine of running a large site. He is ably assisted by the always enthusiastic SSgt 'JJ' Walker who also tends to issue the odd stern word to helicopter pilots who insist on ignoring his flight plans and rearranging the tented camp every few days! The 2IC, Capt Al Fawcett (frighteningly locked in his boudoir for 14 hours a day) continues co-ordinating the MS effort, PR and admin rear link back to Colchester, where Capt Mark Rouse, the MTO, is currently holding fort. With a decent comms plan implemented and with the frenetic first Weapons Collection Ops behind us, life has calmed down. Things tick along with time spent attending briefings or accommodating visitors ranging from Jack Straw, EU ministers, Comd JHC and CinC LAND. Finally, with all systems in place and operating, there is time to do some running, all inside the wire and watched by the Czech security force – a bit like being a prisoner of war. With the papers currently full of speculation on the 'follow on force' (the one we knew would be required at the start), attention is slowly drawn to end of mission date….no doubt this will be met by the Infantry, but we're not holding our breath. Signals are always 'first in and last out'.

MAIN TROOP

Recalled from leave, the majority of Main troop led by Lt Dean Atkinson barely had time to grab their kit before we were forming up in our packet ready for deployment. The long drive through the night to AMC South Cerney was un-eventful, bar Sgt Frank Greenwood's driving that seemed to suggest he was getting more sleep than his co-driver. Upon arrival we were met by movement staff who proceeded to test our patience with their demands, that was until Cpl Mick Fernie calmly explained that without generators the Comd would be using carrier pigeons. The early morning start swiftly became midday, as the vehicles were air manifested and then re-air manifested before we were finally allowed on our way. After a short drive, with Sig Lee Fletcher emulating earlier driving escapades, we finally arrived at Brize Norton and loaded onto the gleaming C17 that lay waiting its first operational flight. Whilst the remainder of the packet caught up on some sleep, Capt Al Fawcett accommodated the media storm by giving as many interviews as humanly possible. After a few late changes in the passenger manifest, which resulted in 216 operators being dumped for an RAF news crew, we finally departed for Macedonia.

Our stay at Butlins, sorry CAS was short lived; before we knew it we found ourselves formed up in the dead of night awaiting to deploy to our recently cleared site. With tight deadlines set, everyone mucked in to ensure the HQ was up, running and fit to receive the Staff on time. The pace of life upon initial deployment was frenetic to say the least, deftly balancing running an enhanced HQ and preparing a site, the Squadron had to rely on all personnel to work above and beyond the norm. However, after almost 4 weeks completed of a supposed 30 day mission …….we are slowly finding ourselves in the typical Balkans debacle. Apart from weapon collection surges, time is spent rotating through the 12 on 12 off shift routine or the occasional heli-handling requirement (where the 'morris dance like' hooking up technique of Sigs Dave Benson and Paul Shaw never fails to amuse). The food is now a lot better, plenty of fresh food, vegetables and fruit (hence the increase of 'hangers on'), and we are now blessed with wooden tables and benches to sit at. Showers, now installed, work occasionally and vary from lukewarm to cold on the average two hours a day they are working. With six between 300 of us the old strip wash over the bowl is still the norm. Nights are getting a bit chilly, but apart from the odd rainstorm the weather is glorious. We have now put 'pallets' in the tents so when they flood personal kit is at least off the floor, slowly life is becoming more hospitable. Unfortunately the 'Atkinson WW2 Hole' project has had to be abandoned having sought professional engineer advice… a sad day in Main Troop.

SPECIAL TASK TROOP

The Spec Tasks Troop, commanded by 2Lt John Higginson, was also formed for Op Bessemer. Incorporating the Radio Rebroadcast Stations, Battle Group Rear Link Teams, Emergency Crash Comms Teams, and a pool of manpower on standby, the following weeks promised to test our skills to the full. Upon initial deployment tasks came thick and fast. Personnel were bouncing from operating TacSat down to Coy level at Weapon Collection sites, to providing escort comms as the weapons were moved to the Greek Battle Group for destruction, each day proceeded to herald different demands. The Troop also said farewell to Lt Jim Hawkins off to ATR Bassingbourn in time to train the next batch of recruits.

RRB 022A

On 26 August, the first RRB deployed after a lot of negotiation from the Govt to the bloke on the ARM checkpoint. Commanded by LCpl Bellamy and crewed by Sigs John Smith and Paul Etchell, we set off for the VODNO, a 3753ft peak with an outstanding view overlooking Skopje. Life would have been a lot less complex had we been the only occupants of the VODNO, but the presence of over 200 Macedonian soldiers was enough to make us a little nervous. This situation soon eased after common ground was found….namely women and football. Morale is always high with re-supply from Sgt Pete Dimmack, who does an outstanding job providing much needed newspapers and fresh rations. Now, as winter starts to come, our days are spent filling sandbags to keep the tents pinned down in high winds and wishing for the return of the long hot summer days we were greeted with three weeks ago when the Task Force arrived. Last minute excitement was Sig Etchell deciding to burn his hand in order to get down for a warm shower – the quitter!

RRB 022B

After a short stint down at Main, RRB 022B deployed up to the German National Support Element (NSE) overlooking Tetovo. Initially only Sig Bart Dunsieth and myself, LCpl Kirt Muller, deployed, but this didn't stop us swiftly getting into routine once we'd engineered our links in. At night we would sit back and watch the fireworks of shells and small arms landing in the nearby villages. We were soon joined by LCpl Andy Joynson, who stumbled into our tent in the middle of the night after tabbing up the hill from the helipad with his 150lb bergan. He stayed for a couple of nights but couldn't handle all the hard work so he was re-tasked, being replaced by Sig John Cascarina, who has quickly settled into life. The weather has now changed, with snow starting to cap the surrounding mountains, the time has come to rip out the softie jackets.

Camp en route to the mountains beyond Kumanovo for the first WCS, with Sig Ancell in tow providing a TacSat link. The Engineers checked and logged the weapons, which included an assortment of Assault Rifles, RPG's, light and heavy machine guns, pistols, grenades and a few mines. With media attention high throughout, the weapons were soon collated and packed into ISO containers for the road move, with LCpl Crutchly providing the comms link and a platoon's worth of WMIK's from 2 PARA providing protection, they were soon on their way.

ITALIAN BG – REAR LINK TEAM

The Italian Battle Group was pretty heavy in nature, lots of APC and some suspicious tank like looking things. Cpl Paul Clancy and LCpl Dunc Excell deployed to Sardinia to meet up with the British LO, where many a pizza was consumed before flying out to Skopje and moving into the camp at Petrovac airfield joining Cpl Stephen Knibbs and Sig Michael Slater. Life has settled quickly into a routine of radio stags, press-ups, radio stags, pasta, radio stags and alcohol free red wine! The night shift unfortunately miss out on showers during the day, as the hour long grooming session each morning by the Italians leaves the whole camp deprived of water. Although the LO has coped admirably bridging the language gap, an interpreter is still required to translate Sig Slater's Scottish VP!

Comds Operator - Cpl Kelly Rutherford

Weapons collected from Weapons Collection Site BARLEY

FRENCH BG – REAR LINK TEAM

After being recalled the detachment was split into 2 teams. LCpl Steve Crutchley and Sig Dave Watts jetted off to France and set up an initial link with the French Foreign Legion, Cpl Al Mousley flew into theatre with the Brigade advance party, leaving Sig Triss Ancell to fly in later bringing the FFR. The Foreign Legion soon found itself departing Piper

GREEK BG – REAR LINK TEAM

LCpl Richard Hodgetts stepped off the civilian plane at Thessalonnika airport, having just enjoyed a first class flight that included a nice continental breakfast with champagne, smoked salmon and a movie. Upon arrival he was taken to a small villa type hotel with en suite bathroom, air conditioning and Sky TV, this was Polycastra and was to be home for the first week of the op tour... nice one!! However time here was short lived and he soon found himself at Krivolak (South East of Skopje) tasked to provide a rear link for the Greek Battle Group and comms for the LO. The camp was just a single small building and a bit of waste ground, but was soon rectified by the Greek engineers who provided tented accommodation, shower blocks, a cookhouse tent with Sky TV, a gym and a beer tent, which only the Greeks use as it's a dry camp for us Brits! A bit of gravel and some razor wire around the perimeter finished the job off. During this period of activity Cpl Eddie Stojanovic, LCpl Chris Watts and Sig Luke Cassidy arrived onto the Det and have consequently been kept busy ensuring the numerous weapons convoys are provided with comms, usually in the form of TacSat. So far we have been well looked after by the Greeks, with the food being okay, but different.....

UK BG – REAR LINK TEAM

After a number of reshuffles, the team at 2 Para now consists of Cpl Noel Hughes, LCpls Lee Bourne, Harrison and Sig Ian Sherrington. Since most of the Det have worked with the Battalions in the past (in Ireland and Belize as well as many exercises), we have settled in quickly and have been made to feel very welcome. We are currently providing various comms links for the BG including, HF, VHF(Z), Brent/INMARSAT, TacSat and Wotan, both back to Brigade and forward to TAC during the weapon collection ops. Due to the requirements for us to provide comms at every level, all members of the Det have managed to get out on the ground at some point, either on one of the Weapon Collection Ops or recces. Although hard work, this has provided the opportunity to take a few 'ally' snaps and give us a chance to get out of the HQ....the European Satellite TV is an added bonus, especially at night!

UK NSE – REAR LINK TEAM

Manned by Cpl Mathew Wilson and Sigs Martin Corbet, Brendon Duff and 'Hank' Oakes, we deployed just outside Petrovac Airfield to meet up with 13 Air Assault Regt RLC to whom we were to provide comms links. We rapidly found out the level of media interest in this Op when 13 Regt CO whisked us away the next morning to be interviewed live for the BBC. The interview ran smoothly until Sig Duff's struggle to answer the 'range of 346' question, to which he simply kept replying 15km.....that's your Class 1 on hold then! Deeply disappointed to be left on shift with this occurring, Sig Oakes seized the limelight later when he was seen 'loitering' around the antenna field; the resulting picture included the compelling caption, 'a man setting up INMARSAT'. With all the excitement of setting up and being 'celebrities' swiftly over, it was back down to Earth with a bump as we settled into routine broken only by our jollies on patrols round Skopje in WMIKS.

PFPL REAR LINK TEAM

Manned by LCpl Chris Cant, LCpl Tony Teese and Sig Paul Hackford life has been busy but interesting since our arrival in theatre. Upon initial arrival things were hectic, however now firmly settled, time is spent anchoring the comms for various patrols, or taking part in the odd trip with the mixed bag of recce and liaison teams.

30 SIGNAL REGIMENT DETACHMENT

A full report will be in 30 Regt notes but with the handover from Capt Al Crapper, to Lt Lucy Pimm complete (having managed to get back from China eventually), 30 have settled into rear link routine...just another op for this troop! Occasional trips out to the RRBs and RLTs with 216 and the use of the 'overnight RnR facility' for a hot shower and a beer in KFOR Rear are a break from stagging on and sunbathing (almost as much as the EOD teams and the HCR 'cell' but not quite!).

NATO DET

The NATO det met us on arrival after a protracted road trip from Maastricht, and proved incredibly efficient moving some pretty large trucks around in the middle of the night amongst posts and holes to quickly get NATO circuits in. A mixture of Belgians, Americans and Brits they have proved flexible in providing extra CRONOS terminals as the Staff begin to use it more, laying a myriad of phone lines and providing some internet capabilities. Comms, no cam and serious comfort they have their priorities just right for this!

ECHELON

We deplaned from the huge C17 into a warm, humid night before starting two days of stencilling the Task Force Harvest markings onto vehicles in 40+ degrees, made only slightly easier by the free soft drinks at CAS. The MT/LAD and QM's task was to ensure the Brigade Staff were fed, watered and to generally ensure they were in the right place at the right time. This task was made somewhat easier thanks to Sig Tony Cheers and Cpl Chris Eckett, whose comical wearing of the tropical soft headdress, or jungle 'HAT', provided much needed humour. Moving into a location without any infrastructure set the ED's the ominous task of providing power and light for the HQ and all its 'cling ons'. This was made no easier with the assistance of the 30 Sig Regt ED, LCpl 'Knuckles' Whitworth's attempts to create every generator fault known to man! SSgt Jase Goldsworthy has been busy running his taxi service of green fleet and hire vehicles while personnel from the QM's have been rushed off their feet since arrival, with tasks ranging from setting up a tented camp, to feeding the five thousand to creating a laundry service. SSgt 'Pauline Fowler' Rayson's team have had little time for respite and have done a sterling job as usual. However with all systems slowly falling into place we are finally finding time to catch our breath.....that is before re-deployment rears its ugly head!

RECOVERY

Although a few Squadron members left theatre early, the main recovery started on 28 September, led, literally, by the Ops Offr Capt Jim Lambeth. Many found this amusing, as he was also the last to deploy! Once the follow on force, German led, had been agreed and ACTORD had been signed for their deployment, the green light was given to start the recovery of the Squadron assets from theatre in earnest. Over a period of two weeks the Squadron recovered back to Colchester with the majority of vehicles returning by sea, less the Bde TAC HQ, which was flown, with the troops returning by both 'civvy charter' and C-130. The bulk of the Squadron returned in three phases, with each party processed through the Rear Party reception system before departing on two weeks well earned leave. The Squadron can be proud of its efforts in contributing to the success of Op Bessemer as part of Task Force Harvest. NATO launched an ambitious undertaking, only a month ago, with the aim to collect 3300 weapons from ethnic Albanian armed insurgents in order to lay the foundation for the peace process to follow. There was some scepticism, a lot of criticism, a lot of doubt, but in thirty days TFH has proved to be a success. The Squadron has directly contributed to the disarmament of the National Liberation Army, and in doing so has helped establish the conditions for the peaceful resolution to this crisis, which could have easily engulfed Macedonia in a bloody civil war. It would be wrong not to mention Sapper Ian Collins of 9 PARA Sqn Royal Engineers, who made the ultimate sacrifice in the pursuit of peace. He did not die in vain. During the thirty days TFH operated in Macedonia 3381 weapons of war were collected and put beyond use and 16500(+) displaced persons returned to their former homes and communities.

Sig Fowler and Tacsat, the dog, working out which way is home

WHAT NEXT?

The priority on return from the post tour leave will be centred on reconstituting the Squadron back into the air assault role and ORBAT. Much of the work was started whilst still in theatre and as such Troops will carry on from where they had left off. The end state will see the Squadron in a fit state ready to deploy, should it be required, by early October.

AIRBORNE SIGNALS OFFICERS DINNER - by Capt Mark Rouse

On 27 July almost sixty serving and retired officers gathered at the Squadron's historical home, Caythorpe Court in Lincolnshire. This year marked the 60th anniversary of airborne signals and as such it seemed fitting to hold the event at the Court. With events unfolding in Macedonia looming ever closer to seeing the Squadron deploy it was fortunate that all the Squadron officers managed to attend an event that had been organised by the Unit. Maj Neil Fraser just managed to attend having returned back from another FYROM recce only hours before. Others also travelled from afar, including officers returning from Cyprus and Germany amongst other places. The event was a great success and enjoyed by all those that attended. Thanks go to Maj Steve Clarke, now at the fighting 2 Sig Regt in York, for starting the ball rolling in organising the event. We look forward to next year's event, which will be held for the first time in Colchester during Oct.

OLD COMRADES ASSOCIATION
CAYTHORPE REUNION WEEKEND (1–2 SEPTEMBER)

With the majority of the Squadron deployed on Op Bessemer the task of hosting the OCA at Caythorpe fell to the responsibility of the Rear Party. This annual and greatly supported pilgrimage is an extremely important event in the Squadron calendar and despite the Unit being deployed on operations it still managed to host the event. Caythorpe and the surrounding villages were used by the 1st Airborne Division in 1944 to concentrate the force prior to mounting on Op Market Garden. For many years since the Squadron, supported by former members, has hosted the event. The weekend allows the OCA to catch up on old times but more importantly is a time for all to remember those that failed to return from the operation. We look forward to hosting the event next year (6-8 September).

After a wild and eventful summer leave had by all, the Squadron returned to work with vengeance. We had a mad few days to prepare for a deployment over to Thetford in support of 1 KOSB pre-NI training. Shortly following that we began the beat up prep for our forthcoming summer AMF(L) deployment to sunny Turkey. A new leader is in our midst, arriving from a 'Black Bag desk bound job' in Upavon, Maj Hill has entered the Squadron with heaps of enthusiasm and looking forward to playing with his new train set. Promotions in the new ISIS Troop - LCpl Pope - our very important Crypto accountant got selected - well deserved.

OSCAR TROOP
Tp Comd Lt Mike Fayers
Tp SSgt SSgt Tony MacBean

The past month has been rather busy for Oscar Tp with guys off in Canada, Canary Islands, Norway, Swanage, Turkey and the USA (hello, please phone). A few hellos and good byes are in order. Hello to Sigs 'Harry' Potter, 'Absentminded' Spendlove, 'Steve' Morgan and to LCpls Hewitt and Drabwell. Farewell to Cpl Wilcockson who is off to 16 Sig Regt and on promotion Sgt Walsh off to 20 Armd Bde and SSgt McBean off to 30 Sig Regt. Further congratulations on their promotion go to Sgt Robinson and Sgt 'Kev' Meek who has also passed the YofS board. The recent Lance Corporal to Corporal Board has seen LCpls Dudley and Welburn promoted, well done!

PAPA TROOP
Tp Comd Lt David Stoter
Tp SSgt SSgt Den Yates

I can think of better places to write WIRE notes than under a cam net in Turkey on yet another multinational attempt at an exercise but at least the locals think we're here to do something more interesting. The Troop continues its exodus of experience: congratulations and farewell to Sgt 'Si' Kenny, who moves to 3 RHA as Rear Link Sergeant. Goodbye also to Sgt 'Michael' Jackson who returns to the strange world of CTCRM: your new RSM may not be as forgiving if you set fire to his bar. Congratulations also to those who recently came off the Corporal Board: LCpls 'Gaz' Lawson, Sustins and Fielding. A big welcome to the big top to Cpl Stewart, LCpl Clarke, Sig Perkins, Sig Swainson and Sig Bryan. Finally, hello to 2Lt Trevor 'Toni and Guy' Cadywould, my successor, who should provide a welcome boost for Salisbury's beauty product industry. The Squadron has continued to develop its theme of cramming as many commitments into as short a space as possible. Hot on the heels of summer block leave came Troop exercises, 2nd line inspections, battle camp, CIVPOP for NITAT and now the Squadron's summer deployment to Turkey. It must be about time for SSgt Yates to take some more REN leave... The usual detachments have continued: Cpl 'Titch' Meakin is back from Sierra Leone with 2 LI, Sigs Gould, Samson, De Gernier and Thompson are back from being beasted to within an inch of their lives by 12 (Mech) Bde in BATTUS. What? No volunteers for a Brigade Signal Squadron?

SUPPORT TO 1 KOSB AS CIV POP -THETFORD AUGUST 2001
by Lt Mike Fayers

Arriving bushy tailed and with a spring in its step, 75 members of the Squadron deployed to Thetford to provide civilian population for 1 KOSB pre-NI training. After a few minor teething problems, that is to say the NITAT training team were still on leave, the Squadron personnel were deployed into their luxurious accommodation (in comparison to Bulford). It wasn't long before the Squadron were getting to know their new neighbours, with VCPs, house searches and low flying helicopters. One of the first to experience the wrath of the Security Forces was SSM 'honestly gov' Dewar. On a routine stop check of his lovely family saloon he was asked if he wouldn't mind stepping out of his car. Full of confidence that he was an honourable member of society he accepted, only to be most surprised when a 'Jock' removed a 5.56 cartridge from his car. Luckily the expression of shock, horror and surprise was convincing enough for the SF. Most of the evenings were passed away throwing abuse at the local security bases, then once the novelty value was lost there was just time for a BBQ and a few light refreshments. The near constant low flying helicopters did warrant the odd phone call of complaint and on one such occasion Sgt 'Nev' Donohue did get a tad carried away. Not reading the phone directory particularly well, he confused the Squadron operation cell with the Battalion's. Cpl 'Taff' Ansell eventually calmed him down and pointed him in the right direction of another poor unsuspecting soul. We said our farewell to the 1 KOSB in usual fashion and then made a rather slow redeployment back to Bulford, for which much thanks must go to Colchester TSU. Overall, the week was a success, thank you SSgt 'Den' Yates, SSgt 'Mac' McBean and Sgt 'Robo' Robinson for all your support during the week.

New members welcomed into the Mighty Fighting Airfield this month are Sig 'Wally' Caisley with wife Paula and LCpl 'Lurch' Sherrat. EPISKOPI TROOP - by LCpl 'Street Hawk' Fox

History is full of great and unforgettable sporting triumphs. Everybody has their own favourite. Those that were alive in 1966 will be able to tell you exactly where they were when England won the World Cup. However, in years to come another great sporting victory will be the topic of conversation in bars and pubs around the world – Episkopi Troop took the 2001 Hodgson Shield from under the noses of Dhekelia Troop.

On a sunny day, (What else!), at Akrotiri the final four events of this year's Shield were fought out between all the four Troops. Tennis, Squash, Football and Tug-O-war all provided a good day's competition. Episkopi's Footballers came home in second place and the squash players managed third. Sgt 'Anything-for-a-pound' Rogers and Sgt 'Sampras' Quilter gave us much needed points with first place in the Tennis. The event saw the day's most convincing victory when Sig 'Where's the Beach?' Forman ensured his Tug-o-war team pulled the other three teams right out of the ground. There was so much adrenaline produced that is was bottled and sold to the other teams as souvenirs. The excitement for the day continued into the awards ceremony when Dhekalia were momentarily awarded the Shield due to a 'counting problem' – (FofS Leyland), however, the shield is now back home.

The very same night was the Episkopi Troop summer function/Shield celebration party. The Elias Beach Hotel in Limossol ensured that we were all happy with our massive dinner and free drinks. The prize draw saw many happy faces but questions were asked when organiser LCpl 'Landing Pad' O'Connell took the DVD player. This was the second function in a fortnight. The previous Friday saw the leaving do for LCpl Reade. It was an eventful night with the Troop Greek dancing. Those of you who read The WIRE to hear about LCpl Reade's escapades can continue doing so on the 11 Sig Regt's page. However, they won't tell you that he has finally passed his bike test – on his third attempt, (unheard of in Cyprus). Congratulations go, firstly to SSgt 'What Rehearsal?' Mathieson, on his marriage to Joanne. It is unusual to have the reception ten days before the ceremony, but hey, this is Cyprus. Also, well done to Sig Forman, Sig 'Baps' Marsh, Sig 'More Baps' Harris and Sig Huber for passing their Class 2 exams. This month's Troop Car Crashing competition was a close call between Sig 'Watch that Lamppost!' Hogg and LCpl 'Watch that car!' Deacon. Application forms are now available for next month's round. Well done also to the Troop football team. The boys sobered up and went to Dhekelia for the BFBS Wireless for the Blind 5-a-side tournament. As Thunder rolled above, the team fought hard to finish third in their group but didn't make it to the next round. We are a well travelled Troop this month. LCpl 'Thumb Print' Cooper and Cpl 'Just like Newquay' Stewart found themselves in Australia, Lindsay now has a new digereedoo to play with. Also, 2Lt 'Shut-up Megan' Milner passed her NBC course and went to Thailand. No questions asked Ma'am. Sig 'Baps' Marsh also travelled to a strange land when she worked on the Satisfied Soldier scheme at a place called South Shields. (Sorry to mention Shields again Dhekalia!) Welcome to Cyprus LCpl Carr and Sig 'watch this space for nickname' Keen.

THE PLATE FINAL PLAYED AT HAPPY VALLEY

After a long hard struggle to get to the final we had finally made it, we were there ready for anything. The game was slow to start but then the 259 Sig Sqn Team got going and soon raised the pace and standard of the game.

It didn't go to well for 259 Sqn to start with as they went 1-0 down against the attacking Episkopi Garrison Team. Then 259 Sqn pulled it back to 1-1. Then they went down 2-1 and still managed against all efforts of the Garrison Team to pull it back yet again. 259 Sqn were then all hyped up and ready for anything, which proved a bit too much for Epi Garrison, with them now conceding another to the mighty 259 Sqn. 2-3 was to be the score that 259 Sqn were looking for and they protected there lead well which led to them winning the final and becoming the Plate Winners for 2001.

259 SIGNAL SQUADRON CHALLENGES THE KIDS

259 Signal Squadron has laid on a day of challenges for some of the Western Sovereign Base Area children in the cool shade of Happy Valley's Carob trees. On Wednesday 25 July 2001, as part of the annual summer holiday activities programme, boys and girls of the Signal Squadron organised and ran a variety of fun activities to keep the youngsters occupied for the morning. Although the day was designed for the kids to enjoy, there were some challenging activities thrown in to keep them thinking. 259 Sig Sqn organised a similar activity last year, which was a big success and were happy to help out again. Cpl Purdie of Episkopi Troop was the chief coordinator; he says the kids are great but managing soldiers is definitely easier. At the end, everyone was happy and went away with something.

A natural, lovely action as Shannon Lewer launches the frisbie

Even with an instruction sheet, some teams found it difficult to get their heads around Rusty's quiz!

259 SIGNALLER FINDS UNEXPECTED BENEFACTOR

Sig Pete Goddard (19) a Royal Signals Telecommunications Mechanic based with 259 Sig Sqn in Episkopi has found himself earning some unexpected extra cash, from a 'Satisfied Soldier' attachment, £500.00 to be precise.

In mid May this year, Pete was on duty at his local recruiting office in South Shields. He was there taking part in the 'Satisfied Soldier' scheme. 'Satisfied Soldier' is an Army initiative that offers young soldiers the opportunity for volunteering to return to the recruiting office where they joined the Army to provide potential recruits advice about life in the field Army, overseas postings, etc. and answer any questions they may have about Army life in general. Prior to the attachment, a newspaper article describing the soldier's job and interests is prepared and then published in the soldier's local paper during the attachment. It was after reading Pete's article in her copy of the South Shields Gazette that Mrs Ellen Hastings (74) of Jarrow contacted her local SSAFA office and requested a visit. Mrs Hastings explained that the article describing Pete's work in Cyprus brought back memories of her own son, Kevin Chavner who died in a tent fire whilst posted to the island with the Royal Signals in 1947. During the SSAFA visit, Mrs Hastings handed over £500.00 cash to be used by Sig Goddard and his friends to enjoy themselves. The cash was banked by SSAFA and a cheque despatched by post to Pete's unit here in Cyprus. Since receiving the cheque, Pete has written to Mrs Hastings and Thursday 2 August he visited her at home to say thank you in person. The story has attracted plenty of interest from Pete's local media and he has become quite a celebrity over night. He should make the best of it as when he returns from leave it will be back to business as usual with 259 Sig Sqn, installing and maintaining the fixed telecommunications infrastructure across the island. Enjoy your leave Pete.

EXERCISE COBALT FLASH 4 - by Sgt S. Templeman

This exercise was the final opportunity for the members of the Squadron to train for the impending exercise in Poland at the end of the month. Cobalt Flash Exercises, which run throughout the year, are generically non-tactical communications exercises; designed to prepare the units of the Northern Regional Signal Group (providing C3IS to AFNORTH) for the culminating exercise, Ex Allied Effort. This year Ex Allied Effort will take place in the Wroclaw Military Academy, Poland and involve, amongst other things, the build and operation of large LAN/WAN's for the Ex Staff. However, on Ex Cobalt Flash 4 the troops had to deal with a rather more sedate pace of labour and at times were forced to adopt the working practices of our European colleagues. Once again the usual suspects were present and shining in their own fields, worth mentioning are Cpl Greenlee and his continued love of all things American, Cpl Wright and his imminent transfer to the Diplomatic Corps and LCpl Price with stirring rendition of Sleeping Beauty.

So What Does Happen If I Pull Out These Cables...

JULIET TROOP

Tp Comd Lt Jim Barber

Juliet Tp would like to welcome the recent new comers LCpl Trev Carter from 7 Sig Regt, LCpl Louise Halsworth from 11 Sig Regt, Cpl Paul 'Shakey' Wilson from 1 Div, and Sig Vicky Seymour from 21 Sig Regt. Now that we've welcomed people we have to say 'Goodbye' to the hardest working Troop Staff, who Juliet Troop will miss so dearly, SSgt Kev 'Water sports' Roberts. He is leaving us to go and practice brew making at RHQ AFNORTH, Brunssum. A lot of achievements to mention, for a lot of different people. First of all starting with promotion from Lance Corporal to Corporal, going to Cpl Gordon Kirkwood, Cpl Sally Hubble, Cpl 'Old Sweat' Donaldson and Cpl Marcus 'Les' Leslie. Next up is our big water skiing team consisting of Cpl Richie 'Silver Fox' Brown, who managed to gain the title of Novice Ski Jump Champion and doing well in the slalom, and Cpl Steve Gore who also competed. Hopefully next year by the looks of things there might be a few more names to mention. Everyone would like to say well done to Cpl Steve Gore for becoming the self appointed master driver for the Sqn. Hardest worker of the year so far has to go to Cpl 'Shakey' Wilson, playing 'Mrs. Gogging Working' 120hrs in one week (that's three weeks work in civvy street) while the rest of the Squadron went on leave. Good man. To finish off with another welcome, to those who have returned from Bosnia, Cpl 'Gordy' Kirkwood, Cpl Dave Rycroft, LCpl Ian Wallace, Sig Nicholas 'Russ' Abbott, and Sig Gaz Watson. Also LCpl 'Mac' McAlpine returns to us from Kosovo.

KILO TROOP

Tp Comd Capt Sarah Covey-Crump

September saw Kilo Troop enter a very busy period in the shape of preparations for Ex Allied Effort (3 months in sunny Poland). In addition to deploying to Poland on exercise we have personnel preparing to deploy to Turkey with 249 (AMF(L)) Sig Sqn on Ex Adventure Exchange. A welcome break from exercise preparation and commitments was a visit from HQ SHAPE UKNMR(A) Col Jim Blake (late R SIGNALS), for a demonstration of the Squadron's new CGS5 communications installation and the Marconi line of sight radio relay equipment.

A big hello goes out to Sgt Neil Walsh, Cpl Craig Harrison, LCpl Jim Booth and Sigs Scott Pollock and Colin Rolf all currently enjoying the delights of Banja Luka. Welcome to Cpl 'Scouse' Wilson, Cpl Ryan Evans and LCpl Andy Harvey and their families who have just joined us. We also bid farewell to Cpl Jimmy 'Card-shark' Cunningham and family who have departed for 2 Sig Regt and farewell to Cpl Simon Cook and Cpl Matt Baber both departing for Civvy Street.

CHANGE OF COMMAND PARADE MAASTRICHT

On Friday 14 September, 23 members of the Squadron formed part of a NATO parade for the change of command of the Deployable Communications Module Battalion Commander. The outgoing Commander Lt Col Antonio (Dutch Army) handed over to Lt Col Ten Berge (Also Dutch). Drill proved to be interesting as each nation doggedly stuck to their own style. Sgt Butterfield represented the Squadron, as one of the flag party and the overall coordinator was Maj Bob Parkinson R SIGNALS currently serving with HQ DCM.

BREWS UP FOR SSAFA

The last SSAFA 'Big Brew Up' to be held in Francisca Barracks went down a storm as all Squadron members, their wives and the civilian staff enjoyed tea and cakes in the 280 Club. Interest in this year's event was heightened by Warner's Movie World donating tickets to be won. To keep the theme of tea running a large jar was filled with lose tealeaves and as members of the squadron where getting served, they where asked to work out how many single teabags could be made from the contents of the jar. Congratulations to Diane Osborne, Annette Taylor (No Fix Honest!), Cpl Tomlinson, Cpl Head and LCpl Seymour for guessing closest that 1229 cups of tea could be made! The Catering Department gave their total support to this event, producing a 1-meter diameter teacup out of roll mats and a variety of cakes and biscuits to go along with the cups of tea. Many thanks to the UCM, SSgt Dougie Henry and his team. The event was a great success with DM322.52 being raised for SSAFA and a lot of work being generated for the tailoress!

OVERVIEW OF EVENTS FROM AUGUST TO THE PRESENT DAY - by Sig Taylor

It's been a busy time within the squadron over the last couple of months. Most regular members of the squadron are currently busy out on detachment, leaving a handful of people left in sunny Bletchley to hold the fort and carry on with the regular 'jobs' which seem to fly our way. We have now contributed to 97 (SFOR (Sig Sqn with the following TA members Cpl Sam MacGillivary, Sig Yates, Sig 'Project' Lock and Sig Miller who have volunteered for a 6 month tour of duty in Bosnia from 8 October. We would like to wish them good luck and hope that they enjoy their time out of the country. We also hope that the regular army is not too much of a shock to the system! As reinforcements are always welcome we must give a big welcome to the following members to the Squadron. Sgt 'Taff' Wainwright and LCpl 'Dan' Perdue both previously from 14 Sig Regt. Also LCpl 'Jay' Dine fresh from the last assessment course from 238 Sig Sqn. Farewell to SSgt 'Lou' Morton AGC, the MT feel lost now they haven't got anyone to annoy.

SQUADRON BARBEQUE

25 August saw the annual Squadron barbecue take place. The weather was kind and allowed us to enjoy the whole day in the blistering sunshine. The day kick-started as usual in the bar with all members of the Squadron, Regular and the TA, socialising and catching up with each other over a cool beer. Then came the main activities of the day which comprised Sumo wrestling (some members of the Squadron looking better wearing them – shock!), water balloon volley ball, bungee racing game and the grand finale fun assault course all of which did not qualify for ITDs or Bounty for the TA contrary to popular belief! The day proved to be a success, great food, and great laughs especially at Cpl Nick Hill in a sumo suit – some people just look good in these things!!

SC ASSESSMENT COURSE

17 September was the start of the second assessment course for this year. Cpl Gaz Woolley and Cpl Jay Fawcett, syndicate commanders co-ordinated the smooth running of the two weeks. The students underwent a number of tasks during the course and where put through their paces. Just some of the tasks the students underwent were, trade exam both practical and written, discussion groups, command tasks and presentations. The two weeks proved to be a success with several people being asked to come back for the November SC course.

MAINTENANCE WEEKEND

In preparation for the long awaited Lock communication system, there was a maintenance weekend on 22 September. All members of the Squadron carried out maintenance on all vehicles (painted them all green). These vehicles are now ready to be backloaded and we wait for arrival of the new fleet. It was good to see that all members of the squadron got stuck into the workload even though the only pictures taken were of SNCOs and Warrant Officers (was this because this was a notable occasion maybe??)

EXERCISE MOUNTAIN LYNX

As previously reported for October the exercise was a huge success with a good turnout from all. The weekend was both physically demanding on the body and the pocket as usual and all concerned were so impressed they will be coming back for more in the New Year!

JOINT SERVICES SUPPORT UNIT DIGBY RAF DIGBY

SPONSORED CYCLE RIDE AND TOWER CLIMB

The regular monthly RAF Digby Station meetings have a habit of being held in odd places. For the meeting on Thursday 2 August, the outgoing OC of the Ariel Erectors School, Flt Lt Ian Cowie had organsied the meeting to be held part way up the 100mtr tower at Senigot. Taking the chance to combine this with some charity work, Cpl Griffiths arranged a sponsored cycle ride from Digby to Senegott, all 28 miles of it. Some people, such as Maj 'Monty' Mountford and Sqn Ldr Andy Myers-Hemmingway were keen enough to attempt this feat on mountain bikes, a somewhat slower approach than the racing snakes at the front on their road bikes. After a tired arrival, there was the chance of a quick cup of tea, before the legs were again stirred in a different direction. For those with enough of a head for heights, there was the chance to stand right on the small platform at the top of the tower, with only a flagpole to grab hold of. With his usual entrepreneurial flair, RQMS WO2 John Smith was busy trying to take arial photos of his house nearby, presumably before trying to sell them to the current tenants. Having descended slightly, the Station meeting was held from the slightly less stratospheric 30mtr platform.

SPORT

BLANDFORD GARRISON GOLFING SOCIETY
SUMMER MEETING - SPONSORED BY NEXTRA

The BGGS Summer meeting was held at the Salisbury and South Wilts Golf Club on 26 July 2001. (Once again) we were very generously sponsored by NEXTRA (who have had a name change since last year from NORSK DATA). NEXTRA provide us with hardware support on camp. Despite take-overs and amalgamations we were pleased to see our sponsors represented on the course by Hazel Crispen, Trevor Jones, Capt (Retd) Peter Johnson and Tony O'Connell.

Alan Browne leads Andy Armitage and Terry O'Connell to refreshments at the half-way house

It was one of the hottest days of the year as 27 golfers set about a long and difficult course that was in excellent condition. The morning round was a Stableford competition in three divisions. Thankfully, there was a much needed drinks station at the ninth that our sponsors provided. The afternoon round was a WO1 Keith Fisher 'Monte Carlo special' in which we were sent out in teams of three and the score at each hole was calculated by multiplying the best two stableford scores (using fl handicap). Most teams found the scoring more difficult than the golf. We were grateful to John Parker for making the effort to come from Newbury to present the prizes.

On this occasion we also said farewell to two stalwarts of BGGS, firstly, Lt Col Alain Malnuit the French Liaison Officer who turned in a prize-winning performance on this occasion. Secondly to WO1 Keith Fisher who has worked (and played) tirelessly for BGGS and CAGE during his time here, he has certainly brought a new meaning to, 'I go to College every Monday!' If anyone knows of an 18-hole college, please let us know. Good luck in Civ-Div. We are most grateful to Hazel who also ran a prize-draw to round off an excellent day. The day was so successful that NEXTRA have taken up the challenge of a match at Blandford.

Major prize winners were:

Gaz Wilson Chalice:	Lt Col David Palmer (42 points!)
Runner-up	WO2 Duckworth (40 points)
Division 3 Winner	Lt Col Alain Malnuit (FR) (37 points)
Monte Carlo Winners	Col Bill Kennedy, Andy Armitage and Hazel Crispen
Nearest the pin	Cpl John Speherd
Pros Approach And Best Guest	Terry Jones

CORPS GOLF (GERMANY)

The British Army (Germany) Inter-Corps golf league culminated in the top four teams competing in a Knock-Out competition to determine the best Corps team of 2001. The event was held on 20-21 September 2001 at the RAFG Bruggen Golf Course, which was in excellent condition. The Corps team was drawn against the RLC in the semi-final and there was an air of confidence as we had beaten them in the league some months previously. After the four-balls we had a healthy lead of 3-1, thanks to excellent performances by LCpls Nige Brennan and Kerry Greenham, SSgt Dave Maw and Sgt Mark Nowosielski, and Maj Tim Prince and Cpl Paul Barran. The singles matches produced five winners in SSgt Andy Saunders, Sgt Paul Taylor, LCpl Kerry Greenham, Mr Terry Marsh and LCpl Nige Brennan. The final was played against the REME who narrowly defeated the AGC in a tense play-off. Like us, the REME team was also under-strength due to commitments to Exercise Saif Sareea and following the excellent performance of the previous day, we were confident of victory. The four-balls gave us a one point lead after good wins by SSgt Maw and Sgt Mark Nowosielski and SSgt Andy Saunders and Mr Terry Marsh. However, things didn't go to plan and after the first nine holes of each match, a play-off looked like a good prospect. Determination and experience saved the day as Sgt Mark Nowosielski fought back from four down to halve his match. Maj Tim Prince came back from two down to half his match on the 18th hole and wins from LCpl Kerry Greenham, LCpl Nige Brennan, Terry Marsh and SSgt Andy Saunders, gave us a comfortable victory by four points. The victory was ample consolation from losing in last year's final and the current squad of 20 players has the potential to become a major force in Corps golf within Germany. It was unfortunate that regular first team players such as LCpl Graham Rennie, SSgt (FofS) Bob Pace and WO1 (YofS) Neil Ferris were unavailable for the final but their contribution throughout the league season is worthy of mention.

SWIMMING

EUROPEAN MASTERS SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS - PALMA -2001

The Masters swimming circuit is open for all those swimmers that are deemed 'out of it' which in swimming terms is classed at anyone who is over 25 years old up to the age of 90 years old (plus). The events are run in five year age groups. This year with the turn of my 26th birthday I found myself in this category and was asked by the Army Swimming Union if I would like to apply to compete in the European Championships. As always, a couple of negative points soon came to my attention. The first one being I would have to go to Palma for the event and the second I would have to compete in the 5km Open Water Sea Swim on the final day. After much deliberation I applied to be selected. A few weeks later I was informed that I had been selected to represent the British Armed Forces and Great Britain in the event.

The swimming team consisted of a total of 12 people, three from the RAF, six from the Navy and three from the Army (I was the only representative from the R. Signals). We all met up at Stanstead Airport at 1300hrs only to be delayed due to the coach driver's strike, which meant that we finally arrived at our hotel around 0630hrs the next day. After a short rest we then proceeded to the pool to collect our competitor passes and to verify our events. The RM Captain that was in our team suggested a short 'YOMP' to the pool that for some reason, we agreed to. After a couple of hours and some bad map reading we finally found a swimming pool, unfortunately the wrong one. A quick decision was made and we caught a taxi to the correct pool. As soon as we arrived it was clear that we were all about to take part in a major event, flags fluttering in the wind from every nation you can think of. The pools themselves were Olympic pools, the out door for competitive and the indoor for training and warm ups.

I had registered for the 100m freestyle the 50m freestyle and the 5km open water sea swim as well as taking part in various relay events. Having submitted my times I found that I was always in the last heat with the fast boys (in the fastest age group). On the morning of my first event the 100m freestyle I was amazed to see heat I for the 90 plus age group where three male frail frames struggled to climb up onto the starting blocks and yet, who completed the race in a very respectable time. I competed in all my selected events and came 49th out of 278 in the 100m, 40th out of 327 in the 50m and 25th in my age group out 408 swimmers in the open water swim, as well as raising £200 approx for the RBL. By the end of the competition the swimming team left with one gold medal two silvers and two bronze. I am now looking forward to competing at the world Masters championships in New Zealand early next year, the Europeans in the South of France 2003 and then the World championships in 2004 in Sidney Australia. I would just like to thank my new unit 7 Armd Bde HQ & Sig Sqn for letting me deploy to Kosovo late, my previous unit: 21 Signal Regiment (AS), the Army Sports Board, the BAF, and the AStJ for who helped fund me for this event without who's support I could not have taken part in such a major competition.

KAYAKING

INTER-SERVICES KAYAK SPRINT & MARATHON CHAMPIONSHIPS - by Sig Stoddart

It's been three years since I did any Kayaking. I previously represented the Junior Development Squad and represented Great Britain in several regattas, nationally and internationally. My Troop OC, WO1 Coffin asked me if I wanted to go along and compete at the Inter-Services Kayaking Sprint and Marathon Championships, so I decided to go along and give it a go. The event took place in Nottingham at Holme Pierpoint, National Watersports Centre the marathon race was 8 miles and the sprints were from 200 meters to 1000 meters. I joined the team on Wednesday evening (5 August) and was told what was going to be happening over the next few days, such as who I was kayaking with and what races I'd been entered for. On the following day the team and I kayaked the route of the 8-mile race that we were to do the following day. On Friday the racers started in earnest and I completed the race achieving Third place. The Army team won the Marathon overall, and now it was just the sprints to go! On Saturday I competed in three races and achieved Third place in K1 (one man boat) over 500 meters, First place in K2 (two man boat) over 200 meters and First place in K2 again over 500 meters. There were still another three races were left to go on the Sunday. These were the K4 (four man boat) 500 meters and 1000 meters, in which we achieved First place for both races, and finally K1 (one man boat) 200 meters, unfortunately I missed Third place by 0.45 of a second. I'm now focusing on training for next years championships and hoping to do just as well if not better!

ALDERSHOT BRANCH

Our Autumn Lunch at the Army Golf Club was a very congenial affair. As it was held at the end of September the attendance was slightly lower than last year. This normally is a late October event but our social gatherings were thrown out of their usual pattern due to our mammoth achievement of two events on one day in August. One would have hoped that being held a month earlier would have brought favorable weather but this was not conducive to drinks on the terrace that so often we have enjoyed in the autumn. The company of Members and their guests more than made up for the absence of sunshine and as usual the Club staff did us proud with their oriental dishes and friendly service.

BATH &DISTRICT BRANCH

The Bath and District Branch have now had their two summer events. Thirty-seven members and guests enjoyed a Curry Lunch at Pockeridge House, Corsham (2 Sig Bde) in May; at which our new Chairman of the Association, Maj Gen Boyle and his wife were our honoured guests. It was, we felt, particularly agreeable to meet the new Chairman in such relaxed and informal circumstances. Then we had our annual Barbecue for over forty members and guests at the same venue in August. Because of the inclement weather we had to have the Barbecue in the Dining room of the Officers' Mess at Pockeridge House instead of in the lovely grounds as in previous years but it was, nevertheless, a very jolly occasion with good food and scrumptious puddings. Our next meeting will be the Annual Luncheon in October at the WOs' & Sgts' Mess, 21 Sig Regt, Azimghur Barracks, Colerne. We are hoping to have as our guests Brig H. Ham (PCSA Corsham), Lt Col H. Hooper (CO 21 Sig Regt) and WO1 (RSM) D. Rook (21 Sig Regt) as it is his Mess we are delighted to be able to use. The Bath Branch is particularly fortunate in having Signals formations so near, at Colerne and Corsham (Wilts), especially as they are happy to welcome us into their midst. We are again having trouble finding a Standard Bearer as the TA Corporal who paraded our Standard at the Remembrance Day services has now left the TA. Our Committee Member, Roy Platten, will parade the Standard at our Annual Luncheon but he is not now able to parade through Bath. Like most Branches we have difficulty in acquiring younger, more robust members.

EAST KENT BRANCH

The sparrows in Canterbury were awakened early on 9 September to the sound of 39 members and their guests boarding a charabanc for the first leg of their sortee to Bruges. The weather seemed to be set fair and indeed the Channel was as smooth as the proverbial mill-pond. As we crossed the Channel the trippers indulged in breakfast or drooled away their time in the Duty Free Shop. Calais welcomed us with sunshine and the party continued through France to Belgium and finally eased its way into the carpark in Bruges - just as the rain started! However, dodging between raindrops the intrepid sightseers made their soggy way into the town centre to sample and/or buy either Belgian chocolates, Belgian lace or some other mementoes. Some, including Mike Barrett, took to the waterway and took a boat-trip but all of these activities were accompanied by rain in varying quantities ranging from the gentle to the torrential, which prompted many of the party to 'lunch' in one of the delightful cafes or restaurants. Alas the time came to depart and this seemed to coincide with the townspeople leaving work and going home. This, together with a dramatic thunderstorm as a finale to the day's rain, delayed our departure somewhat but eventually the storm chased us out of Belgium and on towards Calais. Conditions during our return crossing of the Channel were not of the mill-pond variety and this writer spent the time indulging in short conversations and swift visits to the 'heads' - I am not a good sailor.

Customs and Excise welcomed us home with open arms and insisted that we all alight from the coach and walk our way through their Inquisition Chamber together with all our purchases and sundries. This really thrilled us all, coming as it did at the end of a very tiring day, especially Sheila and David Geary who had been presented with a case of wine by the Committee, thanking them for their directorship and filming of the magnificent epic 'Defence of the Realm' sketch (reported in the last issue. We all struggled through doing our best to ignore the looks of complete indifference by the Customs staff who were, perhaps, looking for even more sinister persons than ourselves. Back on the road again we find that Roy Andrews had won the £25 M&S voucher in the raffle organised by , guess who? Vincent and Marion de Rose. Late home but another enjoyable day spent in good company.

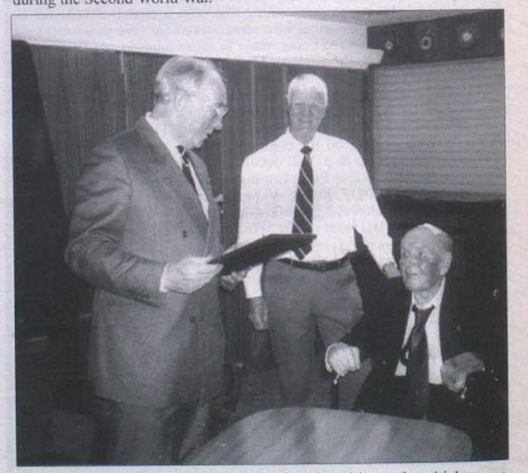
News of Members - Keith and Valerie Loney are particularly busy since he was made Mayor of Sevenoaks in May. Keith served in 2 Wireless Regiment in Famagusta and HQ MELF Cyprus from 1954-56. We wish him and Valerie a most successful year. Peter Haskins, who was reported on in the last issue for flashing his new Police Sergeant's stripes at the Branch BBQ, has proved himself to be a first-class Clay Pigeon shot and is a member of the Kent Police Team. Marie Crisp is recovering nicely from major heart surgery and is now healthier than she has been for years and is looking forward to resuming her attendance at forthcoming functions.

Vale: sadly we must report three of our members have passed away since our last notes. Reginald 'Robin' Hood, John Raymond and Lt Col (Retd) Basil Elliott will be sadly missed by all their friends and we pass on our condolences to their loved ones.

STOP PRESS!! - for those with the facility and the inclination you might like to look at www.eastkentbranchsignal.org.uk (Note it is signal and NOT signals) for further information on the Branch and it's members.

EXMOUTH BRANCH

The group was honoured with a visit from the Master of Signals, Maj Gen I. O. J. Sprackling on the occasion of our oldest members birthday. Mr Reg Randall celebrated his 102nd birthday and was presented by the Master of Signals with a signed Fax/Certificate to say that he is the oldest ex-member of the Corps. The photo shows the Master presenting Reg with his certificate, whilst Branch Members stood to attention. Reg, who is a resident of Miramar Rest Home in Exmouth, was an infantryman in the Gallipoli campaign of the First World War, and served at home bases during the Second World War.



The group also held their summer function this week, which was a 'Jazz' on the Exe, a 3 hour hour cruise up the River Exe accompanied by a fine Jazz band, great food and great company. The group is busy preparing for the Christmas function to be held in the banqueting suite in Exmouth on 30 November. Tickets can be purchased and more info about the RSEG from our website at www.rsigsexmouthgroup.supanet.com or info by email: rsigsexmouthgroup@supanet.com

GLASGOW BRANCH

What a glorious weekend! The members left the inclement weather in Scotland and arrived in blazing sunshine in Dorset. The drill and marching display, by the latest recruits in Blandford, on the Princess Royal Day Parade, was in keeping with the very high standard set by their predecessors. Followed by an afternoon of great entertainment. Our Branch Standard Bearer, Bill McNamara, was again in the final six of the Standard Bearers' contest, a very commendable effort Bill. There was a delay of over two hours on our return journey by train, and we were back to clouds and rain. The branch members met Maj Gen I. O. J. Sprackling and Maj Gen Tony Boyle, informally for a chat in the WOs' and Sgts' Mess. The members do appreciate that the 'Top Brass' takes time to make these visits. Many thanks go to the regiment and Peter Cuckow for making our visit such a pleasurable memory. Someone must have read my report of a previous Blandford visit, because the museum did have Christmas cards with the 'Jimmy' and Corps colours this year. This enabled me to buy them in time for sending out, this year the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Glasgow Branch. I also managed to obtain copies of The Shutter Telegraph from under the stairs at the museum. I found these very interesting and made copies to be passed among the Branch Members. I wonder why an up to date copy could not be sent to the Branches who request them? The Branches could then have them copied for their members. Members of this Branch would appreciate it, if it were possible to arrange this.

Thirty-six members, family and friends were on the coach outing to Aberdeen on 7 July. Stopping at Forfar for morning coffee, with about five hours in Aberdeen, then on to the Royal Hotel Stonehaven, for high tea. A very good choice of menu helped to stave off the hunger pangs. The weather was overcast but remained dry and warm throughout the visit. The ladies had a great time window-shopping, (if only the lottery would make their dreams come true) in the jewellery shops. It was only on our return to Glasgow, that we discovered that Glasgow and its environs had been deluged with rain all day long. Our friends and neighbours said later that they had pitied us on our journey north, thinking it would be in the rain, whereas we were having a great time and staying dry. The sales were on so all were looking for bargains. There was a lot to admire in architecture in the Granite City it was so clean an environment in the streets, with manual and mechanical sweepers working on a Saturday.

On Saturday 25 August 36 members and friends made a coach trip to Edinburgh Castle to see the tattoo, with a prior stop for high tea at an hotel, where we were joined by the Branch President, Maj Gen A. A. G. Anderson CB and his wife Mrs Margaret Anderson, who we trust will soon be fully recovered, after her long illness. The police blocked off the roads leading to the castle and the coaches had to drop their passengers about a mile away. This made a difficult uphill walk for us 'old un's' and those in wheel chairs. It was an excellent show and the party thoroughly enjoyed the acts, the music of the different bands pipes and drums and finally a great fireworks display. The best was the weather, it had been raining whilst we had our meal, but was dry for the walk to and from the castle and throughout the performance.

At the meeting in September the Branch Chairman, Joe Keegan, asked the members to stand and observe a minute silent prayer, for those who lost their lives in America by terrorist action. Editions of two local papers the Kirkintilloch Herald, published a photograph of a soldier in Royal Signals uniform named Bryan McArthur, attaining the Best Endeavour Award in a class of 39 in basic training, and in the Cumbernauld News, was the photograph of another Royal Signals soldier John Charles Connor. John came top of his class of 100 recruits. Both are now at Blandford to undergo their technical training.

On behalf of the Chairman and members of Glasgow Branch, a letter was sent to both papers to be published, congratulating both lads on their achievements, with best wishes for their future in the Corps. A letter was received from Bryan McArthur's mother appreciating the Glasgow Branch's published letter, which was read out by the Chairman at the September Branch meeting. The Branch secretary received two letters announcing the death of two ex members of the Corps. One from Mr Stewart Roy informing the Branch that his father James Bridges Soutar Roy died peacefully on 21 August 2001. The other letter was from Col R L Steele TD JP DL of Erskine Hospital, informing the branch of the death of Mrs Margaret G. Belford, who died in the Erskine Mains Home on the 31 August 2001. A note has been sent to RHQ with this information for publication in The WIRE Last Post column, and acknowledgement letters to Mr Roy and Lt Col R L Steele. The only information in the hospital records for Mrs Belford was that she served in the Royal Signals in the Isle of Man and Keddleston Hall from 1943 to 194- with regret there is no further information on the deceased. The Glasgow Branch Chairman and members offer their sincere condolences to both families.

MIDDLESBROUGH BRANCH

This year has seen some changes in the appointment of Branch Officials. Colin Dadson, our Chairman for some 13 years found that his commitments would prevent him from devoting the necessary time and opportunities to carry out his duties as Chairman and he has therefore stood down. Colin will continue to assist, when necessary and the Branch records its thanks for the able and capable way in which Colin bas served us and seen the Branch expand and establish a firm identity. Margaret, the other member of the husband and wife team, continues as Secretary and exercises her usual control of the finances. Audrey Grainger, formerly the Assistant Secretary was elected Chairperson and husband Dick continues as vice-Chairman.

Our Annual Dinner this year was held at the Merton Country Club in April and attended by 47 members and friends. We have also had trips to Botany Bay (not the Botany Bay) and to the Dales, and we intend a trip to 'Bygones' in early November. The Christmas Raffle will be held on 30 November and a buffet supper will as usual, be provided by the Lady Members. Bruce Bassett will we hope look after the Bar for us as usual. Bruce has willingly and unstintingly given his time to look after our liquid requirements over the years and the Branch expressed their gratitude by presenting him with a figurine of a Signalman in action at our AGM.

As usual this year we attended the service of thanksgiving and. Remembrance at Eden Camp, Malton. On this occasion 106 standards from Royal British Legion Branches were paraded including our standard paraded by our 'Mick Little' (his first time, giving John Grange a well earned rest). The Normandy Band of the King's Division led them. More than 1000 ex-services personnel of all three services and former members of the Land Army, also this year there was a contingent of ex-Bevin Boys. Some 120 Army Cadets brought up the rear and their Officers and Instructors marshalled the parade.

NORFOLK BRANCH

Due to summer holidays etc the Branch does not hold a meeting in August, the September meeting was well attended. Maj (Retd) Mike Sexton presided and due to Secretary, Steve Nobbs, being absent assistant Secretary, Brian Gibbs, stood in. Our President, Donald Ellingworth, has been ill for some time but has been regularly visited by Service Officer, Reg Hannant, who has been reporting back to the Branch. We were all happy to be informed that Don is now on the road to recovery and will be at the next meeting. The Branch was honoured by the 36 Signal Regiment by inviting our Chairman, Mike Sexton, also Secretary, Steve Nobbs, and Standard Bearer, Barry Robinson, to be presented to HRH The Princess Royal on 27 June during her visit to Ilford. The Chairman reported back to the Branch that it had been a splendid day and they were all very proud. At the conclusion to the last meeting instead of a speaker the Chairman introduced a quiz with prizes for the winners. This went down very well and proved to be very popular, we will certainly have them on a regular basis and it would be a good idea if we had inter-Branch competitions a idea for the future? Past Chairman, Frank Mortlock, told the Branch of how on seeing a photo in a Army magazine he came to be re-united with a couple of army pals after 54 years, it was a joyous occasion.

NORTHERN IRELAND BRANCH

The summer period was very quiet with very little of interest happening, however, the Branch Committee met recently to plan for some months ahead for either talks or social evenings on certain Branch meeting evenings. A number of useful suggestions were forthcoming for Hon Sec, Ian Wolfe, to follow up and which hopefully will help to maintain the interest of Members. We were saddened to learn of the passing of the mother of our Branch Chairman, John Brown. The officers and Members extend their deepest sympathy to John. The Branch was represented at the funeral. Once again if you are reading The WIRE and are in Northern Ireland then if you are not already a Branch Member or indeed are still serving, you are welcome to join us any third Wednesday of the month in Clonaver TAVR Centre, Belfast.

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

The Association chalks up 25 Years in Peterborough. It was on 5 August 1976 when a group of us met in the Wirrina Sport and Recreation Centre in Peterborough to find out if there was sufficient support for the formation of a Branch of the Royal Signals Association to be based in the city. This resulted in approval from Association Headquarters to form what was originally called the Peterborough and District Branch and subsequently led to our first Annual General Meeting attended by sixteen members. Twenty-five years later on the evening of 27 July 2001, eighty people sat down to a four course dinner provided by the Woodlands Sports and Social Club (Pearl Insurance Group), in Castor just west of Peterborough. Music during the meal and later for dancing was provided by the Len and Betty Briers Disco.

Coming off the dance floor is Len Voller with Margaret Smith (the Branch President's wife), who visit us regularly from their home in Stafford

Present at our 25th Anniversary celebrations were four of the original members from August 1976

Peter Cuckow the Association's Administrative Officer with his wife Sheila was the Branch's principal guest for this special occasion. During the evening a raffle of ten quality prizes was organised by the Committee; two of which were won by Peter and Sheila who kindly returned the final prize - a coach trip to London with two tickets to see 'My Fair Lady' and a Dutch Auction was organised which raised a total of £54.00. This was won by Silas and Diane Nowell, two of our newer members, and the Branch made a donation of this amount to the Corps Benevolent Fund shortly afterwards. The Peterborough Branch presently has a membership of more than fifty Life and Associate members many of whom enjoyed a truly excellent evening to mark our twenty-fifth anniversary.

Our Chairman, Bob Rowland, was honoured by the Central Committee earlier in the year with the award of Honour Membership of the Association following many years of dedicated service to the Corps and the Association; a truly honoured and very proud recipient who heads an active and very much involved branch of the Association. We recently received a grant from the National Lottery Charities Board following a lot of work by our Secretary, Brian Overland, in putting together the application. The grant will assist us with meeting room costs and will enable us to help members with the expense of travelling long distances to attend meetings over the next three years. A Branch Web Site has recently been set up by Bob Rogers, a member who is a leading amateur radio enthusiast (ex-SOE).
The Web Site is http://bobl9190.tripod.oom/homepage (See us there).

SOUTHAMPTON & DISTRICT BRANCH

With regret we have to report the death of another of our members. Ralph Burrows, who passed away on 3 September, 2001, at the age of 86. Ralph joins his wife Dorothy and leaves behind his daughter Teresa, son in law Rodney and grandsons Simon and Matthew. The funeral service was held at the Porchester Crematorium on Monday 17 September with a congregation of family, friends and old comrades who had gathered to say farewell.

Members of the Branch formed a Guard of Honour with the Branch Standard being carried by our Standard Bearer, Bryan Littlecott. Ralph was a lifelong supporter of Southampton Football Club and was a keen Speedway and Ice Hockey fan. In keeping with his dry sense of humour, his choice of music started the service with Louis Armstrong singing 'When the Saints go marching in' and finished with Glenn Miller's 'String of Pearls'. His wartime comrades paid Ralph a final compliment in portraying him as a man who was trustworthy, dependable and who would do anything for anyone. His family, all his old comrades and friends will sorely miss him.

Congratulations and best wishes from all Branch Members are extended to Maj (Retd) John Daw BEM and his wife Margaret on their Diamond Wedding Anniversary, which they celebrated on 21 September 2001. We wish them many more to come.

WEST LONDON BRANCH

Early in September we held our Branch Church Parade with the In Pensioners for morning service at the Royal Hospital Chelsea. This was initiated in the late eighties by Cliff Wood and since that time has been an annual event at which Harry Ruff has paraded our Standard and we have been joined by neighbouring branches of the Association. The Sheffield Branch are not our neighbours in the geographic sense but we think we can claim them in the biblical context as this year was their third attendance at our service. We express to the Royal Hospital our appreciation of the dedication of this morning service to our Branch and to the Royal Corps. Not a little is contributed to the occasion by the hospitality of the In Pensioners' Club and the excellent curry lunch they arrange for us following our devotions.

19th SIGNAL REGIMENT ASSOCIATION

For 28 years 19th Air Formation Signals served the Royal Air Force in the Far East and on 27 September members, who had served during the war years in Burma, met with those who had served in later years, including some who had the very sad task of disbanding the unit in November 1971. They descended on Stoke-on-Trent from Fifeshire, Cornwall, Kent and points closer. Barry Vargas arrived, on leave from New Delhi and Stan Kendrick, resplendent in his scarlet uniform and gleaming medals, was among the first to arrive the day before from the Royal Hospital, Chelsea.

In-Pensioner Stan Kendrick and the framed print 'Beaufighter Action over the River Chindwin, Burma 1945'

Before lunch we remembered Col John Stuart-Usher, who commanded the unit in Burma in 1944/45, Maj Gerry Cox who commanded 1 Squadron in 1968-70, Gordon McNulty, Les Finch and Ed Nichol who died tragically in his home following a fall. Whilst Chairman, George Brew, looked on in his inimitable avuncular manner, the Association President, Col Colin Gilbert, presented a framed print of 'Beaufighter Action over the River Chindwin, Burma 1945' to Lt Col Pat Soward with the request that he accept it on behalf of the Corps Museum. George Brew then produced two more copies of the print, presenting them to Pat Soward and Dennis Isaacs with his thanks for their efforts as Publicity Officer and Membership Secretary respectively.

Lt Col (Retd) Pat Soward presents the print to Col (Retd) Cliff Walters, who accepts it on behalf of the museum

The original oil painting, by Mark Bromley, depicts two Beaufighters accompanied by P47 Thunderbolts attacking enemy ground positions along the banks of the Chindwin river. It was commissioned by British Aerospace as a fund raising venture for the Burma Star Association and was sold at auction at the Burma Star Association's Midsummer Carnival in June 2001. In addition, a limited number of 99 prints were made and signed by the artist. The painting was thought doubly symbolic to the 19th Signal Regiment Association as so many members had served in Burma and as the Beaufighter featured on the arm badges worn by members of the regiment throughout their time in the Far East.

After lunch, mellowed by good food and wine, members gravitated to the bar where photographs were produced and studied with rapt attention and stories retold. Gently they drifted away from the relaxed atmosphere as the times of trains and coaches made their demands but a 'bakers dozen' - including four wives, stayed on overnight. All look forward to next year's luncheon at the Household Cavalry Sergeants' Mess at Knightsbridge. Those known to have served in the regiment will be able to read about the arrangements in the next edition of 'The Bulletin'; any who are not on our mailing list and would like details can make contact through Peter Cuckow at RHQ.

Postscript: The framed print would not fit into the boot of the MGF so John Horne kindly offered to take it home with him to Redditch and, the following day, drove down to Blandford with it. Many thanks John. Later in the week Pat Soward handed it over to Col Cliff Walters in the museum where it will find a home within the Air Formation Signals display area.

REUNIONS

BEVERLEY EX-BOYS ASSOCIATION

On Sunday, 22 July, a barbecue for BEBA members was held in the garden of Beryl and Tony Hull in Bournemouth and 23 people attended. The guests came from as far afield as Stockbridge, Basingstoke, Waterlooville and Blandford. The day started with rain showers and the tables and chairs could not be set up until the guests were almost due. There was then a mad panic to get everything ready and the barbecue lit. However, the sun came out, the wine flowed and Tony excelled himself at the barbecue. All had a great time and some old friendships were rekindled. It was with deep regret that we learned of the deaths of Norman Collier in July and John Shipp in August. Our sincere condolences go to their wives and families.

3rd ANNUAL WEEKEND REUNION -Report by Jim Mellett

The third annual reunion took place on 6-7 October at the Lensbury Club, Teddington Lock, Middlesex. The Club is set in beautiful grounds and gardens on the banks of the River Thames. The pity was that the weather was very poor so it was difficult to really appreciate the surroundings. Some of the members had booked in on the Friday and met old friends and made new ones in the bars of the Club with some making an excursion down the road to the Anglers pub. On Saturday the rest of the members attending arrived at the Club where they were able to take advantage of the facilities offered, these included a swimming pool with sauna and steam rooms. 3 o'clock found a large crowd in the television bar where they suffered highs and lows of emotions as they watched England stutter and stammer in their match against Greece. Fortunately, David Beckham, who now seems to have achieved God like status came to the rescue and England qualified.

In the evening, after gathering in the reception room we were called in to the dining room by our very own Toastmaster, Wally Cutler. The meal was excellent and a grateful vote of thanks must go to the staff of the Club. The Loyal Toast to Her Majesty the Queen was proposed by the Toastmaster, he then introduced Lt Col (Retd) Ken French, who was standing in for our President, Lt Col (Retd) John Beasley, who was unable to attend. In his speech he made mention that an accommodation block at Blandford had now been named the Beverley Block, and in particular he thanked Alan Davies for his efforts, Alan had recently retired after 28 years' service at Blandford and he had made good use of his contacts in his role of co-ordinator in making sure the naming was successful. Ken welcomed all the members who had attended and praised those who had traveled long distances.

Tony Hull, Mrs Ann Boyle, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB and Lt Col (Retd) Ken French

Ken then introduced our Guest of Honour, the Chairman of the Royal Signals Association, Maj Gen A. H. Boyle CB, who in his speech thanked the Beverley Ex-Boys Association for the invitation and mentioned that most of the assembled members would have received the King's shilling whereas he had received the Queens shilling. He then spoke about the Royals Signals Association stressing the benevolence aspect of the Association. At the end of the dinner the members retired to the bar, which did a thriving trade and a successful raffle was held, which made £242.00 for the funds and many thanks are due to all those who donated.

Bernie Gilbert, Judy Quigg, Brenda Coatsworth, Jim Batt, Jack Quigg, Geoff Coatsworth after the Reunion Dinner for the Beverley Ex-Boys Association

It was an extremely successful and enjoyable weekend, 56 members were present along with 39 wives, partners or guests and in that number were the following new members: Mick Snowling, Maurice King RAEC, Pat Browne RAEC, Peter Cross, Tony Hemstock, Ronald Coaker and Caie Wesley Graham. We must thank the Committee and in particular Beryl and Tony Hall for organising such a great weekend. Beryl and Tony must also be thanked for their efforts in the naming of the Beverley Block at Blandford.

MALTA/LIBYA COMMAND

Having just recently held our annual reunion, we thought that we would like to have it recorded in The WIRE. Malta/Libya Command Signal Squadron Association has members who have served in the following areas. Malta, Tripoli Sigs, 219 Sigs, Benghazi, Benini, (25 Armd Div) 1 Division and El-Adem, if you served post war in any of these areas and would like to join us next September please get in touch with the Secretary at the address below. At this year's Reunion, as well as the boat trip, we had a top class entertainer Jill Danials singing nostalgic songs, some of the ladies were in tears. Every picture tells a story so the following are a brief record of the event.

Roy Andrews Jill Danials and Patricia Andrews

Bill Daglish Eric Pratt, Barry Vargas (who came all the way from Delhi) and John Hamilton stood up and sang in full voice their rendition of Land of Hope and Glory accompanied by Jill Danials, almost as good as Last Night at the Proms

260 SIGNAL SQUADRON (SAM) ROYAL SIGNALS ASSOCIATION

SEEKS THE HELP OF MEMBERS OF THE CORPS PAST AND PRESENT

260 Signal Squadron (SAM) Royal Signals Association are trying to trace over two hundred ex-soldiers who served with 260 Signal Squadron (SAM), 654 Signal Troop (SAM) and 655 Signal Troop (SAM) in the period 1965 - 1977. We were formed in June 1998 and currently have a membership of about sixty members. Our objective is to trace a further two hundred in time for our reunion in April. It is our belief that all former members of the Squadron save for a few will have completed their service with the colours but it is felt that the sons and daughters of these servicemen may now be serving in the Corps.

It is also believed that some former members of the Squadron and Signal Troops may be members of the Royal Signals Association but are not aware of the existence of our Association which is why we are asking All Branch Secretary's if they would be kind enough to send out details of our Association to all their members. Since April of this year our Association has been hard at work promoting our activities on the internet and we have gained the support of SOLDIER magazine as well as many local newspapers across the country but we feel that the best support for our project lies at the heart of our extended family 'The Royal Corps of Signals'.

Our Anniversary Reunion will be held on the weekend of 12-14 April 2002 at the Jarvis Hotel, Loughbourgh, Leicestershire. Partners are most welcome. For further details contact: Roy Andrews, 7 The Heath, South Tankerton, Whitstable, Kent, CT5 3HJ, Tel. 01227 264551 or E-mail: roypat.Andrews@ic24.net Or visit our NEW website at http://www.260sigsqnsam.abeigratis.co.uk

Dear Sir,

Through the columns of The WIRE may I appeal to any readers who may have served with or knew 22031264 Sig R. Marks who died in the Berlin Airlift and is buried near Hamburg with an RAF crew. Here the mystery begins, his name is recorded on the American Memorial in Berlin but not on any English one, not even the latest at the National Arboretum. Was he flying as part of an aircrew? Was he hitchiking? He is buried in a German churchyard but the German authorities deny all knowledge of him although local people maintain the grave. Somebody somewhere must know all about this poor soldier lying in a foreign field, we hear so much about the Great Royals Signal Family on RSA Day perhaps it about time someone dug out his records and submitted his name to be added to the National Arboretum. Any information would be greatly appreciated.

Yours Sincerely.....

The photo shows a man who was always known to Steven Parsons as Great Uncle John Green. He was my late father's uncle and was killed in Italy during the last war. Green was my great-grandparents name but John was adopted and he may have been in the army under his original name, which is unknown to me. So far all searches of army and war grave records has been unsuccessful and we have been unable to trace anyone of this name or discription who died in Italy. As there are no other relatives, on my father's side, alive, I have only the scant information on the back of the photo and what I was told by my father to go by. The story I was told was of an unusual and tragic death, but apparently he was wounded and in a tented field hospital which was straffed by an enemy plane, and he was killed in his bed. The date printed on the back of the photo is 1943 which would seem to confirm his death in the Italian campaign.

What I was hoping was that some of the readers of The WIRE might recall him and know the name that he used or might remember the incident with the hospital, which would help me trace where he might be buried. I was always told that he was in the Signals. I hope that this may stir somebody's memories and I look forward to any future correspondence. At the time he would have been living in Redhill in Surrey. Please contacr Steven Parsons at 39-40 Barkis Road, Great Yarmouth, Norfolk, NR30 3ED or Tel: 01493 856772

Dear Editor,

I enclose a picture showing Sgt Harry Orton and Cpl George Eynon - ex 28 Comm Inf Bde & Sig Tp, Korea 1951-1952.

'Waterholes' - fifty years on

Come on you comrades of old, we are trying to get together members of the old Troop for a 'Reunion' and trust that you will help swell our ranks. We know of at least twenty of the Troop that are still alive and kicking today (this includes five of the officers we served under - who don't seem to know that we exist?!). Let's shame them and let them know that 'old comrades' are old comrades, irrespective of rank.

Please ring any one of the following three telephone numbers: 0114 2847598 (Harry Orton), 01293 513473 (Pat Lohan), ore 01208 75019 (George Eynon). Any of these will be more than glad to hear from you.

Dear Sir,

The Phonetic Alphabet

During my National Service with the Royal Navy between 1947 and 1949, I became familiar with the Phonetic Alphabet that was in use in the Armed Forces at that time. Then it was in the sequence of 'Able', 'Baker', 'Charlie', 'Dog', 'Easy', 'Fox' etc...

I realise that the alphabet in that form was superceded some years ago. When was that? I seem to remember that the present system 'appeared' in the mid-1950s. Why did it change? Was it, perhaps, something to do with NATO? Or was it changed as international airlines 'adopted' English as their working language? Was this the result of some international treaty? Is the phonetic alphabet, in its present form , in use world-wide?

I would be pleased if you could give me any information on this subject. Perhaps this letter will awake memories of former members of Corps. I look forward, with interest, to any replies.

Yours faithfully.....

Dear Editor,

On a recent visit to Normandy my wife and I visited the Military Cemetery at Ryes and took the enclosed pictures. I was particularly moved by the nine graves of young men of the Royal Signals. All killed on the same day possibly at a single site. I am sure that everyone is aware of how well these places of rest are kept and as you can see, from the photos, Ryes is no exception.

Yours Sincerely.....

Leonard - Lt Col Peter Leonard, who has died aged 68, served with Royal Signals from 1955 to 1984. He retired early from the Army but continued his involvement with Royal Signals as a Retired Officer Grade 2 at Bulford from 1984 to 1998. A wiry, fit man with enormous energy and a delicious sense of humour, he was immensely well liked and respected within the Corps for his leadership qualities, compassion and interest in people, as much for his lack of airs.

Peter Byrne Leonard was born at Kenton in Middlesex on 20 April 1933. He was educated at Sutton Valence near Maidstone, Kent, where in his last year he was awarded an English Speaking Union Scholarship to go to Choate School in Connecticut, USA. He shared that school, although not at exactly the same time, with JFK. He was known as 'Boots' Leonard because of an absurd pair of cowboy boots bought in the Arizona Desert which he insisted on wearing and was voted, as the 1952 year book records, Campus Character.

Peter originally wanted to be a vet but his National Service, deferred by a year by the American adventure, started his military life. Commissioned into the Royal Artillery it was, while serving in Egypt with 71 Heavy Anti Aircraft Regiment in 1953-54, that he was appointed Regimental Signals Officer. He found the specialisation so much to his liking, coupled with his love of sport, rugby in particular, that he decided to make it his career and transferred into the Royal Corps of Signals. He joined 40 Royal Signals 'Qualifying' course at Catterick in August 1956. He proved to be a very lively and popular member of the course. At the start of a mid course leave a fellow course officer lent Peter his pre-war Jaguar (named Jezebel) with the proviso that he drove her back to Catterick. Subsequently the owner cleaned out the back of Jezebel finding several lipsticks and odd earrings, for which Peter disclaimed all responsibility! Peter, at the beginning of 1958 went on a White Shod Course in Norway where his natural ability on skis rapidly became apparent. As a Troop Commander, at Bunde, Germany, he was invited to train and ski for the Army in the Cross Country (Langlauf) discipline. After a spell in Aden, where he was a member of the Black Sheep Club, he returned to be a Troop Officer in 216 Sig Sqn, Farnborough, in support of the Parachute Brigade. His Commander remembers him chiefly because of his slight build and lightness and that, when the rest of the unit was ready to move off after a parachute drop, Peter always seemed to be still floating down on the end of his parachute!

He met Penny early in 1963 and, recognising a good thing when he saw one, married her on 27 July 1963. In December 1963 the Parachute Brigade was sent to Cyprus because of the situation there caused by Archbishop Makarios. Penny, expecting their first child, wisely left Church Crookham and went to her parents in Bexhill-on-Sea, where in due course Simon was born. There followed a tour with 44 Parachute Brigade at the Duke of York's Headquarters and the arrival of their second son, James. He returned to Bunde once more as a Squadron Second-in-Command in 2 Div Sig Regt with a nice quarter in Bad Oyenhausen. Very soon he was promoted to take Command of Headquarters Squadron in Lubbecke. His next major challenge was independent command as OC 233 Sig Sqn, Northern Ireland, in Lisburn from 1969-72. This was a very happy posting, if most demanding, coinciding with 'Internment' in the Province. There was a rapid expansion of the Squadron to over four hundred personnel, possibly the largest Royal Signals Squadron ever assembled. Peter had an amazing ability to make things work, such as the Mount Divis rebroadcast station and specialist listening posts along the border.

Peter was Mentioned-in-Despatches for his hard work, great professionalism, extremely capable and calm handling of the additional responsibility. He is remembered too for his perennial good humour and a particularly old pair of heavy leather football boots he always wore for the weekly game. During this hectic time Simon and James started Prep School. Ireland was followed by a staff job with 11 Sig Bde (TA) in Liverpool. He was then asked to take Command of the Sultan of Oman's Signal Regiment. This was real and challenging soldiering and very much to Peter's taste. He picked up an exotic medal or two and subsequently was involved with the setting up of a Special Forces Unit for the Sultan. He remarked, only in passing, that most of the soldiers involved came from Rhodesia and were called, collectively, Mr Smith.

Penny could not accompany him due to a lack of quarters, so she retired to a small house they had bought in Bexhill-on-Sea, visiting Peter with the boys for holidays. Thereafter he served in various posts including NATO at Headquarters AFCENT near Aachen, Holland, The Ministry of Defence in Whitehall, a Joint Service job and finally at Tidworth. It is at this time they bought their delightful cottage in Upton Lovell. Peter decided to retire early, at 51, to take up the RO2 post in Signals Branch of HQ SW District, becoming in turn HQ Bulford Area and latterly HQ 3 (UK) Div from which he finally retired on 30 December 1998. Suffice to say he was held in as great affection and professional regard there as he had been elsewhere.

Maj Gen Ian Sprackling, in his letter to the family after he died, summed up Peter's career in the Army thus - 'I have known Peter for almost as long as my 45 years association with the Corps and to me he represented the absolute best of the breed of officers with whom I had the privilege to spend my life... Totally honourable, committed to his family, calling and friends, self effacing almost to a fault and loved and respected by all who knew him.' He never took the word 'retirement' seriously and life after the Army was full to the brim. Peter of course from the outset, with his customary energy, threw himself into the life of Upton Lovell. These are a few vignettes of Peter outside the Army:

His first love was his tiny local Church of Saint Augustine. It is questionable as to whether he was physically capable of saying 'no' to anyone. Had the Parish Church Council asked him to move the church six inches to the left, he would almost certainly have picked up his tool bag and wordlessly got on with it. He acted as general DIY handyman for the church. Indeed on the day of his funeral it was noticed that a light bulb had failed, the sort of task he was always resolving unobtrusively. He served as Church Warden for four years and latterly as Lay Vice Chairman of the PCC and Deanery Synod representative. He sang, with huge enjoyment, in the choir. He was a strident, talented and enthusiastic tenor/baritone/what do you want me to sing sort of performer. He had no difficulty in giving a congregation or audience a lead where necessary. A few years before, in a church at a NATO base in Holland, he effortlessly moved from verse 1 of a hymn to verse 3 taking the whole congregation with him to the annoyance of the organist and the bemusement of the vicar who was, or so he believed, in charge.

Simon and James often wondered if there was anybody on the planet less capable of lighting a barbecue - long and many were the lunches spent poreing over coals barely emitting any sort of heat. His dedication to two twigs and a single Swan Vesta was frustrating in the extreme.

His second love was the Wool Store Theatre at Codford Saint Peter. Once, going to a show there, Peter was met running across the road saying, 'I am late, I am late, I got dressed and then realised I had not put on my bra and had to get undressed and start all over again!' He made a wondrous Ugly Sister resplendent in a bright green dress, make-up inches thick, he bounded on to the stage, with an equally hideous twin sister, and they camped around the stage with unashamed joy. The laughter around was unconfined, but the performance was beyond belief to a self-conscious teenager son, slowly sinking into his seat, who was still fitting him into the role of retired officer. It always seemed a day or two before the make-up came off altogether. Many and various were the roles he performed but his rendition of 'Good-bye Dolly Grey' will be long remembered.

He was organiser of, and participant in, local cycle rides in aid of the Historic Churches Trust for Wiltshire for which he was a trustee. He took a great interest in Codford Saint Peter Church of England Primary School, much enjoying listening to the Reception class reading.

He loved sailing his small catamaran when time allowed, but would have really liked to sail more in bigger boats.

He loved family life and children. He had a brother John who died when he, John, was 11. His sister Christine and he were very close. He was a devoted father and grandfather and family will not easily forget him sitting in a wicker basket being pelted, amid shouts of great joy, with Pooh, Tigger and a variety of other soft toys.

By the time he died he was paraplegic - one cannot help but feel the disabled community has been robbed of a strong ambassador on their behalf. To his family and no doubt his many friends, frustration, dismay and sometimes anger at his circumstances have lain barely concealed beneath the surface. These emotions were strangers to him. His strength, courage, selflessness, unceasing sense of humour and ultimately his faith were examples to us all. His choice of 'When the Saints go marching in' to be sung at his funeral service, must have been with a certain twinkle in the eye and a slightly mischievous grin. But the more official words (not used at the home games of Southampton Football Club) are the strongest evocation of what Peter expected in the after life. It was sung with gusto! Peter and Penny were devoted to each other; they meant the vows they took nearly 40 years ago and mean them to this day. His constant refrain over the year or so that has passed has been of her great courage and devotion. During this time she missed only four days being at his bedside. He would not have been able to cope with this last year with such tenacity and hope without her. In his book no one could have done more nor been a more constant companion for him in his time of need.

Ian Duff, the Rector, in his sermon said, 'I have never seen so many people at a funeral other than that of a public figure.' This is a measure of the support Penny and the family have received from the village and beyond both before and since his death and of how many wished to celebrate his life.

Riley -Sig John Riley It is with great regret that the members of the Sale Branch of the Royal Signals Association report the sudden passing away of their Chairman in hospital on 16 May 2001 aged 63. John was born in Bowden Vale near Altringham, Cheshire, in 1938 and lived in the area all his life. His early years were taken up with soccer and he was recognised as on of the best amateur players of his day, in the area, and he carried on his love of sport into his National Service where he served with the Signal Squadron at RAF Wildenrath in Germany from 1959-61. On leaving the services John went into engineering working for many years at the Daily Express at Linotype and Ingersoll Rand. John served the Branch for many years, the last two years as Chairman. His help for the less fortunate, his wit, his always smiling face, his hand in his pocket and his love of life were an inspiration to whoever he met and the branch have lost a very, very nice man. John's funeral at Durham Lawn Crematorium near his home town was led into the chapel by the standard of the Sale Branch and the service was conducted by the Branch Padre the Rev Ray Rossiter many of his footballing friends, Branch members and family attended. Our deepest sympathy to his lovely wife Angie, sons Kritian and Johnathan and grandchildren Zak, Joshua and Heidi.

Phillips - WO2 (SSM) Peter Ivan Phillips, the suddeness of Peter's death has left many of us in a state of shock. On the Sunday before he died, he was with some of his friends at a Luncheon Party. At the age of 18, he joined 22 Troop Royal Signals, for his National Service at Catterick Camp on 4 December, 1952. He was discharged after two years and then did further service before being discharged, this time from No.1 War Office Signal Regiment TA in 1958. He then joined 45th Signal Regiment TA which became 45 Squadron of the newly formed 36 (E) Signal Regiment (V). It was during this period that Peter met and married Margaret who had joined the Regiment as a Private. They got married on 18 May 1974. Peter retired from the regiment as the WO2 (SSM) of HQ Squadron, having served for 33 years National Service and TA in the Royal Signals. He joined the East London Branch of the Royal Signals Association in 1977, becoming their Chairman in 1995.
Our Peter was a keen golfer at Stapleford Abbots Golf Club, where he he became a Life Member in 1995, and then Vice-Chair and Chair of the Senior Society there. One of the highlights of Peter's golfing career was, with the aid of three colleagues, the winning of the 36 Signal Regiment (V) Inter Squadron Cup for which the East London Branch of the RSA are invited to enter a team.
The funeral service was conducted at Basildon Crematorium on 30 August, by our own Branch Padre, the Revd David Eaton who joined us only a few months ago and is also the Regimental Padre of 36 (E) Signal Regiment (V). Peter will be sadly missed not only by Margaret, his wife, but also by his friends from the East London Branch of the RSA, and members of 36 (E) Signal Regiment (V)

Aitken – Mr John Aitken, who was a respected and well known Dundee businessman has died at Ninewells Hospital, Dundee, aged 77. He was the third generation of his family to run the grocers and wine merchants, Jas Aitken & Son, established by his grandfather in Dundee in 1874. John was educated at Dundee High School and Strathallan before joining the family business in 1941. Called up the following year, he served with the Royal Corps of Signals as part of the 14th Army in India and Burma until the end of the Second World War and continued to serve with the Corps in Europe until returning to the family business in 1947. He was elected President of the Scottish Grocers' Federation in 1968 and later had an honorary membership conferred on him in recognition of his services to the industry. He retired in 1989 but continued to take an active interest in the business, the Royal Signals Association and his golf. John was a gregarious man with a fine sense of humour and a staunch supporter of the Tayside and Fife branch of the Royal Signals Association. He was fun to be with and will be sadly missed. John is survived by his wife Margaret, sons Bryan and Jamie, daughter Joan and five grandchildren.

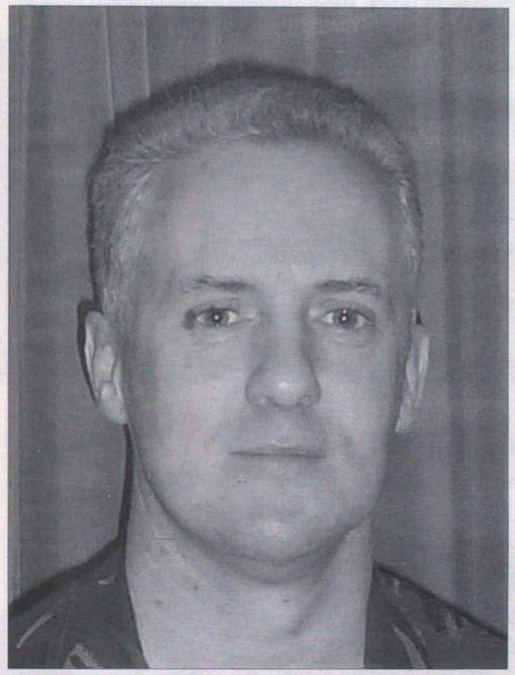
Speight – Capt George Cartford Speight, who died on 8 September, was one of the RAEC Warrant Officers selected for Teacher Training and commissioning when the Corps was 'officerised', beginning in 1959. The second Christian name (rarely disclosed) was the name of a toll-bridge in Lancashire purchased by his parents just before his birth, and still in the family.
He joined the Army in 1948, quickly transferred to the RAEC, and was posted to Malaya as a 'Schoolie', then came home to Harrogate for his first attachment to the Royal Signals at the Apprentice School as a Staff Sergeant IC Sciences. A tour in Korea followed, then he went back to Malaya for two years, and home to Junior Leaders RA at Hereford and Nuneaton before his year at college, commissioning in 1961 and once again to AAS Harrogate IC Science Department under Col Gordon White. I first met George there, where he was a very popular and hard-working colleague. He took on the brass band as his 'hobby' and his drive and enthusiasm swiftly resulted in excellent performances, highly acclaimed in the district. He managed to persuade the Band President to purchase a glockenspiel that George, head and shoulders above the remainder, played with evident delight. In 1967 he was posted to 8 Training Regiment Royal Signals at Catterick where he remained for six years.
When he knew of his terminal illness I asked him for some details of his service life so that I could write this, and he produced a copy of an article written about him in 'The WIRE', the Royal Signals magazine, which was most complimentary, suggesting that George was considered a part of that Corps and acknowledging the debt owed to him for the work he did for so many years in helping Signals personnel.
In 1973, having obtained a BA degree, he retired and was appointed Lecturer and later Principal Lecturer at St Annes's College and Blackpool & Fylde College. He retired in 1990 and on the death of his wife, June in the same year, he moved to the Bristol area where his brother and family lived and until his death he became a full time uncle, taxi driver and general help, which he very much enjoyed and which was greatly appreciated. George was a good friend, always ready to assist in any way and was held in high regard by all who knew him. At the end he was quite calm, and would have appreciated the brass band music at his funeral.

Burrows – Cpl Ralph Burrows was born in 1915. Ralph enlisted in the Territorial Army on 26 April 1939. He transferred to the Regular Army, Royal Signals at the outbreak of war. On 15 December 1942 he was promoted to Corporal. As a Corporal Operator Wireless and Line (OWL) he then served throughout the war in 'K' Section, 129 Brigade and 4rd Wessex Division. He landed in Normandy on D-Day plus 13 and fought through France and Germany. He was 'demobbed' after hostilities in December 1945. Ralph was a long serving member of the RSA Southampton & District Branch, a Royal Signals Association Life Member and a Member of the 43rd Wessex Division Association. In Civilian life Ralph followed his career in the ironmongery business until his retirement.

Roy - Driver Mechanic James R. S. Roy passed away peacefully in the early hours of 21 August 2001 aged 87. He joined the Royal Signals TA at Jardine Street Glasgow and served from 27 June1934 to 6 November 1945. Mr Roy's wartime service included spells in France, Germany, Holland and Belgium. His decorations included the 1939/45 Star, the France & Germany Star, the Defence Medal, the War Medal 1939/45 and the Territorial Efficiency medal. During his service Mr Roy was the Big Drummer in the Royal Signals TA Band and the Glasgow Tramways Band. As a cabinet-maker to trade, Mr Roy was employed making bed-settees and chairs, an occupation he returned to after his discharge from war service in 1945. The Chairman and Members of Glasgow Branch convey their sincere condolences to the family.

Ross - Sig Alan Ross joined the Royal Signals in July 1960 and after training as a Dispatch Rider was posted to Singapore. He traveled on the troop ship SS Nevassa. During his time with 1 Sqn 18th Sig Regt as a DR he worked at GHQ TANGLIN. He also became the driver for the CDSO, Lt Col Scott, and did a stint in Brunei during the troubles of 1962/3. He met and married his wife Anna whilst in Singapore. Sadly she died three years ago. In 1963 he was posted to 4 Div Sig Regt Herford before returning to the UK for discharge in 1966.
Alan was a very trustworthy man and baby sat for my children in Singapore before he got married and kept in touch for years. We lost touch and after 30 years got back in touch through the Sunday Post Snippets and although it was only for a few years I am glad that I was able to meet up again and say farewell to a nice man. He will be missed by his daughter, son and grandchildren.

Whyman – Maj George James Whyman. It is with sadness that we report the death of a fine and well respected Royal Corps of Signals Officer after a cycling accident in Middlesbrough. Maj George Whyman passed away on Tuesday 5 June 2001. George was commissioned into the Royal Corps of Signals on 8 April 1977. He served as a young officer with the Royal Signals Junior Leaders Regiment in Ouston, Newcastle and gained operational experience with 39 Infantry Brigade and Signal Squadron receiving the General Service Medal 1962 Clasp Northern Ireland. From 1986 to 1990 he held various Staff Officer appointments including service with Headquarters 3 Commando Brigade Royal Marines and Headquarters Southern District. He held Squadron Command at 2 Signal Regiment in York and 16 Signal Regiment in Rheindahlen, Germany. George was also employed for over four years as the Army Careers Advisor for Schools in South Yorkshire until 9 August 1999. His last appointment was as Training Major 34 (Northern) Signal Regiment (Volunteers) based in Middlesbrough.
George was married to Linda and was the father of eight children – Catherine (24), Mhairi (22), Morag (21), Andrew (19) currently serving with 2 Signal Regiment in the Adjutant Generals Corps, James (16), Hannah (13), David (12) and Elizabeth (10). With all the family having a strong Christian faith, his interests included music and played for the enjoyment of all, particularly in church. The majority of his spare time was dedicated to his love of cycling. He was a member of the Army Cycling Union, classed as a veteran in regular competitions and was also a member of the Knaresborough Cycling Club, York.
The funeral service took place at Acomb Baptist Church on Thursday 14 June 2001 and was followed by a cremation at Bishopthorpe Crematorium, York. The service was attended by family, close friends and many serving and retired officers who had enjoyed George's exuberant, enthusiastic and sometimes determined character. His daughter Catherine in fond memory of an excellent father said some kind and poignant words and the Commanding Officer, Lt Col Ian Westerman Royal Signals, gave a stirring account of George 'The Officer'. George had dedicated over 24 years to the Corps and he will be sorely missed by who got to know him throughout his service.



Spooner – Lt Col P. Spooner with the death of Phil Spooner on 12 July 2001 the Corps has lost one of its most colourful officers. He was a man of tremendous energy for everything he tackled and imbued with an infectious enthusiasm, which radiated through his fun loving personality. Phil was born in London on 3 October 1932. He was educated at the Belle Vue Grammar School in Bradford. After school he intended to go to Cranwell but instead entered Sandhurst after completing basic training with the Royal Engineers. He was commissioned into the Corps in February 1953. After his Young Officers Course he was sent to Singapore and thence to Hong Kong where was attached to 32 Medium Regiment Royal Artillery. On returning to England he attempted to join the newly formed Army Air Corps but instructors told him that 'as a pilot he would make a first rate parachutist'. He took their advice and qualified for his parachute wings. He then started the first of his four tours with the RAF by joining 220 Signal Squadron at RAF Sundern in Germany. This proved to be a memorable tour because not only did he become the first army officer to fly through the sound barrier in a two-seater Hunter but he met and married Sue who was serving on the station as a Pilot Officer. He moved back to London to become Adjutant of a TA Regiment. During this time he played football for the Corinthian Casuals and continued his promising tennis career. He then returned to the RAF in Aden as a Ground Liaison Officer briefing and debriefing pilots on their attacks during the Radfan campaign and training many locals as Forward Air Controllers. There then followed a very happy tour at the Army Apprentice College, Harrogate. It was here that his rare quality of care for those he commanded came into full play. He demonstrated his ability to inspire the young apprentices to do things they never thought they could and to give them the self-belief and confidence to do well. In 1969 he returned to the RAF in Bahrein again controlling aircraft before becoming the Signal Squadron Commander at RAF Benson. He was keen to have a very fit squadron and to prove the point entered them for the Cyprus walkabout. He then became the Sultan of Brunei's advisor on air communications and tasking. During this time he wrote and produced a film on Loan Service. At the end of his tour the Sultan gave him the Seri Lila Jasa medal, an award given to very few. In his spare time he completed the SAS Free Fall Parachute Course and at last gained his private pilot's licence. On promotion to Lieutenant Colonel in 1977 he became Deputy Commander of a major communication project in Saudi Arabia. It was at this time he took up hashing. At the end of his five-year tour he drove back to the UK overland. His last overseas tour was with AFCENT in Holland. Here he and Sue immersed themselves in the activities of both the international headquarters and the local community. His vibrant energy saw him involved in hashing, sailing, sail boarding, tennis, Nijmegan Marches, marathon running and amateur dramatics to mention but a few!
In 1987 Phil reached his 55th birthday but instead of retiring Phil was asked to stay on to run the White Helmets and the Blue Helmets. He seized the chance with both hands. Not only did be take part in 'the action' – top of the pyramid, through the flaming circle, jumping cars, but brought his boundless energy into gaining sponsorship and securing contracts. None could have made a greater impact on the teams. When Phil finally retired from service life he threw himself into the community life in Chichester. He had founded the Chichester Hash House Harriers on his return from Saudi Arabia in 1982 and it flourishes to this day. He was Chairman of the Chichester Society and was very proud of being involved in saving the façade of the old Dolphin and Anchor Inn. He gave up the Society to concentrate on local politics and only narrowly failed to gain a seat on the City Council. He drove ambulances for the disabled, he was an Age Concern Befriender and he did Meals on Wheels for the WRVS and was an active member of the Army Benevolent Fund Committee. He became a member of the Rotary Club late in life but completed his year as President a week before he died. In recognition of his work within the various communities around the world over so many years, Phil was given earlier this year the Rotary Paul Harris Award for service to one's fellow men. Phil Spooner was an officer who truly cared for his men and they knew it, he was always proud of their achievements; he was a man who lived life to the full and his infectious enthusiasm encouraged others to do likewise. As a citizen he was a contributor and committed himself totally to every community in which he lived. Most of all as a family man he set the highest standards as a much loved husband and the finest of fathers.

EXERCISE FIGHTING BRUNO 2001
23 SEPTEMBER – 5 OCTOBER

This year's ACISG battlecamp took place at the OBUA training village, Eastmere. The exercise was split into two one-week segments with the Squadron sending soldiers to each of the weeks. Attending were, Cpl Russ Craig and LCpl Steve Davies – Week 1, LCpl Mark Igo – Week 2.The main themes of the exercise were counter insurgency (COIN), and basic OBUA drills. The exercise started off with a confidence course shortly after arrival on the Sunday afternoon during which everyone was put in the relevant sections. Monday morning was spent learning the rudiments of house clearance. This involved knowing the different methods of grenade delivery, such as throwing, posting, and, rolling. Storming a building using different methods of entry, such as first floor access using grappling hooks or ladders, ground floor entry through windows, mouse-holes etc, and then storming individual rooms once entry had been gained. WO2 (SSM) Smith gave a lesson on tactical movement in an urban environment, and we had demonstrations on how to set-up a VCP, and how to deal with minor civil disturbances. Monday afternoon we were shown how to defend a building, and methods of crossing barbed wire obstacles. Tuesday saw the two sections each putting what they had learnt into effect with a confirmatory attack on a building at dawn. Tuesday also saw a visit to the exercise by OC Sqn, Maj Wally Drain, and SSgt Rick Owen. They were there to observe the exercise and to discuss with the DS the relevance and usefulness of what was being taught to soldiers of the modern British army.

Tuesday afternoon was spent learning how to properly set up, operate, and tear down a VCP, and revision of correct patrolling methods in an urban environment. Phase two of the exercise started with a briefing that set out the scenario for the remainder of the week. This involved us being put into a volatile situation in which we were to gather intelligence and quell any minor civil disturbances while trying to keep hold of your respirator as LCpl Davies had some difficulty in doing. The following three days were spent patrolling the village and its environs, more successfully when Cpl Russ Craig wasn't map-reading, and gathering intelligence from the local population. The week culminated with both sections securing and occupying individual houses opposite those of known suspects who had arrest warrants against them. The night was spent observing these suspects, and early on Friday morning both sections were given the order to move in and arrest the suspects. With the successful completion of this task it was off to the assault course for an enjoyable hour's exercise, then a welcome shower and off home.

Once again this year a barbecue, with auction, tombola etc was held at HQ 4th Division, Aldershot in aid of St Ormond Street Hospital. Thanks must go firstly to Mr Derek Keen who organised the event and was also MC for the auction, and to Cpl Andy McNally, who contributed so much to the tombola. This years total was an impressive £1850.88 on the day, plus more money which was still coming in as this article was written.

VISIT OF COMMANDING OFFICER ACISG, LT COL S. A. LEIGH 8-9 OCTOBER 2001

Lt Col S. A. Leigh R. Signals visited the squadron on Monday 8th and Tuesday 9th October. During his visit he presented Cpl Russ Craig with his LS & GC medal, which came as a complete surprise to Cpl Craig, but not as much as when the egg he had just microwaved for four minutes blew up all over his face.
